Bahurim, weeping behind her. So Abner said to him, "Go, return!" And he returned.

17Now Abner had communicated with the elders of Israel, saying, "In time past you were seeking for David to be king over you. 18Now then, do it! For the LORD has spoken of David, saying, 'By the hand of My servant David, I[a] will save My people Israel from the hand of the Philistines and the hand of all their enemies.' " 19And Abner also spoke in the hearing of Benjamin. Then Abner also went to speak in the hearing of David in Hebron all that seemed good to Israel and the whole house of Benjamin.

20So Abner and twenty men with him came to David at Hebron. And David made a feast for Abner and the men who were with him. 21Then Abner said to David, "I will arise and go, and gather all Israel to my lord the king, that they may make a covenant with you, and that you may reign over all that your heart desires." So David sent Abner away, and he went in peace.

Joab Murders Abner

22At that moment the servants of David and Joab came from a raid and brought much spoil with them. But Abner was not with David in Hebron, for he had sent him away, and he had gone in peace. 23When Joab and all the troops that were with him had come, they told Joab, saying, "Abner

Geshur. While the list of sons born to David in Hebron would seem to show his growing strength, none of these men are later mentioned in a favorable way (Amnon will commit incest; Absalom, murder and revolution). The wives David chose did not necessarily instill godly values in his children (see chart, The Family Tree of David). In addition, the atmosphere of the harem was more conducive to gossip, jealousy, and strife than to wise and peaceful living. David himself did not always set a good example for his own family. After the years of hardship he spent fleeing from Saul and conquering the kingdom, David's moral character was weakened by a life of ease and sensual indulgence, which led to adultery and murder.

3:7 When a king died, customarily his harem was passed to his successor. To approach a royal concubine was a serious offense. Abner was infringing on royal rights, perhaps even initiating a claim to the throne (see 2 Sam. 16:21; 1 Kin. 2:13–25).

3:8 Dogs were not viewed with much affection in Palestine. Usually untamed, they roamed in packs and fed on refuse. Calling someone a dog was a serious insult. "A dog's head that belongs to Judah" indicates a contemptible traitor (see 2 Sam. 9:8; 16:9).

3:14 Michal was David's first and rightful wife. Although she was the daughter of his enemy Saul, she had proven her affection and loyalty to him (1 Sam. 18:20; 19:11–17; see also 1 Sam. 18, Michal; chart, The Family Tree of David). Saul had forced the couple's separation and was thus responsible for Michal's second marriage to Paltiel and its unhappy end (1 Sam. 25:44). David was anxious to redress the injustice done to him by Saul (note David's words "my wife") and to strengthen his claim to Saul's throne (note David's reference to Michal as "Saul's daughter," 2 Sam. 3:13). In regaining his wife Michal, he won additional political support and strengthened his claim to the throne of all Israel. David's reclaiming of Michal as his wife is not a violation of Deuteronomy 24:1–4 because his separation from her had been involuntary. We are not told how Michal reacted to her marriage to Paltiel, whether or not she still loved David, and how attached she had become to her new, devoted husband. Although women of her day did not expect much freedom of choice, her forced return to David may have caused bitterness in her heart (see 2 Sam. 6:16). On the other hand, she may have been flattered to be the king's wife and seen this as an opportunity for status.

Resolve to keep happy, and your joy and you shall form an invincible host against difficulties.

the son of Ner came to the king, and he sent him away, and he has gone in peace." [24]Then Joab came to the king and said, "What have you done? Look, Abner came to you; why is it that you sent him away, and he has already gone? [25]Surely you realize that Abner the son of Ner came to deceive you, to know your going out and your coming in, and to know all that you are doing."

[26]And when Joab had gone from David's presence, he sent messengers after Abner, who brought him back from the well of Sirah. But David did not know it. [27]Now when Abner had returned to Hebron, Joab took him aside in the gate to speak with him privately, and there stabbed him in the stomach, so that he died for the blood of Asahel his brother.

[28]Afterward, when David heard it, he said, "My kingdom and I are guiltless before the LORD forever of the blood of Abner the son of Ner. [29]Let it rest on the head of Joab and on all his father's house; and let there never fail to be in the house of Joab one who has a discharge or is a leper, who leans on a staff or falls by the sword, or who lacks bread." [30]So Joab and Abishai his brother killed Abner, because he had killed their brother Asahel at Gibeon in the battle.

David's Mourning for Abner

[31]Then David said to Joab and to all the people who were with him, "Tear your clothes, gird yourselves with sackcloth, and mourn for Abner." And King David followed the coffin. [32]So they buried Abner in Hebron; and the king lifted up his voice and wept at the grave of Abner, and all the people wept. [33]And the king sang a lament over Abner and said:

"Should Abner die as a fool dies?
[34]Your hands were not bound
Nor your feet put into fetters;
As a man falls before wicked men, so you fell."

Then all the people wept over him again.

[35]And when all the people came to persuade David to eat food while it was still day, David took an oath, saying, "God do so to me, and more also, if I taste bread or anything else till the sun goes down!" [36]Now all the people took note of it, and it pleased them, since whatever the king did pleased all the people. [37]For all the people and all Israel understood that day that it had not been the king's intent to kill Abner the son of Ner. [38]Then the king said to his servants, "Do you not know that a prince and a great man has fallen this day in Israel? [39]And I am weak today, though anointed king; and these men, the sons of Zeruiah, are too harsh for me. The LORD shall repay the evildoer according to his wickedness."

Ishbosheth Is Murdered

4 When Saul's son[a] heard that Abner had died in Hebron, he lost heart, and all Israel was troubled. [2]Now Saul's son had two men who were captains of troops. The name of one was Baanah and the name of the other Rechab, the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, of the children of Benjamin. (For Beeroth also was part of Benjamin, [3]because the Beerothites fled to Gittaim and have been sojourners there until this day.)

[4]Jonathan, Saul's son, had a son who was lame in his feet. He was five years old when the news about Saul and Jonathan came from Jezreel; and his nurse took him up and fled. And it happened, as she made haste to flee, that he fell and became lame. His name was Mephibosheth.[a]

[5]Then the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, Rechab and Baanah, set out and came at about the heat of the day to the house of Ishbosheth, who was lying on his bed at noon. [6]And they came there, all the way into the house, as though to get wheat,

4:1 [a]That is, Ishbosheth 4:4 [a]Called Merib-Baal in 1 Chronicles 8:34 and 9:40

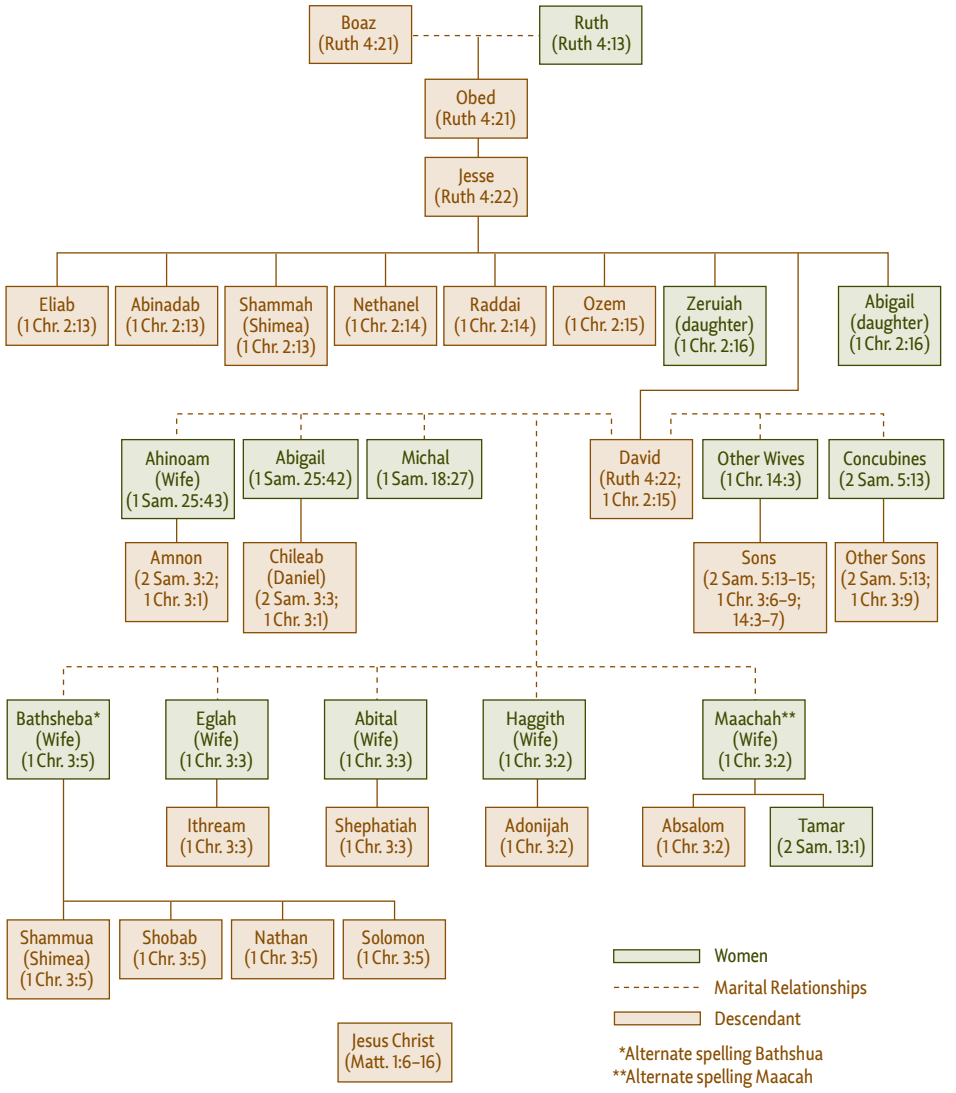
3:29 To have a discharge made a person impure and unfit for religious service (see Lev. 15:1, note). "Who leans on a staff" can be a reference to a "crutch" or a "spindle." In the latter case, the reference would be to an effeminate male, one who is only fit for what was considered to be the work of women.

3:39 There are several possible reasons why Joab murdered Abner. He may have feared for his own position as captain of David's troops. Perhaps he really believed David had been deceived by Abner. He certainly wanted to avenge his brother Asahel (2 Sam. 2:23). Whatever the reasons, David wanted no part in this murder, which threatened the peace of the newly established kingdom. But Joab was a powerful figure, and David felt unable to punish his crime at this point. However, he believed that, in the justice of God, there would be consequences for Joab and for his family after him.

4:5, 6 Ishbosheth's murder. It may have been the custom for Rechab and Baanah to get wheat for their men in Ishbosheth's granary. Their presence in the house then would not have seemed suspicious. Also, as it was a rest time, the guards were not sufficiently alert in protecting the king.

THE FAMILY TREE OF DAVID



and they stabbed him in the stomach. Then Rechab and Baanah his brother escaped. 7For when they came into the house, he was lying on his bed in his bedroom; then they struck him and killed him, beheaded him and took his head, and were all night escaping through the plain. 8And they brought the head of Ishbosheth to David at Hebron, and said to the king, "Here is the head of Ishbosheth, the son of Saul your enemy, who sought your life; and the LORD has avenged my lord the king this day of Saul and his descendants."

9But David answered Rechab and Baanah his brother, the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, and said to them, "As the LORD lives, who has redeemed my life from all adversity, 10when someone told me, saying, 'Look, Saul is dead,' thinking to have brought good news, I arrested him and had him executed in Ziklag—the one who thought I would give him a reward for his news. 11How much more, when wicked men have killed a righteous person in his own house on his bed? Therefore, shall I not now require his blood at your hand and remove you from the earth?" 12So David commanded his young men, and they executed them, cut off their hands and feet, and hanged them by the pool in Hebron. But they took the head of Ishbosheth and buried it in the tomb of Abner in Hebron.

David Reigns over All Israel

5 Then all the tribes of Israel came to David at Hebron and spoke, saying, "Indeed we are your bone and your flesh. 2Also, in time past, when Saul was king over us, you were the one who led Israel out and brought them in; and the LORD said to you, 'You shall shepherd My people Israel, and be ruler over Israel.' " 3Therefore all the elders of Israel came to the king at Hebron, and King David made a covenant with them at Hebron before the LORD. And they anointed David king over Israel. 4David was thirty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned forty years. 5In Hebron he reigned over Judah seven years and six months, and in Jerusalem he reigned thirty-three years over all Israel and Judah.

The Conquest of Jerusalem

6And the king and his men went to Jerusalem against the Jebusites, the inhabitants of the land, who spoke to David, saying, "You shall not come in here; but the blind and the lame will repel you," thinking, "David cannot come in here." 7Nevertheless David took the stronghold of Zion (that is, the City of David).

8Now David said on that day, "Whoever climbs up by way of the water shaft and defeats the Jebusites (the lame and the blind, who are hated by David's soul), he shall be chief and captain."[a] Therefore they say, "The blind and the lame shall not come into the house."

9Then David dwelt in the stronghold, and called it the City of David. And David built all around from the Millo[a] and inward. 10So David went on and became great, and the LORD God of hosts was with him.

11Then Hiram king of Tyre sent messengers to David, and cedar trees, and carpenters and masons. And they built David a house. 12So David knew that the LORD had established him as king over Israel, and that He had exalted His kingdom for the sake of His people Israel.

13And David took more concubines and wives from Jerusalem, after he had come from Hebron. Also more sons and daughters were born to David. 14Now these are the names of those who were born to him in Jerusalem: Shammua,[a] Shobab, Nathan, Solomon, 15Ibhar, Elishua,[a] Nepheg, Japhia, 16Elishama, Eliada, and Eliphelet.

The Philistines Defeated

17Now when the Philistines heard that they had anointed David king over Israel, all the Philistines went up to search for David. And David heard of it and went down to the stronghold. 18The Philistines also went and deployed themselves in the Valley of Rephaim. 19So David inquired of the LORD, saying, "Shall I go up against the Philistines? Will You deliver them into my hand?"

And the LORD said to David, "Go up, for I will doubtless deliver the Philistines into your hand."

20So David went to Baal Perazim, and David defeated them there; and he said, "The LORD has broken through my enemies before me, like a breakthrough of water." Therefore he called the name of that place Baal Perazim.[a] 21And they left their images there, and David and his men carried them away.

22Then the Philistines went up once again and deployed themselves in the Valley of Rephaim. 23Therefore David inquired of the LORD, and He said, "You shall not go up; circle around behind them, and come upon them in front of the mulberry trees. 24And it shall be, when you hear the sound of marching in the tops of the mulberry trees, then you shall advance quickly. For then the LORD will go out before you to strike the camp of the Philistines." 25And David did so, as the LORD commanded him; and he drove back the Philistines from Geba[a] as far as Gezer.

The Ark Brought to Jerusalem

6 Again David gathered all the choice men of Israel, thirty thousand. 2And David arose and went with all the people who were with him from

5:6, 8 Jerusalem's strategic strength was such that a garrison of blind and lame may indeed have been enough to protect it. In answer to their boasting, David referred to all Jebusites as "blind and lame," using this as a pre-battle verbal taunt (see also 2 Kin. 18:19–27).

5:7 Jerusalem, a Caananite fortress occupied by the Jebusites until David conquered it, was considered impregnable because of the valleys protecting it on three sides, as well as the remarkable Jebusite walls, which now have been excavated. The city made an excellent choice for a capital because it was centrally positioned in the kingdom and was located on the border between Judah and the rest of Israel, which David was bringing together. Jerusalem would remain the capital until Nebuchadnezzar destroyed the city 400 years later.

MARRIAGE PROBLEM SOLVING

One of the more distressing facts of life is that every marriage must face problems. These cannot be sidestepped but must be faced and resolved:

- Children can be a great source of enjoyment, but they can also add stress to a marriage. The mothering instinct is so strong in many women that they tend to neglect their husbands as they care for their children (see 1 Sam. 1:8). At times, a wife will even deceive her husband in favor of her child (Gen. 27:1–29). A wife must remember that her union with her husband is second only to her relationship with God.
- Financial problems can also put undue stress on a relationship, especially if the couple bickers over who is going to make what sacrifices. If a couple will seek God's direction in financial matters, He will be faithful to meet their needs (Matt. 6:33; Phil. 4:19).
- Unresolved anger can build into resentment and bitterness so that meaningful communication ceases (Heb. 12:15; Eph. 4:26).
- The temptation and the opportunity to be unfaithful is ever present (Prov. 7:6–23). An intimate and vibrant fellowship with God will undergird the relationship between the husband and wife and provide strength and vitality to the marriage.
- Isolation, the state of being excluded, is one of the more subtle maladies of marriage. Marriage can easily slip out of priority. People take their mates for granted, give their attention to other "urgent" matters, and soon warmth and communication have diminished. The remedy for isolation is to guard the marriage relationship tenderly and to give priority to your spouse, being open and honest and not keeping secrets from one another.

Problems can be a negative weapon in a marriage, dividing hearts and destroying unity, or they can be a positive catalyst for recommitment and renewal.

Baale Judah to bring up from there the ark of God, whose name is called by the Name,[a] the LORD of Hosts, who dwells between the cherubim. 3So they set the ark of God on a new cart, and brought it out of the house of Abinadab, which was on the hill; and Uzzah and Ahio, the sons of Abinadab, drove the new cart.[a] 4And they brought it out of the house of Abinadab, which was on the hill, accompanying the ark of God; and Ahio went before the ark. 5Then David and all the house of Israel played music before the LORD on all kinds of instruments of fir wood, on harps, on stringed instruments, on tambourines, on sistrums, and on cymbals.

6And when they came to Nachon's threshing floor, Uzzah put out his hand to the ark of God and took hold of it, for the oxen stumbled. 7Then the anger of the LORD was aroused against Uzzah, and God struck him there for his error; and he died there by the ark of God. 8And David became angry because of the LORD's outbreak against Uzzah; and he called the name of the place Perez Uzzah[a] to this day.

9David was afraid of the LORD that day; and he said, "How can the ark of the LORD come to me?" 10So David would not move the ark of the LORD with him into the City of David; but David took it aside into the house of Obed-Edom the Gittite. 11The ark of the LORD remained in the house of Obed-Edom the Gittite three months. And the LORD blessed Obed-Edom and all his household.

12Now it was told King David, saying, "The LORD has blessed the house of Obed-Edom and all that belongs to him, because of the ark of God." So David went and brought up the ark of God from the house of Obed-Edom to the City of 6:7 According to the instructions given, the ark was to be carried by priests, not set on a cart (Num. 4:15; 1 Chr. 15:11–15). However, in moving the ark to Jerusalem, God's Law was not consulted so that the entire party was guilty of irreverence. But Uzzah, whose family had been especially appointed to keep the ark (1 Sam. 7:1), showed great presumption in reaching out to touch the ark. He was aware of God's punishment on the Philistines for keeping the ark and the care they took to return it properly. He knew that a great number of men from Beth Shemesh had died because they looked inside the ark (1 Sam. 5:6). Uzzah's careless gesture showed that he did not truly recognize the majesty and holiness of God, which were symbolized by the ark.

David with gladness. 13And so it was, when those bearing the ark of the LORD had gone six paces, that he sacrificed oxen and fatted sheep. 14Then David danced before the LORD with all his might; and David was wearing a linen ephod. 15So David and all the house of Israel brought up the ark of the LORD with shouting and with the sound of the trumpet.

16Now as the ark of the LORD came into the City of David, Michal, Saul's daughter, looked through a window and saw King David leaping and whirling before the LORD; and she despised him in her heart. 17So they brought the ark of the LORD, and set it in its place in the midst of the tabernacle that David had erected for it. Then David offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before the LORD. 18And when David had finished offering burnt offerings and peace offerings, he blessed the people in the name of the LORD of hosts. 19Then he distributed among all the people, among the whole multitude of Israel, both the women and the men, to everyone a loaf of bread, a piece of meat, and a cake of raisins. So all the people departed, everyone to his house.

21So David said to Michal, "It was before the LORD, who chose me instead of your father and all his house, to appoint me ruler over the people of the LORD, over Israel. Therefore I will play music before the LORD. 22And I will be even more undignified than this, and will be humble in my own sight. But as for the maidservants of whom you have spoken, by them I will be held in honor."

23Therefore Michal the daughter of Saul had no children to the day of her death.

God's Covenant with David

7 Now it came to pass when the king was dwelling in his house, and the LORD had given him rest from all his enemies all around, 2that the king said to Nathan the prophet, "See now, I dwell in a house of cedar, but the ark of God dwells inside tent curtains."

3Then Nathan said to the king, "Go, do all that is in your heart, for the LORD is with you."

4But it happened that night that the word of the LORD came to Nathan, saying, 5"Go and tell My servant David, 'Thus says the LORD: "Would you build a house for Me to dwell in? 6For I have not dwelt in a house since the time that I brought the children of Israel up from Egypt, even to this day, but have moved about in a tent and in a tabernacle. 7Wherever I have moved about with all the children of Israel, have I ever spoken a word to anyone from the tribes of Israel, whom I commanded to shepherd My people Israel, saying, 'Why have you not built Me a house of cedar?' " ' 8Now therefore, thus shall you say to My servant David, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts: "I took you from the sheepfold, from following the sheep, to be ruler over My people, over Israel. 9And I have been with you wherever you have gone, and have cut off all your enemies from before you, and have made you a great name, like the name of the great men who are on the earth. 10Moreover I will appoint a place for My people Israel, and will plant them, that they may dwell in a place of their own and move no more; nor shall the sons of wickedness oppress them anymore, as previously, 11since the time that I commanded judges to be over My people Israel, and have caused you to rest from all your

6:14 Dancing among the Jews was an act of worship celebrating a joyous occasion. The body moved rhythmically to the sound of tambourines and other musical instruments. Women danced most often, singly or in groups. When both sexes participated in a celebration, they usually danced separately (see Ex. 15, Dancing). Dancing as sensual entertainment is a Greek, not Hebrew, tradition. The "ephod" was a linen vest, worn by the priest over his robe and associated with service in the temple. It was much shorter than the usual outer garment, which made it convenient for dancing. This was probably not the distinctive ephod worn by the high priest (see chart, The High Priest's Clothing).

6:16 Michal, the daughter of Saul, was concerned with royal dignity. She therefore accused David of behavior unfitting his position when he danced in public before the Lord. She obviously did not share in David's enthusiasm when the ark arrived in Jerusalem. Perhaps she was bitter against her husband for personal reasons (see 2 Sam. 3:14, note), but her devotion to God also seemed superficial, and her main concern was the opinion of others. In this she was truly Saul's daughter. The childlessness that followed does not necessarily mean that David withdrew from her. It did insure, however, that no descendant of Saul would become heir to the throne of David (see 1 Sam. 18, Michal; chart, The Family Tree of David).

7:7 At a time in his life when David enjoyed peace and prosperity, he wished to honor God by building Him a permanent house of cedar, the finest material for construction in that day. A tent, on the other hand, was a temporary shelter with a plain interior used by nomads. David did not feel a tent was worthy lodging for God's ark in Jerusalem.

7:11–15 The Lord will make you a house. Although David wanted to honor God, he was not the one chosen to build God's house, nor was the time right for the construction of the temple (see 1 Chr. 22:7–10). However, God Himself promised a house to David, meaning a dynasty of kings who would lead Israel. God would have a special relationship with these descendants of David, treating them as a father does his sons. He would correct them when necessary but not reject them altogether. Second Samuel 7:12, 13 refer specifically to David's first successor, Solomon, who built the temple.

enemies. Also the LORD tells you that He will make you a house.[a] 12"When your days are fulfilled and you rest with your fathers, I will set up your seed after you, who will come from your body, and I will establish his kingdom. 13He shall build a house for My name, and I will establish the throne of his kingdom forever. 14I will be his Father, and he shall be My son. If he commits iniquity, I will chasten him with the rod of men and with the blows of the sons of men. 15But My mercy shall not depart from him, as I took it from Saul, whom I removed from before you. 16And your house and your kingdom shall be established forever before you.[a] Your throne shall be established forever." ' "

17According to all these words and according to all this vision, so Nathan spoke to David.

David's Thanksgiving to God

18Then King David went in and sat before the LORD; and he said: "Who am I, O Lord GOD? And what is my house, that You have brought me this far? 19And yet this was a small thing in Your sight, O Lord GOD; and You have also spoken of Your servant's house for a great while to come. Is this the manner of man, O Lord GOD? 20Now what more can David say to You? For You, Lord GOD, know Your servant. 21For Your word's sake, and according to Your own heart, You have done all these great things, to make Your servant know them. 22Therefore You are great, O Lord GOD.[a] For there is none like You, nor is there any God besides You, according to all that we have heard with our ears. 23And who is like Your people, like Israel, the one nation on the earth whom God went to redeem for Himself as a people, to make for Himself a name—and to do for Yourself great and awesome deeds for Your land—before Your people whom You redeemed for Yourself from Egypt, the nations, and their gods? 24For You have made Your people Israel Your very own people forever; and You, LORD, have become their God.

25"Now, O LORD God, the word which You have spoken concerning Your servant and concerning his house, establish it forever and do as You have said. 26So let Your name be magnified forever, saying, 'The LORD of hosts is the God over Israel.' And let the house of Your servant David be established before You. 27For You, O LORD of hosts, God of Israel, have revealed this to Your servant, saying, 'I will build you a house.' Therefore Your servant has found it in his heart to pray this prayer to You.

28"And now, O Lord GOD, You are God, and Your words are true, and You have promised this goodness to Your servant. 29Now therefore, let it please You to bless the house of Your servant, that it may continue before You forever; for You, O Lord GOD, have spoken it, and with Your blessing let the house of Your servant be blessed forever."

David's Further Conquests

8 After this it came to pass that David attacked the Philistines and subdued them. And David took Metheg Ammah from the hand of the Philistines.

2Then he defeated Moab. Forcing them down to the ground, he measured them off with a line. With two lines he measured off those to be put to death, and with one full line those to be kept alive. So the Moabites became David's servants, and brought tribute.

3David also defeated Hadadezer the son of Rehob, king of Zobah, as he went to recover his territory at the River Euphrates. 4David took from him one thousand chariots, seven hundred[a] horsemen, and twenty thousand foot soldiers. Also David hamstrung all the chariot horses, except that he spared enough of them for one hundred chariots.

7:16 Your throne shall be established forever. This promise of an eternal throne for David's line was a major factor in developing the hope of a Messiah among the people of Israel. In the later years of captivity, occupation, and exile, the people longed for the king who would restore to Israel the glory of David's reign. This prophecy would only be fulfilled when Jesus Christ, the Son of David, established His eternal kingdom on earth (Matt. 25:31).

8:2 He measured them off with a line. Two-thirds of the Moabite men were put to death, while a full third had their lives spared. This severe form of punishment was actually more humane than some of David's earlier attacks on other areas (1 Sam. 27:9, 11). David had previously asked the king of Moab to watch over his parents (1 Sam. 22:3), and Ruth the Moabitess was his ancestress (Ruth 4:17).

bronze. 11King David also dedicated these to the LORD, along with the silver and gold that he had dedicated from all the nations which he had subdued— 12from Syria,[a] from Moab, from the people of Ammon, from the Philistines, from Amalek, and from the spoil of Hadadezer the son of Rehob, king of Zobah.

13And David made himself a name when he returned from killing eighteen thousand Syrians[a] in the Valley of Salt. 14He also put garrisons in Edom; throughout all Edom he put garrisons, and all the Edomites became David's servants. And the LORD preserved David wherever he went.

David's Administration

15So David reigned over all Israel; and David administered judgment and justice to all his people. 16Joab the son of Zeruiah was over the army; Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was recorder; 17Zadok the son of Ahitub and Ahimelech the son of Abiathar were the priests; Seraiah[a] was the scribe; 18Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over both the Cherethites and the Pelethites; and David's sons were chief ministers.

David's Kindness to Mephibosheth

9 Now David said, "Is there still anyone who is left of the house of Saul, that I may show him kindness for Jonathan's sake?"

2And there was a servant of the house of Saul whose name was Ziba. So when they had called him to David, the king said to him, "Are you Ziba?"

He said, "At your service!"

3Then the king said, "Is there not still someone of the house of Saul, to whom I may show the kindness of God?"

And Ziba said to the king, "There is still a son of Jonathan who is lame in his feet."

4So the king said to him, "Where is he?"

And Ziba said to the king, "Indeed he is in the house of Machir the son of Ammiel, in Lo Debar."

5Then King David sent and brought him out of the house of Machir the son of Ammiel, from Lo Debar.

6Now when Mephibosheth the son of Jonathan, the son of Saul, had come to David, he fell on his face and prostrated himself. Then David said, "Mephibosheth?"

And he answered, "Here is your servant!"

7So David said to him, "Do not fear, for I will surely show you kindness for Jonathan your father's sake, and will restore to you all the land of Saul your grandfather; and you shall eat bread at my table continually."

8Then he bowed himself, and said, "What is your servant, that you should look upon such a dead dog as I?"

9And the king called to Ziba, Saul's servant, and said to him, "I have given to your master's son all that belonged to Saul and to all his house. 10You therefore, and your sons and your servants, shall work the land for him, and you shall bring in the harvest, that your master's son may have food to eat. But Mephibosheth your master's son shall eat bread at my table always." Now Ziba had fifteen sons and twenty servants.

11Then Ziba said to the king, "According to all that my lord the king has commanded his servant, so will your servant do."

"As for Mephibosheth," said the king, "he shall eat at my table[a] like one of the king's sons." 12Mephibosheth had a young son whose name was Micha. And all who dwelt in the house of Ziba were servants of Mephibosheth. 13So Mephibosheth dwelt in Jerusalem, for he ate continually at the king's table. And he was lame in both his feet.

The Ammonites and Syrians Defeated

8:15–18 David's conquests placed him at the head of a large territory that needed a well-organized administration. David himself was the supreme administration of justice. The recorder informed and advised the king on state business, while the scribe acted as secretary. The Cherethites and Pelethites were foreign mercenaries with special responsibility for the person of the king.

9:7 Do not fear. In the ancient world, kings customarily exterminated all members of the previous dynasty as potential rivals. So Mephibosheth had good reason to fear David. However, the king was not one to forget his promises (1 Sam. 20:15). He went beyond what was required by his covenant with Jonathan. He returned Saul's personal estates in the area assigned to the tribe of Benjamin to Mephibosheth and invited him to eat at the king's table, a special mark of honor.

reigned in his place. 2Then David said, "I will show kindness to Hanun the son of Nahash, as his father showed kindness to me."

So David sent by the hand of his servants to comfort him concerning his father. And David's servants came into the land of the people of Ammon. 3And the princes of the people of Ammon said to Hanun their lord, "Do you think that David really honors your father because he has sent comforters to you? Has David not rather sent his servants to you to search the city, to spy it out, and to overthrow it?"

4Therefore Hanun took David's servants, shaved off half of their beards, cut off their garments in the middle, at their buttocks, and sent them away. 5When they told David, he sent to meet them, because the men were greatly ashamed. And the king said, "Wait at Jericho until your beards have grown, and then return."

6When the people of Ammon saw that they had made themselves repulsive to David, the people of Ammon sent and hired the Syrians of Beth Rehob and the Syrians of Zoba, twenty thousand foot soldiers; and from the king of Maacah one thousand men, and from Ish-Tob twelve thousand men. 7Now when David heard of it, he sent Joab and all the army of the mighty men. 8Then the people of Ammon came out and put themselves in battle array at the entrance of the gate. And the Syrians of Zoba, Beth Rehob, Ish-Tob, and Maacah were by themselves in the field.

15When the Syrians saw that they had been defeated by Israel, they gathered together. 16Then Hadadezer[a] sent and brought out the Syrians who were beyond the River,[b] and they came to Helam. And Shobach the commander of Hadadezer's army went before them. 17When it was told David, he gathered all Israel, crossed over the Jordan, and came to Helam. And the Syrians set themselves in battle array against David and fought with him. 18Then the Syrians fled before Israel; and David killed seven hundred charioteers and forty thousand horsemen of the Syrians, and struck Shobach the commander of their army, who died there. 19And when all the kings who were servants to Hadadezer[a] saw that they were defeated by Israel, they made peace with Israel and served them. So the Syrians were afraid to help the people of Ammon anymore.

David, Bathsheba, and Uriah

11 It happened in the spring of the year, at the time when kings go out to battle, that David sent Joab and his servants with him, and all Israel; and they destroyed the people of Ammon and besieged Rabbah. But David remained at Jerusalem.

2Then it happened one evening that David arose from his bed and walked on the roof of the king's house. And from the roof he saw a woman bathing, and the woman was very beautiful to behold. 3So David sent and inquired about the woman. And someone said, "Is this not Bathsheba, the daughter of Eliam, the wife of Uriah the Hittite?" 4Then David sent messengers, and took her; and she came to him, and he lay with her, for she was cleansed from her impurity; and she returned to her house. 5And the woman conceived; so she sent and told David, and said, "I am with child."

6Then David sent to Joab, saying, "Send me Uriah the Hittite." And Joab sent Uriah to David. 7When Uriah had come to him, David asked how Joab was doing, and how the people were doing, and how the war prospered. 8And David said to 10:4 Most Hebrew men wore full beards, which they kept and oiled with pride. To shave off half the beard of David's servants, as well as to cut their clothing to an indecent length, was a grave insult. This action was especially provocative because these men, as ambassadors of a king, should have been granted the usual diplomatic immunity. The whole incident was a deliberate affront to David.

11:2 David saw a woman bathing. Instead of leading his army to battle, David chose to remain in the comfort of his palace. After resting in the heat of the day, he went out to enjoy the cooler evening breezes on the flat roof, which functioned as a terrace of his house. Apparently, the king's palace rose above most other buildings so that David was in a good position to gaze into the closely connected courtyards and terraces of Jerusalem. In this way, he happened to see a woman bathing in the privacy of her home (see Bathsheba). Therefore, Bathsheba should not be accused of seeking the king's attention. The text does not indicate that she resisted his advances, but nowhere is she mentioned as a guilty party. In Nathan's parable, she even seems to be a victim, as she could be likened to the stolen lamb (2 Sam. 12:3, 4).

11:8 Wash your feet is a phrase that meant "make yourself comfortable in your house." Some interpret this as a euphemism for the male genitals, thereby suggesting directly sex-

Uriah, "Go down to your house and wash your feet." So Uriah departed from the king's house, and a gift of food from the king followed him. 9But Uriah slept at the door of the king's house with all the servants of his lord, and did not go down to his house. 10So when they told David, saying, "Uriah did not go down to his house," David said to Uriah, "Did you not come from a journey? Why did you not go down to your house?"

11And Uriah said to David, "The ark and Israel and Judah are dwelling in tents, and my lord Joab and the servants of my lord are encamped in the open fields. Shall I then go to my house to eat and drink, and to lie with my wife? As you live, and as your soul lives, I will not do this thing."

12Then David said to Uriah, "Wait here today also, and tomorrow I will let you depart." So Uriah remained in Jerusalem that day and the next. 13Now when David called him, he ate and drank before him; and he made him drunk. And at evening he went out to lie on his bed with the servants of his lord, but he did not go down to his house.

14In the morning it happened that David wrote a letter to Joab and sent it by the hand of Uriah. 15And he wrote in the letter, saying, "Set Uriah in the forefront of the hottest battle, and retreat from him, that he may be struck down and die." 16So it was, while Joab besieged the city, that he assigned Uriah to a place where he knew there were valiant men. 17Then the men of the city came out and fought with Joab. And some of the people of the servants of David fell; and Uriah the Hittite died also.

18Then Joab sent and told David all the things concerning the war, 19and charged the messenger, saying, "When you have finished telling the matters of the war to the king, 20if it happens that the king's wrath rises, and he says to you: 'Why did you approach so near to the city when you fought? Did you not know that they would shoot from the wall? 21Who struck Abimelech the son of Jerubbesheth?[a] Was it not a woman who cast a piece of a millstone on him from the wall, so that he died in Thebez? Why did you go near the wall?'—then you shall say, 'Your servant Uriah the Hittite is dead also.' "

22So the messenger went, and came and told David all that Joab had sent by him. 23And the messenger said to David, "Surely the men prevailed against us and came out to us in the field; then we drove them back as far as the entrance of the gate. 24The archers shot from the wall at your servants; and some of the king's servants are dead, and your servant Uriah the Hittite is dead also."

25Then David said to the messenger, "Thus you shall say to Joab: 'Do not let this thing displease you, for the sword devours one as well as another. Strengthen your attack against the city, and overthrow it.' So encourage him."

26When the wife of Uriah heard that Uriah her husband was dead, she mourned for her husband. 27And when her mourning was over, David sent and brought her to his house, and she became his wife and bore him a son. But the thing that David had done displeased the LORD.

Nathan's Parable and David's Confession

12 Then the LORD sent Nathan to David. And he came to him, and said to him: "There were two men in one city, one rich and the other poor. 2The rich man had exceedingly many flocks and herds. 3But the poor man had nothing, except one little ewe lamb which he had bought and nourished; and it grew up together with him and with his children. It ate of his own food and drank from his own cup and lay in his bosom; and it was like a daughter to him. 4And a traveler came to the rich man, who refused to take from his own flock and from his own herd to prepare one for the wayfaring man who had come to him; but he took the poor man's lamb and prepared it for the man who had come to him."

5So David's anger was greatly aroused against the man, and he said to Nathan, "As the LORD lives, the man who has done this shall surely die! 6And he shall restore fourfold for the lamb, because he did this thing and because he had no pity."

11:21 [a]Same as Jerubbaal (Gideon), Judges 6:32ff

ual coitus. With these words, David was suggesting that Uriah go home and lie with his wife, as is made clear (v. 11). However, a soldier in ancient times was expected to refrain from sexual activity during a military campaign. Uriah the Hittite was a man of principle. His name meant "Yahweh is my light," indicating that he worshiped God, although he was not of Hebrew origin. He was a loyal mercenary in the king's personal guard, listed among David's mighty men (2 Sam. 23:39). Perhaps, due to gossip, Uriah suspected the king's relationship with his wife. But his strong resolve, even in a drunken state, is in clear contrast to the king's self-indulgence. To cover up his sin of adultery, David was ready to murder an innocent, valiant, and trustworthy man.

11:15 David and Bathsheba should both have been sentenced to death, if they had been found lying together, because she was already married to Uriah (Deut. 22:22). Bathsheba's pregnancy would have revealed their adultery as her husband had been away from her the whole spring season. If Uriah had spent one night with his wife when he was called back to Jerusalem, the matter could have remained hidden. But since Uriah refused to do so, the only way David could protect his own name was to have Uriah killed immediately. He could then quickly marry Bathsheba, and her pregnancy would cause no further difficulty. So David plotted an "accidental" death for Uriah in order to protect himself.

BATHSHEBA Forgiven and Restored

Bathsheba was the beautiful wife of Uriah the Hittite, who was a trusted and loyal commander in the king's army. When Bathsheba knew she was pregnant by the adulterous encounter with King David, she sent word to the king. David brought her husband home from battle, hoping Uriah would enjoy intimacy with Bathsheba and thereby perceive himself as the father of her unborn child. When this plan went awry, David arranged for Uriah's death on the battlefield, then sent his messengers and brought Bathsheba to his palace. Though perhaps she could have rejected the king's initial overtures, by this point she obviously had no choice in the matter.

Did she realize that her husband's death was the result of deliberate orders by the king? What went through her mind on hearing the prophet Nathan's words of judgment on the king? When David came to comfort her after the death of their child (2 Sam. 12:24), did she recoil from the man whose lust for her had caused the death of a loyal and trusting husband and brought judgment on her child? She mourned for her husband (2 Sam. 11:26), and her heart must have broken as she held her dying baby, watching helplessly as life slipped out of the tiny body. In spite of her love and even the king's fasting and pleading before God for his son's life, the little one died. However, in due time, another son, Solomon, was born to her.

As queen, she must have been aware of the various intrigues which occurred when David's sons rose up against him and vied with each other to take power from the king. When David was near the end of his life, Bathsheba heard rumblings that another of David's sons, Adonijah, had set himself up as king. Politically astute enough to realize that her own son's succession was in danger, she must have been grateful when the prophet Nathan presented a plan for insuring the fulfillment of David's promise that Solomon would sit on his throne.

Realizing he must act quickly to establish Solomon as the successor to the throne in the eyes of the people, David gave instructions for the high priest to anoint Solomon as king. Solomon then served as a co-regent until David's death. As Queen Mother, Bathsheba enjoyed additional respect and exercised authority over the women of the king's house.

Bathsheba lived long. She had been a victim of a king's lust, a grieving mother, a political schemer, and a revered Queen Mother. Her experiences encompassed the worst and the best, the heights and the depths of human circumstance and emotion. But perhaps the notoriety of her scandalous adultery is ultimately overshadowed by her legacy as mother of the wisest of Israel's kings.

[7]Then Nathan said to David, "You are the man! Thus says the LORD God of Israel: 'I anointed you king over Israel, and I delivered you from the hand of Saul. [8]I gave you your master's house and your master's wives into your keeping, and gave you the house of Israel and Judah. And if that had been too little, I also would have given you much more! [9]Why have you despised the commandment of the LORD, to do evil in His sight? You have killed Uriah the Hittite with the sword; you have taken his wife to be your wife, and have killed him with the sword of the people of Ammon. [10]Now therefore, the sword shall never depart from your house, because you have despised Me, and have taken the wife of Uriah the Hittite to be your wife.' [11]Thus says the LORD: 'Behold, I will raise up adversity against you from your own house; and I will take your wives before your eyes and give them to your neighbor, and he shall lie with your wives in the sight of this sun. [12]For you did it secretly, but I will do this thing before all Israel, before the sun.' "

And Nathan said to David, "The LORD also has put away your sin; you shall not die. [14]However, because by this deed you have given great occasion to the enemies of the LORD to blaspheme, the 12:7–14 Nathan appealed to David as supreme judge of the land. With his clever story, he made David condemn himself with his own mouth. Nathan then boldly delivered God's message to the king: "You are the man" who deserves to die (v. 7). David's main problem was his heart attitude. In the midst of power and prosperity, he had lost a proper reverence for God's Law. He used his position as king to avoid getting caught (see 2 Sam. 11:15, note). His sin was first against God (see David's words, Ps. 51). When David acknowledged this, his death sentence was annulled and his relationship with God was fully restored. This restored relationship can be seen in the attitude of trust and hope he later displayed, even when he was suffering under God's correction (2 Sam. 12:22; 16:10–12). Although David's sin was forgiven, the consequences of his actions could not be avoided. First of all, his sons followed his example, which led to violent deaths for Amnon and Absalom as well as to further trauma in his dynasty. Then, because David had brought shame to God's cause, his actions were publicly condemned. Absalom led a revolution against his father and took the wives of his father for all to see.

child also who is born to you shall surely die." [15]Then Nathan departed to his house.

The Death of David's Son

And the LORD struck the child that Uriah's wife bore to David, and it became ill. [16]David therefore pleaded with God for the child, and David fasted and went in and lay all night on the ground. [17]So the elders of his house arose and went to him, to raise him up from the ground. But he would not, nor did he eat food with them. [18]Then on the seventh day it came to pass that the child died. And the servants of David were afraid to tell him that the child was dead. For they said, "Indeed, while the child was alive, we spoke to him, and he would not heed our voice. How can we tell him that the child is dead? He may do some harm!"

[19]When David saw that his servants were whispering, David perceived that the child was dead. Therefore David said to his servants, "Is the child dead?"

And they said, "He is dead."

[20]So David arose from the ground, washed and anointed himself, and changed his clothes; and he went into the house of the LORD and worshiped. Then he went to his own house; and when he requested, they set food before him, and he ate. [21]Then his servants said to him, "What is this that you have done? You fasted and wept for the child while he was alive, but when the child died, you arose and ate food."

[22]And he said, "While the child was alive, I fasted and wept; for I said, 'Who can tell whether the LORD[a] will be gracious to me, that the child may live?' [23]But now he is dead; why should I fast? Can I bring him back again? I shall go to him, but he shall not return to me."

Solomon Is Born

[24]Then David comforted Bathsheba his wife, and went in to her and lay with her. So she bore a son, and he[a] called his name Solomon. Now the LORD loved him, [25]and He sent word by the hand of Nathan the prophet: So he[a] called his name Jedidiah,[b] because of the LORD.

Rabbah Is Captured

[26]Now Joab fought against Rabbah of the people of Ammon, and took the royal city. [27]And Joab sent messengers to David, and said, "I have fought against Rabbah, and I have taken the city's water supply. [28]Now therefore, gather the rest of the people together and encamp against the city and take it, lest I take the city and it be called after my name." [29]So David gathered all the people together and went to Rabbah, fought against it, and took it. [30]Then he took their king's crown from his head. Its weight was a talent of gold, with precious stones. And it was set on David's head. Also he brought out the spoil of the city in great abundance. [31]And he brought out the people who were in it, and put them to work with saws and iron picks and iron axes, and made them cross over to the brick works. So he did to all the cities of the people of Ammon. Then David and all the people returned to Jerusalem.

Amnon and Tamar

13 After this Absalom the son of David had a lovely sister, whose name was Tamar; and Amnon the son of David loved her. [2]Amnon was so distressed over his sister Tamar that he became sick; for she was a virgin. And it was improper for Amnon to do anything to her. [3]But Amnon had a friend whose name was Jonadab the son of Shimeah, David's brother. Now Jonadab was a very crafty man. [4]And he said to him, "Why are you, the king's son, becoming thinner day after day? Will you not tell me?"

Amnon said to him, "I love Tamar, my brother Absalom's sister."

[5]So Jonadab said to him, "Lie down on your bed and pretend to be ill. And when your father comes to see you, say to him, 'Please let my sister Tamar come and give me food, and prepare the food in my sight, that I may see it and eat it from her hand.' " [6]Then Amnon lay down and pretended to be ill; and when the king came to see him, Amnon said to the king, "Please let Tamar my sister come and make a couple of cakes for me in my sight, that I may eat from her hand."

[7]And David sent home to Tamar, saying, "Now

12:23 David was not following the usual custom of mourning after the death of his child (see 2 Sam. 1:2, note). He had fasted and remained lying on the ground for a week during the child's illness. This was the sign of a spiritual struggle, an humble pleading with God to negate the consequence of his sin. When the child died, however, David showed his acceptance of God's correction by resuming a normal life. He recognized that though the child would not return, he himself would join the child someday. Exactly how much David understood of the afterlife is not clear, but this thought seems to have brought him comfort (2 Sam. 13:23, 24).

13:1–5 Tamar was Absalom's sister but only a half-sister to Amnon. Because she was of marriageable age, she was kept under close surveillance. However, Jonadab suggested a way for Amnon to gain the king's permission to see her alone. Customarily a special meal was prepared for the person who was ill. The cooking was usually done in a side-chamber, as the sick person watched from his bed. The dish was then carried to him by a servant. Amnon's request to have Tamar herself feed him was interpreted as the whim of a spoiled prince. The servants were sent away out of consideration for his illness as well as his high position.

DATE RAPE A TRAGIC ENCOUNTER

The pain of being raped while on a date evokes strong emotions such as shock, denial, shame, guilt, anger, and depression. The woman may ask herself how she could have allowed such a situation to occur, why her judgment of character was not better, or what she did that might have caused the man to rape her. She may feel dirty or sinful as a result of the abuse she has experienced. She may also feel hostility and anger, wanting the individual to suffer as she has suffered.

The victim of a date rape needs the comfort of believers (2 Cor. 1:3, 4) during the initial period of shock as she begins to accept what has happened to her. The victim must not take upon herself responsibility for the perpetrator's behavior.

The emotional healing process nearly always includes:

1) Asking God's cleansing for the guilt she feels, even as the innocent party (Ps. 51:10–13).
2) Forgiving the rapist for his actions lest she harbor anger that might lead to bitterness or some other destructive behavior (Gal. 5:19–21; 1 Thess. 5:15; Heb. 12:15).
3) Renewing her commitment to the Lord, knowing that He does not will evil upon her and that when He allows a tragedy, He is ever working to bring restoration and growth (Rom. 8:28).
4) Moving forward with her life with a determination to grow through this experience, allowing God to guide her as she develops relationships with other believers.

go to your brother Amnon's house, and prepare food for him." 8So Tamar went to her brother Amnon's house; and he was lying down. Then she took flour and kneaded it, made cakes in his sight, and baked the cakes. 9And she took the pan and placed them out before him, but he refused to eat. Then Amnon said, "Have everyone go out from me." And they all went out from him. 10Then Amnon said to Tamar, "Bring the food into the bedroom, that I may eat from your hand." And Tamar took the cakes which she had made, and brought them to Amnon her brother in the bedroom. 11Now when she had brought them to him to eat, he took hold of her and said to her, "Come, lie with me, my sister."

12But she answered him, "No, my brother, do not force me, for no such thing should be done in Israel. Do not do this disgraceful thing! 13And I, where could I take my shame? And as for you, you would be like one of the fools in Israel. Now therefore, please speak to the king; for he will not withhold me from you." 14However, he would not heed her voice; and being stronger than she, he forced her and lay with her.

15Then Amnon hated her exceedingly, so that the hatred with which he hated her was greater than the love with which he had loved her. And Amnon said to her, "Arise, be gone!"

16So she said to him, "No, indeed! This evil of sending me away is worse than the other that you did to me."

But he would not listen to her. 17Then he called his servant who attended him, and said, "Here! Put this woman out, away from me, and bolt the door behind her." 18Now she had on a robe of many colors, for the king's virgin daughters wore such apparel. And his servant put her out and bolted the door behind her.

19Then Tamar put ashes on her head, and tore her robe of many colors that was on her, and laid her hand on her head and went away crying bitterly. 20And Absalom her brother said to her, "Has Amnon your brother been with you? But now hold your peace, my sister. He is your brother; do not

13:13 Tamar's response to Amnon's advances was gentle and reasonable (see Tamar). In a touching way she suggested they might be allowed to marry. Though the marriage of half-brothers and sisters was forbidden, this commandment may not have been strictly observed at that time (Lev. 18:11). However, mad with passion, Amnon would not listen to reason. He was intent on satisfying his lust, regardless of the consequences. His attraction then quickly turned to disgust (see Date Rape; Gen. 34, Rape). This lack of restraint seems characteristic of his behavior (2 Sam. 13:20) and indicates the lack of discipline he received while growing up. In addition, David had not set a good example for his son when he took the wife of another (2 Sam. 11). Finally, the presence in the same family of half-brothers and sisters, the children of David's many wives, increased the potential for abuse and incest.

13:20 Tamar's reaction to rape was natural and healthy, showing proper self-respect. She mourned openly, tearing her clothes and weeping loudly. Absalom's attitude was typical of some family members who are confronted with incest. Absalom asked her to keep silent in order to protect the family name. He also minimized the offense because her half-brother was involved. However, Tamar was deeply affected by this violence and rejection. Not only did it leave her with a take this thing to heart." So Tamar remained desolate in her brother Absalom's house.

21But when King David heard of all these things, he was very angry. 22And Absalom spoke to his brother Amnon neither good nor bad. For Absalom hated Amnon, because he had forced his sister Tamar.

Absalom Murders Amnon

23And it came to pass, after two full years, that Absalom had sheepshearers in Baal Hazor, which is near Ephraim; so Absalom invited all the king's sons. 24Then Absalom came to the king and said, "Kindly note, your servant has sheepshearers; please, let the king and his servants go with your servant."

25But the king said to Absalom, "No, my son, let us not all go now, lest we be a burden to you." Then he urged him, but he would not go; and he blessed him.

26Then Absalom said, "If not, please let my brother Amnon go with us."

And the king said to him, "Why should he go with you?" 27But Absalom urged him; so he let Amnon and all the king's sons go with him.

28Now Absalom had commanded his servants, saying, "Watch now, when Amnon's heart is merry with wine, and when I say to you, 'Strike Amnon!' then kill him. Do not be afraid. Have I not commanded you? Be courageous and valiant." 29So the servants of Absalom did to Amnon as Absalom had commanded. Then all the king's sons arose, and each one got on his mule and fled.

30And it came to pass, while they were on the way, that news came to David, saying, "Absalom has killed all the king's sons, and not one of them is left!" 31So the king arose and tore his garments and lay on the ground, and all his servants stood by with their clothes torn. 32Then Jonadab the son of Shimeah, David's brother, answered and said, "Let not my lord suppose they have killed all the young men, the king's sons, for only Amnon is dead. For by the command of Absalom this has been determined from the day that he forced his sister Tamar. 33Now therefore, let not my lord the king take the thing to his heart, to think that all the king's sons are dead. For only Amnon is dead."

Absalom Flees to Geshur

34Then Absalom fled. And the young man who was keeping watch lifted his eyes and looked, and there, many people were coming from the road on the hillside behind him.[a] 35And Jonadab said to the king, "Look, the king's sons are coming; as your servant said, so it is." 36So it was, as soon as he had finished speaking, that the king's sons indeed came, and they lifted up their voice and wept. Also the king and all his servants wept very bitterly.

37But Absalom fled and went to Talmai the son of Ammihud, king of Geshur. And David mourned for his son every day. 38So Absalom fled and went to Geshur, and was there three years. 39And King David[a] longed to go to[b] Absalom. For he had been comforted concerning Amnon, because he was dead.

Absalom Returns to Jerusalem

14 So Joab the son of Zeruiah perceived that the king's heart was concerned about Absalom. 2And Joab sent to Tekoa and brought from there a wise woman, and said to her, "Please pretend to be a mourner, and put on mourning apparel; do not anoint yourself with oil, but act like a woman who has been mourning a long time for the dead. 3Go to the king and speak to him in this manner." So Joab put the words in her mouth.

4And when the woman of Tekoa spoke[a] to the king, she fell on her face to the ground and prostrated herself, and said, "Help, O king!"

5Then the king said to her, "What troubles you?"

And she answered, "Indeed I am a widow, my husband is dead. 6Now your maidservant had two sons; and the two fought with each other in the field, and there was no one to part them, but the one struck the other and killed him. 7And now the whole family has risen up against your maidservant, and they permanent social stigma, which meant she would probably never marry, but the wrong done to her had not been addressed. David had rushed to Amnon's bedside when he was ill (v. 6), but he did nothing, it seems, to help his daughter. He was angry, but weak, when it came to punishing his eldest son. When David did not take action, Absalom also chose to remain silent. Instead of resolving the issue, he let his anger grow and plotted revenge. If he had dealt with Amnon justly, David might have avoided the murder and rebellion of which Absalom later became guilty (see 2 Sam. 14:27, note).

13:38 Absalom fled to Geshur. Absalom's mother, Maacah, was the daughter of King Talmai (see chart, The Family Tree of David). David's marriage to her was based on a political alliance, not a common faith in the God of Israel. In spite of his education in the palace of Jerusalem, Absalom was no doubt influenced by the pagan values of his mother's family. He returned from exile in Geshur with a proud, rebellious spirit.

14:7 When a man was murdered, the nearest of kin was bound by sacred duty to seek vengeance (Num. 35; Deut. 19). In this case, the woman's family, in avenging the death of one son, would be taking the life of the other. Their main interest was not in seeking justice but in taking over her husband's possessions by eliminating his remaining heir. The king, as supreme judge, had the power to override the custom of blood vengeance.

TAMAR A Violated Princess

Many women, though not members of a royal family, can identify with Tamar. What they have in common with her is the horrifying experience of having been raped by someone they assumed could be trusted, whether a family member, a friend, or an acquaintance.

Tamar should have had little reason to fear for her personal safety. She was the daughter of King David and Princess Maacah (see 2 Sam. 3:3) and the beautiful sister of Absalom. She wore the richly colored robes of a princess and no doubt lived a secluded, pampered life.

Her half brother Amnon, overcome by her beauty and his own lust, with the help of his crafty friend and cousin, concocted a foolproof method by which he could spend time alone with her. Pretending to be sick, he requested of his father King David that Tamar be the one to come and prepare a meal for him and feed him in his illness.

Having no reason to be suspicious or fearful of her own half brother, Tamar obliged by going to Amnon's house to make breadlike cakes for him. When she offered the cakes to Amnon, however, he refused to eat them. Sending all the servants from the room, he asked that Tamar bring the cakes and feed him in the bedroom.

There, to her horror and despair, he raped her. She protested; she resisted; she begged him not to disgrace her by this shameful act. She tried persuasion; she even suggested that a request for permission to marry her would probably be granted by the king (Abraham had married his half sister Sarah; see Gen. 20:12), but she could not escape his violence.

After his lust was satisfied, Amnon's feelings changed from "love" to utter hatred and contempt. Compounding his sinful act, he had the servants throw Tamar out as if she were a piece of trash to be discarded after use.

Tamar's grief was such that she tore her beautiful robes and put ashes on her head in grief and humiliation. Understanding the emotional damage involved in rape and the consequent necessity for strong support of its victims, we can imagine how she must have felt. Her own brother Absalom callously brushed off her experience, "Hold your peace . . . do not take this thing to heart" (2 Sam. 13:20). Even King David, her own father, though he was angry, did nothing. While Absalom eventually had Amnon killed in retribution (2 Sam. 13:32), Tamar suffered the lifelong emotional trauma. Even though she was a princess, her royal status could neither protect her from an act of sexual violence nor provide the emotional support she needed to begin the process of healing. Countless women like Tamar have known the fear, pain, and shame of being raped by someone they trusted; and, like her, they need love, understanding, and compassion, which ultimately can be found only in the Lord, who is the "God of all comfort" (2 Cor 1:3; see also 2 Cor. 5:17; Heb. 4:16).

said, 'Deliver him who struck his brother, that we may execute him for the life of his brother whom he killed; and we will destroy the heir also.' So they would extinguish my ember that is left, and leave to my husband neither name nor remnant on the earth."

8 Then the king said to the woman, "Go to your house, and I will give orders concerning you."

9 And the woman of Tekoa said to the king, "My lord, O king, let the iniquity be on me and on my father's house, and the king and his throne be guiltless."

10 So the king said, "Whoever says anything to you, bring him to me, and he shall not touch you anymore."

11 Then she said, "Please let the king remember the LORD your God, and do not permit the avenger of blood to destroy anymore, lest they destroy my son."

And he said, "As the LORD lives, not one hair of your son shall fall to the ground."

12 Therefore the woman said, "Please, let your maidservant speak another word to my lord the king."

And he said, "Say on."

13 So the woman said: "Why then have you schemed such a thing against the people of God? For the king speaks this thing as one who is guilty, in that the king does not bring his banished one home again. 14 For we will surely die and become like water spilled on the ground, which cannot be gathered up again. Yet God does not take away a life; but He devises means, so that His banished ones are not expelled from Him. 15 Now therefore, I have come to speak of this thing to my lord the king because the people have made me afraid. And your maidservant said, 'I will now speak to the king; it may be that the king will perform the request of his maidservant. 16For the king will hear and deliver his maidservant from the hand of the man who would destroy me and my son together from the inheritance of God.' 17Your maidservant said, 'The word of my lord the king will now be comforting; for as the angel of God, so is my lord the king in discerning good and evil. And may the LORD your God be with you.' "

14:14 The woman of Tekoa compared the passing of our days to water that is poured out on the ground and cannot be recaptured (see The Wise Woman of Tekoa). This applied to David's own life and his need for a successor and emphasized how little time may have been left for a reconciliation with Absalom. The woman then reminded David of the mercy God shows to sinners. He had provided cities of refuge for murderers (Num. 35:15). She may also have meant that David himself had deserved to die but was granted forgiveness (2 Sam. 12:13). With this striking image, she encouraged the king to pardon his son while there was still time.

18Then the king answered and said to the woman, "Please do not hide from me anything that I ask you."

And the woman said, "Please, let my lord the king speak."

19So the king said, "Is the hand of Joab with you in all this?" And the woman answered and said, "As you live, my lord the king, no one can turn to the right hand or to the left from anything that my lord the king has spoken. For your servant Joab commanded me, and he put all these words in the mouth of your maidservant. 20To bring about this change of affairs your servant Joab has done this thing; but my lord is wise, according to the wisdom of the angel of God, to know everything that is in the earth."

21And the king said to Joab, "All right, I have granted this thing. Go therefore, bring back the young man Absalom."

22Then Joab fell to the ground on his face and bowed himself, and thanked the king. And Joab said, "Today your servant knows that I have found favor in your sight, my lord, O king, in that the king has fulfilled the request of his servant." 23So Joab arose and went to Geshur, and brought Absalom to Jerusalem. 24And the king said, "Let him return to his own house, but do not let him see my face." So Absalom returned to his own house, but did not see the king's face.

David Forgives Absalom

25Now in all Israel there was no one who was praised as much as Absalom for his good looks. From the sole of his foot to the crown of his head there was no blemish in him. 26And when he cut the hair of his head—at the end of every year he cut it because it was heavy on him—when he cut it, he weighed the hair of his head at two hundred shekels according to the king's standard. 27To Absalom were born three sons, and one daughter whose name was Tamar. She was a woman of beautiful appearance.

28And Absalom dwelt two full years in Jerusalem, but did not see the king's face. 29Therefore Absalom sent for Joab, to send him to the king, but he would not come to him. And when he sent again the second time, he would not come. 30So he said to his servants, "See, Joab's field is near mine, and he has barley there; go and set it on fire." And Absalom's servants set the field on fire.

31Then Joab arose and came to Absalom's house, and said to him, "Why have your servants set my field on fire?"

32And Absalom answered Joab, "Look, I sent to you, saying, 'Come here, so that I may send you to the king, to say, "Why have I come from Geshur? It would be better for me to be there still." ' Now therefore, let me see the king's face; but if there is iniquity in me, let him execute me."

33So Joab went to the king and told him. And when he had called for Absalom, he came to the king and bowed himself on his face to the ground before the king. Then the king kissed Absalom.

Absalom's Treason

15 After this it happened that Absalom provided himself with chariots and horses, and fifty men to run before him. 2Now Absalom would rise early and stand beside the way to the gate. So it was, whenever anyone who had a lawsuit came to the king for a decision, that Absalom would call to him and say, "What city are you from?" And he would say, "Your servant is from such and such a tribe of Israel." 3Then Absalom would say to him, "Look, your case is good and right; but there is no deputy of the king to hear you." 4Moreover Absalom would say, "Oh, that I were made judge in the land, and everyone who has any suit or cause would come to me; then I would give him justice." 5And so it was, whenever anyone came near to bow

14:26 Absalom's hair probably weighed between 4 and 5 pounds. The king's standard weight was recognized both in Israel and Babylon. Absalom was admired by the people as an attractive and refined prince, the likely successor to David's throne after the death of his brother Amnon.

14:27 Absalom's sister Tamar, who had been raped by their half-brother Amnon, had found refuge in Absalom's house, where she lived as a widow (see 2 Sam. 13, Tamar). In giving her name to a little niece, the family showed the love and consideration with which she was treated, thus ending her tragic story on a comforting note (see 2 Sam. 13, notes).

15:2 The gate of the city was the place where commercial and legal transactions took place. Absalom intercepted those who were coming to the king for justice and expressed great sympathy for whatever grievances they might have felt against David's administration. Perhaps the king had become slow and complacent; perhaps he was unequal to his tremendous task as supreme judge. Absalom was patient and methodical in planning his rebellion. He impressed the people with pomp and ceremony, as well as a feigned interest in their problems. As the eldest living prince, Absalom could have merely waited to succeed his father. He may have feared being passed over because of their forced reconciliation. He was angered by the indecisive way David had dealt with him in the past and was motivated by arrogance and ruthless ambition (2 Sam. 14:32).

THE WISE WOMAN OF TEKOA

David faced a major dilemma: Was he first a father or a king? His beloved son Absalom had been in exile for three years after killing his brother Amnon. David longed for his son but could not justify the return of a murderer.

Joab sensed the king's inner conflict and believed Absalom would be a good successor to the throne. To change David's mind, he sought out a woman of unusual ability, a good actress, quick-witted and subtle. The wise woman of Tekoa was well known for her talent with oratory and intrigue. She agreed to dress as a widow in deep mourning and approach the king with the story Joab gave her. According to this story, one of her sons had killed the other and was now being pursued by her clan for murder. If he died, she would be left alone, without resource or heir to the family name. Tekoa was far enough from Jerusalem that her story could not easily be verified.

Her presentation was brilliant, with vivid imagery (see 2 Sam. 14:14, note), moving David to compassion. She was insisting that he commit himself in her favor without giving away the real purpose of her mission. With tact and respect, she prompted David to follow his own inclination and call Absalom back to Jerusalem.

This woman's charm and eloquence make her speech one of the finest recorded in the Bible, but perhaps, by pleading Absalom's case, she did not use her wisdom in a worthy cause. A woman's influence, like all God-given resources, should be exercised with responsible stewardship.

down to him, that he would put out his hand and take him and kiss him. 6In this manner Absalom acted toward all Israel who came to the king for judgment. So Absalom stole the hearts of the men of Israel.

7Now it came to pass after forty[a] years that Absalom said to the king, "Please, let me go to Hebron and pay the vow which I made to the LORD. 8For your servant took a vow while I dwelt at Geshur in Syria, saying, 'If the LORD indeed brings me back to Jerusalem, then I will serve the LORD.' "

9And the king said to him, "Go in peace." So he arose and went to Hebron.

10Then Absalom sent spies throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying, "As soon as you hear the sound of the trumpet, then you shall say, 'Absalom reigns in Hebron!' " 11And with Absalom went two hundred men invited from Jerusalem, and they went along innocently and did not know anything. 12Then Absalom sent for Ahithophel the Gilonite, David's counselor, from his city—from Giloh—while he offered sacrifices. And the conspiracy grew strong, for the people with Absalom continually increased in number.

David Escapes from Jerusalem

13Now a messenger came to David, saying, "The hearts of the men of Israel are with Absalom."

14So David said to all his servants who were with him at Jerusalem, "Arise, and let us flee, or we shall not escape from Absalom. Make haste to depart, lest he overtake us suddenly and bring disaster upon us, and strike the city with the edge of the sword."

15And the king's servants said to the king, "We are your servants, ready to do whatever my lord the king commands." 16Then the king went out with all his household after him. But the king left ten women, concubines, to keep the house. 17And the king went out with all the people after him, and stopped at the outskirts. 18Then all his servants passed before him; and all the Cherethites, all the Pelethites, and all the Gittites, six hundred men who had followed him from Gath, passed before the king.

19Then the king said to Ittai the Gittite, "Why are you also going with us? Return and remain with the king. For you are a foreigner and also an exile from your own place. 20In fact, you came only yesterday. Should I make you wander up and down with us today, since I go I know not where? Return, and take your brethren back. Mercy and truth be with you."

21But Ittai answered the king and said, "As the LORD lives, and as my lord the king lives, surely in whatever place my lord the king shall be, whether in death or life, even there also your servant will be."

22So David said to Ittai, "Go, and cross over." Then Ittai the Gittite and all his men and all the little ones who were with him crossed over. 23And all the country wept with a loud voice, and all the people crossed over. The king himself also crossed over the Brook Kidron, and all the people crossed over toward the way of the wilderness.

24There was Zadok also, and all the Levites with him, bearing the ark of the covenant of God. And they set down the ark of God, and Abiathar went up until all the people had finished crossing over from the city. 25Then the king said to Zadok, 15:7 [a]Septuagint manuscripts, Syriac, and Josephus read four.

"Carry the ark of God back into the city. If I find favor in the eyes of the LORD, He will bring me back and show me both it and His dwelling place. 26But if He says thus: 'I have no delight in you,' here I am, let Him do to me as seems good to Him." 27The king also said to Zadok the priest, "Are you not a seer? Return to the city in peace, and your two sons with you, Ahimaaz your son, and Jonathan the son of Abiathar. 28See, I will wait in the plains of the wilderness until word comes from you to inform me." 29Therefore Zadok and Abiathar carried the ark of God back to Jerusalem. And they remained there.

30So David went up by the Ascent of the Mount of Olives, and wept as he went up; and he had his head covered and went barefoot. And all the people who were with him covered their heads and went up, weeping as they went up. 31Then someone told David, saying, "Ahithophel is among the conspirators with Absalom." And David said, "O LORD, I pray, turn the counsel of Ahithophel into foolishness!"

32Now it happened when David had come to the top of the mountain, where he worshiped God—there was Hushai the Archite coming to meet him with his robe torn and dust on his head. 33David said to him, "If you go on with me, then you will become a burden to me. 34But if you return to the city, and say to Absalom, 'I will be your servant, O king; as I was your father's servant previously, so I will now also be your servant,' then you may defeat the counsel of Ahithophel for me. 35And do you not have Zadok and Abiathar the priests with you there? Therefore it will be that whatever you hear from the king's house, you shall tell to Zadok and Abiathar the priests. 36Indeed they have there with them their two sons, Ahimaaz, Zadok's son, and Jonathan, Abiathar's son; and by them you shall send me everything you hear."

37So Hushai, David's friend, went into the city. And Absalom came into Jerusalem.

Mephibosheth's Servant

16 When David was a little past the top of the mountain, there was Ziba the servant of Mephibosheth, who met him with a couple of saddled donkeys, and on them two hundred loaves of bread, one hundred clusters of raisins, one hundred summer fruits, and a skin of wine. 2And the king said to Ziba, "What do you mean to do with these?"

So Ziba said, "The donkeys are for the king's household to ride on, the bread and summer fruit for the young men to eat, and the wine for those who are faint in the wilderness to drink."

3Then the king said, "And where is your master's son?"

And Ziba said to the king, "Indeed he is staying in Jerusalem, for he said, 'Today the house of Israel will restore the kingdom of my father to me.' "

4So the king said to Ziba, "Here, all that belongs to Mephibosheth is yours."

And Ziba said, "I humbly bow before you, that I may find favor in your sight, my lord, O king!"

Shimei Curses David

5Now when King David came to Bahurim, there was a man from the family of the house of Saul, whose name was Shimei the son of Gera, coming from there. He came out, cursing continuously as he came. 6And he threw stones at David and at all the servants of King David. And all the people and all the mighty men were on his right hand and on his left. 7Also Shimei said thus when he cursed: "Come out! Come out! You bloodthirsty man, you rogue! 8The LORD has brought upon you all the blood of the house of Saul, in whose place you have reigned; and the LORD has delivered the kingdom into the hand of Absalom your son. So now you are caught in your own evil, because you are a bloodthirsty man!"

9Then Abishai the son of Zeruiah said to the king, "Why should this dead dog curse my lord the king? Please, let me go over and take off his head!"

10But the king said, "What have I to do with you, you sons of Zeruiah? So let him curse, because the LORD has said to him, 'Curse David.' Who then shall say, 'Why have you done so?' "

11And David said to Abishai and all his servants, "See how my son who came from my own body seeks my life. How much more now may this Benjamite? Let him alone, and let him curse; for so the LORD has ordered him. 12It may be that the LORD will look on my affliction,[a] and that the LORD

16:12 [a]Following Kethib, Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate; Qere reads my eyes; Targum reads tears of my eyes.

16:3 Ziba saw David's escape as an opportunity to prove his loyalty and to gain an advantage over his master Mephibosheth. The gifts he carried were appreciated at this time of need. When David heard that Mephibosheth had remained in Jerusalem, he readily accepted Ziba's explanation as true. The other side of the story will be given (see 2 Sam. 19:26). It seems difficult to believe that Absalom's rebellion could have benefited Mephibosheth in any way, especially since he was crippled. However, David's reaction shows that, in spite of his previous kindness to Mephibosheth, he remained suspicious of anyone who belonged to Saul's house.

16:8–12 Shimei, who was related to Saul, obviously found pleasure in the fall of a king who had taken the place of his family on the throne. In calling David a bloodthirsty man, he made him responsible for the murder of Abner (2 Sam. 3:27) and Ishbosheth (2 Sam. 4:7). This accusation would apply more justly to the death of Uriah (2 Sam. 11:15). David recognized that beyond the curse of an angry man, he was perhaps hearing the voice of God. He submitted to the correction he deserved, yet hoped in the mercy and goodness of God for the future.

will repay me with good for his cursing this day."
13And as David and his men went along the road, Shimei went along the hillside opposite him and cursed as he went, threw stones at him and kicked up dust. 14Now the king and all the people who were with him became weary; so they refreshed themselves there.

The Advice of Ahithophel

15Meanwhile Absalom and all the people, the men of Israel, came to Jerusalem; and Ahithophel was with him. 16And so it was, when Hushai the Archite, David's friend, came to Absalom, that Hushai said to Absalom, "Long live the king! Long live the king!"

17So Absalom said to Hushai, "Is this your loyalty to your friend? Why did you not go with your friend?"

18And Hushai said to Absalom, "No, but whom the LORD and this people and all the men of Israel choose, his I will be, and with him I will remain.
19"Furthermore, whom should I serve? Should I not serve in the presence of his son? As I have served in your father's presence, so will I be in your presence."

20Then Absalom said to Ahithophel, "Give advice as to what we should do."

21And Ahithophel said to Absalom, "Go in to your father's concubines, whom he has left to keep the house; and all Israel will hear that you are abhorred by your father. Then the hands of all who are with you will be strong." 22So they pitched a tent for Absalom on the top of the house, and Absalom went in to his father's concubines in the sight of all Israel.

23Now the advice of Ahithophel, which he gave in those days, was as if one had inquired at the oracle of God. So was all the advice of Ahithophel both with David and with Absalom.

17 Moreover Ahithophel said to Absalom,
"Now let me choose twelve thousand men, and I will arise and pursue David tonight. 2I will come upon him while he is weary and weak, and make him afraid. And all the people who are with him will flee, and I will strike only the king. 3Then
I will bring back all the people to you. When all return except the man whom you seek, all the people will be at peace." 4And the saying pleased Absalom and all the elders of Israel.

The Advice of Hushai

5Then Absalom said, "Now call Hushai the Archite also, and let us hear what he says too." 6And when Hushai came to Absalom, Absalom spoke to him, saying, "Ahithophel has spoken in this manner. Shall we do as he says? If not, speak up."

7So Hushai said to Absalom: "The advice that Ahithophel has given is not good at this time.
8For," said Hushai, "you know your father and his men, that they are mighty men, and they are enraged in their minds, like a bear robbed of her cubs in the field; and your father is a man of war, and will not camp with the people. 9Surely by now he is hidden in some pit, or in some other place.
And it will be, when some of them are overthrown at the first, that whoever hears it will say, 'There is a slaughter among the people who follow Absalom.' 10And even he who is valiant, whose heart is like the heart of a lion, will melt completely. For all Israel knows that your father is a mighty man, and those who are with him are valiant men. 11There-fore I advise that all Israel be fully gathered to you, from Dan to Beersheba, like the sand that is by the sea for multitude, and that you go to battle in person. 12So we will come upon him in some place where he may be found, and we will fall on him as the dew falls on the ground. And of him and all the men who are with him there shall not be left so much as one. 13Moreover, if he has withdrawn into a city, then all Israel shall bring ropes to that city; and we will pull it into the river, until there is not one small stone found there."

14So Absalom and all the men of Israel said,
"The advice of Hushai the Archite is better than the advice of Ahithophel." For the LORD had pur-posed to defeat the good advice of Ahithophel, to the intent that the LORD might bring disaster on Absalom.

Hushai Warns David to Escape

15Then Hushai said to Zadok and Abiathar the priests, "Thus and so Ahithophel advised Absalom and the elders of Israel, and thus and so I have advised. 16Now therefore, send quickly and tell David, saying, 'Do not spend this night in the plains of the wilderness, but speedily cross over, lest the king and all the people who are with him be swallowed up.' " 17Now Jonathan and Ahimaaz stayed at En Rogel, for they dared not be seen coming into the city; so a female servant would come and tell

16:21 If Absalom took David's concubines, a reconciliation would be impossible, as it was the worst public insult to a king, declaring in effect that he was dead. The action was all the more serious because Absalom was David's son, and therefore Absalom deserved a curse for taking his father's concubines (Gen. 49:4).

17:17 The valleys of Hinnom and Kidron meet at En Rogel, a watering place. A female servant would not have aroused suspicion walking back and forth between the city and En Rogel, as young women were frequently sent for the water needed in the household. This alert and trustworthy woman played an important role in securing intelligence from Jerusalem for King David. In a dangerous setting, she discreetly relayed exact information from Zadok and Abiathar the priests to their sons Jonathan and Ahimaaz.

them, and they would go and tell King David. 18Nevertheless a lad saw them, and told Absalom. But both of them went away quickly and came to a man's house in Bahurim, who had a well in his court; and they went down into it. 19Then the woman took and spread a covering over the well's mouth, and spread ground grain on it; and the thing was not known. 20And when Absalom's servants came to the woman at the house, they said, "Where are Ahimaaz and Jonathan?"

So the woman said to them, "They have gone over the water brook."

And when they had searched and could not find them, they returned to Jerusalem. 21Now it came to pass, after they had departed, that they came up out of the well and went and told King David, and said to David, "Arise and cross over the water quickly. For thus has Ahithophel advised against you." 22So David and all the people who were with him arose and crossed over the Jordan. By morning light not one of them was left who had not gone over the Jordan.

23Now when Ahithophel saw that his advice was not followed, he saddled a donkey, and arose and went home to his house, to his city. Then he put his household in order, and hanged himself, and died; and he was buried in his father's tomb.

24Then David went to Mahanaim. And Absalom crossed over the Jordan, he and all the men of Israel with him. 25And Absalom made Amasa captain of the army instead of Joab. This Amasa was the son of a man whose name was Jithra,[a] an Israelite,[b] who had gone in to Abigail the daughter of Nahash, sister of Zeruiah, Joab's mother. 26So Israel and Absalom encamped in the land of Gilead.

27Now it happened, when David had come to Mahanaim, that Shobi the son of Nahash from Rabbah of the people of Ammon, Machir the son of Ammiel from Lo Debar, and Barzillai the Gileadite from Rogelim, 28brought beds and basins, earthen vessels and wheat, barley and flour, parched grain and beans, lentils and parched seeds, 29honey and curds, sheep and cheese of the herd, for David and the people who were with him to eat. For they said, "The people are hungry and weary and thirsty in the wilderness."

Absalom's Defeat and Death

18 And David numbered the people who were with him, and set captains of thousands and captains of hundreds over them. 2Then David sent out one third of the people under the hand of Joab, one third under the hand of Abishai the son of Zeruiah, Joab's brother, and one third under the hand of Ittai the Gittite. And the king said to the people, "I also will surely go out with you myself."

3But the people answered, "You shall not go out! For if we flee away, they will not care about us; nor if half of us die, will they care about us. But you are worth ten thousand of us now. For you are now more help to us in the city."

4Then the king said to them, "Whatever seems best to you I will do." So the king stood beside the gate, and all the people went out by hundreds and by thousands. 5Now the king had commanded Joab, Abishai, and Ittai, saying, "Deal gently for my sake with the young man Absalom." And all the people heard when the king gave all the captains orders concerning Absalom.

6So the people went out into the field of battle against Israel. And the battle was in the woods of Ephraim. 7The people of Israel were overthrown there before the servants of David, and a great slaughter of twenty thousand took place there that day. 8For the battle there was scattered over the face of the whole countryside, and the woods devoured more people that day than the sword devoured.

9Then Absalom met the servants of David. Absalom rode on a mule. The mule went under the thick boughs of a great terebinth tree, and his head caught in the terebinth; so he was left hanging between heaven and earth. And the mule which was under him went on. 10Now a certain

17:25 [a]Spelled Jether in 1 Chronicles 2:17 and elsewhere [b]Following Masoretic Text, some manuscripts of the Septuagint, and Targum; some manuscripts of the Septuagint read Ishmaelite (compare 1 Chronicles 2:17); Vulgate reads of Jezrael.

17:19 David's spies hid down in a well, which was probably an empty cistern used to collect rain water. The woman of the house, who must have known the young men, appraised the situation quickly and was resourceful in concealing the opening of her well. When Absalom's servants arrived in pursuit of the spies, she sent them off in the wrong direction. Her words cannot be condoned, as God does not need lies to defend his people. There was little time to ponder the issue, however. Her lively response allowed the men to escape and give David information vital to his safety.

18:5 David spoke here as a father, not as a king. He was ready to forgive his son, but lost sight of the fact that this was more than a domestic quarrel. Absalom's revolt had jeopardized the stability and future of the kingdom and caused great loss of life. Joab totally disregarded David's orders (v. 14), as he rightly discerned that only Absalom's death could put an end to the conflict. Although Joab had saved his throne, David would never forgive him for the ruthless killing of his son (1 Kin. 2:5, 6).

18:8 The woods devoured people. The forest of Ephraim was a treacherous area. A large variety of trees flourished amidst thick undergrowth, concealing rocks, pits, and crevices. The land itself claimed many victims, but David's experienced men also used this difficult terrain to their advantage.

HAIR A MARK OF DISTINCTION

In Old Testament times, both men and women let their hair grow long. Hair was an important physical trait for a number of Bible men—such as Absalom, whose much-admired, long, thick hair was cut annually because it was so heavy (2 Sam. 14:26). Elisha, on the other hand, was ridiculed for his baldness (2 Kin. 2:23).

In New Testament times, however, length of hair was considered a mark of distinction between men and women (1 Cor. 11:14, 15). Braided hair for women was addressed by both Peter and Paul (1 Tim. 2:9; 1 Pet. 3:3).

Mention of gray hair in Scripture nearly always includes respect shown to age, wisdom, and experience (see 1 Sam. 12:2; Job 15:10). To give a guest ointment for his head was a mark of hospitality (Luke 7:46).

A number of biblical references to hair have become everyday phrases, such as "not one hair of his head shall fall to the ground," referring to Jonathan's personal safety (1 Sam. 14:45); "more than the hairs of my head," meaning an unspecified but great number (Ps. 40:12); and "the very hairs of your head are all numbered," referring to God's great concern for each individual (Matt. 10:30).

man saw it and told Joab, and said, "I just saw Absalom hanging in a terebinth tree!"

11So Joab said to the man who told him, "You just saw him! And why did you not strike him there to the ground? I would have given you ten shekels of silver and a belt."

12But the man said to Joab, "Though I were to receive a thousand shekels of silver in my hand, I would not raise my hand against the king's son. For in our hearing the king commanded you and Abishai and Ittai, saying, 'Beware lest anyone touch the young man Absalom!'[a] 13Otherwise I would have dealt falsely against my own life. For there is nothing hidden from the king, and you yourself would have set yourself against me."

14Then Joab said, "I cannot linger with you." And he took three spears in his hand and thrust them through Absalom's heart, while he was still alive in the midst of the terebinth tree. 15And ten young men who bore Joab's armor surrounded Absalom, and struck and killed him.

16So Joab blew the trumpet, and the people returned from pursuing Israel. For Joab held back the people. 17And they took Absalom and cast him into a large pit in the woods, and laid a very large heap of stones over him. Then all Israel fled, everyone to his tent.

18Now Absalom in his lifetime had taken and set up a pillar for himself, which is in the King's Valley. For he said, "I have no son to keep my name in remembrance." He called the pillar after his own name. And to this day it is called Absalom's Monument.

David Hears of Absalom's Death

19Then Ahimaaz the son of Zadok said, "Let me run now and take the news to the king, how the LORD has avenged him of his enemies."

20And Joab said to him, "You shall not take the news this day, for you shall take the news another day. But today you shall take no news, because the king's son is dead." 21Then Joab said to the Cushite, "Go, tell the king what you have seen." So the Cushite bowed himself to Joab and ran.

22And Ahimaaz the son of Zadok said again to Joab, "But whatever happens, please let me also run after the Cushite."

So Joab said, "Why will you run, my son, since you have no news ready?"

23"But whatever happens," he said, "let me run."

So he said to him, "Run." Then Ahimaaz ran by way of the plain, and outran the Cushite.

24Now David was sitting between the two gates. And the watchman went up to the roof over the gate, to the wall, lifted his eyes and looked, and there was a man, running alone. 25Then the watchman cried out and told the king. And the king said, "If he is alone, there is news in his mouth." And he came rapidly and drew near.

26Then the watchman saw another man running, and the watchman called to the gatekeeper and said, "There is another man, running alone!"

And the king said, "He also brings news."

27So the watchman said, "I think the running

18:12 [a]The ancient versions read 'Protect the young man Absalom for me!'

18:18 Three sons were born to Absalom (2 Sam. 14:27). He probably built this pillar near Jerusalem after their early deaths. It can no longer be seen today, but there is another monument named after Absalom in the Kidron valley.

18:20 Ahimaaz was bursting with pride at the victory over the rebellious forces, but he had not realized that David might consider Absalom's death to be tragic. Joab would not allow the young man to run with the news. Perhaps he feared a violent reaction against the messenger, and thus he used a slave to deliver the message (2 Sam. 4:10).

of the first is like the running of Ahimaaz the son of Zadok."

And the king said, "He is a good man, and comes with good news."

28So Ahimaaz called out and said to the king, "All is well!" Then he bowed down with his face to the earth before the king, and said, "Blessed be the LORD your God, who has delivered up the men who raised their hand against my lord the king!"

29The king said, "Is the young man Absalom safe?"

Ahimaaz answered, "When Joab sent the king's servant and me your servant, I saw a great tumult, but I did not know what it was about."

30And the king said, "Turn aside and stand here." So he turned aside and stood still.

31Just then the Cushite came, and the Cushite said, "There is good news, my lord the king! For the LORD has avenged you this day of all those who rose against you."

32And the king said to the Cushite, "Is the young man Absalom safe?"

So the Cushite answered, "May the enemies of my lord the king, and all who rise against you to do harm, be like that young man!"

David's Mourning for Absalom

33Then the king was deeply moved, and went up to the chamber over the gate, and wept. And as he went, he said thus: "O my son Absalom—my son, my son Absalom—if only I had died in your place! O Absalom my son, my son!"

19 And Joab was told, "Behold, the king is weeping and mourning for Absalom." 2So the victory that day was turned into mourning for all the people. For the people heard it said that day, "The king is grieved for his son." 3And the people stole back into the city that day, as people who are ashamed steal away when they flee in battle. 4But the king covered his face, and the king cried out with a loud voice, "O my son Absalom! O Absalom, my son, my son!"

5Then Joab came into the house to the king, and said, "Today you have disgraced all your servants who today have saved your life, the lives of your sons and daughters, the lives of your wives and the lives of your concubines, 6in that you love your enemies and hate your friends. For you have declared today that you regard neither princes nor servants; for today I perceive that if Absalom had lived and all of us had died today, then it would have pleased you well. 7Now therefore, arise, go out and speak comfort to your servants. For I swear by the LORD, if you do not go out, not one will stay with you this night. And that will be worse for you than all the evil that has befallen you from your youth until now." 8Then the king arose and sat in the gate. And they told all the people, saying, "There is the king, sitting in the gate." So all the people came before the king.

For everyone of Israel had fled to his tent.

David Returns to Jerusalem

9Now all the people were in a dispute throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying, "The king saved us from the hand of our enemies, he delivered us from the hand of the Philistines, and now he has fled from the land because of Absalom. 10But Absalom, whom we anointed over us, has died in battle. Now therefore, why do you say nothing about bringing back the king?"

11So King David sent to Zadok and Abiathar the priests, saying, "Speak to the elders of Judah, saying, 'Why are you the last to bring the king back to his house, since the words of all Israel have come to the king, to his very house? 12You are my brethren, you are my bone and my flesh. Why then are you the last to bring back the king?' 13And say to Amasa, 'Are you not my bone and my flesh? God do so to me, and more also, if you are not commander of the army before me continually in place of Joab.' " 14So he swayed the hearts of all the men of Judah, just as the heart of one man, so that they sent this word to the king: "Return, you and all your servants!"

15Then the king returned and came to the Jordan. And Judah came to Gilgal, to go to meet the king, to escort the king across the Jordan. 16And Shimei the son of Gera, a Benjamite, who was from Bahurim, hurried and came down with the men of Judah to meet King David. 17*There were* a 19:7 Speak comfort to your servants. David was overwhelmed with sorrow at the death of his rebellious son. Any chance of reconciliation was now lost. With remorse he must have remembered the words of Nathan, predicting violence in the royal family as a result of his own sin (2 Sam. 12:10, 11). He was so preoccupied with his personal loss that he did not even consider the effect his behavior was having on the people. But Joab was quick to see the danger in the king's deep mourning. His followers needed proper recognition of their sacrifice for him. With brutal words, he roused David from his grief and reminded him of his duty. Joab's heart was loyal but unfeeling, and his manner was harsh. Nevertheless, David followed his advice and went to the gate, where he officially expressed gratitude to his loyal supporters (see 2 Sam. 15:2, note).

19:13 In naming Amasa, who had been Absalom's captain, instead of Joab to be commander-in-chief of his own army, David hoped to win back those who had joined his son's rebellion, especially in the ranks of Judah. He also revealed his lasting resentment against Joab for disregarding his wishes and killing his son Absalom (2 Sam. 18:14). In rewarding a rebel above the loyal Joab, David allowed grief to impair his good judgment. This hasty action increased the jealousy between Judah and Israel and opened the way for Amasa's rebellion (2 Sam. 19:40–43).

thousand men of Benjamin with him, and Ziba the servant of the house of Saul, and his fifteen sons and his twenty servants with him; and they went over the Jordan before the king. 18Then a ferryboat went across to carry over the king's household, and to do what he thought good.

David's Mercy to Shimei

Now Shimei the son of Gera fell down before the king when he had crossed the Jordan. 19Then he said to the king, "Do not let my lord impute iniquity to me, or remember what wrong your servant did on the day that my lord the king left Jerusalem, that the king should take it to heart. 20For I, your servant, know that I have sinned. Therefore here I am, the first to come today of all the house of Joseph to go down to meet my lord the king."

21But Abishai the son of Zeruiah answered and said, "Shall not Shimei be put to death for this, because he cursed the LORD's anointed?"

22And David said, "What have I to do with you, you sons of Zeruiah, that you should be adversaries to me today? Shall any man be put to death today in Israel? For do I not know that today I am king over Israel?" 23Therefore the king said to Shimei, "You shall not die." And the king swore to him.

David and Mephibosheth Meet

24Now Mephibosheth the son of Saul came down to meet the king. And he had not cared for his feet, nor trimmed his mustache, nor washed his clothes, from the day the king departed until the day he returned in peace. 25So it was, when he had come to Jerusalem to meet the king, that the king said to him, "Why did you not go with me, Mephibosheth?"

26And he answered, "My lord, O king, my servant deceived me. For your servant said, 'I will saddle a donkey for myself, that I may ride on it and go to the king,' because your servant is lame. 27And he has slandered your servant to my lord the king, but my lord the king is like the angel of God. Therefore do what is good in your eyes. 28For all my father's house were but dead men before my lord the king. Yet you set your servant among those who eat at your own table. Therefore what right have I still to cry out anymore to the king?"

29So the king said to him, "Why do you speak anymore of your matters? I have said, 'You and Ziba divide the land.' "

30Then Mephibosheth said to the king, "Rather, let him take it all, inasmuch as my lord the king has come back in peace to his own house."

David's Kindness to Barzillai

31And Barzillai the Gileadite came down from Rogelim and went across the Jordan with the king, to escort him across the Jordan. 32Now Barzillai was a very aged man, eighty years old. And he had provided the king with supplies while he stayed at Mahanaim, for he was a very rich man. 33And the king said to Barzillai, "Come across with me, and I will provide for you while you are with me in Jerusalem."

34But Barzillai said to the king, "How long have I to live, that I should go up with the king to Jerusalem? 35I am today eighty years old. Can I discern between the good and bad? Can your servant taste what I eat or what I drink? Can I hear any longer the voice of singing men and singing women? Why then should your servant be a further burden to my lord the king? 36Your servant will go a little way across the Jordan with the king. And why should the king repay me with such a reward? 37Please let your servant turn back again, that I may die in my own city, near the grave of my father and mother. But here is your servant Chimham; let him cross over with my lord the king, and do for him what seems good to you."

38And the king answered, "Chimham shall cross over with me, and I will do for him what seems good to you. Now whatever you request of me, I will do for you." 39Then all the people went over the Jordan. And when the king had crossed over, the king kissed Barzillai and blessed him, and he returned to his own place.

The Quarrel About the King

40Now the king went on to Gilgal, and Chimham[a] went on with him. And all the people of Judah escorted the king, and also half the people of Israel. 41Just then all the men of Israel came to the king, and said to the king, "Why have our brethren, the men of Judah, stolen you away and brought the king, his household, and all David's men with him across the Jordan?"

19:40 [a]Masoretic Text reads Chimhan.

19:26 I will saddle a donkey for myself. As Mephibosheth was lame, this meant "I will have a donkey saddled." He had been given orders to leave Jerusalem and join the king, but his servant Ziba had taken advantage of his infirmity. Ziba may have saddled the donkey, loaded it with provisions and set off after David, leaving his master behind; or he may have used some other means to prevent Mephibosheth from leaving the city before Absalom arrived. Mephibosheth's unkempt appearance when he came to meet David was evidence that he had been mourning since the king had left Jerusalem. Although he seemed innocent, David did not decide between the two men. He refused to deal out punishment on this day of rejoicing. Instead, he divided Saul's estate between them. Even half of this fortune was evidence of his continued kindness to Mephibosheth (see 2 Sam. 16:3, note).

42So all the men of Judah answered the men of Israel, "Because the king is a close relative of ours.
Why then are you angry over this matter? Have we ever eaten at the king's expense? Or has he given us any gift?"
43And the men of Israel answered the men of Judah, and said, "We have ten shares in the king; therefore we also have more right to David than you. Why then do you despise us—were we not the first to advise bringing back our king?"
Yet the words of the men of Judah were fiercer than the words of the men of Israel.

The Rebellion of Sheba

20 And there happened to be there a rebel,[a] whose name was Sheba the son of Bichri, a Benjamite. And he blew a trumpet, and said:

"We have no share in David,
Nor do we have inheritance in the son of Jesse;
Every man to his tents, O Israel!"

2So every man of Israel deserted David, and followed Sheba the son of Bichri. But the men of Judah, from the Jordan as far as Jerusalem, remained loyal to their king.
3Now David came to his house at Jerusalem.
And the king took the ten women, his concubines whom he had left to keep the house, and put them in seclusion and supported them, but did not go in to them. So they were shut up to the day of their death, living in widowhood.
4And the king said to Amasa, "Assemble the men of Judah for me within three days, and be present here yourself." 5So Amasa went to assemble the men of Judah. But he delayed longer than the set time which David had appointed him. 6And David said to Abishai, "Now Sheba the son of Bichri will do us more harm than Absalom. Take your lord's servants and pursue him, lest he find for himself fortified cities, and escape us." 7So Joab's men, with the Cherethites, the Pelethites, and all the mighty men, went out after him. And they went out of Jerusalem to pursue Sheba the son of Bichri. 8When they were at the large stone which is in Gibeon, Amasa came before them. Now Joab was dressed in battle armor; on it was a belt with a sword fastened in its sheath at his hips; and as he was going forward, it fell out. 9Then Joab said to Amasa, "Are you in health, my brother?"
And Joab took Amasa by the beard with his right hand to kiss him. 10But Amasa did not notice the sword that was in Joab's hand. And he struck him with it in the stomach, and his entrails poured out on the ground; and he did not strike him again.
Thus he died.
Then Joab and Abishai his brother pursued Sheba the son of Bichri. 11Meanwhile one of Joab's men stood near Amasa, and said, "Whoever favors Joab and whoever is for David—follow Joab!" 12But Amasa wallowed in his blood in the middle of the highway. And when the man saw that all the people stood still, he moved Amasa from the highway to the field and threw a garment over him, when he saw that everyone who came upon him halted.
13When he was removed from the highway, all the people went on after Joab to pursue Sheba the son of Bichri.
14And he went through all the tribes of Israel to Abel and Beth Maachah and all the Berites. So they were gathered together and also went after Sheba.[a] 15Then they came and besieged him in Abel of Beth Maachah; and they cast up a siege mound against the city, and it stood by the rampart. And all the people who were with Joab battered the wall to throw it down.
16Then a wise woman cried out from the city,
"Hear, hear! Please say to Joab, 'Come nearby, that I may speak with you.' " 17When he had come near to her, the woman said, "Are you Joab?"

20:1 [a]Literally man of Belial 20:14 [a]Literally him

20:3 These ten concubines had been left behind to keep David's house when he escaped from Jerusalem during Absalom's rebellion (see chart, The Family Tree of David). On entering the city, Absalom had publicly insulted his father by lying with these women (see 2 Sam. 16:21, note). Although they were not responsible for what had happened, David's concubines had become unclean to him. Their appearance in public would have caused him shame. They were not free to marry other men because they had belonged to the king. Within the context of his day, David was kind and just in caring for these women. Their personal tragedy was caused by Absalom's arrogant and lawless behavior. But in a broader sense, it resulted from the custom of multiple wives, to which David had conformed in spite of the instructions given in God's Law (see 2 Sam. 3:2–5, note).

20:4–14 Thus Amasa died. Amasa, who had been captain of Absalom's rebellious troops, had been named commander of David's army as punishment to Joab (see 2 Sam. 19:13, note). When Sheba's revolt broke out, David quickly became aware of his mistake. Amasa was slow and inefficient in gathering the men of Judah to fight. Still holding a grudge, David called on Joab's brother Abishai to lead the famous royal bodyguard against the rebels. When Joab met Amasa with the troops he had finally managed to rally, he had no qualms in dealing with Amasa. Joab hid his sword from Amasa while they embraced, then ruthlessly stabbed him. As with Abner, he used treachery to deal with the one who threatened his position, even though he was a relative (2 Sam. 3:27). But Joab, despite his sins, always remained loyal to David and was used to bring prosperity to Israel.

20:16 A wise woman cried out. Perhaps for the first time, Joab was dealing with a woman in war. The wise woman of Abel had the boldness and insight to avert disaster for her city. She appealed directly to Joab as commander-in-chief of the attacking army, pointing out the good reputation of the town he was about to destroy. The inhabitants of Abel were faithful

He answered, "I am."

Then she said to him, "Hear the words of your maidservant."

And he answered, "I am listening."

18So she spoke, saying, "They used to talk in former times, saying, 'They shall surely seek guidance at Abel,' and so they would end disputes. 19I am among the peaceable and faithful in Israel. You seek to destroy a city and a mother in Israel. Why would you swallow up the inheritance of the LORD?"

20And Joab answered and said, "Far be it, far be it from me, that I should swallow up or destroy! 21That is not so. But a man from the mountains of Ephraim, Sheba the son of Bichri by name, has raised his hand against the king, against David. Deliver him only, and I will depart from the city."

So the woman said to Joab, "Watch, his head will be thrown to you over the wall." 22Then the woman in her wisdom went to all the people. And they cut off the head of Sheba the son of Bichri, and threw it out to Joab. Then he blew a trumpet, and they withdrew from the city, every man to his tent. So Joab returned to the king at Jerusalem.

David's Government Officers

23And Joab was over all the army of Israel; Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over the Cherethites and the Pelethites; 24Adoram was in charge of revenue; Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was recorder; 25Sheva was scribe; Zadok and Abiathar were the priests; 26and Ira the Jairite was a chief minister under David.

David Avenges the Gibeonites

21 Now there was a famine in the days of David for three years, year after year; and David inquired of the LORD. And the LORD answered, "It is because of Saul and his bloodthirsty house, because he killed the Gibeonites." 2So the king called the Gibeonites and spoke to them. Now the Gibeonites were not of the children of Israel, but of the remnant of the Amorites; the children of Israel had sworn protection to them, but Saul had sought to kill them in his zeal for the children of Israel and Judah.

3Therefore David said to the Gibeonites, "What shall I do for you? And with what shall I make atonement, that you may bless the inheritance of the LORD?"

4And the Gibeonites said to him, "We will have no silver or gold from Saul or from his house, nor shall you kill any man in Israel for us."

So he said, "Whatever you say, I will do for you."

5Then they answered the king, "As for the man who consumed us and plotted against us, that we should be destroyed from remaining in any of the territories of Israel, 6let seven men of his descendants be delivered to us, and we will hang them before the LORD in Gibeah of Saul, whom the LORD chose."

And the king said, "I will give them."

7But the king spared Mephibosheth the son of Jonathan, the son of Saul, because of the LORD's oath that was between them, between David and Jonathan the son of Saul. 8So the king took Armoni and Mephibosheth, the two sons of Rizpah the daughter of Aiah, whom she bore to Saul, and the five sons of Michal[a] the daughter of Saul, whom she brought up for Adriel the son of Barzillai the Meholathite; 9and he delivered them into the hands of the Gibeonites, and they hanged them on the hill before the LORD. So they fell, all seven together, and were put to death in the days of harvest, in the first days, in the beginning of barley harvest.

10Now Rizpah the daughter of Aiah took sackcloth and spread it for herself on the rock, from the beginning of harvest until the late rains poured on them from heaven. And she did not allow the birds of the air to rest on them by day nor the beasts of the field by night.

21:8 [a]Or Merab (compare 1 Samuel 18:19 and 25:44; 2 Samuel 3:14 and 6:23)

men and women of Israel, the city acted as a "mother" to the villages around and was a place where disputes were known to be settled peacefully. This daring woman also commanded the respect of her own people. When she had come to an agreement with Joab, she also persuaded the people to sacrifice Sheba in order to save the town.

21:1–6 The Gibeonites were foreigners who were allowed to live in Israel but were restricted to menial labor, following a special treaty with Joshua (Josh. 9:3–27). Though the Gibeonites had obtained this treaty by deceiving the Israelites, Saul was wrong to break the promise made to them. In trying to destroy them, he had been guilty of murder. When a crime goes unpunished, the land is polluted (Num. 35:33). God brought this injustice to David's attention by sending three years of famine. Under normal circumstances, Saul's children should not have been punished for their father's crime (Deut. 24:16). However, men were not the judges here. God Himself had intervened, calling Saul's entire house bloodthirsty. Seemingly Saul's children had followed in his footsteps and also deserved punishment (1 Sam. 21:1). This episode shows God's concern that justice be done to every man, even citizens like the Gibeonites.

21:10 When a man was put to death, his body was to be buried the same day (Deut. 21:22, 23). However, no one assumed this responsibility when Saul's seven sons were hung by the Gibeonites. Rizpah, Saul's concubine, made a tent of sackcloth to protect their corpses from wild animals (see 2 Sam. 3, Rizpah). She watched over them from April or early May, when barley was harvested, until rain fell again. Perhaps this refers to the autumn showers, which normally occur in October or November, but her vigil may have been much shorter if God sent rain out of season. Rain indicated that the curse on [11]And David was told what Rizpah the daughter of Aiah, the concubine of Saul, had done. [12]Then David went and took the bones of Saul, and the bones of Jonathan his son, from the men of Jabesh Gilead who had stolen them from the street of Beth Shan,[a] where the Philistines had hung them up, after the Philistines had struck down Saul in Gilboa. [13]So he brought up the bones of Saul and the bones of Jonathan his son from there; and they gathered the bones of those who had been hanged. [14]They buried the bones of Saul and Jonathan his son in the country of Benjamin in Zelah, in the tomb of Kish his father. So they performed all that the king commanded. And after that God heeded the prayer for the land.

Philistine Giants Destroyed

[15]When the Philistines were at war again with Israel, David and his servants with him went down and fought against the Philistines; and David grew faint. [16]Then Ishbi-Benob, who was one of the sons of the giant, the weight of whose bronze spear was three hundred shekels, who was bearing a new sword, thought he could kill David. [17]But Abishai the son of Zeruiah came to his aid, and struck the Philistine and killed him. Then the men of David swore to him, saying, "You shall go out no more with us to battle, lest you quench the lamp of Israel."

[18]Now it happened afterward that there was again a battle with the Philistines at Gob. Then Sibbechai the Hushathite killed Saph,[a] who was one of the sons of the giant. [19]Again there was war at Gob with the Philistines, where Elhanan the son of Jaare-Oregim[a] the Bethlehemite killed the brother of Goliath the Gittite, the shaft of whose spear was like a weaver's beam.

[20]Yet again there was war at Gath, where there was a man of great stature, who had six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot, twenty-four in number; and he also was born to the giant. [21]So when he defied Israel, Jonathan the son of Shimea,[a] David's brother, killed him.

[22]These four were born to the giant in Gath, and fell by the hand of David and by the hand of his servants.

Praise for God's Deliverance

22 Then David spoke to the LORD the words of this song, on the day when the LORD had delivered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul. [2]And he said:[a]

"The LORD is my rock and my fortress and my deliverer;
[3]The God of my strength, in whom I will trust;
My shield and the horn of my salvation,
My stronghold and my refuge;
My Savior, You save me from violence.
[4]I will call upon the LORD, who is worthy to be praised;
So shall I be saved from my enemies.

[5]"When the waves of death surrounded me,
The floods of ungodliness made me afraid.
[6]The sorrows of Sheol surrounded me;
The snares of death confronted me.
[7]In my distress I called upon the LORD,
And cried out to my God;
He heard my voice from His temple,
And my cry entered His ears.

[8]"Then the earth shook and trembled;
The foundations of heaven[a] quaked and were shaken,
Because He was angry.
[9]Smoke went up from His nostrils,
And devouring fire from His mouth;
Coals were kindled by it.
[10]He bowed the heavens also, and came down
With darkness under His feet.
[11]He rode upon a cherub, and flew;
And He was seen[a] upon the wings of the wind.
[12]He made darkness canopies around Him,
Dark waters and thick clouds of the skies.

the land was lifted and crops would begin to grow again. David honored the memory of Saul and Jonathan by taking their remains along with the bones of Saul's seven descendants, to their family tomb (see chart, The Family Tree of Saul). In this way, he was also showing that the execution of these men had not been dictated by revenge.

22:1 The psalm of deliverance recorded in this chapter is nearly identical to a psalm probably composed by David after his victories (see 2 Sam. 8; Ps. 18), at a time in his life where he enjoyed almost unbroken success. This psalm was placed at the end of the book for a definite purpose—to show that the period of instability and rebellion in the kingdom was over. David could look forward to the future with confidence, resting on God's promises to him and his descendants. This psalm also describes David's personal relationship with God and gives meaning to the entire history recorded in 1 and 2 Samuel.

22:9 David used bold poetic imagery to describe God's activity. These human features do not indicate that God is in the image of man but rather that he has personality. His coming is pictured as a major cataclysm (vv. 8–16). When God intervenes in the spiritual or natural realm, all the forces of heaven and earth are at His disposal. Smoke, fire, and coals could be connected with a volcanic eruption, showing God's anger. This whole section reveals God's majesty, His righteousness, and His power to save His people.

CHILDREN DEATH OF A CHILD

The death of a child is a heartbreak to the parents, engulfing them in a flood of grief and blame. Only someone who has had this experience can fully understand the anguish of losing a child. The bereaved mother may well hold her dying child, crying in disbelief, feeling that somehow this death is her fault, just as Hagar moved away from her dying son's side (Gen. 21:16).

Rizpah's sons were killed because of the sins of Saul and the evil he brought on his entire family. Even after the seven were sacrificed, Rizpah spread a sackcloth on a rock beside their bodies to protect them from being ravaged by birds and wild animals (2 Sam. 21:9, 10). Surely she must have wondered what she had done to deserve such tragedy!

When Jesus, the prophesied son of God, was born of Mary, she became his devoted mother. Imagine the anguish Mary felt as she stood by the cruel Cross and saw her son crucified (John 19:25, 26). Only a parent in pain can know her grief; yet we all can have her hope (Rev. 21:4). The woman who has lost a child or is facing the death of a loved one has the eternal hope that her child's life is not over. She has the assurance that for those who die in the Lord or those who have not yet reached the age of accountability the Lord transforms "our lowly body that it may be conformed to His glorious body" (Phil. 3:21). A woman can go through this experience triumphantly with the God of all comfort (2 Cor. 1:3, 4).

13 From the brightness before Him
Coals of fire were kindled.

14 "The LORD thundered from heaven,
And the Most High uttered His voice.
15 He sent out arrows and scattered them;
Lightning bolts, and He vanquished them.
16 Then the channels of the sea were seen,
The foundations of the world were uncovered,
At the rebuke of the LORD,
At the blast of the breath of His nostrils.

17 "He sent from above, He took me,
He drew me out of many waters.
18 He delivered me from my strong enemy,
From those who hated me;
For they were too strong for me.
19 They confronted me in the day of my calamity,
But the LORD was my support.
20 He also brought me out into a broad place;
He delivered me because He delighted in me.

21 "The LORD rewarded me according to my righteousness;
According to the cleanness of my hands
He has recompensed me.
22 For I have kept the ways of the LORD,
And have not wickedly departed from my God.
23 For all His judgments were before me;
And as for His statutes, I did not depart from them.
24 I was also blameless before Him,
And I kept myself from my iniquity.
25 Therefore the LORD has recompensed me according to my righteousness,
According to my cleanness in His eyes.[a]

26 "With the merciful You will show Yourself merciful;
With a blameless man You will show Yourself blameless;
27 With the pure You will show Yourself pure;
And with the devious You will show Yourself shrewd.
28 You will save the humble people;
But Your eyes are on the haughty, that You may bring them down.

29 "For You are my lamp, O LORD;
The LORD shall enlighten my darkness.
30 For by You I can run against a troop;
By my God I can leap over a wall.
31 As for God, His way is perfect;

22:25 [a]Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read the cleanness of my hands in His sight (compare Psalm 18:24); Targum reads my cleanness before His word.

22:24 When David stated that he was blameless, he did not mean that he was without sin. The wrong he had done had been confessed and forgiven so that all was now in order between him and the Lord (2 Sam. 12:13). In spite of his weaknesses, David had made the Law his rule and had never turned to other gods. He was afraid of sin and lived humbly before the Lord. Because of this attitude, God delighted in David and delivered him, even after his sin against Uriah. David's triumphant return to Jerusalem after Absalom's rebellion was the sign of God's continued favor on his life (see 2 Sam. 15:25, 26).

The word of the LORD is proven;
He is a shield to all who trust in Him.

32"For who is God, except the LORD?
And who is a rock, except our God?
33God is my strength and power,[a]
And He makes my[b] way perfect.
34He makes my[a] feet like the feet of deer,
And sets me on my high places.
35He teaches my hands to make war,
So that my arms can bend a bow of bronze.

36"You have also given me the shield of Your salvation;
Your gentleness has made me great.
37You enlarged my path under me;
So my feet did not slip.

38"I have pursued my enemies and destroyed them;
Neither did I turn back again till they were destroyed.
39And I have destroyed them and wounded them,
So that they could not rise;
They have fallen under my feet.
40For You have armed me with strength for the battle;
You have subdued under me those who rose against me.
41You have also given me the necks of my enemies,
So that I destroyed those who hated me.
42They looked, but there was none to save;
Even to the LORD, but He did not answer them.
43Then I beat them as fine as the dust of the earth;
I trod them like dirt in the streets,
And I spread them out.

44"You have also delivered me from the strivings of my people;
You have kept me as the head of the nations.
A people I have not known shall serve me.
45The foreigners submit to me;
As soon as they hear, they obey me.
46The foreigners fade away,
And come frightened[a] from their hideouts.

47"The LORD lives!
Blessed be my Rock!
Let God be exalted,
The Rock of my salvation!
48*It is* God who avenges me,
And subdues the peoples under me;
49He delivers me from my enemies.
You also lift me up above those who rise against me;
You have delivered me from the violent man.
50Therefore I will give thanks to You, O LORD, among the Gentiles,
And sing praises to Your name.

51*He is* the tower of salvation to His king,
And shows mercy to His anointed,
To David and his descendants forevermore."

David's Last Words

23 Now these are the last words of David.

Thus says David the son of Jesse;
Thus says the man raised up on high,
The anointed of the God of Jacob,
And the sweet psalmist of Israel:

2"The Spirit of the LORD spoke by me,
And His word was on my tongue.
3The God of Israel said,
The Rock of Israel spoke to me:
'He who rules over men must be just,
Ruling in the fear of God.
4And he shall be like the light of the morning when the sun rises,
A morning without clouds,
Like the tender grass springing out of the earth,
By clear shining after rain.'

5"Although my house is not so with God,
Yet He has made with me an everlasting covenant,
Ordered in all things and secure.
For this is all my salvation and all my desire;
Will He not make it increase?

22:33 [a]Dead Sea Scrolls, Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read It is God who arms me with strength (compare Psalm 18:32); Targum reads It is God who sustains me with strength. [b]Following Qere, Septuagint, Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate (compare Psalm 18:32); Kethib reads His. 22:34 [a]Following Qere, Septuagint, Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate (compare Psalm 18:33); Kethib reads His. 22:46 [a]Following Septuagint, Targum, and Vulgate (compare Psalm 18:45); Masoretic Text reads gird themselves.

23:1–7 David's last words were probably composed in the closing years of his life and may have represented his final words as a poet inspired by God. David gave his last instructions to Solomon, but this psalm was his spiritual testament to Israel (see 1 Kin. 2). He described his own relationship with God, indicated what made a good leader, and recalled God's promise of a dynasty after him. This truly is a fitting conclusion to the life of a man after God's own heart.

23:5 Although my house is not so with God is alternately translated "So lives my house with God, for He has made with me an everlasting covenant." Neither David himself nor his sons lived up to the ideal of a king (vv. 3, 4), but David's life provides an inkling of what a perfect leader could achieve. God had promised David a dynasty (2 Sam. 7). This covenant did not rest on the merits of David and his sons but on the grace of God and His presence in their lives.

[6]But the sons of rebellion shall all be as thorns thrust away,
Because they cannot be taken with hands.
[7]But the man who touches them
Must be armed with iron and the shaft of a spear,
And they shall be utterly burned with fire in their place."

David's Mighty Men

[8]These are the names of the mighty men whom David had: Josheb-Basshebeth[a] the Tachmonite, chief among the captains.[b] He was called Adino the Eznite, because he had killed eight hundred men at one time. [9]And after him was Eleazar the son of Dodo,[a] the Ahohite, one of the three mighty men with David when they defied the Philistines who were gathered there for battle, and the men of Israel had retreated. [10]He arose and attacked the Philistines until his hand was weary, and his hand stuck to the sword. The LORD brought about a great victory that day; and the people returned after him only to plunder. [11]And after him was Shammah the son of Agee the Hararite. The Philistines had gathered together into a troop where there was a piece of ground full of lentils. So the people fled from the Philistines. [12]But he stationed himself in the middle of the field, defended it, and killed the Philistines. So the LORD brought about a great victory.

[13]Then three of the thirty chief men went down at harvest time and came to David at the cave of Adullam. And the troop of Philistines encamped in the Valley of Rephaim. [14]David was then in the stronghold, and the garrison of the Philistines was then in Bethlehem. [15]And David said with longing, "Oh, that someone would give me a drink of the water from the well of Bethlehem, which is by the gate!" [16]So the three mighty men broke through the camp of the Philistines, drew water from the well of Bethlehem that was by the gate, and took it and brought it to David. Nevertheless he would not drink it, but poured it out to the LORD. [17]And he said, "Far be it from me, O LORD, that I should do this! Is this not the blood of the men who went in jeopardy of their lives?" Therefore he would not drink it.

These things were done by the three mighty men.

[18]Now Abishai the brother of Joab, the son of Zeruiah, was chief of another three.[a] He lifted his spear against three hundred men, killed them, and won a name among these three. [19]Was he not the most honored of three? Therefore he became their captain. However, he did not attain to the first three.

[20]Benaiah was the son of Jehoiada, the son of a valiant man from Kabzeel, who had done many deeds. He had killed two lion-like heroes of Moab. He also had gone down and killed a lion in the midst of a pit on a snowy day. [21]And he killed an Egyptian, a spectacular man. The Egyptian had a spear in his hand; so he went down to him with a staff, wrested the spear out of the Egyptian's hand, and killed him with his own spear. [22]These things Benaiah the son of Jehoiada did, and won a name among three mighty men. [23]He was more honored than the thirty, but he did not attain to the first three. And David appointed him over his guard.

[24]Asahel the brother of Joab was one of the thirty; Elhanan the son of Dodo of Bethlehem, [25]Shammah the Harodite, Elika the Harodite, [26]Helez the Paltite, Ira the son of Ikkesh the Tekoite, [27]Abiezer the Anathothite, Mebunnai the Hushathite, [28]Zalmon the Ahohite, Maharai the Netophathite, [29]Heleb the son of Baanah (the Netophathite), Ittai the son of Ribai from Gibeah of the children of Benjamin, [30]Benaiah a Pirathonite, Hiddai from the brooks of Gaash, [31]Abi-Albon the Arbathite, Azmaveth the Barhumite, [32]Eliahba the Shaalbonite (of the sons of Jashen), Jonathan, [33]Shammah the Hararite, Ahiam the son of Sharar the Hararite, [34]Eliphelet the son of Ahasbai, the son of the Maachathite, Eliam the son of Ahithophel the Gilonite, [35]Hezrai[a] the Carmelite, Paarai the Arbite, [36]Igal the son of Nathan of Zobah, Bani the Gadite, [37]Zelek the Ammonite, Naharai the Beerothite (armorbearer of Joab the son of Zeruiah), [38]Ira the Ithrite, Gareb the Ithrite, [39]and Uriah the Hittite: thirty-seven in all.

David's Census of Israel and Judah

24 Again the anger of the LORD was aroused against Israel, and He moved David against them to say, "Go, number Israel and Judah."

[2]So the king said to Joab the commander of the army who was with him, "Now go throughout all

23:8 [a]Literally One Who Sits in the Seat (compare 1 Chronicles 11:11) [b]Following Masoretic Text and Targum; Septuagint and Vulgate read the three. 23:9 [a]Spelled Dodai in 1 Chronicles 27:4 23:18 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Septuagint, and Vulgate; some Hebrew manuscripts and Syriac read thirty; Targum reads the mighty men. 23:35 [a]Spelled Hezro in 1 Chronicles 11:37

23:8–39 David's mighty men were professional soldiers who stood beside David throughout his life. They are divided into groups: The first three stood apart for their outstanding feats; but among the others, leaders such as Abishai and Benaiah were also famous for their valor. The last soldier mentioned was Uriah the Hittite, a subtle tribute to the man whom David had betrayed (2 Sam. 11:15).

24:1 The Lord moved David against Israel. For reasons not given, God was angry with the people of Israel. The chronicler records that Satan incited David to number the people (1 Chr. 21:1). Here it is said that God was the instigator. No contradiction exists. As in all situations, God is in control, and there is a difference between what God causes and what He allows. He did not prevent David from carrying out the evil action that the tribes of Israel, from Dan to Beersheba, and count the people, that I may know the number of the people."

3And Joab said to the king, "Now may the LORD your God add to the people a hundred times more than there are, and may the eyes of my lord the king see it. But why does my lord the king desire this thing?" 4Nevertheless the king's word prevailed against Joab and against the captains of the army. Therefore Joab and the captains of the army went out from the presence of the king to count the people of Israel.

5And they crossed over the Jordan and camped in Aroer, on the right side of the town which is in the midst of the ravine of Gad, and toward Jazer. 6Then they came to Gilead and to the land of Tahtim Hodshi; they came to Dan Jaan and around to Sidon; 7and they came to the stronghold of Tyre and to all the cities of the Hivites and the Canaanites. Then they went out to South Judah as far as Beersheba. 8So when they had gone through all the land, they came to Jerusalem at the end of nine months and twenty days. 9Then Joab gave the sum of the number of the people to the king. And there were in Israel eight hundred thousand valiant men who drew the sword, and the men of Judah were five hundred thousand men.

The Judgment on David's Sin

10And David's heart condemned him after he had numbered the people. So David said to the LORD, "I have sinned greatly in what I have done; but now, I pray, O LORD, take away the iniquity of Your servant, for I have done very foolishly."

11Now when David arose in the morning, the word of the LORD came to the prophet Gad, David's seer, saying, 12"Go and tell David, 'Thus says the LORD: "I offer you three things; choose one of them for yourself, that I may do it to you." ' " 13So Gad came to David and told him; and he said to him, "Shall seven[a] years of famine come to you in your land? Or shall you flee three months before your enemies, while they pursue you? Or shall there be three days' plague in your land? Now consider and see what answer I should take back to Him who sent me."

14And David said to Gad, "I am in great distress. Please let us fall into the hand of the LORD, for His mercies are great; but do not let me fall into the hand of man."

15So the LORD sent a plague upon Israel from the morning till the appointed time. From Dan to Beersheba seventy thousand men of the people died. 16And when the angel[a] stretched out His hand over Jerusalem to destroy it, the LORD relented from the destruction, and said to the angel who was destroying the people, "It is enough; now restrain your hand." And the angel of the LORD was by the threshing floor of Araunah[b] the Jebusite.

17Then David spoke to the LORD when he saw the angel who was striking the people, and said, "Surely I have sinned, and I have done wickedly; but these sheep, what have they done? Let Your hand, I pray, be against me and against my father's house."

The Altar on the Threshing Floor

18And Gad came that day to David and said to him, "Go up, erect an altar to the LORD on the

24:13 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate; Septuagint reads three (compare 1 Chronicles 21:12). 24:16 [a]Or Angel [b]Spelled Ornan in 1 Chronicles 21:15

Satan had suggested. In this whole chapter, the taking of a census seems wrong. Numbering the people also led to a plague (Ex. 30:12). Other men of the ancient world held similar views. Joab and the captains of the army recognized the dangers in such an undertaking (2 Sam. 24:4). The census may have been connected with David's plans for building the temple, his main project at the end of his life. David may have wished to reorganize the systems of taxation, military service, and forced labor throughout the kingdom. However, numbering the people showed a proud spirit, a desire to measure his own greatness. It also indicated an attitude of self-sufficiency. David was putting his trust in human means, and forgetting that victories and achievements come from the Lord.

24:14 Let us fall into the hand of the Lord. The people of Israel had displeased the Lord, and David their king had also sinned by taking the census. Quickly David sensed in his heart that he had done wrong, and he repented before the Lord. He did not seek to justify his actions, although there were perhaps good reasons for taking the census (see v. 1, note). God forgave David, yet sent correction to him and his people (2 Sam. 12:13, 14). When presented with a choice among three evils for the land, David's answer is remarkable. Even when God is about to strike him, he shows an intimate trust in God's goodness and mercy. He believes that even in the consequences of sin, the Lord will be gracious. Indeed, God stopped the plague before the appointed time and chose this moment in history to reveal the location of the future temple (2 Chr. 3:1).

24:18 The threshing floor of Araunah was located north of Jerusalem on Mt. Moriah, the same mountain on which threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite." 19So David, according to the word of Gad, went up as the LORD commanded. 20Now Araunah looked, and saw the king and his servants coming toward him. So Araunah went out and bowed before the king with his face to the ground.

21Then Araunah said, "Why has my lord the king come to his servant?"

And David said, "To buy the threshing floor from you, to build an altar to the LORD, that the plague may be withdrawn from the people."

22Now Araunah said to David, "Let my lord the king take and offer up whatever seems good to him. Look, here are oxen for burnt sacrifice, and threshing implements and the yokes of the oxen for wood. 23All these, O king, Araunah has given to the king."

And Araunah said to the king, "May the LORD your God accept you."

24Then the king said to Araunah, "No, but I will surely buy it from you for a price; nor will I offer burnt offerings to the LORD my God with that which costs me nothing." So David bought the threshing floor and the oxen for fifty shekels of silver. 25And David built there an altar to the LORD, and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings. So the LORD heeded the prayers for the land, and the plague was withdrawn from Israel.

Abraham had offered his son Isaac and received God's promises (Gen. 22:2). Here God, in grace, restrained His angel from destroying the people of Israel with the plague. When David saw the angel of the Lord on the threshing floor, he repented of his sin in taking the census (see 2 Chr. 3:1). Offering Israel reconciliation and peace, God instructed him to build an altar there. Refusing to offer God that which cost him nothing, David purchased the site. He understood that this was the place chosen for the temple that his son Solomon would build. Although 2 Samuel does not give this information, early readers immediately understood that the threshing floor of Araunah referred to the site of the temple. This book ends not with a plague but with a story of deliverance and the promise of future blessing.

1 Kings

AUTHOR

First Kings contains no explicit authorship claim. The unknown author knew the writings of Moses well, since he constantly measured the kings of Israel and Judah against the Lord's commands, especially those recorded in Deuteronomy. The writer drew from several sources, including the "book of the acts of Solomon" (1 Kin. 11:41), the "book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel" (1 Kin. 14:19), and the "book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah" (1 Kin. 14:29). The books of 1 and 2 Kings have the same author and were originally one book.

DATE

The date of 1 and 2 Kings is around 560 B.C. Second Kings ends with the release of Jehoiachin, sometime during the reign of Evil-Merodach between 562 and 560 B.C. The style of the Hebrew is consistent with this date. By 560 B.C., Israel had been conquered and dispersed by Assyria (around 722 B.C.), and Judah had been taken into captivity by the Babylonians (around 586 B.C.).

BACKGROUND

SETTING: The chosen people had been conquered and were in exile; Babylon was in control of the Promised Land; Jerusalem lay in ruins; the temple had been destroyed; and Jehoiachin, David's descendant, was a captive. In this time of disruption, the exiles wondered what had happened to God's promises to His people.

PURPOSE: Kings reveals that God did not forget His people. Rather, God fulfilled His covenant promises. Idolatry and lawbreaking brought the covenant curses upon Israel (Deut. 28:15–68). First and 2 Kings do not record God's neglect of His people but present His faithfulness to His Word. The books end on a note of hope. Second Kings ends with Jehoiachin, the last king of Judah, still alive. God's covenant people still have hope if they turn and obey.

AUDIENCE: Both 1 and 2 Kings record the history of Israel and Judah for the Jewish people scattered by the exile. These books remind believers of all generations that God blesses obedience and judges disobedience by documenting His workings with His chosen people in the past.

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: The books of 1 and 2 Kings are not a simple recounting of kings and wars. The writer records history through the lens of the standards of the Law. The kings are evaluated by their adherence to or disregard for God's commands rather than by their building programs and conquests. The writer utilizes those sources in order to make theological commentary. The literary structure of Kings is built on an accounting of kings' reigns, each summed up by a simple formula. The formula includes the king's name and his burial place; it may also record the length of his reign, sources used to document his life, and his successors.

The chronology of 1 and 2 Kings is an ongoing problem for scholars. Each king's reign is dated by the reign of his counterpart in Israel or Judah (see chart, The Kings of Israel and Judah). Some historical events can also be dated from extrabiblical sources. When these events are recorded in a particular year of a king's reign, they provide a firm reference point for dating. The dating may be affected by several factors:

1) Coregencies. In many cases, father and son may have ruled jointly for some years, making it almost impossible to date their reigns without overlapping.
2) Accession and non-accession-year dating. In accession-year dating, the reckoning of the new king's reign does not begin officially until the new year. In non-accession-year dating, the last months of the preceding king's reign are reckoned as one year, while the remaining months are also reckoned as a full year for the new ruler. To further complicate matters, Israel used non-accession-year dating until about 900 B.C., then changed to accession-year dating. Judah used accession-year dating until about 850 B.C., then adopted the other method.
3) Religious and civil new years (see chart, The Jewish Sacred Calendar). Years were reckoned both from Tishri to Tishri (the seventh month) and from Nisan to Nisan (the first month).

Some see the chronologies found in Kings as contradictory and inconsistent. However, over the years these problems and seeming inconsistencies are being resolved so that God's Word is clearly trustworthy.

THEMES

Since God's blessing or judgment depends on the obedience of the people to the Law, these books focus on the requirements of the Law and how they were broken or obeyed. Most important were the prohibitions against foreign alliances and marriages (Deut. 7:3, 4; 17:17; 1 Kin. 11:2), the tests for true and false prophets (Deut. 18:21, 22; 1 Kin. 17:1–7), and the commands against idol worship (Deut. 12:3, 4; 1 Kin. 12:26–30). The books also show that God did not break His promise to David that his line would endure (2 Sam. 7:15–16).

Adonijah Presumes to Be King

1 Now King David was old, advanced in years; and they put covers on him, but he could not get warm. 2Therefore his servants said to him, "Let a young woman, a virgin, be sought for our lord the king, and let her stand before the king, and let her care for him; and let her lie in your bosom, that our lord the king may be warm." 3So they sought for a lovely young woman throughout all the territory of Israel, and found Abishag the Shunammite, and brought her to the king. 4The young woman was very lovely; and she cared for the king, and served him; but the king did not know her.

5Then Adonijah the son of Haggith exalted himself, saying, "I will be king"; and he prepared for himself chariots and horsemen, and fifty men to run before him. 6(And his father had not rebuked him at any time by saying, "Why have you done so?" He was also very good-looking. His mother had borne him after Absalom.) 7Then he conferred with Joab the son of Zeruiah and with Abiathar the priest, and they followed and helped Adonijah. 8But Zadok the priest, Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, Nathan the prophet, Shimei, Rei, and the mighty men who belonged to David were not with Adonijah.

9And Adonijah sacrificed sheep and oxen and fattened cattle by the stone of Zoheleth, which is by En Rogel; he also invited all his brothers, the king's sons, and all the men of Judah, the king's servants. 10But he did not invite Nathan the prophet, Benaiah, the mighty men, or Solomon his brother.

11So Nathan spoke to Bathsheba the mother of Solomon, saying, "Have you not heard that Adonijah the son of Haggith has become king, and David our lord does not know it? 12Come, please, let me now give you advice, that you may save your own life and the life of your son Solomon. 13Go immediately to King David and say to him, 'Did you not, my lord, O king, swear to your maidservant, saying, "Assuredly your son Solomon shall reign after me, and he shall sit on my throne"? Why then has Adonijah become king?' 14Then, while you are still talking there with the king, I also will come in after you and confirm your words."

15So Bathsheba went into the chamber to the king. (Now the king was very old, and Abishag the Shunammite was serving the king.) 16And
Bathsheba bowed and did homage to the king.
Then the king said, "What is your wish?"

17Then she said to him, "My lord, you swore by the LORD your God to your maidservant, saying,
'Assuredly Solomon your son shall reign after me,
and he shall sit on my throne.' 18So now, look!
Adonijah has become king; and now, my lord the king, you do not know about it. 19He has sacrificed oxen and fattened cattle and sheep in abundance, and has invited all the sons of the king, Abiathar
the priest, and Joab the commander of the army;
but Solomon your servant he has not invited.
20And as for you, my lord, O king, the eyes of all Israel are on you, that you should tell them who will sit on the throne of my lord the king after him.
21Otherwise it will happen, when my lord the king rests with his fathers, that I and my son Solomon will be counted as offenders."

22And just then, while she was still talking with the king, Nathan the prophet also came in.
23So they told the king, saying, "Here is Nathan the prophet." And when he came in before the king, he bowed down before the king with his face to the ground. 24And Nathan said, "My lord, O king, have you said, 'Adonijah shall reign after me, and he shall sit on my throne'? 25For he has gone down today, and has sacrificed oxen and fattened cattle and sheep in abundance, and has invited all the king's sons, and the commanders of the army, and Abiathar the priest; and look! They are eating

1:2 Abishag was from Shunem, in the Plain of Esdraelon just south of the Sea of Chinnereth (or Sea of Galilee). She served as a nurse to King David. Although David had no marital relations with her, this young virgin had the status of a concubine for the rest of her life. Josephus described this ancient treatment for hypothermia, in which the body heat of a healthy person warms the body of the one who is afflicted.

1:5, 6 Adonijah was Absalom's younger brother (v. 6). He may have been the oldest of David's living sons. His bid for the throne was similar to that of Absalom (see 2 Sam. 15:1–12). Adonijah, though willful and self-centered like his brother Absalom, exhibited leadership skills and charisma. As a parent, David, just as Eli and Samuel before him, had failed miserably by not restraining or disciplining his children (v. 6; 1 Sam. 3:13; 8:1–3).

1:9 En Rogel was located near Jerusalem where the Kidron and Hinnom valleys met. Its modern name is Bir Ayyub. Since En Rogel lies on the border between the tribal territories of Judah (Josh. 15:7) and Benjamin (Josh. 18:16), Adonijah's location would have appealed to both sides. "Zoheleth" (Heb., lit. "crawling thing" or "serpent") suggests the possibility that this rock had been used for pagan worship in the past. The use of foreign altars and high places was forbidden (Deut. 7:5).

1:15 Bathsheba's son Solomon was far from the oldest of David's sons, since, when Bathsheba became David's wife, he already had six children (2 Sam. 3:2–5). However, Bathsheba seems to have been David's favorite wife. Her approach to him indicates the dignity and influence of a queen in Israelite society (see chart, The Queens of the Old Testament). Bathsheba had the king's ear, but no real power. She approached her husband like any suppliant asking for favor.

1:24 The true place of a prophet is demonstrated in Kings. God's plan for Israel's government had three offices: A king to govern, a priest to approach God for the people, and a prophet to approach the people from God. Nathan exercised his proper function of reproving and guiding the king (see chart, The Prophets Who Spoke to Kings).

and drinking before him; and they say, 'Long live King Adonijah!' [26]But he has not invited me—me your servant—nor Zadok the priest, nor Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, nor your servant Solomon. [27]Has this thing been done by my lord the king, and you have not told your servant who should sit on the throne of my lord the king after him?"

David Proclaims Solomon King

[28]Then King David answered and said, "Call Bathsheba to me." So she came into the king's presence and stood before the king. [29]And the king took an oath and said, "As the LORD lives, who has redeemed my life from every distress, [30]just as I swore to you by the LORD God of Israel, saying, 'Assuredly Solomon your son shall be king after me, and he shall sit on my throne in my place,' so I certainly will do this day."

[31]Then Bathsheba bowed with her face to the earth, and paid homage to the king, and said, "Let my lord King David live forever!"

[32]And King David said, "Call to me Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada." So they came before the king. [33]The king also said to them, "Take with you the servants of your lord, and have Solomon my son ride on my own mule, and take him down to Gihon. [34]There let Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet anoint him king over Israel; and blow the horn, and say, 'Long live King Solomon!' [35]Then you shall come up after him, and he shall come and sit on my throne, and he shall be king in my place. For I have appointed him to be ruler over Israel and Judah."

[36]Benaiah the son of Jehoiada answered the king and said, "Amen! May the LORD God of my lord the king say so too. [37]As the LORD has been with my lord the king, even so may He be with Solomon, and make his throne greater than the throne of my lord King David."

[38]So Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, the Cherethites, and

1:33 Gihon spring, the primary source of water for Jerusalem, is located in the Kidron valley. Solomon's coronation procession would have been invisible but clearly audible to Adonijah's party.

1:38 Solomon was proclaimed king. There was no accepted method of succession in Israel. David was only the country's second king, and he had received the crown through prophetic anointing and conquest rather than through blood the Pelethites went down and had Solomon ride on King David's mule, and took him to Gihon. 39Then Zadok the priest took a horn of oil from the tabernacle and anointed Solomon. And they blew the horn, and all the people said, "Long live King Solomon!" 40And all the people went up after him; and the people played the flutes and rejoiced with great joy, so that the earth seemed to split with their sound.

41Now Adonijah and all the guests who were with him heard it as they finished eating. And when Joab heard the sound of the horn, he said, "Why is the city in such a noisy uproar?" 42While he was still speaking, there came Jonathan, the son of Abiathar the priest. And Adonijah said to him, "Come in, for you are a prominent man, and bring good news."

43Then Jonathan answered and said to Adonijah, "No! Our lord King David has made Solomon king. 44The king has sent with him Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, the Cherethites, and the Pelethites; and they have made him ride on the king's mule. 45So Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet have anointed him king at Gihon; and they have gone up from there rejoicing, so that the city is in an uproar. This is the noise that you have heard. 46Also Solomon sits on the throne of the kingdom. 47And moreover the king's servants have gone to bless our lord King David, saying, 'May God make the name of Solomon better than your name, and may He make his throne greater than your throne.' Then the king bowed himself on the bed. 48Also the king said thus, 'Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, who has given one to sit on my throne this day, while my eyes see it!' "

49So all the guests who were with Adonijah were afraid, and arose, and each one went his way.

50Now Adonijah was afraid of Solomon; so he arose, and went and took hold of the horns of the altar. 51And it was told Solomon, saying, "Indeed Adonijah is afraid of King Solomon; for look, he has taken hold of the horns of the altar, saying, 'Let King Solomon swear to me today that he will not put his servant to death with the sword.' "

52Then Solomon said, "If he proves himself a worthy man, not one hair of him shall fall to the earth; but if wickedness is found in him, he shall die." 53So King Solomon sent them to bring him down from the altar. And he came and fell down before King Solomon; and Solomon said to him, "Go to your house."

David's Instructions to Solomon

2 Now the days of David drew near that he should die, and he charged Solomon his son, saying: 2"I go the way of all the earth; be strong, therefore, and prove yourself a man. 3And keep the charge of the LORD your God: to walk in His ways, to keep His statutes, His commandments, His judgments, and His testimonies, as it is written in the Law of Moses, that you may prosper in all that you do and wherever you turn; 4that the LORD may fulfill His word which He spoke concerning me, saying, 'If your sons take heed to their way, to walk before Me in truth with all their heart and with all their soul,' He said, 'you shall not lack a man on the throne of Israel.'

5"Moreover you know also what Joab the son of Zeruiah did to me, and what he did to the two commanders of the armies of Israel, to Abner the son of Ner and Amasa the son of Jether, whom he killed. And he shed the blood of war in peacetime, and put the blood of war on his belt that was around his waist, and on his sandals that were on his feet. 6Therefore do according to your wisdom, and do not let his gray hair go down to the grave in peace.

7"But show kindness to the sons of Barzillai the Gileadite, and let them be among those who eat at your table, for so they came to me when I fled from Absalom your brother.

8"And see, you have with you Shimei the son of Gera, a Benjamite from Bahurim, who cursed me with a malicious curse in the day when I went to Mahanaim. But he came down to meet me at the succession. Israel was accustomed to charismatic leadership, not a dynastic line, making it possible for someone with sufficient force and personality to stage a claim to the throne. Solomon had the royal troops on his side as well as prophetic anointing. The Cherethites and Pelethites were foreign mercenaries, probably of Philistine descent.

1:50 Grasping the horns of the altar was a time-honored means of seeking general asylum. The altar was one of Israel's holiest objects (Ex. 30:10). However, the altar did not provide asylum for every criminal. The purpose of this safety valve was especially for those guilty of an unintentional murder.

2:1 David and Solomon ruled jointly for a short time.

2:3 David articulated the main theme of Kings. Obedience to God's Law results in covenant blessing and God's divine upholding of the Davidic line. The rest of the book shows how disobedience—specifically of the laws governing intermarriage, alliances with pagan nations, and idol worship—results in covenant curse and eventually in the overthrow of the monarch.

2:5–9 Because David was a man of war, he was forbidden to build the temple. Apparently, he did not wish to end his reign with still more bloodshed. Nevertheless, he did not intend for rebellious officials to trouble Solomon. Joab had been involved in the rebellion of Absalom and had frequently created embarrasing situations for David (v. 5). Shimei, a relative of Saul, had encouraged a return to Saul's dynasty (v. 8). Barzillai, on the other hand, had supplied David with food after Absalom's rebellion. David asked Solomon to reward the loyal support of Barzillai who had given him support when he was exiled at the time of Absalom's revolt (v. 7).

UNWED MOTHERS TRUSTING GOD

In Bible times, to bear a child outside the union of marriage was cause for a woman to be disowned by her family. Unwed mothers often turned to prostitution to support themselves and their children.

One of the best-known stories in the Bible is about two harlots, unwed mothers, who came to Solomon for a judgment regarding one child they both claimed as their own (1 Kin. 3:16–27). In the story, we find two principles that can relate to all unwed mothers:

- Although unwed, a woman can be a loving mother (1 Kin. 3:26).
- Sometimes being a loving mother means giving up the child so that others might care for him.

The mother in this story was willing to give her child to another in order for her child to live (1 Kin. 3:26). An unwed mother who cannot support her child financially or emotionally may choose to make her child available for adoption. This does not mean that she is unloving, for her "giving" her child to another may be the greatest act of love she can express toward her child.

An unwed mother can also trust God to bless her child. The circumstances of a child's birth do not limit that child's capabilities or potential in God's eyes.

Jordan, and I swore to him by the LORD, saying, 'I will not put you to death with the sword.' [9]Now therefore, do not hold him guiltless, for you are a wise man and know what you ought to do to him; but bring his gray hair down to the grave with blood."

Death of David

[10]So David rested with his fathers, and was buried in the City of David. [11]The period that David reigned over Israel was forty years; seven years he reigned in Hebron, and in Jerusalem he reigned thirty-three years. [12]Then Solomon sat on the throne of his father David; and his kingdom was firmly established.

Solomon Executes Adonijah

[13]Now Adonijah the son of Haggith came to Bathsheba the mother of Solomon. So she said, "Do you come peaceably?"

And he said, "Peaceably." [14]Moreover he said, "I have something to say to you."

And she said, "Say it."

[15]Then he said, "You know that the kingdom was mine, and all Israel had set their expectations on me, that I should reign. However, the kingdom has been turned over, and has become my brother's; for it was his from the LORD. [16]Now I ask one petition of you; do not deny me."

And she said to him, "Say it."

[17]Then he said, "Please speak to King Solomon, for he will not refuse you, that he may give me Abishag the Shunammite as wife."

[18]So Bathsheba said, "Very well, I will speak for you to the king."

[19]Bathsheba therefore went to King Solomon, to speak to him for Adonijah. And the king rose up to meet her and bowed down to her, and sat down on his throne and had a throne set for the king's mother; so she sat at his right hand. [20]Then she said, "I desire one small petition of you; do not refuse me."

And the king said to her, "Ask it, my mother, for I will not refuse you."

[21]So she said, "Let Abishag the Shunammite be given to Adonijah your brother as wife."

[22]And King Solomon answered and said to his mother, "Now why do you ask Abishag the Shunammite for Adonijah? Ask for him the kingdom also— for he is my older brother— for him, and for Abiathar the priest, and for Joab the son of Zeruiah." [23]Then King Solomon swore by the LORD, saying, "May God do so to me, and more also, if Adonijah has not spoken this word against his own life! [24]Now therefore, as the LORD lives, who has confirmed me and set me on the throne of David my father, and who has established a house[a] for me, as He promised, Adonijah shall be put to death today!"

[25]So King Solomon sent by the hand of Benaiah

2:24 [a]That is, a royal dynasty

2:10–12 This statement is an example of the formula used in Kings to summarize a king's reign. The formula begins with the king's death and burial, continues with the length of his reign and other information, and concludes with the accession of the next king.

2:19 Queen mother was a position similar to that of queen: Influence, but no power (see chart, The Queens of the Old Testament).

2:22 Adonijah's request. In the ancient Near East, a king normally laid claim to the harem of his predecessor (2 Sam. 16:21, 22). Adonijah's request was treasonous and demonstrates that Abishag was legally David's concubine.

the son of Jehoiada; and he struck him down, and he died.

Abiathar Exiled, Joab Executed

[26]And to Abiathar the priest the king said, "Go to Anathoth, to your own fields, for you are deserving of death; but I will not put you to death at this time, because you carried the ark of the Lord GOD before my father David, and because you were afflicted every time my father was afflicted." [27]So Solomon removed Abiathar from being priest to the LORD, that he might fulfill the word of the LORD which He spoke concerning the house of Eli at Shiloh.

[28]Then news came to Joab, for Joab had defected to Adonijah, though he had not defected to Absalom. So Joab fled to the tabernacle of the LORD, and took hold of the horns of the altar. [29]And King Solomon was told, "Joab has fled to the tabernacle of the LORD; there he is, by the altar." Then Solomon sent Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, saying, "Go, strike him down." [30]So Benaiah went to the tabernacle of the LORD, and said to him, "Thus says the king, 'Come out!' "

And he said, "No, but I will die here." And Benaiah brought back word to the king, saying, "Thus said Joab, and thus he answered me."

[31]Then the king said to him, "Do as he has said, and strike him down and bury him, that you may take away from me and from the house of my father the innocent blood which Joab shed. [32]So the LORD will return his blood on his head, because he struck down two men more righteous and better than he, and killed them with the sword—Abner the son of Ner, the commander of the army of Israel, and Amasa the son of Jether, the commander of the army of Judah—though my father David did not know it. [33]Their blood shall therefore return upon the head of Joab and upon the head of his descendants forever. But upon David and his descendants, upon his house and his throne, there shall be peace forever from the LORD."

[34]So Benaiah the son of Jehoiada went up and struck and killed him; and he was buried in his own house in the wilderness. [35]The king put Benaiah the son of Jehoiada in his place over the army, and the king put Zadok the priest in the place of Abiathar.

Shimei Executed

[36]Then the king sent and called for Shimei, and said to him, "Build yourself a house in Jerusalem and dwell there, and do not go out from there anywhere. [37]For it shall be, on the day you go out and cross the Brook Kidron, know for certain you shall surely die; your blood shall be on your own head."

[38]And Shimei said to the king, "The saying is good. As my lord the king has said, so your servant will do." So Shimei dwelt in Jerusalem many days.

[39]Now it happened at the end of three years, that two slaves of Shimei ran away to Achish the son of Maachah, king of Gath. And they told Shimei, saying, "Look, your slaves are in Gath!" [40]So Shimei arose, saddled his donkey, and went to Achish at Gath to seek his slaves. And Shimei went and brought his slaves from Gath. [41]And Solomon was told that Shimei had gone from Jerusalem to Gath and had come back. [42]Then the king sent and called for Shimei, and said to him, "Did I not make you swear by the LORD, and warn you, saying, 'Know for certain that on the day you go out and travel anywhere, you shall surely die'? And you said to me, 'The word I have heard is good.' [43]Why then have you not kept the oath of the LORD and the commandment that I gave you?" [44]The king said moreover to Shimei, "You know, as your heart acknowledges, all the wickedness that you did to my father David; therefore the LORD will return your wickedness on your own head. [45]But King Solomon shall be blessed, and the throne of David shall be established before the LORD forever."

[46]So the king commanded Benaiah the son of Jehoiada; and he went out and struck him down, and he died. Thus the kingdom was established in the hand of Solomon.

Solomon Requests Wisdom

3 Now Solomon made a treaty with Pharaoh king of Egypt, and married Pharaoh's daughter; then he brought her to the City of David until he had finished building his own house, and the house of the LORD, and the wall all around Jerusalem. [2]Meanwhile the people sacrificed at the high places, because there was no house built for the name of the LORD until those days. [3]And Solomon loved the LORD, walking in the statutes of his father David, except that he sacrificed and burned incense at the high places.

2:26 Solomon merely exiled Abiathar because of his priestly status and because he had served his father David faithfully (2 Sam. 15:24, 29; 1 Chr. 15:11–15). Solomon followed David's instructions concerning Joab and Shimei (1 Kin. 2:5, 6, 8, 9; see also vv. 31, 34, 42–46).

3:1 Solomon's aim as king was to maintain the large kingdom David had conquered. Thus, his foreign policy primarily involved treaty-making rather than war. This marriage with an Egyptian princess shows the level of importance that Israel had reached. In addition, Egypt was weakening. This princess was probably the daughter of Siamun, of the weak 21st dynasty. The marriage was profitable for Solomon, resulting in a treaty and territory gained (1 Kin. 9:16). It also violated God's prohibition of marriage with pagans (Deut. 7:3; see Kin. 11, Solomon's Pagan Wives).

3:3 Idolatry was Solomon's first breach of the law against idolatry (Deut. 12:3).

4Now the king went to Gibeon to sacrifice there, for that was the great high place: Solomon offered a thousand burnt offerings on that altar.
5At Gibeon the LORD appeared to Solomon in a dream by night; and God said, "Ask! What shall I give you?"
6And Solomon said: "You have shown great mercy to Your servant David my father, because he walked before You in truth, in righteousness, and in uprightness of heart with You; You have continued this great kindness for him, and You have given him a son to sit on his throne, as it is this day. 7Now, O LORD my God, You have made Your servant king instead of my father David, but I am a little child; I do not know how to go out or come in. 8And Your servant is in the midst of Your people whom You have chosen, a great people, too numerous to be numbered or counted. 9Therefore give to Your servant an understanding heart to judge Your people, that I may discern between good and evil. For who is able to judge this great people of Yours?"
10The speech pleased the LORD, that Solomon had asked this thing. 11Then God said to him: "Because you have asked this thing, and have not asked long life for yourself, nor have asked riches for yourself, nor have asked the life of your enemies, but have asked for yourself understanding to discern justice, 12behold, I have done according to your words; see, I have given you a wise and understanding heart, so that there has not been anyone like you before you, nor shall any like you arise after you. 13And I have also given you what you have not asked: both riches and honor, so that there shall not be anyone like you among the kings all your days. 14So if you walk in My ways, to keep My statutes and My commandments, as your father David walked, then I will lengthen your days."
15Then Solomon awoke; and indeed it had been a dream. And he came to Jerusalem and stood before the ark of the covenant of the LORD, offered up burnt offerings, offered peace offerings, and made a feast for all his servants.

Solomon's Wise Judgment

16Now two women who were harlots came to the king, and stood before him. 17And one woman said, "O my lord, this woman and I dwell in the same house; and I gave birth while she was in the house. 18Then it happened, the third day after I had given birth, that this woman also gave birth.
And we were together; no one was with us in the house, except the two of us in the house. 19And this woman's son died in the night, because she lay on him. 20So she arose in the middle of the night and took my son from my side, while your maidservant slept, and laid him in her bosom, and laid her dead child in my bosom. 21And when I rose in the morning to nurse my son, there he was, dead. But when I had examined him in the morning, indeed, he was not my son whom I had borne."
22Then the other woman said, "No! But the living one is my son, and the dead one is your son."
And the first woman said, "No! But the dead one is your son, and the living one is my son."
Thus they spoke before the king.
23And the king said, "The one says, 'This is my son, who lives, and your son is the dead one'; and the other says, 'No! But your son is the dead one, and my son is the living one.' " 24Then the king said, "Bring me a sword." So they brought a sword before the king. 25And the king said, "Divide the living child in two, and give half to one, and half to the other."
26Then the woman whose son was living spoke to the king, for she yearned with compassion for her son; and she said, "O my lord, give her the living child, and by no means kill him!"
But the other said, "Let him be neither mine nor yours, but divide him." 27So the king answered and said, "Give the first woman the living child, and by no means kill him;
she is his mother."
28And all Israel heard of the judgment which the king had rendered; and they feared the king, for they saw that the wisdom of God was in him to administer justice.

Solomon's Administration

4So King Solomon was king over all Israel. 2And these were his officials: Azariah the son of Zadok, the priest; 3Elihoreph and Ahijah, the sons of Shisha, scribes; Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud, the recorder; 4Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, over the army; Zadok and Abiathar, the priests; 5Azariah the son of Nathan, over the officers; Zabud the son of Nathan, a priest and the king's friend; 6Ahishar, over the household; and Adoniram the son of Abda,
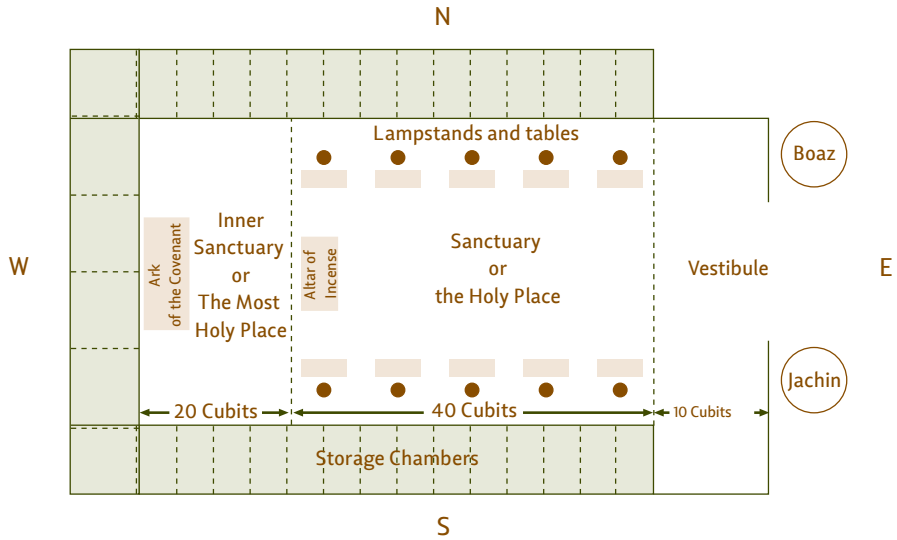
over the labor force.

3:4 Gibeon was a Canaanite city slightly northwest of Jerusalem. The tabernacle was there (2 Chr. 1:3). It was also the location of a great pagan shrine.

3:14 Obedience. Although Solomon was given supernatural wisdom, obedience to the covenant Law was still necessary for him to take advantage of that gift.

3:16 Solomon's wisdom in dealing with the harlots shows the extent of his justice. Women employed as prostitutes were considered the lowest and most powerless members of Israelite society; yet even they received a fair hearing before the king (see Unwed Mothers). This was the height of the monarchy. From this point, the administration of justice by the successive kings sinks slowly to the level of King Ahab, who ordered the murder of a poor man for his vineyard (1 Kin. 21).

THE PLAN OF SOLOMON'S TEMPLE



Solomon constructed the temple on Mt. Moriah, north of the ancient City of David, based on the plans his father David received from the Lord (1 Chr. 28:11–13, 19). The plan is similar to that of the tabernacle but on a grander scale.

[7]And Solomon had twelve governors over all Israel, who provided food for the king and his household; each one made provision for one month of the year. [8]These are their names: Ben-Hur,[a] in the mountains of Ephraim; [9]Ben-Deker,[a] in Makaz, Shaalbim, Beth Shemesh, and Elon Beth Hanan; [10]Ben-Hesed,[a] in Arubboth; to him belonged Sochoh and all the land of Hepher; [11]Ben-Abinadab,[a] in all the regions of Dor; he had Taphath the daughter of Solomon as wife; [12]Baana the son of Ahilud, in Taanach, Megiddo, and all Beth Shean, which is beside Zaretan below Jezreel, from Beth Shean to Abel Meholah, as far as the other side of Jokneam; [13]Ben-Geber,[a] in Ramoth Gilead; to him belonged the towns of Jair the son of Manasseh, in Gilead; to him also belonged the region of Argob in Bashan— sixty large cities with walls and bronze gate-bars; [14]Ahinadab the son of Iddo, in Mahanaim; [15]Ahimaaz, in Naphtali; he also took Basemath the daughter of Solomon as wife; [16]Baanah the son of Hushai, in Asher and Aloth; [17]Jehoshaphat the son of Paruah, in Issachar; [18]Shimei the son of Elah, in Benjamin; [19]Geber the son of Uri, in the land of Gilead, in the country of Sihon king of the Amorites, and of Og king of Bashan. He was the only governor who was in the land.

Prosperity and Wisdom of Solomon's Reign

[20]Judah and Israel were as numerous as the sand by the sea in multitude, eating and drinking and rejoicing. [21]So Solomon reigned over all kingdoms from the River[a] to the land of the Philistines, as far as the border of Egypt. They brought tribute and served Solomon all the days of his life.

[22]Now Solomon's provision for one day was thirty kors of fine flour, sixty kors of meal, [23]ten fatted oxen, twenty oxen from the pastures, and

4:7 The 12 districts for administration and taxation formed by Solomon did not follow tribal boundaries. Each district probably contained around 100,000 people and was expected to supply Solomon's immense court with provisions for one month—a severe tax burden. Administrative officers Ben-Abinadab and Ahimaaz were Solomon's sons-in-law (vv. 11, 15).

4:20 Sand by the sea alluded to God's promise to Abraham. God had fulfilled His side of the covenant. He had multiplied Abraham's seed, brought them into a Land of their own, subdued the nations, and put David's line on the throne. Whether or not Israel would live up to its part in the covenant was uncertain, but God's faithfulness to His part of the covenant was absolutely certain.

24For he had dominion over all the region on this side of the River[a] from Tiphsah even to Gaza, namely over all the kings on this side of the River; and he had peace on every side all around him. 25And Judah and Israel dwelt safely, each man under his vine and his fig tree, from Dan as far as Beersheba, all the days of Solomon.

26Solomon had forty[a] thousand stalls of horses for his chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen. 27And these governors, each man in his month, provided food for King Solomon and for all who came to King Solomon's table. There was no lack in their supply. 28They also brought barley and straw to the proper place, for the horses and steeds, each man according to his charge.

29And God gave Solomon wisdom and exceedingly great understanding, and largeness of heart like the sand on the seashore. 30Thus Solomon's wisdom excelled the wisdom of all the men of the East and all the wisdom of Egypt. 31For he was wiser than all men—than Ethan the Ezrahite, and Heman, Chalcol, and Darda, the sons of Mahol; and his fame was in all the surrounding nations. 32He spoke three thousand proverbs, and his songs were one thousand and five. 33Also he spoke of trees, from the cedar tree of Lebanon even to the hyssop that springs out of the wall; he spoke also of animals, of birds, of creeping things, and of fish. 34And men of all nations, from all the kings of the earth who had heard of his wisdom, came to hear the wisdom of Solomon.

Solomon Prepares to Build the Temple

5 Now Hiram king of Tyre sent his servants to Solomon, because he heard that they had anointed him king in place of his father, for Hiram had always loved David. 2Then Solomon sent to Hiram, saying:

> 3You know how my father David could not build a house for the name of the LORD his God because of the wars which were fought against him on every side, until the LORD put his foes[a] under the soles of his feet.
> 4But now the LORD my God has given me rest on every side; there is neither adversary nor evil occurrence.
> 5And behold, I propose to build a house for the name of the LORD my God, as the LORD spoke to my father David, saying, "Your son, whom I will set on your throne in your place, he shall build the house for My name."
> 6Now therefore, command that they cut down cedars for me from Lebanon; and my servants will be with your servants, and I will pay you wages for your servants according to whatever you say. For you know there is none among us who has skill to cut timber like the Sidonians.

7So it was, when Hiram heard the words of Solomon, that he rejoiced greatly and said,

> Blessed be the LORD this day, for He has given David a wise son over this great people!

8Then Hiram sent to Solomon, saying:

> I have considered the message which you sent me, and I will do all you desire concerning the cedar and cypress logs.
> 9My servants shall bring them down from Lebanon to the sea; I will float them in rafts by sea to the place you indicate to me, and will have them broken apart there; then you can take them away. And you shall fulfill my desire by giving food for my household.

10Then Hiram gave Solomon cedar and cypress logs according to all his desire. 11And Solomon gave Hiram twenty thousand kors of wheat as food for his household, and twenty[a] kors of pressed oil. Thus Solomon gave to Hiram year by year.

12So the LORD gave Solomon wisdom, as He had promised him; and there was peace between Hiram and Solomon, and the two of them made a treaty together.

13Then King Solomon raised up a labor force out of all Israel; and the labor force was thirty thousand men. 14And he sent them to Lebanon, ten thousand a month in shifts: they were one month in Lebanon and two months at home; Adoniram was in charge of the labor force. 15Solomon had seventy thousand who carried burdens,

4:24 [a]That is, the Euphrates 4:26 [a]Following Masoretic Text and most other authorities; some manuscripts of the Septuagint read four (compare 2 Chronicles 9:25). 5:3 [a]Literally them 5:11 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Targum, and Vulgate; Septuagint and Syriac read twenty thousand.

4:27 While David supported himself through his personal income and taxes on his foreign subjects, Solomon's more lavish court put an ever-increasing tax burden on native Israelites, creating resentment (1 Kin. 12:4).

5:1 King Hiram of Tyre aided David's construction of the royal palace and had a longstanding treaty with Israel (2 Sam. 5:11).

5:9 The logs probably came ashore on the Mediterranean coast north of Joppa, about 35 miles northwest of Jerusalem; they had to be hauled the remaining distance.

5:13 In order to build the temple, Solomon resorted to forced labor. David had demanded forced labor only from conquered peoples, but Solomon extended this policy to native Israelites. Able-bodied men were required to spend four months of the year working without pay for the king. This requirement was greatly resented by the people.

and eighty thousand who quarried stone in the mountains, 16besides three thousand three hundred[a] from the chiefs of Solomon's deputies, who supervised the people who labored in the work. 17And the king commanded them to quarry large stones, costly stones, and hewn stones, to lay the foundation of the temple.[a] 18So Solomon's builders, Hiram's builders, and the Gebalites quarried them; and they prepared timber and stones to build the temple.

Solomon Builds the Temple

6 And it came to pass in the four hundred and eightieth[a] year after the children of Israel had come out of the land of Egypt, in the fourth year of Solomon's reign over Israel, in the month of Ziv, which is the second month, that he began to build the house of the LORD. 2Now the house which King Solomon built for the LORD, its length was sixty cubits, its width twenty, and its height thirty cubits. 3The vestibule in front of the sanctuary[a] of the house was twenty cubits long across the width of the house, and the width of the vestibule[b] extended ten cubits from the front of the house. 4And he made for the house windows with beveled frames.

5Against the wall of the temple he built chambers all around, against the walls of the temple, all around the sanctuary and the inner sanctuary.[a] Thus he made side chambers all around it. 6The lowest chamber was five cubits wide, the middle was six cubits wide, and the third was seven cubits wide; for he made narrow ledges around the outside of the temple, so that the support beams would not be fastened into the walls of the temple. 7And the temple, when it was being built, was built with stone finished at the quarry, so that no hammer or chisel or any iron tool was heard in the temple while it was being built. 8The doorway for the middle story[a] was on the right side of the temple. They went up by stairs to the middle story, and from the middle to the third.

9So he built the temple and finished it, and he paneled the temple with beams and boards of cedar. 10And he built side chambers against the entire temple, each five cubits high; they were attached to the temple with cedar beams.

11Then the word of the LORD came to Solomon, saying: 12"Concerning this temple which you are building, if you walk in My statutes, execute My judgments, keep all My commandments, and walk in them, then I will perform My word with you, which I spoke to your father David. 13And I will dwell among the children of Israel, and will not forsake My people Israel."

23Inside the inner sanctuary he made two cherubim of olive wood, each ten cubits high. 24One wing of the cherub was five cubits, and the other wing of the cherub five cubits: ten cubits from the tip of one wing to the tip of the other. 25And the other cherub was ten cubits; both cherubim were of the same size and shape. 26The height of one cherub was ten cubits, and so was the other cherub. 27Then he set the cherubim inside the inner room;[a] and they stretched out the wings of the cherubim so that the wing of the one touched one wall, and the wing of the other cherub touched the other wall. And their wings touched each other in the middle of the room. 28Also he overlaid the cherubim with gold.

29Then he carved all the walls of the temple all

6:1 The temple was the fulfillment of the prophecy in which God promised to make a place for His name to dwell and the evidence of God's promise to give Israel her own country (Deut. 12:5). The settlement was not complete until Israel had a permanent place to worship God. The temple construction probably began in 966 B.C.

6:23 The cherubim were angels whose specific function was to stand in the presence of God and reflect His glory. When Ezekiel saw God departing from the temple, the cherubim left as well (Ezek. 10). They were located in the inner sanctuary, the Most Holy Place, because God's presence dwelt there (see chart, The Plan of Solomon's Temple).

around, both the inner and outer sanctuaries, with carved figures of cherubim, palm trees, and open flowers. 30And the floor of the temple he overlaid with gold, both the inner and outer sanctuaries.

31For the entrance of the inner sanctuary he made doors of olive wood; the lintel and doorposts were one-fifth of the wall. 32The two doors were of olive wood; and he carved on them figures of cherubim, palm trees, and open flowers, and overlaid them with gold; and he spread gold on the cherubim and on the palm trees. 33So for the door of the sanctuary he also made doorposts of olive wood, one-fourth of the wall. 34And the two doors were of cypress wood; two panels comprised one folding door, and two panels comprised the other folding door. 35Then he carved cherubim, palm trees, and open flowers on them, and overlaid them with gold applied evenly on the carved work.

36And he built the inner court with three rows of hewn stone and a row of cedar beams.

37In the fourth year the foundation of the house of the LORD was laid, in the month of Ziv. 38And in the eleventh year, in the month of Bul, which is the eighth month, the house was finished in all its details and according to all its plans. So he was seven years in building it.

Solomon's Other Buildings

7 But Solomon took thirteen years to build his own house; so he finished all his house.

2He also built the House of the Forest of Lebanon; its length was one hundred cubits, its width fifty cubits, and its height thirty cubits, with four rows of cedar pillars, and cedar beams on the pillars. 3And it was paneled with cedar above the beams that were on forty-five pillars, fifteen to a row. 4*There were* windows with beveled frames in three rows, and window was opposite window in three tiers. 5And all the doorways and doorposts had rectangular frames; and window was opposite window in three tiers.

6He also made the Hall of Pillars: its length was fifty cubits, and its width thirty cubits; and in front of them was a portico with pillars, and a canopy was in front of them.

7Then he made a hall for the throne, the Hall of Judgment, where he might judge; and it was paneled with cedar from floor to ceiling.[a]

8And the house where he dwelt had another court inside the hall, of like workmanship. Solomon also made a house like this hall for Pharaoh's daughter, whom he had taken as wife.

9All these were of costly stones cut to size, trimmed with saws, inside and out, from the foundation to the eaves, and also on the outside to the great court. 10The foundation was of costly stones, large stones, some ten cubits and some eight cubits. 11And above were costly stones, hewn to size, and cedar wood. 12The great court was enclosed with three rows of hewn stones and a row of cedar beams. So were the inner court of the house of the LORD and the vestibule of the temple.

Hiram the Craftsman

13Now King Solomon sent and brought Huram[a] from Tyre. 14He was the son of a widow from the tribe of Naphtali, and his father was a man of Tyre, a bronze worker; he was filled with wisdom and understanding and skill in working with all kinds of bronze work. So he came to King Solomon and did all his work.

The Bronze Pillars for the Temple

15And he cast two pillars of bronze, each one eighteen cubits high, and a line of twelve cubits measured the circumference of each. 16Then he made two capitals of cast bronze, to set on the tops of the pillars. The height of one capital was five cubits, and the height of the other capital was five cubits. 17*He made* a lattice network, with wreaths of chainwork, for the capitals which were on top of the pillars: seven chains for one capital and seven for the other capital. 18So he made the pillars, and two rows of pomegranates above the network all around to cover the capitals that were on top; and thus he did for the other capital.

19The capitals which were on top of the pillars in the hall were in the shape of lilies, four cubits. 20The capitals on the two pillars also had pomegranates above, by the convex surface which was next to the network; and there were two hundred such pomegranates in rows on each of the capitals all around.

7:7 [a]Literally floor, that is, of the upper level 7:13 [a]Hebrew Hiram (compare 2 Chronicles 2:13, 14)

6:38 The temple was probably completed in 959 B.C.

7:1 Solomon's building program was a measure of his secular success and prosperity. Solomon built extensively, especially in Jerusalem, and later found himself in financial difficulty from his massive spending.

7:8 Pharaoh's daughter, as the symbol of Israel's most important foreign alliance, rated a palace of her own (1 Kin. 3:1, note; see also 1 Kin. 11, Solomon's Pagan Wives).

7:13 Solomon's trade agreement with Phoenicia allowed him to exploit the greater technical skill of the Phoenicians for his building projects. The phrase "filled with wisdom and understanding" implies that Huram (also Hiram) of Tyre may have had an empowering from the Spirit of God to do his work.

7:21 The purpose of the pillars of bronze is unclear. However, such monuments were often built as memory aids, reminders of events in Israel's history. Jacob erected such a pillar in memory of his covenant with God (Gen. 28:10–19). The names of the pillars suggest that they were to remind the Israelites of God's strength and sovereignty in establishing His people.

Prayer reveals to souls the vanity of earthly goods and pleasures.
It fills them with light, strength and consolation, and gives them a foretaste of the calm bliss of our heavenly home.

St. Rose of Viterbo

[21]Then he set up the pillars by the vestibule of the temple; he set up the pillar on the right and called its name Jachin, and he set up the pillar on the left and called its name Boaz. [22]The tops of the pillars were in the shape of lilies. So the work of the pillars was finished.

The Sea and the Oxen

[23]And he made the Sea of cast bronze, ten cubits from one brim to the other; it was completely round. Its height was five cubits, and a line of thirty cubits measured its circumference.

[24]Below its brim were ornamental buds encircling it all around, ten to a cubit, all the way around the Sea. The ornamental buds were cast in two rows when it was cast. [25]It stood on twelve oxen: three looking toward the north, three looking toward the west, three looking toward the south, and three looking toward the east; the Sea was set upon them, and all their back parts pointed inward. [26]It was a handbreadth thick; and its brim was shaped like the brim of a cup, like a lily blossom. It contained two thousand[a] baths.

The Carts and the Lavers

[27]He also made ten carts of bronze; four cubits was the length of each cart, four cubits its width, and three cubits its height. [28]And this was the design of the carts: They had panels, and the panels were between frames; [29]on the panels that were between the frames were lions, oxen, and cherubim. And on the frames was a pedestal on top. Below the lions and oxen were wreaths of plaited work. [30]Every cart had four bronze wheels and axles of bronze, and its four feet had supports. Under the laver were supports of cast bronze beside each wreath. [31]Its opening inside the crown at the top was one cubit in diameter; and the opening was round, shaped like a pedestal, one and a half cubits in outside diameter; and also on the opening were engravings, but the panels were square, not round. [32]Under the panels were the four wheels, and the axles of the wheels were joined to the cart. The height of a wheel was one and a half cubits. [33]The workmanship of the wheels was like the workmanship of a chariot wheel; their axle pins, their rims, their spokes, and their hubs were all of cast bronze. [34]And there were four supports at the four corners of each cart; its supports were part of the cart itself. [35]On the top of the cart, at the height of half a cubit, it was perfectly round. And on the top of the cart, its flanges and its panels were of the same casting. [36]On the plates of its flanges and on its panels he engraved cherubim, lions, and palm trees, wherever there was a clear space on each, with wreaths all around. [37]Thus he made the ten carts. All of them were of the same mold, one measure, and one shape.

[38]Then he made ten lavers of bronze; each laver contained forty baths, and each laver was four cubits. On each of the ten carts was a laver. [39]And he put five carts on the right side of the house, and five on the left side of the house. He set the Sea on the right side of the house, toward the southeast.

Furnishings of the Temple

[40]Huram[a] made the lavers and the shovels and the bowls. So Huram finished doing all the work that he was to do for King Solomon for the house of the LORD: [41]the two pillars, the two bowl-shaped capitals that were on top of the two pillars; the two networks covering the two bowl-shaped capitals which were on top of the pillars; [42]four hundred pomegranates for the two networks (two rows of pomegranates for each network, to cover the two bowl-shaped capitals that were on top of the pillars); [43]the ten carts, and ten lavers on the carts; [44]one Sea, and twelve oxen under the Sea; [45]the pots, the shovels, and the bowls.

All these articles which Huram[a] made for King Solomon for the house of the LORD were of burnished bronze. [46]In the plain of Jordan the king had them cast in clay molds, between Succoth and Zaretan. [47]And Solomon did not weigh all the articles, because there were so many; the weight of the bronze was not determined.

[48]Thus Solomon had all the furnishings made for the house of the LORD: the altar of gold, and the table of gold on which was the showbread; [49]the lampstands of pure gold, five on the right side and five on the left in front of the inner sanctuary, with the flowers and the lamps and the wick-trimmers of gold; [50]the basins, the trimmers,

7:26 [a]Or three thousand (compare 2 Chronicles 4:5) 7:40 [a]Hebrew Hiram (compare 2 Chronicles 2:13, 14) 7:45 [a]Hebrew Hiram (compare 2 Chronicles 2:13, 14)

the bowls, the ladles, and the censers of pure gold; and the hinges of gold, both for the doors of the inner room (the Most Holy Place) and for the doors of the main hall of the temple.

51So all the work that King Solomon had done for the house of the LORD was finished; and Solomon brought in the things which his father David had dedicated: the silver and the gold and the furnishings. He put them in the treasuries of the house of the LORD.

The Ark Brought into the Temple

8 Now Solomon assembled the elders of Israel and all the heads of the tribes, the chief fathers of the children of Israel, to King Solomon in Jerusalem, that they might bring up the ark of the covenant of the LORD from the City of David, which is Zion. 2Therefore all the men of Israel assembled with King Solomon at the feast in the month of Ethanim, which is the seventh month. 3So all the elders of Israel came, and the priests took up the ark. 4Then they brought up the ark of the LORD, the tabernacle of meeting, and all the holy furnishings that were in the tabernacle. The priests and the Levites brought them up. 5Also King Solomon, and all the congregation of Israel who were assembled with him, were with him before the ark, sacrificing sheep and oxen that could not be counted or numbered for multitude. 6Then the priests brought in the ark of the covenant of the LORD to its place, into the inner sanctuary of the temple, to the Most Holy Place, under the wings of the cherubim. 7For the cherubim spread their two wings over the place of the ark, and the cherubim overshadowed the ark and its poles. 8The poles extended so that the ends of the poles could be seen from the holy place, in front of the inner sanctuary; but they could not be seen from outside. And they are there to this day. 9Nothing was in the ark except the two tablets of stone which Moses put there at Horeb, when the LORD made a covenant with the children of Israel, when they came out of the land of Egypt.

10And it came to pass, when the priests came out of the holy place, that the cloud filled the house of the LORD, 11so that the priests could not continue ministering because of the cloud; for the glory of the LORD filled the house of the LORD.

12Then Solomon spoke:

"The LORD said He would dwell in the dark cloud.
13I have surely built You an exalted house,
And a place for You to dwell in forever."

Solomon's Speech at Completion of the Work

14Then the king turned around and blessed the whole assembly of Israel, while all the assembly of Israel was standing. 15And he said: "Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, who spoke with His mouth to my father David, and with His hand has fulfilled it, saying, 16'Since the day that I brought My people Israel out of Egypt, I have chosen no city from any tribe of Israel in which to build a house, that My name might be there; but I chose David to be over My people Israel.' 17Now it was in the heart of my father David to build a temple[a] for the name of the LORD God of Israel. 18But the LORD said to my father David, 'Whereas it was in your heart to build a temple for My name, you did well that it was in your heart. 19Nevertheless you shall not build the temple, but your son who will come from your body, he shall build the temple for My name.' 20So the LORD has fulfilled His word which He spoke; and I have filled the position of my father David, and sit on the throne of Israel, as the LORD promised; and I have built a temple for the name of the LORD God of Israel. 21And there I have made a place for the ark, in which is the covenant of the LORD which He made with our fathers, when He brought them out of the land of Egypt."

Solomon's Prayer of Dedication

22Then Solomon stood before the altar of the LORD in the presence of all the assembly of Israel, and spread out his hands toward heaven; 23and he said: "LORD God of Israel, there is no God in heaven above or on earth below like You, who keep Your covenant and mercy with Your servants who walk before You with all their hearts. 24You have kept what You promised Your servant David my father; You have both spoken with Your mouth and fulfilled it with Your hand, as it is this day. 25Therefore, LORD God of Israel, now keep what You promised Your servant David my father, saying, 'You shall not fail to have a man sit before Me on the throne of Israel, only if your sons take heed to

8:17 [a]Literally house, and so in verses 18–20

8:1 The ark carried through the wilderness by the children of Israel following the Exodus had been at Gibeon awaiting a permanent residence (1 Kin. 3:4).

8:2 The Feast of Tabernacles is a time for Israel to remember God's faithfulness in bringing them out of Egypt (Lev. 23:34; see chart, The Feasts of Israel).

8:10 God selected a place for His name and a place where His people could come into His presence (Deut. 12:5; see chart, The Plan of the Tabernacle). The cloud, signifying God's presence, had formerly rested on the tabernacle of meeting, where the ark had been kept during the Exodus (Ex. 40:34–38).

8:25 In Solomon's prayer of dedication, he realized the conditions of God's promise (see chart, Solomon's Prayer). Obedience brings blessing (Deut. 28:1–14) and the perpetuity of David's line (2 Sam. 7:12–16); sin brings the covenant curses (Deut. 28:15–68). Solomon's later actions stand condemned by his own words.

their way, that they walk before Me as you have walked before Me.' [26]And now I pray, O God of Israel, let Your word come true, which You have spoken to Your servant David my father.

[27]"But will God indeed dwell on the earth? Behold, heaven and the heaven of heavens cannot contain You. How much less this temple which I have built! [28]Yet regard the prayer of Your servant and his supplication, O LORD my God, and listen to the cry and the prayer which Your servant is praying before You today: [29]that Your eyes may be open toward this temple night and day, toward the place of which You said, 'My name shall be there,' that You may hear the prayer which Your servant makes toward this place. [30]And may You hear the supplication of Your servant and of Your people Israel, when they pray toward this place. Hear in heaven Your dwelling place; and when You hear, forgive.

[31]"When anyone sins against his neighbor, and is forced to take an oath, and comes and takes an oath before Your altar in this temple, [32]then hear in heaven, and act, and judge Your servants, condemning the wicked, bringing his way on his head, and justifying the righteous by giving him according to his righteousness.

[33]"When Your people Israel are defeated before an enemy because they have sinned against You, and when they turn back to You and confess Your name, and pray and make supplication to You in this temple, [34]then hear in heaven, and forgive the sin of Your people Israel, and bring them back to the land which You gave to their fathers.

[35]"When the heavens are shut up and there is no rain because they have sinned against You, when they pray toward this place and confess Your name, and turn from their sin because You afflict them, [36]then hear in heaven, and forgive the sin of Your servants, Your people Israel, that You may teach them the good way in which they should walk; and send rain on Your land which You have given to Your people as an inheritance.

[37]"When there is famine in the land, pestilence or blight or mildew, locusts or grasshoppers; when their enemy besieges them in the land of their cities; whatever plague or whatever sickness there is; [38]whatever prayer, whatever supplication is made by anyone, or by all Your people Israel, when each one knows the plague of his own heart, and spreads out his hands toward this temple: [39]then hear in heaven Your dwelling place, and forgive, and act, and give to everyone according to all his ways, whose heart You know (for You alone know the hearts of all the sons of men), [40]that they may fear You all the days that they live in the land which You gave to our fathers.

[41]"Moreover, concerning a foreigner, who is not of Your people Israel, but has come from a far country for Your name's sake [42](for they will hear of Your great name and Your strong hand and Your outstretched arm), when he comes and prays toward this temple, [43]hear in heaven Your dwelling place, and do according to all for which the foreigner calls to You, that all peoples of the earth may know Your name and fear You, as do Your people Israel, and that they may know that this temple which I have built is called by Your name.

[44]"When Your people go out to battle against their enemy, wherever You send them, and when they pray to the LORD toward the city which You have chosen and the temple which I have built for Your name, [45]then hear in heaven their prayer and their supplication, and maintain their cause.

[46]"When they sin against You (for there is no one who does not sin), and You become angry with them and deliver them to the enemy, and they take them captive to the land of the enemy, far or near; [47]yet when they come to themselves in the land where they were carried captive, and repent, and make supplication to You in the land of those who took them captive, saying, 'We have sinned and done wrong, we have committed wickedness'; [48]and when they return to You with all their heart and with all their soul in the land of their enemies who led them away captive, and pray to You toward their land which You gave to their fathers, the city which You have chosen and the temple which I have built for Your name: [49]then hear in heaven Your dwelling place their prayer and their supplication, and maintain their cause, [50]and forgive Your people who have sinned against You, and all their transgressions which they have transgressed against You; and grant them compassion before those who took them captive, that they may have compassion on them [51](for they are Your people and Your inheritance, whom You brought out of Egypt, out of the iron furnace), [52]that Your eyes may be open to the supplication of Your servant and the supplication of Your people Israel, to listen to them whenever they call to You. [53]For You separated them from among all the peoples of the earth to be Your inheritance, as You spoke by Your servant Moses, when You brought our fathers out of Egypt, O Lord GOD."

Solomon Blesses the Assembly

[54]And so it was, when Solomon had finished praying all this prayer and supplication to the LORD, that he arose from before the altar of the LORD, from kneeling on his knees with his hands spread up to heaven. [55]Then he stood and blessed all the assembly of Israel with a loud voice, saying: [56]"Blessed be the LORD, who has given rest to His people Israel, according to all that He promised. There has not failed one word of all His good promise, which He promised through His servant

DOWRY SEALING THE BETROTHAL

The dowry was an essential ingredient in Hebrew marriages except in very poor families. It sealed the betrothal, making the marriage legal even before the official ceremony or physical consummation of the marriage.

The dowry could assume several different forms: the "bride-price" (Heb. mohar) paid to the father or brothers of the bride to compensate for the economic loss to the bride's family by her departure (Gen. 34:12), gifts from the bridegroom to the bride, gifts to members of the bride's family (Heb. mattan, Gen. 24:53), or gifts from the bride's father to the bride (Judg. 1:15; 1 Kin. 9:16). All gifts to the bride herself helped to ensure her financial security in case of the untimely death of her husband or his departure, since theoretically she remained the owner of her dowry.

In most cases, the dowry was fashioned according to the wealth and position of the bride and her family, even though it was a voluntary gift (1 Sam. 18:23–25). This property was assigned to the bride and brought into her husband's house upon marriage to help the young couple establish their household. Some have suggested that the dowry was an advance inheritance, meaning that the daughter received her share of the father's estate upon marriage, while her brothers had to wait until their father's death to receive their shares.

The contents of the dowry were usually "portables" such as money, jewelry, or other valuables (Gen. 24:22). The lost silver coin in Jesus' parable (Luke 15:8) likely referred to a dowry headpiece of silver coins, popular in Jesus' day. A dowry could also include work rendered (Gen. 29:18), workers to help in her work (Gen. 29:24, 29), or even deeds of bravery (Josh. 15:16), and in very rare cases land (Judg. 1:13–15).

This beautiful Old Testament tradition has continued over the centuries as family and friends join together to give brides both useful and aesthetically beautiful gifts and to provide loving service in helping a newly married couple to establish their household.

Moses. 57May the LORD our God be with us, as He was with our fathers. May He not leave us nor forsake us, 58that He may incline our hearts to Himself, to walk in all His ways, and to keep His commandments and His statutes and His judgments, which He commanded our fathers. 59And may these words of mine, with which I have made supplication before the LORD, be near the LORD our God day and night, that He may maintain the cause of His servant and the cause of His people Israel, as each day may require, 60that all the peoples of the earth may know that the LORD is God; there is no other. 61Let your heart therefore be loyal to the LORD our God, to walk in His statutes and keep His commandments, as at this day."

Solomon Dedicates the Temple

62Then the king and all Israel with him offered sacrifices before the LORD. 63And Solomon offered a sacrifice of peace offerings, which he offered to the LORD, twenty-two thousand bulls and one hundred and twenty thousand sheep. So the king and all the children of Israel dedicated the house of the LORD. 64On the same day the king consecrated the middle of the court that was in front of the house of the LORD; for there he offered burnt offerings, grain offerings, and the fat of the peace offerings, because the bronze altar that was before the LORD was too small to receive the burnt offerings, the grain offerings, and the fat of the peace offerings.

65At that time Solomon held a feast, and all Israel with him, a great assembly from the entrance of Hamath to the Brook of Egypt, before the LORD our God, seven days and seven more days—fourteen days. 66On the eighth day he sent the people away; and they blessed the king, and went to their tents joyful and glad of heart for all the good that the LORD had done for His servant David, and for Israel His people.

God's Second Appearance to Solomon

9 And it came to pass, when Solomon had finished building the house of the LORD and the king's house, and all Solomon's desire which he wanted to do, 2that the LORD appeared to Solomon the second time, as He had appeared to him at Gibeon. 3And the LORD said to him: "I have heard your prayer and your supplication that you have made before Me; I have consecrated this house which you have built to put My name there forever, and My eyes and My heart will be there perpetually.

8:65 The Feast of Tabernacles was mandatory for all Israelite males (Deut. 16:16; see chart, The Feasts of Israel).

9:3 God appeared again to Solomon with instructions (see 1 Kin. 3:14). The writer of Kings is emphasizing that Solomon knew the conditions and requirements of the Law.

4Now if you walk before Me as your father David walked, in integrity of heart and in uprightness, to do according to all that I have commanded you, and if you keep My statutes and My judgments, 5then I will establish the throne of your kingdom over Israel forever, as I promised David your father, saying, 'You shall not fail to have a man on the throne of Israel.' 6*But* if you or your sons at all turn from following Me, and do not keep My commandments and My statutes which I have set before you, but go and serve other gods and worship them, 7then I will cut off Israel from the land which I have given them; and this house which I have consecrated for My name I will cast out of My sight. Israel will be a proverb and a byword among all peoples. 8And as for this house, which is exalted, everyone who passes by it will be astonished and will hiss, and say,
'Why has the LORD done thus to this land and to this house?' 9Then they will answer, 'Because they forsook the LORD their God, who brought their fathers out of the land of Egypt, and have embraced other gods, and worshiped them and served them; therefore the LORD has brought all this calamity on them.' "

Solomon and Hiram Exchange Gifts

10Now it happened at the end of twenty years, when Solomon had built the two houses, the house of the LORD and the king's house 11(Hiram the king of Tyre had supplied Solomon with cedar and cypress and gold, as much as he desired), that King Solomon then gave Hiram twenty cities in the land of Galilee. 12Then Hiram went from Tyre to see the cities which Solomon had given him, but they did not please him. 13So he said, "What kind of cities are these which you have given me, my brother?" And he called them the land of Cabul,[a] as they are to this day. 14Then Hiram sent the king one hundred and twenty talents of gold.

Solomon's Additional Achievements

15And this is the reason for the labor force which King Solomon raised: to build the house of the LORD, his own house, the Millo,[a] the wall of Jerusalem, Hazor, Megiddo, and Gezer. 16(Pharaoh king of Egypt had gone up and taken Gezer and burned it with fire, had killed the Canaanites who dwelt in the city, and had given it as a dowry to his daughter, Solomon's wife.) 17And Solomon built Gezer, Lower Beth Horon, 18Baalath, and Tadmor in the wilderness, in the land of Judah, 19all the storage cities that Solomon had, cities for his chariots and cities for his cavalry, and whatever Solomon desired to build in Jerusalem, in Lebanon, and in all the land of his dominion.

20All the people who were left of the Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites, who were not of the children of Israel— 21that is, their descendants who were left in the land after them, whom the children of Israel had not been able to destroy completely— from these Solomon raised forced labor, as it is to this day. 22But of the children of Israel Solomon made no forced laborers, because they were men of war and his servants: his officers, his captains, commanders of his chariots, and his cavalry.

23Others were chiefs of the officials who were over Solomon's work: five hundred and fifty, who ruled over the people who did the work.

24But Pharaoh's daughter came up from the City of David to her house which Solomon[a] had built for her. Then he built the Millo.

25Now three times a year Solomon offered burnt offerings and peace offerings on the altar which he had built for the LORD, and he burned incense with them on the altar that was before the LORD. So he finished the temple.

26King Solomon also built a fleet of ships at Ezion Geber, which is near Elath[a] on the shore of the Red Sea, in the land of Edom. 27Then Hiram sent his servants with the fleet, seamen who knew the sea, to work with the servants of Solomon.
28And they went to Ophir, and acquired four hundred and twenty talents of gold from there, and brought it to King Solomon.

9:11 Solomon's vast expenditure forced him to sell territory to Hiram in order to raise money (v. 14). This action probably occasioned some hostility among Solomon's northern subjects. The relinquishment of northern territory by the Judean king would have been highly unpopular in Israel.

9:15 Military fortifications were built by Solomon in addition to building the temple and his own palace. Solomon strengthened the walls of Jerusalem and built the Millo, probably a series of terraces upon which houses were built. He also turned strategically located cities into military bases. Hazor was in Galilee, near the newly conquered Arameans. Megiddo, one of the most strategic cities of Canaan, guarded the main pass through the Carmel mountain range. Gezer, along with Beth Horon (v. 17) and Baalath (v. 18), faced west across the plain on the Mediterranean's shores. Tadmor's location, though still disputed, is usually identified as modern Palmyra in the Syrian desert (v. 18). Each of these cities housed a sizable military force, including horses and chariots.

9:22 Solomon's conscription of the Israelites was for temporary labor, not permanent enslavement (see 1 Kin. 5:13, note).

9:26–28 The seaport of Ezion Geber lay at the northern end of the Gulf of Aqaba. Archaeological research has revealed both copper and iron refineries at the site, now known as Tell el-Kheleifeh. The tell is two and one-half miles west of ancient Elath, now modern Aqaba. Solomon enlisted Phoenician help to construct a merchant fleet, which carried on an active trade with southern Arabia. Ophir may be the same as modern Somaliland.

THE QUEEN OF SHEBA

The Queen of Sheba possessed not only great position and influence but also enormous wealth and possessions. Not willing to rely on the reports about Solomon's wisdom and wealth from others, she was eager to see him for herself. Accompanied by a great retinue, she made her exhausting trip through hundreds of miles of desert to Jerusalem. Finally, she was face to face with the wise Solomon. There she opened before him all that was in her heart. Sheba, about 1,400 miles south of Jerusalem, was a land with influence extending throughout the ancient world. Since Sheba's considerable economy was dependent on worldwide, overland spice trade, Israel's activities, power, and location must have been of particular interest to the queen and her caravans. Solomon, with the assistance of Hiram, king of Tyre, had begun to undertake sailing expeditions to Ophir from the newly established seaport of Ezion Geber (1 Kin. 9:26–28; 10:11). This newly created trade alliance may have been the cause of some concern to the Queen of Sheba. The queen's visit was not based merely on curiosity about or admiration for the king of Israel. The exchange of gifts is evidence that negotiations were probably a part of her agenda with Solomon (1 Kin. 10:10, 13).

The Queen of Sheba is significant, however, not for her economic or political accomplishments but for her reaction to the king of Israel. This woman, with enormous wealth and wisdom of her own, was overwhelmed by the magnificence of Solomon's wisdom and wealth. In response she broke forth in highest praise to Solomon's God.

Perhaps the greatest tribute to the Queen of Sheba came from the mouth of Jesus (Matt. 12:42). A godless queen came from the "ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon," and she praised God. The "godly" (better described as "religious") Pharisees needed only to look upon the One already standing before them to see the wisdom of God. But they would not see Him. The queen's example stands as a sharp rebuke against the Pharisees.

The Queen of Sheba's Praise of Solomon

10 Now when the queen of Sheba heard of the fame of Solomon concerning the name of the LORD, she came to test him with hard questions. 2She came to Jerusalem with a very great retinue, with camels that bore spices, very much gold, and precious stones; and when she came to Solomon, she spoke with him about all that was in her heart. 3So Solomon answered all her questions; there was nothing so difficult for the king that he could not explain it to her. 4And when the queen of Sheba had seen all the wisdom of Solomon, the house that he had built, 5the food on his table, the seating of his servants, the service of his waiters and their apparel, his cupbearers, and his entryway by which he went up to the house of the LORD, there was no more spirit in her. 6Then she said to the king: "It was a true report which I heard in my own land about your words and your wisdom. 7However I did not believe the words until I came and saw with my own eyes; and indeed the half was not told me.
Your wisdom and prosperity exceed the fame of which I heard. 8Happy are your men and happy are these your servants, who stand continually before you and hear your wisdom! 9Blessed be the LORD your God, who delighted in you, setting you on the throne of Israel! Because the LORD has loved Israel forever, therefore He made you king, to do justice and righteousness."

10Then she gave the king one hundred and twenty talents of gold, spices in great quantity, and precious stones. There never again came such abundance of spices as the queen of Sheba gave to King Solomon. 11Also, the ships of Hiram, which brought gold from Ophir, brought great quantities of almug[a] wood and precious stones from Ophir. 12And the king made steps of the almug wood for the house of the LORD and for the king's house, also harps and stringed instruments for singers. There never again came such almug wood, nor has the like been seen to this day.

13Now King Solomon gave the queen of Sheba all she desired, whatever she asked, besides what Solomon had given her according to the royal generosity. So she turned and went to her own country, she and her servants.

10:11 [a]Or algum (compare 2 Chronicles 9:10, 11)

10:1 The queen of Sheba was probably Sabean, ruling the area that is now eastern Yemen (see map, The Land of Sheba). This position allowed the Sabeans to control the trade routes stretching from southwestern Arabia northward into Palestine. The queen of Sheba intended to negotiate a trade agreement with Solomon; she was successful, since the listing of Solomon's wealth includes merchandise "from all the kings of Arabia" (v. 15; see also The Queen of Sheba).

Solomon's Great Wealth

14The weight of gold that came to Solomon yearly was six hundred and sixty-six talents of gold, 15besides that from the traveling merchants, from the income of traders, from all the kings of Arabia, and from the governors of the country.
16And King Solomon made two hundred large shields of hammered gold; six hundred shekels of gold went into each shield. 17He also made three hundred shields of hammered gold; three minas of gold went into each shield. The king put them in the House of the Forest of Lebanon.
18Moreover the king made a great throne of ivory, and overlaid it with pure gold. 19The throne had six steps, and the top of the throne was round at the back; there were armrests on either side of the place of the seat, and two lions stood beside the armrests. 20Twelve lions stood there, one on each side of the six steps; nothing like this had been made for any other kingdom.
21All King Solomon's drinking vessels were gold, and all the vessels of the House of the Forest of Lebanon were pure gold. Not one was silver, for this was accounted as nothing in the days of Solomon. 22For the king had merchant ships[a] at sea with the fleet of Hiram. Once every three years the merchant ships came bringing gold, silver, ivory, apes, and monkeys.[b] 23So King Solomon surpassed all the kings of the earth in riches and wisdom.
24Now all the earth sought the presence of Solomon to hear his wisdom, which God had put in his heart. 25Each man brought his present: articles of silver and gold, garments, armor, spices, horses, and mules, at a set rate year by year.
26And Solomon gathered chariots and horsemen; he had one thousand four hundred chariots and twelve thousand horsemen, whom he stationed[a] in the chariot cities and with the king at Jerusalem. 27The king made silver as common in Jerusalem as stones, and he made cedar trees as abundant as the sycamores which are in the lowland.
28Also Solomon had horses imported from Egypt and Keveh; the king's merchants bought them in Keveh at the current price. 29Now a chariot that was imported from Egypt cost six hundred shekels of silver, and a horse one hundred and fifty; and thus, through their agents,[a] they exported them to all the kings of the Hittites and the kings of Syria.

Solomon's Heart Turns from the LORD

11 But King Solomon loved many foreign women, as well as the daughter of Pharaoh:
women of the Moabites, Ammonites, Edomites, Sidonians, and Hittites— 2from the nations of whom the LORD had said to the children of Israel,
"You shall not intermarry with them, nor they with you. Surely they will turn away your hearts after their gods." Solomon clung to these in love.
3And he had seven hundred wives, princesses, and three hundred concubines; and his wives turned away his heart. 4For it was so, when Solomon was old, that his wives turned his heart after other gods; and his heart was not loyal to the LORD his God, as was the heart of his father David. 5For Solomon went after Ashtoreth the goddess of the Sidonians, and after Milcom the abomination of the Ammonites. 6Solomon did evil in the sight of the LORD, and did not fully follow the LORD, as did his father David. 7Then Solomon built a high place for Chemosh the abomination of Moab, on the hill that is east of Jerusalem, and for Molech the abomination of the people of Ammon. 8And he did likewise for all his foreign wives, who burned incense and sacrificed to their gods.
9So the LORD became angry with Solomon, because his heart had turned from the LORD God of Israel, who had appeared to him twice, 10and had commanded him concerning this thing, that he should not go after other gods; but he did not keep what the LORD had commanded. 11Therefore the LORD said to Solomon, "Because you have done this, and have not kept My covenant and My statutes, which I have commanded you, I will surely tear the kingdom away from you and give it to your servant. 12Nevertheless I will not do it in your days, for the sake of your father David; I will tear it out of the hand of your son. 13However I

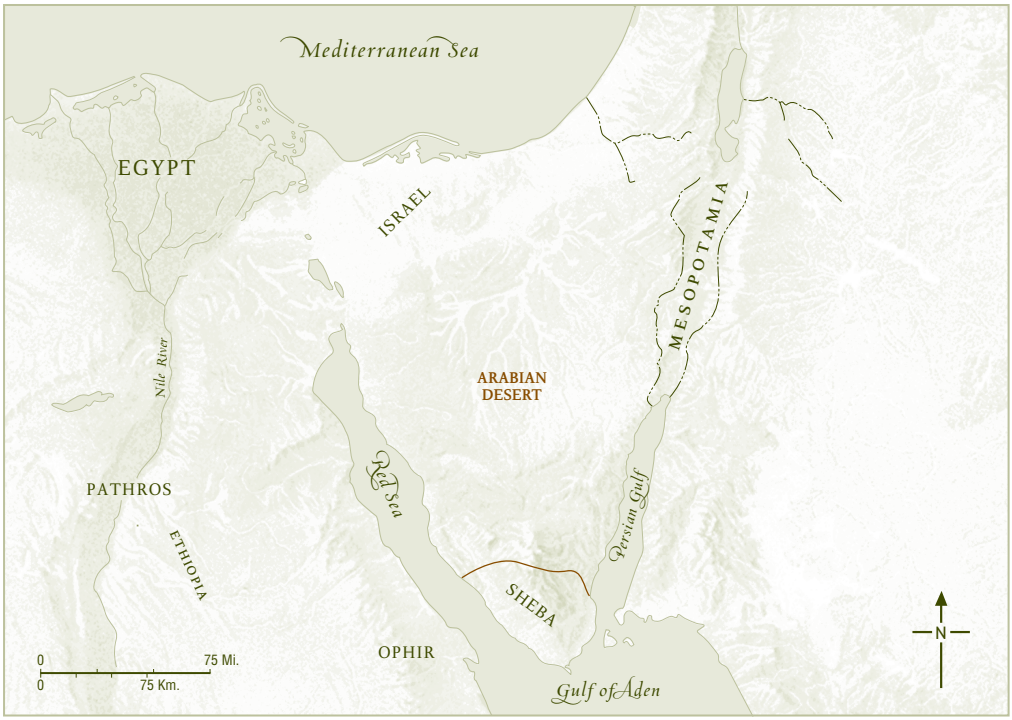
10:22 Merchant ships carried goods through the Mediterranean Sea to supplement the goods brought by ships operating on the Red Sea, later the Gulf of Aqaba (1 Kin. 9:26).

10:28 Chariots were state-of-the-art weapons of war in the ancient Near East. Since Israel did not manufacture chariots, Solomon imported them from Egypt. He also used his monopoly on trade routes to profit from the chariot trade between Egypt and the Hittites and Syrians to Israel's north.

11:1 Solomon broke God's Law by mingling with the pagans around him (Deut. 7:1–5). Rather than leading the Israelites in maintaining separateness from the other nations, the king married foreign women, worshiped foreign gods (1 Kin. 11:5), made alliances with pagan kings, and even built pagan places of worship. From this point, Solomon began to experience the covenant curses (Deut. 28:15–68). The writer of Kings indicates in the first two chapters that David was also guilty of these infractions on a smaller scale. David married foreign women, resulting in a household in disarray (see chart, The Family Tree of David), and he included pagan mercenaries in his troops (1 Kin. 1:38, note).

11:13 Even in the face of Solomon's disobedience, God remained loyal to His promise to David (2 Sam. 7:15, 16).

THE LAND OF SHEBA



The Queen of Sheba visited Solomon (1 Kin. 10:1–13; Luke 11:31).

will not tear away the whole kingdom; I will give one tribe to your son for the sake of My servant David, and for the sake of Jerusalem which I have chosen."

Adversaries of Solomon

14 Now the LORD raised up an adversary against Solomon, Hadad the Edomite; he was a descendant of the king in Edom. 15 For it happened, when David was in Edom, and Joab the commander of the army had gone up to bury the slain, after he had killed every male in Edom 16 (because for six months Joab remained there with all Israel, until he had cut down every male in Edom), 17 that Hadad fled to go to Egypt, he and certain Edomites of his father's servants with him. Hadad was still a little child. 18 Then they arose from Midian and came to Paran; and they took men with them from Paran and came to Egypt, to Pharaoh king of Egypt, who gave him a house, apportioned food for him, and gave him land. 19 And Hadad found great favor in the sight of Pharaoh, so that he gave him as wife the sister of his own wife, that is, the sister of Queen Tahpenes. 20 Then the sister of Tahpenes bore him Genubath his son, whom Tahpenes weaned in Pharaoh's house. And Genubath was in Pharaoh's household among the sons of Pharaoh.

21 So when Hadad heard in Egypt that David rested with his fathers, and that Joab the commander of the army was dead, Hadad said to Pharaoh, "Let me depart, that I may go to my own country."

22 Then Pharaoh said to him, "But what have you lacked with me, that suddenly you seek to go to your own country?"

So he answered, "Nothing, but do let me go anyway."

23 And God raised up another adversary against him, Rezon the son of Eliadah, who had fled from his lord, Hadadezer king of Zobah. 24 So he gathered men to him and became captain over a band of raiders, when David killed those of Zobah. And they went to Damascus and dwelt there, and reigned in Damascus. 25He was an adversary of Israel all the days of Solomon (besides the trouble that Hadad caused); and he abhorred Israel, and reigned over Syria.

11:14 The southern land of Edom had added to David's kingdom early in his reign (2 Sam. 8:14). In God's act of judgment on Solomon, these conquered people found favor with the Pharaoh of Egypt, Sheshonq I. Solomon had previously held this alliance.

Jeroboam's Rebellion

26Then Solomon's servant, Jeroboam the son of Nebat, an Ephraimite from Zereda, whose mother's name was Zeruah, a widow, also rebelled against the king.

27And this is what caused him to rebel against the king: Solomon had built the Millo and repaired the damages to the City of David his father. 28The man Jeroboam was a mighty man of valor; and Solomon, seeing that the young man was industrious, made him the officer over all the labor force of the house of Joseph.

29Now it happened at that time, when Jeroboam went out of Jerusalem, that the prophet Ahijah the Shilonite met him on the way; and he had clothed himself with a new garment, and the two were alone in the field. 30Then Ahijah took hold of the new garment that was on him, and tore it into twelve pieces. 31And he said to Jeroboam, "Take for yourself ten pieces, for thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: 'Behold, I will tear the kingdom out of the hand of Solomon and will give ten tribes to you 32(but he shall have one tribe for the sake of My servant David, and for the sake of Jerusalem, the city which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel), 33because they have[a] forsaken Me, and worshiped Ashtoreth the goddess of the Sidonians, Chemosh the god of the Moabites, and Milcom the god of the people of Ammon, and have not walked in My ways to do what is right in My eyes and keep My statutes and My judgments, as did his father David. 34However I will not take the whole kingdom out of his hand, because I have made him ruler all the days of his life for the sake of My servant David, whom I chose because he kept My commandments and My statutes. 35But I will take the kingdom out of his son's hand and give it to you—ten tribes. 36And to his son I will give one tribe, that My servant David may always have a lamp before Me in Jerusalem, the city which I have chosen for Myself, to put My name there. 37So I will take you, and you shall reign over all your heart desires, and you shall be king over Israel. 38Then it shall be, if you heed all that I command you, walk in My ways, and do what is right in My sight, to keep My statutes and My commandments, as My servant David did, then I will be with you and build for you an enduring house, as I built for David, and will give Israel to you. 39And I will afflict the descendants of David because of this, but not forever.' "

40Solomon therefore sought to kill Jeroboam. But Jeroboam arose and fled to Egypt, to Shishak king of Egypt, and was in Egypt until the death of Solomon.

Death of Solomon

41Now the rest of the acts of Solomon, all that he did, and his wisdom, are they not written in the book of the acts of Solomon? 42And the period that Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel was forty years. 43Then Solomon rested with his fathers, and was buried in the City of David his father. And Rehoboam his son reigned in his place.

The Revolt Against Rehoboam

12 And Rehoboam went to Shechem, for all Israel had gone to Shechem to make him king. 2So it happened, when Jeroboam the son of Nebat heard it (he was still in Egypt, for he had fled from the presence of King Solomon and had been dwelling in Egypt), 3that they sent and called him. Then Jeroboam and the whole assembly of Israel came and spoke to Rehoboam, saying, 4"Your father made our yoke heavy; now therefore, lighten the burdensome service of your father, and his heavy yoke which he put on us, and we will serve you."

5So he said to them, "Depart for three days, then come back to me." And the people departed.

7And they spoke to him, saying, "If you will be a servant to these people today, and serve them, and answer them, and speak good words to them, then they will be your servants forever."

11:33 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Targum; Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read he has.

11:25 David had conquered Zobah and Damascus, adding Syrian territory to his own kingdom (v. 24; 2 Sam. 8:3–6). Solomon lost this northern area when Rezon began a new Syrian dynasty (see chart, The Kings of Syria).

11:26 Jeroboam was the head of forced labor for the tribes of Ephraim and Manasseh. These northern tribes became part of Israel when the kingdom divided. The widespread support for Jeroboam's rebellion showed the level of discontent in Israel over Solomon's reign. Years of heavy taxation and forced labor, along with preferential treatment of Judah, had completely alienated the northern tribes from the government in Jerusalem. While Solomon himself did not lose the kingdom, he lived to see the beginning of the schism; Jeroboam later became king of Israel (see chart, The Prophets Who Spoke to Kings).

11:40 Again Egypt helped Solomon's enemies, reversing the country's earlier treaties with Solomon. Shishak is usually identified as Sheshonq I.

SOLOMON'S PAGAN WIVES

Women influenced and dramatically altered the life and career of Israel's King Solomon. He ascended the throne when the nation was at its peak of power, free from external threats and well organized internally. His great wealth, extraordinary wisdom, and unparalleled understanding of life catapulted him to the peak of international prominence. During Solomon's reign, however, Israel began to unravel because of his disobedience primarily in one area—his multiple marriages to foreign women. The use of the conjunction but (see 1 Kin. 11:1) highlights his folly and shows his disregard of the Mosaic warning from God against marriage to idolaters (see Deut. 7:1–4; 17:17).

In the royal harem appeared seven hundred wives and three hundred concubines. Solomon's callousness toward the Lord seems to have grown in proportion to his addiction to women (see 1 Kin. 11:9). Some of Solomon's marriages were political moves; the king was forming alliances with neighboring countries. He married Pharaoh's daughter (1 Kin. 3:1) and built a palace for her; he received the city of Gezer as her dowry (1 Kin. 9:16), guaranteeing Egypt's friendship. However, he continued to marry foreign wives long after the political need was past. These women were idolaters, worshiping Ashtoreth, the fertility goddess (whose worship included sacred prostitution), and Molech (whose worship sometimes involved child sacrifice).

Solomon himself penned the wisdom of monogamy (see Eccl. 9:9). The writer of Proverbs warned vigorously against adultery (see Prov. 5). Yet Solomon allowed these very violations of God's law to be his undoing. His wives encouraged Solomon to build shrines to their foreign gods in Israel (see Deut. 4:15–20), eventually destroying and dispersing the nation. Not only was Solomon led astray personally, but also his entire family was corrupted because his children were not taught to follow God's laws.

8 But he rejected the advice which the elders had given him, and consulted the young men who had grown up with him, who stood before him.
9 And he said to them, "What advice do you give?
How should we answer this people who have spoken to me, saying, 'Lighten the yoke which your father put on us'?"
10 Then the young men who had grown up with him spoke to him, saying, "Thus you should speak to this people who have spoken to you, saying,
'Your father made our yoke heavy, but you make it lighter on us'—thus you shall say to them: 'My little finger shall be thicker than my father's waist!
11 And now, whereas my father put a heavy yoke on you, I will add to your yoke; my father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scourges!' "[a] 12 So Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the king had directed, saying, "Come back to me the third day." 13 Then the king answered the people roughly, and rejected the advice which the elders had given him; 14 and he spoke to them according to the advice of the young men, saying, "My father made your yoke heavy, but I will add to your yoke; my father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scourges!"[a] 15 So the king did not listen to the people; for the turn of events was from the LORD, that He might fulfill His word, which the LORD had spoken by Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam the son of Nebat.
16 Now when all Israel saw that the king did not listen to them, the people answered the king, saying:

"What share have we in David?
We have no inheritance in the son of Jesse.
To your tents, O Israel!
Now, see to your own house, O David!"

So Israel departed to their tents. 17 But Rehoboam reigned over the children of Israel who dwelt in the cities of Judah.
18 Then King Rehoboam sent Adoram, who was in charge of the revenue; but all Israel stoned him with stones, and he died. Therefore King Rehoboam mounted his chariot in haste to flee to Jerusalem. 19 So Israel has been in rebellion against the house of David to this day.
20 Now it came to pass when all Israel heard that Jeroboam had come back, they sent for him and called him to the congregation, and made him king over all Israel. There was none who followed the house of David, but the tribe of Judah only.
21 And when Rehoboam came to Jerusalem, he

12:18 Adoram's unsuccessful mission. Rehoboam, in an act of incredible stupidity, sent his chief of forced labor to Israel. Israel, still seething over Solomon's imposition of forced labor, murdered Adoram, and the split in the kingdom was final. Ten tribes rebelled; the tribes of Judah and eventually Benjamin were loyal to Rehoboam.

assembled all the house of Judah with the tribe of Benjamin, one hundred and eighty thousand chosen men who were warriors, to fight against the house of Israel, that he might restore the kingdom to Rehoboam the son of Solomon. 22But the word of God came to Shemaiah the man of God, saying, 23"Speak to Rehoboam the son of Solomon, king of Judah, to all the house of Judah and Benjamin, and to the rest of the people, saying, 24'Thus says the LORD: "You shall not go up nor fight against your brethren the children of Israel. Let every man return to his house, for this thing is from Me." ' " Therefore they obeyed the word of the LORD, and turned back, according to the word of the LORD.

Jeroboam's Gold Calves

25Then Jeroboam built Shechem in the mountains of Ephraim, and dwelt there. Also he went out from there and built Penuel. 26And Jeroboam said in his heart, "Now the kingdom may return to the house of David: 27If these people go up to offer sacrifices in the house of the LORD at Jerusalem, then the heart of this people will turn back to their lord, Rehoboam king of Judah, and they will kill me and go back to Rehoboam king of Judah."

28Therefore the king asked advice, made two calves of gold, and said to the people, "It is too much for you to go up to Jerusalem. Here are your gods, O Israel, which brought you up from the land of Egypt!" 29And he set up one in Bethel, and the other he put in Dan. 30Now this thing became a sin, for the people went to worship before the one as far as Dan. 31He made shrines[a] on the high places, and made priests from every class of people, who were not of the sons of Levi.

32Jeroboam ordained a feast on the fifteenth day of the eighth month, like the feast that was in Judah, and offered sacrifices on the altar. So he did at Bethel, sacrificing to the calves that he had made. And at Bethel he installed the priests of the high places which he had made. 33So he made offerings on the altar which he had made at Bethel on the fifteenth day of the eighth month, in the month which he had devised in his own heart. And he ordained a feast for the children of Israel, and offered sacrifices on the altar and burned incense.

12:31 [a]Literally a house

12:24 The final schism. Rehoboam did not attempt to reconquer Israel (see charts, The Prophets Who Spoke to Kings; The Kings of Israel and Judah). The effort would have been bloody and probably unsuccessful; much of Solomon's carefully assembled military force was garrisoned in northern cities!

12:25 Jeroboam turned Shechem into his capital city. "Built" has the additional meaning of "fortified." Israel had no central government and no administrative structure at the time of the schism. Shechem would have pleased both the ten tribes and non-Israelites, since the city was not strongly associated with any one tribe. Jeroboam shrewdly also associated himself with Penuel (also Peniel), located on the site of Jacob's struggle with the angel of God (Gen. 32:30); the new king thus places himself in the line of great patriarchs.

12:28 Jeroboam moved from improper worship to idolatry. He did not feel that he could maintain his throne and allow the people to worship in Jerusalem. This change was in direct violation of God's express command. Jeroboam also violated God's laws by installing non-Levite priests (v. 31) and by changing the dates of Israel's sacred feasts (v. 33; see chart, The Feasts of Israel).

The Message of the Man of God

13 And behold, a man of God went from Judah to Bethel by the word of the LORD, and Jeroboam stood by the altar to burn incense. 2Then he cried out against the altar by the word of the LORD, and said, "O altar, altar! Thus says the LORD: 'Behold, a child, Josiah by name, shall be born to the house of David; and on you he shall sacrifice the priests of the high places who burn incense on you, and men's bones shall be burned on you.' " 3And he gave a sign the same day, saying, "This is the sign which the LORD has spoken: Surely the altar shall split apart, and the ashes on it shall be poured out."

4So it came to pass when King Jeroboam heard the saying of the man of God, who cried out against the altar in Bethel, that he stretched out his hand from the altar, saying, "Arrest him!" Then his hand, which he stretched out toward him, withered, so that he could not pull it back to himself. 5The altar also was split apart, and the ashes poured out from the altar, according to the sign which the man of God had given by the word of the LORD. 6Then the king answered and said to the man of God, "Please entreat the favor of the LORD your God, and pray for me, that my hand may be restored to me."

So the man of God entreated the LORD, and the king's hand was restored to him, and became as before. 7Then the king said to the man of God, "Come home with me and refresh yourself, and I will give you a reward."

8But the man of God said to the king, "If you were to give me half your house, I would not go in with you; nor would I eat bread nor drink water in this place. 9For so it was commanded me by the word of the LORD, saying, 'You shall not eat bread, nor drink water, nor return by the same way you came.' " 10So he went another way and did not return by the way he came to Bethel.

Death of the Man of God

11Now an old prophet dwelt in Bethel, and his sons came and told him all the works that the man of God had done that day in Bethel; they also told their father the words which he had spoken to the king. 12And their father said to them, "Which way did he go?" For his sons had seen[a] which way the man of God went who came from Judah. 13Then he said to his sons, "Saddle the donkey for me." So they saddled the donkey for him; and he rode on it, 14and went after the man of God, and found him sitting under an oak. Then he said to him, "Are you the man of God who came from Judah?"

And he said, "I am."

15Then he said to him, "Come home with me and eat bread."

16And he said, "I cannot return with you nor go in with you; neither can I eat bread nor drink water with you in this place. 17For I have been told by the word of the LORD, 'You shall not eat bread nor drink water there, nor return by going the way you came.' "

18He said to him, "I too am a prophet as you are, and an angel spoke to me by the word of the LORD, saying, 'Bring him back with you to your house, that he may eat bread and drink water.' " (He was lying to him.)

19So he went back with him, and ate bread in his house, and drank water.

20Now it happened, as they sat at the table, that the word of the LORD came to the prophet who had brought him back; 21and he cried out to the man of God who came from Judah, saying, "Thus says the LORD: 'Because you have disobeyed the word of the LORD, and have not kept the commandment which the LORD your God commanded you, 22but you came back, ate bread, and drank water in the place of which the LORD said to you, "Eat no bread and drink no water," your corpse shall not come to the tomb of your fathers.' "

23So it was, after he had eaten bread and after he had drunk, that he saddled the donkey for him, the prophet whom he had brought back. 24When he was gone, a lion met him on the road and killed him. And his corpse was thrown on the road, and the donkey stood by it. The lion also stood by the corpse. 25And there, men passed by and saw the corpse thrown on the road, and the lion standing by the corpse. Then they went and told it in the city where the old prophet dwelt.

26Now when the prophet who had brought him back from the way heard it, he said, "It is the man of God who was disobedient to the word of the LORD. Therefore the LORD has delivered him to the lion, which has torn him and killed him, according to the word of the LORD which He spoke to him." 27And he spoke to his sons, saying, "Saddle the donkey for me." So they saddled it. 28Then he went and found his corpse thrown on the road, and the donkey and the lion standing by the corpse. The lion had not eaten the corpse nor torn the donkey. 29And the prophet took up the corpse of the man of God, laid it on the donkey, and brought it back. So the old prophet came to the city to mourn, and to bury him. 30Then he laid the corpse in his own tomb; and they mourned over him, saying, "Alas, my brother!" 31So it was, after he had buried him, that he spoke to his sons, saying, "When I am dead, then bury me in the tomb where the man of God is buried; lay my bones beside his bones. 32For the saying which he cried out by the word of the LORD against the altar in Bethel, and against all the shrines[a] on the high places which are in the cities of Samaria, will surely come to pass."

13:12 [a]Septuagint, Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate read showed him.

13:2 The appearance of a prophet. Since no prophet in the north was found to deliver God's Word, a prophet was sent to Jeroboam from Judah (see chart, The Prophets Who Spoke to Kings). He went right to the pagan altar where Jeroboam led in worship of false gods. There the "man of God" prophesied that a king from the lineage of David would come to cleanse the altar of its pagan sacrifices. This prophecy was fulfilled by King Josiah nearly three centuries later. The splitting of the altar signified that God invalidated the pagan sacrifices (v. 3).

13:18 Any prophet who commands disobedience, no matter how powerful, is a false prophet (Deut. 13:1–5).

33After this event Jeroboam did not turn from his evil way, but again he made priests from every class of people for the high places; whoever wished, he consecrated him, and he became one of the priests of the high places. 34And this thing was the sin of the house of Jeroboam, so as to exterminate and destroy it from the face of the earth.

Judgment on the House of Jeroboam

14 At that time Abijah the son of Jeroboam became sick. 2And Jeroboam said to his wife, "Please arise, and disguise yourself, that they may not recognize you as the wife of Jeroboam, and go to Shiloh. Indeed, Ahijah the prophet is there, who told me that I would be king over this people. 3Also take with you ten loaves, some cakes, and a jar of honey, and go to him; he will tell you what will become of the child." 4And Jeroboam's wife did so; she arose and went to Shiloh, and came to the house of Ahijah. But Ahijah could not see, for his eyes were glazed by reason of his age.

5Now the LORD had said to Ahijah, "Here is the wife of Jeroboam, coming to ask you something about her son, for he is sick. Thus and thus you shall say to her; for it will be, when she comes in, that she will pretend to be another woman."

6And so it was, when Ahijah heard the sound of her footsteps as she came through the door, he said, "Come in, wife of Jeroboam. Why do you pretend to be another person? For I have been sent to you with bad news. 7Go, tell Jeroboam, 'Thus says the LORD God of Israel: "Because I exalted you from among the people, and made you ruler over My people Israel, 8and tore the kingdom away from the house of David, and gave it to you; and

13:32 [a]Literally houses

14:2 Shiloh had a long prophetic tradition. Located in Ephraim, north of Bethel, it was the site of the tabernacle during the time of Samuel.

yet you have not been as My servant David, who kept My commandments and who followed Me with all his heart, to do only what was right in My eyes; 9but you have done more evil than all who were before you, for you have gone and made for yourself other gods and molded images to provoke Me to anger, and have cast Me behind your back— 10therefore behold! I will bring disaster on the house of Jeroboam, and will cut off from Jeroboam every male in Israel, bond and free; I will take away the remnant of the house of Jeroboam, as one takes away refuse until it is all gone. 11The dogs shall eat whoever belongs to Jeroboam and dies in the city, and the birds of the air shall eat whoever dies in the field; for the LORD has spoken!" ' 12Arise therefore, go to your own house. When your feet enter the city, the child shall die. 13And all Israel shall mourn for him and bury him, for he is the only one of Jeroboam who shall come to the grave, because in him there is found something good toward the LORD God of Israel in the house of Jeroboam.

14"Moreover the LORD will raise up for Himself a king over Israel who shall cut off the house of Jeroboam; this is the day. What? Even now! 15For the LORD will strike Israel, as a reed is shaken in the water. He will uproot Israel from this good land which He gave to their fathers, and will scatter them beyond the River,[a] because they have made their wooden images,[b] provoking the LORD to anger. 16And He will give Israel up because of the sins of Jeroboam, who sinned and who made Israel sin."

17Then Jeroboam's wife arose and departed, and came to Tirzah. When she came to the threshold of the house, the child died. 18And they buried him; and all Israel mourned for him, according to the word of the LORD which He spoke through His servant Ahijah the prophet.

Death of Jeroboam

19Now the rest of the acts of Jeroboam, how he made war and how he reigned, indeed they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel. 20The period that Jeroboam reigned was twenty-two years. So he rested with his fathers. Then Nadab his son reigned in his place.

Rehoboam Reigns in Judah

21And Rehoboam the son of Solomon reigned in Judah. Rehoboam was forty-one years old when he became king. He reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city which the LORD had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, to put His name there. His mother's name was Naamah, an Ammonitess. 22Now Judah did evil in the sight of the LORD, and they provoked Him to jealousy with their sins which they committed, more than all that their fathers had done. 23For they also built for themselves high places, sacred pillars, and wooden images on every high hill and under every green tree. 24And there were also perverted persons[a] in the land. They did according to all the abominations of the nations which the LORD had cast out before the children of Israel.

25It happened in the fifth year of King Rehoboam that Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem. 26And he took away the treasures of the house of the LORD and the treasures of the king's house; he took away everything. He also took away all the gold shields which Solomon had made. 27Then King Rehoboam made bronze shields in their place, and committed them to the hands of the captains of the guard, who guarded the doorway of the king's house. 28And whenever the king entered the house of the LORD, the guards carried them, then brought them back into the guardroom.

29Now the rest of the acts of Rehoboam, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? 30And there was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam all their

14:9 Since Jeroboam had violated the Law, his dynasty would not survive (see chart, The Prophets Who Spoke to Kings). Israel's monarchy went through nine different dynasties before the country was conquered by Assyria. Jeroboam's dynasty, the first, lasted only through the brief reign of his son Nadab (see chart, The Kings of Israel and Judah).

14:17 Tirzah, the Canaanite city to which Jeroboam had shifted the capital, like Shechem, was not associated with any one tribe. Modern Tell el-Farah, about seven miles northeast of Shechem, has been tentatively identified with Tirzah.

14:21 David's descendants ruled Judah until the Exile (see chart, The Kings of Israel and Judah). Judah's royal family, although dynastically stable, alternated between kings who tolerated pagan practices and reforming kings who attempted to wipe out pagan worship.

14:24 Perverted persons in the land is a reference to sacred prostitution, including male prostitutes.

14:25 Divided, the empire rapidly dwindled. Damascus and the Philistine cities were lost; Moab probably declared independence at this time; and the Egyptians invaded Judah. Shishak (probably Sheshonq I), the first ruler of the 22nd dynasty, had earlier weakened Israel's monarchy by sheltering Jeroboam (see 1 Kin. 11:40, note). Egyptian inscriptions reveal that Sheshonq leveled cities throughout Palestine. The invasion from the south extended eastward past the Jordan and northward all the way to Megiddo, 50 miles north of Jerusalem. The war so weakened Israel and Judah that neither had the military force to attack the other.

days. 31So Rehoboam rested with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the City of David. His mother's name was Naamah, an Ammonitess. Then Abijam[a] his son reigned in his place.

Abijam Reigns in Judah

15 In the eighteenth year of King Jeroboam the son of Nebat, Abijam became king over Judah. 2He reigned three years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Maachah the granddaughter of Abishalom. 3And he walked in all the sins of his father, which he had done before him; his heart was not loyal to the LORD his God, as was the heart of his father David. 4Nevertheless for David's sake the LORD his God gave him a lamp in Jerusalem, by setting up his son after him and by establishing Jerusalem; 5because David did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, and had not turned aside from anything that He commanded him all the days of his life, except in the matter of Uriah the Hittite. 6And there was war between Rehoboam[a] and Jeroboam all the days of his life. 7Now the rest of the acts of Abijam, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? And there was war between Abijam and Jeroboam.

8So Abijam rested with his fathers, and they buried him in the City of David. Then Asa his son reigned in his place.

Asa Reigns in Judah

9In the twentieth year of Jeroboam king of Israel, Asa became king over Judah. 10And he reigned forty-one years in Jerusalem. His grandmother's name was Maachah the granddaughter of Abishalom. 11Asa did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, as did his father David. 12And he banished the perverted persons[a] from the land, and removed all the idols that his fathers had made. 13Also he removed Maachah his grandmother from being queen mother, because she had made an obscene image of Asherah.[a] And Asa cut down her obscene image and burned it by the Brook Kidron. 14But the high places were not removed. Nevertheless Asa's heart was loyal to the LORD all his days. 15He also brought into the house of the LORD the things which his father had dedicated, and the things which he himself had dedicated: silver and gold and utensils.

16Now there was war between Asa and Baasha king of Israel all their days. 17And Baasha king of Israel came up against Judah, and built Ramah, that he might let none go out or come in to Asa king of Judah. 18Then Asa took all the silver and gold that was left in the treasuries of the house of the LORD and the treasuries of the king's house, and delivered them into the hand of his servants. And King Asa sent them to Ben-Hadad the son of Tabrimmon, the son of Hezion, king of Syria, who dwelt in Damascus, saying, 19"Let there be a treaty between you and me, as there was between my father and your father. See, I have sent you a present of silver and gold. Come and break your treaty with Baasha king of Israel, so that he will withdraw from me."

20So Ben-Hadad heeded King Asa, and sent the captains of his armies against the cities of Israel. He attacked Ijon, Dan, Abel Beth Maachah, and all Chinneroth, with all the land of Naphtali. 21Now it happened, when Baasha heard it, that he stopped building Ramah, and remained in Tirzah.

22Then King Asa made a proclamation throughout all Judah; none was exempted. And they took away the stones and timber of Ramah, which Baasha had used for building; and with them King Asa built Geba of Benjamin, and Mizpah.

14:31 [a]Spelled Abijah in 2 Chronicles 12:16ff 15:6 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Septuagint, Targum, and Vulgate; some Hebrew manuscripts and Syriac read Abijam. 15:12 [a]Hebrew qedeshim, that is, those practicing sodomy and prostitution in religious rituals 15:13 [a]A Canaanite goddess

14:31 Abijam is probably a popular designation or alternate name for Abijah (Heb., lit. "my father is Yahweh"; 2 Chr. 12:16; see chart, The Prophets Who Spoke to Kings).

15:2 Maachah was apparently the daughter of Uriel of Gibeah and Tamar and the granddaughter of Absalom, but her name suggests foreign blood (2 Sam. 14:27; 2 Chr. 13:2). She worshiped Asherah, a Canaanite fertility goddess (1 Kin. 15:13); the rites involved sacred prostitution. As the favorite of Rehoboam's 18 wives, she was the mother of Abijah and the grandmother of Asa (vv. 9, 10; see chart, The Queens of the Old Testament). Maachah apparently served as regent during Asa's younger years, so that Judah suffered pagan rule for some years. She continued to hold a semi-official position at court until removed by Asa (v. 13).

15:13 The Brook Kidron runs through the valley between Jerusalem and the Mount of Olives. The Garden of Gethsemane was located near Kidron (John 18:1).

15:17 Ramah, now known as el-Ram, was located in Benjamin, about five miles north of Jerusalem. The city was Baasha's frontier hold against Judah.

15:18 Ben-Hadad's grandfather Hezion is called Rezon (1 Kin. 11:23; see chart, The Kings of Syria). Asa made an illegitimate alliance with the Syrians (see Deut. 7:2). The Syrians then threatened Israel's northeast border, distracting Baasha from the Judah-Israel boundary.

Nadab Reigns in Israel

25Now Nadab the son of Jeroboam became king over Israel in the second year of Asa king of Judah, and he reigned over Israel two years. 26And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, and walked in the way of his father, and in his sin by which he had made Israel sin.

27Then Baasha the son of Ahijah, of the house of Issachar, conspired against him. And Baasha killed him at Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistines, while Nadab and all Israel laid siege to Gibbethon. 28Baasha killed him in the third year of Asa king of Judah, and reigned in his place.
29And it was so, when he became king, that he killed all the house of Jeroboam. He did not leave to Jeroboam anyone that breathed, until he had destroyed him, according to the word of the LORD which He had spoken by His servant Ahijah the Shilonite, 30because of the sins of Jeroboam, which he had sinned and by which he had made Israel sin, because of his provocation with which he had provoked the LORD God of Israel to anger.

31Now the rest of the acts of Nadab, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel? 32And there was war between Asa and Baasha king of Israel all their days.

Baasha Reigns in Israel

33In the third year of Asa king of Judah, Baasha the son of Ahijah became king over all Israel in Tirzah, and reigned twenty-four years. 34He did evil in the sight of the LORD, and walked in the way of Jeroboam, and in his sin by which he had made Israel sin.

16 Then the word of the LORD came to Jehu
the son of Hanani, against Baasha, saying:
2"Inasmuch as I lifted you out of the dust and made you ruler over My people Israel, and you have walked in the way of Jeroboam, and have made My people Israel sin, to provoke Me to anger with their sins, 3surely I will take away the posterity of Baasha and the posterity of his house, and I will make your house like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat. 4The dogs shall eat whoever belongs to Baasha and dies in the city, and the birds of the air shall eat whoever dies in the fields."

5Now the rest of the acts of Baasha, what he did, and his might, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel? 6So Baasha rested with his fathers and was buried in Tirzah. Then Elah his son reigned in his place.

7And also the word of the LORD came by the prophet Jehu the son of Hanani against Baasha and his house, because of all the evil that he did in the sight of the LORD in provoking Him to anger with the work of his hands, in being like the house of Jeroboam, and because he killed them.

Elah Reigns in Israel

8In the twenty-sixth year of Asa king of Judah, Elah the son of Baasha became king over Israel, and reigned two years in Tirzah. 9Now his servant
Zimri, commander of half his chariots, conspired against him as he was in Tirzah drinking himself drunk in the house of Arza, steward of his house in Tirzah. 10And Zimri went in and struck him and killed him in the twenty-seventh year of Asa king of Judah, and reigned in his place.

11Then it came to pass, when he began to reign, as soon as he was seated on his throne, that he killed all the household of Baasha; he did not leave him one male, neither of his relatives nor of his friends. 12Thus Zimri destroyed all the household of Baasha, according to the word of the LORD, which He spoke against Baasha by Jehu the prophet, 13for all the sins of Baasha and the sins of Elah his son, by which they had sinned and by which they had made Israel sin, in provoking the LORD God of Israel to anger with their idols.

14Now the rest of the acts of Elah, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

Zimri Reigns in Israel

15In the twenty-seventh year of Asa king of Judah, Zimri had reigned in Tirzah seven days. And the people were encamped against Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistines. 16Now the people who were encamped heard it said, "Zimri has conspired and also has killed the king." So all Israel made Omri, the commander of the army, king over Israel that day in the camp. 17Then Omri and all Israel with him went up from Gibbethon, and they besieged Tirzah. 18And it happened, when Zimri saw that the city was taken, that he went into the 15:27 The succession in Israel. Israel's throne was unstable because it lacked a divinely appointed royal line (see chart, The Kings of Israel and Judah). Anyone of high birth, possessing military power, or receiving prophetic anointing had a chance of claiming the crown (see charts, The Dynasties of Israel—Parts I and II). When Jeroboam's family dishonored God, Baasha assassinated Nadab during a battle against the Philistines. Baasha, although a commoner, had apparently been recognized by a prophet (see chart, The Prophets Who Spoke to Kings); he is called "ruler" (Heb. nagid).

15:33 The dynasty of Baasha lasted only one year after his death (1 Kin. 16:8–10; see chart, The Dynasties of Israel—Part 2).

16:9 Zimri had neither prophetic support nor charismatic appeal. His dynasty lasted seven days (see chart, The Dynasties of Israel—Part 1). Zimri's sole function as king was to bring upon Baasha's family the same fate that Baasha had inflicted upon Jeroboam's family. The massacre also fulfilled the prophecy of Jehu, establishing him as a true prophet (see chart, The Prophets Who Spoke to Kings).

citadel of the king's house and burned the king's house down upon himself with fire, and died, 19because of the sins which he had committed in doing evil in the sight of the LORD, in walking in the way of Jeroboam, and in his sin which he had committed to make Israel sin.

20Now the rest of the acts of Zimri, and the treason he committed, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

Omri Reigns in Israel

21Then the people of Israel were divided into two parts: half of the people followed Tibni the son of Ginath, to make him king, and half followed Omri. 22But the people who followed Omri prevailed over the people who followed Tibni the son of Ginath. So Tibni died and Omri reigned. 23In the thirty-first year of Asa king of Judah, Omri became king over Israel, and reigned twelve years. Six years he reigned in Tirzah. 24And he bought the hill of Samaria from Shemer for two talents of silver; then he built on the hill, and called the name of the city which he built, Samaria, after the name of Shemer, owner of the hill. 25Omri did evil in the eyes of the LORD, and did worse than all who were before him. 26For he walked in all the ways of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and in his sin by which he had made Israel sin, provoking the LORD God of Israel to anger with their idols.

27Now the rest of the acts of Omri which he did, and the might that he showed, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

28So Omri rested with his fathers and was buried in Samaria. Then Ahab his son reigned in his place.

Ahab Reigns in Israel

29In the thirty-eighth year of Asa king of Judah, Ahab the son of Omri became king over Israel; and Ahab the son of Omri reigned over Israel in Samaria twenty-two years. 30Now Ahab the son of Omri did evil in the sight of the LORD, more than all who were before him. 31And it came to pass, as though it had been a trivial thing for him to walk in the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, that he took as wife Jezebel the daughter of Ethbaal, king of the Sidonians; and he went and served Baal and worshiped him. 32Then he set up an altar for Baal in the temple of Baal, which he had built in Samaria. 33And Ahab made a wooden image.[a] Ahab did more to provoke the LORD God of Israel to anger than all the kings of Israel who were before him. 34In his days Hiel of Bethel built Jericho. He laid its foundation with Abiram his firstborn, and with his youngest son Segub he set up its gates, according to the word of the LORD, which He had spoken through Joshua the son of Nun.[a]

16:23 The family of Omri held the throne for four generations (see chart, The Dynasties of Israel—Part 1). Omri was an able politician who brought stability to an Israel suffering from internal conflict. Israel had lost territory to Syria, and Assyria was a growing threat. Omri married his son Ahab to Jezebel of Tyre (v. 31) and also matched his daughter Athaliah to Jehoram of Judah, creating two important alliances for Israel (see chart, The Queens of the Old Testament). He also conquered Moab. Despite these achievements, Omri is dismissed in six verses as an evil king; the historian is giving God's point of view on Omri's success.

16:24 Omri bought Samaria, a high hill, ideal for defense, proving that Israel's prosperity had improved under his reign.

16:31 Violations of God's Law under Ahab reached new heights. Ahab's pagan wife, Jezebel of Tyre, attempted to make the worship of Baal Melqart and Asherah official at court (see 1 Kin. 18, Jezebel). Ahab built a temple for Baal and worshiped him, and prophets of Baal were given official status (1 Kin. 18:19).

16:34 Jericho is in southern Israel between Jerusalem and Amman. Child sacrifice is specifically listed as an abomination to God (Deut. 12:31). Joshua had earlier prophesied that Jericho would not be rebuilt without child sacrifice (Josh. 6:26). As long as Israel obeyed God, Jericho would never be rebuilt; the rebuilt city stood as proof of Israel's immense distance from God, and Hiel lost his eldest and youngest sons whether as a deliberate sacrifice or through an accident during the rebuilding process.

17:1 Elijah the Tishbite. Gilead was Israelite territory just east of the Jordan; the exact location of Tishbe is unknown. Elijah (Heb., lit. "Yahweh is my God") upheld the claims of Yahweh against pagan gods. His first appearance established him as a true prophet; his first prophecy was immediately fulfilled (see Deut. 18:22; chart, The Prophets Who Spoke to Kings).

WIDOW OF ZAREPHATH

After one of his many confrontations with King Ahab and Queen Jezebel of Israel, Elijah was sent by God to hide by the Brook Cherith, where the ravens fed him during the drought he had predicted. When the brook dried up, God instructed Elijah to go to the town of Zarephath, a small town seven miles south of Sidon on the Mediterranean coast, to stay with a widow whom He had commanded to take care of the prophet.

Among the poorest members in the society, this widow apparently had no kinsman to take care of her, and she in turn had to provide for a young son. She was facing either the wrenching heartbreak of watching her child die before her eyes or of knowing that her son would be left without love and care if she died first. As a Phoenician, she had no claim upon Israel's God. Notice her words, "the LORD your God" (1 Kin. 17:12).

In spite of her despair, she still was able to feel some compassion for Elijah as she moved to get him some water. But when he also asked for a small morsel of bread, she revealed to the prophet the seriousness of her own plight: she had only a handful (not even a cup) of flour and a little bit of oil.

Elijah's request that she make him a small cake before she prepared food for her son and herself called for a tremendous exercise of faith on the part of this Gentile woman. What elicited from her this response of faith in Elijah's God? Was there something compelling in the tone of Elijah's voice? Was it the desperation that she had little to lose, since one small meal was all that stood between them and starvation? Clearly she believed Elijah, did what he asked, and was rewarded for her obedience by the constant provision of flour and oil from the Lord as Elijah had promised.

This widow learned to trust God during those days. What must she have felt when her son fell ill and died, after all that miraculous provision? Why had Elijah allowed such tragedy to happen? Had she committed some sin for which her son's death was punishment (a common belief)?

The days of trusting God for daily provision surely must have made it a bit easier to follow the prophet's instructions. Her joy at seeing her son restored to life was crowned by a deeper degree of faith in Israel's God, the Provider for all who trust Him (see Luke 4:25, 26).

Israel lives, before whom I stand, there shall not

2Then the word of the LORD came to him, saying, 3"Get away from here and turn eastward, and hide by the Brook Cherith, which flows into the Jordan. 4And it will be that you shall drink from the brook, and I have commanded the ravens to feed you there."
5So he went and did according to the word of the LORD, for he went and stayed by the Brook Cherith, which flows into the Jordan. 6The ravens brought him bread and meat in the morning, and bread and meat in the evening; and he drank from the brook. 7And it happened after a while that the brook dried up, because there had been no rain in the land.

Elijah and the Widow

8Then the word of the LORD came to him, saying, 9"Arise, go to Zarephath, which belongs to Sidon, and dwell there. See, I have commanded a widow there to provide for you." 10So he arose and went to Zarephath. And when he came to the gate of the city, indeed a widow was there gathering sticks. And he called to her and said, "Please bring me a little water in a cup, that I may drink." 11And as she was going to get it, he called to her and said, "Please bring me a morsel of bread in your hand."
12So she said, "As the LORD your God lives, I do not have bread, only a handful of flour in a bin, and a little oil in a jar; and see, I am gathering a couple of sticks that I may go in and prepare it for myself and my son, that we may eat it, and die." 13And Elijah said to her, "Do not fear; go and do as you have said, but make me a small cake from it first, and bring it to me; and afterward make some for yourself and your son. 14For thus says the LORD God of Israel: 'The bin of flour shall not be used up, nor shall the jar of oil run dry, until the day the LORD sends rain on the earth.' " 15So she went away and did according to the word of Elijah; and she and he and her household ate for many days. 16The bin of flour was not used up, nor did the jar of oil run dry, according to the word of the LORD which He spoke by Elijah.

17:9 Elijah's flight. Sidon was in Phoenician territory on the coast north of Tyre. Zarephath was near this large city. Because Elijah's identification with Yahweh put him out of favor with the Baal-dominated court, God showed Elijah that His divine providence would care for His prophet outside of the structure of Israelite society. When the drought became so severe that even the tributaries of the Jordan dried up, God provided for Elijah in a foreign country. He used the widow of Zarephath, a humble, poor woman without a husband and a native of Jezebel's home country (see The Widow of Zarephath). God demonstrated to Elijah that the prophet's well-being depended not on human society but on God alone.

Elijah Revives the Widow's Son

17 Now it happened after these things that the son of the woman who owned the house became sick. And his sickness was so serious that there was no breath left in him. 18 So she said to Elijah,
"What have I to do with you, O man of God? Have you come to me to bring my sin to remembrance, and to kill my son?"
19 And he said to her, "Give me your son." So he took him out of her arms and carried him to the upper room where he was staying, and laid him on his own bed. 20 Then he cried out to the LORD and said, "O LORD my God, have You also brought tragedy on the widow with whom I lodge, by killing her son?" 21 And he stretched himself out on the child three times, and cried out to the LORD and said, "O LORD my God, I pray, let this child's soul come back to him." 22 Then the LORD heard the voice of Elijah; and the soul of the child came back to him, and he revived.
23 And Elijah took the child and brought him down from the upper room into the house, and gave him to his mother. And Elijah said, "See, your son lives!"
24 Then the woman said to Elijah, "Now by this I know that you are a man of God, and that the word of the LORD in your mouth is the truth."

Elijah's Message to Ahab

18 And it came to pass after many days that the word of the LORD came to Elijah, in the third year, saying, "Go, present yourself to Ahab, and I will send rain on the earth."
2 So Elijah went to present himself to Ahab; and there was a severe famine in Samaria. 3 And Ahab had called Obadiah, who was in charge of his house. (Now Obadiah feared the LORD greatly. 4 For so it was, while Jezebel massacred the prophets of the LORD, that Obadiah had taken one hundred prophets and hidden them, fifty to a cave, and had fed them with bread and water.) 5 And Ahab had said to Obadiah, "Go into the land to all the springs of water and to all the brooks; perhaps we may find grass to keep the horses and mules alive, so that we will not have to kill any livestock." 6 So they divided the land between them to explore it; Ahab went one way by himself, and Obadiah went another way by himself.
7 Now as Obadiah was on his way, suddenly Elijah met him; and he recognized him, and fell on his face, and said, "Is that you, my lord Elijah?"
8 And he answered him, "It is I. Go, tell your master, 'Elijah is here.' " 9 So he said, "How have I sinned, that you are delivering your servant into the hand of Ahab, to kill me? 10 As the LORD your God lives, there is no nation or kingdom where my master has not sent someone to hunt for you; and when they said, 'He is not here,' he took an oath from the kingdom or nation that they could not find you. 11 And now you say, 'Go, tell your master, "Elijah is here" '!
12 And it shall come to pass, as soon as I am gone from you, that the Spirit of the LORD will carry you to a place I do not know; so when I go and tell Ahab, and he cannot find you, he will kill me. But I your servant have feared the LORD from my youth.
13 Was it not reported to my lord what I did when Jezebel killed the prophets of the LORD, how I hid one hundred men of the LORD's prophets, fifty to a cave, and fed them with bread and water? 14 And now you say, 'Go, tell your master, "Elijah is here." '
He will kill me!"
15 Then Elijah said, "As the LORD of hosts lives, before whom I stand, I will surely present myself to him today."
16 So Obadiah went to meet Ahab, and told him;
and Ahab went to meet Elijah.
17 Then it happened, when Ahab saw Elijah, that Ahab said to him, "Is that you, O troubler of Israel?"
18 And he answered, "I have not troubled Israel, but you and your father's house have, in that you have forsaken the commandments of the LORD and have followed the Baals. 19 Now therefore, send and gather all Israel to me on Mount Carmel, the four hundred and fifty prophets of Baal, and the four hundred prophets of Asherah,[a] who eat at Jezebel's table."

Elijah's Mount Carmel Victory

20 So Ahab sent for all the children of Israel, and gathered the prophets together on Mount Carmel.
21 And Elijah came to all the people, and said, "How long will you falter between two opinions? If the 18:3 Obadiah, from the northern kingdom, is probably not the same as the author of the biblical book Obadiah. The book is generally thought to have been authored by a native of Judah.

18:4 Massacre of the prophets. Jezebel apparently possessed more power than most Israelite queens (see Jezebel). She exercised it by promoting the cause of Baal with missionary zeal. The writer of Kings contrasted the evil that this foreign woman did to the godly people of Israel by recording the righteous acts of the foreign widow of Zarephath (see 1 Kin. 17, The Widow of Zarephath).

18:17 Troubler of Israel. Ahab suggested that Elijah was seeking to do Israel harm. Elijah immediately reversed the charge: It was Ahab who had harmed Israel by his worship of evil spirits, Baal and Asherah.

18:20 Mount Carmel is near the coast, close to Phoenician territory. The confrontation reveals the true conflict within Israel. It was not between Elijah and Ahab but between Elijah and the prophets of Baal, between the true God and false gods. The prophets of Baal failed the test of true prophecy when their pleas were not answered; Elijah's prayers were heard.

JEZEBEL An Evil Queen

Jezebel was the daughter of Ethbaal, the king of Sidon and Tyre (Phoenicia), an ardent worshiper of Melquart, the Baal of Tyre. In a political marriage designed to cement an alliance between Israel and Tyre, she became the wife of Israel's evil king Ahab (1 Kin. 16:31).

Jezebel's domineering influence on Ahab allowed her to bring a fanatical form of Baal worship with her—into her home, into the nation, and even into the temple itself. Four hundred fifty prophets of Baal joined her retinue, along with a similar number of prophets of Asherah, the female consort of Baal. Corrupt, sensual practices involved in the worship of Baal were observed throughout the country, as Jezebel demanded that her god be considered equal to Israel's God (Yahweh). Her insistence on the equality of Baal with God brought her into direct conflict with Elijah, the prophet of God.

Repeatedly, Jezebel had opportunity to see that Yahweh was the true God. Baal was powerless to provide life-giving rains during the drought which occurred as Elijah had prophesied. In a dramatic contest on Mount Carmel, the prophets of Baal were unable to call down fire to their altar, though they danced and chanted, even slashing their own bodies while Elijah taunted them. After Elijah's simple prayer to God for a demonstration of His power to His people, the fire fell on the altar built by Elijah and consumed the sacrifice (1 Kin. 18:23–38). Elijah instructed the people to seek out and destroy the prophets of Baal (v. 40). In raging fury, Jezebel sent word to Elijah that she would do the same to him.

Jezebel also focused her royal power to a willful and wicked advantage. She arranged for the murder of Naboth and the greedy confiscation of his vineyard which Ahab had coveted (1 Kin. 21:15).

Elijah finally delivered the pronouncement of God's judgment on the royal pair. After Ahab's death, Jezebel wielded her evil power as Queen Mother during the reigns of her sons. She never repented. Defiant and decadent to the end, she applied facial make-up and mocked the newly anointed king who had killed her sons. The eunuchs of her own household threw her to a gruesome death in the field whose owner she had murdered. Elijah's prophecy that her body would be torn apart by dogs came true (2 Kin. 9:10).

Jezebel personifies the principle of reaping what is sown (see Gal 6:7). She also demonstrates that the power and influence of evil, although allowed by God for a limited time in chastisement of His own people when they are disobedient, ultimately never triumphs.

LORD is God, follow Him; but if Baal, follow him." But the people answered him not a word. 22Then Elijah said to the people, "I alone am left a prophet of the LORD; but Baal's prophets are four hundred and fifty men. 23Therefore let them give us two bulls; and let them choose one bull for themselves, cut it in pieces, and lay it on the wood, but put no fire under it; and I will prepare the other bull, and lay it on the wood, but put no fire under it. 24Then you call on the name of your gods, and I will call on the name of the LORD; and the God who answers by fire, He is God."

So all the people answered and said, "It is well spoken."

25Now Elijah said to the prophets of Baal, "Choose one bull for yourselves and prepare it first, for you are many; and call on the name of your god, but put no fire under it."

26So they took the bull which was given them, and they prepared it, and called on the name of Baal from morning even till noon, saying, "O Baal, hear us!" But there was no voice; no one answered. Then they leaped about the altar which they had made.

27And so it was, at noon, that Elijah mocked them and said, "Cry aloud, for he is a god; either he is meditating, or he is busy, or he is on a journey, or perhaps he is sleeping and must be awakened." 28So they cried aloud, and cut themselves, as was their custom, with knives and lances, until the blood gushed out on them. 29And when midday was past, they prophesied until the time of the offering of the evening sacrifice. But there was no voice; no one answered, no one paid attention.

30Then Elijah said to all the people, "Come near to me." So all the people came near to him. And he repaired the altar of the LORD that was broken down. 31And Elijah took twelve stones, according to the number of the tribes of the sons of Jacob, to whom the word of the LORD had come, saying, "Israel shall be your name."[a] 32Then with the stones he built an altar in the name of the LORD; and he made a trench around the altar large enough to hold two seahs of seed. 33And he put the wood in order, cut the bull in pieces, and laid it on the wood, and said, "Fill four waterpots with water, and pour it on the burnt sacrifice and on the wood." 34Then he said, "Do it a second time," and they did it a second time; and he said, "Do it a third time," and they did it a third time. 35So the water ran all around the altar; and he also filled the trench with water.

36And it came to pass, at the time of the offering of the evening sacrifice, that Elijah the prophet came near and said, "LORD God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, let it be known this day that You are God in Israel and I am Your servant, and that I have done all these things at Your word. 37Hear me, O LORD, hear me, that this people may know that You are the LORD God, and that You have turned their hearts back to You again."

38Then the fire of the LORD fell and consumed the burnt sacrifice, and the wood and the stones and the dust, and it licked up the water that was in the trench. 39Now when all the people saw it, they fell on their faces; and they said, "The LORD, He is God! The LORD, He is God!"

40And Elijah said to them, "Seize the prophets of Baal! Do not let one of them escape!" So they seized them; and Elijah brought them down to the Brook Kishon and executed them there.

The Drought Ends

41Then Elijah said to Ahab, "Go up, eat and drink; for there is the sound of abundance of rain." 42So Ahab went up to eat and drink. And Elijah went up to the top of Carmel; then he bowed down on the ground, and put his face between his knees, 43and said to his servant, "Go up now, look toward the sea."

So he went up and looked, and said, "There is nothing." And seven times he said, "Go again."

44Then it came to pass the seventh time, that he said, "There is a cloud, as small as a man's hand, rising out of the sea!" So he said, "Go up, say to Ahab, 'Prepare your chariot, and go down before the rain stops you.' "

45Now it happened in the meantime that the sky became black with clouds and wind, and there was a heavy rain. So Ahab rode away and went to Jezreel. 46Then the hand of the LORD came upon Elijah; and he girded up his loins and ran ahead of Ahab to the entrance of Jezreel.

Elijah Escapes from Jezebel

19 And Ahab told Jezebel all that Elijah had done, also how he had executed all the prophets with the sword. 2Then Jezebel sent a messenger to Elijah, saying, "So let the gods do to me, and more also, if I do not make your life as the life of one of them by tomorrow about this time." 3And when he saw that, he arose and ran for his life, and went to Beersheba, which belongs to Judah, and left his servant there.

4But he himself went a day's journey into the wilderness, and came and sat down under a broom tree. And he prayed that he might die, and said, "It is enough! Now, LORD, take my life, for I am no better than my fathers!"

5Then as he lay and slept under a broom tree, suddenly an angel[a] touched him, and said to him, "Arise and eat." 6Then he looked, and there by his head was a cake baked on coals, and a jar of water. So he ate and drank, and lay down again. 7And the angel[a] of the LORD came back the second time, and touched him, and said, "Arise and eat, because the journey is too great for you." 8So he arose, and ate and drank; and he went in the strength of that food forty days and forty nights as far as Horeb, the mountain of God.

9And there he went into a cave, and spent the night in that place; and behold, the word of the LORD came to him, and He said to him, "What are you doing here, Elijah?"

10So he said, "I have been very zealous for the LORD God of hosts; for the children of Israel have forsaken Your covenant, torn down Your altars, and killed Your prophets with the sword. I alone am left; and they seek to take my life."

God's Revelation to Elijah

11Then He said, "Go out, and stand on the mountain before the LORD." And behold, the LORD passed by, and a great and strong wind tore into the mountains and broke the rocks in pieces before the LORD, but the LORD was not in the wind; and after the wind an earthquake, but the LORD was not in the earthquake; 12and after the earthquake a fire, but the LORD was not in the fire; and after the fire a still small voice.

13So it was, when Elijah heard it, that he wrapped his face in his mantle and went out and stood in the entrance of the cave. Suddenly a voice

18:46 Jezreel was the second residence of Omri's dynasty and is the modern Arab village of Zerin at the foot of Mount Gilboa and southeast of Nazareth midway between Megiddo and Beth Shan (or Beth Shean). This strategic valley divides Galilee from Samaria. It has been an important battle site throughout the centuries (see Judg. 4—7; 2 Sam. 4; 2 Kin. 9;10; 2 Kin. 22).

19:3 Elijah's second flight. Beersheba is far into Judah, about 40 miles south of Jerusalem and nearly 100 miles from northern Jezreel. Again God provided supernaturally for Elijah's needs (v. 5).

19:8 Horeb, another name for Mount Sinai, is located in the south central part of a peninsula in northwestern Arabia. The modern name for the traditional site is Jebel Musa.

19:9–13 Elijah's experience with God on Mount Horeb is similar to Moses' experience with God (see Ex. 33). Elijah spent 40 days and nights traveling, apparently without food. Moses fasted during the 40 days and nights he spent on the same came to him, and said, "What are you doing here, Elijah?"

14And he said, "I have been very zealous for the LORD God of hosts; because the children of Israel have forsaken Your covenant, torn down Your altars, and killed Your prophets with the sword. I alone am left; and they seek to take my life."

15Then the LORD said to him: "Go, return on your way to the Wilderness of Damascus; and when you arrive, anoint Hazael as king over Syria. 16Also you shall anoint Jehu the son of Nimshi as king over Israel. And Elisha the son of Shaphat of Abel Meholah you shall anoint as prophet in your place. 17It shall be that whoever escapes the sword of Hazael, Jehu will kill; and whoever escapes the sword of Jehu, Elisha will kill. 18Yet I have reserved seven thousand in Israel, all whose knees have not bowed to Baal, and every mouth that has not kissed him."

Elisha Follows Elijah

19So he departed from there, and found Elisha the son of Shaphat, who was plowing with twelve yoke of oxen before him, and he was with the twelfth. Then Elijah passed by him and threw his mantle on him. 20And he left the oxen and ran after Elijah, and said, "Please let me kiss my father and my mother, and then I will follow you."

And he said to him, "Go back again, for what have I done to you?"

21So Elisha turned back from him, and took a yoke of oxen and slaughtered them and boiled their flesh, using the oxen's equipment, and gave it to the people, and they ate. Then he arose and followed Elijah, and became his servant.

Ahab Defeats the Syrians

20 Now Ben-Hadad the king of Syria gathered all his forces together; thirty-two kings were with him, with horses and chariots. And he went up and besieged Samaria, and made war against it. 2Then he sent messengers into the city to Ahab king of Israel, and said to him, "Thus says Ben-Hadad: 3'Your silver and your gold are mine; your loveliest wives and children are mine.' "

4And the king of Israel answered and said, "My lord, O king, just as you say, I and all that I have are yours."

5Then the messengers came back and said, "Thus speaks Ben-Hadad, saying, 'Indeed I have sent to you, saying, "You shall deliver to me your silver and your gold, your wives and your children"; 6but I will send my servants to you tomorrow about this time, and they shall search your house and the houses of your servants. And it shall be, that whatever is pleasant in your eyes, they will put it in their hands and take it.' "

7So the king of Israel called all the elders of the land, and said, "Notice, please, and see how this man seeks trouble, for he sent to me for my wives, my children, my silver, and my gold; and I did not deny him."

8And all the elders and all the people said to him, "Do not listen or consent."

9Therefore he said to the messengers of Ben-Hadad, "Tell my lord the king, 'All that you sent for to your servant the first time I will do, but this thing I cannot do.' "

And the messengers departed and brought back word to him.

10Then Ben-Hadad sent to him and said, "The gods do so to me, and more also, if enough dust is left of Samaria for a handful for each of the people who follow me."

11So the king of Israel answered and said, "Tell him, 'Let not the one who puts on his armor boast like the one who takes it off.' "

12And it happened when Ben-Hadad heard this message, as he and the kings were drinking at the command post, that he said to his servants, "Get ready." And they got ready to attack the city.

13Suddenly a prophet approached Ahab king of Israel, saying, "Thus says the LORD: 'Have you seen all this great multitude? Behold, I will deliver it into your hand today, and you shall know that I am the LORD.' "

14So Ahab said, "By whom?"

And he said, "Thus says the LORD: 'By the young leaders of the provinces.' " mountain. Elijah hid in a cave as Moses hid in the rocky cleft. In both situations, Israel had deserted God for pagan idols. Both men finally experienced God's presence and were given a message from God.

19:15 Ben-Hadad, the king of Syria at this time, had already allied himself with Asa of Judah against Israel during the reign of Baasha. Syria had taken land in the north away from Israel and apparently continued to raid Israel during Ahab's reign. God used Elijah to predict not only the end of Omri's dynasty but the supplanting of Ben-Hadad by his general Hazael. Neither coup would occur for some years.

19:19 Elisha was the son of a well-to-do farmer; Abel Meholah has not been positively identified but probably lay in the fertile land around the Jordan in eastern Israel (v. 16). The passing of the mantle suggested anointing, just as anointing with oil indicated the appointment of a king. Although anointed, Elisha still had to undergo a discipleship. Jesus echoed the words of Elijah when he explained the cost of discipleship (Luke 9:61, 62).

20:1 Because Ben-Hadad's alliance with Asa against Israel took place some 30 years earlier, most scholars assume that this is his son, Ben-Hadad II (see chart, The Kings of Syria). Syria continued its raids into Israelite territory, and Ben-Hadad's strength was so great that he could already address Ahab as a servant.

Then he said, "Who will set the battle in order?"

And he answered, "You."

15Then he mustered the young leaders of the provinces, and there were two hundred and thirty-two; and after them he mustered all the people, all the children of Israel— seven thousand.

16So they went out at noon. Meanwhile Ben-Hadad and the thirty-two kings helping him were getting drunk at the command post. 17The young leaders of the provinces went out first. And Ben-Hadad sent out a patrol, and they told him, saying, "Men are coming out of Samaria!" 18So he said, "If they have come out for peace, take them alive; and if they have come out for war, take them alive."

19Then these young leaders of the provinces went out of the city with the army which followed them. 20And each one killed his man; so the Syrians fled, and Israel pursued them; and Ben-Hadad the king of Syria escaped on a horse with the cavalry. 21Then the king of Israel went out and attacked the horses and chariots, and killed the Syrians with a great slaughter.

22And the prophet came to the king of Israel and said to him, "Go, strengthen yourself; take note, and see what you should do, for in the spring of the year the king of Syria will come up against you."

The Syrians Again Defeated

23Then the servants of the king of Syria said to him, "Their gods are gods of the hills. Therefore they were stronger than we; but if we fight against them in the plain, surely we will be stronger than they. 24So do this thing: Dismiss the kings, each from his position, and put captains in their places; 25and you shall muster an army like the army that you have lost, horse for horse and chariot for chariot. Then we will fight against them in the plain; surely we will be stronger than they."

And he listened to their voice and did so.

26So it was, in the spring of the year, that Ben-Hadad mustered the Syrians and went up to Aphek to fight against Israel. 27And the children of Israel were mustered and given provisions, and they went against them. Now the children of Israel encamped before them like two little flocks of goats, while the Syrians filled the countryside.

28Then a man of God came and spoke to the king of Israel, and said, "Thus says the LORD: 'Because the Syrians have said, "The LORD is God of the hills, but He is not God of the valleys," therefore I will deliver all this great multitude into your hand, and you shall know that I am the LORD.' "

29And they encamped opposite each other for seven days. So it was that on the seventh day the battle was joined; and the children of Israel killed one hundred thousand foot soldiers of the Syrians in one day. 30But the rest fled to Aphek, into the city; then a wall fell on twenty-seven thousand of the men who were left.

And Ben-Hadad fled and went into the city, into an inner chamber.

Ahab's Treaty with Ben-Hadad

31Then his servants said to him, "Look now, we have heard that the kings of the house of Israel are merciful kings. Please, let us put sackcloth around our waists and ropes around our heads, and go out to the king of Israel; perhaps he will spare your life." 32So they wore sackcloth around their waists and put ropes around their heads, and came to the king of Israel and said, "Your servant Ben-Hadad says, 'Please let me live.' "

And he said, "Is he still alive? He is my brother."

33Now the men were watching closely to see whether any sign of mercy would come from him; and they quickly grasped at this word and said, "Your brother Ben-Hadad."

So he said, "Go, bring him." Then Ben-Hadad came out to him; and he had him come up into the chariot.

34So Ben-Hadad said to him, "The cities which my father took from your father I will restore; and you may set up marketplaces for yourself in Damascus, as my father did in Samaria."

Then Ahab said, "I will send you away with this treaty." So he made a treaty with him and sent him away.

20:23 The Syrians recognized that divine intervention was responsible for their defeat; Ben-Hadad had gathered his numerous allies against Israel's tiny army! They attributed Ahab's success to the strength of Israel's regional gods. Whether Syria thought God or Baal was responsible is not clear; God had triumphed on Mount Carmel, but Baal and Asherah were also worshiped on high places.

20:26 Aphek was probably just east of the Sea of Chinnereth (or Sea of Galilee), at the head of the Jordan. The city lay on a plain on the Syria-Israel border.

20:31 The use of sackcloth and ropes indicated more than simple surrender. Ben-Hadad's men were acknowledging Ahab as master, a reversal of their earlier threats (vv. 1–6).

20:34 The treaty with Ben-Hadad was a move of desperation. Ahab did not think he could afford to lose Ben-Hadad's help. Assyria was growing in strength. Under David and Solomon, Assyria had been confined to its own land. At the time of Ahab, the Assyrian king was Shalmaneser III. His father Ashur-nasir-pal had conquered westward into Philistine territory as well as northward into Babylonia. Shalmaneser III continued the expansion, fighting southward to the Persian Gulf and attempting to conquer all of western Asia. All western kingdoms were threatened, and none was strong enough to stand alone against Assyria. Ahab, by pardoning Ben-Hadad, supplied himself with an extra defense against Shalmaneser's invasion. Ben-Hadad relinquished the territory lost to Syria by Baasha and opened trade routes for Israel.

Ahab Condemned

35Now a certain man of the sons of the prophets said to his neighbor by the word of the LORD, "Strike me, please." And the man refused to strike him. 36Then he said to him, "Because you have not obeyed the voice of the LORD, surely, as soon as you depart from me, a lion shall kill you."
And as soon as he left him, a lion found him and killed him.

37And he found another man, and said, "Strike me, please." So the man struck him, inflicting a wound. 38Then the prophet departed and waited for the king by the road, and disguised himself with a bandage over his eyes. 39Now as the king passed by, he cried out to the king and said,
"Your servant went out into the midst of the battle; and there, a man came over and brought a man to me, and said, 'Guard this man; if by any means he is missing, your life shall be for his life, or else you shall pay a talent of silver.' 40While your servant was busy here and there, he was gone."

Then the king of Israel said to him, "So shall your judgment be; you yourself have decided it."

41And he hastened to take the bandage away from his eyes; and the king of Israel recognized him as one of the prophets. 42Then he said to him,
"Thus says the LORD: 'Because you have let slip out of your hand a man whom I appointed to utter destruction, therefore your life shall go for his life, and your people for his people.' "

43So the king of Israel went to his house sullen and displeased, and came to Samaria.

Naboth Is Murdered for His Vineyard

21 And it came to pass after these things that Naboth the Jezreelite had a vineyard which was in Jezreel, next to the palace of Ahab king of Samaria. 2So Ahab spoke to Naboth, saying, "Give me your vineyard, that I may have it for a vegetable garden, because it is near, next to my house;
and for it I will give you a vineyard better than it.
Or, if it seems good to you, I will give you its worth in money."

3But Naboth said to Ahab, "The LORD forbid that I should give the inheritance of my fathers to you!"

4So Ahab went into his house sullen and displeased because of the word which Naboth the Jezreelite had spoken to him; for he had said, "I will not give you the inheritance of my fathers."
And he lay down on his bed, and turned away his face, and would eat no food. 5But Jezebel his wife came to him, and said to him, "Why is your spirit so sullen that you eat no food?"

6He said to her, "Because I spoke to Naboth the Jezreelite, and said to him, 'Give me your vineyard for money; or else, if it pleases you, I will give you another vineyard for it.' And he answered, 'I will not give you my vineyard.' "

7Then Jezebel his wife said to him, "You now exercise authority over Israel! Arise, eat food, and let your heart be cheerful; I will give you the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite."

8And she wrote letters in Ahab's name, sealed them with his seal, and sent the letters to the elders and the nobles who were dwelling in the city with Naboth. 9She wrote in the letters, saying,

> Proclaim a fast, and seat Naboth with high > honor among the people; 10and seat two men, > scoundrels, before him to bear witness against > him, saying, "You have blasphemed God and > the king." Then take him out, and stone him, > that he may die.

11So the men of his city, the elders and nobles who were inhabitants of his city, did as Jezebel had sent to them, as it was written in the letters which she had sent to them. 12They proclaimed a fast, and seated Naboth with high honor among the people. 13And two men, scoundrels, came in and sat before him; and the scoundrels witnessed against him, against Naboth, in the presence of the people, saying, "Naboth has blasphemed God and the king!" Then they took him outside the city and stoned him with stones, so that he died.
14Then they sent to Jezebel, saying, "Naboth has been stoned and is dead."

15And it came to pass, when Jezebel heard that Naboth had been stoned and was dead, that Jezebel said to Ahab, "Arise, take possession of the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, which he refused to give you for money; for Naboth is not alive, but dead." 16So it was, when Ahab heard that Naboth was dead, that Ahab got up and went 20:35 The prophet and the lion. The "sons of the prophets" were a community of prophets living together. In this brief incident, disobedience brought death; Ahab's death was only delayed (see vv. 35–43; chart, The Prophets Who Spoke to Kings).

20:42 Alliances. Part of God's condition in the conquering of the Promised Land was that pagan nations were to be destroyed (Deut. 7:2). Foreign alliances, like foreign marriages, drew Israel away from reliance on Yahweh.

21:10 Jezebel had learned enough Jewish law to abide by the stipulation that no man could be put to death without two or three witnesses to his crime (Deut. 17:6). She used this knowledge to break covenant Law, not to abide by it. In Ahab's reign, the oppression of the poor by the rich began, although it was later condemned by Amos. Jezebel's marriage to Ahab is a worst-case example of violating the prohibition warning that foreign wives would turn Israel to other gods (Deut. 7:4; see 1 Kin. 18, Jezebel).

down to take possession of the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite.

The LORD Condemns Ahab

17Then the word of the LORD came to Elijah the Tishbite, saying, 18"Arise, go down to meet Ahab king of Israel, who lives in Samaria. There he is, in the vineyard of Naboth, where he has gone down to take possession of it. 19You shall speak to him, saying, 'Thus says the LORD: "Have you murdered and also taken possession?" ' And you shall speak to him, saying, 'Thus says the LORD: "In the place where dogs licked the blood of Naboth, dogs shall lick your blood, even yours." ' "

20So Ahab said to Elijah, "Have you found me, O my enemy?"

And he answered, "I have found you, because you have sold yourself to do evil in the sight of the LORD: 21'Behold, I will bring calamity on you. I will take away your posterity, and will cut off from Ahab every male in Israel, both bond and free. 22I will make your house like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and like the house of Baasha the son of Ahijah, because of the provocation with which you have provoked Me to anger, and made Israel sin.' 23And concerning Jezebel the LORD also spoke, saying, 'The dogs shall eat Jezebel by the wall[a] of Jezreel.' 24The dogs shall eat whoever belongs to Ahab and dies in the city, and the birds of the air shall eat whoever dies in the field."

25But there was no one like Ahab who sold himself to do wickedness in the sight of the LORD, because Jezebel his wife stirred him up. 26And he behaved very abominably in following idols, according to all that the Amorites had done, whom the LORD had cast out before the children of Israel.

27So it was, when Ahab heard those words, that he tore his clothes and put sackcloth on his body, and fasted and lay in sackcloth, and went about mourning.

28And the word of the LORD came to Elijah the Tishbite, saying, 29"See how Ahab has humbled himself before Me? Because he has humbled himself before Me, I will not bring the calamity in his days. In the days of his son I will bring the calamity on his house."

Micaiah Warns Ahab

22 Now three years passed without war between Syria and Israel. 2Then it came to pass, in the third year, that Jehoshaphat the king of Judah went down to visit the king of Israel.

3And the king of Israel said to his servants, "Do you know that Ramoth in Gilead is ours, but we hesitate to take it out of the hand of the king of Syria?" 4So he said to Jehoshaphat, "Will you go with me to fight at Ramoth Gilead?"

Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, "I am as you are, my people as your people, my horses as your horses." 5Also Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, "Please inquire for the word of the LORD today."

6Then the king of Israel gathered the prophets together, about four hundred men, and said to them, "Shall I go against Ramoth Gilead to fight, or shall I refrain?"

So they said, "Go up, for the Lord will deliver it into the hand of the king."

7And Jehoshaphat said, "Is there not still a prophet of the LORD here, that we may inquire of Him?"[a]

8So the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "There is still one man, Micaiah the son of Imlah, by whom we may inquire of the LORD; but I hate him, because he does not prophesy good concerning me, but evil."

And Jehoshaphat said, "Let not the king say such things!"

21:23 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Septuagint; some Hebrew manuscripts, Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate read plot of ground (compare 2 Kings 9:36). 22:7 [a]Or him

21:19–26 Omri's dynasty would meet the same fate as the dynasties of Jeroboam and Baasha (see charts, The Dynasties of Israel—Parts 1 and 2). Jezebel is specifically included in the curse due to her unusually prominent evil activity during Ahab's reign (see 1 Kin. 18, Jezebel). The comparison to the Amorites puts Ahab in the same class with the Canaanites who inhabited the Promised Land before the Exodus. Ahab, like those pagans, will be destroyed by God.

21:29 Ahab's repentance. The end of the dynasty and Jezebel's death were postponed until the reign of Joram, Ahab's second son (2 Kin. 9).

22:1 War with Assyria. The biblical account does not record the results of the Syrian-Israelite alliance. In 853 B.C., the year of Ahab's death, Shalmaneser III of Assyria invaded. The western armies, led by Ahab, Ben-Hadad, and the king of Hamath, and including some Egyptian forces, faced the Assyrians at Qarqar on the Orontes River. In official Assyrian inscriptions, Shalmaneser claimed a decisive victory, but the Assyrians apparently were checked; Shalmaneser stayed out of Syria for several years.

22:3 Ramoth-Gilead, east of the Jordan River, had belonged to Israel under Solomon (1 Kin. 4:13). Ahab apparently felt that the Syrian alliance had served its purpose.

22:5 The Davidic king of Judah upheld the true faith, removing idols and teaching the Law to his people (2 Chr. 17:3–9). However, Jehoshaphat allied himself to the wicked house of Ahab by arranging for the marriage of his son Jehoram to Ahab and Jezebel's daughter Athaliah (see 2 Kin. 11, Athaliah; chart, Relationships Between the Royal Families).

22:6 Ahab had no more prophets of the Lord in his court; the prophets in his court simply told him what he wanted to hear (see chart, The Prophets Who Spoke to Kings). Micaiah was one of the few prophets who still fulfilled the task of a true prophet in Israel, reminding Israel's kings of covenant Law and Yahweh's true sovereignty.

Although the term "king" appears more than 2,000 times in the Bible, its parallel "queen" is used only about 50 times. Most biblical queens are unnamed and are noted only incidentally. With the exception of the usurper Athaliah, no queen in Jewish or Old Testament history is "queen" in the sense of one who reigns. Queens in this setting were recognized more in their roles as queen-mothers than as the wives of ruling monarchs. This chart is not intended to be exhaustive or comprehensive. It includes both those who had some ruling capacity or influence and those who were called queens only because they were the wives of kings.

9Then the king of Israel called an officer and said, "Bring Micaiah the son of Imlah quickly!"

10The king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah, having put on their robes, sat each on his throne, at a threshing floor at the entrance of the gate of Samaria; and all the prophets prophesied before them. 11Now Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah had made horns of iron for himself; and he said, "Thus says the LORD: 'With these you shall gore the Syrians until they are destroyed.' " 12And all the prophets prophesied so, saying, "Go up to Ramoth Gilead and prosper, for the LORD will deliver it into the king's hand."

14And Micaiah said, "As the LORD lives, whatever the LORD says to me, that I will speak."

15Then he came to the king; and the king said to him, "Micaiah, shall we go to war against Ramoth Gilead, or shall we refrain?"

And he answered him, "Go and prosper, for the LORD will deliver it into the hand of the king!"

16So the king said to him, "How many times shall I make you swear that you tell me nothing but the truth in the name of the LORD?"

17Then he said, "I saw all Israel scattered on the mountains, as sheep that have no shepherd. And the LORD said, 'These have no master. Let each return to his house in peace.' "

18And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "Did I not tell you he would not prophesy good concerning me, but evil?"

19Then Micaiah said, "Therefore hear the word of the LORD: I saw the LORD sitting on His throne, and all the host of heaven standing by, on His right hand and on His left. 20And the LORD said, 'Who will persuade Ahab to go up, that he may fall at Ramoth Gilead?' So one spoke in this manner, and another spoke in that manner. 21Then a spirit came forward and stood before the LORD, and said, 'I will persuade him.' 22The LORD said to him, 'In what way?' So he said, 'I will go out and be a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.' And the LORD said, 'You shall persuade him, and also prevail. Go out and do so.' 23Therefore look! The LORD has put a lying spirit in the mouth of all these prophets of yours, and the LORD has declared disaster against you."

24Now Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah went near and struck Micaiah on the cheek, and said, "Which way did the spirit from the LORD go from me to speak to you?"

26So the king of Israel said, "Take Micaiah, and return him to Amon the governor of the city and to Joash the king's son; 27and say, 'Thus says the king: "Put this fellow in prison, and feed him with bread of affliction and water of affliction, until I come in peace." ' "

28But Micaiah said, "If you ever return in peace, the LORD has not spoken by me." And he said, "Take heed, all you people!"

Ahab Dies in Battle

29So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah went up to Ramoth Gilead. 30And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "I will disguise myself and go into battle; but you put on your robes." So the king of Israel disguised himself and went into battle.

31Now the king of Syria had commanded the thirty-two captains of his chariots, saying, "Fight with no one small or great, but only with the king of Israel." 32So it was, when the captains of the chariots saw Jehoshaphat, that they said, "Surely it is the king of Israel!" Therefore they turned aside to fight against him, and Jehoshaphat cried out. 33And it happened, when the captains of the chariots saw that it was not the king of Israel, that they turned back from pursuing him. 34Now a certain man drew a bow at random, and struck the king of Israel between the joints of his armor. So he said to the driver of his chariot, "Turn around and take me out of the battle, for I am wounded."

35The battle increased that day; and the king was propped up in his chariot, facing the Syrians, and died at evening. The blood ran out from the wound onto the floor of the chariot. 36Then, as the sun was going down, a shout went throughout the army, saying, "Every man to his city, and every man to his own country!"

37So the king died, and was brought to Samaria. And they buried the king in Samaria. 38Then someone washed the chariot at a pool in Samaria, and the dogs licked up his blood while the harlots bathed,[a] according to the word of the LORD which He had spoken.

22:38 [a]Syriac and Targum read they washed his armor.

22:11 Horns of iron. Moses promised the tribes of Ephraim and Manasseh dominion over the earth in terms of a bull's horns pushing back the pagan nations (Deut. 33:17). The incongruity of Zedekiah claiming this blessing for a king who had shattered the Law is unmistakable.

22:26 This Joash is not the boy king of Judah, who would not be born for another ten years, but probably a younger son of Ahab. The two families, related by marriage, shared several names (see chart, Relationships Between the Royal Families).

22:34 Ahab's death. In light of the theme of Kings, God's unfailing sovereignty in His dealings with His people, the phrase "at random" is a shining example of irony.

39 Now the rest of the acts of Ahab, and all that he did, the ivory house which he built and all the cities that he built, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel? 40 So Ahab rested with his fathers. Then Ahaziah his son reigned in his place.

Jehoshaphat Reigns in Judah

41 Jehoshaphat the son of Asa had become king over Judah in the fourth year of Ahab king of Israel. 42 Jehoshaphat was thirty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi. 43 And he walked in all the ways of his father Asa. He did not turn aside from them, doing what was right in the eyes of the LORD. Nevertheless the high places were not taken away, for the people offered sacrifices and burned incense on the high places. 44 Also Jehoshaphat made peace with the king of Israel.

45 Now the rest of the acts of Jehoshaphat, the might that he showed, and how he made war, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? 46 And the rest of the perverted persons,[a] who remained in the days of his father Asa, he banished from the land. 47 There was then no king in Edom, only a deputy of the king.

48 Jehoshaphat made merchant ships[a] to go to Ophir for gold; but they never sailed, for the ships were wrecked at Ezion Geber. 49 Then Ahaziah the son of Ahab said to Jehoshaphat, "Let my servants go with your servants in the ships." But Jehosha-phat would not.

50 And Jehoshaphat rested with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the City of David his father. Then Jehoram his son reigned in his place.

Ahaziah Reigns in Israel

51 Ahaziah the son of Ahab became king over Israel in Samaria in the seventeenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, and reigned two years over Israel. 52 He did evil in the sight of the LORD, and walked in the way of his father and in the way of his mother and in the way of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who had made Israel sin; 53 for he served Baal and worshiped him, and provoked the LORD
God of Israel to anger, according to all that his father had done.

22:46 [a]Hebrew qadesh, that is, one practicing sodomy and prostitution in religious rituals 22:48 [a]Or ships of Tarshish

22:39 Ahab's achievements included one of the most extensive building programs of any king in Israel. The "ivory house" or palace was probably at the capital, Samaria, where ivory has been found in excavations. Ahab's foreign policy was highly successful as well. He recaptured Syrian territory, held off Assyria, and allied himself with Judah. The account of his reign in Kings focuses little attention on these secular accomplishments. In God's eyes, Ahab was the worst of the kings of Israel because of his complete rejection of covenant Law and his embracement of idolatry (1 Kin. 16:30).

22:47 The territory of Edom, southeast of Judah, had been a province of Judah since the time of David. The deputy in charge answered to Jehoshaphat.

22:48 Merchant ships. This effort to duplicate Solomon's fleet by opening a trade route to Ophir was doomed; Judah could not recapture the golden days of the empire. Incidentally, Jehoshaphat refused Israel's help in the venture, apparently having learned his lesson in the war against Syria. The prophets of the Lord in Judah advised Jehoshaphat against the alliance (2 Chr. 20:37).

2 Kings

AUTHOR

Both 1 and 2 Kings have the same author. Originally one book, they were first divided in the Septuagint (the oldest Greek version of the Old Testament). See 1 Kings, Introduction: Author.

DATE

The chronology of 2 Kings ends around 560 B.C. with a notation regarding the release of Jehoiachin during the reign of the Babylonian king Evil-Merodach (Amel-Marduk), between 562 and 560 B.C. Second Kings was written during the Babylonian Exile. The language and style of the book is consistent with this date. By 560 B.C., the northern kingdom of Israel had long been dispersed by Assyria (around 722 B.C.), and the southern kingdom of Judah had been taken into captivity by the Babylonians (586 B.C.).

SETTING: See 1 Kings, Introduction: Setting.

PURPOSE: Second Kings reveals that God remained faithful to His covenant. The writer outlined the disobedience of Israel and Judah. Second Kings recorded the penalties that must be carried out for disobedience of the Law of His covenant (Deut. 28:15–68; 2 Kin. 17:5–23; 24:20). But 2 Kings ends with Jehoiachin, the last king of Judah and a descendant of King David, released from prison, offering hope for God's covenant people if they repented and obeyed.

AUDIENCE: See 1 Kings, Introduction: Audience.

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: See 1 Kings, Introduction: Literary Characteristics.

THEMES

The overall theme of Kings is God's faithfulness to His covenant people (see 1 Kings, Introduction: Themes). The reigns of Hezekiah (2 Kin. 18) and Josiah (2 Kin. 22:1—23:25) were both times when godly Davidic kings led the people in righteousness. During these times, Judah enjoyed blessings of covenant obedience (Deut. 7:12–26). However, because Judah consistently failed to repent and obey, God's judgment was inevitable (2 Kin. 23:26, 27).

God Judges Ahaziah

1 Moab rebelled against Israel after the death of Ahab.

2 Now Ahaziah fell through the lattice of his upper room in Samaria, and was injured; so he sent messengers and said to them, "Go, inquire of Baal-Zebub, the god of Ekron, whether I shall recover from this injury." 3 But the angel[a] of the LORD said to Elijah the Tishbite, "Arise, go up to meet the messengers of the king of Samaria, and say to them, 'Is it because there is no God in Israel that you are going to inquire of Baal-Zebub, the god of Ekron?' 4 Now therefore, thus says the LORD: 'You shall not come down from the bed to which you have gone up, but you shall surely die.'" So Elijah departed.

5 And when the messengers returned to him, he said to them, "Why have you come back?"

6 So they said to him, "A man came up to meet us, and said to us, 'Go, return to the king who sent you, and say to him, "Thus says the LORD: 'Is it because there is no God in Israel that you are sending to inquire of Baal-Zebub, the god of Ekron? Therefore you shall not come down from the bed to which you have gone up, but you shall surely die.'"'"

1:3 [a]Or Angel

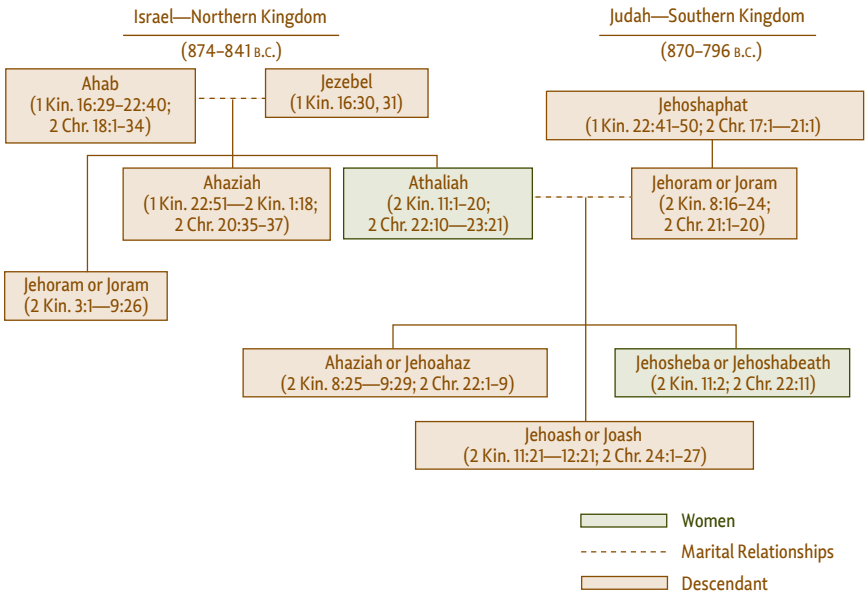
1:1 Moab's rebellion. Ahab's son, Ahaziah, continued the wickedness of his father and accordingly received divine judgment. Moab had been a vassal state of Israel for two generations before seizing the opportunity to rebel against Jehoram at the time of Ahab's death (2 Kin. 3:4–27). An account of this successful rebellion is inscribed on the Moabite Stone (discovered in 1868 near ancient Dibon and known also as the Mesha Inscription).

1:2 Baal-Zebub (Heb., lit. "lord of flies") was a native Canaanite god (see also Matt. 12:24). Ekron was a Philistine city near Israel's southwestern border with Judah and Philistia and was conquered by Israel during David's rule. The "upper room" is a reference to the typical Syrian balcony, usually enclosed with fragile lattice work, which gave an appearance of privacy.

1:3 The angel of the Lord sometimes refers to the pre-incarnate Christ. This instance is not clear. The phrase may merely refer to a messenger of Yahweh. God's messengers operated in contradistinction to the messengers of the ungodly king.

RELATIONSHIPS BETWEEN THE ROYAL FAMILIES



7 Then he said to them, "What kind of man was it who came up to meet you and told you these words?"
8 So they answered him, "A hairy man wearing a leather belt around his waist."
And he said, "It is Elijah the Tishbite."
9 Then the king sent to him a captain of fifty with his fifty men. So he went up to him; and there he was, sitting on the top of a hill. And he spoke to him: "Man of God, the king has said,
'Come down!' "
10 So Elijah answered and said to the captain of fifty, "If I am a man of God, then let fire come down from heaven and consume you and your fifty men." And fire came down from heaven and consumed him and his fifty. 11 Then he sent to him another captain of fifty with his fifty men.
And he answered and said to him: "Man of God,
thus has the king said, 'Come down quickly!' " 12 So Elijah answered and said to them, "If I am a man of God, let fire come down from heaven and consume you and your fifty men." And the fire of God came down from heaven and consumed him and his fifty.
13 Again, he sent a third captain of fifty with his fifty men. And the third captain of fifty went up, and came and fell on his knees before Elijah, and pleaded with him, and said to him: "Man of God, please let my life and the life of these fifty servants of yours be precious in your sight. 14 Look, fire has come down from heaven and burned up the first two captains of fifties with their fifties. But let my life now be precious in your sight."
15 And the angel[a] of the LORD said to Elijah, "Go down with him; do not be afraid of him." So he arose and went down with him to the king. 16 Then he said to him, "Thus says the LORD: 'Because you have sent messengers to inquire of Baal-Zebub, the god of Ekron, is it because there is no God in Israel to inquire of His word? Therefore you shall not come down from the bed to which you have gone up, but you shall surely die.' "

1:15 [a]Or Angel

1:8 The hairy man (lit. "possessor of hair") is an obvious parallel with Elisha. The hair on Elijah would have distinguished him from the bald Elisha (see 2 Kin. 2:23). Some interpret this as a reference to a "garment of hair," pointing to the similarity between Elijah and John the Baptist (see Matt. 3:4). Elijah fulfilled the same task for Yahweh that John did for Jesus—calling the people to repentance (Matt. 17:11–13; Luke 1:17).

1:10 The immediate fulfillment of Elijah's word was another affirmation of his status as a true prophet (Deut. 18:21, 22; 1 Kin. 17:1, note).

MENTORING SPIRITUAL MOTHERING

The passing of the mantle from the elder prophet Elijah to his successor Elisha is the description of a mentoring relationship. In Scripture, those with wisdom continually share that wisdom, together with their own experiences, with novices. Naomi schooled her widowed Moabite daughter-in-law in the intricacies of Jewish law so that Ruth could remarry and become part of the Messiah's lineage (Ruth 3—4). Mordecai shrewdly steered Esther through the treachery of the Persian court to save the lives of God's chosen people (Esth. 2—7).

In her older cousin Elizabeth, Mary had a miraculously expectant mentor to coach her during her first trimester of pregnancy (Luke 1:39–56). The apostle Paul gave astute advice enabling Timothy and Titus to multiply his ministry; and in the Gospels, Jesus illuminated the way for the Twelve, the first of generations of disciples to follow the ultimate Mentor.

Women have a special admonition for mentoring. The older women in the church are challenged to teach or mentor the younger or less experienced women (Titus 2:1–5). This one-on-one process has also been called "spiritual mothering." Paul described the qualifications for these mentors (v. 3) and set forth what they were to teach (vv. 4, 5). This is a positive and important ministry in the church for women.

See also Ruth 3—4; Esth. 2—7; Luke 1:39–56; chart on Spiritual Mothering; notes on Encouragement (Eph. 4); Feminine Leadership (1 Sam. 25); Friendship (Luke 1); Influence (Esth. 4); Women's Ministries (John 4; Acts 2;1 Cor. 11; Eph. 2; 1 Tim. 3; Titus 2); portraits of Elizabeth (Luke 1); Naomi (Ruth 1)

17 So Ahaziah died according to the word of the LORD which Elijah had spoken. Because he had no son, Jehoram[a] became king in his place, in the second year of Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat, king of Judah.
18 Now the rest of the acts of Ahaziah which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

Elijah Ascends to Heaven

2 And it came to pass, when the LORD was about to take up Elijah into heaven by a whirlwind, that Elijah went with Elisha from Gilgal. 2 Then Elijah said to Elisha, "Stay here, please, for the LORD has sent me on to Bethel."
But Elisha said, "As the LORD lives, and as your soul lives, I will not leave you!" So they went down to Bethel.
3 Now the sons of the prophets who were at Bethel came out to Elisha, and said to him, "Do you know that the LORD will take away your master from over you today?"
And he said, "Yes, I know; keep silent!"
4 Then Elijah said to him, "Elisha, stay here, please, for the LORD has sent me on to Jericho."
But he said, "As the LORD lives, and as your soul lives, I will not leave you!" So they came to Jericho.
5 Now the sons of the prophets who were at Jericho came to Elisha and said to him, "Do you know that the LORD will take away your master from over you today?"
So he answered, "Yes, I know; keep silent!"
6 Then Elijah said to him, "Stay here, please, for the LORD has sent me on to the Jordan."
But he said, "As the LORD lives, and as your soul lives, I will not leave you!" So the two of them went on. 7 And fifty men of the sons of the prophets went and stood facing them at a distance, while the two of them stood by the Jordan.
8 Now Elijah took his mantle, rolled it up, and struck the water; and it was divided this way and that, so that the two of them crossed over on dry ground.
9 And so it was, when they had crossed over,

1:17 [a] The son of Ahab king of Israel (compare 3:1)

1:17 The accession of Jehoram, Ahaziah's younger brother. Due to the alliance between Israel and Judah (Jehoram's sister Athaliah married Jehoram of Judah), the royal families shared several names (see chart, Relationships Between the Royal Families).

2:1 Gilgal was near the Jordan just north of the Israel-Judah border. The men of Israel who came out of the wilderness were circumcised (Josh. 5:4–9), and Saul was made king there (1 Sam. 11:15), suggesting that the worship of Yahweh may have been a strong tradition in the city.

2:3 The sons of the prophets is a reference to the prophets loyal to Yahweh. They were located at Jericho and Bethel. Bethel was established by Jeroboam as an alternate place of worship for Israel (1 Kin. 12:32). The sons of the prophets lived in communities, perhaps wandering from city to city, supported by gifts from true worshipers and upholding the worship of Yahweh (2 Kin. 4:38–44).

2:9 Elijah was mightily endowed with the Holy Spirit. Elisha realized he could never follow in Elijah's steps in his own strength. The humble Elisha asked for a "double portion" of Elijah's spirit—for spiritual power beyond his own capabilities. This request could be a reference to the standard inheritance of the firstborn (see Ex. 13:2, note; Deut. 21:17). In any case, Elisha was seeking spiritual heirship because he realized the enormous task before him.

that Elijah said to Elisha, "Ask! What may I do for you, before I am taken away from you?"

Elisha said, "Please let a double portion of your spirit be upon me."

10So he said, "You have asked a hard thing. Nevertheless, if you see me when I am taken from you, it shall be so for you; but if not, it shall not be so."
11Then it happened, as they continued on and talked, that suddenly a chariot of fire appeared with horses of fire, and separated the two of them; and Elijah went up by a whirlwind into heaven.

12And Elisha saw it, and he cried out, "My father, my father, the chariot of Israel and its horsemen!" So he saw him no more. And he took hold of his own clothes and tore them into two pieces.
13He also took up the mantle of Elijah that had fallen from him, and went back and stood by the bank of the Jordan. 14Then he took the mantle of Elijah that had fallen from him, and struck the water, and said, "Where is the LORD God of Elijah?" And when he also had struck the water, it was divided this way and that; and Elisha crossed over.

15Now when the sons of the prophets who were from Jericho saw him, they said, "The spirit of Elijah rests on Elisha." And they came to meet him, and bowed to the ground before him. 16Then they said to him, "Look now, there are fifty strong men with your servants. Please let them go and search for your master, lest perhaps the Spirit of the LORD has taken him up and cast him upon some mountain or into some valley."

And he said, "You shall not send anyone."

17But when they urged him till he was ashamed, he said, "Send them!" Therefore they sent fifty men, and they searched for three days but did not find him. 18And when they came back to him, for he had stayed in Jericho, he said to them, "Did I not say to you, 'Do not go'?"

Elisha Performs Miracles

19Then the men of the city said to Elisha, "Please notice, the situation of this city is pleasant, as my lord sees; but the water is bad, and the ground barren."

20And he said, "Bring me a new bowl, and put salt in it." So they brought it to him. 21Then he went out to the source of the water, and cast in the salt there, and said, "Thus says the LORD: 'I have healed this water; from it there shall be no more death or barrenness.' " 22So the water remains healed to this day, according to the word of Elisha which he spoke.

23Then he went up from there to Bethel; and as he was going up the road, some youths came from the city and mocked him, and said to him, "Go up, you baldhead! Go up, you baldhead!"

24So he turned around and looked at them, and pronounced a curse on them in the name of the LORD. And two female bears came out of the woods and mauled forty-two of the youths.

25Then he went from there to Mount Carmel, and from there he returned to Samaria.

Moab Rebels Against Israel

3 Now Jehoram the son of Ahab became king over Israel at Samaria in the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, and reigned twelve years. 2And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, but not like his father and mother; for he put away the sacred pillar of Baal that his father had made.
3Nevertheless he persisted in the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who had made Israel sin; he did not depart from them.

4Now Mesha king of Moab was a sheepbreeder, and he regularly paid the king of Israel one hundred thousand lambs and the wool of one hundred thousand rams. 5But it happened, when Ahab died, that the king of Moab rebelled against the king of Israel.

6So King Jehoram went out of Samaria at that time and mustered all Israel. 7Then he went and sent to Jehoshaphat king of Judah, saying, "The king of Moab has rebelled against me. Will you go with me to fight against Moab?"

And he said, "I will go up; I am as you are, my people as your people, my horses as your horses."
8Then he said, "Which way shall we go up?"

And he answered, "By way of the Wilderness of Edom."

9So the king of Israel went with the king of Judah and the king of Edom, and they marched on that roundabout route seven days; and there was no water for the army, nor for the animals that followed them. 10And the king of Israel said, "Alas! For the LORD has called these three kings together to deliver them into the hand of Moab."

2:11 Elijah and Enoch never experienced death (see also Gen. 5:24). The fiery chariot could have been part of some type of theophany. In any case, Elijah was translated immediately into the Lord's presence.

2:18 Jericho, just north of the Israel-Judah border, was in the fertile Jordan plain. Joshua had pronounced a curse on the rebuilding of Jericho (Josh. 6). Evidently, Elisha's miracle reversed the judgment and gave new fertility to the region (2 Kin. 3:20–22). Salt was used in rituals of purification (see Lev. 2:13; Num. 18:19).

3:4 The rebellion of Moab against Israel is recorded on the Moabite Stone (see 2 Kin. 1:1, note). Jehoram allied himself with Jehoshaphat of Judah and marched south through Judah, around the southern end of the Dead Sea, through Edom. Edom was at this time a province of Judah (1 Kin. 22:47). Although the war apparently ended in victory for Israel (2 Kin. 3:24–26), Moab's loyalty to Jehoram was short-lived. The Moabite Stone reveals that Mesha later invaded eastern Israel, killing Israelites and settling Moabites.

THE PROPHET'S WIDOW

The unnamed widow for whom the prophet Elisha performed a miracle was a believer in Yahweh, as evidenced by her strict obedience to the prophet's instructions. Her experience is the first in this series of five miracles demonstrating the power and goodness of Yahweh during this period in the northern kingdom of Israel when there was no functioning priesthood. God raised up prophets, such as Elisha, who traveled and taught at a group of schools, training young men in the ancient Law, and who existed as a force for righteousness in the nation. Students were called "sons of the prophets," and in this instance, one of them died, leaving his wife and two sons without adequate provision.

At this time in Israel, a child could be sold into slavery (see Lev. 25:39–41; Deut. 15:2; Jer. 34:9). This woman, who had lost her husband and her livelihood and who now faced the prospect of losing her sons, exercised faith by coming to the man of God for advice. Willingly, she stepped out to do what she had been told to do, even though her actions appeared to be futile. When she started to pour the oil in the privacy of her home, under the watchful eyes of her sons, she witnessed a miraculous display of God's abundant supply. Not only could she pay her debts and protect her family, but she had the means to support her sons until they could become wage earners.

This widow exemplifies God's concern for women, even in an apostate nation. There is also the expectation for financial responsibility even in poverty. Her faith was coupled with obedient action. This truly helpless woman was required only to "trust and obey."

11 But Jehoshaphat said, "Is there no prophet of the LORD here, that we may inquire of the LORD by him?"
So one of the servants of the king of Israel answered and said, "Elisha the son of Shaphat is here, who poured water on the hands of Elijah."
12 And Jehoshaphat said, "The word of the LORD is with him." So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat and the king of Edom went down to him.
13 Then Elisha said to the king of Israel, "What have I to do with you? Go to the prophets of your father and the prophets of your mother."
But the king of Israel said to him, "No, for the LORD has called these three kings together to deliver them into the hand of Moab."
14 And Elisha said, "As the LORD of hosts lives, before whom I stand, surely were it not that I regard the presence of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, I would not look at you, nor see you. 15 But now bring me a musician."
Then it happened, when the musician played, that the hand of the LORD came upon him. 16 And he said, "Thus says the LORD: 'Make this valley full of ditches.' 17 For thus says the LORD: 'You shall not see wind, nor shall you see rain; yet that valley shall be filled with water, so that you, your cattle, and your animals may drink.' 18 And this is a simple matter in the sight of the LORD; He will also deliver the Moabites into your hand. 19 Also you shall attack every fortified city and every choice city, and shall cut down every good tree, and stop up every spring of water, and ruin every good piece of land with stones."
20 Now it happened in the morning, when the grain offering was offered, that suddenly water came by way of Edom, and the land was filled with water.
21 And when all the Moabites heard that the kings had come up to fight against them, all who were able to bear arms and older were gathered; and they stood at the border. 22 Then they rose up early in the morning, and the sun was shining on the water; and the Moabites saw the water on the other side as red as blood. 23 And they said, "This is blood; the kings have surely struck swords and have killed one another; now therefore, Moab, to the spoil!"
24 So when they came to the camp of Israel, Israel rose up and attacked the Moabites, so that they fled before them; and they entered their land, killing the Moabites. 25 Then they destroyed the cities, and each man threw a stone on every good piece of land and filled it; and they stopped up all the springs of water and cut down all the good trees. But they left the stones of Kir Haraseth intact. However the slingers surrounded and attacked it.
26 And when the king of Moab saw that the battle was too fierce for him, he took with him seven hundred men who drew swords, to break through to the king of Edom, but they could not. 27 Then he took his eldest son who would have reigned in 3:27 Child sacrifice. Israel's indignation and revulsion over this act may well have hindered them from carrying out God's command to destroy Moab completely, just as the act may his place, and offered him as a burnt offering upon the wall; and there was great indignation against Israel. So they departed from him and returned to their own land.

Elisha and the Widow's Oil

4 A certain woman of the wives of the sons of the prophets cried out to Elisha, saying, "Your servant my husband is dead, and you know that your servant feared the LORD. And the creditor is coming to take my two sons to be his slaves."

2So Elisha said to her, "What shall I do for you? Tell me, what do you have in the house?" And she said, "Your maidservant has nothing in the house but a jar of oil."

3Then he said, "Go, borrow vessels from everywhere, from all your neighbors— empty vessels; do not gather just a few. 4And when you have come in, you shall shut the door behind you and your sons; then pour it into all those vessels, and set aside the full ones."

5So she went from him and shut the door behind her and her sons, who brought the vessels to her; and she poured it out. 6Now it came to pass, when the vessels were full, that she said to her son, "Bring me another vessel."

And he said to her, "There is not another vessel." So the oil ceased. 7Then she came and told the man of God. And he said, "Go, sell the oil and pay your debt; and you and your sons live on the rest."

Elisha Raises the Shunammite's Son

8Now it happened one day that Elisha went to Shunem, where there was a notable woman, and she persuaded him to eat some food. So it was, as often as he passed by, he would turn in there to eat some food. 9And she said to her husband, "Look now, I know that this is a holy man of God, who passes by us regularly. 10Please, let us make a small upper room on the wall; and let us put a bed for him there, and a table and a chair and a lampstand; so it will be, whenever he comes to us, he can turn in there."

11And it happened one day that he came there, and he turned in to the upper room and lay down there. 12Then he said to Gehazi his servant, "Call this Shunammite woman." When he had called her, she stood before him. 13And he said to him, "Say now to her, 'Look, you have been concerned for us with all this care. What can I do for you? Do you want me to speak on your behalf to the king or to the commander of the army?' "

She answered, "I dwell among my own people."

14So he said, "What then is to be done for her?"

And Gehazi answered, "Actually, she has no son, and her husband is old."

15So he said, "Call her." When he had called her, she stood in the doorway. 16Then he said, "About this time next year you shall embrace a son."

And she said, "No, my lord. Man of God, do not lie to your maidservant!"

17But the woman conceived, and bore a son when the appointed time had come, of which Elisha had told her.

18And the child grew. Now it happened one day that he went out to his father, to the reapers. 19And he said to his father, "My head, my head!"

So he said to a servant, "Carry him to his mother." 20When he had taken him and brought him to his mother, he sat on her knees till noon, and then died. 21And she went up and laid him on the bed of the man of God, shut the door upon him, and went out. 22Then she called to her husband, and said, "Please send me one of the young men and one of the donkeys, that I may run to the man of God and come back."

23So he said, "Why are you going to him today? It is neither the New Moon nor the Sabbath."

And she said, "It is well." 24Then she saddled a donkey, and said to her servant, "Drive, and go forward; do not slacken the pace for me unless I tell you." 25And so she departed, and went to the man of God at Mount Carmel.

So it was, when the man of God saw her afar off, that he said to his servant Gehazi, "Look, the Shunammite woman! 26Please run now to meet her, and say to her, 'Is it well with you? Is it well with your husband? Is it well with the child?' "

And she answered, "It is well." 27Now when she came to the man of God at the hill, she caught him by the feet, but Gehazi came near to push her away. But the man of God said, "Let her alone; for her soul is in deep distress, and the LORD has hidden it from me, and has not told me."

28So she said, "Did I ask a son of my lord? Did I not say, 'Do not deceive me'?"

29Then he said to Gehazi, "Get yourself ready, and take my staff in your hand, and be on your way. If you meet anyone, do not greet him; and if anyone greets you, do not answer him; but lay my staff on the face of the child."

30And the mother of the child said, "As the LORD lives, and as your soul lives, I will not leave you." So he arose and followed her. 31Now Gehazi have rallied the troops of Moab. The Israelites lifted the siege and returned to their homes. Moab, though its power was momentarily broken, later invaded Israel as a direct result of Israel's disobedience.

4:1 Under the dynasty of Omri, many poor Israelites were forced into debt and slavery, increasing among the people the rising resentment against the royal family.

4:8 Shunem, a city in central Israel, was apparently located on a main thoroughfare from north to south. This woman was part of a minority in Israel faithful to God and still observing some of the old festivals (v. 23).

A SHUNAMMITE WOMAN

A "notable woman" and her elderly husband lived in the town of Shunem in southern Galilee southeast of Mt. Carmel. Their gracious home became a frequent way station for the prophet Elisha during his journeys throughout the countryside. Such hospitality to strangers in both Old and New Testaments was not optional (Gen. 18:1–8; Deut. 10:17–19; Matt. 25:35; Heb. 13:2).

Eventually, the Shunammite woman decided to provide a more comfortable place for the prophet, a permanent, enclosed structure accessible by an outer stairway. Such accommodations were invaluable in a day when public lodging was very poor, if available at all.

Elisha wished to do something in return for her gracious hospitality, though she had asked nothing. The observant servant Gehazi reminded Elisha that the Shunammite had no children, and infertility was a personal tragedy for an Israelite woman. Elisha announced to her that next year she would hold a son in her arms. She must have been stunned because she and her husband were old (see Luke 18:27). In later years, the child fell ill while working with his father in the fields; he died in his mother's lap.

In silent grief the mother laid the boy on Elisha's bed and closed the door. With urgent determination she sought the prophet. Did she question why God had given her a child, only to take him away from her? Was her swift determination to find Elisha the response of faith that the God who used His prophet to promise her a child could also use His prophet to restore the child's life?

She found Elisha and fell at his feet. Seeing her anguish, Elisha quickly ascertained that something was the matter with the boy. He asked Gehazi to go and lay his prophet's staff on the boy's face, but the Shunammite refused to leave Elisha; together they began the journey back to Shunem. The mother waited anxiously outside the prophet's room—hoping, fearing, wondering. Meanwhile, Elisha prayed and the boy revived.

Imagine the woman's elation at seeing her son, the child of promise, restored to life. While her actions clearly indicated she knew such a miracle was possible, the overwhelming joy at holding her child once again was indescribable.

The woman's gracious provision for the Lord's prophet resulted in the coming of a precious son into her life (see Prov. 11:25). Though some consider namelessness as merely the absence of power, in this unnamed woman is the reward for a servant's heart—power with God and gratitude from His prophet. Her inward beauty (servant's heart) prompted outward duty (hospitality); Elisha's inward virtue (gratitude) unfolded in outward deeds (gift of a son). The Shunammite's unsolicited hospitality awakened Elisha's thoughtful gratitude. Her pro-active faith and confident determination in the midst of grief resulted in the restoration of her son's life.

went on ahead of them, and laid the staff on the face of the child; but there was neither voice nor hearing. Therefore he went back to meet him, and told him, saying, "The child has not awakened."

32When Elisha came into the house, there was the child, lying dead on his bed. 33He went in therefore, shut the door behind the two of them, and prayed to the LORD. 34And he went up and lay on the child, and put his mouth on his mouth, his eyes on his eyes, and his hands on his hands; and he stretched himself out on the child, and the flesh of the child became warm. 35He returned and walked back and forth in the house, and again went up and stretched himself out on him; then the child sneezed seven times, and the child opened his eyes. 36And he called Gehazi and said, "Call this Shunammite woman." So he called her. And when she came in to him, he said, "Pick up your son." 37So she went in, fell at his feet, and bowed to the ground; then she picked up her son and went out.

Elisha Purifies the Pot of Stew

38And Elisha returned to Gilgal, and there was a famine in the land. Now the sons of the prophets were sitting before him; and he said to his servant, "Put on the large pot, and boil stew for the sons of the prophets." 39So one went out into the field to gather herbs, and found a wild vine, and gathered from it a lapful of wild gourds, and came and sliced them into the pot of stew, though they did not know what they were. 40Then they served it to the men to eat. Now it happened, as they were eating the stew, that they cried out and said, "Man of God, there is death in the pot!" And they could not eat it.

41So he said, "Then bring some flour." And he put it into the pot, and said, "Serve it to the people, that they may eat." And there was nothing harmful in the pot.

4:34 The resurrection of the Shunammite's son parallels Elijah's resurrection of the widow's son (1 Kin. 17:17–24). This miracle established Elisha as Elijah's true successor.

Elisha Feeds One Hundred Men

42Then a man came from Baal Shalisha, and brought the man of God bread of the firstfruits, twenty loaves of barley bread, and newly ripened grain in his knapsack. And he said, "Give it to the people, that they may eat."

43But his servant said, "What? Shall I set this before one hundred men?"

He said again, "Give it to the people, that they may eat; for thus says the LORD: 'They shall eat and have some left over.' " 44So he set it before them; and they ate and had some left over, according to the word of the LORD.

Naaman's Leprosy Healed

5 Now Naaman, commander of the army of the king of Syria, was a great and honorable man in the eyes of his master, because by him the LORD had given victory to Syria. He was also a mighty man of valor, but a leper. 2And the Syrians had gone out on raids, and had brought back captive a young girl from the land of Israel. She waited on Naaman's wife. 3Then she said to her mistress, "If only my master were with the prophet who is in Samaria! For he would heal him of his leprosy." 4And Naaman went in and told his master, saying, "Thus and thus said the girl who is from the land of Israel."

5Then the king of Syria said, "Go now, and I will send a letter to the king of Israel."

So he departed and took with him ten talents of silver, six thousand shekels of gold, and ten changes of clothing. 6Then he brought the letter to the king of Israel, which said,

> Now be advised, when this letter comes to you, > that I have sent Naaman my servant to you,
> that you may heal him of his leprosy.

7And it happened, when the king of Israel read the letter, that he tore his clothes and said, "Am I God, to kill and make alive, that this man sends a man to me to heal him of his leprosy? Therefore please consider, and see how he seeks a quarrel with me."

8So it was, when Elisha the man of God heard that the king of Israel had torn his clothes, that he sent to the king, saying, "Why have you torn your clothes? Please let him come to me, and he shall know that there is a prophet in Israel."

9Then Naaman went with his horses and chariot, and he stood at the door of Elisha's house. 10And Elisha sent a messenger to him, saying, "Go and wash in the Jordan seven times, and your flesh shall be restored to you, and you shall be clean." 11But Naaman became furious, and went away and said, "Indeed, I said to myself, 'He will surely come out to me, and stand and call on the name of the LORD his God, and wave his hand over the place, and heal the leprosy.' 12*Are* not the Abanah[a] and the Pharpar, the rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel? Could I not wash in them and be clean?" So he turned and went away in a rage. 13And his servants came near and spoke to him, and said, "My father, if the prophet had told you to do something great, would you not have done it? How much more then, when he says to you, 'Wash, and be clean'?" 14So he went down and dipped seven times in the Jordan, according to the saying of the man of God; and his flesh was restored like the flesh of a little child, and he was clean.

15And he returned to the man of God, he and all his aides, and came and stood before him; and he said, "Indeed, now I know that there is no God in all the earth, except in Israel; now therefore, please take a gift from your servant."

16But he said, "As the LORD lives, before whom I stand, I will receive nothing." And he urged him to take it, but he refused.

17So Naaman said, "Then, if not, please let your servant be given two mule-loads of earth; for your servant will no longer offer either burnt offering

5:12 [a]Following Kethib, Septuagint, and Vulgate; Qere, Syriac, and Targum read Amanah.

4:42 Shalisha is located between Ephraim and Benjamin, near the Israel-Judah border (1 Sam. 9:4). "Baal" suggests that the town was named after the Canaanite deity who served as its protector. However, some Israelites still remembered the firstfruits offering (Lev. 23:10–14). These offerings should have been presented to the priests (see Deut. 18:1–6). This man brought the offering to the sons of the prophets, suggesting that the prophetic community had unofficially assumed some of the duties of the priesthood, which was now totally corrupt (see 1 Kin. 12:25–31).

5:1 Syria, a large country northeast of Israel, had an unstable relationship with Israel (see chart, The Kings and Their Conflicts). The king during Naaman's time was Ben-Hadad II (about 860–841 B.C.), who had been Ahab's ally against the Assyrian threat (1 Kin. 20:31–34). The two countries still fought over the border cities (1 Kin. 22:1–3) and raided each other's territory (v. 2). During Jehoram's weak administration, Syria grew more antagonistic. The battle over Ramoth-Gilead, in which Ahab died, was in progress eight years later (2 Kin. 9:14). Still, the kings of Israel and Syria maintained some diplomatic relationship (2 Kin. 5:5, 6).

5:17 Naaman requested soil from Israel so that he could worship Yahweh on Yahweh's own ground or perhaps to use to build an altar in Syria. This suggests that although he was convinced that Yahweh was the one true God, he still viewed Yahweh as a limited local deity like his own gods. Naaman wanted land that belonged to the Lord in order to worship Him. He showed his lack of understanding of Yahweh, yet a sincere desire to worship Yahweh.

CHILDREN ONLY ONE PARENT IN THE HOUSE

God has a special place in His heart for mothers and their children. Throughout Scripture He insists they be defended and given appropriate care (Is. 1:17; 1 Tim. 5:16).

Children tend to mirror the behavior and to "defend" the parent with whom they live, whether single parenting is the result of widowhood, divorce, or a prolonged separation (as in the case of women whose husbands are away for long periods owing to war or business travel). Where children have a parent modeling trust in the Lord and attentiveness to God's Word, the bond between parent and child can be very strong (1 Tim. 5:4). God is aware of the awesome responsibility a single parent faces, and He is more than able to meet all the needs of the child and parent—even employing what may seem to be miraculous means.

Single parents are encouraged to:

- Spend time in the Word each day to receive the divine direction needed, especially during stress-filled times (Ps. 119:11).
- Schedule regular times for family worship, recreation, and communication (Ps. 78:5, 6).
- Be consistent in church attendance and active in service so that both parent and child can be nurtured spiritually and emotionally through fellowship with other believers (Heb. 10:25).

or sacrifice to other gods, but to the LORD. 18Yet in this thing may the LORD pardon your servant: when my master goes into the temple of Rimmon to worship there, and he leans on my hand, and I bow down in the temple of Rimmon—when I bow down in the temple of Rimmon, may the LORD please pardon your servant in this thing."

19Then he said to him, "Go in peace." So he departed from him a short distance.

Gehazi's Greed

20But Gehazi, the servant of Elisha the man of God, said, "Look, my master has spared Naaman this Syrian, while not receiving from his hands what he brought; but as the LORD lives, I will run after him and take something from him." 21So Gehazi pursued Naaman. When Naaman saw him running after him, he got down from the chariot to meet him, and said, "Is all well?"

22And he said, "All is well. My master has sent me, saying, 'Indeed, just now two young men of the sons of the prophets have come to me from the mountains of Ephraim. Please give them a talent of silver and two changes of garments.' "

23So Naaman said, "Please, take two talents." And he urged him, and bound two talents of silver in two bags, with two changes of garments, and handed them to two of his servants; and they carried them on ahead of him. 24When he came to the citadel, he took them from their hand, and stored them away in the house; then he let the men go, and they departed. 25Now he went in and stood before his master. Elisha said to him, "Where did you go, Gehazi?"

And he said, "Your servant did not go anywhere."

26Then he said to him, "Did not my heart go with you when the man turned back from his chariot to meet you? Is it time to receive money and to receive clothing, olive groves and vineyards, sheep and oxen, male and female servants? 27Therefore the leprosy of Naaman shall cling to you and your descendants forever." And he went out from his presence leprous, as white as snow.

The Floating Ax Head

6 And the sons of the prophets said to Elisha, "See now, the place where we dwell with you is too small for us. 2Please, let us go to the Jordan, and let every man take a beam from there, and let us make there a place where we may dwell."

5:18 Rimmon was the Syrian king's chief god. The name (perhaps meaning "thunder") suggests that Rimmon was a god of wind, rain, and storms (see Zech. 12:11).

5:20 Prophets were traditionally paid for their services. Ahab's court prophets were supported by the crown. Saul expected to pay Samuel for his help (1 Sam. 9:7, 8). True prophets often declined the fee (1 Kin. 13:7, 8).

6:1 Godly prophets. Apparently, the number of those loyal to Yahweh was growing, since the community needed new quarters. Popular dissatisfaction with the idolatrous dynasty of

So he answered, "Go."

3Then one said, "Please consent to go with your servants."

And he answered, "I will go." 4So he went with them. And when they came to the Jordan, they cut down trees. 5But as one was cutting down a tree, the iron ax head fell into the water; and he cried out and said, "Alas, master! For it was borrowed."

6So the man of God said, "Where did it fall?" And he showed him the place. So he cut off a stick, and threw it in there; and he made the iron float. 7Therefore he said, "Pick it up for yourself." So he reached out his hand and took it.

The Blinded Syrians Captured

8Now the king of Syria was making war against Israel; and he consulted with his servants, saying, "My camp will be in such and such a place." 9And the man of God sent to the king of Israel, saying, "Beware that you do not pass this place, for the Syrians are coming down there." 10Then

Omri was increasing, as evidenced by the support given to Jehu's rebellion (2 Kin. 9; 10).

6:8 Syria's attack. Clearly Israel's relationship with Syria had deteriorated since the time that Namaan had traveled into Israelite territory. Jehoram had turned the army against him (2 Kin. 9:14–26; see chart, The Kings and Their Conflicts).

NAAMAN'S MAIDSERVANT A Channel for Blessing

Naaman's maidservant, probably not yet in her teens, was captured and taken to Syria during the reign of Ahab's son Joram, a time when Israel was constantly invaded by surrounding nations. Although living in a foreign land and serving people who may have killed her family, she demonstrated a sincere desire to serve her master well (Matt. 5:44), offering her service "as to the Lord, and not to men" (Eph. 6:5–8).

This Hebrew child had obviously been taught that God's hand was on her life. Though in the midst of a pagan setting, she was securely committed to Yahweh as a God of mercy. This young girl determined to reveal the superiority of Israel's God over the pagan gods of Syria, even in an atmosphere of war and oppression. She exercised her own simple faith and testified to God's power to heal leprosy, which resulted not only in the saving of her master's life but also in his introduction to the power of the God of Israel. Her persevering testimony led Naaman to submerge his pride and make the decision to put his faith in the God of Israel.

This young captive maid shows the capacity of even a young child to remember and obey wholeheartedly God's commands in difficult circumstances (see Dan. 1:3–20). Though seemingly a minor character in Israel's history, she became an effective channel for one of the most significant miracles in the Old Testament.

the king of Israel sent someone to the place of which the man of God had told him. Thus he warned him, and he was watchful there, not just once or twice.

11 Therefore the heart of the king of Syria was greatly troubled by this thing; and he called his servants and said to them, "Will you not show me which of us is for the king of Israel?"

12 And one of his servants said, "None, my lord, O king; but Elisha, the prophet who is in Israel, tells the king of Israel the words that you speak in your bedroom."

13 So he said, "Go and see where he is, that I may send and get him."

And it was told him, saying, "Surely he is in Dothan."

14 Therefore he sent horses and chariots and a great army there, and they came by night and surrounded the city. 15 And when the servant of the man of God arose early and went out, there was an army, surrounding the city with horses and chariots. And his servant said to him, "Alas, my master! What shall we do?"

16 So he answered, "Do not fear, for those who are with us are more than those who are with them." 17 And Elisha prayed, and said, "LORD, I pray, open his eyes that he may see." Then the LORD opened the eyes of the young man, and he saw. And behold, the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire all around Elisha. 18 So when the Syrians came down to him, Elisha prayed to the LORD, and said, "Strike this people, I pray, with blindness." And He struck them with blindness according to the word of Elisha.

19 Now Elisha said to them, "This is not the way, nor is this the city. Follow me, and I will bring you to the man whom you seek." But he led them to Samaria.

20 So it was, when they had come to Samaria, that Elisha said, "LORD, open the eyes of these men, that they may see." And the LORD opened their eyes, and they saw; and there they were, inside Samaria!

21 Now when the king of Israel saw them, he said to Elisha, "My father, shall I kill them? Shall I kill them?"

22 But he answered, "You shall not kill them. Would you kill those whom you have taken captive with your sword and your bow? Set food and water before them, that they may eat and drink and go to their master." 23 Then he prepared a great feast for them; and after they ate and drank, he sent them away and they went to their master. So the bands of Syrian raiders came no more into the land of Israel.

Syria Besieges Samaria in Famine

24 And it happened after this that Ben-Hadad king of Syria gathered all his army, and went up and besieged Samaria. 25 And there was a great famine in Samaria; and indeed they besieged it until a donkey's head was sold for eighty shekels of silver, and one-fourth of a kab of dove droppings for five shekels of silver.

6:13 Dothan was in the region of central Israel later known as Samaria after its largest city. The city was on a well-traveled, north-south trade route. Israel's army must have been in a weakened and disorganized state for Syria secretly to penetrate so far into Israelite territory. The temporary peace that resulted from this incident was due entirely to Elisha's intervention, not Jehoram's policies (vv. 21–23).

6:24 Ben-Hadad's siege. Samaria was a large city near Dothan. At this time, it served as the capital of Israel (1 Kin. 16:24), and the royal family had a temple to Baal there (1 Kin. 16:32). The famine, coinciding with the Syrian siege, was a judgment on this idolatry.

[26]Then, as the king of Israel was passing by on the wall, a woman cried out to him, saying, "Help, my lord, O king!"

[27]And he said, "If the LORD does not help you, where can I find help for you? From the threshing floor or from the winepress?" [28]Then the king said to her, "What is troubling you?"

And she answered, "This woman said to me, 'Give your son, that we may eat him today, and we will eat my son tomorrow.' [29]So we boiled my son, and ate him. And I said to her on the next day, 'Give your son, that we may eat him'; but she has hidden her son."

[30]Now it happened, when the king heard the words of the woman, that he tore his clothes; and as he passed by on the wall, the people looked, and there underneath he had sackcloth on his body. [31]Then he said, "God do so to me and more also, if the head of Elisha the son of Shaphat remains on him today!"

[32]But Elisha was sitting in his house, and the elders were sitting with him. And the king sent a man ahead of him, but before the messenger came to him, he said to the elders, "Do you see how this son of a murderer has sent someone to take away my head? Look, when the messenger comes, shut the door, and hold him fast at the door. Is not the sound of his master's feet behind him?" [33]And while he was still talking with them, there was the messenger, coming down to him; and then the king said, "Surely this calamity is from the LORD; why should I wait for the LORD any longer?"

7 Then Elisha said, "Hear the word of the LORD. Thus says the LORD: 'Tomorrow about this time a seah of fine flour shall be sold for a shekel, and two seahs of barley for a shekel, at the gate of Samaria.' "

[2]So an officer on whose hand the king leaned answered the man of God and said, "Look, if the LORD would make windows in heaven, could this thing be?"

And he said, "In fact, you shall see it with your eyes, but you shall not eat of it."

The Syrians Flee

[3]Now there were four leprous men at the entrance of the gate; and they said to one another, "Why are we sitting here until we die? [4]If we say, 'We will enter the city,' the famine is in the city, and we shall die there. And if we sit here, we die also. Now therefore, come, let us surrender to the army of the Syrians. If they keep us alive, we shall live; and if they kill us, we shall only die." [5]And they rose at twilight to go to the camp of the Syrians; and when they had come to the outskirts of the Syrian camp, to their surprise no one was there. [6]For the LORD had caused the army of the Syrians to hear the noise of chariots and the noise of horses—the noise of a great army; so they said to one another, "Look, the king of Israel has hired against us the kings of the Hittites and the kings of the Egyptians to attack us!" [7]Therefore they arose and fled at twilight, and left the camp intact—their tents, their horses, and their donkeys—and they fled for their lives. [8]And when these lepers came to the outskirts of the camp, they went into one tent and ate and drank, and carried from it silver and gold and clothing, and went and hid them; then they came back and entered another tent, and carried some from there also, and went and hid it.

[9]Then they said to one another, "We are not doing right. This day is a day of good news, and we remain silent. If we wait until morning light, some punishment will come upon us. Now therefore, come, let us go and tell the king's household." [10]So they went and called to the gatekeepers of the city, and told them, saying, "We went to the Syrian camp, and surprisingly no one was there, not a human sound—only horses and donkeys tied, and the tents intact." [11]And the gatekeepers called out, and they told it to the king's household inside.

[12]So the king arose in the night and said to his servants, "Let me now tell you what the Syrians have done to us. They know that we are hungry; therefore they have gone out of the camp to hide themselves in the field, saying, 'When they come out of the city, we shall catch them alive, and get into the city.' "

[13]And one of his servants answered and said, "Please, let several men take five of the remaining horses which are left in the city. Look, they may either become like all the multitude of Israel that are left in it; or indeed, I say, they may become like all the multitude of Israel left from those who are consumed; so let us send them and see." [14]Therefore

6:30 Jehoram's repentance. Sackcloth was the traditional sign of grief for sin, but clearly Jehoram blamed Elisha for the siege, not recognizing the siege as punishment for his own idolatry (v. 31).

6:33 The identity of the speaker is unclear. If the speaker is in fact Jehoram, whether or not he ever repented is not made clear elsewhere in the story. In addition, although Samaria is delivered, the judgment of famine remains during Jehoram's reign (2 Kin. 8:1), suggesting that he continued unrepentant.

7:2 The officer was probably the commander of the army, if Israel's military organization was similar to Syria's. Namaan occupied this position for Ben-Hadad.

7:6 Hittites and Egyptians were rumored to have come to the aid of Israel as mercenaries. Such a threat from former allies must have heightened the fear of the Syrians, who immediately abandoned their camp and possessions.

they took two chariots with horses; and the king sent them in the direction of the Syrian army, saying, "Go and see." 15And they went after them to the Jordan; and indeed all the road was full of garments and weapons which the Syrians had thrown away in their haste. So the messengers returned and told the king. 16Then the people went out and plundered the tents of the Syrians. So a seah of fine flour was sold for a shekel, and two seahs of barley for a shekel, according to the word of the LORD.

17Now the king had appointed the officer on whose hand he leaned to have charge of the gate. But the people trampled him in the gate, and he died, just as the man of God had said, who spoke when the king came down to him. 18So it happened just as the man of God had spoken to the king, saying, "Two seahs of barley for a shekel, and a seah of fine flour for a shekel, shall be sold tomorrow about this time in the gate of Samaria."

19Then that officer had answered the man of God, and said, "Now look, if the LORD would make windows in heaven, could such a thing be?"

And he had said, "In fact, you shall see it with your eyes, but you shall not eat of it." 20And so it happened to him, for the people trampled him in the gate, and he died.

The King Restores the Shunammite's Land

8 Then Elisha spoke to the woman whose son he had restored to life, saying, "Arise and go, you and your household, and stay wherever you can; for the LORD has called for a famine, and furthermore, it will come upon the land for seven years." 2So the woman arose and did according to the saying of the man of God, and she went with her household and dwelt in the land of the Philistines seven years.

3It came to pass, at the end of seven years, that the woman returned from the land of the Philistines; and she went to make an appeal to the king for her house and for her land. 4Then the king talked with Gehazi, the servant of the man of God, saying, "Tell me, please, all the great things Elisha has done." 5Now it happened, as he was telling the king how he had restored the dead to life, that there was the woman whose son he had restored to life, appealing to the king for her house and for her land. And Gehazi said, "My lord, O king, this is the woman, and this is her son whom Elisha restored to life." 6And when the king asked the woman, she told him.

So the king appointed a certain officer for her, saying, "Restore all that was hers, and all the proceeds of the field from the day that she left the land until now."

Death of Ben-Hadad

7Then Elisha went to Damascus, and Ben-Hadad king of Syria was sick; and it was told him, saying, "The man of God has come here." 8And the king said to Hazael, "Take a present in your hand, and go to meet the man of God, and inquire of the LORD by him, saying, 'Shall I recover from this disease?' " 9So Hazael went to meet him and took a present with him, of every good thing of Damascus, forty camel-loads; and he came and stood before him, and said, "Your son Ben-Hadad king of Syria has sent me to you, saying, 'Shall I recover from this disease?' "

10And Elisha said to him, "Go, say to him, 'You shall certainly recover.' However the LORD has shown me that he will really die." 11Then he set his countenance in a stare until he was ashamed; and the man of God wept. 12And Hazael said, "Why is my lord weeping?"

He answered, "Because I know the evil that you will do to the children of Israel: Their strongholds you will set on fire, and their young men you will kill with the sword; and you will dash their children, and rip open their women with child."

13So Hazael said, "But what is your servant—a dog, that he should do this gross thing?"

And Elisha answered, "The LORD has shown me that you will become king over Syria."

14Then he departed from Elisha, and came to his master, who said to him, "What did Elisha say to you?" And he answered, "He told me you would surely recover." 15But it happened on the next day that he took a thick cloth and dipped it in water, and spread it over his face so that he died; and Hazael reigned in his place.

Jehoram Reigns in Judah

16Now in the fifth year of Joram the son of Ahab, king of Israel, Jehoshaphat having been king of Judah, Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat began to reign as king of Judah. 17He was thirty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned eight

8:3 The judgment of the famine led some Israelites to abandon their homes. Apparently, the famine was localized; Philistia is just south of Israel, between Judah and the coast. The royal family had claimed all deserted land, adding greatly to the crown's wealth.

8:7, 8 Hazael. God had given Elijah the command to anoint Hazael as king of Syria (1 Kin. 19:15; see chart, The Kings of Syria). This was to be part of the judgment on the family of Ahab. Hazael, who became king about 841 B.C., would attack Israel from the north before he was besieged by the Assyrians (see chart, The Kings and Their Conflicts).

8:16 Joram of Israel, Ahab's son, is also called Jehoram (2 Kin. 1:17; see chart, The Kings With Two Names); Jehoram of Judah is also known as Joram (2 Kin. 8:21). Verses 16–24 refer to the activities of the king of Judah. The two kings were brothers-in-law (see chart, Relationships Between the Royal Families).

but to reproduce leadership, you make disciples.

years in Jerusalem. 18And he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, just as the house of Ahab had done, for the daughter of Ahab was his wife; and he did evil in the sight of the LORD. 19Yet the LORD would not destroy Judah, for the sake of His servant David, as He promised him to give a lamp to him and his sons forever.

20In his days Edom revolted against Judah's authority, and made a king over themselves. 21So Joram[a] went to Zair, and all his chariots with him. Then he rose by night and attacked the Edomites who had surrounded him and the captains of the chariots; and the troops fled to their tents. 22Thus Edom has been in revolt against Judah's authority to this day. And Libnah revolted at that time.

23Now the rest of the acts of Joram, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? 24So Joram rested with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the City of David. Then Ahaziah his son reigned in his place.

Ahaziah Reigns in Judah

25In the twelfth year of Joram the son of Ahab, king of Israel, Ahaziah the son of Jehoram, king of Judah, began to reign. 26Ahaziah was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned one year in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Athaliah the granddaughter of Omri, king of Israel. 27And he walked in the way of the house of Ahab, and did evil in the sight of the LORD, like the house of Ahab, for he was the son-in-law of the house of Ahab.

28Now he went with Joram the son of Ahab to war against Hazael king of Syria at Ramoth Gilead; and the Syrians wounded Joram. 29Then King Joram went back to Jezreel to recover from the wounds which the Syrians had inflicted on him at Ramah, when he fought against Hazael king of Syria. And Ahaziah the son of Jehoram, king of Judah, went down to see Joram the son of Ahab in Jezreel, because he was sick.

Jehu Anointed King of Israel

9 And Elisha the prophet called one of the sons of the prophets, and said to him, "Get yourself ready, take this flask of oil in your hand, and go to Ramoth Gilead. 2Now when you arrive at that place, look there for Jehu the son of Jehoshaphat, the son of Nimshi, and go in and make him rise up from among his associates, and take him to an inner room. 3Then take the flask of oil, and pour it on his head, and say, 'Thus says the LORD: "I have anointed you king over Israel." ' Then open the door and flee, and do not delay."

4So the young man, the servant of the prophet, went to Ramoth Gilead. 5And when he arrived, there were the captains of the army sitting; and he said, "I have a message for you, Commander."

Jehu said, "For which one of us?"

And he said, "For you, Commander." 6Then he arose and went into the house. And he poured the oil on his head, and said to him, "Thus says the LORD God of Israel: 'I have anointed you king over the people of the LORD, over Israel. 7You shall strike down the house of Ahab your master, that I may avenge the blood of My servants the prophets, and the blood of all the servants of the LORD, at the hand of Jezebel. 8For the whole house of Ahab shall perish; and I will cut off from Ahab all the males in Israel, both bond and free. 9So I will make the house of Ahab like the house of Jeroboam the

8:21 [a]Spelled Jehoram in verse 16

8:18 The wife of Jehoram of Judah is Athaliah, who seized the throne after her son's death (see 2 Kin. 11, Athaliah).

8:20 Edom, located southeast of Judah, had been conquered by David and had paid tribute to Israel (2 Sam. 8:14). Jehoram of Judah lost this territory. The loss meant that Ezion-Geber (the fortified seaport at the head of the Red Sea, known later as the Gulf of Aqaba) and the trade routes southward into Arabia were both unavailable to Israel. The lost trade opportunities brought severe economic consequences.

8:23 Joram of Judah may have reigned as coregent with his father Jehoshaphat for six years. His personal reign would then have lasted only two unsuccessful years (see chart, Relationships Between the Royal Families).

8:27 Ahaziah of Judah was also married to an Israelite princess. This unidentified woman was probably a daughter of Jehoram of Israel. Ahaziah also allied himself with the Israelite king against Hazael (see chart, The Kings and Their Conflicts).

8:28 Ramoth Gilead was on the Syria-Israel border. The Israel-Judah alliance against Syria had previously besieged Ramoth Gilead under Jehoshaphat and Ahab. Here the city is in Israelite hands, and the new king of Syria is attempting to recapture it (2 Kin. 9:14).

9:9 The dynasties of Israel since the schism were those of Jeroboam I, Baasha, and Omri (see chart, The Dynasties of Israel's Kings—Part 1). Each dynasty proved unfaithful to God. Jehu was anointed not by Elisha, but by a lesser prophet; his role proved to be solely one of vengeance, since his own dynasty was also idolatrous (2 Kin. 10:29–31).

THE KINGS WITH TWO NAMES
ISRAEL	JUDAH
Jehoram, son of Ahab, also known as Joram (2 Kin. 3:1; 8:16–29)	Jehoram, son of Jehoshaphat, also known as Joram (2 Kin 8:16, 21–24)
Jehoash, son of Jehoahaz, also known as Joash (2 Kin. 13:10, 12, 13)	Ahaziah, son of Jehoram, also known as Azariah (2 Kin. 8:25–27; 2 Chr. 22:6)
	Joash, son of Ahaziah, also known as Jehoash (2 Kin. 12:1–3, 19)
	Uzziah, son of Amaziah, also known as Azariah (2 Kin. 15:1–7; 2 Chr. 26:1–4)
	Eliakim, son of Josiah; name changed to Jehoiakim (2 Kin. 23:34)
	Mattaniah, uncle of Jehoiachin; name changed to Zedekiah (2 Kin. 24:17)

son of Nebat, and like the house of Baasha the son of Ahijah. [10]The dogs shall eat Jezebel on the plot of ground at Jezreel, and there shall be none to bury her.' " And he opened the door and fled.

[11]Then Jehu came out to the servants of his master, and one said to him, "Is all well? Why did this madman come to you?"

And he said to them, "You know the man and his babble."

[12]And they said, "A lie! Tell us now."

So he said, "Thus and thus he spoke to me, saying, 'Thus says the LORD: "I have anointed you king over Israel." ' "

[13]Then each man hastened to take his garment and put it under him on the top of the steps; and they blew trumpets, saying, "Jehu is king!"

Joram of Israel Killed

[14]So Jehu the son of Jehoshaphat, the son of Nimshi, conspired against Joram. (Now Joram had been defending Ramoth Gilead, he and all Israel, against Hazael king of Syria. [15]But King Joram had returned to Jezreel to recover from the wounds which the Syrians had inflicted on him when he fought with Hazael king of Syria.) And Jehu said, "If you are so minded, let no one leave or escape from the city to go and tell it in Jezreel." [16]So Jehu rode in a chariot and went to Jezreel, for Joram was laid up there; and Ahaziah king of Judah had come down to see Joram.

[17]Now a watchman stood on the tower in Jezreel, and he saw the company of Jehu as he came, and said, "I see a company of men."

And Joram said, "Get a horseman and send him to meet them, and let him say, 'Is it peace?' "

[18]So the horseman went to meet him, and said, "Thus says the king: 'Is it peace?' "

And Jehu said, "What have you to do with peace? Turn around and follow me."

So the watchman reported, saying, "The messenger went to them, but is not coming back."

[19]Then he sent out a second horseman who came to them, and said, "Thus says the king: 'Is it peace?' "

And Jehu answered, "What have you to do with peace? Turn around and follow me."

[20]So the watchman reported, saying, "He went up to them and is not coming back; and the driving is like the driving of Jehu the son of Nimshi, for he drives furiously!"

[21]Then Joram said, "Make ready." And his chariot was made ready. Then Joram king of Israel and Ahaziah king of Judah went out, each in his chariot; and they went out to meet Jehu, and met him on the property of Naboth the Jezreelite. [22]Now it happened, when Joram saw Jehu, that he said, "Is it peace, Jehu?"

So he answered, "What peace, as long as the harlotries of your mother Jezebel and her witchcraft are so many?"

[23]Then Joram turned around and fled, and said to Ahaziah, "Treachery, Ahaziah!" [24]Now Jehu drew his bow with full strength and shot Jehoram between his arms; and the arrow came out at his heart, and he sank down in his chariot. [25]Then Jehu said to Bidkar his captain, "Pick him up, and throw him into the tract of the field of Naboth the Jezreelite; for remember, when you and I were riding together behind Ahab his father, that the LORD laid this burden upon him: [26]'Surely I saw yesterday the blood of Naboth and the blood of his sons,' says the LORD, 'and I will repay you in this plot,' says the LORD. Now therefore, take and throw him on the plot of ground, according to the word of the LORD."

Ahaziah of Judah Killed

[27]But when Ahaziah king of Judah saw this, he fled by the road to Beth Haggan.[a] So Jehu pursued

9:27 [a]Literally The Garden House

9:13 Jehu's recognition. Because there was no stable dynasty in Israel, anyone with charisma, prophetic anointing, or popular support could seize the throne. Jehu apparently possessed all three. The military ineptness of Jehoram and Ahaziah had produced discontent in the army, and the widening gap between rich and poor in Israel, along with the worsening idolatry of the royal family, fueled popular discontent as well.

9:14 Joram or Jehoram of Israel was the son of Ahab (see chart, The Kings With Two Names). At this time he was at Ahab's old capital, Jezreel (v. 15).

9:27 Ahaziah fled south but was overtaken by Jehu's men at Ibleam, seven miles from Jezreel. When wounded, he turned north and finally died in Megiddo, ten miles north of Ibleam and almost 50 miles north of Judah.

him, and said, "Shoot him also in the chariot." And they shot him at the Ascent of Gur, which is by Ibleam. Then he fled to Megiddo, and died there. 28And his servants carried him in the chariot to Jerusalem, and buried him in his tomb with his fathers in the City of David. 29In the eleventh year of Joram the son of Ahab, Ahaziah had become king over Judah.

Jezebel's Violent Death

30Now when Jehu had come to Jezreel, Jezebel heard of it; and she put paint on her eyes and adorned her head, and looked through a window. 31Then, as Jehu entered at the gate, she said, "Is it peace, Zimri, murderer of your master?"

32And he looked up at the window, and said, "Who is on my side? Who?" So two or three eunuchs looked out at him. 33Then he said, "Throw her down." So they threw her down, and some of her blood spattered on the wall and on the horses; and he trampled her underfoot. 34And when he had gone in, he ate and drank. Then he said, "Go now, see to this accursed woman, and bury her, for she was a king's daughter." 35So they went to bury her, but they found no more of her than the skull and the feet and the palms of her hands. 36Therefore they came back and told him. And he said, "This is the word of the LORD, which He spoke by His servant Elijah the Tishbite, saying, 'On the plot of ground at Jezreel dogs shall eat the flesh of Jezebel;[a] 37and the corpse of Jezebel shall be as refuse on the surface of the field, in the plot at Jezreel, so that they shall not say, "Here lies Jezebel." ' "

Ahab's Seventy Sons Killed

10 Now Ahab had seventy sons in Samaria. And Jehu wrote and sent letters to Samaria, to the rulers of Jezreel,[a] to the elders, and to those who reared Ahab's sons, saying:

> 2Now as soon as this letter comes to you, since your master's sons are with you, and you have chariots and horses, a fortified city also, and weapons, 3choose the best qualified of your master's sons, set him on his father's throne, and fight for your master's house.

4But they were exceedingly afraid, and said, "Look, two kings could not stand up to him; how then can we stand?" 5And he who was in charge of the house, and he who was in charge of the city, the elders also, and those who reared the sons, sent to Jehu, saying, "We are your servants, we will do all you tell us; but we will not make anyone king. Do what is good in your sight." 6Then he wrote a second letter to them, saying:

> If you are for me and will obey my voice, take the heads of the men, your master's sons, and come to me at Jezreel by this time tomorrow.

Now the king's sons, seventy persons, were with the great men of the city, who were rearing them. 7So it was, when the letter came to them, that they took the king's sons and slaughtered seventy persons, put their heads in baskets and sent them to him at Jezreel.

8Then a messenger came and told him, saying, "They have brought the heads of the king's sons."

And he said, "Lay them in two heaps at the entrance of the gate until morning."

9So it was, in the morning, that he went out and stood, and said to all the people, "You are righteous. Indeed I conspired against my master and killed him; but who killed all these? 10Know now that nothing shall fall to the earth of the word of the LORD which the LORD spoke concerning the house of Ahab; for the LORD has done what He spoke by His servant Elijah." 11So Jehu killed all who remained of the house of Ahab in Jezreel, and all his great men and his close acquaintances and his priests, until he left him none remaining.

Ahaziah's Forty-two Brothers Killed

12And he arose and departed and went to Samaria. On the way, at Beth Eked[a] of the Shepherds, 13Jehu met with the brothers of Ahaziah king of Judah, and said, "Who are you?"

So they answered, "We are the brothers of Ahaziah; we have come down to greet the sons of the king and the sons of the queen mother."

14And he said, "Take them alive!" So they took them alive, and killed them at the well of Beth Eked, forty-two men; and he left none of them.

9:36 [a]1 Kings 21:23 10:1 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Syriac, and Targum; Septuagint reads Samaria; Vulgate reads city. 10:12 [a]Or The Shearing House

9:30 Jezebel's dress may refer to a style related to idol worship, or it may be a reference to royal adornment fitting a queen (see also Ex. 30, Cosmetics; Ezek. 16, Clothing). Jezebel was Tyrian and worshiped Baal Melqart (see 1 Kin. 18, Jezebel).

9:31 Zimri had commanded part of the army during the reign of Elah of Israel. He had murdered Elah and all his household, which was a fulfillment of prophecy (1 Kin. 16:8–13). Zimri reigned only seven days before being replaced by Omri, another army commander (see chart, The Dynasties of Israel's Kings—Part 1).

10:14 Jehu, anointed to carry out God's judgment on Israel's royal house, extended the purge to Judah. The Davidic line was in danger of being corrupted and finally wiped out through its intermarriage with Ahab's family (2 Kin. 11:1–3). Jehu's execution of Ahaziah and his brothers prevented David's family line from ultimate destruction.

ATHALIAH A Wicked Queen

Athaliah, the daughter of King Ahab and Queen Jezebel and the granddaughter of Omri (2 Kings 8:18, 26), was born into an atmosphere that completely denied the one true God. She married Jehoram, the firstborn of Judah's godly king Jehoshaphat. Jehoram had allied himself with Israel for political reasons (2 Chr. 22:5). Just as her mother had done, Athaliah promoted Baal worship and led both the people of Judah and her husband away from the Lord (see 2 Chr. 21:6). Jehoram died prematurely at age forty (see 2 Chr. 21:18–20).

Ahaziah, the son of Jehoram and Athaliah, became king, and his mother continued her evil influence (2 Chr. 22:3). Following the deaths of her sons at the hands of the Philistines and the Arabians, Athaliah murdered even her own grandsons, who were the legitimate heirs to the throne (see 2 Chr. 21:17). Gaining the throne for herself, Athaliah then reigned for six years as an illegitimate occupant of the royal seat, since she had not been born into the Davidic lineage. She carried on the idolatrous traditions in which she was reared.

Judah had never had a ruler who was not a descendant of David. The Levite priests supported Davidic kingship. When they led a rebellion against this northern usurper, the people followed willingly (see 2 Kin. 11:13–20). Athaliah was killed dishonorably, like the other members of Ahab's family, at the Horse's Gate. Her wickedness stains the pages of Israel's history, and this queen stands as a sobering reminder of the escalation of evil influence that can work in the heart of a rebellious woman who determines to go her own way, rejecting God and grasping for her own power (2 Chr. 22:3, 10; 24:7).

The Rest of Ahab's Family Killed

15 Now when he departed from there, he met Jehonadab the son of Rechab, coming to meet him; and he greeted him and said to him, "Is your heart right, as my heart is toward your heart?"

And Jehonadab answered, "It is."

Jehu said, "If it is, give me your hand." So he gave him his hand, and he took him up to him into the chariot. 16 Then he said, "Come with me, and see my zeal for the LORD." So they had him ride in his chariot. 17 And when he came to Samaria, he killed all who remained to Ahab in Samaria, till he had destroyed them, according to the word of the LORD which He spoke to Elijah.

Worshipers of Baal Killed

18 Then Jehu gathered all the people together, and said to them, "Ahab served Baal a little, Jehu will serve him much. 19 Now therefore, call to me all the prophets of Baal, all his servants, and all his priests. Let no one be missing, for I have a great sacrifice for Baal. Whoever is missing shall not live." But Jehu acted deceptively, with the intent of destroying the worshipers of Baal. 20 And Jehu said, "Proclaim a solemn assembly for Baal." So they proclaimed it. 21 Then Jehu sent throughout all Israel; and all the worshipers of Baal came, so that there was not a man left who did not come. So they came into the temple[a] of Baal, and the temple of Baal was full from one end to the other. 22 And he said to the one in charge of the wardrobe, "Bring out vestments for all the worshipers of Baal." So he brought out vestments for them. 23 Then Jehu and Jehonadab the son of Rechab went into the temple of Baal, and said to the worshipers of Baal, "Search and see that no servants of the LORD are here with you, but only the worshipers of Baal." 24 So they went in to offer sacrifices and burnt offerings. Now Jehu had appointed for himself eighty men on the outside, and had said, "If any of the men whom I have brought into your hands escapes, whoever lets him escape, it shall be his life for the life of the other."

25 Now it happened, as soon as he had made an end of offering the burnt offering, that Jehu said to the guard and to the captains, "Go in and kill them; let no one come out!" And they killed them with the edge of the sword; then the guards and the officers threw them out, and went into the inner room of the temple of Baal. 26 And they brought the sacred pillars out of the temple of Baal and burned them. 27 Then they broke down the sacred pillar of Baal, and tore down the temple of Baal and made it a refuse dump to this day. 28 Thus Jehu destroyed Baal from Israel.

29 However Jehu did not turn away from the 10:21 [a]Literally house, and so elsewhere in this chapter

10:15 Jehonadab's father Rechab probably founded the Israelite group known as Rechabites. These men lived in tents and drank no wine. They were loyal to Yahweh. Jehonadab was mentioned as upholding the laws that were rapidly being forgotten in Israel (Jer. 35:6–16).

10:25 Jehu was commended for destroying Baal worship. Nevertheless, a later word of the Lord to Hosea made clear that Jehu's bloodshed was excessive (Hos. 1:4).

sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who had made Israel sin, that is, from the golden calves that were at Bethel and Dan. 30And the LORD said to Jehu, "Because you have done well in doing what is right in My sight, and have done to the house of Ahab all that was in My heart, your sons shall sit on the throne of Israel to the fourth generation." 31But Jehu took no heed to walk in the law of the LORD God of Israel with all his heart; for he did not depart from the sins of Jeroboam, who had made Israel sin.

Death of Jehu

32In those days the LORD began to cut off parts of Israel; and Hazael conquered them in all the territory of Israel 33from the Jordan eastward: all the land of Gilead—Gad, Reuben, and Manasseh—from Aroer, which is by the River Arnon, including Gilead and Bashan.

34Now the rest of the acts of Jehu, all that he did, and all his might, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel? 35So Jehu rested with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria. Then Jehoahaz his son reigned in his place. 36And the period that Jehu reigned over Israel in Samaria was twenty-eight years.

Athaliah Reigns in Judah

11 When Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her son was dead, she arose and destroyed all the royal heirs. 2But Jehosheba, the daughter of King Joram, sister of Ahaziah, took Joash the son of Ahaziah, and stole him away from among the king's sons who were being murdered; and they hid him and his nurse in the bedroom, from Athaliah, so that he was not killed. 3So he was hidden with her in the house of the LORD for six years, while Athaliah reigned over the land.

Joash Crowned King of Judah

4In the seventh year Jehoiada sent and brought the captains of hundreds—of the bodyguards and the escorts—and brought them into the house of the LORD to him. And he made a covenant with them and took an oath from them in the house of the LORD, and showed them the king's son. 5Then he commanded them, saying, "This is what you shall do: One-third of you who come on duty on the Sabbath shall be keeping watch over the king's house, 6one-third shall be at the gate of Sur, and one-third at the gate behind the escorts. You shall keep the watch of the house, lest it be broken down. 7The two contingents of you who go off duty on the Sabbath shall keep the watch of the house of the LORD for the king. 8But you shall surround the king on all sides, every man with his weapons in his hand; and whoever comes within range, let him be put to death. You are to be with the king as he goes out and as he comes in."

9So the captains of the hundreds did according to all that Jehoiada the priest commanded. Each of them took his men who were to be on duty on the Sabbath, with those who were going off duty on the Sabbath, and came to Jehoiada the priest. 10And the priest gave the captains of hundreds the spears and shields which had belonged to King David, that were in the temple of the LORD. 11Then the escorts stood, every man with his weapons in his hand, all around the king, from the right side of the temple to the left side of the temple, by the altar and the house. 12And he brought out the king's son, put the crown on him, and gave him the Testimony;[a] they made him king and anointed

11:12 [a]That is, the Law (compare Exodus 25:16, 21 and Deuteronomy 31:9)

10:35 Jehu carried out God's judgment on Ahab and founded a new dynasty in Israel (see chart, The Dynasties of Israel—Part 2). However, Israel continued to shrink in size. The purge had alienated Phoenicia, Jezebel's home country, and Judah. Without allies, Israel was too weak to fight off Syrian invasion (see chart, The Kings and Their Conflicts). Jehu lost all the land east of the Jordan down to the border of Moab. Extrabiblical sources confirm that during Jehu's reign Shalmaneser III of Assyria made Israel a subject country (see chart, The Kings of Assyria). The Black Obelisk (discovered in 1846) shows that Jehu brought tribute to Shalmaneser.

11:1 Athaliah, the daughter of Ahab and Jezebel, attempted to wipe out David's line (see Athaliah). However, as an Israelite she had no popular support in Judah; and as a non-Davidic ruler, who was also half Phoenician, she had no support from the Levitic priesthood.

11:12 The crowning of Joash was a turning point in Judah's him, and they clapped their hands and said, "Long live the king!"

Death of Athaliah

13 Now when Athaliah heard the noise of the escorts and the people, she came to the people in the temple of the LORD. 14 When she looked, there was the king standing by a pillar according to custom; and the leaders and the trumpeters were by the king. All the people of the land were rejoicing and blowing trumpets. So Athaliah tore her clothes and cried out, "Treason! Treason!"

15 And Jehoiada the priest commanded the captains of the hundreds, the officers of the army, and said to them, "Take her outside under guard, and slay with the sword whoever follows her." For the priest had said, "Do not let her be killed in the house of the LORD." 16 So they seized her; and she went by way of the horses' entrance into the king's house, and there she was killed.

17 Then Jehoiada made a covenant between the LORD, the king, and the people, that they should be the LORD's people, and also between the king and the people. 18 And all the people of the land went to the temple of Baal, and tore it down. They thoroughly broke in pieces its altars and images, and killed Mattan the priest of Baal before the altars. And the priest appointed officers over the house of the LORD. 19 Then he took the captains of hundreds, the bodyguards, the escorts, and all the people of the land; and they brought the king down from the house of the LORD, and went by way of the gate of the escorts to the king's house. Then he sat on the throne of the kings. 20 So all the people of the land rejoiced; and the city was quiet, for they had slain Athaliah with the sword in the king's house. 21 Jehoash was seven years old when he became king.

Jehoash Repairs the Temple

12 In the seventh year of Jehu, Jehoash[a] became king, and he reigned forty years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Zibiah of Beersheba. 2 Jehoash did what was right in the sight of the LORD all the days in which Jehoiada the priest instructed him. 3 But the high places were not taken away; the people still sacrificed and burned incense on the high places.

4 And Jehoash said to the priests, "All the money of the dedicated gifts that are brought into the house of the LORD—each man's census money, each man's assessment money[a]—and all the money that a man purposes in his heart to bring into the house of the LORD, 5 let the priests take it themselves, each from his constituency; and let them repair the damages of the temple, wherever any dilapidation is found."

6 Now it was so, by the twenty-third year of King Jehoash, that the priests had not repaired the damages of the temple. 7 So King Jehoash called Jehoiada the priest and the other priests, and said to them, "Why have you not repaired the damages of the temple? Now therefore, do not take more money from your constituency, but deliver it for repairing the damages of the temple." 8 And the priests agreed that they would neither receive more money from the people, nor repair the damages of the temple.

9 Then Jehoiada the priest took a chest, bored a hole in its lid, and set it beside the altar, on the right side as one comes into the house of the LORD; and the priests who kept the door put there all the money brought into the house of the LORD. 10 So it was, whenever they saw that there was much money in the chest, that the king's scribe and the high priest came up and put it in bags, and counted the money that was found in the house of the LORD. 11 Then they gave the money, which had been apportioned, into the hands of those who did the work, who had the oversight of the house of the LORD; and they paid it out to the carpenters and builders who worked on the house of the LORD, 12 and to masons and stonecutters, and for buying timber and hewn stone, to repair the damage of the house of the LORD, and for all that was paid out to repair the temple. 13 However there were not made for the house of the LORD basins of silver, trimmers, sprinkling-bowls, trumpets, any articles of gold or articles of silver, from the money brought into the house of the LORD. 14 But they gave that to the workmen, and they repaired the house of the LORD with it. 15 Moreover they did not require an account from the men into whose hand they delivered the money to be paid to workmen, for they dealt faithfully. 16 The money from the trespass offerings and the money from the sin offerings was not brought into the house of the LORD. It belonged to the priests.

history. This Davidic king had a loyal priesthood and possessed the Testimony, the written Law (see Deut. 31:9–26; see chart, The Kings of Israel and Judah).

11:14 The pillar, if in the temple, was a testimony to God's faithfulness and sovereignty (1 Kin. 7:15–22).

11:16 Athaliah's death. Like the rest of Ahab's family, Athaliah died ignominiously as prophesied (1 Kin. 21:24).

12:4 The temple, during the influence of Athaliah, had been looted and its treasure offered to Baal (2 Chr. 24:7). Under Mosaic Law, the priests were supported by food and guilt offerings, but the census and atonement money was to go for upkeep of the tabernacle (Ex. 30:11–16). Before Joash, the priests had taken all the offerings. During his reign the proper balance was restored (2 Kin. 12:16).

Hazael Threatens Jerusalem

17Hazael king of Syria went up and fought against Gath, and took it; then Hazael set his face to go up to Jerusalem. 18And Jehoash king of Judah took all the sacred things that his fathers, Jehoshaphat and Jehoram and Ahaziah, kings of Judah, had dedicated, and his own sacred things, and all the gold found in the treasuries of the house of the LORD and in the king's house, and sent them to Hazael king of Syria. Then he went away from Jerusalem.

Death of Joash

19Now the rest of the acts of Joash,[a] and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?
20And his servants arose and formed a conspiracy, and killed Joash in the house of the Millo,[a] which goes down to Silla. 21For Jozachar[a] the son of Shimeath and Jehozabad the son of Shomer,[b] his servants, struck him. So he died, and they buried him with his fathers in the City of David.
Then Amaziah his son reigned in his place.

Jehoahaz Reigns in Israel

13 In the twenty-third year of Joash[a] the son of Ahaziah, king of Judah, Jehoahaz the son of Jehu became king over Israel in Samaria, and reigned seventeen years. 2And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, and followed the sins of Jer-oboam the son of Nebat, who had made Israel sin.
He did not depart from them.
3Then the anger of the LORD was aroused against Israel, and He delivered them into the hand of Hazael king of Syria, and into the hand of Ben-Hadad the son of Hazael, all their days. 4So Jehoahaz pleaded with the LORD, and the LORD listened to him; for He saw the oppression of Israel, because the king of Syria oppressed them. 5Then
the LORD gave Israel a deliverer, so that they escaped from under the hand of the Syrians; and the children of Israel dwelt in their tents as before.
6Nevertheless they did not depart from the sins of the house of Jeroboam, who had made Israel sin, but walked in them; and the wooden image[a] also remained in Samaria. 7For He left of the army of Jehoahaz only fifty horsemen, ten chariots, and ten thousand foot soldiers; for the king of Syria had destroyed them and made them like the dust at threshing.
8Now the rest of the acts of Jehoahaz, all that he did, and his might, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel? 9So Jehoahaz rested with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria. Then Joash his son reigned in his place.

Jehoash Reigns in Israel

10In the thirty-seventh year of Joash king of Judah, Jehoash[a] the son of Jehoahaz became king over Israel in Samaria, and reigned sixteen years.
11And he did evil in the sight of the LORD. He did not depart from all the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel sin, but walked in them.
12Now the rest of the acts of Joash, all that he did, and his might with which he fought against Amaziah king of Judah, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel? 13So Joash rested with his fathers. Then Jeroboam sat on his throne. And Joash was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel.

Death of Elisha

14Elisha had become sick with the illness of which he would die. Then Joash the king of Israel came down to him, and wept over his face, and said, "O my father, my father, the chariots of Israel and their horsemen!"
15And Elisha said to him, "Take a bow and some arrows." So he took himself a bow and some arrows. 16Then he said to the king of Israel, "Put your hand on the bow." So he put his hand on it, and Elisha put his hands on the king's hands.

12:17, 18 Syria and Judah. After taking Israel's land east of the Jordan, Hazael was strong enough to attack Judah (2 Kin. 10:32, 33; see chart, The Kings and Their Conflicts). His southern border was now just north of Moab, giving him an easy route into Judah. By conquering Gath, a city on the Judah-Philistia border, Hazael was able to open a double-front war against Judah. Rather than fight as Jehu of Israel had, Jehoash (Joash; see chart, The Kings With Two Names) protected Judah by sending Hazael an enormous tribute.

12:20 Joash (Jehoash; see chart, The Kings With Two Names) is given no summary evaluation in Kings. He seemingly followed God only while Jehoiada continued as high priest (2 Kin. 12:2; 2 Chr. 24).

13:5 Deliverance from the Syrians. About 805 B.C., the Assyrians, under their king Adad-nirari III, attacked Syria again (see chart, The Kings and Their Conflicts). By 802 B.C., Hazael was a vassal of Assyria. By the time of Hazael's son Ben-Hadad III, Syria no longer had the strength to keep Israel in subjection (see chart, The Kings of Syria).

13:6 The wooden image. Jehoahaz was a worshiper of Asherah, a Canaanite goddess. God delivered him, not because He was pleased with Jehoahaz, but rather in accordance with His promise to Jehu (2 Kin. 10:30).

13:7 The reign of Jehoahaz. The small number of men and horses indicates that Jehoahaz was now a vassal of the Syrian king (see chart, The Kings and Their Conflicts).

13:14 Joash of Israel. The phrase "the chariots of Israel and their horsemen" also occurs at the time of Elijah's ascension (2 Kin. 2:12), indicating that the prophet spoke the words of Yahweh.

17And he said, "Open the east window"; and he opened it. Then Elisha said, "Shoot"; and he shot. And he said, "The arrow of the LORD's deliverance and the arrow of deliverance from Syria; for you must strike the Syrians at Aphek till you have destroyed them." 18Then he said, "Take the arrows"; so he took them. And he said to the king of Israel, "Strike the ground"; so he struck three times, and stopped. 19And the man of God was angry with him, and said, "You should have struck five or six times; then you would have struck Syria till you had destroyed it! But now you will strike Syria only three times."

20Then Elisha died, and they buried him. And the raiding bands from Moab invaded the land in the spring of the year. 21So it was, as they were burying a man, that suddenly they spied a band of raiders; and they put the man in the tomb of Elisha; and when the man was let down and touched the bones of Elisha, he revived and stood on his feet.

Israel Recaptures Cities from Syria

22And Hazael king of Syria oppressed Israel all the days of Jehoahaz. 23But the LORD was gracious to them, had compassion on them, and regarded them, because of His covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and would not yet destroy them or cast them from His presence.

24Now Hazael king of Syria died. Then Ben-Hadad his son reigned in his place. 25And Jehoash[a] the son of Jehoahaz recaptured from the hand of Ben-Hadad, the son of Hazael, the cities which he had taken out of the hand of Jehoahaz his father by war. Three times Joash defeated him and recaptured the cities of Israel.

Amaziah Reigns in Judah

14 In the second year of Joash the son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel, Amaziah the son of Joash, king of Judah, became king. 2He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jehoaddan of Jerusalem. 3And he did what was right in the sight of the LORD, yet not like his father David; he did everything as his father Joash had done. 4However the high places were not taken away, and the people still sacrificed and burned incense on the high places.

5Now it happened, as soon as the kingdom was established in his hand, that he executed his servants who had murdered his father the king. 6But the children of the murderers he did not execute, according to what is written in the Book of the Law of Moses, in which the LORD commanded, saying, "Fathers shall not be put to death for their children, nor shall children be put to death for their fathers; but a person shall be put to death for his own sin."[a]

7He killed ten thousand Edomites in the Valley of Salt, and took Sela by war, and called its name Joktheel to this day.

8Then Amaziah sent messengers to Jehoash[a] the son of Jehoahaz, the son of Jehu, king of Israel, saying, "Come, let us face one another in battle." 9And Jehoash king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Judah, saying, "The thistle that was in Lebanon sent to the cedar that was in Lebanon, saying, 'Give your daughter to my son as wife'; and a wild beast that was in Lebanon passed by and trampled the thistle. 10You have indeed defeated Edom, and your heart has lifted you up. Glory in that, and stay at home; for why should you meddle with trouble so that you fall—you and Judah with you?"

11But Amaziah would not heed. Therefore Jehoash king of Israel went out; so he and Amaziah king of Judah faced one another at Beth Shemesh, which belongs to Judah. 12And Judah was defeated by Israel, and every man fled to his tent. 13Then Jehoash king of Israel captured Amaziah king of Judah, the son of Jehoash, the son of Ahaziah, at Beth Shemesh; and he went to Jerusalem, and broke down the wall of Jerusalem from the Gate of Ephraim to the Corner Gate—four hundred cubits. 14And he took all the gold and silver, all the articles that were found in the house of the LORD and in the treasuries of the king's house, and hostages, and returned to Samaria.

15Now the rest of the acts of Jehoash which he did—his might, and how he fought with Amaziah king of Judah—are they not written in the book of 13:17 Aphek was a city in the Plain of Sharon southwest of the Sea of Chinnereth (or Sea of Galilee; see 1 Kin. 20:26, note).

13:20 Israel's preoccupation with the northern Syrian threat left the country vulnerable to raiders from Philistia to the west and Moab to the east.

13:21 Elisha's body. The physical bodies of Christ and His three great prophetic predecessors are given special attention in Scripture. Moses' body was buried by God (Deut. 34:5, 6). Elijah's body ascended into heaven (2 Kin. 2:11). Elisha's body retained power after death (2 Kin. 13:21); and Christ's glorified body was physical, yet heavenly (Luke 24:30, 31).

13:25 Jehoash's victory. Ben-Hadad III, preoccupied by Assyrian pressure, was not able to send his full force against Israel. Jehoash was thus able to regain some of the territory lost to Syria.

14:7 Amaziah reconquered Edom, lost by Jehoram. Sela has been tentatively identified with the famous ancient city of Petra, 50 miles south of the Dead Sea.

14:8 Amaziah fought Israel. The quarrel is explained (2 Chr. 25:5–24). Amaziah had hired Israelite soldiers to help him against Edom. When a prophet of God warned him not to employ Israelites, Amaziah sent them home. Insulted, they looted Judean towns on their return north.

14:12 Judah's defeat under the godly Amaziah and the judgment on his righteous son Uzziah are linked with their incomplete purge of idolatry in Judah (2 Chr. 25:2).

the chronicles of the kings of Israel? 16So Jehoash rested with his fathers, and was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel. Then Jeroboam his son reigned in his place.

17Amaziah the son of Joash, king of Judah, lived fifteen years after the death of Jehoash the son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel. 18Now the rest of the acts of Amaziah, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? 19And they formed a conspiracy against him in Jerusalem, and he fled to Lachish; but they sent after him to Lachish and killed him there. 20Then they brought him on horses, and he was buried at Jerusalem with his fathers in the City of David.

21And all the people of Judah took Azariah,[a] who was sixteen years old, and made him king instead of his father Amaziah. 22He built Elath and restored it to Judah, after the king rested with his fathers.

Jeroboam II Reigns in Israel

23In the fifteenth year of Amaziah the son of Joash, king of Judah, Jeroboam the son of Joash, king of Israel, became king in Samaria, and reigned forty-one years. 24And he did evil in the sight of the LORD; he did not depart from all the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who had made Israel sin. 25He restored the territory of Israel from the entrance of Hamath to the Sea of the Arabah, according to the word of the LORD God of Israel, which He had spoken through His servant Jonah the son of Amittai, the prophet who was from Gath Hepher. 26For the LORD saw that the affliction of Israel was very bitter; and whether bond or free, there was no helper for Israel. 27And the LORD did not say that He would blot out the name of Israel from under heaven; but He saved them by the hand of Jeroboam the son of Joash.

28Now the rest of the acts of Jeroboam, and all that he did—his might, how he made war, and how he recaptured for Israel, from Damascus and Hamath, what had belonged to Judah—are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel? 29So Jeroboam rested with his fathers, the kings of Israel. Then Zechariah his son reigned in his place.

Azariah Reigns in Judah

15 In the twenty-seventh year of Jeroboam king of Israel, Azariah the son of Amaziah, king of Judah, became king. 2He was sixteen years old when he became king, and he reigned fifty-two years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jecholiah of Jerusalem. 3And he did what was right in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his father Amaziah had done, 4except that the high places were not removed; the people still sacrificed and burned incense on the high places. 5Then the LORD struck the king, so that he was a leper until the day of his death; so he dwelt in an isolated house. And Jotham the king's son was over the royal house, judging the people of the land.

6Now the rest of the acts of Azariah, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? 7So Azariah rested with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the City of David. Then Jotham his son reigned in his place.

Zechariah Reigns in Israel

8In the thirty-eighth year of Azariah king of Judah, Zechariah the son of Jeroboam reigned over Israel in Samaria six months. 9And he did evil

14:21 [a]Called Uzziah in 2 Chronicles 26:1ff, Isaiah 6:1, and elsewhere

14:22 Elath was located at the tip of the Red Sea (later the Gulf of Aqaba) on Edom's southern border. Through this port city, Azariah (also known as Uzziah; see chart, The Kings With Two Names) was able to reopen trade routes to the south. Judah retained her hold on Edom during the conflict with Israel.

14:25 Jeroboam II was a highly successful politician and fighter (see chart, The Kings and Their Conflicts). Under him, Israel's northern border returned to Hamath, where Solomon's had been (1 Kin. 8:65). The southern border lay at the Dead Sea, implying conquest of Moab. Jeroboam may also have captured much Syrian territory (1 Kin. 14:28). Due to peace with Judah, trade to the south resumed. Archaeological evidence has revealed great prosperity and population increase during this time.

14:26 The condition of Israel. Despite its great prosperity, Israel was sick. The Book of Amos reveals great oppression of the poor by the rich during Jeroboam II's reign (Amos 8:4–6), and paganism flourished (Amos 2:7, 8). The prophet Hosea painted a vivid picture of Israel's unfaithfulness to God's covenant during this time.

15:1 Azariah, also known as Uzziah, was as successful as his contemporary in Israel (see chart, The Kings with Two Names). He refortified Jerusalem and took territory from the Philistines (2 Chr. 26:6–10). He inherited control over Edom and built forts far into the southern deserts to protect Judah's trade routes. Under Azariah and Jeroboam II, Judah and Israel together came close to reestablishing the borders of Solomon's kingdom.

15:4 Despite Judah's prosperity and peace, internal corruption reigned here as well as in Israel. The condemnatory oracles of the prophets Amos and Hosea were directed against Judah as well as Israel, and idolatry continued.

15:5 Azariah's leprosy. Chronicles links Azariah's leprosy to presumption; the king usurped priestly duties (2 Chr. 26). The writer of Kings ascribed it to a more general sin, a laxity in observing and enforcing God's commands.

15:8 Israel after Jeroboam II. After the death of its strong leader, Israel fell apart. The country had already disintegrated socially (Hos. 4:1–3; 7:1–7). Now it disintegrated politically as well. Zechariah reigned six months; his usurper lasted only one month (2 Kin. 15:13; see chart, The Kings of Israel and Judah). In approximately 25 years, Israel would be obliterated.

in the sight of the LORD, as his fathers had done; he did not depart from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who had made Israel sin. 10Then Shallum the son of Jabesh conspired against him, and struck and killed him in front of the people; and he reigned in his place.

11Now the rest of the acts of Zechariah, indeed they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

12This was the word of the LORD which He spoke to Jehu, saying, "Your sons shall sit on the throne of Israel to the fourth generation."[a] And so it was.

Shallum Reigns in Israel

13Shallum the son of Jabesh became king in the thirty-ninth year of Uzziah[a] king of Judah; and he reigned a full month in Samaria. 14For Menahem the son of Gadi went up from Tirzah, came to Samaria, and struck Shallum the son of Jabesh in Samaria and killed him; and he reigned in his place.

15Now the rest of the acts of Shallum, and the conspiracy which he led, indeed they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel. 16Then from Tirzah, Menahem attacked Tiphsah, all who were there, and its territory. Because they did not surrender, therefore he attacked it. All the women there who were with child he ripped open.

Menahem Reigns in Israel

17In the thirty-ninth year of Azariah king of Judah, Menahem the son of Gadi became king over Israel, and reigned ten years in Samaria. 18And he did evil in the sight of the LORD; he did not depart all his days from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who had made Israel sin. 19Pul[a] king of Assyria came against the land; and Menahem gave Pul a thousand talents of silver, that his hand might be with him to strengthen the kingdom under his control. 20And Menahem exacted the money from Israel, from all the very wealthy, from each man fifty shekels of silver, to give to the king of Assyria. So the king of Assyria turned back, and did not stay there in the land.

21Now the rest of the acts of Menahem, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel? 22So Menahem rested with his fathers. Then Pekahiah his son reigned in his place.

Pekahiah Reigns in Israel

23In the fiftieth year of Azariah king of Judah, Pekahiah the son of Menahem became king over Israel in Samaria, and reigned two years. 24And he did evil in the sight of the LORD; he did not depart from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who had made Israel sin. 25Then Pekah the son of Remaliah, an officer of his, conspired against him and killed him in Samaria, in the citadel of the king's house, along with Argob and Arieh; and with him were fifty men of Gilead. He killed him and reigned in his place.

26Now the rest of the acts of Pekahiah, and all that he did, indeed they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

Pekah Reigns in Israel

27In the fifty-second year of Azariah king of Judah, Pekah the son of Remaliah became king over Israel in Samaria, and reigned twenty years. 28And he did evil in the sight of the LORD; he did not depart from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who had made Israel sin. 29In the days of Pekah king of Israel, Tiglath-Pileser king of Assyria came and took Ijon, Abel Beth Maachah, Janoah, Kedesh, Hazor, Gilead, and Galilee, all the land of Naphtali; and he carried them captive to Assyria. 30Then Hoshea the son of Elah led a conspiracy against Pekah the son of Remaliah, and struck and killed him; so he reigned in his place in the twentieth year of Jotham the son of Uzziah.

31Now the rest of the acts of Pekah, and all that

15:12 [a]2 Kings 10:30 15:13 [a]Called Azariah in 14:21ff and 15:1ff 15:19 [a]That is, Tiglath-Pileser III (compare verse 29)

15:14 Menahem declared Tirzah, an ancient and beautiful Canaanite city strategically located along the trade route (see Song 6:4), to be Israel's capital, as it had been until the days of Omri (see 1 Kin. 16:8, 9). If Tiphsah, whose location is uncertain, is the same as Thapscus, on the Euphrates far north of Israel, Menahem's attack was not against the Israelites (2 Kin. 15:16). Many scholars believe that the city in question is Tappuah, 15 miles north of Bethel in central Israel. In this case, Menahem began a savage civil war.

15:19 Pul, king of Assyria. Although this is the first time a king of Assyria is directly mentioned in the text, Assyrian attacks had already been weathered by Ahab and Jehu. Pul is Tiglath-Pileser III, an ambitious ruler who turned his attention to Assyria's western frontier (see chart, The Kings of Assyria). Menahem of Israel paid tribute rather than resisting. This campaign probably occurred between 743–740 B.C.

15:20 Ransom for Israel. Fifty shekels was the Assyrian price for a slave. Israelites had to pay this price to the Assyrians, or they would have been sold into slavery.

15:25 The presence of men of Gilead in Pekah's band indicates that Israel once again was on friendly terms with Syria. Gilead lay between Israel and Syria, near Ramoth-Gilead.

15:29 Pekah's revolt may have been supported by those who resented Menahem's tribute to Assyria. Pekah adopted an aggressive attitude toward Assyria and was badly beaten. Israel lost all territory west of the Jordan, all Galilee to the far north, and Naphtali between the Sea of Chinnereth (or the Sea of Galilee) and the coast. The destruction extended to approximately 30 miles north of Samaria.

15:30 Tiglath-Pileser III probably refrained from completely destroying Israel due to the change in Israel's leadership.

he did, indeed they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

Jotham Reigns in Judah

32In the second year of Pekah the son of Remaliah, king of Israel, Jotham the son of Uzziah, king of Judah, began to reign. 33He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jerusha[a] the daughter of Zadok. 34And he did what was right in the sight of the LORD; he did according to all that his father Uzziah had done. 35However the high places were not removed; the people still sacrificed and burned incense on the high places. He built the Upper Gate of the house of the LORD.

36Now the rest of the acts of Jotham, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? 37In those days the LORD began to send Rezin king of Syria and Pekah the son of Remaliah against Judah. 38So Jotham rested with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the City of David his father. Then Ahaz his son reigned in his place.

Ahaz Reigns in Judah

16 In the seventeenth year of Pekah the son of Remaliah, Ahaz the son of Jotham, king of Judah, began to reign. 2Ahaz was twenty years old when he became king, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem; and he did not do what was right in the sight of the LORD his God, as his father David had done. 3But he walked in the way of the kings of Israel; indeed he made his son pass through the fire, according to the abominations of the nations whom the LORD had cast out from before the children of Israel. 4And he sacrificed and burned incense on the high places, on the hills, and under every green tree.

5Then Rezin king of Syria and Pekah the son of Remaliah, king of Israel, came up to Jerusalem to make war; and they besieged Ahaz but could not overcome him. 6At that time Rezin king of Syria captured Elath for Syria, and drove the men of Judah from Elath. Then the Edomites[a] went to Elath, and dwell there to this day.

7So Ahaz sent messengers to Tiglath-Pileser king of Assyria, saying, "I am your servant and your son. Come up and save me from the hand of the king of Syria and from the hand of the king of Israel, who rise up against me." 8And Ahaz took the silver and gold that was found in the house of the LORD, and in the treasuries of the king's house, and sent it as a present to the king of Assyria. 9So the king of Assyria heeded him; for the king of Assyria went up against Damascus and took it, carried its people captive to Kir, and killed Rezin.

10Now King Ahaz went to Damascus to meet Tiglath-Pileser king of Assyria, and saw an altar that was at Damascus; and King Ahaz sent to Urijah the priest the design of the altar and its pattern, according to all its workmanship. 11Then Urijah the priest built an altar according to all that King Ahaz had sent from Damascus. So Urijah the priest made it before King Ahaz came back from Damascus. 12And when the king came back from Damascus, the king saw the altar; and the king approached the altar and made offerings on it. 13So he burned his burnt offering and his grain offering; and he poured his drink offering and sprinkled the blood of his peace offerings on the altar. 14He also brought the bronze altar which was before the LORD, from the front of the temple—from between the new altar and the house of the LORD—and put it on the north side of the new altar. 15Then King Ahaz commanded Urijah the priest, saying, "On the great new altar burn the morning burnt offering, the evening grain offering, the king's burnt sacrifice, and his grain offering, with the burnt offering of all the people of the land, their grain offering, and their drink offerings; and sprinkle on it all the blood of the burnt offering and all the blood of the sacrifice. And the bronze altar shall be for me to inquire by." 16Thus did Urijah the priest, according to all that King Ahaz commanded.

17And King Ahaz cut off the panels of the carts, and removed the lavers from them; and he took down the Sea from the bronze oxen that were under it, and put it on a pavement of stones.

15:33 [a]Spelled Jerushah in 2 Chronicles 27:1 16:6 [a]Some ancient authorities read Syrians.

16:3 Ahaz of Judah violated the Law (Deut. 12:29–32). Child sacrifice to Molech was the most evil pagan practice.

16:5 The attack of Pekah on Judah was brought on by Ahaz's refusal to join Israel and Syria in alliance against Assyria. The alliance, not wishing to have hostile fronts to both north and south, attempted to conquer Ahaz before attacking Assyria. This event is identified as the Syro-Israelite crisis (735/734 B.C.; see Is. 7).

16:6 The loss of Elath as a seaport on the Red Sea (later the Gulf of Aqaba) meant the loss of a southern trade route and subsequent economic distress for Israel.

16:7, 8 Ahaz not only allied himself with Assyria against Israel and Syria but also gave the temple treasure as tribute. The alliance made Judah a vassal of Assyria (see Deut. 7:1, 2).

16:9 Assyria and Damascus. Tiglath-Pileser III destroyed Syria in 732 B.C. and formed it into four Assyrian provinces.

16:10 The Assyrian religion in Judah. As a vassal of Assyria, Ahaz wanted to demonstrate his loyalty. He chose to worship Ashur, Assyria's national god, in disobedience to God (Deut. 4:15–40). He also used the altar of the Lord for divination (2 Kin. 16:15).

18 Also he removed the Sabbath pavilion which they had built in the temple, and he removed the king's outer entrance from the house of the LORD, on account of the king of Assyria.

19 Now the rest of the acts of Ahaz which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? 20 So Ahaz rested with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the City of David. Then Hezekiah his son reigned in his place.

Hoshea Reigns in Israel

17 In the twelfth year of Ahaz king of Judah, Hoshea the son of Elah became king of Israel in Samaria, and he reigned nine years. 2 And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, but not as the kings of Israel who were before him. 3 Shalmaneser king of Assyria came up against him; and Hoshea became his vassal, and paid him tribute money.
4 And the king of Assyria uncovered a conspiracy by Hoshea; for he had sent messengers to So, king of Egypt, and brought no tribute to the king of Assyria, as he had done year by year. Therefore the king of Assyria shut him up, and bound him in prison.

Israel Carried Captive to Assyria

5 Now the king of Assyria went throughout all the land, and went up to Samaria and besieged it for three years. 6 In the ninth year of Hoshea, the king of Assyria took Samaria and carried Israel away to Assyria, and placed them in Halah and by the Habor, the River of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes.

7 For so it was that the children of Israel had sinned against the LORD their God, who had brought them up out of the land of Egypt, from under the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt; and they had feared other gods, 8 and had walked in the statutes of the nations whom the LORD had cast out from before the children of Israel, and of the kings of Israel, which they had made. 9 Also the children of Israel secretly did against the LORD their God things that were not right, and they built for themselves high places in all their cities, from watchtower to fortified city. 10 They set up for themselves sacred pillars and wooden images[a] on every high hill and under every green tree.
11 There they burned incense on all the high places, like the nations whom the LORD had carried away before them; and they did wicked things to provoke the LORD to anger, 12 for they served idols, of which the LORD had said to them, "You shall not do this thing."

13 Yet the LORD testified against Israel and against Judah, by all of His prophets, every seer, saying, "Turn from your evil ways, and keep My commandments and My statutes, according to all the law which I commanded your fathers, and which I sent to you by My servants the prophets."
14 Nevertheless they would not hear, but stiffened their necks, like the necks of their fathers, who did not believe in the LORD their God. 15 And they rejected His statutes and His covenant that He

16:18 The king's outer entrance. Tiglath-Pileser III forced Ahaz to close his private entrance into the temple, demonstrating that Ahaz was no longer Judah's official spiritual leader.

17:3 Shalmaneser V. Tiglath-Pileser III, who had spared Hoshea, died in 727 B.C. (2 Kin. 15:29, 30; see chart, The Kings of Assyria). Shalmaneser, his son and successor, continued to collect tribute from Israel.

17:4 Hoshea attempted to break away from Assyria with the help of Egypt. Egypt, however, was weak and in no condition to fight against Assyria.

17:6 Deportation. Sargon II, Shalmaneser V's successor, took credit for Samaria's ultimate downfall (see chart, The Kings of Assyria). He records in his annals that he carried away 27,290 inhabitants. He then rebuilt and resettled the territory (v. 24). Israelites were deported to Assyrian cities.

17:7–23 Israel's sin. The writer of Kings reviewed Israel's violation of the Law: intermarriage and alliances with pagan peoples (Deut. 7:1–11), improper worship of God (Deut. 12:1–11), and the worship of idols (Deut 18:9–14).

had made with their fathers, and His testimonies which He had testified against them; they followed idols, became idolaters, and went after the nations who were all around them, concerning whom the LORD had charged them that they should not do like them. 16So they left all the commandments of the LORD their God, made for themselves a molded image and two calves, made a wooden image and worshiped all the host of heaven, and served Baal. 17And they caused their sons and daughters to pass through the fire, practiced witchcraft and soothsaying, and sold themselves to do evil in the sight of the LORD, to provoke Him to anger. 18Therefore the LORD was very angry with Israel, and removed them from His sight; there was none left but the tribe of Judah alone.

19Also Judah did not keep the commandments of the LORD their God, but walked in the statutes of Israel which they made. 20And the LORD rejected all the descendants of Israel, afflicted them, and delivered them into the hand of plunderers, until He had cast them from His sight. 21For He tore Israel from the house of David, and they made Jeroboam the son of Nebat king. Then Jeroboam drove Israel from following the LORD, and made them commit a great sin. 22For the children of Israel walked in all the sins of Jeroboam which he did; they did not depart from them, 23until the LORD removed Israel out of His sight, as He had said by all His servants the prophets. So Israel was carried away from their own land to Assyria, as it is to this day.

Assyria Resettles Samaria

24Then the king of Assyria brought people from Babylon, Cuthah, Ava, Hamath, and from Sepharvaim, and placed them in the cities of Samaria instead of the children of Israel; and they took possession of Samaria and dwelt in its cities. 25And it was so, at the beginning of their dwelling there, that they did not fear the LORD; therefore the LORD sent lions among them, which killed some of them. 26So they spoke to the king of Assyria, saying, "The nations whom you have removed and placed in the cities of Samaria do not know the rituals of the God of the land; therefore He has sent lions among them, and indeed, they are killing them because they do not know the rituals of the God of the land." 27Then the king of Assyria commanded, saying, "Send there one of the priests whom you brought from there; let him go and dwell there, and let him teach them the rituals of the God of the land." 28Then one of the priests whom they had carried away from Samaria came and dwelt in Bethel, and taught them how they should fear the LORD.

34To this day they continue practicing the former rituals; they do not fear the LORD, nor do they follow their statutes or their ordinances, or the law and commandment which the LORD had commanded the children of Jacob, whom He named Israel, 35with whom the LORD had made a covenant and charged them, saying: "You shall not fear other gods, nor bow down to them nor serve them nor sacrifice to them; 36but the LORD, who brought you up from the land of Egypt with great power and an outstretched arm, Him you shall fear, Him you shall worship, and to Him you shall offer sacrifice. 37And the statutes, the ordinances, the law, and the commandment which He wrote for you, you shall be careful to observe forever; you shall not fear other gods. 38And the covenant that I have made with you, you shall not forget, nor shall you fear other gods. 39But the LORD your God you shall fear; and He will deliver you from the hand of all your enemies." 40However they did not obey, but they followed their former rituals. 41So these nations feared the LORD, yet served their carved images; also their children and their children's children have continued doing as their fathers did, even to this day.

Hezekiah Reigns in Judah

18 Now it came to pass in the third year of Hoshea the son of Elah, king of Israel, that Hezekiah the son of Ahaz, king of Judah, began to reign. 2He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-nine years in 17:24 Sargon II's policy was to destroy national ties by moving conquered peoples into different lands. The foreigners resettled in Israelite territory became the ancestors of the people called Samaritans.

17:28 Religion in Israel. In a short time, Israel became populated with people of different religions (v. 41). Along with Babylonian and Mesopotamian gods, Yahweh was probably still worshiped by a few Israelites left in the Land (v. 32). However, more Israelites followed the pagan practices of the new inhabitants (vv. 34–40).

Jerusalem. His mother's name was Abi[a] the daughter of Zechariah. 3And he did what was right in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his father David had done.

4He removed the high places and broke the sacred pillars, cut down the wooden image[a] and broke in pieces the bronze serpent that Moses had made; for until those days the children of Israel burned incense to it, and called it Nehushtan.[b] 5He trusted in the LORD God of Israel, so that after him was none like him among all the kings of Judah, nor who were before him. 6For he held fast to the LORD; he did not depart from following Him, but kept His commandments, which the LORD had commanded Moses. 7The LORD was with him; he prospered wherever he went. And he rebelled against the king of Assyria and did not serve him. 8He subdued the Philistines, as far as Gaza and its territory, from watchtower to fortified city.

13And in the fourteenth year of King Hezekiah, Sennacherib king of Assyria came up against all the fortified cities of Judah and took them. 14Then Hezekiah king of Judah sent to the king of Assyria at Lachish, saying, "I have done wrong; turn away from me; whatever you impose on me I will pay." And the king of Assyria assessed Hezekiah king of Judah three hundred talents of silver and thirty talents of gold. 15So Hezekiah gave him all the silver that was found in the house of the LORD and in the treasuries of the king's house. 16At that time Hezekiah stripped the gold from the doors of the temple of the LORD, and from the pillars which Hezekiah king of Judah had overlaid, and gave it to the king of Assyria.

Sennacherib Boasts Against the LORD

17Then the king of Assyria sent the Tartan,[a] the Rabsaris,[b] and the Rabshakeh[c] from Lachish, with a great army against Jerusalem, to King Hezekiah. And they went up and came to Jerusalem. When they had come up, they went and stood by the aqueduct from the upper pool, which was on the highway to the Fuller's Field. 18And when they had called to the king, Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, who was over the household, Shebna the scribe, and Joah the son of Asaph, the recorder, came out to them. 19Then the Rabshakeh said to them, "Say now to Hezekiah, 'Thus says the great king, the king of Assyria: "What confidence is this in which you trust? 20You speak of having plans and power for war; but they are mere words. And in whom do you trust, that you rebel against me? 21Now look! You are trusting in the staff of this broken reed, Egypt, on which if a man leans, it will go into his hand and pierce it. So is Pharaoh king of Egypt to all who trust in him. 22But if you say to me, 'We trust in the LORD our God,' is it not He whose high places and whose altars Hezekiah has taken away, and said to Judah and Jerusalem, 'You shall worship before this altar in Jerusalem?" ' 23Now therefore, I urge you, give a pledge to my master 18:3 Hezekiah was the most godly king of Judah since David. His purge of paganism was complete (v. 4).

18:7 The blessings of obedience were praised in the covenant Law. Victory was promised to the nation that obeyed (Deut. 7:16–24).

18:13 Assyria attacked Judah. Assyria had been involved elsewhere for some years; Sargon II, Sennacherib's father, had led campaigns against Babylon, Carchemish, and Egypt. Sennacherib himself faced a rebellious alliance that included Babylon, Egypt, and parts of Phoenicia and Philistia. Hezekiah joined the revolt against the advice of Isaiah, who pointed out that an alliance with Egypt was against God's command to avoid foreign alliances (Is. 30:1–5). In 701 B.C., Sennacherib conquered Tyre and the Philistine cities in the alliance. According to Assyrian records, he then destroyed 46 of Judah's own cities and captured 200,150 people. Archaeological excavations at Lachish, one of the cities conquered, have confirmed a conflict with many casualties.

18:15 Hezekiah's tribute. Sennacherib divided Judah's territory among his loyal vassals. He also demanded a huge tribute and took several of Hezekiah's daughters as concubines. These punishments had been predicted (Deut. 28:32–36).

18:17 The siege of Jerusalem. These verses may describe a second attack on Judah after a lapse of time. In this case, Hezekiah would have again attempted to rebel, taking advantage of unrest in Babylon and a new ally in Egypt (vv. 20, 21).

18:18 Siege negotiations are described in more detail by Isaiah (Is. 36; 37). Earlier in Isaiah, Shebna is condemned as unfaithful and Eliakim commended as worthy to supervise the house of David (Is. 22:15–25).

18:21 A broken reed. The image of Egypt as a broken reed is repeated (Ezek. 29:6, 7). Judah could not resist turning to Egypt, God's enemy, for help, but Egypt never gave true aid to Judah. Part of the covenant curse for disobedience is a return to Egypt in slavery (Deut. 28:68). In Scripture, Egypt often occurs as a figure for various enemy nations. In this case, considering the domination of Egypt by the Babylonian Empire, the curse comes true literally (see 2 Kin. 24:7; 25:11).

the king of Assyria, and I will give you two thousand horses—if you are able on your part to put riders on them! [24]How then will you repel one captain of the least of my master's servants, and put your trust in Egypt for chariots and horsemen? [25]Have I now come up without the LORD against this place to destroy it? The LORD said to me, 'Go up against this land, and destroy it.' "

[26]Then Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, Shebna, and Joah said to the Rabshakeh, "Please speak to your servants in Aramaic, for we understand it; and do not speak to us in Hebrew[a] in the hearing of the people who are on the wall."

[27]But the Rabshakeh said to them, "Has my master sent me to your master and to you to speak these words, and not to the men who sit on the wall, who will eat and drink their own waste with you?"

[28]Then the Rabshakeh stood and called out with a loud voice in Hebrew, and spoke, saying, "Hear the word of the great king, the king of Assyria! [29]Thus says the king: 'Do not let Hezekiah deceive you, for he shall not be able to deliver you from his hand; [30]nor let Hezekiah make you trust in the LORD, saying, "The LORD will surely deliver us; this city shall not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria." ' [31]Do not listen to Hezekiah; for thus says the king of Assyria: 'Make peace with me by a present and come out to me; and every one of you eat from his own vine and every one from his own fig tree, and every one of you drink the waters of his own cistern; [32]until I come and take you away to a land like your own land, a land of grain and new wine, a land of bread and vineyards, a land of olive groves and honey, that you may live and not die. But do not listen to Hezekiah, lest he persuade you, saying, "The LORD will deliver us." [33]Has any of the gods of the nations at all delivered its land from the hand of the king of Assyria? [34]Where are the gods of Hamath and Arpad? Where are the gods of Sepharvaim and Hena and Ivah? Indeed, have they delivered Samaria from my hand? [35]Who among all the gods of the lands have delivered their countries from my hand, that the LORD should deliver Jerusalem from my hand?' "

[36]But the people held their peace and answered him not a word; for the king's commandment was, "Do not answer him." [37]Then Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, who was over the household, Shebna the scribe, and Joah the son of Asaph, the recorder, came to Hezekiah with their clothes torn, and told him the words of the Rabshakeh.

Isaiah Assures Deliverance

19 And so it was, when King Hezekiah heard it, that he tore his clothes, covered himself with sackcloth, and went into the house of the LORD. [2]Then he sent Eliakim, who was over the household, Shebna the scribe, and the elders of the priests, covered with sackcloth, to Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz. [3]And they said to him, "Thus says Hezekiah: 'This day is a day of trouble, and rebuke, and blasphemy; for the children have come to birth, but there is no strength to bring them forth. [4]It may be that the LORD your God will hear all the words of the Rabshakeh, whom his master the king of Assyria has sent to reproach the living God, and will rebuke the words which the LORD your God has heard. Therefore lift up your prayer for the remnant that is left.' "

[5]So the servants of King Hezekiah came to Isaiah. [6]And Isaiah said to them, "Thus you shall say to your master, 'Thus says the LORD: "Do not be afraid of the words which you have heard, with which the servants of the king of Assyria have blasphemed Me. [7]Surely I will send a spirit upon him, and he shall hear a rumor and return to his own land; and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his own land." ' "

Sennacherib's Threat and Hezekiah's Prayer

[8]Then the Rabshakeh returned and found the king of Assyria warring against Libnah, for he heard that he had departed from Lachish. [9]And the king heard concerning Tirhakah king of Ethiopia, "Look, he has come out to make war with you." So he again sent messengers to Hezekiah, saying, [10]"Thus you shall speak to Hezekiah king of Judah, saying: 'Do not let your God in whom you trust deceive you, saying, "Jerusalem shall not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria." [11]Look! You have heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all lands by utterly destroying them; and shall you be delivered? [12]Have the gods of the nations delivered those whom my fathers have destroyed, Gozan and Haran and Rezeph, and the people of Eden who were in Telassar? [13]Where is the king of Hamath, the king of Arpad, and the king of the city of Sepharvaim, Hena, and Ivah?' "

[14]And Hezekiah received the letter from the hand of the messengers, and read it; and Hezekiah

18:26 [a]Literally Judean

18:25–35 A common tactic of warfare in the ancient Near East was to claim the favor of an opponent's god.

19:8 Libnah and Lachish were Judah's fortified frontier cities. The fact that Sennacherib was reconquering them has led some scholars to believe that the siege of Jerusalem took place in a second campaign against Judah (see 2 Kin. 18:17, note).

19:9 Egyptian pharaohs were Ethiopian in lineage at this time. The pharaoh Tirhakah took the throne in 690/689 B.C. and immediately set out to fight the Assyrian threat. Sennacherib then marched south against Egypt, giving Jerusalem a temporary reprieve.

went up to the house of the LORD, and spread it before the LORD. 15Then Hezekiah prayed before the LORD, and said: "O LORD God of Israel, the One who dwells between the cherubim, You are God, You alone, of all the kingdoms of the earth. You have made heaven and earth. 16Incline Your ear, O LORD, and hear; open Your eyes, O LORD, and see; and hear the words of Sennacherib, which he has sent to reproach the living God. 17Truly, LORD, the kings of Assyria have laid waste the nations and their lands, 18and have cast their gods into the fire; for they were not gods, but the work of men's hands—wood and stone. Therefore they destroyed them. 19Now therefore, O LORD our God, I pray, save us from his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that You are the LORD God,
You alone."

The Word of the LORD Concerning Sennacherib

20Then Isaiah the son of Amoz sent to Hezekiah, saying, "Thus says the LORD God of Israel: 'Because you have prayed to Me against Sennacherib king of Assyria, I have heard.' 21This is the word which the LORD has spoken concerning
him:

'The virgin, the daughter of Zion,
Has despised you, laughed you to scorn;
The daughter of Jerusalem
Has shaken her head behind your back!

22'Whom have you reproached and blasphemed?
Against whom have you raised your voice,
And lifted up your eyes on high?
Against the Holy One of Israel.
23By your messengers you have reproached the Lord,
And said: "By the multitude of my chariots
I have come up to the height of the mountains,
To the limits of Lebanon;
I will cut down its tall cedars
And its choice cypress trees;
I will enter the extremity of its borders,
To its fruitful forest.
24I have dug and drunk strange water,
And with the soles of my feet I have dried up
All the brooks of defense."

25'Did you not hear long ago
How I made it,
From ancient times that I formed it?
Now I have brought it to pass,
That you should be
For crushing fortified cities into heaps of ruins.
26Therefore their inhabitants had little power;
They were dismayed and confounded;
They were as the grass of the field
And the green herb,
As the grass on the housetops
And grain blighted before it is grown.

27'But I know your dwelling place,
Your going out and your coming in,
And your rage against Me.
28Because your rage against Me and your tumult
Have come up to My ears,
Therefore I will put My hook in your nose
And My bridle in your lips,
And I will turn you back
By the way which you came.

29'This shall be a sign to you:

You shall eat this year such as grows of itself,
And in the second year what springs from the same;
Also in the third year sow and reap,
Plant vineyards and eat the fruit of them.
30And the remnant who have escaped of the house of Judah
Shall again take root downward,
And bear fruit upward.
31For out of Jerusalem shall go a remnant,
And those who escape from Mount Zion.
The zeal of the LORD of hosts[a] will do this.'

32"Therefore thus says the LORD concerning the king of Assyria:

'He shall not come into this city,
Nor shoot an arrow there,
Nor come before it with shield,
Nor build a siege mound against it.
33By the way that he came,
By the same shall he return;
And he shall not come into this city,'
Says the LORD.
34'For I will defend this city, to save it
For My own sake and for My servant David's sake.' "

19:31 [a]Following many Hebrew manuscripts and ancient versions (compare Isaiah 37:32); Masoretic Text omits of hosts.

19:15 The mercy seat of the ark, God's dwelling place on earth, was made with a cherub on either side.

19:28 Assyrian conquerors often led captives by means of hooks in their noses.

19:29 Isaiah's prophecy appears to be that, although Assyria would occupy the land and reap its crops, Judah would not be entirely destroyed (see Deut. 28:51). Like a plant that lies dormant, Judah would appear conquered but would again bear fruit (see Is. 11:1–11).

Sennacherib's Defeat and Death

35And it came to pass on a certain night that the angel[a] of the LORD went out, and killed in the camp of the Assyrians one hundred and eighty-five thousand; and when people arose early in the morning, there were the corpses—all dead. 36So Sennacherib king of Assyria departed and went away, returned home, and remained at Nineveh.
37Now it came to pass, as he was worshiping in the temple of Nisroch his god, that his sons Adrammelech and Sharezer struck him down with the sword; and they escaped into the land of Ararat.
Then Esarhaddon his son reigned in his place.

Hezekiah's Life Extended

20 In those days Hezekiah was sick and near death. And Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz, went to him and said to him, "Thus says the LORD: 'Set your house in order, for you shall die, and not live.' "

2Then he turned his face toward the wall, and prayed to the LORD, saying, 3"Remember now, O LORD, I pray, how I have walked before You in truth and with a loyal heart, and have done what was good in Your sight." And Hezekiah wept bitterly.

4And it happened, before Isaiah had gone out into the middle court, that the word of the LORD came to him, saying, 5"Return and tell Hezekiah the leader of My people, 'Thus says the LORD, the God of David your father: "I have heard your prayer, I have seen your tears; surely I will heal
you. On the third day you shall go up to the house of the LORD. 6And I will add to your days fifteen years. I will deliver you and this city from the hand of the king of Assyria; and I will defend this city for My own sake, and for the sake of My servant David." ' "

7Then Isaiah said, "Take a lump of figs." So they took and laid it on the boil, and he recovered.

8And Hezekiah said to Isaiah, "What is the sign that the LORD will heal me, and that I shall go up to the house of the LORD the third day?"

9Then Isaiah said, "This is the sign to you from the LORD, that the LORD will do the thing which He has spoken: shall the shadow go forward ten degrees or go backward ten degrees?"

10And Hezekiah answered, "It is an easy thing for the shadow to go down ten degrees; no, but let the shadow go backward ten degrees."

11So Isaiah the prophet cried out to the LORD, and He brought the shadow ten degrees backward, by which it had gone down on the sundial of Ahaz.

The Babylonian Envoys

12At that time Berodach-Baladan[a] the son of Baladan, king of Babylon, sent letters and a present to Hezekiah, for he heard that Hezekiah had been sick. 13And Hezekiah was attentive to them, and showed them all the house of his treasures—
the silver and gold, the spices and precious ointment, and all[a] his armory—all that was found among his treasures. There was nothing in his house or in all his dominion that Hezekiah did not show them.

14Then Isaiah the prophet went to King
Hezekiah, and said to him, "What did these men say, and from where did they come to you?"

So Hezekiah said, "They came from a far country, from Babylon."

15And he said, "What have they seen in your house?"

So Hezekiah answered, "They have seen all that is in my house; there is nothing among my treasures that I have not shown them."

16Then Isaiah said to Hezekiah, "Hear the word of the LORD: 17'Behold, the days are coming when all that is in your house, and what your fathers have accumulated until this day, shall be carried to Babylon; nothing shall be left,' says the LORD.
18'And they shall take away some of your sons who will descend from you, whom you will beget; and 19:35 Assyria's defeat. Sennacherib's records make no mention of this event, but the Assyrians typically recorded only their victories. The ancient historian Herodotus recorded that the Assyrian camp was overrun by mice, driving the army away from Jerusalem and suggesting that the Assyrians attributed the deaths to a plague associated with rats. Sennacherib fought another five campaigns but never returned to Judah.

19:36 Nineveh, on the River Tigris far to Israel's northeast, had been a Babylonian city until incorporated into the Assyrian Empire. Sargon II, Sennacherib's father, made Nineveh his capital. Excavations at Nineveh have uncovered bas reliefs portraying Sennacherib's siege of Judah.

19:37 Sennacherib's death is a fulfillment of prophecy (v. 7).

20:11 The miracle of the sundial. Isaiah proved his trustworthiness as a prophet of God when the sign for which he asked came to pass (see Deut. 18:22). No explanation has satisfactorily explained this phenomenon. Seemingly, its effect was confined to Judah. The incident was clearly an answer from God to confirm His mercy toward Hezekiah.

20:12 Babylon had also rebelled against the Assyrian overlords. Sennacherib had put down their rebellion in 689 B.C., but Babylon and Elam again revolted against Esarhaddon. Hezekiah would have been sorely tempted to ally himself once more with a rebellion against Assyria.

20:17 Judgment on Hezekiah. Although a righteous man, Hezekiah persisted in making forbidden foreign alliances.

they shall be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon.' "

19So Hezekiah said to Isaiah, "The word of the LORD which you have spoken is good!" For he said, "Will there not be peace and truth at least in my days?"

Death of Hezekiah

20Now the rest of the acts of Hezekiah—all his might, and how he made a pool and a tunnel and brought water into the city—are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? 21So Hezekiah rested with his fathers. Then Manasseh his son reigned in his place.

Manasseh Reigns in Judah

21 Manasseh was twelve years old when he became king, and he reigned fifty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Hephzibah. 2And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, according to the abominations of the nations whom the LORD had cast out before the children of Israel. 3For he rebuilt the high places which Hezekiah his father had destroyed; he raised up altars for Baal, and made a wooden image,[a] as Ahab king of Israel had done; and he worshiped all the host of heaven[b] and served them. 4He also built altars in the house of the LORD, of which the LORD had said, "In Jerusalem I will put My name." 5And he built altars for all the host of heaven in the two courts of the house of the LORD. 6Also he made his son pass through the fire, practiced soothsaying, used witchcraft, and consulted spiritists and mediums. He did much evil in the sight of the LORD, to provoke Him to anger. 7He even set a carved image of Asherah[a] that he had made, in the house of which the LORD had said to David and to Solomon his son, "In this house and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, I will put My name forever; 8and I will not make the feet of Israel wander anymore from the land which I gave their fathers—only if they are careful to do according to all that I have commanded them, and according to all the law that My servant Moses commanded them." 9But they paid no attention, and Manasseh seduced them to do more evil than the nations whom the LORD had destroyed before the children of Israel.

10And the LORD spoke by His servants the prophets, saying, 11"Because Manasseh king of Judah has done these abominations (he has acted more wickedly than all the Amorites who were before him, and has also made Judah sin with his idols), 12therefore thus says the LORD God of Israel: 'Behold, I am bringing such calamity upon Jerusalem and Judah, that whoever hears of it, both his ears will tingle. 13And I will stretch over Jerusalem the measuring line of Samaria and the plummet of the house of Ahab; I will wipe Jerusalem as one wipes a dish, wiping it and turning it upside down. 14So I will forsake the remnant of My inheritance and deliver them into the hand of their enemies; and they shall become victims of plunder to all their enemies, 15because they have done evil in My sight, and have provoked Me to anger since the day their fathers came out of Egypt, even to this day.' "

16Moreover Manasseh shed very much innocent blood, till he had filled Jerusalem from one end to another, besides his sin by which he made Judah sin, in doing evil in the sight of the LORD.

17Now the rest of the acts of Manasseh—all that he did, and the sin that he committed—are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? 18So Manasseh rested with his fathers, and was buried in the garden of his own house, in the garden of Uzza. Then his son Amon reigned in his place.

Amon's Reign and Death

19Amon was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned two years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Meshullemeth the daughter of Haruz of Jotbah. 20And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, as his father Manasseh had done. 21So he walked in all the ways that his father had walked; and he served the idols that his father had served, and worshiped them. 22He forsook the 20:20 Hezekiah's building program. The pool, connected to the spring of Gihon by the Siloam tunnel, was built by Hezekiah in preparation for Sennacherib's siege of Jerusalem. Two teams worked with hand tools from opposite ends, directed by someone from above, until they met in the center. This tunnel runs through solid rock almost 600 yards. It was uncovered in 1880, and people continue to wade through its narrow and circuitous route.

21:3 Manasseh broke every law against idol worship. He built high places and Baal altars, dealt with spiritualists, and sacrificed his son to Molech. Further, he played the part of a loyal vassal by worshiping Assyrian gods and defiling the temple (vv. 3, 5).

21:5 Worship in Judah. At this time, Judah was in danger of polytheism, worshiping a whole array of gods, with Yahweh at their head. God's heavenly host could easily be confused with the Assyrian pantheon. Manasseh's evil brought negative consequences (see 2 Kin. 24:3).

21:18 Manasseh's death. Assyria spared Judah during Manasseh's life because he willingly subjected Judah to Esarhaddon. Assyrian records reveal that Manasseh contributed to Esarhaddon's building campaigns. He also allied himself with Esarhaddon's successor, Ashurbanipal, to fight against Egypt.

LORD God of his fathers, and did not walk in the way of the LORD.

23Then the servants of Amon conspired against him, and killed the king in his own house. 24But the people of the land executed all those who had conspired against King Amon. Then the people of the land made his son Josiah king in his place.

25Now the rest of the acts of Amon which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? 26And he was buried in his tomb in the garden of Uzza. Then Josiah his son reigned in his place.

Josiah Reigns in Judah

22 Josiah was eight years old when he became king, and he reigned thirty-one years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jedidah the daughter of Adaiah of Bozkath. 2And he did what was right in the sight of the LORD, and walked in all the ways of his father David; he did not turn aside to the right hand or to the left.

Hilkiah Finds the Book of the Law

3Now it came to pass, in the eighteenth year of King Josiah, that the king sent Shaphan the scribe, the son of Azaliah, the son of Meshullam, to the house of the LORD, saying: 4"Go up to Hilkiah the high priest, that he may count the money which has been brought into the house of the LORD, which the doorkeepers have gathered from the people. 5And let them deliver it into the hand of those doing the work, who are the overseers in the house of the LORD; let them give it to those who are in the house of the LORD doing the work, to repair the damages of the house— 6to carpenters and builders and masons—and to buy timber and hewn stone to repair the house. 7However there need be no accounting made with them of the money delivered into their hand, because they deal faithfully."

8Then Hilkiah the high priest said to Shaphan the scribe, "I have found the Book of the Law in the house of the LORD." And Hilkiah gave the book to Shaphan, and he read it. 9So Shaphan the scribe went to the king, bringing the king word, saying, "Your servants have gathered the money that was found in the house, and have delivered it into the hand of those who do the work, who oversee the house of the LORD." 10Then Shaphan the scribe showed the king, saying, "Hilkiah the priest has given me a book." And Shaphan read it before the king.

11Now it happened, when the king heard the words of the Book of the Law, that he tore his clothes. 12Then the king commanded Hilkiah the priest, Ahikam the son of Shaphan, Achbor[a] the son of Michaiah, Shaphan the scribe, and Asaiah a servant of the king, saying, 13"Go, inquire of the LORD for me, for the people and for all Judah, concerning the words of this book that has been found; for great is the wrath of the LORD that is aroused against us, because our fathers have not obeyed the words of this book, to do according to all that is written concerning us."

14So Hilkiah the priest, Ahikam, Achbor, Shaphan, and Asaiah went to Huldah the prophetess, the wife of Shallum the son of Tikvah, the son of Harhas, keeper of the wardrobe. (She dwelt in Jerusalem in the Second Quarter.) And they spoke with her. 15Then she said to them, "Thus says the LORD God of Israel, 'Tell the man who sent you to Me, 16"Thus says the LORD: 'Behold, I will bring calamity on this place and on its inhabitants—all the words of the book which the king of Judah has read— 17because they have forsaken Me and burned incense to other gods, that they might provoke Me to anger with all the works of their hands. Therefore My wrath shall be aroused against this place and shall not be quenched.' " ' 18But as for the king of Judah, who sent you to inquire of the LORD, in this manner you shall speak to him, 'Thus says the LORD God of Israel: "Concerning the words which you have heard— 19because your heart was tender, and you humbled yourself before the LORD when you heard what I spoke against this place and against its inhabitants, that they would become a desolation and a curse, and you tore your clothes and wept before Me, I also have heard you," says the LORD. 20"Surely, therefore, I will gather you to your fathers, and you shall be gathered to your grave in peace; and your eyes shall not see all the calamity which I will bring on this place." ' " So they brought back word to the king.

22:12 [a] Abdon the son of Micah in 2 Chronicles 34:20

22:1 Josiah's accession. During the days of Josiah, Judah was a free country. The Assyrian ruler was Ashurbanipal. Babylon, always restless under Assyrian rule, had once again revolted. While Assyria managed temporarily to subdue Babylon in 648 B.C., the war, plus the pressures of invading Scythians and the growing power of the Medes in the east, left Assyria no resources to deal with Judah.

22:3–7 Josiah took advantage of Assyrian absence to cleanse the country of Manasseh's foreign idols. The official Assyrian cult was rejected, and Manasseh's damage to the temple was repaired (2 Kin. 21:5, 7).

22:8 The Book of the Law is probably the entire Pentateuch. This would have been the official copy, deposited in the temple and somehow covered over or hidden during changes made there by idolatrous kings. The time of the Law's disappearance is unknown. Presumably one of Judah's wicked kings destroyed all the copies that were not hidden.

22:14–20 Huldah was probably an official member of the royal court. Her faithful prophecy confirms God's Word: Idolatry brings judgment (v. 17; see also Deut. 28:15). Huldah's husband Shallum (son of Tokhath, 2 Chr. 34:22) has the same name as Jeremiah's uncle (Jer. 32:7); the two men may be the same.

HULDAH The Prophetess Who Changed a Nation

Huldah played a significant part in the history of Israel, although she appeared only once on the stage of the nation's history, during a time of religious defection.

In Jerusalem, King Josiah of Judah initiated renewed interest in the Book of the Law, and Huldah participated in the subsequent spiritual revival. She was the wife of Shallum, who was "keeper of the wardrobe" (possibly either royal robes and attire or priestly garments and vestments). They lived in the Second Quarter, a newer section of Jerusalem which developed as a westward or northern expansion of the old city (perhaps somewhat like a modern-day suburb).

Huldah, and not Jeremiah or Zephaniah, both of whom were active as prophets during this time, was consulted when the king instructed the priests to "inquire of the Lord" as to the meaning of the Book of the Law, a scroll that had been found during the work of restoration and cleaning in the temple. It was significant that with the number of prophets living in Jerusalem at that time, the priest Hilkiah and the rest of the king's advisors turned to a woman for a word from God. This nullifies the reasoning some use to suggest that God only uses women for such ministry when no men are available. Obviously, whether in a private audience or in the presence of the congregation, God used Huldah to bear testimony and deliver a message from Him to the High Priest and to the king (2 Kin. 22:14–20).

The tradition of female prophets is mentioned only sporadically in the Old Testament, but Huldah is not the only one highlighted. She is in good company with Deborah and Miriam; however, another female prophet, Noadiah (see Neh. 6:14), was a false prophet and worked against the people of God.

The regard for Huldah's own integrity and authority as a woman of God made her validation of the recently discovered Book of the Law all that was required for immediate action on the part of the king. Her message was not her own, but from the Lord. The fact that the phrase "Thus says the Lord . . ." is repeated four times in her short prophecy emphasizes that Huldah understood her responsibility and opportunity to be a channel through whom God delivered His Word (2 Kin. 22:15–17, 19).

All the reforms set forth by King Josiah were based on the Word of God as given to this woman. Huldah was apparently so well known as a woman of God and so highly trusted with regard to her understanding of God's Law that for a time her nation's whole religious consciousness and practice was re-ignited in faithfulness to God. Huldah, a deeply devout woman, made her God-given spiritual gifts available to God, and she was obedient and faithful to deliver the Word from God to her people.

Josiah Restores True Worship

23 Now the king sent them to gather all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem to him. 2The king went up to the house of the LORD with all the men of Judah, and with him all the inhabitants of Jerusalem—the priests and the prophets and all the people, both small and great. And he read in their hearing all the words of the Book of the Covenant which had been found in the house of the LORD.

3Then the king stood by a pillar and made a covenant before the LORD, to follow the LORD and to keep His commandments and His testimonies and His statutes, with all his heart and all his soul, to perform the words of this covenant that were written in this book. And all the people took a stand for the covenant. 4And the king commanded Hilkiah the high priest, the priests of the second order, and the doorkeepers, to bring out of the temple of the LORD all the articles that were made for Baal, for Asherah,[a] and for all the host of heaven;[b] and he burned them outside Jerusalem in the fields of Kidron, and carried their ashes to Bethel. 5Then he removed the idolatrous priests whom the kings of Judah had ordained to burn incense on the high places in the cities of Judah and in the places all around Jerusalem, and those who burned incense to Baal, to the sun, to the moon, to the constellations, and to all the host of heaven. 6And he brought out the wooden image[a] from the house of the LORD, to the Brook Kidron outside Jerusalem, burned it at the Brook Kidron and ground it to ashes, and threw its ashes on the graves of the common people. 7Then he tore down the ritual booths of the perverted persons[a] that were in the house of the LORD, where the women wove hangings for the wooden image. 8And he brought all the priests from the cities of Judah, and defiled the high places where the priests had burned incense, from Geba to Beersheba; also he broke down the high places at the gates which were at the entrance of the Gate of Joshua the governor of the city, which were to the left of the city gate. 9Nevertheless the priests of the high places did not come up to the altar of the LORD in Jerusalem, but they ate unleavened bread among their brethren.

10And he defiled Topheth, which is in the Valley of the Son[a] of Hinnom, that no man might make his son or his daughter pass through the fire to Molech. 11Then he removed the horses that the kings of Judah had dedicated to the sun, at the entrance to the house of the LORD, by the chamber of Nathan-Melech, the officer who was in the court; and he burned the chariots of the sun with fire. 12The altars that were on the roof, the upper chamber of Ahaz, which the kings of Judah had made, and the altars which Manasseh had made in the two courts of the house of the LORD, the king broke down and pulverized there, and threw their dust into the Brook Kidron. 13Then the king defiled the high places that were east of Jerusalem, which were on the south of the Mount of Corruption, which Solomon king of Israel had built for Ashtoreth the abomination of the Sidonians, for Chemosh the abomination of the Moabites, and for Milcom the abomination of the people of Ammon. 14And he broke in pieces the sacred pillars and cut down the wooden images, and filled their places with the bones of men.

15Moreover the altar that was at Bethel, and the high place which Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel sin, had made, both that altar and the high place he broke down; and he burned the high place and crushed it to powder, and burned the wooden image. 16As Josiah turned, he saw the tombs that were there on the mountain. And he sent and took the bones out of the tombs and burned them on the altar, and defiled it according to the word of the LORD which the man of God proclaimed, who proclaimed these words. 17Then he said, "What gravestone is this that I see?"

So the men of the city told him, "It is the tomb of the man of God who came from Judah and proclaimed these things which you have done against the altar of Bethel."

19Now Josiah also took away all the shrines of the high places that were in the cities of Samaria, which the kings of Israel had made to provoke the LORD[a] to anger; and he did to them according to all the deeds he had done in Bethel. 20He executed all the priests of the high places who were there, on the altars, and burned men's bones on them; and he returned to Jerusalem.

21Then the king commanded all the people, saying, "Keep the Passover to the LORD your God, as it is written in this Book of the Covenant." 22Such a Passover surely had never been held since the days of the judges who judged Israel, nor in all the days of the kings of Israel and the kings of Judah. 23But in the eighteenth year of King Josiah this Passover was held before the LORD in Jerusalem. 24Moreover Josiah put away those who consulted mediums and spiritists, the household gods and idols, all the abominations that were seen in the land of Judah and in Jerusalem, that he might perform the words of the law which were written in the book that Hilkiah the priest found in the house of the LORD. 25Now before him there was no king like him, who turned to the LORD with all his heart, with all his soul, and with all his might, according to all the Law of Moses; nor after him did any arise like him.

Impending Judgment on Judah

26Nevertheless the LORD did not turn from the fierceness of His great wrath, with which His anger was aroused against Judah, because of all the provocations with which Manasseh had provoked Him. 27And the LORD said, "I will also remove Judah from My sight, as I have removed Israel, and will cast off this city Jerusalem which I have chosen, and the house of which I said, 'My name shall be there.' "[a]

Josiah Dies in Battle

23:10 Topheth. Solomon had built an altar to Molech in Topheth (Heb., lit. "the burning place"), which is in the valley of Hinnom below the hill of Zion. There human sacrifices were offered to Molech (1 Kin. 11:7). Presumably, Ahaz and Manasseh made use of the place when they sacrificed their sons to that god (2 Kin. 16:3; 21:6).

23:11 Worship of the sun god Shemesh may have been related to worship of the "host of heaven." It was conducted on rooftops (v. 12; Jer. 19:13).

23:13 The Mount of Corruption or Mount of Olives is here used as a high place. It is on the east side of Jerusalem, separated from the city by the Kidron Valley. The gods being worshiped there were Canaanite; Chemosh is Shemesh the sun god, and Milcom is Molech.

23:19 Reform in Samaria. While Assyria was occupied with Babylon, Josiah reconquered much of Israel's territory and added it to Judah. He also retook some Philistine land. He was killed at Megiddo in northern Israel, indicating that he was moving into Galilee as well.

*There is some difference among scholars on the dates of these reigns.

Pharaoh Necho king of Egypt went to the aid of the king of Assyria, to the River Euphrates; and King Josiah went against him. And Pharaoh Necho killed him at Megiddo when he confronted him. 30Then his servants moved his body in a chariot from Megiddo, brought him to Jerusalem, and buried him in his own tomb. And the people of the land took Jehoahaz the son of Josiah, anointed him, and made him king in his father's place.

The Reign and Captivity of Jehoahaz

31Jehoahaz was twenty-three years old when he became king, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah. 32And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his fathers had done. 33Now Pharaoh Necho put him in prison at Riblah in the land of Hamath, that he might not reign in Jerusalem; and he imposed on the land a tribute of one hundred talents of silver and a talent of gold. 34Then Pharaoh Necho made Eliakim the son of Josiah king in place of his father Josiah, and changed his name to Jehoiakim. And Pharaoh took Jehoahaz and went to Egypt, and he[a] died there.

Jehoiakim Reigns in Judah

35So Jehoiakim gave the silver and gold to Pharaoh; but he taxed the land to give money according to the command of Pharaoh; he exacted the silver and gold from the people of the land, from every one according to his assessment, to give it to Pharaoh Necho. 36Jehoiakim was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Zebudah the daughter of Pedaiah of Rumah. 37And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his fathers had done.

Judah Overrun by Enemies

24 In his days Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came up, and Jehoiakim became his vassal for three years. Then he turned and rebelled against him. 2And the LORD sent against him raiding bands of Chaldeans, bands of Syrians, bands of Moabites, and bands of the people of Ammon; He sent them against Judah to destroy it, according to the word of the LORD which He had spoken by His servants the prophets. 3Surely at the commandment of the LORD this came upon Judah, to remove them from His sight because of the sins of Manasseh, according to all that he had done, 4and also because of the innocent blood that he had shed; for he had filled Jerusalem with innocent blood, which the LORD would not pardon.

5Now the rest of the acts of Jehoiakim, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? 6So Jehoiakim rested with his fathers. Then Jehoiachin his son reigned in his place.

7And the king of Egypt did not come out of his land anymore, for the king of Babylon had taken all that belonged to the king of Egypt from the Brook of Egypt to the River Euphrates.

23:34 [a]That is, Jehoahaz

23:29 Josiah ruled until about 609 B.C. Assyria had been driven out of Babylon in 612 B.C. The Assyrian capital then moved to Haran, which was likewise attacked by the Babylonians in 610 B.C. Egypt, seeing Babylon about to take possession of Israel and Judah, marched north to fight on Assyria's side. Josiah hoped to keep Judah's independence from all three kingdoms. He intercepted Pharaoh Necho on his way to Haran but was killed. However, the delay of Egyptian reinforcements allowed the Babylonian king Nabopolassar finally to destroy the remains of the Assyrian Empire. Judah now lay between a hostile Babylon to the north and a strong Egypt to the south.

23:33 During the reign of Jehoahaz, Egypt claimed ownership of Judah. The country was never free again.

23:34 The renaming of Eliakim (Jehoiakim) indicates mastery. Jehoiakim paid a vassal's tribute to Egypt.

24:1 The rise of Babylon. In 605 B.C., the Egyptians and the Babylonians fought at the River Euphrates. The Babylonian army, under Nabopolassar's son and coregent Nebuchadnezzar II, crushed the Egyptians at Carchemish, far to Judah's north, and drove south. By 604 B.C., Babylon was in Philistia. By 603 B.C., Jehoiakim paid tribute to Babylon.

24:1, 2 Jehoiakim rebelled against Nebuchadnezzar around 598 B.C. The Chaldeans, Syrians, Moabites, and Ammonites were mercenaries of Nebuchadnezzar (see also 2 Kin. 25:4, 5). In the meantime, Nebuchadnezzar began to march south toward Jerusalem.

The Reign and Captivity of Jehoiachin

[8]Jehoiachin was eighteen years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem three months. His mother's name was Nehushta the daughter of Elnathan of Jerusalem. [9]And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his father had done.

[10]At that time the servants of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came up against Jerusalem, and the city was besieged. [11]And Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came against the city, as his servants were besieging it. [12]Then Jehoiachin king of Judah, his mother, his servants, his princes, and his officers went out to the king of Babylon; and the king of Babylon, in the eighth year of his reign, took him prisoner.

The Captivity of Jerusalem

[13]And he carried out from there all the treasures of the house of the LORD and the treasures of the king's house, and he cut in pieces all the articles of gold which Solomon king of Israel had made in the temple of the LORD, as the LORD had said. [14]Also he carried into captivity all Jerusalem: all the captains and all the mighty men of valor, ten thousand captives, and all the craftsmen and smiths. None remained except the poorest people of the land. [15]And he carried Jehoiachin captive to Babylon. The king's mother, the king's wives, his officers, and the mighty of the land he carried into captivity from Jerusalem to Babylon. [16]All the valiant men, seven thousand, and craftsmen and smiths, one thousand, all who were strong and fit for war, these the king of Babylon brought captive to Babylon.

Zedekiah Reigns in Judah

[17]Then the king of Babylon made Mattaniah, Jehoiachin's[a] uncle, king in his place, and changed his name to Zedekiah.

[18]Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah. [19]He also did evil in the sight of the LORD, according to all that Jehoiakim had done. [20]For because of the anger of the LORD this happened in Jerusalem and Judah, that He finally cast them out from His presence. Then Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon.

The Fall and Captivity of Judah

25 Now it came to pass in the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, on the tenth day of the month, that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and all his army came against Jerusalem and encamped against it; and they built a siege wall against it all around. [2]So the city was besieged until the eleventh year of King Zedekiah. [3]By the ninth day of the fourth month the famine had become so severe in the city that there was no food for the people of the land.

[4]Then the city wall was broken through, and all the men of war fled at night by way of the gate between two walls, which was by the king's garden, even though the Chaldeans were still encamped all around against the city. And the king[a] went by way of the plain.[b] [5]But the army of the Chaldeans pursued the king, and they overtook him in the plains of Jericho. All his army was scattered from him. [6]So they took the king and brought him up to the king of Babylon at Riblah, and they pronounced judgment on him. [7]Then they killed the sons of Zedekiah before his eyes, put out the eyes of Zedekiah, bound him with bronze fetters, and took him to Babylon.

[8]And in the fifth month, on the seventh day of the month (which was the nineteenth year of King Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon), Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard, a servant of the king of Babylon, came to Jerusalem. [9]He burned the house of the LORD and the king's house; all the houses of Jerusalem, that is, all the houses of the great, he burned with fire. [10]And all the army of the Chaldeans who were with the captain of the guard broke down the walls of Jerusalem all around.

[11]Then Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard carried away captive the rest of the people who remained in the city and the defectors who had deserted to the king of Babylon, with the rest of the multitude. [12]But the captain of the guard left some of the poor of the land as vinedressers and farmers. [13]The bronze pillars that were in the house of the LORD, and the carts and the bronze Sea that were in the house of the LORD, the Chaldeans broke in pieces, and carried their bronze to Babylon. [14]They also took away the pots, the shovels, the trimmers, the spoons, and all the bronze utensils with which the priests ministered. [15]The 24:10 The siege of Jerusalem. During the rebellion, Jehoiakim died and was succeeded by Jehoiachin (v. 6). No Egyptian help came, and Jerusalem was captured in 597 B.C. (v. 7).

24:12 The first deportation. Nebuchadnezzar took the cream of Judah's society captive, while raiding Jerusalem for treasure. Daniel was taken into captivity around this time.

25:6 Riblah, located on the Orontes River, was along a major trade route. Nebuchadnezzar used the site for his military operations.

25:9 The destruction of the temple. Since God's people did not honor the place where He had set His name, God allowed it to be destroyed (Deut. 12:5). He also allowed the bronze pillars that commemorated His establishment of Israel to be taken away (2 Kin. 25:13, 17; see also 1 Kin. 7:21).

firepans and the basins, the things of solid gold and solid silver, the captain of the guard took away. 16The two pillars, one Sea, and the carts, which Solomon had made for the house of the LORD, the bronze of all these articles was beyond measure. 17The height of one pillar was eighteen cubits, and the capital on it was of bronze. The height of the capital was three cubits, and the network and pomegranates all around the capital were all of bronze. The second pillar was the same, with a network.

18And the captain of the guard took Seraiah the chief priest, Zephaniah the second priest, and the three doorkeepers. 19He also took out of the city an officer who had charge of the men of war, five men of the king's close associates who were found in the city, the chief recruiting officer of the army, who mustered the people of the land, and sixty men of the people of the land who were found in the city. 20So Nebuzaradan, captain of the guard, took these and brought them to the king of Babylon at Riblah. 21Then the king of Babylon struck them and put them to death at Riblah in the land of Hamath. Thus Judah was carried away captive from its own land.

Gedaliah Made Governor of Judah

22Then he made Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, governor over the people who remained in the land of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had left. 23Now when all the captains of the armies, they and their men, heard that the king of Babylon had made Gedaliah governor, they came to Gedaliah at Mizpah—Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, Johanan the son of Careah, Seraiah the son of Tanhumeth the Netophathite, and Jaazaniah[a] the son of a Maachathite, they and their men. 24And Gedaliah took an oath before them and their men, and said to them, "Do not be afraid of the servants of the Chaldeans. Dwell in the land and serve the king of Babylon, and it shall be well with you."

25But it happened in the seventh month that Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, the son of Elishama, of the royal family, came with ten men and struck and killed Gedaliah, the Jews, as well as the Chaldeans who were with him at Mizpah. 26And all the people, small and great, and the captains of the armies, arose and went to Egypt; for they were afraid of the Chaldeans.

Jehoiachin Released from Prison

27Now it came to pass in the thirty-seventh year of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the twelfth month, on the twenty-seventh day of the month, that Evil-Merodach[a] king of Babylon, in the year that he began to reign, released Jehoiachin king of Judah from prison. 28He spoke kindly to him, and gave him a more prominent seat than those of the kings who were with him in Babylon. 29So Jehoiachin changed from his prison garments, and he ate bread regularly before the king all the days of his life. 30And as for his provisions, there was a regular ration given him by the king, a portion for each day, all the days of his life.

25:23 [a]Spelled Jezaniah in Jeremiah 40:8 25:27 [a]Literally Man of Marduk

25:22 Judah became part of Babylon's provincial system. An inscription found at Lachish identified Gedaliah as the former prime minister under Zedekiah; he was made governor under Nebuchadnezzar.

25:23 Mizpah. Because Jerusalem was uninhabitable, the government was moved to Mizpah, where Saul had been proclaimed king (1 Sam. 10:17–19).

25:24 The Chaldeans were the dominant ethnic group within the Babylonian Empire.

25:25, 26 Gedaliah's appointment had probably been Nebuchadnezzar's gesture of goodwill toward those still living in Judah. However, Gedaliah was hated by the people as a traitor because of his official status. He was assassinated, along with a Babylonian garrison, in Mizpah. Many of Judah's inhabitants, afraid of reprisal, then fled to Egypt (Jer. 42; 43). After the Exile, which began in 586 B.C., Judah was probably incorporated into the province of Samaria. All fortified cities had been completely destroyed. The population of Judah, which had reached a high of about 250,000 in the eighth century, fell below 20,000. Meanwhile, Israelite-Canaanite descendants in the north practiced a mixture of paganism and Yahwehism.

25:27 Jehoiachin's release. Although God's people disobeyed Him and brought exile upon themselves, a descendant of David remained alive. Evil-Merodach, the son of Nebuchadnezzar, gave Jehoiachin a semi-official position at court. The book ends with hope even in the midst of despair. God's judgment had to come, but even in judgment, God's mercy was abundant as a foretaste of the nation's future deliverance according to God's promise (Jer. 31:18; Lam. 5:21).

1 Chronicles

TITLE

In the Hebrew Bible, the title given to 1 and 2 Chronicles is translated "The Events of the Days," and the books are placed at the end of the volume. With the Septuagint title, "The Things Left Out," Chronicles was placed after Kings since it was thought to be a repetition, for the most part, of the books of Samuel and Kings, with additional material regarding the priests and Levites. This perspective ignored the unique contribution of the purpose and theology of Chronicles. Jerome referred to these books as the "chronicles of the whole of sacred history," beginning with Adam (1 Chr. 1:1) and ending with Cyrus, king of Persia (2 Chr. 36:22, 23). Thus, the title "Chronicles" was given. Jesus was familiar with 1 and 2 Chronicles and demonstrated that He considered the books to be authoritative when He referred to passages from Chronicles (compare 2 Chr. 24:20–22 with Matt. 23:35).

AUTHOR

The author, whom scholars identify as the chronicler, is unnamed. It is certain, however, that the same person wrote 1 and 2 Chronicles. The two books originally formed one united whole and therefore should not be assigned separate authors. Comparing and relating Chronicles with the Book of Ezra has been helpful in determining dates and authorship. For this reason, many have identified Ezra as the author.

DATE

Chronicles was written after the Jews returned from Exile in Babylon. The most probable date for the completed form of Chronicles is fifth century B.C.

BACKGROUND

SETTING: The return of the Jews to Jerusalem from Exile is dated from the decree of Cyrus, king of Persia, which authorized the return (538 B.C.). Those who wished to do so were allowed to return to the land to rebuild the temple and the city. The temple was completed in 516 B.C., and the walls of the city were rebuilt around 445 B.C. The returned Jewish community needed encouragement as they structured their civil and religious life. Chronicles establishes continuity between the preexilic Israel of the past and the postexilic present, thus legitimizing the order of this new community.

PURPOSE: The returned Jewish community was concerned with the status of their relationship to God after the Exile. In order to demonstrate the continuity of the present with the past, the chronicler centered his focus around the preexilic history of Samuel and Kings, especially as it referred to David's throne and the temple. Chronicles is not a mere repetition of the history of Israel to the time of the Exile. Rather it is a record of that history emphasizing the necessity for all Israel to live in obedience in temple worship and in loyalty to David's throne. The chronicler's interest was in a true Israel living in Jerusalem (not an ethnic Israel but a pure, faithful remnant) with life centered around the joyful worship of God at the temple and with the unanimous support of the throne of David. A united Israel (referred to as "all Israel"), the unique role of the temple, and the significance of David's throne are inseparable themes in Chronicles. The religious and political structure of the returned community is shown to be rooted in the past and thus is legitimate for the present. God's covenant relation with Israel has not changed.

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: The chronicler makes deliberate use of the history of Samuel and Kings for much of his work. He assumes his reader is already familiar with this history of Israel's kingdom. Therefore, critical to the understanding of the chronicler's interpretation of this history are those passages which are unique to the chronicler and not found in Samuel and Kings. In the same way, changes in vocabulary and the omission of phrases from Samuel and Kings provide clues to the chronicler's purpose.

THEMES

The major themes in Chronicles include these:

1) the notion of "all Israel;"
2) the centrality of the temple and Jerusalem in the life of Israel;
3) the idealized and interdependent reigns of David and Solomon; and
4) the theology of retribution.

"All Israel" is defined theologically as the people of God who are faithful in temple worship and loyal to David's throne. "All Israel" accepts David and Solomon as king without opposition, brings the ark back to Jerusalem in a joyful procession, and contributes generously to the building of the temple. They are "all Israel" by virtue of their identification with the tribe of Judah, whose capital is Jerusalem. Contrary to the suggestion by some that Chronicles is negative in its estimation of the north, Chronicles is positive in its identification of "all Israel." The northern kingdom is drawn together with Judah as one collective, united, true Israel centered around Jerusalem. Distinctions between north and south are not valid within the chronicler's concept of "all Israel."

Jerusalem and the temple have a unique position in the life of Israel. The abundant preparations for the temple made by David, the willingness of all Israel to contribute to the temple, the building of the temple by Solomon, and the joy and celebration of temple worship are critical to the chronicler's purposes.

Another dominant theme is to show an ideal king over "all Israel" whose goal is building the house of the Lord. The combined reigns of David and Solomon form an interdependent kingship within the context of temple building. David is the temple planner; Solomon is the temple builder. Threats and blemishes against each king are largely omitted by the chronicler—perhaps because these weaknesses are covered in other materials (David in 2 Sam. 1—4; 6:20–23; 11–21; Solomon in 1 Kin. 1:28–53; 11:1–13). Each king is chosen by God, enjoys the unanimous support of all Israel, acts first in regard to the temple, and reigns forty years with complete devotion to God.

The chronicler's concept of retribution is fundamental to the interpretation and understanding of Chronicles. Simply stated, obedience is always rewarded with blessing, while disobedience results in God's judgment. Faithfulness characterized by devotion and commitment to God and to the temple brings prosperity, rest, honor and fame, a victorious army, building projects, and tribute from foreign kings. Faithlessness or the worship of foreign gods and the failure to observe the Law results in war, defeat, conspiracy from within and without Israel, and disease. Nevertheless, God always provides an opportunity for repentance.

[13]Canaan begot Sidon, his firstborn, and Heth; [14]the Jebusite, the Amorite, and the Girgashite; [15]the Hivite, the Arkite, and the Sinite; [16]the Arvadite, the Zemarite, and the Hamathite.

[17]The sons of Shem were Elam, Asshur, Arphaxad, Lud, Aram, Uz, Hul, Gether, and Meshech.[a] [18]Arphaxad begot Shelah, and Shelah begot Eber. [19]To Eber were born two sons: the name of one was Peleg,[a] for in his days the earth was divided; and his brother's name was Joktan. [20]Joktan begot Almodad, Sheleph, Hazarmaveth, Jerah, [21]Hadoram, Uzal, Diklah, [22]Ebal,[a] Abimael, Sheba, [23]Ophir, Havilah, and Jobab. All these were the sons of Joktan.

1:1–4 Genealogies of the ancient Near East were fluid in nature. The relationship between names might change: Names might be added, or names might be omitted (see chart, The Kings with Two Names). Genealogies were used to legitimize a person's position by showing his relationship to a recognized and accepted ancestor (linear genealogy). They also demonstrated the relationships among members or segments of the same family (segmented or mixed genealogy; see 1 Chr. 23:6, note). The genealogies of 1 Chronicles provide evidence that God is sovereign over history from creation. Names within genealogies are reminders of what God has done in the past and often embody hope for the future as well (see Is. 45, Naming of Children). Continuity with the past is also demonstrated in God's hand at work in establishing and preserving Israel. The chronicler's interest is in God's choice—whether of an individual (Abraham), a nation (Israel), a tribe (Judah), or a king (David and Solomon).

1:8 Geographical areas and genealogies. Genealogies of the ancient Near East commonly treated a geographical area or a people group as an individual person with descendants. The sons of Ham included Mizraim (Egypt) and Canaan (see also vv. 11, 12, 13–16). This practice illustrates the relationship of Israel to the surrounding nations, with whom they sometimes had a degree of kinship, and further emphasizes God's election of Israel from the nations of the earth.

31 Jetur, Naphish, and Kedemah. These were the sons of Ishmael.

The Family of Keturah

32 Now the sons born to Keturah, Abraham's concubine, were Zimran, Jokshan, Medan, Midian, Ishbak, and Shuah. The sons of Jokshan were Sheba and Dedan. 33 The sons of Midian were Ephah, Epher, Hanoch, Abida, and Eldaah. All these were the children of Keturah.

The Family of Isaac

34 And Abraham begot Isaac. The sons of Isaac were Esau and Israel. 35 The sons of Esau were Eliphaz, Reuel, Jeush, Jaalam, and Korah. 36 And the sons of Eliphaz were Teman, Omar, Zephi,[a] Gatam, and Kenaz; and by Timna,[b] Amalek. 37 The sons of Reuel were Nahath, Zerah, Shammah, and Mizzah.

The Family of Seir

38 The sons of Seir were Lotan, Shobal, Zibeon, Anah, Dishon, Ezer, and Dishan. 39 And the sons of Lotan were Hori and Homam; Lotan's sister was Timna. 40 The sons of Shobal were Alian,[a] Mana-hath, Ebal, Shephi,[b] and Onam. The sons of Zibeon were Ajah and Anah. 41 The son of Anah was Dishon. The sons of Dishon were Hamran,[a] Esh-ban, Ithran, and Cheran. 42 The sons of Ezer were Bilhan, Zaavan, and Jaakan.[a] The sons of Dishan were Uz and Aran.

The Kings of Edom

43 Now these were the kings who reigned in the land of Edom before a king reigned over the children of Israel: Bela the son of Beor, and the name of his city was Dinhabah. 44 And when Bela died, Jobab the son of Zerah of Bozrah reigned in his place. 45 When Jobab died, Husham of the land of the Temanites reigned in his place. 46 And when Husham died, Hadad the son of Bedad, who attacked Midian in the field of Moab, reigned in his place. The name of his city was Avith. 47 When Hadad died, Samlah of Masrekah reigned in his place. 48 And when Samlah died, Saul of Rehoboth-by-the-River reigned in his place. 49 When Saul died, Baal-Hanan the son of Achbor reigned in his place. 50 And when Baal-Hanan died, Hadad[a] reigned in his place; and the name of his city was Pai.[b] His wife's name was Mehetabel the daughter of Matred, the daughter of Mezahab. 51 Hadad died also. And the chiefs of Edom were Chief Timnah, Chief Aliah,[a] Chief Jetheth, 52 Chief Aholibamah, Chief Elah, Chief Pinon, 53 Chief Kenaz, Chief Te-man, Chief Mibzar, 54 Chief Magdiel, and Chief Iram. These were the chiefs of Edom.

The Family of Israel

2 These were the sons of Israel: Reuben, Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, Zebulun, 2 Dan, Joseph,
Benjamin, Naphtali, Gad, and Asher.

From Judah to David

3 The sons of Judah were Er, Onan, and Shelah.
These three were born to him by the daughter of Shua, the Canaanitess. Er, the firstborn of Judah, was wicked in the sight of the LORD; so He killed him. 4 And Tamar, his daughter-in-law, bore him
Perez and Zerah. All the sons of Judah were five.
5 The sons of Perez were Hezron and Hamul.

1:28 The genealogies of the first chapter are taken from the Book of Genesis and assume the historicity of the early chapters of Genesis (Gen. 5; 10; 11; 25; 36). The fact that Israel's history is rooted in creation is shown by an ancestry that extends back to Adam. Israel did not become a nation by accident but according to the purposes of God from creation.

1:32, 33 Keturah, Abraham's second wife, bore him many children (Gen. 25:1–4; see chart, The Family Tree of Abraham). Even so, Abraham gave Isaac all that he had, thereby granting to Isaac the position of privilege among all his children (Gen. 25:5).

1:34 The chronicler preferred the name Israel rather than Jacob for the second son of Isaac (Gen. 32:28). This preference is true throughout Chronicles with one exception (1 Chr. 16:8–36; see also Ps. 105). The chronicler's purpose was to focus attention on all Israel; thus the choice of this name is appropriate. The record of Israel's early history follows the pattern of Genesis, separating the genealogies with the flood. Chapter 1 introduces the sons of Israel (Jacob), the true interest of the chronicler.

1:36 Timna, as a daughter of Seir and sister of Lotan (vv. 38, 39), was the concubine of Eliphaz (son of Esau, Gen. 36:12). Her name was assigned to an Edomite chieftan and adopted by his district (Gen. 36:40; 1 Chr. 1:51). The reason she was so honored is not given.

1:38 Sons of Seir (vv. 38–42; Gen. 36:20–28). Seir is associated with Edom and is used as an alternate designation for Edom (Gen. 32:3; Ezek. 35). Edom is the name assigned to Esau (Gen. 25:30; 36:43).

2:3—4:23 The chronicler begins with the prominent tribe of Judah and its descendants (Gen. 49:8–12; 1 Chr. 28:4). The order of the sons in this genealogical section (Judah, 1 Chr. 2:3—3:24; 4:1–23; Simeon, 4:24–43; Reuben, Gad, half Manasseh, 5:1–26; Levi, 6:1–81; Issachar, Benjamin, Naphtali, half Manasseh, Ephraim, Asher, 7:1–40) illustrates the fluidity of ancient genealogies (see 1 Chr. 1:1–4, note). The chronicler does not use Joseph as a tribal name, referring instead to his sons, Ephraim and Manasseh (see 1 Chr. 5:23, 24 note; 6:28, 29). Genealogies for Zebulun and Dan are absent. Nevertheless, 12 tribes are listed, giving a sense of completeness and reinforcing the chronicler's notion of "all Israel" (see 1 Chr. 6:54; 12:23–37; 27:1, notes).

6The sons of Zerah were Zimri, Ethan, Heman, Calcol, and Dara—five of them in all.

7The son of Carmi was Achar,[a] the troubler of Israel, who transgressed in the accursed thing.

8The son of Ethan was Azariah.

9Also the sons of Hezron who were born to him were Jerahmeel, Ram, and Chelubai.[a] 10Ram begot Amminadab, and Amminadab begot Nahshon, leader of the children of Judah; 11Nahshon begot Salma,[a] and Salma begot Boaz; 12Boaz begot Obed, and Obed begot Jesse; 13Jesse begot Eliab his firstborn, Abinadab the second, Shimea[a] the third, 14Nethanel the fourth, Raddai the fifth, 15Ozem the sixth, and David the seventh.

16Now their sisters were Zeruiah and Abigail. And the sons of Zeruiah were Abishai, Joab, and Asahel—three. 17Abigail bore Amasa; and the father of Amasa was Jether the Ishmaelite.[a]

The Family of Hezron

18Caleb the son of Hezron had children by Azubah, his wife, and by Jerioth. Now these were her sons: Jesher, Shobab, and Ardon. 19When Azubah died, Caleb took Ephrath[a] as his wife, who bore him Hur. 20And Hur begot Uri, and Uri begot Bezalel.

21Now afterward Hezron went in to the daughter of Machir the father of Gilead, whom he married when he was sixty years old; and she bore him Segub. 22Segub begot Jair, who had twenty-three cities in the land of Gilead. 23(Geshur and Syria took from them the towns of Jair, with Kenath and its towns—sixty towns.) All these belonged to the sons of Machir the father of Gilead. 24After Hezron died in Caleb Ephrathah, Hezron's wife Abijah bore him Ashhur the father of Tekoa.

The Family of Jerahmeel

25The sons of Jerahmeel, the firstborn of Hezron, were Ram, the firstborn, and Bunah, Oren, Ozem, and Ahijah. 26Jerahmeel had another wife, whose name was Atarah; she was the mother of Onam. 27The sons of Ram, the firstborn of Jerahmeel, were Maaz, Jamin, and Eker. 28The sons of Onam were Shammai and Jada. The sons of Shammai were Nadab and Abishur.

29And the name of the wife of Abishur was Abihail, and she bore him Ahban and Molid. 30The sons of Nadab were Seled and Appaim; Seled died without children. 31The son of Appaim was Ishi, the son of Ishi was Sheshan, and Sheshan's son was Ahlai. 32The sons of Jada, the brother of Shammai, were Jether and Jonathan; Jether died without children. 33The sons of Jonathan were Peleth and Zaza. These were the sons of Jerahmeel.

34Now Sheshan had no sons, only daughters. And Sheshan had an Egyptian servant whose name was Jarha. 35Sheshan gave his daughter to Jarha his servant as wife, and she bore him Attai. 36Attai begot Nathan, and Nathan begot Zabad; 37Zabad begot Ephlal, and Ephlal begot Obed; 38Obed begot Jehu, and Jehu begot Azariah; 39Azariah begot Helez, and Helez begot Eleasah; 40Eleasah begot Sismai, and Sismai begot Shallum; 41Shallum begot Jekamiah, and Jekamiah begot Elishama.

The Family of Caleb

42The descendants of Caleb the brother of Jerahmeel were Mesha, his firstborn, who was the father of Ziph, and the sons of Mareshah the father of Hebron. 43The sons of Hebron were Korah, Tappuah, Rekem, and Shema. 44Shema begot Raham the father of Jorkoam, and Rekem begot Shammai.

2:6–8 The sons of Zerah probably span the generations and are mentioned in relation to the temple musicians (Heman and Ethan in the titles of Ps. 88; 89) and to Solomon (1 Kin. 4:30, 31). These men from the tribe of Judah are not to be confused with the Levites Heman, Asaph, and Ethan who were David's musicians (1 Chr. 15:19). Achar, elsewhere Achan (Josh. 7:1, 18, 19, 24), is a deliberate word play in Hebrew. "Trouble" (Heb. 'akar) comes from the "troubler" (Heb. oker). The story of Achar is an example of the chronicler's theology of retribution (see also Josh. 7:1–26).

2:9 This genealogy legitimizes David's position as king over Israel by tracing his lineage back to Judah (Gen. 49:8–12). David is identified as Jesse's seventh son here but as the eighth son elsewhere (v. 15; see 1 Sam. 16:1–13; 17:12). This additional unnamed son may have died at an early age, or this could be an example of the fluid character of ancient genealogies. The sisters presumably were stepdaughters of Jesse (Zeruiah and Abigail), born to David's mother probably in an earlier marriage to Nahash (2 Sam. 17:25; see chart, The Family Tree of David). Women played an important role in the history of Israel, and the sons of these women were key individuals during the reign of David.

2:18–20 Bezalel is a key figure ending the genealogy of Caleb. Men bearing this name played a significant role in both the building of the tabernacle and the building of the temple (Ex. 31:2–5; 2 Chr. 1:5).

2:22 Jair's descent is traced through Segub's mother, the daughter of Machir rather than through his father Hezron and thus from Manasseh (vv. 21, 23; Num. 32:41; Deut. 3:14; Judg. 10:3; 1 Chr. 7:14). An association by marriage apparently exists between Judah through Hezron and Manasseh through Machir. These descendants of Hezron are then rightfully considered a part of Manasseh.

2:42–55 Many of the place names and sites are close to the city of Hebron (vv. 42–49). David was king of Judah at Hebron for seven years before becoming king over all Israel. Kirjath Jearim is located in the northern part of Judah along the 45And the son of Shammai was Maon, and Maon was the father of Beth Zur.

46Ephah, Caleb's concubine, bore Haran, Moza, and Gazez; and Haran begot Gazez. 47And the sons of Jahdai were Regem, Jotham, Geshan, Pelet, Ephah, and Shaaph.

48Maachah, Caleb's concubine, bore Sheber and Tirhanah. 49She also bore Shaaph the father of Madmannah, Sheva the father of Machbenah and the father of Gibea. And the daughter of Caleb was Achsah.

50These were the descendants of Caleb: The sons of Hur, the firstborn of Ephrathah, were Shobal the father of Kirjath Jearim, 51Salma the father of Bethlehem, and Hareph the father of Beth Gader.

52And Shobal the father of Kirjath Jearim had descendants: Haroeh, and half of the families of Manuhoth.[a] 53The families of Kirjath Jearim were the Ithrites, the Puthites, the Shumathites, and the Mishraites. From these came the Zorathites and the Eshtaolites.

54The sons of Salma were Bethlehem, the Netophathites, Atroth Beth Joab, half of the Manahethites, and the Zorites.

55And the families of the scribes who dwelt at Jabez were the Tirathites, the Shimeathites, and the Suchathites. These were the Kenites who came from Hammath, the father of the house of Rechab.

The Family of David

3 Now these were the sons of David who were born to him in Hebron: The firstborn was Amnon, by Ahinoam the Jezreelitess; the second, Daniel,[a] by Abigail the Carmelitess; 2the third, Absalom the son of Maacah, the daughter of Talmai, king of Geshur; the fourth, Adonijah the son of Haggith; 3the fifth, Shephatiah, by Abital; the sixth, Ithream, by his wife Eglah.

4*These* six were born to him in Hebron. There he reigned seven years and six months, and in Jerusalem he reigned thirty-three years. 5And these were born to him in Jerusalem: Shimea,[a] Shobab, Nathan, and Solomon—four by Bathshua[b] the daughter of Ammiel.[c] 6Also there were Ibhar, Elishama,[a] Eliphelet,[b] 7Nogah, Nepheg, Japhia, 8Elishama, Eliada,[a] and Eliphelet—nine in all. 9*These were* all the sons of David, besides the sons of the concubines, and Tamar their sister.

The Family of Solomon

10Solomon's son was Rehoboam; Abijah[a] was his son, Asa his son, Jehoshaphat his son, 11Joram[a] his son, Ahaziah his son, Joash[b] his son, 12Amaziah his son, Azariah[a] his son, Jotham his son, 13Ahaz his son, Hezekiah his son, Manasseh his son, 14Amon his son, and Josiah his son. 15The sons of Josiah were Johanan the firstborn, the second Jehoiakim, the third Zedekiah, and the fourth Shallum.[a] 16The sons of Jehoiakim were Jeconiah his son and Zedekiah[a] his son.

The Family of Jeconiah

17And the sons of Jeconiah[a] were Assir,[b] Shealtiel his son, 18*and* Malchiram, Pedaiah, Shenazzar, Jecamiah, Hoshama, and Nedabiah.

border with Dan and Benjamin (v. 50; Josh. 15:60; 18:14, 15). Since the early days of Samuel, the ark of the covenant was kept at Kirjath Jearim (1 Sam. 6:20–7:2). David attempted to bring the ark from there to Jerusalem but failed. He instead took it to Obed-Edom (2 Sam. 6:1–11; 1 Chr. 13:1–14). Bethlehem was the hometown of David (1 Chr. 2:51; 1 Sam. 16:1).

2:49 Achsah was the daughter of Caleb, the faithful companion of Joshua (1 Chr. 4:15). She married Caleb's nephew Othniel, who later became a judge of Israel (Josh. 15:16, 17; Judg. 1:12, 13; 3:9–11; see also Josh. 15, Achsah).

3:1 The chronicler focused attention on David as the central figure of all the descendants of Judah (see chart, The Family Tree of David). A previous genealogy showed the ancestry of David back to Judah (1 Chr. 2:3–17). Now David's line is extended to the generations that followed him. This genealogy divides into three historical sections: The reigns of David and Solomon, the preexilic kings of the southern kingdom, and the postexilic descendants of David. The sons of David during the reign of David (1 Chr. 3:1–9, with the reign of Solomon implied) were followed by the sons of Solomon, who ruled over the southern kingdom before the Exile (vv. 10–16). Zedekiah (v. 16) was placed on the throne by Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon after Jeconiah (Jehoiachin) had been put in prison in Babylon (2 Kin. 24:13–20; 2 Chr. 36:9, 10). Since Jeconiah was the legitimate king, the royal line after the Exile continued through him (1 Chr. 3:17, note).

3:9 Adonijah tried to usurp the throne before the death of David (v. 2; 1 Kin. 1). Luke traced Jesus' genealogy from David through Nathan (1 Chr. 3:5; Luke 3:31); Matthew, from David through Solomon (Matt. 1:6).

3:10–16 The descendants listed ruled as kings over Judah during the divided kingdom (2 Chr. 10—36; see also 1 Kin. 12—2 Kin. 25). Two omissions are significant. Adonijah illegitimately proclaimed himself king (1 Chr. 3:2), but Solomon was made king instead (1 Kin. 1). Athaliah, the daughter of Jezebel, reigned over the southern kingdom after the death of her son Ahaziah (2 Kin. 11:1; 2 Chr. 22:10). She was not from the house of David and is not included here.

3:17 This reference may be to Jeconiah (see chart, The Kings with Two Names) during his time in a Babylonian prison (2 Kin. 24:15; 25:27–30; 2 Chr. 36:9, 10) rather than a reference to a son named "Assir" (Heb., lit. "prisoner").

19The sons of Pedaiah were Zerubbabel and Shimei. The sons of Zerubbabel were Meshullam, Hananiah, Shelomith their sister, 20and Hashubah, Ohel, Berechiah, Hasadiah, and Jushab-Hesed—five in all.

21The sons of Hananiah were Pelatiah and Je-shaiah, the sons of Rephaiah, the sons of Arnan, the sons of Obadiah, and the sons of Shechaniah.
22The son of Shechaniah was Shemaiah. The sons of Shemaiah were Hattush, Igal, Bariah, Neariah, and Shaphat— six in all. 23The sons of Neariah were Elioenai, Hezekiah, and Azrikam— three in all.
24The sons of Elioenai were Hodaviah, Eliashib, Pelaiah, Akkub, Johanan, Delaiah, and Anani—seven in all.

The Family of Judah

4 The sons of Judah were Perez, Hezron, Carmi, Hur, and Shobal. 2And Reaiah the son of Shobal begot Jahath, and Jahath begot Ahumai and Lahad.
These were the families of the Zorathites. 3These were the sons of the father of Etam: Jezreel, Ishma, and Idbash; and the name of their sister was Hazelelponi; 4and Penuel was the father of Gedor, and Ezer was the father of Hushah.

These were the sons of Hur, the firstborn of Ephrathah the father of Bethlehem.

5And Ashhur the father of Tekoa had two wives, Helah and Naarah. 6Naarah bore him Ahuzzam, Hepher, Temeni, and Haahashtari. These were the sons of Naarah. 7The sons of Helah were Zereth, Zohar, and Ethnan; 8and Koz begot Anub, Zobebah, and the families of Aharhel the son of Harum.

9Now Jabez was more honorable than his brothers, and his mother called his name Jabez,[a] saying, "Because I bore him in pain." 10And Jabez called on the God of Israel saying, "Oh, that You would bless me indeed, and enlarge my territory, that Your hand would be with me, and that You would keep me from evil, that I may not cause pain!" So God granted him what he requested.

11Chelub the brother of Shuhah begot Mehir, who was the father of Eshton. 12And Eshton begot
Beth-Rapha, Paseah, and Tehinnah the father of Ir-Nahash. These were the men of Rechah.

13The sons of Kenaz were Othniel and Seraiah.
The sons of Othniel were Hathath,[a] 14and Me-onothai who begot Ophrah. Seraiah begot Joab the father of Ge Harashim,[a] for they were craftsmen.
15The sons of Caleb the son of Jephunneh were Iru, Elah, and Naam. The son of Elah was Kenaz. 16The sons of Jehallelel were Ziph, Ziphah, Tiria, and Asarel. 17The sons of Ezrah were Jether, Mered, Epher, and Jalon. And Mered's wife[a] bore Miriam,
Shammai, and Ishbah the father of Eshtemoa.
18(His wife Jehudijah[a] bore Jered the father of Gedor, Heber the father of Sochoh, and Jekuthiel the father of Zanoah.) And these were the sons of Bithiah the daughter of Pharaoh, whom Mered took.

19The sons of Hodiah's wife, the sister of Na-ham, were the fathers of Keilah the Garmite and of Eshtemoa the Maachathite. 20And the sons of Shimon were Amnon, Rinnah, Ben-Hanan, and Tilon.
And the sons of Ishi were Zoheth and Ben-Zoheth.

21The sons of Shelah the son of Judah were Er the father of Lecah, Laadah the father of Mare-shah, and the families of the house of the linen workers of the house of Ashbea; 22also Jokim, the men of Chozeba, and Joash; Saraph, who ruled in Moab, and Jashubi-Lehem. Now the records are ancient. 23These were the potters and those who dwell at Netaim[a] and Gederah;[b] there they dwelt with the king for his work.

The Family of Simeon

24The sons of Simeon were Nemuel, Jamin, Jarib,[a] Zerah,[b] and Shaul, 25Shallum his son, Mib-sam his son, and Mishma his son. 26And the sons of Mishma were Hamuel his son, Zacchur his son, and Shimei his son. 27Shimei had sixteen sons and six daughters; but his brothers did not have many children, nor did any of their families multiply as much as the children of Judah.

28They dwelt at Beersheba, Moladah, Hazar
Shual, 29Bilhah, Ezem, Tolad, 30Bethuel, Hormah, Ziklag, 31Beth Marcaboth, Hazar Susim, Beth Biri, and at Shaaraim. These were their cities until the reign of David. 32And their villages were Etam, Ain, Rimmon, Tochen, and Ashan— five cities—

3:19 Zerubbabel was the civil leader of the returned Jewish community in Jerusalem. He is a key figure in the books of Haggai, Zechariah, and Ezra. Although he never became king over Israel, he was the representative of David's eternal throne for the returned Jewish community (see Hag. 2:20–23; Zech. 4:8–10) and was included in the genealogies of Jesus (Matt. 1:12, 13; Luke 3:27).

4:17 The wife of Mered is identified as Bithiah, the daughter of a pharaoh (v. 18). For a Hebrew to marry into the Egyptian royal family may have been possible because of Joseph's prominence.

4:24 The inheritance of Simeon was located within the inheritance of Judah (Num. 26:12, 13; Josh. 19:1). Simeon never outgrew Judah and was probably incorporated within Judah early in Israel's history. This genealogy includes the sons of Simeon (1 Chr. 4:24–27), their dwelling places (vv. 28–33), and their leaders and victories (vv. 34–40). The dwelling places were in southern Judah, and some were resettled by those returning from Exile. The battles recorded here are unknown elsewhere in the OT (vv. 41–43).

33and all the villages that were around these cities as far as Baal.[a] These were their dwelling places, and they maintained their genealogy: 34Meshobab, Jamlech, and Joshah the son of Amaziah; 35Joel, and Jehu the son of Joshibiah, the son of Seraiah, the son of Asiel; 36Elioenai, Jaakobah, Jeshohaiah, Asaiah, Adiel, Jesimiel, and Benaiah; 37Ziza the son of Shiphi, the son of Allon, the son of Jedaiah, the son of Shimri, the son of Shemaiah— 38these mentioned by name were leaders in their families, and their father's house increased greatly.

41These recorded by name came in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah; and they attacked their tents and the Meunites who were found there, and utterly destroyed them, as it is to this day. So they dwelt in their place, because there was pasture for their flocks there. 42Now some of them, five hundred men of the sons of Simeon, went to Mount Seir, having as their captains Pelatiah, Neariah, Rephaiah, and Uzziel, the sons of Ishi. 43And they defeated the rest of the Amalekites who had escaped. They have dwelt there to this day.

The Family of Reuben

5 Now the sons of Reuben the firstborn of Israel—he was indeed the firstborn, but because he defiled his father's bed, his birthright was given to the sons of Joseph, the son of Israel, so that the genealogy is not listed according to the birthright; 2yet Judah prevailed over his brothers, and from him came a ruler, although the birthright was Joseph's— 3the sons of Reuben the firstborn of Israel were Hanoch, Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi.

4The sons of Joel were Shemaiah his son, Gog his son, Shimei his son, 5Micah his son, Reaiah his son, Baal his son, 6and Beerah his son, whom Tiglath-Pileser[a] king of Assyria carried into captivity. He was leader of the Reubenites. 7And his brethren by their families, when the genealogy of their generations was registered: the chief, Jeiel, and Zechariah, 8and Bela the son of Azaz, the son of Shema, the son of Joel, who dwelt in Aroer, as far as Nebo and Baal Meon. 9Eastward they settled as far as the entrance of the wilderness this side of the River Euphrates, because their cattle had multiplied in the land of Gilead.

10Now in the days of Saul they made war with the Hagrites, who fell by their hand; and they dwelt in their tents throughout the entire area east of Gilead.

The Family of Gad

11And the children of Gad dwelt next to them in the land of Bashan as far as Salcah: 12Joel was the chief, Shapham the next, then Jaanai and Shaphat in Bashan, 13and their brethren of their father's house: Michael, Meshullam, Sheba, Jorai, Jachan, Zia, and Eber—seven in all. 14These were the children of Abihail the son of Huri, the son of Jaroah, the son of Gilead, the son of Michael, the son of Jeshishai, the son of Jahdo, the son of Buz; 15Ahi the son of Abdiel, the son of Guni, was chief of their father's house. 16And the Gadites dwelt in Gilead, in Bashan and in its villages, and in all the common-lands of Sharon within their borders. 17All these were registered by genealogies in the days of Jotham king of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam king of Israel.

18The sons of Reuben, the Gadites, and half the tribe of Manasseh had forty-four thousand seven hundred and sixty valiant men, men able to bear shield and sword, to shoot with the bow, and skillful in war, who went to war. 19They made war with the Hagrites, Jetur, Naphish, and Nodab. 20And they were helped against them, and the Hagrites were delivered into their hand, and all who were with them, for they cried out to God in the battle. He heeded their prayer, because they put their trust in Him. 21Then they took away their livestock—fifty thousand of their camels, two hundred and fifty thousand of their sheep, and two thousand of their donkeys—also one hundred thousand of their men; 22for many fell dead, because the war was God's. And they dwelt in their place until the captivity.

4:33 [a]Or Baalath Beer (compare Joshua 19:8) 5:6 [a]Hebrew Tilgath-Pilneser

5:1 Reuben lost his firstborn rights, including a double portion of inheritance (Deut. 21:17) because he committed incest with his father's concubine Bilhah (Gen. 35:22).

5:6 Tiglath-Pileser III, king of Assyria from 745–727 B.C., was also known as Pul in the OT (v. 26, see chart, The Kings of Assyria). After stabilizing his kingdom, he began military campaigns against smaller realms such as Palestine. Kings of the northern kingdom paid monetary tribute to Tiglath-Pileser for his protection (2 Kin. 15:19, 20). Ahaz, king of Judah, made an alliance with him against the king of Israel and the king of Syria (2 Kin. 16:5–9; see chart, The Kings and Their Conflicts). This episode may be Tiglath-Pileser's conquering of the Transjordan region and carrying the people into exile in 733 B.C. (2 Kin. 15:29). Although the date given to the captivity of the northern kingdom by Assyria is 722 B.C., the deportation of Israel to other parts of the Assyrian Empire occurred in stages. This episode is consistent with the chronicler's theme of retribution.

5:10 The Hagrites, descendants of Hagar, the Egyptian mother of Ishmael, were traditional enemies of the Transjordan tribes (vv. 19, 20; Ps. 83:5–8).

The Family of Manasseh (East)

23So the children of the half-tribe of Manasseh dwelt in the land. Their numbers increased from Bashan to Baal Hermon, that is, to Senir, or Mount Hermon. 24These were the heads of their fathers' houses: Epher, Ishi, Eliel, Azriel, Jeremiah, Hodaviah, and Jahdiel. They were mighty men of valor, famous men, and heads of their fathers' houses.
25And they were unfaithful to the God of their fathers, and played the harlot after the gods of the peoples of the land, whom God had destroyed before them. 26So the God of Israel stirred up the spirit of Pul king of Assyria, that is, Tiglath-Pileser[a] king of Assyria. He carried the Reuben-ites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh into captivity. He took them to Halah, Habor, Hara, and the river of Gozan to this day.

The Family of Levi

6 The sons of Levi were Gershon, Kohath, and Merari. 2The sons of Kohath were Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel. 3The children of Amram were Aaron, Moses, and Miriam. And the sons of Aaron were Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar. 4Eleazar begot Phinehas, and Phinehas begot Abishua; 5Abishua begot Bukki, and Bukki begot Uzzi; 6Uzzi begot Zerahiah, and Zerahiah begot Meraioth;
7Meraioth begot Amariah, and Amariah begot
Ahitub; 8Ahitub begot Zadok, and Zadok begot
Ahimaaz; 9Ahimaaz begot Azariah, and Azariah begot Johanan; 10Johanan begot Azariah (it was he who ministered as priest in the temple that Solomon built in Jerusalem); 11Azariah begot Amariah, and Amariah begot Ahitub; 12Ahitub begot Zadok, and Zadok begot Shallum; 13Shallum begot Hilkiah, and Hilkiah begot Azariah;
14Azariah begot Seraiah, and Seraiah begot
Jehozadak. 15Jehozadak went into captivity when the LORD carried Judah and Jerusalem into captivity by the hand of Nebuchadnezzar.
16The sons of Levi were Gershon,[a] Kohath, and Merari. 17These are the names of the sons of Gershon: Libni and Shimei. 18The sons of Kohath were Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel. 19The sons of Merari were Mahli and Mushi. Now these are the families of the Levites according to their fathers:
20Of Gershon were Libni his son, Jahath his son, Zimmah his son, 21Joah his son, Iddo his son, Zerah his son, and Jeatherai his son. 22The sons of Kohath were Amminadab his son, Korah his son, Assir his son, 23Elkanah his son, Ebiasaph his son, Assir his son, 24Tahath his son, Uriel his son, Uzziah his son, and Shaul his son. 25The sons of Elkanah were Ama-sai and Ahimoth. 26*As for* Elkanah,[a] the sons of Elkanah were Zophai[b] his son, Nahath[c] his son, 27Eliab[a] his son, Jeroham his son, and Elkanah his

5:23, 24 The inheritance for Joseph had been split between his two sons, Ephraim and Manasseh, on either side of the Jordan River (Gen. 48:1–22; Josh. 16:1–17:18; see 1 Chr. 7:28, 29, note). The "half-tribe of Manasseh" settled east of the Jordan in the Transjordan.

5:25, 26 Israel continually acted unfaithfully before God (2 Kin. 17:7–18). The metaphor of a harlot is used often to describe Israel's unfaithfulness (see the Book of Hosea). General unfaithfulness is a characteristic of Israel when the nation worshiped other gods (2 Kin. 5:25). Thus, the king of Assyria rose up against them (see 1 Chr. 5:6, note). In accord with the concept of retribution in Chronicles, unfaithfulness was punished. The Transjordan tribes were placed in captivity by the hand of God. The lands mentioned are those to which the northern kingdom was exiled in 722 B.C. by Shalmaneser V (727–722 B.C.), the son of Tiglath-Pileser III (see v. 6, note; 2 Kin. 17:6; see chart, The Kings of Assyria). The Assyrian method of dealing with conquered nations was to scatter them throughout the Assyrian Empire. Other conquered nations were then placed in Palestine (Samaria) in their stead (2 Kin. 17:24).

6:1 The sons of Levi are listed in this longest part of the genealogy of Israel (1 Chr. 4:1—7:40; compare with Judah's sole position in 1 Chr. 2:3—3:24). This emphasis on Levi and Judah is consistent with the chronicler's focus on David's throne and the temple. The genealogy of Levi is divided into four parts. The genealogy of the high priestly line of Aaron is given first (1 Chr. 6:1–15). Next, the sons of Levi are divided into three groups, each headed by a son: Gershon, Kohath, Merari (1 Chr. 6:16–30). The temple musicians were appointed by David, and other Levites were shown to be subordinate to the line of Aaron (vv. 31–53). Finally, the dwelling places of the Levites throughout Israel are given (vv. 54–81).

6:3 The genealogy of the high priestly line, which followed from Levi through Kohath to Aaron and Eleazar is noted (vv. 1–4). Aaron's sons Nadab and Abihu were put to death by the Lord because of their sin (Lev. 10:1–3; Num. 3:4). The dominant line of the high priest descending through Eleazar is extended to the time of Solomon and ends with the Exile (1 Chr. 6:10–15). Focus is placed on the temple with the explanation regarding Azariah (v. 10). Hilkiah was high priest during the reforms of Josiah (v. 13; 2 Chr. 34; 35). Seraiah was killed at the time of the Exile (1 Chr. 6:14; 2 Kin. 25:18–21). Some were omitted from this genealogy, such as Jehoiada (2 Chr. 22:11), Azariah (2 Chr. 31:10), Urijah (2 Kin. 16:11), and others.

6:16 The Levites (vv. 33–47; see Ex. 6:16–19) descended from the three sons of Levi: Gershon (1 Chr. 6:17, 20, 21); Kohath (v. 18, 22–24); Merari (vv. 19, 29, 30). The previous verses listed the high priestly line through Kohath's son Amram (vv. 1–15). Kohath's line through Amminadab is listed here (v. 22). Levitical tradition says that Kohath is the dominant line of Levi (vv. 18, 19). "Amminadab" may be an alternate for Izhar (v. 2; Num. 16:1) or may be a genealogical addition (see 1 Chr. 1:1–4, note). The use of the name by the chronicler is deliberate in order to establish a connection between the Levites and David. Aaron married the daughter of Amminadab from the tribe of Judah (Ex. 6:23; Ruth 4:19; 1 Chr. 2:10). Samuel, elsewhere called an Ephraimite (1 Chr. 6:28; 1 Sam. 1:1), exercised Levitical duties (1 Sam. 2:11, 18; 10:8).

son. 28The sons of Samuel were Joel[a] the firstborn, and Abijah the second.[b] 29The sons of Merari were Mahli, Libni his son, Shimei his son, Uzzah his son, 30Shimea his son, Haggiah his son, and Asaiah his son.

Musicians in the House of the LORD

31Now these are the men whom David appointed over the service of song in the house of the LORD, after the ark came to rest. 32They were ministering with music before the dwelling place of the tabernacle of meeting, until Solomon had built the house of the LORD in Jerusalem, and they served in their office according to their order.

33And these are the ones who ministered with their sons: Of the sons of the Kohathites were Heman the singer, the son of Joel, the son of Samuel, 34the son of Elkanah, the son of Jeroham, the son of Eliel,[a] the son of Toah,[b] 35the son of Zuph, the son of Elkanah, the son of Mahath, the son of Amasai, 36the son of Elkanah, the son of Joel, the son of Azariah, the son of Zephaniah, 37the son of Tahath, the son of Assir, the son of Ebiasaph, the son of Korah, 38the son of Izhar, the son of Kohath, the son of Levi, the son of Israel. 39And his brother Asaph, who stood at his right hand, was Asaph the son of Berachiah, the son of Shimea, 40the son of Michael, the son of Baaseiah, the son of Malchijah, 41the son of Ethni, the son of Zerah, the son of Adaiah, 42the son of Ethan, the son of Zimmah, the son of Shimei, 43the son of Jahath, the son of Gershon, the son of Levi.

44Their brethren, the sons of Merari, on the left hand, were Ethan the son of Kishi, the son of Abdi, the son of Malluch, 45the son of Hashabiah, the son of Amaziah, the son of Hilkiah, 46the son of Amzi, the son of Bani, the son of Shamer, 47the son of Mahli, the son of Mushi, the son of Merari, the son of Levi.

48And their brethren, the Levites, were appointed to every kind of service of the tabernacle of the house of God.

The Family of Aaron

49But Aaron and his sons offered sacrifices on the altar of burnt offering and on the altar of incense, for all the work of the Most Holy Place, and to make atonement for Israel, according to all that Moses the servant of God had commanded. 50Now these are the sons of Aaron: Eleazar his son, Phine-has his son, Abishua his son, 51Bukki his son, Uzzi his son, Zerahiah his son, 52Meraioth his son, Amariah his son, Ahitub his son, 53Zadok his son, and Ahimaaz his son.

Dwelling Places of the Levites

54Now these are their dwelling places throughout their settlements in their territory, for they were given by lot to the sons of Aaron, of the family of the Kohathites: 55They gave them Hebron in the land of Judah, with its surrounding common-lands. 56But the fields of the city and its villages they gave to Caleb the son of Jephunneh. 57And to the sons of Aaron they gave one of the cities of refuge, Hebron; also Libnah with its common-lands, Jattir, Eshtemoa with its common-lands, 58Hilen[a] with its common-lands, Debir with its common-lands, 59Ashan[a] with its common-lands, and Beth Shemesh with its common-lands. 60And from the tribe of Benjamin: Geba with its common-lands, Alemeth[a] with its common-lands, and Anathoth with its common-lands. All their cities among their families were thirteen.

61To the rest of the family of the tribe of the Kohathites they gave by lot ten cities from half the tribe of Manasseh. 62And to the sons of Gershon, throughout their families, they gave thirteen cities from the tribe of Issachar, from the tribe of Asher, from the tribe of Naphtali, and from the tribe of Manasseh in Bashan. 63To the sons of Merari, throughout their families, they gave twelve cities
from the tribe of Reuben, from the tribe of Gad, and from the tribe of Zebulun. 64So the children of Israel gave these cities with their common-lands to the Levites. 65And they gave by lot from the tribe of the children of Judah, from the tribe of the children of Simeon, and from the tribe of the children of Benjamin these cities which are called by their names.

66Now some of the families of the sons of Kohath were given cities as their territory from the tribe of Ephraim. 67And they gave them one of the cities of refuge, Shechem with its common-lands, in the mountains of Ephraim, also Gezer with its common-lands, 68Jokmeam with its common-lands, Beth Horon with its common-lands, 69Aijalon with its common-lands, and Gath Rimmon with its

6:31 The temple musicians (vv. 16–30; 1 Chr. 15:17–19) descended from the sons of Levi: Heman from Kohath (1 Chr. 6:33–38); Asaph from Gershon (vv. 39–43); Ethan from Merari (vv. 44–47). Although the musicians were appointed by David, tracing their lineage back to Levi legitimized their appointment according to the will of God (vv. 31, 32; 1 Chr. 15).

6:54 The Levites were not given a specific inheritance within the Promised Land but were scattered throughout Israel to areas donated by the other tribes (Josh. 21:1–42). The central cities of Hebron (of Judah, 1 Chr. 6:55) and Shechem (of Ephraim, v. 67) also head each summary. Judah and Ephraim, when appearing together, stand for all Israel. All other tribes contributed to the Levites.

common-lands. 70And from the half-tribe of Manasseh: Aner with its common-lands and Bileam with its common-lands, for the rest of the family of the sons of Kohath.

77From the tribe of Zebulun the rest of the children of Merari were given Rimmon[a] with its common-lands and Tabor with its common-lands. 78And on the other side of the Jordan, across from Jericho, on the east side of the Jordan, they were given from the tribe of Reuben: Bezer in the wilderness with its common-lands, Jahzah with its common-lands, 79Kedemoth with its common-lands, and Mephaath with its common-lands. 80And from the tribe of Gad: Ramoth in Gilead with its common-lands, Mahanaim with its common-lands, 81Heshbon with its common-lands, and Jazer with its common-lands.

The Family of Issachar

7 The sons of Issachar were Tola, Puah,[a] Jashub, and Shimron— four in all. 2The sons of Tola were Uzzi, Rephaiah, Jeriel, Jahmai, Jibsam, and Shemuel, heads of their father's house. The sons of Tola were mighty men of valor in their generations; their number in the days of David was twenty-two thousand six hundred. 3The son of Uzzi was Izrahiah, and the sons of Izrahiah were Michael, Obadiah, Joel, and Ishiah. All five of them were chief men. 4And with them, by their generations, according to their fathers' houses, were thirty-six thousand troops ready for war; for they had many wives and sons.

5Now their brethren among all the families of Issachar were mighty men of valor, listed by their genealogies, eighty-seven thousand in all.

The Family of Benjamin

6*The sons* of Benjamin were Bela, Becher, and Jediael— three in all. 7The sons of Bela were Ezbon, Uzzi, Uzziel, Jerimoth, and Iri— five in all. They were heads of their fathers' houses, and they were listed by their genealogies, twenty-two thousand and thirty-four mighty men of valor.

8The sons of Becher were Zemirah, Joash, Eliezer, Elioenai, Omri, Jerimoth, Abijah, Anathoth, and Alemeth. All these are the sons of Becher. 9And they were recorded by genealogy according to their generations, heads of their fathers' houses, twenty thousand two hundred mighty men of valor. 10The son of Jediael was Bilhan, and the sons of Bilhan were Jeush, Benjamin, Ehud, Chenaanah, Zethan, Tharshish, and Ahishahar.

11All these sons of Jediael were heads of their fathers' houses; there were seventeen thousand two hundred mighty men of valor fit to go out for war and battle. 12Shuppim and Huppim[a] were the sons of Ir, and Hushim was the son of Aher.

The Family of Naphtali

13The sons of Naphtali were Jahziel,[a] Guni, Jezer, and Shallum,[b] the sons of Bilhah.

The Family of Manasseh (West)

14The descendants of Manasseh: his Syrian concubine bore him Machir the father of Gilead, the father of Asriel.[a] 15Machir took as his wife the sister of Huppim and Shuppim,[a] whose name was Maachah. The name of Gilead's grandson[b] was Zelophehad,[c] but Zelophehad begot only daughters. 16(Maachah the wife of Machir bore a son, and she called his name Peresh. The name of his brother was Sheresh, and his sons were Ulam and Rakem. 17The son of Ulam was Bedan.) These were the descendants of Gilead the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh.

18His sister Hammoleketh bore Ishhod, Abiezer, and Mahlah.

19And the sons of Shemida were Ahian, Shechem, Likhi, and Aniam.

The Family of Ephraim

20The sons of Ephraim were Shuthelah, Bered his son, Tahath his son, Eladah his son, Tahath his son, 21Zabad his son, Shuthelah his son, and Ezer and Elead. The men of Gath who were born in that land killed them because they came down to take away their cattle. 22Then Ephraim their father mourned many days, and his brethren came to comfort him.

7:20–27 The genealogy of Ephraim culminated with Joshua, the successor to Moses and the conqueror of the Promised Land (v. 27). The story of Ezer and Elead is otherwise unknown in Scripture but is placed here solely to explain the naming of Beriah, the ancestor of Joshua.

23And when he went in to his wife, she conceived and bore a son; and he called his name Beriah,[a] because tragedy had come upon his house.
24Now his daughter was Sheerah, who built Lower and Upper Beth Horon and Uzzen Sheerah;
25and Rephah was his son, as well as Resheph, and Telah his son, Tahan his son, 26Laadan his son, Ammihud his son, Elishama his son,
27Nun[a] his son, and Joshua his son.
28Now their possessions and dwelling places were Bethel and its towns: to the east Naaran, to the west Gezer and its towns, and Shechem and its towns, as far as Ayyah[a] and its towns;
29and by the borders of the children of Manasseh were Beth Shean and its towns, Taanach and its towns, Megiddo and its towns, Dor and its towns. In these dwelt the children of Joseph, the son of Israel.

The Family of Asher

30The sons of Asher were Imnah, Ishvah, Ishvi, Beriah, and their sister Serah.
31The sons of Beriah were Heber and Malchiel, who was the father of Birzaith.[a] 32And Heber begot Japhlet, Shomer,[a] Hotham,[b] and their sister Shua.
33The sons of Japhlet were Pasach, Bimhal, and Ashvath. These were the children of Japhlet.
34The sons of Shemer were Ahi, Rohgah, Jehubbah, and Aram.
35And the sons of his brother Helem were Zophah, Imna, Shelesh, and Amal.
36The sons of Zophah were Suah, Harnepher, Shual, Beri, Imrah, 37Bezer, Hod, Shamma, Shilshah, Jithran,[a] and Beera.
38The sons of Jether were Jephunneh, Pispah, and Ara.
39The sons of Ulla were Arah, Haniel, and Rizia.
40All these were the children of Asher, heads of their fathers' houses, choice men, mighty men of valor, chief leaders. And they were recorded by genealogies among the army fit for battle; their number was twenty-six thousand.

The Family Tree of King Saul of Benjamin

8 Now Benjamin begot Bela his firstborn, Ashbel the second, Aharah[a] the third, 2Nohah the fourth, and Rapha the fifth.
3The sons of Bela were Addar,[a] Gera, Abihud, 4Abishua, Naaman, Ahoah,
5Gera, Shephuphan, and Huram.
6These are the sons of Ehud, who were the heads of the fathers' houses of the inhabitants of Geba, and who forced them to move to Manahath:
7Naaman, Ahijah, and Gera who forced them to move. He begot Uzza and Ahihud.
8Also Shaharaim had children in the country of Moab, after he had sent away Hushim and Baara his wives.
9By Hodesh his wife he begot Jobab, Zibia, Mesha, Malcam, 10Jeuz, Sachiah, and Mirmah. These were his sons, heads of their fathers' houses.
11And by Hushim he begot Abitub and Elpaal.
12The sons of Elpaal were Eber, Misham, and Shemed, who built Ono and Lod with its towns;
13and Beriah and Shema, who were heads of their fathers' houses of the inhabitants of Aijalon, who drove out the inhabitants of Gath.
14Ahio, Shashak, Jeremoth,
15Zebadiah, Arad, Eder,
16Michael, Ispah, and Joha were the sons of Beriah.
17Zebadiah, Meshullam, Hizki, Heber,
18Ishmerai, Jizliah, and Jobab were the sons of Elpaal.
19Jakim, Zichri, Zabdi,
20Elienai, Zillethai, Eliel,
21Adaiah, Beraiah, and Shimrath were the sons of Shimei.
22Ishpan, Eber, Eliel,
23Abdon, Zichri, Hanan,
24Hananiah, Elam, Antothijah,
25Iphdeiah, and Penuel were the sons of Shashak.
26Shamsherai, Shehariah, Athaliah,
27Jaareshiah, Elijah, and Zichri were the sons of Jeroham.
28These were heads of the fathers' houses by their generations, chief men. These dwelt in Jerusalem.
29Now the father of Gibeon, whose wife's name was Maacah, dwelt at Gibeon.
30And his firstborn son was Abdon, then Zur, Kish, Baal, Nadab, 31Gedor, Ahio, Zecher,
32and Mikloth, who begot Shimeah.[a] They also dwelt alongside their relatives in Jerusalem, with their brethren.
33Ner[a] begot Kish, Kish begot Saul, and Saul begot Jonathan, Malchishua, Abinadab,[b] and Esh-Baal.[c]
34The son of Jonathan was Merib-Baal,[a] and Merib-Baal begot Micah.
35The sons of Micah were Pithon, Melech, Tarea, and Ahaz.
36And Ahaz begot Jehoaddah;[a] Jehoaddah begot Alemeth, Azmaveth, and Zimri; and Zimri begot Moza.
37Moza begot Binea, Raphah[a] his son, Eleasah his son, and Azel his son.
38Azel had six sons whose names were these: Azrikam, Bocheru, Ishmael, Sheariah, Obadiah,

7:28, 29 Joseph's inheritance is not named for him but rather for his two sons Manasseh and Ephraim. Ephraim was the chosen son and therefore the dominant tribe (Gen. 48:11–20). The land occupied by the sons of Joseph was divided between Manasseh and Ephraim. Ephraim is a name equivalent to Israel and the northern kingdom (see chart, Terminology for the Land).

8:1 The genealogy of Benjamin is longer than any except those of Judah and Levi. This link may reflect the tradition that Benjamin remained loyal to Judah and to David's throne after the split of the kingdom. This is not a repetition of a previous genealogy (1 Chr. 7:6–12) but lists additional descendants with Saul as the central figure (1 Chr. 8:29–38, repeated in 1 Chr. 9:35–44).

and Hanan. All these were the sons of Azel. 39And the sons of Eshek his brother were Ulam his firstborn, Jeush the second, and Eliphelet the third.

40The sons of Ulam were mighty men of valor—archers. They had many sons and grandsons, one hundred and fifty in all. These were all sons of Benjamin.

9 So all Israel was recorded by genealogies, and indeed, they were inscribed in the book of the kings of Israel. But Judah was carried away captive to Babylon because of their unfaithfulness. 2And the first inhabitants who dwelt in their possessions in their cities were Israelites, priests, Levites, and the Nethinim.

Dwellers in Jerusalem

3Now in Jerusalem the children of Judah dwelt, and some of the children of Benjamin, and of the children of Ephraim and Manasseh: 4Uthai the son of Ammihud, the son of Omri, the son of Imri, the son of Bani, of the descendants of Perez, the son of Judah. 5Of the Shilonites: Asaiah the firstborn and his sons. 6Of the sons of Zerah: Jeuel, and their brethren—six hundred and ninety. 7Of the sons of Benjamin: Sallu the son of Meshullam, the son of Hodaviah, the son of Hassenuah; 8Ibneiah the son of Jeroham; Elah the son of Uzzi, the son of Michri; Meshullam the son of Shephatiah, the son of Reuel, the son of Ibnijah; 9and their brethren, according to their generations—nine hundred and fifty-six. All these men were heads of a father's house in their fathers' houses.

The Priests at Jerusalem

10Of the priests: Jedaiah, Jehoiarib, and Jachin; 11Azariah the son of Hilkiah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Zadok, the son of Meraioth, the son of Ahitub, the officer over the house of God; 12Adaiah the son of Jeroham, the son of Pashur, the son of Malchijah; Maasai the son of Adiel, the son of Jahzerah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Meshillemith, the son of Immer; 13and their brethren, heads of their fathers' houses—one thousand seven hundred and sixty. They were very able men for the work of the service of the house of God.

The Levites at Jerusalem

14Of the Levites: Shemaiah the son of Hasshub, the son of Azrikam, the son of Hashabiah, of the sons of Merari; 15Bakbakkar, Heresh, Galal, and Mattaniah the son of Micah, the son of Zichri, the son of Asaph; 16Obadiah the son of Shemaiah, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun; and Berechiah the son of Asa, the son of Elkanah, who lived in the villages of the Netophathites.

The Levite Gatekeepers

17And the gatekeepers were Shallum, Akkub, Talmon, Ahiman, and their brethren. Shallum was the chief. 18Until then they had been gatekeepers for the camps of the children of Levi at the King's Gate on the east.

19Shallum the son of Kore, the son of Ebiasaph, the son of Korah, and his brethren, from his father's house, the Korahites, were in charge of the work of the service, gatekeepers of the tabernacle. Their fathers had been keepers of the entrance to the camp of the LORD. 20And Phinehas the son of Eleazar had been the officer over them in time past; the LORD was with him. 21Zechariah the son of Meshelemiah was keeper of the door of the tabernacle of meeting.

22All those chosen as gatekeepers were two hundred and twelve. They were recorded by their genealogy, in their villages. David and Samuel the seer had appointed them to their trusted office. 23So they and their children were in charge of the gates of the house of the LORD, the house of the tabernacle, by assignment. 24The gatekeepers were assigned to the four directions: the east, west, north, and south. 25And their brethren in their villages had to come with them from time to time for seven days. 26For in this trusted office were four chief gatekeepers; they were Levites. And they had charge over the chambers and treasuries of the house of God. 27And they lodged all around the house of God because they had the responsibility, and they were in charge of opening it every morning.

Other Levite Responsibilities

28Now some of them were in charge of the serving vessels, for they brought them in and took

9:1 The book of the kings of Israel, otherwise unknown, was probably used as a source for the chronicler's work. Judah's captivity is mentioned since the chronicler is interested only in the return to Judah, and specifically the return to Jerusalem. Judah was punished for unfaithfulness, but now the true inhabitants of Jerusalem must live in faithfulness. Only the faithful in Jerusalem can be called "all Israel" (see Introduction: Themes).

9:2 Postexilic Jerusalem. The focus is on groups who returned from exile to Jerusalem (Neh. 11). The Israelites were from the tribes of Judah, Benjamin, Ephraim, and Manasseh (1 Chr. 9:3–9). These designations for the southern and northern kingdoms, respectively, picture all Israel as having returned and now living in Jerusalem. The priests (vv. 10–13) were to serve in the tabernacle/temple (see 1 Chr. 28:1, note), and the Levites returned to be available for service as well (1 Chr. 9:14–16). The "Nethinim" (Heb. natan, lit. "to give," v. 2), probably refers to those who were given to the service of the house of the Lord (see 1 Chr. 23:24, note). They acted as gatekeepers (1 Chr. 9:17–27; 1 Chr. 15:18, 23, 24; 23:5; 26:1–19). They were also in charge of serving vessels (1 Chr. 9:28) and cared for the furnishings and the implements of the sanctuary—the incense and ointment (vv. 29, 30) and the showbread (vv. 31, 32; 1 Chr. 23:29). They were also singers (1 Chr. 6:31–47; 25).

them out by count. 29*Some* of them were appointed over the furnishings and over all the implements of the sanctuary, and over the fine flour and the wine and the oil and the incense and the spices. 30And some of the sons of the priests made the ointment of the spices.

31Mattithiah of the Levites, the firstborn of Shallum the Korahite, had the trusted office over the things that were baked in the pans. 32And some of their brethren of the sons of the Kohathites were in charge of preparing the showbread for every Sabbath.

33These are the singers, heads of the fathers' houses of the Levites, who lodged in the chambers, and were free from other duties; for they were employed in that work day and night. 34These heads of the fathers' houses of the Levites were heads throughout their generations. They dwelt at Jerusalem.

The Family of King Saul

35Jeiel the father of Gibeon, whose wife's name was Maacah, dwelt at Gibeon. 36His firstborn son was Abdon, then Zur, Kish, Baal, Ner, Nadab, 37Gedor, Ahio, Zechariah,[a] and Mikloth. 38And Mikloth begot Shimeam.[a] They also dwelt alongside their relatives in Jerusalem, with their brethren. 39Ner begot Kish, Kish begot Saul, and Saul begot Jonathan, Malchishua, Abinadab, and Esh-Baal. 40The son of Jonathan was Merib-Baal, and Merib-Baal begot Micah. 41The sons of Micah were Pithon, Melech, Tahrea,[a] and Ahaz.[b] 42And Ahaz begot Jarah;[a] Jarah begot Alemeth, Azmaveth, and Zimri; and Zimri begot Moza; 43Moza begot Binea, Rephaiah[a] his son, Eleasah his son, and Azel his son.

44And Azel had six sons whose names were these: Azrikam, Bocheru, Ishmael, Sheariah, Obadiah, and Hanan; these were the sons of Azel.

Tragic End of Saul and His Sons

10 Now the Philistines fought against Israel; and the men of Israel fled from before the Philistines, and fell slain on Mount Gilboa. 2Then the Philistines followed hard after Saul and his sons. And the Philistines killed Jonathan, Abinadab, and Malchishua, Saul's sons. 3The battle became fierce against Saul. The archers hit him, and he was wounded by the archers. 4Then Saul said to his armorbearer, "Draw your sword, and thrust me through with it, lest these uncircumcised men come and abuse me." But his armorbearer would not, for he was greatly afraid. Therefore Saul took a sword and fell on it. 5And when his armorbearer saw that Saul was dead, he also fell on his sword and died. 6So Saul and his three sons died, and all his house died together. 7And when all the men of Israel who were in the valley saw that they had fled and that Saul and his sons were dead, they forsook their cities and fled; then the Philistines came and dwelt in them.

8So it happened the next day, when the Philistines came to strip the slain, that they found Saul and his sons fallen on Mount Gilboa. 9And they stripped him and took his head and his armor, and sent word throughout the land of the Philistines to proclaim the news in the temple of their idols and among the people. 10Then they put his armor in the temple of their gods, and fastened his head in the temple of Dagon.

11And when all Jabesh Gilead heard all that the Philistines had done to Saul, 12all the valiant men arose and took the body of Saul and the bodies of his sons; and they brought them to Jabesh, and buried their bones under the tamarisk tree at Jabesh, and fasted seven days.

13So Saul died for his unfaithfulness which he had committed against the LORD, because he did not keep the word of the LORD, and also because he consulted a medium for guidance. 14But he did not inquire of the LORD; therefore He killed him, and turned the kingdom over to David the son of Jesse.

David Made King over All Israel

11 Then all Israel came together to David at Hebron, saying, "Indeed we are your bone and your flesh. 2Also, in time past, even when Saul was king, you were the one who led Israel out and brought them in; and the LORD your God said to you, 'You shall shepherd My people Israel, and be ruler over My people Israel.' " 3Therefore all the elders of Israel came to the king at Hebron, and David made a covenant with them at Hebron before the LORD. And they anointed David king over Israel, according to the word of the LORD by Samuel.

9:35–44 A genealogical introduction of Saul takes the reader to the time before the Exile (see 1 Chr. 8:29–38). It introduces Saul, whose reign is seen as merely a prelude to David (1 Chr. 10:1–14; chart, The Family Tree of Saul).

10:4 The death of Saul is interpreted by the chronicler as the destruction of Saul's entire family (v. 6), thereby eliminating all threats to David's throne (see 1 Sam. 31). The treatment of Saul's body emphasizes the total destruction of his dynasty (1 Chr. 9:8–10; 1 Sam. 31:9, 10). Saul's house was destroyed, but David's house would flourish (1 Chr. 17:9–12).

10:13, 14 Saul's death is explained as God's punishment for sin. These verses are unique to the chronicler. Saul did not look to the Lord but sought the advice of a medium for guidance (1 Sam. 28:3–25). In general, Saul's life was characterized by unfaithfulness. Thus, the kingdom was taken from Saul and given to David—the ideal and faithful king.

The City of David

4And David and all Israel went to Jerusalem, which is Jebus, where the Jebusites were, the inhabitants of the land. 5But the inhabitants of Je-bus said to David, "You shall not come in here!"
Nevertheless David took the stronghold of Zion
(that is, the City of David). 6Now David said,
"Whoever attacks the Jebusites first shall be chief and captain." And Joab the son of Zeruiah went up first, and became chief. 7Then David dwelt in the stronghold; therefore they called it the City of David. 8And he built the city around it, from the Millo[a] to the surrounding area. Joab repaired the rest of the city. 9So David went on and became great, and the LORD of hosts was with him.

The Mighty Men of David

10Now these were the heads of the mighty men whom David had, who strengthened themselves with him in his kingdom, with all Israel, to make him king, according to the word of the LORD concerning Israel.

11And this is the number of the mighty men whom David had: Jashobeam the son of a Hachmonite, chief of the captains;[a] he had lifted up his spear against three hundred, killed by him at one time.

12After him was Eleazar the son of Dodo, the Ahohite, who was one of the three mighty men.
13He was with David at Pasdammim. Now there the Philistines were gathered for battle, and there was a piece of ground full of barley. So the people fled from the Philistines. 14But they stationed themselves in the middle of that field, defended it, and killed the Philistines. So the LORD brought about a great victory.

15Now three of the thirty chief men went down to the rock to David, into the cave of Adullam; and the army of the Philistines encamped in the Valley of Rephaim. 16David was then in the stronghold, and the garrison of the Philistines was then in Bethlehem. 17And David said with longing, "Oh, that someone would give me a drink of water from the well of Bethlehem, which is by the gate!"
18So the three broke through the camp of the Philistines, drew water from the well of Bethlehem that was by the gate, and took it and brought it to David. Nevertheless David would not drink it, but poured it out to the LORD. 19And he said, "Far be it from me, O my God, that I should do this!
Shall I drink the blood of these men who have put their lives in jeopardy? For at the risk of their lives they brought it." Therefore he would not drink it.
These things were done by the three mighty men.

20Abishai the brother of Joab was chief of an- other three.[a] He had lifted up his spear against three hundred men, killed them, and won a name among these three. 21Of the three he was more honored than the other two men. Therefore he became their captain. However he did not attain to the first three.

22Benaiah was the son of Jehoiada, the son of a valiant man from Kabzeel, who had done many deeds. He had killed two lion-like heroes of Moab.
He also had gone down and killed a lion in the midst of a pit on a snowy day. 23And he killed an Egyptian, a man of great height, five cubits tall. In the Egyptian's hand there was a spear like a weaver's beam; and he went down to him with a staff, wrested the spear out of the Egyptian's hand, and killed him with his own spear. 24These things Benaiah the son of Jehoiada did, and won a name among three mighty men. 25Indeed he was more honored than the thirty, but he did not attain to the first three. And David appointed him over his guard.

26Also the mighty warriors were Asahel the brother of Joab, Elhanan the son of Dodo of Bethlehem, 27Shammoth the Harorite,[a] Helez the Pelonite,[b] 28Ira the son of Ikkesh the Tekoite, Abiezer the Anathothite, 29Sibbechai the Hushathite, Ilai the Ahohite, 30Maharai the Netophathite, Heled[a] the son of Baanah the Netophathite, 31Ithai[a] the son of Ribai of Gibeah, of the sons of Benjamin, Benaiah the Pirathonite, 32Hurai[a] of the brooks of Gaash, Abiel[b] the Arbathite, 33Azmaveth the Baharumite,[a] Eliahba the Shaalbonite, 34the sons of Hashem the Gizonite, Jonathan the son of Shageh the Hararite, 35Ahiam the son of Sacar the Hararite, Eliphal the son of Ur, 36Hepher the Mecherathite, Ahijah the Pelonite, 37Hezro the Carmelite, Naarai the son of Ezbai, 38Joel the brother of Nathan, Mibhar the son of Hagri, 39Zelek the Ammonite, Naharai the Berothite[a] (the armorbearer of Joab the son of Zeruiah), 40Ira the Ithrite, Gareb the Ithrite, 41Uriah the Hittite, Zabad the son of Ahlai, 42Ad-ina the son of Shiza the Reubenite (a chief of the Reubenites) and thirty with him, 43Hanan the son of Maachah, Joshaphat the Mithnite, 44Uzzia the Ashterathite, Shama and Jeiel the sons of Hotham
the Aroerite, 45Jediael the son of Shimri, and Joha

11:4–9 Joab was David's nephew and the general of David's army (1 Chr. 27:34). He was not mentioned in the 2 Samuel 5 account. Jebus is the former name of Jerusalem, and the Jebusites were the Canaanites living in that city (Josh. 15:8). The Millo is the steep slope to the east of the city.

his brother, the Tizite, 46Eliel the Mahavite, Jeribai and Joshaviah the sons of Elnaam, Ithmah the Moabite, 47Eliel, Obed, and Jaasiel the Mezobaite.

The Growth of David's Army

12 Now these were the men who came to David at Ziklag while he was still a fugitive from Saul the son of Kish; and they were among the mighty men, helpers in the war, 2armed with bows, using both the right hand and the left in hurling stones and shooting arrows with the bow. They were of Benjamin, Saul's brethren.

3The chief was Ahiezer, then Joash, the sons of Shemaah the Gibeathite; Jeziel and Pelet the sons of Azmaveth; Berachah, and Jehu the Anathothite; 4Ishmaiah the Gibeonite, a mighty man among the thirty, and over the thirty; Jeremiah, Jahaziel, Johanan, and Jozabad the Gederathite; 5Eluzai, Jerimoth, Bealiah, Shemariah, and Shephatiah the Haruphite; 6Elkanah, Jisshiah, Azarel, Joezer, and Jashobeam, the Korahites; 7and Joelah and Zebadiah the sons of Jeroham of Gedor.

8*Some* Gadites joined David at the stronghold in the wilderness, mighty men of valor, men trained for battle, who could handle shield and spear, whose faces were like the faces of lions, and were as swift as gazelles on the mountains: 9Ezer the first, Obadiah the second, Eliab the third, 10Mishmannah the fourth, Jeremiah the fifth, 11Attai the sixth, Eliel the seventh, 12Johanan the eighth, Elzabad the ninth, 13Jeremiah the tenth, and Machbanai the eleventh. 14These were from the sons of Gad, captains of the army; the least was over a hundred, and the greatest was over a thousand. 15These are the ones who crossed the Jordan in the first month, when it had overflowed all its banks; and they put to flight all those in the valleys, to the east and to the west.

16Then some of the sons of Benjamin and Judah came to David at the stronghold. 17And David went out to meet them, and answered and said to them, "If you have come peaceably to me to help me, my heart will be united with you; but if to betray me to my enemies, since there is no wrong in my hands, may the God of our fathers look and bring judgment." 18Then the Spirit came upon Amasai, chief of the captains, and he said:

"We are yours, O David;
We are on your side, O son of Jesse!
Peace, peace to you,
And peace to your helpers!
For your God helps you."

So David received them, and made them captains of the troop.

19And some from Manasseh defected to David when he was going with the Philistines to battle against Saul; but they did not help them, for the lords of the Philistines sent him away by agreement, saying, "He may defect to his master Saul and endanger our heads." 20When he went to Ziklag, those of Manasseh who defected to him were Adnah, Jozabad, Jediael, Michael, Jozabad, Elihu, and Zillethai, captains of the thousands who were from Manasseh. 21And they helped David against the bands of raiders, for they were all mighty men of valor, and they were captains in the army. 22For at that time they came to David day by day to help him, until it was a great army, like the army of God.

David's Army at Hebron

23Now these were the numbers of the divisions that were equipped for war, and came to David at Hebron to turn over the kingdom of Saul to him, according to the word of the LORD: 24of the sons of Judah bearing shield and spear, six thousand eight hundred armed for war; 25of the sons of Simeon, mighty men of valor fit for war, seven thousand one hundred; 26of the sons of Levi four thousand six hundred; 27Jehoiada, the leader of the Aaronites, and with him three thousand seven hundred; 28Zadok, a young man, a valiant warrior, and from his father's house twenty-two captains; 29of

12:1 The mighty men of Benjamin and Gad. Support for David was such that men from Saul's own tribe of Benjamin, even while he was king, pledged their allegiance to David. The emphasis here is not on Saul's opposition to David but on the loyalty of Benjamin to David.

12:16–18 Amasai was the chief of the captains in David's army. He is significant for the manner in which his words align with the chronicler's presentation of the complete support of all Israel for David from the beginning. The name "Amasai" may allude to Amasa, the head of Absalom's army (2 Sam. 17:25). The disloyalty of Amasa to David, by contrast, serves to magnify the loyalty of Amasai and of all Israel to David.

12:19 The men of Manasseh joined David at Ziklag (see vv. 19–22). Manasseh is probably used here as a representative of the northern tribes (see 1 Chr. 9:3). The tribes closest to Judah had supported Judah, and now those farthest away would lend their support as well. All Israel was loyal to David.

12:22 David's army was the army of God, just as David's victories were God's victories. The army of God is comprised only of those devoted to Him. In the same way, David's army would lend complete devotion to its king.

12:23–37 Twelve divisions of David's army at Hebron are listed (1 Chr. 11:1–3). With Reuben, Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh forming one Transjordan division (1 Chr. 12:37), there were 12 divisions representing all Israel (see 1 Chr. 2:3—7:40). Explanations continue concerning the exceedingly large numbers of each division. Such numbers may not be intended as actual totals but may be used to identify military leaders—as "six [commanders of] thousands, eight [commanders of] hundreds." The numbers in Chronicles do demonstrate the complete and full support of all Israel for David.

the sons of Benjamin, relatives of Saul, three thousand (until then the greatest part of them had remained loyal to the house of Saul); 30of the sons of Ephraim twenty thousand eight hundred, mighty men of valor, famous men throughout their father's house; 31of the half-tribe of Manasseh eighteen thousand, who were designated by name to come and make David king; 32of the sons of Issachar who had understanding of the times, to know what Israel ought to do, their chiefs were two hundred; and all their brethren were at their command; 33of Zebulun there were fifty thousand who went out to battle, expert in war with all weapons of war, stouthearted men who could keep ranks; 34of Naphtali one thousand captains, and with them thirty-seven thousand with shield and spear; 35of the Danites who could keep battle formation, twenty-eight thousand six hundred; 36of Asher, those who could go out to war, able to keep battle formation, forty thousand; 37of the Reubenites and the Gadites and the half-tribe of Manasseh, from the other side of the Jordan, one hundred and twenty thousand armed for battle with every kind of weapon of war.

38All these men of war, who could keep ranks, came to Hebron with a loyal heart, to make David king over all Israel; and all the rest of Israel were of one mind to make David king. 39And they were there with David three days, eating and drinking, for their brethren had prepared for them. 40Moreover those who were near to them, from as far away as Issachar and Zebulun and Naphtali, were bringing food on donkeys and camels, on mules and oxen—provisions of flour and cakes of figs and cakes of raisins, wine and oil and oxen and sheep abundantly, for there was joy in Israel.

The Ark Brought from Kirjath Jearim

13 Then David consulted with the captains of thousands and hundreds, and with every leader. 2And David said to all the assembly of Israel, "If it seems good to you, and if it is of the LORD our God, let us send out to our brethren everywhere who are left in all the land of Israel, and with them to the priests and Levites who are in their cities and their common-lands, that they may gather together to us; 3and let us bring the ark of our God back to us, for we have not inquired at it since the days of Saul." 4Then all the assembly said that they would do so, for the thing was right in the eyes of all the people.

5So David gathered all Israel together, from Shihor in Egypt to as far as the entrance of Hamath, to bring the ark of God from Kirjath Jearim. 6And David and all Israel went up to Baalah,[a] to Kirjath Jearim, which belonged to Judah, to bring up from there the ark of God the LORD, who dwells between the cherubim, where His name is proclaimed. 7So they carried the ark of God on a new cart from the house of Abinadab, and Uzza and Ahio drove the cart. 8Then David and all Israel played music before God with all their might, with singing, on harps, on stringed instruments, on tambourines, on cymbals, and with trumpets.

9And when they came to Chidon's[a] threshing floor, Uzza put out his hand to hold the ark, for the oxen stumbled. 10Then the anger of the LORD was aroused against Uzza, and He struck him because he put his hand to the ark; and he died there before God. 11And David became angry because of the LORD's outbreak against Uzza; therefore that place is called Perez Uzza[a] to this day. 12David was afraid of God that day, saying, "How can I bring the ark of God to me?"

13So David would not move the ark with him into the City of David, but took it aside into the house of Obed-Edom the Gittite. 14The ark of God remained with the family of Obed-Edom in his house three months. And the LORD blessed the house of Obed-Edom and all that he had.

David Established at Jerusalem

14 Now Hiram king of Tyre sent messengers to David, and cedar trees, with masons and carpenters, to build him a house. 2So David knew that the LORD had established him as king over Israel, for his kingdom was highly exalted for the sake of His people Israel.

13:6 [a]Called Baale Judah in 2 Samuel 6:2 13:9 [a]Called Nachon in 2 Samuel 6:6 13:11 [a]Literally Outburst Against Uzza

13:1 The chronicler's arrangement of events. In the Book of 2 Samuel, the order is: The conquest of Jerusalem, the defeat of the Philistines, the moving of the ark to Obed-Edom, and the transfer of the ark to Jerusalem (2 Sam. 5; 6). These events are deliberately rearranged by the chronicler: The movement of the ark to Obed-Edom, the establishment of Jerusalem as the capital, the defeat of the Philistines, the moving of the ark to Jerusalem. David's first major act as king has to do with the ark (a temple-related action). The chronicler presented David as the recipient of blessings because of his faithfulness, as evidenced by the tribute from Hiram (see 1 Chr. 14:1), the increase in his family (1 Chr. 14:3–7), David's victory over the Philistines (1 Chr. 14:8–16), and David's widespread fame (1 Chr. 14:17). The ark was returned to Jerusalem in complete obedience and with joyful celebration (1 Chr. 15:1—16:43).

13:1–4 The ark of the covenant traveled wherever Israel went, signifying the presence of God with His people (Ex. 25:17–22; 40:34–38; Num. 9:15–23; 1 Chr. 28:2). The ark had been captured by the Philistines and returned to Israel (1 Sam. 4:1–11; 5:1—7:1). It remained at Kirjath Jearim for 20 years (1 Sam. 7:2; 1 Chr. 13:3–6). David and the people together decided to return the ark to Jerusalem.

[3]Then David took more wives in Jerusalem, and David begot more sons and daughters. [4]And these are the names of his children whom he had in Jerusalem: Shammua,[a] Shobab, Nathan, Solomon, [5]Ibhar, Elishua,[a] Elpelet,[b] [6]Nogah, Nepheg, Japhia, [7]Elishama, Beeliada,[a] and Eliphelet.

The Philistines Defeated

[8]Now when the Philistines heard that David had been anointed king over all Israel, all the Philistines went up to search for David. And David heard of it and went out against them. [9]Then the Philistines went and made a raid on the Valley of Rephaim. [10]And David inquired of God, saying, "Shall I go up against the Philistines? Will You deliver them into my hand?"

The LORD said to him, "Go up, for I will deliver them into your hand."

[11]So they went up to Baal Perazim, and David defeated them there. Then David said, "God has broken through my enemies by my hand like a breakthrough of water." Therefore they called the name of that place Baal Perazim.[a] [12]And when they left their gods there, David gave a commandment, and they were burned with fire.

[13]Then the Philistines once again made a raid on the valley. [14]Therefore David inquired again of God, and God said to him, "You shall not go up after them; circle around them, and come upon them in front of the mulberry trees. [15]And it shall be, when you hear a sound of marching in the tops of the mulberry trees, then you shall go out to battle, for God has gone out before you to strike the camp of the Philistines." [16]So David did as God commanded him, and they drove back the army of the Philistines from Gibeon as far as Gezer. [17]Then the fame of David went out into all lands, and the LORD brought the fear of him upon all nations.

The Ark Brought to Jerusalem

15 David built houses for himself in the City of David; and he prepared a place for the ark of God, and pitched a tent for it. [2]Then David said, "No one may carry the ark of God but the Levites, for the LORD has chosen them to carry the ark of God and to minister before Him forever." [3]And David gathered all Israel together at Jerusalem, to bring up the ark of the LORD to its place, which he had prepared for it. [4]Then David assembled the children of Aaron and the Levites: [5]of the sons of Kohath, Uriel the chief, and one hundred and twenty of his brethren; [6]of the sons of Merari, Asaiah the chief, and two hundred and twenty of his brethren; [7]of the sons of Gershom, Joel the chief, and one hundred and thirty of his brethren; [8]of the sons of Elizaphan, Shemaiah the chief, and two hundred of his brethren; [9]of the sons of Hebron, Eliel the chief, and eighty of his brethren; [10]of the sons of Uzziel, Amminadab the chief, and one hundred and twelve of his brethren.

[11]And David called for Zadok and Abiathar the priests, and for the Levites: for Uriel, Asaiah, Joel, Shemaiah, Eliel, and Amminadab. [12]He said to them, "You are the heads of the fathers' houses of the Levites; sanctify yourselves, you and your brethren, that you may bring up the ark of the LORD God of Israel to the place I have prepared for it. [13]For because you did not do it the first time, the LORD our God broke out against us, because we did not consult Him about the proper order."

[14]So the priests and the Levites sanctified themselves to bring up the ark of the LORD God of Israel. [15]And the children of the Levites bore the ark of God on their shoulders, by its poles, as Moses had commanded according to the word of the LORD.

[16]Then David spoke to the leaders of the Levites to appoint their brethren to be the singers accompanied by instruments of music, stringed instruments, harps, and cymbals, by raising the voice with resounding joy. [17]So the Levites appointed Heman the son of Joel; and of his brethren, Asaph the son of Berechiah; and of their brethren, the sons of Merari, Ethan the son of Kushaiah; [18]and with them their brethren of the second rank: Zechariah, Ben,[a] Jaaziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattithiah, Elipheleh, Mikneiah, Obed-Edom, and Jeiel, the gatekeepers; [19]the singers, Heman, Asaph, and Ethan, were to sound the cymbals of bronze; [20]Zechariah, Aziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Maaseiah, and Benaiah, with strings according to Alamoth; [21]Mattithiah, Elipheleh,

14:3 David and his wives (see chart, The Family Tree of David; 1 Sam. 18, Michal; 25, Abigail; 2 Sam. 11, Bathsheba). Though David's polygamy was a historical reality, certainly it represented a moral failure on his part (Deut. 17:17; 1 Tim. 3, Polygamy). David's sin led to his own heartache and to tragedy within his family (see 2 Sam. 12:7–14, note; chart, David: How Good People Get into Trouble).

15:4 The Levites were instructed to bring up the ark to Jerusalem according to the proper order. They were to sanctify themselves (Ex. 29:1–35; 40:12–15), and carry the ark on poles (Ex. 25:10–15). This obedience to the Law resulted in joyful celebration (1 Chr. 15:16—16:43).

15:11 Zadok and Abiathar served as high priests for David. Zadok was descended from Aaron; he remained loyal to David (1 Kin. 1:8). He anointed Solomon as king and served as priest to Solomon (1 Kin. 1:34; 2:35). Abiathar, a descendant of Eli (1 Sam. 1—4), escaped the slaughter of Saul (1 Sam. 22:20–23). He chose to side with Adonijah and was deposed by Solomon (1 Kin. 1; 2:27).

Mikneiah, Obed-Edom, Jeiel, and Azaziah, to direct with harps on the Sheminith; 22Chenaniah, leader of the Levites, was instructor in charge of the music, because he was skillful; 23Berechiah and Elkanah were doorkeepers for the ark; 24Shebaniah, Joshaphat, Nethanel, Amasai, Zechariah, Benaiah, and Eliezer, the priests, were to blow the trumpets before the ark of God; and Obed-Edom and Jehiah, doorkeepers for the ark.

25So David, the elders of Israel, and the captains over thousands went to bring up the ark of the covenant of the LORD from the house of Obed-Edom with joy. 26And so it was, when God helped the Levites who bore the ark of the covenant of the LORD, that they offered seven bulls and seven rams. 27David was clothed with a robe of fine linen, as were all the Levites who bore the ark, the singers, and Chenaniah the music master with the singers. David also wore a linen ephod. 28Thus all Israel brought up the ark of the covenant of the LORD with shouting and with the sound of the horn, with trumpets and with cymbals, making music with stringed instruments and harps.

29And it happened, as the ark of the covenant of the LORD came to the City of David, that Michal, Saul's daughter, looked through a window and saw King David whirling and playing music; and she despised him in her heart.

The Ark Placed in the Tabernacle

16 So they brought the ark of God, and set it in the midst of the tabernacle that David had erected for it. Then they offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before God. 2And when David had finished offering the burnt offerings and the peace offerings, he blessed the people in the name of the LORD. 3Then he distributed to everyone of Israel, both man and woman, to everyone a loaf of bread, a piece of meat, and a cake of raisins.

4And he appointed some of the Levites to minister before the ark of the LORD, to commemorate, to thank, and to praise the LORD God of Israel: 5Asaph the chief, and next to him Zechariah, then Jeiel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Mattithiah, Eliab, Benaiah, and Obed-Edom: Jeiel with stringed instruments and harps, but Asaph made music with cymbals; 6Benaiah and Jahaziel the priests regularly blew the trumpets before the ark of the covenant of God.

David's Song of Thanksgiving

7On that day David first delivered this psalm into the hand of Asaph and his brethren, to thank the LORD:

8Oh, give thanks to the LORD!
Call upon His name;
Make known His deeds among the peoples!
9Sing to Him, sing psalms to Him;
Talk of all His wondrous works!
10Glory in His holy name;
Let the hearts of those rejoice who seek the LORD!
11Seek the LORD and His strength;
Seek His face evermore!
12Remember His marvelous works which He has done,
His wonders, and the judgments of His mouth,
13O seed of Israel His servant,
You children of Jacob, His chosen ones!

14He is the LORD our God;
His judgments are in all the earth.
15Remember His covenant forever,
The word which He commanded, for a thousand generations,
16*The covenant which* He made with Abraham,
And His oath to Isaac,
17And confirmed it to Jacob for a statute,
To Israel for an everlasting covenant,
18Saying, "To you I will give the land of Canaan
As the allotment of your inheritance,"
19When you were few in number,
Indeed very few, and strangers in it.

20When they went from one nation to another,
And from one kingdom to another people,
21He permitted no man to do them wrong;
Yes, He rebuked kings for their sakes,
22*Saying,* "Do not touch My anointed ones,
And do My prophets no harm."[a]

23Sing to the LORD, all the earth;
Proclaim the good news of His salvation from day to day.
24Declare His glory among the nations,
His wonders among all peoples.

25For the LORD is great and greatly to be praised;
He is also to be feared above all gods.
26For all the gods of the peoples are idols,
But the LORD made the heavens.
27Honor and majesty are before Him;
Strength and gladness are in His place.

28Give to the LORD, O families of the peoples,
Give to the LORD glory and strength.

16:22 [a]Compare verses 8–22 with Psalm 105:1–15

16:7 Three psalms in the Book of Psalms contain most of the elements of this psalm: Giving thanks for the covenant faithfulness of the Lord (vv. 8–22; Ps. 105:1–15), calling the people to worship before the Lord (1 Chr. 16:23–33; Ps. 96:1–13), and praising God for the forgiveness of sin (1 Chr. 16:34–36; Ps. 106:1, 47, 48).

29 Give to the LORD the glory due His name;
Bring an offering, and come before Him.
Oh, worship the LORD in the beauty of holiness!
30 Tremble before Him, all the earth.
The world also is firmly established,
It shall not be moved.

31 Let the heavens rejoice, and let the earth be glad;
And let them say among the nations, "The LORD reigns."
32 Let the sea roar, and all its fullness;
Let the field rejoice, and all that is in it.
33 Then the trees of the woods shall rejoice before the LORD,
For He is coming to judge the earth.[a]

34 Oh, give thanks to the LORD, for He is good!
For His mercy endures forever.[a]
35 And say, "Save us, O God of our salvation;
Gather us together, and deliver us from the Gentiles,
To give thanks to Your holy name,
To triumph in Your praise."

36 Blessed be the LORD God of Israel
From everlasting to everlasting![a]

And all the people said, "Amen!" and praised the LORD.

Regular Worship Maintained

37 So he left Asaph and his brothers there before the ark of the covenant of the LORD to minister before the ark regularly, as every day's work required; 38 and Obed-Edom with his sixty-eight brethren, including Obed-Edom the son of Jeduthun, and Hosah, to be gatekeepers; 39 and Zadok the priest and his brethren the priests, before the tabernacle of the LORD at the high place that was at Gibeon, 40 to offer burnt offerings to the LORD on the altar of burnt offering regularly morning and evening, and to do according to all that is written in the Law of the LORD which He commanded Israel; 41 and with them Heman and Jeduthun and the rest who were chosen, who were designated by name, to give thanks to the LORD, because His mercy endures forever; 42 and with them Heman and Jeduthun, to sound aloud with trumpets and cymbals and the musical instruments of God. Now the sons of Jeduthun were gatekeepers.

43 Then all the people departed, every man to his house; and David returned to bless his house.

God's Covenant with David

17 Now it came to pass, when David was dwelling in his house, that David said to Nathan the prophet, "See now, I dwell in a house of cedar, but the ark of the covenant of the LORD is under tent curtains."

2 Then Nathan said to David, "Do all that is in your heart, for God is with you."

3 But it happened that night that the word of God came to Nathan, saying, 4 "Go and tell My servant David, 'Thus says the LORD: "You shall not build Me a house to dwell in. 5 For I have not dwelt in a house since the time that I brought up Israel, even to this day, but have gone from tent to tent, and from one tabernacle to another. 6 Wherever I have moved about with all Israel, have I ever spoken a word to any of the judges of Israel, whom I commanded to shepherd My people, saying, 'Why have you not built Me a house of cedar?' " ' 7 Now therefore, thus shall you say to My servant David, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts: "I took you from the sheepfold, from following the sheep, to be ruler over My people Israel. 8 And I have been with you wherever you have gone, and have cut off all your enemies from before you, and have made you a name like the name of the great men who are on the earth. 9 Moreover I will appoint a place for My people Israel, and will plant them, that they may dwell in a place of their own and move no more; nor shall the sons of wickedness oppress them anymore, as previously, 10 since the time that I commanded judges to be over My people Israel. Also I will subdue all your enemies. Furthermore I tell you that the LORD will build you a house.[a] 11 And it shall be, when your days are fulfilled, when you must go to be with your fathers, that I will set up your seed after you, who will be of your sons; and I will establish his kingdom. 12 He shall build Me a house, and I will establish his throne forever. 13 I will be his Father, and he shall be My son; and I will not take My mercy away from him, as I took it from him who was before you. 14 And I will establish him in My house and in My kingdom

17:1 David, the temple planner. The chronicler's understanding of the temple establishes the interdependence of David and Solomon. David did not "rest from all his enemies" (2 Sam. 7:1–12) but was instead a man of war (1 Chr. 22:8; 28:3). His enemies were only subdued (1 Chr. 17:10). As a man of war, he would not be allowed to build the house of the Lord. Instead, the Lord would build David a house or dynasty (1 Chr. 17:10). This action was the pinnacle of all the Lord had done for David (vv. 16–27). David would make preparations for his son Solomon to build the house of the Lord (1 Chr. 18—29). Nathan was the prophet of the Lord during the reigns of David and Solomon. He was consulted regarding David's desire to build the temple; he exposed David's sin with Bathsheba (2 Sam. 12:1–15); and he anointed Solomon as king (1 Kin. 1:32–40).

16Then King David went in and sat before the LORD; and he said: “Who am I, O LORD God? And what is my house, that You have brought me this far? 17And yet this was a small thing in Your sight, O God; and You have also spoken of Your servant’s house for a great while to come, and have regarded me according to the rank of a man of high degree, O LORD God. 18What more can David say to You for the honor of Your servant? For You know Your servant. 19O LORD, for Your servant’s sake, and according to Your own heart, You have done all this greatness, in making known all these great things. 20O LORD, there is none like You, nor is there any God besides You, according to all that we have heard with our ears. 21And who is like Your people Israel, the one nation on the earth whom God went to redeem for Himself as a people—to make for Yourself a name by great and awesome deeds, by driving out nations from before Your people whom You redeemed from Egypt? 22For You have made Your people Israel Your very own people forever; and You, LORD, have become their God.

23“And now, O LORD, the word which You have spoken concerning Your servant and concerning his house, let it be established forever, and do as You have said. 24So let it be established, that Your name may be magnified forever, saying, ‘The LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, is Israel’s God.’ And let the house of Your servant David be established before You. 25For You, O my God, have revealed to Your servant that You will build him a house. Therefore Your servant has found it in his heart to pray before You. 26And now, LORD, You are God, and have promised this goodness to Your servant. 27Now You have been pleased to bless the house of Your servant, that it may continue before You forever; for You have blessed it, O LORD, and it shall be blessed forever.”

David’s Further Conquests

18 After this it came to pass that David attacked the Philistines, subdued them, and took Gath and its towns from the hand of the Philistines. 2Then he defeated Moab, and the Moabites became David’s servants, and brought tribute.

3And David defeated Hadadezer[a] king of Zobah as far as Hamath, as he went to establish his power by the River Euphrates. 4David took from him one thousand chariots, seven thousand[a] horsemen, and twenty thousand foot soldiers. Also David hamstrung all the chariot horses, except that he spared enough of them for one hundred chariots.

5When the Syrians of Damascus came to help Hadadezer king of Zobah, David killed twenty-two thousand of the Syrians. 6Then David put garrisons in Syria of Damascus; and the Syrians became David’s servants, and brought tribute. So the LORD preserved David wherever he went. 7And David took the shields of gold that were on the servants of Hadadezer, and brought them to Jerusalem. 8Also from Tibhath[a] and from Chun, cities of Hadadezer, David brought a large amount of bronze, with which Solomon made the bronze Sea, the pillars, and the articles of bronze.

9Now when Tou[a] king of Hamath heard that David had defeated all the army of Hadadezer king of Zobah, 10he sent Hadoram[a] his son to King David, to greet him and bless him, because he had fought against Hadadezer and defeated him (for Hadadezer had been at war with Tou); and Hadoram brought with him all kinds of articles of gold, silver, and bronze. 11King David also dedicated these to the LORD, along with the silver and gold that he had brought from all these nations—from Edom, from Moab, from the people of Ammon, from the Philistines, and from Amalek.

12Moreover Abishai the son of Zeruiah killed eighteen thousand Edomites[a] in the Valley of Salt. 13He also put garrisons in Edom, and all the Edomites became David’s servants. And the LORD preserved David wherever he went.

David’s Administration

14So David reigned over all Israel, and administered judgment and justice to all his people. 15Joab the son of Zeruiah was over the army; Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was recorder; 16Zadok the son of Ahitub and Abimelech the son of Abiathar were the priests; Shavsha[a] was the scribe; 17Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over the Cherethites and the Pelethites; and David’s sons were chief ministers at the king’s side.

17:16 David’s prayer. The contexts of the two accounts of this prayer differ markedly. In 2 Samuel, the focus is on the establishment of David’s kingdom, emphasizing the political and military aspects of his reign (2 Sam. 7:18–29). In Chronicles, the focus is on the religious aspects of David’s reign. This prayer introduces David’s role as temple planner (see also chart, Solomon’s Prayer). With enthusiastic obedience, David would begin to prepare for the temple (1 Chr. 18—29).

18:1 David, the man of war (see also 2 Sam. 8—10). The mention of these wars reinforces the fact that David was a man of war (see 1 Chr. 17:1, note). David’s victories were evidence of his obedience. Also, David began his preparations for building the temple with the materials and money from the spoils of these wars (1 Chr. 18:8; 22:2–4; 28:11–19; 29:1–5).

The Ammonites and Syrians Defeated

19 It happened after this that Nahash the king of the people of Ammon died, and his son reigned in his place. 2Then David said, "I will show kindness to Hanun the son of Nahash, because his father showed kindness to me." So David sent messengers to comfort him concerning his father. And David's servants came to Hanun in the land of the people of Ammon to comfort him.

3And the princes of the people of Ammon said to Hanun, "Do you think that David really honors your father because he has sent comforters to you? Did his servants not come to you to search and to overthrow and to spy out the land?"

4Therefore Hanun took David's servants, shaved them, and cut off their garments in the middle, at their buttocks, and sent them away. 5Then some went and told David about the men; and he sent to meet them, because the men were greatly ashamed. And the king said, "Wait at Jericho until your beards have grown, and then return."

8Now when David heard of it, he sent Joab and all the army of the mighty men. 9Then the people of Ammon came out and put themselves in battle array before the gate of the city, and the kings who had come were by themselves in the field.

16Now when the Syrians saw that they had been defeated by Israel, they sent messengers and brought the Syrians who were beyond the River,[a] and Shophach[b] the commander of Hadadezer's army went before them. 17When it was told David, he gathered all Israel, crossed over the Jordan and came upon them, and set up in battle array against them. So when David had set up in battle array against the Syrians, they fought with him. 18Then the Syrians fled before Israel; and David killed seven thousand[a] charioteers and forty thousand foot soldiers[b] of the Syrians, and killed Shophach the commander of the army. 19And when the servants of Hadadezer saw that they were defeated by Israel, they made peace with David and became his servants. So the Syrians were not willing to help the people of Ammon anymore.

Rabbah Is Conquered

20 It happened in the spring of the year, at the time kings go out to battle, that Joab led out the armed forces and ravaged the country of the people of Ammon, and came and besieged Rabbah. But David stayed at Jerusalem. And Joab defeated Rabbah and overthrew it. 2Then David took their king's crown from his head, and found it to weigh a talent of gold, and there were precious stones in it. And it was set on David's head. Also he brought out the spoil of the city in great abundance. 3And he brought out the people who were in it, and put them to work[a] with saws, with iron picks, and with axes. So David did to all the cities of the people of Ammon. Then David and all the people returned to Jerusalem.

Philistine Giants Destroyed

4Now it happened afterward that war broke out at Gezer with the Philistines, at which time Sibbechai the Hushathite killed Sippai,[a] who was one of the sons of the giant. And they were subdued.

5Again there was war with the Philistines, and Elhanan the son of Jair[a] killed Lahmi the brother of Goliath the Gittite, the shaft of whose spear was like a weaver's beam.

6Yet again there was war at Gath, where there was a man of great stature, with twenty-four fingers and toes, six on each hand and six on each foot; and he also was born to the giant. 7So when he defied Israel, Jonathan the son of Shimea,[a] David's brother, killed him.

8These were born to the giant in Gath, and they fell by the hand of David and by the hand of his servants.

The Census of Israel and Judah

21 Now Satan stood up against Israel, and moved David to number Israel. 2So David said to Joab and to the leaders of the people, "Go, number Israel from Beersheba to Dan, and bring the number of them to me that I may know it."

3And Joab answered, "May the LORD make His people a hundred times more than they are. But, my lord the king, are they not all my lord's servants? Why then does my lord require this thing? Why should he be a cause of guilt in Israel?"

4Nevertheless the king's word prevailed against Joab. Therefore Joab departed and went throughout all Israel and came to Jerusalem. 5Then Joab gave the sum of the number of the people to David. All Israel had one million one hundred thousand men who drew the sword, and Judah had four hundred and seventy thousand men who drew the sword. 6But he did not count Levi and Benjamin among them, for the king's word was abominable to Joab.

7And God was displeased with this thing; therefore He struck Israel. 8So David said to God, "I have sinned greatly, because I have done this thing; but now, I pray, take away the iniquity of Your servant, for I have done very foolishly."

9Then the LORD spoke to Gad, David's seer, saying, 10"Go and tell David, saying, 'Thus says the LORD: "I offer you three things; choose one of them for yourself, that I may do it to you." ' "

11So Gad came to David and said to him, "Thus says the LORD: 'Choose for yourself, 12either three[a] years of famine, or three months to be defeated by your foes with the sword of your enemies overtaking you, or else for three days the sword of the LORD—the plague in the land, with the angel[b] of the LORD destroying throughout all the territory of Israel.' Now consider what answer I should take back to Him who sent me."

13And David said to Gad, "I am in great distress. Please let me fall into the hand of the LORD, for His mercies are very great; but do not let me fall into the hand of man."

14So the LORD sent a plague upon Israel, and seventy thousand men of Israel fell. 15And God sent an angel to Jerusalem to destroy it. As he[a] was destroying, the LORD looked and relented of the disaster, and said to the angel who was destroying, "It is enough; now restrain your[b] hand." And the angel of the LORD stood by the threshing floor of Ornan[c] the Jebusite.

16Then David lifted his eyes and saw the angel of the LORD standing between earth and heaven, having in his hand a drawn sword stretched out over Jerusalem. So David and the elders, clothed in sackcloth, fell on their faces. 17And David said to God, "Was it not I who commanded the people to be numbered? I am the one who has sinned and done evil indeed; but these sheep, what have they done? Let Your hand, I pray, O LORD my God, be against me and my father's house, but not against Your people that they should be plagued."

18Therefore, the angel of the LORD commanded Gad to say to David that David should go and erect an altar to the LORD on the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite. 19So David went up at the word of Gad, which he had spoken in the name of the LORD. 20Now Ornan turned and saw the angel; and his four sons who were with him hid themselves, but Ornan continued threshing wheat. 21So David came to Ornan, and Ornan looked and saw David. And he went out from the threshing floor, and bowed before David with his face to the ground. 22Then David said to Ornan, "Grant me the place of this threshing floor, that I may build an altar on it to the LORD. You shall grant it to me at the full price, that the plague may be withdrawn from the people."

23But Ornan said to David, "Take it to yourself, and let my lord the king do what is good in his eyes. Look, I also give you the oxen for burnt offerings, the threshing implements for wood, and the wheat for the grain offering; I give it all."

24Then King David said to Ornan, "No, but I will surely buy it for the full price, for I will not take what is yours for the LORD, nor offer burnt offerings with that which costs me nothing." 25So David gave Ornan six hundred shekels of gold by weight for the place. 26And David built there an altar to the LORD, and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings, and called on the LORD; and He answered him from heaven by fire on the altar of burnt offering.

27So the LORD commanded the angel, and he returned his sword to its sheath.

21:12 [a]Or seven (compare 2 Samuel 24:13) [b]Or Angel, and so elsewhere in this chapter 21:15 [a]Or He [b]Or Your [c]Spelled Araunah in 2 Samuel 24:16

21:1 The numbering of Israel. Details not vital to the numbering are omitted by the chronicler (see 2 Sam. 24:5–8). No reason for the census is given. Most often a census was used as the basis for levying taxes (Ex. 30:12; Num. 3:40–51) or as a means for registration for military service (Num. 26:1–4). This could have been a census to conscript laborers for a vast project like building the temple (1 Kin. 5:13, note). Satan instigates the numbering (1 Kin. 21:1; contrast with 2 Sam. 24:1). The words chosen by the chronicler place greater emphasis on David's guilt. The action of the angel is more vivid (1 Chr. 21:16; see 2 Sam. 24:16) and more central to the chronicler's account than the plague (1 Chr. 21:14, 15, 27; see 2 Sam. 24:15, 16). The concern of the chronicler is for the people of God (all Israel) in Jerusalem.

21:27–30 The temple site. These verses are unique to the chronicler. David's disobedience in numbering the people led to the purchase of Araunah's threshing floor, which later

28 At that time, when David saw that the LORD had answered him on the threshing floor of Or-nan the Jebusite, he sacrificed there. 29 For the tabernacle of the LORD and the altar of the burnt offering, which Moses had made in the wilderness, were at that time at the high place in Gibeon.
30 But David could not go before it to inquire of God, for he was afraid of the sword of the angel of the LORD.

David Prepares to Build the Temple

22 Then David said, "This is the house of the LORD God, and this is the altar of burnt offering for Israel." 2 So David commanded to gather the aliens who were in the land of Israel; and he appointed masons to cut hewn stones to build the house of God. 3 And David prepared iron in abundance for the nails of the doors of the gates and for the joints, and bronze in abundance beyond measure, 4 and cedar trees in abundance; for the Sidonians and those from Tyre brought much cedar wood to David.

5 Now David said, "Solomon my son is young and inexperienced, and the house to be built for the LORD must be exceedingly magnificent, famous and glorious throughout all countries. I will now make preparation for it." So David made abundant preparations before his death.

6 Then he called for his son Solomon, and charged him to build a house for the LORD God of Israel. 7 And David said to Solomon: "My son, as for me, it was in my mind to build a house to the name of the LORD my God; 8 but the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 'You have shed much blood and have made great wars; you shall not build a house for My name, because you have shed much blood on the earth in My sight. 9 Behold, a son shall be born to you, who shall be a man of rest; and I will give him rest from all his enemies all around. His name shall be Solomon,[a] for I will give peace and quietness to Israel in his days. 10 He shall build a house for My name, and he shall be My son, and I will be his Father; and I will establish the throne of his kingdom over Israel forever.'
11 Now, my son, may the LORD be with you; and may you prosper, and build the house of the LORD your God, as He has said to you. 12 Only may the LORD give you wisdom and understanding, and give you charge concerning Israel, that you may keep the law of the LORD your God. 13 Then you will prosper, if you take care to fulfill the statutes and judgments with which the LORD charged Moses concerning Israel. Be strong and of good courage; do not fear nor be dismayed. 14 Indeed I have taken much trouble to prepare for the house of the LORD one hundred thousand talents of gold and one million talents of silver, and bronze and iron beyond measure, for it is so abundant. I have prepared timber and stone also, and you may add to them. 15 Moreover there are workmen with you in abundance: woodsmen and stonecutters, and all types of skillful men for every kind of work. 16 Of gold and silver and bronze and iron there is no limit. Arise and begin working, and the LORD be with you."

17 David also commanded all the leaders of Israel to help Solomon his son, saying, 18 "Is not the LORD your God with you? And has He not given you rest on every side? For He has given the inhabitants of the land into my hand, and the land is subdued before the LORD and before His people. 19 Now set your heart and your soul to seek the LORD your God. Therefore arise and build the sanctuary of the LORD God, to bring the ark of the covenant of the LORD and the holy articles of God into the house that is to be built for the name of the LORD."

The Divisions of the Levites

23 So when David was old and full of days, he made his son Solomon king over Israel.

2 And he gathered together all the leaders of Israel, with the priests and the Levites. 3 Now the Levites were numbered from the age of thirty

22:9 [a]Literally Peaceful became the temple site (1 Chr. 21:1—26; 22:1). The center of worship was Gibeon (1 Chr. 21:29; 2 Chr. 1:3). The lifting of the plague played a significant role in identifying the future site of the temple, making this episode an important part of Chronicles. David is seen in his role as temple planner (1 Chr. 17:1–11).

22:2–5 Abundant preparations for the temple were made by David due to the inexperience of Solomon and the enormity of the building task (1 Chr. 29:1; see also 1 Kin. 7:51; 2 Chr. 5:1). Tyre and Sidon, Phoenician seaport cities, were well known for the greatness of their wealth and extensive trading (see 1 Kin. 5:1–10; 1 Chr. 14:1; Ezra 3:7).

22:11–16 Solomon is reminded that faithfulness yields prosperity and success (vv. 12, 13). Note the phrase "the LORD be with you" (vv. 11, 16) and the fourfold encouragement: "Be strong and of good courage" and "Do not fear nor be dismayed" (v. 13; 1 Chr. 28:10, 20). This is followed by "Arise and begin working" (1 Chr. 22:16) and "arise and build" (v. 19). The framing phrase and the encouragements are common for God-given tasks (Deut. 31:6–8; Josh. 1:9; Hag. 1:13; 2:4, 5).

23:3–5 Duties were assigned to the majority of the Levites (24,000) for the house of the Lord. This work may have included the construction of the temple as well as conducting regular services of the temple. Twenty-four is a number common in the appointments made by David. He appointed 24 divisions of priests (1 Chr. 24:1–18), 24 groups of musicians (1 Chr. 25:7–31), 24 gatekeepers (1 Chr. 26:12–19), 24 military divisions (1 Chr. 27:1–15). Additional duties included 6,000 officers and judges (1 Chr. 26:29; see also Deut. 17:8–13; 2 Chr. 19:4–11; 34:13), 4,000 gatekeepers and 4,000 musicians. Under Moses, the Levites were numbered for service from the age of 30 years (1 Chr. 23:3; Num. 4:3, 23). Moses later low-years and above; and the number of individual males was thirty-eight thousand. 4Of these, twenty-four thousand were to look after the work of the house of the LORD, six thousand were officers and judges, 5four thousand were gatekeepers, and four thousand praised the LORD with musical instruments, "which I made," said David, "for giving praise."

6Also David separated them into divisions among the sons of Levi: Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.

7Of the Gershonites: Laadan[a] and Shimei. 8The sons of Laadan: the first Jehiel, then Zetham and Joel—three in all. 9The sons of Shimei: Shelomith, Haziel, and Haran—three in all. These were the heads of the fathers' houses of Laadan. 10And the sons of Shimei: Jahath, Zina,[a] Jeush, and Beriah. These were the four sons of Shimei. 11Jahath was the first and Zizah the second. But Jeush and Beriah did not have many sons; therefore they were assigned as one father's house.

12The sons of Kohath: Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel—four in all. 13The sons of Amram: Aaron and Moses; and Aaron was set apart, he and his sons forever, that he should sanctify the most holy things, to burn incense before the LORD, to minister to Him, and to give the blessing in His name forever. 14Now the sons of Moses the man of God were reckoned to the tribe of Levi. 15The sons of Moses were Gershon[a] and Eliezer. 16Of the sons of Gershon, Shebuel[a] was the first. 17Of the descendants of Eliezer, Rehabiah was the first. And Eliezer had no other sons, but the sons of Rehabiah were very many. 18Of the sons of Izhar, Shelomith was the first. 19Of the sons of Hebron, Jeriah was the first, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, and Jekameam the fourth. 20Of the sons of Uzziel, Michah was the first and Jesshiah the second.

21The sons of Merari were Mahli and Mushi. The sons of Mahli were Eleazar and Kish. 22And Eleazar died, and had no sons, but only daughters; and their brethren, the sons of Kish, took them as wives. 23The sons of Mushi were Mahli, Eder, and Jeremoth—three in all.

24These were the sons of Levi by their fathers' houses—the heads of the fathers' houses as they were counted individually by the number of their names, who did the work for the service of the house of the LORD, from the age of twenty years and above.

25For David said, "The LORD God of Israel has given rest to His people, that they may dwell in Jerusalem forever"; 26and also to the Levites, "They shall no longer carry the tabernacle, or any of the articles for its service." 27For by the last words of David the Levites were numbered from twenty years old and above; 28because their duty was to help the sons of Aaron in the service of the house of the LORD, in the courts and in the chambers, in the purifying of all holy things and the work of the service of the house of God, 29both with the showbread and the fine flour for the grain offering, with the unleavened cakes and what is baked in the pan, with what is mixed and with all kinds of measures and sizes; 30to stand every morning to thank and praise the LORD, and likewise at evening; 31and at every presentation of a burnt offering to the LORD on the Sabbaths and on the New Moons and on the set feasts, by number according to the ordinance governing them, regularly before the LORD; 32and that they should attend to the needs of the tabernacle of meeting, the needs of the holy place, and the needs of the sons of Aaron their brethren in the work of the house of the LORD.

The Divisions of the Priests

24 Now these are the divisions of the sons of Aaron. The sons of Aaron were Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar. 2And Nadab and Abihu died before their father, and had no children; therefore Eleazar and Ithamar ministered as priests. 3Then David with Zadok of the sons of Eleazar, and Ahimelech of the sons of Ithamar, divided them according to the schedule of their service.

23:7 [a]Spelled Libni in Exodus 6:17 23:10 [a]Septuagint and Vulgate read Zizah (compare verse 11). 23:15 [a]Hebrew Gershom (compare 6:16) 23:16 [a]Spelled Shubael in 24:20

ered the age to 25 (Num. 8:24), then David to 20 years (1 Chr. 23:27). No reasons are given for the change, though during David's reign preparation for construction and upkeep on the projected temple would most certainly increase the work load.

23:6 This listing of the three Levitical families (Gershon, vv. 7–11; Kohath, vv. 12–20; Merari, vv. 21–23) differs from that of 1 Chronicles 6 due to a change in genealogical structure. Linear genealogy is used in 1 Chronicles 6 and segmented genealogy here (see 1 Chr. 1:1–4, note).

23:24 The Levites who carried the tabernacle were now assigned to serve under the priests of Aaron (Num. 1:50, 51). They were to assist with purification (Ex. 29; 30:22–33), with the showbread (Ex. 25:30; Lev. 24:5–9), with the grain offering (Lev. 2; 6:14–23), with morning and evening praises, and with burnt offerings (Lev. 1; 23:37, 38; Num. 10:10; 28:1—29:40). The notion of "rest" included dwelling in the Land and being in the presence of God (1 Chr. 23:25, 26).

24:1 Two legitimate priestly lines existed. Zadok represented the sons of Eleazar, and Ahimelech represented the sons of Ithamar (1 Chr. 24:3; see 1 Chr. 15:11, note). Zadok was the more prominent line. The 24 divisions were divided by lot in the presence of David and the leaders Zadok and Ahimelech (1 Chr. 24:5). An unknown scribe, Shemaiah, acted as recorder (v. 6). No details regarding the process of lots were given, but the method does indicate human objectivity and divine providence (v. 31; 1 Chr. 25:8; 26:13).

4There were more leaders found of the sons of Eleazar than of the sons of Ithamar, and thus they were divided. Among the sons of Eleazar were sixteen heads of their fathers' houses, and eight heads of their fathers' houses among the sons of Ithamar. 5Thus they were divided by lot, one group as another, for there were officials of the sanctuary and officials of the house of God, from the sons of Eleazar and from the sons of Ithamar. 6And the scribe, Shemaiah the son of Nethanel, one of the Levites, wrote them down before the king, the leaders, Zadok the priest, Ahimelech the son of Abiathar, and the heads of the fathers' houses of the priests and Levites, one father's house taken for Eleazar and one for Ithamar.

7Now the first lot fell to Jehoiarib, the second to Jedaiah, 8the third to Harim, the fourth to Seorim, 9the fifth to Malchijah, the sixth to Mijamin, 10the seventh to Hakkoz, the eighth to Abijah, 11the ninth to Jeshua, the tenth to Shecaniah, 12the eleventh to Eliashib, the twelfth to Jakim, 13the thirteenth to Huppah, the fourteenth to Jeshebeab, 14the fifteenth to Bilgah, the sixteenth to Immer, 15the seventeenth to Hezir, the eighteenth to Happizzez,[a] 16the nineteenth to Pethahiah, the twentieth to Jehezekel,[a] 17the twenty-first to Jachin, the twenty-second to Gamul, 18the twenty-third to Delaiah, the twenty-fourth to Maaziah.

19This was the schedule of their service for coming into the house of the LORD according to their ordinance by the hand of Aaron their father, as the LORD God of Israel had commanded him.

Other Levites

20And the rest of the sons of Levi: of the sons of Amram, Shubael;[a] of the sons of Shubael, Jehdeiah. 21Concerning Rehabiah, of the sons of Re-habiah, the first was Isshiah. 22Of the Izharites, Shelomoth;[a] of the sons of Shelomoth, Jahath. 23Of the sons of Hebron,[a] Jeriah was the first,[b] Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, and Jekameam the fourth. 24*Of* the sons of Uzziel, Michah; of the sons of Michah, Shamir. 25The brother of Michah, Is-shiah; of the sons of Isshiah, Zechariah. 26The sons of Merari were Mahli and Mushi; the son of Jaaziah, Beno. 27The sons of Merari by Jaaziah were Beno, Shoham, Zaccur, and Ibri. 28Of Mahli:
Eleazar, who had no sons. 29Of Kish: the son of Kish, Jerahmeel.

30Also the sons of Mushi were Mahli, Eder, and Jerimoth. These were the sons of the Levites according to their fathers' houses.

31These also cast lots just as their brothers the sons of Aaron did, in the presence of King David, Zadok, Ahimelech, and the heads of the fathers' houses of the priests and Levites. The chief fathers did just as their younger brethren.

The Musicians

25 Moreover David and the captains of the army separated for the service some of the sons of Asaph, of Heman, and of Jeduthun, who should prophesy with harps, stringed instruments, and cymbals. And the number of the skilled men performing their service was: 2Of the sons of Asaph: Zaccur, Joseph, Nethaniah, and Asharelah;[a] the sons of Asaph were under the direction of Asaph, who prophesied according to the order of the king. 3Of Jeduthun, the sons of Jeduthun:
Gedaliah, Zeri,[a] Jeshaiah, Shimei, Hashabiah, and Mattithiah, six,[b] under the direction of their father Jeduthun, who prophesied with a harp to give thanks and to praise the LORD. 4Of Heman, the sons of Heman: Bukkiah, Mattaniah, Uzziel,[a] Shebuel,[b] Jerimoth,[c] Hananiah, Hanani, Eliathah, Giddalti, Romamti-Ezer, Joshbekashah, Mallothi, Hothir, and Mahazioth. 5All these were the sons of Heman the king's seer in the words of God, to exalt his horn.[a] For God gave Heman fourteen sons and three daughters.

6All these were under the direction of their father for the music in the house of the LORD, with cymbals, stringed instruments, and harps, for the service of the house of God. Asaph, Jeduthun, and Heman were under the authority of the king.
7So the number of them, with their brethren who were instructed in the songs of the LORD, all who were skillful, was two hundred and eighty-eight.

8And they cast lots for their duty, the small as well as the great, the teacher with the student.

9Now the first lot for Asaph came out for Joseph; the second for Gedaliah, him with his brethren and sons, twelve; 10the third for Zaccur, his sons and his brethren, twelve; 11the fourth for Jizri,[a] his sons and his brethren, twelve; 12the fifth for Nethaniah, his sons and his brethren, twelve; 13the sixth for Bukkiah, his sons and his brethren, twelve; 14the seventh for Jesharelah,[a] his sons and 25:1 The musicians served a principal role in the true worship of Israel. They were from the sons of Asaph, Heman, and Jeduthun (also called Ethan; see 1 Chr. 6:31, note). Lots were cast (see 1 Chr. 24:1, note), and they were divided into 24 divisions, each with 12 members (see 1 Chr. 23:3–5, note).

The Gatekeepers

26 Concerning the divisions of the gatekeepers: of the Korahites, Meshelemiah the son of Kore, of the sons of Asaph. [2]And the sons of Meshelemiah were Zechariah the firstborn, Jediael the second, Zebadiah the third, Jathniel the fourth, [3]Elam the fifth, Jehohanan the sixth, Eliehoenai the seventh.

[4]Moreover the sons of Obed-Edom were Shemaiah the firstborn, Jehozabad the second, Joah the third, Sacar the fourth, Nethanel the fifth, [5]Ammiel the sixth, Issachar the seventh, Peulthai the eighth; for God blessed him.

[6]Also to Shemaiah his son were sons born who governed their fathers' houses, because they were men of great ability. [7]The sons of Shemaiah were Othni, Rephael, Obed, and Elzabad, whose brothers Elihu and Semachiah were able men.

[8]All these were of the sons of Obed-Edom, they and their sons and their brethren, able men with strength for the work: sixty-two of Obed-Edom.

[9]And Meshelemiah had sons and brethren, eighteen able men.

[10]Also Hosah, of the children of Merari, had sons: Shimri the first (for though he was not the firstborn, his father made him the first), [11]Hilkiah the second, Tebaliah the third, Zechariah the fourth; all the sons and brethren of Hosah were thirteen.

[12]Among these were the divisions of the gatekeepers, among the chief men, having duties just like their brethren, to serve in the house of the LORD. [13]And they cast lots for each gate, the small as well as the great, according to their father's house. [14]The lot for the East Gate fell to Shelemiah. Then they cast lots for his son Zechariah, a wise counselor, and his lot came out for the North Gate; [15]to Obed-Edom the South Gate, and to his sons the storehouse.[a] [16]To Shuppim and Hosah the lot came out for the West Gate, with the Shallecheth Gate on the ascending highway—watchman opposite watchman. [17]On the east were six Levites, on the north four each day, on the south four each day, and for the storehouse[a] two by two. [18]As for the Parbar[a] on the west, there were four on the highway and two at the Parbar. [19]These were the divisions of the gatekeepers among the sons of Korah and among the sons of Merari.

The Treasuries and Other Duties

[20]Of the Levites, Ahijah was over the treasuries of the house of God and over the treasuries of the dedicated things. [21]The sons of Laadan, the descendants of the Gershonites of Laadan, heads of their fathers' houses, of Laadan the Gershonite: Jehieli. [22]The sons of Jehieli, Zetham and Joel his brother, were over the treasuries of the house of the LORD. [23]Of the Amramites, the Izharites, the Hebronites, and the Uzzielites: [24]Shebuel the son of Gershom, the son of Moses, was overseer of the treasuries. [25]And his brethren by Eliezer were Rehabiah his son, Jeshaiah his son, Joram his son, Zichri his son, and Shelomith his son.

[26]This Shelomith and his brethren were over all the treasuries of the dedicated things which King David and the heads of fathers' houses, the captains over thousands and hundreds, and the captains of the army, had dedicated. [27]Some of the spoils won in battles they dedicated to maintain the house of the LORD. [28]And all that Samuel the seer, Saul the son of Kish, Abner the son of Ner, and Joab the son of Zeruiah had dedicated, every dedicated thing, was under the hand of Shelomith and his brethren.

26:1 The gatekeepers were Levites assigned to protect the tabernacle (Num. 1:52, 53). Later they guarded the temple. The gatekeepers were from the Korahites (see Kohath, 1 Chr. 6:22) and Merarites. Obed-Edom was given prominence, although his Levitical connection is uncertain (1 Chr. 13:13, 14; 15:18; 16:38). The storehouse may refer to the treasuries of the king (1 Chr. 26:15, 20–28). The "Parbar" is unknown but may refer to a courtyard area west of the temple (v. 18).

26:20 The king's treasuries requiring administration were filled with the spoils of war (vv. 20, 26, 28; see 1 Chr. 9:26). Levites given charge over the treasuries were from the sons of Gershon and from four Kohathite families (see 1 Chr. 6:16, note). Among these is the family of Moses (Gershom, 1 Chr. 26:24; Eliezer, v. 25; Ex. 18:2–5). The family of Izhar had duties outside Jerusalem. The Hebronites looked after the king's affairs east and west of the Jordan (1 Chr. 26:30, 32).

29Of the Izharites, Chenaniah and his sons performed duties as officials and judges over Israel outside Jerusalem.

30Of the Hebronites, Hashabiah and his brethren, one thousand seven hundred able men, had the oversight of Israel on the west side of the Jordan for all the business of the LORD, and in the service of the king. 31Among the Hebronites, Jerijah was head of the Hebronites according to his genealogy of the fathers. In the fortieth year of the reign of David they were sought, and there were found among them capable men at Jazer of Gilead. 32And his brethren were two thousand seven hundred able men, heads of fathers' houses, whom King David made officials over the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, for every matter pertaining to God and the affairs of the king.

The Military Divisions

27 And the children of Israel, according to their number, the heads of fathers' houses, the captains of thousands and hundreds and their officers, served the king in every matter of the military divisions. These divisions came in and went out month by month throughout all the months of the year, each division having twenty-four thousand.

2Over the first division for the first month was Jashobeam the son of Zabdiel, and in his division were twenty-four thousand; 3*he was* of the children of Perez, and the chief of all the captains of the army for the first month. 4Over the division of the second month was Dodai[a] an Ahohite, and of his division Mikloth also was the leader; in his division were twenty-four thousand. 5The third captain of the army for the third month was Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada the priest, who was chief; in his division were twenty-four thousand. 6This was the Benaiah who was mighty among the thirty, and was over the thirty; in his division was Ammizabad his son. 7The fourth captain for the fourth month was Asahel the brother of Joab, and Zebadiah his son after him; in his division were twenty-four thousand. 8The fifth captain for the fifth month was Shamhuth[a] the Izrahite; in his division were twenty-four thousand. 9The sixth captain for the sixth month was Ira the son of Ikkesh the Tekoite; in his division were twenty-four thousand. 10The seventh captain for the seventh month was Helez the Pelonite, of the children of Ephraim; in his division were twenty-four thousand. 11The eighth captain for the eighth month was Sibbechai the Hushathite, of the Zarhites; in his division were twenty-four thousand. 12The ninth captain for the ninth month was Abiezer the Anathothite, of the Benjamites; in his division were twenty-four thousand. 13The tenth captain for the tenth month was Maharai the Netophathite, of the Zarhites; in his division were twenty-four thousand. 14The eleventh captain for the eleventh month was Benaiah the Pirathonite, of the children of Ephraim; in his division were twenty-four thousand. 15The twelfth captain for the twelfth month was Heldai[a] the Netophathite, of Othniel; in his division were twenty-four thousand.

Leaders of Tribes

16Furthermore, over the tribes of Israel: the officer over the Reubenites was Eliezer the son of Zichri; over the Simeonites, Shephatiah the son of Maachah; 17*over* the Levites, Hashabiah the son of Kemuel; over the Aaronites, Zadok; 18*over* Judah, Elihu, one of David's brothers; over Issachar, Omri the son of Michael; 19*over* Zebulun, Ishmaiah the son of Obadiah; over Naphtali, Jerimoth the son of Azriel; 20*over* the children of Ephraim, Hoshea the son of Azaziah; over the half-tribe of Manasseh, Joel the son of Pedaiah; 21*over* the half-tribe of Manasseh in Gilead, Iddo the son of Zechariah; over Benjamin, Jaasiel the son of Abner; 22*over* Dan, Azarel the son of Jeroham. These were the leaders of the tribes of Israel.

23But David did not take the number of those twenty years old and under, because the LORD had said He would multiply Israel like the stars of the heavens. 24Joab the son of Zeruiah began a census, but he did not finish, for wrath came upon Israel because of this census; nor was the number recorded in the account of the chronicles of King David.

Other State Officials

25And Azmaveth the son of Adiel was over the king's treasuries; and Jehonathan the son of Uzziah was over the storehouses in the field, in the cities, in the villages, and in the fortresses. 26Ezri the son of Chelub was over those who did the work of the field for tilling the ground. 27And Shimei the Ramathite was over the vineyards, and

27:4 [a]Hebrew Dodai, usually spelled Dodo (compare 2 Samuel 23:9)
27:8 [a]Spelled Shammoth in 11:27 and Shammah in 2 Samuel 23:11
27:15 [a]Spelled Heled in 11:30 and Heleb in 2 Samuel 23:29

27:1 Protection of the kingdom was assigned to 12 military divisions, each with 24,000 men and each serving one month (see 1 Chr. 23:3–5, note). The captain of the armies of the first month, Jashobeam, descended from Perez, son of Judah (1 Chr. 27:2, 3). This shows the prominence of the tribe of Judah among all Israel. A head is appointed for each tribe (vv. 16–21). Note the absence of Gad and Asher—perhaps because the chronicler followed his usual form and structure of planning to limit his list to 12 tribes, which he already had; or he may not have had the names of their leaders available and omitted them for that reason (see 1 Chr. 2:3). The responsibilities are listed according to the treasury (1 Chr. 27:25), the produce of the land (vv. 26–28), and the livestock (vv. 29–31). David's uncle, Jehonathan, is otherwise unknown (v. 32).

Zabdi the Shiphmite was over the produce of the vineyards for the supply of wine. 28Baal-Hanan the Gederite was over the olive trees and the sycamore trees that were in the lowlands, and Joash was over the store of oil. 29And Shitrai the Sharonite was over the herds that fed in Sharon, and Shaphat the son of Adlai was over the herds that were in the valleys. 30Obil the Ishmaelite was over the camels, Jehdeiah the Meronothite was over the donkeys, 31and Jaziz the Hagrite was over the flocks. All these were the officials over King David's property.

32Also Jehonathan, David's uncle, was a counselor, a wise man, and a scribe; and Jehiel the son of Hachmoni was with the king's sons. 33Ahithophel was the king's counselor, and Hushai the Archite was the king's companion. 34After Ahithophel was Jehoiada the son of Benaiah, then Abiathar. And the general of the king's army was Joab.

Solomon Instructed to Build the Temple

28 Now David assembled at Jerusalem all the leaders of Israel: the officers of the tribes and the captains of the divisions who served the king, the captains over thousands and captains over hundreds, and the stewards over all the substance and possessions of the king and of his sons, with the officials, the valiant men, and all the mighty men of valor.

2Then King David rose to his feet and said, "Hear me, my brethren and my people: I had it in my heart to build a house of rest for the ark of the covenant of the LORD, and for the footstool of our God, and had made preparations to build it. 3But God said to me, 'You shall not build a house for My name, because you have been a man of war and have shed blood.' 4However the LORD God of Israel chose me above all the house of my father to be king over Israel forever, for He has chosen Judah to be the ruler. And of the house of Judah, the house of my father, and among the sons of my father, He was pleased with me to make me king over all Israel. 5And of all my sons (for the LORD has given me many sons) He has chosen my son Solomon to sit on the throne of the kingdom of the LORD over Israel. 6Now He said to me, 'It is your son Solomon who shall build My house and My courts; for I have chosen him to be My son, and I will be his Father. 7Moreover I will establish his kingdom forever, if he is steadfast to observe My commandments and My judgments, as it is this day.' 8Now therefore, in the sight of all Israel, the assembly of the LORD, and in the hearing of our God, be careful to seek out all the commandments of the LORD your God, that you may possess this good land, and leave it as an inheritance for your children after you forever.

9"As for you, my son Solomon, know the God of your father, and serve Him with a loyal heart and with a willing mind; for the LORD searches all hearts and understands all the intent of the thoughts. If you seek Him, He will be found by you; but if you forsake Him, He will cast you off forever. 10Consider now, for the LORD has chosen you to build a house for the sanctuary; be strong, and do it."

11Then David gave his son Solomon the plans for the vestibule, its houses, its treasuries, its upper chambers, its inner chambers, and the place of the mercy seat; 12and the plans for all that he had by the Spirit, of the courts of the house of the LORD, of all the chambers all around, of the treasuries of the house of God, and of the treasuries for the dedicated things; 13also for the division of the priests and the Levites, for all the work of the service of the house of the LORD, and for all the articles of service in the house of the LORD. 14*He gave* gold by weight for things of gold, for all articles used in every kind of service; also silver for all articles of silver by weight, for all articles used in every kind of service; 15the weight for the lampstands of gold, and their lamps of gold, by weight for each lampstand and its lamps; for the lampstands of silver by weight, for the lampstand and its lamps, according to the use of each lampstand. 16And by weight he gave gold for the tables of the showbread, for each table, and silver for the tables of silver; 17also pure gold for the forks, the basins, the pitchers of pure gold, and the golden bowls—he gave gold by weight for every bowl; and for the silver bowls, silver by weight for every bowl; 18and refined gold by weight for the altar of incense, and for the construction of the chariot, that is, the gold cherubim that spread their wings and overshadowed the ark of the covenant of the LORD. 19"All this," said David, "the LORD made me understand in writing, by His hand upon me, all the works of these plans."

20And David said to his son Solomon, "Be strong and of good courage, and do it; do not fear nor be dismayed, for the LORD God—my God—will be with you. He will not leave you nor forsake you, until you have finished all the work for the service of the house of the LORD. 21*Here are* the divisions of the priests and the Levites for all the service of the house of God; and every willing craftsman will be with you for all manner of workmanship, for every kind of service; also the leaders and all the people will be completely at your command."

28:1 Solomon's building of the temple. This expanded and intensified record of 1 Chronicles 22 takes the form of a greater encouragement to Solomon. David legitimized Solomon's claim to the throne by tracing his heritage to Judah (1 Chr. 28:4, 5; see 1 Chr. 2:3). Solomon is chosen to sit on the throne (1 Chr. 28:5), to be God's son (v. 6), and to build the temple (v. 10). Solomon did fail in a key point, however. He did not obey steadfastly God's commandments as specified (v. 7). David's preparation for the temple is expanded to include the plans of God for the temple (vv. 11–21; Ex. 25:9, 40; 1 Chr. 22:14–16). All Israel joined in the building project with contributions (1 Chr. 29:6–9). The "daric" is a Persian coin probably named for King Darius of Persia (1 Chr. 29:7).

Offerings for Building the Temple

29 Furthermore King David said to all the assembly: "My son Solomon, whom alone God has chosen, is young and inexperienced; and the work is great, because the temple[a] is not for man but for the LORD God. 2Now for the house of my God I have prepared with all my might: gold for things to be made of gold, silver for things of silver, bronze for things of bronze, iron for things of iron, wood for things of wood, onyx stones, stones to be set, glistening stones of various colors, all kinds of precious stones, and marble slabs in abundance. 3Moreover, because I have set my affection on the house of my God, I have given to the house of my God, over and above all that I have prepared for the holy house, my own special treasure of gold and silver: 4three thousand talents of gold, of the gold of Ophir, and seven thousand talents of refined silver, to overlay the walls of the houses; 5the gold for things of gold and the silver for things of silver, and for all kinds of work to be done by the hands of craftsmen. Who then is willing to consecrate himself this day to the LORD?"

6Then the leaders of the fathers' houses, leaders of the tribes of Israel, the captains of thousands and of hundreds, with the officers over the king's work, offered willingly. 7They gave for the work of the house of God five thousand talents and ten thousand darics of gold, ten thousand talents of silver, eighteen thousand talents of bronze, and one hundred thousand talents of iron. 8And whoever had precious stones gave them to the treasury of the house of the LORD, into the hand of Jehiel[a] the Gershonite. 9Then the people rejoiced, for they had offered willingly, because with a loyal heart they had offered willingly to the LORD; and King David also rejoiced greatly.

David's Praise to God

10Therefore David blessed the LORD before all the assembly; and David said:

"Blessed are You, LORD God of Israel, our Father,
forever and ever.
11Yours, O LORD, is the greatness,
The power and the glory,
The victory and the majesty;
For all that is in heaven and in earth is Yours;
Yours is the kingdom, O LORD,
And You are exalted as head over all.
12Both riches and honor come from You,
And You reign over all.
In Your hand is power and might;
In Your hand it is to make great
And to give strength to all.

13"Now therefore, our God,
We thank You
And praise Your glorious name.
14But who am I, and who are my people,
That we should be able to offer so willingly as this?
For all things come from You,
And of Your own we have given You.
15For we are aliens and pilgrims before You,
As were all our fathers;
Our days on earth are as a shadow,
And without hope.

16"O LORD our God, all this abundance that we have prepared to build You a house for Your holy name is from Your hand, and is all Your own. 17I know also, my God, that You test the heart and have pleasure in uprightness. As for me, in the uprightness of my heart I have willingly offered all these things; and now with joy I have seen Your people, who are present here to offer willingly to You. 18O LORD God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, our fathers, keep this forever in the intent of the

29:1 [a]Literally palace 29:8 [a]Possibly the same as Jehieli (compare 26:21, 22)

29:1 The tabernacle and temple are presented in the OT as one unit. The Lord has only one dwelling place on earth. Much of the language used here is reminiscent of the tabernacle passages (Ex. 25–31; 35–40; see chart, The Temples of the Bible).

29:5 Those who did the work (Heb. charash, lit. "worker," "skillful one") has particular reference to the "craftsmen" for the building of the tabernacle (Ex. 28:3; 31:1–11). The word "consecrate" (lit. "to fill the hand") is used to describe the setting apart to the priesthood (Ex. 28:41; 2 Chr. 13:9). Materials gathered are the same used in the tabernacle (1 Chr. 29:2–5, 7, 8; Ex. 25:3–7; 1 Chr. 28:14–18).

29:9 The generosity of the people to give for each building project is stressed. Forms of the Hebrew word nadab (lit. "offer voluntarily") occur in this passage (1 Chr. 28:21, "willing craftsman"; 1 Chr. 29:5; Ex. 35:5, 21, 22, 29, "willing"; 1 Chr. 29:6, 9, "offered willingly"; Ex. 25:2, "willingly"). The heart is at the center of this voluntary giving (1 Chr. 29:9). Both Moses and David appealed to the people to make willing contributions to the building (vv. 1–5; Ex. 35:4–9). In both cases, the people respond from the heart (1 Chr. 29:6–9; Ex. 35:20–29). Everyone rejoiced over this "willing" response to the needs of the temple (see 2 Cor. 9, Giving).

29:17 The opportunity to give willingly to the building of the temple is cause for David's humility (see v. 9, note; vv. 14, 17). David requested that the people and Solomon remain faithful to the Lord and continue to be generous and joyful regarding the building of the temple. David's final words were about the temple, for which he had been preparing throughout his reign.

thoughts of the heart of Your people, and fix their heart toward You. 19And give my son Solomon a loyal heart to keep Your commandments and Your testimonies and Your statutes, to do all these things, and to build the temple[a] for which I have made provision."

20Then David said to all the assembly, "Now bless the LORD your God." So all the assembly blessed the LORD God of their fathers, and bowed their heads and prostrated themselves before the LORD and the king.

Solomon Anointed King

21And they made sacrifices to the LORD and offered burnt offerings to the LORD on the next day: a thousand bulls, a thousand rams, a thousand lambs, with their drink offerings, and sacrifices in abundance for all Israel. 22So they ate and drank before the LORD with great gladness on that day. And they made Solomon the son of David king the second time, and anointed him before the LORD to be the leader, and Zadok to be priest. 23Then Solomon sat on the throne of the LORD as king instead of David his father, and prospered; and all Israel obeyed him. 24All the leaders and the mighty men, and also all the sons of King David, submitted themselves to King Solomon. 25So the LORD exalted Solomon exceedingly in the sight of all Israel, and bestowed on him such royal majesty as had not been on any king before him in Israel.

The Close of David's Reign

26Thus David the son of Jesse reigned over all Israel. 27And the period that he reigned over Israel was forty years; seven years he reigned in Hebron, and thirty-three years he reigned in Jerusalem. 28So he died in a good old age, full of days and riches and honor; and Solomon his son reigned in his place. 29Now the acts of King David, first and last, indeed they are written in the book of Samuel the seer, in the book of Nathan the prophet, and in the book of Gad the seer, 30with all his reign and his might, and the events that happened to him, to Israel, and to all the kingdoms of the lands.

29:19 [a]Literally palace

29:21–25 The crowning of Solomon as king. The overwhelming generosity and joy of all Israel over building the temple is expressed in a religious celebration. In this context Solomon, the temple builder, was made king (vv. 21, 22). Contrast this account of the crowning of Solomon with that of 1 Kings 1 and 2. Here Solomon experienced no opposition, but even the "sons of King David" immediately were loyal to him (v. 24). All reference to the attempt of Adonijah to claim the throne was omitted (1 Kin. 1). Like David, Solomon enjoyed the unanimous support of "all Israel" (1 Chr. 11:1–3; 29:23, 25). David was an integral part of Solomon's accession to the throne. His name is mentioned three times (1 Chr. 29:22–24).

29:26–30 David, the temple planner, died as Solomon, the temple builder, was made king with the unanimous support of the people (vv. 23–25; see 1 Chr. 17:1, 11–15, notes). The naming of sources indicates the thorough and careful research of the chronicler (1 Chr. 29:29, 30). Nothing here suggests that the canon is incomplete or that any portion of these works is uninspired. These three titled works may well refer to portions of 1 and 2 Samuel and/or other works in the historical archives of Israel. Samuel (1 Sam. 3:19—4:1), Nathan (see 2 Sam. 12:1–15; 1 Chr. 17:1–15), and Gad (2 Sam. 24:10–19; 1 Chr. 21:9–19) are well known from David's life.

2 Chronicles

AUTHOR

Together, 1 and 2 Chronicles form one work of an author usually referred to as the "chronicler" (see 1 Chronicles, Introduction: Author).

DATE

Chronicles is a postexilic work with a date of completion about fifth century B.C.

BACKGROUND

See 1 Chronicles, Introduction: Background Information.

PURPOSE: In 2 Chronicles, the central focus is on Solomon's reign. Solomon's role in the history of the temple has been constructed around a specific Hebrew literary form in which passages parallel in content are repeated in the reverse order, bracketing a central passage. For example, passages concerning "house, tribute, building" (2 Chr. 1:1—4:22) are repeated in the reverse order, "building, tribute, house" (2 Chr. 8:1—9:28). The central section, "The temple and the covenant" (2 Chr. 5:1—7:22), then becomes the focal point of Solomon's reign. The covenant demanded that the people live in devotion to the Lord. An integral part of that devotion was loyalty to the temple and worship in the temple. This lifestyle was the way to blessing.

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: The history of the temple in Jerusalem as presented in 1 and 2 Chronicles is structured into four parts. After the important genealogies of 1 Chronicles 1—9, revealing God's sovereign election and preservation of Israel, the chronicler focused his history on David as the temple planner (1 Chr. 10—29), on Solomon as the temple builder (2 Chr. 1—9), and on Israel as the nation responsible for the temple (2 Chr. 10—36).

Throughout Chronicles, speeches are made by kings (1 Chr. 22:7–16; 2 Chr. 13:4–12; 14:11), by prophets (2 Chr. 15:1–7; 21:12–15), and by the Lord Himself (2 Chr. 7:12–22). Such speeches and prayers, many of which are unique to the chronicler, reinforce the chronicler's theology that devotion to the Lord, especially as exemplified in temple worship, is the means to blessing and prosperity. Anything less than complete devotion is sin. The chronicler repeatedly used specific vocabulary in speeches, prayers, and narrative sections to demonstrate Israel's faithfulness, or lack thereof, to the Lord. The reader will find frequent use of such words as "seek," "forsake," "turn," "humble," "trust," "worship" (bow down), "praise," "sanctify," and "pray."

The chronicler's use of numbers raises a perplexing question. Some numbers seem too large, and others seem to contradict those given in related passages. Solutions suggested often have their own difficulties and weaknesses. Yet exegetical, historical, and archaeological investigations have continued to clarify and explain. The numbers used may provide a literary device for the chronicler to accomplish his purpose.

Solomon Requests Wisdom

1 Now Solomon the son of David was strengthened in his kingdom, and the LORD his God was with him and exalted him exceedingly.

2 And Solomon spoke to all Israel, to the captains of thousands and of hundreds, to the judges, and to every leader in all Israel, the heads of the fathers' houses. 3 Then Solomon, and all the assembly with him, went to the high place that was at Gibeon; for the tabernacle of meeting with God was there, which Moses the servant of the LORD had made in the wilderness. 4 But David had brought up the ark of God from Kirjath Jearim to the place David had prepared for it, for he had pitched a tent for it at Jerusalem. 5 Now the bronze altar that Bezalel the son of Uri, the son of Hur, had made, he put[a] before the tabernacle of the LORD; Solomon and the assembly sought Him there. 6 And Solomon went up there to the bronze altar before the LORD, which was at the tabernacle of meeting, and offered a thousand burnt offerings on it.

7 On that night God appeared to Solomon, and said to him, "Ask! What shall I give you?"

8 And Solomon said to God: "You have shown great mercy to David my father, and have made me

1:5 [a]Some authorities read it was there.

1:1 Solomon fulfilled the promises God had made to David that his son would build the house of the Lord and that the Lord would build a house for David, that is, establish David's heirs on the throne of Israel (1 Chr. 17:10–14; 22:10; 28:6, 7; 29:19, 23–25). The chronicler pictured an easy transition of power from David to Solomon (see 1 Chr. 23:1; 29:21–25, note). Solomon was a man of rest (1 Chr. 22:9). Solomon's kingdom was established by God with wisdom and prosperity (1 Chr. 22:10–13). The account of the chronicler gives little hint of Solomon's turning from the Lord and of the resulting judgment for his sin (compare 1 Kin. 11:1–40 with 2 Chr. 8:11).

1:3 The 1 Kings account emphasizes Solomon's role in the sacrifice at Gibeon (1 Kin. 3:4). The chronicler emphasizes that it was the king and all the assembly who went to Gibeon, showing all the people as actively supporting and participating in Solomon's activities. During David's reign, Gibeon, a Levitical city of Benjamin just north of Jerusalem, was the location of the tabernacle that Moses had built (1 Chr. 21:29). A "high place" was a worship site, usually an altar, built on an elevated location such as a mountain or hill (Is. 65:7; Ezek. 6:13). The high places of foreign gods were to be destroyed, but nonetheless they were common throughout Israel (Deut. 12:1–14; 2 Chr. 14:3, 5).

1:5 Bezalel. The chronicler makes a direct association between Bezalel, the builder of the tabernacle, and Solomon, the builder of the temple (see Ex. 31:2–5; 35:30—36:7; 38:22; 1 Chr. 2:18–20). Bezalel built the bronze altar for the tabernacle according to the plans God had given Moses (Ex. 37:1; see chart, The Furniture of the Tabernacle). Solomon built a bronze altar for the temple of the Lord according to the plans God had given David (2 Chr. 3:1; 4:1; see chart, The Plan of Solomon's Temple). Both men were from the tribe of Judah (Ex. 31:2; 1 Chr. 28:4, 5).

king in his place. 9Now, O LORD God, let Your promise to David my father be established, for You have made me king over a people like the dust of the earth in multitude. 10Now give me wisdom and knowledge, that I may go out and come in before this people; for who can judge this great people of Yours?"

11Then God said to Solomon: "Because this was in your heart, and you have not asked riches or wealth or honor or the life of your enemies, nor have you asked long life—but have asked wisdom and knowledge for yourself, that you may judge My people over whom I have made you king— 12wisdom and knowledge are granted to you; and I will give you riches and wealth and honor, such as none of the kings have had who were before you, nor shall any after you have the like."

Solomon's Military and Economic Power

13So Solomon came to Jerusalem from the high place that was at Gibeon, from before the tabernacle of meeting, and reigned over Israel. 14And Solomon gathered chariots and horsemen; he had one thousand four hundred chariots and twelve thousand horsemen, whom he stationed in the chariot cities and with the king in Jerusalem. 15Also the king made silver and gold as common in Jerusalem as stones, and he made cedars as abundant as the sycamores which are in the lowland. 16And Solomon had horses imported from Egypt and Keveh; the king's merchants bought them in Keveh at the current price. 17They also acquired and imported from Egypt a chariot for six hundred shekels of silver, and a horse for one hundred and fifty; thus, through their agents,[a] they exported them to all the kings of the Hittites and the kings of Syria.

Solomon Prepares to Build the Temple

2 Then Solomon determined to build a temple for the name of the LORD, and a royal house for himself. 2Solomon selected seventy thousand men to bear burdens, eighty thousand to quarry stone in the mountains, and three thousand six hundred to oversee them.

3Then Solomon sent to Hiram[a] king of Tyre, saying:

> As you have dealt with David my father, and sent him cedars to build himself a house to dwell in, so deal with me. 4Behold, I am building a temple for the name of the LORD my God, to dedicate it to Him, to burn before Him sweet incense, for the continual showbread, for the burnt offerings morning and evening, on the Sabbaths, on the New Moons, and on the set feasts of the LORD our God. This is an ordinance forever to Israel.
> 5And the temple which I build will be great, for our God is greater than all gods. 6But who is able to build Him a temple, since heaven and the heaven of heavens cannot contain Him? Who am I then, that I should build Him a temple, except to burn sacrifice before Him?
> 7Therefore send me at once a man skillful to work in gold and silver, in bronze and iron, in purple and crimson and blue, who has skill to engrave with the skillful men who are with me in Judah and Jerusalem, whom David my father provided. 8Also send me cedar and cypress and algum logs from Lebanon, for I know that your servants have skill to cut timber in Lebanon; and indeed my servants will be with your servants, 9to prepare timber for me in abundance, for the temple which I am about to build shall be great and wonderful.
> 10And indeed I will give to your servants, the woodsmen who cut timber, twenty thousand kors of ground wheat, twenty thousand kors of barley, twenty thousand baths of wine, and twenty thousand baths of oil.

11Then Hiram king of Tyre answered in writing, which he sent to Solomon:

> Because the LORD loves His people, He has made you king over them.
>
> 12Hiram[a] also said:
>
> Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, who made heaven and earth, for He has given King David

1:17 [a]Literally by their hands 2:3 [a]Hebrew Huram (compare 1 Kings 5:1) 2:12 [a]Hebrew Huram (compare 1 Kings 5:1)

2:2 The labor force for the work of the temple is the subject of correspondence between Solomon and Hiram (see 1 Kin. 5:13, note). The chronicler's focus is on the aliens forced into labor and not on Israelite labor.

2:13, 14 Huram is presented as a "master craftsman" as was Aholiab, a tabernacle artisan. Huram seemingly is the only worker in bronze. The chronicler noted skills paralleling those of Aholiab and Bezalel (v. 7; Ex. 35:30–35). Aholiab worked on the tabernacle from the beginning (Ex. 31:1–11). Both Huram and Aholiab were from the tribe of Dan (2 Chr. 2:14; Ex. 31:6). Huram's mother, though unnamed, is listed as being from the tribe of Dan. In another reference she is linked with the tribe of Naphtali (1 Kin. 7:13, 14). Though seemingly a contradiction, many reasonable explanations are proposed. One suggestion is that in Solomon's day the city of Dan and its territories were part of the general region of Naphtali, making it quite possible for Huram's mother, though living in Dan, to be from the tribe of Naphtali. Huram's father was Phoenician, which gave Huram a unique ability linguistically and culturally for dealing with the men of mixed nationalities working under him.

a wise son, endowed with prudence and understanding, who will build a temple for the LORD and a royal house for himself!

13 And now I have sent a skillful man, endowed with understanding, Huram[a] my master[b] craftsman 14 (the son of a woman of the daughters of Dan, and his father was a man of Tyre), skilled to work in gold and silver, bronze and iron, stone and wood, purple and blue, fine linen and crimson, and to make any engraving and to accomplish any plan which may be given to him, with your skillful men and with the skillful men of my lord David your father.

15 Now therefore, the wheat, the barley, the oil, and the wine which my lord has spoken of, let him send to his servants. 16 And we will cut wood from Lebanon, as much as you need; we will bring it to you in rafts by sea to Joppa, and you will carry it up to Jerusalem.

17 Then Solomon numbered all the aliens who were in the land of Israel, after the census in which David his father had numbered them; and there were found to be one hundred and fifty-three thousand six hundred. 18 And he made seventy thousand of them bearers of burdens, eighty thousand stonecutters in the mountain, and three thousand six hundred overseers to make the people work.

Solomon Builds the Temple

3 Now Solomon began to build the house of the LORD at Jerusalem on Mount Moriah, where the LORD[a] had appeared to his father David, at the place that David had prepared on the threshing floor of Ornan[b] the Jebusite. 2 And he began to build on the second day of the second month in the fourth year of his reign.

3 This is the foundation which Solomon laid for building the house of God: The length was sixty cubits (by cubits according to the former measure) and the width twenty cubits. 4 And the vestibule that was in front of the sanctuary[a] was twenty cubits long across the width of the house, and the height was one hundred and[b] twenty. He overlaid the inside with pure gold. 5 The larger room[a] he paneled with cypress which he overlaid with fine gold, and he carved palm trees and chainwork on it. 6 And he decorated the house with precious stones for beauty, and the gold was gold from Parvaim. 7 He also overlaid the house—the beams and doorposts, its walls and doors—with gold; and he carved cherubim on the walls.

8 And he made the Most Holy Place. Its length was according to the width of the house, twenty cubits, and its width twenty cubits. He overlaid it with six hundred talents of fine gold. 9 The weight of the nails was fifty shekels of gold; and he overlaid the upper area with gold. 10 In the Most Holy Place he made two cherubim, fashioned by carving, and overlaid them with gold. 11 The wings of the cherubim were twenty cubits in overall length: one wing of the one cherub was five cubits, touching the wall of the room, and the other wing was five cubits, touching the wing of the other cherub; 12 one wing of the other cherub was five cubits, touching the wall of the room, and the other wing also was five cubits, touching the wing of the other cherub. 13 The wings of these cherubim spanned twenty cubits overall. They stood on their feet, and they faced inward. 14 And he made the veil of blue, purple, crimson, and fine linen, and wove cherubim into it.

15 Also he made in front of the temple[a] two pillars thirty-five[b] cubits high, and the capital that was on the top of each of them was five cubits. 16 He made wreaths of chainwork, as in the inner sanctuary, and put them on top of the pillars; and he made one hundred pomegranates, and put them on the wreaths of chainwork. 17Then he set up the pillars before the temple, one on the right hand and the other on the left; he called the name of the one on the right hand Jachin, and the name of the one on the left Boaz.

3:1–17 The postexilic temple paled in comparison to the splendor and size of Solomon's temple (Hag. 2:3). Mount Moriah, the place of Abraham's offering of Isaac, only here in Scripture is associated with the temple site (2 Chr. 3:1; see Gen. 22:2). Among the many temple preparations made by David was the location of the temple site (see 1 Chr. 21:27–30, note). "Parvaim" is seemingly the name of a place, but its location is unknown (2 Chr. 3:6). The veil is a deliberate reference to the tabernacle (v. 14; Ex. 26:31–33). The significance of the names of the pillars is unclear (see chart, The Plan of Solomon's Temple). "Jachin" (a compound term using Yahweh and Heb. ku¯n, lit. "accomplish," "set up," "establish") may refer to the Lord as "He who established." "Boaz" may be a reference to the strength of the Lord (2 Chr. 3:17). Together they may form the exclamation, "He establishes in strength!"

Furnishings of the Temple

4 Moreover he made a bronze altar: twenty cubits was its length, twenty cubits its width, and ten cubits its height.

2Then he made the Sea of cast bronze, ten cubits from one brim to the other; it was completely round. Its height was five cubits, and a line of thirty cubits measured its circumference. 3And under it was the likeness of oxen encircling it all around, ten to a cubit, all the way around the Sea. The oxen were cast in two rows, when it was cast. 4It stood on twelve oxen: three looking toward the north, three looking toward the west, three looking toward the south, and three looking toward the east; the Sea was set upon them, and all their back parts pointed inward. 5It was a handbreadth thick; and its brim was shaped like the brim of a cup, like a lily blossom. It contained three thousand[a] baths.

11Then Huram made the pots and the shovels and the bowls. So Huram finished doing the work that he was to do for King Solomon for the house of God: 12the two pillars and the bowl-shaped capitals that were on top of the two pillars; the two networks covering the two bowl-shaped capitals which were on top of the pillars; 13four hundred pomegranates for the two networks (two rows of pomegranates for each network, to cover the two bowl-shaped capitals that were on the pillars); 14he also made carts and the lavers on the carts; 15one Sea and twelve oxen under it; 16also the pots, the shovels, the forks—and all their articles Huram his master[a] craftsman made of burnished bronze for King Solomon for the house of the LORD.

17In the plain of Jordan the king had them cast in clay molds, between Succoth and Zeredah.[a] 18And Solomon had all these articles made in such great abundance that the weight of the bronze was not determined.

19Thus Solomon had all the furnishings made for the house of God: the altar of gold and the tables on which was the showbread; 20the lampstands with their lamps of pure gold, to burn in the prescribed manner in front of the inner sanctuary, 21with the flowers and the lamps and the wick-trimmers of gold, of purest gold; 22the trimmers, the bowls, the ladles, and the censers of pure gold. As for the entry of the sanctuary, its inner doors to the Most Holy Place, and the doors of the main hall of the temple, were gold.

5 So all the work that Solomon had done for the house of the LORD was finished; and Solomon brought in the things which his father David had dedicated: the silver and the gold and all the furnishings. And he put them in the treasuries of the house of God.

The Ark Brought into the Temple

2Now Solomon assembled the elders of Israel and all the heads of the tribes, the chief fathers of the children of Israel, in Jerusalem, that they might bring the ark of the covenant of the LORD up from the City of David, which is Zion. 3Therefore all the men of Israel assembled with the king at the feast, which was in the seventh month. 4So all the elders of Israel came, and the Levites took up the ark. 5Then they brought up the ark, the

4:1–22 Temple furnishings. The "Sea" was for the ritual washing of the priests, and the "ten lavers" were for the washing of utensils used for sacrifices (vv. 2–6; Ex. 30:17–21). The "Sea" stood on "twelve oxen" (2 Chr. 4:4), probably symbolic of the 12 tribes of Israel. The "Sea" was of considerable size (v. 5; 3,000 baths equaling about 12,000 gallons). The "altar of gold" is the altar of incense (v. 19; Ex. 30:1–10; 37:25–28; 1 Chr. 28:18; see also chart, The Furniture of the Tabernacle).

5:1–14 The ark was brought from the city of David to the Most Holy Place of the temple with the same type of religious procession that accompanied David's bringing the ark to Jerusalem (see 1 Kin. 8:1–11; 1 Chr. 15:16, note; see also chart, The Furniture of the Tabernacle). In both processions all Israel gathered at Jerusalem (2 Chr. 5:2, 3); only the Levites carried the ark (vv. 4, 5; see 1 Chr. 15:2); joyful feasting and sacrificing accompanied the procession (2 Chr. 5:3; see 1 Chr. 16:2, 3); the ark was set in the place especially prepared for it (2 Chr. 5:7–10; see 1 Chr. 16:1); and the people were blessed (2 Chr. 6:3; see 1 Chr. 16:2). The feast in the seventh month is the Feast of Tabernacles (2 Chr. 5:3; 7:8–10; see Lev. 23:33–43; chart, The Feasts of Israel). Each procession was accompanied with music and singing (2 Chr. 5:11–13; see 1 Chr. 15:28).

tabernacle of meeting, and all the holy furnishings that were in the tabernacle. The priests and the Levites brought them up. 6Also King Solomon, and all the congregation of Israel who were assembled with him before the ark, were sacrificing sheep and oxen that could not be counted or numbered for multitude. 7Then the priests brought in the ark of the covenant of the LORD to its place, into the inner sanctuary of the temple,[a] to the Most Holy Place, under the wings of the cherubim. 8For the cherubim spread their wings over the place of the ark, and the cherubim overshadowed the ark and its poles. 9The poles extended so that the ends of the poles of the ark could be seen from the holy place, in front of the inner sanctuary; but they could not be seen from outside. And they are there to this day. 10Nothing was in the ark except the two tablets which Moses put there at Horeb, when the LORD made a covenant with the children of Israel, when they had come out of Egypt.

11And it came to pass when the priests came out of the Most Holy Place (for all the priests who were present had sanctified themselves, without keeping to their divisions), 12and the Levites who were the singers, all those of Asaph and Heman and Jeduthun, with their sons and their brethren, stood at the east end of the altar, clothed in white linen, having cymbals, stringed instruments and harps, and with them one hundred and twenty priests sounding with trumpets— 13indeed it came to pass, when the trumpeters and singers were as one, to make one sound to be heard in praising and thanking the LORD, and when they lifted up their voice with the trumpets and cymbals and instruments of music, and praised the LORD, saying:

"For He is good,
For His mercy endures forever,"[a]

that the house, the house of the LORD, was filled with a cloud, 14so that the priests could not continue ministering because of the cloud; for the glory of the LORD filled the house of God.

6 Then Solomon spoke:

"The LORD said He would dwell in the dark cloud.
2I have surely built You an exalted house,
And a place for You to dwell in forever."

Solomon's Speech upon Completion of the Work

3Then the king turned around and blessed the whole assembly of Israel, while all the assembly of Israel was standing. 4And he said: "Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, who has fulfilled with His hands what He spoke with His mouth to my father David, saying, 5'Since the day that I brought My people out of the land of Egypt, I have chosen no city from any tribe of Israel in which to build a house, that My name might be there, nor did I choose any man to be a ruler over My people Israel. 6Yet I have chosen Jerusalem, that My name may be there, and I have chosen David to be over My people Israel.' 7Now it was in the heart of my father David to build a temple[a] for the name of the LORD God of Israel. 8But the LORD said to my father David, 'Whereas it was in your heart to build a temple for My name, you did well in that it was in your heart. 9Nevertheless you shall not build the temple, but your son who will come from your body, he shall build the temple for My name.' 10So the LORD has fulfilled His word which He spoke, and I have filled the position of my father David, and sit on the throne of Israel, as the LORD promised; and I have built the temple for the name of the LORD God of Israel. 11And there I have

5:14 The glory of the Lord. As the ark was placed in the temple, the Most Holy Place was so filled with the presence of the Lord that the priests could not continue ministering. This "glory of the LORD" was represented by a cloud, signifying the dwelling place of the Lord (2 Chr. 6:1; 7:1, 2; see also Ex. 40:34–38).

6:1, 2 The presence of the Lord was pictured as a cloud at Sinai (Ex. 20:21; Deut. 5:22). In contrast to the transportable tabernacle, the temple at Jerusalem was the permanent dwelling place of the Lord (see chart, The Plan of Solomon's Temple).

put the ark, in which is the covenant of the LORD which He made with the children of Israel."

Solomon's Prayer of Dedication

12Then Solomon[a] stood before the altar of the LORD in the presence of all the assembly of Israel, and spread out his hands 13(for Solomon had made a bronze platform five cubits long, five cubits wide, and three cubits high, and had set it in the midst of the court; and he stood on it, knelt down on his knees before all the assembly of Israel, and spread out his hands toward heaven); 14and he said: "LORD God of Israel, there is no God in heaven or on earth like You, who keep Your covenant and mercy with Your servants who walk before You with all their hearts. 15You have kept what You promised Your servant David my father; You have both spoken with Your mouth and fulfilled it with Your hand, as it is this day. 16Therefore, LORD God of Israel, now keep what You promised Your servant David my father, saying, 'You shall not fail to have a man sit before Me on the throne of Israel, only if your sons take heed to their way, that they walk in My law as you have walked before Me.' 17And now, O LORD God of Israel, let Your word come true, which You have spoken to Your servant David.

18"But will God indeed dwell with men on the earth? Behold, heaven and the heaven of heavens cannot contain You. How much less this temple[a] which I have built! 19Yet regard the prayer of Your servant and his supplication, O LORD my God, and listen to the cry and the prayer which Your servant is praying before You: 20that Your eyes may be open toward this temple day and night, toward the place where You said You would put Your name, that You may hear the prayer which Your servant makes toward this place. 21And may You hear the supplications of Your servant and of Your people Israel, when they pray toward this place. Hear from heaven Your dwelling place, and when You hear, forgive.

22"If anyone sins against his neighbor, and is forced to take an oath, and comes and takes an oath before Your altar in this temple, 23then hear from heaven, and act, and judge Your servants, bringing retribution on the wicked by bringing his way on his own head, and justifying the righteous by giving him according to his righteousness.

24"Or if Your people Israel are defeated before an enemy because they have sinned against You, and return and confess Your name, and pray and make supplication before You in this temple, 25then hear from heaven and forgive the sin of Your people Israel, and bring them back to the land which You gave to them and their fathers.

26"When the heavens are shut up and there is no rain because they have sinned against You, when they pray toward this place and confess Your name, and turn from their sin because You afflict them, 27then hear in heaven, and forgive the sin of Your servants, Your people Israel, that You may teach them the good way in which they should walk; and send rain on Your land which You have given to Your people as an inheritance.

28"When there is famine in the land, pestilence or blight or mildew, locusts or grasshoppers; when their enemies besiege them in the land of their cities; whatever plague or whatever sickness there is; 29whatever prayer, whatever supplication is made by anyone, or by all Your people Israel, when each one knows his own burden and his own grief, and spreads out his hands to this temple: 30then hear from heaven Your dwelling place, and forgive, and give to everyone according to all his ways, whose heart You know (for You alone know the hearts of the sons of men), 31that they may fear You, to walk in Your ways as long as they live in the land which You gave to our fathers.

32"Moreover, concerning a foreigner, who is not of Your people Israel, but has come from a far country for the sake of Your great name and Your mighty hand and Your outstretched arm, when they come and pray in this temple; 33then hear from heaven Your dwelling place, and do according to all for which the foreigner calls to You, that all peoples of the earth may know Your name and fear You, as do Your people Israel, and that they may know that this temple which I have built is called by Your name.

34"When Your people go out to battle against their enemies, wherever You send them, and when they pray to You toward this city which You have chosen and the temple which I have built for Your name, 35then hear from heaven their prayer and their supplication, and maintain their cause.

36"When they sin against You (for there is no one who does not sin), and You become angry with them and deliver them to the enemy, and they take them captive to a land far or near; 37*yet* when they come to themselves in the land where they were carried captive, and repent, and make supplication to You in the land of their captivity, saying, 'We have sinned, we have done wrong, and have committed wickedness'; 38and when they return to You with all their heart and with all their soul in the land of their captivity, where they have been carried captive, and pray toward their land which You gave to their fathers, the city which You have chosen, and toward the temple which I have built for Your name: 39then hear from heaven Your dwelling place their prayer and their supplications, and maintain their cause, and forgive Your people who have sinned against You. 40Now, my God, I pray, let Your eyes be open and let Your ears be attentive to the prayer made in this place.

6:12–42 Solomon's prayer is that the Lord would remember His promises in the future just as His promises in the past had been fulfilled in the building of the temple (vv. 15–17). Note the necessity of the obedience of God's covenant people (v. 16; see chart, Models of Obedience and Disobedience). "The place where You said You would put Your name" (v. 20) is where Solomon entreated the Lord to listen. The Lord listened at the temple, answered from heaven, and forgave (vv. 20, 21). Solomon's prayer was not grounded in the Exodus but rather in the temple, "Your resting place," and in the promises to David (v. 41; see 1 Kin. 8:50–53; chart, Solomon's Prayer).

41"Now therefore,
Arise, O LORD God, to Your resting place,
You and the ark of Your strength.
Let Your priests, O LORD God, be clothed with salvation,
And let Your saints rejoice in goodness.

42"O LORD God, do not turn away the face of Your Anointed; Remember the mercies of Your servant David."[a]

Solomon Dedicates the Temple

7 When Solomon had finished praying, fire came down from heaven and consumed the burnt offering and the sacrifices; and the glory of the LORD filled the temple.[a] 2And the priests could not enter the house of the LORD, because the glory of the LORD had filled the LORD's house. 3When all the children of Israel saw how the fire came down, and the glory of the LORD on the temple, they bowed their faces to the ground on the pavement, and worshiped and praised the LORD, saying:

"For He is good,
For His mercy endures forever."[a]

4Then the king and all the people offered sacrifices before the LORD. 5King Solomon offered a sacrifice of twenty-two thousand bulls and one hundred and twenty thousand sheep. So the king and all the people dedicated the house of God. 6And the priests attended to their services; the Levites also with instruments of the music of the LORD, which King David had made to praise the LORD, saying, "For His mercy endures forever,"[a] whenever David offered praise by their ministry. The priests sounded trumpets opposite them, while all Israel stood.

7Furthermore Solomon consecrated the middle of the court that was in front of the house of the LORD; for there he offered burnt offerings and the fat of the peace offerings, because the bronze altar which Solomon had made was not able to receive the burnt offerings, the grain offerings, and the fat.

8At that time Solomon kept the feast seven days, and all Israel with him, a very great assembly from the entrance of Hamath to the Brook of Egypt.[a] 9And on the eighth day they held a sacred assembly, for they observed the dedication of the altar seven days, and the feast seven days. 10On the twenty-third day of the seventh month he sent the people away to their tents, joyful and glad of heart for the good that the LORD had done for David, for Solomon, and for His people Israel. 11Thus Solomon finished the house of the LORD and the king's house; and Solomon successfully accomplished all that came into his heart to make in the house of the LORD and in his own house.

12Then the LORD appeared to Solomon by night, and said to him: "I have heard your prayer, and have chosen this place for Myself as a house of sacrifice. 13When I shut up heaven and there is no rain, or command the locusts to devour the land, or send pestilence among My people, 14if My people who are called by My name will humble themselves, and pray and seek My face, and turn from their wicked ways, then I will hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin and heal their land. 15Now My eyes will be open and My ears attentive to prayer made in this place. 16For now I have chosen and sanctified this house, that My name may be there forever; and My eyes and My heart will be there perpetually. 17As for you, if you walk before Me as your father David walked, and do according to all that I have commanded you, and if you keep My statutes and My judgments, 18then I will establish the throne of your kingdom, as I covenanted with David your father, saying, 'You shall not fail to have a man as ruler in Israel.'

19"But if you turn away and forsake My statutes and My commandments which I have set before you, and go and serve other gods, and worship them, 20then I will uproot them from My land which I have given them; and this house which I have sanctified for My name I will cast out of My sight, and will make it a proverb and a byword among all peoples.

21"And as for this house, which is exalted, everyone who passes by it will be astonished and say, 'Why has the LORD done thus to this land and this house?' 22Then they will answer, 'Because they forsook the LORD God of their fathers, who brought them out of the land of Egypt, and embraced other gods, and worshiped them and served them;

therefore He has brought all this calamity on them.' "

Solomon's Additional Achievements

8 It came to pass at the end of twenty years, when Solomon had built the house of the LORD and his own house, 2that the cities which Hiram[a] had given to Solomon, Solomon built them; and he settled the children of Israel there. 3And Solomon went to Hamath Zobah and seized it. 4He also built Tadmor in the wilderness, and all the storage cities which he built in Hamath. 5He built Upper Beth Horon and Lower Beth Horon, fortified cities with walls, gates, and bars, 6also Baalath and all the storage cities that Solomon had, and all the chariot cities and the cities of the cavalry, and all that Solomon desired to build in Jerusalem, in Lebanon, and in all the land of his dominion.

7All the people who were left of the Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites, who were not of Israel— 8that is, their descendants who were left in the land after them, whom the children of Israel did not destroy—from these Solomon raised forced labor, as it is to this day. 9But Solomon did not make the children of Israel servants for his work. Some were men of war, captains of his officers, captains of his chariots, and his cavalry. 10And others were chiefs of the officials of King Solomon: two hundred and fifty, who ruled over the people.

11Now Solomon brought the daughter of Pharaoh up from the City of David to the house he had built for her, for he said, "My wife shall not dwell in the house of David king of Israel, because the places to which the ark of the LORD has come are holy."

12Then Solomon offered burnt offerings to the LORD on the altar of the LORD which he had built before the vestibule, 13according to the daily rate, offering according to the commandment of Moses, for the Sabbaths, the New Moons, and the three appointed yearly feasts—the Feast of Unleavened Bread, the Feast of Weeks, and the Feast of Tabernacles. 14And, according to the order of David his father, he appointed the divisions of the priests for their service, the Levites for their duties (to praise and serve before the priests) as the duty of each day required, and the gatekeepers by their divisions at each gate; for so David the man of God had commanded. 15They did not depart from the command of the king to the priests and Levites concerning any matter or concerning the treasuries.

16Now all the work of Solomon was well-ordered from[a] the day of the foundation of the house of the LORD until it was finished. So the house of the LORD was completed.

17Then Solomon went to Ezion Geber and Elath[a] on the seacoast, in the land of Edom. 18And Hiram sent him ships by the hand of his servants, and servants who knew the sea. They went with the servants of Solomon to Ophir, and acquired four hundred and fifty talents of gold from there, and brought it to King Solomon.

The Queen of Sheba's Praise of Solomon

9 Now when the queen of Sheba heard of the fame of Solomon, she came to Jerusalem to test Solomon with hard questions, having a very great retinue, camels that bore spices, gold in abundance, and precious stones; and when she came to Solomon, she spoke with him about all that was in her heart. 2So Solomon answered all her questions; there was nothing so difficult for Solomon that he could not explain it to her. 3And when the queen of Sheba had seen the wisdom of 8:1, 2 The cities given by Hiram. The record noted that Solomon had surrendered 20 non-Israelite cities in Galilee to Hiram (1 Kin. 9:11–13)—perhaps as payment for building debts (see 2 Chr. 2:3–16). Apparently, Hiram did not want the cities, forcing Solomon to take them back (1 Kin. 9:12, 13).

8:3–6 Hamath was the northern border of Israel (2 Chr. 7:8). Tadmor (now Palmyra) is about 120 miles northeast of Damascus. Hamath and Tadmor together are indicative of Solomon's control over the land trade routes to the north. Upper and Lower Beth Horon overlooked a valley northwest of Jerusalem, providing access to another important trade and military route. The location of Baalath is uncertain, though in this context it seems to be near Gezer. It could be Baalah or Kirjath Jearim (see 1 Kin. 9:17; 1 Chr. 13:5, 6). Either way, Solomon fortified the military routes leading from Jerusalem.

8:11 Pharaoh's daughter was united with Solomon in a political marriage, and Solomon brought this wife from the City of David to a house prepared for her. The chronicler is unique in providing the reason for this action. Solomon was spiritually sensitive enough to avoid keeping his pagan wife's residence in a holy place (1 Kin. 11:1–4). The chronicler omitted any reference to Solomon's unfaithfulness to the holiness of the temple because of his foreign wives (see 1 Kin. 11, Solomon's Pagan Wives).

8:17—9:12 The queen of Sheba, a woman of great wisdom and enormous wealth, played a significant role in the economy and life of her world. Her visit to Solomon was not only for commercial reasons but also to test Solomon's God-given wisdom (1 Kin. 10:1). This passage is virtually a repetition of the account in 1 Kings and parallels Solomon's encounter with Hiram, king of Tyre. Both Gentile monarchs reacted to Solomon's wisdom and wealth with similar praise, "Blessed be the LORD your God" (2 Chr. 9:5–8; see 2 Chr. 2:12). Both saw Solomon's throne as evidence of God's great love for Israel (2 Chr. 9:8; see 2 Chr. 2:11), and both gave tribute to him (2 Chr. 9:9; see 2 Chr. 2:13–16). The queen of Sheba received honorable mention from Jesus (Matt. 12:38–42; Luke 11:29–32; see also 1 Kin. 10, The Queen of Sheba).

Solomon, the house that he had built, [4]the food on his table, the seating of his servants, the service of his waiters and their apparel, his cupbearers and their apparel, and his entryway by which he went up to the house of the LORD, there was no more spirit in her.

[5]Then she said to the king: "It was a true report which I heard in my own land about your words and your wisdom. [6]However I did not believe their words until I came and saw with my own eyes; and indeed the half of the greatness of your wisdom was not told me. You exceed the fame of which I heard. [7]Happy are your men and happy are these your servants, who stand continually before you and hear your wisdom! [8]Blessed be the LORD your God, who delighted in you, setting you on His throne to be king for the LORD your God! Because your God has loved Israel, to establish them forever, therefore He made you king over them, to do justice and righteousness."

[9]And she gave the king one hundred and twenty talents of gold, spices in great abundance, and precious stones; there never were any spices such as those the queen of Sheba gave to King Solomon.

[10]Also, the servants of Hiram and the servants of Solomon, who brought gold from Ophir, brought algum[a] wood and precious stones. [11]And the king made walkways of the algum[a] wood for the house of the LORD and for the king's house, also harps and stringed instruments for singers; and there were none such as these seen before in the land of Judah.

[12]Now King Solomon gave to the queen of Sheba all she desired, whatever she asked, much more than she had brought to the king. So she turned and went to her own country, she and her servants.

Solomon's Great Wealth

[13]The weight of gold that came to Solomon yearly was six hundred and sixty-six talents of gold, [14]besides what the traveling merchants and traders brought. And all the kings of Arabia and governors of the country brought gold and silver to Solomon. [15]And King Solomon made two hundred large shields of hammered gold; six hundred shekels of hammered gold went into each shield. [16]He also made three hundred shields of hammered gold; three hundred shekels[a] of gold went into each shield. The king put them in the House of the Forest of Lebanon.

[17]Moreover the king made a great throne of ivory, and overlaid it with pure gold. [18]The throne had six steps, with a footstool of gold, which were fastened to the throne; there were armrests on either side of the place of the seat, and two lions stood beside the armrests. [19]Twelve lions stood there, one on each side of the six steps; nothing like this had been made for any other kingdom.

[20]All King Solomon's drinking vessels were gold, and all the vessels of the House of the Forest of Lebanon were pure gold. Not one was silver, for this was accounted as nothing in the days of Solomon. [21]For the king's ships went to Tarshish with the servants of Hiram.[a] Once every three years the merchant ships[b] came, bringing gold, silver, ivory, apes, and monkeys.[c]

[22]So King Solomon surpassed all the kings of the earth in riches and wisdom. [23]And all the kings of the earth sought the presence of Solomon to hear his wisdom, which God had put in his heart. [24]Each man brought his present: articles of silver and gold, garments, armor, spices, horses, and mules, at a set rate year by year.

[25]Solomon had four thousand stalls for horses and chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen whom he stationed in the chariot cities and with the king at Jerusalem.

[26]So he reigned over all the kings from the River[a] to the land of the Philistines, as far as the border of Egypt. [27]The king made silver as common in Jerusalem as stones, and he made cedar trees as abundant as the sycamores which are in the lowland. [28]And they brought horses to Solomon from Egypt and from all lands.

Death of Solomon

[29]Now the rest of the acts of Solomon, first and last, are they not written in the book of Nathan the prophet, in the prophecy of Ahijah the Shilonite, and in the visions of Iddo the seer concerning Jeroboam the son of Nebat? [30]Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel forty years. [31]Then Solomon rested with his fathers, and was buried in the City of David his father. And Rehoboam his son reigned in his place.

9:13–28 The wealth and extent of Solomon's kingdom and wisdom are extolled in these short summaries. This passage reveals the fulfillment of God's words to David regarding his son's kingdom (1 Chr. 17:10–14; 22:9–13; 28:6, 7). The extensive borders of Solomon's kingdom are noted (2 Chr. 9:26). The chronicler portrayed an ideal Solomon ruling an ideal kingdom with tremendous wealth, wisdom, and worldwide recognition within the context of the centrality of the temple for all Israel.

9:29 The death of Solomon. The writings to which the chronicler refers are unknown. (For the book of Nathan the prophet, see 1 Chr. 29:26–30. For Ahijah, see 1 Kin. 11:26–40; 12:12–15; 14:1–18; 15:29; 2 Chr. 10:15. For Iddo, see 2 Chr. 12:15; 13:22).

The Revolt Against Rehoboam

10 And Rehoboam went to Shechem, for all Israel had gone to Shechem to make him king. 2So it happened, when Jeroboam the son of Nebat heard it (he was in Egypt, where he had fled from the presence of King Solomon), that Jeroboam returned from Egypt. 3Then they sent for him and called him. And Jeroboam and all Israel came and spoke to Rehoboam, saying, 4"Your father made our yoke heavy; now therefore, lighten the burdensome service of your father and his heavy yoke which he put on us, and we will serve you."

5So he said to them, "Come back to me after three days." And the people departed.

6Then King Rehoboam consulted the elders who stood before his father Solomon while he still lived, saying, "How do you advise me to answer these people?"

7And they spoke to him, saying, "If you are kind to these people, and please them, and speak good words to them, they will be your servants forever."

8But he rejected the advice which the elders had given him, and consulted the young men who had grown up with him, who stood before him. 9And he said to them, "What advice do you give? How should we answer this people who have spoken to me, saying, 'Lighten the yoke which your father put on us'?"

10Then the young men who had grown up with him spoke to him, saying, "Thus you should speak to the people who have spoken to you, saying, 'Your father made our yoke heavy, but you make it lighter on us'—thus you shall say to them: 'My little finger shall be thicker than my father's waist! 11And now, whereas my father put a heavy yoke on you, I will add to your yoke; my father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scourges!' "[a]

12So Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam on the third day, as the king had directed, saying, "Come back to me the third day." 13Then the king answered them roughly. King Rehoboam rejected the advice of the elders, 14and he spoke to them according to the advice of the young men, saying, "My father[a] made your yoke heavy, but I will add to it; my father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scourges!"[b] 15So the king did not listen to the people; for the turn of events was from God, that the LORD might fulfill His word, which He had spoken by the hand of Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam the son of Nebat.

16Now when all Israel saw that the king did not listen to them, the people answered the king, saying:

"What share have we in David?
We have no inheritance in the son of Jesse.
Every man to your tents, O Israel!
Now see to your own house, O David!"

So all Israel departed to their tents. 17But Rehoboam reigned over the children of Israel who dwelt in the cities of Judah.

18Then King Rehoboam sent Hadoram, who was in charge of revenue; but the children of Israel stoned him with stones, and he died. Therefore King Rehoboam mounted his chariot in haste to flee to Jerusalem. 19So Israel has been in rebellion against the house of David to this day.

11 Now when Rehoboam came to Jerusalem, he assembled from the house of Judah and Benjamin one hundred and eighty thousand chosen men who were warriors, to fight against Israel, that he might restore the kingdom to Rehoboam.

2But the word of the LORD came to Shemaiah the man of God, saying, 3"Speak to Rehoboam the son of Solomon, king of Judah, and to all Israel in Judah and Benjamin, saying, 4'Thus says the LORD: "You shall not go up or fight against your brethren! Let every man return to his house, for this thing is from Me." ' " Therefore they obeyed the words of the LORD, and turned back from attacking Jeroboam.

Rehoboam Fortifies the Cities

5So Rehoboam dwelt in Jerusalem, and built cities for defense in Judah. 6And he built Bethlehem, Etam, Tekoa, 7Beth Zur, Sochoh, Adullam, 8Gath, Mareshah, Ziph, 9Adoraim, Lachish, Azekah, 10Zorah, Aijalon, and Hebron, which are in Judah and Benjamin, fortified cities. 11And he fortified the strongholds, and put captains in them, and stores of food, oil, and wine. 12Also in every city he put shields and spears, and made them very strong, having Judah and Benjamin on his side.

Priests and Levites Move to Judah

13And from all their territories the priests and the Levites who were in all Israel took their stand with him. 14For the Levites left their commonlands and their possessions and came to Judah and

10:11 [a]Literally scorpions 10:14 [a]Following many Hebrew manuscripts, Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate (compare verse 10 and 1 Kings 12:14); Masoretic Text reads I. [b]Literally scorpions

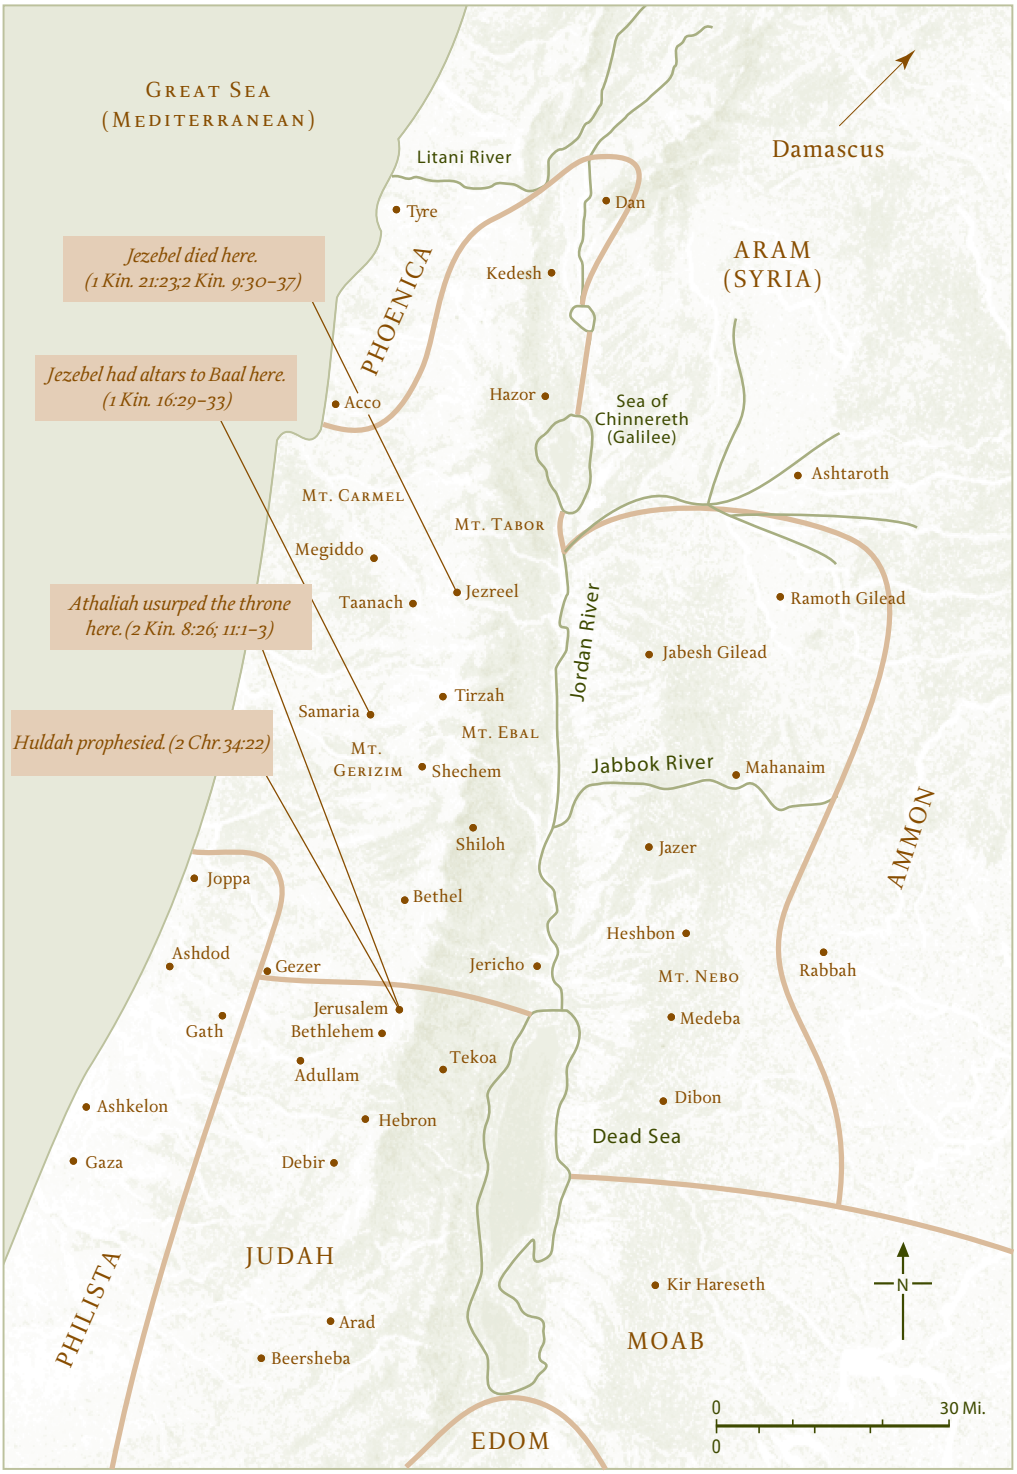
10:1 Rehoboam obeyed. The emphasis in 1 Kings is on Solomon's sin, which resulted in the split of his kingdom after his death (see 1 Kin. 11). However, the chronicler presents Solomon as the faithful temple builder. The reader is reminded of God's sovereign control of history (2 Chr. 10:15). The repetition of this story demonstrates Rehoboam's initial faithfulness to the Lord (1 Kin. 12:1–19, 21–24).

THE DIVIDED KINGDOM



The united kingdom ended after the death of Solomon, whose son Rehoboam reigned over Judah in the south. Jeroboam seized the throne of Israel in the north.

Jerusalem, for Jeroboam and his sons had rejected them from serving as priests to the LORD. 15Then he appointed for himself priests for the high places, for the demons, and the calf idols which he had made. 16And after the Levites left,[a] those from all the tribes of Israel, such as set their heart to seek the LORD God of Israel, came to Jerusalem to sacrifice to the LORD God of their fathers. 17So they strengthened the kingdom of Judah, and made Rehoboam the son of Solomon strong for three years, because they walked in the way of David and Solomon for three years.

The Family of Rehoboam

18Then Rehoboam took for himself as wife Mahalath the daughter of Jerimoth the son of David, and of Abihail the daughter of Eliah the son of Jesse. 19And she bore him children: Jeush, Shamariah, and Zaham. 20After her he took Maachah the granddaughter[a] of Absalom; and she bore him Abijah, Attai, Ziza, and Shelomith. 21Now Rehoboam loved Maachah the granddaughter of Absalom more than all his wives and his concubines; for he took eighteen wives and sixty concubines, and begot twenty-eight sons and sixty daughters. 22And Rehoboam appointed Abijah the son of Maachah as chief, to be leader among his brothers; for he intended to make him king. 23He dealt wisely, and dispersed some of his sons throughout all the territories of Judah and Benjamin, to every fortified city; and he gave them provisions in abundance. He also sought many wives for them.

Egypt Attacks Judah

12 Now it came to pass, when Rehoboam had established the kingdom and had strengthened himself, that he forsook the law of the LORD, and all Israel along with him. 2And it happened in the fifth year of King Rehoboam that Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem, because they had transgressed against the LORD, 3with twelve hundred chariots, sixty thousand horsemen, and people without number who came with him out of Egypt—the Lubim and the Sukkiim and the Ethiopians. 4And he took the fortified cities of Judah and came to Jerusalem.

5Then Shemaiah the prophet came to Rehoboam and the leaders of Judah, who were gathered together in Jerusalem because of Shishak, and said to them, "Thus says the LORD: 'You have forsaken Me, and therefore I also have left you in the hand of Shishak.' "

6So the leaders of Israel and the king humbled themselves; and they said, "The LORD is righteous."

7Now when the LORD saw that they humbled themselves, the word of the LORD came to Shemaiah, saying, "They have humbled themselves; therefore I will not destroy them, but I will grant them some deliverance. My wrath shall not be poured out on Jerusalem by the hand of Shishak. 8Nevertheless they will be his servants, that they may distinguish My service from the service of the kingdoms of the nations."

9So Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem, and took away the treasures of the house of the LORD and the treasures of the king's house; he took everything. He also carried away the gold shields which Solomon had made. 10Then King Rehoboam made bronze shields in their place, and committed them to the hands of the captains of the guard, who guarded the doorway of the king's house. 11And whenever the king entered the house of the LORD, the guard would go and bring them out; then they would take them back into the guardroom. 12When he humbled himself, the wrath of the LORD turned from him, so as not to destroy him completely; and things also went well in Judah.

The End of Rehoboam's Reign

13Thus King Rehoboam strengthened himself in Jerusalem and reigned. Now Rehoboam was forty-one years old when he became king; and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city which the LORD had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, to put His name there. His mother's name was Naamah, an Ammonitess. 14And he did evil, because he did not prepare his heart to seek the LORD.

15The acts of Rehoboam, first and last, are they not written in the book of Shemaiah the prophet,

11:16 [a]Literally after them 11:20 [a]Literally daughter, but in the broader sense of granddaughter (compare 2 Chronicles 13:2)

11:18–21 Maachah, Rehoboam's wife, was evidently a granddaughter of Absalom through his daughter Tamar and Uriel (2 Chr. 13:2, note; chart, The Queens of the Old Testament), making her a half-cousin to Rehoboam. Rehoboam willfully disobeyed the Lord by taking multiple wives (Deut. 17:17). His "eighteen wives" showed a complete disregard for God's Law and for the tragedies that came from his father Solomon's example (1 Kin. 11:1–4).

12:1 Because Rehoboam forsook the law (v. 1), he suffered defeat and lost the cities he had built (vv. 2–4; see also 2 Chr. 7:19–22). For emphasis, some derivation of "forsake" (Heb., 'azab, translated "forsook," "forsaken," "left") is used three times (2 Chr. 12:1, 5). Shishak (Sheshonq I, 945–924 B.C.), a Libyan, overthrew the Egyptian king and established the 22nd dynasty in Egypt. He grew powerful after the disintegration of Solomon's great kingdom and attacked Judah at will (v. 2).

12:6 Repentance and forgiveness were always possible and resulted in blessing as the Lord faithfully restored His people (see vv. 5–8, 12).

12:15 These record books are unknown (see 2 Chr. 9:29, note).

and of Iddo the seer concerning genealogies? And there were wars between Rehoboam and Jeroboam all their days. 16So Rehoboam rested with his fathers, and was buried in the City of David. Then Abijah[a] his son reigned in his place.

Abijah Reigns in Judah

13 In the eighteenth year of King Jeroboam, Abijah became king over Judah. 2He reigned three years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Michaiah[a] the daughter of Uriel of Gibeah.

And there was war between Abijah and Jeroboam. 3Abijah set the battle in order with an army of valiant warriors, four hundred thousand choice men. Jeroboam also drew up in battle formation against him with eight hundred thousand choice men, mighty men of valor.

4Then Abijah stood on Mount Zemaraim, which is in the mountains of Ephraim, and said, "Hear me, Jeroboam and all Israel: 5Should you not know that the LORD God of Israel gave the dominion over Israel to David forever, to him and his sons, by a covenant of salt? 6Yet Jeroboam the son of Nebat, the servant of Solomon the son of David, rose up and rebelled against his lord. 7Then worthless rogues gathered to him, and strengthened themselves against Rehoboam the son of Solomon, when Rehoboam was young and inexperienced and could not withstand them. 8And now you think to withstand the kingdom of the LORD, which is in the hand of the sons of David; and you are a great multitude, and with you are the gold calves which Jeroboam made for you as gods. 9Have you not cast out the priests of the LORD, the sons of Aaron, and the Levites, and made for yourselves priests, like the peoples of other lands, so that whoever comes to consecrate himself with a young bull and seven rams may be a priest of things that are not gods? 10But as for us, the LORD is our God, and we have not forsaken Him; and the priests who minister to the LORD are the sons of Aaron, and the Levites attend to their duties. 11And they burn to the LORD every morning and every evening burnt sacrifices and sweet incense; they also set the showbread in order on the pure gold table, and the lampstand of gold with its lamps to burn every evening; for we keep the command of the LORD our God, but you have forsaken Him. 12Now look, God Himself is with us as our head, and His priests with sounding trumpets to sound the alarm against you. O children of Israel, do not fight against the LORD God of your fathers, for you shall not prosper!"

13But Jeroboam caused an ambush to go around behind them; so they were in front of Judah, and the ambush was behind them. 14And when Judah looked around, to their surprise the battle line was at both front and rear; and they cried out to the LORD, and the priests sounded the trumpets. 15Then the men of Judah gave a shout; and as the men of Judah shouted, it happened that God struck Jeroboam and all Israel before Abijah and Judah. 16And the children of Israel fled before Judah, and God delivered them into their hand. 17Then Abijah and his people struck them with a great slaughter; so five hundred thousand choice men of Israel fell slain. 18Thus the children of Israel were subdued at that time; and the children of Judah prevailed, because they relied on the LORD God of their fathers.

19And Abijah pursued Jeroboam and took cities from him: Bethel with its villages, Jeshanah with its villages, and Ephrain[a] with its villages. 20So Jeroboam did not recover strength again in the days of Abijah; and the LORD struck him, and he died.

21But Abijah grew mighty, married fourteen wives, and begot twenty-two sons and sixteen daughters. 22Now the rest of the acts of Abijah, his ways, and his sayings are written in the annals of the prophet Iddo.

14 So Abijah rested with his fathers, and they buried him in the City of David. Then Asa his son reigned in his place. In his days the land was quiet for ten years.

Asa Reigns in Judah

2Asa did what was good and right in the eyes of the LORD his God, 3for he removed the altars of

12:16 [a]Spelled Abijam in 1 Kings 14:31 13:2 [a]Spelled Maachah in 11:20, 21 and 1 Kings 15:2 13:19 [a]Or Ephron

13:2 The mother of Abijah, Michaiah (an alternate spelling of Maachah), was the beloved wife of Rehoboam (2 Chr. 11:18–21, note; 15:16). She was the daughter of Tamar and Uriel of Gibeah (2 Chr. 13:2), the granddaughter of Absalom (Abishalom, an alternate spelling for Absalom, 1 Kin. 15:10), and the grandmother of Asa. Maachah worshiped idols (see 2 Chr. 15:16, in which the term "mother" is used in a figurative sense). The chronicler often identified a king by his mother (see 2 Chr. 12:13; 13:2; 20:31; 22:10; 25:1; 26:3; 27:1; 29:1).

13:5 A covenant of salt describes the effective and permanent character of God's covenant with David (Num. 18:19; 2 Sam. 7; 1 Chr. 17). Some have suggested that the reference to "salt" is representative of a meal by which a covenant would be ratified (Ex. 24:11), symbolic of a substance associated with the covenant (Lev. 2:13), or suggestive of permanence because of the fact that salt is used as a preservative and enhancer of flavor (Matt. 5:13).

14:3 Asa, the first temple reformer, removed illegitimate worship and brought the people back to the true worship of God by teaching them to observe the Law and to seek the Lord (vv. 3–5, 11; 2 Chr. 15:8, 11–13, 16). For the chronicler, the true Israel is all those living in Judah who are faithful to the temple and loyal to David's throne. For obedience, Asa was blessed with building projects (2 Chr. 14:6, 7), a strong army (v. 8), victory (vv. 9–15), honor (2 Chr. 15:9, 10), and rest (2 Chr. 15:15, 19).

the foreign gods and the high places, and broke down the sacred pillars and cut down the wooden images. 4He commanded Judah to seek the LORD God of their fathers, and to observe the law and the commandment. 5He also removed the high places and the incense altars from all the cities of Judah, and the kingdom was quiet under him. 6And he built fortified cities in Judah, for the land had rest; he had no war in those years, because the LORD had given him rest. 7Therefore he said to Judah, "Let us build these cities and make walls around them, and towers, gates, and bars, while the land is yet before us, because we have sought the LORD our God; we have sought Him, and He has given us rest on every side." So they built and prospered. 8And Asa had an army of three hundred thousand from Judah who carried shields and spears, and from Benjamin two hundred and eighty thousand men who carried shields and drew bows; all these were mighty men of valor.

9Then Zerah the Ethiopian came out against them with an army of a million men and three hundred chariots, and he came to Mareshah. 10So Asa went out against him, and they set the troops in battle array in the Valley of Zephathah at Mareshah. 11And Asa cried out to the LORD his God, and said, "LORD, it is nothing for You to help, whether with many or with those who have no power; help us, O LORD our God, for we rest on You, and in Your name we go against this multitude. O LORD, You are our God; do not let man prevail against You!"

12So the LORD struck the Ethiopians before Asa and Judah, and the Ethiopians fled. 13And Asa and the people who were with him pursued them to Gerar. So the Ethiopians were overthrown, and they could not recover, for they were broken before the LORD and His army. And they carried away very much spoil. 14Then they defeated all the cities around Gerar, for the fear of the LORD came upon them; and they plundered all the cities, for there was exceedingly much spoil in them. 15They also attacked the livestock enclosures, and carried off sheep and camels in abundance, and returned to Jerusalem.

The Reforms of Asa

15 Now the Spirit of God came upon Azariah the son of Oded. 2And he went out to meet Asa, and said to him: "Hear me, Asa, and all Judah and Benjamin. The LORD is with you while you are with Him. If you seek Him, He will be found by you; but if you forsake Him, He will forsake you. 3For a long time Israel has been without the true God, without a teaching priest, and without law; 4but when in their trouble they turned to the LORD God of Israel, and sought Him, He was found by them. 5And in those times there was no peace to the one who went out, nor to the one who came in, but great turmoil was on all the inhabitants of the lands. 6So nation was destroyed by nation, and city by city, for God troubled them with every adversity. 7But you, be strong and do not let your hands be weak, for your work shall be rewarded!"

8And when Asa heard these words and the prophecy of Oded[a] the prophet, he took courage, and removed the abominable idols from all the land of Judah and Benjamin and from the cities which he had taken in the mountains of Ephraim; and he restored the altar of the LORD that was before the vestibule of the LORD. 9Then he gathered all Judah and Benjamin, and those who dwelt with them from Ephraim, Manasseh, and Simeon, for they came over to him in great numbers from Israel when they saw that the LORD his God was with him.

10So they gathered together at Jerusalem in the third month, in the fifteenth year of the reign of Asa. 11And they offered to the LORD at that time seven hundred bulls and seven thousand sheep from the spoil they had brought. 12Then they entered into a covenant to seek the LORD God of their fathers with all their heart and with all their soul; 13and whoever would not seek the LORD God of Israel was to be put to death, whether small or great, whether man or woman. 14Then they took an oath before the LORD with a loud voice, with shouting and trumpets and rams' horns. 15And all Judah rejoiced at the oath, for they had sworn with all their heart and sought Him with all their soul; and He was found by them, and the LORD gave them rest all around.

15:1–7 Azariah, the prophet restated the Lord's answer to Solomon's prayer to encourage Asa to continue to obey (see 2 Chr. 7:12–22; contrast 2 Chr. 16:7–10). What it means to forsake the Lord is illustrated (2 Chr. 15:3–6). Under Jeroboam I, Israel turned from God and knew only great turmoil (2 Chr. 11:13–16; 13:4–9). In contrast, Asa obeyed the word of the Lord (2 Chr. 15:8–19). The returned Jewish community would relate their time in Exile as a long time without the true God and be encouraged in their restored fellowship with God in which they were to seek Him and be rewarded.

15:16 The obscene image that Asa removed was most likely a sexually explicit image used in the worship of the fertility goddess Asherah (see Deut. 7:5, 6). The chronicler makes clear that early in his reign, Asa cleared the high places from Judah (2 Chr. 1:3, note; 14:3, 5) but that later on he failed to remove the high places from the land of Israel under his control. This fact sets the stage for Asa's sin (2 Chr. 16:1–14).

cut down her obscene image, then crushed and burned it by the Brook Kidron. 17But the high places were not removed from Israel. Nevertheless the heart of Asa was loyal all his days.

18He also brought into the house of God the things that his father had dedicated and that he himself had dedicated: silver and gold and utensils. 19And there was no war until the thirty-fifth year of the reign of Asa.

Asa's Treaty with Syria

16 In the thirty-sixth year of the reign of Asa, Baasha king of Israel came up against Judah and built Ramah, that he might let none go out or come in to Asa king of Judah. 2Then Asa brought silver and gold from the treasuries of the house of the LORD and of the king's house, and sent to Ben-Hadad king of Syria, who dwelt in Damascus, saying, 3"Let there be a treaty between you and me, as there was between my father and your father. See, I have sent you silver and gold; come, break your treaty with Baasha king of Israel, so that he will withdraw from me."

4So Ben-Hadad heeded King Asa, and sent the captains of his armies against the cities of Israel. They attacked Ijon, Dan, Abel Maim, and all the storage cities of Naphtali. 5Now it happened, when Baasha heard it, that he stopped building Ramah and ceased his work. 6Then King Asa took all Judah, and they carried away the stones and timber of Ramah, which Baasha had used for building; and with them he built Geba and Mizpah.

Hanani's Message to Asa

7And at that time Hanani the seer came to Asa king of Judah, and said to him: "Because you have relied on the king of Syria, and have not relied on the LORD your God, therefore the army of the king of Syria has escaped from your hand. 8Were the Ethiopians and the Lubim not a huge army with very many chariots and horsemen? Yet, because you relied on the LORD, He delivered them into your hand. 9For the eyes of the LORD run to and fro throughout the whole earth, to show Himself strong on behalf of those whose heart is loyal to Him. In this you have done foolishly; therefore from now on you shall have wars." 10Then Asa was angry with the seer, and put him in prison, for he was enraged at him because of this. And Asa oppressed some of the people at that time.

Illness and Death of Asa

11Note that the acts of Asa, first and last, are indeed written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. 12And in the thirty-ninth year of his reign, Asa became diseased in his feet, and his malady was severe; yet in his disease he did not seek the LORD, but the physicians.

13So Asa rested with his fathers; he died in the forty-first year of his reign. 14They buried him in his own tomb, which he had made for himself in the City of David; and they laid him in the bed which was filled with spices and various ingredients prepared in a mixture of ointments. They made a very great burning for him.

Jehoshaphat Reigns in Judah

17 Then Jehoshaphat his son reigned in his place, and strengthened himself against Israel. 2And he placed troops in all the fortified cities of Judah, and set garrisons in the land of Judah and in the cities of Ephraim which Asa his father had taken. 3Now the LORD was with Jehoshaphat, because he walked in the former ways of his father David; he did not seek the Baals, 4but

---

16:1 Asa's sin. Judah was being oppressed by Baasha who built a blockade about five miles north of Jerusalem. Instead of seeking the Lord, Asa sought protection through a treaty with Ben-Hadad of Syria, emptying all the royal and religious treasuries in payment (vv. 2–6). Such foreign alliances were judged as failure to trust in the Lord (v. 7) in contrast to the times when Asa cried to the Lord for help (2 Chr. 14:11). Through the prophet Hanani, Asa was rebuked and punished with wars (2 Chr. 16:7–10; see 2 Chr. 19:2). Asa's failure to seek the Lord is heightened by the chronicler's report of his death. Asa, who had reformed temple worship and taught the people to follow the Lord (2 Chr. 14:2–5; 15:8–19), forsook the Lord and then died forsaken by Him (2 Chr. 15:2; 16:12–14).

16:14 A very great burning refers to the burning of precious spices as part of a funeral worthy of a great king (Jer. 34:5).

17:1 Jehoshaphat, a temple reformer. Two large sections are unique to the chronicler in the story of Jehoshaphat, both concerning Jehoshaphat's obedience to the Lord and subsequent blessing (2 Chr. 17:1—18:1; 19:1—20:30). Jehoshaphat's alliance with Ahab is also described in the Book of 1 Kings (1 Kin. 22:2–35; see 2 Chr. 18:2–34). First Kings focuses on Ahab's punishment for unfaithfulness, while the chronicler shows that Jehoshaphat was saved when he cried to the Lord (2 Chr. 18:31). The chronicler stated that Jehoshaphat followed Asa, his father, in doing "right in the sight of the LORD" (2 Chr. 20:32). Both purged the land, brought about reforms, and were blessed (2 Chr. 14:2–15; 17:1—19:1). Both received an encouraging message of prophecy (2 Chr. 15:1–7; 19:2, 3), cried to the Lord in battle (2 Chr. 14:11; 18:31), made additional reforms (2 Chr. 15:8–19; 19:4–11), yet neglected to remove completely the high places (2 Chr. 1:3, note; 14:3; 15:17; 17:6; 20:33). Both kings sinned in making a foreign alliance (2 Chr. 18:1–6; 20:35, 36), were rebuked by a prophet (2 Chr. 18:7–10; 20:37), then were punished (2 Chr. 20:37). The way of Asa and Jehoshaphat is set in contrast to the way of Jehoram (2 Chr. 21:12–15).

17:1–19 The Lord was with Jehoshaphat, the reformer who rid Judah of illegitimate practices of worship and taught the people the Law of the Lord (vv. 6–9; Deut. 17:18–20). His kingdom was established by the Lord with great honor and riches (2 Chr. 17:5). He was blessed with peace (v. 10), foreign tribute (v. 11), building projects (v. 12), wealth (v. 13), and a great sought the God[a] of his father, and walked in His commandments and not according to the acts of Israel. 5Therefore the LORD established the kingdom in his hand; and all Judah gave presents to Jehoshaphat, and he had riches and honor in abundance. 6And his heart took delight in the ways of the LORD; moreover he removed the high places and wooden images from Judah.

7Also in the third year of his reign he sent his leaders, Ben-Hail, Obadiah, Zechariah, Nethanel, and Michaiah, to teach in the cities of Judah. 8And with them he sent Levites: Shemaiah, Nethaniah, Zebadiah, Asahel, Shemiramoth, Jehonathan, Adonijah, Tobijah, and Tobadonijah—the Levites; and with them Elishama and Jehoram, the priests. 9So they taught in Judah, and had the Book of the Law of the LORD with them; they went throughout all the cities of Judah and taught the people.

10And the fear of the LORD fell on all the kingdoms of the lands that were around Judah, so that they did not make war against Jehoshaphat. 11Also some of the Philistines brought Jehoshaphat presents and silver as tribute; and the Arabians brought him flocks, seven thousand seven hundred rams and seven thousand seven hundred male goats.

12So Jehoshaphat became increasingly powerful, and he built fortresses and storage cities in Judah. 13He had much property in the cities of Judah; and the men of war, mighty men of valor, were in Jerusalem.

14These are their numbers, according to their fathers' houses. Of Judah, the captains of thousands: Adnah the captain, and with him three hundred thousand mighty men of valor; 15and next to him was Jehohanan the captain, and with him two hundred and eighty thousand; 16and next to him was Amasiah the son of Zichri, who willingly offered himself to the LORD, and with him two hundred thousand mighty men of valor. 17Of Benjamin: Eliada a mighty man of valor, and with him two hundred thousand men armed with bow and shield; 18and next to him was Jehozabad, and with him one hundred and eighty thousand prepared for war. 19These served the king, besides those the king put in the fortified cities throughout all Judah.

Micaiah Warns Ahab

18 Jehoshaphat had riches and honor in abundance; and by marriage he allied himself with Ahab. 2After some years he went down to visit Ahab in Samaria; and Ahab killed sheep and oxen in abundance for him and the people who were with him, and persuaded him to go up with him to Ramoth Gilead. 3So Ahab king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat king of Judah, "Will you go with me against Ramoth Gilead?"

And he answered him, "I am as you are, and my people as your people; we will be with you in the war."

4Also Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, "Please inquire for the word of the LORD today."

5Then the king of Israel gathered the prophets together, four hundred men, and said to them, "Shall we go to war against Ramoth Gilead, or shall I refrain?"

So they said, "Go up, for God will deliver it into the king's hand."

6But Jehoshaphat said, "Is there not still a prophet of the LORD here, that we may inquire of Him?"[a]

7So the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "There is still one man by whom we may inquire of the LORD; but I hate him, because he never prophesies good concerning me, but always evil. He is Micaiah the son of Imla."

And Jehoshaphat said, "Let not the king say such things!"

8Then the king of Israel called one of his officers and said, "Bring Micaiah the son of Imla quickly!"

9The king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah, clothed in their robes, sat each on his throne; and they sat at a threshing floor at the entrance of the gate of Samaria; and all the prophets prophesied before them. 10Now Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah had made horns of iron for himself; and he said, "Thus says the LORD: 'With these you shall gore the Syrians until they are destroyed.' "

11And all the prophets prophesied so, saying, "Go up to Ramoth Gilead and prosper, for the LORD will deliver it into the king's hand."

13And Micaiah said, "As the LORD lives, whatever my God says, that I will speak."

14Then he came to the king; and the king said

army (vv. 13–19). At this time, the worship of the Baals in the north was increasing with the influence of Ahab and Jezebel (1 Kin. 16:29—22:40). Although Jehoshaphat would ally himself with Ahab, he would not be caught up in the apostasy of Ahab (2 Chr. 19:2, 3; 20:32).

18:3 The alliance with Ahab. In this battle the chronicler's focus is on Jehoshaphat (see also 1 Kin. 22). The marriage alliance was forged between Jehoshaphat's son, Jehoram, and Athaliah, the daughter of Ahab and Jezebel (2 Chr. 21:6; 22:2). Ahab and Jezebel were characterized by their great wickedness and Baal worship, and the results were devastating (2 Chr. 21; 22).

to him, "Micaiah, shall we go to war against Ramoth Gilead, or shall I refrain?"

And he said, "Go and prosper, and they shall be delivered into your hand!"

15So the king said to him, "How many times shall I make you swear that you tell me nothing but the truth in the name of the LORD?"

16Then he said, "I saw all Israel scattered on the mountains, as sheep that have no shepherd. And the LORD said, 'These have no master. Let each return to his house in peace.' "

17And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "Did I not tell you he would not prophesy good concerning me, but evil?"

18Then Micaiah said, "Therefore hear the word of the LORD: I saw the LORD sitting on His throne, and all the host of heaven standing on His right hand and His left. 19And the LORD said, 'Who will persuade Ahab king of Israel to go up, that he may fall at Ramoth Gilead?' So one spoke in this manner, and another spoke in that manner. 20Then a spirit came forward and stood before the LORD, and said, 'I will persuade him.' The LORD said to him, 'In what way?' 21So he said, 'I will go out and be a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.' And the LORD said, 'You shall persuade him and also prevail; go out and do so.' 22Therefore look! The LORD has put a lying spirit in the mouth of these prophets of yours, and the LORD has declared disaster against you."

23Then Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah went near and struck Micaiah on the cheek, and said, "Which way did the spirit from the LORD go from me to speak to you?"

25Then the king of Israel said, "Take Micaiah, and return him to Amon the governor of the city and to Joash the king's son; 26and say, 'Thus says the king: "Put this fellow in prison, and feed him with bread of affliction and water of affliction, until I return in peace." ' "

27But Micaiah said, "If you ever return in peace, the LORD has not spoken by me." And he said, "Take heed, all you people!"

Ahab Dies in Battle

28So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah went up to Ramoth Gilead. 29And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "I will disguise myself and go into battle; but you put on your robes." So the king of Israel disguised himself, and they went into battle.

30Now the king of Syria had commanded the captains of the chariots who were with him, saying, "Fight with no one small or great, but only with the king of Israel."

31So it was, when the captains of the chariots saw Jehoshaphat, that they said, "It is the king of Israel!" Therefore they surrounded him to attack; but Jehoshaphat cried out, and the LORD helped him, and God diverted them from him. 32For so it was, when the captains of the chariots saw that it was not the king of Israel, that they turned back from pursuing him. 33Now a certain man drew a bow at random, and struck the king of Israel between the joints of his armor. So he said to the driver of his chariot, "Turn around and take me out of the battle, for I am wounded." 34The battle increased that day, and the king of Israel propped himself up in his chariot facing the Syrians until evening; and about the time of sunset he died.

19 Then Jehoshaphat the king of Judah returned safely to his house in Jerusalem. 2And Jehu the son of Hanani the seer went out to meet him, and said to King Jehoshaphat, "Should you help the wicked and love those who hate the LORD? Therefore the wrath of the LORD is upon you. 3Nevertheless good things are found in you, in that you have removed the wooden images from the land, and have prepared your heart to seek God."

The Reforms of Jehoshaphat

4So Jehoshaphat dwelt at Jerusalem; and he went out again among the people from Beersheba to the mountains of Ephraim, and brought them back to the LORD God of their fathers. 5Then he set judges in the land throughout all the fortified cities of Judah, city by city, 6and said to the judges, "Take heed to what you are doing, for you do not judge for man but for the LORD, who is with you in the judgment. 7Now therefore, let the fear of the LORD be upon you; take care and do it, for there is no iniquity with the LORD our God, no partiality, nor taking of bribes."

8Moreover in Jerusalem, for the judgment of the LORD and for controversies, Jehoshaphat appointed some of the Levites and priests, and some of the chief fathers of Israel, when they returned to Jerusalem.[a] 9And he commanded them, saying, "Thus you shall act in the fear of the LORD, faithfully and with a loyal heart: 10Whatever case comes to you from your brethren who dwell in their cities, whether of bloodshed or offenses against law or commandment, against statutes or 19:8 [a]Septuagint and Vulgate read for the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

19:4–11 Just as Asa had two reform efforts (2 Chr. 14:1–15; 15:8–19), Jehoshaphat entered into a second stage of reform (2 Chr. 17:1, note; 19:6–9), which centered on a system for judging the people (Deut. 16:18—17:13). The boundaries of Judah (2 Chr. 19:4, Beersheba to the south and the mountains to the north) show that all Israel was involved in this reform.

ATTRIBUTES OF GOD HE IS JUDGE

A god who does not judge is a god of the imagination. God judges. Attempts are made to water down God's judgment, explain it away, or apologize for it, but God's judgment is a manifestation of the reaction of His holiness to evil (Is. 42:8). Judgment is an integral part of redemptive history as seen in the Fall (Gen. 3:14–19), the Flood (6:5–7), the plagues (Ex. 3:19, 20; 7:5; 11:4, 5), the conquest (Josh. 3:10), the destruction of Israel (2 Kin. 17:5–23), the destitution of Judah (25:1–21), the Great Tribulation (Matt. 24:21, 22), and the Great White Throne Judgment (Rev. 20:11–15). There are many references in Scripture to both His judgment and His love.

Judgment is necessary. Society recognizes that a judge who will not judge is a mockery. The Bible salutes God's judgments as "righteous" and "true" (Ps. 19:9), impartial (Rom. 2:11), perfect (Ps. 19:7), and complete (Rev. 15:1).

All sin starts when we determine that we want to be like God (Gen. 3:5, 6). This attitude of the will is judged (Is. 14:14, 15). The Cross did not do away with judgment; it served as the lightning rod (Col. 2:14). At the Cross judgment and mercy met, and both were victorious. Judgment is a necessity; the Cross has no meaning without it (Rom. 3:24–26). In judgment, our innermost attitudes will be revealed, and justice will be administered. We would do well to prepare our hearts (2 Cor. 5:9–11).

ordinances, you shall warn them, lest they trespass against the LORD and wrath come upon you and your brethren. Do this, and you will not be guilty. 11And take notice: Amariah the chief priest is over you in all matters of the LORD; and Zebadiah the son of Ishmael, the ruler of the house of Judah, for all the king's matters; also the Levites will be officials before you. Behave courageously, and the LORD will be with the good."

Ammon, Moab, and Mount Seir Defeated

20 It happened after this that the people of Moab with the people of Ammon, and others with them besides the Ammonites,[a] came to battle against Jehoshaphat. 2Then some came and told Jehoshaphat, saying, "A great multitude is coming against you from beyond the sea, from Syria;[a] and they are in Hazazon Tamar" (which is En Gedi). 3And Jehoshaphat feared, and set himself to seek the LORD, and proclaimed a fast throughout all Judah. 4So Judah gathered together to ask help from the LORD; and from all the cities of Judah they came to seek the LORD.

5Then Jehoshaphat stood in the assembly of Judah and Jerusalem, in the house of the LORD, before the new court, 6and said: "O LORD God of our fathers, are You not God in heaven, and do You not rule over all the kingdoms of the nations, and in Your hand is there not power and might, so that no one is able to withstand You? 7*Are* You not our God, who drove out the inhabitants of this land before Your people Israel, and gave it to the descendants of Abraham Your friend forever? 8And they dwell in it, and have built You a sanctuary in it for Your name, saying, 9'If disaster comes upon us—sword, judgment, pestilence, or famine—we will stand before this temple and in Your presence (for Your name is in this temple), and cry out to You in our affliction, and You will hear and save.' 10And now, here are the people of Ammon, Moab, and Mount Seir— whom You would not let Israel invade when they came out of the land of Egypt, but they turned from them and did not destroy them— 11here they are, rewarding us by coming to throw us out of Your possession which You have given us to inherit. 12O our God, will You not judge them? For we have no power against this great multitude that is coming against us; nor do we know what to do, but our eyes are upon You."

13Now all Judah, with their little ones, their wives, and their children, stood before the LORD.

14Then the Spirit of the LORD came upon Jahaziel the son of Zechariah, the son of Benaiah, the son of Jeiel, the son of Mattaniah, a Levite of the sons of Asaph, in the midst of the assembly. 15And he said, "Listen, all you of Judah and you in-

20:15 The report of this battle is unique to the chronicler, who has chosen not to include Jehoshaphat's battle against Moab (2 Kin. 3). The joint Transjordan forces of Moab, Ammon, and Mt. Seir had set themselves in battle against Judah (2 Chr. 20:10, 22). En Gedi is an oasis on the west side of the Dead Sea (v. 2). The temple singers, not military captains, led the army (v. 21). As a result of Jehoshaphat's reliance on the Lord, Judah was blessed with an abundance of spoil and with peace (vv. 25–27, 30).

habitants of Jerusalem, and you, King Jehoshaphat! Thus says the LORD to you: 'Do not be afraid nor dismayed because of this great multitude, for the battle is not yours, but God's. 16Tomorrow go down against them. They will surely come up by the Ascent of Ziz, and you will find them at the end of the brook before the Wilderness of Jeruel. 17You will not need to fight in this battle. Position yourselves, stand still and see the salvation of the LORD, who is with you, O Judah and Jerusalem!' Do not fear or be dismayed; tomorrow go out against them, for the LORD is with you."

18And Jehoshaphat bowed his head with his face to the ground, and all Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem bowed before the LORD, worshiping the LORD. 19Then the Levites of the children of the Kohathites and of the children of the Korahites stood up to praise the LORD God of Israel with voices loud and high.

20So they rose early in the morning and went out into the Wilderness of Tekoa; and as they went out, Jehoshaphat stood and said, "Hear me, O Judah and you inhabitants of Jerusalem: Believe in the LORD your God, and you shall be established; believe His prophets, and you shall prosper." 21And when he had consulted with the people, he appointed those who should sing to the LORD, and who should praise the beauty of holiness, as they went out before the army and were saying:

"Praise the LORD,
For His mercy endures forever."[a]

22Now when they began to sing and to praise, the LORD set ambushes against the people of Ammon, Moab, and Mount Seir, who had come against Judah; and they were defeated. 23For the people of Ammon and Moab stood up against the inhabitants of Mount Seir to utterly kill and destroy them. And when they had made an end of the inhabitants of Seir, they helped to destroy one another.

24So when Judah came to a place overlooking the wilderness, they looked toward the multitude; and there were their dead bodies, fallen on the earth. No one had escaped.

25When Jehoshaphat and his people came to take away their spoil, they found among them an abundance of valuables on the dead bodies,[a] and precious jewelry, which they stripped off for themselves, more than they could carry away; and they were three days gathering the spoil because there was so much. 26And on the fourth day they assembled in the Valley of Berachah, for there they blessed the LORD; therefore the name of that place was called The Valley of Berachah[a] until this day. 27Then they returned, every man of Judah and Jerusalem, with Jehoshaphat in front of them, to go back to Jerusalem with joy, for the LORD had made them rejoice over their enemies. 28So they came to Jerusalem, with stringed instruments and harps and trumpets, to the house of the LORD. 29And the fear of God was on all the kingdoms of those countries when they heard that the LORD had fought against the enemies of Israel. 30Then the realm of Jehoshaphat was quiet, for his God gave him rest all around.

The End of Jehoshaphat's Reign

31So Jehoshaphat was king over Judah. He was thirty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi. 32And he walked in the way of his father Asa, and did not turn aside from it, doing what was right in the sight of the LORD. 33Nevertheless the high places were not taken away, for as yet the people had not directed their hearts to the God of their fathers.

34Now the rest of the acts of Jehoshaphat, first and last, indeed they are written in the book of Jehu the son of Hanani, which is mentioned in the book of the kings of Israel.

35After this Jehoshaphat king of Judah allied himself with Ahaziah king of Israel, who acted very wickedly. 36And he allied himself with him to make ships to go to Tarshish, and they made the ships in Ezion Geber. 37But Eliezer the son of Dodavah of Mareshah prophesied against Jehoshaphat, saying, "Because you have allied yourself with Ahaziah, the LORD has destroyed your works." Then the ships were wrecked, so that they were not able to go to Tarshish.

Jehoram Reigns in Judah

21 And Jehoshaphat rested with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the City

20:21 [a]Compare Psalm 106:1 20:25 [a]A few Hebrew manuscripts, Old Latin, and Vulgate read garments; Septuagint reads armor. 20:26 [a]Literally Blessing

20:35–37 Jehoshaphat allied himself with the wicked Ahaziah, and his ships were wrecked (v. 37; 1 Kin. 22:51–53). Such alliances were viewed as indicating a lack of trust in the Lord. Ahaziah's attempt at a second alliance was then rejected by Jehoshaphat (1 Kin. 22:49).

21:1 Jehoram and Ahaziah, two wicked kings, followed immediately after the parallel reigns of the temple reformers, Asa and Jehoshaphat (v. 6; 2 Chr. 22:3). The sin of and curses on Jehoram and Ahaziah were the direct result of Jehoshaphat's alliance with Ahab, from which the house of David just barely survived (2 Chr. 18:1; 19:2; 21:6, 7; 22:2–5, 10–12). Jehoram's sin was against the throne of David and ultimately against the Lord (2 Chr. 21:4–7, 11). The curse of constant warfare was "because he had forsaken the LORD God of his fathers" (2 Chr. 21:10). The people, Jehoram's family, and Jehoram himself would all suffer (vv. 14, 15, 18–20). No one mourned his death (v. 20).

of David. Then Jehoram his son reigned in his place. 2He had brothers, the sons of Jehoshaphat: Azariah, Jehiel, Zechariah, Azaryahu, Michael, and Shephatiah; all these were the sons of Jehoshaphat king of Israel. 3Their father gave them great gifts of silver and gold and precious things, with fortified cities in Judah; but he gave the kingdom to Jehoram, because he was the firstborn.

4Now when Jehoram was established over the kingdom of his father, he strengthened himself and killed all his brothers with the sword, and also others of the princes of Israel.

5Jehoram was thirty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem. 6And he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, just as the house of Ahab had done, for he had the daughter of Ahab as a wife; and he did evil in the sight of the LORD. 7Yet the LORD would not destroy the house of David, because of the covenant that He had made with David, and since He had promised to give a lamp to him and to his sons forever.

8In his days Edom revolted against Judah's authority, and made a king over themselves. 9So Jehoram went out with his officers, and all his chariots with him. And he rose by night and attacked the Edomites who had surrounded him and the captains of the chariots. 10Thus Edom has been in revolt against Judah's authority to this day. At that time Libnah revolted against his rule, because he had forsaken the LORD God of his fathers. 11Moreover he made high places in the mountains of Judah, and caused the inhabitants of Jerusalem to commit harlotry, and led Judah astray.

12And a letter came to him from Elijah the prophet, saying,

> Thus says the LORD God of your father David:
> Because you have not walked in the ways of > Jehoshaphat your father, or in the ways of Asa > king of Judah, 13but have walked in the way of > the kings of Israel, and have made Judah and > the inhabitants of Jerusalem to play the harlot > like the harlotry of the house of Ahab, and > also have killed your brothers, those of your > father's household, who were better than > yourself, 14behold, the LORD will strike your > people with a serious affliction—your children, > your wives, and all your possessions; 15and you > will become very sick with a disease of your > intestines, until your intestines come out by > reason of the sickness, day by day.

16Moreover the LORD stirred up against Jehoram the spirit of the Philistines and the Arabians who were near the Ethiopians. 17And they came up into Judah and invaded it, and carried away all the possessions that were found in the king's house, and also his sons and his wives, so that there was not a son left to him except Jehoahaz,[a] the youngest of his sons.

18After all this the LORD struck him in his intestines with an incurable disease. 19Then it happened in the course of time, after the end of two years, that his intestines came out because of his sickness; so he died in severe pain. And his people made no burning for him, like the burning for his fathers.

20He was thirty-two years old when he became king. He reigned in Jerusalem eight years and, to no one's sorrow, departed. However they buried him in the City of David, but not in the tombs of the kings.

Ahaziah Reigns in Judah

22 Then the inhabitants of Jerusalem made Ahaziah his youngest son king in his place, for the raiders who came with the Arabians into the camp had killed all the older sons. So Ahaziah the son of Jehoram, king of Judah, reigned. 2Ahaziah was forty-two[a] years old when he became king, and he reigned one year in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Athaliah the granddaughter of Omri. 3He also walked in the ways of the house of Ahab, for his mother advised him to do wickedly. 4Therefore he did evil in the sight of the LORD, like the house of Ahab; for they were his counselors after the death of his father, to his destruction. 5He also followed their advice, and went with Jehoram[a] the son of Ahab king of Israel to war against Hazael king of Syria at Ramoth Gilead; and the Syrians wounded Joram. 6Then he returned to Jezreel to recover from the wounds which he had received at Ramah, when he fought against Hazael king of Syria. And Azariah[a] the son

21:17 [a]Elsewhere called Ahaziah (compare 2 Chronicles 22:1) 22:2 [a]Or twenty-two (compare 2 Kings 8:26) 22:5 [a]Also spelled Joram (compare verses 5 and 7; 2 Kings 8:28; and elsewhere) 22:6 [a]Some Hebrew manuscripts, Septuagint, Syriac, Vulgate, and 2 Kings 8:29 read Ahaziah.

22:1–9 The wickedness of Ahaziah (Jehoahaz; see chart, The Kings with Two Names) was the result of the direct influence of his mother and her family (v. 3; see 2 Chr. 18:3, note). Omri founded the first enduring dynasty of the northern kingdom (2 Chr. 22:2, 1 Kin. 16:21–28; chart, The Dynasties of Israel—Part 1). The influence of this wicked dynasty over the southern kingdom is evident (see 2 Chr. 20:35; 21:6; 22:3, 4). Ahaziah was so influenced by his mother's family that he also experienced the judgment of Jehu on the house of Ahab (2 Chr. 22:7–9). Hazael, king of Syria, was a constant enemy of Judah (vv. 5, 6; see 2 Kin. 12:17, 18; 13:22–24). Jehoram and Joram are alternate spellings for the king of Israel (2 Chr. 22:5, not to be confused with Jehoram, king of Judah, 2 Chr. 21:1–20; see also chart, The Kings with Two Names).

of Jehoram, king of Judah, went down to see Jehoram the son of Ahab in Jezreel, because he was sick.

7His going to Joram was God's occasion for Ahaziah's downfall; for when he arrived, he went out with Jehoram against Jehu the son of Nimshi, whom the LORD had anointed to cut off the house of Ahab. 8And it happened, when Jehu was executing judgment on the house of Ahab, and found the princes of Judah and the sons of Ahaziah's brothers who served Ahaziah, that he killed them. 9Then he searched for Ahaziah; and they caught him (he was hiding in Samaria), and brought him to Jehu. When they had killed him, they buried him, "because," they said, "he is the son of Jehoshaphat, who sought the LORD with all his heart."

So the house of Ahaziah had no one to assume power over the kingdom.

Athaliah Reigns in Judah

10Now when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her son was dead, she arose and destroyed all the royal heirs of the house of Judah. 11But Jehoshabeath,[a] the daughter of the king, took Joash the son of Ahaziah, and stole him away from among the king's sons who were being murdered, and put him and his nurse in a bedroom. So Jehoshabeath, the daughter of King Jehoram, the wife of Jehoiada the priest (for she was the sister of Ahaziah), hid him from Athaliah so that she did not kill him. 12And he was hidden with them in the house of God for six years, while Athaliah reigned over the land.

Joash Crowned King of Judah

23 In the seventh year Jehoiada strengthened himself, and made a covenant with the captains of hundreds: Azariah the son of Jeroham, Ishmael the son of Jehohanan, Azariah the son of Obed, Maaseiah the son of Adaiah, and Elishaphat the son of Zichri. 2And they went throughout Judah and gathered the Levites from all the cities of Judah, and the chief fathers of Israel, and they came to Jerusalem.

3Then all the assembly made a covenant with the king in the house of God. And he said to them, "Behold, the king's son shall reign, as the LORD has said of the sons of David. 4This is what you shall do: One-third of you entering on the Sabbath, of the priests and the Levites, shall be keeping watch over the doors; 5one-third shall be at the king's house; and one-third at the Gate of the Foundation. All the people shall be in the courts of the house of the LORD. 6But let no one come into the house of the LORD except the priests and those of the Levites who serve. They may go in, for they are holy; but all the people shall keep the watch of the LORD. 7And the Levites shall surround the king on all sides, every man with his weapons in his hand; and whoever comes into the house, let him be put to death. You are to be with the king when he comes in and when he goes out."

8So the Levites and all Judah did according to all that Jehoiada the priest commanded. And each man took his men who were to be on duty on the Sabbath, with those who were going off duty on the Sabbath; for Jehoiada the priest had not dismissed the divisions. 9And Jehoiada the priest gave to the captains of hundreds the spears and the large and small shields which had belonged to King David, that were in the temple of God. 10Then he set all the people, every man with his weapon in his hand, from the right side of the temple to the left side of the temple, along by the altar and by the temple, all around the king. 11And they brought out the king's son, put the crown on him, gave him the Testimony,[a] and made him king. Then Jehoiada and his sons anointed him, and said, "Long live the king!"

Death of Athaliah

12Now when Athaliah heard the noise of the people running and praising the king, she came to the people in the temple of the LORD. 13*When* she looked, there was the king standing by his pillar at the entrance; and the leaders and the trumpeters were by the king. All the people of the land were rejoicing and blowing trumpets, also the singers with musical instruments, and those who led in praise. So Athaliah tore her clothes and said, "Treason! Treason!"

14And Jehoiada the priest brought out the captains of hundreds who were set over the army, and said to them, "Take her outside under guard, and slay with the sword whoever follows her." For the priest had said, "Do not kill her in the house of the LORD."

22:11 [a]Spelled Jehosheba in 2 Kings 11:2 23:11 [a]That is, the Law (compare Exodus 25:16, 21; 31:18)

22:10 The queen mother probably had some authoritative standing regarding the promotion of worship (see 2 Chr. 15:16). Athaliah, Judah's only queen and a Baal worshiper (2 Chr. 24:7), kept her son Ahaziah from following the Lord, which ultimately led to his destruction (2 Chr. 22:5–9). Jehoshaphat's marriage alliance with the house of Ahab started this chain of wickedness. Athaliah attempted to destroy the throne of David and paganize the nation of Judah by placing herself over Judah for six years (vv. 10–12).

22:10—24:1 All Israel made Joash king. The chronicler makes clear that the priests and Levites, as well as all Israel, participated in making Joash king (2 Chr. 23:1–6). Jehoshabeath (also called Jehosheba, 2 Kin. 11:2) is described as the wife of a priest (2 Chr. 22:11). The priests and the Levites gathered to prevent unauthorized, non-Levitical personnel from entering the sanctuary (2 Chr. 23:1, 2, 6). The legitimate king and his priest replaced the illegitimate queen and her priest (2 Chr. 23:12–17).

JEHOSHABEATH (JEHOSHEBA) The Wife of a Priest

Jehoshabeath (also called Jehosheba in 2 Kin. 11:2) was Ahaziah's sister. She may have been the daughter of Athaliah, but she was more likely Jehoram's daughter by an unrecorded wife. She was the wife of Jehoiada, a true priest of God, suggesting that she herself remained faithful to God.

The priesthood of Jehoshabeath's husband undoubtedly made her keenly aware of the need to rescue Joash from the sword of his murderous grandmother, Athaliah. The temple afforded her a place to keep the young child safe and an environment in which the boy could be prepared for future service as king. By rescuing Joash, Jehoshabeath became God's instrument in His sovereign plan to keep His promise that a son of David would always be king and part of the lineage of the Messiah.

Presumably, this courageous woman risked her own life to save the life of an innocent child marked for murder.

15So they seized her; and she went by way of the entrance of the Horse Gate into the king's house, and they killed her there.
16Then Jehoiada made a covenant between himself, the people, and the king, that they should be the LORD's people. 17And all the people went to the temple[a] of Baal, and tore it down. They broke in pieces its altars and images, and killed Mattan the priest of Baal before the altars. 18Also Jehoiada appointed the oversight of the house of the LORD to the hand of the priests, the Levites, whom David had assigned in the house of the LORD, to offer the burnt offerings of the LORD, as it is written in the Law of Moses, with rejoicing and with singing, as it was established by David. 19And he set the gatekeepers at the gates of the house of the LORD, so that no one who was in any way unclean should enter.
20Then he took the captains of hundreds, the nobles, the governors of the people, and all the people of the land, and brought the king down from the house of the LORD; and they went through the Upper Gate to the king's house, and set the king on the throne of the kingdom. 21So all the people of the land rejoiced; and the city was quiet, for they had slain Athaliah with the sword.

Joash Repairs the Temple

24 Joash was seven years old when he became king, and he reigned forty years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Zibiah of Beersheba.
2Joash did what was right in the sight of the LORD
all the days of Jehoiada the priest. 3And Jehoiada took two wives for him, and he had sons and daughters.
4Now it happened after this that Joash set his heart on repairing the house of the LORD. 5Then
he gathered the priests and the Levites, and said to them, "Go out to the cities of Judah, and gather from all Israel money to repair the house of your God from year to year, and see that you do it quickly."

However the Levites did not do it quickly. 6So
the king called Jehoiada the chief priest, and said to him, "Why have you not required the Levites to bring in from Judah and from Jerusalem the collection, according to the commandment of Moses the servant of the LORD and of the assembly of Israel, for the tabernacle of witness?" 7For the sons of Athaliah, that wicked woman, had broken into the house of God, and had also presented all the dedicated things of the house of the LORD to the Baals.
8Then at the king's command they made a chest, and set it outside at the gate of the house of the LORD. 9And they made a proclamation throughout Judah and Jerusalem to bring to the LORD the collection that Moses the servant of God had imposed on Israel in the wilderness. 10Then all the leaders and all the people rejoiced, brought their contributions, and put them into the chest until all had given. 11So it was, at that time, when the chest was brought to the king's official by the hand of the Levites, and when they saw that there was much money, that the king's scribe and the high priest's officer came and emptied the chest, and took it and returned it to its place. Thus they did day by day, and gathered money in abundance.
12The king and Jehoiada gave it to those who did the work of the service of the house of the LORD; and they hired masons and carpenters to repair the house of the LORD, and also those who worked in iron and bronze to restore the house of the LORD. 13So the workmen labored, and the work was completed by them; they restored the house of God to its original condition and reinforced it.
14When they had finished, they brought the rest of the money before the king and Jehoiada; they made from it articles for the house of the LORD, articles for serving and offering, spoons and vessels of gold and silver. And they offered burnt offerings in the house of the LORD continually all the days of Jehoiada.

23:17 [a]Literally house

Apostasy of Joash

15But Jehoiada grew old and was full of days, and he died; he was one hundred and thirty years old when he died. 16And they buried him in the City of David among the kings, because he had done good in Israel, both toward God and His house.

17Now after the death of Jehoiada the leaders of Judah came and bowed down to the king. And the king listened to them. 18Therefore they left the house of the LORD God of their fathers, and served wooden images and idols; and wrath came upon Judah and Jerusalem because of their trespass. 19Yet He sent prophets to them, to bring them back to the LORD; and they testified against them, but they would not listen.

20Then the Spirit of God came upon Zechariah the son of Jehoiada the priest, who stood above the people, and said to them, "Thus says God: 'Why do you transgress the commandments of the LORD, so that you cannot prosper? Because you have forsaken the LORD, He also has forsaken you.' " 21So they conspired against him, and at the command of the king they stoned him with stones in the court of the house of the LORD. 22Thus Joash the king did not remember the kindness which Jehoiada his father had done to him, but killed his son; and as he died, he said, "The LORD look on it, and repay!"

Death of Joash

23So it happened in the spring of the year that the army of Syria came up against him; and they came to Judah and Jerusalem, and destroyed all the leaders of the people from among the people, and sent all their spoil to the king of Damascus. 24For
the army of the Syrians came with a small company of men; but the LORD delivered a very great army into their hand, because they had forsaken the LORD God of their fathers. So they executed judgment against Joash. 25And when they had withdrawn from him (for they left him severely wounded), his own servants conspired against him because of the blood of the sons[a] of Jehoiada the priest, and killed him on his bed. So he died. And they buried him in the City of David, but they did not bury him in the tombs of the kings.

26These are the ones who conspired against him: Zabad[a] the son of Shimeath the Ammonitess, and Jehozabad the son of Shimrith[b] the Moabitess.
27Now concerning his sons, and the many oracles about him, and the repairing of the house of God, indeed they are written in the annals of the book of the kings. Then Amaziah his son reigned in his place.

Amaziah Reigns in Judah

25 Amaziah was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jehoaddan of Jerusalem. 2And he did what was right in the sight of the LORD, but not with a loyal heart.

3Now it happened, as soon as the kingdom was established for him, that he executed his servants who had murdered his father the king. 4However he did not execute their children, but did as it is written in the Law in the Book of Moses, where the LORD commanded, saying, "The fathers shall not be put to death for their children, nor shall the children be put to death for their fathers; but a person shall die for his own sin."[a]

The War Against Edom

5Moreover Amaziah gathered Judah together and set over them captains of thousands and captains of hundreds, according to their fathers' houses, throughout all Judah and Benjamin; and he numbered them from twenty years old and above, and found them to be three hundred thou-

24:15 The death of Jehoiada. Joash rebuilt the temple while Jehoiada was alive but failed to teach the people the Law of the Lord as Asa and Jehoshaphat had done (vv. 15–18; 2 Chr. 14:2–4; 17:3–6). Jehoiada the priest, not the king, led the temple worship (2 Chr. 24:14). Joash was not fully dedicated to proper worship at the temple (v. 18). The report of Jehoiada's death is much more honorable and regal than that of King Joash (v. 25) and highlights the gravity of Joash's sin (vv. 18, 19). Jehoiada was "full of days" (v. 15) and was buried "among the kings" because he was devoted to the Lord (v. 16). No mention is made of Joash's age, and he was buried apart from the kings as his grandfather Jehoram had been (v. 25; 2 Chr. 21:20). Upon the death of Jehoiada, Joash forsook the temple (see 2 Chr. 24:17–27, note).

24:17–27 The details of the sin of Joash are unique to the chronicler. The Lord gave Joash an opportunity to repent (v. 19). Zechariah's father, Jehoiada, who had helped save Joash (v. 20; 2 Chr. 22:10–12), gathered all Israel to make Joash king (2 Chr. 23:1–21) and taught Joash the Law of the Lord (2 Kin. 12:2), but this did not stop Joash from ordering Zechariah's murder. Joash owed not only his power and throne but also his life to the loyalty and unselfishness of Jehoiada's protection. Because of his sin, Joash knew defeat (2 Chr. 24:24), disloyalty (v. 25), and death in shame (v. 25).

25:1–13 Amaziah followed Joash's half-hearted obedience to the Lord (v. 2; 2 Kin. 14:1–20). Amaziah acted in accord with the Law of the Lord (2 Chr. 25:3, 4; Deut. 24:16) and the "man of God" (an unknown prophet, 2 Chr. 25:5–10). The Valley of Salt is south of the Dead Sea (2 Chr. 25:11; 1 Chr. 18:12). The people of Seir were Edomites (2 Chr. 25:11, 14; see 1 Chr. 1:38–42). "Samaria to Beth Horon" designated the northern border of Amaziah's kingdom (2 Chr. 25:13). The attack by the soldiers discharged by Amaziah accounts for Amaziah's request for war (vv. 10, 13, 17).

sand choice men, able to go to war, who could handle spear and shield. 6He also hired one hundred thousand mighty men of valor from Israel for one hundred talents of silver. 7But a man of God came to him, saying, "O king, do not let the army of Israel go with you, for the LORD is not with Israel—not with any of the children of Ephraim. 8But if you go, be gone! Be strong in battle! Even so, God shall make you fall before the enemy; for God has power to help and to overthrow."

9Then Amaziah said to the man of God, "But what shall we do about the hundred talents which I have given to the troops of Israel?"

And the man of God answered, "The LORD is able to give you much more than this." 10So Amaziah discharged the troops that had come to him from Ephraim, to go back home. Therefore their anger was greatly aroused against Judah, and they returned home in great anger.

11Then Amaziah strengthened himself, and leading his people, he went to the Valley of Salt and killed ten thousand of the people of Seir. 12Also the children of Judah took captive ten thousand alive, brought them to the top of the rock, and cast them down from the top of the rock, so that they all were dashed in pieces.

13But as for the soldiers of the army which Amaziah had discharged, so that they would not go with him to battle, they raided the cities of Judah from Samaria to Beth Horon, killed three thousand in them, and took much spoil.

14Now it was so, after Amaziah came from the slaughter of the Edomites, that he brought the gods of the people of Seir, set them up to be his gods, and bowed down before them and burned incense to them. 15Therefore the anger of the LORD was aroused against Amaziah, and He sent him a prophet who said to him, "Why have you sought the gods of the people, which could not rescue their own people from your hand?"

16So it was, as he talked with him, that the king said to him, "Have we made you the king's counselor? Cease! Why should you be killed?"

Then the prophet ceased, and said, "I know that God has determined to destroy you, because you have done this and have not heeded my advice."

Israel Defeats Judah

17Now Amaziah king of Judah asked advice and sent to Joash[a] the son of Jehoahaz, the son of Jehu, king of Israel, saying, "Come, let us face one another in battle."

18And Joash king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Judah, saying, "The thistle that was in Lebanon sent to the cedar that was in Lebanon, saying, 'Give your daughter to my son as wife'; and a wild beast that was in Lebanon passed by and trampled the thistle. 19Indeed you say that you have defeated the Edomites, and your heart is lifted up to boast. Stay at home now; why should you meddle with trouble, that you should fall—you and Judah with you?"

20But Amaziah would not heed, for it came from God, that He might give them into the hand of their enemies, because they sought the gods of Edom. 21So Joash king of Israel went out; and he and Amaziah king of Judah faced one another at Beth Shemesh, which belongs to Judah. 22And Judah was defeated by Israel, and every man fled to his tent. 23Then Joash the king of Israel captured Amaziah king of Judah, the son of Joash, the son of Jehoahaz, at Beth Shemesh; and he brought him to Jerusalem, and broke down the wall of Jerusalem from the Gate of Ephraim to the Corner Gate—four hundred cubits. 24And he took all the gold and silver, all the articles that were found in the house of God with Obed-Edom, the treasures of the king's house, and hostages, and returned to Samaria.

Death of Amaziah

25Amaziah the son of Joash, king of Judah, lived fifteen years after the death of Joash the son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel. 26Now the rest of the acts of Amaziah, from first to last, indeed are they not written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel? 27After the time that Amaziah turned away from following the LORD, they made a conspiracy against him in Jerusalem, and he fled to Lachish; but they sent after him to Lachish and killed him there. 28Then they brought him on horses and buried him with his fathers in the City of Judah.

Uzziah Reigns in Judah

26 Now all the people of Judah took Uzziah,[a] who was sixteen years old, and made him king instead of his father Amaziah. 2He built Elath[a] and restored it to Judah, after the king rested with his fathers.

3Uzziah was sixteen years old when he became

25:17 [a]Spelled Jehoash in 2 Kings 14:8ff 26:1 [a]Called Azariah in 2 Kings 14:21ff 26:2 [a]Hebrew Eloth

26:1 Uzziah (Azariah) repeated his father Joash's pattern of obedience and blessing during the life of Zechariah the prophet (2 Chr. 26:4–15), followed by sin and punishment (vv. 16–21; see 1 Chr. 3:12; see Is. 1:1; 6:1; Hos. 1:1; Amos 1:1; chart, The Kings with Two Names). Uzziah's obedience was blessed with prosperity (2 Chr. 26:5), victory (vv. 6, 7), foreign tribute (v. 8), fame (vv. 8, 15), building projects (vv. 9, 10), abundance (v. 10), and a large army (vv. 11–14). Uzziah strengthened Judah's control of the south by building at the important gulf port of Elath (v. 2). Gath, Jabneh, and Ashdod were important Philistine cities (v. 6).

king, and he reigned fifty-two years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jecholiah of Jerusalem. 4And he did what was right in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his father Amaziah had done. 5He sought God in the days of Zechariah, who had understanding in the visions[a] of God; and as long as he sought the LORD, God made him prosper.

6Now he went out and made war against the Philistines, and broke down the wall of Gath, the wall of Jabneh, and the wall of Ashdod; and he built cities around Ashdod and among the Philistines. 7God helped him against the Philistines, against the Arabians who lived in Gur Baal, and against the Meunites. 8Also the Ammonites brought tribute to Uzziah. His fame spread as far as the entrance of Egypt, for he became exceedingly strong.

9And Uzziah built towers in Jerusalem at the Corner Gate, at the Valley Gate, and at the corner buttress of the wall; then he fortified them. 10Also he built towers in the desert. He dug many wells, for he had much livestock, both in the lowlands and in the plains; he also had farmers and vinedressers in the mountains and in Carmel, for he loved the soil.

11Moreover Uzziah had an army of fighting men who went out to war by companies, according to the number on their roll as prepared by Jeiel the scribe and Maaseiah the officer, under the hand of Hananiah, one of the king's captains. 12The total number of chief officers[a] of the mighty men of valor was two thousand six hundred. 13And under their authority was an army of three hundred and seven thousand five hundred, that made war with mighty power, to help the king against the enemy. 14Then Uzziah prepared for them, for the entire army, shields, spears, helmets, body armor, bows, and slings to cast stones. 15And he made devices in Jerusalem, invented by skillful men, to be on the towers and the corners, to shoot arrows and large stones. So his fame spread far and wide, for he was marvelously helped till he became strong.

The Penalty for Uzziah's Pride

16But when he was strong his heart was lifted up, to his destruction, for he transgressed against the LORD his God by entering the temple of the LORD to burn incense on the altar of incense. 17So Azariah the priest went in after him, and with him were eighty priests of the LORD—valiant men. 18And they withstood King Uzziah, and said to him, "It is not for you, Uzziah, to burn incense to the LORD, but for the priests, the sons of Aaron, who are consecrated to burn incense. Get out of the sanctuary, for you have trespassed! You shall have no honor from the LORD God."

19Then Uzziah became furious; and he had a censer in his hand to burn incense. And while he was angry with the priests, leprosy broke out on his forehead, before the priests in the house of the LORD, beside the incense altar. 20And Azariah the chief priest and all the priests looked at him, and there, on his forehead, he was leprous; so they thrust him out of that place. Indeed he also hurried to get out, because the LORD had struck him.

21King Uzziah was a leper until the day of his death. He dwelt in an isolated house, because he was a leper; for he was cut off from the house of the LORD. Then Jotham his son was over the king's house, judging the people of the land.

22Now the rest of the acts of Uzziah, from first to last, the prophet Isaiah the son of Amoz wrote. 23So Uzziah rested with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the field of burial which belonged to the kings, for they said, "He is a leper." Then Jotham his son reigned in his place.

Jotham Reigns in Judah

27 Jotham was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jerushah[a] the daughter of Zadok. 2And he did what was right in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his father Uzziah had done (although he did not enter the temple of the LORD). But still the people acted corruptly.

3He built the Upper Gate of the house of the LORD, and he built extensively on the wall of Ophel. 4Moreover he built cities in the mountains of Judah, and in the forests he built fortresses and towers. 5He also fought with the king of the Ammonites and defeated them. And the people of Ammon gave him in that year one hundred talents of silver, ten thousand kors of wheat, and ten thousand of barley. The people of Ammon paid this to him in the second and third years also. 6So Jotham became mighty, because he prepared his ways before the LORD his God.

7Now the rest of the acts of Jotham, and all his wars and his ways, indeed they are written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah. 8He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. 9So Jotham

26:5 [a]Several Hebrew manuscripts, Septuagint, Syriac, Targum, and Arabic read fear. 26:12 [a]Literally chief fathers 27:1 [a]Spelled Jerusha in 2 Kings 15:33

26:16–23 Uzziah's sin. In spite of great blessing for his obedience (vv. 1–15), Uzziah took it upon himself to perform the duties of the priest (v. 16). He refused to heed the word of the prophet (vv. 17, 18) and was smitten with leprosy and exiled from the temple (vv. 19–21; see Lev. 13:46). Uzziah's son, Jotham, then assumed all the royal duties (2 Chr. 26:21).

rested with his fathers, and they buried him in the City of David. Then Ahaz his son reigned in his place.

Ahaz Reigns in Judah

28 Ahaz was twenty years old when he became king, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem; and he did not do what was right in the sight of the LORD, as his father David had done. 2For he walked in the ways of the kings of Israel, and made molded images for the Baals. 3He burned incense in the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, and burned his children in the fire, according to the abominations of the nations whom the LORD had cast out before the children of Israel. 4And he sacrificed and burned incense on the high places, on the hills, and under every green tree.

Syria and Israel Defeat Judah

5Therefore the LORD his God delivered him into the hand of the king of Syria. They defeated him, and carried away a great multitude of them as captives, and brought them to Damascus. Then he was also delivered into the hand of the king of Israel, who defeated him with a great slaughter. 6For Pekah the son of Remaliah killed one hundred and twenty thousand in Judah in one day, all valiant men, because they had forsaken the LORD God of their fathers. 7Zichri, a mighty man of Ephraim, killed Maaseiah the king's son, Azrikam the officer over the house, and Elkanah who was second to the king. 8And the children of Israel carried away captive of their brethren two hundred thousand women, sons, and daughters; and they also took away much spoil from them, and brought the spoil to Samaria.

Israel Returns the Captives

9But a prophet of the LORD was there, whose name was Oded; and he went out before the army that came to Samaria, and said to them: "Look, because the LORD God of your fathers was angry with Judah, He has delivered them into your hand; but you have killed them in a rage that reaches up to heaven. 10And now you propose to force the children of Judah and Jerusalem to be your male and female slaves; but are you not also guilty before the LORD your God? 11Now hear me, therefore, and return the captives, whom you have taken captive from your brethren, for the fierce wrath of the LORD is upon you."

12Then some of the heads of the children of Ephraim, Azariah the son of Johanan, Berechiah the son of Meshillemoth, Jehizkiah the son of Shallum, and Amasa the son of Hadlai, stood up against those who came from the war, 13and said to them, "You shall not bring the captives here, for we already have offended the LORD. You intend to add to our sins and to our guilt; for our guilt is great, and there is fierce wrath against Israel." 14So the armed men left the captives and the spoil before the leaders and all the assembly. 15Then the men who were designated by name rose up and took the captives, and from the spoil they clothed all who were naked among them, dressed them and gave them sandals, gave them food and drink, and anointed them; and they let all the feeble ones ride on donkeys. So they brought them to their brethren at Jericho, the city of palm trees. Then they returned to Samaria.

Assyria Refuses to Help Judah

16At the same time King Ahaz sent to the kings[a] of Assyria to help him. 17For again the Edomites had come, attacked Judah, and carried away captives. 18The Philistines also had invaded the cities of the lowland and of the South of Judah, and had taken Beth Shemesh, Aijalon, Gederoth, Sochoh with its villages, Timnah with its villages, and Gimzo with its villages; and they dwelt there. 19For the LORD brought Judah low because of Ahaz king of Israel, for he had encouraged moral decline in Judah and had been continually unfaithful to the LORD. 20Also Tiglath-Pileser[a] king of Assyria came to him and distressed him, and did not assist him. 21For Ahaz took part of the treasures from the house of the LORD, from the house of the king, and from the leaders, and he gave it to the king of Assyria; but he did not help him.

28:16 [a]Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read king (compare verse 20).
28:20 [a]Hebrew Tilgath-Pilneser

28:1 Ahaz, in his evil reign, countered the righteous reign of his father Jotham (2 Chr. 27:1–9) and forsook the Lord, abandoned the temple (2 Chr. 28:4, 22–25), worshiped idols (v. 2), and practiced human sacrifice (v. 3; Deut. 18:9–14). "The valley of the Son of Hinnom" was a place of idolatry located to the east below the southern edge of Jerusalem (2 Chr. 28:3; Jer. 7:28–31). Associated with Judah's most disgusting pagan practices (2 Chr. 33:6), the valley later became a place of refuse, and as such its perpetual fires were used to describe the place of eternal punishment in the NT (Mark 9:43). Ahaz was defeated by Israel and Syria (2 Chr. 28:5–15) but did not learn from his mistakes and sought help through another foreign alliance (v. 16). Ahaz brought Judah to its lowest point. Under his leadership, the nation was united in wickedness and spiritual decline (vv. 2, 19). He was so wicked that he was not buried in the "tombs of the kings" (v. 27). From the ideal kings (David and Solomon), who remained faithful to temple worship and reigned over a united Israel, the chronicler has led the reader to the ultimate wicked king, who had completely forsaken the temple (2 Chr. 28:22–25) and who reigned over an Israel united in spiritual decline. This fact opens the way for the great temple reforms of Hezekiah (2 Chr. 29—32).

Apostasy and Death of Ahaz

22Now in the time of his distress King Ahaz became increasingly unfaithful to the LORD. This is that King Ahaz. 23For he sacrificed to the gods of Damascus which had defeated him, saying, "Because the gods of the kings of Syria help them, I will sacrifice to them that they may help me." But they were the ruin of him and of all Israel. 24So Ahaz gathered the articles of the house of God, cut in pieces the articles of the house of God, shut up the doors of the house of the LORD, and made for himself altars in every corner of Jerusalem.
25And in every single city of Judah he made high places to burn incense to other gods, and provoked to anger the LORD God of his fathers.

26Now the rest of his acts and all his ways, from first to last, indeed they are written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. 27So Ahaz rested with his fathers, and they buried him in the city, in Jerusalem; but they did not bring him into the tombs of the kings of Israel. Then Hezekiah his son reigned in his place.

Hezekiah Reigns in Judah

29 Hezekiah became king when he was twenty-five years old, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Abijah[a] the daughter of Zechariah. 2And he did what was right in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his father David had done.

Hezekiah Cleanses the Temple

3In the first year of his reign, in the first month, he opened the doors of the house of the LORD and repaired them. 4Then he brought in the priests and the Levites, and gathered them in the East Square, 5and said to them: "Hear me, Levites! Now sanctify yourselves, sanctify the house of the LORD God of your fathers, and carry out the rubbish from the holy place. 6For our fathers have trespassed and done evil in the eyes of the LORD our God; they have forsaken Him, have turned their faces away from the dwelling place of the LORD, and turned their backs on Him. 7They have also shut up the doors of the vestibule, put out the lamps, and have not burned incense or offered burnt offerings in the holy place to the God of Israel. 8Therefore the wrath of the LORD fell upon Judah and Jerusalem, and He has given them up to trouble, to desolation, and to jeering, as you see with your eyes. 9For indeed, because of this our fathers have fallen by the sword; and our sons, our daughters, and our wives are in captivity.

10"Now it is in my heart to make a covenant with the LORD God of Israel, that His fierce wrath may turn away from us. 11My sons, do not be negligent now, for the LORD has chosen you to stand before Him, to serve Him, and that you should minister to Him and burn incense."

12Then these Levites arose: Mahath the son of Amasai and Joel the son of Azariah, of the sons of the Kohathites; of the sons of Merari, Kish the son of Abdi and Azariah the son of Jehallelel; of the Gershonites, Joah the son of Zimmah and Eden the son of Joah; 13of the sons of Elizaphan, Shimri and Jeiel; of the sons of Asaph, Zechariah and Mattaniah; 14of the sons of Heman, Jehiel and Shimei; and of the sons of Jeduthun, Shemaiah and Uzziel.

15And they gathered their brethren, sanctified themselves, and went according to the commandment of the king, at the words of the LORD, to cleanse the house of the LORD. 16Then the priests went into the inner part of the house of the LORD to cleanse it, and brought out all the debris that they found in the temple of the LORD to the court of the house of the LORD. And the Levites took it out and carried it to the Brook Kidron.

17Now they began to sanctify on the first day of the first month, and on the eighth day of the month they came to the vestibule of the LORD. So they sanctified the house of the LORD in eight days, and on the sixteenth day of the first month they finished.

18Then they went in to King Hezekiah and said,
"We have cleansed all the house of the LORD, the altar of burnt offerings with all its articles, and the table of the showbread with all its articles.
19Moreover all the articles which King Ahaz in his

29:1 [a]Spelled Abi in 2 Kings 18:2

29:1 The great apostasy of Ahaz paved the way for the comprehensive reforms of Hezekiah (vv. 1–27). Hezekiah did what was right before the Lord "according to all that his father David had done" (v. 2). A king of Judah had not been compared to David since the days of Jehoshaphat, almost 150 years before (2 Chr. 17:3). Hezekiah's reign is described in language reminiscent of the faithful reigns of David and Solomon (2 Chr. 30:26). Hezekiah was a king who acted in complete faithfulness toward the temple, as had David and Solomon. He ordered the Levites to sanctify themselves (2 Chr. 29:5–17), restored the sacrifices (vv. 20–24), stationed musicians at the temple (vv. 25–30), and encouraged the full participation of all Israel in joyful temple worship (vv. 31–36; 2 Chr. 31:10). Hezekiah even kept a joyful feast for 14 days (2 Chr. 30:21–23). Passover (2 Chr. 29:5, 15) and Unleavened Bread (vv. 13, 21) are two separate feasts. However, because the Feast of Unleavened Bread follows immediately after Passover, both feasts are sometimes referred to as Passover. For celebrating the feasts, Hezekiah was blessed with prosperity, a strong army, victory, and tribute (2 Chr. 32:1–5, 6, 23). Through Hezekiah's example, the people learned of repentance, forgiveness, and restored blessing (2 Chr. 32:24–29). Hezekiah was highly honored at his death (2 Chr. 32:32, 33).

29:3 In whole-hearted reform, Hezekiah repaired the temple and called the people to obedience as well (vv. 5–11, 31; Deut. 17:18–20). "Captivity" refers to the scattering of the northern kingdom by Assyria (2 Chr. 29:9; 30:7).

reign had cast aside in his transgression we have prepared and sanctified; and there they are, before the altar of the LORD."

Hezekiah Restores Temple Worship

20Then King Hezekiah rose early, gathered the rulers of the city, and went up to the house of the LORD. 21And they brought seven bulls, seven rams, seven lambs, and seven male goats for a sin offering for the kingdom, for the sanctuary, and for Judah. Then he commanded the priests, the sons of Aaron, to offer them on the altar of the LORD. 22So they killed the bulls, and the priests received the blood and sprinkled it on the altar. Likewise they killed the rams and sprinkled the blood on the altar. They also killed the lambs and sprinkled the blood on the altar. 23Then they brought out the male goats for the sin offering before the king and the assembly, and they laid their hands on them. 24And the priests killed them; and they presented their blood on the altar as a sin offering to make an atonement for all Israel, for the king commanded that the burnt offering and the sin offering be made for all Israel.

31Then Hezekiah answered and said, "Now that you have consecrated yourselves to the LORD, come near, and bring sacrifices and thank offerings into the house of the LORD." So the assembly brought in sacrifices and thank offerings, and as many as were of a willing heart brought burnt offerings. 32And the number of the burnt offerings which the assembly brought was seventy bulls, one hundred rams, and two hundred lambs; all these were for a burnt offering to the LORD. 33The consecrated things were six hundred bulls and three thousand sheep. 34But the priests were too few, so that they could not skin all the burnt offerings; therefore their brethren the Levites helped them until the work was ended and until the other priests had sanctified themselves, for the Levites were more diligent in sanctifying themselves than the priests. 35Also the burnt offerings were in abundance, with the fat of the peace offerings and with the drink offerings for every burnt offering.

So the service of the house of the LORD was set in order. 36Then Hezekiah and all the people rejoiced that God had prepared the people, since the events took place so suddenly.

Hezekiah Keeps the Passover

30 And Hezekiah sent to all Israel and Judah, and also wrote letters to Ephraim and Manasseh, that they should come to the house of the LORD at Jerusalem, to keep the Passover to the LORD God of Israel. 2For the king and his leaders and all the assembly in Jerusalem had agreed to keep the Passover in the second month. 3For they could not keep it at the regular time,[a] because a sufficient number of priests had not consecrated themselves, nor had the people gathered together at Jerusalem. 4And the matter pleased the king and all the assembly. 5So they resolved to make a proclamation throughout all Israel, from Beersheba to Dan, that they should come to keep the Passover to the LORD God of Israel at Jerusalem, since they had not done it for a long time in the prescribed manner.

6Then the runners went throughout all Israel and Judah with the letters from the king and his leaders, and spoke according to the command of the king: "Children of Israel, return to the LORD God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel; then He will return to the remnant of you who have escaped from the hand of the kings of Assyria. 7And do not be like your fathers and your brethren, who trespassed against the LORD God of their fathers, so that He gave them up to desolation, as you see. 8Now do not be stiff-necked, as your fathers were, but yield yourselves to the LORD; and enter His sanctuary, which He has sanctified forever, and

30:3 [a]That is, the first month (compare Leviticus 23:5); literally at that time

30:1–27 Hezekiah celebrated Passover, a feast to which all Israel was invited "from Beersheba to Dan" (vv. 5, 10, 11). Ephraim and Manasseh are typical terms denoting the northern kingdom (v. 1). According to the Law, the celebration of the feast could be delayed until the second month (Num. 9:9–11). The celebration of Passover, recalling escape from Egypt, was appropriate since Judah had "escaped from the hand of the kings of Assyria" (2 Chr. 30:6; see also Ex. 12:1—13:10). Where there is sin, repentance and restoration may also be found (2 Chr. 30:6–9).

serve the LORD your God, that the fierceness of His wrath may turn away from you. 9For if you return to the LORD, your brethren and your children will be treated with compassion by those who lead them captive, so that they may come back to this land; for the LORD your God is gracious and merciful, and will not turn His face from you if you return to Him."

10So the runners passed from city to city through the country of Ephraim and Manasseh, as far as Zebulun; but they laughed at them and mocked them. 11Nevertheless some from Asher, Manasseh, and Zebulun humbled themselves and came to Jerusalem. 12Also the hand of God was on Judah to give them singleness of heart to obey the command of the king and the leaders, at the word of the LORD.

13Now many people, a very great assembly, gathered at Jerusalem to keep the Feast of Unleavened Bread in the second month. 14They arose and took away the altars that were in Jerusalem, and they took away all the incense altars and cast them into the Brook Kidron. 15Then they slaughtered the Passover lambs on the fourteenth day of the second month. The priests and the Levites were ashamed, and sanctified themselves, and brought the burnt offerings to the house of the LORD. 16They stood in their place according to their custom, according to the Law of Moses the man of God; the priests sprinkled the blood received from the hand of the Levites. 17For there were many in the assembly who had not sanctified themselves; therefore the Levites had charge of the slaughter of the Passover lambs for everyone who was not clean, to sanctify them to the LORD. 18For a multitude of the people, many from Ephraim, Manasseh, Issachar, and Zebulun, had not cleansed themselves, yet they ate the Passover contrary to what was written. But Hezekiah prayed for them, saying, "May the good LORD provide atonement for everyone 19*who* prepares his heart to seek God, the LORD God of his fathers, though he is not cleansed according to the purification of the sanctuary." 20And the LORD listened to Hezekiah and healed the people.

23Then the whole assembly agreed to keep the feast another seven days, and they kept it another seven days with gladness. 24For Hezekiah king of Judah gave to the assembly a thousand bulls and seven thousand sheep, and the leaders gave to the assembly a thousand bulls and ten thousand sheep; and a great number of priests sanctified themselves. 25The whole assembly of Judah rejoiced, also the priests and Levites, all the assembly that came from Israel, the sojourners who came from the land of Israel, and those who dwelt in Judah. 26So there was great joy in Jerusalem, for since the time of Solomon the son of David, king of Israel, there had been nothing like this in Jerusalem. 27Then the priests, the Levites, arose and blessed the people, and their voice was heard; and their prayer came up to His holy dwelling place, to heaven.

The Reforms of Hezekiah

31 Now when all this was finished, all Israel who were present went out to the cities of Judah and broke the sacred pillars in pieces, cut down the wooden images, and threw down the high places and the altars—from all Judah, Benjamin, Ephraim, and Manasseh—until they had utterly destroyed them all. Then all the children of Israel returned to their own cities, every man to his possession.

2And Hezekiah appointed the divisions of the priests and the Levites according to their divisions, each man according to his service, the priests and Levites for burnt offerings and peace offerings, to serve, to give thanks, and to praise in the gates of the camp[a] of the LORD. 3The king also appointed a portion of his possessions for the burnt offerings: for the morning and evening burnt offerings, the burnt offerings for the Sabbaths and the New Moons and the set feasts, as it is written in the Law of the LORD.

4Moreover he commanded the people who dwelt in Jerusalem to contribute support for the priests and the Levites, that they might devote themselves to the Law of the LORD.

5As soon as the commandment was circulated, the children of Israel brought in abundance the firstfruits of grain and wine, oil and honey, and of all the produce of the field; and they brought in abundantly the tithe of everything. 6And the children of Israel and Judah, who dwelt in the cities of Judah, brought the tithe of oxen and sheep; also the tithe of holy things which were consecrated to the LORD their God they laid in heaps.

7In the third month they began laying them in heaps, and they finished in the seventh month.

31:2 [a]That is, the temple

31:1 Illegitimate worship was removed from all Israel, and the system for proper worship was reinstated. Hezekiah's reforms paralleled the work of David and Solomon (v. 21; see 1 Chr. 23—26).

[8]And when Hezekiah and the leaders came and saw the heaps, they blessed the LORD and His people Israel. [9]Then Hezekiah questioned the priests and the Levites concerning the heaps. [10]And Azariah the chief priest, from the house of Zadok, answered him and said, "Since the people began to bring the offerings into the house of the LORD, we have had enough to eat and have plenty left, for the LORD has blessed His people; and what is left is this great abundance."

[11]Now Hezekiah commanded them to prepare rooms in the house of the LORD, and they prepared them. [12]Then they faithfully brought in the offerings, the tithes, and the dedicated things; Cononiah the Levite had charge of them, and Shimei his brother was the next. [13]Jehiel, Azaziah, Nahath, Asahel, Jerimoth, Jozabad, Eliel, Ismachiah, Mahath, and Benaiah were overseers under the hand of Cononiah and Shimei his brother, at the commandment of Hezekiah the king and Azariah the ruler of the house of God. [14]Kore the son of Imnah the Levite, the keeper of the East Gate, was over the freewill offerings to God, to distribute the offerings of the LORD and the most holy things. [15]And under him were Eden, Miniamin, Jeshua, Shemaiah, Amariah, and Shecaniah, his faithful assistants in the cities of the priests, to distribute allotments to their brethren by divisions, to the great as well as the small.

[16]Besides those males from three years old and up who were written in the genealogy, they distributed to everyone who entered the house of the LORD his daily portion for the work of his service, by his division, [17]and to the priests who were written in the genealogy according to their father's house, and to the Levites from twenty years old and up according to their work, by their divisions, [18]and to all who were written in the genealogy—their little ones and their wives, their sons and daughters, the whole company of them—for in their faithfulness they sanctified themselves in holiness.

[19]Also for the sons of Aaron the priests, who were in the fields of the common-lands of their cities, in every single city, there were men who were designated by name to distribute portions to all the males among the priests and to all who were listed by genealogies among the Levites.

[20]Thus Hezekiah did throughout all Judah, and he did what was good and right and true before the LORD his God. [21]And in every work that he began in the service of the house of God, in the law and in the commandment, to seek his God, he did it with all his heart. So he prospered.

Sennacherib Boasts Against the LORD

32 After these deeds of faithfulness, Sennacherib king of Assyria came and entered Judah; he encamped against the fortified cities, thinking to win them over to himself. [2]And when Hezekiah saw that Sennacherib had come, and that his purpose was to make war against Jerusalem, [3]he consulted with his leaders and commanders[a] to stop the water from the springs which were outside the city; and they helped him. [4]Thus many people gathered together who stopped all the springs and the brook that ran through the land, saying, "Why should the kings[a] of Assyria come and find much water?" [5]And he strengthened himself, built up all the wall that was broken, raised it up to the towers, and built another wall outside; also he repaired the Millo[a] in the City of David, and made weapons and shields in abundance. [6]Then he set military captains over the people, gathered them together to him in the open square of the city gate, and gave them encouragement, saying, [7]"Be strong and courageous; do not be afraid nor dismayed before the king of Assyria, nor before all the multitude that is with him; for there are more with us than with him. [8]With him is an arm of flesh; but with us is the LORD our God, to help us and to fight our battles." And the people were strengthened by the words of Hezekiah king of Judah.

[9]After this Sennacherib king of Assyria sent his servants to Jerusalem (but he and all the forces with him laid siege against Lachish), to Hezekiah king of Judah, and to all Judah who were in Jerusalem, saying, [10]"Thus says Sennacherib king of Assyria: 'In what do you trust, that you remain under siege in Jerusalem? [11]Does not Hezekiah persuade you to give yourselves over to die by famine and by thirst, saying, "The LORD our God will deliver us from the hand of the king of Assyria"? [12]Has not the same Hezekiah taken away His high places and His altars, and commanded Judah and Jerusalem, saying, "You shall worship before one altar and burn incense on it"? [13]Do you not know what I and my fathers have done to all the peoples of other lands? Were the gods of the nations of those lands in any way able to deliver their lands out of my hand? 14Who was there among all the gods of those nations that my fathers utterly destroyed that could deliver his people from my hand, that your God should be able to deliver you from my hand? 15Now therefore, do not let Hezekiah deceive you or persuade you like this, and do not believe him; for no god of any nation or kingdom was able to deliver his people from my hand or the hand of my fathers. How much less will your God deliver you from my hand?' "

32:1 Hezekiah found success in everything he did. Just as David encouraged Solomon, so Hezekiah encouraged his captains to "be strong and courageous" (v. 7; 1 Chr. 22:11–16; 28:1—29:9). The taunt of Sennacherib, king of Assyria, was meant to put fear and doubt into the hearts of the people (2 Chr. 32:9–19). The honor of both the Lord and the king are called into question, but Hezekiah did not falter. In obedience, he called on the Lord and was saved (vv. 20, 21). Hezekiah humbled himself and repented (vv. 24–26) and was blessed with abundant wealth like Solomon (vv. 27–31) and with great honor at death (vv. 32, 33).

16Furthermore, his servants spoke against the LORD God and against His servant Hezekiah.

17He also wrote letters to revile the LORD God of Israel, and to speak against Him, saying, "As the gods of the nations of other lands have not delivered their people from my hand, so the God of Hezekiah will not deliver His people from my hand." 18Then they called out with a loud voice in Hebrew[a] to the people of Jerusalem who were on the wall, to frighten them and trouble them, that they might take the city. 19And they spoke against the God of Jerusalem, as against the gods of the people of the earth—the work of men's hands.

Sennacherib's Defeat and Death

20Now because of this King Hezekiah and the prophet Isaiah, the son of Amoz, prayed and cried out to heaven. 21Then the LORD sent an angel who cut down every mighty man of valor, leader, and captain in the camp of the king of Assyria. So he returned shamefaced to his own land. And when he had gone into the temple of his god, some of his own offspring struck him down with the sword there.

22Thus the LORD saved Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem from the hand of Sennacherib the king of Assyria, and from the hand of all others, and guided them[a] on every side. 23And many brought gifts to the LORD at Jerusalem, and presents to Hezekiah king of Judah, so that he was exalted in the sight of all nations thereafter.

Hezekiah Humbles Himself

24In those days Hezekiah was sick and near death, and he prayed to the LORD; and He spoke to him and gave him a sign. 25But Hezekiah did not repay according to the favor shown him, for his heart was lifted up; therefore wrath was looming over him and over Judah and Jerusalem. 26Then Hezekiah humbled himself for the pride of his heart, he and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so that the wrath of the LORD did not come upon them in the days of Hezekiah.

Hezekiah's Wealth and Honor

27Hezekiah had very great riches and honor. And he made himself treasuries for silver, for gold, for precious stones, for spices, for shields, and for all kinds of desirable items; 28storehouses for the harvest of grain, wine, and oil; and stalls for all kinds of livestock, and folds for flocks.[a] 29Moreover he provided cities for himself, and possessions of flocks and herds in abundance; for God had given him very much property. 30This same Hezekiah also stopped the water outlet of Upper Gihon, and brought the water by tunnel[a] to the west side of the City of David. Hezekiah prospered in all his works.

31However, regarding the ambassadors of the princes of Babylon, whom they sent to him to inquire about the wonder that was done in the land, God withdrew from him, in order to test him, that He might know all that was in his heart.

Death of Hezekiah

32Now the rest of the acts of Hezekiah, and his goodness, indeed they are written in the vision of Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz, and in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. 33So Hezekiah rested with his fathers, and they buried him in the upper tombs of the sons of David; and all Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem honored him at his death. Then Manasseh his son reigned in his place.

Manasseh Reigns in Judah

33 Manasseh was twelve years old when he became king, and he reigned fifty-five years in Jerusalem. 2But he did evil in the sight of the LORD, according to the abominations of the nations whom the LORD had cast out before the children of Israel. 3For he rebuilt the high places which Hezekiah his father had broken down; he raised up altars for the Baals, and made wooden images; and he worshiped all the host of heaven[a] and served them. 4He also built altars in the house of the LORD, of which the LORD had said, "In Jerusalem shall My name be forever." 5And he built altars for all the host of heaven in the two courts of the house of the LORD. 6Also he caused his sons to pass through the fire in the Valley of the Son of Hinnom; he practiced soothsaying, used witchcraft and sorcery, and consulted mediums and spiritists. He did much evil in the sight of the LORD, to provoke Him to anger. 7He even set a carved image, the idol which he had made, in the house of God, of which God had said to David and to Solomon his son, "In this house and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, I will put My name forever; 8and I will not again remove the foot of Israel from the land which I have appointed for your fathers—only if

32:18 [a]Literally Judean 32:22 [a]Septuagint reads gave them rest; Vulgate reads gave them treasures. 32:28 [a]Following Septuagint and Vulgate; Arabic and Syriac omit folds for flocks; Masoretic Text reads flocks for sheepfolds. 32:30 [a]Literally brought it straight (compare 2 Kings 20:20) 33:3 [a]The gods of the Assyrians they are careful to do all that I have commanded them, according to the whole law and the statutes and the ordinances by the hand of Moses." 9So Manasseh seduced Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to do more evil than the nations whom the LORD had destroyed before the children of Israel.

Manasseh Restored After Repentance

10And the LORD spoke to Manasseh and his people, but they would not listen. 11Therefore the LORD brought upon them the captains of the army of the king of Assyria, who took Manasseh with hooks,[a] bound him with bronze fetters, and carried him off to Babylon. 12Now when he was in affliction, he implored the LORD his God, and humbled himself greatly before the God of his fathers, 13and prayed to Him; and He received his entreaty, heard his supplication, and brought him back to Jerusalem into his kingdom. Then Manasseh knew that the LORD was God.

14After this he built a wall outside the City of David on the west side of Gihon, in the valley, as far as the entrance of the Fish Gate; and it enclosed Ophel, and he raised it to a very great height. Then he put military captains in all the fortified cities of Judah. 15He took away the foreign gods and the idol from the house of the LORD, and all the altars that he had built in the mount of the house of the LORD and in Jerusalem; and he cast them out of the city. 16He also repaired the altar of the LORD, sacrificed peace offerings and thank offerings on it, and commanded Judah to serve the LORD God of Israel. 17Nevertheless the people still sacrificed on the high places, but only to the LORD their God.

Death of Manasseh

18Now the rest of the acts of Manasseh, his prayer to his God, and the words of the seers who spoke to him in the name of the LORD God of Israel, indeed they are written in the book[a] of the kings of Israel. 19Also his prayer and how God received his entreaty, and all his sin and trespass, and the sites where he built high places and set up wooden images and carved images, before he was humbled, indeed they are written among the sayings of Hozai.[a] 20So Manasseh rested with his fathers, and they buried him in his own house. Then his son Amon reigned in his place.

Amon's Reign and Death

21Amon was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned two years in Jerusalem. 22But he did evil in the sight of the LORD, as his father Manasseh had done; for Amon sacrificed to all the carved images which his father Manasseh had made, and served them. 23And he did not humble himself before the LORD, as his father Manasseh had humbled himself; but Amon trespassed more and more.

24Then his servants conspired against him, and killed him in his own house. 25But the people of the land executed all those who had conspired against King Amon. Then the people of the land made his son Josiah king in his place.

Josiah Reigns in Judah

34 Josiah was eight years old when he became king, and he reigned thirty-one years in Jerusalem. 2And he did what was right in the sight of the LORD, and walked in the ways of his father David; he did not turn aside to the right hand or to the left.

3For in the eighth year of his reign, while he was still young, he began to seek the God of his father David; and in the twelfth year he began to purge Judah and Jerusalem of the high places, the wooden images, the carved images, and the molded images. 4They broke down the altars of the Baals in his presence, and the incense altars which were above them he cut down; and the wooden images, the carved images, and the molded images he broke in pieces, and made dust of them and scattered it on the graves of those who had sacrificed to them. 5He also burned the bones of the priests on their altars, and cleansed Judah and Jerusalem. 6And so he did in the cities of Manasseh, Ephraim, and Simeon, as far as Naphtali and all around, with axes.[a] 7When he had broken down the altars and the wooden images, had beaten the carved images into powder, and cut down all the incense altars throughout all the land of Israel, he returned to Jerusalem.

Hilkiah Finds the Book of the Law

8In the eighteenth year of his reign, when he had purged the land and the temple,[a] he sent

33:11 [a]That is, nose hooks (compare 2 Kings 19:28) 33:18 [a]Literally words 33:19 [a]Septuagint reads the seers. 34:6 [a]Literally swords 34:8 [a]Literally house

34:1 Josiah, like other temple reformers, was characterized by walking "in the ways of his father David" (v. 2; 2 Chr. 17:3; 29:2). Josiah cleansed Judah, Jerusalem, and all Israel from illegitimate worship (2 Kin. 23:4–20; 2 Chr. 34:3–7) and reestablished the temple and temple worship (vv. 8–28). His twelfth year was a time of the weakening of the Assyrian Empire, which made reforms easier (v. 3). As a faithful king, Josiah taught the people the Law and led them in covenant renewal (vv. 29–33; see Deut. 17:18–22). He led them in the Passover, a celebration not seen in Israel since Samuel's time. He even exceeded Hezekiah's celebration of the Passover (2 Chr. 35:1–19). He made sure all Israel gave to the repairing of the temple and joined together in temple worship (2 Chr. 34:9, 29–33). The "Book of the Law" found has been associated with the Book of Deuteronomy (v. 14).

Shaphan the son of Azaliah, Maaseiah the governor of the city, and Joah the son of Joahaz the recorder, to repair the house of the LORD his God. 9When they came to Hilkiah the high priest, they delivered the money that was brought into the house of God, which the Levites who kept the doors had gathered from the hand of Manasseh and Ephraim, from all the remnant of Israel, from all Judah and Benjamin, and which they had brought back to Jerusalem. 10Then they put it in the hand of the foremen who had the oversight of the house of the LORD; and they gave it to the workmen who worked in the house of the LORD, to repair and restore the house. 11They gave it to the craftsmen and builders to buy hewn stone and timber for beams, and to floor the houses which the kings of Judah had destroyed. 12And the men did the work faithfully. Their overseers were Jahath and Obadiah the Levites, of the sons of Merari, and Zechariah and Meshullam, of the sons of the Kohathites, to supervise. Others of the Levites, all of whom were skillful with instruments of music, 13*were* over the burden bearers and were overseers of all who did work in any kind of service. And some of the Levites were scribes, officers, and gatekeepers.

14Now when they brought out the money that was brought into the house of the LORD, Hilkiah the priest found the Book of the Law of the LORD given by Moses. 15Then Hilkiah answered and said to Shaphan the scribe, "I have found the Book of the Law in the house of the LORD." And Hilkiah gave the book to Shaphan. 16So Shaphan carried the book to the king, bringing the king word, saying, "All that was committed to your servants they are doing. 17And they have gathered the money that was found in the house of the LORD, and have delivered it into the hand of the overseers and the workmen." 18Then Shaphan the scribe told the king, saying, "Hilkiah the priest has given me a book." And Shaphan read it before the king.

22So Hilkiah and those the king had appointed went to Huldah the prophetess, the wife of Shallum the son of Tokhath,[a] the son of Hasrah,[b] keeper of the wardrobe. (She dwelt in Jerusalem in the Second Quarter.) And they spoke to her to that effect.

23Then she answered them, "Thus says the LORD God of Israel, 'Tell the man who sent you to Me, 24"Thus says the LORD: 'Behold, I will bring calamity on this place and on its inhabitants, all the curses that are written in the book which they have read before the king of Judah, 25because they have forsaken Me and burned incense to other gods, that they might provoke Me to anger with all the works of their hands. Therefore My wrath will be poured out on this place, and not be quenched.' " ' 26But as for the king of Judah, who sent you to inquire of the LORD, in this manner you shall speak to him, 'Thus says the LORD God of Israel: "Concerning the words which you have heard— 27because your heart was tender, and you humbled yourself before God when you heard His words against this place and against its inhabitants, and you humbled yourself before Me, and you tore your clothes and wept before Me, I also have heard you," says the LORD. 28"Surely I will gather you to your fathers, and you shall be gathered to your grave in peace; and your eyes shall not see all the calamity which I will bring on this place and its inhabitants." ' " So they brought back word to the king.

Josiah Restores True Worship

29Then the king sent and gathered all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem. 30The king went up to the house of the LORD, with all the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem—the priests and the Levites, and all the people, great and small. And he read in their hearing all the words of the Book of the Covenant which had been found in the house of the LORD. 31Then the king stood in his place and made a covenant before the LORD, to follow the LORD, and to keep His commandments and His testimonies and His statutes with all his heart and all his soul, to perform the words of the covenant that were written in this book. 32And he made all who were present in Jerusalem and Benjamin take a stand. So the inhabitants of Jerusalem did according to the covenant of God, the God of their fathers. 33Thus Josiah removed all the abominations from all the country that belonged to the children of Israel, and made all who were present in Israel diligently serve the LORD their God. All his days they did not depart from following the LORD God of their fathers.

Josiah Keeps the Passover

35 Now Josiah kept a Passover to the LORD in Jerusalem, and they slaughtered the Passover lambs on the fourteenth day of the first month. 2And he set the priests in their duties and encouraged them for the service of the house of the LORD. 3Then he said to the Levites who taught all Israel, who were holy to the LORD: "Put the holy ark in the house which Solomon the son of David, king of Israel, built. It shall no longer be a burden on your shoulders. Now serve the LORD your God and His people Israel. 4Prepare yourselves according to your fathers' houses, according to your divisions, following the written instruction of David king of Israel and the written instruction of Solomon his son. 5And stand in the holy place according to the divisions of the fathers' houses of your brethren the lay people, and according to the division of the father's house of the Levites. 6So slaughter the Passover offerings, consecrate yourselves, and prepare them for your brethren, that they may do according to the word of the LORD by the hand of Moses."

7Then Josiah gave the lay people lambs and young goats from the flock, all for Passover offerings for all who were present, to the number of thirty thousand, as well as three thousand cattle; these were from the king's possessions. 8And his leaders gave willingly to the people, to the priests, and to the Levites. Hilkiah, Zechariah, and Jehiel, rulers of the house of God, gave to the priests for the Passover offerings two thousand six hundred from the flock, and three hundred cattle. 9Also Conaniah, his brothers Shemaiah and Nethanel, and Hashabiah and Jeiel and Jozabad, chief of the Levites, gave to the Levites for Passover offerings five thousand from the flock and five hundred cattle.

16So all the service of the LORD was prepared the same day, to keep the Passover and to offer burnt offerings on the altar of the LORD, according to the command of King Josiah. 17And the children of Israel who were present kept the Passover at that time, and the Feast of Unleavened Bread for seven days. 18There had been no Passover kept in Israel like that since the days of Samuel the prophet; and none of the kings of Israel had kept such a Passover as Josiah kept, with the priests and the Levites, all Judah and Israel who were present, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. 19In the eighteenth year of the reign of Josiah this Passover was kept.

Josiah Dies in Battle

20After all this, when Josiah had prepared the temple, Necho king of Egypt came up to fight against Carchemish by the Euphrates; and Josiah went out against him. 21But he sent messengers to him, saying, "What have I to do with you, king of Judah? I have not come against you this day, but against the house with which I have war; for God commanded me to make haste. Refrain from meddling with God, who is with me, lest He destroy you." 22Nevertheless Josiah would not turn his face from him, but disguised himself so that he might fight with him, and did not heed the words of Necho from the mouth of God. So he came to fight in the Valley of Megiddo.

23And the archers shot King Josiah; and the king said to his servants, "Take me away, for I am severely wounded." 24His servants therefore took him out of that chariot and put him in the second chariot that he had, and they brought him to Jerusalem. So he died, and was buried in one of the tombs of his fathers. And all Judah and Jerusalem mourned for Josiah.

25Jeremiah also lamented for Josiah. And to this day all the singing men and the singing women speak of Josiah in their lamentations. They made it a custom in Israel; and indeed they are written in the Laments.

26Now the rest of the acts of Josiah and his goodness, according to what was written in the Law of the LORD, 27and his deeds from first to last, indeed they are written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah.

35:20–27 King Josiah began well but ended his life in disobedience. Some suggest that his untimely death was immediate retribution for sin. The circumstances of his death are given but without clear explanation. Necho, king of Egypt, was responsible for the sudden death of this faithful king. Even Josiah was not exempt from punishment for disobedience.

The Reign and Captivity of Jehoahaz

36 Then the people of the land took Jehoahaz the son of Josiah, and made him king in his father's place in Jerusalem. [2]Jehoahaz[a] was twenty-three years old when he became king, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem. [3]Now the king of Egypt deposed him at Jerusalem; and he imposed on the land a tribute of one hundred talents of silver and a talent of gold. [4]Then the king of Egypt made Jehoahaz's[a] brother Eliakim king over Judah and Jerusalem, and changed his name to Jehoiakim. And Necho took Jehoahaz[b] his brother and carried him off to Egypt.

The Reign and Captivity of Jehoiakim

[5]Jehoiakim was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. And he did evil in the sight of the LORD his God. [6]Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came up against him, and bound him in bronze fetters to carry him off to Babylon. [7]Nebuchadnezzar also carried off some of the articles from the house of the LORD to Babylon, and put them in his temple at Babylon. [8]Now the rest of the acts of Jehoiakim, the abominations which he did, and what was found against him, indeed they are written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah. Then Je-hoiachin his son reigned in his place.

The Reign and Captivity of Jehoiachin

[9]Jehoiachin was eight[a] years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem three months and ten days. And he did evil in the sight of the LORD. [10]At the turn of the year King Nebuchadnezzar summoned him and took him to Babylon, with the costly articles from the house of the LORD, and made Zedekiah, Jehoiakim's[a] brother, king over Judah and Jerusalem.

Zedekiah Reigns in Judah

[11]Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. [12]He did evil in the sight of the LORD his God, and did not humble himself before Jeremiah the prophet, who spoke from the mouth of the LORD.
[13]And he also rebelled against King Nebuchadnezzar, who had made him swear an oath by God; but he stiffened his neck and hardened his heart against turning to the LORD God of Israel. [14]Moreover all the leaders of the priests and the people transgressed more and more, according to all the abomi-nations of the nations, and defiled the house of the LORD which He had consecrated in Jerusalem.

The Fall of Jerusalem

[15]And the LORD God of their fathers sent warnings to them by His messengers, rising up early and sending them, because He had compassion on His people and on His dwelling place. [16]But they mocked the messengers of God, despised His words, and scoffed at His prophets, until the wrath of the LORD arose against His people, till there was no remedy.

[17]Therefore He brought against them the king of the Chaldeans, who killed their young men with the sword in the house of their sanctuary, and had no compassion on young man or virgin, on the aged or the weak; He gave them all into his hand. [18]And all the articles from the house of God, great and small, the treasures of the house of the LORD, and the treasures of the king and of his leaders, all these he took to Babylon. [19]Then they burned the house of God, broke down the wall of Jerusalem, burned all its palaces with fire, and destroyed all its precious possessions. [20]And those who escaped from the sword he carried away to Babylon, where they became servants to him and his sons until the rule of the kingdom of Persia, [21]to fulfill the word of the LORD by the mouth of Jeremiah, until the land had enjoyed her Sabbaths.
As long as she lay desolate she kept Sabbath, to fulfill seventy years.

The Proclamation of Cyrus

[22]Now in the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, that the word of the LORD by the mouth of Jeremiah might be fulfilled, the LORD stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, so that he made a

36:2 [a]Masoretic Text reads Joahaz. 36:4 [a]Literally his [b]Masoretic Text reads Joahaz. 36:9 [a]Some Hebrew manuscripts, Septuagint, Syriac, and 2 Kings 24:8 read eighteen. 36:10 [a]Literally his (compare 2 Kings 24:17)

36:1 The Lord had promised Josiah that he would not have to endure the pain of the Exile (2 Chr. 34:26–28). Upon the death of Josiah, the chronicler, in swift and sweeping accounts, brings Judah to exile in Babylon. Note that all these kings experienced exile: Jehoahaz to Egypt (2 Chr. 36:2–4); Jehoiakim, Jehoiachin, and Zedekiah to Babylon (vv. 5, 6, 9–11, 17–20). That the Exile was justified is made clear by the Lord's repeated yet unheeded call for repentance through his prophets (vv. 15–21). The Exile was the fulfillment of what had been foretold by Jeremiah (Jer. 25:2–14; 29:10). The returned Jewish community was thus reminded that the Exile came by the hand of the Lord as judgment for their unfaithfulness and continued until His purposes were accomplished. The returned community was not to follow the sins of the past.

36:22, 23 The decree of Cyrus. Just as the Exile was by the hand of the Lord, so the return from Exile was by the word of the Lord (Is. 44:24–28; Jer. 29:10). The Lord stirred the spirit of Cyrus, and the return to Judah is centered around the temple. The rebuilt temple in Jerusalem would be proof that the Exile was ended and that the covenant had been restored. The returned Jewish community would be encouraged with proclamation throughout all his kingdom, and also put it in writing, saying,

23 Thus says Cyrus king of Persia:
All the kingdoms of the earth the LORD God of heaven has given me. And He has commanded me to build Him a house at Jerusalem which is in Judah. Who is among you of all His people? May the LORD his God be with him, and let him go up!

this knowledge. As they looked forward to a renewed covenant relation with the Lord, they would understand that He required them to be faithful just as He had required faithfulness from their fathers before the Exile. Devotion to the Lord would be the way to blessing. Chronicles ends on a positive note of hope and assurance for the future. God had not changed His way of dealing with His people. He remained faithful to His covenant.

Ezra

AUTHOR

Jewish tradition ascribes this book to Ezra, a scribe and a priest during the Exile of the Jews in Babylon. However, scholars continue to debate the authorship. In earlier manuscripts Ezra and Nehemiah were one book with similar characteristics in style and content. Possibly Chronicles, Ezra, and Nehemiah may have been edited by the same person, someone known as the chronicler. The section written in first person can be considered Ezra's (Ezra 7:28—9:15), but whether an editor compiled the book and inserted Ezra's writing or whether Ezra prepared the whole text is not documented. The available information allows no more than conjecture.

DATE

Set during the reign of Artaxerxes I (465–424 B.C.) and Ezra's presence in Judah, the book was most likely compiled sometime after 458 B.C. (Ezra 7:1; see chart, The Timeline for Ezra, Nehemiah, and Esther).

BACKGROUND

SETTING: The story begins in 538 B.C., during the first year of the rule of King Cyrus of Persia over Babylon. There were three major deportations in the Exile of the Jews from Jerusalem (605 B.C., 598 B.C., and 586 B.C.). Jerusalem and the temple had been destroyed by the invasion of Nebuchadnezzar and his Babylonian army. Many Jews were killed, others scattered to distant lands, and some were taken as prisoners to Babylon. Those taken into exile included the political, religious, and intellectual leaders of the Jewish community. Later, Cyrus overthrew the Babylonians, and the empire changed hands. Believing the worship of foreign gods to be a political advantage, Cyrus tolerated and even encouraged this practice, which resulted in an edict to the Jews to return to Jerusalem to rebuild the house of their God. This edict permitting the Jews to return to their homeland was inscribed on the Cyrus Cylinder (538 B.C.). Discovered in the nineteenth century, the cylinder parallels and affirms the biblical account of the benevolent treatment received by the Jews in captivity under Cyrus.

Earlier prophets such as Jeremiah and Isaiah had prophesied the events of both the Exile and the eventual return of the remnant to Jerusalem. However, the Jews believed the Davidic promise of a dynasty that would not end. When they no longer had a king on the throne, and worse yet, no country, they began to doubt the prophets. Some believed the Jews had committed an unforgivable sin, resulting in God's cancellation of their destiny. There was little hope in the hearts of the people of Israel prior to the reign of Cyrus, king of Persia.

PURPOSE: Ezra 1—6 was written to document the return of a small remnant of Jews to Jerusalem from Exile in Babylon in response to the decree of King Cyrus of Persia to rebuild the temple of God (see map, The Return from Exile). No less important is the purpose to preserve the details of the accomplishment of the task set before them and to document God's providence in caring for His people and fulfilling His promises to them. Ezra 7—10 focused on the description of the ministry of Ezra as an expounder of God's Word (Ezra 7:6, 12), a man of faith (Ezra 8:20–22), an inspired leader (Ezra 7:27, 28), a man of prayer and piety (Ezra 8:21; 10:6).

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS:

1) A definite chronological sequence cannot be determined in Ezra. Rather, the narrative provides a summary of events that transpired in order to emphasize certain themes.
2) The use of lists, inventories, written decrees, and memoirs emphasizes the historicity of the text. Of special interest is the repetition of the list of returning exiles (Ezra 2; Neh. 7).
3) The "memoirs" of Ezra are included (Ezra 7—10).
4) The earliest manuscripts were written in Hebrew with small portions in Aramaic, the official language of Persian diplomacy (Ezra 4:8—6:18; 7:12–26).

THEMES

Among the themes in Ezra are these:

1) Yahweh is sovereign and faithful to His covenant. His redemptive promises prevail.
2) Israel, as God's instrument, must remain separate from the pagan world. The transition of Israel from a nation to a community is presented as complete.
3) The written Law of Moses becomes the foundation of the faith and the mark of the Jew. Hope is restored to the people of God.

End of the Babylonian Captivity

1 Now in the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, that the word of the LORD by the mouth of Jeremiah might be fulfilled, the LORD stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, so that he made a proclamation throughout all his kingdom, and also put it in writing, saying,

> 2Thus says Cyrus king of Persia:
> All the kingdoms of the earth the LORD God of > heaven has given me. And He has commanded > me to build Him a house at Jerusalem which is > in Judah. 3Who is among you of all His people?
> May his God be with him, and let him go up to > Jerusalem which is in Judah, and build the > house of the LORD God of Israel (He is God), > which is in Jerusalem. 4And whoever is left in > any place where he dwells, let the men of his > place help him with silver and gold, with > goods and livestock, besides the freewill > offerings for the house of God which is in Je> rusalem.

5Then the heads of the fathers' houses of Judah and Benjamin, and the priests and the Levites, with all whose spirits God had moved, arose to go up and build the house of the LORD which is in Jerusalem. 6And all those who were around them encouraged them with articles of silver and gold, with goods and livestock, and with precious things, besides all that was willingly offered.

7King Cyrus also brought out the articles of the house of the LORD, which Nebuchadnezzar had taken from Jerusalem and put in the temple of his gods; 8and Cyrus king of Persia brought them out by the hand of Mithredath the treasurer, and counted them out to Sheshbazzar the prince of Judah. 9This is the number of them:
thirty gold platters, one thousand silver platters, twenty-nine knives, 10thirty gold basins, four hundred and ten silver basins of a similar kind, and one thousand other articles. 11All the articles of gold and silver were five thousand four hundred.
All these Sheshbazzar took with the captives who were brought from Babylon to Jerusalem.

The Captives Who Returned to Jerusalem

2 Now[a] these are the people of the province who came back from the captivity, of those who had been carried away, whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried away to Babylon, and who returned to Jerusalem and Judah, everyone to his own city.

2*Those* who came with Zerubbabel were Jeshua,
Nehemiah, Seraiah, Reelaiah, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispar,[a] Bigvai, Rehum,[b] and Baanah. The number of the men of the people of Israel: 3the people of Parosh, two thousand one hundred and seventy-two; 4the people of Shephatiah, three hundred and and seventy-five; 6the people of Pahath-Moab, of the people of Jeshua and Joab, two thousand eight hundred and twelve; 7the people of Elam, one

1:1 The first year of Cyrus is dated 538 B.C. The Word of the Lord as prophesied by Jeremiah was now being fulfilled (Jer. 29:10). A characteristic of the Book of Ezra is that much of its content is in the form of written documentation: decrees (Ezra 1:2–4; 6:3–12); genealogies (Ezra 7:1–5; 8:1–14; 10:18–43); lists (Ezra 1:9–11; 2:2–61, 65–70; 6:17); letters (Ezra 4:9–22; 5:6–17; 7:12–26); and Ezra's "memoirs" (Ezra 7—10).

1:1, 2 God wanted the temple rebuilt in Jerusalem so He could dwell in the midst of His people, His family—Israel. God accomplished His plans through people as He "stirred up the spirit" of Cyrus (v. 1). As a sovereign God, He does what He chooses, and even pagan kings are subject to Him (Prov. 21:1).

1:2–4 The edict of restoration is the first of two reports in Ezra of the decree issued by Cyrus for the return of the Jews to Jerusalem to rebuild the temple of God (see also 2 Chr. 36:22, 23; Ezra 6:3–12; map, The Return from Exile). As a pagan king, the intentions of Cyrus were self-serving. The Persians considered it politically advantageous to support the gods worshiped by the different cultures throughout the lands they had conquered (see reference to Cyrus Cylinder in Introduction: Setting).

1:5, 6 Only a few of the Jews who had been exiled to Babylon chose to return at this time. Many knew no other home. They were settled in careers and lifestyles, and many had become established as the elite of their communities. Those who remained encouraged those moved by God to make the journey by providing them with "silver and gold" and "precious things" (v. 6).

1:8 Cyrus appointed Sheshbazzar governor (Ezra 5:14). Whether he was governor of a separate section of Judah inhabited by those whom he had led from Exile or ruler of the entire district of Judah is unclear.

2:1 The people who came back were the exiles (Heb. gola). They were considered to be the "true Israel," the descendants of the families of ancient Israel. They were known also as the "remnant" (see chart, The Faithful Remnant).

2:2 Israel is the name used to define the group of people listed as returning from the Exile. Therefore, these returning exiles are given the stamp of authenticity by being called "Israel." They are the true descendants from the line of Jacob, the true nation of Israel.

41The singers: the sons of Asaph, one hundred and twenty-eight.

42The sons of the gatekeepers: the sons of Shallum, the sons of Ater, the sons of Talmon, the sons of Akkub, the sons of Hatita, and the sons of Shobai, one hundred and thirty-nine in all.

59And these were the ones who came up from Tel Melah, Tel Harsha, Cherub, Addan,[a] and Immer; but they could not identify their father's house or their genealogy,[b] whether they were of Israel: 60the sons of Delaiah, the sons of Tobiah, and the sons of Nekoda, six hundred and fifty-two; 61and of the sons of the priests: the sons of Habaiah, the sons of Koz,[a] and the sons of Barzillai, who took a wife of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite, and was called by their name. 62These sought their listing among those who were registered by genealogy, but they were not found; therefore they were excluded from the priesthood as defiled. 63And the governor[a] said to them that they should not eat of the most holy things till a priest could consult with the Urim and Thummim.

64The whole assembly together was forty-two thousand three hundred and sixty, 65besides their male and female servants, of whom there were seven thousand three hundred and thirty-seven; and they had two hundred men and women singers. 66Their horses were seven hundred and thirty-six, their mules two hundred and forty-five, 67their camels four hundred and thirty-five, and their donkeys six thousand seven hundred and twenty.

2:36–39 The priests were descendants of Aaron, who was from the tribe of Levi. Together with their sons, they were ordained to be responsible for temple sacrifice (Ex. 28; 29).

2:40 The Levites were descended from the tribe of Levi but not from the family of Aaron. They assisted the priests (Num. 3:5–13).

2:41, 42 The singers and gatekeepers had been chosen by King David from the Levite families and had been assigned special tasks (1 Chr. 25; 26).

2:43–55 The Nethinim were most likely "temple servants." Though considered the most menial of temple personnel, they served the Lord with utmost devotion.

2:63 The Urim and Thummim were consulted. These were used to help determine God's will in a matter (see Ex. 28:15, note).

As one person we can make only a small impact, but together we can become a mighty river, reaching a lost and needy world with the remarkable love of God.

sixty-one thousand gold drachmas, five thousand minas of silver, and one hundred priestly garments.

70So the priests and the Levites, some of the people, the singers, the gatekeepers, and the Nethinim, dwelt in their cities, and all Israel in their cities.

Worship Restored at Jerusalem

3 And when the seventh month had come, and the children of Israel were in the cities, the people gathered together as one man to Jerusalem. 2Then Jeshua the son of Jozadak[a] and his brethren the priests, and Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel and his brethren, arose and built the altar of the God of Israel, to offer burnt offerings on it, as it is written in the Law of Moses the man of God. 3Though fear had come upon them because of the people of those countries, they set the altar on its bases; and they offered burnt offerings on it to the LORD, both the morning and evening burnt offerings. 4They also kept the Feast of Tabernacles, as it is written, and offered the daily burnt offerings in the number required by ordinance for each day. 5Afterwards they offered the regular burnt offering, and those for New Moons and for all the appointed feasts of the LORD that were consecrated, and those of everyone who willingly offered a freewill offering to the LORD. 6From the first day of the seventh month they began to offer burnt offerings to the LORD, although the foundation of the temple of the LORD had not been laid. 7They also gave money to the masons and the carpenters, and food, drink, and oil to the people of Sidon and Tyre to bring cedar logs from Lebanon to the sea, to Joppa, according to the permission which they had from Cyrus king of Persia.

Restoration of the Temple Begins

8Now in the second month of the second year of their coming to the house of God at Jerusalem, Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, Jeshua the son of Jozadak,[a] and the rest of their brethren the priests and the Levites, and all those who had come out of the captivity to Jerusalem, began work and appointed the Levites from twenty years old and above to oversee the work of the house of the LORD. 9Then Jeshua with his sons and brothers, Kadmiel with his sons, and the sons of Judah,[a] arose as one to oversee those working on the house of God: the sons of Henadad with their sons and their brethren the Levites.

10When the builders laid the foundation of the temple of the LORD, the priests stood[a] in their apparel with trumpets, and the Levites, the sons of Asaph, with cymbals, to praise the LORD, according to the ordinance of David king of Israel. 11And they sang responsively, praising and giving thanks to the LORD:

"For He is good,
For His mercy endures forever toward Israel."[a]

Then all the people shouted with a great shout, when they praised the LORD, because the foundation of the house of the LORD was laid.

12But many of the priests and Levites and heads of the fathers' houses, old men who had seen the first temple, wept with a loud voice when the foundation of this temple was laid before their

3:1 They gathered in the seventh month of the first year. Tishri, equivalent to September/October, was the seventh month (see chart, The Jewish Sacred Calendar). One of the most important months in the Jewish year, Tishri marked Rosh Hashanah on its first day (the Jewish New Year's Day, Lev. 23:24), followed ten days later by Yom Kippur (the Day of Atonement, Lev. 23:27), then from the 15th to the 22nd day Succoth (the Feast of Tabernacles, Lev. 23:34–36; see also chart, The Feasts of Israel).

The people of Israel are depicted as complete only in community with one another. The temple and its worship activities were clearly the focal point of the people of God. Though they initially had gone to their own cities (Ezra 2:70), they soon returned to accomplish the task for which they came to Jerusalem—the building of the temple. When the foundation was laid, their shouts of joy and the weeping of men, women, and children were mingled as one loud noise to those "afar off" (Ezra 3:13), indicating the deep emotions of the occasion. The memories of those who remembered the splendor of the temple of Solomon were mingled with the excitement of the preparing for a new temple.

3:2–6 The Law of Moses provided instructions for worship (Deut. 12:5, 6). Although these forms of worship had been practiced for approximately 400 years in the temple built during Solomon's reign (1 Kin. 6:37, 38), the Jews in exile did not practice the traditional forms of worship. Now, along with the rebuilding of the temple, worship and sacrifice are being restored to Israel. However, the sacrificial system never reached the same significance it had prior to the exile.

eyes. Yet many shouted aloud for joy, [13]so that the people could not discern the noise of the shout of joy from the noise of the weeping of the people, for the people shouted with a loud shout, and the sound was heard afar off.

Resistance to Rebuilding the Temple

4 Now when the adversaries of Judah and Benjamin heard that the descendants of the captivity were building the temple of the LORD God of Israel, [2]they came to Zerubbabel and the heads of the fathers' houses, and said to them, "Let us build with you, for we seek your God as you do; and we have sacrificed to Him since the days of Esarhaddon king of Assyria, who brought us here." [3]But Zerubbabel and Jeshua and the rest of the heads of the fathers' houses of Israel said to them, "You may do nothing with us to build a house for our God; but we alone will build to the LORD God of Israel, as King Cyrus the king of Persia has commanded us." [4]Then the people of the land tried to discourage the people of Judah. They troubled them in building, [5]and hired counselors against them to frustrate their purpose all the days of Cyrus king of Persia, even until the reign of Darius king of Persia.

Rebuilding of Jerusalem Opposed

[6]In the reign of Ahasuerus, in the beginning of his reign, they wrote an accusation against the inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem.

[7]In the days of Artaxerxes also, Bishlam, Mithredath, Tabel, and the rest of their companions wrote to Artaxerxes king of Persia; and the letter was written in Aramaic script, and translated into the Aramaic language. [8]Rehum[a] the commander and Shimshai the scribe wrote a letter against Jerusalem to King Artaxerxes in this fashion:

[9]From[a] Rehum the commander, Shimshai the scribe, and the rest of their companions—representatives of the Dinaites, the Apharsathchites, the Tarpelites, the people of Persia and Erech and Babylon and Shushan,[b] the Dehavites, the Elamites, [10]and the rest of the nations whom the great and noble Osnapper took captive and settled in the cities of Samaria and the remainder beyond the River[a]—and so forth.[b]

[11](This is a copy of the letter that they sent him)

To King Artaxerxes from your servants, the men of the region beyond the River, and so forth:[a]

[12]Let it be known to the king that the Jews who came up from you have come to us at Jerusalem, and are building the rebellious and evil city, and are finishing its walls and repairing the foundations. [13]Let it now be known to the king that, if this city is built and the walls completed, they will not pay tax, tribute, or custom, and the king's treasury will be diminished. [14]Now because we receive support from the palace, it was not proper for us to see the king's dishonor; therefore we have sent and informed the king, [15]that search may be made in the book of the records of your fathers. And you will find in the book of the records and know that this city is a rebellious city, harmful to kings and provinces, and that they have incited sedition within the city in former times, for which cause this city was destroyed.

[16]We inform the king that if this city is rebuilt and its walls are completed, the result will be that you will have no dominion beyond the River.

[17]The king sent an answer:

To Rehum the commander, to Shimshai the scribe, to the rest of their companions who dwell in Samaria, and to the remainder beyond the River:

4:8 [a]The original language of Ezra 4:8 through 6:18 is Aramaic. 4:9 [a]Literally Then [b]Or Susa 4:10 [a]That is, the Euphrates [b]Literally and now 4:11 [a]Literally and now

4:1 See Ezra 2:1, note.

4:2, 3 The people of God refused help. The heathen of the land had incorporated the worship of the God of the Jews along with a variety of other gods. Israel's refusal of the help offered by these pagan people in the Land underscored the importance of a pure faith in Yahweh (Ex. 20:3; Deut. 5:7). "The adversaries" were descendants of those imported to Samaria by King Esarhaddon of Assyria (681–669 B.C.; see 2 Kin. 17:24, note; chart, The Kings of Assyria).

4:6–23 A parenthetical section interrupts the chronological sequence of the events surrounding the temple building. In these verses, later kings are mentioned along with the difficulties that would ensue. Their work was made more difficult by the "people of the land," who continually harassed the workers, especially through "hired counselors," who must have been trained in techniques akin to psychological warfare (vv. 4, 5). The possible reasons for this insertion cannot be adequately addressed here, but perhaps the intent was to dispel any notion that the Jews were exaggerating the interference and aggressiveness of the enemies in the Land who were blatantly opposing the building of the house of God. Ahasuerus, also known as Xerxes, is the king depicted in the Book of Esther (486 B.C.; v. 6).

4:8—6:18 Aramaic language. This text and Ezra 7:12–26 both appear in the Aramaic language (the official diplomatic language of the Persians). The rest of Ezra is in Hebrew.

Peace, and so forth.[a]

18 The letter which you sent to us has been clearly read before me. 19 And I gave the command, and a search has been made, and it was found that this city in former times has revolted against kings, and rebellion and sedition have been fostered in it. 20 There have also been mighty kings over Jerusalem, who have ruled over all the region beyond the River; and tax, tribute, and custom were paid to them. 21 Now give the command to make these men cease, that this city may not be built until the command is given by me.

22 Take heed now that you do not fail to do this.
Why should damage increase to the hurt of the kings?

23 Now when the copy of King Artaxerxes' letter was read before Rehum, Shimshai the scribe, and their companions, they went up in haste to Jerusalem against the Jews, and by force of arms made them cease. 24 Thus the work of the house of God which is at Jerusalem ceased, and it was discontinued until the second year of the reign of Darius king of Persia.

Restoration of the Temple Resumed

5 Then the prophet Haggai and Zechariah the son of Iddo, prophets, prophesied to the Jews who were in Judah and Jerusalem, in the name of the God of Israel, who was over them. 2 So Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel and Jeshua the son of Jozadak[a] rose up and began to build the house of God which is in Jerusalem; and the prophets of God were with them, helping them.

3 At the same time Tattenai the governor of the region beyond the River[a] and Shethar-Boznai and their companions came to them and spoke thus to them: "Who has commanded you to build this temple and finish this wall?" 4 Then, accordingly, we told them the names of the men who were constructing this building. 5 But the eye of their God was upon the elders of the Jews, so that they could not make them cease till a report could go to Darius. Then a written answer was returned concerning this matter. 6 This is a copy of the letter that Tattenai sent:

The governor of the region beyond the River, and Shethar-Boznai, and his companions, the Persians who were in the region beyond the River, to Darius the king.

7 (They sent a letter to him, in which was written thus)

To Darius the king:

All peace.

8 Let it be known to the king that we went into the province of Judea, to the temple of the great God, which is being built with heavy stones, and timber is being laid in the walls;
and this work goes on diligently and prospers
in their hands.

9 Then we asked those elders, and spoke thus to them: "Who commanded you to build this temple and to finish these walls?" 10 We also asked them their names to inform you, that we might write the names of the men who were chief among them.

11 And thus they returned us an answer, saying:
"We are the servants of the God of heaven and earth, and we are rebuilding the temple that was built many years ago, which a great king of Israel built and completed. 12 But because our fathers provoked the God of heaven to wrath, He gave them into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, the Chaldean, who destroyed this temple and carried the people away to Babylon. 13 However, in the first year of Cyrus king of Babylon, King
Cyrus issued a decree to build this house of God. 14 Also, the gold and silver articles of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar had taken from the temple that was in Jerusalem and carried into the temple of Babylon—those

4:24 The aristocracy of Samaria believed the land of Judah belonged to them. Therefore, they resented the faithful Jews and their separatism, which even included refusing to associate with the unfaithful brethren among them. The harassment that began toward those building the temple finally caused them to cease working in 520 B.C. or approximately 16 years after the project began (v. 1).

5:1–5 God restored the building project. The Jews had lost interest in God's house while caring for their own houses, and God was not pleased (Hag. 1:7–11; 2:15–19). Therefore, He sent the prophets Haggai and Zechariah to encourage the Jews to resume building the temple, which they did. Governor Tattenai questioned the building project. This time the attempt of enemies to interfere with the rebuilding was unsuccessful (Ezra 5:5).

5:3–6 The region beyond the River originally was merely a geographical term for the land west of the Euphrates River to the Mediterranean Sea, including Judah and Samaria. From Assyrian rule through the Persian rule, this phrase was an administrative designation for the same region. Finally, during the reign of Darius I, it became a province of its own with a governor named Tattenai.

King Cyrus took from the temple of Babylon, and they were given to one named
Sheshbazzar, whom he had made governor.
15And he said to him, 'Take these articles; go, carry them to the temple site that is in Jerusalem, and let the house of God be rebuilt on its former site.' 16Then the same Sheshbazzar came and laid the foundation of the house of God which is in Jerusalem; but from that time even until now it has been under construction, and it is not finished."

17Now therefore, if it seems good to the king, let a search be made in the king's treasure house, which is there in Babylon, whether it is so that a decree was issued by King Cyrus to build this house of God at Jerusalem, and let the king send us his pleasure concerning this matter.

The Decree of Darius

6 Then King Darius issued a decree, and a search was made in the archives,[a] where the treasures were stored in Babylon. 2And at Achmetha,[a] in the palace that is in the province of Media, a scroll was found, and in it a record was written thus:

3In the first year of King Cyrus, King Cyrus issued a decree concerning the house of God at Jerusalem: "Let the house be rebuilt, the place where they offered sacrifices; and let the foundations of it be firmly laid, its height sixty cubits and its width sixty cubits, 4*with* three rows of heavy stones and one row of new timber. Let the expenses be paid from the king's treasury. 5Also let the gold and silver articles of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar took from the temple which is in Jerusalem and brought to Babylon, be restored and taken back to the temple which is in Jerusalem, each to its place; and deposit them in the house of God"—

6Now therefore, Tattenai, governor of the region beyond the River, and Shethar-Boznai, and your companions the Persians who are beyond the River, keep yourselves far from there. 7Let the work of this house of God alone; let the governor of the Jews and the elders of the Jews build this house of God on its site.

8Moreover I issue a decree as to what you shall do for the elders of these Jews, for the building of this house of God: Let the cost be paid at the king's expense from taxes on the region beyond the River; this is to be given immediately to these men, so that they are not hindered. 9And whatever they need—young bulls, rams, and lambs for the burnt offerings of the God of heaven, wheat, salt, wine, and oil, according to the request of the priests who are in Jerusalem—let it be given them day by day without fail, 10that they may offer sacrifices of sweet aroma to the God of heaven, and pray for the life of the king and his sons.

11Also I issue a decree that whoever alters this edict, let a timber be pulled from his house and erected, and let him be hanged on it; and let his house be made a refuse heap because of this. 12And may the God who causes His name to dwell there destroy any king or people who put their hand to alter it, or to destroy this house of God which is in Jerusalem. I Darius issue a decree; let it be done diligently.

The Temple Completed and Dedicated

13Then Tattenai, governor of the region beyond the River, Shethar-Boznai, and their companions diligently did according to what King Darius had sent. 14So the elders of the Jews built, and they prospered through the prophesying of Haggai the prophet and Zechariah the son of Iddo. And they built and finished it, according to the commandment of the God of Israel, and according to the command of Cyrus, Darius, and Artaxerxes king of Persia. 15Now the temple was finished on the third day of the month of Adar, which was in the sixth year of the reign of King Darius. 16Then the children of Israel, the priests and the Levites and the rest of the descendants of the captivity, celebrated the dedication of this house of God with joy. 17And they offered sacrifices at the dedication of this house of God, one hundred bulls, two hundred rams, four hundred lambs, and as a sin offering for all Israel twelve male goats, according to the number of the tribes of Israel. 18They assigned the priests to their divisions and the Levites to their

6:13–15 The temple was completed. In the month of Adar, 515 B.C., the temple was completed about 70 years after its destruction (see chart, The Jewish Sacred Calendar). Although no longer a nation, the remnant of Israel successfully established an identity in the region as the community of the Jerusalem temple.

6:16–22 They separated from the pagans of the Land. The prerequisite for seeking God was to separate from ungodly people. As worshipers of a holy God, the Jews were to be holy, too, which would be impossible if they participated in the practices of the surrounding heathen nations. Such practices included child sacrifice, fortune telling, consulting of mediums, and witchcraft (Deut. 18:9–14). The Jews who did not choose to separate themselves were given no place in this exclusive community. Unfortunately, the faithful spirit exhibited here failed to endure.

divisions, over the service of God in Jerusalem, as it is written in the Book of Moses.

The Passover Celebrated

19And the descendants of the captivity kept the Passover on the fourteenth day of the first month. 20For the priests and the Levites had purified themselves; all of them were ritually clean. And they slaughtered the Passover lambs for all the descendants of the captivity, for their brethren the priests, and for themselves. 21Then the children of Israel who had returned from the captivity ate together with all who had separated themselves from the filth of the nations of the land in order to seek the LORD God of Israel. 22And they kept the Feast of Unleavened Bread seven days with joy; for the LORD made them joyful, and turned the heart of the king of Assyria toward them, to strengthen their hands in the work of the house of God, the God of Israel.

The Arrival of Ezra

7 Now after these things, in the reign of Artaxerxes king of Persia, Ezra the son of Seraiah, the son of Azariah, the son of Hilkiah, 2the son of Shallum, the son of Zadok, the son of Ahitub, 3the son of Amariah, the son of Azariah, the son of Meraioth, 4the son of Zerahiah, the son of Uzzi, the son of Bukki, 5the son of Abishua, the son of Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the chief priest— 6this Ezra came up from Babylon; and he was a skilled scribe in the Law of Moses, which the LORD God of Israel had given. The king granted him all his request, according to the hand of the LORD his God upon him. 7*Some* of the children of Israel, the priests, the Levites, the singers, the gatekeepers, and the Nethinim came up to Jerusalem in the seventh year of King Artaxerxes. 8And Ezra came to Jerusalem in the fifth month, which was in the seventh year of the king. 9On the first day of the first month he began his journey from Babylon, and on the first day of the fifth month he came to Jerusalem, according to the good hand of his God upon him. 10For Ezra had prepared his heart to seek the Law of the LORD, and to do it, and to teach statutes and ordinances in Israel.

The Letter of Artaxerxes to Ezra

11This is a copy of the letter that King Artaxerxes gave Ezra the priest, the scribe, expert in the words of the commandments of the LORD, and of His statutes to Israel:

12Artaxerxes,[a] king of kings,

To Ezra the priest, a scribe of the Law of the God of heaven:

Perfect peace, and so forth.[b]

13I issue a decree that all those of the people of Israel and the priests and Levites in my realm, who volunteer to go up to Jerusalem, may go with you. 14And whereas you are being sent by the king and his seven counselors to inquire concerning Judah and Jerusalem, with regard to the Law of your God which is in your hand; 15and whereas you are to carry the silver and gold which the king and his counselors have freely offered to the God of Israel, whose dwelling is in Jerusalem; 16and whereas all the silver and gold that you may find in all the province of Babylon, along with the freewill offering of the people and the priests, are to be

7:1–6 Preparation for Ezra's mission. Ezra was born a priest from the line of Aaron and was gifted as a scribe (v. 6). He studied the Law of the Lord, not just for academic purposes but in order to obey it and teach it. Originally, the main duty of a scribe was to recount information by writing it down. During the Exile in Babylon, the professions of scribe and priest merged; Ezra was both a priest and a scribe. He may have worked in the Babylonian courts on the affairs of the Jews. He was copyist, preserver, and interpreter of the Law. In NT times the profession of scribe belonged primarily to the group known as the Pharisees. However, they were a separate class and were often associated with the priests and elders. During the approximately 50 years following the completion of the temple in Jerusalem, morale in Judah reached a low point. The priests were poor leaders, and the Sabbath was not kept or the tithes paid. There was widespread divorce and intermarriage with the pagan population (Mal. 2:13–16). Still searching for an identity while being unduly influenced by the surrounding pagan world, the small Jewish community needed desperately to establish a direction. Israel needed help. Both Ezra and Nehemiah were sent to the rescue: one for religious reform and the other for administrative direction (Neh. 2:5).

7:8 Artaxerxes sent Ezra. This marks the second of three major expeditions of returning exiles from Babylon. If this is Artaxerxes I, then the year is 458 B.C., which is the traditionally accepted date (see map, The Return from Exile).

7:11–26 The royal decree of Artaxerxes. Ezra sought to unite those who returned with him as one nation. The decree shows the support of this foreign king toward Ezra and those who chose to go with him. It also reveals a clear picture of God's grace toward the exiles when He used a pagan king to require three things Ezra needed to accomplish: An evaluation of lifestyle according to God's Law (v. 14), an understanding of the godly use of possessions (vv. 15–20), and the achievement of godly wisdom in leadership (vv. 25, 26). Ezra praised God and acknowledged His involvement and then obeyed, confident that "the hand of the LORD [Yahweh] my God was upon me" (vv. 27, 28).

7:12–26 See Ezra 4:8—6:18, note.

freely offered for the house of their God in Jerusalem— 17now therefore, be careful to buy with this money bulls, rams, and lambs, with their grain offerings and their drink offerings, and offer them on the altar of the house of your God in Jerusalem.

18And whatever seems good to you and your brethren to do with the rest of the silver and the gold, do it according to the will of your God. 19Also the articles that are given to you for the service of the house of your God, deliver in full before the God of Jerusalem. 20And whatever more may be needed for the house of your God, which you may have occasion to provide, pay for it from the king's treasury.

24Also we inform you that it shall not be lawful to impose tax, tribute, or custom on any of the priests, Levites, singers, gatekeepers, Nethinim, or servants of this house of God. 25And you, Ezra, according to your God-given wisdom, set magistrates and judges who may judge all the people who are in the region beyond the River, all such as know the laws of your God; and teach those who do not know them. 26Whoever will not observe the law of your God and the law of the king, let judgment be executed speedily on him, whether it be death, or banishment, or confiscation of goods, or imprisonment.

27Blessed be the LORD God of our fathers, who has put such a thing as this in the king's heart, to beautify the house of the LORD which is in Jerusalem, 28and has extended mercy to me before the king and his counselors, and before all the king's mighty princes.

So I was encouraged, as the hand of the LORD my God was upon me; and I gathered leading men of Israel to go up with me.

Heads of Families Who Returned with Ezra

8 These are the heads of their fathers' houses, and this is the genealogy of those who went up with me from Babylon, in the reign of King Artaxerxes: 2of the sons of Phinehas, Gershom; of the sons of Ithamar, Daniel; of the sons of David, Hattush; 3of the sons of Shecaniah, of the sons of Parosh, Zechariah; and registered with him were one hundred and fifty males; 4of the sons of Pahath-Moab, Eliehoenai the son of Zerahiah, and with him two hundred males; 5of the sons of Shechaniah,[a] Ben-Jahaziel, and with him three hundred males; 6of the sons of Adin, Ebed the son of Jonathan, and with him fifty males; 7of the sons of Elam, Jeshaiah the son of Athaliah, and with him seventy males; 8of the sons of Shephatiah, Zebadiah the son of Michael, and with him eighty males; 9of the sons of Joab, Obadiah the son of Jehiel, and with him two hundred and eighteen males; 10of the sons of Shelomith,[a] Ben-Josiphiah, and with him one hundred and sixty males; 11of the sons of Bebai, Zechariah the son of Bebai, and with him twenty-eight males; 12of the sons of Azgad, Johanan the son of Hakkatan, and with him one hundred and ten males; 13of the last sons of Adonikam, whose names are these—Eliphelet, Jeiel, and Shemaiah—and with them sixty males; 14also of the sons of Bigvai, Uthai and Zabbud, and with them seventy males.

Servants for the Temple

15Now I gathered them by the river that flows to Ahava, and we camped there three days. And I looked among the people and the priests, and found none of the sons of Levi there. 16Then I sent for Eliezer, Ariel, Shemaiah, Elnathan, Jarib, Elnathan, Nathan, Zechariah, and Meshullam, leaders; also for Joiarib and Elnathan, men of understanding. 17And I gave them a command for Iddo the chief man at the place Casiphia, and I told them what they should say to Iddo and his brethren[a] the Nethinim at the place Casiphia—that they should bring us servants for the house of our God. 18Then, by the good hand of our God upon us, they brought us a man of understanding, of the sons of Mahli the son of Levi, the son of Israel, namely Sherebiah, with his sons and brothers, eighteen men; [19]and Hashabiah, and with him Jeshaiah of the sons of Merari, his brothers and their sons, twenty men; [20]also of the Nethinim, whom David and the leaders had appointed for the service of the Levites, two hundred and twenty Nethinim. All of them were designated by name.

8:2–14 Those who went with Ezra. The names on this list can be compared with those of the first group of returning exiles (Ezra 2:3–15). These repeated names may be descendants of those who returned some 80 years earlier. It was a dangerous, 1,000-mile trip across a bandit-filled desert. Even in the face of such danger, about 5,000 men, women, and children joined Ezra on his journey. Their safe arrival in Jerusalem was another indication of the hand of God upon them.

Fasting and Prayer for Protection

[21]Then I proclaimed a fast there at the river of Ahava, that we might humble ourselves before our God, to seek from Him the right way for us and our little ones and all our possessions. [22]For I was ashamed to request of the king an escort of soldiers and horsemen to help us against the enemy on the road, because we had spoken to the king, saying, "The hand of our God is upon all those for good who seek Him, but His power and His wrath are against all those who forsake Him." [23]So we fasted and entreated our God for this, and He answered our prayer.

Gifts for the Temple

[24]And I separated twelve of the leaders of the priests— Sherebiah, Hashabiah, and ten of their brethren with them— [25]and weighed out to them the silver, the gold, and the articles, the offering for the house of our God which the king and his counselors and his princes, and all Israel who were present, had offered. [26]I weighed into their hand six hundred and fifty talents of silver, silver articles weighing one hundred talents, one hundred talents of gold, [27]twenty gold basins worth a thousand drachmas, and two vessels of fine polished bronze, precious as gold. [28]And I said to them, "You are holy to the LORD; the articles are holy also; and the silver and the gold are a freewill offering to the LORD God of your fathers. [29]Watch and keep them until you weigh them before the leaders of the priests and the Levites and heads of the fathers' houses of Israel in Jerusalem, in the chambers of the house of the LORD." [30]So the priests and the Levites received the silver and the gold and the articles by weight, to bring them to Jerusalem to the house of our God.

The Return to Jerusalem

[31]Then we departed from the river of Ahava on the twelfth day of the first month, to go to Jerusalem. And the hand of our God was upon us, and He delivered us from the hand of the enemy and from ambush along the road. [32]So we came to Jerusalem, and stayed there three days.

[33]Now on the fourth day the silver and the gold and the articles were weighed in the house of our God by the hand of Meremoth the son of Uriah the priest, and with him was Eleazar the son of Phinehas; with them were the Levites, Jozabad the son of Jeshua and Noadiah the son of Binnui,

8:21–31 Ezra, determined to trust God for the journey and not to seek help from the king, exercised godly leadership (see chart, Preparation for Leadership). Ezra knew that ultimately protection must come from God. Before the people began the journey, Ezra declared a time of fasting and prayer. The people humbled themselves before God to solicit His protection for themselves, their children, and their belongings. God proved faithful.

34with the number and weight of everything. All the weight was written down at that time.

35The children of those who had been carried away captive, who had come from the captivity, offered burnt offerings to the God of Israel: twelve bulls for all Israel, ninety-six rams, seventy-seven lambs, and twelve male goats as a sin offering. All this was a burnt offering to the LORD.

36And they delivered the king's orders to the king's satraps and the governors in the region beyond the River. So they gave support to the people and the house of God.

Intermarriage with Pagans

9 When these things were done, the leaders came to me, saying, "The people of Israel and the priests and the Levites have not separated themselves from the peoples of the lands, with respect to the abominations of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, the Ammonites, the Moabites, the Egyptians, and the Amorites. 2For they have taken some of their daughters as wives for themselves and their sons, so that the holy seed is mixed with the peoples of those lands. Indeed, the hand of the leaders and rulers has been foremost in this trespass." 3So when I heard this thing, I tore my garment and my robe, and plucked out some of the hair of my head and beard, and sat down astonished. 4Then everyone who trembled at the words of the God of Israel assembled to me, because of the transgression of those who had been carried away captive, and I sat astonished until the evening sacrifice.

5At the evening sacrifice I arose from my fasting; and having torn my garment and my robe, I fell on my knees and spread out my hands to the LORD my God. 6And I said: "O my God, I am too ashamed and humiliated to lift up my face to You, my God; for our iniquities have risen higher than our heads, and our guilt has grown up to the heavens. 7Since the days of our fathers to this day we have been very guilty, and for our iniquities we, our kings, and our priests have been delivered into the hand of the kings of the lands, to the sword, to captivity, to plunder, and to humiliation, as it is this day. 8And now for a little while grace has been shown from the LORD our God, to leave us a remnant to escape, and to give us a peg in His holy place, that our God may enlighten our eyes and give us a measure of revival in our bondage. 9For we were slaves. Yet our God did not forsake us in our bondage; but He extended mercy to us in the sight of the kings of Persia, to revive us, to repair the house of our God, to rebuild its ruins, and to give us a wall in Judah and Jerusalem. 10And now, O our God, what shall we say after this? For we have forsaken Your commandments, 11which You commanded by Your servants the prophets, saying, 'The land which you are entering to possess is an unclean land, with the uncleanness of the peoples of the lands, with their abominations which have filled it from one end to another with their impurity. 12Now therefore, do not give your daughters as wives for their sons, nor take their daughters to your sons; and never seek their peace or prosperity, that you may be strong and eat the good of the land, and leave it as an inheritance to your children forever.' 13And after all that has come upon us for our evil deeds and for our great guilt, since You our God have punished us less than our iniquities deserve, and have given us such deliverance as this, 14should we again break Your commandments, and join in marriage with the people committing these abominations? Would You not be angry with us until You had consumed us, so that there would be no remnant or survivor? 15O LORD God of Israel, You

8:35 The children returned. "Children" is actually a reference to the descendants of those who had been taken to Babylon after the fall of Jerusalem in 586 B.C., nearly 150 years earlier. The words of the prophets were being fulfilled by their return (Is. 10:20–23).

9:1–2 Ezra discovered unfaithfulness (Heb. ma`al, lit. "an act of unfaithfulness"). This word is understood as sin against God either by trespassing on holy things or violating a sworn oath. This same word for unfaithfulness is used to explain why "Judah was carried away captive to Babylon" (1 Chr. 9:1). Israel under covenant with God knew that they should not intermarry with pagan nations (Deut. 7:3, 4; Neh. 10, Interfaith Marriage). In Deuteronomy, the writer was referring to the surrounding nations, which are representative of those called "the peoples of the land" (Ezra 9:1). The concern over intermarriage spanned the history of the Israelites. First was the importance of remaining a faithful people. This nation had been promised that it would be a blessing to the whole world (Gen. 12:1–3, 7). The promise of "holy seed" is fulfilled in Jesus Christ (Is. 6:13; Matt. 1:1). Second, the pagan nations—their foreign gods and strange, as well as frequently immoral, religious practices—remained a constant threat to the faith and steadfastness of the Israelites toward their God, Yahweh.

9:3–5 Tearing the clothes, pulling the hair, and even sitting in stunned silence were traditional rituals for mourning. These outward displays of mourning implied that what the Jews had done was worthy of death and that God would be fully justified if He were to condemn them. The fact that Ezra tore his inner garment as well as his outer tunic emphasizes the seriousness of the trespass.

9:7—10:2 God had made a covenant promise that He would bless and never leave or forsake His people if they would trust Him and worship Him only (Ex. 19:5; Jer. 11:4). Through the years, the Israelites repeatedly failed to uphold their end of the agreement, but Yahweh remained faithful (Lam. 3:22, note). Ezra declared Israel to be a shameful people before God, but he also remembered that Yahweh is a righteous, just, and gracious God.

9:15 Those Jews who returned from the Exile in Babylon were very few. They were called the remnant, and their existence—no longer as a nation but as a small community of men, women, and children—was an act of restoration on God's part.

12	Adar		February–March	29 or 30	Ezra 6:15; Esth.3:7, 13; 8:12; 9:1,15, 17, 19, 21

Hebrew months were alternately 30 and 29 days long. The Hebrew year, shorter than ours, had 354 days. Therefore, about every 3 years (7 times in 19 years) an extra 29-day month, Veadar, was added between Adar and Nisan.

The Civil Calendar—official calendar for kings, childbirth, and contracts—differed somewhat from this Sacred Calendar.

are righteous, for we are left as a remnant, as it is this day. Here we are before You, in our guilt, though no one can stand before You because of this!"

Confession of Improper Marriages

10 Now while Ezra was praying, and while he was confessing, weeping, and bowing down before the house of God, a very large assembly of men, women, and children gathered to him from Israel; for the people wept very bitterly. 2And Shechaniah the son of Jehiel, one of the sons of Elam, spoke up and said to Ezra, "We have trespassed against our God, and have taken pagan wives from the peoples of the land; yet now there is hope in Israel in spite of this. 3Now therefore,

10:1 Ezra taught the Law (v. 3), fasted and prayed for the people (vv. 1, 6), shared in their shame (v. 6), responded to their request for help (v. 4), supported their plans (v. 7), declared the fact of their sinfulness (v. 10), called them to confession and obedience (vv. 11, 12), and delegated responsibilities while he worked side by side with others to accomplish the work (v. 16). Ezra was sent to teach the Law and bring reforms to the Jews. This chapter reveals that his mission was accomplished. In Jerusalem, the Davidic, kingly era was over, not to return until the Messiah would come. The people now were central figures of God's unfolding story. There remained no hero types—simply God's people persevering day to day in the faith. Their hope remained in their holy God, Yahweh, whose deeds, prophetic promises, and commandments were found in the Law. The Law would mark them as a people separate from the other nations.

10:2 The Jews divorced their pagan wives. Perhaps Shechaniah had married an idolatrous wife. Or the "we" may be Shechaniah's way of identifying with the community, as Ezra sometimes used "we" rather than his own personal expression. If the person named Jehiel in this verse (v. 2) is the same let us make a covenant with our God to put away all these wives and those who have been born to them, according to the advice of my master and of those who tremble at the commandment of our God; and let it be done according to the law. 4Arise, for this matter is your responsibility. We also are with you. Be of good courage, and do it."

5Then Ezra arose, and made the leaders of the priests, the Levites, and all Israel swear an oath that they would do according to this word. So they swore an oath. 6Then Ezra rose up from before the house of God, and went into the chamber of Jehohanan the son of Eliashib; and when he came there, he ate no bread and drank no water, for he mourned because of the guilt of those from the captivity.

9So all the men of Judah and Benjamin gathered at Jerusalem within three days. It was the ninth month, on the twentieth of the month; and all the people sat in the open square of the house of God, trembling because of this matter and because of heavy rain. 10Then Ezra the priest stood up and said to them, "You have transgressed and have taken pagan wives, adding to the guilt of Israel. 11Now therefore, make confession to the LORD God of your fathers, and do His will; separate yourselves from the peoples of the land, and from the pagan wives."

12Then all the assembly answered and said with a loud voice, "Yes! As you have said, so we must do. 13But there are many people; it is the season for heavy rain, and we are not able to stand outside. Nor is this the work of one or two days, for there are many of us who have transgressed in this matter. 14Please, let the leaders of our entire assembly stand; and let all those in our cities who have taken pagan wives come at appointed times, together with the elders and judges of their cities, until the fierce wrath of our God is turned away from us in this matter." 15Only Jonathan the son of Asahel and Jahaziah the son of Tikvah opposed this, and Meshullam and Shabbethai the Levite gave them support.

16Then the descendants of the captivity did so. And Ezra the priest, with certain heads of the fathers' households, were set apart by the fathers' households, each of them by name; and they sat down on the first day of the tenth month to examine the matter. 17By the first day of the first month they finished questioning all the men who had taken pagan wives.

Pagan Wives Put Away

18And among the sons of the priests who had taken pagan wives the following were found of the sons of Jeshua the son of Jozadak,[a] and his brothers: Maaseiah, Eliezer, Jarib, and Gedaliah. 19And they gave their promise that they would put away their wives; and being guilty, they presented a ram of the flock as their trespass offering.

20Also of the sons of Immer: Hanani and Zebadiah; 21of the sons of Harim: Maaseiah, Elijah, Shemaiah, Jehiel, and Uzziah; 22of the sons of Pashhur: Elioenai, Maaseiah, Ishmael, Nethanel, Jozabad, and Elasah.

23Also of the Levites: Jozabad, Shimei, Kelaiah (the same is Kelita), Pethahiah, Judah, and Eliezer.

24Also of the singers: Eliashib; and of the gatekeepers: Shallum, Telem, and Uri.

25And others of Israel: of the sons of Parosh: Ramiah, Jeziah, Malchiah, Mijamin, Eleazar, Malchijah, and Benaiah; 26of the sons of Elam: Mattaniah, Zechariah, Jehiel, Abdi, Jeremoth, and Eliah; 27of the sons of Zattu: Elioenai, Eliashib, Mattaniah, Jeremoth, Zabad, and Aziza; 28of the sons of Bebai: Jehohanan, Hananiah, Zabbai, and Athlai; 29of the sons of Bani: Meshullam, Malluch, Adaiah, Jashub, Sheal, and Ramoth;[a] 30of the sons of Pahath-Moab: Adna, Chelal, Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattaniah, Bezalel, Jehiel in verse 26 (see also v. 44), Shechaniah may have been consumed with guilt and concern about the actions of his own relative. Feeling guilt from disobedience or perhaps feeling that such marriages were invalid, he suggested his own plan to right the wrong done. He asked the people to dissolve their mixed marriages and send away their pagan wives as well as the children born to these mixed unions. Evidently Shechaniah believed this radical action was essential to reestablish a holy people.

This requirement for the Jews to divorce their pagan wives is not easy to understand. Divorce did occur in OT times (see Deut. 24:1–3). Many of these listed may have divorced their Jewish wives prior to marrying the pagan women (Mal. 2:10–16). However, we must be careful not to apply this means of describing how unfaithfulness in the OT was handled as prescribing a rule binding Christians in later generations (see Matt. 19, Divorce). Rather we must look to the clear and explicit instructions given in Scripture concerning God's plan for marriage (Gen. 2:24, note).

The Christian is not to leave an unbelieving spouse but rather to live in a manner that may win that spouse to the faith (1 Cor. 7:12–16; 1 Pet. 3:1–7). At the same time, the Bible warns the believer not to enter marriage with an unbeliever for one of the reasons that the Jews were not to do so—because it can weaken the faith of the believer. What is valuable and essential to a believer cannot be shared with an unbelieving spouse (see Neh. 10, Interfaith Marriage; 2 Cor. 6, Husbands).

Nehemiah

AUTHOR

Early Hebrew texts of the Old Testament (up to the fifteenth century A.D.) combined the books of Ezra and Nehemiah (also identified as Esdras B in the Greek Septuagint) and cited Ezra as the author, implying that Ezra also authored the work under the name of Nehemiah. However, many believe Nehemiah penned most of this book that bears his name.

The composite nature of the book suggests that it may have been put together from diverse lists and from Nehemiah's own memoirs of the great project of rebuilding the wall and the city of Jerusalem. His prayers are so markedly personal that they may have come from his own prayer journals. Detailed lists (ten are recorded in this book) show careful attention to people as individuals and to their jobs as being important efforts, preserved as mementos of the work of God.

Nehemiah was deeply moved when he heard of the dismal state of Jerusalem. Although he had achieved an influential position in the palace of the Persian King Artaxerxes I, he, like Moses, did not consider the luxuries of the palace as anything compared to the promises of God (Heb. 11:24–26). Nehemiah, as Queen Esther, must have believed that he had "come to the kingdom for such as time as this" (Esth. 4:14). As cupbearer to the king, he prayerfully but boldly asked for and received permission from the king to return to Jerusalem to rebuild the walls.

Throughout the book, Nehemiah displayed extraordinary leadership skills and abilities. He was a man of prayer who deeply depended on the Lord and knew how to draw strength and assurance from Him. He was a visionary who inspired others; yet he humbly worked alongside everyone else. He was steadfast under the pressures of an enormous task. He kept his priorities straight when confronting opposition, as well as when achieving success. In his humility, he was not afraid to admit and rectify his own mistakes. He was magnanimous and generous, sacrificially sharing from his table at his own expense. He refused to take advantage of his position to tax and burden the people. Nehemiah, whose name means the "the comfort of Yahweh," was a great leader who both blessed and comforted his people.

DATE

The events in this book span a period of approximately thirteen years from 446 B.C., when Nehemiah first heard about the condition of Jerusalem, until sometime after his second term as governor, when he returned to Jerusalem from Persia in 433 B.C. However, the book was probably written before the death of King Artaxerxes I in 424 B.C., since this important event was not mentioned. Thus the book was probably written sometime between 430 and 420 B.C.

BACKGROUND

SETTING: From the beginning, God had promised to bless the people of Israel if they obeyed Him and to curse them if they disobeyed Him. The periods of the captivities by the Assyrians (the northern kingdom fell in 722 B.C.), the Babylonians (the southern kingdom fell in 586 B.C.), and the Medo-Persians (they conquered the Babylonians in 539 B.C.) were times when God disciplined His people for their disobedience. The destruction and burning of Jerusalem and Solomon's temple by Nebuchadnezzar in 586 B.C. was a catastrophe that further threatened the worship of Yahweh. But the temple's destruction and its restoration seventy years later was predicted by Jeremiah the prophet (Jer. 25:11; 29:10) as assurance that God would preserve a faithful remnant of His people.

Although the Assyrians and Babylonians deported their captives to their empires, the Medo-Persians repatriated them. Thus, in 538 B.C. Cyrus issued orders to begin rebuilding the temple, and the first of three groups of postexilic Jews returned to Jerusalem under the leadership of Sheshbazzar and Zerubbabel. The temple was completed in 516 B.C. The second group returned in 458 B.C. with Ezra. In 445 B.C., King Artaxerxes I issued the decree for Nehemiah to lead the third group to begin the work of rebuilding the wall of Jerusalem.

This last decree of Artaxerxes I was of unique prophetic importance because it marked the beginning of the "seventy weeks" forecast by Daniel (Dan. 9:24–27). Understanding that the term "week" means "one week of years" or a period of seven years, this remarkable prophecy of Daniel marked the time from the decree to rebuild Jerusalem until the coming of the Messiah to be sixty-nine weeks (or 483 years). If these years are understood as Jewish lunar years of 360 days each, the sixty-nine week period would terminate in the precise year of the passion of Jesus (see chart, The Prophecy of Seventy Weeks).

PURPOSE: The Book of Nehemiah records not only the physical rebuilding of the wall but also the spiritual restoration of the people of Jerusalem. Nehemiah's reforms helped to preserve Jewish identity, protecting it from compromise with the pagan community until the arrival of the promised seed of Abraham, Jesus the Messiah. This book was the last recorded history of Israel in the Old Testament before the silent years of the intertestamental period.

THEMES

Nehemiah was a man of prayer. Ten recorded prayers range from the quick "arrow prayer" (Neh. 2:4) to the Bible's longest recorded prayer (Neh. 9; see also chart, Solomon's Prayer). There are prayers of confession and repentance, delivered in mourning with sackcloth and ashes, and prayers of praise and adoration, delivered with jubilant singing and musical instruments. There are prayers of supplication in weakness (Neh. 6:9) and prayers for God's judgment on Nehemiah's enemies (Neh. 4:4, 5). Above all, Nehemiah desired the approval of God more than the approval of people.

The walk of faith is a balanced blend of prayer and action. Nehemiah prayed and then put his request before the king (Neh. 2:4, 5); he prayed and then "set a watch" (Neh. 4:9). He exhorted the people to "remember the Lord . . . and fight" (Neh. 4:14).

The opposition of enemies and spiritual warfare are inevitable when people are doing the work of God. Satan's purpose is to destroy God's people and God's work. Satan's tactics as seen in Nehemiah include: ridicule, slander, opposition from within and without, oppression and unrighteousness, discouragement, demoralization, distraction, and physical threat. Nehemiah combated these tactics with continual prayer, single-mindedness, wisdom, and righteous living. God's people in every age must employ these same weapons.

Becoming entrapped by sin through compromise (such as intermarriage with unbelievers) is easy, but escaping from that sin and its consequences can be difficult (see, for example, Tobiah's room in the temple, Neh. 13:4, 5).

Nehemiah Prays for His People

1 The words of Nehemiah the son of Hachaliah.
It came to pass in the month of Chisley, in the twentieth year, as I was in Shushan[a] the citadel, 2 that Hanani one of my brethren came with men from Judah; and I asked them concerning the Jews who had escaped, who had survived the captivity, and concerning Jerusalem. 3 And they said to me,
"The survivors who are left from the captivity in the province are there in great distress and reproach. The wall of Jerusalem is also broken down, and its gates are burned with fire."
4 So it was, when I heard these words, that I sat down and wept, and mourned for many days; I was fasting and praying before the God of heaven.
5 And I said: "I pray, LORD God of heaven, O great and awesome God, You who keep Your covenant and mercy with those who love You[a] and observe Your[b] commandments, 6 please let Your ear be attentive and Your eyes open, that You may hear the prayer of Your servant which I pray before You now, day and night, for the children of Israel Your servants, and confess the sins of the children of Israel which we have sinned against You. Both my father's house and I have sinned. 7 We have acted very corruptly against You, and have not kept the commandments, the statutes, nor the ordinances which You commanded Your servant Moses. 8 Remember, I pray, the word that You commanded Your servant
Moses, saying, 'If you are unfaithful, I will scatter you among the nations;[a] 9 but if you return to Me, and keep My commandments and do them, though some of you were cast out to the farthest part of the heavens, yet I will gather them from there, and bring them to the place which I have chosen as a dwelling for My name.'[a] 10 Now these are Your servants and Your people, whom You have redeemed by Your great power, and by Your

1:1 The month of Chisley was November–December (see chart, The Jewish Sacred Calendar). King Artaxerxes I reigned from 465–424 B.C.; thus his "twentieth year" would be 445 B.C. His father was King Ahasuerus or Xerxes I, the husband of Queen Esther. The city of "Shushan" was the winter resort of the Persian kings and the place where Daniel had his vision more than 100 years earlier (Dan. 8:2).

1:3 A city without a wall was one with no security. Where the condition of the city walls was seen an indication of the strength of the people's gods, the state of the wall was a source of "reproach" from their neighbors for Yahweh, the God of the Hebrews.

1:4 Nehemiah equated the state of the wall with the state of his people's obedience to the Lord. He was grieved for God's reputation.

1:5 Nehemiah prayed a God-centered prayer, referring to God 34 times by name or pronoun. This classic prayer included adoration, confession, remembrance of God's commitment to His people, and petition (see also chart, Solomon's Prayer).

For I was the king's cupbearer.

Nehemiah Sent to Judah

2 And it came to pass in the month of Nisan, in the twentieth year of King Artaxerxes, when wine was before him, that I took the wine and gave it to the king. Now I had never been sad in his presence before. [2]Therefore the king said to me, "Why is your face sad, since you are not sick? This is nothing but sorrow of heart."

So I became dreadfully afraid, [3]and said to the king, "May the king live forever! Why should my face not be sad, when the city, the place of my fathers' tombs, lies waste, and its gates are burned with fire?"

[4]Then the king said to me, "What do you request?"

So I prayed to the God of heaven. [5]And I said to the king, "If it pleases the king, and if your servant has found favor in your sight, I ask that you send me to Judah, to the city of my fathers' tombs, that I may rebuild it."

[6]Then the king said to me (the queen also sitting beside him), "How long will your journey be? And when will you return?" So it pleased the king to send me; and I set him a time.

[7]Furthermore I said to the king, "If it pleases the king, let letters be given to me for the governors of the region beyond the River,[a] that they must permit me to pass through till I come to Judah, [8]and a letter to Asaph the keeper of the king's forest, that he must give me timber to make beams for the gates of the citadel which pertains to the temple,[a] for the city wall, and for the house that I will occupy." And the king granted them to me according to the good hand of my God upon me.

[9]Then I went to the governors in the region beyond the River, and gave them the king's letters. Now the king had sent captains of the army and horsemen with me. [10]When Sanballat the Horonite and Tobiah the Ammonite official[a] heard of it, they were deeply disturbed that a man had

1:11 Nehemiah saw this whole endeavor from the spiritual perspective that God would initiate and accomplish His tasks to bring about His purposes through whomever He wished. Thus he revered the heavenly King far above the earthly one. Nehemiah had the trusted position of serving wine and of making sure it was not poisoned by tasting it first himself. This job allowed him to be present at top-level conferences and privy to state secrets as well as to the personal affairs of the king.

2:1 The month of Nisan was in March–April (see chart, The Jewish Sacred Calendar).

2:4 The quick prayer that Nehemiah prayed between the king's question and his own answer is often referred to as the "arrow prayer" because it was direct and to the point.

2:5 Treachery from governors of captive lands was common. The king's father Ahasuerus was killed in his private apartment by one of his own staff. Thus the king showed great trust and respect for Nehemiah in appointing this cupbearer to be the governor and rebuilder of Jerusalem.

2:6 Damaspia was the "queen," according to Greek historical sources. Mention of her presence may have meant that this was a private moment, as the queen did not usually attend public banquets (see Esth. 1:3, 9). Her presence may indicate her influence on the decision since women did have a strong influence in the court, or she could have been asked to witness the transaction (see Esth. 8).

2:7 While Ezra's return to Jerusalem was a religious mission, Nehemiah's return officially was a political one. Ezra went without any political protection (see Ezra 8). As the appointed governor of Jerusalem, Nehemiah had the king's letters assuring him safe passage. Otherwise, he probably would not have made it past Sanballat, the governor of Samaria, who opposed the work of Nehemiah (Neh. 2:10; 4:1).

2:10 Sanballat (Akkadian, Sin-uballit, lit. "Sin," the moon god, "has given life") was the governor of Samaria to the north of Jerusalem (Neh. 4:1, 2). He was a Horonite and may have been a syncretistic follower of the god of Horon and a native of Upper or Lower Beth Horon. His ancestry was from the mixed group that settled in Samaria after the Assyrian conquest. According to earlier Babylonian rule, Jerusalem and parts of Judah had been given to Samaria as territory; so Sanballat was loath to see it slip from his grasp. Tobiah (Heb., lit. "Yahweh is good"), who was referred to contemptuously as the Ammonite, may have been the governor of Ammon to the east of Jerusalem. He probably was at least half-Jewish. His syncretism and relationships through marriage gave him insidious access to privileged places (see Neh. 6:18; 13:4–7).

The response of Nehemiah when he heard of the neglected condition of the wall (Neh. 1:4) and the response of Sanballat and Tobiah when they heard that someone had come to rebuild the wall were the same: They were "deeply disturbed," though for entirely different reasons.

VOLUNTEERS WILLING SERVICE

The words "Here am I! Send me" (Is. 6:8) are the volunteer's motto. The Book of Nehemiah may be considered the volunteer's handbook. In rebuilding the walls of Jerusalem, Nehemiah demonstrates these principles of divinely inspired and highly effective volunteerism:

1. Recognize a project and make it your own (Neh. 1:3, 4).
2. Pray about the project (Neh. 1:4–11).
3. Determine how you are uniquely positioned to participate in the project (Neh. 1:11).
4. Bring the project to the attention of those in authority and gain their permission to pursue it (Neh. 2:1–10).
5. Gather information about the project (vv. 11–16).
6. Report your findings to maintain accountability and arouse interest (vv. 17–20).
7. Inspire others to join your cause (vv. 17, 18).
8. Organize others to help you do the work (Neh. 3:1–32).
9. Confront opposition directly and turn to God when discouraged (Neh. 4:1–23).
10. Celebrate what is accomplished and give God the glory (Neh. 12:27–47).

To offer ourselves freely to the kingdom's work provides great joy and needful service (Matt. 10:8; Gal. 5:13). See also Judg. 7:2–7; notes on Sacrificial Living (Mic. 7); Servanthood (Mark 10); Spiritual Gifts (Rom. 12); Time Management (Ps. 31); Women's Ministries (John 4; Acts 2; 1 Cor. 11; Eph. 2; 1 Tim. 3; Titus 2) come to seek the well-being of the children of Israel.

Nehemiah Views the Wall of Jerusalem

11So I came to Jerusalem and was there three days. 12Then I arose in the night, I and a few men with me; I told no one what my God had put in my heart to do at Jerusalem; nor was there any animal with me, except the one on which I rode. 13And I went out by night through the Valley Gate to the Serpent Well and the Refuse Gate, and viewed the walls of Jerusalem which were broken down and its gates which were burned with fire. 14Then I went on to the Fountain Gate and to the King's Pool, but there was no room for the animal under me to pass. 15So I went up in the night by the valley, and viewed the wall; then I turned back and entered by the Valley Gate, and so returned. 16And the officials did not know where I had gone or what I had done; I had not yet told the Jews, the priests, the nobles, the officials, or the others who did the work.

17Then I said to them, "You see the distress that we are in, how Jerusalem lies waste, and its gates are burned with fire. Come and let us build the wall of Jerusalem, that we may no longer be a reproach." 18And I told them of the hand of my God which had been good upon me, and also of the king's words that he had spoken to me.

So they said, "Let us rise up and build." Then they set their hands to this good work.

19But when Sanballat the Horonite, Tobiah the Ammonite official, and Geshem the Arab heard of it, they laughed at us and despised us, and said,
"What is this thing that you are doing? Will you rebel against the king?"

20So I answered them, and said to them, "The God of heaven Himself will prosper us; therefore we His servants will arise and build, but you have no heritage or right or memorial in Jerusalem."

Rebuilding the Wall

3 Then Eliashib the high priest rose up with his brethren the priests and built the Sheep Gate;

2:12 Nehemiah made a private nocturnal inspection of the wall (see also v. 16). As a discerning governor, he may have wanted to keep his enemies from knowing his plans. As a capable leader, he may have wanted to assess personally and privately the work that needed to be done. As a man of prayer, he may have wanted a time of solitude in which to dedicate himself and the site to God.

2:19 Geshem was probably the most powerful of the three enemies of Nehemiah. He is probably the man who, with his son, Kain, king of Kedor, united the northern Arabian tribes, extending their rule to Moab on the east and to Edom on the south of Jerusalem, along with territories near Egypt. Nehemiah and his countrymen were thus surrounded by hostile neighbors to the north (Sanballat), to the east (Tobiah), and to the south (Geshem). The first attack on Nehemiah's work was ridicule and slander. Nehemiah repudiated his enemies as having "no heritage" or inheritance in Israel, no "right" or legal position over Jerusalem regardless of past treaties, and no "memorial" (or control over worship in the temple). This eliminated past, present, and future ties with Jerusalem.

3:1 Some forty sections of the wall are mentioned, showing Nehemiah's careful detailed planning of the project. Archaeologists have found that some parts of the rebuilt wall were as thick as eight feet. Since breaking down a gate was easier than destroying a piece of the wall, areas around the gates needed special repair and reinforcement.

they consecrated it and hung its doors. They built as far as the Tower of the Hundred,[a] and consecrated it, then as far as the Tower of Hananel. [2]Next to Eliashib[a] the men of Jericho built. And next to them Zaccur the son of Imri built.

[3]Also the sons of Hassenaah built the Fish Gate; they laid its beams and hung its doors with its bolts and bars. [4]And next to them Meremoth the son of Urijah, the son of Koz,[a] made repairs. Next to them Meshullam the son of Berechiah, the son of Meshezabel, made repairs. Next to them Zadok the son of Baana made repairs. [5]Next to them the Tekoites made repairs; but their nobles did not put their shoulders[a] to the work of their Lord.

[6]Moreover Jehoiada the son of Paseah and Meshullam the son of Besodeiah repaired the Old Gate; they laid its beams and hung its doors, with its bolts and bars. [7]And next to them Melatiah the Gibeonite, Jadon the Meronothite, the men of Gibeon and Mizpah, repaired the residence[a] of the governor of the region beyond the River. [8]Next to him Uzziel the son of Harhaiah, one of the goldsmiths, made repairs. Also next to him Hananiah, one[a] of the perfumers, made repairs; and they fortified Jerusalem as far as the Broad Wall. [9]And next to them Rephaiah the son of Hur, leader of half the district of Jerusalem, made repairs. [10]Next to them Jedaiah the son of Harumaph made repairs in front of his house. And next to him Hattush the son of Hashabniah made repairs.

[11]Malchijah the son of Harim and Hashub the son of Pahath-Moab repaired another section, as well as the Tower of the Ovens. [12]And next to him was Shallum the son of Hallohesh, leader of half the district of Jerusalem; he and his daughters made repairs.

[13]Hanun and the inhabitants of Zanoah repaired the Valley Gate. They built it, hung its doors with its bolts and bars, and repaired a thousand cubits of the wall as far as the Refuse Gate.

[14]Malchijah the son of Rechab, leader of the district of Beth Haccerem, repaired the Refuse Gate; he built it and hung its doors with its bolts and bars.

[15]Shallun the son of Col-Hozeh, leader of the district of Mizpah, repaired the Fountain Gate; he built it, covered it, hung its doors with its bolts and bars, and repaired the wall of the Pool of Shelah by the King's Garden, as far as the stairs that go down from the City of David. [16]After him Nehemiah the son of Azbuk, leader of half the district of Beth Zur, made repairs as far as the place in front of the tombs[a] of David, to the man-made pool, and as far as the House of the Mighty.

[17]After him the Levites, under Rehum the son of Bani, made repairs. Next to him Hashabiah, leader of half the district of Keilah, made repairs for his district. [18]After him their brethren, under Bavai[a] the son of Henadad, leader of the other half of the district of Keilah, made repairs. [19]And next to him Ezer the son of Jeshua, the leader of Mizpah, repaired another section in front of the Ascent to the Armory at the buttress. [20]After him Baruch the son of Zabbai[a] carefully repaired the other section, from the buttress to the door of the house of Eliashib the high priest. [21]After him Meremoth the son of Urijah, the son of Koz,[a] repaired another section, from the door of the house of Eliashib to the end of the house of Eliashib.

[22]And after him the priests, the men of the plain, made repairs. [23]After him Benjamin and Hasshub made repairs opposite their house. After them Azariah the son of Maaseiah, the son of Ananiah, made repairs by his house. [24]After him Binnui the son of Henadad repaired another section, from the house of Azariah to the buttress, even as far as the corner. [25]Palal the son of Uzai made repairs opposite the buttress, and on the tower which projects from the king's upper house that was by the court of the prison. After him Pedaiah the son of Parosh made repairs.

[26]Moreover the Nethinim who dwelt in Ophel made repairs as far as the place in front of the Water Gate toward the east, and on the projecting tower. [27]After them the Tekoites repaired another section, next to the great projecting tower, and as far as the wall of Ophel.

The description of the rebuilding of the wall began with the high priest, Eliashib, showing the centrality of his position within the community. He rebuilt the "Sheep Gate," which was nearest the temple, the place through which the sacrifical sheep were brought. Eliashib was the son of Joiakim, the son of Jeshua who first went to Jerusalem with Zerubbabel. His grandson married Sanballat's daughter (see Neh. 13:28).

3:5 Unenthusiastic workers. Perhaps the "Tekoite" nobles did not work enthusiastically because they feared repercussions from Sanballat.

3:10 The wall was repaired. "Made repairs" (lit. "to make firm or strong") did not necessarily mean that they rebuilt the wall from scratch or restored it to the way it was.

Nehemiah assigned each person to work "in front of his house," which inspired each to do a good job as he saw the benefit to himself and his family. In this way, work progressed at various points along the wall simultaneously, instead of leaving huge unattended gaps that would pose a security risk.

3:12 Women worked on the wall of Jerusalem, carrying out a difficult and dangerous task. The contribution of the daughters of Shallum was valuable.

[28]Beyond the Horse Gate the priests made repairs, each in front of his own house. [29]After them Zadok the son of Immer made repairs in front of his own house. After him Shemaiah the son of Shechaniah, the keeper of the East Gate, made repairs. [30]After him Hananiah the son of Shelemiah, and Hanun, the sixth son of Zalaph, repaired another section. After him Meshullam the son of Berechiah made repairs in front of his dwelling. [31]After him Malchijah, one of the goldsmiths, made repairs as far as the house of the Nethinim and of the merchants, in front of the Miphkad[a] Gate, and as far as the upper room at the corner. [32]And between the upper room at the corner, as far as the Sheep Gate, the goldsmiths and the merchants made repairs.

The Wall Defended Against Enemies

4 But it so happened, when Sanballat heard that we were rebuilding the wall, that he was furious and very indignant, and mocked the Jews. [2]And he spoke before his brethren and the army of Samaria, and said, "What are these feeble Jews doing? Will they fortify themselves? Will they offer sacrifices? Will they complete it in a day? Will they revive the stones from the heaps of rubbish—stones that are burned?"

[3]Now Tobiah the Ammonite was beside him, and he said, "Whatever they build, if even a fox goes up on it, he will break down their stone wall."

[4]Hear, O our God, for we are despised; turn their reproach on their own heads, and give them as plunder to a land of captivity! [5]Do not cover their iniquity, and do not let their sin be blotted out from before You; for they have provoked You to anger before the builders.

[6]So we built the wall, and the entire wall was joined together up to half its height, for the people had a mind to work.

[7]Now it happened, when Sanballat, Tobiah, the Arabs, the Ammonites, and the Ashdodites heard that the walls of Jerusalem were being restored and the gaps were beginning to be closed, that they became very angry, [8]and all of them conspired together to come and attack Jerusalem and create confusion. [9]Nevertheless we made our prayer to our God, and because of them we set a watch against them day and night.

[10]Then Judah said, "The strength of the laborers is failing, and there is so much rubbish that we are not able to build the wall."

[11]And our adversaries said, "They will neither know nor see anything, till we come into their midst and kill them and cause the work to cease."

[12]So it was, when the Jews who dwelt near them came, that they told us ten times, "From whatever place you turn, they will be upon us."

[13]Therefore I positioned men behind the lower parts of the wall, at the openings; and I set the people according to their families, with their swords, their spears, and their bows. [14]And I looked, and arose and said to the nobles, to the leaders, and to the rest of the people, "Do not be afraid of them. Remember the Lord, great and awesome, and fight for your brethren, your sons, your daughters, your wives, and your houses."

[15]And it happened, when our enemies heard that it was known to us, and that God had brought their plot to nothing, that all of us returned to the wall, everyone to his work. [16]So it was, from that time on, that half of my servants worked at construction, while the other half held the spears, the shields, the bows, and wore armor; and the leaders were behind all the house of Judah. [17]Those who built on the wall, and those who carried burdens, loaded themselves so that with one hand they worked at construction, and with the other held a weapon. [18]Every one of the builders had his sword girded at his side as he built. And the one who sounded the trumpet was beside me.

[19]Then I said to the nobles, the rulers, and the rest of the people, "The work is great and extensive, and we are separated far from one another on the wall. [20]Wherever you hear the sound of the trumpet, rally to us there. Our God will fight for us."

3:31 [a]Literally Inspection or Recruiting

4:1–5 Nehemiah's enemies tried to discourage the people by pointing out the immensity of the task and the weakness of the Jews. They were called "feeble" (lit. "withering or fading" or "hopeless"), but Nehemiah instead placed his hope in his God who hears and judges. When Nehemiah asked God to judge his enemies unmercifully, he was motivated more from spiritual than patriotic reasons. The enemies of God's people were the enemies of God.

4:7 Jerusalem was surrounded by enemies. The "Ashdodites" were the Philistines west of Jerusalem who became part of the Assyrian empire in 711 B.C. Thus Jerusalem was completely surrounded by her enemies: the Samaritans to the north, the Ammonites to the east, the Arabs to the south, and the Ashdodites to the west.

4:8–23 When Nehemiah's enemies realized that ridicule, slander, and discouragement did not dissuade the Jews from their work, they took a more direct approach. They planned to harm them physically. Nehemiah prayed and wisely took precautions to "set a watch." He armed and posted people in family groups at strategic areas on the wall, encouraging them to "remember the Lord . . . and fight" for their families. Half of the workers were full-time guards while the other half worked bearing arms. They worked with one hand on their weapons and slept in their clothes as a sign of the seriousness of the threat. The balance of faith with work, prayer with precaution, and trust with action is seen most graphically here.

4:20 Just as a person would rally the troops to fight a battle, he would alert people to pray, especially in times of danger or great need. This person is an invaluable link—whether in battle or prayer.

SPIRITUAL WARFARE: STRATEGIES

THE STRATEGIES OF NEHEMIAH	THE PLOYS OF HIS ENEMIES
He took up the work of God (Neh. 2:6–9).	They ridiculed him (Neh. 2:19).
He prayed, acknowledging God's sovereignty and noting the illegitimacy of his enemies (Neh. 2:20).	They mocked him (Neh. 4:1, 2).
He prayed, asking God to take note of his reproach and to refuse to forgive his enemies (Neh. 4:4, 5).	They conspired to attack and create confusion (Neh. 4:7, 8).
He prayed and set a watch (Neh. 4:9), taking necessary precautions (Neh. 4:13), reminding people to fight for their families (Neh. 4:14).	They used oppression from within, the fruit of their own unrighteousness (Neh. 5:1–5).
He led the people to confess, repent, and make restitution (Neh. 5:1–19).	They plotted to harm the leader (Neh. 6:1, 2).
He showed singlemindedness (Neh. 6:3).	They created a distraction (Neh. 6:4) and circulated slander to create fear (Neh. 6:5–7).
He refuted their slander (Neh. 6:8) and prayed for strength (Neh. 6:9).	They developed an insider plot to discredit the leader (Neh. 6:10).
He modeled righteousness (Neh. 6:11), received God's discernment (Neh. 6:12), and prayed, asking God to remember them (Neh. 6:14).	They used covert connections as Tobiah sent letters to frighten Nehemiah and desensitize the people (Neh. 6:19).
He suggested precautions for protecting the gates (Neh. 7:3).	They established insider alliances; Eliashib gave room to Tobiah (Neh. 13:4, 5).
He expelled the household goods of the enemy (Neh. 13:8).	They continued acts of unrighteousness (Neh. 13:10, 15, 16).
He contended with unrighteousness (Neh. 13:11, 17, 25, 28).	They used compromise, especially in intermarriage (Neh. 13:23–25).

Spiritual warfare begins when the enemy (Satan) perceives that someone is trying to seek God's purposes or to protect the well-being of God's people. Nehemiah drew the attention of his enemies, Sanballat and Tobiah, who were "deeply disturbed" when he began the work of rebuilding the walls of Jerusalem. They employed a variety of strategies to divert Nehemiah from his task. These strategies of the enemy have been used through the generations, even until now. Nehemiah's counterstrategies helped him to persevere and to finish his task. See also Eph. 6:10–19; notes on Adversity (Acts 5); Perseverance (Rev. 14); Spiritual Warfare (Eph. 6); Temptation (Heb. 2).

21 So we labored in the work, and half of the men[a] held the spears from daybreak until the stars appeared. 22 At the same time I also said to the people, "Let each man and his servant stay at night in Jerusalem, that they may be our guard by night and a working party by day." 23 So neither I, my brethren, my servants, nor the men of the guard who followed me took off our clothes, except that everyone took them off for washing.

Nehemiah Deals with Oppression

5 And there was a great outcry of the people and their wives against their Jewish brethren. 2For there were those who said, "We, our sons, and our daughters are many; therefore let us get grain, that we may eat and live."

3There were also some who said, "We have mortgaged our lands and vineyards and houses, that we might buy grain because of the famine."

4There were also those who said, "We have borrowed money for the king's tax on our lands and vineyards. 5Yet now our flesh is as the flesh of our brethren, our children as their children; and indeed we are forcing our sons and our daughters to be slaves, and some of our daughters have been brought into slavery. It is not in our power to redeem them, for other men have our lands and vineyards."

6And I became very angry when I heard their outcry and these words. 7After serious thought, I rebuked the nobles and rulers, and said to them, "Each of you is exacting usury from his brother." So I called a great assembly against them. 8And I said to them, "According to our ability we have redeemed our Jewish brethren who were sold to the nations. Now indeed, will you even sell your brethren? Or should they be sold to us?"

Then they were silenced and found nothing to say. 9Then I said, "What you are doing is not good. Should you not walk in the fear of our God because of the reproach of the nations, our enemies? 10I also, with my brethren and my servants, am lending them money and grain. Please, let us stop this usury! 11Restore now to them, even this day, their lands, their vineyards, their olive groves, and their houses, also a hundredth of the money and the grain, the new wine and the oil, that you have charged them."

12So they said, "We will restore it, and will require nothing from them; we will do as you say."

Then I called the priests, and required an oath from them that they would do according to this promise. 13Then I shook out the fold of my garment[a] and said, "So may God shake out each man from his house, and from his property, who does not perform this promise. Even thus may he be shaken out and emptied."

And all the assembly said, "Amen!" and praised the LORD. Then the people did according to this promise.

The Generosity of Nehemiah

14Moreover, from the time that I was appointed to be their governor in the land of Judah, from the twentieth year until the thirty-second year of King Artaxerxes, twelve years, neither I nor my brothers ate the governor's provisions. 15But the former governors who were before me laid burdens on the people, and took from them bread and wine, besides forty shekels of silver. Yes, even their servants bore rule over the people, but I did not do so, because of the fear of God. 16Indeed, I also continued the work on this wall, and we[a] did not buy any land. All my servants were gathered there for the work.

17And at my table were one hundred and fifty Jews and rulers, besides those who came to us from the nations around us. 18Now that which was prepared daily was one ox and six choice sheep. Also fowl were prepared for me, and once every ten days an abundance of all kinds of wine. Yet in spite of this I did not demand the governor's provisions, because the bondage was heavy on this people.

19Remember me, my God, for good, according to all that I have done for this people.

5:13 [a]Literally my lap 5:16 [a]Following Masoretic Text; Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read I.

5:1 Although women usually stayed in the background, they are specifically mentioned in this protest. The economic problems of scarcity of food and heavy taxation were overwhelming (vv. 2–4). Perhaps this was due to the great stress upon them as they maintained homes and farms while their husbands worked and slept in Jerusalem (vv. 2, 3). Perhaps it was because the situation was so desperate that their own "children," and especially some daughters were sold into slavery (v. 5). Such unrighteous times demanded justice and awakened a cry from the women.

5:3–5 The people paid taxes to the king, the satrap of the province, the local governor, and a tithe to the temple. The heavy taxation burden forced many to borrow or mortgage their land and themselves to fellow Jews, who were harsh and exacting. The careful guidelines of Levitical law were clearly violated during these times (Ex. 21:7–11; 22:25–27; Lev. 25:39, 40; Deut. 24:10–13).

5:10 When faced with his own participation in the wrongdoing, Nehemiah did not try to cover up or make excuses. While he confessed to lending money, there is no indication that he participated in debt slavery. He insisted on the immediate reversal of the situation instead of waiting until the year of release (Deut. 15:1–6). He did not allow oppression from within to become a foothold for the opposition from without. Again he demonstrated his leadership in his willingness to admit a mistake and change.

5:11 A hundredth of the money charged was an interest rate of 1 percent monthly or 12 percent annually.

5:14 Nehemiah was governor of Jerusalem for 12 years; then he returned to the Persian court. He later came back to Jerusalem for a second term of unknown length.

5:17 Nehemiah's choice to refrain from taxing the people for his governor's food allotment was unprecedented throughout the Persian Empire and proved that he was truly seeking "the well-being of the children of Israel" (see Neh. 2:10).

Conspiracy Against Nehemiah

6 Now it happened when Sanballat, Tobiah, Geshem the Arab, and the rest of our enemies heard that I had rebuilt the wall, and that there were no breaks left in it (though at that time I had not hung the doors in the gates), 2that Sanballat and Geshem sent to me, saying, "Come, let us meet together among the villages in the plain of Ono." But they thought to do me harm.

3So I sent messengers to them, saying, "I am doing a great work, so that I cannot come down. Why should the work cease while I leave it and go down to you?"

4But they sent me this message four times, and I answered them in the same manner.

5Then Sanballat sent his servant to me as before, the fifth time, with an open letter in his hand. 6In it was written:

> It is reported among the nations, and Geshem[a] says, that you and the Jews plan to rebel; therefore, according to these rumors, you are rebuilding the wall, that you may be their king. 7And you have also appointed prophets to proclaim concerning you at Jerusalem, saying, "There is a king in Judah!" Now these matters will be reported to the king. So come, therefore, and let us consult together.

8Then I sent to him, saying, "No such things as you say are being done, but you invent them in your own heart."

9For they all were trying to make us afraid, saying, "Their hands will be weakened in the work, and it will not be done."

Now therefore, O God, strengthen my hands.

10Afterward I came to the house of Shemaiah the son of Delaiah, the son of Mehetabel, who was a secret informer; and he said, "Let us meet together in the house of God, within the temple, and let us close the doors of the temple, for they are coming to kill you; indeed, at night they will come to kill you."

11And I said, "Should such a man as I flee? And who is there such as I who would go into the temple to save his life? I will not go in!" 12Then I perceived that God had not sent him at all, but that he pronounced this prophecy against me because Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him. 13For this reason he was hired, that I should be afraid and act that way and sin, so that they might have cause for an evil report, that they might reproach me.

14My God, remember Tobiah and Sanballat, according to these their works, and the prophetess Noadiah and the rest of the prophets who would have made me afraid.

The Wall Completed

15So the wall was finished on the twenty-fifth day of Elul, in fifty-two days. 16And it happened, when all our enemies heard of it, and all the nations around us saw these things, that they were very disheartened in their own eyes; for they perceived that this work was done by our God.

17Also in those days the nobles of Judah sent many letters to Tobiah, and the letters of Tobiah came to them. 18For many in Judah were pledged to him, because he was the son-in-law of Shechaniah the son of Arah, and his son Jehohanan had married the daughter of Meshullam the son of Berechiah. 19Also they reported his good deeds before me, and reported my words to him. Tobiah sent letters to frighten me.

7 Then it was, when the wall was built and I had hung the doors, when the gatekeepers, the

6:6 [a]Hebrew Gashmu

6:2 The plain of Ono was about 25 miles northwest of Jerusalem and was probably a neutral territory used to entice Nehemiah.

6:5–9 Sanballat's accusation included slandering Nehemiah by accusing him of high treason, saying that he was rebuilding Jerusalem so that he could be declared the king. This kind of rumor once put an end to the work of rebuilding the temple (Ezra 4). The fact that Sanballat sent a letter showed his intent to demoralize the people of Jerusalem. The messianic reference to the prophets' presence showed Sanballat's understanding of the Jewish religion and put Nehemiah personally at risk.

6:10–13 Nehemiah's enemies tried to trick him into a compromising position by using a "secret informer." Nehemiah escaped this plot by refusing to do wrong in order to save his life since it was against the Levitical law for anyone but the priests to go into the Holy Place (see Num. 18:7). Besides, taking refuge in the temple would not protect him from foreign enemies. God gave Nehemiah special discernment to see through the plot.

6:14 The prophetess Noadiah is not mentioned elsewhere. Presumably she was among the group of false prophets who were eager to displace Nehemiah's godly influence.

6:15, 16 The wall was completed, about 2,600 meters long. Although most of the work was restorative, the whole eastern wall was built from its foundation. The 52-day completion was recognized by all of Jerusalem's neighbors as a supernatural feat and "disheartened" those who had earlier tried so hard to discourage Nehemiah.

6:18 Although Nehemiah's enemies were thwarted when the wall was rebuilt, they still had a toehold in Jerusalem because of intermarriages. Tobiah and his son took Jewish wives from influential families, which eventually enabled Tobiah to have a room inside the temple itself (see Neh. 13:4–7). Sanballat's daughter married a son of the high priest Eliashib (see Neh. 13:28). These, along with many other intermarriages, provided conduits to the enemy that would continue to plague the people.

singers, and the Levites had been appointed, 2that I gave the charge of Jerusalem to my brother Hanani, and Hananiah the leader of the citadel, for he was a faithful man and feared God more than many.

3And I said to them, "Do not let the gates of Jerusalem be opened until the sun is hot; and while they stand guard, let them shut and bar the doors; and appoint guards from among the inhabitants of Jerusalem, one at his watch station and another in front of his own house."

The Captives Who Returned to Jerusalem

4Now the city was large and spacious, but the people in it were few, and the houses were not rebuilt. 5Then my God put it into my heart to gather the nobles, the rulers, and the people, that they might be registered by genealogy. And I found a register of the genealogy of those who had come up in the first return, and found written in it:

6These[a] are the people of the province who came back from the captivity, of those who had been carried away, whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried away, and who returned to Jerusalem and Judah, everyone to his city.

7Those who came with Zerubbabel were Jeshua, Nehemiah, Azariah, Raamiah, Nahamani, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispereth,[a] Bigvai, Nehum, and Baanah.

and the sons of Amon.[a] 60All the Nethinim, and the sons of Solomon's servants, were three hundred and ninety-two.

61And these were the ones who came up from Tel Melah, Tel Harsha, Cherub, Addon,[a] and Immer, but they could not identify their father's house nor their lineage, whether they were of Israel: 62the sons of Delaiah, the sons of Tobiah,
the sons of Nekoda, six hundred and forty-two;
63and of the priests: the sons of Habaiah, the sons of Koz,[a]
the sons of Barzillai, who took a wife of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite, and was called by their name.
64These sought their listing among those who were registered by genealogy, but it was not found; therefore they were excluded from the priesthood as defiled. 65And the governor[a] said to them that they should not eat of the most holy things till a priest could consult with the Urim and Thummim.

66Altogether the whole assembly was forty-two thousand three hundred and sixty, 67besides their male and female servants, of whom there were seven thousand three hundred and thirty-seven; and they had two hundred and forty-five men and women singers. 68Their horses were seven hundred and thirty-six, their mules two hundred and forty-five, 69*their* camels four hundred and thirty-five, and donkeys six thousand seven hundred and twenty.

70And some of the heads of the fathers' houses gave to the work. The governor[a] gave to the treasury one thousand gold drachmas, fifty basins, and five hundred and thirty priestly garments. 71Some of the heads of the fathers' houses gave to the treasury of the work twenty thousand gold drachmas, and two thousand two hundred silver minas. 72And that which the rest of the people gave was twenty thousand gold drachmas, two thousand silver minas, and sixty-seven priestly garments.

73So the priests, the Levites, the gatekeepers, the singers, some of the people, the Nethinim, and all Israel dwelt in their cities.

Ezra Reads the Law

When the seventh month came, the children of Israel were in their cities.

8 Now all the people gathered together as one man in the open square that was in front of the 8:1–3 All heard the Law. Women and children, though they did not participate in regular temple functions, came together on such solemn occasions (see Deut. 31:12; Josh. 8:35). Presumably "all who could hear with understanding" referred to children old enough to understand. This rediscovery of the Word of God was evidently meant for everyone in the family. Many may never have heard it before this time.

Water Gate; and they told Ezra the scribe to bring the Book of the Law of Moses, which the LORD had commanded Israel. 2So Ezra the priest brought the Law before the assembly of men and women and all who could hear with understanding on the first day of the seventh month. 3Then he read from it in the open square that was in front of the Water Gate from morning until midday, before the men and women and those who could understand; and the ears of all the people were attentive to the Book of the Law.

4So Ezra the scribe stood on a platform of wood which they had made for the purpose; and beside him, at his right hand, stood Mattithiah, Shema, Anaiah, Urijah, Hilkiah, and Maaseiah; and at his left hand Pedaiah, Mishael, Malchijah, Hashum, Hashbadana, Zechariah, and Meshullam. 5And Ezra opened the book in the sight of all the people, for he was standing above all the people; and when he opened it, all the people stood up. 6And Ezra blessed the LORD, the great God.

Then all the people answered, "Amen, Amen!" while lifting up their hands. And they bowed their heads and worshiped the LORD with their faces to the ground.

7Also Jeshua, Bani, Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodijah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan, Pelaiah, and the Levites, helped the people to understand the Law; and the people stood in their place. 8So they read distinctly from the book, in the Law of God; and they gave the sense, and helped them to understand the reading.

9And Nehemiah, who was the governor,[a] Ezra the priest and scribe, and the Levites who taught the people said to all the people, "This day is holy to the LORD your God; do not mourn nor weep." For all the people wept, when they heard the words of the Law.

10Then he said to them, "Go your way, eat the fat, drink the sweet, and send portions to those for whom nothing is prepared; for this day is holy to our Lord. Do not sorrow, for the joy of the LORD is your strength."

11So the Levites quieted all the people, saying, "Be still, for the day is holy; do not be grieved." 12And all the people went their way to eat and drink, to send portions and rejoice greatly, because they understood the words that were declared to them.

The Feast of Tabernacles

13Now on the second day the heads of the fathers' houses of all the people, with the priests and Levites, were gathered to Ezra the scribe, in order to understand the words of the Law. 14And they found written in the Law, which the LORD had commanded by Moses, that the children of Israel should dwell in booths during the feast of the seventh month, 15and that they should announce and proclaim in all their cities and in Jerusalem, saying, "Go out to the mountain, and bring olive branches, branches of oil trees, myrtle branches, palm branches, and branches of leafy trees, to make booths, as it is written."

16Then the people went out and brought them and made themselves booths, each one on the roof of his house, or in their courtyards or the courts of the house of God, and in the open square of the Water Gate and in the open square of the Gate of Ephraim. 17So the whole assembly of those who had returned from the captivity made booths and sat under the booths; for since the days of Joshua the son of Nun until that day the children of Israel had not done so. And there was very great gladness. 18Also day by day, from the first day until the last day, he read from the Book of the Law of God. And they kept the feast seven days; and on the eighth day there was a sacred assembly, according to the prescribed manner.

The People Confess Their Sins

9Now on the twenty-fourth day of this month the children of Israel were assembled with fasting, in sackcloth, and with dust on their heads.[a] 2Then those of Israelite lineage separated themselves from all foreigners; and they stood and con-

8:5–8 Understanding the Scripture. While Ezra read the Scripture from the Hebrew text, the Levites translated and explained the meaning in Aramaic, the language understood by the people. The people "stood" as a sign of reverence for the Word. This reading, interpretation, and even standing later became part of the synagogue worship services and can be seen in some Christian churches today.

8:9 Conviction of the Law. The people wept and mourned when they heard the Word because they realized how disobedient they had been. They were told not to weep but to enjoy celebrating the Feast of Trumpets (see Lev. 23:23–25; chart, The Feasts of the Lord). The reading and receiving of the Law was to be a joyous time.

8:14–17 The Feast of Tabernacles (also called the Feast of Booths or Ingathering) was one of the three main festivals for which all Jewish men were required to assemble at the temple in Jerusalem. It was celebrated as everyone lived in booths made from the limbs of trees, to commemorate the temporary dwellings of their forefathers in the wilderness (see also Deut. 31:10–13; chart, The Feasts of the Lord).

8:18 The public reading of Scripture achieved a new preeminence at this time as the guiding principle in Jewish life. Nehemiah and Ezra brought back the public reading of Scripture and gave it a prominent place in worship. The Word of God has power to convict, convert, and revive (see Heb. 4:12).

9:1 The signs of mourning. "Sackcloth" was worn during times of mourning, and "dust" thrown "on their heads" was symbolic of death or burial. Both these gestures were symbolic of deep mourning and human frailty.

3And they stood up in their place and read from the Book of the Law of the LORD their God for one-

4Then Jeshua, Bani, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani, and Chenani stood on the stairs of the Levites and cried out with a loud voice to the LORD their God. 5And the Levites, Jeshua, Kad-miel, Bani, Hashabniah, Sherebiah, Hodijah, Shebaniah, and Pethahiah, said:

"Stand up and bless the LORD your God
Forever and ever!

"Blessed be Your glorious name,
Which is exalted above all blessing and praise!
6You alone are the LORD;
You have made heaven,
The heaven of heavens, with all their host,
The earth and everything on it,
The seas and all that is in them,
And You preserve them all.
The host of heaven worships You.

7"You are the LORD God,
Who chose Abram,
And brought him out of Ur of the Chaldeans,
And gave him the name Abraham;
8You found his heart faithful before You,
And made a covenant with him
To give the land of the Canaanites,
The Hittites, the Amorites,
The Perizzites, the Jebusites,
And the Girgashites—
To give it to his descendants.
You have performed Your words,
For You are righteous.

9"You saw the affliction of our fathers in Egypt,
And heard their cry by the Red Sea.
10You showed signs and wonders against Pharaoh,
Against all his servants,
And against all the people of his land.
For You knew that they acted proudly against them.
So You made a name for Yourself, as it is this day.
11And You divided the sea before them,
So that they went through the midst of the sea
on the dry land;
And their persecutors You threw into the deep,
As a stone into the mighty waters.
12Moreover You led them by day with a cloudy
pillar,
And by night with a pillar of fire,
To give them light on the road
Which they should travel.

13"You came down also on Mount Sinai,
And spoke with them from heaven,
And gave them just ordinances and true laws,
Good statutes and commandments.
14You made known to them Your holy Sabbath,
And commanded them precepts, statutes and laws,
By the hand of Moses Your servant.
15You gave them bread from heaven for their hunger,
And brought them water out of the rock for their thirst,
And told them to go in to possess the land
Which You had sworn to give them.

16"But they and our fathers acted proudly,
Hardened their necks,
And did not heed Your commandments.
17They refused to obey,
And they were not mindful of Your wonders
That You did among them.
But they hardened their necks,
And in their rebellion[a]
They appointed a leader
To return to their bondage.
But You are God,
Ready to pardon,
Gracious and merciful,
Slow to anger,
Abundant in kindness,
And did not forsake them.

18"Even when they made a molded calf for themselves,

9:17 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Vulgate; Septuagint reads in Egypt.

9:5 The Levites' prayer, which begins with this verse, is a chronicle of God's faithfulness to His people and their faithlessness to Him, beginning in Genesis with the creation and continuing through the period of the Judges, the Kings, and Chronicles until Nehemiah's day (v. 32; see also chart, Solomon's Prayer). Perhaps this showed how fresh the reading of the Scripture was in the minds of the Levites who led this prayer.

9:6–15 A righteous God. In this portion of the prayer, God is the subject of every sentence. Prayers that talk to God about Himself build a woman's faith as she sees herself in relation to the Lord. This section cites incidents from Genesis, Exodus, Numbers, and Deuteronomy where God is described as "righteous" (v. 8).

9:16–25 The subject alternates between "they" and "you," showing that although the people were disobedient and proud, God continued to bless them. This section cites incidents from Exodus, Numbers, Joshua, Judges, and 1 Chronicles where God is described as "ready to pardon, gracious and merciful, slow to anger" and "abundant in kindness" (Neh. 9:17).

And said, 'This is your god
That brought you up out of Egypt,'
And worked great provocations,
19 Yet in Your manifold mercies
You did not forsake them in the wilderness.
The pillar of the cloud did not depart from them by day,
To lead them on the road;
Nor the pillar of fire by night,
To show them light,
And the way they should go.
20 You also gave Your good Spirit to instruct them,
And did not withhold Your manna from their mouth,
And gave them water for their thirst.
21 Forty years You sustained them in the wilderness;
They lacked nothing;
Their clothes did not wear out[a]
And their feet did not swell.

22 "Moreover You gave them kingdoms and nations,
And divided them into districts.[a]
So they took possession of the land of Sihon,
The land of[b] the king of Heshbon,
And the land of Og king of Bashan.
23 You also multiplied their children as the stars of heaven,
And brought them into the land
Which You had told their fathers
To go in and possess.
24 So the people went in
And possessed the land;
You subdued before them the inhabitants of the land,
The Canaanites,
And gave them into their hands,
With their kings
And the people of the land,
That they might do with them as they wished.
25 And they took strong cities and a rich land,
And possessed houses full of all goods,
Cisterns already dug, vineyards, olive groves,
And fruit trees in abundance.
So they ate and were filled and grew fat,
And delighted themselves in Your great goodness.

26 "Nevertheless they were disobedient
And rebelled against You,
Cast Your law behind their backs
And killed Your prophets, who testified against them
To turn them to Yourself;
And they worked great provocations.
27 Therefore You delivered them into the hand of their enemies,
Who oppressed them;
And in the time of their trouble,
When they cried to You,
You heard from heaven;
And according to Your abundant mercies
You gave them deliverers who saved them
From the hand of their enemies.

28 "But after they had rest,
They again did evil before You.
Therefore You left them in the hand of their enemies,
So that they had dominion over them;
Yet when they returned and cried out to You,
You heard from heaven;
And many times You delivered them according to Your mercies,
29 And testified against them,
That You might bring them back to Your law.
Yet they acted proudly,
And did not heed Your commandments,
But sinned against Your judgments,
'Which if a man does, he shall live by them.'[a]
And they shrugged their shoulders,
Stiffened their necks,
And would not hear.
30 Yet for many years You had patience with them,
And testified against them by Your Spirit in Your prophets.
Yet they would not listen;
Therefore You gave them into the hand of the peoples of the lands.
31 Nevertheless in Your great mercy
You did not utterly consume them nor forsake them;
For You are God, gracious and merciful.

32 "Now therefore, our God,
The great, the mighty, and awesome God,

9:26–31 A merciful God. This section covers the period of the Judges when the people rebelled time and time again despite the fact that God continually provided deliverers and prophets. God is described as "gracious and merciful" (v. 31).

9:32 The kings of Assyria were the first to conquer Israel and Judah after the bondage in Egypt in the mid-8th century B.C. These kings included Tiglath-Pileser III (known also as Pul, 1 Chr. 5:26), Shalmaneser V (2 Kin. 18:9), Sargon II (Is. 20:1), Sennacherib (2 Kin. 18:13), Esarhaddon (Ezra 4:2), and Ashurbanipal (known also as Osnapper, Ezra 4:10; see also chart, The Kings of Assyria). After the Assyrians, the Babylonians and later the Persians conquered Israel. After Nehemiah's time, the Greeks and then the Romans ruled over Israel.

Who keeps covenant and mercy:
Do not let all the trouble seem small before You
That has come upon us,
Our kings and our princes,
Our priests and our prophets,
Our fathers and on all Your people,
From the days of the kings of Assyria until this day.
33 However You are just in all that has befallen us;
For You have dealt faithfully,
But we have done wickedly.
34 Neither our kings nor our princes,
Our priests nor our fathers,
Have kept Your law,
Nor heeded Your commandments and Your testimonies,
With which You testified against them.
35 For they have not served You in their kingdom,
Or in the many good things that You gave them,
Or in the large and rich land which You set before them;
Nor did they turn from their wicked works.

36 "Here we are, servants today!
And the land that You gave to our fathers,
To eat its fruit and its bounty,
Here we are, servants in it!
37 And it yields much increase to the kings
You have set over us,
Because of our sins;
Also they have dominion over our bodies and our cattle
At their pleasure;
And we are in great distress.

38 "And because of all this,
We make a sure covenant and write it;
Our leaders, our Levites, and our priests seal it."

The People Who Sealed the Covenant

10 Now those who placed their seal on the document were:
Nehemiah the governor, the son of Hacaliah,
and Zedekiah, 2 Seraiah, Azariah, Jeremiah,
3 Pashhur, Amariah, Malchijah, 4 Hattush,
Shebaniah, Malluch, 5 Harim, Meremoth,
Obadiah, 6 Daniel, Ginnethon, Baruch,
7 Meshullam, Abijah, Mijamin, 8 Maaziah, Bilgai, and Shemaiah. These were the priests.

9 The Levites: Jeshua the son of Azaniah, Binnui of the sons of Henadad, and Kadmiel.

10 Their brethren: Shebaniah, Hodijah, Kelita,
Pelaiah, Hanan, 11 Micha, Rehob, Hashabiah,
12 Zaccur, Sherebiah, Shebaniah, 13 Hodijah,
Bani, and Beninu.

14 The leaders of the people: Parosh, Pahath-Moab, Elam, Zattu, Bani, 15 Bunni, Azgad, Bebai, 16 Adonijah, Bigvai, Adin, 17 Ater, Hezekiah,
Azzur, 18 Hodijah, Hashum, Bezai, 19 Hariph,

The Covenant That Was Sealed

28 Now the rest of the people—the priests, the Levites, the gatekeepers, the singers, the Nethinim, and all those who had separated themselves from the peoples of the lands to the Law of God, their wives, their sons, and their daughters, everyone who had knowledge and understanding— 29 these joined with their brethren, their nobles, and entered into a curse and an oath to walk in God's Law, which was given by Moses the servant of God, and to observe and do all the commandments of the LORD our Lord, and His ordinances and His statutes: 30 We would not give our daughters as wives to the peoples of the land, nor take their daughters for our sons; 31 if the peoples of the land brought wares or any grain to sell on the Sabbath day, we would not buy it from them on the Sabbath, or on a holy day; and we would forego the seventh year's produce and the exacting of every debt.

32 Also we made ordinances for ourselves, to exact from ourselves yearly one-third of a shekel for the service of the house of our God: 33 for the showbread, for the regular grain offering, for the 10:32 The sanctuary tax in Exodus was one-half a shekel (Ex. 30:13), while one-third is required here in Nehemiah. The shekel in Exodus was the sanctuary shekel which was measured as ten silver shekels to one gold shekel, while the Persian shekel of Nehemiah's day was measured as 15 to one.

10:33 The showbread was an offering to God placed on a table in the holy place (see Lev. 24:5–9; see chart, The Furniture of the Tabernacle). It consisted of 12 cakes, representing the 12 tribes. They were made by the Levites of fine unleavened wheat flour and were to be eaten only by the priests. The showbread was to be replaced each Sabbath.

The "grain offering" consisted of cakes made with unleavened fine flour, oil, and salt (see Lev. 2), and it was to signify a person's thanksgiving to the Lord (see chart, The Offerings of the Lord). A memorial portion was to be burned on the altar, and the rest was for the priests. The offering was made in the morning and the evening with the "regular burnt offering," which could be either a bull, a lamb, or turtledoves. These were entirely burned except for the skin and were for payment of sins in general. "Sin offerings" were burnt offerings of animals for sins that were committed unconsciously (Lev. 4).

Enumeration of these offerings shows the importance of the identity that helped to insure the continuance of the Jewish nation and worship.

INTERFAITH MARRIAGE MARRYING OUTSIDE YOUR FAITH

God views marriage as a union of two people becoming one. The choice of partners becomes very important since each will identify with the other in their union. The Lord strictly warned the Jews against intermarriage because of its propensity to result in dangerous compromise and even tragic abandonment of their commitment to Him. Malachi, a contemporary of Nehemiah, spoke specifically against such marriages (Mal. 2:11).

In the history of Israel, interfaith marriages frequently led to the worship of other gods. The wise King Solomon ruled everything but his own heart wisely. His seven hundred wives and three hundred concubines not only continued to worship their false gods but also led him to worship their pagan deities. In the Book of Nehemiah, the demise of Jerusalem is directly linked to intermarriage, especially Tobiah and Sanballat, the opponents to the rebuilding of the city's walls (Neh. 6:17, 18; 13:28). Since marriages were arranged by parents, Nehemiah—and other leaders before and after him—warned parents specifically not to give their children to pagan unions.

What led the Hebrews to intermarry? Generally the pagan occupants of the lands they came to inhabit were the longstanding landowners and merchants. Much of the tendency to intermarry was not based upon love, romance, or any other intention other than to improve a family's economic and social position in life. The prophet Malachi spoke strongly against Hebrew men divorcing their Hebrew wives to marry "daughters of a foreign god" (Mal. 2:11–16).

The danger of interfaith marriage extended beyond a dilution of faith, a deviation from strict obedience, and a straying from pure worship of the One True and Living God. It generally included loss of language, thought, understanding, and expression at the most basic cultural level, including access to Scripture. Interfaith marriages blurred and eventually obliterated the "national identity," destroying the adherence to God's laws which were the moral code of the Hebrew people. Thus, in marrying "outside the faith," God's people destroyed their own identity and tainted the favored status they enjoyed as "the people of God."

In the New Testament, believers are cautioned against marrying outside the faith (1 Cor. 7:39; 2 Cor. 6:14). Such marriages are especially problematic and are prone to fail when both spouses are strong in their respective faiths. Guiding principles regarding those already married to unbelievers can also be found (1 Cor. 7:12–16; 1 Pet. 3:1, 2). Certainly the faith of your spouse and his expression of that faith must be respected as you simultaneously try to hold on to your own faith. If children are born to such a union, parents must discuss and agree upon how to nurture their children spiritually.

regular burnt offering of the Sabbaths, the New Moons, and the set feasts; for the holy things, for the sin offerings to make atonement for Israel, and all the work of the house of our God. 34We cast lots among the priests, the Levites, and the people, for bringing the wood offering into the house of our God, according to our fathers' houses, at the appointed times year by year, to burn on the altar of the LORD our God as it is written in the Law.

35And we made ordinances to bring the firstfruits of our ground and the firstfruits of all fruit of all trees, year by year, to the house of the LORD; 36to bring the firstborn of our sons and our cattle, as it is written in the Law, and the firstborn of our herds and our flocks, to the house of our God, to the priests who minister in the house of our God; 37to bring the firstfruits of our dough, our offerings, the fruit from all kinds of trees, the new wine and oil, to the priests, to the storerooms of the house of our God; and to bring the tithes of our land to the Levites, for the Levites should receive the tithes in all our farming communities. 38And the priest, the descendant of Aaron, shall be with the Levites when the Levites receive tithes; and the Levites shall bring up a tenth of the tithes to the house of our God, to the rooms of the storehouse.

39For the children of Israel and the children of Levi shall bring the offering of the grain, of the new wine and the oil, to the storerooms where the articles of the sanctuary are, where the priests who minister and the gatekeepers and the singers are; and we will not neglect the house of our God.

10:34 The wood offering was to be a continuous fire on the altar to aid in the offering of the other sacrifices (Lev. 6:12).

10:35 Because the people had neglected their tithes and offerings of firstfruits in which the first of the harvest was to be given to God, the maintenance of the Levites and the temple was lacking.

The People Dwelling in Jerusalem

11 Now the leaders of the people dwelt at Jerusalem; the rest of the people cast lots to bring one out of ten to dwell in Jerusalem, the holy city, and nine-tenths were to dwell in other cities. 2And the people blessed all the men who willingly offered themselves to dwell at Jerusalem.

3These are the heads of the province who dwelt in Jerusalem. (But in the cities of Judah everyone dwelt in his own possession in their cities—Israelites, priests, Levites, Nethinim, and descendants of Solomon's servants.) 4Also in Jerusalem dwelt some of the children of Judah and of the children of Benjamin.

The children of Judah: Athaiah the son of Uzziah, the son of Zechariah, the son of Amariah, the son of Shephatiah, the son of Mahalalel, of the children of Perez; 5and Maaseiah the son of Baruch, the son of Col-Hozeh, the son of Hazaiah, the son of Adaiah, the son of Joiarib, the son of Zechariah, the son of Shiloni. 6All the sons of Perez who dwelt at Jerusalem were four hundred and sixty-eight valiant men.

7And these are the sons of Benjamin: Sallu the son of Meshullam, the son of Joed, the son of Pedaiah, the son of Kolaiah, the son of Maaseiah, the son of Ithiel, the son of Jeshaiah; 8and after him Gabbai and Sallai, nine hundred and twenty-eight. 9Joel the son of Zichri was their overseer, and Judah the son of Senuah[a] was second over the city.

10Of the priests: Jedaiah the son of Joiarib, and Jachin; 11Seraiah the son of Hilkiah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Zadok, the son of Meraioth, the son of Ahitub, was the leader of the house of God. 12Their brethren who did the work of the house were eight hundred and twenty-two; and Adaiah the son of Jeroham, the son of Pelaliah, the son of Amzi, the son of Zechariah, the son of Pashhur, the son of Malchijah, 13and his brethren, heads of the fathers' houses, were two hundred and forty-two; and Amashai the son of Azarel, the son of Ahzai, the son of Meshillemoth, the son of Immer, 14and their brethren, mighty men of valor, were one hundred and twenty-eight. Their overseer was Zabdiel the son of one of the great men.[a] 15Also of the Levites: Shemaiah the son of Hasshub, the son of Azrikam, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Bunni; 16Shabbethai and Jozabad, of the heads of the Levites, had the oversight of the business outside of the house of God; 17Mattaniah the son of Micha,[a] the son of Zabdi, the son of Asaph, the leader who began the thanksgiving with prayer; Bakbukiah, the second among his brethren; and Abda the son of Shammua, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun. 18All the Levites in the holy city were two hundred and eighty-four.

19Moreover the gatekeepers, Akkub, Talmon, and their brethren who kept the gates, were one hundred and seventy-two.

20And the rest of Israel, of the priests and Levites, were in all the cities of Judah, everyone in his inheritance. 21But the Nethinim dwelt in Ophel. And Ziha and Gishpa were over the Nethinim.

22Also the overseer of the Levites at Jerusalem was Uzzi the son of Bani, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Micha, of the sons of Asaph, the singers in charge of the service of the house of God. 23For it was the king's command concerning them that a certain portion should be for the singers, a quota day by day. 24Pethahiah the son of Meshezabel, of the children of Zerah the son of Judah, was the king's deputy[a] in all matters concerning the people.

The People Dwelling Outside Jerusalem

25And as for the villages with their fields, some of the children of Judah dwelt in Kirjath Arba and its villages, Dibon and its villages, Jekabzeel and its villages; 26in Jeshua, Moladah, Beth Pelet, 27Hazar Shual, and Beersheba and its villages; 28in Ziklag and Meconah and its villages; 29in En Rimmon, Zorah, Jarmuth, 30Zanoah, Adullam, and their villages; in Lachish and its fields; in Azekah and its villages. They dwelt from Beersheba to the Valley of Hinnom.

31Also the children of Benjamin from Geba dwelt in Michmash, Aija, and Bethel, and their villages; 32in Anathoth, Nob, Ananiah; 33in Hazor, Ramah, Gittaim; 34in Hadid, Zeboim, Neballat; 35in Lod, Ono, and the Valley of Craftsmen. 36Some of the Judean divisions of Levites were in Benjamin.

The Priests and Levites

12 Now these are the priests and the Levites who came up with Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Jeshua: Seraiah, Jeremiah, Ezra, 2Amariah, Malluch, Hattush, 3Shechaniah, Rehum, Meremoth, 4Iddo, Ginnethoi,[a] Abijah, 5Mijamin, Maadiah, Bilgah, 6Shemaiah, Joiarib, Jedaiah, 7Sallu, Amok, Hilkiah, and Jedaiah.

11:9 [a]Or Hassenuah 11:14 [a]Or the son of Haggedolim 11:17 [a]Or Michah 11:24 [a]Literally at the king's hand 12:4 [a]Or Ginnethon (compare verse 16)

11:1 When people cast lots to see who should move to Jerusalem, they believed that God would choose those individuals through the sacred lots (see Prov. 16:33). Thus Nehemiah did not force them to relocate; God willed it. The list of those who returned showed that it was not a free-for-all land rush but an ordered and purposeful resettlement (Neh. 11:4–19).

11:3 Nethinim (Heb., lit. "dedicated" or "given" ones) were temple assistants who did the more menial tasks (see 1 Chr. 9:2, note).

SHOPPING BARTERING AND BUYING

Scripture refers to vendors in streets, squares, marketplaces, and near gates where farmers, artisans, merchants, and peddlers displayed their wares (see Neh. 13:17–22). Apparently bartering was prohibited on the Sabbath. The Bible gives little information about the quality of goods or regulation of trade (see Amos 8:5, 6). The method of transaction was often a barter system of exchange, although there is also evidence that items were purchased by weights of gold and silver.

Among the items traded in the Bible were oil, wine, grapes, figs, fish, animals, pottery, and clothing (1 Kin. 4:7; Neh. 13:15, 16). The people of Palestine exported grains and flour, oil and wine, cosmetics and medicinal products (Gen. 43:11; Ezek. 27:17).

The Law has very few references to buying and selling, the primary rules being to have honest weights and measures and to refrain from charging interest of fellow Israelites (Lev. 19:36; Deut. 25:13).

Solomon was the first king of Israel who promoted international trade. He entered into a profitable joint trading venture with Hiram, king of Tyre. During Solomon's reign, ancient trade routes were strictly controlled, and merchants were taxed heavily. The Queen of Sheba may very well have been the head of a trade delegation to establish closer relations with Israel (1 Kin. 10; 2 Chr. 9:1–12). In any case, just as those who shop today, she combined curiosity (2 Chr. 9:1) and commercial interest with buying power to meet her needs (2 Chr. 9:9–12).

Women obviously bought and sold goods, whether in the process of providing food and clothing for their households (Prov. 31:18, 24) or as a professional pursuit (Acts 16:14). Shopping required time (Prov. 31:14), planning (v. 21), good taste (v. 22), and stewardship (v. 13).

These were the heads of the priests and their brethren in the days of Jeshua.

8 Moreover the Levites were Jeshua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Judah, and Mattaniah who led the thanksgiving psalms, he and his brethren. 9 Also Bakbukiah and Unni, their brethren, stood across from them in their duties.

10 Jeshua begot Joiakim, Joiakim begot Eliashib, Eliashib begot Joiada, 11 Joiada begot Jonathan, and Jonathan begot Jaddua.

12 Now in the days of Joiakim, the priests, the heads of the fathers' houses were: of Seraiah, Meraiah; of Jeremiah, Hananiah; 13 of Ezra, Meshullam; of Amariah, Jehohanan; 14 of Melichu,[a] Jonathan; of Shebaniah,[b] Joseph; 15 of Harim,[a] Adna; of Meraioth,[b] Helkai; 16 of Iddo, Zechariah; of Ginnethon, Meshullam; 17 of Abijah, Zichri; the son of Minjamin;[a] of Moadiah,[b] Piltai; 18 of Bilgah, Shammua; of Shemaiah, Jehonathan; 19 of Joiarib, Mattenai; of Jedaiah, Uzzi; 20 of Sallai,[a] Kallai; of Amok, Eber; 21 of Hilkiah, Hashabiah; and of Jedaiah, Nethanel.

22 During the reign of Darius the Persian, a record was also kept of the Levites and priests who had been heads of their fathers' houses in the days of Eliashib, Joiada, Johanan, and Jaddua. 23 The sons of Levi, the heads of the fathers' houses until the days of Johanan the son of Eliashib, were written in the book of the chronicles.

24 And the heads of the Levites were Hashabiah, Sherebiah, and Jeshua the son of Kadmiel, with their brothers across from them, to praise and give thanks, group alternating with group, according to the command of David the man of God. 25 Mattaniah, Bakbukiah, Obadiah, Meshullam, Talmon, and Akkub were gatekeepers keeping the watch at the storerooms of the gates. 26 These lived in the days of Joiakim the son of Jeshua, the son of Jozadak,[a] and in the days of Nehemiah the governor, and of Ezra the priest, the scribe.

Nehemiah Dedicates the Wall

27 Now at the dedication of the wall of Jerusalem they sought out the Levites in all their places, to bring them to Jerusalem to celebrate the dedication with gladness, both with thanksgivings and singing, with cymbals and stringed instruments and harps. 28 And the sons of the singers gathered together from the countryside around Jerusalem,

12:10, 22 Joiada's son married Sanballat's daughter, which made Eliashib's grandson Sanballat's son-in-law (see Neh. 13:28, note).

12:25 Meshullam's daughter married Jehohanan, Tobiah's son, which made Meshullam and Tobiah in-laws (Neh. 3:4, 30; see 6:18, note). As Meshullam was one of the "gatekeepers" who watched "the storerooms of the gates," he might have been useful to Tobiah in gaining access to the temple storeroom (see Neh. 13:4, 5).

from the villages of the Netophathites, [29]from the house of Gilgal, and from the fields of Geba and Azmaveth; for the singers had built themselves villages all around Jerusalem. [30]Then the priests and Levites purified themselves, and purified the people, the gates, and the wall.

[31]So I brought the leaders of Judah up on the wall, and appointed two large thanksgiving choirs. One went to the right hand on the wall toward the Refuse Gate. [32]After them went Hoshaiah and half of the leaders of Judah, [33]and Azariah, Ezra, Meshullam, [34]Judah, Benjamin, Shemaiah, Jeremiah, [35]and some of the priests' sons with trumpets—Zechariah the son of Jonathan, the son of Shemaiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Michaiah, the son of Zaccur, the son of Asaph, [36]and his brethren, Shemaiah, Azarel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethanel, Judah, and Hanani, with the musical instruments of David the man of God. And Ezra the scribe went before them. [37]By the Fountain Gate, in front of them, they went up the stairs of the City of David, on the stairway of the wall, beyond the house of David, as far as the Water Gate eastward.

[38]The other thanksgiving choir went the opposite way, and I was behind them with half of the people on the wall, going past the Tower of the Ovens as far as the Broad Wall, [39]and above the Gate of Ephraim, above the Old Gate, above the Fish Gate, the Tower of Hananel, the Tower of the Hundred, as far as the Sheep Gate; and they stopped by the Gate of the Prison.

[40]So the two thanksgiving choirs stood in the house of God, likewise I and the half of the rulers with me; [41]and the priests, Eliakim, Maaseiah, Minjamin,[a] Michaiah, Elioenai, Zechariah, and Hananiah, with trumpets; [42]also Maaseiah, Shemaiah, Eleazar, Uzzi, Jehohanan, Malchijah, Elam, and Ezer. The singers sang loudly with Jezrahiah the director.

[43]Also that day they offered great sacrifices, and rejoiced, for God had made them rejoice with great joy; the women and the children also rejoiced, so that the joy of Jerusalem was heard afar off.

Temple Responsibilities

[44]And at the same time some were appointed over the rooms of the storehouse for the offerings, the firstfruits, and the tithes, to gather into them from the fields of the cities the portions specified by the Law for the priests and Levites; for Judah rejoiced over the priests and Levites who ministered. [45]Both the singers and the gatekeepers kept the charge of their God and the charge of the purification, according to the command of David and Solomon his son. [46]For in the days of David and Asaph of old there were chiefs of the singers, and songs of praise and thanksgiving to God. [47]In the days of Zerubbabel and in the days of Nehemiah all Israel gave the portions for the singers and the gatekeepers, a portion for each day. They also consecrated holy things for the Levites, and the Levites consecrated them for the children of Aaron.

Principles of Separation

13 On that day they read from the Book of Moses in the hearing of the people, and in it was found written that no Ammonite or Moabite should ever come into the assembly of God, [2]because they had not met the children of Israel with bread and water, but hired Balaam against them to curse them. However, our God turned the curse into a blessing. [3]So it was, when they had heard the Law, that they separated all the mixed multitude from Israel.

The Reforms of Nehemiah

[4]Now before this, Eliashib the priest, having authority over the storerooms of the house of our God, was allied with Tobiah. [5]And he had prepared for him a large room, where previously they had stored the grain offerings, the frankincense, the articles, the tithes of grain, the new wine and oil, which were commanded to be given to the Levites and singers and gatekeepers, and the offerings for the priests. [6]But during all this I was not in Jerusalem, for in the thirty-second year of Artaxerxes king of Babylon I had returned to the king. Then after certain days I obtained leave from the king, [7]and I came to Jerusalem and discovered the evil that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, in preparing a room for him in the courts of the house of God. [8]And it grieved me bitterly; therefore I threw all the household goods of Tobiah out of the room. [9]Then I commanded them to cleanse the rooms; and I brought back into them the articles of the house of God, with the grain offering and the frankincense.

[10]I also realized that the portions for the Levites had not been given them; for each of the Levites and the singers who did the work had gone back to his field. [11]So I contended with the

12:41 [a]Or Mijamin (compare verse 5)

12:31 The choir was divided in half; one half was sent in one direction around the wall while the other half went in the opposite direction, both meeting at the temple (v. 38). Thus they encircled the city with their thanksgiving.

13:4–9 Cleansing the temple. Evil is never so content as when it is firmly lodged in the very heart of the work of God. Nehemiah's cleansing of the temple calls to mind the zeal and righteous anger of Jesus when He cleansed the temple (see John 2:13–17; Mal. 3:5, note).

rulers, and said, "Why is the house of God forsaken?" And I gathered them together and set them in their place. 12Then all Judah brought the tithe of the grain and the new wine and the oil to the storehouse. 13And I appointed as treasurers over the storehouse Shelemiah the priest and Zadok the scribe, and of the Levites, Pedaiah; and next to them was Hanan the son of Zaccur, the son of Mattaniah; for they were considered faithful, and their task was to distribute to their brethren.

14Remember me, O my God, concerning this, and do not wipe out my good deeds that I have done for the house of my God, and for its services!

15In those days I saw people in Judah treading wine presses on the Sabbath, and bringing in sheaves, and loading donkeys with wine, grapes, figs, and all kinds of burdens, which they brought into Jerusalem on the Sabbath day. And I warned them about the day on which they were selling provisions. 16Men of Tyre dwelt there also, who brought in fish and all kinds of goods, and sold them on the Sabbath to the children of Judah, and in Jerusalem.

17Then I contended with the nobles of Judah, and said to them, "What evil thing is this that you do, by which you profane the Sabbath day? 18Did not your fathers do thus, and did not our God bring all this disaster on us and on this city? Yet you bring added wrath on Israel by profaning the Sabbath."

19So it was, at the gates of Jerusalem, as it began to be dark before the Sabbath, that I commanded the gates to be shut, and charged that they must not be opened till after the Sabbath. Then I posted some of my servants at the gates, so that no burdens would be brought in on the Sabbath day. 20Now the merchants and sellers of all kinds of wares lodged outside Jerusalem once or twice.

21Then I warned them, and said to them, "Why do you spend the night around the wall? If you do so again, I will lay hands on you!" From that time on they came no more on the Sabbath. 22And I commanded the Levites that they should cleanse themselves, and that they should go and guard the gates, to sanctify the Sabbath day.

Remember me, O my God, concerning this also, and spare me according to the greatness of Your mercy!

23In those days I also saw Jews who had married women of Ashdod, Ammon, and Moab. 24And half of their children spoke the language of Ashdod, and could not speak the language of Judah, but spoke according to the language of one or the other people.

25So I contended with them and cursed them, struck some of them and pulled out their hair, and made them swear by God, saying, "You shall not give your daughters as wives to their sons, nor take their daughters for your sons or yourselves. 26Did not Solomon king of Israel sin by these things? Yet among many nations there was no king like him, who was beloved of his God; and God made him king over all Israel. Nevertheless pagan women caused even him to sin. 27Should we then hear of your doing all this great evil, transgressing against our God by marrying pagan women?"

28And one of the sons of Joiada, the son of Eliashib the high priest, was a son-in-law of Sanballat the Horonite; therefore I drove him from me.

29Remember them, O my God, because they have defiled the priesthood and the covenant of the priesthood and the Levites.

30Thus I cleansed them of everything pagan. I also assigned duties to the priests and the Levites, each to his service, 31and to bringing the wood offering and the firstfruits at appointed times.

Remember me, O my God, for good!

13:23–27 A warning about intermarriage (see Ex. 34:14, 16; Deut. 7:3, 4; Ezra 9:12; Neh. 10, Interfaith Marriage; Mal. 3:5, note).

13:28 The marriage of a priest's son to a pagan woman was particularly grievous, and therefore every priest was told strictly to "take a virgin of his own people as wife" (Lev. 21:14; see Neh. 10, Interfaith Marriage). Since the sons of a priest would follow in their father's footsteps and become priests themselves, this command was for them as well. Thus when Eliashib's grandson married the daughter of Sanballat the Horonite, he was in effect making a treasonous alliance.

13:29–31 Celebration of the festivals placed special emphasis on remembrance. Nehemiah himself showed the importance of remembrance in his keen detailed lists of names. Remembrance could be negative, as in Nehemiah's request that God remember the priests who had defiled the priesthood and their special priestly covenant; the implication is that they deserved God's judgment. On the other hand, Nehemiah asked that he be remembered for good, implying God's blessing on him for his obedience. "Remember" (Heb. zakar, lit. "to meditate upon and pay attention to") implied that appropriate action would follow. Nehemiah used this word eight times, four of which were to ask God to remember him for good (vv. 14, 22, 31; Neh. 5:19), which was the only request he had for himself throughout the book. This singleminded desire to be remembered by the Lord revealed the purity of heart of a servant who wanted first and foremost to please his Master.

Esther

AUTHOR

Although no one knows who wrote the Book of Esther, it was apparently written by a Jew who was familiar with Susa, the royal palace, and Persian customs. The Jewish Talmud attributes Esther to the "men of the Great Synagogue," anonymous teachers who lived in the period between the last prophets and the earliest rabbinic scholars.

Early church fathers, such as Clement of Alexandria, as well as Jewish authorities like Josephus, ascribed the book to Mordecai.

DATE

The date of the book's composition is also unknown. The events described in the story occurred during the reign of the Persian king Ahasuerus, whose name was rendered in Greek histories as Xerxes and who reigned 486–465 B.C. Although some scholars date its composition as late as the first century B.C., there is evidence to indicate the book was written shortly after the events it narrates and before the Persian empire fell to Alexander the Great in 331 B.C. The Hebrew of Esther is similar to that of the books of Chronicles and Daniel, which suggests that these three books were composed during the same period (see chart, Timeline for Ezra, Nehemiah, and Esther). The author's knowledge of Persian court life and customs and the book's linguistic evidence point to the late fifth century B.C.

BACKGROUND

SETTING: The story of Esther occurs during the Achaemenid period of biblical history (559–330 B.C.) in the court of the Persian king Ahasuerus, also known as Xerxes, who ruled Persia from 486–465 B.C. This places the events of the story at least fifty years after the decree of Cyrus (538 B.C.), which announced that the exiled Jews could return to Jerusalem, and about twenty-five years before Ezra's return to Jerusalem.

Esther and Mordecai were living in the royal city of Susa (Heb. Shushan). Susa had been an important political, cultural, and religious center for centuries. At the time of Esther, the city was one of the capital cities of a vast empire stretching from what is now India in the east to Turkey and Ethiopia in the west. The ruins of Susa are in Iran near its border with Iraq.

PURPOSE: As traditionally understood, the purpose of the book is to explain the origin of the Jewish holiday of Purim as a celebration of deliverance. From the Second Temple Period until now, the Megillat Ester (Heb., lit. "scroll of Esther") in its entirety is read in the assemblies of the Jews as the central rite of the observance of Purim. Although women are normally exempt from mandatory attendance at worship, they are required to be present for the reading of Esther.

The story has provided encouragement and hope for the Jews, who from that day until this, like Esther and Mordecai, have lived far from Jerusalem. The story of Esther is similar to that of Joseph in the court of the Egyptian pharaoh (see Gen. 37—50) and of Daniel in the court at Babylon (see Dan. 1—2). Each of these stories is about a Jew who was delivered from a death plot and rose to a high position in a pagan government.

The book as Christian Scripture is part of God's saving work in history that culminated in the coming of Jesus the Messiah. It reminds Christians that God is never absent, even though those living in a world hostile to the Christian faith may not always be aware of His presence.

AUDIENCE: The events recorded concern the well-being of the Jews in Persia. Certainly Jews were the original audience, but whether the book was written for the Jews living in Persia or for Jews facing a similar situation elsewhere at another time is uncertain.

The book has long been included in the canon of Scripture for both Jews and Christians. Its message is relevant to readers in every generation.

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: The Book of Esther is a prose account of an event in the life of the Jewish people who lived under Persian rule. The opening words of the book (Heb. wyhy, lit. "now it came to pass") are also used to open the historical books of Joshua, Judges, and Samuel. The reference to "the chronicles of the kings of Media and Persia" implies that additional historical information about Mordecai was once available (Esth. 10:2).

Such features suggest that the author intended the story to be taken as history. Irony and humor are literary features appropriately used to dramatize historical events.

THEMES

A most conspicuous feature of the Book of Esther is the complete absence of any mention of God, the temple, Jerusalem, or the Law. In this sense, it appears to be a completely secular book, which relates its story on the purely human plane of history. Nevertheless, this book is about God's chosen people, and it appears in both the Jewish and Christian canon of Scripture. Therefore, the book must be understood in the canonical context of redemptive history.

The major theme of the book is God's sovereign power to work, even through pagans, in order to preserve and deliver His people. The enemies of God's people, portrayed possibly as Amalekites in the Book of Esther, cannot prevail over His purposes, even when God Himself seems strangely absent (see Esth. 3:1).

The name of the holiday, Purim (or the Feast of Lots), which celebrates this great deliverance, commemorates the theme that the destiny of God's people will not be determined by anything other than the purposes of God Himself.

The King Dethrones Queen Vashti

1 Now it came to pass in the days of Ahasuerus[a] (this was the Ahasuerus who reigned over one hundred and twenty-seven provinces, from India to Ethiopia), 2in those days when King Ahasuerus sat on the throne of his kingdom, which was in Shushan[a] the citadel, 3*that* in the third year of his reign he made a feast for all his officials and servants— the powers of Persia and Media, the nobles, and the princes of the provinces being before him— 4when he showed the riches of his glorious kingdom and the splendor of his excellent majesty for many days, one hundred and eighty days in all.

5And when these days were completed, the king made a feast lasting seven days for all the people who were present in Shushan the citadel, from great to small, in the court of the garden of the king's palace. 6*There were* white and blue linen curtains fastened with cords of fine linen and purple on silver rods and marble pillars; and the couches were of gold and silver on a mosaic pavement of alabaster, turquoise, and white and black marble. 7And they served drinks in golden vessels, each vessel being different from the other, with royal wine in abundance, according to the generosity of the king. 8In accordance with the law, the drinking was not compulsory; for so the king had ordered all the officers of his household, that they should do according to each man's pleasure.

9Queen Vashti also made a feast for the women in the royal palace which belonged to King Ahasuerus.

10On the seventh day, when the heart of the king was merry with wine, he commanded Mehuman,

1:1 Ahasuerus is the Hebrew equivalent of Khshayarsha, the king's Old Persian name. In Greek histories, he was known as Xerxes I (reigning 486–465 B.C.).

1:2 Shushan (also called Susa) had long been an important center of culture, religion, and politics. Darius (522–486 B.C.) chose Susa as his political and administrative capital. For Susa, see Nehemiah 1:1, note.

1:3 Cyrus, whose mother was a Mede and father a Persian, united the Median and Persian empires into one. Median customs were adopted by the Persian court, and Medes held prominent positions in the empire. At the time of Ahasuerus, Persia was dominant and therefore named first (compare to Esth. 10:2). The joint Persian-Median Empire lasted until 330 B.C. when Alexander the Great marched eastward. Ancient Persia was centered in the area known today as Iraq and Iran. The area known as ancient Media covers what is now the northwest part of Iran, Azerbaijan, Ardelan, and parts of Kurdistan.

1:5 Lavish banquets were given on many occasions (see Esth. 2:18). The date of this banquet (483/482 B.C.) and its length suggest the occasion may have been a war council to plan the ill-fated campaigns against Greece (482–479 B.C.).

1:6 The palace at Shushan (Susa) was built by Darius I, Ahasuerus' father. Archaeologists have found in its dedication inscription (housed at the Louvre in Paris), a confirmation of its lavish appointments and ornamentation. Excavation has determined that the king received visitors in a large hall separated from the king's private living quarters by a courtyard. The hall contained 36 columns and was flanked on three sides by porticoes, each having two rows of six columns. The remains of colorfully glazed decorative brick, which formed large mosaics of human figures, winged lions and bulls, sphinxes, and winged sun disks, have also been unearthed at Susa. The foundation charter describes the materials used to build the royal compound (cedar, gold, ivory, lapis lazuli, turquoise, and marble) as tribute coming from all parts of the Persian Empire.

1:9 Greek historians record that Amestris was the name of Xerxes' wife. Some have attempted to identify this name as the Greek spelling of Vashti (or even of Esther). Others believe Amestris was neither Vashti nor Esther and that Xerxes had more than one woman who was referred to as his "wife."

VASHTI A Deposed Queen

The pride and splendor of the Medo-Persian Empire were on display for 180 days before all of King Ahasuerus' officials and allies. Building support for his coming Greek campaign (482–479 B.C.), the king climaxed his lavish celebration with a seven-day banquet for citizens of Shushan, the site of his royal palace.

Persian monarchs insisted upon deference. Not even the queen was allowed into the throne room unless summoned. To be called by the king was a rigid order, not an invitation. On the final day of the feast such a bid was issued for Queen Vashti, who refused to come. She was hosting her own feast for the women of the palace when she was called to appear before the men. Her action could have been a response to the Near Eastern custom which dictated that the women, including the queen, be excluded from such revelry. Some historians believe she feared the gawking of a crowd of drunken officials and commoners; others suggest that she was pregnant at the time.

Vashti's decision to disobey the order of Ahasuerus, probably assuming he would forgive her later, was a serious miscalculation. The sovereign had announced her arrival in front of his guests, making her refusal equally public, and the king was humiliated in the presence of his subjects.

The king and his counselors realized immediately that disastrous repercussions could occur in every household, as other wives might follow the queen's precedent. The king acted upon the advice of his officials, whereas Vashti herself had apparently unwisely made the decision to defy her husband and king. A decree was sent out, and Vashti was eventually replaced by Queen Esther.

The two queens, one a Gentile and the other a Jewess, demonstrate diverse and antithetical responses. Unlike Esther, who courageously yet humbly disobeyed the king by appearing unsummoned, Vashti defiantly disregarded his command with no recorded apology or explanation. Esther acted in the best interests of her people whose lives were in her hands and at the request of her foster parent. Vashti apparently acted in her own interest and without counsel or petition of anyone. Yet each is used sovereignly to accomplish God's purposes. Vashti lives in history as the queen who was deposed for daring to challenge her husband as well as the irrevocable royal law of the Medes and Persians.

beauty to the people and the officials, for she was come at the king's command brought by his eunuchs;

therefore the king was furious, and his anger burned within him.

13Then the king said to the wise men who understood the times (for this was the king's manner toward all who knew law and justice, 14those the kingdom): 15"What shall we do to Queen Vashti,

16And Memucan answered before the king and the princes: "Queen Vashti has not only wronged the king, but also all the princes, and all the people who are in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus.
17For the queen's behavior will become known to all women, so that they will despise their husbands in their eyes, when they report, 'King Ahasuerus commanded Queen Vashti to be brought in the noble ladies of Persia and Media will say to all the king's officials that they have heard of the behavior of the queen. Thus there will be excessive contempt and wrath. 19If it pleases the king, let a paramount importance, no men except eunuchs were permitted contact with the harem.

1:12 Herodotus, a Greek historian of the Persian period, writes in less than flattering terms about Xerxes as a very impatient, easily angered ruler who had a widespread reputation as a voracious womanizer. The characterization of Ahasuerus in the Book of Esther is consistent with that (see v. 12; Esth. 2:1; 2:4; 7:7).

1:13, 14 The wise men were official advisors found in all the courts of the ancient Near East. "Understood the times" is a phrase used to suggest that the wise men could determine by divination and astrology the most opportune time for action (see Is. 47:13; Dan. 2:27; 5:15). Both Herodotus and Ezra 7:14 record that seven men formed the council of the king's closest advisors. Lesser officials, such as Haman, also had wise men to advise them (see Esth. 6:13).

1:19 Since Vashti had refused to come before the king, she would never again be permitted to enter his presence. Her act is interpreted by some as more than a queen's rebellion against her king (v. 16). The king's advisors surmised that God understands our questioning, but if our questions keep us from trusting His goodness and wisdom, then we have forfeited His promised blessedness and peace.

recorded in the laws of the Persians and the Medes, so that it will not be altered, that Vashti shall come no more before King Ahasuerus; and let the king give her royal position to another who is better than she. 20When the king's decree which he will make is proclaimed throughout all his empire (for it is great), all wives will honor their husbands, both great and small."

21And the reply pleased the king and the princes, and the king did according to the word of Memucan. 22Then he sent letters to all the king's provinces, to each province in its own script, and to every people in their own language, that each man should be master in his own house, and speak in the language of his own people.

Esther Becomes Queen

2 After these things, when the wrath of King Ahasuerus subsided, he remembered Vashti, what she had done, and what had been decreed against her. 2Then the king's servants who attended him said: "Let beautiful young virgins be sought for the king; 3and let the king appoint officers in all the provinces of his kingdom, that they may gather all the beautiful young virgins to Shushan the citadel, into the women's quarters, under the custody of Hegai[a] the king's eunuch, custodian of the women. And let beauty preparations be given them. 4Then let the young woman who pleases the king be queen instead of Vashti."

This thing pleased the king, and he did so.

5In Shushan the citadel there was a certain Jew whose name was Mordecai the son of Jair, the son of Shimei, the son of Kish, a Benjamite. 6*Kish*[a] had been carried away from Jerusalem with the captives who had been captured with Jeconiah[b] king of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried away. 7And Mordecai had brought up Hadassah, that is, Esther, his uncle's daughter, for she had neither father nor mother. The young woman was lovely and beautiful. When her father and mother died, Mordecai took her as his own daughter.

8So it was, when the king's command and decree were heard, and when many young women were gathered at Shushan the citadel, under the custody of Hegai, that Esther also was taken to the king's palace, into the care of Hegai the custodian of the women. 9Now the young woman pleased him, and she obtained his favor; so he readily gave beauty preparations to her, besides her allowance. Then seven choice maidservants were provided for her from the king's palace, and he moved her and her maidservants to the best place in the house of the women.

2:3 [a]Hebrew Hege 2:6 [a]Literally Who [b]Same as Jehoiachin, 2 Kings 24:6 and elsewhere

Vashti's disrespectful attitude toward her monarch (who was also her husband) could well influence the way other women in the kingdom responded to their husbands, bringing widespread upheaval and discord in homes throughout the land (vv. 17, 18).

1:22 Many languages were spoken such as Old Persian, Elamite, and Babylonian dialects, as well as Assyrian, Arabic, and Indo-European dialects. Aramaic was the lingua franca used for trade and diplomacy across the empire. Inscriptions from the reign of Xerxes are mostly trilingual, in Old Persian, Babylonian (Akkadian), and Elamite. Throughout the empire there was an excellent postal system using horses and riders in relays (see Esth. 8:10).

2:3 Fathers may not have brought their daughters voluntarily to the palace (v. 2). Historical sources attest that the harems of two other Persian kings, Darius II and Artaxerxes II, were replenished by a mass gathering of virgins from throughout the empire.

2:5 Mordecai (lit."man of Marduk") is the Hebrew form of his Babylonian name, which contained the name of Marduk, the state god of Babylon. A common practice during the Diaspora was to give an individual both a Babylonian and Hebrew name (see Dan. 1:6, 7). In an undated document, possibly from the reign of Ahasuerus, an official from Susa named Marduka, who may be this same Mordecai, is mentioned.

This first mention of the "Jews" in the book links this story to the history of Israel. The term "Jew" was used of the Israelites from the time of the Exile (see Josh., Terminology for the Land and People of God). The identification of Mordecai as a descendant of Kish, a Benjamite, reminds those familiar with the Bible of Israel's first king, Saul, who was also introduced as a Benjamite and the son of Kish (1 Sam. 9:1; 14:51). If Kish in both books refers to the same person, then it is being used as an ancestral family name. Otherwise, there may have been two men named Kish, one the father of Saul, the other a more recent ancestor of Mordecai. This genealogy sets the stage for the conflict that is to arise between Mordecai and Haman (see Esth. 3:1, note).

2:6 For Jeconiah, see 2 Kings 24:6–17; chart, The Kings with Two Names.

2:7 Hadassah, meaning "myrtle," is Esther's Hebrew name. The myrtle plant was used metaphorically in the OT to symbolize the Lord's forgiveness and acceptance of His people (see Is. 55:13). Her Babylonian name Esther (lit. "star") may be a form of the name Ishtar, the Babylonian goddess of love and war.

ADOPTION CHOSEN CHILDREN

In the process of adoption, an individual—whether relative or not—assumes parental responsibility for the child of another, as Mordecai adopted his young relative Esther after the death of her parents.

Joseph adopted Jesus to be recognized as his own son in the eyes of God and man. This gave all legal inheritance rights traceable through Joseph to Jesus (Matt. 1:1–25), assigning to Him legal claim to the Davidic throne. Spiritually, we are the children of God by adoption just as Jesus was the child of Joseph by adoption. This process of adoption gives to the one adopted full family standing and rights (Rom. 8:15–17). This transaction is a divinely authorized, God-blessed, and legally binding means for adding to the family unit and passing on the family inheritance (Gal. 4:5; Eph. 1:5).

Though the Bible does not present explicit legal process or rights and responsibilities demanded for adoption, Old Testament examples are found (Esther's adoption by Mordecai, Esth. 2:15; Moses by Pharaoh's daughter, Ex. 2:10) in addition to the use of the adoption motif in explaining God's relationship to His people Israel (Deut. 14:2). In the New Testament, adoption describes the believer's relationship with the Lord (Gal. 4:3–7; Eph. 1:1–6).

When a woman accepts Jesus as Savior, the Holy Spirit completes a transaction of adoption on her behalf. She becomes God's daughter and He, her Abba (Aramaic word) or "Daddy." As God's adopted daughters, we will inherit a perfect home with Him, and in the meantime we have immediate access to Him for comfort, direction, and provision. He adopted us with pleasure and will never revoke our adoption.

10 Esther had not revealed her people or family, for Mordecai had charged her not to reveal it.
11 And every day Mordecai paced in front of the court of the women's quarters, to learn of Esther's welfare and what was happening to her.
12 Each young woman's turn came to go in to King Ahasuerus after she had completed twelve months' preparation, according to the regulations for the women, for thus were the days of their preparation apportioned: six months with oil of myrrh, and six months with perfumes and preparations for beautifying women. 13 Thus prepared, each young woman went to the king, and she was given whatever she desired to take with her from the women's quarters to the king's palace. 14 In the evening she went, and in the morning she returned to the second house of the women, to the custody of Shaashgaz, the king's eunuch who kept the concubines. She would not go in to the king again unless the king delighted in her and called for her by name.
15 Now when the turn came for Esther the daughter of Abihail the uncle of Mordecai, who had taken her as his daughter, to go in to the king, she requested nothing but what Hegai the king's eunuch, the custodian of the women, advised. And Esther obtained favor in the sight of all who saw her. 16 So Esther was taken to King Ahasuerus, into his royal palace, in the tenth month, which is the month of Tebeth, in the seventh year of his reign.
17 The king loved Esther more than all the other women, and she obtained grace and favor in his

2:12 "Whatever she desired" may have been clothing and jewelry, which the young women in this process may have been allowed to keep as a "wedding" gift from the king.

2:13 The ancient beauty process referred to as "six months with perfumes" has been illuminated by the archaeological find of a cosmetic burner from this period. During the Persian period and even among some Arabian tribes in this century, women would build a small charcoal fire in a pit in the floor. A fragrant oil, such as that from sandalwood, cloves, myrrh, or rose, would be placed in the cosmetic burner and heated in the fire. The woman would crouch naked over the burner with her robe draped over her head and body to form a tent. As she perspired, her open pores absorbed the fragrance of the oil. By the time the fire burned out, her skin and clothing would be thoroughly perfumed. Aromatic oils and spices were Persia's major export.

2:14 The two different parts of the harem mentioned are the "house of the women" (v. 9) and the "second house of the women." The virgins were kept in the first area of the harem. After a woman had sexual relations with the king, she was moved to the second area of the harem where the king's offspring were reared. From this area she would never depart—even to other areas of the palace—unless the king summoned her to his presence by name (see 2 Sam. 20:3). Both parts were securely guarded by eunuchs. The king's living quarters in the royal palace were separate from the harem but were within the same heavily guarded royal compound.

2:15 Abihail (Heb., lit. "my father is might"), Esther's father, is mentioned twice (v. 15; Esth. 9:29).

2:16 The month of Tebeth corresponds to December–January in the modern calendar (see chart, The Jewish Sacred Calendar). The "seventh year of his reign" would be December, 480 B.C., or January, 479 B.C. or some four years after Vashti was deposed (see Esth. 1:3). The king was occupied during these years by his disastrous war with Greece (482–479 B.C.).

2:17 The grace and favor Esther received from the king hinted at the influential role she would play. According to the Jewish sight more than all the virgins; so he set the royal crown upon her head and made her queen instead of Vashti. 18Then the king made a great feast, the Feast of Esther, for all his officials and servants; and he proclaimed a holiday in the provinces and gave gifts according to the generosity of a king.

Mordecai Discovers a Plot

19When virgins were gathered together a second time, Mordecai sat within the king's gate. 20*Now* Esther had not revealed her family and her people, just as Mordecai had charged her, for Esther obeyed the command of Mordecai as when she was brought up by him.

21In those days, while Mordecai sat within the king's gate, two of the king's eunuchs, Bigthan and Teresh, doorkeepers, became furious and sought to lay hands on King Ahasuerus. 22So the matter became known to Mordecai, who told Queen Esther, and Esther informed the king in Mordecai's name. 23And when an inquiry was made into the matter, it was confirmed, and both were hanged on a gallows; and it was written in the book of the chronicles in the presence of the king.

Haman's Conspiracy Against the Jews

3 After these things King Ahasuerus promoted Haman, the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, and advanced him and set his seat above all the princes who were with him. 2And all the king's servants who were within the king's gate bowed and paid homage to Haman, for so the king had commanded concerning him. But Mordecai would not bow or pay homage. 3Then the king's servants who were within the king's gate said to Mordecai, "Why do you transgress the king's command?" 4Now it happened, when they spoke to him daily and he would not listen to them, that they told it to Haman, to see whether Mordecai's words would stand; for Mordecai had told them that he was a Jew. 5When Haman saw that Mordecai did not bow or pay him homage, Haman was filled with wrath. 6But he disdained to lay hands on Mordecai alone, for they had told him of the people of Mordecai. Instead, Haman sought to destroy all the Jews who were throughout the whole kingdom of Ahasuerus—the people of Mordecai.

7In the first month, which is the month of Nisan, in the twelfth year of King Ahasuerus, they cast Pur (that is, the lot), before Haman to determine the day and the month,[a] until it fell on the twelfth month,[b] which is the month of Adar.

3:7 [a]Septuagint adds to destroy the people of Mordecai in one day; Vulgate adds the nation of the Jews should be destroyed. [b]Following Masoretic Text and Vulgate; Septuagint reads and the lot fell on the fourteenth of the month.

Talmud, Esther was one of the four most beautiful women who ever lived, along with Rahab, Sarah, and Abigail. Evidently, the king had no desire to look further for a queen after he had seen Esther.

2:18 A holiday implies more than release from work. It may include the freeing of slaves, the forgiving of debt, and the remission of tribute or military service (see also Esth. 1:5, note).

2:20 Esther continued to listen to and be obedient to Mordecai even as the queen. For Esther to obey Mordecai's instruction to conceal her identity as a Jew, she would have had to eat, dress, and live in ways that probably would have violated Jewish ceremonial law. Interestingly, the Septuagint (LXX) adds a statement that Mordecai told Esther "to fear God and to perform His commandments." The Bible does not evaluate or commend her behavior in the Persian court in a direct way.

2:21 Mordecai sat within the king's gate. This phrase does not refer to a leisurely pastime but means Mordecai had gained an official position within the court of the king. Much administrative and judicial business was conducted in the gate, which was a large building forming the entrance to the royal compound (see Esth. 4:6, note). Mordecai's position gave him access to much of the royal compound but not to the harem or the palace.

3:1 Haman was associated with Agag, king of the Amalekites, whom Saul (a son of Kish, like Mordecai) had failed to kill when he defied God's command more than 500 years before (v. 1; Esth. 8:3, 5; 9:24; see 1 Sam. 15:1–9). The Amalekites were a nomadic people of the southern desert region who frequently raided the Israelites. They had a long history of animosity with Israel, which began when they were the first nation to war with Israel after the Exodus. (Ex. 17:8–16; see also Deut. 25:17–19). The name "Amalekite" came to refer to any indistinct group of Israel's enemies. The conflict between Mordecai and Haman is portrayed as a continuation of the conflict between Israel and the Amalekites.

3:2 The custom of bowing and paying homage to those ranking members of the court was common and widespread (see 1 Sam. 24:8; 2 Sam. 14:4; 1 Kin. 1:16). Mordecai's refusal may have been on the grounds that such an act would be considered idolatry (v. 4), or he, as a Jew, may have refused to bow to Haman, the Agagite (Amalekite), because the Amalekites were long-standing enemies of the Israelites.

3:7 The months of the Jewish calendar were renamed sometime during the Exile (see chart, The Jewish Sacred Calendar). Nisan, formerly Abib, was the month in which the Lord brought Israel out of Egypt and in which all subsequent generations of Jews have celebrated Passover (Deut. 16:1). While the Jews celebrated their deliverance from Egypt, Haman was casting the "lot" to determine when they would be destroyed. The appointed date would be March or April 474 B.C. a month before the next celebration of Passover. Esther had been queen about five years (see Esth. 2:16).

"Pur" is the singular form of an Akkadian word that was adopted into the Hebrew language referring to a little cube made of clay or glass with an inscription or dots on each side of the cube. The "purim" (Heb. plural) were used throughout the ancient Near East to solicit decisions from the gods. This practice was also used by the Israelites (see Josh. 18:6; Prov. 16:33). The celebration of that deliverance was named "Purim" (lit. "lots") to commemorate God's sovereignty over the "gods" of the oppressors (see chart, The Feast of Purim). A roll of the dice had no power to determine the destiny of God's people.

ESTHER A Courageous Queen

How could a modern-day woman imagine the fear and insecurity that would plague Queen Esther, who was chosen solely on the basis of her beauty and appeal to the king? She was no princess with the clout of her father's kingdom to enhance her position in the court. When she was not summoned for thirty days, she did not know if the king had found someone more pleasing or if she was merely losing her influence.

As a displaced, orphaned Jewess, Esther had been reared by Mordecai, an older relative. Whether at his bidding, by force of evil officials, or by her own choice, she had entered the beauty contest and won. Now Mordecai's sources informed Esther that the Jewish people were scheduled for extinction by the wicked Haman, a self-promoter who had elevated himself to vice-regent, second only to the monarch, King Ahasuerus.

Faced with a desperate challenge to survival, Esther pondered Mordecai's question: "Who knows whether you have come to the kingdom for such a time as this?" (Esth. 4:14). Three principles are embodied in his advice:

(1) No place of privilege can ever exempt a person from responsibility to respond to God's call.
(2) Although a situation may look hopeless, God is never helpless.
(3) A God-given opportunity is an individual's received privilege.

Courageously Esther formulated her plan, even if it meant dying in the effort. In the court she had been taught to prepare herself physically, but she had also learned to prepare herself spiritually, as was evidenced by her fasting (Esth. 4:16; 9:31). According to Near Eastern tradition, with patience the queen invited Ahasuerus and Haman to a pair of banquets. Then, seizing the right moment, she presented her case, not questioning the king's justice or righteousness but humbly asking for mercy for herself and her people.

Divine guidance seemingly directed Esther's thoughts, words, and actions. She had won the respect and the ear of her royal husband. In response, he assigned to her the task of re-writing the law (see Esth. 9:29), and she became quite properly the heroine of her people. To every woman she is a reminder of God's sovereignty. God used her beauty, her intelligence, and perhaps even her respectful attitude toward her husband, as well as her remarkable, fearless faith to accomplish His will. Through her obedience, Esther became a true "star" (the meaning of her Persian name) in the Kingdom.

[8]Then Haman said to King Ahasuerus, "There is a certain people scattered and dispersed among the people in all the provinces of your kingdom; their laws are different from all other people's, and they do not keep the king's laws. Therefore it is not fitting for the king to let them remain. [9]If it pleases the king, let a decree be written that they be destroyed, and I will pay ten thousand talents of silver into the hands of those who do the work, to bring it into the king's treasuries."

[10]So the king took his signet ring from his hand and gave it to Haman, the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, the enemy of the Jews. [11]And the king said to Haman, "The money and the people are given to you, to do with them as seems good to you."

[12]Then the king's scribes were called on the thirteenth day of the first month, and a decree was written according to all that Haman commanded—to the king's satraps, to the governors who were over each province, to the officials of all people, to every province according to its script, and to every people in their language. In the name of King Ahasuerus it was written, and sealed with the king's signet ring. [13]And the letters were sent by couriers into all the king's provinces, to destroy, to kill, and to annihilate all the Jews, both young and old, little children and women, in one day, on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is the month of Adar, and to plunder their possessions.[a] [14]A copy of 3:13 [a]Septuagint adds the text of the letter here.

3:9 Ten thousand talents of silver is an enormous amount—over two tons! The total income of the Persian Empire under Ahasuerus' father Darius was 14,560 talents. Haman offered to increase the king's treasury by about two-thirds the national income, presumably by plundering the wealth of the Jews (see Esth. 4:7, note).

3:10 The king's signet ring was the symbol of full executive power. Its imprint was the equivalent of a legally binding signature. By giving Haman his signet ring, the king was giving him the authority to issue a decree in the king's name (see Esth. 8:8).

3:12 The governing hierarchy of the Persian Empire was well organized. "Satraps," a Hebrew spelling of a Persian title, were rulers of large regions. "Governors" ruled over provinces within satrapies. Under Persian rule, Nehemiah was the governor of Judah (Neh. 5:14). "Officials" were local authorities. The decree with the king's seal was sent to all levels of the Persian government.

THE RETURN FROM EXILE

the document was to be issued as law in every province, being published for all people, that they should be ready for that day. 15The couriers went out, hastened by the king's command; and the decree was proclaimed in Shushan the citadel. So the king and Haman sat down to drink, but the city of Shushan was perplexed.

Esther Agrees to Help the Jews

4 When Mordecai learned all that had happened, he tore his clothes and put on sackcloth and ashes, and went out into the midst of the city. He cried out with a loud and bitter cry. 2He went as far as the front of the king's gate, for no one might enter the king's gate clothed with sackcloth. 3And in every province where the king's command and decree arrived, there was great mourning among the Jews, with fasting, weeping, and wailing; and many lay in sackcloth and ashes.

4So Esther's maids and eunuchs came and told her, and the queen was deeply distressed. Then she sent garments to clothe Mordecai and take his sackcloth away from him, but he would not accept them. 5Then Esther called Hathach, one of the king's eunuchs whom he had appointed to attend her, and she gave him a command concerning Mordecai, to learn what and why this was. 6So Hathach went out to Mordecai in the city square that was in front of the king's gate. 7And Mordecai told him all that had happened to him, and the sum of money that Haman had promised to pay into the king's treasuries to destroy the Jews. 8He also gave him a copy of the written decree for their destruction, which was given at Shushan, that he might show it to Esther and explain it to her, and that he might command her to go in to the king to make supplication to him and plead before him for her people. 9So Hathach returned and told Esther the words of Mordecai.

3:15 Herodotus, a Greek historian of the Persian period, explained that Persian kings customarily deliberated weighty matters of state while inebriated. When the "king and Haman sat down to drink," they were not necessarily celebrating but more probably were confirming deliberations on the matter.

4:1–3 Sackcloth and ashes were an almost universal sign of grief in the ancient Near East throughout the OT period (see 1 Kin. 21:27; Dan. 9:3; Jon. 3:6; Matt. 11:21). Although Mordecai had access to the royal compound, he could not enter while so attired.

4:6 Archaeologists have uncovered the king's gate—a large building, 131 by 92 feet, with a central room 69 feet square. The discovery that the gate opened onto a city square corroborates the accuracy of details such as that given in this verse.

4:7 Mordecai had heard of Haman's offer to increase the royal treasury enormously at the expense of the Jews; he apparently had not heard that the king refused the money (Esth. 3:11). Before marrying Esther, Xerxes had fought and lost a costly war with Greece (482–479 B.C.). Perhaps Mordecai reasoned that the fate of the Jews was sealed because Haman had made an offer the king could not afford to refuse (see Esth. 3:9, note).

INFLUENCE MAKING YOUR MARK

Women in Bible times are often thought of as being weak pawns in the world of mighty men. A careful study of the Bible, however, reveals women of enormous influence over their families, communities, and nations.

- Queen Esther was used of God to accomplish His purpose. She offered a moving petition for the lives of her people, swayed a king's opinion, and was given the authority and resources to devise a strategy for saving her people (Esth. 8:7–12).
- Deborah judged all of Israel and led a general into a victorious battle (Judg. 4:4–24).
- Jochebed cleverly defied the evil ruling of the pharaoh and put together a creative plan to save the life of her son, who eventually led his people out of slavery (Ex. 2:1–10).
- Rahab offered shelter to two spies, saving her family from the invaders who destroyed all others in her city. Ultimately, she committed herself to Yahweh, the God of Israel (Josh. 2:12–14; 6:22–25).
- Abigail worked creatively to circumvent her husband's foolishness and in so doing saved her family and servants from certain death, putting herself into a position of great influence (1 Sam. 25:3–42).
- Huldah, wife of the keeper of the king's wardrobe, boldly spoke as a prophetess of the Lord to her people (2 Kin. 22:14–20).

The same kind of influence is evident today among women all over the world who use their gifts and talents to lead movements, rear families, and nurture the body of Christ. Women have a real ability to impact society in their homes and in their professional lives by practicing the same sacrificial attitude of these women whose testimonies are found in Scripture. The issue is not whether women have influence but whether they will choose to use their influence for evil or good, to extend God's kingdom on the earth or attempt to destroy it.

10 Then Esther spoke to Hathach, and gave him a command for Mordecai: 11 "All the king's servants and the people of the king's provinces know that any man or woman who goes into the inner court to the king, who has not been called, he has but one law: put all to death, except the one to whom the king holds out the golden scepter, that he may live. Yet I myself have not been called to go in to the king these thirty days." 12 So they told Mordecai Esther's words.

13 And Mordecai told them to answer Esther:
"Do not think in your heart that you will escape in the king's palace any more than all the other Jews.
14 For if you remain completely silent at this time, relief and deliverance will arise for the Jews from another place, but you and your father's house will perish. Yet who knows whether you have come to the kingdom for such a time as this?"

15 Then Esther told them to reply to Mordecai:
16 "Go, gather all the Jews who are present in Shushan, and fast for me; neither eat nor drink for three days, night or day. My maids and I will fast likewise. And so I will go to the king, which is against the law; and if I perish, I perish!"

17 So Mordecai went his way and did according to all that Esther commanded him.[a]

4:17 [a]Septuagint adds a prayer of Mordecai here.

4:11 The law that no one, not even his family, could approach the king unsummoned was a defense against assassination. Anyone wishing to see the king was expected to send a message requesting an audience. A carved relief excavated from the royal city of Persepolis shows Darius I seated on his throne with the royal scepter in his right hand and Crown Prince Xerxes standing behind him. The royal bodyguards, complete with ax, sword, and bow, flank the throne. Because she had not been summoned by the king for 30 days, Esther was not expecting an opportunity to speak with him in the near future. Esther believed that she had to violate court protocol at the risk of her life because of the urgency of her mission (v. 16).

4:12–16 These verses most clearly express the book's theme: God works through human decisions (see Matt. 26:24; Acts 2:23 for NT expressions of the concurrence of God's sovereignty and human responsibility).

4:14 Mordecai's belief that the Jews would be delivered is rooted in the promises of God to preserve Israel while in Exile (see Jer. 29:1–14). Mordecai's remark, implying the improbability of an unknown Jewess becoming the wife of the Persian king, designates Esther herself as the means of their deliverance. Mordecai's remark is a veiled reference to God's providential work in orchestrating life's circumstances.

4:16 Fasting was closely associated with prayer (Ezra 8:23; Neh. 1:4; Dan. 9:3; see Matt. 6:16–18, note). The omission of any mention of prayer at this point is so conspicuous in its absence that the author, for whatever reason, may well have deliberately chosen to avoid all explicitly religious language.

Esther's Banquet

5 Now it happened on the third day that Esther put on her royal robes and stood in the inner court of the king's palace, across from the king's house, while the king sat on his royal throne in the royal house, facing the entrance of the house.[a] 2So it was, when the king saw Queen Esther standing in the court, that she found favor in his sight, and the king held out to Esther the golden scepter that was in his hand. Then Esther went near and touched the top of the scepter.

3And the king said to her, "What do you wish, Queen Esther? What is your request? It shall be given to you— up to half the kingdom!"

4So Esther answered, "If it pleases the king, let the king and Haman come today to the banquet that I have prepared for him."

5Then the king said, "Bring Haman quickly, that he may do as Esther has said." So the king and Haman went to the banquet that Esther had prepared.

6At the banquet of wine the king said to Esther, "What is your petition? It shall be granted you. What is your request, up to half the kingdom?
It shall be done!"

7Then Esther answered and said, "My petition and request is this: 8If I have found favor in the sight of the king, and if it pleases the king to grant my petition and fulfill my request, then let the king and Haman come to the banquet which I will prepare for them, and tomorrow I will do as the king has said."

Haman's Plot Against Mordecai

9So Haman went out that day joyful and with a glad heart; but when Haman saw Mordecai in the king's gate, and that he did not stand or tremble before him, he was filled with indignation against Mordecai. 10Nevertheless Haman restrained himself and went home, and he sent and called for his friends and his wife Zeresh. 11Then Haman told them of his great riches, the multitude of his children, everything in which the king had promoted him, and how he had advanced him above the officials and servants of the king.

12Moreover Haman said, "Besides, Queen Esther invited no one but me to come in with the king to the banquet that she prepared; and tomorrow I am again invited by her, along with the king.
13Yet all this avails me nothing, so long as I see Mordecai the Jew sitting at the king's gate."

14Then his wife Zeresh and all his friends said to him, "Let a gallows be made, fifty cubits high, and in the morning suggest to the king that Mordecai be hanged on it; then go merrily with the king to the banquet."

And the thing pleased Haman; so he had the gallows made.

The King Honors Mordecai

6 That night the king could not sleep. So one was commanded to bring the book of the records of the chronicles; and they were read before the king.
2And it was found written that Mordecai had told of Bigthana and Teresh, two of the king's eunuchs, the doorkeepers who had sought to lay hands on King Ahasuerus. 3Then the king said, "What honor or dignity has been bestowed on Mordecai for this?"

And the king's servants who attended him said, "Nothing has been done for him."

4So the king said, "Who is in the court?" Now Haman had just entered the outer court of the king's palace to suggest that the king hang Mordecai on the gallows that he had prepared for him.

5:1 [a]Septuagint adds many extra details in verses 1 and 2.

5:1 Greek historians described the royal robes of the Persian king. The outer robe was dyed with Phoenician purple and embroidered with gold in patterns of fighting hawks or serpents. White or crimson trousers edged with purple were worn under the robe. Gold jeweled earrings, bracelets, and a filigree collar adorned the king. The king's sword, with a sheath reportedly made of a single precious stone, was supported by a belt made of gold. Bright color, precious gems, and abundant gold made the royal dress a glittering splendor. The queen's royal robes were no doubt commensurate with the riches of her position.

5:3 The phrase up to half the kingdom was a court idiom used by kings in the ancient Near East to indicate their generous disposition toward the person in view. It was probably not to be understood as a literal offer of half the riches or the power of the kingdom (v. 6; Esth. 7:2; see Mark 6:23).

5:14 In the Persian culture "gallows" would have been used to impale Mordecai for public display. The great height (about 75 feet), which is often taken as an exaggeration, may have been intended to assure that all in Susa would have a good view of Haman's revenge on Mordecai (see Esth. 9:13, 14, note).

Haman's wife Zeresh gave him advice similar to that given when Jezebel suggested to Ahab that he kill Naboth and seize his vineyard (1 Kin. 21). To readers familiar with that story, Zeresh's advice hints at a disastrous outcome.

6:1 The Greek historians reported that by law Persian officials kept archives of royal records which contained a detailed account of the business of the Persian kings. These "records of the chronicles" (see Esth. 2:23) were written on scrolls of leather or papyrus and were carefully filed in the royal archives (see Ezra 6:1–4; Esth. 10:2). It was a point of honor to Persian kings, as well as good politics, to reward amply anyone whose loyal action benefited the king. As much as five years had passed between the time when Mordecai had thwarted the assassination plot and when the king realized no reward had been given (Esth. 2:19–23). Fortunately, the king was disposed to reward Mordecai on the same day that Haman was preparing to kill him. This verse is the narrative center of the book, after which the plot turns to the Jews' favor.

5The king's servants said to him, "Haman is there, standing in the court."

And the king said, "Let him come in."

6So Haman came in, and the king asked him, "What shall be done for the man whom the king delights to honor?"

Now Haman thought in his heart, "Whom would the king delight to honor more than me?" 7And Haman answered the king, "For the man whom the king delights to honor, 8let a royal robe be brought which the king has worn, and a horse on which the king has ridden, which has a royal crest placed on its head. 9Then let this robe and horse be delivered to the hand of one of the king's most noble princes, that he may array the man whom the king delights to honor. Then parade him on horseback through the city square, and proclaim before him: 'Thus shall it be done to the man whom the king delights to honor!' "

10Then the king said to Haman, "Hurry, take the robe and the horse, as you have suggested, and do so for Mordecai the Jew who sits within the king's gate! Leave nothing undone of all that you have spoken."

11So Haman took the robe and the horse, arrayed Mordecai and led him on horseback through the city square, and proclaimed before him, "Thus shall it be done to the man whom the king delights to honor!"

12Afterward Mordecai went back to the king's gate. But Haman hurried to his house, mourning and with his head covered. 13When Haman told his wife Zeresh and all his friends everything that had happened to him, his wise men and his wife Zeresh said to him, "If Mordecai, before whom you have begun to fall, is of Jewish descent, you will not prevail against him but will surely fall before him."

14While they were still talking with him, the king's eunuchs came, and hastened to bring Haman to the banquet which Esther had prepared.

Haman Hanged Instead of Mordecai

7So the king and Haman went to dine with Queen Esther. 2And on the second day, at the banquet of wine, the king again said to Esther, "What is your petition, Queen Esther? It shall be granted you. And what is your request, up to half the kingdom? It shall be done!"

3Then Queen Esther answered and said, "If I have found favor in your sight, O king, and if it pleases the king, let my life be given me at my petition, and my people at my request. 4For we have been sold, my people and I, to be destroyed, to be killed, and to be annihilated. Had we been sold as male and female slaves, I would have held my tongue, although the enemy could never compensate for the king's loss."

5So King Ahasuerus answered and said to Queen Esther, "Who is he, and where is he, who would dare presume in his heart to do such a thing?"

6And Esther said, "The adversary and enemy is this wicked Haman!"

So Haman was terrified before the king and queen.

7Then the king arose in his wrath from the banquet of wine and went into the palace garden; but Haman stood before Queen Esther, pleading for his life, for he saw that evil was determined against him by the king. 8When the king returned from the palace garden to the place of the banquet of wine, Haman had fallen across the couch where Esther was. Then the king said, "Will he also assault the queen while I am in the house?"

As the word left the king's mouth, they covered Haman's face. 9Now Harbonah, one of the eunuchs, said to the king, "Look! The gallows, fifty cubits high, which Haman made for Mordecai, who spoke good on the king's behalf, is standing at the house of Haman."

Then the king said, "Hang him on it!"

10So they hanged Haman on the gallows that

6:8 A royal robe. It was a great honor to wear the king's robe in ancient times, for it symbolized special favor (see 1 Sam. 18:4). What is here called the "royal crest" on the king's horse is seen in the reliefs excavated from the palace in Persepolis. The horse's mane was arranged in a top-knot between his ears.

6:13 Invincibility of the Jews. The remark made by Haman's wife, Zeresh, and his wise men about the invincibility of the Jews and Haman's certain defeat hints at the reversal of fortune that is about to occur. Haman, the Agagite, was an Amalekite against whom stood a long tradition of biblical curses. At the beginning of the conflict between Israel and the Amalekites, the Lord swore that He would be at war with every generation of Amalekites (Ex. 17:16). Because Haman, an Amalekite, was warring against the Jews, as had his ancestors, he could expect nothing but defeat.

7:2 See Esth. 5:3, note.

7:8 A violation of harem protocol. It was a Persian custom to recline during a meal. Had Haman followed harem protocol, he would have left Esther's presence with the king. Although it was a common Near Eastern gesture of contrition to seize the feet or even kiss them, such behavior was completely inappropriate with a woman of the harem, much less the queen herself! So strict was harem protocol that the king's interpretation of Haman's behavior would have probably been the same even if Haman had merely knelt before Esther with no physical contact.

7:9, 10 Not only had Haman plotted against the queen's people and assaulted the queen, but he had also planned to murder Mordecai, who had previously foiled an assassination plot against the king. The king therefore saw Haman as a traitor. Haman's execution on the very gallows he had prepared for Mordecai is another of the book's ironic reversals of fortune.

ESTHER: A LEADER OF THE JEWS

EARLY YEARS	Her Hebrew name was Hadassah (lit. "myrtle"), but she was known by her Persian name Esther (lit. "star"). Her family was carried into captivity and chose to remain in Shushan. She was reared by her close relative (possibly cousin) Mordecai in Persia as part of a minority race (Esth. 2:5–7).
FAMILY STATUS	She was the orphaned daughter of Abihail of the tribe of Benjamin. Her close relative Mordecai was her guardian (Esth. 2:7, 15).
LEADERSHIP TRAINING	She possessed inner and outer beauty (Esth. 2:7, 9, 15, 17; 5:2). She was reared in the home of Mordecai, who sat within the king's gate, having at least an understanding of court life and probably some official responsibilities (Esth. 2:21–23). She disciplined herself to be obedient to authorities in her life (Esth. 2:8, 9, 20).
GOD'S CALL	The words of Mordecai, "...who knows whether you have come to the kingdom for such a time as this," presented her call (Esth. 4:13, 14).
GOD'S PROMISES	God's timing was perfect (Esth. 4:14). God's providence, which uses His people to accomplish His purposes, was certain (Esth. 4:14, 15). God's provision, including service, was not without cost (Esth. 4:16).
GOD'S INSTRUCTION	Mordecai delivered God's instruction (Esth. 2:22; 4:8–14).
THE PEOPLE'S AFFIRMATION	Esther's leadership was followed by palace staff (Esth. 4:5–9). Mordecai respected and responded to Esther (Esth. 4:17).
ESTHER'S LEADERSHIP	She accepted God's will (Esth. 4:16). She was confident of God's providence (Esth. 4:17). She was active in mobilizing her staff and others for "fasting"; prayer and fasting were usually done in concert in times of grief or anguish (Esth. 4:15, 16; see also 2 Sam. 12:16, 17; Ezra 8:23). She set an example of fasting herself (Esth. 4:16). She presented herself in humility and obedience (Esth. 5:1—6:14). She used creativity of effort and talent in her task (Esth. 5:3—6:14). She considered timing in her plan (Esth. 6:1–14). Her influence reflected extraordinary power and authority for a woman in Esther's historical setting; it traveled far and wide; it continued unto the generations after her death (Esth. 9:32). She wrote a decree that was entered in official records with full authority (Esth. 9:29, 32).
OBSERVATIONS	She was courageous and self-sacrificing (Esth. 4:14, 16). She was clever (Esth. 5:3, 4; 8:3). She was used of God to save her people.

he had prepared for Mordecai. Then the king's wrath subsided.

Esther Saves the Jews

8 On that day King Ahasuerus gave Queen Esther the house of Haman, the enemy of the Jews. And Mordecai came before the king, for Esther had told how he was related to her. 2 So the king took off his signet ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gave it to Mordecai; and Esther appointed Mordecai over the house of Haman.

3 Now Esther spoke again to the king, fell down at his feet, and implored him with tears to counteract the evil of Haman the Agagite, and the scheme which he had devised against the Jews. 4 And the king held out the golden scepter toward Esther. So Esther arose and stood before the king, 5 and said, "If it pleases the king, and if I have

8:1 The house of Haman. Herodotus and Josephus both recorded that the property of a traitor became the property of the king. Ahasuerus gave the confiscated property to Esther as restitution for the offense against her.

8:2 Mordecai's promotion. Not only is Mordecai's life spared from Haman's murderous attempts, but Mordecai is also promoted as Haman's successor in the court. Haman's attempt to kill Mordecai leads only to Mordecai's exaltation and Haman's own destruction. Clearly this reversal is meant as a warning to the enemies of God's people and as an encouragement to those on whom God's promised protection rests.

8:4 See Esth. 4:11, note.

found favor in his sight and the thing seems right to the king and I am pleasing in his eyes, let it be written to revoke the letters devised by Haman, the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, which he wrote to annihilate the Jews who are in all the king's provinces. 6For how can I endure to see the evil that will come to my people? Or how can I endure to see the destruction of my countrymen?"

7Then King Ahasuerus said to Queen Esther and Mordecai the Jew, "Indeed, I have given Esther the house of Haman, and they have hanged him on the gallows because he tried to lay his hand on the Jews. 8You yourselves write a decree concerning the Jews, as you please, in the king's name, and seal it with the king's signet ring; for whatever is written in the king's name and sealed with the king's signet ring no one can revoke."

9So the king's scribes were called at that time, in the third month, which is the month of Sivan, on the twenty-third day; and it was written, according to all that Mordecai commanded, to the Jews, the satraps, the governors, and the princes of the provinces from India to Ethiopia, one hundred and twenty-seven provinces in all, to every province in its own script, to every people in their own language, and to the Jews in their own script and language. 10And he wrote in the name of King Ahasuerus, sealed it with the king's signet ring, and sent letters by couriers on horseback, riding on royal horses bred from swift steeds.[a]

11By these letters the king permitted the Jews who were in every city to gather together and protect their lives—to destroy, kill, and annihilate all the forces of any people or province that would assault them, both little children and women, and to plunder their possessions, 12on one day in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus, on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is the month of Adar.[a] 13A copy of the document was to be issued as a decree in every province and published for all people, so that the Jews would be ready on that day to avenge themselves on their enemies. 14The couriers who rode on royal horses went out, hastened and pressed on by the king's command. And the decree was issued in Shushan the citadel.

15So Mordecai went out from the presence of the king in royal apparel of blue and white, with a great crown of gold and a garment of fine linen and purple; and the city of Shushan rejoiced and was glad. 16The Jews had light and gladness, joy and honor. 17And in every province and city, wherever the king's command and decree came, the Jews had joy and gladness, a feast and a holiday. Then many of the people of the land became Jews, because fear of the Jews fell upon them.

The Jews Destroy Their Tormentors

9 Now in the twelfth month, that is, the month of Adar, on the thirteenth day, the time came for the king's command and his decree to be executed. On the day that the enemies of the Jews had hoped to overpower them, the opposite occurred, in that the Jews themselves overpowered those who hated them. 2The Jews gathered together in their cities throughout all the provinces of King Ahasuerus to lay hands on those who sought their harm. And no one could withstand them, because fear of them fell upon all people. 3And all the officials of the provinces, the satraps, the governors, and all those doing the king's work, helped the Jews, because the fear of Mordecai fell upon them. 4For Mordecai was great in the king's palace, and his fame spread throughout all the provinces; for this man Mordecai became increasingly prominent. 5Thus the Jews defeated all their enemies with the stroke of the sword, with slaughter and destruction, and did what they pleased with those who hated them.

6And in Shushan the citadel the Jews killed and destroyed five hundred men. 7Also Parshandatha, Dalphon, Aspatha, 8Poratha, Adalia, Aridatha, 9Parmashta, Arisai, Aridai, and Vajezatha— 10the ten sons of Haman the son of Hammedatha, the enemy of the Jews—they killed; but they did not lay a hand on the plunder.

11On that day the number of those who were killed in Shushan the citadel was brought to the king. 12And the king said to Queen Esther, "The Jews have killed and destroyed five hundred men in Shushan the citadel, and the ten sons of 8:10 [a]Literally sons of the swift horses 8:12 [a]Septuagint adds the text of the letter here.

8:9 The third month . . . the twenty-third day. The month of Sivan corresponds with mid-May to mid-June on the modern calendar (see chart, The Jewish Sacred Calendar). The Jewish Feast of Pentecost (or Weeks), which, according to later Jewish tradition, celebrated the giving of the Law at Sinai, was celebrated in Sivan. This feast was primarily a harvest celebration. Two months and ten days after issuing his decree, Haman was dead and his decree was counteracted. But the appointed day of confrontation was still nine months away.

8:10 See Esth. 1:22, note.

8:11 Mordecai counteracts Haman's decree. Mordecai's decree protecting the Jews only gave them legal permission to defend themselves in the event that anyone should still wish to act upon Haman's edict of extermination. The fact that hostilities did occur and that so many people were killed indicates that many among the population wished to harm the Jews.

8:12 Thirteenth day of the twelfth month. The month of Adar corresponds to February–March (see chart, The Jewish Sacred Calendar).

9:5–10 The Jews defeated their enemies. This incident is the antithesis of Saul's disobedience to God. Saul failed to kill the Amalekites and took forbidden plunder (1 Sam. 15:1–23). He consequently lost the throne. The Jews took no plunder (Esth. 9:10). After this incident, Mordecai ascends to a position of leadership second only to the king himself (Esth. 10:3).

THE FEAST OF PURIM

NAME	Purim (Heb. pur, lit. "the lot")
REFERENCE	Esth. 9:16–32
TIME	The fourteenth day of Adar (Feb.–Mar.) by those in villages and unwalled towns and on the fifteenth day by those in fortified cities.
PURPOSE	(1) To commemorate the deliverance of the Jews from genocide through the efforts of Esther. (2) To rejoice together and distribute food and presents.

Haman. What have they done in the rest of the king's provinces? Now what is your petition? It shall be granted to you. Or what is your further request? It shall be done."

13Then Esther said, "If it pleases the king, let it be granted to the Jews who are in Shushan to do again tomorrow according to today's decree, and let Haman's ten sons be hanged on the gallows."

14So the king commanded this to be done; the decree was issued in Shushan, and they hanged Haman's ten sons.

15And the Jews who were in Shushan gathered together again on the fourteenth day of the month of Adar and killed three hundred men at Shushan; but they did not lay a hand on the plunder.

16The remainder of the Jews in the king's provinces gathered together and protected their lives, had rest from their enemies, and killed seventy-five thousand of their enemies; but they did not lay a hand on the plunder. 17*This was* on the thirteenth day of the month of Adar. And on the fourteenth of the month[a] they rested and made it a day of feasting and gladness.

The Feast of Purim

18But the Jews who were at Shushan assembled together on the thirteenth day, as well as on the fourteenth; and on the fifteenth of the month[a] they rested, and made it a day of feasting and gladness. 19Therefore the Jews of the villages who dwelt in the unwalled towns celebrated the fourteenth day of the month of Adar with gladness and feasting, as a holiday, and for sending presents to one another.

20And Mordecai wrote these things and sent letters to all the Jews, near and far, who were in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus, 21to establish among them that they should celebrate yearly the fourteenth and fifteenth days of the month of Adar, 22as the days on which the Jews had rest from their enemies, as the month which was turned from sorrow to joy for them, and from mourning to a holiday; that they should make them days of feasting and joy, of sending presents to one another and gifts to the poor. 23So the Jews accepted the custom which they had begun, as Mordecai had written to them, 24because Haman, the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, the enemy of all the Jews, had plotted against the Jews to annihilate them, and had cast Pur (that is, the lot), to consume them and destroy them; 25but when Esther[a] came before the king, he commanded by letter that this[b] wicked plot which 9:13, 14 Haman's ten sons had been killed (v. 10). The request that they "be hanged on the gallows" would be understood as a request that their dead bodies be impaled for public viewing. The public humiliation of a dead enemy was a common practice in the ancient Near East (see 1 Sam. 31:8–13).

9:18, 19 Two days of celebration. Both the "Jews of the villages" and the Jews in Susa celebrated after the hostilities ceased. The "Jews of the villages" celebrated after one day of hostilities; the Jews in Susa after two days. Therefore, the village Jews celebrated on the fourteenth day of Adar and the Jews in Susa on the fifteenth day. In subsequent celebrations of Purim, both days were days of celebration (vv. 21, 22). Purim is now observed on the fifteenth of Adar in Jerusalem and on the fourteenth by Jews living elsewhere (see charts, The Jewish Sacred Calendar; The Feast of Purim).

9:21 The celebration of Purim (or the Feast of Lots) falls in late February or early March. It continues to be celebrated by the Jews with the reading of Esther in the synagogue accompanied by noisemakers and booing whenever Haman's name is read. It is the first Jewish festival to be observed without mention in the Torah (see charts, The Feasts of Israel; The Feast of Purim). The holiday is observed with masquerading, feasting, and games, similar to the carnival celebration preceding the Lenten season. The Jewish Talmud prescribes festive drinking on Purim until one cannot distinguish between "Haman be cursed!" and "Mordecai be blessed!"

9:23, 24 Haman, "the Agagite, the enemy of all the Jews," believed he could secure success for his plot by casting the lots. Purim celebrates the power of God working in history to preserve His people and to deliver them from destruction (Prov. 21:30, 31).

Haman had devised against the Jews should return on his own head, and that he and his sons should be hanged on the gallows.

26So they called these days Purim, after the name Pur. Therefore, because of all the words of this letter, what they had seen concerning this matter, and what had happened to them, 27the Jews established and imposed it upon themselves and their descendants and all who would join them, that without fail they should celebrate these two days every year, according to the written instructions and according to the prescribed time, 28*that* these days should be remembered and kept throughout every generation, every family, every province, and every city, that these days of Purim should not fail to be observed among the Jews, and that the memory of them should not perish among their descendants.

29Then Queen Esther, the daughter of Abihail, with Mordecai the Jew, wrote with full authority to confirm this second letter about Purim. 30And Mordecai sent letters to all the Jews, to the one hundred and twenty-seven provinces of the kingdom of Ahasuerus, with words of peace and truth, 31to confirm these days of Purim at their appointed time, as Mordecai the Jew and Queen Esther had prescribed for them, and as they had decreed for themselves and their descendants concerning matters of their fasting and lamenting. 32So the decree of Esther confirmed these matters of Purim, and it was written in the book.

Mordecai's Advancement

10 And King Ahasuerus imposed tribute on the land and on the islands of the sea. 2Now all the acts of his power and his might, and the account of the greatness of Mordecai, to which the king advanced him, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Media and Persia? 3For Mordecai the Jew was second to King Ahasuerus, and was great among the Jews and well received by the multitude of his brethren, seeking the good of his people and speaking peace to all his countrymen.[a]

10:3 [a]Literally seed. Septuagint and Vulgate add a dream of Mordecai here; Vulgate adds six more chapters.

9:31 The fast of Esther is observed by Jews today on the thirteenth of Adar in preparation for the Feast of Purim (see chart, The Feast of Purim).

9:32 The holiday is permanently established. Queen Esther institutionalized the celebration of Purim under Persian law. The phrase "it was written in the book" indicates that Esther's decree establishing a permanent observance of Purim throughout the empire was filed in the royal archives (see Esth. 6:1, note).

10:1 Replenishing the royal coffers. Xerxes fought and lost a costly war with Greece in 479 B.C. The imposition of "tribute" was a system of taxation, and perhaps forced labor, which would restore the depleted royal treasury.

10:3 The rise of Mordecai, a Jew, to the second highest position in a pagan court is a reminder of Daniel in Babylon and of Joseph in Pharaoh's Egyptian court much earlier in Israel's history. Mordecai joined these heroes of Israel's history as another example of how God's people lived victoriously even when scattered among the nations.

Job

TITLE

The Book of Job is named after its principal character, around whom the events of the narrative revolve. The same is true of other Old Testament books like Joshua, Ruth, Samuel, Ezra, Nehemiah, Esther, Daniel, and Jonah.

AUTHOR

The author of the Book of Job is unknown, but he was obviously a wise and well-educated man with literary skills. He referred to such diverse subjects as mining, astronomy, animals, embryonic development, and hunting. Possibly the author was Job himself, in which case he wrote it after his restoration. Other suggested authors include Moses (according to Jewish tradition), Solomon, Hezekiah, Isaiah, Ezra, and Elihu.

DATE

The date of the events in Job is unknown. Evidence for a patriarchal setting includes Job's old age (more than 100 years, Job 42:16), the assessment of his wealth according to livestock and servants (Job 1:3), the unique vocabulary, and the lack of any reference to Israelite history or Mosaic Law. Proposed dates for the writing of Job vary from patriarchal to postexilic times, depending on the author assumed.

BACKGROUND

SETTING: The period of the patriarchs seems to be the most likely setting for the Book of Job. In the description of wealth and prosperity, great similarity exists between Job and Isaac (Job 1:3; see Gen. 26:13, 14). However, Job is not a descendant of Abraham, and he is not living in the land of Canaan. The text identifies his land as Uz (Job 1:1). Uz has been located either northeast of Palestine (in the region of Hauran or Trachonitis) or to the south (between Edom and northern Arabia). The latter seems more probable (see Lam. 4:21 and reference to "daughter of Edom," which points to Idumea).

PURPOSE: The book presents a "blameless and upright" man "who feared God" (Job 1:1). He was a patriarch secure in the midst of family and prosperity. The faith and perseverance of this extraordinary man were tested by Satan, but in the end Job was victorious, and his faith was rewarded. The author affirmed that God never abandons the one in the midst of suffering and that all suffering is not necessarily due to the personal sin of the one suffering. Also, suffering does not necessarily detach the one suffering from God. The book describes the kind of faith required of God and how that faith works itself out in the midst of the fires of suffering. Perhaps this was the author's way of vindicating God against the popular notions that have persisted from then until now. Suffering teaches us about our own insufficiency and leads us to greater faith in God. God requires of His saints a faith that perseveres patiently under adversity.

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: The Book of Job is usually classified as Wisdom Literature, but it differs from other books of Jewish wisdom in that it combines prose (as in the narrative of the Prologue, Job 1:1—2:13, and the Epilogue, Job 42:7–17), poetry (the speeches), and dialogue. The book is masterful in its structure, parallelism, vocabulary, imagery, and use of literary devices.

THEMES

Although the Book of Job seems to be about a righteous man who endures incredible suffering, it focuses more on God's wisdom and sovereignty. The grand themes of God's wisdom and justice overshadow the suffering and faith of Job. Deep questions that gnaw at the heart are raised: Why do the righteous suffer? Why would God allow such suffering? Why should a man believe in God? Why believe in God without visible benefit? The answers emphasize the limitations of human wisdom as contrasted with the vast wisdom of God.

The comfortable but not comforting answers of Job's friends are shown not only to be inadequate, but wrong (Job 42:7, 8). They speak from their experience and from a tradition limited to the doctrine of retribution or the belief that suffering is always punishment for sin. But there is a greater answer to Job's suffering founded on the wisdom of God.

In Job is a rare glimpse behind-the-scenes where God's control and limiting of Satan are evident. Job is singled out by God to be a tested man of faith. As Satan accuses God of bribing His servant to believe in Him (Job 1:9, 10), Job emerges without sin even in the face of crushing disaster and undeserved suffering (Job 1:22; 2:10). In the first thirteen chapters of Job, the question "Why?" is asked repeatedly but with no reply. The question demands an explanation and a justification. But even if Job could have comprehended God's answers, he would have known only "the mere edges of His ways" (Job 26:14). Thus, when faced with suffering, the question "Why?" is inappropriate.

The better question is "Who?" "Who is in charge?" In his reply to Job, God asks "Who?" at least twenty times (Job 38—41). When the "Who?" is God, then the gnawing "Why?" is moderated. The believer can be like "a weaned child with his mother," a child who has learned to wait for and trust in his mother to give him what he needs at the right time (Ps. 131:2).

Job rightly and steadfastly identified God as the One ultimately responsible for all his suffering. He never once blamed Satan, from whose direct hand he had received his blows (Job 2:10).

God Himself had said to Satan, "You incited Me against him, to destroy him without cause" (Job 2:3). God is not in charge of only the good things that happen, impotently observing as bad things happen, but He is sovereignly in control of all things, good and bad. He permits His children to endure testing. One who only accepts the good from God's hand risks rejecting Him completely when things do not work out as desired. Such a limited acceptance of God's wisdom is foolish.

Job recognized God in his trials, and though he was grief-stricken and bewildered, he tenaciously clung to God (Job 13:15). In his impoverished and depleted state, Job uttered a profound statement of faith (Job 19:25–27). In the face of hopelessness, Job did not lose his greatest hope.

Only the Lord knows all the whys and wherefores of human suffering. Until "I shall know just as I also am known," knowing Him is more than sufficient (see 1 Cor. 13:12; 2 Tim. 1:12; James 5:11).

Job and His Family in Uz

1 There was a man in the land of Uz, whose name was Job; and that man was blameless and upright, and one who feared God and shunned evil. 2And seven sons and three daughters were born to him. 3Also, his possessions were seven thousand sheep, three thousand camels, five hundred yoke of oxen, five hundred female donkeys, and a very large household, so that this man was the greatest of all the people of the East.
4And his sons would go and feast in their houses, each on his appointed day, and would send and invite their three sisters to eat and drink with them. 5So it was, when the days of feasting had run their course, that Job would send and sanctify them, and he would rise early in the morning and offer burnt offerings according to the number of them all. For Job said, "It may be that my sons have sinned and cursed[a] God in their hearts." Thus Job did regularly.

1:5 [a]Literally blessed, but used here in the evil sense, and so in verse 11 and 2:5, 9

1:1 The location of Uz is uncertain (see Introduction: Setting). Though near a desert, Uz was in an area fertile enough for Job's considerable prosperity through agriculture and stock.

The meaning of the name "Job" is unknown. Unlike other patriarchs who are introduced with a genealogy, Job has none. Thus, the story of Job has universal appeal. He represents all the righteous who suffer. Other biblical references to Job are found (Ezek. 14:14, 20; James 5:11).

Job is "blameless" (lit. "without moral blemish," "having integrity") and "upright" (lit. "just," "straightforward") in regard to his way of life. He does not claim sinless perfection, admitting his own sins (Job 13:26; 14:16). Rather, he is marked by pure motivation and integrity. Although Job's friends argued otherwise, God used these same words to describe Job (Job 1:8; 2:3), which is the foundation of Job's testing by Satan (see Job 1:8; 2:9, notes).

1:2, 3 Prosperity and peace were viewed as signs of God's favor, while poverty and calamity signified God's punishment (see Introduction: Themes). This tradition had its roots in God's promise to bless obedience and curse disobedience. While God may and often does give prosperity, obedience does not necessarily produce prosperity. Conversely, calamity does not always indicate wickedness. The Book of Job with its emphasis on God's sovereignty and wisdom refutes the limited, traditional view of retribution.

1:5 To curse God was such a serious matter that people were reluctant even to utter such a phrase. In the Hebrew text, the word "curse" is actually "bless," though the phrase was an obvious euphemism for "cursing" (see Job 1:11; 2:5, 9). To "curse God" was the pivotal sin in the Book of Job. Satan predicted it (Job 1:11; 2:5); Job's wife suggested it (Job 2:9), but Job never did it (Job 1:22; 2:10).

SATAN THE ADVERSARY

"Satan" (Heb., lit. "the adversary") is referenced as "the Satan," indicating a title more than a personal name. He is identified by this name only rarely in the Old Testament (v. 6; 1 Chr. 21:1; Zech. 3:1, 2).

In the Old Testament, Satan sought to bring out the worst in mankind. His character as the aggressive tempter of man and hated opponent of God is developed further in the New Testament. Satan revealed his brazenness in his speech with God and his perverseness in the way he imputed evil motives to Job. As a created being, Satan is not omnipotent, omniscient, or omnipresent. Although his powers are impressive and extensive, he acts only with the permission of God, who puts definite limits on him. Satan is always subordinate to God and ultimately will be defeated. He roams the earth like a king's spy, seeking disloyal subjects (Job 1:7). However, a believer need not fear Satan (see 2 Chr. 16:9).

The action against Job was attributed to the hand of God who permitted the action, even though Satan was the one working against Job (Job 1:11). The Lord was then ultimately responsible for what happened to Job. This confirmed that God's dominion extended over Satan and his fallen angels. There is nothing Satan can do that falls outside God's dominion. The God of the Bible is clearly the incomparable, peerless, matchless Creator who is superior over all His creation. Satan acknowledged God's sovereignty by his own words (v. 10).

God gave Satan power (lit. "in your hand"; compare Job 2:6) over Job for a purpose, but Satan's power and action were limited by God (Job 1:12). God's intention in allowing testing is to prove strength of character; whereas Satan's intention is to prove lack of character. Thus, every temptation has the potential for positive as well as negative effects, depending on the response to it. Nevertheless, the Lord promises that believers will not be tempted beyond what they can endure (1 Cor. 10:13; compare Rom. 8:28).

Satan Attacks Job's Character

6 Now there was a day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the LORD, and Satan[a] also came among them. 7 And the LORD said to Satan, "From where do you come?"

So Satan answered the LORD and said, "From going to and fro on the earth, and from walking back and forth on it."

8 Then the LORD said to Satan, "Have you considered My servant Job, that there is none like him on the earth, a blameless and upright man, one who fears God and shuns evil?"

9 So Satan answered the LORD and said, "Does Job fear God for nothing? 10 Have You not made a hedge around him, around his household, and around all that he has on every side? You have blessed the work of his hands, and his possessions have increased in the land. 11 But now, stretch out Your hand and touch all that he has, and he will surely curse You to Your face!"

12 And the LORD said to Satan, "Behold, all that he has is in your power; only do not lay a hand on his person."

So Satan went out from the presence of the LORD.

Job Loses His Property and Children

13 Now there was a day when his sons and daughters were eating and drinking wine in their oldest brother's house; 14 and a messenger came to Job and said, "The oxen were plowing and the donkeys feeding beside them, 15 when the Sabeans[a] raided them and took them away—indeed they have killed the servants with the edge of the sword; and I alone have escaped to tell you!"

16 While he was still speaking, another also came and said, "The fire of God fell from heaven and burned up the sheep and the servants, and consumed them; and I alone have escaped to tell
you!"

17 While he was still speaking, another also came and said, "The Chaldeans formed three bands, raided the camels and took them away, yes, and killed the servants with the edge of the sword; and I alone have escaped to tell you!"

18 While he was still speaking, another also came and said, "Your sons and daughters were eating and drinking wine in their oldest brother's

1:6 [a]Literally the Adversary, and so throughout this book 1:15 [a]Literally Sheba (compare 6:19)

1:6 God's opinion of Job is presented in this section of the prologue as the backdrop against which all other opinions are measured (Job 1:6—2:8). The phrase "sons of God" refers to angelic beings who do God's bidding. These beings were created and thus limited and in no way equal to God. Here they are seen as gathered around the throne of God to report activities and to receive further orders.

1:8 My servant is a title of honor reserved for those uniquely committed to the Lord (Abraham, Ps. 105:6, 42; Jacob or Israel, Is. 41:8; Moses, Ex. 14:31; Joshua, Josh. 24:29; David, 2 Sam. 7:5, 8; Isaiah, Is. 20:3; and the prophets, 2 Kin. 9:7). In the NT, the Lord used this title to praise those who have done well (Matt. 25:21). The Lord Himself described Job to Satan (see v. 1, note; Job 2:3).

house, [19]and suddenly a great wind came from across[a] the wilderness and struck the four corners of the house, and it fell on the young people, and they are dead; and I alone have escaped to tell you!"

[20]Then Job arose, tore his robe, and shaved his head; and he fell to the ground and worshiped. [21]And he said:

"Naked I came from my mother's womb,
And naked shall I return there.
The LORD gave, and the LORD has taken away;
Blessed be the name of the LORD."

[22]In all this Job did not sin nor charge God with wrong.

Satan Attacks Job's Health

2 Again there was a day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the LORD, and Satan came also among them to present himself before the LORD. [2]And the LORD said to Satan, "From where do you come?"

Satan answered the LORD and said, "From going to and fro on the earth, and from walking back and forth on it."

[3]Then the LORD said to Satan, "Have you considered My servant Job, that there is none like him on the earth, a blameless and upright man, one who fears God and shuns evil? And still he holds fast to his integrity, although you incited Me against him, to destroy him without cause."

[4]So Satan answered the LORD and said, "Skin for skin! Yes, all that a man has he will give for his life. [5]But stretch out Your hand now, and touch his bone and his flesh, and he will surely curse You to Your face!"

[6]And the LORD said to Satan, "Behold, he is in your hand, but spare his life."

[7]So Satan went out from the presence of the LORD, and struck Job with painful boils from the sole of his foot to the crown of his head. [8]And he took for himself a potsherd with which to scrape himself while he sat in the midst of the ashes.

[9]Then his wife said to him, "Do you still hold fast to your integrity? Curse God and die!"

[10]But he said to her, "You speak as one of the foolish women speaks. Shall we indeed accept good from God, and shall we not accept adversity?" In all this Job did not sin with his lips.

Job's Three Friends

[11]Now when Job's three friends heard of all this adversity that had come upon him, each one came from his own place—Eliphaz the Temanite, Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite. For they had made an appointment together to come and mourn with him, and to comfort him. [12]And when they raised their eyes from afar, and did not recognize him, they lifted their voices and wept; and each one tore his robe and sprinkled dust on his head toward heaven. [13]So they sat down with him on the ground seven days and seven nights, and no one spoke a word to him, for they saw that his grief was very great.

1:19 [a]Septuagint omits across.

1:20 Job shaved his head. The ancient Near Eastern custom of cutting the hair was a symbol of destitution, destruction, and disgrace inappropriate for the people of God. Job shaved his head as a deliberate action to show his devastation (see Introduction: Date). Job expressed his deepest grief without a hint of resentment or rebellion. He worshiped God with the only thing he had left—an humble, dependent, and devoted heart (see Deut. 12, Worship; Rom. 10, Access to God).

1:21 Job did not see his possessions as something he deserved but as God's gift to him. How could he begrudge the hand that removes these blessings when that same hand had bestowed them? Job never cursed or blamed the Sabeans, the fire, the Chaldeans, the wind, or his servants. He never wavered about who had given and taken in his life. Job's use of God's personal name (Heb. Yahweh, LORD) is repeated three times in this verse as a confession of Job's dependence on God.

1:22 Job did not sin. Suffering affords a person great opportunities to sin as he tries either to alleviate the suffering or to assign blame for it (see article, Reconciling Faith and Dogma). Job's acceptance of his suffering goes beyond that of Eli (1 Sam. 3:11–18) or David (2 Sam. 16:11). They suffered justly, while Job suffered unjustly. His faith, the very cause of his suffering, was his only comfort (Job 1:20–22).

2:7 The symptoms of Job's physical afflictions are noted: Boils and sores, the shedding of bleached skin, fever and chills (Job 30:30), intolerable itching, swollen limbs, ulcers that breed maggots (Job 7:5), halitosis (Job 19:17), choking, corroding bones, diarrhea, feelings of panic (Job 21:6), depression, and terrifying nightmares that led to insomnia.

2:9 Job's wife has been called "the helpmeet of the devil." Others have suggested that one of his trials was the sparing of his wife's life. Rabbinic literature treats her more compassionately. On the other hand, when grief and love are intertwined, the reasoning of any woman or man can be impaired. Job treated his wife with sensitivity and responded courteously to her bitter advice. He maintained the responsibility of spiritual leadership in responding to the immature faith of his wife, who was willing to accept good but not evil at the hand of God.

2:11 Eliphaz (lit. "God is gold" or "God is the victor") was from Teman, an Edomite city known for wisdom (Jer. 49:7). Bildad (lit. "son of Hadad" or "Baal is lord") was from Shuah, possibly farther south near the Euphrates River (see also Gen. 25:2, 6). Zophar (lit. "bird") was from Naamath in northwest Arabia. However, there is no consensus on these name meanings or site locations.

2:13 No one spoke. According to the Talmud, comforters were required to remain silent until the mourner addressed them. The friends did their most effective work of comforting when they kept silent.

JOB'S FOOLISH WIFE

Job's wife must have been under a great deal of stress as the catastrophic events unfolded upon her and her husband. She had led a life of privilege and ease and was respected as the wife of a righteous and wealthy man. Prosperity may cover a multitude of sins, but adversity uncovers them. While the flames of hardship distilled Job's true motives, they surfaced his wife's impure ones.

Satan's prediction to God was that if calamity befell Job, he would "surely curse You to Your face" (Job 1:11, 2:5). Is it mere coincidence when his own wife makes the suggestion, "Do you still hold fast to your integrity? Curse God and die!" (Job 2:9) Often those who are closest to a person can be used by Satan to discourage and divert them from the path of faith.

Job asked his wife, "Shall we indeed accept good from God, and shall we not accept adversity?" (Job 2:10) Can we trust God for the good but not the bad that comes into our lives? Is God still in control even when adversity hits? How do we accept adversity from God, even if Satan is directly behind it? Can we be shaken by the adverse circumstances yet be confident that God is still in control and has our best interest at heart? What is the difference between true faith and mere superstition? A person who trusts God only in the good times but not the bad is fooling herself about her trust in God. Job called his wife a "foolish woman" (Job 2:10).

Job's wife failed her husband at a time when he needed her support the most, making his suffering even greater as he faced it alone. Although he tried to correct her thinking, whether or not she repented is not recorded. She was not named with the three friends who in the end needed to repent, make an offering to God, and ask Job to pray for them. Perhaps she listened to Job's correction, or perhaps as Job's wife she was under her husband's righteous cover. We assume that she was the mother of the subsequent children born after Job's restoration, since by all indications Job was monogamous.

What Job really needed was comfort and compassion. Unfortunately, when a wife feels threatened by insecurity and instability, she often becomes consumed with her own fears and is unable to find the strength and courage to be affirming and compassionate. On the one hand, Job's wife was an ordinary, normal woman who failed to meet her husband's needs in an hour of adversity. On the other hand, she remained at her husband's side and endured affliction with him, losing children and possessions, and yet surviving.

Job Deplores His Birth

3 After this Job opened his mouth and cursed the day of his birth. 2 And Job spoke, and said:

3 "May the day perish on which I was born,
And the night in which it was said,
'A male child is conceived.'
4 May that day be darkness;
May God above not seek it,
Nor the light shine upon it.
5 May darkness and the shadow of death claim it;
May a cloud settle on it;
May the blackness of the day terrify it.
6 As for that night, may darkness seize it;
May it not rejoice[a] among the days of the year,
May it not come into the number of the months.
7 Oh, may that night be barren!
May no joyful shout come into it!
8 May those curse it who curse the day,
Those who are ready to arouse Leviathan.
9 May the stars of its morning be dark;
May it look for light, but have none,
And not see the dawning of the day;
10 Because it did not shut up the doors of my mother's womb,
Nor hide sorrow from my eyes.

11 "Why did I not die at birth?
Why did I not perish when I came from the womb?
12 Why did the knees receive me?
Or why the breasts, that I should nurse?
13 For now I would have lain still and been quiet,
I would have been asleep;
Then I would have been at rest

3:6 [a]Septuagint, Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate read be joined.

3:1–26 Job's first speech to his friends is a lament, expressing Job's passionate grief over his present life. A lament expressed honest frustrations and grief to God—not so much to give information to God as to share feelings with Him.

3:12 The knees received me could be an allusion to the fact that women often knelt or bowed down to give birth (see 1 Sam. 4:19) or to the customary placing of a newborn child on the knees of the father as assurance of the child's acceptance and legitimacy.

3:13 Job's longing for rest from his suffering motivated this speech. Job used four different terms: "lain still" (Heb. shakah), "quiet" (Heb. shaqat), "asleep" (Heb. yashen), and "rest" (Heb. nuah) to express this longing for rest.

14 With kings and counselors of the earth,
Who built ruins for themselves,
15 Or with princes who had gold,
Who filled their houses with silver;
16 Or why was I not hidden like a stillborn child,
Like infants who never saw light?
17 There the wicked cease from troubling,
And there the weary are at rest.
18 There the prisoners rest together;
They do not hear the voice of the oppressor.
19 The small and great are there,
And the servant is free from his master.

20 "Why is light given to him who is in misery,
And life to the bitter of soul,
21 Who long for death, but it does not come,
And search for it more than hidden treasures;
22 Who rejoice exceedingly,
And are glad when they can find the grave?
23 Why is light given to a man whose way is hidden,
And whom God has hedged in?
24 For my sighing comes before I eat,[a]
And my groanings pour out like water.
25 For the thing I greatly feared has come upon me,
And what I dreaded has happened to me.
26 I am not at ease, nor am I quiet;
I have no rest, for trouble comes."

Eliphaz: Job Has Sinned

4 Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said:

2 "If one attempts a word with you, will you become weary?
But who can withhold himself from speaking?
3 Surely you have instructed many,
And you have strengthened weak hands.
4 Your words have upheld him who was stumbling,
And you have strengthened the feeble knees;
5 But now it comes upon you, and you are weary;
It touches you, and you are troubled.
6 Is not your reverence your confidence?
And the integrity of your ways your hope?
7 "Remember now, who ever perished being innocent?
Or where were the upright ever cut off?
8 Even as I have seen,
Those who plow iniquity
And sow trouble reap the same.
9 By the blast of God they perish,
And by the breath of His anger they are consumed.
10 The roaring of the lion,
The voice of the fierce lion,
And the teeth of the young lions are broken.
11 The old lion perishes for lack of prey,
And the cubs of the lioness are scattered.

12 "Now a word was secretly brought to me,
And my ear received a whisper of it.
13 In disquieting thoughts from the visions of the night,
When deep sleep falls on men,
14 Fear came upon me, and trembling,
Which made all my bones shake.
15 Then a spirit passed before my face;
The hair on my body stood up.
16 It stood still,
But I could not discern its appearance.
A form was before my eyes;
There was silence;
Then I heard a voice saying:
17 'Can a mortal be more righteous than God?
Can a man be more pure than his Maker?
18 If He puts no trust in His servants,
If He charges His angels with error,
19 How much more those who dwell in houses of clay,
Whose foundation is in the dust,
Who are crushed before a moth?
20 They are broken in pieces from morning till evening;
They perish forever, with no one regarding.
21 Does not their own excellence go away?
They die, even without wisdom.'

3:24 [a]Literally my bread

3:23 The heart of Satan's complaint was his perception that God had surrounded Job with a hedge of safety (Job 1:9, 10). Ironically, Job complained that God had hedged him into a turmoil from which there was no escape or help.

4:1—5:27 The argument of the first speech of Eliphaz, probably the oldest of the friends who spoke, described Job's outburst as impious and embarrassing. Many believers mistakenly think that disavowing or suppressing feelings of anguish and grief is essential in order to be pious. However, God never chastised Job for his lament (Job 3:1–26).

Eliphaz argued from his own personal experience that God punishes the wicked and rewards the righteous. He questioned whether any man could be righteous before God (Job 4:12–21). Therefore, he surmised sin must be at the root of Job's suffering and suggested that Job repent and learn from God, who would then relent and restore him (Job 5:8–27). Although Eliphaz had general truth in some of his words, he was wrong about the reason for Job's suffering.

4:10, 11 The five different references to lion in these verses (lion, fierce lion, young lion, old lion, lioness) illustrate the comprehensiveness of God's wrath (v. 9).

4:12–16 Eliphaz's vision is similar to those of other OT prophets in that the vision is not self-initiated, and what is heard prevails over what is seen. However, no OT prophet is ever recorded as receiving a message from "a spirit" (v. 15). The atmosphere surrounding the "disquieting thoughts" is more frightening than awesome (v. 13). God's later condemnation of Eliphaz is affirmation that this secret whisper was not from God (Job 42:7).

Eliphaz: Job Is Chastened by God

5 "Call out now;
Is there anyone who will answer you?
And to which of the holy ones will you turn?
2 For wrath kills a foolish man,
And envy slays a simple one.
3 I have seen the foolish taking root,
But suddenly I cursed his dwelling place.
4 His sons are far from safety,
They are crushed in the gate,
And there is no deliverer.
5 Because the hungry eat up his harvest,
Taking it even from the thorns,[a]
And a snare snatches their substance.[b]
6 For affliction does not come from the dust,
Nor does trouble spring from the ground;
7 Yet man is born to trouble,
As the sparks fly upward.

8 "But as for me, I would seek God,
And to God I would commit my cause—
9 Who does great things, and unsearchable,
Marvelous things without number.
10 He gives rain on the earth,
And sends waters on the fields.
11 He sets on high those who are lowly,
And those who mourn are lifted to safety.
12 He frustrates the devices of the crafty,
So that their hands cannot carry out their plans.
13 He catches the wise in their own craftiness,
And the counsel of the cunning comes quickly upon them.
14 They meet with darkness in the daytime,
And grope at noontime as in the night.
15 But He saves the needy from the sword,
From the mouth of the mighty,
And from their hand.
16 So the poor have hope,
And injustice shuts her mouth.

17 "Behold, happy is the man whom God corrects;
Therefore do not despise the chastening of the Almighty.
18 For He bruises, but He binds up;
He wounds, but His hands make whole.
19 He shall deliver you in six troubles,
Yes, in seven no evil shall touch you.
20 In famine He shall redeem you from death,
And in war from the power of the sword.
21 You shall be hidden from the scourge of the tongue,
And you shall not be afraid of destruction when it comes.
22 You shall laugh at destruction and famine,
And you shall not be afraid of the beasts of the earth.
23 For you shall have a covenant with the stones of the field,
And the beasts of the field shall be at peace with you.
24 You shall know that your tent is in peace;
You shall visit your dwelling and find nothing amiss.
25 You shall also know that your descendants shall be many,
And your offspring like the grass of the earth.
26 You shall come to the grave at a full age,
As a sheaf of grain ripens in its season.
27 Behold, this we have searched out;
It is true.
Hear it, and know for yourself."

Job: My Complaint Is Just

6 Then Job answered and said:

2 "Oh, that my grief were fully weighed,
And my calamity laid with it on the scales!
3 For then it would be heavier than the sand of the sea—
Therefore my words have been rash.
4 For the arrows of the Almighty are within me;
My spirit drinks in their poison;
The terrors of God are arrayed against me.
5 Does the wild donkey bray when it has grass,
Or does the ox low over its fodder?
6 Can flavorless food be eaten without salt?
Or is there any taste in the white of an egg?
7 My soul refuses to touch them;
They are as loathsome food to me.

8 "Oh, that I might have my request,

5:5 [a]Septuagint reads They shall not be taken from evil men; Vulgate reads And the armed man shall take him by violence. [b]Septuagint reads The might shall draw them off; Vulgate reads And the thirsty shall drink up their riches.

5:1 The desire and need for a mediator recurs (Job 9:33; 16:19, 21). No one can stand before God without a mediator (1 Tim. 2:5).

6:1—7:21 Job's first reply expresses his longing for an end to his suffering or even life itself. He complained that his friends had not been helpful and had undermined his character as well (Job 4:1—5:27). Job continued to maintain his righteousness. He did not entertain the idea that God had forsaken him but instead wondered why God had chosen him as a target for trouble.

6:4 The arrows of the Almighty (Heb. Shaddai, lit. "Almighty" or "All-sufficient One"). Out of the many times this name is used in the OT, most of those usages are in the Book of Job, showing Job's deep dependence on God to meet all his needs. Some might look at these events as the "fiery darts of the wicked one" (Eph. 6:16), but Job chose to call them "arrows of the Almighty."

6:8–10 Suicide was never an option, though Job longed for death. Such self-inflicted tragedy would have aborted God's plan to restore everything doubly in Job's life. Inherent is the Affliction can be having what you do not want or wanting what you do not have.

That God would grant me the thing that I long for!
9 That it would please God to crush me,
That He would loose His hand and cut me off!
10 Then I would still have comfort;
Though in anguish I would exult,
He will not spare;
For I have not concealed the words of the Holy One.

11 "What strength do I have, that I should hope?
And what is my end, that I should prolong my life?
12 Is my strength the strength of stones?
Or is my flesh bronze?
13 Is my help not within me?
And is success driven from me?

14 "To him who is afflicted, kindness should be shown by his friend,
Even though he forsakes the fear of the Almighty.
15 My brothers have dealt deceitfully like a brook,
Like the streams of the brooks that pass away,
16 Which are dark because of the ice,
And into which the snow vanishes.
17 When it is warm, they cease to flow;
When it is hot, they vanish from their place.
18 The paths of their way turn aside,
They go nowhere and perish.
19 The caravans of Tema look,
The travelers of Sheba hope for them.
20 They are disappointed because they were confident;
They come there and are confused.
21 For now you are nothing,
You see terror and are afraid.
22 Did I ever say, 'Bring something to me'?
Or, 'Offer a bribe for me from your wealth'?
23 Or, 'Deliver me from the enemy's hand'?
Or, 'Redeem me from the hand of oppressors'?
24 "Teach me, and I will hold my tongue;
Cause me to understand wherein I have erred.
25 How forceful are right words!
But what does your arguing prove?
26 Do you intend to rebuke my words,
And the speeches of a desperate one, which are as wind?
27 Yes, you overwhelm the fatherless,
And you undermine your friend.
28 Now therefore, be pleased to look at me;
For I would never lie to your face.
29 Yield now, let there be no injustice!
Yes, concede, my righteousness still stands!
30 Is there injustice on my tongue?
Cannot my taste discern the unsavory?

Job: My Suffering Is Comfortless

7 "Is there not a time of hard service for man on earth?
Are not his days also like the days of a hired man?
2 Like a servant who earnestly desires the shade,
And like a hired man who eagerly looks for his wages,
3 So I have been allotted months of futility,
And wearisome nights have been appointed to me.
4 When I lie down, I say, 'When shall I arise,
And the night be ended?'
For I have had my fill of tossing till dawn.
5 My flesh is caked with worms and dust,
My skin is cracked and breaks out afresh.

6 "My days are swifter than a weaver's shuttle,
And are spent without hope.
7 Oh, remember that my life is a breath!
My eye will never again see good.
8 The eye of him who sees me will see me no more;
While your eyes are upon me, I shall no longer be.

idea that both life and death are in God's hands (see Gen. 4, Euthanasia; Gen. 9, Sanctity of Life).

6:14 Kindness (Heb. chesed, lit. "pity" or "mercy") suggests loyal love and is usually used to describe God's steadfast love for His people. Thus Job wondered why his friends' fear of God would not compel them to be kind to him.

6:15–20 Job compared his friends to the desert streams (Heb. wadi) that ran through a rocky valley full of rain or melting snow in the spring but became dry in the summer (see Jer. 15:18). Even caravans have perished because they relied on the dependability of such streams and were caught "high and dry." This figure illustrates how hopes can be crushed. When Job needed his friends the most, they not only had nothing to give, but they were also abusive and condemning of him.

7:6 The fleeting character of life. An interesting play on words is found here as the Hebrew word for "hope" carries two levels of meaning. Its secondary meaning is "thread." Thus, both the weaver's shuttle and Job's days would come to an end without thread or hope.

EMOTIONAL PAIN IN THE DEPTHS OF DESPAIR

Lack of fulfillment in general and unfulfilled dreams in particular (Prov. 13:12) create emotional pain. Even in the presence of devoted love, sensitive areas in a person's life bring pain when "provoked." Hannah provides an illustration (1 Sam. 1:5, 6).

Emotional pain may exhibit itself in weeping, in altered appetite (1 Sam. 1:7), and in changed countenance (1 Sam. 1:18). This inward pain is described by the phrase "heart grieved" (1 Sam. 1:8), "bitterness of soul" (1 Sam. 1:10), and "grief" (1 Sam. 1:16).

Emotional pain is often misunderstood by others (1 Sam. 1:13, 14). Job's grief was harder to bear because his friends misunderstood him. This pain must be "poured out" to the Lord (1 Sam. 1:15), for Christ has "borne our griefs/And carried our sorrows" (Is. 53:4), and He does understand. This pain can be shared with someone He provides who is willing to listen and give support (1 Sam. 1:16, 17). That person needs to be a trusted person who has a "faithful spirit" (Prov. 11:13). God's children are to "bear one another's burdens" (Gal. 6:2). This support provides hope and lifts sadness (1 Sam. 1:18).

A helpful prayer for the person experiencing emotional pain is found in Romans 15:13.

9 As the cloud disappears and vanishes away,
So he who goes down to the grave does not come up.
10 He shall never return to his house,
Nor shall his place know him anymore.

11 "Therefore I will not restrain my mouth;
I will speak in the anguish of my spirit;
I will complain in the bitterness of my soul.
12 Am I a sea, or a sea serpent,
That You set a guard over me?
13 When I say, 'My bed will comfort me,
My couch will ease my complaint,'
14 Then You scare me with dreams
And terrify me with visions,
15 So that my soul chooses strangling
And death rather than my body.[a] 16 I loathe my life;
I would not live forever.
Let me alone,
For my days are but a breath.

17 "What is man, that You should exalt him,
That You should set Your heart on him,
18 That You should visit him every morning,
And test him every moment?
19 How long?
Will You not look away from me,
And let me alone till I swallow my saliva?
20 Have I sinned?
What have I done to You, O watcher of men?
Why have You set me as Your target,
So that I am a burden to myself?[a]
21 Why then do You not pardon my transgression,
And take away my iniquity?
For now I will lie down in the dust,
And You will seek me diligently,
But I will no longer be."

Bildad: Job Should Repent

8 Then Bildad the Shuhite answered and said:

2 "How long will you speak these things,
And the words of your mouth be like a strong wind?
3 Does God subvert judgment?
Or does the Almighty pervert justice?
4 If your sons have sinned against Him,
He has cast them away for their transgression.
5 If you would earnestly seek God
And make your supplication to the Almighty,
6 If you were pure and upright,
Surely now He would awake for you,
And prosper your rightful dwelling place.
7 Though your beginning was small,
Yet your latter end would increase abundantly.

8 "For inquire, please, of the former age,
And consider the things discovered by their fathers;
9 For we were born yesterday, and know nothing,
Because our days on earth are a shadow.
10 Will they not teach you and tell you,
And utter words from their heart?

7:15 [a]Literally my bones 7:20 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Targum, and Vulgate; Septuagint and Jewish tradition read to You.

8:4 Bildad's argument that Job's children were punished for their sin was unjust. Not only was this contrary to the picture already given of Job's family (Job 1:1–5), but also Job's godliness, expressed in connection with his calamity, highlighted his undeserved suffering.

11"Can the papyrus grow up without a marsh?
Can the reeds flourish without water?
12While it is yet green and not cut down,
It withers before any other plant.
13So are the paths of all who forget God;
And the hope of the hypocrite shall perish,
14Whose confidence shall be cut off,
And whose trust is a spider's web.
15He leans on his house, but it does not stand.
He holds it fast, but it does not endure.
16He grows green in the sun,
And his branches spread out in his garden.
17His roots wrap around the rock heap,
And look for a place in the stones.
18If he is destroyed from his place,
Then it will deny him, saying, 'I have not seen you.'

19"Behold, this is the joy of His way,
And out of the earth others will grow.
20Behold, God will not cast away the blameless,
Nor will He uphold the evildoers.
21He will yet fill your mouth with laughing,
And your lips with rejoicing.
22Those who hate you will be clothed with shame,
And the dwelling place of the wicked will come to nothing."[a]

Job: There Is No Mediator

9 Then Job answered and said:

2"Truly I know it is so,
But how can a man be righteous before God?
3If one wished to contend with Him,
He could not answer Him one time out of a thousand.
4God is wise in heart and mighty in strength.
Who has hardened himself against Him and prospered?
5He removes the mountains, and they do not know
When He overturns them in His anger;
6He shakes the earth out of its place,
And its pillars tremble;
7He commands the sun, and it does not rise;
He seals off the stars;
8He alone spreads out the heavens,
And treads on the waves of the sea;
9He made the Bear, Orion, and the Pleiades,
And the chambers of the south;
10He does great things past finding out,
Yes, wonders without number.
11If He goes by me, I do not see Him;
If He moves past, I do not perceive Him;
12If He takes away, who can hinder Him?
Who can say to Him, 'What are You doing?'
13God will not withdraw His anger,
The allies of the proud[a] lie prostrate beneath Him.

14"How then can I answer Him,
And choose my words to reason with Him?
15For though I were righteous, I could not answer Him;
I would beg mercy of my Judge.
16If I called and He answered me,
I would not believe that He was listening to my voice.
17For He crushes me with a tempest,
And multiplies my wounds without cause.
18He will not allow me to catch my breath,
But fills me with bitterness.
19If it is a matter of strength, indeed He is strong;
And if of justice, who will appoint my day in court?
20Though I were righteous, my own mouth would condemn me;
Though I were blameless, it would prove me perverse.

21"I am blameless, yet I do not know myself;
I despise my life.
22It is all one thing;
Therefore I say, 'He destroys the blameless and the wicked.'
23If the scourge slays suddenly,
He laughs at the plight of the innocent.
24The earth is given into the hand of the wicked.
He covers the faces of its judges.
If it is not He, who else could it be?

8:22 [a]Literally will not be 9:13 [a]Hebrew rahab

9:1 Job's second reply employed the imagery of a courtroom (vv. 19, 32), referring to God as the Judge (v. 15), to witnesses (Job 10:17), and even to a mediator (Job. 9:33). God's sovereignty over all creation is uncontestable. His ways are unknown and unquestionable. Job complained freely to the Lord, asking why he had been so incessantly and intensely scrutinized. Job recognized that God is the Creator, Preserver, and Destroyer of life. Job's questions were righteous inquiries directed to the One who knows the answers.

9:9 The stars and heavenly bodies. The "Bear" is the constellation of the Big Dipper in the north. "Orion" is a constellation recognized as the "Hunter's Belt" in the southern sky. "The Pleiades" is a grouping of stars in the constellation of Taurus (see Amos 5:8), and the phrase "chambers of the south" refers to the hosts of stars in the southern sky. Although pagan cultures worshiped the stars and heavenly bodies, worshipers of Yahweh did not confuse the creation with the Creator (see Is. 45:9–13; 55:8, 9).

9:24 The existence of evil and suffering seems to question the character and power of God. On the surface God appears either powerless or indifferent in the face of wickedness. Job, however, knew God to be both all-good and all-powerful, allowing evil and suffering only for a time (Rev. 21:4). God uses even suffering and evil to bring about His greater purposes. This fact countered Bildad's argument that only the evildoer suffers (Job 8:1–22, especially v. 20).

25 "Now my days are swifter than a runner;
They flee away, they see no good.
26 They pass by like swift ships,
Like an eagle swooping on its prey.
27 If I say, 'I will forget my complaint,
I will put off my sad face and wear a smile,'
28 I am afraid of all my sufferings;
I know that You will not hold me innocent.
29 If I am condemned,
Why then do I labor in vain?
30 If I wash myself with snow water,
And cleanse my hands with soap,
31 Yet You will plunge me into the pit,
And my own clothes will abhor me.

32 "For He is not a man, as I am,
That I may answer Him,
And that we should go to court together.
33 Nor is there any mediator between us,
Who may lay his hand on us both.
34 Let Him take His rod away from me,
And do not let dread of Him terrify me.
35 Then I would speak and not fear Him,
But it is not so with me.

Job: I Would Plead with God

10 "My soul loathes my life;
I will give free course to my complaint,
I will speak in the bitterness of my soul.
2 I will say to God, 'Do not condemn me;
Show me why You contend with me.
3 Does it seem good to You that You should oppress,
That You should despise the work of Your hands,
And smile on the counsel of the wicked?
4 Do You have eyes of flesh?
Or do You see as man sees?
5 Are Your days like the days of a mortal man?
Are Your years like the days of a mighty man,
6 That You should seek for my iniquity
And search out my sin,
7 Although You know that I am not wicked,
And there is no one who can deliver from Your hand?
8 'Your hands have made me and fashioned me,
An intricate unity;
Yet You would destroy me.
9 Remember, I pray, that You have made me like clay.
And will You turn me into dust again?
10 Did You not pour me out like milk,
And curdle me like cheese,
11 Clothe me with skin and flesh,
And knit me together with bones and sinews?
12 You have granted me life and favor,
And Your care has preserved my spirit.

13 'And these things You have hidden in Your heart;
I know that this was with You:
14 If I sin, then You mark me,
And will not acquit me of my iniquity.
15 If I am wicked, woe to me;
Even if I am righteous, I cannot lift up my head.
I am full of disgrace;
See my misery!
16 If my head is exalted,
You hunt me like a fierce lion,
And again You show Yourself awesome against me.
17 You renew Your witnesses against me,
And increase Your indignation toward me;
Changes and war are ever with me.

18 'Why then have You brought me out of the womb?
Oh, that I had perished and no eye had seen me!
19 I would have been as though I had not been.
I would have been carried from the womb to the grave.
20 Are not my days few?
Cease! Leave me alone, that I may take a little comfort, 21 Before I go to the place from which I shall not return,

9:33 A mediator (Heb. yakach, lit. "judge or arbiter") suggests the role of an umpire or one who can arbitrate, negotiate, and help to reconcile two parties rather than one who is in a higher position judging between two parties. Job sensed the huge gap between God and man (v. 32) and intensely longed to restore his relationship with God. This Mediator is later fulfilled in Jesus Christ, who as God and man not only mediates but also forgives (see 1 Tim. 2:5).

10:8–12 Job is the handiwork of God (v. 3; Job 14:15). These verses affirm God's omniscience, omnipotence, and omnipresence in His creation and preservation of man (Ps. 139). Job expressed his ideas concerning the formation of life, describing the embryo with an analogy as did the ancients. The analogy between the conception of a person and the making of "cheese" (v. 10, in the Hebrew text a hapax legomenon or one-time usage of the word) suggests the pouring of "milk" (semen) into the womb to curdle into a soft "cheese" (an embryo). The "skin and flesh" are outwardly visible clothes forming the exterior, while "bones and sinews" are the framework (v. 11). Job, the creature, reminded the Lord of how tenderly the Creator had created him and how He had not only given him "life" but also sustained that life because of His "favor" (Heb. chesed). The reasons God would now allow Job's destruction are known only to the heart of God (vv. 8, 13).

10:20 Job's distress was so great that he envisioned relief as God's ceasing to notice him.

The purpose of pruning is to improve the quality of the roses, not to hurt the bush.
Florence Littauer

To the land of darkness and the shadow of death, 22 A land as dark as darkness itself,
As the shadow of death, without any order,
Where even the light is like darkness.' "

Zophar Urges Job to Repent

11 Then Zophar the Naamathite answered and said:

2 "Should not the multitude of words be answered?
And should a man full of talk be vindicated?
3 Should your empty talk make men hold their peace?
And when you mock, should no one rebuke you?
4 For you have said,
"My doctrine is pure,
And I am clean in your eyes.'
5 But oh, that God would speak,
And open His lips against you,
6 That He would show you the secrets of wisdom!
For they would double your prudence.
Know therefore that God exacts from you
Less than your iniquity deserves.

7 "Can you search out the deep things of God?
Can you find out the limits of the Almighty?
8 They are higher than heaven— what can you do?
Deeper than Sheol— what can you know?
9 Their measure is longer than the earth
And broader than the sea.

10 "If He passes by, imprisons, and gathers to judgment,
Then who can hinder Him?
11 For He knows deceitful men;
He sees wickedness also.
Will He not then consider it?
12 For an empty-headed man will be wise,
When a wild donkey's colt is born a man.

13 "If you would prepare your heart,
And stretch out your hands toward Him;
14 If iniquity were in your hand, and you put it far away,
And would not let wickedness dwell in your tents;
15 Then surely you could lift up your face without spot;
Yes, you could be steadfast, and not fear;
16 Because you would forget your misery,
And remember it as waters that have passed away,
17 And your life would be brighter than noonday.
Though you were dark, you would be like the morning.
18 And you would be secure, because there is hope;
Yes, you would dig around you, and take your rest in safety.
19 You would also lie down, and no one would make you afraid;
Yes, many would court your favor.
20 But the eyes of the wicked will fail,
And they shall not escape,
And their hope— loss of life!"

Job Answers His Critics

12 Then Job answered and said:

2 "No doubt you are the people,
And wisdom will die with you!
3 But I have understanding as well as you;
I am not inferior to you.
Indeed, who does not know such things as these?

4 "I am one mocked by his friends,
Who called on God, and He answered him,
The just and blameless who is ridiculed.
5 A lamp[a] is despised in the thought of one who is at ease;

12:5 [a]Or disaster

11:1–20 The argument of Zophar's first speech implied that Job was lying about his righteousness and that God had given Job less punishment than he deserved (vv. 1–6). He suggested that if Job would repent from his sins, God would surely restore him (vv. 13–20). Unlike Eliphaz, who argued from personal revelation (Job 4:1—5:27), and Bildad, who argued from tradition (Job 8:1–22), Zophar spoke from his own simplistic understanding of the world and God. Like the other two friends, he maintained that the wicked, and not the righteous, will always suffer.

12:1—14:22 Job's third reply voiced his impatience with his friends and accused them of thoughtless speculation. Their platitudes could not account for his misery. The sovereign God was responsible, and Job longed to put his case before Him. Job maintained his innocence and was certain of his eventual vindication.

It is made ready for those whose feet slip.
6 The tents of robbers prosper,
And those who provoke God are secure—
In what God provides by His hand.

7 "But now ask the beasts, and they will teach you;
And the birds of the air, and they will tell you;
8 Or speak to the earth, and it will teach you;
And the fish of the sea will explain to you.
9 Who among all these does not know
That the hand of the LORD has done this,
10 In whose hand is the life of every living thing,
And the breath of all mankind?
11 Does not the ear test words
And the mouth taste its food?
12 Wisdom is with aged men,
And with length of days, understanding.

13 "With Him are wisdom and strength,
He has counsel and understanding.
14 If He breaks a thing down, it cannot be rebuilt;
If He imprisons a man, there can be no release.
15 If He withholds the waters, they dry up;
If He sends them out, they overwhelm the earth.
16 With Him are strength and prudence.
The deceived and the deceiver are His.
17 He leads counselors away plundered,
And makes fools of the judges.
18 He loosens the bonds of kings,
And binds their waist with a belt.
19 He leads princes[a] away plundered,
And overthrows the mighty.
20 He deprives the trusted ones of speech,
And takes away the discernment of the elders.
21 He pours contempt on princes,
And disarms the mighty.
22 He uncovers deep things out of darkness,
And brings the shadow of death to light.
23 He makes nations great, and destroys them;
He enlarges nations, and guides them.
24 He takes away the understanding[a] of the chiefs of the people of the earth,
And makes them wander in a pathless wilderness.
25 They grope in the dark without light,
And He makes them stagger like a drunken man.

13 "Behold, my eye has seen all this,
My ear has heard and understood it.
2 What you know, I also know;
I am not inferior to you.
3 But I would speak to the Almighty,
And I desire to reason with God.
4 But you forgers of lies,
You are all worthless physicians.
5 Oh, that you would be silent,
And it would be your wisdom!
6 Now hear my reasoning,
And heed the pleadings of my lips.
7 Will you speak wickedly for God,
And talk deceitfully for Him?
8 Will you show partiality for Him?
Will you contend for God?
9 Will it be well when He searches you out?
Or can you mock Him as one mocks a man?
10 He will surely rebuke you
If you secretly show partiality.
11 Will not His excellence make you afraid,
And the dread of Him fall upon you?
12 Your platitudes are proverbs of ashes,
Your defenses are defenses of clay.

13 "Hold your peace with me, and let me speak,
Then let come on me what may!
14 Why do I take my flesh in my teeth,
And put my life in my hands?
15 Though He slay me, yet will I trust Him.
Even so, I will defend my own ways before Him.
16 He also shall be my salvation,
For a hypocrite could not come before Him.
17 Listen carefully to my speech,
And to my declaration with your ears.
18 See now, I have prepared my case,
I know that I shall be vindicated.
19 Who is he who will contend with me?
If now I hold my tongue, I perish.

Job's Despondent Prayer

20 "Only two things do not do to me,
Then I will not hide myself from You:
21 Withdraw Your hand far from me,
And let not the dread of You make me afraid.
22 Then call, and I will answer;
Or let me speak, then You respond to me.
23 How many are my iniquities and sins?
Make me know my transgression and my sin.
24 Why do You hide Your face,
And regard me as Your enemy?
25 Will You frighten a leaf driven to and fro?
And will You pursue dry stubble?
26 For You write bitter things against me,

12:19 [a]Literally priests, but not in a technical sense 12:24 [a]Literally heart

12:9 The hand of the Lord has done this (see Job 1:14–19). The motive or purpose, however, was the cause of speculation by his friends and the source of anguish to Job.

13:24 The silence of God regarding the possible reasons for his alienated state caused Job's suffering as well as his obvious afflictions. This perceived alienation was more heartbreaking than the loss of his possessions and comforts. Job cherished above all else his relationship with God.

I will never see the hand of God in all that happens to me, attributing nothing to individual people, who are but instruments used by Him in the work of our sanctification.

Blessed Raphaela Maria

And make me inherit the iniquities of my youth.
27 You put my feet in the stocks,
And watch closely all my paths.
You set a limit[a] for the soles of my feet.

28 "Man[a] decays like a rotten thing,
Like a garment that is moth-eaten.

14 "Man who is born of woman
Is of few days and full of trouble.
2 He comes forth like a flower and fades away;
He flees like a shadow and does not continue.
3 And do You open Your eyes on such a one,
And bring me[a] to judgment with Yourself?
4 Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean?
No one!
5 Since his days are determined,
The number of his months is with You;
You have appointed his limits, so that he cannot pass.
6 Look away from him that he may rest,
Till like a hired man he finishes his day.

7 "For there is hope for a tree,
If it is cut down, that it will sprout again,
And that its tender shoots will not cease.
8 Though its root may grow old in the earth,
And its stump may die in the ground,
9 Yet at the scent of water it will bud
And bring forth branches like a plant.
10 But man dies and is laid away;
Indeed he breathes his last
And where is he?
11 As water disappears from the sea,
And a river becomes parched and dries up,
12 So man lies down and does not rise.
Till the heavens are no more,
They will not awake
Nor be roused from their sleep.

13 "Oh, that You would hide me in the grave,
That You would conceal me until Your wrath is past,
That You would appoint me a set time, and remember me!
14 If a man dies, shall he live again?
All the days of my hard service I will wait,
Till my change comes.
15 You shall call, and I will answer You;
You shall desire the work of Your hands.
16 For now You number my steps,
But do not watch over my sin.
17 My transgression is sealed up in a bag,
And You cover[a] my iniquity.

18 "But as a mountain falls and crumbles away,
And as a rock is moved from its place;
19 As water wears away stones,
And as torrents wash away the soil of the earth;
So You destroy the hope of man.
20 You prevail forever against him, and he passes on;
You change his countenance and send him
away.
21 His sons come to honor, and he does not know
it;
They are brought low, and he does not perceive
it.
22 But his flesh will be in pain over it,
And his soul will mourn over it."

Eliphaz Accuses Job of Folly

15 Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said:

2 "Should a wise man answer with empty
knowledge,
And fill himself with the east wind?
3 Should he reason with unprofitable talk,
Or by speeches with which he can do no good?
4 Yes, you cast off fear,
And restrain prayer before God.
5 For your iniquity teaches your mouth,
And you choose the tongue of the crafty.
6 Your own mouth condemns you, and not I;
Yes, your own lips testify against you.

7 "Are you the first man who was born?
Or were you made before the hills?

13:27 [a]Literally inscribe a print 13:28 [a]Literally He 14:3 [a]Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read him. 14:17 [a]Literally plaster over 14:13, 14 Job was certainly weary of life, but suicide or euthanasia were not options. God's perfect timing and control of life includes the timing of death as well (see Gen. 4, Euthanasia; Gen. 9, Sanctity of Life).

8 Have you heard the counsel of God?
Do you limit wisdom to yourself?
9 What do you know that we do not know?
What do you understand that is not in us?
10 Both the gray-haired and the aged are among us,
Much older than your father.
11 Are the consolations of God too small for you,
And the word spoken gently[a] with you?
12 Why does your heart carry you away,
And what do your eyes wink at,
13 That you turn your spirit against God,
And let such words go out of your mouth?

14 "What is man, that he could be pure?
And he who is born of a woman, that he could be righteous?
15 If God puts no trust in His saints,
And the heavens are not pure in His sight,
16 How much less man, who is abominable and filthy,
Who drinks iniquity like water!

17 "I will tell you, hear me;
What I have seen I will declare,
18 What wise men have told,
Not hiding anything received from their fathers,
19 To whom alone the land was given,
And no alien passed among them:
20 The wicked man writhes with pain all his days,
And the number of years is hidden from the oppressor.
21 Dreadful sounds are in his ears;
In prosperity the destroyer comes upon him.
22 He does not believe that he will return from darkness,
For a sword is waiting for him.
23 He wanders about for bread, saying, 'Where is it?'
He knows that a day of darkness is ready at his hand.
24 Trouble and anguish make him afraid;
They overpower him, like a king ready for battle.
25 For he stretches out his hand against God,
And acts defiantly against the Almighty,
26 Running stubbornly against Him
With his strong, embossed shield.

27 "Though he has covered his face with his fatness,
And made his waist heavy with fat,
28 He dwells in desolate cities,
In houses which no one inhabits,
Which are destined to become ruins.
29 He will not be rich,
Nor will his wealth continue,
Nor will his possessions overspread the earth.
30 He will not depart from darkness;
The flame will dry out his branches,
And by the breath of His mouth he will go away.
31 Let him not trust in futile things, deceiving himself,
For futility will be his reward.
32 It will be accomplished before his time,
And his branch will not be green.
33 He will shake off his unripe grape like a vine,
And cast off his blossom like an olive tree.
34 For the company of hypocrites will be barren,
And fire will consume the tents of bribery.
35 They conceive trouble and bring forth futility;
Their womb prepares deceit."

Job Reproaches His Pitiless Friends

16 Then Job answered and said:
2 "I have heard many such things;
Miserable comforters are you all!
3 Shall words of wind have an end?
Or what provokes you that you answer?
4 I also could speak as you do,
If your soul were in my soul's place.
I could heap up words against you,
And shake my head at you;
5 But I would strengthen you with my mouth,
And the comfort of my lips would relieve your grief.

6 "Though I speak, my grief is not relieved;
And if I remain silent, how am I eased?
7 But now He has worn me out;
You have made desolate all my company.
8 You have shriveled me up,
And it is a witness against me;
My leanness rises up against me
And bears witness to my face.
9 He tears me in His wrath, and hates me;
He gnashes at me with His teeth;
My adversary sharpens His gaze on me.
10 They gape at me with their mouth,
They strike me reproachfully on the cheek,
They gather together against me.
11 God has delivered me to the ungodly,
And turned me over to the hands of the wicked.
12 I was at ease, but He has shattered me;
He also has taken me by my neck, and shaken me to pieces;
He has set me up for His target,
13 His archers surround me.
He pierces my heart[a] and does not pity;
He pours out my gall on the ground.
14 He breaks me with wound upon wound;
He runs at me like a warrior.[a]

HOW TO ENDURE SUFFERING

WRONG WAYS	RIGHT WAYS
Demand to know WHY.	Be content to know WHO is in charge (Rom. 8:28–30).
Withdraw from God.	Acknowledge that He is with you (Heb. 13:5). Pray all the more (1 Pet. 5:6, 7).
Withdraw from others.	Keep fellowship with believers (Heb. 10:24, 25).
Decide the limits to your own endurance.	Know that God sets and knows your limits (1 Cor. 10:13).
Be impatient with God.	Wait for His perfect timing (Ps. 31:14, 15).
Seek your own remedies (Prov. 14:12).	Trust in the Lord to guide (Prov. 3:5, 6).
Give up to despair.	Wait upon the Lord (Ps. 27).
Delude yourself.	Seek the truth (John 8:32).
Indulge yourself.	Keep pure (1 Pet. 2:11, 12).
Become angry.	Master the anger (James 1:19, 20).
Become depressed (Ps. 73).	Hope in the Lord (Job 13:15).

15 "I have sewn sackcloth over my skin,
And laid my head[a] in the dust.
16 My face is flushed from weeping,
And on my eyelids is the shadow of death;
17 Although no violence is in my hands,
And my prayer is pure.

18 "O earth, do not cover my blood,
And let my cry have no resting place!
19 Surely even now my witness is in heaven,
And my evidence is on high.
20 My friends scorn me;
My eyes pour out tears to God.
21 Oh, that one might plead for a man with God,
As a man pleads for his neighbor!
22 For when a few years are finished,
I shall go the way of no return.

Job Prays for Relief

17 "My spirit is broken,
My days are extinguished,
The grave is ready for me.
2 Are not mockers with me?
And does not my eye dwell on their provocation?

3 "Now put down a pledge for me with Yourself.
Who is he who will shake hands with me?
4 For You have hidden their heart from understanding;
Therefore You will not exalt them.
5 He who speaks flattery to his friends,
Even the eyes of his children will fail.

6 "But He has made me a byword of the people,
And I have become one in whose face men spit.

16:15 [a] Literally horn

16:15 The misery of mourning. Job donned sackcloth or coarse-haired cloth to symbolize the abasement, sorrow, and misery he felt in his humiliation (see Job 1:20). "Head" (lit. "horn") is used figuratively to denote strength and dignity. Thus, to lay your "head in the dust" indicated the loss of all honor and power and was also a sign of great humiliation, similar to the modern expression of "rubbing your face in the dirt."

16:19 The heavenly witness or advocate is a reference to God Himself, who testified from heaven of Job's innocence. Job appealed to God for vindication. He had been misjudged by his friends on earth. His prayer was for someone to plead his case. Not until Christ's coming would the heavenly Advocate be revealed (see 1 John 2:1, 2).

7 My eye has also grown dim because of sorrow,
And all my members are like shadows.
8 Upright men are astonished at this,
And the innocent stirs himself up against the hypocrite.
9 Yet the righteous will hold to his way,
And he who has clean hands will be stronger and stronger.

10 "But please, come back again, all of you,[a]
For I shall not find one wise man among you.
11 My days are past,
My purposes are broken off,
Even the thoughts of my heart.
12 They change the night into day;
'The light is near,' they say, in the face of darkness.
13 If I wait for the grave as my house,
If I make my bed in the darkness,
14 If I say to corruption, 'You are my father,'
And to the worm, 'You are my mother and my sister,'
15 Where then is my hope?
As for my hope, who can see it?
16 Will they go down to the gates of Sheol?
Shall we have rest together in the dust?"

Bildad: The Wicked Are Punished

18 Then Bildad the Shuhite answered and said:

2 "How long till you put an end to words?
Gain understanding, and afterward we will speak.
3 Why are we counted as beasts,
And regarded as stupid in your sight?
4 You who tear yourself in anger,
Shall the earth be forsaken for you?
Or shall the rock be removed from its place?

5 "The light of the wicked indeed goes out,
And the flame of his fire does not shine.
6 The light is dark in his tent,
And his lamp beside him is put out.
7 The steps of his strength are shortened,
And his own counsel casts him down.
8 For he is cast into a net by his own feet,
And he walks into a snare.
9 The net takes him by the heel,
And a snare lays hold of him.
10 A noose is hidden for him on the ground,
And a trap for him in the road.
11 Terrors frighten him on every side,
And drive him to his feet.
12 His strength is starved,
And destruction is ready at his side.
13 It devours patches of his skin;
The firstborn of death devours his limbs.
14 He is uprooted from the shelter of his tent,
And they parade him before the king of terrors.
15 They dwell in his tent who are none of his;
Brimstone is scattered on his dwelling.
16 His roots are dried out below,
And his branch withers above.
17 The memory of him perishes from the earth,
And he has no name among the renowned.[a] 18 He is driven from light into darkness,
And chased out of the world.
19 He has neither son nor posterity among his people,
Nor any remaining in his dwellings.
20 Those in the west are astonished at his day,
As those in the east are frightened.
21 Surely such are the dwellings of the wicked,
And this is the place of him who does not know God."

Job Trusts in His Redeemer

19 Then Job answered and said:

2 "How long will you torment my soul,
And break me in pieces with words?
3 These ten times you have reproached me;
You are not ashamed that you have wronged me.[a]
4 And if indeed I have erred,
My error remains with me.
5 If indeed you exalt yourselves against me,
And plead my disgrace against me,
6 Know then that God has wronged me,
And has surrounded me with His net.

7 "If I cry out concerning wrong, I am not heard.
If I cry aloud, there is no justice.
8 He has fenced up my way, so that I cannot pass;
And He has set darkness in my paths.

17:10 [a]Following some Hebrew manuscripts, Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate; Masoretic Text and Targum read all of them. 18:17 [a]Literally before the outside, meaning distinguished, famous 19:3 [a]A Jewish tradition reads make yourselves strange to me.

18:8–10 From the world of hunting, six words are used here to describe traps laid to ensnare the wicked man: A net that is primarily an instrument of capture to entangle the feet (v. 8); a snare or netting that forms a false floor over a hidden pit (v. 8); a net that grabs the victim's feet (v. 9); a snare that constricts (v. 9); a noose that catches and raises its victim off the ground (v. 10); and a trap, the term that is inclusive of all these devices (v. 10). Once again the writer revealed not only his literary ability but also his extensive knowledge of hunting.

19:1–29 Job's fifth reply recounted that God had set up his disasters (vv. 7–12) and that everyone had forsaken him (vv. 13–20). Pleading for pity, he yearned for his words to be recorded (vv. 23, 24). Maintaining his righteousness and believing that judgment belongs to God, Job longed for vindication by his Redeemer (vv. 23–29). He warned his friends about their own vulnerability to God's judgment (v. 29).

9 He has stripped me of my glory,
And taken the crown from my head.
10 He breaks me down on every side,
And I am gone;
My hope He has uprooted like a tree.
11 He has also kindled His wrath against me,
And He counts me as one of His enemies.
12 His troops come together
And build up their road against me;
They encamp all around my tent.

13 "He has removed my brothers far from me,
And my acquaintances are completely estranged from me.
14 My relatives have failed,
And my close friends have forgotten me.
15 Those who dwell in my house, and my maidservants,
Count me as a stranger;
I am an alien in their sight.
16 I call my servant, but he gives no answer;
I beg him with my mouth.
17 My breath is offensive to my wife,
And I am repulsive to the children of my own body.
18 Even young children despise me;
I arise, and they speak against me.
19 All my close friends abhor me,
And those whom I love have turned against me.
20 My bone clings to my skin and to my flesh,
And I have escaped by the skin of my teeth.

21 "Have pity on me, have pity on me, O you my friends,
For the hand of God has struck me!
22 Why do you persecute me as God does,
And are not satisfied with my flesh?

23 "Oh, that my words were written!
Oh, that they were inscribed in a book!
24 That they were engraved on a rock
With an iron pen and lead, forever!
25 For I know that my Redeemer lives,
And He shall stand at last on the earth;
26 And after my skin is destroyed, this I know,
That in my flesh I shall see God,
27 Whom I shall see for myself,
And my eyes shall behold, and not another.
How my heart yearns within me!
28 If you should say, 'How shall we persecute
him?'—
Since the root of the matter is found in me,
29 Be afraid of the sword for yourselves;
For wrath brings the punishment of the sword,
That you may know there is a judgment."

Zophar's Sermon on the Wicked Man

20 Then Zophar the Naamathite answered and said:

2 "Therefore my anxious thoughts make me
answer,
Because of the turmoil within me.
3 I have heard the rebuke that reproaches me,
And the spirit of my understanding causes me
to answer.

4 "Do you not know this of old,
Since man was placed on earth,
5 That the triumphing of the wicked is short,
And the joy of the hypocrite is but for a moment?
6 Though his haughtiness mounts up to the heavens,
And his head reaches to the clouds,
7 Yet he will perish forever like his own refuse;
Those who have seen him will say, 'Where is he?'
8 He will fly away like a dream, and not be found;
Yes, he will be chased away like a vision of the night.
9 The eye that saw him will see him no more,
Nor will his place behold him anymore.

19:17 The loss of those most dear. In light of the fact that all Job's children were dead (Job 1:18, 19), this reference could be to his own siblings or could be part of the general stereotypical language. The loathsome nature of the diseases afflicting Job had driven away those nearest and dearest to him. The emphasis is on the isolation felt by Job. Rejection from a wife would be the ultimate human tragedy.

19:23, 24 Job wanted his words to be recorded forever, as solid evidence would be in a court of law. Job's personal testimony was recorded here more indelibly than on a "rock" with an "iron pen" and "lives and abides forever" in Holy Scripture (1 Pet. 1:23).

19:25 The kinsman-redeemer (Heb. go'el) was the closest blood-relative. According to Levitical law, someone who was in debt or taken captive needed the "kinsman-redeemer" to pay his ransom or gain his release. In the OT, this relationship is most poignantly depicted by Boaz, who acted in behalf of Ruth's deceased husband. In the NT, Jesus Christ was the ultimate "Kinsman-Redeemer." This term was also an OT title for God, who delivered His people from Egyptian bondage. This Redeemer would "stand" as Job's only faithful witness, to argue for his vindication. Job's sons were dead, and he had been deserted by the rest of his family and friends so that no earthly redeemer was present to defend Job. Job's testimony was sure: He would see God, and God would no longer be hidden from him (Job 9:11; 13:24). The hope of the afterlife was vivid and vital to Job (Job 19:26). Job fully expected to see God with his own eyes, that is, while clothed in his physical body as opposed to a disembodied spiritual state (v. 27).

20:1–29 The argument of Zophar's second speech. He felt compelled to answer Job's words (Job 19:1–29) and continued to insist that God unfailingly would punish the wicked (Job 20:4–29). Like the other friends, he declared Job's guilt without considering any other plea or evidence brought before him by Job (vv. 27–29).

10 His children will seek the favor of the poor,
And his hands will restore his wealth.
11 His bones are full of his youthful vigor,
But it will lie down with him in the dust.

12 "Though evil is sweet in his mouth,
And he hides it under his tongue,
13 Though he spares it and does not forsake it,
But still keeps it in his mouth,
14 Yet his food in his stomach turns sour;
It becomes cobra venom within him.
15 He swallows down riches
And vomits them up again;
God casts them out of his belly.
16 He will suck the poison of cobras;
The viper's tongue will slay him.
17 He will not see the streams,
The rivers flowing with honey and cream.
18 He will restore that for which he labored,
And will not swallow it down;
From the proceeds of business
He will get no enjoyment.
19 For he has oppressed and forsaken the poor,
He has violently seized a house which he did not build.

20 "Because he knows no quietness in his heart,[a]
He will not save anything he desires.
21 Nothing is left for him to eat;
Therefore his well-being will not last.
22 In his self-sufficiency he will be in distress;
Every hand of misery will come against him.
23 When he is about to fill his stomach,
God will cast on him the fury of His wrath,
And will rain it on him while he is eating.
24 He will flee from the iron weapon;
A bronze bow will pierce him through.
25 It is drawn, and comes out of the body;
Yes, the glittering point comes out of his gall.
Terrors come upon him;
26 Total darkness is reserved for his treasures.
An unfanned fire will consume him;
It shall go ill with him who is left in his tent.
27 The heavens will reveal his iniquity,
And the earth will rise up against him.
28 The increase of his house will depart,
And his goods will flow away in the day of His wrath.
29 This is the portion from God for a wicked man,
The heritage appointed to him by God."

Job's Discourse on the Wicked

21 Then Job answered and said:

2 "Listen carefully to my speech,
And let this be your consolation.
3 Bear with me that I may speak,
And after I have spoken, keep mocking.

4 "As for me, is my complaint against man?
And if it were, why should I not be impatient?
5 Look at me and be astonished;
Put your hand over your mouth.
6 Even when I remember I am terrified,
And trembling takes hold of my flesh.
7 Why do the wicked live and become old,
Yes, become mighty in power?
8 Their descendants are established with them in their sight,
And their offspring before their eyes.
9 Their houses are safe from fear,
Neither is the rod of God upon them.
10 Their bull breeds without failure;
Their cow calves without miscarriage.
11 They send forth their little ones like a flock,
And their children dance.
12 They sing to the tambourine and harp,
And rejoice to the sound of the flute.
13 They spend their days in wealth,
And in a moment go down to the grave.[a]
14 Yet they say to God, 'Depart from us,
For we do not desire the knowledge of Your ways.
15 Who is the Almighty, that we should serve Him?
And what profit do we have if we pray to Him?'
16 Indeed their prosperity is not in their hand;
The counsel of the wicked is far from me.

17 "How often is the lamp of the wicked put out?
How often does their destruction come upon them,
The sorrows God distributes in His anger?
18 They are like straw before the wind,
And like chaff that a storm carries away.
19 They say, 'God lays up one's[a] iniquity for his children';
Let Him recompense him, that he may know it.
20 Let his eyes see his destruction,
And let him drink of the wrath of the Almighty.
21 For what does he care about his household after him,
When the number of his months is cut in half?

22 "Can anyone teach God knowledge,
Since He judges those on high?

20:20 [a]Literally belly 21:13 [a]Or Sheol 21:19 [a]Literally his 21:15 Satan's intent was to get Job to question the wisdom of trusting God (Job 1:9–11). Here Job mocked the ungodly who question the Almighty.

HOW TO COMFORT THE SUFFERING

WRONG WAYS	RIGHT WAYS
Pre-judge a situation.	Empathize with the sufferer (Rom. 12:15).
Have a know-it-all attitude.	Pray for yourself (James 1:5).
Try to solve the problem of the one suffering.	Pray for others (Phil. 4:6, 7).
Assume the cause of suffering is sin.	Listen to the sufferer (James 1:19).
	Consider causes other than the sin of the sufferer (Job 42:7; John 9:2, 3; Heb. 12:5–11).

23 One dies in his full strength,
Being wholly at ease and secure;
24 His pails[a] are full of milk,
And the marrow of his bones is moist.
25 Another man dies in the bitterness of his soul,
Never having eaten with pleasure.
26 They lie down alike in the dust,
And worms cover them.

27 "Look, I know your thoughts,
And the schemes with which you would wrong me.
28 For you say,
'Where is the house of the prince?
And where is the tent,[a]
The dwelling place of the wicked?'
29 Have you not asked those who travel the road?
And do you not know their signs?
30 For the wicked are reserved for the day of doom;
They shall be brought out on the day of wrath.
31 Who condemns his way to his face?
And who repays him for what he has done?
32 Yet he shall be brought to the grave,
And a vigil kept over the tomb.
33 The clods of the valley shall be sweet to him;
Everyone shall follow him,
As countless have gone before him.
34 How then can you comfort me with empty words,
Since falsehood remains in your answers?"

Eliphaz Accuses Job of Wickedness

22 Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said:

2 "Can a man be profitable to God,
Though he who is wise may be profitable to himself?
3 Is it any pleasure to the Almighty that you are righteous?
Or is it gain to Him that you make your ways blameless?

4 "Is it because of your fear of Him that He corrects you,
And enters into judgment with you?
5 Is not your wickedness great,
And your iniquity without end?
6 For you have taken pledges from your brother for no reason,
And stripped the naked of their clothing.
7 You have not given the weary water to drink,
And you have withheld bread from the hungry.
8 But the mighty man possessed the land,
And the honorable man dwelt in it.
9 You have sent widows away empty,
And the strength of the fatherless was crushed.
10 Therefore snares are all around you,
And sudden fear troubles you,
11 Or darkness so that you cannot see;
And an abundance of water covers you.

21:24 [a]Septuagint and Vulgate read bowels; Syriac reads sides; Targum reads breasts. 21:28 [a]Vulgate omits the tent.

22:1–30 The argument of Eliphaz's third speech brutally and bluntly accused Job of outright wrongdoing contrary to anything Job had ever done or stood for (vv. 4–11; contrast Job 29:12–17). Thus judgment was passed, and Job was declared guilty. The only recourse for such a situation was repentance (vv. 21–30). Eliphaz knew some truth but categorically misapplied it. He traced Job's suffering to Job's sin.

22:2 Eliphaz questioned how God could benefit from the righ-teousness of mankind as Job continually asked God why He allowed the righteous to suffer. To think that God needs man for anything would be to ascribe too much significance to man and too little to God. According to Eliphaz, God was interested only in punishing sin (vv. 4, 5; see Job 35:1–16, note).

12 "Is not God in the height of heaven?
And see the highest stars, how lofty they are!
13 And you say, 'What does God know?
Can He judge through the deep darkness?
14 Thick clouds cover Him, so that He cannot see,
And He walks above the circle of heaven.'
15 Will you keep to the old way
Which wicked men have trod,
16 Who were cut down before their time,
Whose foundations were swept away by a flood?
17 They said to God, 'Depart from us!
What can the Almighty do to them?'[a] 18 Yet He filled their houses with good things;
But the counsel of the wicked is far from me.

19 "The righteous see it and are glad,
And the innocent laugh at them:
20 'Surely our adversaries[a] are cut down,
And the fire consumes their remnant.'

21 "Now acquaint yourself with Him, and be at peace;
Thereby good will come to you.
22 Receive, please, instruction from His mouth,
And lay up His words in your heart.
23 If you return to the Almighty, you will be built up;
You will remove iniquity far from your tents.
24 Then you will lay your gold in the dust,
And the gold of Ophir among the stones of the brooks.
25 Yes, the Almighty will be your gold[a]
And your precious silver;
26 For then you will have your delight in the Almighty,
And lift up your face to God.
27 You will make your prayer to Him,
He will hear you,
And you will pay your vows.
28 You will also declare a thing,
And it will be established for you;
So light will shine on your ways.
29 When they cast you down, and you say,
'Exaltation will come!'
Then He will save the humble person.
30 He will even deliver one who is not innocent;
Yes, he will be delivered by the purity of your hands."

Job Proclaims God's Righteous Judgments

23 Then Job answered and said:

2 "Even today my complaint is bitter;
My[a] hand is listless because of my groaning.
3 Oh, that I knew where I might find Him,
That I might come to His seat!
4 I would present my case before Him,
And fill my mouth with arguments.
5 I would know the words which He would answer me,
And understand what He would say to me.
6 Would He contend with me in His great power?
No! But He would take note of me.
7 There the upright could reason with Him,
And I would be delivered forever from my Judge.

8 "Look, I go forward, but He is not there,
And backward, but I cannot perceive Him;
9 When He works on the left hand, I cannot behold Him;
When He turns to the right hand, I cannot see Him.
10 But He knows the way that I take;
When He has tested me, I shall come forth as gold.
11 My foot has held fast to His steps;
I have kept His way and not turned aside.
12 I have not departed from the commandment of His lips;
I have treasured the words of His mouth
More than my necessary food.

13 "But He is unique, and who can make Him change?
And whatever His soul desires, that He does.
14 For He performs what is appointed for me,
And many such things are with Him.
15 Therefore I am terrified at His presence;
When I consider this, I am afraid of Him.
16 For God made my heart weak,
And the Almighty terrifies me;
17 Because I was not cut off from the presence of darkness,
And He did not hide deep darkness from my face.

22:17 [a]Septuagint and Syriac read us. 22:20 [a]Septuagint reads substance. 22:25 [a]The ancient versions suggest defense; Hebrew reads gold as in verse 24. 23:2 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Targum, and Vulgate; Septuagint and Syriac read His.

23:10 He knows the way that I take. Even in the face of so much physical evidence against him, Job was still tenaciously clinging to the belief that God knows and cares. God knew that Job was blameless and that he would arise from this calamity as gold (see 1 Pet. 1:6, 7).

23:17 This deep darkness must have been the deafening divine silence Job sensed to his questions and situation. What Job feared and dreaded most was not so much his own actual suffering as the disruption of his personal relationship with God and evasive silence from the Creator.

Job Complains of Violence on the Earth

24 "Since times are not hidden from the Almighty,
Why do those who know Him see not His days?

2 "Some remove landmarks;
They seize flocks violently and feed on them;
3 They drive away the donkey of the fatherless;
They take the widow's ox as a pledge.
4 They push the needy off the road;
All the poor of the land are forced to hide.
5 Indeed, like wild donkeys in the desert,
They go out to their work, searching for food.
The wilderness yields food for them and for their children.
6 They gather their fodder in the field
And glean in the vineyard of the wicked.
7 They spend the night naked, without clothing,
And have no covering in the cold.
8 They are wet with the showers of the mountains,
And huddle around the rock for want of shelter.

9 "Some snatch the fatherless from the breast,
And take a pledge from the poor.
10 They cause the poor to go naked, without clothing;
And they take away the sheaves from the hungry.
11 They press out oil within their walls,
And tread winepresses, yet suffer thirst.
12 The dying groan in the city,
And the souls of the wounded cry out;
Yet God does not charge them with wrong.

13 "There are those who rebel against the light;
They do not know its ways
Nor abide in its paths.
14 The murderer rises with the light;
He kills the poor and needy;
And in the night he is like a thief.
15 The eye of the adulterer waits for the twilight,
Saying, 'No eye will see me';
And he disguises his face.
16 In the dark they break into houses
Which they marked for themselves in the daytime;
They do not know the light.
17 For the morning is the same to them as the shadow of death;
If someone recognizes them,
They are in the terrors of the shadow of death.

18 "They should be swift on the face of the waters,
Their portion should be cursed in the earth,
So that no one would turn into the way of their vineyards.
19 As drought and heat consume the snow waters,
So the grave[a] consumes those who have sinned.
20 The womb should forget him,
The worm should feed sweetly on him;
He should be remembered no more,
And wickedness should be broken like a tree.
21 For he preys on the barren who do not bear,
And does no good for the widow.

22 "But God draws the mighty away with His power;
He rises up, but no man is sure of life.
23 He gives them security, and they rely on it;
Yet His eyes are on their ways.
24 They are exalted for a little while,
Then they are gone.
They are brought low;
They are taken out of the way like all others;
They dry out like the heads of grain.

25 "Now if it is not so, who will prove me a liar,
And make my speech worth nothing?"

Bildad: How Can Man Be Righteous?

25 Then Bildad the Shuhite answered and said:

2 "Dominion and fear belong to Him;
He makes peace in His high places.
3 Is there any number to His armies?
Upon whom does His light not rise?
4 How then can man be righteous before God?
Or how can he be pure who is born of a woman?
5 If even the moon does not shine,
And the stars are not pure in His sight,
6 How much less man, who is a maggot,
And a son of man, who is a worm?"

24:19 [a]Or Sheol

24:1 Specific periods of judgment are suggested by the word "times." Job did not complain that God does not judge; rather his concern was that God's judgment does not come at set times. The lesson for Job was that retribution does not operate on an earthly, human timetable but according to divine will.

24:18–25 The righteous and the wicked. The Hebrew text has been translated in different ways. Some suggest that Job capitulated to his friends' views. On the other hand, just because these words do not sound like Job's views about the wicked does not necessarily mean that they are not his words. Job never claimed that the wicked always prosper and never receive punishment. He simply questioned why God treated the righteous and the wicked alike.

25:1–6 The argument of Bildad's third speech took a different tactic and asked how any man who is a "maggot" and a "worm" could claim to be righteous before a holy God (v. 6). If what Bildad maintained before was true, namely, that all the wicked suffer, then everyone would be suffering, and no one

ATTRIBUTES OF GOD HE IS SOVEREIGN

God alone is accountable to no one and is supreme in power, rank, authority, virtues, decrees, and work (Ps. 115:3). Strictly speaking, the title "Sovereign" belongs only to Him (Deut. 4:39).

Everything depends on God (Col. 1:16, 17), but He depends on nothing. Everything came from Him, but He came from nowhere because He has no beginning and no end (Ps. 90:2). He is the "I AM" (Ex. 3:14), the one of a kind (Is. 43:10, 11).

Since all life comes from Him, He rightfully retains ultimate authority (1 Tim. 6:15) and will do what He pleases (Ps. 135:6). He needs counsel from no one, and no one qualifies to give Him counsel (Rom. 9:20). The title "King of Kings" means just that. Even among kings, He is The King (Ps. 47:6, 7). This Sovereign One does not make occasional raids into our lives and world events; rather, He is intimately involved in the life of each person (Matt. 10:30) and rules the universe completely and perfectly (Is. 40:21–28).

Job: Man's Frailty and God's Majesty

26 But Job answered and said:

2 "How have you helped him who is without power?
How have you saved the arm that has no strength?
3 How have you counseled one who has no wisdom?
And how have you declared sound advice to many?
4 To whom have you uttered words?
And whose spirit came from you?

5 "The dead tremble,
Those under the waters and those inhabiting them.
6 Sheol is naked before Him,
And Destruction has no covering.
7 He stretches out the north over empty space;
He hangs the earth on nothing.
8 He binds up the water in His thick clouds,
Yet the clouds are not broken under it.
9 He covers the face of His throne,
And spreads His cloud over it.
10 He drew a circular horizon on the face of the waters,
At the boundary of light and darkness.
11 The pillars of heaven tremble,
And are astonished at His rebuke.
12 He stirs up the sea with His power,
And by His understanding He breaks up the storm.
13 By His Spirit He adorned the heavens;
His hand pierced the fleeing serpent.
14 Indeed these are the mere edges of His ways,
And how small a whisper we hear of Him!
But the thunder of His power who can understand?"

Job Maintains His Integrity

27 Moreover Job continued his discourse, and said:

2 "As God lives, who has taken away my justice,
And the Almighty, who has made my soul bitter,
3 As long as my breath is in me,
And the breath of God in my nostrils,
4 My lips will not speak wickedness,
Nor my tongue utter deceit.
5 Far be it from me
That I should say you are right;
Till I die I will not put away my integrity from me.
6 My righteousness I hold fast, and will not let it go;
My heart shall not reproach me as long as I live.

7 "May my enemy be like the wicked,
And he who rises up against me like the unrighteous.
8 For what is the hope of the hypocrite,
Though he may gain much,
If God takes away his life?
9 Will God hear his cry
When trouble comes upon him?

would experience the prosperous life Bildad claimed belonged to the righteous.

26:7 An understanding of space that goes beyond the notions of his day is exhibited. The thinking of the day was that the earth was a flat disc surrounded by water (v. 10).

26:14 Job understood that his knowledge of God was limited and dependent on God's revelation of Himself. This view was in contrast to the all-encompassing and certain knowledge of his friends (Deut. 29:29).

10 Will he delight himself in the Almighty?
Will he always call on God?

11 "I will teach you about the hand of God;
What is with the Almighty I will not conceal.
12 Surely all of you have seen it;
Why then do you behave with complete nonsense?

13 "This is the portion of a wicked man with God,
And the heritage of oppressors, received from the Almighty:
14 If his children are multiplied, it is for the sword;
And his offspring shall not be satisfied with bread.
15 Those who survive him shall be buried in death,
And their[a] widows shall not weep,
16 Though he heaps up silver like dust,
And piles up clothing like clay—
17 He may pile it up, but the just will wear it,
And the innocent will divide the silver.
18 He builds his house like a moth,[a]
Like a booth which a watchman makes.
19 The rich man will lie down,
But not be gathered up;[a]
He opens his eyes,
And he is no more.
20 Terrors overtake him like a flood;
A tempest steals him away in the night.
21 The east wind carries him away, and he is gone;
It sweeps him out of his place.
22 It hurls against him and does not spare;
He flees desperately from its power.
23 Men shall clap their hands at him,
And shall hiss him out of his place.

Job's Discourse on Wisdom

28 "Surely there is a mine for silver,
And a place where gold is refined.
2 Iron is taken from the earth,
And copper is smelted from ore.
3 Man puts an end to darkness,
And searches every recess
For ore in the darkness and the shadow of death.
4 He breaks open a shaft away from people;
In places forgotten by feet
They hang far away from men;
They swing to and fro.
5 As for the earth, from it comes bread,
But underneath it is turned up as by fire;
6 Its stones are the source of sapphires,
And it contains gold dust.
7 That path no bird knows,
Nor has the falcon's eye seen it.
8 The proud lions[a] have not trodden it,
Nor has the fierce lion passed over it.
9 He puts his hand on the flint;
He overturns the mountains at the roots.
10 He cuts out channels in the rocks,
And his eye sees every precious thing.
11 He dams up the streams from trickling;
What is hidden he brings forth to light.

12 "But where can wisdom be found?
And where is the place of understanding?
13 Man does not know its value,
Nor is it found in the land of the living.
14 The deep says, 'It is not in me';
And the sea says, 'It is not with me.'
15 It cannot be purchased for gold,
Nor can silver be weighed for its price.
16 It cannot be valued in the gold of Ophir,
In precious onyx or sapphire.
17 Neither gold nor crystal can equal it,
Nor can it be exchanged for jewelry of fine gold.
18 No mention shall be made of coral or quartz,
For the price of wisdom is above rubies.
19 The topaz of Ethiopia cannot equal it,
Nor can it be valued in pure gold.

20 "From where then does wisdom come?
And where is the place of understanding?
21 It is hidden from the eyes of all living,
And concealed from the birds of the air.
22 Destruction and Death say,
'We have heard a report about it with our ears.'
23 God understands its way,
And He knows its place.
24 For He looks to the ends of the earth,
And sees under the whole heavens,
25 To establish a weight for the wind,
And apportion the waters by measure.
26 When He made a law for the rain,
And a path for the thunderbolt,

27:15 [a]Literally his 27:18 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Vulgate; Septuagint and Syriac read spider (compare 8:14); Targum reads decay. 27:19 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Targum; Septuagint and Syriac read But shall not add (that is, do it again); Vulgate reads But take away nothing. 28:8 [a]Literally sons of pride, figurative of the great lions

28:1 Job's monologues began with a discourse on wisdom (vv. 1–28). Wisdom is not found in the creation but in the Creator (vv. 20–28). As if for a court case, Job then presented:

1) His past blessed days when he was in obvious favor with God and highly esteemed by men (Job 29:1–25);
2) His present time of loss and calamity when even worthless men taunted him (Job 30:1–31); and
3) His plaintiff cry for a future audience with the Almighty to present his case (Job 31:1–40).

In recounting his blameless life, Job opened himself to curses if he had misstepped or if he had hidden iniquity in his heart.

27 Then He saw wisdom[a] and declared it;
He prepared it, indeed, He searched it out.
28 And to man He said,
'Behold, the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom,
And to depart from evil is understanding.' "

Job's Summary Defense

29 Job further continued his discourse, and said:

2 "Oh, that I were as in months past,
As in the days when God watched over me;
3 When His lamp shone upon my head,
And when by His light I walked through darkness;
4 Just as I was in the days of my prime,
When the friendly counsel of God was over my tent;
5 When the Almighty was yet with me,
When my children were around me;
6 When my steps were bathed with cream,[a]
And the rock poured out rivers of oil for me!

7 "When I went out to the gate by the city,
When I took my seat in the open square,
8 The young men saw me and hid,
And the aged arose and stood;
9 The princes refrained from talking,
And put their hand on their mouth;
10 The voice of nobles was hushed,
And their tongue stuck to the roof of their mouth.
11 When the ear heard, then it blessed me,
And when the eye saw, then it approved me;
12 Because I delivered the poor who cried out,
The fatherless and the one who had no helper.
13 The blessing of a perishing man came upon me,
And I caused the widow's heart to sing for joy.
14 I put on righteousness, and it clothed me;
My justice was like a robe and a turban.
15 I was eyes to the blind,
And I was feet to the lame.
16 I was a father to the poor,
And I searched out the case that I did not know.
17 I broke the fangs of the wicked,
And plucked the victim from his teeth.

18 "Then I said, 'I shall die in my nest,
And multiply my days as the sand.
19 My root is spread out to the waters,
And the dew lies all night on my branch.
20 My glory is fresh within me,
And my bow is renewed in my hand.'

21 "Men listened to me and waited,
And kept silence for my counsel.
22 After my words they did not speak again,
And my speech settled on them as dew.
23 They waited for me as for the rain,
And they opened their mouth wide as for the spring rain.
24 If I mocked at them, they did not believe it,
And the light of my countenance they did not cast down.
25 I chose the way for them, and sat as chief;
So I dwelt as a king in the army,
As one who comforts mourners.

30 "But now they mock at me, men younger than I,
Whose fathers I disdained to put with the dogs of my flock.
2 Indeed, what profit is the strength of their hands to me?
Their vigor has perished.
3 They are gaunt from want and famine,
Fleeing late to the wilderness, desolate and waste,
4 Who pluck mallow by the bushes,
And broom tree roots for their food.
5 They were driven out from among men,
They shouted at them as at a thief.
6 They had to live in the clefts of the valleys,
In caves of the earth and the rocks.
7 Among the bushes they brayed,
Under the nettles they nestled.
8 They were sons of fools,
Yes, sons of vile men;
They were scourged from the land.

9 "And now I am their taunting song;
Yes, I am their byword.
10 They abhor me, they keep far from me;
They do not hesitate to spit in my face.
11 Because He has loosed my[a] bowstring and afflicted me,
They have cast off restraint before me.
12 At my right hand the rabble arises;
They push away my feet,
And they raise against me their ways of destruction.

28:27 [a]Literally it 29:6 [a]Masoretic Text reads wrath; ancient versions and some Hebrew manuscripts read cream (compare 20:17). 30:11 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Syriac, and Targum; Septuagint and Vulgate read His.

28:28 The fear of the Lord. Both Job and his friends claimed wisdom of themselves. Although personified, wisdom is clearly a manifestation of God Himself and not merely something to be obtained. Although believers can know and understand many things, they cannot attain to this level of Creator-wisdom. Job knew that true wisdom is not found in human understanding but is from God alone (Prov. 1:7; 9:10).

29:12–17 Job's righteous deeds are in marked contrast to Eliphaz's accusations (Job 22:5–9).

30:11 What God has done to Job is pictured as a loosed bowstring. Without a tight bowstring, the bow is useless and the archer powerless. Job felt useless, defenseless, and aggravated.

These parallel passages present challenging patterns and examples for godly character and lifestyle.

13 They break up my path,
They promote my calamity;
They have no helper.
14 They come as broad breakers;
Under the ruinous storm they roll along.
15 Terrors are turned upon me;
They pursue my honor as the wind,
And my prosperity has passed like a cloud.

16 "And now my soul is poured out because of my plight;
The days of affliction take hold of me.
17 My bones are pierced in me at night,
And my gnawing pains take no rest.
18 By great force my garment is disfigured;
It binds me about as the collar of my coat.
19 He has cast me into the mire,
And I have become like dust and ashes.

20 "I cry out to You, but You do not answer me;
I stand up, and You regard me.
21 But You have become cruel to me;

30:20–23 Job's afflictions were unbearable and yet bearable because they had been permitted by God, who, in Job's understanding, had suddenly turned against him without reason or disclosure. Job was baffled by the silence of God. The word translated "oppose" (Heb. satam, lit. "to act hatefully," v. 21) is probably a play on words with the name for Satan (Heb. satan, lit. "to accuse"; see Job 1:6–12; 2:1–7). Job felt that God was opposing him and acting hatefully toward him even as Satan would. Ironically, Job was accurate in that God had permitted Job's adversities, which were conceived and delivered by Satan.

HUSBANDS TREATED AS A GIFT

To a woman, a man is the most complex of all of God's creatures. He has high expectations for himself; when he fails to attain his dreams, he experiences emotions that are difficult to handle. At times he may be afraid of rejection, comparison to another man, the inability to satisfy his wife. He may feel inadequate, insecure, frustrated, and helpless as he faces the challenges of life. During these times of vulnerability, a man desperately needs an understanding helper (Gen. 2:18). He needs acceptance, appreciation, and affirmation.

A godly husband is going to show respect for his wife in the way he treats her. This begins with his thought life (Prov. 23:7) and moves to his lifestyle (1 Pet. 3:7) and communication (Eph. 4:29). Because women are responders, they generally will respond to efforts or lack of efforts from their husbands. This reciprocity is part of the mystery in sexuality.

God extended acceptance to all people in that He did not wait until we were worthy of His love. He simply loved us first (Rom. 5:8). A wife should treat her husband as if he is already the person God desires him to be.

- A husband needs to have the respect of his wife (Eph. 5:33). He needs her sincere admiration.
- A husband needs appreciation. To appreciate means to recognize worth, to hold in high regard or to respect (Eph. 5:33). A wife needs to express gratitude for her husband's life, faithfulness, work, provision, and care.
- A husband also needs affirmation. A wife should speak kind words (Prov. 31:26) and assure her husband of her love and fidelity (Prov. 31:11, 12).
- A husband needs sexual fulfillment and sensitivity on the part of his wife to this need (1 Cor. 7:3–5).
- A husband needs a home to which he can go for comfort and peace (Gen. 24:67).
- A husband needs to find his wife attractive and be proud of her (Prov. 31:28, 29). He needs to share mutual fellowship and fun with her.

A husband should be considered as a precious gift from God, to be treated with sensitivity, tenderness, and love. To meet his needs requires time—listening, touching, doing kind deeds, and creativity in doing the acts of love (see Eccl. 4:9–12).

With the strength of Your hand You oppose me.
22 You lift me up to the wind and cause me to ride on it;
You spoil my success.
23 For I know that You will bring me to death,
And to the house appointed for all living.

24 "Surely He would not stretch out His hand against a heap of ruins,
If they cry out when He destroys it.
25 Have I not wept for him who was in trouble?
Has not my soul grieved for the poor?
26 But when I looked for good, evil came to me;
And when I waited for light, then came darkness.
27 My heart is in turmoil and cannot rest;
Days of affliction confront me.
28 I go about mourning, but not in the sun;
I stand up in the assembly and cry out for help.
29 I am a brother of jackals,
And a companion of ostriches.
30 My skin grows black and falls from me;
My bones burn with fever.
31 My harp is turned to mourning,
And my flute to the voice of those who weep.

31 "I have made a covenant with my eyes;
Why then should I look upon a young woman?
2 For what is the allotment of God from above,
And the inheritance of the Almighty from on high?
3 Is it not destruction for the wicked,
And disaster for the workers of iniquity?
4 Does He not see my ways,
And count all my steps?

30:31 Job's voice, like the harp and the flute, once sang tunes of joy and happiness, but now rendered dirges and mourning.

31:1–40 Job was desperate to proclaim his own righteousness. He invoked four curses to come upon himself if he was not found innocent (vv. 8, 10, 22, 40). In so doing, his blameless stand before God was all the more bold (vv. 35–37).

31:1 Job was careful not to let lust have a chance by covenanting with his eyes to remain blameless (James 1:14, 15). People fall into sin when they allow their desire to sin to be conceived and grow.

5 "If I have walked with falsehood,
Or if my foot has hastened to deceit,
6 Let me be weighed on honest scales,
That God may know my integrity.
7 If my step has turned from the way,
Or my heart walked after my eyes,
Or if any spot adheres to my hands,
8 Then let me sow, and another eat;
Yes, let my harvest be rooted out.

9 "If my heart has been enticed by a woman,
Or if I have lurked at my neighbor's door,
10 Then let my wife grind for another,
And let others bow down over her.
11 For that would be wickedness;
Yes, it would be iniquity deserving of judgment.
12 For that would be a fire that consumes to destruction,
And would root out all my increase.

13 "If I have despised the cause of my male or female servant
When they complained against me,
14 What then shall I do when God rises up?
When He punishes, how shall I answer Him?
15 Did not He who made me in the womb make them?
Did not the same One fashion us in the womb?

16 "If I have kept the poor from their desire,
Or caused the eyes of the widow to fail,
17 Or eaten my morsel by myself,
So that the fatherless could not eat of it 18 (But from my youth I reared him as a father,
And from my mother's womb I guided the widow[a]);
19 If I have seen anyone perish for lack of clothing,
Or any poor man without covering;
20 If his heart[a] has not blessed me,
And if he was not warmed with the fleece of my sheep;
21 If I have raised my hand against the fatherless,
When I saw I had help in the gate;
22 Then let my arm fall from my shoulder,
Let my arm be torn from the socket.
23 For destruction from God is a terror to me,
And because of His magnificence I cannot endure.

24 "If I have made gold my hope,
Or said to fine gold, 'You are my confidence';
25 If I have rejoiced because my wealth was great,
And because my hand had gained much;
26 If I have observed the sun[a] when it shines,
Or the moon moving in brightness,
27 So that my heart has been secretly enticed,
And my mouth has kissed my hand;
28 This also would be an iniquity deserving of judgment,
For I would have denied God who is above.

29 "If I have rejoiced at the destruction of him who hated me,
Or lifted myself up when evil found him
30 (Indeed I have not allowed my mouth to sin
By asking for a curse on his soul);
31 If the men of my tent have not said,
'Who is there that has not been satisfied with his meat?'
32 (But no sojourner had to lodge in the street,
For I have opened my doors to the traveler[a]);
33 If I have covered my transgressions as Adam,
By hiding my iniquity in my bosom,
34 Because I feared the great multitude,
And dreaded the contempt of families,
So that I kept silence
And did not go out of the door—
35 Oh, that I had one to hear me!
Here is my mark.
Oh, that the Almighty would answer me,
That my Prosecutor had written a book!
36 Surely I would carry it on my shoulder,
And bind it on me like a crown;
37 I would declare to Him the number of my steps;
Like a prince I would approach Him.

38 "If my land cries out against me,
And its furrows weep together;
39 If I have eaten its fruit[a] without money,
Or caused its owners to lose their lives;
40 Then let thistles grow instead of wheat,
And weeds instead of barley."

The words of Job are ended.

31:18 [a]Literally her (compare verse 16) 31:20 [a]Literally loins 31:26 [a]Literally light 31:32 [a]Following Septuagint, Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate; Masoretic Text reads road. 31:39 [a]Literally its strength

31:9, 10 The sin of adultery, which involved a relationship with another man's wife, was serious because of its damage to the family. This section details sins to which strong men are exposed. Although the words for "grind" (Heb. tachan) and "bow down over" (Heb. kara') may suggest the servitude of one to another, the sexual connotations of the context cannot be denied. This curse is particularly humiliating and heinous. Adultery is described as a fire because of the destructiveness of illicit sexual passion (v. 12). For the wife to suffer because of her husband's adultery—a sin committed against her—is entirely comprehensible because of the nature of the family. Certainly this would explain partially Job's determination to avoid adultery.

Elihu Contradicts Job's Friends

32 So these three men ceased answering Job, because he was righteous in his own eyes.
2 Then the wrath of Elihu, the son of Barachel the Buzite, of the family of Ram, was aroused against Job; his wrath was aroused because he justified himself rather than God. 3 Also against his three friends his wrath was aroused, because they had found no answer, and yet had condemned Job.
4 Now because they were years older than he,
Elihu had waited to speak to Job.[a] 5 When Elihu saw that there was no answer in the mouth of these three men, his wrath was aroused.
6 So Elihu, the son of Barachel the Buzite, answered and said:

"I am young in years, and you are very old;
Therefore I was afraid,
And dared not declare my opinion to you.
7 I said, 'Age[a] should speak,
And multitude of years should teach wisdom.'
8 But there is a spirit in man,
And the breath of the Almighty gives him
understanding.
9 Great men[a] are not always wise,
Nor do the aged always understand justice.

10 "Therefore I say, 'Listen to me,
I also will declare my opinion.'
11 Indeed I waited for your words,
I listened to your reasonings, while you searched out what to say.
12 I paid close attention to you;
And surely not one of you convinced Job,
Or answered his words—
13 Lest you say,
'We have found wisdom';
God will vanquish him, not man.
14 Now he has not directed his words against me;
So I will not answer him with your words.

15 "They are dismayed and answer no more;
Words escape them.
16 And I have waited, because they did not speak,
Because they stood still and answered no
more.
17 I also will answer my part,
I too will declare my opinion.
18 For I am full of words;
The spirit within me compels me.
19 Indeed my belly is like wine that has no vent;
It is ready to burst like new wineskins.
20 I will speak, that I may find relief;
I must open my lips and answer.
21 Let me not, I pray, show partiality to anyone;
Nor let me flatter any man.
22 For I do not know how to flatter,
Else my Maker would soon take me away.

Elihu Contradicts Job

33 "But please, Job, hear my speech,
And listen to all my words.
2 Now, I open my mouth;
My tongue speaks in my mouth.
3 My words come from my upright heart;
My lips utter pure knowledge.
4 The Spirit of God has made me,
And the breath of the Almighty gives me life.
5 If you can answer me,
Set your words in order before me;
Take your stand.
6 Truly I am as your spokesman[a] before God;
I also have been formed out of clay.
7 Surely no fear of me will terrify you,
Nor will my hand be heavy on you.

8 "Surely you have spoken in my hearing,
And I have heard the sound of your words,
saying,
9 'I am pure, without transgression;
I am innocent, and there is no iniquity in me.
10 Yet He finds occasions against me,
He counts me as His enemy;
11 He puts my feet in the stocks,
He watches all my paths.'

12 "Look, in this you are not righteous.
I will answer you,
For God is greater than man.
13 Why do you contend with Him?
For He does not give an accounting of any of His words.
14 For God may speak in one way, or in another,

32:4 [a]Vulgate reads till Job had spoken. 32:7 [a]Literally Days, that is, years 32:9 [a]Or Men of many years 33:6 [a]Literally as your mouth

32:1 The significance of Elihu's speeches is greatly debated among scholars. Elihu was not implicated with the other three friends as having spoken wrongly and as having needed Job's prayers of intercession in the end. Therefore, some say that Elihu added another much needed dimension to the discussion on suffering, balancing out the dogmatic theology of the other three. Yet because of his arrogant tone, moralistic verbosity, and his lapse into accusations similar to the other friends against Job, other scholars do not deem his words as comprehensive or substantive.

Some suggest that Elihu's speech could be a later interpolation into the text because of its relatively inferior poetry when compared with the rest of the book and because there is no mention of him or his words before or after he speaks. Some consider his speech to be an untimely interruption that detracts from Job's impassioned challenge to God. Others think of the speech as preparation for Job to hear God. God's lack of comment on Elihu's words could be interpreted as either agreement with or indifference toward his words. At any rate, Elihu's speech is considered more positively than the speeches of the other three.

Yet man does not perceive it.
15 In a dream, in a vision of the night,
When deep sleep falls upon men,
While slumbering on their beds,
16 Then He opens the ears of men,
And seals their instruction.
17 In order to turn man from his deed,
And conceal pride from man,
18 He keeps back his soul from the Pit,
And his life from perishing by the sword.

19 "Man is also chastened with pain on his bed,
And with strong pain in many of his bones,
20 So that his life abhors bread,
And his soul succulent food.
21 His flesh wastes away from sight,
And his bones stick out which once were not seen.
22 Yes, his soul draws near the Pit,
And his life to the executioners.

23 "If there is a messenger for him,
A mediator, one among a thousand,
To show man His uprightness,
24 Then He is gracious to him, and says,
'Deliver him from going down to the Pit;
I have found a ransom';
25 His flesh shall be young like a child's,
He shall return to the days of his youth.
26 He shall pray to God, and He will delight in him,
He shall see His face with joy,
For He restores to man His righteousness.
27 Then he looks at men and says,
'I have sinned, and perverted what was right,
And it did not profit me.'
28 He will redeem his[a] soul from going down to the Pit,
And his[b] life shall see the light.

29 "Behold, God works all these things,
Twice, in fact, three times with a man,
30 To bring back his soul from the Pit,
That he may be enlightened with the light of life.

31 "Give ear, Job, listen to me;
Hold your peace, and I will speak.
32 If you have anything to say, answer me;
Speak, for I desire to justify you.
33 If not, listen to me;
Hold your peace, and I will teach you wisdom."

Elihu Proclaims God's Justice

34 Elihu further answered and said:
2 "Hear my words, you wise men;
Give ear to me, you who have knowledge.
3 For the ear tests words
As the palate tastes food.
4 Let us choose justice for ourselves;
Let us know among ourselves what is good.

5 "For Job has said, 'I am righteous,
But God has taken away my justice;
6 Should I lie concerning my right?
My wound is incurable, though I am without transgression.'
7 What man is like Job,
Who drinks scorn like water,
8 Who goes in company with the workers of iniquity,
And walks with wicked men?
9 For he has said, 'It profits a man nothing
That he should delight in God.'

10 "Therefore listen to me, you men of understanding:
Far be it from God to do wickedness,
And from the Almighty to commit iniquity.
11 For He repays man according to his work,
And makes man to find a reward according to his way.
12 Surely God will never do wickedly,
Nor will the Almighty pervert justice.
13 Who gave Him charge over the earth?
Or who appointed Him over the whole world?
14 If He should set His heart on it,
If He should gather to Himself His Spirit and His breath, 15 All flesh would perish together,
And man would return to dust.

16 "If you have understanding, hear this;
Listen to the sound of my words:
17 Should one who hates justice govern?
Will you condemn Him who is most just?

33:28 [a]Or my (Kethib) [b]Or my (Kethib)

33:23, 24 The way of God is to bring us back to Himself through repentance. In His grace He may send a "mediator" to help the sinner learn the lesson God wants him to learn and thus to "ransom" him from death. The passage may be pointing the way to the future Messiah-Mediator who truly ransoms, delivers, and redeems (see 1 Tim. 2:5, 6).

34:1 The argument of Elihu's second speech fiercely defended God's right to act sovereignly, a point never debated by Job. He accused Job of speaking in ignorance and rebellion, though God never chastised Job for such attitudes. He accused Job of complaining that there would be no profit to refraining from sin (a statement Satan had hoped to get Job to say, though Job refused). Yet, even if Job were being punished for maintaining his innocence, the question remains as to the nature of the sins for which he was being punished in the first place.

18 Is it fitting to say to a king, 'You are worthless,'
And to nobles, 'You are wicked'?
19 Yet He is not partial to princes,
Nor does He regard the rich more than the poor;
For they are all the work of His hands.
20 In a moment they die, in the middle of the night;
The people are shaken and pass away;
The mighty are taken away without a hand.

21 "For His eyes are on the ways of man,
And He sees all his steps.
22 There is no darkness nor shadow of death
Where the workers of iniquity may hide themselves.
23 For He need not further consider a man,
That he should go before God in judgment.
24 He breaks in pieces mighty men without inquiry,
And sets others in their place.
25 Therefore He knows their works;
He overthrows them in the night,
And they are crushed.
26 He strikes them as wicked men
In the open sight of others,
27 Because they turned back from Him,
And would not consider any of His ways,
28 So that they caused the cry of the poor to come to Him;
For He hears the cry of the afflicted.
29 When He gives quietness, who then can make trouble?
And when He hides His face, who then can see Him,
Whether it is against a nation or a man alone?—
30 That the hypocrite should not reign,
Lest the people be ensnared.
31 "For has anyone said to God,
'I have borne chastening;
I will offend no more;
32 Teach me what I do not see;
If I have done iniquity, I will do no more'?
33 Should He repay it according to your terms,
Just because you disavow it?
You must choose, and not I;
Therefore speak what you know.

34 "Men of understanding say to me,
Wise men who listen to me:
35 'Job speaks without knowledge,
His words are without wisdom.'
36 Oh, that Job were tried to the utmost,
Because his answers are like those of wicked men!
37 For he adds rebellion to his sin;
He claps his hands among us,
And multiplies his words against God."

Elihu Condemns Self-Righteousness

35 Moreover Elihu answered and said:
2 "Do you think this is right?
Do you say,
'My righteousness is more than God's'?
3 For you say,
'What advantage will it be to You?
What profit shall I have, more than if I had sinned?'

4 "I will answer you,
And your companions with you.
5 Look to the heavens and see;
And behold the clouds—
They are higher than you.
6 If you sin, what do you accomplish against Him?
Or, if your transgressions are multiplied, what do you do to Him?
7 If you are righteous, what do you give Him?
Or what does He receive from your hand?
8 Your wickedness affects a man such as you,
And your righteousness a son of man.

9 "Because of the multitude of oppressions they cry out;
They cry out for help because of the arm of the mighty.
10 But no one says, 'Where is God my Maker,
Who gives songs in the night,
11 Who teaches us more than the beasts of the earth,
And makes us wiser than the birds of heaven?'
12 There they cry out, but He does not answer,
Because of the pride of evil men.
13 Surely God will not listen to empty talk,
Nor will the Almighty regard it.
14 Although you say you do not see Him,
Yet justice is before Him, and you must wait for Him.
15 And now, because He has not punished in His anger,

35:1–16 The argument of Elihu's third speech was that Job thought too much of himself when he protested his unjust punishment to God. Elihu claimed that a person's righteousness or unrighteousness affected mainly him and not God (vv. 7, 8). God receives nothing from man's righteousness (see Job 22:2, note). Thus Job's many words are meaningless. But Scripture teaches that while God is dependent on mankind for nothing, He is pleased with obedience (see Job 1:8; 2:3; Matt. 25:21, 23) and grieved by disobedience (see Ps. 78:40; Matt. 25:26, 30). Elihu's theology lacked this basic knowledge of the personal God.

Nor taken much notice of folly,
16Therefore Job opens his mouth in vain;
He multiplies words without knowledge."

Elihu Proclaims God's Goodness

36 Elihu also proceeded and said:
2"Bear with me a little, and I will show you
That there are yet words to speak on God's behalf.
3I will fetch my knowledge from afar;
I will ascribe righteousness to my Maker.
4For truly my words are not false;
One who is perfect in knowledge is with you.

5"Behold, God is mighty, but despises no one;
He is mighty in strength of understanding.
6He does not preserve the life of the wicked,
But gives justice to the oppressed.
7He does not withdraw His eyes from the righteous;
But they are on the throne with kings,
For He has seated them forever,
And they are exalted.
8And if they are bound in fetters,
Held in the cords of affliction,
9Then He tells them their work and their transgressions—
That they have acted defiantly.
10He also opens their ear to instruction,
And commands that they turn from iniquity.
11If they obey and serve Him,
They shall spend their days in prosperity,
And their years in pleasures.
12But if they do not obey,
They shall perish by the sword,
And they shall die without knowledge.[a]

13"But the hypocrites in heart store up wrath;
They do not cry for help when He binds them.
14They die in youth,
And their life ends among the perverted persons.[a]
15He delivers the poor in their affliction,
And opens their ears in oppression.

16"Indeed He would have brought you out of dire distress,
Into a broad place where there is no restraint;
And what is set on your table would be full of richness.
17But you are filled with the judgment due the wicked;
Judgment and justice take hold of you.
18Because there is wrath, beware lest He take you away with one blow;
For a large ransom would not help you avoid it.
19Will your riches,
Or all the mighty forces,
Keep you from distress?
20Do not desire the night,
When people are cut off in their place.
21Take heed, do not turn to iniquity,
For you have chosen this rather than affliction.

22"Behold, God is exalted by His power;
Who teaches like Him?
23Who has assigned Him His way,
Or who has said, 'You have done wrong'?

Elihu Proclaims God's Majesty

24"Remember to magnify His work,
Of which men have sung.
25Everyone has seen it;
Man looks on it from afar.

26"Behold, God is great, and we do not know Him;
Nor can the number of His years be discovered.
27For He draws up drops of water,
Which distill as rain from the mist,
28Which the clouds drop down
And pour abundantly on man.
29Indeed, can anyone understand the spreading of clouds,
The thunder from His canopy?
30Look, He scatters His light upon it,
And covers the depths of the sea.
31For by these He judges the peoples;
He gives food in abundance.
32He covers His hands with lightning,
And commands it to strike.
33His thunder declares it,
The cattle also, concerning the rising storm.

37 "At this also my heart trembles,
And leaps from its place.
2Hear attentively the thunder of His voice,
And the rumbling that comes from His mouth.
3He sends it forth under the whole heaven,
His lightning to the ends of the earth.
4After it a voice roars;
He thunders with His majestic voice,
And He does not restrain them when His voice is heard.

36:12 [a]Masoretic Text reads as one without knowledge. 36:14 [a]Hebrew qedeshim, that is, those practicing sodomy and prostitution in religious rituals

36:1 The argument of Elihu's fourth speech continued to expound the theology of retribution both positively (God blesses the righteous, vv. 5–12) and negatively (God judges the wicked, vv. 13–21). He encouraged Job to listen and learn from God and repent. He ended by expounding about how God speaks in and through His magnificent creation, making Him worthy of our fear and awe. Although essentially Elihu did not say anything new, he did prepare Job for God's speeches.

5 God thunders marvelously with His voice;
He does great things which we cannot comprehend.
6 For He says to the snow, 'Fall on the earth';
Likewise to the gentle rain and the heavy rain of His strength.
7 He seals the hand of every man,
That all men may know His work.
8 The beasts go into dens,
And remain in their lairs.
9 From the chamber of the south comes the whirlwind,
And cold from the scattering winds of the north.
10 By the breath of God ice is given,
And the broad waters are frozen.
11 Also with moisture He saturates the thick clouds;
He scatters His bright clouds.
12 And they swirl about, being turned by His guidance,
That they may do whatever He commands
them
On the face of the whole earth.[a] 13 He causes it to come,
Whether for correction,
Or for His land,
Or for mercy.

14 "Listen to this, O Job;
Stand still and consider the wondrous works of God.
15 Do you know when God dispatches them,
And causes the light of His cloud to shine?
16 Do you know how the clouds are balanced,
Those wondrous works of Him who is perfect in knowledge?
17 Why are your garments hot,
When He quiets the earth by the south wind?
18 With Him, have you spread out the skies,
Strong as a cast metal mirror?

19 "Teach us what we should say to Him,
For we can prepare nothing because of the
darkness.
20 Should He be told that I wish to speak?
If a man were to speak, surely he would be swallowed up.
21 Even now men cannot look at the light when it is bright in the skies,
When the wind has passed and cleared them.
22 He comes from the north as golden splendor;
With God is awesome majesty.
23 As for the Almighty, we cannot find Him;
He is excellent in power,
In judgment and abundant justice;
He does not oppress.
24 Therefore men fear Him;
He shows no partiality to any who are wise of heart."

The LORD Reveals His Omnipotence to Job

38 Then the LORD answered Job out of the whirlwind, and said:
2 "Who is this who darkens counsel
By words without knowledge?
3 Now prepare yourself like a man;
I will question you, and you shall answer Me.

4 "Where were you when I laid the foundations of the earth?
Tell Me, if you have understanding.
5 Who determined its measurements?
Surely you know!
Or who stretched the line upon it?
6 To what were its foundations fastened?
Or who laid its cornerstone,
7 When the morning stars sang together,
And all the sons of God shouted for joy?

8 "Or who shut in the sea with doors,
When it burst forth and issued from the womb;
9 When I made the clouds its garment,
And thick darkness its swaddling band;
10 When I fixed My limit for it,
And set bars and doors;
11 When I said,
'This far you may come, but no farther,
And here your proud waves must stop!'

37:12 [a] Literally the world of the earth

38:1 God appeared to Job out of the whirlwind. This both hides and displays his power (compare Ezek. 1:1–4, 26–28). It is an awesome thing to be in the presence of the Lord (Ex. 19:10–25; 33:17–23). God began to ask Job rhetorical questions related to Creator-wisdom that Job could not answer (Job 38:1–3). His questions showed His dominion over the creation of the earth, the sea, time, death, light and darkness, the weather, the heavens, and the animals—both wild and domestic (Job 38:4—39:30). The one who cannot answer these questions about the universe dare not correct the One who planned and maintains it (Job 38:4–7).

That God speaks so much about nature rather than about moral issues is surprising, especially to western readers who have been taught a subtle bias against natural theology, which claims that God is revealed through nature. The Book of Job shows no such aversion. Instead of trying to crush Job with His infinite knowledge and wisdom, God gave him dignity by speaking to him about these things. God's speeches emphasize that if Job can trust God to run the universe, he can trust God to run his life.

38:2, 3 Job showed a lack of understanding when he questioned God. His very words demonstrated a lack of wisdom. God asked the questions of Job.

38:7 The morning stars, perhaps Venus or Mercury, and the "sons of God" or angels together sang in joyful praise at the creation scene. How awesome it would be to hear the whole universe praising the Creator.

12"Have you commanded the morning since your days began,
And caused the dawn to know its place,
13That it might take hold of the ends of the earth,
And the wicked be shaken out of it?
14It takes on form like clay under a seal,
And stands out like a garment.
15From the wicked their light is withheld,
And the upraised arm is broken.

16"Have you entered the springs of the sea?
Or have you walked in search of the depths?
17Have the gates of death been revealed to you?
Or have you seen the doors of the shadow of death?
18Have you comprehended the breadth of the earth?
Tell Me, if you know all this.

19"Where is the way to the dwelling of light?
And darkness, where is its place,
20That you may take it to its territory,
That you may know the paths to its home?
21Do you know it, because you were born then,
Or because the number of your days is great?

22"Have you entered the treasury of snow,
Or have you seen the treasury of hail,
23Which I have reserved for the time of trouble,
For the day of battle and war?
24By what way is light diffused,
Or the east wind scattered over the earth?

25"Who has divided a channel for the overflowing water,
Or a path for the thunderbolt,
26To cause it to rain on a land where there is no one,
A wilderness in which there is no man;
27To satisfy the desolate waste,
And cause to spring forth the growth of tender grass?
28Has the rain a father?
Or who has begotten the drops of dew?
29From whose womb comes the ice?
And the frost of heaven, who gives it birth?
30The waters harden like stone,
And the surface of the deep is frozen.

31"Can you bind the cluster of the Pleiades,
Or loose the belt of Orion?
32Can you bring out Mazzaroth[a] in its season?
Or can you guide the Great Bear with its cubs?
33Do you know the ordinances of the heavens?
Can you set their dominion over the earth?

34"Can you lift up your voice to the clouds,
That an abundance of water may cover you?
35Can you send out lightnings, that they may go,
And say to you, 'Here we are!'?
36Who has put wisdom in the mind?[a]
Or who has given understanding to the heart?
37Who can number the clouds by wisdom?
Or who can pour out the bottles of heaven,
38When the dust hardens in clumps,
And the clods cling together?

39"Can you hunt the prey for the lion,
Or satisfy the appetite of the young lions,
40When they crouch in their dens,
Or lurk in their lairs to lie in wait?
41Who provides food for the raven,
When its young ones cry to God,
And wander about for lack of food?

39 "Do you know the time when the wild mountain goats bear young?
Or can you mark when the deer gives birth?
2Can you number the months that they fulfill?
Or do you know the time when they bear young?
3They bow down,
They bring forth their young,
They deliver their offspring.[a]
4Their young ones are healthy,
They grow strong with grain;
They depart and do not return to them.

5"Who set the wild donkey free?
Who loosed the bonds of the onager,
6Whose home I have made the wilderness,
And the barren land his dwelling?
7He scorns the tumult of the city;
He does not heed the shouts of the driver.
8The range of the mountains is his pasture,
And he searches after every green thing.

9"Will the wild ox be willing to serve you?
Will he bed by your manger?
10Can you bind the wild ox in the furrow with ropes?
Or will he plow the valleys behind you?
11Will you trust him because his strength is great?

38:32 [a]Literally Constellations 38:36 [a]Literally inward parts 39:3 [a]Literally pangs, figurative of offspring

38:31–33 Mazzaroth may refer to a particular constellation or star but cannot be identified with certainty. The picture is one of God leading the stars as if on a chain, binding or harnessing them to cross the skies, then loosening them at the journey's end. This figurative language displays God's sovereign power over the heavenlies (see Job 9:9; Amos 5:8).

ATTRIBUTES OF GOD — HE IS OMNIPOTENT

God can do anything, and He gets things done. However, He cannot lie (Titus 1:2); He can neither be tempted Himself nor tempt anyone with evil (James 1:13); He cannot be in fellowship with sin (Hab. 1:13). These are not weaknesses or inadequacies but rather are perfections of His power.

God is the source of His own power. Who else can create anything by mere words (Ps. 33:9)! From wonders viewed only by means of high-powered microscopes to those viewed through high-powered telescopes, God's power is on display for all to see (Ps. 19:1–4).

God uses His power for His children to conquer death, to provide salvation; to complete their transformation; to equip them for service; to protect, provide, and preserve them; and to secure their inheritance (Rom. 8:31).

If God were not all-powerful, His mercy would be helpless pity; His justice, an empty threat; His knowledge, useless information; and His love, pure frustration. Ultimate power has been coveted by both angels and mankind, but the throne is occupied (Rev. 4:2, 3), and there is no danger of a dethronement (Ps. 93:2–4). God reigns without rival (Ps. 86:8–10).

Or will you leave your labor to him?
12 Will you trust him to bring home your grain,
And gather it to your threshing floor?

13 "The wings of the ostrich wave proudly,
But are her wings and pinions like the kindly stork's?
14 For she leaves her eggs on the ground,
And warms them in the dust;
15 She forgets that a foot may crush them,
Or that a wild beast may break them.
16 She treats her young harshly, as though they were not hers;
Her labor is in vain, without concern,
17 Because God deprived her of wisdom,
And did not endow her with understanding.
18 When she lifts herself on high,
She scorns the horse and its rider.

19 "Have you given the horse strength?
Have you clothed his neck with thunder?[a]
20 Can you frighten him like a locust?
His majestic snorting strikes terror.
21 He paws in the valley, and rejoices in his strength;
He gallops into the clash of arms.
22 He mocks at fear, and is not frightened;
Nor does he turn back from the sword.
23 The quiver rattles against him,
The glittering spear and javelin.
24 He devours the distance with fierceness and rage;
Nor does he come to a halt because the trumpet has sounded.
25 At the blast of the trumpet he says, 'Aha!'
He smells the battle from afar,
The thunder of captains and shouting.

26 "Does the hawk fly by your wisdom,
And spread its wings toward the south?
27 Does the eagle mount up at your command,
And make its nest on high?
28 On the rock it dwells and resides,
On the crag of the rock and the stronghold.
29 From there it spies out the prey;
Its eyes observe from afar.
30 Its young ones suck up blood;
And where the slain are, there it is."

40 Moreover the LORD answered Job, and said:
2 "Shall the one who contends with the Almighty correct Him?
He who rebukes God, let him answer it."

Job's Response to God

3 Then Job answered the LORD and said:

4 "Behold, I am vile;
What shall I answer You?
I lay my hand over my mouth.
5 Once I have spoken, but I will not answer;
Yes, twice, but I will proceed no further."

39:19 [a] Or a mane

39:13–18 The ostrich, which was thought to be stupid because of its awkward appearance, displayed God's sovereignty in creation. The ostrich also has a seemingly hazardous way of raising its young. Yet this heaviest of all birds, though unable to fly, can outrun a fast horse.

God's Challenge to Job

6 Then the LORD answered Job out of the whirlwind, and said:

7 "Now prepare yourself like a man;
I will question you, and you shall answer Me:

8 "Would you indeed annul My judgment?
Would you condemn Me that you may be justified?
9 Have you an arm like God?
Or can you thunder with a voice like His?
10 Then adorn yourself with majesty and splendor,
And array yourself with glory and beauty.
11 Disperse the rage of your wrath;
Look on everyone who is proud, and humble him.
12 Look on everyone who is proud, and bring him low;
Tread down the wicked in their place.
13 Hide them in the dust together,
Bind their faces in hidden darkness.
14 Then I will also confess to you
That your own right hand can save you.
15 "Look now at the behemoth,[a] which I made along with you;
He eats grass like an ox.
16 See now, his strength is in his hips,
And his power is in his stomach muscles.
17 He moves his tail like a cedar;
The sinews of his thighs are tightly knit.
18 His bones are like beams of bronze,
His ribs like bars of iron.
19 He is the first of the ways of God;
Only He who made him can bring near His sword.
20 Surely the mountains yield food for him,
And all the beasts of the field play there.
21 He lies under the lotus trees,
In a covert of reeds and marsh.
22 The lotus trees cover him with their shade;
The willows by the brook surround him.
23 Indeed the river may rage,
Yet he is not disturbed;
He is confident, though the Jordan gushes into his mouth,
24 Though he takes it in his eyes,
Or one pierces his nose with a snare.

41 "Can you draw out Leviathan[a] with a hook,
Or snare his tongue with a line which you lower?
2 Can you put a reed through his nose,
Or pierce his jaw with a hook?
3 Will he make many supplications to you?
Will he speak softly to you?
4 Will he make a covenant with you?
Will you take him as a servant forever?
5 Will you play with him as with a bird,
Or will you leash him for your maidens?
6 Will your companions make a banquet[a] of him?
Will they apportion him among the merchants?
7 Can you fill his skin with harpoons,
Or his head with fishing spears?
8 Lay your hand on him;
Remember the battle—
Never do it again!
9 Indeed, any hope of overcoming him is false;
Shall one not be overwhelmed at the sight of him?
10 No one is so fierce that he would dare stir him up.
Who then is able to stand against Me?
11 Who has preceded Me, that I should pay him?
Everything under heaven is Mine.

12 "I will not conceal[a] his limbs,
His mighty power, or his graceful proportions.
13 Who can remove his outer coat?
Who can approach him with a double bridle?
14 Who can open the doors of his face,
With his terrible teeth all around?
15 His rows of scales are his pride,
Shut up tightly as with a seal;
16 One is so near another

40:15 [a]A large animal, exact identity unknown 41:1 [a]A large sea creature, exact identity unknown 41:6 [a]Or bargain over him 41:12 [a]Literally keep silent about 40:3–5 Job's first response to God. Suddenly aware of his own base position, Job was stunned into silence. However, he did not confess wrongdoing in what he had said.

40:6—41:34 The themes of God's second speech. Job did not dare criticize the judgment of God. Job was not powerful enough to judge the world; he was not even able to contend with two of the most fierce and untamed of God's creatures—behemoth on the land and Leviathan in the sea. Job could not harness God's handiwork (see Job 38:1, note). God's speeches notably did not address any of the issues that Job had been wanting to discuss, nor did they explain why all these adversities had happened to Job. While we might expect God to explain Satan's propositions concerning Job, no such words were offered. Job's greatest need was not to know why things happened but to know Who was in control.

40:15 Behemoth, though unknown, is sometimes identified with the hippopotamus. The language used is both poetic and hyperbolic but nonetheless describes an animal of great strength, which, though feared by man, is used of God for His own purposes.

41:1 Leviathan, a great sea creature, is unknown, but the description seems to fit that of the crocodile. This is not necessarily a mythical creature. "Leviathan" is used symbolically as the object of God's wrath (see Is. 27:1; compare Rev. 12:9). In any case, the point made is that Job, and mankind, cannot control such fearsome creatures. Yet God will use such a beast for His own purposes.

JOB'S BEAUTIFUL DAUGHTERS

Job's first daughters must have lived a life of privilege and honor among their brothers. They were regularly invited to join their brothers in family feasts, and their father regularly interceded for their sins, known or unknown. However, when Satan began to try Job, all the children were killed as the roof literally crushed them during a banquet.

When Job had come through the trials, God restored to him everything he had lost twofold, except for the number of his children. Job was given the same number of children he originally had, seven sons and three daughters.

Of the new children Job was given, only the three daughters were mentioned by name. Jemimah means "turtle-dove," a name that was often used of a bride, describing her fine form and lovely voice. Keziah was the name of a fragrant plant, cassia, which was a prized variety of cinnamon. Keren-Happuch was a horn of eye paint, usually black, that was used to draw attention to a woman's eyes. This was probably the equivalent of modern day eyeliner. These daughters were known for their unparalleled beauty.

The naming of the daughters rather than the sons was unusual as was the fact that Job's daughters were given an inheritance along with their brothers. According to Israelite law, daughters were allowed to inherit if there were no sons (Num. 27:1–11; 36:1–13). Thus Job's gift of an inheritance to his daughters is a special act of grace. This inheritance would allow the daughters to remain in the midst of the family with their brothers and to continue the close affectionate relationships that existed among them. Some commentators speculate that such an inheritance was a sign of Job's new great wealth, while others thought it was a sign of a new generosity that came out of his sufferings. Still another has suggested that it was a sign of gratitude for his new family. Certainly throughout his ordeal, Job had learned to go beyond the letter of the Law to the Author of the Law, who in the end did not pay Job wages deserved but rewarded Job according to His grace.

That no air can come between them;
17 They are joined one to another,
They stick together and cannot be parted.
18 His sneezings flash forth light,
And his eyes are like the eyelids of the morning.
19 Out of his mouth go burning lights;
Sparks of fire shoot out.
20 Smoke goes out of his nostrils,
As from a boiling pot and burning rushes.
21 His breath kindles coals,
And a flame goes out of his mouth.
22 Strength dwells in his neck,
And sorrow dances before him.
23 The folds of his flesh are joined together;
They are firm on him and cannot be moved.
24 His heart is as hard as stone,
Even as hard as the lower millstone.
25 When he raises himself up, the mighty are afraid;
Because of his crashings they are beside[a] themselves.
26 Though the sword reaches him, it cannot avail;
Nor does spear, dart, or javelin.
27 He regards iron as straw,
And bronze as rotten wood.
28 The arrow cannot make him flee;
Slingstones become like stubble to him.
29 Darts are regarded as straw;
He laughs at the threat of javelins.
30 His undersides are like sharp potsherds;
He spreads pointed marks in the mire.
31 He makes the deep boil like a pot;
He makes the sea like a pot of ointment.
32 He leaves a shining wake behind him;
One would think the deep had white hair.
33 On earth there is nothing like him,
Which is made without fear.
34 He beholds every high thing;
He is king over all the children of pride."

Job's Repentance and Restoration

42 Then Job answered the LORD and said:
2 "I know that You can do everything,
And that no purpose of Yours can be withheld from You.
3 You asked, 'Who is this who hides counsel without knowledge?'
Therefore I have uttered what I did not understand,
Things too wonderful for me, which I did not know.
4 Listen, please, and let me speak;

41:25 [a]Or purify themselves

42:1–6 Upon seeing God through the whirlwind, Job was completely humbled, and he repented (Job 38:1). Job finally realized that God, and God alone, runs the universe.

You said, 'I will question you, and you shall answer Me.'

5"I have heard of You by the hearing of the ear,
But now my eye sees You.
6Therefore I abhor myself,
And repent in dust and ashes."

7And so it was, after the LORD had spoken these words to Job, that the LORD said to Eliphaz the Temanite, "My wrath is aroused against you and your two friends, for you have not spoken of Me what is right, as My servant Job has. 8Now therefore, take for yourselves seven bulls and seven rams, go to My servant Job, and offer up for yourselves a burnt offering; and My servant Job shall pray for you. For I will accept him, lest I deal with you according to your folly; because you have not spoken of Me what is right, as My servant Job has."

9So Eliphaz the Temanite and Bildad the Shuhite and Zophar the Naamathite went and did as the LORD commanded them; for the LORD had accepted Job. 10And the LORD restored Job's losses[a] when he prayed for his friends. Indeed the LORD gave Job twice as much as he had before. 11Then all his brothers, all his sisters, and all those who had been his acquaintances before, came to him and ate food with him in his house; and they consoled him and comforted him for all the adversity that the LORD had brought upon him. Each one gave him a piece of silver and each a ring of gold.

12Now the LORD blessed the latter days of Job more than his beginning; for he had fourteen thousand sheep, six thousand camels, one thousand yoke of oxen, and one thousand female donkeys. 13He also had seven sons and three daughters. 14And he called the name of the first Jemimah, the name of the second Keziah, and the name of the third Keren-Happuch. 15In all the land were found no women so beautiful as the daughters of Job; and their father gave them an inheritance among their brothers.

16After this Job lived one hundred and forty years, and saw his children and grandchildren for four generations. 17So Job died, old and full of days.

42:10 [a]Literally Job's captivity, that is, what was captured from Job

42:6 Job did not claim to be sinless, but he was in right standing with God. He did not confess alleged overt sins as bringing about his suffering. Yet he did confess his lack of faith in God and his bitterness of attitude during the time of his suffering (vv. 4–6).

42:7 God accused Job's three friends of speaking in a wrong way about Him, His ways, and His reasons for allowing affliction. Although what they said about God was typical theological jargon, it was distorted and incomplete.

42:8 Seven bulls and seven rams was considered an exceptionally large sacrifice for three men, thus indicating how serious their sins were to God (see Ezek. 45:21–25). Although Job's friends did not pray for him, Job was instructed to be their intercessor. This privilege assigned to Job showed God's high regard for him and vindicated Job from the guilt assigned to him by his friends. The words of Job's wife and of the three friends were contrary to the wisdom of God (see Job 28:28; Prov. 9).

42:10 The restoration of a double portion of his losses was a gracious gift from God, not a reward for Job's goodness or restitution owed him.

42:11 The gifts are typical of the patriarchal period and are customarily given after a calamity. However, Job was properous because of God, not because of the generosity of his family and friends.

42:7–17 The Lord vindicated Job, who took an active role in restoring his three friends. God did not punish the three friends but offered forgiveness. No complaints were heard from Job.

Without the epilogue, one might get the idea that the greatest result of faith was suffering, which could suggest a sadistic faith in a sadistic God. Suffering itself has no intrinsic value, but it does serve as a testing ground for true identity and beliefs. It is also a "hothouse" for character growth and development. While no one can deny that worship is wonderful when everything is going well, only the broken heart knows a closeness with the Lord that is even more blessed. Yet God will not leave His people broken or bewildered forever. The question is not whether God will reward the righteous and punish the wicked, but when He will do it. Whether it happens sooner or later, on earth or in heaven, rewards will indeed be given in God's perfect timing.

Psalms

AUTHOR

The Book of Psalms is a collection of worship songs written by a variety of authors over an extended period in Israel's history. The superscriptions, titles, or headings of some of the psalms identify them with certain individuals or groups. Other psalms contain no reference to authorship. The individual most frequently mentioned is David, and the entire Book of Psalms generally is associated with him. He was recognized as "the sweet psalmist of Israel" (2 Sam. 23:1). The phrase "of David" appearing in the titles of many psalms may also be translated "to David" or "for David," conveying the sense of belonging to the Davidic collection of psalms. Other individuals and groups associated with certain psalms include Asaph, Solomon, Ethan, Moses, and the sons of Korah.

DATE

The nature of the Book of Psalms as a collection of songs for use in Israel's worship makes it difficult to assign a date to the entire book. The psalms were written at various times throughout Israel's history. The superscriptions of some of the psalms identify the precise historical setting (see chart, The Types of Psalms). For example, Psalm 51, David's prayer for forgiveness after he committed adultery with Bathsheba, was probably composed during the tenth century B.C. In contrast, Psalm 137 is a song of God's people, who went into Babylonian captivity (586 B.C.) and remained in captivity until the 538 B.C. edict of King Cyrus of Persia permitted the exiles to return to their homeland. Certain psalms composed by individuals were probably modified later for use in the worship assembly. The Book of Psalms is a part of the section of the Hebrew canon known as the Writings.

BACKGROUND

SETTING: The psalms are derived from a variety of individual and corporate settings in Israel's history, and the superscriptions or headings of certain psalms identify their historical settings. For example, Psalm 3 is set during David's flight from his son Absalom. Ultimately, the psalms became a part of Israel's worship in the temple. Some of the psalms undoubtedly were composed specifically for temple worship.

PURPOSE: The Book of Psalms uniquely reflects individual responses to God's revelation of Himself (see chart, Images of God in Psalms). Women can identify with many of these poets who poured out their hearts to God in prayers, longings, confessions, laments, and thanksgivings. The Book of Psalms functioned as Israel's hymnbook of worship songs, sometimes identified as the Psalter (see charts, Musical Instruments of the Old Testament; Hymns and Songs Associated with Women).

AUDIENCE: The psalms, primarily addressed to the Lord God of Israel, played a significant role in the corporate life of Israel. They encompass a variety of positive and negative human experiences, thus revealing that we can approach God with all the experiences of our lives. God hears the cries of suffering and sin as well as the shouts of joy and gladness from His people (see chart, Psalms for Daily Living).

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: The Book of Psalms contains Hebrew poetry, which is recognized by rhythm rather than rhyme. Primary characteristics of Hebrew poetry include parallelism, meter, and strophic arrangement. Among the many types of parallelism are synonymous, in which the second line repeats the thought of the first line in slightly different words (Ps. 51:2); antithetic, in which the second line stands in contrast to the first (Ps. 1:6); or synthetic, in which the second line advances or completes the thought of the first line (Ps. 107:1).

Meter is determined by the number of accented syllables in a line of poetry. Strophic arrangement refers to the grouping of a psalm or psalms into stanzas by a recurring refrain (Ps. 42:5, 11; 43:5).

THEMES

The Book of Psalms contains responses to God by individuals and the community in worship. Various types of psalms have been identified, including hymns of praise, royal psalms, laments, thanksgivings, enthronement psalms, and wisdom psalms (see chart, The Types of Psalms). Above all, Psalms is a book of praise. A reading of the 150 psalms will shift the focus to the majesty of the God who is to be worshiped, for He is worthy of eternal praise.

OUTLINE

The Book of Psalms generally is outlined according to the various collections or books comprising the whole:

Book I (Ps. 1—41)

Book II (Ps. 42—72)

Book III (Ps. 73—89)

Book IV (Ps. 90—106)

Book V (Ps. 107—150)

Each of these five books ends with a doxology of praise to the Lord (see Ps. 41:13; 72:18, 19; 89:52; 106:48). The entirety of Psalm 150 functions as a doxology to Book V and also as a fitting conclusion to the Book of Psalms.

Book One: Psalms 1—41

PSALM 1

The Way of the Righteous and the End of the Ungodly

1 Blessed is the man
Who walks not in the counsel of the ungodly,
Nor stands in the path of sinners,
Nor sits in the seat of the scornful;
2 But his delight is in the law of the LORD,
And in His law he meditates day and night.
3 He shall be like a tree
Planted by the rivers of water,
That brings forth its fruit in its season,
Whose leaf also shall not wither;
And whatever he does shall prosper.

4 The ungodly are not so,
But are like the chaff which the wind drives away.
5 Therefore the ungodly shall not stand in the judgment,
Nor sinners in the congregation of the righteous.

6 For the LORD knows the way of the righteous,
But the way of the ungodly shall perish.

PSALM 2

The Messiah's Triumph and Kingdom

1 Why do the nations rage,
And the people plot a vain thing?
2 The kings of the earth set themselves,
And the rulers take counsel together,
Against the LORD and against His Anointed, saying,
3 "Let us break Their bonds in pieces
And cast away Their cords from us."

4 He who sits in the heavens shall laugh;
The Lord shall hold them in derision.
5 Then He shall speak to them in His wrath,
And distress them in His deep displeasure:
6 "Yet I have set My King
On My holy hill of Zion."
7 "I will declare the decree:
The LORD has said to Me,
'You are My Son,
Today I have begotten You.
8 Ask of Me, and I will give You
The nations for Your inheritance,
And the ends of the earth for Your possession.
9 You shall break[a] them with a rod of iron;
You shall dash them to pieces like a potter's vessel.' "

10 Now therefore, be wise, O kings;
Be instructed, you judges of the earth.
11 Serve the LORD with fear,
And rejoice with trembling.
12 Kiss the Son,[a] lest He[b] be angry,
And you perish in the way,
When His wrath is kindled but a little.
Blessed are all those who put their trust in Him.

PSALM 3

The LORD Helps His Troubled People

A Psalm of David when he fled from Absalom his son.

1 LORD, how they have increased who trouble me!
Many are they who rise up against me.
2 Many are they who say of me,
"There is no help for him in God." Selah

3 But You, O LORD, are a shield for me,
My glory and the One who lifts up my head.
4 I cried to the LORD with my voice,
And He heard me from His holy hill. Selah

5 I lay down and slept;
I awoke, for the LORD sustained me.
6 I will not be afraid of ten thousands of people
Who have set themselves against me all around.

2:9 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Targum; Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read rule (compare Revelation 2:27). 2:12 [a]Septuagint and Vulgate read Embrace discipline; Targum reads Receive instruction. [b]Septuagint reads the LORD.

1:1–3 The blessed individual is described in both negative and positive phrases in this wisdom psalm (see chart, The Choice Between Life and Death). The word "blessed" is plural in the Hebrew text, perhaps denoting the fullness of blessing that comes to the person who obeys the Lord (v. 1). To know and do the will of God is the essence of wisdom. Happiness and blessing belong to the individual who delights in and continually meditates on God's Word (v. 2). Such meditation is not primarily mental knowledge but a constant yielding to the will of God. Stability and fruitfulness belong to the individual who focuses continually on obedience to God (v. 3).

2:1–3 This royal psalm, most likely connected with the enthronement ceremony of a new king, contrasts the rebellion of earthly kings with the greatness and power of God (see chart, The Types of Psalms). The coronation of a new king in Israel apparently was accompanied by an outburst of unrest and rebellion on the part of nations subject to Israel. Therefore, the king of Israel asserted his authority as the anointed of God (v. 2, "Anointed," lit. "messiah"). Revolt against God's people is portrayed as rebellion against God.

3:3–6 David's flight from his son Absalom prompted this psalm (2 Sam. 15:13–17). In his turmoil, David expressed confidence in the Lord as a shield about him (see chart, Images of God in the Psalms). The small shield of leather or metal was carried by a warrior for protection against an enemy's sword or spear (see also Ps. 5:12). Like this shield, God protects His people. Paul described the shield of faith as providing our protection against the power of evil (Eph. 6:16).

THE CHOICE BETWEEN LIFE AND DEATH

THE WAY OF LIFE	THE WAY OF DEATH
1. Avoid destructive relationships (Ps. 1:1).	1. Experience instability (Ps. 1:4).
2. Delight continually in God's Word (Ps. 1:2).	2. Experience defeat and isolation (Ps. 1:5).
3. Achieve stability and productivity (Ps. 1:3).	3. Experience separation from God (Ps. 1:6).

7 Arise, O LORD;
Save me, O my God!
For You have struck all my enemies on the cheekbone;
You have broken the teeth of the ungodly.
8 Salvation belongs to the LORD.
Your blessing is upon Your people. Selah

PSALM 4

The Safety of the Faithful

To the Chief Musician. With stringed instruments. A Psalm of David.

1 Hear me when I call, O God of my righteousness!
You have relieved me in my distress;
Have mercy on me, and hear my prayer.

2 How long, O you sons of men,
Will you turn my glory to shame?
How long will you love worthlessness
And seek falsehood? Selah
3 But know that the LORD has set apart[a] for Himself him who is godly;
The LORD will hear when I call to Him.

4 Be angry, and do not sin.
Meditate within your heart on your bed, and be still. Selah
5 Offer the sacrifices of righteousness,
And put your trust in the LORD.

6 There are many who say,
"Who will show us any good?"
LORD, lift up the light of Your countenance upon us.
7 You have put gladness in my heart,
More than in the season that their grain and wine increased.
8 I will both lie down in peace, and sleep;
For You alone, O LORD, make me dwell in safety.

PSALM 5

A Prayer for Guidance

To the Chief Musician. With flutes.[a] A Psalm of David.

1 Give ear to my words, O LORD,
Consider my meditation.
2 Give heed to the voice of my cry,
My King and my God,
For to You I will pray.
3 My voice You shall hear in the morning, O LORD;
In the morning I will direct it to You,
And I will look up.

4 For You are not a God who takes pleasure in wickedness, Nor shall evil dwell with You.
5 The boastful shall not stand in Your sight;
You hate all workers of iniquity.
6 You shall destroy those who speak falsehood;
The LORD abhors the bloodthirsty and deceitful man.

4:3 [a]Many Hebrew manuscripts, Septuagint, Targum, and Vulgate read made wonderful. 5:title [a]Hebrew nehiloth

4:4, 5 The poet's faith and trust in God is expressed in this psalm (see also Ps. 3). "The sacrifices of righteousness" are those offered with the right attitude (Ps. 4:5). The assurance of God's protection comes to those who put their trust in Him, and He is the true source of security in an insecure world (v. 8).

5:7–12 Mercy describes God's steadfast love and His covenant loyalty (v. 7). Experiencing God's "mercy" (Heb. chesed, lit. "unfailing love") is a primary benefit of faith in Him. This reference to God's covenant love is often translated "loving-kindness." God's love must be set in the context of His covenant to emphasize the constancy and fidelity of His love for His people. Through this "loving-kindness," God promises forgiveness, compassion, and blessings. His benefits are guaranteed to be unceasing. Such faith leads the believer to "fear" the Lord in reverent obedience (v. 7). Joy, protection, and blessing surround those who put their faith in the Lord (vv. 11, 12). The large "shield" was designed to protect the entire body (v. 12; see also Ps. 3:3–6, note).

PROSPERITY MORE THAN POSSESSIONS

God desires His children to prosper in all things (Gen. 39:3), and He promises prosperity to the godly (Job 22:23–27). Biblical prosperity, however, means more than financial wealth or material possessions. True prosperity is total well-being and is dependent on a lifestyle of righteousness.

The righteous who meditate faithfully on God's Word are those who prosper abundantly (Ps. 1:1–3). Prosperity from God is reserved for those who do the will of God (Josh. 1:8)—keeping His statutes, His commandments, His judgments, and His testimonies (1 Kin. 2:3). Strength and courage as well as prosperity are offered to all who fulfill the statutes and judgments of the Lord (1 Chr. 22:13). Those who live God's way are in position to receive God's help and blessing.

While the Lord rejoices in the prosperity of His children (Ps. 35:27; Eccl. 7:14), He also warns believers about its dangers. As God's children enjoy the blessings of a prosperous life, they naturally tend to forget the source of their blessings (Deut. 8:10–18) and begin to rely on their possessions (including intangible possessions such as family, intelligence, or innate talents) for their identity, ability, and security. Christians are reminded to recognize always that it is God who gives the power to acquire material prosperity (James 1:17).

Jesus taught that material possessions are not a measure of a person's value or spiritual worthiness (Luke 12:15). Paul warned against a pursuit of prosperity as a person's primary motive or "love" (1 Tim. 6:9, 10). Christians should depend entirely on the Lord to provide all their needs (Matt. 6:25, 26) and should give Him thanks as He does.

7 But as for me, I will come into Your house in the multitude of Your mercy;
In fear of You I will worship toward Your holy temple.
8 Lead me, O LORD, in Your righteousness
because of my enemies;
Make Your way straight before my face.

9 For there is no faithfulness in their mouth;
Their inward part is destruction;
Their throat is an open tomb;
They flatter with their tongue.
10 Pronounce them guilty, O God!
Let them fall by their own counsels;
Cast them out in the multitude of their transgressions,
For they have rebelled against You.

11 But let all those rejoice who put their trust in
You;
Let them ever shout for joy, because You defend them;
Let those also who love Your name
Be joyful in You.
12 For You, O LORD, will bless the righteous;
With favor You will surround him as with a shield.

PSALM 6

A Prayer of Faith in Time of Distress

To the Chief Musician. With stringed instruments.
On an eight-stringed harp.[a] A Psalm of David.

1 O LORD, do not rebuke me in Your anger,
Nor chasten me in Your hot displeasure.
2 Have mercy on me, O LORD, for I am
weak;
O LORD, heal me, for my bones are troubled.
3 My soul also is greatly troubled;
But You, O LORD— how long?

4 Return, O LORD, deliver me!
Oh, save me for Your mercies' sake!
5 For in death there is no remembrance of
You;
In the grave who will give You thanks?

6 I am weary with my groaning;
All night I make my bed swim;
I drench my couch with my tears.
7 My eye wastes away because of grief;
It grows old because of all my enemies.

6:title [a]Hebrew sheminith

6:2–10 The seven penitential psalms recognized by the ancient church deal particularly with the nature of sin and forgiveness (Ps. 6; 32; 38; 51; 102; 130; 143; see chart, The Types of Psalms). The psalmist appealed to God's gracious mercy because his "bones" (lit. entire being) were troubled. In Hebrew thought, such suffering was generally connected directly with sin. Therefore, the psalmist's petition for healing constituted a plea for forgiveness. For God to hear the psalmist's prayer confirmed forgiveness (Ps. 6:9) and victory (v. 10), shifting the mood of the poem (vv. 1–7 in contrast to vv. 8–10). The psalmist did not assert his innocence; rather he appealed to the gracious nature of God for forgiveness (see charts, Journey to Forgiveness; Forgiveness: Your Path to Freedom).

PSALM 7

Prayer and Praise for Deliverance from Enemies

A Meditation[a] of David, which he sang to the LORD concerning the words of Cush, a Benjamite.

1 O LORD my God, in You I put my trust;
Save me from all those who persecute me;
And deliver me,
2 Lest they tear me like a lion,
Rending me in pieces, while there is none to deliver.

3 O LORD my God, if I have done this:
If there is iniquity in my hands,
4 If I have repaid evil to him who was at peace with me,
Or have plundered my enemy without cause,
5 Let the enemy pursue me and overtake me;
Yes, let him trample my life to the earth,
And lay my honor in the dust. Selah

6 Arise, O LORD, in Your anger;
Lift Yourself up because of the rage of my enemies;
Rise up for me[a] to the judgment You have commanded!
7 So the congregation of the peoples shall surround You;
For their sakes, therefore, return on high.
8 The LORD shall judge the peoples;
Judge me, O LORD, according to my righteousness,
And according to my integrity within me.

9 Oh, let the wickedness of the wicked come to an end,
But establish the just;
For the righteous God tests the hearts and minds.
10 My defense is of God,
Who saves the upright in heart.

11 God is a just judge,
And God is angry with the wicked every day.
12 If he does not turn back,
He will sharpen His sword;
He bends His bow and makes it ready.
13 He also prepares for Himself instruments of death;
He makes His arrows into fiery shafts.

14 Behold, the wicked brings forth iniquity;
Yes, he conceives trouble and brings forth falsehood.
15 He made a pit and dug it out,
And has fallen into the ditch which he made.
16 His trouble shall return upon his own head,
And his violent dealing shall come down on his own crown.

17 I will praise the LORD according to His righteousness,
And will sing praise to the name of the LORD Most High.

PSALM 8

The Glory of the LORD in Creation

To the Chief Musician. On the instrument of Gath.[a] A Psalm of David.

1 O LORD, our Lord,
How excellent is Your name in all the earth,
Who have set Your glory above the heavens!

2 Out of the mouth of babes and nursing infants
You have ordained strength,
Because of Your enemies,
That You may silence the enemy and the avenger.

3 When I consider Your heavens, the work of Your fingers,
The moon and the stars, which You have ordained,
4 What is man that You are mindful of him,
And the son of man that You visit him?
5 For You have made him a little lower than the angels,[a]
And You have crowned him with glory and honor.

6 You have made him to have dominion over the works of Your hands;
You have put all things under his feet,
7 All sheep and oxen—
Even the beasts of the field,

7:title [a]Hebrew Shiggaion 7:6 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Targum, and Vulgate; Septuagint reads O LORD my God. 8:title [a]Hebrew Al Gittith 8:5 [a]Hebrew Elohim, God; Septuagint, Syriac, Targum, and Jewish tradition translate as angels.

7:1–17 An innocent plea for protection from the false accusations of enemies is reflected, but the psalmist also asked that his enemies overcome him if he was in the wrong (vv. 4, 5). The psalmist's enemies were viewed as the enemies of the Lord (v. 16). "The LORD Most High" (lit. "the Exalted One, LORD over all") is a title found only twice in the Psalms (v. 17; see also Ps. 47:2; chart, Images of God in the Psalms).

8:1 An exaltation of the majestic name of the Lord is the refrain that both begins and ends this poem (vv. 1, 9). While the primary emphasis is on the excellence of God, a secondary emphasis falls on the worth and dignity of those created in God's image. God created us in His image. He also re-created believers (2 Cor. 5:17).

8 The birds of the air,
And the fish of the sea
That pass through the paths of the seas.

9 O LORD, our Lord,
How excellent is Your name in all the earth!

PSALM 9

Prayer and Thanksgiving for the LORD's Righteous Judgments

To the Chief Musician. To the tune of "Death of the Son."[a]
A Psalm of David.

1 I will praise You, O LORD, with my whole heart;
I will tell of all Your marvelous works.
2 I will be glad and rejoice in You;
I will sing praise to Your name, O Most High.

3 When my enemies turn back,
They shall fall and perish at Your presence.
4 For You have maintained my right and my cause;
You sat on the throne judging in righteousness.
5 You have rebuked the nations,
You have destroyed the wicked;
You have blotted out their name forever and ever.

6 O enemy, destructions are finished forever!
And you have destroyed cities;
Even their memory has perished.
7 But the LORD shall endure forever;
He has prepared His throne for judgment.
8 He shall judge the world in righteousness,
And He shall administer judgment for the peoples in uprightness.

9 The LORD also will be a refuge for the oppressed,
A refuge in times of trouble.
10 And those who know Your name will put their trust in You;
For You, LORD, have not forsaken those who seek You.

11 Sing praises to the LORD, who dwells in Zion!
Declare His deeds among the people.
12 When He avenges blood, He remembers them;
He does not forget the cry of the humble.

13 Have mercy on me, O LORD!
Consider my trouble from those who hate me,
You who lift me up from the gates of death,
14 That I may tell of all Your praise
In the gates of the daughter of Zion.
I will rejoice in Your salvation.

15 The nations have sunk down in the pit which they made;
In the net which they hid, their own foot is caught.
16 The LORD is known by the judgment He executes;
The wicked is snared in the work of his own hands.

9:9–11 This psalm of thankful praise celebrates the Lord's righteous judgments. Psalms 9 and 10, closely related in form and language, appear as a single psalm in the Septuagint (a Greek translation of the Hebrew OT). Both psalms express confidence in God's victory over evil. "To know" refers to personal, intimate knowledge. Therefore, those who possess such knowledge and put their trust in the Lord experience His protection during troubled times, prompting the psalmist to encourage his listeners to "sing praises to the LORD!" (Ps. 9:11).

IMAGE OF GOD HIS REFLECTION IN US

What a magnificent concept—God's creation of mankind in His image—patterned after Him, mirroring a family resemblance of Him (2 Cor. 3:18). This does not pertain to the physical nature but rather to the spiritual and moral nature.

How are we like God?

- We are capable of communicating, and in so doing, we can bless or curse (James 3:9).
- We are creative, and creativity gives us joy and satisfaction (Prov. 31:13–22).
- We experience emotions and feelings; we long for relationship and fellowship (Ps. 16:11).
- We discern between right and wrong (Is. 6:5).
- We act and are responsible for our actions (John 3:18).
- We long to pursue Him. Mary sat at Jesus' feet, listening to Him. Jesus let her know that sitting at His feet was important (Luke 10:42).

Even though the original intimate relationship between God and humanity was severed by the Fall (Gen. 3:5–7), God has pursued His children down through the ages, sending His Son that we might be reconciled to Him and become His daughters and sons, His heirs (Rom. 8:14–17). His image can be reflected in us. Through Christ the image is brought back into focus so that His glory shines from the reflection.

17 The wicked shall be turned into hell,
And all the nations that forget God.
18 For the needy shall not always be forgotten;
The expectation of the poor shall not perish forever.

19 Arise, O LORD,
Do not let man prevail;
Let the nations be judged in Your sight.
20 Put them in fear, O LORD,
That the nations may know themselves to be but men. Selah

PSALM 10

A Song of Confidence in God's Triumph over Evil

1 Why do You stand afar off, O LORD?
Why do You hide in times of trouble?
2 The wicked in his pride persecutes the poor;
Let them be caught in the plots which they have devised.

3 For the wicked boasts of his heart's desire;
He blesses the greedy and renounces the LORD.
4 The wicked in his proud countenance does not seek God;
God is in none of his thoughts.

5 His ways are always prospering;
Your judgments are far above, out of his sight;
As for all his enemies, he sneers at them.
6 He has said in his heart, "I shall not be moved;
I shall never be in adversity."
7 His mouth is full of cursing and deceit and oppression;
Under his tongue is trouble and iniquity.

8 He sits in the lurking places of the villages;
In the secret places he murders the innocent;
His eyes are secretly fixed on the helpless.
9 He lies in wait secretly, as a lion in his den;
He lies in wait to catch the poor;
He catches the poor when he draws him into his net.
10 So he crouches, he lies low,
That the helpless may fall by his strength.
11 He has said in his heart,
"God has forgotten;
He hides His face;
He will never see."

12 Arise, O LORD!
O God, lift up Your hand!
Do not forget the humble.
13 Why do the wicked renounce God?
He has said in his heart,
"You will not require an account."

14 But You have seen, for You observe trouble and grief,
To repay it by Your hand.
The helpless commits himself to You;
You are the helper of the fatherless.
15 Break the arm of the wicked and the evil man;
Seek out his wickedness until You find none.

16 The LORD is King forever and ever;
The nations have perished out of His land.
17 LORD, You have heard the desire of the humble;
You will prepare their heart;
You will cause Your ear to hear,

To sin is human, but to persist in sin is devilish.
St. Catherine of Siena

18To do justice to the fatherless and the oppressed,
That the man of the earth may oppress no
more.

PSALM 11

Faith in the LORD's Righteousness

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

1In the LORD I put my trust;
How can you say to my soul,
"Flee as a bird to your mountain"?
2For look! The wicked bend their bow,
They make ready their arrow on the string,
That they may shoot secretly at the upright in
heart.
3If the foundations are destroyed,
What can the righteous do?

4The LORD is in His holy temple,
The LORD's throne is in heaven;
His eyes behold,
His eyelids test the sons of men.
5The LORD tests the righteous,
But the wicked and the one who loves violence
His soul hates.
6Upon the wicked He will rain coals;
Fire and brimstone and a burning wind
Shall be the portion of their cup.

7For the LORD is righteous,
He loves righteousness;
His countenance beholds the upright.[a]

PSALM 12

Man's Treachery and God's Constancy

To the Chief Musician. On an eight-stringed harp.[a]
A Psalm of David.

1Help, LORD, for the godly man ceases!
For the faithful disappear from among the sons of men.
2They speak idly everyone with his neighbor;
With flattering lips and a double heart they speak.

3May the LORD cut off all flattering lips,
And the tongue that speaks proud things,
4Who have said,
"With our tongue we will prevail;
Our lips are our own;
Who is lord over us?"

5"For the oppression of the poor, for the sighing of the needy,
Now I will arise," says the LORD;
"I will set him in the safety for which he yearns."

6The words of the LORD are pure words,
Like silver tried in a furnace of earth,
Purified seven times.
7You shall keep them, O LORD,
You shall preserve them from this generation
forever.

8The wicked prowl on every side,
When vileness is exalted among the sons of men.

PSALM 13

Trust in the Salvation of the LORD

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

1How long, O LORD? Will You forget me forever?
How long will You hide Your face from me?
2How long shall I take counsel in my soul,
Having sorrow in my heart daily?
How long will my enemy be exalted over me?

3Consider and hear me, O LORD my God;
Enlighten my eyes,
Lest I sleep the sleep of death;
4Lest my enemy say,
"I have prevailed against him";
Lest those who trouble me rejoice when I am moved.

5But I have trusted in Your mercy;
My heart shall rejoice in Your salvation.

11:7 [a]Or The upright beholds His countenance 12:title [a]Hebrew sheminith

12:1 All alone in his combat against evil, the poet felt that no good and faithful individual existed in his world (see Jer. 5:1–5; Mic. 7:2). The poet's cry for help is a cry for salvation or deliverance. God responds to the cries of His people, reassuring them of His presence (Ps. 12:5).

13:5, 6 The longing for the Lord's deliverance from sickness and from enemies is echoed throughout the Book of Psalms (see Ps. 6:3; 79:5; 89:46). An abrupt change of tone occurs in this psalm when the psalmist confidently asserted that he was trusting in the Lord's mercy (Heb., chesed: Ps. 13:5; see 5:7–12, note).

TESTING THE STRENGTHENING OF YOUR FAITH

In a sense, every day of life is a test of our relationship with God. But to each person come seasons of special joy or adversity. Both good times and bad times present opportunities for testing our trust in the Lord.

For the Christian this is not like a classroom exam. God is not watching us with grade book in hand, waiting to "pass" or "fail" us based on our performance. Since all have sinned, no human being on earth could pass such a test (Rom. 6:23). Testing comes through the circumstances of our lives so that we can know our own hearts more insightfully and appreciate God's grace more deeply. In such times of testing, we become aware of our thoughts, attitudes, and emotions. Through this self-awareness, God shows us where we must yet yield to Him in trusting obedience.

As the psalmist has written, when God exposes our hearts through testing, He is leading us away from the ways of the world and into the way that is everlasting (Ps. 139:23, 24).

The same kinds of joy and adversity come to believers as to unbelievers. The unbeliever can make little sense of life and her response to it. The Christian can walk through the testing of life's joys and sorrows with full assurance that in Jesus Christ she is becoming the woman God created her to be.

6 I will sing to the LORD,
Because He has dealt bountifully with me.

PSALM 14

Folly of the Godless, and God's Final Triumph

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

1 The fool has said in his heart,
"There is no God."
They are corrupt,
They have done abominable works,
There is none who does good.

2 The LORD looks down from heaven upon the children of men,
To see if there are any who understand, who seek God.
3 They have all turned aside,
They have together become corrupt;
There is none who does good,
No, not one.

4 Have all the workers of iniquity no knowledge,
Who eat up my people as they eat bread,
And do not call on the LORD?
5 There they are in great fear,
For God is with the generation of the righteous.
6 You shame the counsel of the poor,
But the LORD is his refuge.

7 Oh, that the salvation of Israel would come out of Zion!
When the LORD brings back the captivity of His people,
Let Jacob rejoice and Israel be glad.

PSALM 15

The Character of Those Who May Dwell with the LORD

A Psalm of David.

1 LORD, who may abide in Your tabernacle?
Who may dwell in Your holy hill?

2 He who walks uprightly,
And works righteousness,
And speaks the truth in his heart;
3 He who does not backbite with his tongue,
Nor does evil to his neighbor,
Nor does he take up a reproach against his friend;
4 In whose eyes a vile person is despised,
But he honors those who fear the LORD;
He who swears to his own hurt and does not change;
5 He who does not put out his money at usury,

14:1 The foolish individual (Heb. nabal) lacks spiritual discernment, not intelligence, denying the existence of God and living as if God did not exist. The opposite of folly or foolishness in the OT is not intelligence but rather steadfast devotion to the Lord. Paul's use of Psalm 14 emphasizes that we are all foolish as long as we choose to separate ourselves from the wisdom of God found in the gospel of Christ (1 Cor. 1:18–25; compare Ps. 14 with Ps. 53).

15:1–5 Requirements for worshiping God include experiencing fellowship with God. The tabernacle or holy hill refers to the designated place of worship (v. 1). Acceptable worship comes in living blamelessly, doing righteousness, and speaking truth from the heart (v. 2). An individual who "walks uprightly" makes God the focal point of life in both action and words and practices right living daily in her relationships with others (vv. 3–5). This psalm demands self-examination in preparation for worship.

Nor does he take a bribe against the innocent.

He who does these things shall never be moved.

PSALM 16

The Hope of the Faithful, and the Messiah's Victory

A Michtam of David.

[1]Preserve me, O God, for in You I put my trust.

[2]O my soul, you have said to the LORD,
"You are my Lord,
My goodness is nothing apart from You."
[3]As for the saints who are on the earth,
"They are the excellent ones, in whom is all my delight."

[4]Their sorrows shall be multiplied who hasten
after another god;
Their drink offerings of blood I will not offer,
Nor take up their names on my lips.

EMOTIONAL HEALING RESTORING THE POSITIVE

Emotions are God-given, spontaneous responses to events. A person perceives an event in a particular way, and an emotion is aroused that leads to one of at least three responses: The emotion is allowed to escalate so that it becomes destructive to yourself or others; its validity is denied; or it is directed in a manner appropriate and healthy for the situation. Emotions themselves are neither good nor bad. The problem lies in the thoughts that produce emotions and in behaviors resulting from emotions.

Because they are spontaneous, emotions do not last for an extended period unless they are nurtured by the mind and will. Emotions are a caution light reminding us to re-examine what we are thinking. Thus, Paul does not condemn anger (an emotion indicating a boundary has been crossed) but counsels the Ephesians to deal with it quickly. Anger, when wedded with hurt and shame, can develop into bitterness and provide fertile ground for further temptation (Eph. 4:26, 27, 31; Heb. 12:15).

When a person is shamed for having an emotional response such as fear or anger, her tendency is to protect herself by blocking these emotions from conscious awareness. She, being bound by shame, is unable to express the emotion in appropriate, healthy ways. Since emotions are interconnected, denying painful emotions also necessitates burying pleasant ones, and the result is often emotional numbness.

Scripture challenges you to identify your emotions (Ps. 13:1–3; 77:1–6) and to learn how to channel them into positive behaviors. As painful memories surface, you can bring them to God for healing and restoration, allowing Him to remove the shame that has been linked to those memories.

See also Mark 5:2, note; notes on Emotions (Ps. 42); Forgiveness (Ps. 51; Luke 17); Healing (Ps. 133; Eccl. 1; 2 Cor. 5; Gal. 6; James 5)

5 O LORD, You are the portion of my inheritance and my cup;
You maintain my lot.
6 The lines have fallen to me in pleasant places;
Yes, I have a good inheritance.

7 I will bless the LORD who has given me
counsel;
My heart also instructs me in the night seasons.
8 I have set the LORD always before me;
Because He is at my right hand I shall not be moved.

9 Therefore my heart is glad, and my glory
rejoices;
My flesh also will rest in hope.
10 For You will not leave my soul in Sheol, Nor will You allow Your Holy One to see corruption.
11 You will show me the path of life;
In Your presence is fullness of joy;
At Your right hand are pleasures forevermore.

PSALM 17

Prayer with Confidence in Final Salvation

A Prayer of David.

1 Hear a just cause, O LORD,
Attend to my cry;
Give ear to my prayer which is not from deceitful lips.
2 Let my vindication come from Your presence;
Let Your eyes look on the things that are upright.

3 You have tested my heart;
You have visited me in the night;
You have tried me and have found
nothing;
I have purposed that my mouth shall not transgress.
4 Concerning the works of men,
By the word of Your lips,
I have kept away from the paths of the destroyer.
5 Uphold my steps in Your paths,
That my footsteps may not slip.

16:8–11 The psalmist's faith, reflected in this prayer for preservation, cannot be shaken (v. 10). God is present in all the experiences of life with help, counsel, and guidance. Lifelong fellowship with God brings joy (vv. 9, 11). These verses are also a foretelling of the bodily Resurrection of Christ (vv. 9–11; see Acts 2:25–28, 31; 13:35–37).

17:5–7 David was confident that the Lord would protect him as an innocent person facing difficult circumstances (v. 6; see Ps. 1; chart, the Choice Between Life and Death). This psalm is the first to be identified as a prayer in its heading or superscription. Having walked in the paths of God and chosen the way of life, the psalmist expressed confidence that God would hear his cry for help uttered under extreme pressure (Ps. 17:5). For "lovingkindness" (Heb. chesed, v. 7), see Psalm 5:7–12, note. The language reflects Israel's song of deliverance at the time of the Exodus when the Lord defeated the Egyptian army (Ps. 17:7; see Ex. 15:11–13).

6I have called upon You, for You will hear me,
O God;
Incline Your ear to me, and hear my speech.
7Show Your marvelous lovingkindness by Your right hand,
O You who save those who trust in You
From those who rise up against them.
8Keep me as the apple of Your eye;
Hide me under the shadow of Your wings,
9From the wicked who oppress me,
From my deadly enemies who surround me.

10They have closed up their fat hearts;
With their mouths they speak proudly.
11They have now surrounded us in our steps;
They have set their eyes, crouching down to
the earth,
12As a lion is eager to tear his prey,
And like a young lion lurking in secret places.

13Arise, O LORD,
Confront him, cast him down;
Deliver my life from the wicked with Your sword,
14With Your hand from men, O LORD,
From men of the world who have their portion in this life,
And whose belly You fill with Your hidden treasure.
They are satisfied with children,
And leave the rest of their possession for their babes.

15As for me, I will see Your face in righteousness;
I shall be satisfied when I awake in Your likeness.

PSALM 18

God the Sovereign Savior

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David the servant of the LORD, who spoke to the LORD the words of this song on the day that the LORD delivered him from the hand of all his enemies and from the hand of Saul. And he said:

1I will love You, O LORD, my strength.
2The LORD is my rock and my fortress and my deliverer;
My God, my strength, in whom I will trust;
My shield and the horn of my salvation, my stronghold.
3I will call upon the LORD, who is worthy to be praised;
So shall I be saved from my enemies.

4The pangs of death surrounded me,
And the floods of ungodliness made me afraid.
5The sorrows of Sheol surrounded me;
The snares of death confronted me.
6In my distress I called upon the LORD,
And cried out to my God;
He heard my voice from His temple,
And my cry came before Him, even to His ears.

7Then the earth shook and trembled;
The foundations of the hills also quaked and were shaken,
Because He was angry.
8Smoke went up from His nostrils,
And devouring fire from His mouth;
Coals were kindled by it.
9He bowed the heavens also, and came down
With darkness under His feet.
10And He rode upon a cherub, and flew;
He flew upon the wings of the wind.
11He made darkness His secret place;
His canopy around Him was dark waters
And thick clouds of the skies.
12From the brightness before Him,
His thick clouds passed with hailstones and coals of fire.

13The LORD thundered from heaven,
And the Most High uttered His voice,
Hailstones and coals of fire.[a]
14He sent out His arrows and scattered the foe, Lightnings in abundance, and He vanquished
them.
15Then the channels of the sea were seen,
The foundations of the world were uncovered
At Your rebuke, O LORD,

18:13 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Targum, and Vulgate; a few Hebrew manuscripts and Septuagint omit Hailstones and coals of fire.

17:8 God's keeping power is illustrated in tender imagery. "Apple of Your eye" (lit. "pupil") denotes something most dear and precious. "Under the shadow of Your wings" may refer to the ark of the covenant as a symbol of God's presence or to the protection by which God brought Israel to Himself (Ex. 19:4–6).

18:1–3 David offered this hymn of gratitude for his deliverance from the hand of Saul and all his other enemies (see 2 Sam. 22). David began by declaring his love for the Lord and exalting the Lord as his "strength," "rock," "fortress," "deliverer," "shield," "horn of my salvation," and "stronghold" (Ps. 18:1, 2; see chart, Images of God in the Psalms). God is worthy of devotion and praise because of who He is. "Love" (lit. "to have mercy" and translated "tender mercies" in Ps. 51:1) indicates intimate relationship (Ps. 18:1) and is closely associated with a mother's care for her children (see chart, Female Metaphors for God). This eloquent expression describes the quality by which God expresses His Fatherhood and empathizes with our human frailties (Ps. 103:13). It is the ultimate expression of God's presence and His closeness to His children. "Love" (Heb. rachamim, lit. "to have compassion on," always plural in Hebrew text) is the moving force for restoration and salvation and expresses the restraint of God's anger by His love. God's "mercy" is based on His gracious character (see Ps. 89, Attributes of God).

DISTRESS A TIME TO CALL UPON THE LORD

Many were the distresses of the psalmist. Without exception, however, the psalmist turned to the Lord God to be the source of his deliverance in those difficult times (Ps. 18:3, 6). Many of the psalms reflect the pattern found in Psalm 18:

- The psalmist declared his love for the Lord, whom he knows has proven to be sufficient (vv. 1, 2).
- He called out to the Lord to save him from his enemies, confident that God heard him (vv. 3, 6).
- He expressed a heartfelt longing for God's deliverance (v. 19).
- He acknowledged that God is in control despite all the catastrophes he experienced (vv. 16, 17).
- He remained confident even in the midst of delays that kept him from immediate deliverance (vv. 28, 29, 33, 35, 36).
- He glorified God when deliverance came or his enemies were defeated (vv. 43, 47–50).

In the midst of the trials and difficulties that inevitably come, believers can be confident that they are loved, that they will be ultimately delivered, that every delay will be used to edify and make them better, and that deliverance is assured (Rom. 8:31–39).

At the blast of the breath of Your nostrils.

16 He sent from above, He took me;
He drew me out of many waters.
17 He delivered me from my strong enemy,
From those who hated me,
For they were too strong for me.
18 They confronted me in the day of my calamity,
But the LORD was my support.
19 He also brought me out into a broad place;
He delivered me because He delighted in me.

20 The LORD rewarded me according to my righteousness;
According to the cleanness of my hands
He has recompensed me.
21 For I have kept the ways of the LORD,
And have not wickedly departed from my God.
22 For all His judgments were before me,
And I did not put away His statutes from me.
23 I was also blameless before Him,
And I kept myself from my iniquity.
24 Therefore the LORD has recompensed me
according to my righteousness,
According to the cleanness of my hands in His sight.

25 With the merciful You will show Yourself
merciful;
With a blameless man You will show Yourself
blameless;
26 With the pure You will show Yourself pure;
And with the devious You will show Yourself shrewd.

27 For You will save the humble people,
But will bring down haughty looks.

28 For You will light my lamp;
The LORD my God will enlighten my
darkness.
29 For by You I can run against a troop,
By my God I can leap over a wall.
30 As for God, His way is perfect;
The word of the LORD is proven;
He is a shield to all who trust in Him.

31 For who is God, except the LORD?
And who is a rock, except our God?
32 It is God who arms me with strength,
And makes my way perfect.
33 He makes my feet like the feet of deer,
And sets me on my high places.
34 He teaches my hands to make war,
So that my arms can bend a bow of bronze.

35 You have also given me the shield of Your salvation;
Your right hand has held me up,
Your gentleness has made me great.
36 You enlarged my path under me,
So my feet did not slip.

37 I have pursued my enemies and overtaken
them;
Neither did I turn back again till they were destroyed.
38 I have wounded them,
So that they could not rise;
They have fallen under my feet.

18:30 God's way means integrity, soundness and wholeness, utter reliability, and trustworthiness. God functions as a shield of protection for those who take refuge in Him (see Ps. 3:3–6, note; Prov. 30:5).

39For You have armed me with strength for the battle;
You have subdued under me those who rose up against me.
40You have also given me the necks of my enemies,
So that I destroyed those who hated me.
41They cried out, but there was none to save;
Even to the LORD, but He did not answer them.
42Then I beat them as fine as the dust before the wind;
I cast them out like dirt in the streets.

43You have delivered me from the strivings of the people;
You have made me the head of the nations;
A people I have not known shall serve me.
44As soon as they hear of me they obey me;
The foreigners submit to me.
45The foreigners fade away,
And come frightened from their hideouts.

46The LORD lives!
Blessed be my Rock!
Let the God of my salvation be exalted.
47*It is* God who avenges me,
And subdues the peoples under me;
48He delivers me from my enemies.
You also lift me up above those who rise against me;
You have delivered me from the violent man.
49Therefore I will give thanks to You, O LORD, among the Gentiles,
And sing praises to Your name.

50Great deliverance He gives to His king,
And shows mercy to His anointed,
To David and his descendants forevermore.

PSALM 19

The Perfect Revelation of the LORD

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

1The heavens declare the glory of God;
And the firmament shows His handiwork.
2Day unto day utters speech,
And night unto night reveals knowledge.
3*There is* no speech nor language
Where their voice is not heard.
4Their line[a] has gone out through all the earth,
And their words to the end of the world.

In them He has set a tabernacle for the sun,
5Which is like a bridegroom coming out of his chamber,
And rejoices like a strong man to run its race.
6Its rising is from one end of heaven,
And its circuit to the other end;
And there is nothing hidden from its heat.

7The law of the LORD is perfect, converting the soul;
The testimony of the LORD is sure, making wise the simple;
8The statutes of the LORD are right, rejoicing the heart;
The commandment of the LORD is pure, enlightening the eyes;
9The fear of the LORD is clean, enduring forever;
The judgments of the LORD are true and righteous altogether.
10More to be desired are they than gold,
Yea, than much fine gold;
Sweeter also than honey and the honeycomb.
11Moreover by them Your servant is warned,
And in keeping them there is great reward.

12Who can understand his errors?
Cleanse me from secret faults.
13Keep back Your servant also from presumptuous sins;
Let them not have dominion over me.
Then I shall be blameless,
And I shall be innocent of great transgression.

14Let the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart
Be acceptable in Your sight,
O LORD, my strength and my Redeemer.

19:4 [a]Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read sound; Targum reads business.

19:1 God reveals Himself through the beauty of His creation just as a master artist is known by his work. The heavens reveal God's glory (Heb. kabod, lit. "heavy," having the connotation of weightiness). God's glory is His imprimatur or signature in His world, His revelation of Himself to His creation, the physical manifestation of His divine presence, and the external form of His majesty, preeminence, and dignity. Everyone can observe this channel of God's revelation and in so doing cannot miss the awesome Creator, who by His very presence makes a difference and wields the incomparable influence of one who ultimately determines events and makes decisions. The beauty of creation should lead all to worship the Creator and not the creation itself (Rom. 1:20). "Glory" is that essential possession and characteristic of God which all recognize and to which all may respond in confession, worship, and praise.

19:7–9 God's Law provides true wisdom, in revealing how to live a life pleasing to God (Deut. 29:14–29). The "simple" person is one whose mind is open to God's truth (Ps. 19:7). "Fear" is the attitude of reverent obedience (v. 9). Compare Psalm 19:7–14 with Psalm 119, which praises the majesty of God's Word.

PSALM 20

The Assurance of God's Saving Work

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

[1]May the LORD answer you in the day of trouble;
May the name of the God of Jacob defend you;
[2]May He send you help from the sanctuary,
And strengthen you out of Zion;
[3]May He remember all your offerings,
And accept your burnt sacrifice. Selah

[4]May He grant you according to your heart's desire,
And fulfill all your purpose.
[5]We will rejoice in your salvation,
And in the name of our God we will set up our banners!
May the LORD fulfill all your petitions.

[6]Now I know that the LORD saves His anointed;
He will answer him from His holy heaven
With the saving strength of His right hand.

[7]Some trust in chariots, and some in horses;
But we will remember the name of the LORD our God.
[8]They have bowed down and fallen;
But we have risen and stand upright.

[9]Save, LORD!
May the King answer us when we call.

PSALM 21

Joy in the Salvation of the LORD

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

[1]The king shall have joy in Your strength, O LORD;
And in Your salvation how greatly shall he rejoice!
[2]You have given him his heart's desire,
And have not withheld the request of his lips. Selah

[3]For You meet him with the blessings of goodness;
You set a crown of pure gold upon his head.
[4]He asked life from You, and You gave it to him—
Length of days forever and ever.
[5]His glory is great in Your salvation;
Honor and majesty You have placed upon him.
[6]For You have made him most blessed forever;
You have made him exceedingly glad with Your presence.
[7]For the king trusts in the LORD,
And through the mercy of the Most High he shall not be moved.

[8]Your hand will find all Your enemies;
Your right hand will find those who hate You.
[9]You shall make them as a fiery oven in the time of Your anger;
The LORD shall swallow them up in His wrath,
And the fire shall devour them.
[10]Their offspring You shall destroy from the earth,
And their descendants from among the sons of men.
[11]For they intended evil against You;
They devised a plot which they are not able to perform.
[12]Therefore You will make them turn their back;
You will make ready Your arrows on Your string toward their faces.

[13]Be exalted, O LORD, in Your own strength!
We will sing and praise Your power.

PSALM 22

The Suffering, Praise, and Posterity of the Messiah

To the Chief Musician. Set to "The Deer of the Dawn."[a]
A Psalm of David.

[1]My God, My God, why have You forsaken Me?
Why are You so far from helping Me,
And from the words of My groaning?
[2]O My God, I cry in the daytime, but You do not hear;
And in the night season, and am not silent.

[3]But You are holy,
Enthroned in the praises of Israel.
[4]Our fathers trusted in You;
They trusted, and You delivered them.
[5]They cried to You, and were delivered;
They trusted in You, and were not ashamed.

[6]But I am a worm, and no man;
A reproach of men, and despised by the people.

22:title [a]Hebrew Aijeleth Hashahar

20:1–4 The king's need for the assurance of God's presence, perhaps when preparing for battle, is the theme of this psalm. The prayer includes a plea for safety, power, and victory. "The name of the God of Jacob" is a reminder of God's deliverance of Jacob in his time of distress (v. 1; Gen. 35:3). Names are important in identification and relationships (Ps. 20:7; Is. 45, Naming of Children; chart, The Names of God). God does not grant every desire of our hearts, but neither does He withhold the desires of our hearts when they are in tune with His purposes (Ps. 20:4).

22:1–31 This great messianic psalm is fulfilled in Christ on the Cross. The suffering of the victim is depicted (vv. 1–21) as the triumph of faith is portrayed (vv. 22–31). Jesus quoted this psalm of victory from the Cross (v. 1; see Matt. 27:46; Mark 15:34).

After the verb "to love," "to help" is the most beautiful verb in the world.

Bertha Von Suttner

7 All those who see Me ridicule Me;
They shoot out the lip, they shake the head,
saying,
8 "He trusted[a] in the LORD, let Him rescue Him;
Let Him deliver Him, since He delights in Him!"

9 But You are He who took Me out of the womb;
You made Me trust while on My mother's breasts.
10 I was cast upon You from birth.
From My mother's womb
You have been My God.
11 Be not far from Me,
For trouble is near;
For there is none to help.

12 Many bulls have surrounded Me;
Strong bulls of Bashan have encircled Me.
13 They gape at Me with their mouths,
Like a raging and roaring lion.

14 I am poured out like water,
And all My bones are out of joint;
My heart is like wax;
It has melted within Me.
15 My strength is dried up like a potsherd,
And My tongue clings to My jaws;
You have brought Me to the dust of death.

16 For dogs have surrounded Me;
The congregation of the wicked has enclosed Me.
They pierced[a] My hands and My feet;
17 I can count all My bones.
They look and stare at Me.
18 They divide My garments among them,
And for My clothing they cast lots.

19 But You, O LORD, do not be far from Me;
O My Strength, hasten to help Me!
20 Deliver Me from the sword,
My precious life from the power of the dog.
21 Save Me from the lion's mouth
And from the horns of the wild oxen!

You have answered Me.

22 I will declare Your name to My brethren;
In the midst of the assembly I will praise You.
23 You who fear the LORD, praise Him!
All you descendants of Jacob, glorify Him,
And fear Him, all you offspring of Israel!
24 For He has not despised nor abhorred the affliction of the afflicted;
Nor has He hidden His face from Him;
But when He cried to Him, He heard.

25 My praise shall be of You in the great assembly;
I will pay My vows before those who fear Him.
26 The poor shall eat and be satisfied;
Those who seek Him will praise the LORD.
Let your heart live forever!

27 All the ends of the world
Shall remember and turn to the LORD,
And all the families of the nations
Shall worship before You.[a]
28 For the kingdom is the LORD's,
And He rules over the nations.

29 All the prosperous of the earth
Shall eat and worship;
All those who go down to the dust
Shall bow before Him,
Even he who cannot keep himself alive.

30 A posterity shall serve Him.
It will be recounted of the Lord to the next generation, 31 They will come and declare His righteousness to a people who will be born,
That He has done this.

PSALM 23

The LORD the Shepherd of His People

A Psalm of David.

1 The LORD is my shepherd;
I shall not want.

22:8 [a]Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read hoped; Targum reads praised. 22:16 [a]Following some Hebrew manuscripts, Septuagint, Syriac, Vulgate; Masoretic Text reads Like a lion. 22:27 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Septuagint, and Targum; Arabic, Syriac, and Vulgate read Him.

23:1–6 The imagery of the shepherd and sheep in this poem reflects our total dependence on God. A shepherd's chief concern is to do everything to insure the well-being of his flock. The emphasis of this psalm is trust in God to meet our needs (see Phil. 4:19). As the Good Shepherd, God provides for our physical, mental, and spiritual well-being (see John 10:7–18). He provides refreshment in the difficult experiences of life. His "rod" and "staff" lovingly guide, protect, and discipline His sheep. God's "mercy" (Heb. chesed, Ps. 23:6) describes His steadfast love (see Ps. 5:7–12, note).

ATTRIBUTES OF GOD HE IS GOOD

God not only does good; He is the originator of goodness (Gen. 1:31). We have no innate goodness in ourselves; there is no source of goodness outside God (Ps. 16:2; 119:68). To say God is good is to say that He is absolutely pure. There is not a hint of evil or even neutrality. The moment we call Him less than good, we see Him as less than God. Jesus defines "goodness" in one word—God (Matt. 19:16, 17).

Goodness is not one of God's part-time activities (Ps. 136:1). He abounds in it (Ex. 34:6). It is the drive behind His blessings and the reason for His compassion, kindness, and generosity (Ps. 84:11). God does not give out of obligation, for He is never in anyone's debt. He gives out of His goodness. God's goodness is for this life (Ps. 27:13) as well as eternity (Ps. 31:19). It gives hope (Ps. 27:13), leads to repentance (Rom. 2:4), and produces thankfulness (Ps. 136:1). God has started a good work in each believer and has committed Himself to completing His work (Phil. 1:6).

2 He makes me to lie down in green pastures;
He leads me beside the still waters.
3 He restores my soul;
He leads me in the paths of righteousness
For His name's sake.

4 Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death,
I will fear no evil;
For You are with me;
Your rod and Your staff, they comfort me.

5 You prepare a table before me in the presence of my enemies;
You anoint my head with oil;
My cup runs over.
6 Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me
All the days of my life;
And I will dwell[a] in the house of the LORD
Forever.

PSALM 24

The King of Glory and His Kingdom

A Psalm of David.

1 The earth is the LORD's, and all its fullness,
The world and those who dwell therein.
2 For He has founded it upon the seas,
And established it upon the waters.

3 Who may ascend into the hill of the LORD?
Or who may stand in His holy place?
4 He who has clean hands and a pure heart,
Who has not lifted up his soul to an idol,
Nor sworn deceitfully.
5 He shall receive blessing from the LORD,
And righteousness from the God of his salvation.
6 This is Jacob, the generation of those who seek Him,
Who seek Your face. Selah

7 Lift up your heads, O you gates!
And be lifted up, you everlasting doors!
And the King of glory shall come in.
8 Who is this King of glory?
The LORD strong and mighty,
The LORD mighty in battle.
9 Lift up your heads, O you gates!
Lift up, you everlasting doors!
And the King of glory shall come in.
10 Who is this King of glory?
The LORD of hosts,
He is the King of glory. Selah

PSALM 25

A Plea for Deliverance and Forgiveness

A Psalm of David.

1 To You, O LORD, I lift up my soul.
2 O my God, I trust in You;
Let me not be ashamed;
Let not my enemies triumph over me.
3 Indeed, let no one who waits on You be ashamed;
Let those be ashamed who deal treacherously without cause.

4 Show me Your ways, O LORD;
Teach me Your paths.
5 Lead me in Your truth and teach me,
For You are the God of my salvation;
On You I wait all the day.

23:6 [a]Following Septuagint, Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate; Masoretic Text reads return.

6 Remember, O LORD, Your tender mercies and
Your lovingkindnesses,
For they are from of old.
7 Do not remember the sins of my youth, nor my transgressions;
According to Your mercy remember me,
For Your goodness' sake, O LORD.

8 Good and upright is the LORD;
Therefore He teaches sinners in the way.
9 The humble He guides in justice,
And the humble He teaches His way.
10 All the paths of the LORD are mercy and truth,
To such as keep His covenant and His testimonies.
11 For Your name's sake, O LORD,
Pardon my iniquity, for it is great.

12 Who is the man that fears the LORD?
Him shall He[a] teach in the way He[b] chooses.
13 He himself shall dwell in prosperity,
And his descendants shall inherit the earth.
14 The secret of the LORD is with those who fear
Him,
And He will show them His covenant.
15 My eyes are ever toward the LORD,
For He shall pluck my feet out of the net.

16 Turn Yourself to me, and have mercy on me,
For I am desolate and afflicted.
17 The troubles of my heart have enlarged;
Bring me out of my distresses!
18 Look on my affliction and my pain,
And forgive all my sins.
19 Consider my enemies, for they are many;
And they hate me with cruel hatred.
20 Keep my soul, and deliver me;
Let me not be ashamed, for I put my trust in
You.
21 Let integrity and uprightness preserve me,
For I wait for You.

22 Redeem Israel, O God,
Out of all their troubles!

PSALM 26

A Prayer for Divine Scrutiny and Redemption

A Psalm of David.

1 Vindicate me, O LORD,
For I have walked in my integrity.
I have also trusted in the LORD;
I shall not slip.
2 Examine me, O LORD, and prove me;
Try my mind and my heart.
3 For Your lovingkindness is before my eyes,
And I have walked in Your truth.
4 I have not sat with idolatrous mortals,
Nor will I go in with hypocrites.
5 I have hated the assembly of evildoers,
And will not sit with the wicked.

6 I will wash my hands in innocence;
So I will go about Your altar, O LORD, 7 That I may proclaim with the voice of thanksgiving,
And tell of all Your wondrous works.
8 LORD, I have loved the habitation of Your house,
And the place where Your glory dwells.

9 Do not gather my soul with sinners,
Nor my life with bloodthirsty men,
10 In whose hands is a sinister scheme,
And whose right hand is full of bribes.

11 But as for me, I will walk in my integrity;
Redeem me and be merciful to me.
12 My foot stands in an even place;
In the congregations I will bless the LORD.

PSALM 27

An Exuberant Declaration of Faith

A Psalm of David.

1 The LORD is my light and my salvation;
Whom shall I fear?
The LORD is the strength of my life;
Of whom shall I be afraid?
2 When the wicked came against me
To eat up my flesh,
My enemies and foes,
They stumbled and fell.
3 Though an army may encamp against me,
My heart shall not fear;
Though war may rise against me,
In this I will be confident.

4 One thing I have desired of the LORD,
That will I seek:
That I may dwell in the house of the LORD
All the days of my life,
To behold the beauty of the LORD,
And to inquire in His temple.
5 For in the time of trouble

25:12 [a]Or he [b]Or he

27:1–3 The poet declared his confident faith, affirming the Lord as his "light," "salvation," and "strength." God's presence provides the inner resources to overcome fear in difficult experiences (Ps. 23:4). God's love even transcends the love parents have for their children (Ps. 27:10). This psalm does not suggest abandonment by God but rather the committing of oneself to God in utter dependence upon Him.

INTEGRITY SINGLENESS OF HEART

Some mistakenly associate the word "integrity" only with reputation—an external appearance. True integrity is a quality of character—an inward reality that refers to singleness of heart or mind, the development of a blameless character by adhering to an exemplary moral code. The biblical model of integrity is marked by several distinct features:

- innocent actions (Gen. 20:5);
- a clear conscience (Acts 24:16; Heb. 13:18);
- fear of God, truthfulness, and opposition to covetousness (Ex. 18:21);
- blamelessness and uprightness (Job 2:3; Ps. 25:21);
- righteousness (Ps. 7:8);
- freedom from that which is shameful, crafty, or deceitful (2 Cor. 4:2);
- refusal to serve idols (Ps. 24:3–5);
- disassociation with evil doers (Ps. 26:4);
- honorable behavior (2 Cor. 8:21; 1 Pet. 2:12).

The Hebrews understood that:

- integrity of heart guides a person into right and rewarding situations (Prov. 11:3);
- integrity is more acceptable to the Lord than sacrifice (Prov. 21:3); and
- a person's integrity silences critics (1 Pet. 2:13–17).

Integrity provides a "mind set" toward righteousness and an abiding intent to do the will of God and to walk in His ways.

See also Gen. 6:9; 17:1; 1 Kin. 9:4; Job 31:1–40; Matt. 5:8; James 1:6–8; 4:8; notes on Conscience (2 Cor. 1); Fear of the Lord (Prov. 2); Purity (1 John 3)

He shall hide me in His pavilion;
In the secret place of His tabernacle
He shall hide me;
He shall set me high upon a rock.

6 And now my head shall be lifted up above my enemies all around me;
Therefore I will offer sacrifices of joy in His tabernacle;
I will sing, yes, I will sing praises to the LORD.

7 Hear, O LORD, when I cry with my voice!
Have mercy also upon me, and answer me.
8 When You said, "Seek My face,"
My heart said to You, "Your face, LORD, I will seek."
9 Do not hide Your face from me;
Do not turn Your servant away in anger;
You have been my help;
Do not leave me nor forsake me,
O God of my salvation.
10 When my father and my mother forsake me,
Then the LORD will take care of me.

11 Teach me Your way, O LORD,
And lead me in a smooth path, because of my enemies.

12 Do not deliver me to the will of my adversaries;
For false witnesses have risen against me,
And such as breathe out violence.
13 I would have lost heart, unless I had believed That I would see the goodness of the LORD
In the land of the living.

14 Wait on the LORD;
Be of good courage,
And He shall strengthen your heart;
Wait, I say, on the LORD!

PSALM 28

Rejoicing in Answered Prayer

A Psalm of David.

1 To You I will cry, O LORD my Rock:
Do not be silent to me,
Lest, if You are silent to me,
I become like those who go down to the pit.
2 Hear the voice of my supplications
When I cry to You,
When I lift up my hands toward Your holy sanctuary.

3 Do not take me away with the wicked
And with the workers of iniquity,

28:1 The psalmist cried out to God in a time of need. His reference to "the pit" (or death) shows that he felt totally alone and abandoned by God in his experience (v. 1). The poem's tone dramatically changed as the psalmist blessed the Lord for hearing his cry (v. 6) and glorified the Lord as his strength and shield (v. 7).

Who speak peace to their neighbors,
But evil is in their hearts.
4Give them according to their deeds,
And according to the wickedness of their endeavors;
Give them according to the work of their hands;
Render to them what they deserve.
5Because they do not regard the works of the LORD,
Nor the operation of His hands,
He shall destroy them
And not build them up.

6Blessed be the LORD,
Because He has heard the voice of my supplications!
7The LORD is my strength and my shield;
My heart trusted in Him, and I am helped;
Therefore my heart greatly rejoices,
And with my song I will praise Him.

8The LORD is their strength,[a]
And He is the saving refuge of His anointed.
9Save Your people,
And bless Your inheritance;
Shepherd them also,
And bear them up forever.

PSALM 29

Praise to God in His Holiness and Majesty

A Psalm of David.

1Give unto the LORD, O you mighty ones,
Give unto the LORD glory and strength.
2Give unto the LORD the glory due to His name;
Worship the LORD in the beauty of holiness.

3The voice of the LORD is over the waters;
The God of glory thunders;
The LORD is over many waters.
4The voice of the LORD is powerful;
The voice of the LORD is full of majesty.

5The voice of the LORD breaks the cedars,
Yes, the LORD splinters the cedars of Lebanon.
6He makes them also skip like a calf,
Lebanon and Sirion like a young wild ox.
7The voice of the LORD divides the flames of fire.

8The voice of the LORD shakes the wilderness;
The LORD shakes the Wilderness of Kadesh.
9The voice of the LORD makes the deer give birth,
And strips the forests bare;
And in His temple everyone says, "Glory!"

10The LORD sat enthroned at the Flood,
And the LORD sits as King forever.
11The LORD will give strength to His people;
The LORD will bless His people with peace.

PSALM 30

The Blessedness of Answered Prayer

A Psalm. A Song at the dedication of the house of David.

1I will extol You, O LORD, for You have lifted me up,
And have not let my foes rejoice over me.
2O LORD my God, I cried out to You,
And You healed me.
3O LORD, You brought my soul up from the grave;
You have kept me alive, that I should not go down to the pit.[a]

4Sing praise to the LORD, you saints of His,
And give thanks at the remembrance of His holy name.[a] 5For His anger is but for a moment,
His favor is for life;
Weeping may endure for a night,
But joy comes in the morning.

6Now in my prosperity I said,
"I shall never be moved."
7LORD, by Your favor You have made my mountain stand strong;
You hid Your face, and I was troubled.

8I cried out to You, O LORD;
And to the LORD I made supplication:
9"What profit is there in my blood,
When I go down to the pit?
Will the dust praise You?
Will it declare Your truth?
10Hear, O LORD, and have mercy on me;
LORD, be my helper!"

11You have turned for me my mourning into dancing;

28:8 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Targum; Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read the strength of His people. 30:3 [a]Following Qere and Targum; Kethib, Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read from those who descend to the pit. 30:4 [a]Or His holiness

29:1, 2 A revelation of the Lord's majesty is experienced by the palmist in a powerful thunderstorm. David called to the "mighty ones" or heavenly beings to give to the Lord the glory (lit. "heaviness"; see Ps. 19:1, note) and worship (lit. "bowing down") due Him. We worship the Lord when we submit ourselves to His will and purpose for our lives (see Ps. 96:7–9; 1 Chr. 16:28–30).

30:11, 12 The psalmist was critically ill, and the Lord heard his prayer and healed him (vv. 2, 3). Because of the close associa-

FEAR SHUTTING GOD OUT

The admonition to "fear not" is frequently repeated in Scripture. Fear is described as bondage (Rom. 8:15), torment (1 John 4:18), and a snare (Prov. 29:25). Often the phrase "nor be dismayed" (lit. "torn apart," "panicked") accompanies the command to "fear not."

Scripture offers a long list of things about which believers are not to worry: provision (Matt. 6:25), enemies (Deut. 1:21), other gods (2 Kin. 17:35), death (Ps. 23:4), armies and wars (Ps. 27:3), reputation (Ps. 71:24), evil days (Ps. 49:5), children (Ps. 127:3), the future (Ps. 139:1–6), sudden terror (Prov. 3:25, 26), safety (Matt. 10:28), events beyond your control (Matt. 8:26), health (2 Cor. 12:7–10), fearful thoughts (Phil. 4:6, 7), words of others (1 Pet. 3:14), and suffering (Rev. 2:10).

Reasons are also given for not fearing: You are His creation (Is. 44:2); He fights for you (Ex. 14:13); you are loved (1 John 4:9); He is your helper (Heb. 13:6); you are more valuable than the sparrows (Luke 12:7). The reason given most often is God's presence (Gen. 26:24; Deut. 31:8; Rom. 8:15). You do not need to ask for God's presence—He is with you; you have His word on it. But you often need to ask for an awareness of His presence (Is. 41:10, 13). This awareness is most often prompted by remembering His faithfulness in the past (Deut. 7:18, 19).

You have put off my sackcloth and clothed me with gladness,
12 To the end that my glory may sing praise to You and not be silent.
O LORD my God, I will give thanks to You
forever.

PSALM 31

The LORD a Fortress in Adversity

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

1 In You, O LORD, I put my trust;
Let me never be ashamed;
Deliver me in Your righteousness.
2 Bow down Your ear to me,
Deliver me speedily;
Be my rock of refuge,
A fortress of defense to save me.

3 For You are my rock and my fortress;
Therefore, for Your name's sake,
Lead me and guide me.
4 Pull me out of the net which they have secretly laid for me,
For You are my strength.
5 Into Your hand I commit my spirit;
You have redeemed me, O LORD God of truth.

6 I have hated those who regard useless idols;
But I trust in the LORD.
7 I will be glad and rejoice in Your mercy,
For You have considered my trouble;
You have known my soul in adversities,
8 And have not shut me up into the hand of the enemy;
You have set my feet in a wide place.

9 Have mercy on me, O LORD, for I am in trouble;
My eye wastes away with grief,
Yes, my soul and my body!
10 For my life is spent with grief,
And my years with sighing;
My strength fails because of my iniquity,
And my bones waste away.
11 I am a reproach among all my enemies,
But especially among my neighbors,
And am repulsive to my acquaintances;
Those who see me outside flee from me.
12 I am forgotten like a dead man, out of mind;
I am like a broken vessel.
13 For I hear the slander of many;
Fear is on every side;
While they take counsel together against me,
They scheme to take away my life.

14 But as for me, I trust in You, O LORD;
I say, "You are my God."
15 My times are in Your hand;
Deliver me from the hand of my enemies,
And from those who persecute me.
16 Make Your face shine upon Your servant;
Save me for Your mercies' sake.
17 Do not let me be ashamed, O LORD, for I have called upon You;
Let the wicked be ashamed;

tion of sin and illness in Hebrew thought, God's healing, to the psalmist, undoubtedly meant God's forgiveness. The psalmist had felt secure when he enjoyed prosperity and everything was going well (v. 7). He failed to depend on God because of his own self-sufficiency. But in the midst of calamity, he turned to God for help, and God was faithful to hear his prayer (v. 10). Difficult experiences do come to an end (v. 5), and a joyful morning follows a period of sorrow (vv. 5, 11, 12; see also chart, The Bible and Abuse).

31:5 The psalmist's cry for deliverance is based on God's faithfulness (vv. 1–4). A keynote of the psalm is the poet's faith and commitment to the Lord, as he makes the Lord the overseer of his life. Jesus' last words from the Cross included this prayer of faith (Luke 23:46).

THE BIBLE AND ABUSE

PEOPLE UNDER AUTHORITY	COMMAND FROM GOD	PEOPLE IN AUTHORITY	COMMAND TO COUNTERACT POTENTIAL ABUSE
1. Children	Obey (Eph. 6:1; Col. 3:20).	1. Parents	Do not exasperate or embitter a child (Eph. 6:4; Col. 3:21).
2. Slaves	Obey, submit, serve wholeheartedly (Eph. 6:6, 7; Col. 3:22; 1 Tim. 6:1; 1 Pet. 2:18).	2. Masters	Treat slaves well; do not show partiality; provide what is right and fair; do not threaten them (Eph. 6:9; Col. 4:1).
3. Citizens	Submit, obey (Rom. 13:1; Titus 3:1; 1 Pet. 3:13–19).	3. Governing Authorities	God will regulate behavior of government (Prov. 21:1; Rom. 13:1–14).
4. Wives	Submit, obey, respect (Eph. 5:22–24; Col. 3:18; Titus 2:5; 1 Pet. 3:1).	4. Husbands	Be considerate; treat with respect; do not be harsh; love as Christ loved (Eph. 5:25–29; Col. 3:19; 1 Pet. 3:7).
5. Believers	Submit, respect (1 Thess. 5:12; Heb. 13:17; 1 Pet. 5:5).	5. Pastors	Do not "lord over" the flock; be examples; lead by serving (1 Pet. 5:3–5).

Hierarchical structure cannot be dismissed as evil simply because of potential or real abuse.

The New Testament does not present a society without authority or submission but rather an orderly structure ordained of God and functioning in a manner that fulfills the teaching of the New Testament. Christ is the PERFECT MODEL both of willing submission and loving authority.

The Bible nowhere commends slavery. If it gives instruction for the regulation of even slavery, how much more important are its directives concerning relationships Scripture does commend?

Let them be silent in the grave.
18 Let the lying lips be put to silence,
Which speak insolent things proudly and contemptuously against the righteous.

19 Oh, how great is Your goodness,
Which You have laid up for those who fear You,
Which You have prepared for those who trust in You
In the presence of the sons of men!
20 You shall hide them in the secret place of Your presence
From the plots of man;
You shall keep them secretly in a pavilion
From the strife of tongues.

21 Blessed be the LORD,
For He has shown me His marvelous kindness in a strong city!
22 For I said in my haste,
"I am cut off from before Your eyes";
Nevertheless You heard the voice of my supplications
When I cried out to You.

23 Oh, love the LORD, all you His saints!
For the LORD preserves the faithful,
And fully repays the proud person.
24 Be of good courage,
And He shall strengthen your heart,
All you who hope in the LORD.

PSALM 32

The Joy of Forgiveness

A Psalm of David. A Contemplation.[a]

1 Blessed is he whose transgression is forgiven,
Whose sin is covered.

32:title [a]Hebrew Maschil

32:1, 2 The blessedness of forgiveness is celebrated in this penitential psalm of thanksgiving (see Ps. 6:2–10, note; chart, The Types of Psalms). Such forgiveness comes by confessing sin, not denying it. Three words describe sin: "transgression"

ABUSE RITUALISTIC HARM

Abuse—the ritualistic harm or self-gratifying use of a living being—is inflicted by wicked individuals, never by the Lord God or by those who truly follow in His ways. God's loving concern for His people and the value He places on every life is in sharp contrast to abuse. Three of the foremost manifestations of abuse in the Scriptures are:

1. Disdain and rejection. Sterility was considered a curse (see 1 Sam. 1:6), and thus a barren woman became the focus of society's contempt. Children born out of marriage were called names, shunned, treated with severe hostility, and forbidden entrance into the assembly (Deut. 23:2).
2. Slavery. The Mosaic Code contained various regulations to protect slaves from abuse (see Ex. 20:10; Deut. 16:10, 11; 23:15, 16), but slaves under Roman rule had no such protection.
3. Torture. Christians were often the bloody, lacerated victims of Roman gladiatorial shows. Forced to fight wild beasts in amphitheaters for the amusement of Roman spectators, the games ended only upon the Christian's gruesome death. Paul refers to this practice (1 Cor. 15:32).

See also Gen. 16:6; 34:1, 2; Deut. 23:15, 16; 2 Sam. 13:1–22; chart on The Bible and Abuse; notes on Battered Wives (Deut. 22); Conflict (Song 5; Matt. 18); Date Rape (2 Sam. 13); Pain (Job 7; 2 Cor. 12); Rape (Gen. 34); Sanctity of Life (Gen. 9); Suffering (Ps. 33; 113; Is. 43; 1 Pet. 5); portraits of The Levite's Defenseless Concubine (Judg. 19); Tamar (2 Sam. 13)

[2]Blessed is the man to whom the LORD does not impute iniquity,
And in whose spirit there is no deceit.

[3]When I kept silent, my bones grew old
Through my groaning all the day long.
[4]For day and night Your hand was heavy upon me;
My vitality was turned into the drought of summer. Selah
[5]I acknowledged my sin to You,
And my iniquity I have not hidden.
I said, "I will confess my transgressions to the LORD,"
And You forgave the iniquity of my sin. Selah

[6]For this cause everyone who is godly shall pray to You
In a time when You may be found;
Surely in a flood of great waters
They shall not come near him.
[7]You are my hiding place;
You shall preserve me from trouble;
You shall surround me with songs of deliverance. Selah

[8]I will instruct you and teach you in the way you should go;
I will guide you with My eye.
[9]Do not be like the horse or like the mule,
Which have no understanding,
Which must be harnessed with bit and bridle,
Else they will not come near you.

[10]Many sorrows shall be to the wicked;
But he who trusts in the LORD, mercy shall surround him.
[11]Be glad in the LORD and rejoice, you righteous;
And shout for joy, all you upright in heart!

PSALM 33

The Sovereignty of the LORD in Creation and History

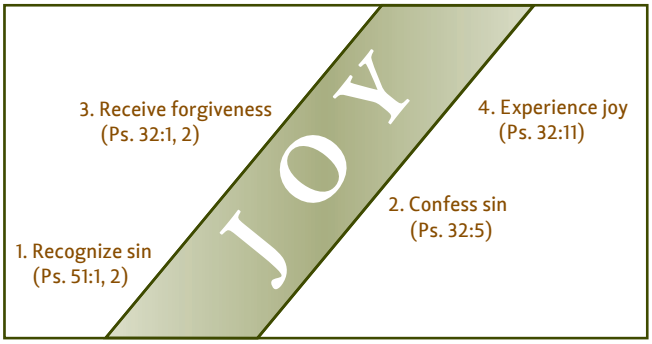
[1]Rejoice in the LORD, O you righteous!
For praise from the upright is beautiful.
[2]Praise the LORD with the harp;

(lit. "rebellion"); "sin" (lit. "miss the mark" or "go wrong"); "iniquity" (lit. "moral crookedness" or "perversion"). The threefold expression of forgiveness also indicates the completeness of God's forgiveness: "forgiven" (lit. "lift" or "take away"); "covered" (lit. "hide" or "conceal"); "does not impute" (lit. "count" or "reckon"). Such forgiveness comes to the individual who, though at one time refusing to have his sin covered, then honestly confessed it to God. (See charts, Journey to Forgiveness; Forgiveness: Your Path to Freedom).

32:10, 11 This proverb of wisdom presents two ways: the way of sorrow for those who persist in their sin and the way of blessedness for those who confess their sin and trust in the Lord (compare Ps. 1; see chart, The Choice Between Life and Death).

33:1–9 This hymn of praise celebrates the greatness of the Lord as Creator. Psalms 32 and 33 were once linked (v. 1; Ps. 32:11). The expression "new song" may designate the freshness that should always characterize our worship (Ps. 33:3; see Rev. 5:9). God spoke and His word came to pass (Ps. 33:6, 7, 9). A good example of synonymous parallelism occurs in verse 8 (see Introduction: Literary Characteristics). The second line of this verse repeats the thought of the first line in slightly different words. Thus "fear" in the first line corresponds to "stand in awe" in the second line. Fear of the Lord is reverence for Him that leads to obedience.

JOURNEY TO FORGIVENESS



Make melody to Him with an instrument of ten strings.
3 Sing to Him a new song;
Play skillfully with a shout of joy.

4 For the word of the LORD is right,
And all His work is done in truth.
5 He loves righteousness and justice;
The earth is full of the goodness of the LORD.

6 By the word of the LORD the heavens were made,
And all the host of them by the breath of His mouth.
7 He gathers the waters of the sea together as a heap;[a]
He lays up the deep in storehouses.

8 Let all the earth fear the LORD;
Let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of Him.
9 For He spoke, and it was done;
He commanded, and it stood fast.

10 The LORD brings the counsel of the nations to
nothing;
He makes the plans of the peoples of no effect.
11 The counsel of the LORD stands forever,
The plans of His heart to all generations.
12 Blessed is the nation whose God is the LORD,
The people He has chosen as His own inheritance.

13 The LORD looks from heaven;
He sees all the sons of men.
14 From the place of His dwelling He looks
On all the inhabitants of the earth;
15 He fashions their hearts individually;
He considers all their works.

16 No king is saved by the multitude of an army;
A mighty man is not delivered by great strength.
17 A horse is a vain hope for safety;
Neither shall it deliver any by its great strength.

18 Behold, the eye of the LORD is on those who fear Him,
On those who hope in His mercy,
19 To deliver their soul from death,
And to keep them alive in famine.

20 Our soul waits for the LORD;
He is our help and our shield.
21 For our heart shall rejoice in Him,
Because we have trusted in His holy name.
22 Let Your mercy, O LORD, be upon us,
Just as we hope in You.

PSALM 34

The Happiness of Those Who Trust in God

A Psalm of David when he pretended madness before Abimelech, who drove him away, and he departed.

1 I will bless the LORD at all times;
His praise shall continually be in my mouth.
2 My soul shall make its boast in the LORD;
The humble shall hear of it and be glad.

33:7 [a]Septuagint, Targum, and Vulgate read in a vessel.

34:1–3 The historical setting of this psalm is identified in its superscription as the time when David feigned insanity before Abimelech, who was identified as Achish (1 Sam. 21:10–15). "Abimelech" may be a general title for Philistine kings, just as "pharaoh" was applied to Egyptian kings.

TIME MANAGEMENT USING GOD'S GIFT OF TIME

Time management is not just keeping busy but includes finding God's focus for you—choosing a direction and moving ahead to accomplish your goals. Managing time is one of the most difficult yet helpful skills a woman can develop. It takes maximum effort and realistic planning.

First, you must acknowledge that you have time—the same amount God has given to everyone. You, with God's help must determine how to use your time (Prov. 3:5, 6). You err in letting others decide your priorities and make your schedule (Rom. 12:2). Remember that by using small bits of time faithfully, you can accomplish great things (Eccl. 9:10).

The foremost challenge a woman faces is not to orchestrate her life or to plan her year but to order each day, allowing for sufficient rest, proper nourishment and exercise, and a quiet time spent exclusively with the Lord. To focus on what is really important, meaningful time must be assigned for vital relationships, especially with a spouse and children in the home.

The "woman of strength" arose early to plan for the day's activities (Prov. 31:15). Just as she had "maidservants," women today have appliances, vehicles, as well as utility and telephone services. These blessings of God are ready to help and serve women in daily, mundane tasks, giving them a maximum amount of time to spend with the Lord and to serve others!

To the Hebrews, a day began in the evening—with rest, family fellowship, as well as study and meditation in God's Word (Ps. 55:17). Jesus said, "Seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness" (Matt. 6:33). One way to do that is to devote the evening hours to quiet rest, reflection, and "inner preparing"—in other words, to prepare yourself in the evening for the coming day as well as to plan your day's schedule upon rising in the morning.

See also Eccl. 3:1–8; 9:11; 11:6; Eph. 5:16; 1 Thess. 4:10–12; notes on Decision Making (1 Cor. 8); Organization (John 9); Priorities (Matt. 6)

3 Oh, magnify the LORD with me,
And let us exalt His name together.

4 I sought the LORD, and He heard me,
And delivered me from all my fears.
5 They looked to Him and were radiant,
And their faces were not ashamed.
6 This poor man cried out, and the LORD heard him,
And saved him out of all his troubles.
7 The angel[a] of the LORD encamps all around those who fear Him,
And delivers them.

8 Oh, taste and see that the LORD is good;
Blessed is the man who trusts in Him!
9 Oh, fear the LORD, you His saints!
There is no want to those who fear Him.
10 The young lions lack and suffer hunger;
But those who seek the LORD shall not lack any good thing.

11 Come, you children, listen to me;
I will teach you the fear of the LORD.
12 Who is the man who desires life,
And loves many days, that he may see good?
13 Keep your tongue from evil,
And your lips from speaking deceit.
14 Depart from evil and do good;
Seek peace and pursue it.

15 The eyes of the LORD are on the righteous,
And His ears are open to their cry.
16 The face of the LORD is against those who do evil,
To cut off the remembrance of them from the earth.

17 The righteous cry out, and the LORD hears,
And delivers them out of all their troubles.
18 The LORD is near to those who have a broken heart,

34:7 [a]Or Angel

34:4–10 David gave thanks because the Lord responded to his cry for help and delivered him from his fears in the sense of snatching away, as one might snatch the prey at the last minute from the mouth of an animal. Jacob utilized this same verb when he prayed that God would "deliver" him from the power of Esau (Gen. 32:11). Thus the poet's face is radiant with victory rather than shameful with defeat (Ps. 34:5). "The angel of the LORD" is the Lord's special messenger appearing at various times in the OT (see chart, The Angel of the Lord). Sometimes He is identified with God Himself (Gen. 22:11, 15, 16; 48:16; Ex. 23:20, 21; Judg. 6:11–23). The poet reminded those who sought the Lord that they would never lack the experience of God's goodness, even in difficult times (Ps. 34:8).

34:11–14 The fear of the Lord is regarded as the essence of wisdom (Prov. 1:7; 3:7; 9:10). The psalmist offered words for wise living, including keeping your tongue from evil, doing good, and pursuing peace. Similar counsel is offered to Christians in the practical Book of James in the NT (see James 3:2, 13; 4:1, 2).

And saves such as have a contrite spirit.

19 Many are the afflictions of the righteous,
But the LORD delivers him out of them all.
20 He guards all his bones;
Not one of them is broken.
21 Evil shall slay the wicked,
And those who hate the righteous shall be condemned.
22 The LORD redeems the soul of His servants,
And none of those who trust in Him shall be condemned.

PSALM 35

The LORD the Avenger of His People

A Psalm of David.

1 Plead my cause, O LORD, with those who strive with me;
Fight against those who fight against me.
2 Take hold of shield and buckler,
And stand up for my help.
3 Also draw out the spear,
And stop those who pursue me.
Say to my soul,
"I am your salvation."

4 Let those be put to shame and brought to dishonor
Who seek after my life;
Let those be turned back and brought to confusion
Who plot my hurt.
5 Let them be like chaff before the wind,
And let the angel[a] of the LORD chase them.
6 Let their way be dark and slippery,
And let the angel of the LORD pursue them.
7 For without cause they have hidden their net
for me in a pit,
Which they have dug without cause for my life.
8 Let destruction come upon him unexpectedly,
And let his net that he has hidden catch himself;
Into that very destruction let him fall.

9 And my soul shall be joyful in the LORD;
It shall rejoice in His salvation.
10 All my bones shall say,
"LORD, who is like You,
Delivering the poor from him who is too strong for him,
Yes, the poor and the needy from him who plunders him?"

11 Fierce witnesses rise up;
They ask me things that I do not know.
12 They reward me evil for good,
To the sorrow of my soul.
13 But as for me, when they were sick,
My clothing was sackcloth;
I humbled myself with fasting;
And my prayer would return to my own heart.
14 I paced about as though he were my friend or
brother;
I bowed down heavily, as one who mourns for his mother.

15 But in my adversity they rejoiced
And gathered together;
Attackers gathered against me,
And I did not know it;
They tore at me and did not cease;
16 With ungodly mockers at feasts
They gnashed at me with their teeth.

17 Lord, how long will You look on?
Rescue me from their destructions,
My precious life from the lions.
18 I will give You thanks in the great assembly;
I will praise You among many people.

19 Let them not rejoice over me who are wrongfully my enemies;
Nor let them wink with the eye who hate me
without a cause.
20 For they do not speak peace,
But they devise deceitful matters
Against the quiet ones in the land.
21 They also opened their mouth wide against
me,
And said, "Aha, aha!
Our eyes have seen it."

22 This You have seen, O LORD;
Do not keep silence.
O Lord, do not be far from me.
23 Stir up Yourself, and awake to my vindication,

35:5 [a]Or Angel

34:19–22 The righteous, those rightly related to the Lord, often suffer much affliction (v. 19). We are to rejoice in suffering for the sake of Christ (2 Tim. 3:12; 1 Pet. 4:12–16; see Ps. 33, Suffering; charts, How to Comfort the Suffering; How to Endure Suffering; Suffering in Divine Perspective). The psalmist realized that faith in the Lord does not offer immunity from adversity (see Acts 5, Adversity). Ultimately victory belongs to those who follow the Lord (see Ps. 1; chart, The Choice Between Life and Death).

35:5, 6 The psalmist experienced suffering from his enemies, who are also God's enemies. He prayed vengeance on his enemies (vv. 5, 6; see Ps. 1:4). Jesus warned His disciples that the world hated Him without reason (John 15:25; see Ps. 35:19). However, this psalm's purpose of calling for vengeance on enemies was transformed in the life of Christ, who taught His followers to love their enemies and to pray for their well-being (Matt. 5:43–48). Jesus displayed an attitude of loving concern toward His enemies (see Luke 22:49–51).

SUFFERING — THE DILEMMA OF HELPLESSNESS

Perhaps the most brutal and degrading form of suffering is violent ill-treatment. The subject of rape appears in the story of King David's daughter, Tamar (2 Sam. 13:1–22). The subject of death is met in the account of Jephthah's daughter (Judg. 11:29–40). Jephthah, quite apart from God's will, makes a vow that if he were to win in battle he would offer as a burnt offering the first person to greet him on his return home. His only daughter became this person, and to save face, he carried out his vow. The tragic irony for Jephthah was the fact that God wished to give him the victory without any such deal. In the end, his daughter gained the true victory because in her obedience to her father her name was perpetuated among the women of Israel in a way in which neither her father nor any subsequent offspring could ever have insured.

The Bible does not present an easy solution to the problem of suffering. Rather, the suffering of Christ is our model. By participating in our suffering through His own suffering and by rising from its absolute destruction, Jesus Christ has shown us that beyond the awfulness of human suffering is a way to victory that serves somehow to transform our fallen world to its former glory (see 2 Tim. 3:12; Heb. 5:8).

See also notes on Abuse (Ps. 31); Adversity (Acts 5); Rape (Gen. 34); Suffering (Ps. 113; Is. 43; 1 Pet. 5); portrait of Jephthah's Obedient Daughter (Judg. 11); Tamar (2 Sam. 13)

To my cause, my God and my Lord.
24 Vindicate me, O LORD my God, according to Your righteousness;
And let them not rejoice over me.
25 Let them not say in their hearts, "Ah, so we would have it!"
Let them not say, "We have swallowed him up."

26 Let them be ashamed and brought to mutual confusion
Who rejoice at my hurt;
Let them be clothed with shame and dishonor
Who exalt themselves against me.

27 Let them shout for joy and be glad,
Who favor my righteous cause;
And let them say continually,
"Let the LORD be magnified,
Who has pleasure in the prosperity of His servant."
28 And my tongue shall speak of Your
righteousness
And of Your praise all the day long.

PSALM 36

Man's Wickedness and God's Perfections

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David the servant of the LORD.

1 An oracle within my heart concerning the transgression of the wicked:
There is no fear of God before his eyes.
2 For he flatters himself in his own eyes,
When he finds out his iniquity and when he hates.
3 The words of his mouth are wickedness and deceit;
He has ceased to be wise and to do good.
4 He devises wickedness on his bed;
He sets himself in a way that is not good;
He does not abhor evil.

5 Your mercy, O LORD, is in the heavens;
Your faithfulness reaches to the clouds.
6 Your righteousness is like the great mountains;
Your judgments are a great deep;
O LORD, You preserve man and beast.

7 How precious is Your lovingkindness, O God!
Therefore the children of men put their trust
under the shadow of Your wings.
8 They are abundantly satisfied with the fullness of Your house,
And You give them drink from the river of
Your pleasures.
9 For with You is the fountain of life;
In Your light we see light.

10 Oh, continue Your lovingkindness to those who know You,
And Your righteousness to the upright in
heart.
11 Let not the foot of pride come against me,

36:5–10 The poet extolled God's great love against the background of human evil. The psalm begins and ends with references to the wicked (vv. 1–4, 11, 12). In between these references is a poignant description of the Lord's love and mercy (vv. 5–10). For "mercy" or "lovingkindness" (Heb. chesed, lit. "steadfast love," vv. 5, 7, 10), see Psalm 5:7–12, note. For "the shadow of Your wings" (Ps. 36:7), see Psalm 17:8, note. God's unchanging love is seen in His constancy or faithfulness (Ps. 36:5), His justice (v. 6), His deliverance or preservation (v. 6), and His abundant provision (v. 8). God is the source of life and light (v. 9). The abundance of His love is poured out on all those who "know" Him, referring to a personal, intimate relationship (v. 10).

And let not the hand of the wicked drive me
away.
12 There the workers of iniquity have fallen;
They have been cast down and are not able to rise.

PSALM 37

The Heritage of the Righteous and the Calamity of the Wicked

A Psalm of David.

1 Do not fret because of evildoers,
Nor be envious of the workers of iniquity.
2 For they shall soon be cut down like the grass,
And wither as the green herb.

3 Trust in the LORD, and do good;
Dwell in the land, and feed on His faithfulness.
4 Delight yourself also in the LORD,
And He shall give you the desires of your heart.

5 Commit your way to the LORD,
Trust also in Him,
And He shall bring it to pass.
6 He shall bring forth your righteousness as the light,
And your justice as the noonday.

7 Rest in the LORD, and wait patiently for Him;
Do not fret because of him who prospers in his way,
Because of the man who brings wicked schemes to pass.
8 Cease from anger, and forsake wrath;
Do not fret—it only causes harm.

9 For evildoers shall be cut off;
But those who wait on the LORD,
They shall inherit the earth.
10 For yet a little while and the wicked shall be no
more;
Indeed, you will look carefully for his place,
But it shall be no more.
11 But the meek shall inherit the earth,
And shall delight themselves in the abundance of peace.

12 The wicked plots against the just,
And gnashes at him with his teeth.
13 The Lord laughs at him,
For He sees that his day is coming.
14 The wicked have drawn the sword
And have bent their bow,
To cast down the poor and needy,
To slay those who are of upright conduct.
15 Their sword shall enter their own heart,
And their bows shall be broken.

16 A little that a righteous man has
Is better than the riches of many wicked.
17 For the arms of the wicked shall be broken,
But the LORD upholds the righteous.

18 The LORD knows the days of the upright,
And their inheritance shall be forever.
19 They shall not be ashamed in the evil time,
And in the days of famine they shall be satisfied.
20 But the wicked shall perish;
And the enemies of the LORD,
Like the splendor of the meadows, shall vanish.
Into smoke they shall vanish away.

21 The wicked borrows and does not repay,
But the righteous shows mercy and gives.
22 For those blessed by Him shall inherit the
earth,
But those cursed by Him shall be cut off.

23 The steps of a good man are ordered by the LORD,
And He delights in his way.
24 Though he fall, he shall not be utterly cast down;
For the LORD upholds him with His hand.

25 I have been young, and now am old;
Yet I have not seen the righteous forsaken,
Nor his descendants begging bread.
26 He is ever merciful, and lends;
And his descendants are blessed.

27 Depart from evil, and do good;
And dwell forevermore.
28 For the LORD loves justice,
And does not forsake His saints;
They are preserved forever,

37:1–11 This collection of wisdom teachings promotes the traditional OT viewpoint: The righteous will prosper, and the wicked will suffer (see Deut. 28). This wisdom teacher instructed his hearers to trust in the Lord (Ps. 37:3), to delight in Him (v. 4), to commit their way to Him (v. 5), to rest in Him (v. 7), and to wait patiently for the Lord (v. 7). The other side of his admonition is the command not to be agitated by evildoers, since their success is temporary (v. 10). Eventually, the "meek" (or humble) will inherit the earth (v. 11; see Matt. 5:5). This inheritance comes as the gift of God, to whom the meek have committed themselves and before whom they humbly submit themselves (Ps. 24:1). The righteous fail and fall down; yet they never experience total defeat (Ps. 37:23, 24). From personal observation the poet drew the conclusion that God never abandons His children (v. 25). Though they may experience the heartaches of a fallen world, God's children are never completely forsaken. In fact, His blessings will extend to the next generation (v. 26).

BROKENHEARTEDNESS A SHATTERED LIFE

The psalmist speaks of a "broken heart" and a "contrite spirit" (Ps. 34:18). A broken heart is experienced when someone else causes a breach in a relationship with us, while a contrite spirit results when we feel sorrow for having caused such a breach, against either God or another human being.

The woman who experiences a broken heart, in many ways, is a "victim" in the wake of another person's actions, whether intentional or unintentional. The broken heart she experiences may be the result of abandonment, rejection, oppression, abuse, or even death. Regardless of the cause, the typical feeling is one of being devastated or feeling as if life has been shattered. Three other emotions are usually quick to arise: fear, loneliness, and despair. In many ways, a broken heart is a "broken spirit," in which you may lose the will to live, to love, or to trust.

One of the foremost roles of the Messiah, and one which Jesus embraced wholeheartedly (Luke 4:18), was to "heal the brokenhearted" (Is. 61:1–3). Jesus very specifically addressed the underlying nature of a broken heart on several occasions. He dealt with fear (Mark 5:36), rejection and feelings of isolation (John 14:16), despair and a loss of will (John 14:1).

The brokenhearted woman finds healing when she chooses to believe again—to believe that she will live, to believe that she will experience love again, to believe that God has a future purpose and plan for her life, or to believe that God will be with her always, even in the darkest hours of her hurt and sorrow (Jer. 29:11–14). In embracing fully the promise of Christ Jesus to heal her broken heart, she finds strength for reaching out to others, trusting that God still has "something new" for her (Lam. 3:22–24).

But the descendants of the wicked shall be cut off.
29 The righteous shall inherit the land,
And dwell in it forever.

30 The mouth of the righteous speaks wisdom,
And his tongue talks of justice.
31 The law of his God is in his heart;
None of his steps shall slide.

32 The wicked watches the righteous,
And seeks to slay him.
33 The LORD will not leave him in his hand,
Nor condemn him when he is judged.

34 Wait on the LORD,
And keep His way,
And He shall exalt you to inherit the land;
When the wicked are cut off, you shall see it.
35 I have seen the wicked in great power,
And spreading himself like a native green tree.
36 Yet he passed away,[a] and behold, he was no more;
Indeed I sought him, but he could not be found.

37 Mark the blameless man, and observe the upright;
For the future of that man is peace.
38 But the transgressors shall be destroyed together;
The future of the wicked shall be cut off.

39 But the salvation of the righteous is from the LORD;
He is their strength in the time of trouble.
40 And the LORD shall help them and deliver them;
He shall deliver them from the wicked,
And save them,
Because they trust in Him.

PSALM 38

Prayer in Time of Chastening

A Psalm of David. To bring to remembrance.

1 O LORD, do not rebuke me in Your wrath,
Nor chasten me in Your hot displeasure!
2 For Your arrows pierce me deeply,
And Your hand presses me down.

37:36 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Septuagint, and Targum; Syriac and Vulgate read I passed by.

38:1–22 This psalmist felt isolated from God, as well as from family and friends, in his suffering (v. 11). He attributed his illness to divine displeasure and viewed his sufferings as God's chastening (see chart, Suffering in Divine Perspective). Although sickness in general is a result of sin in the world, all illness or infirmity is not due to the sin of the afflicted individual (see John 9:1–3). On the other hand, some suffering directly results from specific sins in our lives. We cannot judge others when they are suffering; we can only seek to discern the reasons for our own sufferings (see charts, How to Comfort the Suffering; How to Endure Suffering). The psalmist saw a direct connection between his suffering and his sin, which had overwhelmed him completely. His sense of alienation was compounded by the presence of strong enemies (Ps. 38:19,

3 There is no soundness in my flesh
Because of Your anger,
Nor any health in my bones
Because of my sin.
4 For my iniquities have gone over my head;
Like a heavy burden they are too heavy for me.
5 My wounds are foul and festering
Because of my foolishness.

6 I am troubled, I am bowed down greatly;
I go mourning all the day long.
7 For my loins are full of inflammation,
And there is no soundness in my flesh.
8 I am feeble and severely broken;
I groan because of the turmoil of my heart.

9 Lord, all my desire is before You;
And my sighing is not hidden from You.
10 My heart pants, my strength fails me;
As for the light of my eyes, it also has gone from me.

11 My loved ones and my friends stand aloof from my plague,
And my relatives stand afar off.
12 Those also who seek my life lay snares for me;
Those who seek my hurt speak of destruction,
And plan deception all the day long.

13 But I, like a deaf man, do not hear;
And I am like a mute who does not open his mouth.
14 Thus I am like a man who does not hear,
And in whose mouth is no response.

15 For in You, O Lord, I hope;
You will hear, O Lord my God.
16 For I said, "Hear me, lest they rejoice over me, Lest, when my foot slips, they exalt themselves against me."

17 For I am ready to fall,
And my sorrow is continually before me.
18 For I will declare my iniquity;
I will be in anguish over my sin.
19 But my enemies are vigorous, and they are strong;
And those who hate me wrongfully have multiplied.
20 Those also who render evil for good,
They are my adversaries, because I follow what is good.

21 Do not forsake me, O Lord;
O my God, be not far from me!
22 Make haste to help me,
O Lord, my salvation!

PSALM 39

Prayer for Wisdom and Forgiveness

To the Chief Musician. To Jeduthun. A Psalm of David.

1 I said, "I will guard my ways,
Lest I sin with my tongue;
I will restrain my mouth with a muzzle,
While the wicked are before me."
2 I was mute with silence,
I held my peace even from good;
And my sorrow was stirred up.
3 My heart was hot within me;
While I was musing, the fire burned.
Then I spoke with my tongue:

4 "Lord, make me to know my end,
And what is the measure of my days,
That I may know how frail I am.
5 Indeed, You have made my days as handbreadths,
And my age is as nothing before You;
Certainly every man at his best state is but vapor. Selah
6 Surely every man walks about like a shadow;
Surely they busy themselves in vain;
He heaps up riches,
And does not know who will gather them.

7 "And now, Lord, what do I wait for?
My hope is in You.
8 Deliver me from all my transgressions;
Do not make me the reproach of the foolish.
9 I was mute, I did not open my mouth,
Because it was You who did it.
10 Remove Your plague from me;
I am consumed by the blow of Your hand.
11 When with rebukes You correct man for iniquity,
You make his beauty melt away like a moth;
Surely every man is vapor. Selah

12 "Hear my prayer, O Lord,
And give ear to my cry;

20). The poet believed that God's nearness would bring him healing and forgiveness. Despite his despair, he continued to pray, as we must continue to call on God in times of suffering and loneliness (see Ps. 6:2–10, note; chart, The Types of Psalms).

39:4–6 The transitory nature of life is described as a "vapor" (v. 5) and a "shadow" (v. 6). The suffering psalmist searched to find the meaning of this brief time on earth. The days of life are as "handbreadths," a reference to the width of four fingers (v. 5; see chart, Money and Measurements in the Bible). The tone is similar to that of Ecclesiastes (Eccl. 1:12—12:8), but here the psalmist affirmed that his only hope rested in the Lord and His forgiveness (Ps. 39:7, 8).

DEBT A FORM OF BONDAGE

From a biblical perspective, debt puts a person into a form of bondage—the indebted person is a "servant" to the lender (Prov. 22:7). One of the most significant problems with debt is that it always presumes upon the future (see Job 8:9). When a person chooses to borrow, she presumes that she will have means available to repay her debt in an uncertain and unknown future. James 4:13–16 warns against the assumption that you will be able to control future events. The point is that the future is in God's hands (Acts 1:7).

To borrow without repaying is not an option for a Christian (Ps. 37:21). Two of Jesus' parables deal with the matter of repaying money that has been loaned (Luke 16:1–8; 19:12–27). Believers were instructed that borrowed items were always to be returned (Ex. 22:7–15; 2 Kin. 6:5). Lenders are admonished to be generous in loaning to the poor (Ps. 37:26). The Law provided for the poor who were unable to repay a debt to have that debt canceled every seventh year (Deut. 15:7–11)—a reminder that God is bigger than all problems, including financial ones. Going into debt may deny God the opportunity to work (Is. 55:8, 9). He can work in exciting ways if we trust Him to do so.

Do not be silent at my tears;
For I am a stranger with You,
A sojourner, as all my fathers were.
13 Remove Your gaze from me, that I may regain strength,
Before I go away and am no more."

PSALM 40

Faith Persevering in Trial

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

1 I waited patiently for the LORD;
And He inclined to me,
And heard my cry.
2 He also brought me up out of a horrible pit,
Out of the miry clay,
And set my feet upon a rock,
And established my steps.
3 He has put a new song in my mouth—
Praise to our God;
Many will see it and fear,
And will trust in the LORD.

4 Blessed is that man who makes the LORD his trust,
And does not respect the proud, nor such as turn aside to lies.
5 Many, O LORD my God, are Your wonderful works
Which You have done;
And Your thoughts toward us
Cannot be recounted to You in order;
If I would declare and speak of them,
They are more than can be numbered.

6 Sacrifice and offering You did not desire;
My ears You have opened.
Burnt offering and sin offering You did not require.
7 Then I said, "Behold, I come;
In the scroll of the book it is written of me.
8 I delight to do Your will, O my God,
And Your law is within my heart."

9 I have proclaimed the good news of righteousness
In the great assembly;
Indeed, I do not restrain my lips,
O LORD, You Yourself know.
10 I have not hidden Your righteousness within my heart;
I have declared Your faithfulness and Your salvation;
I have not concealed Your lovingkindness and Your truth
From the great assembly.

11 Do not withhold Your tender mercies from me, O LORD;
Let Your lovingkindness and Your truth continually preserve me.
12 For innumerable evils have surrounded me;

40:1–3 All those who wait on the Lord in patient expectation will discover security and refreshing newness in fellowship with Him. This poet began by praising the Lord for answered prayer. He had waited on the Lord in patient expectation and was not disappointed. The Lord responded to his cry for help and gave him stability and a "new song," which became his testimony to others (v. 3). The Lord gave the poet firm footing, a new stability resulting from his relationship with the Lord.

40:6 The OT sacrificial system is not rejected, but sacrifice and offering are worthless if not presented to God with the right attitude. Acts of worship are meaningless ritual if not accompanied by obedience (see 1 Sam. 15:22). The sacrifice of self-will and self-importance is the primary sacrifice that God desires (see Ps. 51:16, 17).

Disorder in society is the result of disorder in the family.
St. Angela Merici

My iniquities have overtaken me, so that I am not able to look up;
They are more than the hairs of my head;
Therefore my heart fails me.

13 Be pleased, O LORD, to deliver me;
O LORD, make haste to help me!
14 Let them be ashamed and brought to mutual confusion
Who seek to destroy my life;
Let them be driven backward and brought to dishonor
Who wish me evil.
15 Let them be confounded because of their shame,
Who say to me, "Aha, aha!"

16 Let all those who seek You rejoice and be glad in You;
Let such as love Your salvation say continually,
"The LORD be magnified!"
17 But I am poor and needy;
Yet the LORD thinks upon me.
You are my help and my deliverer;
Do not delay, O my God.

PSALM 41

The Blessing and Suffering of the Godly

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

1 Blessed is he who considers the poor;
The LORD will deliver him in time of trouble.
2 The LORD will preserve him and keep him alive,
And he will be blessed on the earth;
You will not deliver him to the will of his enemies.
3 The LORD will strengthen him on his bed of illness;
You will sustain him on his sickbed.

4 I said, "LORD, be merciful to me;
Heal my soul, for I have sinned against You."
5 My enemies speak evil of me:
"When will he die, and his name perish?"
6 And if he comes to see me, he speaks lies;
His heart gathers iniquity to itself;
When he goes out, he tells it.

7 All who hate me whisper together against me;
Against me they devise my hurt.
8 "An evil disease," they say, "clings to him.
And now that he lies down, he will rise up no more."
9 Even my own familiar friend in whom I trusted,
Who ate my bread,
Has lifted up his heel against me.

10 But You, O LORD, be merciful to me, and raise me up,
That I may repay them.
11 By this I know that You are well pleased with me,
Because my enemy does not triumph over me.
12 As for me, You uphold me in my integrity,
And set me before Your face forever.

13 Blessed be the LORD God of Israel
From everlasting to everlasting!
Amen and Amen.

PSALM 42

Yearning for God in the Midst of Distresses

To the Chief Musician. A Contemplation[a] of the sons of Korah.

1 As the deer pants for the water brooks,
So pants my soul for You, O God.
2 My soul thirsts for God, for the living God.
When shall I come and appear before God?[a]
3 My tears have been my food day and night,

42:title [a]Hebrew Maschil 42:2 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Vulgate; some Hebrew manuscripts, Septuagint, Syriac, and Targum read I see the face of God.

41:1–3 A beatitude noting the blessing on the individual who gives attention to the poor opens this psalm (see Matt. 5:7; chart, Beatitudes for Women). James reminded his hearers that true religion involves the outward dimension of visiting orphans and widows and meeting the needs of the helpless members of society (James 1:27). The psalm reminds us that the Lord rewards those who show compassion toward others (Ps. 41:1–3). Jesus taught His followers that ministering to the needs of the poor with compassion was serving Him (see Matt. 25:31–46).

41:13 This benediction or doxology may be regarded as a conclusion to Book I of the Psalms (see Introduction: Outline). Note the benedictions at the end of Book II (Ps. 72:18, 19), Book III (Ps. 89:52), and Book IV (Ps. 106:48).

42:1, 2 This poet felt that God was remote and distant. He expressed his deep longing for God as being comparable to the

EMOTIONS EXPRESSING WHAT IS WITHIN

Emotions are at the core of our being and reflect one profound aspect of the wonder of being made in the image of God (Num. 32:10; Is. 53:3; John 11:33). More than anything else they reflect our attitudes and behavior. Emotions often express outwardly our innermost beliefs. For instance, if we believe in God's sovereignty and ultimate control, we exchange fear and worry for peace and contentment.

God makes Himself known to us not only in truth and by decree but in the way He reveals His heart. God is passionate in His pursuit of us, and that passion is expressed in a variety of emotions: grief at the rebellion of His children (Hos. 11:8, 9), anger at their idolatry (Jer. 2:11–13), and delight upon their return to Him (Luke 15:11–32). God's longing for an unhindered relationship with His children is found all through Scripture (Jer. 17:9, 10).

Women, too, who are made in His image not only think and choose—they feel. Their personalities are interwoven with an intricate mix of mind, will, and emotions. To be able to experience pain or joy, sadness or anger is to feel alive. You not only do yourself damage and limit your potential in Christ when you deny or suppress your emotions, you reduce your understanding of who God is. Emotion—that is passionate, heartfelt desire—is part of the energy that bonds believers to God and to each other in a rich, meaningful way.

Emotions are a gift from God intended to compel us to take action. For example, our anger at a "wrong" committed against us or someone else can compel us to seek justice. As important as our emotions are, we must never be ruled by them—rather, we must subject our emotions to a will that is yielded to God. All emotions are intended to be expressed in a godly manner so as not to cause hurt to other people or result in manipulation of other people.

While they continually say to me,
"Where is your God?"

4 When I remember these things,
I pour out my soul within me.
For I used to go with the multitude;
I went with them to the house of God,
With the voice of joy and praise,
With a multitude that kept a pilgrim feast.

5 Why are you cast down, O my soul?
And why are you disquieted within me?
Hope in God, for I shall yet praise Him
For the help of His countenance.[a]

6 O my God,[a] my soul is cast down within me;
Therefore I will remember You from the land of the Jordan,
And from the heights of Hermon,
From the Hill Mizar.
7 Deep calls unto deep at the noise of Your waterfalls;
All Your waves and billows have gone over me.
8 The LORD will command His lovingkindness in the daytime,
And in the night His song shall be with me—
A prayer to the God of my life.

9 I will say to God my Rock,
"Why have You forgotten me?
Why do I go mourning because of the oppression of the enemy?"
10 As with a breaking of my bones,
My enemies reproach me,
While they say to me all day long,
"Where is your God?"

11 Why are you cast down, O my soul?
And why are you disquieted within me?
Hope in God;
For I shall yet praise Him,
The help of my countenance and my God.

PSALM 43

Prayer to God in Time of Trouble

1 Vindicate me, O God,
And plead my cause against an ungodly nation;
Oh, deliver me from the deceitful and unjust man!
2 For You are the God of my strength;

42:5 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Targum; a few Hebrew manuscripts, Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read The help of my countenance, my God. 42:6 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Targum; a few Hebrew manuscripts, Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate put my God at the end of verse 5.

intense thirst of a deer for water during a time of severe drought. The poet longed to enjoy once more the assurance of God's presence with him. All who belong to God experience times when God seems absent, and they long for the reassurance of His presence. Psalms 42 and 43 provide guidance in such times.

Why do You cast me off?
Why do I go mourning because of the
oppression of the enemy?

3 Oh, send out Your light and Your truth!
Let them lead me;
Let them bring me to Your holy hill
And to Your tabernacle.
4 Then I will go to the altar of God,
To God my exceeding joy;
And on the harp I will praise You,
O God, my God.

5 Why are you cast down, O my soul?
And why are you disquieted within me?
Hope in God;
For I shall yet praise Him,
The help of my countenance and my God.

PSALM 44

Redemption Remembered in Present Dishonor

To the Chief Musician. A Contemplation[a] of the sons of Korah.

1 We have heard with our ears, O God,
Our fathers have told us,
The deeds You did in their days,
In days of old:
2 You drove out the nations with Your hand,
But them You planted;
You afflicted the peoples, and cast them out.
3 For they did not gain possession of the land by their own sword,
Nor did their own arm save them;
But it was Your right hand, Your arm, and the light of Your countenance,
Because You favored them.

4 You are my King, O God;[a]
Command[b] victories for Jacob.
5 Through You we will push down our enemies;
Through Your name we will trample those who rise up against us.
6 For I will not trust in my bow,
Nor shall my sword save me.
7 But You have saved us from our enemies,
And have put to shame those who hated us.
8 In God we boast all day long,
And praise Your name forever. Selah

9 But You have cast us off and put us to shame,
And You do not go out with our armies.
10 You make us turn back from the enemy,
And those who hate us have taken spoil for themselves.
11 You have given us up like sheep intended for food,
And have scattered us among the nations.
12 You sell Your people for next to nothing,
And are not enriched by selling them.

13 You make us a reproach to our neighbors,
A scorn and a derision to those all around us.
14 You make us a byword among the nations,
A shaking of the head among the peoples.
15 My dishonor is continually before me,
And the shame of my face has covered me,
16 Because of the voice of him who reproaches and reviles,
Because of the enemy and the avenger.

17 All this has come upon us;
But we have not forgotten You,
Nor have we dealt falsely with Your covenant.
18 Our heart has not turned back,
Nor have our steps departed from Your way;
19 But You have severely broken us in the place of jackals,
And covered us with the shadow of death.

20 If we had forgotten the name of our God,
Or stretched out our hands to a foreign
god,
21 Would not God search this out?
For He knows the secrets of the heart.
22 Yet for Your sake we are killed all day long;
We are accounted as sheep for the slaughter.

23 Awake! Why do You sleep, O Lord?
Arise! Do not cast us off forever.
24 Why do You hide Your face,
And forget our affliction and our oppression?
25 For our soul is bowed down to the dust;
Our body clings to the ground.
26 Arise for our help,
And redeem us for Your mercies' sake.

44:title [a]Hebrew Maschil 44:4 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Targum; Septuagint and Vulgate read and my God. [b]Following Masoretic Text and Targum; Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read Who commands.

44:21–26 National calamity for Israel, probably a time of military defeat, may have prompted this psalm. The psalmist reflected on the military victories God had accomplished for His people in the past (vv. 2, 3), calling to mind God's acts on behalf of His people when they entered the Promised Land under Joshua's leadership. The psalmist expected God to bring military victory for His people in the present just as He had in the past (vv. 1–8). Instead, God's people experienced calamity (vv. 9–16), despite their faithfulness to the Lord (vv. 17–22). The apostle Paul stressed that God is always with His children even in the midst of suffering, making them more than conquerors (Rom. 8:36–39). The poet concluded by calling on the Lord to arise and deliver His people (Ps. 44:20–26).

It is such a joy when I awaken to salute God by singing.

PSALM 45

The Glories of the Messiah and His Bride

To the Chief Musician. Set to "The Lilies."[a]
A Contemplation[b] of the sons of Korah. A Song of Love.

[1]My heart is overflowing with a good theme;
I recite my composition concerning the King;
My tongue is the pen of a ready writer.

[2]You are fairer than the sons of men;
Grace is poured upon Your lips;
Therefore God has blessed You forever.
[3]Gird Your sword upon Your thigh, O Mighty One,
With Your glory and Your majesty.
[4]And in Your majesty ride prosperously because of truth, humility, and righteousness;
And Your right hand shall teach You awesome things.
[5]Your arrows are sharp in the heart of the King's enemies;
The peoples fall under You.

[6]Your throne, O God, is forever and ever;
A scepter of righteousness is the scepter of Your kingdom.
[7]You love righteousness and hate wickedness;
Therefore God, Your God, has anointed You
With the oil of gladness more than Your companions.
[8]All Your garments are scented with myrrh and aloes and cassia,
Out of the ivory palaces, by which they have made You glad.
[9]Kings' daughters are among Your honorable women;
At Your right hand stands the queen in gold from Ophir.

[10]Listen, O daughter,
Consider and incline your ear;
Forget your own people also, and your father's house;
[11]So the King will greatly desire your beauty;
Because He is your Lord, worship Him.
[12]And the daughter of Tyre will come with a gift;
The rich among the people will seek your favor.

[13]The royal daughter is all glorious within the palace;
Her clothing is woven with gold.
[14]She shall be brought to the King in robes of many colors;
The virgins, her companions who follow her, shall be brought to You.
[15]With gladness and rejoicing they shall be brought;
They shall enter the King's palace.

[16]Instead of Your fathers shall be Your sons,
Whom You shall make princes in all the earth.
[17]I will make Your name to be remembered in all generations;
Therefore the people shall praise You forever and ever.

PSALM 46

God the Refuge of His People and Conqueror of the Nations

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of the sons of Korah. A Song for Alamoth.

[1]God is our refuge and strength,
A very present help in trouble.
[2]Therefore we will not fear,
Even though the earth be removed,
And though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea;
[3]Though its waters roar and be troubled,
Though the mountains shake with its swelling. Selah

45:title [a]Hebrew Shoshannim [b]Hebrew Maschil

45:6, 7 The royal wedding of a great king, an ethical leader loving right and hating evil, is celebrated in this psalm. The robes, spices, fragrance (v. 8), royal daughters, and the royal bride all enhance this special anointing of the son of David. The queen (bride) of foreign descent was encouraged to submit to her husband as a token of her ultimate association with the people of God (v. 11; see Ruth 1:16). The "daughter of Tyre" is a personification for the people of Tyre. The bride was comforted by the honor of being counted among the people of God (Ps. 45:12–17). This reference is also used for the Messiah (Heb. 1:8, 9). As God's son, His throne is forever, and His kingdom is righteousness (Ps. 45:6).

46:1–3 The psalmist exhibited a confident faith in God as his refuge in troublesome times. The psalm's background may be the crisis of 701 B.C., when God miraculously delivered the city of Jerusalem from the armies of Sennacherib, king of Assyria (see 2 Kin. 18; 19). The words inspired Martin Luther's hymn, "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God."

4 There is a river whose streams shall make glad the city of God,
The holy place of the tabernacle of the Most High.
5 God is in the midst of her, she shall not be moved;
God shall help her, just at the break of dawn.
6 The nations raged, the kingdoms were moved;
He uttered His voice, the earth melted.

7 The LORD of hosts is with us;
The God of Jacob is our refuge. Selah

8 Come, behold the works of the LORD,
Who has made desolations in the earth.
9 He makes wars cease to the end of the earth;
He breaks the bow and cuts the spear in two;
He burns the chariot in the fire.

10 Be still, and know that I am God;
I will be exalted among the nations,
I will be exalted in the earth!

11 The LORD of hosts is with us;
The God of Jacob is our refuge. Selah

PSALM 47

Praise to God, the Ruler of the Earth

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of the sons of Korah.

1 Oh, clap your hands, all you peoples!
Shout to God with the voice of triumph!
2 For the LORD Most High is awesome;
He is a great King over all the earth.
3 He will subdue the peoples under us,
And the nations under our feet.
4 He will choose our inheritance for us,
The excellence of Jacob whom He loves. Selah

5 God has gone up with a shout,
The LORD with the sound of a trumpet.
6 Sing praises to God, sing praises!
Sing praises to our King, sing praises!
7 For God is the King of all the earth;
Sing praises with understanding.

8 God reigns over the nations;
God sits on His holy throne.
9 The princes of the people have gathered together,
The people of the God of Abraham.

PSALM 48

The Glory of God in Zion

A Song. A Psalm of the sons of Korah.

1 Great is the LORD, and greatly to be praised
In the city of our God,
In His holy mountain.
2 Beautiful in elevation,
The joy of the whole earth,
Is Mount Zion on the sides of the north,
The city of the great King.
3 God is in her palaces;
He is known as her refuge.

4 For behold, the kings assembled,
They passed by together.
5 They saw it, and so they marveled;
They were troubled, they hastened away.
6 Fear took hold of them there,
And pain, as of a woman in birth pangs,
7 As when You break the ships of Tarshish
With an east wind.

8 As we have heard,
So we have seen
In the city of the LORD of hosts,
In the city of our God:
God will establish it forever. Selah

46:10 Be still (lit. "to sink" or "to relax") encourages the hearer to stop all struggle and find the peace of faith. Such peace comes only as we acknowledge God's Lordship in our lives and surrender to His will.

48:1–3 The security that belongs to those who place their faith in the Lord is celebrated in this psalm (see also Ps. 46). God's people believed that Jerusalem, "the city of our God," could never be conquered because God's presence would always protect it (Ps. 48:1). The city of Jerusalem, however, fell to the Babylonians in 586 B.C., at which time God's people learned through bitter experience the importance of a faith in Him that reflects itself in moral and ethical living.

9 We have thought, O God, on Your lovingkindness,
In the midst of Your temple.
10 According to Your name, O God,
So is Your praise to the ends of the earth;
Your right hand is full of righteousness.
11 Let Mount Zion rejoice,
Let the daughters of Judah be glad,
Because of Your judgments.

12 Walk about Zion,
And go all around her.
Count her towers;
13 Mark well her bulwarks;
Consider her palaces;
That you may tell it to the generation
following.
14 For this is God,
Our God forever and ever;
He will be our guide
Even to death.[a]

PSALM 49

The Confidence of the Foolish

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of the sons of Korah.

1 Hear this, all peoples;
Give ear, all inhabitants of the world,
2 Both low and high,
Rich and poor together.
3 My mouth shall speak wisdom,
And the meditation of my heart shall give
understanding.
4 I will incline my ear to a proverb;
I will disclose my dark saying on the harp.

5 Why should I fear in the days of evil,
When the iniquity at my heels surrounds
me?
6 Those who trust in their wealth
And boast in the multitude of their riches, 7 None of them can by any means redeem his
brother,
Nor give to God a ransom for him—
8 For the redemption of their souls is costly,
And it shall cease forever—
9 That he should continue to live eternally,
And not see the Pit.

10 For he sees wise men die;
Likewise the fool and the senseless person perish,
And leave their wealth to others.
11 Their inner thought is that their houses will last forever,[a]
Their dwelling places to all generations;
They call their lands after their own names.
12 Nevertheless man, though in honor, does not remain;[a]
He is like the beasts that perish.

13 This is the way of those who are foolish,
And of their posterity who approve their sayings. Selah
14 Like sheep they are laid in the grave;
Death shall feed on them;
The upright shall have dominion over them in the morning;
And their beauty shall be consumed in the grave, far from their dwelling.
15 But God will redeem my soul from the power of the grave,
For He shall receive me. Selah

16 Do not be afraid when one becomes rich,
When the glory of his house is increased;
17 For when he dies he shall carry nothing away;
His glory shall not descend after him.
18 Though while he lives he blesses himself (For men will praise you when you do well for yourself),
19 He shall go to the generation of his fathers;
They shall never see light.
20 A man who is in honor, yet does not understand,
Is like the beasts that perish.

PSALM 50

God the Righteous Judge

A Psalm of Asaph.

1 The Mighty One, God the LORD,
Has spoken and called the earth
From the rising of the sun to its going down.
2 Out of Zion, the perfection of beauty,
God will shine forth.
3 Our God shall come, and shall not keep silent;
A fire shall devour before Him,
And it shall be very tempestuous all around
Him.

4 He shall call to the heavens from above,
And to the earth, that He may judge His people:
5 "Gather My saints together to Me,

48:14 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Syriac; Septuagint and Vulgate read Forever. 49:11 [a]Septuagint, Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate read Their graves shall be their houses forever. 49:12 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Targum; Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read understand (compare verse 20).

49:5–12 The certainty of death and the inadequacy of wealth are the subject of this wisdom psalm, emphasizing the folly of depending on material riches (v. 10). Wealth cannot buy the precious gift of life, which comes from God alone (Luke 12:15; see Ps. 2, Prosperity).

Those who have made a covenant with Me by sacrifice."
6Let the heavens declare His righteousness,
For God Himself is Judge. Selah

7"Hear, O My people, and I will speak,
O Israel, and I will testify against you;
I am God, your God!
8I will not rebuke you for your sacrifices
Or your burnt offerings,
Which are continually before Me.
9I will not take a bull from your house,
Nor goats out of your folds.
10For every beast of the forest is Mine,
And the cattle on a thousand hills.
11I know all the birds of the mountains,
And the wild beasts of the field are Mine.

12"If I were hungry, I would not tell you;
For the world is Mine, and all its fullness.
13Will I eat the flesh of bulls,
Or drink the blood of goats?
14Offer to God thanksgiving,
And pay your vows to the Most High.
15Call upon Me in the day of trouble;
I will deliver you, and you shall glorify
Me."

16But to the wicked God says:
"What right have you to declare My statutes,
Or take My covenant in your mouth,
17Seeing you hate instruction
And cast My words behind you?
18When you saw a thief, you consented[a] with
him,
And have been a partaker with adulterers.
19You give your mouth to evil,
And your tongue frames deceit.
20You sit and speak against your brother;
You slander your own mother's son.
21These things you have done, and I kept silent;
You thought that I was altogether like you;
But I will rebuke you,
And set them in order before your eyes.

22"Now consider this, you who forget God,
Lest I tear you in pieces,
And there be none to deliver:
23Whoever offers praise glorifies Me;
And to him who orders his conduct aright
I will show the salvation of God."

PSALM 51

A Prayer of Repentance

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David when Nathan the prophet went to him, after he had gone in to Bathsheba.

1Have mercy upon me, O God,
According to Your lovingkindness;
According to the multitude of Your tender mercies,
Blot out my transgressions.
2Wash me thoroughly from my iniquity,
And cleanse me from my sin.

3For I acknowledge my transgressions,
And my sin is always before me.
4Against You, You only, have I sinned,
And done this evil in Your sight—
That You may be found just when You speak,[a]
And blameless when You judge.

5Behold, I was brought forth in iniquity,
And in sin my mother conceived me.
6Behold, You desire truth in the inward parts,
And in the hidden part You will make me to know wisdom.

7Purge me with hyssop, and I shall be clean;
Wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow.
8Make me hear joy and gladness,

50:18 [a]Septuagint, Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate read ran. 51:4 [a]Septuagint, Targum, and Vulgate read in Your words.

50:7–15 All the earth belongs to the Lord (see Ps. 24). The people mistakenly assumed that God needed their sacrifices and offerings, but God reminded them that every beast, cow, and bird already belong to Him. There is no lack in God; He needs nothing. We worship to meet our need, not God's. We need to experience the joy of sharing and giving. God desires our sincere worship and thanksgiving (Ps. 50:14). He wants us to depend on Him (v. 15).

51:1 The superscription of this penitential psalm identifies it as David's prayer for forgiveness after Nathan had confronted him regarding his adultery with Bathsheba (see 2 Sam. 11; 12; Ps. 6:2–10, note; chart, The Types of Psalms). The use of imperatives reveals the heaviness with which David viewed his sin and his broken fellowship with God (Ps. 51:1, 2). "Have mercy" (lit. "to show unmerited favor") is a plea based on the character of God. For "lovingkindness," see Psalm 5:7–12, note. For "tender mercies" see Psalm 18:1–3, note. For "transgression," "iniquity," and "sin," see Psalm 32:1, 2, note. "Against You, You only, have I sinned" (Ps. 51:4) does not mean that David had not sinned against Bathsheba and Uriah, rather that sin always is directed primarily against God (2 Sam. 12:13; see also Ex. 20:13, 14).

51:5, 6 David's experience paralleled that of Isaiah, who recognized his human frailty and sinfulness when he saw God's holiness (Is. 6:5). Whatever sins we cover, God will uncover; what we uncover, God will cover (Prov. 28:13). Psalm 51:5 does not teach that sin is passed along through the genes nor that sexual intimacy within marriage is sinful. It is not intended to support celibacy or to imply that David himself was born out of wedlock. Rather, the verse emphasizes human frailty in the constant battle against sin. "Hyssop," a small plant that grew on the walls, was used to sprinkle blood on the doorposts of Hebrew homes at the first Passover and later in purification ceremonies (Ex. 12:22; 1 Kin. 4:33).

FORGIVENESS GOD'S EXTENDED MERCY

All human beings are sinners and thus the victims of sin's deadly consequences (Ps. 51:5; Rom. 3:23; 1 John 1:8–10). Ultimately, sin breaks the fellowship between God and mankind. God's forgiveness is the divine means of removing sin and restoring fellowship. His forgiveness is complete (Ps. 103:12; Is. 1:18; Mic. 7:19); it is everlasting (Is. 44:22; Jer. 31:34; Heb. 10:17); it is always available (Ps. 86:5; 1 John 1:9). Various terms are used to describe this process, including cleansing, purifying, purging, and washing (Ps. 51:4–9; Is. 1:16; 43:25; Jer. 33:8). Those who fail to seek God's forgiveness are subject to being "blotted out" of God's Book of Life (Ps. 69:28; Rev. 3:5).

Although priestly functions related to forgiveness are prescribed in the Bible (Lev. 4:26), forgiveness is ultimately granted solely by God. Sacrifices are a means of obtaining forgiveness for inadvertent errors (Num. 15:22–29) but do not cover blatant contempt of God (Num. 15:30, 31; Mark 3:29). All rituals related to forgiveness in the Bible are expected to be accompanied by contrition and compassion, as well as penitence and confession (Lev. 5:5, 6; 16:21; Num. 5:6, 7). Rituals and sacrifices alone, however, do not bring forgiveness. We must humble ourselves, acknowledge our wrongs, and resolve to depart from sin (1 Kin. 21:27–29; Is. 1:16, 17; Joel 2:12, 13). When we do this, God gives each one of us a new heart and spirit—a desire and an ability to keep His statutes (Ezek. 36:24–27).

An emphasis is always placed on the translation of true remorse into a positive course of action. Those forgiven cease to do evil (Ps. 15; 24:3–5), begin to do good (Is. 1:17; Jer. 7:3), incline their hearts to the Lord (Josh. 24:23), and, in sum, turn from sin and embrace righteousness. This is "repentance." When we repent, God forgives (Num. 14:18–20; 2 Chr. 7:14; Is. 55:7; 1 John 1:9). He pardons sin (Mic. 7:18), removes it completely (Ps. 103:12), and remembers it no more (Ps. 25:7). Jesus' death on the cross provides redemption to all who will accept what He has done on their behalf (Eph. 1:7, 8; Col. 1:14).

See also Ps. 32; 103:11–17; Jer. 31:34; Lam. 3:22, note; Luke 24:47, note; notes on Attributes of God (Ex. 33; Deut. 4; 32; 2 Chr. 19; Job 23; 42; Ps. 25; 90; 102; 119; Is. 6; 65; Jer. 23; Luke 18; Rom. 2; Eph. 1; 1 John 5); Forgiveness (Luke 17)

That the bones You have broken may rejoice.
9 Hide Your face from my sins,
And blot out all my iniquities.

10 Create in me a clean heart, O God,
And renew a steadfast spirit within me.
11 Do not cast me away from Your presence,
And do not take Your Holy Spirit from me.

12 Restore to me the joy of Your salvation,
And uphold me by Your generous Spirit.
13 Then I will teach transgressors Your ways,
And sinners shall be converted to You.

14 Deliver me from the guilt of bloodshed, O God,
The God of my salvation,
And my tongue shall sing aloud of Your righteousness.
15 O Lord, open my lips,
And my mouth shall show forth Your praise.
16 For You do not desire sacrifice, or else I would give it;
You do not delight in burnt offering.
17 The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit,
A broken and a contrite heart—
These, O God, You will not despise.

18 Do good in Your good pleasure to Zion;
Build the walls of Jerusalem.
19 Then You shall be pleased with the sacrifices of righteousness,
With burnt offering and whole burnt offering;
Then they shall offer bulls on Your altar.

PSALM 52

The End of the Wicked and the Peace of the Godly

To the Chief Musician. A Contemplation[a] of David when Doeg the Edomite went and told Saul, and said to him, "David has gone to the house of Ahimelech."

1 Why do you boast in evil, O mighty man?
The goodness of God endures continually.

52:title [a]Hebrew Maschil

51:10–13 Create is the same word used in Genesis 1:1, emphasizing that the radical cleansing requested can come only from God (see 2 Cor. 5:17). Because of the joy that he had experienced, David wanted to share the good news of forgiveness with others (Ps. 51:13; Ps. 32, Forgiveness; see charts, Journey to Forgiveness; Forgiveness: Your Path to Freedom).

51:16, 17 The OT sacrificial system was not rejected. Rather, the Law did not prescribe sacrifices for murder or adultery, sins which David had committed. For these presumptuous sins, the sinner could only cast himself on the mercy of God (see 2 Sam. 12:13, 14). The Lord accepts and forgives those who are honest with Him, who are humble before Him, and who recognize their dependence on His grace.

2 Your tongue devises destruction,
Like a sharp razor, working deceitfully.
3 You love evil more than good,
Lying rather than speaking righteousness.
Selah
4 You love all devouring words,
You deceitful tongue.

5 God shall likewise destroy you forever;
He shall take you away, and pluck you out of your dwelling place,
And uproot you from the land of the living.
Selah
6 The righteous also shall see and fear,
And shall laugh at him, saying,
7 "Here is the man who did not make God his strength,
But trusted in the abundance of his riches,
And strengthened himself in his wickedness."

8 But I am like a green olive tree in the house of God;
I trust in the mercy of God forever and ever.
9 I will praise You forever,
Because You have done it;
And in the presence of Your saints
I will wait on Your name, for it is good.

PSALM 53

Folly of the Godless, and the Restoration of Israel

To the Chief Musician. Set to "Mahalath." A Contemplation[a] of David.

1 The fool has said in his heart,
"There is no God."
They are corrupt, and have done abominable
iniquity;
There is none who does good.

2 God looks down from heaven upon the children of men,
To see if there are any who understand, who seek God.
3 Every one of them has turned aside;
They have together become corrupt;
There is none who does good,
No, not one.

4 Have the workers of iniquity no knowledge,
Who eat up my people as they eat bread,
And do not call upon God?
5 There they are in great fear
Where no fear was,
For God has scattered the bones of him who encamps against you;
You have put them to shame,
Because God has despised them.

6 Oh, that the salvation of Israel would come out of Zion!
When God brings back the captivity of His people,
Let Jacob rejoice and Israel be glad.

PSALM 54

Answered Prayer for Deliverance from Adversaries

To the Chief Musician. With stringed instruments.[a] A Contemplation[b] of David when the Ziphites went and said to Saul, "Is David not hiding with us?"

1 Save me, O God, by Your name,
And vindicate me by Your strength.
2 Hear my prayer, O God;
Give ear to the words of my mouth.
3 For strangers have risen up against me,
And oppressors have sought after my life;
They have not set God before them. Selah

4 Behold, God is my helper;
The Lord is with those who uphold my life.
5 He will repay my enemies for their evil.
Cut them off in Your truth.

6 I will freely sacrifice to You;
I will praise Your name, O LORD, for it is good.
7 For He has delivered me out of all trouble;
And my eye has seen its desire upon my enemies.

PSALM 55

Trust in God Concerning the Treachery of Friends

To the Chief Musician. With stringed instruments.[a] A Contemplation[b] of David.

1 Give ear to my prayer, O God,
And do not hide Yourself from my supplication.
2 Attend to me, and hear me;
I am restless in my complaint, and moan
noisily,
3 Because of the voice of the enemy,
Because of the oppression of the wicked;

53:title [a]Hebrew Maschil 54:title; 55:title [a]Hebrew neginoth [b]Hebrew Maschil

53:1–6 The foolish person lacks spiritual discernment not intelligence (see Ps. 14:1, note). The opposite of folly is steadfast devotion to the Lord.

54:1–7 David affirmed his faith in God as his Helper. The superscription connects this psalm with a time when the Ziphites betrayed David's hideout to Saul (see 1 Sam. 23:15–23). David prayed for deliverance from his enemies, calling on God's name (for the sake of God's reputation or character).

For they bring down trouble upon me,
And in wrath they hate me.

4My heart is severely pained within me,
And the terrors of death have fallen upon me.
5Fearfulness and trembling have come upon me,
And horror has overwhelmed me.
6So I said, "Oh, that I had wings like a dove!
I would fly away and be at rest.
7Indeed, I would wander far off,
And remain in the wilderness. Selah
8I would hasten my escape
From the windy storm and tempest."

9Destroy, O Lord, and divide their tongues,
For I have seen violence and strife in the city.
10Day and night they go around it on its walls;
Iniquity and trouble are also in the midst of it.
11Destruction is in its midst;
Oppression and deceit do not depart from its streets.

12For it is not an enemy who reproaches me;
Then I could bear it.
Nor is it one who hates me who has exalted himself against me;
Then I could hide from him.
13But it was you, a man my equal,
My companion and my acquaintance.
14We took sweet counsel together,
And walked to the house of God in the throng.

15Let death seize them;
Let them go down alive into hell,
For wickedness is in their dwellings and among them.

16As for me, I will call upon God,
And the LORD shall save me.
17Evening and morning and at noon
I will pray, and cry aloud,
And He shall hear my voice.
18He has redeemed my soul in peace from the battle that was against me,
For there were many against me.
19God will hear, and afflict them,
Even He who abides from of old. Selah
Because they do not change,
Therefore they do not fear God.

20He has put forth his hands against those who were at peace with him;
He has broken his covenant.
21*The words* of his mouth were smoother than butter,
But war was in his heart;
His words were softer than oil,
Yet they were drawn swords.

22Cast your burden on the LORD,
And He shall sustain you;
He shall never permit the righteous to be moved.

23But You, O God, shall bring them down to the pit of destruction;
Bloodthirsty and deceitful men shall not live out half their days;
But I will trust in You.

PSALM 56

Prayer for Relief from Tormentors

To the Chief Musician. Set to "The Silent Dove in Distant Lands."[a] A Michtam of David when the Philistines captured him in Gath.

1Be merciful to me, O God, for man would swallow me up;
Fighting all day he oppresses me.
2My enemies would hound me all day,
For there are many who fight against me,
O Most High.

3Whenever I am afraid,
I will trust in You.
4In God (I will praise His word),
In God I have put my trust;
I will not fear.
What can flesh do to me?

5All day they twist my words;
All their thoughts are against me for evil.
6They gather together,
They hide, they mark my steps,
When they lie in wait for my life.
7Shall they escape by iniquity?
In anger cast down the peoples, O God!

56:title [a]Hebrew Jonath Elem Rechokim

55:9–15 The poet lashed out at his enemies, but the betrayal of his friend hurt the most (vv. 13, 14). Jesus faced this same heartbreak when Judas, one of His 12 disciples, betrayed Him (John 18:1–12).

55:22 The psalmist did the right thing in pouring out his grief to God who always remains faithful (see 1 Pet. 5:5–7). Those who trust in Him will remain firmly established in life's difficult times. They will not be shaken.

56:3, 4 No one can overcome the individual who trusts in God (see Rom. 8:31–39). The superscription identifies this psalm with David's capture by the Philistines in Gath (see 1 Sam. 21:10—22:1). Although not actually seized, David was frightened by the pursuit.

8 You number my wanderings;
Put my tears into Your bottle;
Are they not in Your book?
9 When I cry out to You,
Then my enemies will turn back;
This I know, because God is for me.
10 In God (I will praise His word),
In the LORD (I will praise His word),
11 In God I have put my trust;
I will not be afraid.
What can man do to me?

12 Vows made to You are binding upon me, O God;
I will render praises to You,
13 For You have delivered my soul from death.
Have You not kept my feet from falling,
That I may walk before God
In the light of the living?

PSALM 57

Prayer for Safety from Enemies

To the Chief Musician. Set to "Do Not Destroy."[a] A Michtam of David when he fled from Saul into the cave.

1 Be merciful to me, O God, be merciful to me!
For my soul trusts in You;
And in the shadow of Your wings I will make my refuge,
Until these calamities have passed by.

2 I will cry out to God Most High,
To God who performs all things for me.
3 He shall send from heaven and save me;
He reproaches the one who would swallow me up. Selah
God shall send forth His mercy and His truth.

4 My soul is among lions;
I lie among the sons of men
Who are set on fire,
Whose teeth are spears and arrows,
And their tongue a sharp sword.
5 Be exalted, O God, above the heavens;
Let Your glory be above all the earth.

6 They have prepared a net for my steps;
My soul is bowed down;
They have dug a pit before me;
Into the midst of it they themselves have fallen. Selah

7 My heart is steadfast, O God, my heart is steadfast;
I will sing and give praise.
8 Awake, my glory!
Awake, lute and harp!
I will awaken the dawn.

9 I will praise You, O Lord, among the peoples;
I will sing to You among the nations.
10 For Your mercy reaches unto the heavens,
And Your truth unto the clouds.

11 Be exalted, O God, above the heavens;
Let Your glory be above all the earth.

PSALM 58

The Just Judgment of the Wicked

To the Chief Musician. Set to "Do Not Destroy."[a] A Michtam of David.

1 Do you indeed speak righteousness, you silent ones?
Do you judge uprightly, you sons of men?
2 No, in heart you work wickedness;
You weigh out the violence of your hands in the earth.

3 The wicked are estranged from the womb;
They go astray as soon as they are born, speaking lies.
4 Their poison is like the poison of a serpent;
They are like the deaf cobra that stops its ear,
5 Which will not heed the voice of charmers,
Charming ever so skillfully.

6 Break their teeth in their mouth, O God!
Break out the fangs of the young lions, O LORD!
7 Let them flow away as waters which run continually;
When he bends his bow,
Let his arrows be as if cut in pieces.

57:title; 58:title [a]Hebrew Al Tashcheth

57:1–11 The poet began with a cry for mercy from God in whom he trusted, using lovely imagery to describe taking refuge in the shadow of God's wings until the storms have passed (Ps. 17:8; 63:7). The heading associates this poem with a time when David escaped from King Saul into a cave in the wilderness of En Gedi: either his escape to the cave of Adullam (1 Sam. 22:1, 2) or the encounter at the Rocks of the Wild Goats where he could have killed Saul (1 Sam. 24:1–7). The psalmist had experienced the actions of God in his behalf in the past and was thus confident of His deliverance from present difficulties. God is to be exalted for His glory (see Ps. 19:1, note; 108:1–6).

58:11 The psalmist expressed anger over the apparent lack of judgment on the wicked, yet asserted that there is a God who judges the earth (see 2 Chr. 19, Attributes of God). The wicked devise evil from birth, and there is never evidence of good in their hearts (Ps. 58:3). The problem confronted by the psalmist appears similar to the question raised in the Book of Job: Why do the righteous suffer and the wicked continue in prosperity? The poet ended the psalm with certainty that the score would be evened out in the end. God is the righteous Judge who will reward the faithful and bring vengeance on the wicked (see chart, Suffering in Divine Perspective).

TEARS A CRY FROM THE HEART

People are brought to tears for a multitude of reasons. Tears have always been closely intertwined with the human heart and may express such diverse emotions as grief and joy.

In the Old Testament, tears were often an expression of remorse (Lam. 2:18, 19). Esther wept with a troubled soul over the plight of her people (Esth. 8:3). Hannah shed tears from a heart that grieved and a soul that was bitter (1 Sam. 1:8, 10). Mary and Martha wept over the loss of their brother Lazarus (John 11:31). The sinful woman at the feet of Christ shed tears, not from remorse, anxiety, or grief, but rather in humility as a grateful response to God's mercy and love toward her (Luke 7:38–50).

All of us will experience circumstances in our lives that will move us to tears. In those times, let us hold fast to the promise that a day is coming when God will "wipe away every tear . . . there shall be no more . . . crying" (Rev. 7:17; 21:4; see Is. 25:8). Until that time, may our desire be for tears of repentance, adoration, thankfulness, and joy (see Ps. 6:4–8; 126:5; 2 Tim. 1:3–5).

8 Let them be like a snail which melts away as it goes,
Like a stillborn child of a woman, that they may not see the sun.

9 Before your pots can feel the burning thorns,
He shall take them away as with a whirlwind,
As in His living and burning wrath.
10 The righteous shall rejoice when he sees the vengeance;
He shall wash his feet in the blood of the wicked,
11 So that men will say,
"Surely there is a reward for the righteous;
Surely He is God who judges in the earth."

PSALM 59

The Assured Judgment of the Wicked

To the Chief Musician. Set to "Do Not Destroy."[a] A Michtam of David when Saul sent men, and they watched the house in order to kill him.

1 Deliver me from my enemies, O my God;
Defend me from those who rise up against me.
2 Deliver me from the workers of iniquity,
And save me from bloodthirsty men.

3 For look, they lie in wait for my life;
The mighty gather against me,
Not for my transgression nor for my sin, O LORD.
4 They run and prepare themselves through no fault of mine.

Awake to help me, and behold!

5 You therefore, O LORD God of hosts, the God of Israel,
Awake to punish all the nations;
Do not be merciful to any wicked transgressors. Selah

6 At evening they return,
They growl like a dog,
And go all around the city.
7 Indeed, they belch with their mouth;
Swords are in their lips;
For they say, "Who hears?"

8 But You, O LORD, shall laugh at them;
You shall have all the nations in derision.
9 I will wait for You, O You his Strength;[a]
For God is my defense.
10 My God of mercy[a] shall come to meet me;
God shall let me see my desire on my enemies.

11 Do not slay them, lest my people forget;
Scatter them by Your power,
And bring them down,
O Lord our shield.
12 For the sin of their mouth and the words of their lips,
Let them even be taken in their pride,
And for the cursing and lying which they speak.

59:title [a]Hebrew Al Tashcheth 59:9 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Syriac; some Hebrew manuscripts, Septuagint, Targum, and Vulgate read my Strength. 59:10 [a]Following Qere; some Hebrew manuscripts, Septuagint, and Vulgate read My God, His mercy; Kethib, some Hebrew manuscripts and Targum read O God, my mercy; Syriac reads O God, Your mercy.

59:11–17 God is the only source of power and strength for David. The superscription associates this song with a time when King Saul sent men to kill David (1 Sam. 19:11–17). David desired deliverance from these destructive enemies ("dogs," Ps. 59:6, 14) who sought his life. The poet also asserted his innocence and declared that he had not rebelled against the Lord ("transgression," v. 3) or missed God's mark for his life ("sin," v. 3; see Ps. 32:1, 2; 51:1, notes). The song ends on a confident note, as the psalmist praises God as his defense and refuge.

13 Consume them in wrath, consume them,
That they may not be;
And let them know that God rules in Jacob
To the ends of the earth. Selah

14 And at evening they return,
They growl like a dog,
And go all around the city.
15 They wander up and down for food,
And howl[a] if they are not satisfied.

16 But I will sing of Your power;
Yes, I will sing aloud of Your mercy in the morning;
For You have been my defense
And refuge in the day of my trouble.
17 To You, O my Strength, I will sing praises;
For God is my defense,
My God of mercy.

PSALM 60

Urgent Prayer for the Restored Favor of God

To the Chief Musician. Set to "Lily of the Testimony."[a] A Michtam of David. For teaching. When he fought against Mesopotamia and Syria of Zobah, and Joab returned and killed twelve thousand Edomites in the Valley of Salt.

1 O God, You have cast us off;
You have broken us down;
You have been displeased;
Oh, restore us again!
2 You have made the earth tremble;
You have broken it;
Heal its breaches, for it is shaking.
3 You have shown Your people hard things;
You have made us drink the wine of confusion.

4 You have given a banner to those who fear You,
That it may be displayed because of the truth. Selah
5 That Your beloved may be delivered,
Save with Your right hand, and hear me.

6 God has spoken in His holiness:
"I will rejoice;
I will divide Shechem
And measure out the Valley of Succoth.
7 Gilead is Mine, and Manasseh is Mine;
Ephraim also is the helmet for My head;
Judah is My lawgiver.
8 Moab is My washpot;
Over Edom I will cast My shoe;
Philistia, shout in triumph because of Me."

9 Who will bring me to the strong city?
Who will lead me to Edom?
10 Is it not You, O God, who cast us off?
And You, O God, who did not go out with our armies?
11 Give us help from trouble,
For the help of man is useless.
12 Through God we will do valiantly,
For it is He who shall tread down our enemies.[a]

PSALM 61

Assurance of God's Eternal Protection

To the Chief Musician. On a stringed instrument.[a] A Psalm of David.

1 Hear my cry, O God;
Attend to my prayer.
2 From the end of the earth I will cry to You,
When my heart is overwhelmed;
Lead me to the rock that is higher than I.

3 For You have been a shelter for me,
A strong tower from the enemy.
4 I will abide in Your tabernacle forever;
I will trust in the shelter of Your wings. Selah

5 For You, O God, have heard my vows;
You have given me the heritage of those who fear Your name.
6 You will prolong the king's life,
His years as many generations.
7 He shall abide before God forever.
Oh, prepare mercy and truth, which may preserve him!

8 So I will sing praise to Your name forever,
That I may daily perform my vows.

PSALM 62

A Calm Resolve to Wait for the Salvation of God

To the Chief Musician. To Jeduthun. A Psalm of David.

1 Truly my soul silently waits for God;
From Him comes my salvation.
2 He only is my rock and my salvation;
He is my defense;
I shall not be greatly moved.

59:15 [a]Following Septuagint and Vulgate; Masoretic Text, Syriac, and Targum read spend the night. 60:title [a]Hebrew Shushan Eduth 60:12 [a]Compare verses 5–12 with 108:6–13 61:title [a]Hebrew neginah

61:1–8 The poet sought safety in God's presence during difficult times. "From the end of the earth" suggests that the psalmist had reached the end of his rope. In any case, he experienced despair over the apparent absence of God in his life (v. 2). He longed to be guided to "the rock that is higher than I," probably a reference to God Himself (Ps. 18:2). Note the change in tone (Ps. 61:3). The psalmist recognized that the safety and security of God's presence he had enjoyed in the past would remain, and thus the psalm ends on a note of gratitude to God (vv. 5–8).

62:1–7 Quiet waiting enables us to reflect on the greatness of God (see Ps. 46:10) and ensures steadfastness (Ps. 62:2, 6; see 1:3). The psalmist's soul, his total being, waits expectantly on

SINGLENESS ALONE BUT NOT LONELY

Loneliness, which usually refers to a lack of companionship and fellowship, is part of every human life, not just that of the single person. Loneliness may well accompany special missions, moments of decision, bereavement, betrayal, separation from the community of faith, and misfortune (see Gen. 32:24; Jer. 15:17; Job 12:4; Luke 7:12; 22:45, 46, 48; 24:17).

The faith-filled single woman responds to loneliness by focusing her devotion on Jesus and by drawing near to the community of faith for support and wisdom. The single woman who immerses herself in God's Word and prayer can experience great comfort and joy. Although single, a person need never stand without God, who is the constant companion and ever-present guide for every believer (John 16:7, 8).

In many ways, singleness may be a call to holiness—either for a period in one's life or for the whole of one's life. Holiness is a call to be like God. It includes acknowledging your place in Him and His role in your life. It means knowing Jesus and believing in Him (John 17:3). Spiritual strength that comes from knowing Jesus enables a single person to do the work of God in the world and to be happy regardless of whether you are married or single (Gal. 5:22).

Holiness is not self-direction rooted in pride and ambition, but divine guidance by the Holy Spirit. Nor is holiness limited to listening attentively to the Lord, but includes rousing yourself to do whatever He tells you (John 2:5). Holiness, thus, is directly related to knowing and applying the whole of God's Word to the whole of your life.

The promise of God's Word is that we will experience the fullness of His presence in our lives as we seek to know the Lord, love the Lord, and obey His Word. We may be single, but we are never alone. We may be holy—separated for God's indwelling and use—but we never have to be isolated from others or live without a sense of purpose and fulfillment.

See also Ps. 37:4; 69:20; notes on Holiness (Lev. 20); Prayer (Jer. 33, Heb. 4; 1 John 5; 3 John); Friendship (Luke 1); Loneliness (Eccl. 4); Singleness (John 2; 1 Cor. 7); Suffering (Ps. 33; 113; Is. 43; 1 Pet. 5); Sacrificial Living (Mic. 7)

3 How long will you attack a man?
You shall be slain, all of you,
Like a leaning wall and a tottering fence.
4 They only consult to cast him down from his high position;
They delight in lies;
They bless with their mouth,
But they curse inwardly. Selah

5 My soul, wait silently for God alone,
For my expectation is from Him.
6 He only is my rock and my salvation;
He is my defense;
I shall not be moved.
7 In God is my salvation and my glory;
The rock of my strength,
And my refuge, is in God.

8 Trust in Him at all times, you people;
Pour out your heart before Him;
God is a refuge for us. Selah

9 Surely men of low degree are a vapor,
Men of high degree are a lie;
If they are weighed on the scales,
They are altogether lighter than vapor.
10 Do not trust in oppression,
Nor vainly hope in robbery;
If riches increase,
Do not set your heart on them.

11 God has spoken once,
Twice I have heard this:
That power belongs to God.
12 Also to You, O Lord, belongs mercy;
For You render to each one according to his work.

PSALM 63

Joy in the Fellowship of God

A Psalm of David when he was in the wilderness of Judah.

1 O God, You are my God;
Early will I seek You;
My soul thirsts for You;
My flesh longs for You
In a dry and thirsty land
Where there is no water.

God as he extolled the nature of the God on whom he waited. He is "my rock," "my salvation," "my defense," "my glory," "my strength," and "my refuge" (see chart, Images of God in the Psalms). In a whirl of activity, we find it difficult to wait on God or anyone else, much less to wait alone in silence. The psalmist would remain firmly established because of his faith in God (see Ps. 1:3).

63:1–11 The psalm begins with the confession of faith that God is "my God." The psalm's superscription identifies it with an occasion when David was in the wilderness of Judah

2So I have looked for You in the sanctuary,
To see Your power and Your glory.

3Because Your lovingkindness is better than life,
My lips shall praise You.
4Thus I will bless You while I live;
I will lift up my hands in Your name.
5My soul shall be satisfied as with marrow and fatness,
And my mouth shall praise You with joyful lips.

6When I remember You on my bed,
I meditate on You in the night watches.
7Because You have been my help,
Therefore in the shadow of Your wings I will rejoice.
8My soul follows close behind You;
Your right hand upholds me.

9But those who seek my life, to destroy it,
Shall go into the lower parts of the earth.
10They shall fall by the sword;
They shall be a portion for jackals.

11But the king shall rejoice in God;
Everyone who swears by Him shall glory;
But the mouth of those who speak lies shall be stopped.

PSALM 64

Oppressed by the Wicked but Rejoicing in the LORD

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

1Hear my voice, O God, in my meditation;
Preserve my life from fear of the enemy.
2Hide me from the secret plots of the wicked,
From the rebellion of the workers of iniquity,
3Who sharpen their tongue like a sword,
And bend their bows to shoot their arrows—bitter words,
4That they may shoot in secret at the blameless;
Suddenly they shoot at him and do not fear.
5They encourage themselves in an evil matter;
They talk of laying snares secretly;
They say, "Who will see them?"
6They devise iniquities:
"We have perfected a shrewd scheme."
Both the inward thought and the heart of man are deep.

7But God shall shoot at them with an arrow;
Suddenly they shall be wounded.
8So He will make them stumble over their own tongue;
All who see them shall flee away.
9All men shall fear,
And shall declare the work of God;
For they shall wisely consider His doing.

10The righteous shall be glad in the LORD, and trust in Him.
And all the upright in heart shall glory.

PSALM 65

Praise to God for His Salvation and Providence

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David. A Song.

1Praise is awaiting You, O God, in Zion;
And to You the vow shall be performed.
2O You who hear prayer,
To You all flesh will come.
3Iniquities prevail against me;
As for our transgressions,
You will provide atonement for them.

4Blessed is the man You choose,
And cause to approach You,
That he may dwell in Your courts.
We shall be satisfied with the goodness of Your house,
Of Your holy temple.

5*By* awesome deeds in righteousness You will answer us,
O God of our salvation,

(perhaps 1 Sam. 23 or 2 Sam. 15–18). David acknowledged a personal, intimate relationship with God in which his longing for God is as intense as the longing of dry, parched lips for water (Ps. 63:1). Through his disciplined practice of worship in the sanctuary, David experienced God's strength and glory as wonderfully real to him. He had experienced God's "lovingkindness" (Heb. chesed, "steadfast love" or "covenant loyalty," v. 3; see Ps. 5:7–12, note). The poet praised God for His faithful love, which was more dear to him than life itself (Ps. 63:3–5).

64:1–10 The poet felt overwhelmed by the secrets of the enemy against him. Evidently, the psalmist is experiencing slander from his enemies (vv. 3, 4). Their words were like arrows aimed to destroy him. The Hebrews viewed words as living forces carrying the power to fulfill their purposes. The spoken word was like an arrow shot from a bow. It could not be recalled. These verses remind us of the importance of guarding our speech (see James 3:1–12).

65:1–13 This hymn of joyful thanksgiving may have been sung at a spring festival celebrating God's salvation and His bountiful provision in the earth. The tone of the hymn is one of joy. All persons can come to God and experience His forgiveness (vv. 1–4; Ps. 51, Forgiveness; chart, Journey to Forgiveness). God hears our prayers and responds to them. God is to be praised because He forgives our sins. God also merits praise because He is the great Creator who establishes the mountains, controls the seas, and sends rain to water the crops. The poet described the wonder of God's provision in picturesque language (Ps. 65:9–13). Even nature itself participates in praise of God's abundant provision (vv. 11–13).

You who are the confidence of all the ends of the earth,
And of the far-off seas;
6Who established the mountains by His strength,
Being clothed with power;
7You who still the noise of the seas,
The noise of their waves,
And the tumult of the peoples.
8They also who dwell in the farthest parts are afraid of Your signs;
You make the outgoings of the morning and evening rejoice.

9You visit the earth and water it,
You greatly enrich it;
The river of God is full of water;
You provide their grain,
For so You have prepared it.
10You water its ridges abundantly,
You settle its furrows;
You make it soft with showers,
You bless its growth.

11You crown the year with Your goodness,
And Your paths drip with abundance.
12They drop on the pastures of the wilderness,
And the little hills rejoice on every side.
13The pastures are clothed with flocks;
The valleys also are covered with grain;
They shout for joy, they also sing.

PSALM 66

Praise to God for His Awesome Works

To the Chief Musician. A Song. A Psalm.

1Make a joyful shout to God, all the earth!
2Sing out the honor of His name;
Make His praise glorious.
3Say to God,
"How awesome are Your works!
Through the greatness of Your power
Your enemies shall submit themselves to You.
4All the earth shall worship You
And sing praises to You;
They shall sing praises to Your name." Selah

5Come and see the works of God;
He is awesome in His doing toward the sons of men.
6He turned the sea into dry land;
They went through the river on foot.
There we will rejoice in Him.
7He rules by His power forever;
His eyes observe the nations;
Do not let the rebellious exalt themselves.
Selah

8Oh, bless our God, you peoples!
And make the voice of His praise to be heard,
9Who keeps our soul among the living,
And does not allow our feet to be moved.
10For You, O God, have tested us;
You have refined us as silver is refined.
11You brought us into the net;
You laid affliction on our backs.
12You have caused men to ride over our heads;
We went through fire and through water;
But You brought us out to rich fulfillment.

13I will go into Your house with burnt offerings;
I will pay You my vows,
14Which my lips have uttered
And my mouth has spoken when I was in trouble.
15I will offer You burnt sacrifices of fat animals,
With the sweet aroma of rams;
I will offer bulls with goats. Selah

16Come and hear, all you who fear God,
And I will declare what He has done for my soul.
17I cried to Him with my mouth,
And He was extolled with my tongue.
18If I regard iniquity in my heart,
The Lord will not hear.
19*But* certainly God has heard me;
He has attended to the voice of my prayer.

20Blessed be God,
Who has not turned away my prayer,
Nor His mercy from me!

PSALM 67

An Invocation and a Doxology

To the Chief Musician. On stringed instruments.[a] A Psalm. A Song.

1God be merciful to us and bless us,
And cause His face to shine upon us, Selah

67:title [a]Hebrew neginoth

66:1–9 All peoples of the earth are invited to praise God (see Ps. 100:1). One of God's great deeds was the deliverance of His people from Egypt (Ps. 66:6; see Ex. 14). The God who has brought His people through great crises is worthy of glorious praise (Ps. 66:8–12). Such appropriate praise is defined by the offering of sacrifices and the payment of promised vows (Ps. 66:13–15).

67:1–7 This psalm has a missionary focus. It begins with a reference to the blessing or benediction of Aaron (see Num. 6:24–26). The poet repeatedly calls all people and all nations to praise God, the righteous Ruler and Judge of the earth (Ps. 67:4). God is presented here as the God of all nations, not just the God of Israel. Gratitude for all God has done for us is an appropriate motivation for sharing the gospel with others. The ideal result of God's blessing on His people is that "all the ends of the earth" should fear or reverence Him (v. 7).

2 That Your way may be known on earth,
Your salvation among all nations.

3 Let the peoples praise You, O God;
Let all the peoples praise You.
4 Oh, let the nations be glad and sing for joy!
For You shall judge the people righteously,
And govern the nations on earth. Selah

5 Let the peoples praise You, O God;
Let all the peoples praise You.
6 Then the earth shall yield her increase;
God, our own God, shall bless us.
7 God shall bless us,
And all the ends of the earth shall fear Him.

PSALM 68

The Glory of God in His Goodness to Israel

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David. A Song.

1 Let God arise,
Let His enemies be scattered;
Let those also who hate Him flee before Him.
2 As smoke is driven away,
So drive them away;
As wax melts before the fire,
So let the wicked perish at the presence of God.
3 But let the righteous be glad;
Let them rejoice before God;
Yes, let them rejoice exceedingly.

4 Sing to God, sing praises to His name;
Extol Him who rides on the clouds,[a]
By His name YAH,
And rejoice before Him.

5 A father of the fatherless, a defender of widows,
Is God in His holy habitation.
6 God sets the solitary in families;
He brings out those who are bound into prosperity;
But the rebellious dwell in a dry land.

7 O God, when You went out before Your people,
When You marched through the wilderness, Selah
8 The earth shook;
The heavens also dropped rain at the presence of God;
Sinai itself was moved at the presence of God, the God of Israel.
9 You, O God, sent a plentiful rain,
Whereby You confirmed Your inheritance,
When it was weary.
10 Your congregation dwelt in it;
You, O God, provided from Your goodness for the poor.

11 The Lord gave the word;
Great was the company of those who proclaimed it:
12 "Kings of armies flee, they flee,
And she who remains at home divides the spoil.
13 Though you lie down among the sheepfolds,
You will be like the wings of a dove covered with silver,
And her feathers with yellow gold."
14 When the Almighty scattered kings in it,
It was white as snow in Zalmon.

15 A mountain of God is the mountain of Bashan;
A mountain of many peaks is the mountain of Bashan.
16 Why do you fume with envy, you mountains of many peaks?
This is the mountain which God desires to dwell in;
Yes, the LORD will dwell in it forever.

17 The chariots of God are twenty thousand,
Even thousands of thousands;
The Lord is among them as in Sinai, in the Holy Place.
18 You have ascended on high,
You have led captivity captive;
You have received gifts among men,
Even from the rebellious,
That the LORD God might dwell there.

19 Blessed be the Lord,
Who daily loads us with benefits,
The God of our salvation! Selah

68:4 [a]Masoretic Text reads deserts; Targum reads heavens (compare verse 34 and Isaiah 19:1).

68:4–6 God cares for the poor and helpless. He is the father of the orphan and the defender of the widow. He provides homes for the homeless and delivers those in bondage into blessing ("prosperity," v. 6). Those who rebel against God fail to realize His bountiful care and dwell in a "dry land." Verse 4 refers to the Lord as Yah, a shortened form of Yahweh, the covenant name of Israel's God. This familiar expression is found in hallelujah (Heb., lit. "praise the Lord").

68:7–10 God revealed His presence with His people by performing great and mighty acts in their behalf. Following the Exodus from Egypt, He revealed Himself during the journey in the wilderness and through the giving of the Law at Mt. Sinai (Ex. 13:21; 19:16–18).

68:18 As victor, the ascended Christ gave spiritual gifts to His disciples (Eph. 4:7–16). In this imagery, a king comes home from battle, leading a triumphant procession as he returns with the defeated captives.

20 Our God is the God of salvation;
And to GOD the Lord belong escapes from death.

21 But God will wound the head of His enemies,
The hairy scalp of the one who still goes on in his trespasses.
22 The Lord said, "I will bring back from Bashan,
I will bring them back from the depths of the sea,
23 That your foot may crush them[a] in blood,
And the tongues of your dogs may have their portion from your enemies."

24 They have seen Your procession, O God,
The procession of my God, my King, into the sanctuary.
25 The singers went before, the players on instruments followed after;
Among them were the maidens playing timbrels.
26 Bless God in the congregations,
The Lord, from the fountain of Israel.
27 There is little Benjamin, their leader,
The princes of Judah and their company,
The princes of Zebulun and the princes of Naphtali.

28 Your God has commanded[a] your strength;
Strengthen, O God, what You have done for us.
29 Because of Your temple at Jerusalem,
Kings will bring presents to You.
30 Rebuke the beasts of the reeds,
The herd of bulls with the calves of the peoples,
Till everyone submits himself with pieces of silver.
Scatter the peoples who delight in war.
31 Envoys will come out of Egypt;
Ethiopia will quickly stretch out her hands to God.

32 Sing to God, you kingdoms of the earth;
Oh, sing praises to the Lord, Selah
33 To Him who rides on the heaven of heavens, which were of old!
Indeed, He sends out His voice, a mighty voice.
34 Ascribe strength to God;
His excellence is over Israel,
And His strength is in the clouds.
35 O God, You are more awesome than Your holy places.
The God of Israel is He who gives strength and power to His people.

Blessed be God!

PSALM 69

An Urgent Plea for Help in Trouble

To the Chief Musician. Set to "The Lilies."[a]
A Psalm of David.

1 Save me, O God!
For the waters have come up to my neck.
2 I sink in deep mire,
Where there is no standing;
I have come into deep waters,
Where the floods overflow me.
3 I am weary with my crying;
My throat is dry;
My eyes fail while I wait for my God.

4 Those who hate me without a cause
Are more than the hairs of my head;
They are mighty who would destroy me,
Being my enemies wrongfully;
Though I have stolen nothing,
I still must restore it.

5 O God, You know my foolishness;
And my sins are not hidden from You.
6 Let not those who wait for You, O Lord GOD of hosts, be ashamed because of me;
Let not those who seek You be confounded because of me, O God of Israel.
7 Because for Your sake I have borne reproach;
Shame has covered my face.
8 I have become a stranger to my brothers,
And an alien to my mother's children;
9 Because zeal for Your house has eaten me up,
And the reproaches of those who reproach You have fallen on me.
10 When I wept and chastened my soul with fasting,
That became my reproach.

68:23 [a]Septuagint, Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate read you may dip your foot. 68:28 [a]Septuagint, Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate read Command, O God. 69:title [a]Hebrew Shoshannim

68:33–35 The presence of this awesome God with His people, now as in the past, is a marvel to ponder until its reality changes our lives. The psalmist called on others to worship the great and good God who gives power and strength to His people (v. 34).

69:7–9 The poet suffered because of his commitment to the Lord. John used this psalm when referring to Jesus cleansing the temple (John 2:17; see also Mark 3:21; John 7:3–5). Jesus even experienced alienation from His own family.

69:29–36 After denouncing his enemies (vv. 22–28), the poet returned to his plea for God's deliverance (see vv. 1–3). He is assured of deliverance as he vowed to praise and magnify the Lord (v. 32). Despite the dark perspective the psalmist had expressed in his words in the earlier part of the psalm, he ended on a positive note of praise. We can pour out our hearts to God in confidence that He will hear us.

As I live in awareness of, growth in, and gratitude for God's grace and mercy, my life will bring glory to Him.

11 I also made sackcloth my garment;
I became a byword to them.
12 Those who sit in the gate speak against me,
And I am the song of the drunkards.

13 But as for me, my prayer is to You,
O LORD, in the acceptable time;
O God, in the multitude of Your mercy,
Hear me in the truth of Your salvation.
14 Deliver me out of the mire,
And let me not sink;
Let me be delivered from those who hate me,
And out of the deep waters.
15 Let not the floodwater overflow me,
Nor let the deep swallow me up;
And let not the pit shut its mouth on me.

16 Hear me, O LORD, for Your lovingkindness is good;
Turn to me according to the multitude of Your tender mercies.
17 And do not hide Your face from Your servant,
For I am in trouble;
Hear me speedily.
18 Draw near to my soul, and redeem it;
Deliver me because of my enemies.

19 You know my reproach, my shame, and my dishonor;
My adversaries are all before You.
20 Reproach has broken my heart,
And I am full of heaviness;
I looked for someone to take pity, but there was none;
And for comforters, but I found none.
21 They also gave me gall for my food,
And for my thirst they gave me vinegar to drink.

22 Let their table become a snare before them,
And their well-being a trap.
23 Let their eyes be darkened, so that they do not see;
And make their loins shake continually.
24 Pour out Your indignation upon them,
And let Your wrathful anger take hold of them.
25 Let their dwelling place be desolate;
Let no one live in their tents.

26 For they persecute the ones You have struck,
And talk of the grief of those You have wounded.
27 Add iniquity to their iniquity,
And let them not come into Your righteousness.
28 Let them be blotted out of the book of the living,
And not be written with the righteous.

29 But I am poor and sorrowful;
Let Your salvation, O God, set me up on high.
30 I will praise the name of God with a song,
And will magnify Him with thanksgiving.
31 This also shall please the LORD better than an ox or bull,
Which has horns and hooves.
32 The humble shall see this and be glad;
And you who seek God, your hearts shall live.
33 For the LORD hears the poor,
And does not despise His prisoners.

34 Let heaven and earth praise Him,
The seas and everything that moves in them.
35 For God will save Zion
And build the cities of Judah,
That they may dwell there and possess it.
36 Also, the descendants of His servants shall inherit it,
And those who love His name shall dwell in it.

PSALM 70

Prayer for Relief from Adversaries

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.
To bring to remembrance.

1 Make haste, O God, to deliver me!
Make haste to help me, O LORD!

2 Let them be ashamed and confounded
Who seek my life;
Let them be turned back[a] and confused
Who desire my hurt.

70:2 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Septuagint, Targum, and Vulgate; some Hebrew manuscripts and Syriac read be appalled (compare 40:15).

70:1–5 The sense of urgency in the psalmist's plea is reflected in both the first words and the last words of this brief poem (vv. 1, 5). The poet recognized both his own helplessness and the greatness of God (see Ps. 40:13–17).

WIDOWHOOD DEPENDENCE ON GOD

A woman does not choose to become a widow. The loss of a beloved husband is a devastating experience that leaves a woman brokenhearted and emotionally drained. Her planned future suddenly seems dim and fading, and fears can become life-consuming (2 Kin. 4:1). With major support systems and financial resources often no longer available, widows must become sole providers for their children and homes no matter what their abilities, training, or resources. Perhaps at no other time in her life does a woman face as many major decisions with fewer emotional resources.

Through Elisha, God asked a seemingly hopeless widow what she would like Him to do for her. Although omnipotent and knowing her need, the Lord wanted this woman specifically to assess her situation and define reachable goals for her future. How purposeful God is and how practical He teaches us to be (Ps. 32:8).

This widow's simple response to Elisha indicated the deep level of trust and faith in her heart. She did not chide Elisha for asking foolish questions or infringing on her personal rights. Rather, from a deep and abiding faith in God, this new widow, by her willing response, indicated to a friend whom she knew was sent by her heavenly Father, her own expectancy of divine intervention on her behalf (2 Kin. 4:5, 6; see also Deut. 10:18).

Widows today need that same total dependence on a sovereign Lord (Deut. 10:18). Through Christlike friends, the Lord sends loving concern and practical sympathy (James 1:17). As part of His healing process, He encourages us to speak of our grief—to pour out our heartache, fear, anxiety, and pain—so that He in turn can pour into us His strength and peace (Is. 40:29–31; 2 Cor. 1: 3, 4). He does heal broken hearts (Ps. 147:3).

3 Let them be turned back because of their shame,
Who say, "Aha, aha!"

4 Let all those who seek You rejoice and be glad in You;
And let those who love Your salvation say continually,
"Let God be magnified!"

5 But I am poor and needy;
Make haste to me, O God!
You are my help and my deliverer;
O LORD, do not delay.

PSALM 71

God the Rock of Salvation

1 In You, O LORD, I put my trust;
Let me never be put to shame.
2 Deliver me in Your righteousness, and cause me to escape;
Incline Your ear to me, and save me.
3 Be my strong refuge,
To which I may resort continually;
You have given the commandment to save me,
For You are my rock and my fortress.

4 Deliver me, O my God, out of the hand of the wicked,
Out of the hand of the unrighteous and cruel man.
5 For You are my hope, O Lord GOD;
You are my trust from my youth.
6 By You I have been upheld from birth;
You are He who took me out of my mother's womb.
My praise shall be continually of You.

7 I have become as a wonder to many,
But You are my strong refuge.
8 Let my mouth be filled with Your praise
And with Your glory all the day.

9 Do not cast me off in the time of old age;
Do not forsake me when my strength fails.
10 For my enemies speak against me;
And those who lie in wait for my life take counsel together,

71:1–24 A senior citizen's prayer. Although experiencing distress and longing for deliverance, this older person trusted God as his rock, fortress, refuge, and hope (see Is. 46, Aging). He affirmed his trust in God from his youth, even from his birth (Ps. 71:5, 6; Is. 46:3, 4). The God who sustained and carried him through life is worshiped. Our faith should not be a burden to us; it should provide us with a lift. The poet praised God either because He had already responded to his prayer or because God's answer was certain to come. What wonderful words on the lips of a person whose total commitment to God echoes throughout the verses of this psalm! How wonderful to come to the end of life with a positive outlook of joy in the Lord! As we look back at the Lord's faithfulness in the past, we can continue to trust Him for whatever the future may bring.

11 Saying, "God has forsaken him; Pursue and take him, for there is none to deliver him."

12 O God, do not be far from me;
O my God, make haste to help me!
13 Let them be confounded and consumed
Who are adversaries of my life;
Let them be covered with reproach and dishonor
Who seek my hurt.

14 But I will hope continually,
And will praise You yet more and more.
15 My mouth shall tell of Your righteousness
And Your salvation all the day,
For I do not know their limits.
16 I will go in the strength of the Lord GOD;
I will make mention of Your righteousness, of Yours only.

17 O God, You have taught me from my youth;
And to this day I declare Your wondrous works.
18 Now also when I am old and grayheaded,
O God, do not forsake me,
Until I declare Your strength to this generation,
Your power to everyone who is to come.

19 Also Your righteousness, O God, is very high,
You who have done great things;
O God, who is like You?
20 You, who have shown me great and severe troubles,
Shall revive me again,
And bring me up again from the depths of the earth.
21 You shall increase my greatness,
And comfort me on every side.

22 Also with the lute I will praise You—
And Your faithfulness, O my God!
To You I will sing with the harp,
O Holy One of Israel.
23 My lips shall greatly rejoice when I sing to You,
And my soul, which You have redeemed.
24 My tongue also shall talk of Your righteousness all the day long;
For they are confounded,
For they are brought to shame
Who seek my hurt.

PSALM 72

Glory and Universality of the Messiah's Reign

A Psalm of Solomon.

1 Give the king Your judgments, O God,
And Your righteousness to the king's Son.
2 He will judge Your people with righteousness,
And Your poor with justice.
3 The mountains will bring peace to the people,
And the little hills, by righteousness.
4 He will bring justice to the poor of the people;
He will save the children of the needy,
And will break in pieces the oppressor.

5 They shall fear You[a]
As long as the sun and moon endure,
Throughout all generations.
6 He shall come down like rain upon the grass before mowing,
Like showers that water the earth.
7 In His days the righteous shall flourish,
And abundance of peace,
Until the moon is no more.

8 He shall have dominion also from sea to sea,
And from the River to the ends of the earth.
9 Those who dwell in the wilderness will bow before Him,
And His enemies will lick the dust.
10 The kings of Tarshish and of the isles
Will bring presents;
The kings of Sheba and Seba
Will offer gifts.
11 Yes, all kings shall fall down before Him;
All nations shall serve Him.

12 For He will deliver the needy when he cries,
The poor also, and him who has no helper.
13 He will spare the poor and needy,
And will save the souls of the needy.
14 He will redeem their life from oppression and violence;
And precious shall be their blood in His sight.

15 And He shall live;
And the gold of Sheba will be given to Him;
Prayer also will be made for Him continually,
And daily He shall be praised.

16 There will be an abundance of grain in the earth,
On the top of the mountains;
Its fruit shall wave like Lebanon;

72:5 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Targum; Septuagint and Vulgate read They shall continue.

72:1–4 The superscription links this psalm with Solomon, who requested understanding or wisdom with which to judge God's people (1 Kin. 3:5–10). Nature itself, the mountains and hills, will participate in the delight of a righteous ruler (Ps. 72:3).

GRANDPARENTHOOD MINISTRY OF LOVE

Grandparents have an opportunity for ministry to their grandchildren that parents may not have time to do. Grandparents can be a prime channel of spiritual education, especially in homes of single parents or homes in which both parents are employed. Here are some suggestions for investing in the next generation:

- Share how God spoke to you (or other family members) through the years, and how you obeyed His commands. This vital testimony gives grandchildren "know-how" and spiritual roots as well as keeping family history alive (Ps. 45:17; 79:13). Provide wise counsel, time-tested insights, and your knowledge at appropriate times (Prov. 1:5).
- Explain your own salvation experience and lead your grandchildren to Christ (Deut. 6:7–9).
- Pray for your grandchildren, using Paul's prayers as examples (Eph. 3:14–21; Phil. 1:9–11; Col. 1:9–11). Pray for their protection (Ps. 121:1–8), both physically and spiritually.
- Pray with your grandchildren.
- Give your grandchildren Christian books, tapes, and videos (Prov. 3:27).
- Read the Bible together, sitting shoulder to shoulder (Ps. 119:9–11).
- Find ways to reinforce godly lessons taught by parents with examples from your own life, building bridges from one generation to another (Ps. 78:1, 2).
- Teach them that they are important to God not because of what they do but because of who lives inside them.
- Teach them that God is in control; nothing is too difficult or too big for the Lord (Jer. 32:17).
- Teach them that God is loving, compassionate, and understanding (Lam. 3:22, 23).
- Demonstrate the joys of tithing (Prov. 3:9; Mal. 3:10).
- If living apart, find ways to communicate to each grandchild that she is special (Prov. 15:23; 16:24). Leave a solid spiritual legacy (a worn Bible with special notes, a handmade article, happy memories), not just money, as an inheritance (Prov. 13:22).

In many ways, grandparents are strong role models for their grandchildren (2 Tim. 1:5). As such, grandparents have a powerful influence in exemplifying these messages:

- Forgiveness is the highest form of giving (Eph. 4:32).
- Right and wrong are defined by God's Word (Prov. 14:12).
- Great joy can be experienced in living each day, rather than dwelling on the past or future (Neh. 8:10, Ps. 118:24).

As a grandparent, don't complain about your aches and pains. Instead, praise God for your long life. You will be happier, and so will people around you (1 Thess. 5:18). Stay active and maintain interests outside the family (Col. 2:6,7). Be careful not to undermine parental authority. Be there, but do not meddle.

And what about the great rewards of being a grandparent? They are many! The crowns of grandparenting include:

- Hearing again the spontaneous joy and laughter of a little child,
- Collecting humorous stories and anecdotes about your grandchild as well as having an eager audience with whom to share firsthand experiences from your own childhood,
- Receiving the tender love and sweet comfort from a child who is untouched by the busyness of the rest of the world,
- Sensing pride in making your mark and extending your influence to the next generation (Prov. 17:6; Is. 51:1),
- Allowing God to channel His love through you into the lives of your grandchildren (Ps. 78:6),
- Having your life renewed and faith revitalized (Ruth 4:15).

And those of the city shall flourish like grass of
the earth.

17 His name shall endure forever;
His name shall continue as long as the sun.
And men shall be blessed in Him;
All nations shall call Him blessed.

18 Blessed be the LORD God, the God of Israel,
Who only does wondrous things!

19 And blessed be His glorious name forever!
And let the whole earth be filled with His glory.
Amen and Amen.

Book Three: Psalms 73—89

PSALM 73

The Tragedy of the Wicked, and the Blessedness of Trust in God

A Psalm of Asaph.

1 Truly God is good to Israel,
To such as are pure in heart.
2 But as for me, my feet had almost stumbled;
My steps had nearly slipped.
3 For I was envious of the boastful,
When I saw the prosperity of the wicked.

4 For there are no pangs in their death,
But their strength is firm.
5 They are not in trouble as other men,
Nor are they plagued like other men.
6 Therefore pride serves as their necklace;
Violence covers them like a garment.
7 Their eyes bulge[a] with abundance;
They have more than heart could wish.
8 They scoff and speak wickedly concerning oppression;
They speak loftily.
9 They set their mouth against the heavens,
And their tongue walks through the earth.

10 Therefore his people return here,
And waters of a full cup are drained by them.
11 And they say, "How does God know?
And is there knowledge in the Most High?"
12 Behold, these are the ungodly,
Who are always at ease;
They increase in riches.
13 Surely I have cleansed my heart in vain,
And washed my hands in innocence.
14 For all day long I have been plagued,
And chastened every morning.

15 If I had said, "I will speak thus,"
Behold, I would have been untrue to the generation of Your children.
16 When I thought how to understand this,
It was too painful for me—
17 Until I went into the sanctuary of God;
Then I understood their end.

18 Surely You set them in slippery places;
You cast them down to destruction.
19 Oh, how they are brought to desolation, as in a moment!
They are utterly consumed with terrors.
20 As a dream when one awakes,
So, Lord, when You awake,
You shall despise their image.

21 Thus my heart was grieved,
And I was vexed in my mind.
22 I was so foolish and ignorant;
I was like a beast before You.
23 Nevertheless I am continually with You;
You hold me by my right hand.
24 You will guide me with Your counsel,
And afterward receive me to glory.

25 Whom have I in heaven but You?
And there is none upon earth that I desire besides You.
26 My flesh and my heart fail;
But God is the strength of my heart and my portion forever.

27 For indeed, those who are far from You shall perish;
You have destroyed all those who desert You for harlotry.
28 But it is good for me to draw near to God;
I have put my trust in the Lord GOD,
That I may declare all Your works.

PSALM 74

A Plea for Relief from Oppressors

A Contemplation[a] of Asaph.

1 O God, why have You cast us off forever?
Why does Your anger smoke against the sheep of Your pasture?
2 Remember Your congregation, which You have purchased of old,

73:7 [a]Targum reads face bulges; Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read iniquity bulges. 74:title [a]Hebrew Maschil

72:18, 19 A doxology marks the end of Book II of the Psalms (see Introduction: Outline). The words emphasize that God is to be blessed forever and throughout the whole earth. "Glory" refers to God's character, presence, and influence (see Ps. 19:1, note).

73:25–28 The psalmist expressed his human weakness (vv. 2, 3). His feet had nearly slipped. He saw the prosperity of the ungodly and was envious of the wicked who never seemed to suffer for their wrongdoing (vv. 4–14). Life did not seem fair. The psalmist began to reflect the viewpoint of faith as he entered the sanctuary and worshiped God (vv. 15–17). He began to put life in perspective. He realized the devastating end of the wicked (vv. 18–20), which led him to pour out his heart in praise to God (vv. 25–28). The poet did not receive a comprehensive answer to the unanswerable question of evil. He did receive great assurance of the presence of God.

74:1–11 God's people felt rejected and punished because God's sanctuary had been destroyed. This psalm is probably

The tribe of Your inheritance, which You have redeemed—
This Mount Zion where You have dwelt.
3Lift up Your feet to the perpetual desolations.
The enemy has damaged everything in the sanctuary.
4Your enemies roar in the midst of Your meeting place;
They set up their banners for signs.
5They seem like men who lift up
Axes among the thick trees.
6And now they break down its carved work, all at once,
With axes and hammers.
7They have set fire to Your sanctuary;
They have defiled the dwelling place of Your name to the ground.
8They said in their hearts,
"Let us destroy them altogether."
They have burned up all the meeting places of God in the land.

9We do not see our signs;
There is no longer any prophet;
Nor is there any among us who knows how long.
10O God, how long will the adversary reproach?
Will the enemy blaspheme Your name forever?
11Why do You withdraw Your hand, even Your right hand?
Take it out of Your bosom and destroy them.
12For God is my King from of old,
Working salvation in the midst of the earth.
13You divided the sea by Your strength;
You broke the heads of the sea serpents in the waters.
14You broke the heads of Leviathan in pieces,
And gave him as food to the people inhabiting the wilderness.
15You broke open the fountain and the flood;
You dried up mighty rivers.
16The day is Yours, the night also is Yours;
You have prepared the light and the sun.
17You have set all the borders of the earth;
You have made summer and winter.

18Remember this, that the enemy has reproached, O LORD,
And that a foolish people has blasphemed Your name.
19Oh, do not deliver the life of Your turtledove to the wild beast!
Do not forget the life of Your poor forever.
20Have respect to the covenant;
For the dark places of the earth are full of the haunts of cruelty.
21Oh, do not let the oppressed return ashamed!
Let the poor and needy praise Your name.

22Arise, O God, plead Your own cause;
Remember how the foolish man reproaches You daily.
23Do not forget the voice of Your enemies;
The tumult of those who rise up against You increases continually.

PSALM 75

Thanksgiving for God's Righteous Judgment

To the Chief Musician. Set to "Do Not Destroy."[a]
A Psalm of Asaph. A Song.

1We give thanks to You, O God, we give thanks!
For Your wondrous works declare that Your name is near.

2"When I choose the proper time,
I will judge uprightly.
3The earth and all its inhabitants are dissolved;
I set up its pillars firmly. Selah

4"I said to the boastful, 'Do not deal boastfully,'
And to the wicked, 'Do not lift up the horn.
5Do not lift up your horn on high;
Do not speak with a stiff neck.' "

6For exaltation comes neither from the east
Nor from the west nor from the south.
7But God is the Judge:
He puts down one,
And exalts another.
8For in the hand of the LORD there is a cup,
And the wine is red;
It is fully mixed, and He pours it out;
Surely its dregs shall all the wicked of the earth
Drain and drink down.

9But I will declare forever,
I will sing praises to the God of Jacob.

75:title [a]Hebrew Al Tashcheth framed immediately following the destruction of Jerusalem by the Babylonians in 586 B.C. Israel did not believe that God would ever allow Jerusalem or the temple to be destroyed. They claimed that the presence of the temple in itself ensured them of protection from their enemies. However, the prophet Jeremiah, among others, had warned the people of Jerusalem's pending destruction if the people did not repent of their evil ways and turn to God (see Jer. 7). Because God's people failed to repent, destruction came upon them.

75:1–10 God's righteous judgment. That God alone can judge rightly and fairly is the theme of this psalm. He alone knows our hearts and all the circumstances, and thus He alone can judge correctly. This psalm warns us against judging others.

10 "All the horns of the wicked I will also cut off,
But the horns of the righteous shall be exalted."

PSALM 76

The Majesty of God in Judgment

To the Chief Musician. On stringed instruments.[a]
A Psalm of Asaph. A Song.

1 In Judah God is known;
His name is great in Israel.
2 In Salem[a] also is His tabernacle,
And His dwelling place in Zion.
3 There He broke the arrows of the bow,
The shield and sword of battle. Selah

4 You are more glorious and excellent
Than the mountains of prey.
5 The stouthearted were plundered;
They have sunk into their sleep;
And none of the mighty men have found the use of their hands.
6 At Your rebuke, O God of Jacob,
Both the chariot and horse were cast into a dead sleep.

7 You, Yourself, are to be feared;
And who may stand in Your presence
When once You are angry?
8 You caused judgment to be heard from heaven;
The earth feared and was still,
9 When God arose to judgment,
To deliver all the oppressed of the earth. Selah

10 Surely the wrath of man shall praise You;
With the remainder of wrath You shall gird
Yourself.

11 Make vows to the LORD your God, and pay them;
Let all who are around Him bring presents to Him who ought to be feared.
12 He shall cut off the spirit of princes;
He is awesome to the kings of the earth.

PSALM 77

The Consoling Memory of God's Redemptive Works

To the Chief Musician. To Jeduthun. A Psalm of Asaph.

1 I cried out to God with my voice—
To God with my voice;
And He gave ear to me.
2 In the day of my trouble I sought the Lord;
My hand was stretched out in the night
without ceasing;
My soul refused to be comforted.
3 I remembered God, and was troubled;
I complained, and my spirit was overwhelmed.
Selah

4 You hold my eyelids open;
I am so troubled that I cannot speak.
5 I have considered the days of old,
The years of ancient times.
6 I call to remembrance my song in the night;
I meditate within my heart,
And my spirit makes diligent search.

7 Will the Lord cast off forever?
And will He be favorable no more?
8 Has His mercy ceased forever?
Has His promise failed forevermore?
9 Has God forgotten to be gracious?
Has He in anger shut up His tender mercies?
Selah

10 And I said, "This is my anguish;
But I will remember the years of the right hand of the Most High."
11 I will remember the works of the LORD;
Surely I will remember Your wonders of old.
12 I will also meditate on all Your work,
And talk of Your deeds.
13 Your way, O God, is in the sanctuary;
Who is so great a God as our God?
14 You are the God who does wonders;
You have declared Your strength among the peoples.
15 You have with Your arm redeemed Your people,
The sons of Jacob and Joseph. Selah

16 The waters saw You, O God;
The waters saw You, they were afraid;
The depths also trembled.
17 The clouds poured out water;
The skies sent out a sound;
Your arrows also flashed about.
18 The voice of Your thunder was in the whirlwind;
The lightnings lit up the world;
The earth trembled and shook.
19 Your way was in the sea,
Your path in the great waters,

76:title [a]Hebrew neginoth 76:2 [a]That is, Jerusalem

76:1–6 God's victory over Israel's enemies and the deliverance of His people is celebrated (see Ps. 46; 48). God's people knew Him by personal experience as the God who repeatedly brought victory into their lives. "Salem" and "Zion" refer to Jerusalem (Ps. 76:2).

77:10–15 The poet wondered about the presence of God in his difficulties (vv. 1–9). But when he remembered the past goodness of God, then he hoped for the future. He both meditated on and talked about God's works (v. 12). This focus on God's greatness led the poet to realize that God was the only true God (v. 13). Faith in the only true God enables His people to see things in proper perspective.

And Your footsteps were not known.
20 You led Your people like a flock
By the hand of Moses and Aaron.

PSALM 78

God's Kindness to Rebellious Israel

A Contemplation[a] of Asaph.

1 Give ear, O my people, to my law;
Incline your ears to the words of my mouth.
2 I will open my mouth in a parable;
I will utter dark sayings of old,
3 Which we have heard and known,
And our fathers have told us.
4 We will not hide them from their children,
Telling to the generation to come the praises of the LORD,
And His strength and His wonderful works that He has done.

5 For He established a testimony in Jacob,
And appointed a law in Israel,
Which He commanded our fathers,
That they should make them known to their children;
6 That the generation to come might know them,
The children who would be born,
That they may arise and declare them to their children,
7 That they may set their hope in God,
And not forget the works of God,
But keep His commandments;
8 And may not be like their fathers,
A stubborn and rebellious generation,
A generation that did not set its heart aright,
And whose spirit was not faithful to God.

9 The children of Ephraim, being armed and carrying bows,
Turned back in the day of battle.
10 They did not keep the covenant of God;
They refused to walk in His law,
11 And forgot His works
And His wonders that He had shown them.

12 Marvelous things He did in the sight of their fathers,
In the land of Egypt, in the field of Zoan.
13 He divided the sea and caused them to pass through;
And He made the waters stand up like a heap.
14 In the daytime also He led them with the cloud,
And all the night with a light of fire.
15 He split the rocks in the wilderness,
And gave them drink in abundance like the depths.
16 He also brought streams out of the rock,
And caused waters to run down like rivers.

17 But they sinned even more against Him
By rebelling against the Most High in the wilderness.
18 And they tested God in their heart
By asking for the food of their fancy.
19 Yes, they spoke against God:
They said, "Can God prepare a table in the wilderness?
20 Behold, He struck the rock,
So that the waters gushed out,
And the streams overflowed.
Can He give bread also?
Can He provide meat for His people?"

21 Therefore the LORD heard this and was furious;
So a fire was kindled against Jacob,
And anger also came up against Israel,
22 Because they did not believe in God,
And did not trust in His salvation.
23 Yet He had commanded the clouds above,
And opened the doors of heaven,
24 Had rained down manna on them to eat,
And given them of the bread of heaven.
25 Men ate angels' food;
He sent them food to the full.

26 He caused an east wind to blow in the heavens;
And by His power He brought in the south wind.
27 He also rained meat on them like the dust,
Feathered fowl like the sand of the seas;
28 And He let them fall in the midst of their camp,
All around their dwellings.
29 So they ate and were well filled,
For He gave them their own desire.
30 They were not deprived of their craving;
But while their food was still in their mouths,
31 The wrath of God came against them,
And slew the stoutest of them,
And struck down the choice men of Israel.

32 In spite of this they still sinned,
And did not believe in His wondrous works.

78:title [a]Hebrew Maschil

78:1–4 The poet called on his generation to learn a lesson from the mistakes of Israel's forefathers. God's people had disobeyed Him even in the face of all the mighty acts He performed on their behalf (the Exodus from Egypt, vv. 12–14, 42–53; the wilderness experience, vv. 15–33; the conquest of the Land, vv. 54, 55). They responded not with faith, but with ingratitude (Ps. 106:6–46). The rebellion of people against God, despite His abundant mercy, remains as great a mystery now as it was in the time of the psalmist.

33 Therefore their days He consumed in futility,
And their years in fear.

34 When He slew them, then they sought Him;
And they returned and sought earnestly for God.
35 Then they remembered that God was their rock,
And the Most High God their Redeemer.
36 Nevertheless they flattered Him with their mouth,
And they lied to Him with their tongue;
37 For their heart was not steadfast with Him,
Nor were they faithful in His covenant.
38 But He, being full of compassion, forgave their iniquity,
And did not destroy them.
Yes, many a time He turned His anger away,
And did not stir up all His wrath;
39 For He remembered that they were but flesh,
A breath that passes away and does not come again.

40 How often they provoked Him in the wilderness,
And grieved Him in the desert!
41 Yes, again and again they tempted God,
And limited the Holy One of Israel.
42 They did not remember His power:
The day when He redeemed them from the enemy,
43 When He worked His signs in Egypt,
And His wonders in the field of Zoan;
44 Turned their rivers into blood,
And their streams, that they could not drink.
45 He sent swarms of flies among them, which devoured them,
And frogs, which destroyed them.
46 He also gave their crops to the caterpillar,
And their labor to the locust.
47 He destroyed their vines with hail,
And their sycamore trees with frost.
48 He also gave up their cattle to the hail,
And their flocks to fiery lightning.
49 He cast on them the fierceness of His anger,
Wrath, indignation, and trouble,
By sending angels of destruction among them.
50 He made a path for His anger;
He did not spare their soul from death,
But gave their life over to the plague,
51 And destroyed all the firstborn in Egypt,
The first of their strength in the tents of Ham.

52 But He made His own people go forth like sheep,
And guided them in the wilderness like a flock;
53 And He led them on safely, so that they did not fear;
But the sea overwhelmed their enemies.
54 And He brought them to His holy border,
This mountain which His right hand had acquired.
55 He also drove out the nations before them,
Allotted them an inheritance by survey,
And made the tribes of Israel dwell in their tents.

56 Yet they tested and provoked the Most High God,
And did not keep His testimonies,
57 But turned back and acted unfaithfully like their fathers;
They were turned aside like a deceitful bow.
58 For they provoked Him to anger with their high places,
And moved Him to jealousy with their carved images.
59 When God heard this, He was furious,
And greatly abhorred Israel,
60 So that He forsook the tabernacle of Shiloh,
The tent He had placed among men,
61 And delivered His strength into captivity,
And His glory into the enemy's hand.
62 He also gave His people over to the sword,
And was furious with His inheritance.
63 The fire consumed their young men,
And their maidens were not given in marriage.
64 Their priests fell by the sword,
And their widows made no lamentation.

65 Then the Lord awoke as from sleep,
Like a mighty man who shouts because of wine.
66 And He beat back His enemies;
He put them to a perpetual reproach.

67 Moreover He rejected the tent of Joseph,
And did not choose the tribe of Ephraim,
68 But chose the tribe of Judah,
Mount Zion which He loved.
69 And He built His sanctuary like the heights,
Like the earth which He has established forever.
70 He also chose David His servant,
And took him from the sheepfolds;
71 From following the ewes that had young He brought him,

79:1–13 The destruction of Jerusalem is vivid in the psalmist's mind. The historical background behind this psalm is the Babylonian conquest of Jerusalem in 586 B.C. (see Ps. 74). Because the people believed Jerusalem would never be destroyed, the poet must have experienced difficulty comprehending the present reality (Jer. 7:33, 34). He wondered how long God would continue to reject His people (Ps. 79:5) and called on God to turn His anger toward the enemies of His people (v. 6) in order to vindicate His name (vv. 9, 10).

FAMILY WORSHIP SHARING A SPIRITUAL HERITAGE

The home must provide a vital, living example of true Christianity. Children must be taught to talk to God about everything from major decisions in their lives to simply finding a parking space uptown (Matt. 18:19, 20). Faith must become a part of everyday life. Effective ways to do this are to have times of family prayer and Bible reading on a regular basis and to infuse faith into the routines of family life—gathering to sing hymns, playing Bible games, and engaging in discussions about the Lord, the Bible, and ways to apply Christian principles to life's everyday circumstances.

A spiritual heritage builds a wall of security and protection around the home. What a beautiful responsibility and privilege for women, as mothers and wives, to provide an atmosphere such as this for their loved ones (Prov. 31:18). The privilege of passing on that kind of spiritual heritage goes beyond the walls of the immediate family circle. The repercussions of a truly Christian home can be widespread and persist long after the initial influence. We remain faithful to God because He remains faithful to us (Ps. 89:1).

Family devotions do not have to be long and drawn out—just a simple Bible reading or a brief prayer. Reading Scripture and praying are important enough for Mommy and Daddy to keep on trying to instill them as a family habit, even if interruptions, failures, and minor disasters occasionally disrupt (Deut. 6:7).

Few Christian families spend time together in prayer and Bible reading. Yet what a priceless experience to have your parents share spiritual truths from the Word of God and to hear your mother or father asking God's blessing and protection on each person in the family. Finding the time, discovering the best formula, and being patient and persistent are all common challenges associated with family devotions. Strive to be consistent. Your children will develop a love for Scripture and a habitual reliance on the power of prayer. Every family heritage of faithfulness must begin with someone. Perhaps the beginning will be with you.

To shepherd Jacob His people,
And Israel His inheritance.
72So he shepherded them according to the integrity of his heart,
And guided them by the skillfulness of his hands.

PSALM 79

A Dirge and a Prayer for Israel, Destroyed by Enemies

A Psalm of Asaph.

1O God, the nations have come into Your inheritance;
Your holy temple they have defiled;
They have laid Jerusalem in heaps.
2The dead bodies of Your servants
They have given as food for the birds of the heavens,
The flesh of Your saints to the beasts of the earth.
3Their blood they have shed like water all around Jerusalem,
And there was no one to bury them.
4We have become a reproach to our neighbors,
A scorn and derision to those who are around us.

5How long, LORD?
Will You be angry forever?
Will Your jealousy burn like fire?
6Pour out Your wrath on the nations that do not know You,
And on the kingdoms that do not call on Your name.
7For they have devoured Jacob,
And laid waste his dwelling place.

8Oh, do not remember former iniquities against us!
Let Your tender mercies come speedily to meet us,
For we have been brought very low.
9Help us, O God of our salvation,
For the glory of Your name;
And deliver us, and provide atonement for our sins,
For Your name's sake!
10Why should the nations say,
"Where is their God?"
Let there be known among the nations in our sight
The avenging of the blood of Your servants which has been shed.

11Let the groaning of the prisoner come before You;
According to the greatness of Your power
Preserve those who are appointed to die;
12And return to our neighbors sevenfold into their bosom
Their reproach with which they have reproached You, O Lord.

13So we, Your people and sheep of Your pasture,
Will give You thanks forever;
We will show forth Your praise to all generations.

PSALM 80

Prayer for Israel's Restoration

To the Chief Musician. Set to "The Lilies."[a] A Testimony[b] of Asaph. A Psalm.

1Give ear, O Shepherd of Israel,
You who lead Joseph like a flock;
You who dwell between the cherubim, shine forth!
2Before Ephraim, Benjamin, and Manasseh,
Stir up Your strength,
And come and save us!

3Restore us, O God;
Cause Your face to shine,
And we shall be saved!

4O LORD God of hosts,
How long will You be angry
Against the prayer of Your people?
5You have fed them with the bread of tears,
And given them tears to drink in great measure.
6You have made us a strife to our neighbors,
And our enemies laugh among themselves.

7Restore us, O God of hosts;
Cause Your face to shine,
And we shall be saved!

8You have brought a vine out of Egypt;
You have cast out the nations, and planted it.
9You prepared room for it,
And caused it to take deep root,
And it filled the land.
10The hills were covered with its shadow,
And the mighty cedars with its boughs.
11She sent out her boughs to the Sea,[a]
And her branches to the River.[b]

12Why have You broken down her hedges,
So that all who pass by the way pluck her fruit?
13The boar out of the woods uproots it,
And the wild beast of the field devours it.

14Return, we beseech You, O God of hosts;
Look down from heaven and see,
And visit this vine
15And the vineyard which Your right hand has planted,
And the branch that You made strong for Yourself.
16*It is* burned with fire, it is cut down;
They perish at the rebuke of Your countenance.
17Let Your hand be upon the man of Your right hand,
Upon the son of man whom You made strong for Yourself.
18Then we will not turn back from You;
Revive us, and we will call upon Your name.

19Restore us, O LORD God of hosts;
Cause Your face to shine,
And we shall be saved!

PSALM 81

An Appeal for Israel's Repentance

To the Chief Musician. On an instrument of Gath.[a]
A Psalm of Asaph.

1Sing aloud to God our strength;
Make a joyful shout to the God of Jacob.
2Raise a song and strike the timbrel,
The pleasant harp with the lute.

3Blow the trumpet at the time of the New Moon,
At the full moon, on our solemn feast day.
4For this is a statute for Israel,
A law of the God of Jacob.
5This He established in Joseph as a testimony,
When He went throughout the land of Egypt,
Where I heard a language I did not understand.

6"I removed his shoulder from the burden;
His hands were freed from the baskets.
7You called in trouble, and I delivered you;
I answered you in the secret place of thunder;
I tested you at the waters of Meribah. Selah

80:title [a]Hebrew Shoshannim [b]Hebrew Eduth 80:11 [a]That is, the Mediterranean [b]That is, the Euphrates 81:title [a]Hebrew Al Gittith

80:1–19 Presenting God as the Shepherd of His people reminds the reader of Psalm 23, in which the poet identified the Lord as his personal Shepherd. "Joseph" is a reference to the northern kingdom of Israel (Ps. 80:1). This psalm originated in a time of crisis when God's people were suffering at the hands of their enemies. God as Shepherd was called to care for and restore His people because they were dependent on Him. God's dwelling place was "between the cherubim" (see v. 1). God invisibly dwelt above the ark of the covenant (or ark of the Testimony; Ex. 25:10–22; see Ps. 99:1). The repeated plea is reminiscent of the blessing of Aaron (Ps. 80:3, 7, 19; see also Num. 6:24–26). Israel's hope lay in the delivering presence of the Lord, who tenderly shepherds His flock.

81:1–7 The trumpet or ram's horn reminded the people of God's presence (Num. 10:10). This psalm was probably used in worship during the Feast of Booths or Tabernacles, the harvest festival in the fall of the year (Ex. 23:14–19; Deut. 16:13–17). The poem begins with a call to praise God by singing, shouting, and playing musical instruments (see chart, Musical Instruments of the Old Testament).

8 "Hear, O My people, and I will admonish
you!
O Israel, if you will listen to Me!
9 There shall be no foreign god among you;
Nor shall you worship any foreign god.
10 I am the LORD your God,
Who brought you out of the land of Egypt;
Open your mouth wide, and I will fill it.

11 "But My people would not heed My voice,
And Israel would have none of Me.
12 So I gave them over to their own stubborn
heart,
To walk in their own counsels.

13 "Oh, that My people would listen to Me,
That Israel would walk in My ways!
14 I would soon subdue their enemies,
And turn My hand against their adversaries.
15 The haters of the LORD would pretend submission to Him,
But their fate would endure forever.
16 He would have fed them also with the finest of wheat;
And with honey from the rock I would have satisfied you."

PSALM 82

A Plea for Justice

A Psalm of Asaph.

1 God stands in the congregation of the mighty;
He judges among the gods.[a]
2 How long will you judge unjustly,
And show partiality to the wicked? Selah
3 Defend the poor and fatherless;
Do justice to the afflicted and needy.
4 Deliver the poor and needy;
Free them from the hand of the wicked.

5 They do not know, nor do they understand;
They walk about in darkness;
All the foundations of the earth are unstable.

6 I said, "You are gods,[a]
And all of you are children of the Most High.
7 But you shall die like men,
And fall like one of the princes."

8 Arise, O God, judge the earth;
For You shall inherit all nations.

PSALM 83

Prayer to Frustrate Conspiracy Against Israel

A Song. A Psalm of Asaph.

1 Do not keep silent, O God!
Do not hold Your peace,
And do not be still, O God!
2 For behold, Your enemies make a tumult;
And those who hate You have lifted up their head.
3 They have taken crafty counsel against Your people,
And consulted together against Your sheltered ones.
4 They have said, "Come, and let us cut them off from being a nation,
That the name of Israel may be remembered
no more."

5 For they have consulted together with one consent;
They form a confederacy against You:
6 The tents of Edom and the Ishmaelites;
Moab and the Hagrites;
7 Gebal, Ammon, and Amalek;
Philistia with the inhabitants of Tyre;
8 Assyria also has joined with them;
They have helped the children of Lot. Selah

9 Deal with them as with Midian,
As with Sisera,
As with Jabin at the Brook Kishon,
10 Who perished at En Dor,
Who became as refuse on the earth.
11 Make their nobles like Oreb and like Zeeb,
Yes, all their princes like Zebah and Zalmunna,
12 Who said, "Let us take for ourselves
The pastures of God for a possession."

13 O my God, make them like the whirling dust,
Like the chaff before the wind!
14 As the fire burns the woods,
And as the flame sets the mountains on fire,
15 So pursue them with Your tempest,
And frighten them with Your storm.
16 Fill their faces with shame,
That they may seek Your name, O LORD.
17 Let them be confounded and dismayed
forever;
Yes, let them be put to shame and perish,

82:1, 6 [a]Hebrew elohim, mighty ones; that is, the judges

81:8–16 The psalmist reminded the people of the importance of hearing and obeying God (v. 8). In the OT, hearing God's voice is usually associated with heeding His word. As a result of their disobedience, God's people missed His greatest blessings (v. 16).

82:1–8 The psalmist called on God to judge the earth (v. 8). The "gods" have been identified variously as angels, idols, and corrupt human judges (vv. 1, 6). These unjust judges received God's condemnation for showing partiality to the wicked and failing to see that justice was extended to the helpless in society.

18 That they may know that You, whose name alone is the LORD,
Are the Most High over all the earth.

PSALM 84

The Blessedness of Dwelling in the House of God

To the Chief Musician. On an instrument of Gath.[a]
A Psalm of the sons of Korah.

1 How lovely is Your tabernacle,
O LORD of hosts!
2 My soul longs, yes, even faints
For the courts of the LORD;
My heart and my flesh cry out for the living
God.

3 Even the sparrow has found a home,
And the swallow a nest for herself,
Where she may lay her young—
Even Your altars, O LORD of hosts,
My King and my God.
4 Blessed are those who dwell in Your house;
They will still be praising You. Selah

5 Blessed is the man whose strength is in You,
Whose heart is set on pilgrimage.
6 As they pass through the Valley of Baca,
They make it a spring;
The rain also covers it with pools.
7 They go from strength to strength;
Each one appears before God in Zion.[a]

8 O LORD God of hosts, hear my prayer;
Give ear, O God of Jacob! Selah
9 O God, behold our shield,
And look upon the face of Your anointed.

10 For a day in Your courts is better than a thousand.
I would rather be a doorkeeper in the house of my God
Than dwell in the tents of wickedness.
11 For the LORD God is a sun and shield;
The LORD will give grace and glory;
No good thing will He withhold
From those who walk uprightly.

12 O LORD of hosts,
Blessed is the man who trusts in You!

PSALM 85

Prayer that the LORD Will Restore Favor to the Land

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of the sons of Korah.

1 LORD, You have been favorable to Your land;
You have brought back the captivity of Jacob.
2 You have forgiven the iniquity of Your people;
You have covered all their sin. Selah
3 You have taken away all Your wrath;
You have turned from the fierceness of Your anger.

4 Restore us, O God of our salvation,
And cause Your anger toward us to cease.
5 Will You be angry with us forever?
Will You prolong Your anger to all generations?
6 Will You not revive us again,
That Your people may rejoice in You?
7 Show us Your mercy, LORD,
And grant us Your salvation.

8 I will hear what God the LORD will speak,
For He will speak peace
To His people and to His saints;
But let them not turn back to folly.
9 Surely His salvation is near to those who fear
Him,
That glory may dwell in our land.

10 Mercy and truth have met together;
Righteousness and peace have kissed.
11 Truth shall spring out of the earth,
And righteousness shall look down from heaven.
12 Yes, the LORD will give what is good;
And our land will yield its increase.
13 Righteousness will go before Him,
And shall make His footsteps our pathway.

PSALM 86

Prayer for Mercy, with Meditation on the Excellencies of the LORD

A Prayer of David.

1 Bow down Your ear, O LORD, hear me;
For I am poor and needy.

84:title [a]Hebrew Al Gittith 84:7 [a]Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read The God of gods shall be seen.

84:1–4 This psalm celebrates the beauty of God's dwelling place. The poet's "soul," that is, his whole being, longed to bask in the blessing of God's presence (v. 2). The feeling of belonging that derives from being in God's presence brings great joy and satisfaction.

84:5–9 Those who make the pilgrimage to the temple for worship find joy. The woman who depends on God for strength has resources on which to rely in life's difficult pilgrimage. She continually experiences renewal and refreshment because God is with her. Zion is Jerusalem (v. 7).

85:4–7 God's people requested that He graciously restore them, just as He had done in the past. Calamities were viewed as a sign of God's anger because of sin; mercy and salvation were needed. God's people still need the revival that comes from a fresh encounter with the living Lord.

86:1–7 A personal prayer for deliverance. The poet began with a plea for the Lord to "bow down" (lit. "bend") His ear toward him. He identified himself as both godly and in need of help. The Lord is "my God," and the psalmist is "Your servant who trusts in You." Because the Lord is good, forgiving,

FRUIT OF THE SPIRIT LONGSUFFERING

Longsuffering encompasses patience, endurance, steadfastness, and forbearance. It is an active response to opposition, not a passive resignation to the inevitable. An important word in both Hebrew and Greek, "longsuffering" is an attribute of God (Ps. 86:15), a fruit of the Holy Spirit (Gal. 5:22), and an attitude all women should reflect (1 Cor. 13:4).

The apostle Paul prayed that his Colossian friends might possess patience and longsuffering as well as joy (Col. 1:9–12). Patience (Gk. hupomone, lit. "bearing up under") is getting under a burden or affliction and turning it into glory. This word for patience is most often applied to people. God's people are to be patient with others, especially when facing adversity (Rom. 5:3–5). Patience is a characteristic of true love (1 Cor. 13:4, 7).

"Longsuffering" (Gk. makrothumia) is a quality most often applied to God. Its root means to "put fury far off while suffering wrong or injustice." Only God can be completely longsuffering. He alone is "slow to anger" (Ps. 86:15; Joel 2:13). However, Christians can become longsuffering through the power of the Holy Spirit. Believers who walk in the Spirit develop a longsuffering attitude that no circumstance can destroy and patience that no person can defeat (Eph. 4:1–3).

2 Preserve my life, for I am holy;
You are my God;
Save Your servant who trusts in You!
3 Be merciful to me, O Lord,
For I cry to You all day long.
4 Rejoice the soul of Your servant,
For to You, O Lord, I lift up my soul.
5 For You, Lord, are good, and ready to forgive,
And abundant in mercy to all those who call upon You.

6 Give ear, O LORD, to my prayer;
And attend to the voice of my supplications.
7 In the day of my trouble I will call upon You,
For You will answer me.

8 Among the gods there is none like You, O Lord;
Nor are there any works like Your works.
9 All nations whom You have made
Shall come and worship before You, O Lord,
And shall glorify Your name.
10 For You are great, and do wondrous things;
You alone are God.

11 Teach me Your way, O LORD;
I will walk in Your truth;
Unite my heart to fear Your name.
12 I will praise You, O Lord my God, with all my heart,
And I will glorify Your name forevermore.
13 For great is Your mercy toward me,
And You have delivered my soul from the depths of Sheol.

14 O God, the proud have risen against me,
And a mob of violent men have sought my life,
And have not set You before them.
15 But You, O Lord, are a God full of compassion, and gracious, Longsuffering and abundant in mercy and truth.

16 Oh, turn to me, and have mercy on me!
Give Your strength to Your servant,
And save the son of Your maidservant.
17 Show me a sign for good,
That those who hate me may see it and be ashamed,
Because You, LORD, have helped me and comforted me.

PSALM 87

The Glories of the City of God

A Psalm of the sons of Korah. A Song.

1 His foundation is in the holy mountains.
2 The LORD loves the gates of Zion
More than all the dwellings of Jacob.
3 Glorious things are spoken of you,
O city of God! Selah

and merciful (Heb. chesed: see Ps. 5:7–12, note), the psalmist was assured that God would answer his cry in the day of trouble.

86:11–13 God's law is His instruction to us regarding how to live. "Teach" (lit. "to throw" or "to shoot") is related to the Hebrew Torah (lit. "law," "direction," or "instruction"). To "walk" in truth refers to a lifestyle of commitment to the Lord, and to "fear" God's name indicates reverent obedience to Him (v. 11).

87:1–4 This psalm praises Jerusalem, the city of God, the spiritual center of the world (see Ps. 137:3–5). "Jacob" is an alter-

4"I will make mention of Rahab and Babylon to those who know Me;
Behold, O Philistia and Tyre, with Ethiopia:
'This one was born there.' "

5And of Zion it will be said,
"This one and that one were born in her;
And the Most High Himself shall establish her."
6The LORD will record,
When He registers the peoples:
"This one was born there." Selah

7Both the singers and the players on instruments say,
"All my springs are in you."

PSALM 88

A Prayer for Help in Despondency

A Song. A Psalm of the sons of Korah. To the Chief Musician. Set to "Mahalath Leannoth." A Contemplation[a] of Heman the Ezrahite.

1O LORD, God of my salvation,
I have cried out day and night before You.
2Let my prayer come before You;
Incline Your ear to my cry.

3For my soul is full of troubles,
And my life draws near to the grave.
4I am counted with those who go down to the pit;
I am like a man who has no strength,
5Adrift among the dead,
Like the slain who lie in the grave,
Whom You remember no more,
And who are cut off from Your hand.

6You have laid me in the lowest pit,
In darkness, in the depths.
7Your wrath lies heavy upon me,
And You have afflicted me with all Your waves.
Selah
8You have put away my acquaintances far from
me;
You have made me an abomination to them;
I am shut up, and I cannot get out;
9My eye wastes away because of affliction.

LORD, I have called daily upon You;
I have stretched out my hands to You.
10Will You work wonders for the dead?
Shall the dead arise and praise You? Selah 11Shall Your lovingkindness be declared in the grave?
Or Your faithfulness in the place of destruction?
12Shall Your wonders be known in the dark?
And Your righteousness in the land of forgetfulness?

13But to You I have cried out, O LORD,
And in the morning my prayer comes before
You.
14LORD, why do You cast off my soul?
Why do You hide Your face from me?
15I have been afflicted and ready to die from my
youth;
I suffer Your terrors;
I am distraught.
16Your fierce wrath has gone over me;
Your terrors have cut me off.
17They came around me all day long like
water;
They engulfed me altogether.
18Loved one and friend You have put far from
me,
And my acquaintances into darkness.

PSALM 89

Remembering the Covenant with David, and Sorrow for Lost Blessings

A Contemplation[a] of Ethan the Ezrahite.

1I will sing of the mercies of the LORD
forever;
With my mouth will I make known Your faithfulness to all generations.
2For I have said, "Mercy shall be built up
forever;
Your faithfulness You shall establish in the very heavens."

3"I have made a covenant with My chosen,
I have sworn to My servant David:
4'Your seed I will establish forever,
And build up your throne to all generations.' "

88:title; 89:title [a]Hebrew Maschil

nate name for Israel (Ps. 87:2). God is the God of all nations, not just Israel (v. 4). "Rahab" refers to Egypt (v. 4; see Is. 30:7).

88:1–18 This psalm reflects the intense sadness and gloom of a despondent poet with no echoes of deliverance or hope. This poet had prayed constantly but had experienced no deliverance (v. 1). He felt that death was near (v. 3). Yet faith is evident in the fact that the poet continued to cry out to the Lord.

89:1–52 This royal psalm relates to a time of national crisis (see chart, The Types of Psalms). A major theme of the psalm is the Lord's covenant with David in the past as hope for present deliverance (2 Sam. 7:1–17). Note the repeated appeals to God's "mercy" (Heb. chesed, Ps. 89:1, 2, 14, 24, 28; "lovingkindness" vv. 33, 49; see Ps. 5:7–12, note) and "faithfulness" (Ps. 89:1, 2, 5, 8, 24, 33, 37; lit "steadfastness," "fidelity") in this time of calamity (vv. 38–45). The doxology of verse 52 marks the end of Book III of the Psalms (see Introduction: Outline).

5 And the heavens will praise Your wonders,
O LORD;
Your faithfulness also in the assembly of the saints.
6 For who in the heavens can be compared to the LORD?
Who among the sons of the mighty can be likened to the LORD?
7 God is greatly to be feared in the assembly of the saints,
And to be held in reverence by all those around
Him.
8 O LORD God of hosts,
Who is mighty like You, O LORD?
Your faithfulness also surrounds You.
9 You rule the raging of the sea;
When its waves rise, You still them.
10 You have broken Rahab in pieces, as one who is slain;
You have scattered Your enemies with Your mighty arm.

11 The heavens are Yours, the earth also is Yours;
The world and all its fullness, You have founded them.
12 The north and the south, You have created
them;
Tabor and Hermon rejoice in Your name.
13 You have a mighty arm;
Strong is Your hand, and high is Your right
hand.
14 Righteousness and justice are the foundation of Your throne;
Mercy and truth go before Your face.
15 Blessed are the people who know the joyful sound!
They walk, O LORD, in the light of Your countenance.
16 In Your name they rejoice all day long,
And in Your righteousness they are exalted.
17 For You are the glory of their strength,
And in Your favor our horn is exalted.
18 For our shield belongs to the LORD,
And our king to the Holy One of Israel.

19 Then You spoke in a vision to Your holy one,[a]
And said: "I have given help to one who is
mighty;
I have exalted one chosen from the people.
20 I have found My servant David;
With My holy oil I have anointed him,
21 With whom My hand shall be established;
Also My arm shall strengthen him.
22 The enemy shall not outwit him,
Nor the son of wickedness afflict him.
23 I will beat down his foes before his face,
And plague those who hate him.
24 "But My faithfulness and My mercy shall be with
him,
And in My name his horn shall be exalted.
25 Also I will set his hand over the sea,
And his right hand over the rivers.
26 He shall cry to Me, 'You are my Father,
My God, and the rock of my salvation.'
27 Also I will make him My firstborn,
The highest of the kings of the earth.
28 My mercy I will keep for him forever,
And My covenant shall stand firm with him.
29 His seed also I will make to endure forever,
And his throne as the days of heaven.

30 "If his sons forsake My law
And do not walk in My judgments,
31 If they break My statutes
And do not keep My commandments, 32 Then I will punish their transgression with the rod,
And their iniquity with stripes.
33 Nevertheless My lovingkindness I will not utterly take from him,
Nor allow My faithfulness to fail.
34 My covenant I will not break,
Nor alter the word that has gone out of My lips.
35 Once I have sworn by My holiness;
I will not lie to David:
36 His seed shall endure forever,
And his throne as the sun before Me;
37 It shall be established forever like the moon,
Even like the faithful witness in the sky." Selah

38 But You have cast off and abhorred,
You have been furious with Your anointed.
39 You have renounced the covenant of Your servant;
You have profaned his crown by casting it to the ground.
40 You have broken down all his hedges;
You have brought his strongholds to ruin.
41 All who pass by the way plunder him;
He is a reproach to his neighbors.
42 You have exalted the right hand of his adversaries;
You have made all his enemies rejoice.
43 You have also turned back the edge of his
sword,
And have not sustained him in the battle.
44 You have made his glory cease,
And cast his throne down to the ground.
45 The days of his youth You have shortened;
You have covered him with shame. Selah

Book Four: Psalms 90—106

PSALM 90

The Eternity of God, and Man's Frailty

A Prayer of Moses the man of God.

1 Lord, You have been our dwelling place[a] in all generations.
2 Before the mountains were brought forth,
Or ever You had formed the earth and the world,
Even from everlasting to everlasting, You are God.

3 You turn man to destruction,
And say, "Return, O children of men."
4 For a thousand years in Your sight
Are like yesterday when it is past,
And like a watch in the night.
5 You carry them away like a flood;
They are like a sleep.

90:1 [a] Septuagint, Targum, and Vulgate read refuge.

90:1–17 God is eternal. This poem marks the beginning of Book IV and is the only psalm associated with Moses (see Introduction: Outline). The poet contrasted the nature of God with the nature of humanity. God is from everlasting to everlasting (v. 2), while the brevity of human life is compared to a flood, a dream, and grass (vv. 5, 6). Only faith in the eternal God can make life meaningful (vv. 13–17).

ATTRIBUTES OF GOD HE IS ETERNAL

God has no beginning and no ending. He is the only self-existent Being. He existed before time and creation began (Ps. 90:2). Everything about God is "always" (Ps. 102:12). He had no youth, has no age, and will never be a senior citizen (Heb. 1:10–12). "Everlasting" is not the same as "long-lasting," which suggests a beginning and demands dealing with time and eternity. Time dwells within God. He causes, affects, and controls it, but time has no hold on Him (Ps. 90:4–6).

God's attributes bask in His eternality. Since eternity neither wears out nor runs out, neither do His attributes (Is. 40:25–28). God describes His love as "everlasting" (Jer. 31:3).

Eternity is God's signature—it is who He is (Is. 63:16). His name, "I Am," expresses clearly His unconditional and independent existence and encompasses the idea of His continuous presence (Ex. 3:14) because He simply "is." Unlike His creatures who are bound by time with life that is brief and fleeting, the Creator is eternal. Everything in existence is dependent on Him (Col. 1:15–17).

See also Gen. 21:33; Is. 9:6; 43:10, 11; 57:15; Jer. 10:10; Lam. 3:22, note; notes on Attributes of God (Ex. 33; Deut. 4; 32; 2 Chr. 19; Job 23; 42; Ps. 25; 102; 119; Is. 6; 65; Jer. 23; Rom. 2; Eph. 1; 1 John 5); Heaven (2 Tim. 4)

In the morning they are like grass which grows up:
6 In the morning it flourishes and grows up;
In the evening it is cut down and withers.

7 For we have been consumed by Your anger,
And by Your wrath we are terrified.
8 You have set our iniquities before You,
Our secret sins in the light of Your countenance.
9 For all our days have passed away in Your wrath;
We finish our years like a sigh.
10 The days of our lives are seventy years;
And if by reason of strength they are eighty years,
Yet their boast is only labor and sorrow;
For it is soon cut off, and we fly away.
11 Who knows the power of Your anger?
For as the fear of You, so is Your wrath.
12 So teach us to number our days,
That we may gain a heart of wisdom.

13 Return, O LORD!
How long?
And have compassion on Your servants.
14 Oh, satisfy us early with Your mercy,
That we may rejoice and be glad all our days!
15 Make us glad according to the days in which You have afflicted us,
The years in which we have seen evil.
16 Let Your work appear to Your servants,
And Your glory to their children.
17 And let the beauty of the LORD our God be upon us,
And establish the work of our hands for us;
Yes, establish the work of our hands.

PSALM 91

Safety of Abiding in the Presence of God

1 He who dwells in the secret place of the Most High Shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty.
2 I will say of the LORD, "He is my refuge and my fortress;
My God, in Him I will trust."

3 Surely He shall deliver you from the snare of the fowler[a]
And from the perilous pestilence.
4 He shall cover you with His feathers,
And under His wings you shall take refuge;
His truth shall be your shield and buckler.
5 You shall not be afraid of the terror by night,
Nor of the arrow that flies by day,
6 Nor of the pestilence that walks in darkness,
Nor of the destruction that lays waste at noonday.

7 A thousand may fall at your side,
And ten thousand at your right hand;
But it shall not come near you.
8 Only with your eyes shall you look,
And see the reward of the wicked.

9 Because you have made the LORD, who is my refuge,
Even the Most High, your dwelling place,

91:3 [a]That is, one who catches birds in a trap or snare

91:1–16 Those who trust in the Lord experience His protection. The poet builds image upon image to express the security found in a relationship with the Lord. The Lord is the "Most High" and "Almighty," a "refuge" and a "fortress" (vv. 1, 2). He delivers His people from the trap and protects His own from pestilence (v. 3). The imagery is that of a mother bird protecting her young under her wings (v. 4; see Matt. 23:37). Nothing can match the security of knowing we are safe in the arms of God! Psalm 91:11 and 12 were misused by Satan when Jesus was tempted in the wilderness (see Matt. 4:6; Luke 4:10, 11).

Without the burden of afflictions it is impossible to reach the height of grace. The gifts of grace increase as the struggles increase.

St. Rose of Lima

10 No evil shall befall you,
Nor shall any plague come near your dwelling;
11 For He shall give His angels charge over you,
To keep you in all your ways.
12 In their hands they shall bear you up,
Lest you dash your foot against a stone.
13 You shall tread upon the lion and the cobra,
The young lion and the serpent you shall trample underfoot.

14 "Because he has set his love upon Me, therefore I will deliver him;
I will set him on high, because he has known My name.
15 He shall call upon Me, and I will answer him;
I will be with him in trouble;
I will deliver him and honor him.
16 With long life I will satisfy him,
And show him My salvation."

PSALM 92

Praise to the LORD for His Love and Faithfulness

A Psalm. A Song for the Sabbath day.

1 It is good to give thanks to the LORD,
And to sing praises to Your name, O Most High;
2 To declare Your lovingkindness in the morning,
And Your faithfulness every night,
3 On an instrument of ten strings,
On the lute,
And on the harp,
With harmonious sound.
4 For You, LORD, have made me glad through Your work;
I will triumph in the works of Your hands.

5 O LORD, how great are Your works!
Your thoughts are very deep.
6 A senseless man does not know,
Nor does a fool understand this.
7 When the wicked spring up like grass,
And when all the workers of iniquity flourish,
It is that they may be destroyed forever.

8 But You, LORD, are on high forevermore.
9 For behold, Your enemies, O LORD,
For behold, Your enemies shall perish;
All the workers of iniquity shall be scattered.

10 But my horn You have exalted like a wild ox;
I have been anointed with fresh oil.
11 My eye also has seen my desire on my enemies;
My ears hear my desire on the wicked
Who rise up against me.

12 The righteous shall flourish like a palm tree,
He shall grow like a cedar in Lebanon.
13 Those who are planted in the house of the LORD
Shall flourish in the courts of our God.
14 They shall still bear fruit in old age;
They shall be fresh and flourishing,
15 To declare that the LORD is upright;
He is my rock, and there is no unrighteousness in Him.

PSALM 93

The Eternal Reign of the LORD

1 The LORD reigns, He is clothed with majesty;
The LORD is clothed,
He has girded Himself with strength.
Surely the world is established, so that it cannot be moved.
2 Your throne is established from of old;
You are from everlasting.

3 The floods have lifted up, O LORD,
The floods have lifted up their voice;
The floods lift up their waves.
4 The LORD on high is mightier
Than the noise of many waters,
Than the mighty waves of the sea.

5 Your testimonies are very sure;
Holiness adorns Your house,
O LORD, forever.

PSALM 94

God the Refuge of the Righteous

1 O LORD God, to whom vengeance belongs—
O God, to whom vengeance belongs, shine forth!
2 Rise up, O Judge of the earth;

93:1, 2 The Lord reigns. This enthronement psalm celebrates the eternal reign of the Lord and was used in Israel's worship (see Ps. 97; 99; chart, The Types of Psalms). The majestic Lord is affirmed as sovereign over all His creation and King forever. These enthronement psalms played a significant role in Israel's worship in affirming the truth that God is in control.

ATTRIBUTES OF GOD HE IS MERCIFUL

Mercy differs from grace in that grace gives what is not deserved, while mercy does not give what is deserved. Mercy is compassion in action toward sinners who have no claim or right to receive such treatment. "Deserving mercy" is a contradictory term (Eph. 2:4–9).

Mercy is only for sinners. Angels do not experience it; they do not need it. Mercy is God's idea (2 Cor. 1:3). It is available to everyone, but only through Christ's sacrifice on the Cross.

God's mercy is great (1 Kin. 3:6), tender (Luke 1:78), abundant (1 Pet. 1:3), and everlasting (Ps. 103:17). Mercy is interwoven with all other attributes of God. His lovingkindness initiates mercy (Eph. 2:4–7); His holiness insures its integrity (Ex. 34:6, 7); His truth guarantees its reliability (Is. 16:5); His power assures its duration (Ps. 89:2); and His faithfulness demands its constancy (Ps. 36:5).

The results of mercy are forgiveness (Is. 55:7), restoration (Ps 51:2, 10, 11), and praise on the part of those who experience mercy (Ps. 89:1).

See also Deut. 4:31; Ps. 86:15; 103:8, 11; Lam. 3:22, note; Titus 3:5; notes on Attributes of God (Ex. 33; Deut. 4; 32; 2 Chr. 19; Job 23; 42; Ps. 25; 90; 102; 119; Is. 6; 65; Jer. 23; Rom. 2; Eph. 1; 1 John 5); Access to God (Rom. 10); Forgiveness (Ps. 51; Luke 17); Guilt (2 Cor. 7); Heaven (2 Tim. 4); Promises of God (2 Pet. 1)

Render punishment to the proud.
3 LORD, how long will the wicked,
How long will the wicked triumph?

4 They utter speech, and speak insolent things;
All the workers of iniquity boast in themselves.
5 They break in pieces Your people, O LORD,
And afflict Your heritage.
6 They slay the widow and the stranger,
And murder the fatherless.
7 Yet they say, "The LORD does not see,
Nor does the God of Jacob understand."

8 Understand, you senseless among the people;
And you fools, when will you be wise?
9 He who planted the ear, shall He not hear?
He who formed the eye, shall He not see?
10 He who instructs the nations, shall He not correct,
He who teaches man knowledge?
11 The LORD knows the thoughts of man,
That they are futile.

12 Blessed is the man whom You instruct, O LORD,
And teach out of Your law,
13 That You may give him rest from the days of adversity,
Until the pit is dug for the wicked.
14 For the LORD will not cast off His people,
Nor will He forsake His inheritance.
15 But judgment will return to righteousness,
And all the upright in heart will follow it.

16 Who will rise up for me against the evildoers?
Who will stand up for me against the workers of iniquity?
17 Unless the LORD had been my help,
My soul would soon have settled in silence.
18 If I say, "My foot slips,"
Your mercy, O LORD, will hold me up.
19 In the multitude of my anxieties within me,
Your comforts delight my soul.

20 Shall the throne of iniquity, which devises evil by law,
Have fellowship with You?
21 They gather together against the life of the righteous,
And condemn innocent blood.
22 But the LORD has been my defense,
And my God the rock of my refuge.
23 He has brought on them their own iniquity,
And shall cut them off in their own wickedness;
The LORD our God shall cut them off.

PSALM 95

A Call to Worship and Obedience

1 Oh come, let us sing to the LORD!
Let us shout joyfully to the Rock of our salvation.
2 Let us come before His presence with thanksgiving;
Let us shout joyfully to Him with psalms.
3 For the LORD is the great God,
And the great King above all gods.
4 In His hand are the deep places of the earth;

95:6–11 God is worthy of worship because He is the Creator of all people (vv. 6, 7; 100:3). We worship Him who made us in His image. The proof of genuine worship is faithful obedience. The poet urged the current generation not to live in rebellion as their fathers had (Ps. 95:8–11). Just as Israel failed to enter the Promised Land due to lack of faith (v. 11), God's people have often failed to enter into the "restful" joy of fellowship with Him because of their lack of trust (Heb. 3:7–19; 4:3, 5, 7).

The heights of the hills are His also.
5 The sea is His, for He made it;
And His hands formed the dry land.

6 Oh come, let us worship and bow down;
Let us kneel before the LORD our Maker.
7 For He is our God,
And we are the people of His pasture,
And the sheep of His hand.

Today, if you will hear His voice:
8 "Do not harden your hearts, as in the rebellion,[a]
As in the day of trial[b] in the wilderness,
9 When your fathers tested Me;
They tried Me, though they saw My work.
10 For forty years I was grieved with that generation,
And said, 'It is a people who go astray in their hearts,
And they do not know My ways.'
11 So I swore in My wrath,
'They shall not enter My rest.' "

PSALM 96

A Song of Praise to God Coming in Judgment

1 Oh, sing to the LORD a new song!
Sing to the LORD, all the earth.
2 Sing to the LORD, bless His name;
Proclaim the good news of His salvation from day to day.
3 Declare His glory among the nations,
His wonders among all peoples.

4 For the LORD is great and greatly to be praised;
He is to be feared above all gods.
5 For all the gods of the peoples are idols,
But the LORD made the heavens.
6 Honor and majesty are before Him;
Strength and beauty are in His sanctuary.

7 Give to the LORD, O families of the peoples,
Give to the LORD glory and strength.
8 Give to the LORD the glory due His name;
Bring an offering, and come into His courts.
9 Oh, worship the LORD in the beauty of holiness!
Tremble before Him, all the earth.

10 Say among the nations, "The LORD reigns;
The world also is firmly established,
It shall not be moved;
He shall judge the peoples righteously."
11 Let the heavens rejoice, and let the earth be glad;
Let the sea roar, and all its fullness;
12 Let the field be joyful, and all that is in it.
Then all the trees of the woods will rejoice before the LORD.
13 For He is coming, for He is coming to judge the earth.
He shall judge the world with righteousness,
And the peoples with His truth.

PSALM 97

A Song of Praise to the Sovereign LORD

1 The LORD reigns;
Let the earth rejoice;
Let the multitude of isles be glad!

2 Clouds and darkness surround Him;
Righteousness and justice are the foundation of His throne.
3 A fire goes before Him,
And burns up His enemies round about.
4 His lightnings light the world;
The earth sees and trembles.
5 The mountains melt like wax at the presence of the LORD,
At the presence of the Lord of the whole earth.
6 The heavens declare His righteousness,
And all the peoples see His glory.

7 Let all be put to shame who serve carved images,
Who boast of idols.
Worship Him, all you gods.
8 Zion hears and is glad,
And the daughters of Judah rejoice
Because of Your judgments, O LORD.
9 For You, LORD, are most high above all the earth;
You are exalted far above all gods.

10 You who love the LORD, hate evil!
He preserves the souls of His saints;
He delivers them out of the hand of the wicked.
11 Light is sown for the righteous,
And gladness for the upright in heart.
12 Rejoice in the LORD, you righteous,

95:8 [a]Or Meribah [b]Or Massah

96:1–13 Worshipers are called to sing a new song to the Lord who is exalted above all gods (vv. 4, 5; 1 Chr. 16:23–33). Other gods are mere idols, but the Lord is the Creator. Therefore, all people are to worship the Lord, give to Him the honor due His name, and bring to Him their offerings (Ps. 96:7–9). They are to proclaim the universal rule of the righteous Judge among the nations (v. 10).

97:1–6 This enthronement psalm celebrates God's universal rule as King (see Ps. 93; 99). God has revealed Himself in majesty with clouds, darkness, fire, lightnings, and earth tremors (Ps. 97:2–4; see Ex. 19:16–18). All creation reveals the awesome mystery of His presence (Ps. 97:6; Ps. 19:1).

GRATITUDE A THANKFUL SPIRIT

Gratitude begins by acknowledging who God is and what He has done. This heartfelt emotion is not dependent on the response of another person or on the nature of what is received as a gift. Ingratitude, on the other hand, begins with a heart that refuses to be satisfied, that rejects the Giver as well as His gift (Rom. 1:21).

Life itself is a gracious gift from God. There is no gratitude except what is built on this foundation. A spirit of gratitude must be cultivated, then passed on to others, especially to those in your own household, by example. These are some ways to accomplish this:

- Remember that a grateful person is humble and focused on God, while the ungrateful heart is full of pride and focused on self. Ruth beautifully emulated such a spirit of gratitude and humility (Ruth 2:10). She responded graciously even to the smallest kindness.
- Do not take for granted the small and ordinary daily blessings (Matt. 6:11).
- Look for blessings from God, being careful not to overlook the hidden, subtle, indirect gifts from God (Col. 4:2). Recognize that not every gift you desire may be beneficial to you. God is the all-wise Giver. Consider His plan and priorities for your life, being careful not to lose sight of the big picture because of a tragic but small interruption.
- Remember to thank God even in the midst of adversity and trials (Hab. 3:17–19; 1 Cor. 10:31; Phil. 1:3; 2:14; 1 Thess. 5:18).
- Gratitude to God and others should be expressed not only regularly but also publicly (Ps. 35:18; John 11:41, 42). Family members and close friends should not be taken for granted.
- Record your blessings and keep a record of God's faithfulness to you.
- Complete the cycle of gratitude by reaching out to give to others in the Spirit of Christ (2 Cor. 9:12).

A grateful spirit and thankful heart are an integral part of the holy life. The woman who is thankful and has a heart full of praise brings joy to the Father and glory to His name. An attitude of gratitude will bring to your heart a host of blessings and make you a channel of blessing to others.

See also 2 Cor. 2:14; 9:15; Phil. 4:6; Col. 3:15; notes on Blessings (Gen. 12); Fruit of the Spirit (Ps. 86; Rom. 5; 15; 1 Cor. 10; 13; Gal. 5; Eph. 4; Col. 3; 2 Thess. 1; Rev. 2); Giving (2 Cor. 9); Graciousness (Prov. 11); Prosperity (Ps. 2); Stewardship (Luke 16)

And give thanks at the remembrance of His holy name.[a]

PSALM 98

A Song of Praise to the LORD for His Salvation and Judgment

A Psalm.

1 Oh, sing to the LORD a new song!
For He has done marvelous things;
His right hand and His holy arm have gained
Him the victory.
2 The LORD has made known His salvation;
His righteousness He has revealed in the sight of the nations.
3 He has remembered His mercy and His faithfulness to the house of Israel;
All the ends of the earth have seen the salvation of our God.

4 Shout joyfully to the LORD, all the earth;
Break forth in song, rejoice, and sing praises.
5 Sing to the LORD with the harp,
With the harp and the sound of a psalm,
6 With trumpets and the sound of a horn;
Shout joyfully before the LORD, the King.

7 Let the sea roar, and all its fullness,
The world and those who dwell in it;
8 Let the rivers clap their hands;
Let the hills be joyful together before the
LORD,
9 For He is coming to judge the earth.
With righteousness He shall judge the world,
And the peoples with equity.

PSALM 99

Praise to the LORD for His Holiness

1 The LORD reigns;
Let the peoples tremble!

97:12 [a]Or His holiness

98:1–9 The basis for this new song is God's reign as the righteous King and Judge (vv. 6, 9). He is worthy of praise for His mighty acts (see Ps. 96). The Lord's "right hand" is a reference to His power (Ps. 98:1; see Ps. 89:13; Ex. 15:6, 12). He alone had brought victory to His people. All the earth, even nature, participates in the joy of worshiping the Lord as King (Ps. 98:4–8; compare verses 7–9 with Psalm 96:11–13).

99:1–9 This enthronement psalm celebrates God's eternal

He dwells between the cherubim;
Let the earth be moved!
2 The LORD is great in Zion,
And He is high above all the peoples.
3 Let them praise Your great and awesome name—
He is holy.

4 The King's strength also loves justice;
You have established equity;
You have executed justice and righteousness in Jacob.
5 Exalt the LORD our God,
And worship at His footstool—
He is holy.

6 Moses and Aaron were among His priests,
And Samuel was among those who called upon His name;
They called upon the LORD, and He answered them.
7 He spoke to them in the cloudy pillar;
They kept His testimonies and the ordinance He gave them.

8 You answered them, O LORD our God;
You were to them God-Who-Forgives,
Though You took vengeance on their deeds.
9 Exalt the LORD our God,
And worship at His holy hill;
For the LORD our God is holy.

PSALM 100

A Song of Praise for the Faithfulness to His People

A Psalm of Thanksgiving.

1 Make a joyful shout to the LORD, all you lands!
2 Serve the LORD with gladness;
Come before His presence with singing.
3 Know that the LORD, He is God;
It is He who has made us, and not we ourselves;[a]
We are His people and the sheep of His pasture.

4 Enter into His gates with thanksgiving,
And into His courts with praise.
Be thankful to Him, and bless His name.
5 For the LORD is good;
His mercy is everlasting,
And His truth endures to all generations.

PSALM 101

Promised Faithfulness to the LORD

A Psalm of David.

1 I will sing of mercy and justice;
To You, O LORD, I will sing praises.

2 I will behave wisely in a perfect way.
Oh, when will You come to me?
I will walk within my house with a perfect heart.

3 I will set nothing wicked before my eyes;
I hate the work of those who fall away;
It shall not cling to me.
4 A perverse heart shall depart from me;
I will not know wickedness.

5 Whoever secretly slanders his neighbor,
Him I will destroy;
The one who has a haughty look and a proud heart,
Him I will not endure.

6 My eyes shall be on the faithful of the land,
That they may dwell with me;
He who walks in a perfect way,
He shall serve me.
7 He who works deceit shall not dwell within my house;
He who tells lies shall not continue in my presence.
8 Early I will destroy all the wicked of the land,
That I may cut off all the evildoers from the city of the LORD.

100:3 [a]Following Kethib, Septuagint, and Vulgate; Qere, many Hebrew manuscripts, and Targum read we are His.

reign of holiness (vv. 3, 5, 9; see Ps. 93; 97). The people are to submit to His holy rule and are to worship and exalt Him because "He is holy." The holy place of the Lord's dwelling, "between the cherubim" (Ps. 99:1), refers to the ark of the covenant where the Lord was enthroned (see Ex. 25:22; 1 Sam. 4:4; Ps. 80:1). God's holiness refers to His otherness—His separateness from His creation—and involves both the judgment of sin and forgiveness (Ps. 99:8).

100:1–5 The Book of Psalms is a hymnbook, a book of praise to the Lord. Repeatedly, these poets emphasized praising God and serving Him. This psalm of thanksgiving stresses the joy experienced in praising the Lord. All are invited to praise the Lord because He alone is God (v. 1), the Creator (v. 3; Ps. 95:7). We are dependent on Him. He is also the good Shepherd who cares for His people. His "mercy" (Heb. chesed: see Ps. 5:7–12, note) and His "truth" (faithfulness; see Ps. 89) are extended to all generations.

101:1–8 The Davidic king's promise of faithfulness to the Lord is the focus of this psalm. The king pledged to "behave wisely in a perfect way" (v. 2). "Perfect" (lit. "unimpaired," "blameless") is used to describe an individual of integrity (see also v. 6). The king appointed by God promised to rule wisely and with integrity and to reject wickedness in himself, in others (vv. 3–5), and in his administration (vv. 6–8). Modern politicians make promises to the voters. This king made promises to God.

PSALM 102

The LORD's Eternal Love

A Prayer of the afflicted, when he is overwhelmed and pours out his complaint before the LORD.

1 Hear my prayer, O LORD,
And let my cry come to You.
2 Do not hide Your face from me in the day of my trouble;
Incline Your ear to me;
In the day that I call, answer me speedily.

3 For my days are consumed like smoke,
And my bones are burned like a hearth.
4 My heart is stricken and withered like grass,
So that I forget to eat my bread.
5 Because of the sound of my groaning
My bones cling to my skin.
6 I am like a pelican of the wilderness;
I am like an owl of the desert.
7 I lie awake,
And am like a sparrow alone on the housetop.

8 My enemies reproach me all day long;
Those who deride me swear an oath against me.
9 For I have eaten ashes like bread,
And mingled my drink with weeping,
10 Because of Your indignation and Your wrath;
For You have lifted me up and cast me away.
11 My days are like a shadow that lengthens,
And I wither away like grass.

12 But You, O LORD, shall endure forever,
And the remembrance of Your name to all generations.
13 You will arise and have mercy on Zion;
For the time to favor her,
Yes, the set time, has come.
14 For Your servants take pleasure in her stones,
And show favor to her dust.
15 So the nations shall fear the name of the LORD,
And all the kings of the earth Your glory.
16 For the LORD shall build up Zion;
He shall appear in His glory.
17 He shall regard the prayer of the destitute,
And shall not despise their prayer.

18 This will be written for the generation to come,
That a people yet to be created may praise the LORD.
19 For He looked down from the height of His sanctuary;
From heaven the LORD viewed the earth,
20 To hear the groaning of the prisoner,
To release those appointed to death,
21 To declare the name of the LORD in Zion,
And His praise in Jerusalem,
22 When the peoples are gathered together,
And the kingdoms, to serve the LORD.

23 He weakened my strength in the way;
He shortened my days.
24 I said, "O my God,
Do not take me away in the midst of my days;
Your years are throughout all generations.
25 Of old You laid the foundation of the earth,
And the heavens are the work of Your hands.
26 They will perish, but You will endure;
Yes, they will all grow old like a garment;
Like a cloak You will change them,
And they will be changed.
27 But You are the same,
And Your years will have no end.
28 The children of Your servants will continue,
And their descendants will be established before You."

PSALM 103

Praise for the LORD's Mercies

A Psalm of David.

1 Bless the LORD, O my soul;
And all that is within me, bless His holy name!
2 Bless the LORD, O my soul,

102:1–7 This psalm is the prayer of one who is afflicted and crying out to God (see the superscription; vv. 3–7). It is one of seven penitential psalms on the nature of sin and forgiveness (see Ps. 6, 32, 38, 51, 130, 143; chart, The Types of Psalms). The malady that afflicted this psalmist cannot be identified. He may simply be describing extreme mental anguish in physical terms, as he feels isolated from God and tormented constantly by his enemies (Ps. 102:6–11). Because of the close connection with sin, suffering generally was viewed as an expression of God's wrath against sins the tormented individual had committed. When an individual suffered, the assumption was that he had sinned. The Book of Job refutes the universal or careless application of this assumption.

102:18–28 The psalmist expressed faith in the midst of his lament. Even though the poet's days (of his life) are few (v. 11; see vv. 1–7, note), the Lord will endure forever. God's greatness stands in contrast to human weakness. His plan transcends a lifetime. Other generations will come to stand in awe of the Lord and will serve Him (vv. 18–22). This testimony of faith in a difficult situation reflects confidence in God's sovereignty. Recognizing God's eternal presence puts a new perspective on life.

103:1–5 The psalmist instructed his whole being to offer joyful praise to the Lord (note the repeated phrase, v. 22; see also Ps. 104:1, 35). The Lord forgives all iniquities and brings healing to life (see Ps. 32:1, 2; 51:1, notes). He redeems from destruction. "Redeems" is the word used of Boaz's role as the kinsman-redeemer of Ruth (Ps. 103:4; see Ruth 4). God does for us what we cannot do for ourselves. For "lovingkindness" (Heb. chesed, lit. "steadfast love"), see Psalm 5:7–12, note; for "tender mercies," see Psalm 18:1–3, note. Nothing else can satisfy like a relationship with the Lord (Ps. 103:5).

FORGIVENESS: YOUR PATH TO FREEDOM

GOD'S ACTION	OUR REACTIONS	HIS WORD
His Forgiveness	Because God forgives you, you can forgive others.	Ps. 103:10–12; Eph. 1:7; Heb. 10:17, 18; 1 John 1:9
His Call	Forgiveness is an act of obedience to God.	Matt. 6:14; Luke 17:3, 4; Eph. 4:32; Col. 3:13
His Character	When you forgive, you allow God to work in your life.	Gen. 50:20; Deut. 32:4; Rom. 8:28, 29, 38, 39
His Perspective	If you are willing to obey, you will forgive in God's way.	Matt. 5:44; Acts 20:35; Rom. 12:17–21; 1 Cor. 13:5
His Provision	What God calls you to do, He will equip you to do.	Matt. 19:26; Phil. 1:6; 4:13; 1 Thess. 5:24

And forget not all His benefits:
3 Who forgives all your iniquities,
Who heals all your diseases,
4 Who redeems your life from destruction,
Who crowns you with lovingkindness and tender mercies,
5 Who satisfies your mouth with good things,
So that your youth is renewed like the eagle's.

6 The LORD executes righteousness
And justice for all who are oppressed.
7 He made known His ways to Moses,
His acts to the children of Israel.
8 The LORD is merciful and gracious,
Slow to anger, and abounding in mercy.
9 He will not always strive with us,
Nor will He keep His anger forever.
10 He has not dealt with us according to our sins,
Nor punished us according to our iniquities.

11 For as the heavens are high above the earth,
So great is His mercy toward those who fear Him;
12 As far as the east is from the west,
So far has He removed our transgressions from us.
13 As a father pities his children,
So the LORD pities those who fear Him.
14 For He knows our frame;
He remembers that we are dust.

15 As for man, his days are like grass;
As a flower of the field, so he flourishes.
16 For the wind passes over it, and it is gone,
And its place remembers it no more.[a]
17 But the mercy of the LORD is from everlasting to everlasting
On those who fear Him,
And His righteousness to children's children,
18 To such as keep His covenant,
And to those who remember His commandments to do them.

103:16 [a]Compare Job 7:10

103:6–12 The Lord is righteous and just to all who are oppressed, as is evident in His revelation of Himself to Moses and in His deeds on Israel's behalf. He is "merciful and gracious, slow to anger, and abounding in mercy" (Heb. chesed, lit. "lovingkindness," v. 8; see Ex. 34:6, 7; see Ps. 5:7–12, note). God does not hold a grudge against His people (Ps. 103:9). God does not treat us the way we deserve to be treated. He does not mete out the punishment according to our sins; instead He forgives. God's mercy is pictured in geographical dimensions as great as the distance separating the heavens from the earth and as far as the east is from the west, the distance which separates sunrise and sunset (vv. 11, 12). He removes our "transgressions" (lit. "rebellion against God"; see Ps. 32:1, 2; 51:1; notes).

103:13–18 God is a compassionate and tender Father toward His children (v. 13). He created us from the dust of the earth (Gen. 2:7), and He knows our make-up. The Lord has compassion on our human frailty (Ps. 103:15, 16). In contrast to our weaknesses and the brevity of our lives, God's "mercy" (Heb. chesed, lit. "lovingkindness'; see Ps. 5:7–12, note) is everlasting and unchanging. All those who take His covenant seriously and live by His commands experience the wonderful reality of His unchanging love.

MEALTIME TOTAL NOURISHMENT

Descriptions of food are found throughout the Bible from the fruit of the Garden of Eden (Gen. 2:16; 3:3) to the elements of the Lord's Supper in the New Testament (1 Cor. 11:23–26). Careful dietary laws are given (see Lev.11:1–47). Mealtimes were often celebrations (see Luke 15:11–32).

As in Solomon's day, so it is in today's high-stress society; peaceful mealtimes aid both the digestion and the disposition. Perhaps the most meaningful and effective way to bring an air of peace and grace to mealtime is to make a habit of inviting God to be present. To offer a prayer of thanksgiving together before you begin to eat creates an attitude of gratitude and peace (see Ps. 100:4, 5; 1 Thess. 5:18). Turning off distracting noises creates an air of calm and allows conversation to focus on building relationships, generating peace, expressing love, and providing encouragement (Prov. 15:17; James 3:18). Even when dining alone, mealtime can be a time to rest, to reflect on God's blessings, or to enjoy scenic beauty.

Women have long been associated with mealtime in a special way. For example, the "virtuous wife" or "woman of strength" described in Proverbs 31:10–31 is willing to expend great effort to provide physical nurture for her family (Ps. 104:14, 15). Scripture also emphasizes that food must be shared in a regular and timely way (see Ps. 104:27; Matt. 24:45). There is no more beautiful time to nourish the family and others than in those regularly appointed gatherings that provide physical sustenance and spiritual nurture.

Brother Lawrence, a member of the humble barefooted Carmelite monks in the 1600s expressed the special opportunity in service at mealtime in his prayer: "Lord of all pots and pans and things . . . make me a saint by getting meals and washing up the plates! The time of business does not with me differ from the time of prayer, and in the noise and clatter of my kitchen . . . I possess God in as great tranquility as if I were upon my knees at the blessed sacrament."

19 The LORD has established His throne in heaven,
And His kingdom rules over all.

20 Bless the LORD, you His angels,
Who excel in strength, who do His word,
Heeding the voice of His word.
21 Bless the LORD, all you His hosts,
You ministers of His, who do His pleasure.
22 Bless the LORD, all His works,
In all places of His dominion.

Bless the LORD, O my soul!

PSALM 104

Praise to the Sovereign LORD for His Creation and Providence

1 Bless the LORD, O my soul!

O LORD my God, You are very great:
You are clothed with honor and majesty,
2 Who cover Yourself with light as with a garment,
Who stretch out the heavens like a curtain.
3 He lays the beams of His upper chambers in the waters,
Who makes the clouds His chariot,
Who walks on the wings of the wind,
4 Who makes His angels spirits,
His ministers a flame of fire.

5 You who laid the foundations of the earth,
So that it should not be moved forever,
6 You covered it with the deep as with a garment;
The waters stood above the mountains.
7 At Your rebuke they fled;
At the voice of Your thunder they hastened away.
8 They went up over the mountains;
They went down into the valleys,
To the place which You founded for them.
9 You have set a boundary that they may not pass over,
That they may not return to cover the earth.

10 He sends the springs into the valleys;
They flow among the hills.
11 They give drink to every beast of the field;

104:1–23 The greatness of God is the theme of the poem. This psalm has the same marvelous phrase for both introduction and conclusion (vv. 1, 35; see Ps. 103:1, 22). The lengthy poem is a description of the greatness of God as Creator. The poet begins with the heavens as the dwelling place of the Lord (Ps. 104:2). The poet next extolled the Lord as He who established the foundations of the earth (v. 5), putting creation under His control. He harnessed the waters for the benefit of His creation (vv. 9–13). God provided food and home, time and seasons for all His creatures (vv. 14–23). God provided meaning and purpose for the lives of His people (v. 23).

The wild donkeys quench their thirst.
12 By them the birds of the heavens have their home;
They sing among the branches.
13 He waters the hills from His upper chambers;
The earth is satisfied with the fruit of Your works.

14 He causes the grass to grow for the cattle,
And vegetation for the service of man,
That he may bring forth food from the earth,
15 And wine that makes glad the heart of man,
Oil to make his face shine,
And bread which strengthens man's heart.
16 The trees of the LORD are full of sap,
The cedars of Lebanon which He planted,
17 Where the birds make their nests;
The stork has her home in the fir trees.
18 The high hills are for the wild goats;
The cliffs are a refuge for the rock badgers.[a]

19 He appointed the moon for seasons;
The sun knows its going down.
20 You make darkness, and it is night,
In which all the beasts of the forest creep about.
21 The young lions roar after their prey,
And seek their food from God.
22 When the sun rises, they gather together
And lie down in their dens.
23 Man goes out to his work
And to his labor until the evening.

24 O LORD, how manifold are Your works!
In wisdom You have made them all.
The earth is full of Your possessions—
25 This great and wide sea,
In which are innumerable teeming things,
Living things both small and great.
26 There the ships sail about;
There is that Leviathan
Which You have made to play there.

27 These all wait for You,
That You may give them their food in due season.
28 What You give them they gather in;
You open Your hand, they are filled with good.
29 You hide Your face, they are troubled;
You take away their breath, they die and return to their dust.
30 You send forth Your Spirit, they are created;
And You renew the face of the earth.

31 May the glory of the LORD endure forever;
May the LORD rejoice in His works.
32 He looks on the earth, and it trembles;
He touches the hills, and they smoke.

33 I will sing to the LORD as long as I live;
I will sing praise to my God while I have my being.
34 May my meditation be sweet to Him;
I will be glad in the LORD.
35 May sinners be consumed from the earth,
And the wicked be no more.

Bless the LORD, O my soul!
Praise the LORD!

PSALM 105

The Eternal Faithfulness of the LORD

1 Oh, give thanks to the LORD!
Call upon His name;
Make known His deeds among the peoples!
2 Sing to Him, sing psalms to Him;
Talk of all His wondrous works!
3 Glory in His holy name;
Let the hearts of those rejoice who seek the LORD!
4 Seek the LORD and His strength;
Seek His face evermore!
5 Remember His marvelous works which He has done,
His wonders, and the judgments of His mouth,
6 O seed of Abraham His servant,
You children of Jacob, His chosen ones!

7 He is the LORD our God;
His judgments are in all the earth.
8 He remembers His covenant forever,
The word which He commanded, for a thousand generations,
9 The covenant which He made with Abraham,
And His oath to Isaac,

104:18 [a]Or rock hyrax (compare Leviticus 11:5)

104:24–30 God is the source of life. He made the seas and all forms of sea life. "Leviathan" refers to a great sea creature (v. 26). All creatures depend on God for their existence and sustenance. God renews the entire earth, both plant and animal life, for life is the gift of the Lord. Every mother understands vividly the importance of the regular provision of food (v. 27). Nature is dependent on the Lord, who gives and sustains life (v. 30). The poem ends as it began with a call to praise (vv. 33–35). The psalmist vowed to sing praise to God as long as he lived (v. 33), expressing his joy in the Lord (v. 34). He prayed that the wicked who spoil the beauty and purpose of God's creation may exist no more.

105:1–6 The Lord is to be praised for His wonderful works on behalf of His chosen people throughout history. The first 15 verses of this psalm were used as a psalm of thanksgiving to the Lord when David brought the ark to Jerusalem (1 Chr. 16).

105:7–25 God made His covenant of promise with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob to give the Land of Canaan to His people as their inheritance (vv. 8–12; see Gen. 12:1–3). God protected

10 And confirmed it to Jacob for a statute,
To Israel as an everlasting covenant,
11 Saying, "To you I will give the land of Canaan
As the allotment of your inheritance,"
12 When they were few in number,
Indeed very few, and strangers in it.

13 When they went from one nation to another,
From one kingdom to another people,
14 He permitted no one to do them wrong;
Yes, He rebuked kings for their sakes,
15 Saying, "Do not touch My anointed ones,
And do My prophets no harm."

16 Moreover He called for a famine in the land;
He destroyed all the provision of bread.
17 He sent a man before them—
Joseph—who was sold as a slave.
18 They hurt his feet with fetters,
He was laid in irons.
19 Until the time that his word came to pass,
The word of the LORD tested him.
20 The king sent and released him,
The ruler of the people let him go free.
21 He made him lord of his house,
And ruler of all his possessions,
22 To bind his princes at his pleasure,
And teach his elders wisdom.

23 Israel also came into Egypt,
And Jacob dwelt in the land of Ham.
24 He increased His people greatly,
And made them stronger than their enemies.
25 He turned their heart to hate His people,
To deal craftily with His servants.

26 He sent Moses His servant,
And Aaron whom He had chosen.
27 They performed His signs among them,
And wonders in the land of Ham.
28 He sent darkness, and made it dark;
And they did not rebel against His word.
29 He turned their waters into blood,
And killed their fish.
30 Their land abounded with frogs,
Even in the chambers of their kings.
31 He spoke, and there came swarms of flies,
And lice in all their territory.
32 He gave them hail for rain,
And flaming fire in their land.
33 He struck their vines also, and their fig trees,
And splintered the trees of their territory.
34 He spoke, and locusts came,
Young locusts without number,
35 And ate up all the vegetation in their land,
And devoured the fruit of their ground.
36 He also destroyed all the firstborn in their land,
The first of all their strength.

37 He also brought them out with silver and gold,
And there was none feeble among His tribes.
38 Egypt was glad when they departed,
For the fear of them had fallen upon them.
39 He spread a cloud for a covering,
And fire to give light in the night.
40 The people asked, and He brought quail,
And satisfied them with the bread of heaven.
41 He opened the rock, and water gushed out;
It ran in the dry places like a river.

42 For He remembered His holy promise,
And Abraham His servant.
43 He brought out His people with joy,
His chosen ones with gladness.
44 He gave them the lands of the Gentiles,
And they inherited the labor of the nations,
45 That they might observe His statutes
And keep His laws.

Praise the LORD!

PSALM 106

Joy in Forgiveness of Israel's Sins

1 Praise the LORD!

Oh, give thanks to the LORD, for He is good!
For His mercy endures forever.

2 Who can utter the mighty acts of the LORD?
Who can declare all His praise?

Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, while they were wandering nomads, from the kings of other nations (Ps. 105:12, 13; see Gen. 12:10–20; 20:1–18). God's covenant with the patriarchs, who were also identified as prophets, was an unconditional covenant (Ps. 105:15; see Gen. 20:7). Joseph, sold by his brothers, became a powerful ruler in Egypt. The Lord used Joseph to save His people from terrible famine by bringing Jacob and his family to Egypt, where they multiplied but eventually were enslaved (Ps. 105:16–25; see Gen. 46—50).

105:26–41 This recital of Israel's history under the leadership of Moses refreshed the people's memories with all the reasons they had to give thanks to the Lord. The plagues that fell on Egypt before Pharaoh let the Hebrew people go are recounted (see chart, The Ten Plagues on Egypt in Exodus). God provided guidance for His people in the wilderness, giving them meat (quail), manna (bread from heaven), and water from the rock (vv. 40, 41).

105:42–45 God's people should respond in obedience to His numerous acts on their behalf (v. 45). Privilege always brings with it responsibility. God's goodness to His people should lead believers in every generation to obedience as the proper response of a grateful heart.

106:1–6 The focus is on Israel's unfaithfulness as incidents from Israel's history are related (see Psalm 78). The Lord is praised for His goodness and mercy (Heb. chesed, Ps. 106:1;

Worship is not an experience. Worship is an act, and this takes discipline.
Elisabeth Elliot

3 Blessed are those who keep justice,
And he who does[a] righteousness at all times!

4 Remember me, O LORD, with the favor You have toward Your people.
Oh, visit me with Your salvation,
5 That I may see the benefit of Your chosen ones,
That I may rejoice in the gladness of Your nation,
That I may glory with Your inheritance.

6 We have sinned with our fathers,
We have committed iniquity,
We have done wickedly.
7 Our fathers in Egypt did not understand Your wonders;
They did not remember the multitude of Your mercies,
But rebelled by the sea—the Red Sea.

8 Nevertheless He saved them for His name's sake,
That He might make His mighty power known.
9 He rebuked the Red Sea also, and it dried up;
So He led them through the depths,
As through the wilderness.
10 He saved them from the hand of him who hated them,
And redeemed them from the hand of the enemy.
11 The waters covered their enemies;
There was not one of them left.
12 Then they believed His words;
They sang His praise.

13 They soon forgot His works;
They did not wait for His counsel,
14 But lusted exceedingly in the wilderness,
And tested God in the desert.
15 And He gave them their request,
But sent leanness into their soul.

16 When they envied Moses in the camp,
And Aaron the saint of the LORD,
17 The earth opened up and swallowed Dathan,
And covered the faction of Abiram.
18 A fire was kindled in their company;
The flame burned up the wicked.

19 They made a calf in Horeb,
And worshiped the molded image.
20 Thus they changed their glory
Into the image of an ox that eats grass.
21 They forgot God their Savior,
Who had done great things in Egypt,
22 Wondrous works in the land of Ham,
Awesome things by the Red Sea.
23 Therefore He said that He would destroy them,
Had not Moses His chosen one stood before Him in the breach,
To turn away His wrath, lest He destroy them.

24 Then they despised the pleasant land;
They did not believe His word,
25 But complained in their tents,
And did not heed the voice of the LORD.
26 Therefore He raised His hand in an oath against them,
To overthrow them in the wilderness,
27 To overthrow their descendants among the nations,
And to scatter them in the lands.

28 They joined themselves also to Baal of Peor,
And ate sacrifices made to the dead.
29 Thus they provoked Him to anger with their deeds,
And the plague broke out among them.
30 Then Phinehas stood up and intervened,
And the plague was stopped.
31 And that was accounted to him for righteousness
To all generations forevermore.

32 They angered Him also at the waters of strife,[a]
So that it went ill with Moses on account of them;

106:3 [a]Septuagint, Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate read those who do.
106:32 [a]Or Meribah

see Ps. 5:7–12, note). The poet longed to experience God's salvation or deliverance (Ps. 106:4, 5). The poet recalled numerous times when Israel disobeyed the Lord after He delivered them from Egypt (vv. 7–46). Yet the Lord remained faithful to His people (vv. 40–46), forgiving and delivering them again and again. He faithfully kept the covenant that His people broke. No wonder the poet issued a call to praise (v. 47). The doxology of verse 48 marks the conclusion to Book IV of the Psalms (see Introduction: Outline).

ATTRIBUTES OF GOD — HE IS IMMUTABLE

Believers can be sure of God. His character, truth, ways, purposes, love, and promises never vary (Is. 46:9–11). He has never been less than what He is, nor will He be more (Mal. 3:6).

People change because of inadequate ability, lack of knowledge, change of circumstances, or loss of interest. God lacks no ability (Gen. 18:14), He knows everything, controls everything, and is involved in everything (Is. 40:11–14).

God does nothing partially (Is. 41:4), never changes moods (Heb. 13:8), nor does He cool off in His affections (Jer. 31:3) or enthusiasm (Phil. 1:6). His attitude toward sin is the same as it was in the garden of Eden, and His love is the same as it was when He displayed it on the Cross (Rom. 5:17).

God never alters His plans because they are made with complete knowledge and control (Ps. 33:11). What He does in time He planned in eternity, and what He planned in eternity He carries out in time (Is. 46:9–11). God does not change because He is bigger than all causes.

See also Is. 14:24; Lam. 3:22, note; Heb. 1:11, 12; James 1:17; notes on Attributes of God (Ex. 33; Deut. 4; 32; 2 Chr. 19; Job 23; 42; Ps. 25; 90; 119; Is. 6; 65; Jer. 23; Luke 18; Rom. 2; Eph. 1; 1 John 5); Commitment (Matt. 16); Holiness (Lev. 20); God's Will (Eph. 5); Promises of God (2 Pet. 1); Vows (Num. 30)

33 Because they rebelled against His Spirit,
So that he spoke rashly with his lips.

34 They did not destroy the peoples,
Concerning whom the LORD had commanded them,
35 But they mingled with the Gentiles
And learned their works;
36 They served their idols,
Which became a snare to them.
37 They even sacrificed their sons
And their daughters to demons,
38 And shed innocent blood,
The blood of their sons and daughters,
Whom they sacrificed to the idols of Canaan;
And the land was polluted with blood.
39 Thus they were defiled by their own works,
And played the harlot by their own deeds.

40 Therefore the wrath of the LORD was kindled against His people,
So that He abhorred His own inheritance.
41 And He gave them into the hand of the Gentiles,
And those who hated them ruled over them.
42 Their enemies also oppressed them,
And they were brought into subjection under their hand.
43 Many times He delivered them;
But they rebelled in their counsel,
And were brought low for their iniquity.

44 Nevertheless He regarded their affliction,
When He heard their cry;
45 And for their sake He remembered His covenant,
And relented according to the multitude of His mercies.
46 He also made them to be pitied
By all those who carried them away captive.

47 Save us, O LORD our God,
And gather us from among the Gentiles,
To give thanks to Your holy name,
To triumph in Your praise.

48 Blessed be the LORD God of Israel
From everlasting to everlasting!
And let all the people say, "Amen!"

Praise the LORD!

Book Five: Psalms 107—150

PSALM 107

Thanksgiving to the LORD for His Great Works of Deliverance

1 Oh, give thanks to the LORD, for He is good!
For His mercy endures forever.
2 Let the redeemed of the LORD say so,
Whom He has redeemed from the hand of the enemy,
3 And gathered out of the lands,
From the east and from the west,
From the north and from the south.

4 They wandered in the wilderness in a desolate way;

107:1–3 The call to give thanks (v. 1) is based on the Lord's enduring "mercy" (Heb. chesed: see Ps. 5:7–12, note), demonstrated as He has "redeemed" His people (Ps. 107:2; see Ps. 103:1–5, note). This same term was used to describe Boaz as the kinsman-redeemer in the Book of Ruth (see Ps. 103:1–5, note). God does for His people what they cannot do for themselves by redeeming them from the power of their enemies (Ps. 107:2). Those who have experienced God's deliverance should speak up, letting others know of their praise to God for His wonderful works of deliverance (vv. 4–42). Psalm 107 marks the beginning of Book V (see Introduction: Outline).

They found no city to dwell in.
[5]Hungry and thirsty,
Their soul fainted in them.
[6]Then they cried out to the LORD in their trouble,
And He delivered them out of their distresses.
[7]And He led them forth by the right way,
That they might go to a city for a dwelling place.
[8]Oh, that men would give thanks to the LORD for His goodness,
And for His wonderful works to the children of men!
[9]For He satisfies the longing soul,
And fills the hungry soul with goodness.

[10]Those who sat in darkness and in the shadow of death,
Bound in affliction and irons—
[11]Because they rebelled against the words of God,
And despised the counsel of the Most High,
[12]Therefore He brought down their heart with labor;
They fell down, and there was none to help.
[13]Then they cried out to the LORD in their trouble,
And He saved them out of their distresses.
[14]He brought them out of darkness and the shadow of death,
And broke their chains in pieces.
[15]Oh, that men would give thanks to the LORD for His goodness,
And for His wonderful works to the children of men!
[16]For He has broken the gates of bronze,
And cut the bars of iron in two.

[17]Fools, because of their transgression,
And because of their iniquities, were afflicted.
[18]Their soul abhorred all manner of food,
And they drew near to the gates of death.
[19]Then they cried out to the LORD in their trouble,
And He saved them out of their distresses.
[20]He sent His word and healed them,
And delivered them from their destructions.
[21]Oh, that men would give thanks to the LORD for His goodness,
And for His wonderful works to the children of men!
[22]Let them sacrifice the sacrifices of thanksgiving,
And declare His works with rejoicing.

[23]Those who go down to the sea in ships,
Who do business on great waters,
[24]They see the works of the LORD,
And His wonders in the deep.
[25]For He commands and raises the stormy wind,
Which lifts up the waves of the sea.
[26]They mount up to the heavens,
They go down again to the depths;
Their soul melts because of trouble.
[27]They reel to and fro, and stagger like a drunken man,
And are at their wits' end.
[28]Then they cry out to the LORD in their trouble,
And He brings them out of their distresses.
[29]He calms the storm,
So that its waves are still.
[30]Then they are glad because they are quiet;
So He guides them to their desired haven.
[31]Oh, that men would give thanks to the LORD for His goodness,
And for His wonderful works to the children of men!
[32]Let them exalt Him also in the assembly of the people,
And praise Him in the company of the elders.

[33]He turns rivers into a wilderness,
And the watersprings into dry ground;
[34]A fruitful land into barrenness,
For the wickedness of those who dwell in it.
[35]He turns a wilderness into pools of water,
And dry land into watersprings.
[36]There He makes the hungry dwell,
That they may establish a city for a dwelling place,
[37]And sow fields and plant vineyards,
That they may yield a fruitful harvest.
[38]He also blesses them, and they multiply greatly;
And He does not let their cattle decrease.

[39]When they are diminished and brought low
Through oppression, affliction and sorrow,
[40]He pours contempt on princes,
And causes them to wander in the wilderness where there is no way;
[41]Yet He sets the poor on high, far from affliction,
And makes their families like a flock.
[42]The righteous see it and rejoice,
And all iniquity stops its mouth.

[43]Whoever is wise will observe these things,
And they will understand the lovingkindness of the LORD.

PSALM 108

Assurance of God's Victory over Enemies

A Song. A Psalm of David.

1 O God, my heart is steadfast;
I will sing and give praise, even with my glory.
2 Awake, lute and harp!
I will awaken the dawn.
3 I will praise You, O LORD, among the peoples,
And I will sing praises to You among the nations.
4 For Your mercy is great above the heavens,
And Your truth reaches to the clouds.

5 Be exalted, O God, above the heavens,
And Your glory above all the earth;
6 That Your beloved may be delivered,
Save with Your right hand, and hear me.

7 God has spoken in His holiness:
"I will rejoice;
I will divide Shechem
And measure out the Valley of Succoth.
8 Gilead is Mine; Manasseh is Mine;
Ephraim also is the helmet for My head;
Judah is My lawgiver.
9 Moab is My washpot;
Over Edom I will cast My shoe;
Over Philistia I will triumph."

10 Who will bring me into the strong city?
Who will lead me to Edom?
11 Is it not You, O God, who cast us off?
And You, O God, who did not go out with our armies?
12 Give us help from trouble,
For the help of man is useless.
13 Through God we will do valiantly,
For it is He who shall tread down our enemies.[a]

PSALM 109

Plea for Judgment of False Accusers

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

1 Do not keep silent,
O God of my praise!
2 For the mouth of the wicked and the mouth of the deceitful
Have opened against me;
They have spoken against me with a lying tongue.
3 They have also surrounded me with words of hatred,
And fought against me without a cause.
4 In return for my love they are my accusers,
But I give myself to prayer.
5 Thus they have rewarded me evil for good,
And hatred for my love.

6 Set a wicked man over him,
And let an accuser[a] stand at his right hand.
7 When he is judged, let him be found guilty,
And let his prayer become sin.
8 Let his days be few,
And let another take his office.
9 Let his children be fatherless,
And his wife a widow.
10 Let his children continually be vagabonds, and beg;
Let them seek their bread[a] also from their desolate places.
11 Let the creditor seize all that he has,
And let strangers plunder his labor.
12 Let there be none to extend mercy to him,
Nor let there be any to favor his fatherless children.
13 Let his posterity be cut off,
And in the generation following let their name be blotted out.

14 Let the iniquity of his fathers be remembered before the LORD,
And let not the sin of his mother be blotted out.
15 Let them be continually before the LORD,
That He may cut off the memory of them from the earth;
16 Because he did not remember to show mercy,
But persecuted the poor and needy man,
That he might even slay the broken in heart.
17 As he loved cursing, so let it come to him;
As he did not delight in blessing, so let it be far from him.
18 As he clothed himself with cursing as with his garment,
So let it enter his body like water,
And like oil into his bones.

108:13 [a]Compare verses 6–13 with 60:5–12 109:6 [a]Hebrew satan
109:10 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Targum; Septuagint and Vulgate read be cast out.

108:1–6 The poet praised God with a steadfast heart and prayed for deliverance, knowing that ultimately only God could bring the deliverance for which he longed. The first five verses of this psalm are found in Psalm 57:7–11, and Psalm 108:6–13 also appear in Psalm 60:5–12.

109:21–31 This psalm reveals the humanity of the psalmist and reflects the common belief that the poet's enemies were God's enemies. The poet was concerned for God's name or reputation. The longest section of this psalm expresses this angry poet's harsh prayer for God to curse his enemies (vv. 6–20, in which v. 8 was applied to Judas; see Acts 1:20). In contrast to the attitudes reflected in this psalm, Jesus taught His followers to love their enemies (Matt. 5:44).

19 Let it be to him like the garment which covers
him,
And for a belt with which he girds himself continually.
20 Let this be the LORD's reward to my accusers,
And to those who speak evil against my person.

21 But You, O GOD the Lord,
Deal with me for Your name's sake;
Because Your mercy is good, deliver me.
22 For I am poor and needy,
And my heart is wounded within me.
23 I am gone like a shadow when it lengthens;
I am shaken off like a locust.
24 My knees are weak through fasting,
And my flesh is feeble from lack of fatness.
25 I also have become a reproach to them;
When they look at me, they shake their heads.

26 Help me, O LORD my God!
Oh, save me according to Your mercy,
27 That they may know that this is Your hand—
That You, LORD, have done it!
28 Let them curse, but You bless;
When they arise, let them be ashamed,
But let Your servant rejoice.
29 Let my accusers be clothed with shame,
And let them cover themselves with their own disgrace as with a mantle.

30 I will greatly praise the LORD with my mouth;
Yes, I will praise Him among the multitude.
31 For He shall stand at the right hand of the poor,
To save him from those who condemn him.

PSALM 110

Announcement of the Messiah's Reign

A Psalm of David.

1 The LORD said to my Lord,
"Sit at My right hand,
Till I make Your enemies Your footstool."
2 The LORD shall send the rod of Your strength out of Zion.
Rule in the midst of Your enemies!

3 Your people shall be volunteers
In the day of Your power;
In the beauties of holiness, from the womb of
the morning,
You have the dew of Your youth.
4 The LORD has sworn
And will not relent,
"You are a priest forever
According to the order of Melchizedek."

5 The Lord is at Your right hand;
He shall execute kings in the day of His wrath.
6 He shall judge among the nations,
He shall fill the places with dead bodies,
He shall execute the heads of many countries.
7 He shall drink of the brook by the wayside;
Therefore He shall lift up the head.

PSALM 111

Praise to God for His Faithfulness and Justice

1 Praise the LORD!

I will praise the LORD with my whole heart,
In the assembly of the upright and in the congregation.

2 The works of the LORD are great,
Studied by all who have pleasure in them.
3 His work is honorable and glorious,
And His righteousness endures forever.
4 He has made His wonderful works to be remembered;
The LORD is gracious and full of compassion.
5 He has given food to those who fear Him;
He will ever be mindful of His covenant.
6 He has declared to His people the power of His works,
In giving them the heritage of the nations.

7 The works of His hands are verity and justice;
All His precepts are sure.
8 They stand fast forever and ever,
And are done in truth and uprightness.
9 He has sent redemption to His people;
He has commanded His covenant forever:
Holy and awesome is His name.

10 The fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom;

110:1–7 This psalm was used during the coronation ceremony of kings from David's line, emphasizing that the king's authority derived from the Lord Himself (vv. 1, 2). As God's special representative to the people, the king served in a priestly role (v. 4). Melchizedek, king of Salem and priest of God Most High, blessed Abraham after the rescue of Lot (see Gen. 14:18–20). Psalm 110 is frequently quoted in the NT in relation to Christ (see Matt. 22:44; Acts 2:34, 35; Heb. 1:13; 5:6; 7:17). Jesus is both our great High Priest and King.

111:1 The psalmist testified that he would praise the Lord with his whole being for many reasons (vv. 2–9). "Fear," which marks the beginning of wisdom, is an awesome reverence of God, not a cringing fear. This is the praise of a wise and understanding person living in a right relationship with the Lord (see Prov. 1:7; 9:10). Psalm 111, as is Psalm 112, is an example of a Hebrew acrostic poem. Each of the 22 lines begins with a successive letter of the Hebrew alphabet.

INFERTILITY CHILDLESS IS NOT LESS

Most couples anticipate children after marriage. Indeed, children are a part of God's plan for a man and woman united in marriage since God instructed Adam and Eve to "be fruitful and multiply" (Gen. 1:28). Scripture teaches that children are a heritage from the Lord, a reward from God (Ps. 127:3–5). Therefore, it can become very confusing and disconcerting to a married couple when children are not conceived as planned or desired. This was especially true in Bible times.

Barrenness is not merely a personal pain in the Bible. Children were a sign of material blessing (Psalm 127:3–5). They provided caregivers for older family members. Offspring were a sign of spiritual blessing: the "family-line" continued because there were family representatives in the land of the living. A person lived on through her descendants. Barrenness, then, carried with it a sense of termination.

Infertility is defined by the medical community as the inability to achieve pregnancy after a year or more of regular sexual relations without contraception or the inability to carry repeated pregnancies to live birth. About 15 percent of all married couples today are infertile. Although there are numerous causes of infertility in women and men, medical advances have made it possible to diagnose and treat many of them. Still, some couples remain childless despite years of treatment. A couple's decision to manage the timing of conception, pursue fertility measures, or adopt a child is a responsibility they share before God, the Author of life. "Childless" is not "less" if that is God's perfect will for a couple. Infertile couples have not been abandoned by God.

Couples who face infertility can experience a wide range of emotions. Like Sarai (Gen. 11:30), Rachel (Gen. 30:1), Hannah (1 Sam. 1:2), and Elizabeth (Luke 1:36), a childless woman often feels a wide range of emotions: disappointment, helplessness, anger, self-pity, grief, low self-esteem, or guilt. Regardless of how infertility impacts the couple, the personal pain is often great. Fellow Christians can help heal this pain by offering encouragement and understanding, by respecting the couple's efforts to explore their options, and by talking freely about infertility when the subject is introduced. Most importantly, the church needs to accept childless couples and encourage them to discover and pursue outlets for ministry.

God does not give children to every couple. God may have other blessings in store for the childless. Though we can only speculate as to their family lives, none of these notable women in the Bible are associated with the bearing of children: Miriam, Esther, Priscilla, Mary and Martha, Mary Magdalene. Once a woman realizes that the rearing of children is not the only responsibility God assigns to Christian couples, she often finds true joy in embracing her personal assignment from God.

PSALM 112

The Blessed State of the Righteous

[1]Praise the LORD!

Blessed is the man who fears the LORD,
Who delights greatly in His commandments.

[2]His descendants will be mighty on earth;
The generation of the upright will be blessed.
[3]Wealth and riches will be in his house,
And his righteousness endures forever.

[4]Unto the upright there arises light in the darkness;
He is gracious, and full of compassion, and righteous.
[5]A good man deals graciously and lends;
He will guide his affairs with discretion.
[6]Surely he will never be shaken;
The righteous will be in everlasting remembrance.
[7]He will not be afraid of evil tidings;
His heart is steadfast, trusting in the LORD.
[8]His heart is established;
He will not be afraid,
Until he sees his desire upon his enemies.

[9]He has dispersed abroad,
He has given to the poor;

112:1, 2 This acrostic poem is a wisdom psalm contrasting the blessings of the righteous with the fate of the wicked (see Ps. 1; 111:1, note). The person who holds the Lord in awesome reverence and obeys His commands would receive His blessing (Ps. 112:1–9). The righteous person would enjoy descendants to carry on his name, prosperity, and security. In contrast, the punishment of the wicked person is described: He would experience frustration, grief, and instability (v. 10).

His righteousness endures forever;
His horn will be exalted with honor.
10The wicked will see it and be grieved;
He will gnash his teeth and melt away;
The desire of the wicked shall perish.

PSALM 113

The Majesty and Condescension of God

1Praise the LORD!

Praise, O servants of the LORD,
Praise the name of the LORD!
2Blessed be the name of the LORD
From this time forth and forevermore!
3From the rising of the sun to its going down
The LORD's name is to be praised.

4The LORD is high above all nations,
His glory above the heavens.
5Who is like the LORD our God,
Who dwells on high,
6Who humbles Himself to behold
The things that are in the heavens and in the earth?

7He raises the poor out of the dust,
And lifts the needy out of the ash heap,
8That He may seat him with princes—
With the princes of His people.
9He grants the barren woman a home,
Like a joyful mother of children.

Praise the LORD!

PSALM 114

The Power of God in His Deliverance of Israel

1When Israel went out of Egypt,
The house of Jacob from a people of strange language,
2Judah became His sanctuary,
And Israel His dominion.

3The sea saw it and fled;
Jordan turned back.
4The mountains skipped like rams,
The little hills like lambs.
5What ails you, O sea, that you fled?
O Jordan, that you turned back?
6O mountains, that you skipped like rams?
O little hills, like lambs?

7Tremble, O earth, at the presence of the Lord,
At the presence of the God of Jacob,
8Who turned the rock into a pool of water,
The flint into a fountain of waters.

PSALM 115

The Futility of Idols and the Trustworthiness of God

1Not unto us, O LORD, not unto us,
But to Your name give glory,
Because of Your mercy,
Because of Your truth.
2Why should the Gentiles say,
"So where is their God?"

3But our God is in heaven;
He does whatever He pleases.
4Their idols are silver and gold,
The work of men's hands.
5They have mouths, but they do not speak;
Eyes they have, but they do not see;
6They have ears, but they do not hear;
Noses they have, but they do not smell;
7They have hands, but they do not handle;
Feet they have, but they do not walk;
Nor do they mutter through their throat.
8Those who make them are like them;
So is everyone who trusts in them.

9O Israel, trust in the LORD;
He is their help and their shield.
10O house of Aaron, trust in the LORD;
He is their help and their shield.
11You who fear the LORD, trust in the LORD;
He is their help and their shield.

12The LORD has been mindful of us;
He will bless us;
He will bless the house of Israel;
He will bless the house of Aaron.

113:1–9 This poem exalts both God's majesty and His compassion. "Hallel" (Heb., lit. "praise") psalms were sung in connection with major Jewish feasts and holy days (Ps. 113–118; see chart, The Types of Psalms). Psalms 113 and 114 were sung before the Passover meal, while Psalms 115–118 were part of the worship experience following the meal (see Matt. 26:30). Repeatedly, the psalmist noted that the Lord's "name," a reference to His character, is to be praised (Ps. 113:1, 2, 3), for no god compares to the Lord in His majestic splendor and in His concern for the poor, the needy, and the outcast. Compare verse 7 with Hannah's prayer (1 Sam. 2:8) and Mary's song (Luke 1:48). In ancient times, childlessness was considered a disgrace (Ps. 113:9; see Gen. 11, Infertility). A barren woman was often rejected by her husband, ridiculed by other women, and critical of herself (Gen. 16:2; 20:18; 1 Sam. 1:6; Luke 1:25). God's goodness also would overcome this tragedy.

114:1–8 This hallel psalm celebrates God's mighty acts of deliverance on behalf of His people (see Psalm 113:1–9, note; chart, The Types of Psalms). The Lord delivered them from bondage in Egypt, He parted the sea as they came out of Egypt, and He parted the Jordan River when they entered the Promised Land. Nature joyfully responds to the presence of the Lord (Ps. 114:4–6). God's majestic presence should still prompt His people to tremble in awe before Him (v. 7).

13 He will bless those who fear the LORD,
Both small and great.

14 May the LORD give you increase more and more,
You and your children.
15 May you be blessed by the LORD,
Who made heaven and earth.

16 The heaven, even the heavens, are the LORD's;
But the earth He has given to the children of men.
17 The dead do not praise the LORD,
Nor any who go down into silence.
18 But we will bless the LORD
From this time forth and forevermore.

Praise the LORD!

PSALM 116

Thanksgiving for Deliverance from Death

1 I love the LORD, because He has heard
My voice and my supplications.
2 Because He has inclined His ear to me,
Therefore I will call upon Him as long as I live.

3 The pains of death surrounded me,
And the pangs of Sheol laid hold of me;
I found trouble and sorrow.
4 Then I called upon the name of the LORD:
"O LORD, I implore You, deliver my soul!"

5 Gracious is the LORD, and righteous;
Yes, our God is merciful.
6 The LORD preserves the simple;
I was brought low, and He saved me.
7 Return to your rest, O my soul,
For the LORD has dealt bountifully with you.

8 For You have delivered my soul from death,
My eyes from tears,
And my feet from falling.
9 I will walk before the LORD
In the land of the living.
10 I believed, therefore I spoke,
"I am greatly afflicted."
11 I said in my haste,
"All men are liars."

12 What shall I render to the LORD
For all His benefits toward me?
13 I will take up the cup of salvation,
And call upon the name of the LORD.
14 I will pay my vows to the LORD
Now in the presence of all His people.

15 Precious in the sight of the LORD
Is the death of His saints.

16 O LORD, truly I am Your servant;
I am Your servant, the son of Your maid servant;
You have loosed my bonds.
17 I will offer to You the sacrifice of thanksgiving,
And will call upon the name of the LORD.

18 I will pay my vows to the LORD
Now in the presence of all His people,
19 In the courts of the LORD's house,
In the midst of you, O Jerusalem.

Praise the LORD!

PSALM 117

Let All Peoples Praise the LORD

1 Praise the LORD, all you Gentiles!
Laud Him, all you peoples!
2 For His merciful kindness is great toward us,
And the truth of the LORD endures forever.

Praise the LORD!

PSALM 118

Praise to God for His Everlasting Mercy

1 Oh, give thanks to the LORD, for He is good!
For His mercy endures forever.

115:1–11 The poet emphasized the praise due God's name in this hallel psalm (vv. 1–3). The psalm was most likely sung by Jesus and His disciples following the Passover meal (Mark 14:26; see Ps. 113:1–9, note; chart, The Types of Psalms). By contrast, the idols of Israel's neighbors were powerless and worthy of ridicule (Ps. 115:4–7), and those who worshiped them were also helpless (v. 8; see Ps. 135:15–18; Is. 40:18–20; 44:9–17).

116:1–19 The poet cried out to the Lord for deliverance from sheol (Heb., lit. "death," v. 3). God heard and answered his prayer. Death remains an area in which believers have many questions (see 1 Cor. 15, Death). This verse is a loving assurance that, for the believer, physical death is an ushering into the presence of Jesus and an entrance into a more abundant life. The poet vowed his love and service to the Lord as an expression of gratitude for what He had done for him (see Ps. 113:1–9, note; chart, The Types of Psalms).

117:1, 2 This shortest poem in the Book of Psalms is a powerful universal call to worship (see Ps. 113:1–9, note; chart, The Types of Psalms). All nations and peoples are called on to praise the Lord for His love and faithfulness (Rom. 15:11).

118:1–4 This psalm praises God for His mercy (Heb. chesed: see Ps. 5:7–12, note), which endures forever (see Ps. 113:1–9, note). What a wonderful reason to give thanks to Him! Verses 22, 23 are applied to Christ, the chief cornerstone (see Matt. 21:42; Mark 12:10, 11; Luke 20:17; Acts 4:11; 1 Pet. 2:7). Psalm 118:25, 26 were chanted by those who welcomed Christ at His triumphal entry into Jerusalem ("save now I pray" from Heb. hoshiana or Gk. hosanna: see Matt. 21:9; Mark 11:9; John 12:13).

2 Let Israel now say,
"His mercy endures forever."
3 Let the house of Aaron now say,
"His mercy endures forever."
4 Let those who fear the LORD now say,
"His mercy endures forever."

5 I called on the LORD in distress;
The LORD answered me and set me in a broad place.
6 The LORD is on my side;
I will not fear.
What can man do to me?
7 The LORD is for me among those who help me;
Therefore I shall see my desire on those who hate me.
8 It is better to trust in the LORD
Than to put confidence in man.
9 It is better to trust in the LORD
Than to put confidence in princes.

10 All nations surrounded me,
But in the name of the LORD I will destroy them.
11 They surrounded me,
Yes, they surrounded me;
But in the name of the LORD I will destroy them.
12 They surrounded me like bees;
They were quenched like a fire of thorns;
For in the name of the LORD I will destroy them.
13 You pushed me violently, that I might fall,
But the LORD helped me.
14 The LORD is my strength and song,
And He has become my salvation.[a]

15 The voice of rejoicing and salvation
Is in the tents of the righteous;
The right hand of the LORD does valiantly.
16 The right hand of the LORD is exalted;
The right hand of the LORD does valiantly.
17 I shall not die, but live,
And declare the works of the LORD.
18 The LORD has chastened me severely,
But He has not given me over to death.

19 Open to me the gates of righteousness;
I will go through them,
And I will praise the LORD.
20 This is the gate of the LORD,
Through which the righteous shall enter.
21 I will praise You,
For You have answered me,
And have become my salvation.

22 The stone which the builders rejected
Has become the chief cornerstone.
23 This was the LORD's doing;
It is marvelous in our eyes.
24 This is the day the LORD has made;
We will rejoice and be glad in it.

25 Save now, I pray, O LORD;
O LORD, I pray, send now prosperity.
26 Blessed is he who comes in the name of the LORD!
We have blessed you from the house of the LORD.
27 God is the LORD,
And He has given us light;
Bind the sacrifice with cords to the horns of the altar.
28 You are my God, and I will praise You;
You are my God, I will exalt You.

29 Oh, give thanks to the LORD, for He is good!
For His mercy endures forever.

PSALM 119

Meditations on the Excellencies of the Word of God

א ALEPH

1 Blessed are the undefiled in the way,
Who walk in the law of the LORD!
2 Blessed are those who keep His testimonies,
Who seek Him with the whole heart!
3 They also do no iniquity;
They walk in His ways.
4 You have commanded us
To keep Your precepts diligently.
5 Oh, that my ways were directed
To keep Your statutes!
6 Then I would not be ashamed,
When I look into all Your commandments.
7 I will praise You with uprightness of heart,
When I learn Your righteous judgments.
8 I will keep Your statutes;
Oh, do not forsake me utterly!

ב BETH

9 How can a young man cleanse his way?
By taking heed according to Your word.

118:14 [a]Compare Exodus 15:2

119:1–8 The theme of this acrostic poem is a celebration of God's Law. Each paragraph of the psalm begins with a successive letter of the Hebrew alphabet. This poem is the longest psalm in the Book of Psalms, as well as the longest chapter in the Bible. This hymn of praise magnifies and extols the Word of God. Various terms used for the Law of the Lord include "word" (v. 9), "testimonies" (v. 46), "precepts" (v. 28), "statutes" (v. 33), "commandments" (v. 60), and "judgments" (v. 102). Those who obey God's Law experience His blessing and are protected from sin (v. 11; see Matt. 4:1–11). God's Word stands forever (Ps. 119:89; see Is. 40:8; 1 Pet. 1:24, 25), providing light and guidance through life (see John 8:12).

ATTRIBUTES OF GOD HE IS TRUTH

Every word God speaks is true (John 17:17). He is unable to speak an untruth (Heb. 6:17, 18), and He is never mistaken (Deut. 32:4). He knows all things as they really are and sees what has happened, is happening, and will happen (Is. 46:9, 10). Since He is responsible for everything, all accurate knowledge comes from Him. He is the standard for all truth; He is that by which all else is measured.

Truth not only describes what He knows; it also describes all He does and says, including judgment (Is. 16:5), creation (Ps. 146:6), redemption (Ps. 31:5), and each detail of every promise He makes (Josh. 23:14).

Truth is so identified with God that Jesus simply states, "I am . . . the truth" (John 14:6), identifying Himself as the only way to the understanding of genuine truth (1 John 5:20).

The fact that God is Truth is the basis of faith because the opposite of having faith in God is calling God a liar (Rom. 3:4). He is not only dependably accurate, but He is also accurately dependable.

10 With my whole heart I have sought You;
Oh, let me not wander from Your commandments!
11 Your word I have hidden in my heart,
That I might not sin against You.
12 Blessed are You, O LORD!
Teach me Your statutes.
13 With my lips I have declared
All the judgments of Your mouth.
14 I have rejoiced in the way of Your testimonies,
As much as in all riches.
15 I will meditate on Your precepts,
And contemplate Your ways.
16 I will delight myself in Your statutes;
I will not forget Your word.

GIMEL

17 Deal bountifully with Your servant,
That I may live and keep Your word.
18 Open my eyes, that I may see
Wondrous things from Your law.
19 I am a stranger in the earth;
Do not hide Your commandments from me.
20 My soul breaks with longing
For Your judgments at all times.
21 You rebuke the proud—the cursed,
Who stray from Your commandments.
22 Remove from me reproach and contempt,
For I have kept Your testimonies.
23 Princes also sit and speak against me,
But Your servant meditates on Your statutes.
24 Your testimonies also are my delight
And my counselors.

DALETH

25 My soul clings to the dust;
Revive me according to Your word.
26 I have declared my ways, and You answered me;
Teach me Your statutes.
27 Make me understand the way of Your precepts;
So shall I meditate on Your wonderful works.
28 My soul melts from heaviness;
Strengthen me according to Your word.
29 Remove from me the way of lying,
And grant me Your law graciously.
30 I have chosen the way of truth;
Your judgments I have laid before me.
31 I cling to Your testimonies;
O LORD, do not put me to shame!
32 I will run the course of Your commandments,
For You shall enlarge my heart.

HE

33 Teach me, O LORD, the way of Your statutes,
And I shall keep it to the end.
34 Give me understanding, and I shall keep Your law;
Indeed, I shall observe it with my whole heart.
35 Make me walk in the path of Your commandments,
For I delight in it.
36 Incline my heart to Your testimonies,
And not to covetousness.
37 Turn away my eyes from looking at worthless things,
And revive me in Your way.[a]
38 Establish Your word to Your servant,
Who is devoted to fearing You.
39 Turn away my reproach which I dread,
For Your judgments are good.
40 Behold, I long for Your precepts;
Revive me in Your righteousness.

119:37 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Septuagint, and Vulgate; Targum reads Your words.

ו WAW
41 Let Your mercies come also to me, O LORD—
Your salvation according to Your word.
42 So shall I have an answer for him who reproaches me,
For I trust in Your word.
43 And take not the word of truth utterly out of my mouth,
For I have hoped in Your ordinances.
44 So shall I keep Your law continually,
Forever and ever.
45 And I will walk at liberty,
For I seek Your precepts.
46 I will speak of Your testimonies also before kings,
And will not be ashamed.
47 And I will delight myself in Your commandments,
Which I love.
48 My hands also I will lift up to Your commandments,
Which I love,
And I will meditate on Your statutes.

ז ZAYIN
49 Remember the word to Your servant,
Upon which You have caused me to hope.
50 This is my comfort in my affliction,
For Your word has given me life.
51 The proud have me in great derision,
Yet I do not turn aside from Your law.
52 I remembered Your judgments of old, O LORD,
And have comforted myself.
53 Indignation has taken hold of me
Because of the wicked, who forsake Your law.
54 Your statutes have been my songs
In the house of my pilgrimage.
55 I remember Your name in the night, O LORD,
And I keep Your law.
56 This has become mine,
Because I kept Your precepts.

ח HETH
57 You are my portion, O LORD;
I have said that I would keep Your words.
58 I entreated Your favor with my whole heart;
Be merciful to me according to Your word.
59 I thought about my ways,
And turned my feet to Your testimonies.
60 I made haste, and did not delay
To keep Your commandments.
61 The cords of the wicked have bound me,
But I have not forgotten Your law.
62 At midnight I will rise to give thanks to You,
Because of Your righteous judgments.
63 I am a companion of all who fear You,
And of those who keep Your precepts.
64 The earth, O LORD, is full of Your mercy;
Teach me Your statutes.

ט TETH
65 You have dealt well with Your servant,
O LORD, according to Your word.
66 Teach me good judgment and knowledge,
For I believe Your commandments.
67 Before I was afflicted I went astray,
But now I keep Your word.
68 You are good, and do good;
Teach me Your statutes.
69 The proud have forged a lie against me,
But I will keep Your precepts with my whole heart.
70 Their heart is as fat as grease,
But I delight in Your law.
71 It is good for me that I have been afflicted,
That I may learn Your statutes.
72 The law of Your mouth is better to me
Than thousands of coins of gold and silver.

י YOD
73 Your hands have made me and fashioned me;
Give me understanding, that I may learn Your commandments.
74 Those who fear You will be glad when they see me,
Because I have hoped in Your word.
75 I know, O LORD, that Your judgments are right,
And that in faithfulness You have afflicted me.
76 Let, I pray, Your merciful kindness be for my comfort,
According to Your word to Your servant.
77 Let Your tender mercies come to me, that I may live;
For Your law is my delight.
78 Let the proud be ashamed,
For they treated me wrongfully with falsehood;
But I will meditate on Your precepts.
79 Let those who fear You turn to me,
Those who know Your testimonies.
80 Let my heart be blameless regarding Your statutes,
That I may not be ashamed.

כ KAPH
81 My soul faints for Your salvation,
But I hope in Your word.
82 My eyes fail from searching Your word,
Saying, "When will You comfort me?"
83 For I have become like a wineskin in smoke,
Yet I do not forget Your statutes.
84 How many are the days of Your servant?
When will You execute judgment on those who persecute me?
85 The proud have dug pits for me,

SHAME FEELING UNWORTHY

Shame is a deep inner response to the potential for, or the actual experience of, being exposed as deficient or unworthy in another's eyes. The word "shame" is closely related to "mortified," which is derived from the French word meaning "death." Shame is the experience of profound embarrassment, a feeling of wanting "to curl up and die" on the inside.

Shame is one of the first human emotions recorded in Scripture (Gen. 3:10). Adam and Eve felt shame when God exposed their deception. Their response is common to us all: they hid behind a facade of their own making (Gen. 3:7); and, when confronted, they tried to shift the blame to someone other than themselves (Gen. 3:12, 13).

Understanding your shame leads to a richer appreciation for the work of Christ. Scripture declares that He bore your sin and your shame on the Cross (Heb. 12:2) so that you might live in free, unhindered relationship with Him and each other.

Which is not according to Your law.
86 All Your commandments are faithful;
They persecute me wrongfully;
Help me!
87 They almost made an end of me on earth,
But I did not forsake Your precepts.
88 Revive me according to Your lovingkindness,
So that I may keep the testimony of Your mouth.

89 Forever, O LORD,
Your word is settled in heaven.
90 Your faithfulness endures to all generations;
You established the earth, and it abides.
91 They continue this day according to Your ordinances,
For all are Your servants.
92 Unless Your law had been my delight,
I would then have perished in my affliction.
93 I will never forget Your precepts,
For by them You have given me life.
94 I am Yours, save me;
For I have sought Your precepts.
95 The wicked wait for me to destroy me,

108 Accept, I pray, the freewill offerings of my mouth, O LORD,
And teach me Your judgments.
109 My life is continually in my hand,
Yet I do not forget Your law.
110 The wicked have laid a snare for me,
Yet I have not strayed from Your precepts.

Perspective

by Nancy Leigh DeMoss

THE WORD OF GOD: A PRECIOUS TREASURE (From A Place of Quiet Rest, 146–149)

Even more important than what we think of the Word of God is what God says about His own Word. According to the Bible, the Word of the Lord is true (Ps. 33:4, 119:160); it is pure (Ps. 12:6; 19:9; 119:140 KJV; Prov. 30:5 KJV); it is righteous and fully trustworthy (Ps. 119:138); it is eternal and stands firm in the heavens (Ps. 119:89); it is divinely inspired (2 Tim. 3:16); it is perfect (Ps. 19:7); it is of greater value than any amount of gold or silver (Ps. 119:72); it is sweet to the taste (Ps. 19:10; 119:103; Ezek. 3:3).

The power and authority of God's Word infinitely surpass that of any other book that has ever been written. As a troubled young seminary professor being pursued by the "Hound of Heaven," Martin Luther experienced the supernatural, transforming power of the Word that later led him to write, "The Bible is alive, it speaks to me; it has feet, it runs after me; it has hands, it lays hold on me."

When we pick up a copy of the Bible, do we realize what it is that we are holding in our hands? Do we ever stop to think that this is actually the Word of God? As Augustine reminds us, "When the Bible speaks, God speaks!" In the West we have been blessed with such easy access to the Word that it is hard not to take it for granted. Proverbs tells us that "A satisfied soul loathes the honeycomb, but to a hungry soul every bitter thing is sweet" (27:7). To hungry souls in parts of the world that have never been allowed to own a Bible, the Word of God is exceedingly precious. But to those of us who can turn on the radio and hear the Word preached every hour of the day, who can walk into any bookstore and find the Bible of our choice, who have Bibles located every several inches on the backs of our pews, and whose shelves are bursting with Bibles, some of them unused—we may find ourselves in danger of adopting a casual attitude toward the Word of God.

The Scripture says that God has exalted His Word above even His own name (Ps. 138:2 KJV). If God esteems His Word that highly, what should be our attitude toward the Word? In Psalm 119, David speaks of loving the Word, reverencing it, delighting in it, longing for it, trusting it, and fearing it. God says through the prophet Isaiah, "But on this one will I look: on him who is poor and of a contrite spirit, and who trembles at My word" (Is.66:2, emphasis added; cf. Ps. 119:161). What does is mean to tremble at the Word of the Lord? It means to have an attitude of reverential awe and fear. It is the opposite of a cavalier attitude toward the Word.

In Psalm 119, David can scarcely contain his joy as he rehearses the blessings and benefits he has received from the Word of God. We learn that the Word of God has the power to keep us from sin (Ps. 119:9, 11), to strengthen us when we are grieving (v. 28), to comfort us when we are suffering (vv. 50, 52), to grant us freedom (v. 45), to give us understanding and light for our path (v. 104), and to give us peace and keep us from stumbling (v. 165).

The Word of God will light your way; it will help you make right choices; it will heal your wounds and settle your heart; it will warn you of danger; it will protect and cleanse you from sin; it will lead you; it will make you wise. It is bread; it is water; it is a counselor; it is life. It is satisfying; it is sufficient; it is supreme; it is supernatural. The hymn writer put it this way:

Holy Bible, book divine;
Precious treasure, thou art mine;
Mine to tell me whence I came;
Mine to teach me what I am.

Mine to chide me when I rove;
Mine to show a Savior's love;
Mine thou art to guide and guard;
Mine to punish or reward.

Mine to comfort in distress,
Suff'ring in this wilderness;
Mine to show, by living faith,
Man can triumph over death.

Mine to tell of joys to come,
And the rebel sinner's doom;
O thou Holy Book divine,
Precious treasure, thou art mine.

—John Burton (1773–1822)

162 I rejoice at Your word
As one who finds great treasure.
163 I hate and abhor lying,
But I love Your law.
164 Seven times a day I praise You,
Because of Your righteous judgments.
165 Great peace have those who love Your law,
And nothing causes them to stumble.
166 LORD, I hope for Your salvation,
And I do Your commandments.
167 My soul keeps Your testimonies,
And I love them exceedingly.
168 I keep Your precepts and Your testimonies,
For all my ways are before You.

TAU
169 Let my cry come before You, O LORD;
Give me understanding according to Your word.
170 Let my supplication come before You;
Deliver me according to Your word.
171 My lips shall utter praise,
For You teach me Your statutes.
172 My tongue shall speak of Your word,
For all Your commandments are righteousness.
173 Let Your hand become my help,
For I have chosen Your precepts.
174 I long for Your salvation, O LORD,
And Your law is my delight.
175 Let my soul live, and it shall praise You;
And let Your judgments help me.
176 I have gone astray like a lost sheep;
Seek Your servant,
For I do not forget Your commandments.

PSALM 120

Plea for Relief from Bitter Foes

A Song of Ascents.

1 In my distress I cried to the LORD,
And He heard me.
2 Deliver my soul, O LORD, from lying lips
And from a deceitful tongue.

3 What shall be given to you,
Or what shall be done to you,
You false tongue?
4 Sharp arrows of the warrior,
With coals of the broom tree!

5 Woe is me, that I dwell in Meshech,
That I dwell among the tents of Kedar!
6 My soul has dwelt too long
With one who hates peace.
7 I am for peace;
But when I speak, they are for war.

PSALM 121

God the Help of Those Who Seek Him

A Song of Ascents.

1 I will lift up my eyes to the hills—
From whence comes my help?
2 My help comes from the LORD,
Who made heaven and earth.

3 He will not allow your foot to be moved;
He who keeps you will not slumber.
4 Behold, He who keeps Israel
Shall neither slumber nor sleep.

5 The LORD is your keeper;
The LORD is your shade at your right hand.
6 The sun shall not strike you by day,
Nor the moon by night.

7 The LORD shall preserve you from all evil;
He shall preserve your soul.
8 The LORD shall preserve your going out and your coming in
From this time forth, and even forevermore.

PSALM 122

The Joy of Going to the House of the LORD

A Song of Ascents. Of David.

1 I was glad when they said to me,
"Let us go into the house of the LORD."
2 Our feet have been standing
Within your gates, O Jerusalem!

3 Jerusalem is built
As a city that is compact together,
4 Where the tribes go up,

120:1, 2 Psalms 120—134 are called "the songs of ascents," "the songs of degrees," or "the songs of pilgrimage" (see chart, The Types of Psalms). They probably were sung by worshipers as they went up to Jerusalem to celebrate the great festivals each year. The poet found himself in a hostile environment. He cried out for deliverance from the deceitful tongue of his enemies (v. 2). The psalmist longed for peace (Heb. shalom, lit. "well-being" or "wholeness"), but his enemies wanted conflict.

121:1–8 The poet lifted up his eyes to look for the only source of help (vv. 1, 2; see Ps. 120:1, 2, note). The "hills" may refer to the terrain around Jerusalem (Ps. 121:1). The Lord, the Creator, is the guardian and protector of His people (vv. 3–7). He never sleeps but watches over His own continuously (vv. 3–6; Phil. 4:7).

122:1, 2 A prayer for Jerusalem's peace (Heb. shalom, lit. "well-being"). Jerusalem, the place for worship of God, plays a significant role in the religious and political lives of God's people (vv. 1, 4, 5; see Ps. 120:1, 2, note). Some link this psalm with Jesus' entry into Jerusalem (Luke 19:41, 42).

CHILDREN THE VALUE OF CHILDREN

One of the characteristics that distinguishes the Jews from other people of the Bible is the value they placed on children. They had learned well Yahweh's absolute prohibition of child sacrifice (Deut. 12:31, 32) and the importance He placed on teaching children to love and serve Him (Deut. 6:7–9). Jesus responded in anger to the disciples' denial of the worth of children in the kingdom (Mark 10:13–16). Jesus went so far as to say that people are better off dead than to cause children to fall (Mark 9:42). He taught that to receive children is to receive Him (Mark 9:37); to give to children is to give to Him (Matt. 10:42); and to become like a child is the secret to conversion (Mark 10:15). Jesus invited children to come to Himself (Mark 10:14).

Children are a blessing from God (Ps. 128:3). Psalm 128 has been called "the Builder's Psalm" because to the Israelite the home was an opportunity to pursue the holy task of "building" sons and daughters. This picture is shown in the Hebrew language itself (banah, lit. "to build"; ben, "son"; bat, "daughter"). This concept clearly portrays what the Creator had in mind as parents are to work at "building" their children—laying the foundation of faith in living before them as Christians, honoring Jesus, nurturing and undergirding them with prayer, polishing them with the teaching of God's Word. Then, if well "built" in the Lord, these children will themselves become builders of sons and daughters, continuing godly seed unto the generations.

Children then are the most valuable fruit of the kingdom. They are generally sensitive and pliable—open to the gospel. They are fresh and energetic with years of service to offer in the kingdom. Children are part of the heritage God gives (Ps. 127:3–5). When we devalue them, we have crossed swords with the Almighty.

The tribes of the LORD,
To the Testimony of Israel,
To give thanks to the name of the LORD.
5For thrones are set there for judgment,
The thrones of the house of David.

6Pray for the peace of Jerusalem:
"May they prosper who love you.
7Peace be within your walls,
Prosperity within your palaces."
8For the sake of my brethren and companions,
I will now say, "Peace be within you."
9Because of the house of the LORD our God
I will seek your good.

PSALM 123

Prayer for Relief from Contempt

A Song of Ascents.

1Unto You I lift up my eyes,
O You who dwell in the heavens.
2Behold, as the eyes of servants look to the hand of their masters,
As the eyes of a maid to the hand of her mistress,
So our eyes look to the LORD our God,
Until He has mercy on us.
3Have mercy on us, O LORD, have mercy on us!
For we are exceedingly filled with contempt.
4Our soul is exceedingly filled
With the scorn of those who are at ease,
With the contempt of the proud.

PSALM 124

The LORD the Defense of His People

A Song of Ascents. Of David.

1"If it had not been the LORD who was on our side,"
Let Israel now say—
2"If it had not been the LORD who was on our side,
When men rose up against us,
3Then they would have swallowed us alive,
When their wrath was kindled against us;
4Then the waters would have overwhelmed us,
The stream would have gone over our soul;
5Then the swollen waters
Would have gone over our soul."

6Blessed be the LORD,
Who has not given us as prey to their teeth.

124:1–8 God received credit for bringing victory to His people in this psalm of ascents (see Ps. 120:1, 2, note; chart, The Types of Psalms). Had the Lord not been on Israel's side, the nation would have been swallowed up by its enemies (Ps. 124:3). Instead, they were preserved from a flood (vv. 4, 5) and escaped the fowler's snare (vv. 6, 7; compare also v. 8 with Ps. 121:2). God often seeks to bring us to His side so that He may reveal Himself as One who is totally for us.

7Our soul has escaped as a bird from the snare of the fowlers;[a]
The snare is broken, and we have escaped.
8Our help is in the name of the LORD,
Who made heaven and earth.

PSALM 125

The LORD the Strength of His People

A Song of Ascents.

1Those who trust in the LORD
Are like Mount Zion,
Which cannot be moved, but abides forever.
2As the mountains surround Jerusalem,
So the LORD surrounds His people
From this time forth and forever.

3For the scepter of wickedness shall not rest
On the land allotted to the righteous, Lest the righteous reach out their hands to iniquity.

4Do good, O LORD, to those who are good,
And to those who are upright in their hearts.

5As for such as turn aside to their crooked ways,
The LORD shall lead them away
With the workers of iniquity.

Peace be upon Israel!

PSALM 126

A Joyful Return to Zion

A Song of Ascents.

1When the LORD brought back the captivity of Zion,
We were like those who dream.
2Then our mouth was filled with laughter,
And our tongue with singing.
Then they said among the nations,
"The LORD has done great things for them."
3The LORD has done great things for us,
And we are glad.
4Bring back our captivity, O LORD,
As the streams in the South.

5Those who sow in tears
Shall reap in joy.
6He who continually goes forth weeping,
Bearing seed for sowing,
Shall doubtless come again with rejoicing,
Bringing his sheaves with him.

PSALM 127

Laboring and Prospering with the LORD

A Song of Ascents. Of Solomon.

1Unless the LORD builds the house,
They labor in vain who build it;
Unless the LORD guards the city,
The watchman stays awake in vain.
2*It is* vain for you to rise up early,
To sit up late,
To eat the bread of sorrows;
For so He gives His beloved sleep.

3Behold, children are a heritage from the LORD,
The fruit of the womb is a reward.
4Like arrows in the hand of a warrior,
So are the children of one's youth.
5Happy is the man who has his quiver full of
them;
They shall not be ashamed,
But shall speak with their enemies in the gate.

PSALM 128

Blessings of Those Who Fear the LORD

A Song of Ascents.

1Blessed is every one who fears the LORD,
Who walks in His ways.

2When you eat the labor of your hands,
You shall be happy, and it shall be well with you.

124:7 [a]That is, persons who catch birds in a trap or snare

125:1–5 The Lord provides strength and assurance for His people in difficult times (see Ps. 120:1, 2, note). Those who trust in the Lord are as secure and immovable as Mount Zion, on which the temple was built. They are surrounded by His protection. The power of the wicked will not last forever.

126:1–6 The people are encouraged to persevere in the knowledge that God will again restore His people (vv. 5, 6; see Ps. 120:1, 2, note). The historical setting of this psalm focuses around the return of the exiles from captivity in Babylon as permitted by the decree of King Cyrus of Persia in 538 B.C. (see Ezra 1:1–4). Joy accompanied this release from captivity.

127:1, 2 God gives genuine rest to those who depend on Him (v. 2; see Ps. 120:1, 2, note). The word pictures of building a house and guarding a city are employed to stress the necessity of depending on the Lord (Ps. 127:1). All human effort is worthless ("vain") without the blessing of the Lord.

127:3–5 Children are a gift from the Lord (see Ps. 128, Children). The Hebrews regarded children as a blessing from the Lord (see Gen. 13:16; Ruth 4:13–16; 1 Sam. 1:11). They are a reward and heritage, bringing joy to their parents. Rearing a child is a sacred responsibility, and parents must depend on the Lord to help them guide their children.

128:1–6 Those who fear the Lord reap the rewards of labor, a good marriage, and a happy family (see Ps. 127, Family). These blessings, not material possessions, constitute life's greatest values (see Ps. 120:1, 2, note). To fear the Lord involves reverence, obedience, and walking "in His ways" (Ps. 128:1).

FAMILY GOD'S OBJECT LESSON

A Christ-centered home offers unlimited potential to study the Bible, to learn theology through object lessons built into the structure of the home, and to give a "word about God" to the world through the testimony of their lives and interactions of family members. Incarnational living, in which parents make it possible for their children to see the sanctification process in their own lives, is crucial (Deut. 6:7–9).

God's plan for marriage is presented in Genesis (Gen. 2:24). In Exodus each commandment of the Decalogue touches on behavior within the family circle. In Leviticus, the Law contains the death penalty for those who prostitute the home. In Numbers, the numbering of the people is done by family units (Num. 4:1, 2). Deuteronomy emphasizes parental instruction (Deut. 6:1–12). Joshua describes the godly patriarch who led his family to follow Yahweh God (Josh. 24:15); whereas Judges records the account of Samson's selfish, unbridled lust. Ruth records a beautiful story of romantic love and godly marriage (Ruth 1:16, 17).

In the books of Samuel, Kings, and Chronicles, the history of Israel notes the influence of the home on the kings. The wickedness of Ahab was extended and magnified by his wife Jezebel (1 Kin. 21:5–16); whereas the greatness of Samuel and his unusual sensitivity to God certainly was partly due to the influence of the devout Hannah (1 Sam. 1:27, 28). In Ezra, Nehemiah, and Esther a godly seed was preserved through the family unit (Esth. 2:20; 4:14).

Job reveals Satan's attack on the home through death, disease, poverty, and internal strife (Job 1:13–21; 2:7–10). Psalms contains promises for the home (Ps. 127); Proverbs and Ecclesiastes abound in maxims about family and interpersonal relationships (Prov. 14:1; 22:6; Eccl. 4:9–12). The Song is an explicit account of a holy and exclusive love between a man and a woman (Song 4:1–7).

The prophetic books allude to the open violation of godly principles in families (Is. 3:12–26; Jer. 31:29–30; Lam. 4:10; Ezek. 16:44–45; Hos. 4:1–5; Joel 2:28, 29; Mic. 7:5–6; Mal. 2:14–16).

In the New Testament, the synoptic Gospels present Jesus' teachings concerning the family (Matt. 19:3–9), and John records His first miracle at a wedding in Cana (John 2:1–11). Acts makes mention of the home, together with the synagogue, as a center for worship (Acts 2:46; 12:12). The Epistles, too, are full of teachings concerning the family (1 Cor. 11:1–16; Eph. 5:21—6:4; Col. 3:18–21; 1 Thess. 4:1–7; 1 Tim. 3:1–12; Titus 2:1–5; Heb. 12:5–11; 1 Pet. 3:1–7). Even the Apocalypse has its message for the home (Rev. 3:20).

God commands husbands to love their wives as Christ loved the church by assuming leadership and responsibility. Wives were created to be helpers to their own respective husbands (Gen. 2:18), supplementing and not supplanting, complementing and not commanding.

Husbands and wives who enter parenthood are admonished to take seriously their responsibilities to teach God's Word to their children at every opportunity (Deut. 6:4–9, 20–25; Josh. 4:6, 7). Grandparents, aunts, uncles, and cousins, were included in the extended family. The same loving commitment enjoined for husbands and wives is projected unto the generations (see Ruth 1:16, 17).

3 Your wife shall be like a fruitful vine
In the very heart of your house,
Your children like olive plants
All around your table.
4 Behold, thus shall the man be blessed
Who fears the LORD.

5 The LORD bless you out of Zion,
And may you see the good of Jerusalem
All the days of your life.
6 Yes, may you see your children's children.

Peace be upon Israel!

PSALM 129

Song of Victory over Zion's Enemies

A Song of Ascents.

1 "Many a time they have afflicted me from my youth,"
Let Israel now say—
2 "Many a time they have afflicted me from my youth;
Yet they have not prevailed against me.
3 The plowers plowed on my back;
They made their furrows long."
4 The LORD is righteous;

129:1–8 Israel had repeatedly suffered at the hands of their enemies, and God repeatedly had delivered them. Israel recalled those who had afflicted the people of God in the past (see Ps. 120:1, 2, note). The poem concludes with a threefold curse on Israel's enemies, who are viewed also as the enemies of the Lord.

He has cut in pieces the cords of the wicked.

5Let all those who hate Zion
Be put to shame and turned back.
6Let them be as the grass on the housetops,
Which withers before it grows up,
7With which the reaper does not fill his hand,
Nor he who binds sheaves, his arms.
8Neither let those who pass by them say,
"The blessing of the LORD be upon you;
We bless you in the name of the LORD!"

PSALM 130

Waiting for the Redemption of the LORD

A Song of Ascents.

1Out of the depths I have cried to You, O LORD;
2Lord, hear my voice!
Let Your ears be attentive
To the voice of my supplications.

3If You, LORD, should mark iniquities,
O Lord, who could stand?
4But there is forgiveness with You,
That You may be feared.

5I wait for the LORD, my soul waits,
And in His word I do hope.
6My soul waits for the Lord
More than those who watch for the morning—
Yes, more than those who watch for the morning.

7O Israel, hope in the LORD;
For with the LORD there is mercy,
And with Him is abundant redemption.
8And He shall redeem Israel
From all his iniquities.

PSALM 131

Simple Trust in the LORD

A Song of Ascents. Of David.

1LORD, my heart is not haughty,
Nor my eyes lofty.
Neither do I concern myself with great matters,
Nor with things too profound for me.

2Surely I have calmed and quieted my soul,
Like a weaned child with his mother;
Like a weaned child is my soul within me.

3O Israel, hope in the LORD
From this time forth and forever.

PSALM 132

The Eternal Dwelling of God in Zion

A Song of Ascents.

1LORD, remember David
And all his afflictions;
2How he swore to the LORD,
And vowed to the Mighty One of Jacob:
3"Surely I will not go into the chamber of my house,
Or go up to the comfort of my bed;
4I will not give sleep to my eyes
Or slumber to my eyelids,
5Until I find a place for the LORD,
A dwelling place for the Mighty One of Jacob."

6Behold, we heard of it in Ephrathah;
We found it in the fields of the woods.[a] 7Let us go into His tabernacle;
Let us worship at His footstool.
8Arise, O LORD, to Your resting place,
You and the ark of Your strength.
9Let Your priests be clothed with righteousness,
And let Your saints shout for joy.

10For Your servant David's sake,
Do not turn away the face of Your Anointed.

11The LORD has sworn in truth to David;
He will not turn from it:
"I will set upon your throne the fruit of your body.
12If your sons will keep My covenant

132:6 [a]Hebrew Jaar

130:1–8 The poet urgently cried out in his despair for the Lord to hear his prayer for forgiveness. His sins overwhelmed him as though he were drowning. But rather than recording sins and meting out justice accordingly, God forgives. In this penitential psalm, gratitude for His forgiveness leads the worshiper to reverent fear and obedience (v. 4; see Ps. 6:2–10, note; chart, The Types of Psalms). Thus, the poet waited expectantly, as watchmen wait for the dawn, for the Lord's forgiveness and deliverance. He encouraged others to wait confidently and expectantly for the God who abundantly forgives.

131:1–3 The poet no longer felt torn apart by inner nagging and turmoil. He had come to terms with himself and thus experienced inner peace (v. 2; see Ps. 120:1, 2, note). The psalmist used a metaphor easily understood by mothers to describe his new found serenity. A child that is weaned (Heb. gamul) no longer struggles for milk when held on its mother's breast, but this would also be true of a baby that has been satisfied with the mother's milk. However, the picture is one of contentment, regardless of age. The psalmist advised Israel to trust in the Lord and not to depend on themselves. Only then would God's people know true serenity, security, and contentment.

132:1–18 The worshipers are reminded of David's desire to build a house for the Lord (vv. 1–5; 2 Sam. 7:1, 2; see chart, The Types of Psalms). God's promise to establish the Davidic

HEALING RELATIONSHIPS — LIVING TOGETHER IN UNITY

The psalmist speaks warmly of believers living together in unity (Ps. 133:1–3), and Jesus said that Christians should be identified by their love for one another (John 13:35). Nevertheless, the Bible records numerous instances of broken relationships. These began when sin entered at the Fall, as demonstrated by Adam and Eve's blame-shifting (Gen. 3:11–13) and Cain's anger with and murder of his brother Abel (Gen. 4:5–8).

The key to healing broken relationships is forgiveness (Eph. 4:31, 32; Col. 3:12–15). Forgiveness needs to be based on a truthful view of the offenses, neither exaggerating nor minimizing them. It accurately recognizes three things: the true nature of the offense; the emotional wounding that occurred (feeling shamed, worthless, abandoned); and the consequences of the offense that has played out over time (physical or emotional injury from abuse or loss).

In forgiving, a woman needs

1) to acknowledge that she has been hurt or wronged, including emotional wounds and losses she may have suffered;
2) to forgive freely the offenses and to release the offender from any obligation to make up for them (Luke 6:37);
3) to confess as sin any bitterness and resentment she may have harbored as a result of the offense.

This threefold process puts the woman in a frame of heart, mind, and will to approach her offender with godly love and compassion, seeking ways in which the relationship might be restored.

See also Mark 5:2, note; notes on Conflict (Song 5; Matt. 18); Forgiveness (Ps. 51; Luke 17); Healing (Ps. 13; Eccl. 1; 2 Cor. 5; Gal. 6; James 5)

And My testimony which I shall teach them,
Their sons also shall sit upon your throne
forevermore."

13 For the LORD has chosen Zion;
He has desired it for His dwelling place:
14 "This is My resting place forever;
Here I will dwell, for I have desired it.
15 I will abundantly bless her provision;
I will satisfy her poor with bread.
16 I will also clothe her priests with salvation,
And her saints shall shout aloud for joy.
17 There I will make the horn of David grow;
I will prepare a lamp for My Anointed.
18 His enemies I will clothe with shame,
But upon Himself His crown shall flourish."

PSALM 133

Blessed Unity of the People of God

A Song of Ascents. Of David.

1 Behold, how good and how pleasant it is
For brethren to dwell together in unity!
2 It is like the precious oil upon the head,
Running down on the beard,
The beard of Aaron,

Running down on the edge of his garments.
3 It is like the dew of Hermon,
Descending upon the mountains of Zion;
For there the LORD commanded the blessing—
Life forevermore.

PSALM 134

Praising the LORD in His House at Night

A Song of Ascents.

1 Behold, bless the LORD,
All you servants of the LORD,
Who by night stand in the house of the
LORD!
2 Lift up your hands in the sanctuary,
And bless the LORD.
3 The LORD who made heaven and earth
Bless you from Zion!

dynasty is recalled (Ps. 132:11–18; see 2 Sam. 7:8–17). Although David was not permitted to build a house for the Lord, the Lord promised to build a house (dynasty) for David. This messianic promise is fulfilled in Christ (Luke 1:32, 33).

133:1–3 God's blessing involves unity among the members in His family (see Ps. 120:1, 2, note). In this poem, the psalmist illustrated the sweet spirit of unity with the fragrant oil used to anoint the priests and the life-giving dew of Mount Hermon. Such harmony within the family of God renews our energies as we share life with Him and with one another.

134:1–3 Worship involves willingness to serve (v. 1). This final song of ascents, degrees, or pilgrimage is a fitting conclusion to the group of 15 psalms (see Ps. 120:1, 2, note; chart, The Types of Psalms). The first two verses of this psalm call the worshipers to bless the Lord and to praise Him. The third verse is a benediction requesting the Lord's blessing on His servants. God's blessings include wonderful gifts that money cannot purchase, gifts such as peace of mind, unity, fellowship, and joy (see Gal. 5:22, 23).

PSALM 135

Praise to God in Creation and Redemption

1 Praise the LORD!

Praise the name of the LORD;
Praise Him, O you servants of the LORD!
2 You who stand in the house of the LORD,
In the courts of the house of our God,
3 Praise the LORD, for the LORD is good;
Sing praises to His name, for it is pleasant.
4 For the LORD has chosen Jacob for Himself,
Israel for His special treasure.

5 For I know that the LORD is great,
And our Lord is above all gods.
6 Whatever the LORD pleases He does,
In heaven and in earth,
In the seas and in all deep places.
7 He causes the vapors to ascend from the ends of the earth;
He makes lightning for the rain;
He brings the wind out of His treasuries.

8 He destroyed the firstborn of Egypt,
Both of man and beast.
9 He sent signs and wonders into the midst of you, O Egypt,
Upon Pharaoh and all his servants.
10 He defeated many nations
And slew mighty kings—
11 Sihon king of the Amorites,
Og king of Bashan,
And all the kingdoms of Canaan—
12 And gave their land as a heritage,
A heritage to Israel His people.

13 Your name, O LORD, endures forever,
Your fame, O LORD, throughout all generations.
14 For the LORD will judge His people,
And He will have compassion on His servants.

15 The idols of the nations are silver and gold,
The work of men's hands.
16 They have mouths, but they do not speak;
Eyes they have, but they do not see;
17 They have ears, but they do not hear;
Nor is there any breath in their mouths.
18 Those who make them are like them;
So is everyone who trusts in them.

19 Bless the LORD, O house of Israel!
Bless the LORD, O house of Aaron!
20 Bless the LORD, O house of Levi!
You who fear the LORD, bless the LORD!
21 Blessed be the LORD out of Zion,
Who dwells in Jerusalem!

Praise the LORD!

PSALM 136

Thanksgiving to God for His Enduring Mercy

1 Oh, give thanks to the LORD, for He is good!
For His mercy endures forever.
2 Oh, give thanks to the God of gods!
For His mercy endures forever.
3 Oh, give thanks to the Lord of lords!
For His mercy endures forever:

4 To Him who alone does great wonders,
For His mercy endures forever;
5 To Him who by wisdom made the heavens,
For His mercy endures forever;
6 To Him who laid out the earth above the waters,
For His mercy endures forever;
7 To Him who made great lights,
For His mercy endures forever—
8 The sun to rule by day,
For His mercy endures forever;
9 The moon and stars to rule by night,
For His mercy endures forever.

10 To Him who struck Egypt in their firstborn,
For His mercy endures forever;
11 And brought out Israel from among them,
For His mercy endures forever;
12 With a strong hand, and with an outstretched arm,
For His mercy endures forever;
13 To Him who divided the Red Sea in two,
For His mercy endures forever;
14 And made Israel pass through the midst of it,
For His mercy endures forever;
15 But overthrew Pharaoh and his army in the Red Sea,
For His mercy endures forever;
16 To Him who led His people through the wilderness,
For His mercy endures forever;
17 To Him who struck down great kings,
For His mercy endures forever;
18 And slew famous kings,
For His mercy endures forever—
19 Sihon king of the Amorites,

135:1–4 God's people bring special joy to Him. This psalm is a call to worship the Lord who is good (v. 3). "Jacob" and "Israel" refer to God's people, who are His "special treasure" (lit. "valued property" or "precious possession," v. 4).

137:1–6 This poet poured out his feelings of homesickness and his longings for Jerusalem. He must have been among those who experienced exile and captivity in Babylon following the fall of Jerusalem to the Babylonians in 586 B.C. Unable to sing, the poet vowed never to forget his homeland. He would not be a traitor to Jerusalem, his spiritual home! As Christians, we can learn to sing a song of praise to the Lord regardless of the difficult circumstances we encounter.

BIRTH CONTROL THE STEWARDSHIP OF PROCREATION

Certain biblical premises must be recognized before making any decision regarding birth control. First, children are regarded by God as a blessing to be welcomed into the home of a married couple (Ps. 127:3). God is intricately involved in the formation of life in the womb (Ps. 139:13–16), and He plans that life before the child is born (Jer. 1:5).

Birth control, when viewed as a stewardship of procreation is neither categorically affirmed nor expressly forbidden by Scripture. A decision to limit or plan the bearing of children should be a directive from God and not merely a decision based on self-centered convenience. For example, birth control is not acceptable to prevent the consequences of sins like fornication and adultery, which are condemned by God (Ex. 20:14; 1 Cor. 6:15–20).

Sexual relations within the context of marriage are designed by God for the expression of intimacy and love as well as for procreation. A Christian must seek God's leadership before using any natural or artificial means of birth control. No method of birth control that brings death to an innocent human life is moral. In addition, irreversible forms of birth control should be weighed seriously. While the Bible does not condemn childlessness, a married couple should recognize that fruitful marriage is a biblical norm, and they would do well to consider the heritage God may have planned for them in ushering in and rearing the generation to come.

For His mercy endures forever;
20 And Og king of Bashan,
For His mercy endures forever—
21 And gave their land as a heritage,
For His mercy endures forever;
22 A heritage to Israel His servant,
For His mercy endures forever.

23 Who remembered us in our lowly state,
For His mercy endures forever;
24 And rescued us from our enemies,
For His mercy endures forever;
25 Who gives food to all flesh,
For His mercy endures forever.

26 Oh, give thanks to the God of heaven!
For His mercy endures forever.

PSALM 137

Longing for Zion in a Foreign Land

1 By the rivers of Babylon,
There we sat down, yea, we wept
When we remembered Zion.
2 We hung our harps
Upon the willows in the midst of it.
3 For there those who carried us away captive
asked of us a song,
And those who plundered us requested mirth,
Saying, "Sing us one of the songs of Zion!"

4 How shall we sing the LORD's song
In a foreign land?
5 If I forget you, O Jerusalem,
Let my right hand forget its skill!
6 If I do not remember you,
Let my tongue cling to the roof of my mouth—
If I do not exalt Jerusalem
Above my chief joy.

7 Remember, O LORD, against the sons of Edom
The day of Jerusalem,
Who said, "Raze it, raze it,
To its very foundation!"

8 O daughter of Babylon, who are to be destroyed,
Happy the one who repays you as you have served us!
9 Happy the one who takes and dashes
Your little ones against the rock!

PSALM 138

The LORD's Goodness to the Faithful

A Psalm of David.

1 I will praise You with my whole heart;
Before the gods I will sing praises to You.
2 I will worship toward Your holy temple,
And praise Your name
For Your lovingkindness and Your truth;
For You have magnified Your word above all
Your name.
3 In the day when I cried out, You answered me,
And made me bold with strength in my soul.

138:1–8 This poet's hymn arose out of a grateful heart. The "gods" may refer to pagan idols (v. 1). The Lord is praised for His "lovingkindness" (Heb. chesed; see Ps. 5:7–12, note) and "truth" (Ps. 138:2). God had answered the poet's prayer and strengthened him (v. 3). The psalmist had complete confidence that the Lord would complete His work in him (Phil. 1:6).

4 All the kings of the earth shall praise You, O LORD,
When they hear the words of Your mouth.
5 Yes, they shall sing of the ways of the LORD,
For great is the glory of the LORD.
6 Though the LORD is on high,
Yet He regards the lowly;
But the proud He knows from afar.

7 Though I walk in the midst of trouble, You will revive me;
You will stretch out Your hand
Against the wrath of my enemies,
And Your right hand will save me.
8 The LORD will perfect that which concerns me;
Your mercy, O LORD, endures forever;
Do not forsake the works of Your hands.

PSALM 139

God's Perfect Knowledge of Man

For the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

1 O LORD, You have searched me and known me.
2 You know my sitting down and my rising up;
You understand my thought afar off.
3 You comprehend my path and my lying down,
And are acquainted with all my ways.
4 For there is not a word on my tongue,
But behold, O LORD, You know it altogether.
5 You have hedged me behind and before,
And laid Your hand upon me.
6 Such knowledge is too wonderful for me;
It is high, I cannot attain it.

7 Where can I go from Your Spirit?
Or where can I flee from Your presence?
8 If I ascend into heaven, You are there;
If I make my bed in hell, behold, You are there.
9 If I take the wings of the morning,
And dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea,
10 Even there Your hand shall lead me,
And Your right hand shall hold me.
11 If I say, "Surely the darkness shall fall[a] on me,"
Even the night shall be light about me;
12 Indeed, the darkness shall not hide from You,
But the night shines as the day;
The darkness and the light are both alike to You.

13 For You formed my inward parts;
You covered me in my mother's womb.
14 I will praise You, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made;[a] Marvelous are Your works,
And that my soul knows very well.
15 My frame was not hidden from You,
When I was made in secret,
And skillfully wrought in the lowest parts of the earth.
16 Your eyes saw my substance, being yet unformed.
And in Your book they all were written,
The days fashioned for me,
When as yet there were none of them.

17 How precious also are Your thoughts to me, O God!
How great is the sum of them!
18 If I should count them, they would be more in number than the sand;
When I awake, I am still with You.

19 Oh, that You would slay the wicked, O God!
Depart from me, therefore, you bloodthirsty men.
20 For they speak against You wickedly;
Your enemies take Your name in vain.[a]
21 Do I not hate them, O LORD, who hate You?
And do I not loathe those who rise up against You?
22 I hate them with perfect hatred;
I count them my enemies.

23 Search me, O God, and know my heart;
Try me, and know my anxieties;
24 And see if there is any wicked way in me,
And lead me in the way everlasting.

139:11 [a]Vulgate and Symmachus read cover. 139:14 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Targum; Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read You are fearfully wonderful. 139:20 [a]Septuagint and Vulgate read They take your cities in vain.

139:7–12 We cannot escape God's presence (vv. 8–10) or be separated from Him (vv. 11, 12). We can have the assurance of God's presence wherever we go. "Hell" (Heb. sheol) is here a reference to "the place of the dead" (v. 8). We have great assurance and security in the knowledge that God is always present (vv. 7–12; see Ps. 23:4; Rom. 8:35).

139:13–18 God has His eye on us before we are born. These verses avow that personhood does exist from the moment of conception. The psalmist affirms God's knowledge of his life from the pre-embryonic stage through death. The Lord weaves and knits together our beings in the wombs of our mothers (v. 13; see Gen. 9, Sanctity of Life; Jer. 1, Abortion). We are in a real sense "prescription babies" in that God has a custom design for every individual, equipping each for specific achievement and purpose (see Is. 43:7, 21; Rom. 9:20; 1 Thess. 1:4). Even the greatest tragedies can be overruled or transformed to good within the providence of God (Rom. 8:28). We praise God for the wonderful way in which He fashioned our bodies, our minds, and our spirits. We marvel at the magnitude of His thoughts (vv. 17, 18). We are grateful that He never finishes His edification process (Eph. 2:10; 1 Pet. 5:10). Even our worst negative traits can be transformed into positive qualities (Rom. 12:2).

139:23, 24 Praise for God's unlimited knowledge, power, and presence leads the psalmist to invite God to search his heart (vv. 1–22). God is the only Judge who judges our hearts correctly. He alone knows us as we are and understands our true thoughts and motives. He knows us better than we know

FEMININITY THE NATURE OF A WOMAN

Femininity is a reality of God's design and making—His precious gift to every woman—and, in a very different way, His gracious gift to men as well. The difference between men and women is not a mere matter of biology. Throughout the millennia of human history, up until the past several decades, people took for granted that the differences were so obvious as to need no comment. Yet never as now have we more needed Paul's reminder to the Roman Christians not to let the world squeeze us into its own mold but to let God remold our minds from within (Rom. 12:2).

Surrender is a key ingredient in femininity. As a bride, a woman in marriage surrenders her independence, her name, her destiny, her will, and ultimately, in the marriage chamber, her body, to the bridegroom. As a mother, she surrenders in a very real sense her life for the life of the child. As a single woman, she surrenders herself in a unique way for service to her Lord and for service to family and community.

Femininity receives. It takes what God gives. In other words, women are to receive the given as Mary did (Luke 1:38), not to insist on the not-given, as Eve did (Gen. 3:1–6). This does not imply that a woman should surrender to evils such as coercion or violent conquest.

The gentle and quiet spirit of which Peter speaks is the ornament of femininity (1 Pet. 3:4), which found its epitome in Mary, the mother of Jesus. She was willing to be a vessel, hidden, unknown, except as Somebody's mother. This maternity is available to every woman who humbles herself before the Lord, not simply as a biological role but as an attitude of selflessness in her own heart and submission to the Lord.

The challenge of biblical femininity for you is to be a woman, holy through and through, asking for nothing but what God wants to give you, receiving with both hands and with all your heart whatever that is. Femininity is a precious treasure to be guarded and nourished each and every day.

PSALM 140

Prayer for Deliverance from Evil Men

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

1 Deliver me, O LORD, from evil men;
Preserve me from violent men,
2 Who plan evil things in their hearts;
They continually gather together for war.
3 They sharpen their tongues like a serpent;
The poison of asps is under their lips. Selah

4 Keep me, O LORD, from the hands of the wicked;
Preserve me from violent men,
Who have purposed to make my steps stumble.
5 The proud have hidden a snare for me, and cords;
They have spread a net by the wayside;
They have set traps for me. Selah

6 I said to the LORD: "You are my God;
Hear the voice of my supplications, O LORD.
7 O GOD the Lord, the strength of my salvation,
You have covered my head in the day of battle.
8 Do not grant, O LORD, the desires of the wicked;
Do not further his wicked scheme,
Lest they be exalted. Selah

9 "As for the head of those who surround me,
Let the evil of their lips cover them;
10 Let burning coals fall upon them;
Let them be cast into the fire,
Into deep pits, that they rise not up again.
11 Let not a slanderer be established in the earth;
Let evil hunt the violent man to overthrow him."

12 I know that the LORD will maintain
The cause of the afflicted,
And justice for the poor.
13 Surely the righteous shall give thanks to Your name;
The upright shall dwell in Your presence.

PSALM 141

Prayer for Safekeeping from Wickedness

A Psalm of David.

Make haste to me!
Give ear to my voice when I cry out to You.

ourselves. If we truly want to walk in the Lord's way and enjoy His presence, we must be dependent on God to lead us in the right way.

141:1–10 Looking to God and depending on Him enables us to resist temptation (v. 8). Apparently, this poet feared the influence of evil persons in his life and cried out to the Lord for immediate assistance in dealing with the temptation. He requested that his prayer be accepted as incense offered to the Lord (see Ex. 30:7, 8). He asked that God guard his lips that he might not speak or even think about evil (Ps. 141:3, 4)—an

2 Let my prayer be set before You as incense,
The lifting up of my hands as the evening sacrifice.

3 Set a guard, O LORD, over my mouth;
Keep watch over the door of my lips.
4 Do not incline my heart to any evil thing,
To practice wicked works
With men who work iniquity;
And do not let me eat of their delicacies.

5 Let the righteous strike me;
It shall be a kindness.
And let him rebuke me;
It shall be as excellent oil;
Let my head not refuse it.

For still my prayer is against the deeds of the wicked.
6 Their judges are overthrown by the sides of the cliff,
And they hear my words, for they are sweet.
7 Our bones are scattered at the mouth of the grave,
As when one plows and breaks up the earth.

8 But my eyes are upon You, O GOD the Lord;
In You I take refuge;
Do not leave my soul destitute.
9 Keep me from the snares they have laid for me,
And from the traps of the workers of iniquity.
10 Let the wicked fall into their own nets,
While I escape safely.

PSALM 142

A Plea for Relief from Persecutors

A Contemplation[a] of David. A Prayer when he was in the cave.

1 I cry out to the LORD with my voice;
With my voice to the LORD I make my supplication.
2 I pour out my complaint before Him;
I declare before Him my trouble.

3 When my spirit was overwhelmed within me,
Then You knew my path.
In the way in which I walk
They have secretly set a snare for me.
4 Look on my right hand and see,
For there is no one who acknowledges me;
Refuge has failed me;
No one cares for my soul.

5 I cried out to You, O LORD:
I said, "You are my refuge,
My portion in the land of the living.
6 Attend to my cry,
For I am brought very low;
Deliver me from my persecutors,
For they are stronger than I.
7 Bring my soul out of prison,
That I may praise Your name;
The righteous shall surround me,
For You shall deal bountifully with me."

PSALM 143

An Earnest Appeal for Guidance and Deliverance

A Psalm of David.

1 Hear my prayer, O LORD,
Give ear to my supplications!
In Your faithfulness answer me,
And in Your righteousness.
2 Do not enter into judgment with Your servant,
For in Your sight no one living is righteous.

3 For the enemy has persecuted my soul;
He has crushed my life to the ground;
He has made me dwell in darkness,
Like those who have long been dead.
4 Therefore my spirit is overwhelmed within me;
My heart within me is distressed.

5 I remember the days of old;
I meditate on all Your works;
I muse on the work of Your hands.
6 I spread out my hands to You;
My soul longs for You like a thirsty land. Selah

7 Answer me speedily, O LORD;
My spirit fails!
Do not hide Your face from me,
Lest I be like those who go down into the pit.
8 Cause me to hear Your lovingkindness in the morning,
For in You do I trust;
Cause me to know the way in which I should walk,
For I lift up my soul to You.

9 Deliver me, O LORD, from my enemies;
In You I take shelter.[a] 10 Teach me to do Your will,
For You are my God;
Your Spirit is good.
Lead me in the land of uprightness.

11 Revive me, O LORD, for Your name's sake!
For Your righteousness' sake bring my soul out of trouble.

142:title [a]Hebrew Maschil 143:9 [a]Septuagint and Vulgate read To You I flee.

appropriate prayer for most of us. How easy it is to speak words that we later regret! We need God to help us learn to discipline the tongue, and we must rely on His Spirit to help us control the words we speak (James 3:8–12).

MUSIC MAKING MELODY IN YOUR HEART

Music played a prominent part of the battle plan between Jehoshaphat and the enemies of Judah (2 Chr. 20:20–23). Not only did that music strengthen the morale of the Hebrew soldiers, it also signaled defeat to God's enemies. Believers, as they lift their voices in singing are engaging in spiritual warfare! Music was used to drive away the evil spirit that terrorized King Saul (1 Sam. 16:16, 17, 23). As David played skillfully, Saul was soothed.

Music was also used to create a holy environment for the ark—the symbol of God's presence—in the tabernacle of David (2 Chr. 5:11–13). Psalms 98 and 100 tell us to praise God with music of all kinds. Musical praise is not limited to singing; cymbals, trumpets, horns, and harps are all pleasing to God when used as instruments of praise.

Music is for all believers—that they might have a melody in their hearts to give them courage to defeat evil and make space for the Lord (Eph. 5:19). Musical praise is not restricted to those who are gifted or formally trained. The battle cry of victory begins in the heart as worship and can be expressed by anyone with a melody of praise.

12 In Your mercy cut off my enemies,
And destroy all those who afflict my soul;
For I am Your servant.

PSALM 144

A Song to the LORD Who Preserves and Prospers His People

A Psalm of David.

1 Blessed be the LORD my Rock,
Who trains my hands for war,
And my fingers for battle—
2 My lovingkindness and my fortress,
My high tower and my deliverer,
My shield and the One in whom I take refuge,
Who subdues my people[a] under me.

3 LORD, what is man, that You take knowledge of him?
Or the son of man, that You are mindful of him?
4 Man is like a breath;
His days are like a passing shadow.

5 Bow down Your heavens, O LORD, and come down;
Touch the mountains, and they shall smoke.
6 Flash forth lightning and scatter them;
Shoot out Your arrows and destroy them.
7 Stretch out Your hand from above;
Rescue me and deliver me out of great waters,
From the hand of foreigners,
8 Whose mouth speaks lying words,
And whose right hand is a right hand of falsehood.

9 I will sing a new song to You, O God;
On a harp of ten strings I will sing praises to You,
10 The One who gives salvation to kings,
Who delivers David His servant
From the deadly sword.

11 Rescue me and deliver me from the hand of foreigners,
Whose mouth speaks lying words,
And whose right hand is a right hand of falsehood—
12 That our sons may be as plants grown up in their youth;
That our daughters may be as pillars,
Sculptured in palace style;
13 That our barns may be full,
Supplying all kinds of produce;
That our sheep may bring forth thousands
And ten thousands in our fields;

144:2 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Septuagint, and Vulgate; Syriac and Targum read the peoples (compare 18:47).

144:1–10 The Lord is praised for the preparation of His king for battle. The poet described the Lord variously as his "Rock," trainer, "lovingkindness" (Heb. chesed, see Ps. 5:7–12, note), "fortress," "high tower," "deliverer," "shield," and "refuge." All indicate God's protective strength. In contrast to the great power and stability of God is the frailty of mankind (Ps. 144:3, 4; see Ps. 8:4). Human life is like a fleeting breath or passing shadow. God alone brings deliverance to His people (Ps. 144:9, 10).

144:11–15 God prospers His people. In ancient Hebrew thought, material prosperity indicated God's blessing; so the poet prayed for vigorous sons and stately daughters, for bountiful crops and multiplied flocks, and for peace in the land. "Happy" (or blessed) "are the people whose God is the LORD!" The poet began this psalm by blessing the Lord; he ended by observing the blessing that the Lord sends on His people.

14 That our oxen may be well laden;
That there be no breaking in or going out;
That there be no outcry in our streets.
15 Happy are the people who are in such a state;
Happy are the people whose God is the LORD!

PSALM 145

A Song of God's Majesty and Love

A Praise of David.

1 I will extol You, my God, O King;
And I will bless Your name forever and ever.
2 Every day I will bless You,
And I will praise Your name forever and ever.
3 Great is the LORD, and greatly to be praised;
And His greatness is unsearchable.

4 One generation shall praise Your works to another,
And shall declare Your mighty acts.
5 I[a] will meditate on the glorious splendor of Your majesty,
And on Your wondrous works.[b]
6 Men shall speak of the might of Your awesome acts,
And I will declare Your greatness.
7 They shall utter the memory of Your great goodness,
And shall sing of Your righteousness.

8 The LORD is gracious and full of compassion,
Slow to anger and great in mercy.
9 The LORD is good to all,
And His tender mercies are over all His works.

10 All Your works shall praise You, O LORD,
And Your saints shall bless You.
11 They shall speak of the glory of Your kingdom,
And talk of Your power,
12 To make known to the sons of men His mighty acts,
And the glorious majesty of His kingdom.
13 Your kingdom is an everlasting kingdom,
And Your dominion endures throughout all generations.[a]

14 The LORD upholds all who fall,
And raises up all who are bowed down.
15 The eyes of all look expectantly to You,
And You give them their food in due season.

Gracious in all His works.

To all who call upon Him in truth.
19 He will fulfill the desire of those who fear Him;

145:5 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Targum; Dead Sea Scrolls, Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read They. [b]Literally on the words of Your wondrous works 145:13 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Targum; Dead Sea Scrolls, Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate add The LORD is faithful in all His words, And holy in all His works.

145:1–21 Praising God for His greatness and love. This is an acrostic poem with each verse beginning with a succeeding letter of the Hebrew alphabet. Daily and forever, the psalmist's heart is filled with praise for the goodness and majesty of the Lord (v. 1, 2). The instruction one generation gives to the next is crucial in God's plan (vv. 4–7; Ps. 22:30, 31; 78:4–6). The very essence of transmitting redemptive history is the sharing of the story of redemption from one generation to the next (Prov. 13, Inheritance). "Tender mercies" (Ps. 145:9) comes from the same root as the word translated "womb." It may indicate a mother's compassion toward the child of her womb (see Ps. 18:1–3; 51:1, notes). God is accessible to those who seek Him (Ps. 145:18). He fulfills our desires, delivers us, and preserves us (vv. 18–20). Therefore, He is worthy of praise (v. 21).

PRAISE ADORATION FROM THE HEART

Praising God is not something that comes naturally to anyone. Praise runs an aggravating interference pattern against your nature. Occasionally, praise feels more like a duty, an obligatory lip service performed at the opening of prayer. With persistence every believer can learn to praise God in all things.

Who is to praise God? All of God's people, all of creation (Ps. 145:4, 5; Is. 55:12). Where do you praise God? Praise is fitting wherever you are (Ps. 96:3). How do you praise God? Praise is expressed through words and music (Ps. 33:1–3). When do you praise God? God should be praised at all times (Ps. 34:1). What do you praise God for? God is praised for His greatness (Ps. 150:2). Why do you praise God? God is worthy of your praise (Rev. 5:12).

Praise is your best weapon against Satan. When you praise God, you are showing the heavenly hosts, powers, principalities, demons of darkness, and angels of light that your great God is worthy of praise—no matter what your circumstances. Praise produces victory, and victory evokes praise. The process is cyclical.

Genuine praise must flow from your heart even during times of sorrow, discouragement, trial, and temptation (Ps. 42:5). The praise of His people brings glory to God. What a privilege it is to bring God joy!

See also Ex. 15:2; Ps. 63:5, 6; 1 Pet. 2:9; notes on Blessings (Gen. 12); Gratitude (Ps. 95); Music (Ps. 147); Prayer (Jer. 33; Heb. 4; 1 John 5; 3 John 2); Worship (Deut. 12)

He also will hear their cry and save them.
20 The LORD preserves all who love Him,
But all the wicked He will destroy.
21 My mouth shall speak the praise of the LORD,
And all flesh shall bless His holy name
Forever and ever.

PSALM 146

The Happiness of Those Whose Help Is the LORD

1 Praise the LORD!

Praise the LORD, O my soul!
2 While I live I will praise the LORD;
I will sing praises to my God while I have my being.

3 Do not put your trust in princes,
Nor in a son of man, in whom there is no help.
4 His spirit departs, he returns to his earth;
In that very day his plans perish.

5 Happy is he who has the God of Jacob for his help,
Whose hope is in the LORD his God,
6 Who made heaven and earth,
The sea, and all that is in them;
Who keeps truth forever,
7 Who executes justice for the oppressed,
Who gives food to the hungry.
The LORD gives freedom to the prisoners.

8 The LORD opens the eyes of the blind;
The LORD raises those who are bowed down;
The LORD loves the righteous.
9 The LORD watches over the strangers;
He relieves the fatherless and widow;
But the way of the wicked He turns upside down.

10 The LORD shall reign forever—
Your God, O Zion, to all generations.

Praise the LORD!

PSALM 147

Praise to God for His Word and Providence

1 Praise the LORD!
For it is good to sing praises to our God;
For it is pleasant, and praise is beautiful.

2 The LORD builds up Jerusalem;
He gathers together the outcasts of Israel.
3 He heals the brokenhearted
And binds up their wounds.
4 He counts the number of the stars;
He calls them all by name.
5 Great is our Lord, and mighty in power;
His understanding is infinite.
6 The LORD lifts up the humble;
He casts the wicked down to the ground.

7 Sing to the LORD with thanksgiving;
Sing praises on the harp to our God,
8 Who covers the heavens with clouds,
Who prepares rain for the earth,

146:1–4 Praise the Lord! Psalms 146—150 each begin and end with hallelujah (Heb., lit. "praise the Lord"). How fitting that praise is the focus of the last five psalms of this book. The poet of Psalm 146 exhorted his listeners to trust in God, not people. God is the great Creator, who cares for the needy and helpless.

147:1–6 God is praised for building up and protecting Jerusalem and for creating and sustaining the universe in this second hallelujah psalm. Knowledge of God's wonderful works should lead us to praise Him. For "statutes" and "judgments," see Deuteronomy 6:1, note.

Who makes grass to grow on the mountains.
9He gives to the beast its food,
And to the young ravens that cry.

10He does not delight in the strength of the horse;
He takes no pleasure in the legs of a man.
11The LORD takes pleasure in those who fear Him,
In those who hope in His mercy.

12Praise the LORD, O Jerusalem!
Praise your God, O Zion!
13For He has strengthened the bars of your gates;
He has blessed your children within you.
14He makes peace in your borders,
And fills you with the finest wheat.

15He sends out His command to the earth;
His word runs very swiftly.
16He gives snow like wool;
He scatters the frost like ashes;
17He casts out His hail like morsels;
Who can stand before His cold?
18He sends out His word and melts them;
He causes His wind to blow, and the waters flow.

19He declares His word to Jacob,
His statutes and His judgments to Israel.
20He has not dealt thus with any nation;
And as for His judgments, they have not known them.

Praise the LORD!

PSALM 148

Praise to the LORD from Creation

1Praise the LORD!

Praise the LORD from the heavens;
Praise Him in the heights!
2Praise Him, all His angels;
Praise Him, all His hosts!
3Praise Him, sun and moon;
Praise Him, all you stars of light!
4Praise Him, you heavens of heavens,
And you waters above the heavens!

5Let them praise the name of the LORD,
For He commanded and they were created.
6He also established them forever and ever;
He made a decree which shall not pass away.

7Praise the LORD from the earth,
You great sea creatures and all the depths;
8Fire and hail, snow and clouds;
Stormy wind, fulfilling His word;
9Mountains and all hills;
Fruitful trees and all cedars;
10Beasts and all cattle;
Creeping things and flying fowl;
11Kings of the earth and all peoples;
Princes and all judges of the earth;
12Both young men and maidens;
Old men and children.

13Let them praise the name of the LORD,
For His name alone is exalted;
His glory is above the earth and heaven.
14And He has exalted the horn of His people,
The praise of all His saints—
Of the children of Israel,
A people near to Him.

Praise the LORD!

PSALM 149

Praise to God for His Salvation and Judgment

1Praise the LORD!

Sing to the LORD a new song,
And His praise in the assembly of saints.

2Let Israel rejoice in their Maker;
Let the children of Zion be joyful in their King.
3Let them praise His name with the dance;
Let them sing praises to Him with the timbrel and harp.
4For the LORD takes pleasure in His people;
He will beautify the humble with salvation.

5Let the saints be joyful in glory;
Let them sing aloud on their beds.
6*Let* the high praises of God be in their mouth,
And a two-edged sword in their hand,
7To execute vengeance on the nations,
And punishments on the peoples;
8To bind their kings with chains,
And their nobles with fetters of iron;
9To execute on them the written judgment—
This honor have all His saints.

Praise the LORD!

148:1–14 Creation sings (see Ps. 146:1–4, note). This psalm is a series of calls to all creation from the height of the heavens to the depths of the sea to praise the Lord. Such praise of the Creator is the obligation, great joy, and privilege of creation.

149:1–9 Saints sing (see Ps. 146:1–4, note). God receives praise both for His salvation and judgment through the music of His people (Ps. 149:2). The Lord takes pleasure in His people and saves them (vv. 3, 4). The people praised God for military victory over their enemies (vv. 6–9).

PSALM 150

Let All Things Praise the LORD

1 Praise the LORD!

Praise God in His sanctuary;
Praise Him in His mighty firmament!

2 Praise Him for His mighty acts;
Praise Him according to His excellent greatness!

3 Praise Him with the sound of the trumpet;
Praise Him with the lute and harp!
4 Praise Him with the timbrel and dance;
Praise Him with stringed instruments and flutes!
5 Praise Him with loud cymbals;
Praise Him with clashing cymbals!

6 Let everything that has breath praise the LORD.

Praise the LORD!

150:1–6 This psalm constitutes a pinnacle of praise and functions as a doxology to Book V and as a fitting conclusion of the Book of Psalms (see Ps. 146:1–4, note; Introduction: Outline). "Praise" appears 13 times in these six brief verses. The psalmist instructed us where the Lord is to be praised (Ps. 150:1), why (v. 2), how (vv. 3–5), and who is to sing His praise (v. 6).

Proverbs

AUTHOR

Solomon, king of Israel, was the son of David and Bathsheba. He was about twenty when he took the throne, and he reigned for forty years from 971–931 B.C. About 3,000 proverbs and 1,005 songs are attributed to Solomon. That he authored most of the Book of Proverbs is appropriate since he was acclaimed the wisest person in his time (1 Kin. 4:29–32). Nothing is known of Agur, to whom Proverbs 30 is ascribed, or of Lemuel, whose words are found in Proverbs 31. Solomon's strengths were not on the battlefield but in the realm of the mind: meditation, organization, planning, and negotiation. Except for Moses, Solomon wrote more of the Old Testament than any other man. The writing of the Song of Solomon is assigned to his youth, Proverbs to his mature years when he was at the height of his power, and Ecclesiastes to his later years as he reflected on his life and experience.

DATE

Most of this collection of proverbs was gathered during the tenth century B.C. and took its final form from 729 to 686 B.C.

The purpose of the Book of Proverbs is to develop in men and women (and especially the young) a wise, skillful way of living (Prov. 1:7; 9:10). To be wise in the biblical sense means beginning with a right relationship to God. Such wisdom applies practical knowledge about God in order to live skillfully. Proverbs are precepts for practical prudence.

BACKGROUND

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: The name of this book expresses its writing style. A "proverb" (Heb. mashal, lit. "to be like" or "to be compared with") is a statement that makes a comparison, usually in the form of a brief saying instead of many words. These are brief but vivid statements taken from everyday life; they are practical guidelines for successful living. A proverb does not argue; it assumes. Its primary purpose is not to explain a matter but to give pointed expression to the idea. Many of the proverbial maxims should be recognized as guidelines, not necessarily absolutes. What is stated is generally true, although there may be exceptions.

THEMES

Proverbs refers often to the "path" and the "way," indicating conduct and lifestyle and providing both a goal and a means to reach that goal. The goal is successful living, and the route to that goal is the way of wisdom. Along the route, almost every facet of important human relationships is mentioned. The Book of Proverbs is as relevant now as when it was written. Wisdom concerning relationships is timeless, just as the nature of sin and foolishness never changes. Running throughout the practical philosophy of these proverbs is an awareness of the perpetual struggle between good and evil in our lives. Powerful contrasts are used to show why wisdom is the answer. Set in vivid contrast are the ideas of wisdom vs. folly, good vs. evil, life vs. death, fidelity vs. adultery, truth vs. falsehood, prudence vs. rashness, prosperity vs. poverty, industry vs. indolence. Truths of eternal importance are set forth:

- Wisdom (godly living) is more valuable than jewels or wealth.
- Wisdom originates with God.
- Wisdom is available to all, but each woman and man must choose the path of wisdom.
- The wise are rewarded for their righteousness.
- The foolish reap the consequences of their evil deeds.

The Beginning of Knowledge

1 The proverbs of Solomon the son of David, king of Israel:

2 To know wisdom and instruction,
To perceive the words of understanding,
3 To receive the instruction of wisdom,
Justice, judgment, and equity;
4 To give prudence to the simple,
To the young man knowledge and discretion—
5 A wise man will hear and increase learning,
And a man of understanding will attain wise
counsel,
6 To understand a proverb and an enigma,
The words of the wise and their riddles.

7 The fear of the LORD is the beginning of
knowledge,
But fools despise wisdom and instruction.

1:2 Wisdom (Heb. hokmah) is found repeatedly in the Book of Proverbs. In the OT, this word was used to describe the skill of craftsmen, artists, and counselors (see Ex. 28:3; 31:3, 6; 35:26; 36:1). In the spiritual realm, a wise person lived life according to God's commandments, applying knowledge about God in a practical and successful way. "Instruction" suggests that wisdom is gained through time and discipline.

1:4 Prudence or "shrewdness" is a safeguard against being misled. "Simple" (lit. "to be wide open"), a common designation in Proverbs, suggests someone who is naive, gullible, and susceptible to good and bad influences.

1:7 Fear in Proverbs is best understood as reverent obedience expressed in a submissive spirit rather than as terrifying dread. "Fear of the Lord" is the beginning point of becoming a woman of wisdom (v. 29; Prov. 2:5; 9:10; 14:26, 27; 15:33; 22:4). A "fool" is morally rather than intellectually defective.

GIRLHOOD THE BUD OF WOMANHOOD

A surface reading of the Bible may leave a young girl with the impression that this Book is of little relevance to her today. Only a few times are young girls specifically mentioned in the history of God's dealings with His people.

Rebekah in her youth was beautiful and charming as well as gracious and resourceful. She became the wife of the patriarch Isaac (Gen. 24:15–67). Naaman's young maidservant was not only obedient and helpful but also spiritually perceptive as she was responsible for introducing her pagan master to the God of Israel (2 Kin. 5:1–14). The daughter of Jairus was a member of a prominent and wealthy household, but she was also valuable to the Savior who restored her to life (Mark 5:21–43). The girl Rhoda was alert and sensitive to the working of the Lord in delivering Peter from prison, and she refused to doubt even when others questioned her faith (Acts 12:13–15).

In addition to these examples is the vibrant testimony of Mary, the mother of our Lord. In her youth—probably in her teens—she showed remarkable faith and commitment as she responded with obedience to God's call to her (Luke 1:26–38).

Scripture clearly affirms the relevance and sufficiency of the Bible for all Christians of all times (1 Tim. 3:16; 2 Pet. 1:3) because the most fundamental issues of human life resurface in every generation. Proverbs, the only book addressed specifically to young people, is essentially a book about pure living and wise decision making. Its advice for boys is equally appropriate for girls. The Book of Numbers is primarily the story of the Israelites in the wilderness in their "time between" leaving Mt. Sinai and entering the Promised Land, but a close study of it can offer girls insights into the trials that they are likely to face as they mature from girlhood to womanhood.

Girlhood is a time of identity formation, self-discovery, friendship, and growth, and God's Word is sufficient to guide girls in all these areas.

Shun Evil Counsel

8 My son, hear the instruction of your father,
And do not forsake the law of your mother;
9 For they will be a graceful ornament on your head,
And chains about your neck.

10 My son, if sinners entice you,
Do not consent.
11 If they say, "Come with us,
Let us lie in wait to shed blood;
Let us lurk secretly for the innocent without cause;
12 Let us swallow them alive like Sheol,[a]
And whole, like those who go down to the Pit;
13 We shall find all kinds of precious possessions,
We shall fill our houses with spoil;
14 Cast in your lot among us,
Let us all have one purse"—
15 My son, do not walk in the way with them,
Keep your foot from their path;
16 For their feet run to evil,
And they make haste to shed blood.
17 Surely, in vain the net is spread
In the sight of any bird;
18 But they lie in wait for their own blood,
They lurk secretly for their own lives.
19 So are the ways of everyone who is greedy for gain;
It takes away the life of its owners.

The Call of Wisdom

20 Wisdom calls aloud outside;
She raises her voice in the open squares.

1:12 [a]Or the grave

1:8—9:18 The contrast of good and evil is found in the first major section of the book (see chart, The Choice Between Life and Death). The father-teacher pleaded with his son (and ultimately with all who would listen) to understand the difference between the path of good (wisdom) and the path of evil (sin). This section provides the theological foundation for understanding chapters 10—31.

1:8 The mother, along with the father, is a teacher of the children in the biblical model (see also Prov. 6:20). She is to instruct her children in her home according to established principles (Deut. 6:6, 7; see Deut. 6, Education). The fact that both parents are mentioned is a tribute to the prominent role of Israel's mothers. Such reference to the mother as teacher would be rare, if present at all, in Egyptian or other wisdom literature.

1:12 Sheol (Heb., lit. "the place of the dead" or "the grave") is used several times in Proverbs as the place to which the path of the foolish leads.

1:20–23 Wisdom is explained through a figure of speech. Such language can be God's chosen means for revealing Himself and His plans more effectively. If such figures are altered or

WISDOM ITS FOUNDATION AND EXPRESSION

"Fear of the Lord" is the foundation for wisdom, the prerequisite for obedience, and the accompaniment of love (Deut. 10:12). Fearing the Lord and loving Him are not antithetical but inseparable responses. The Book of Proverbs is permeated with these admonitions (Prov. 1:7; 31:30). Other wisdom literature supports the plea (Eccl. 12:13), the prophets echo the same (Mic. 6:8), and the New Testament picks up this emphasis in its description of "a gentle and quiet spirit" (1 Pet. 3:4).

"Fear" in this sense indicates submissive reverence and not stark terror. To reject this awe, which inspires respectful obedience, is to determine to go your own way (Prov. 1:31) and turn away from God's way (Is. 55:8).

The promised results of fearing Him are goodness, riches, honor and satisfaction (Ps. 31:19), a right relationship with others (Lev. 25:17), long life (Deut. 6:2), mercy (Ps. 103:17), strong confidence (Prov. 14:26), and God's constant attention (Ps. 34:7).

21 She cries out in the chief concourses,[a]
At the openings of the gates in the city
She speaks her words:
22 "How long, you simple ones, will you love simplicity?
For scorners delight in their scorning,
And fools hate knowledge.
23 Turn at my rebuke;
Surely I will pour out my spirit on you;
I will make my words known to you.
24 Because I have called and you refused,
I have stretched out my hand and no one regarded,
25 Because you disdained all my counsel,
And would have none of my rebuke,
26 I also will laugh at your calamity;
I will mock when your terror comes,
27 When your terror comes like a storm,
And your destruction comes like a whirlwind,
When distress and anguish come upon you.

28 "Then they will call on me, but I will not answer;
They will seek me diligently, but they will not find me.
29 Because they hated knowledge
And did not choose the fear of the LORD,
30 They would have none of my counsel
And despised my every rebuke.
31 Therefore they shall eat the fruit of their own way,
And be filled to the full with their own fancies.
32 For the turning away of the simple will slay them,
And the complacency of fools will destroy them;
33 But whoever listens to me will dwell safely,
And will be secure, without fear of evil."

The Value of Wisdom

2 My son, if you receive my words,
And treasure my commands within you,
2 So that you incline your ear to wisdom,
And apply your heart to understanding;
3 Yes, if you cry out for discernment,
And lift up your voice for understanding,
4 If you seek her as silver,
And search for her as for hidden treasures;
5 Then you will understand the fear of the LORD,
And find the knowledge of God.
6 For the LORD gives wisdom;
From His mouth come knowledge and understanding;
7 He stores up sound wisdom for the upright;
He is a shield to those who walk uprightly;
8 He guards the paths of justice,
And preserves the way of His saints.
9 Then you will understand righteousness and justice,
Equity and every good path.

1:21 [a]Septuagint, Syriac, and Targum read top of the walls; Vulgate reads the head of multitudes.

changed, the understanding of God's purpose is thwarted (see Prov. 8:1–36, note; 9).

2:1–4 Single-hearted devotion to discovering and doing what is right is implied in the verbs "receive," "treasure," "incline," "apply," "cry out," "lift up," "seek," and "search." The three "ifs" in these verses show the importance of our choices. We are instructed to do our part in seeking wisdom in order to reap the wonderful, promised results. God grants wisdom as a gift to those who truly seek it, and He bestows understanding and knowledge (v. 5).

2:2 The heart was the seat of the intellect and of life itself in Hebrew thought. Not only must the ear be inclined to wisdom, but the heart (inclusive of the mind in Hebrew thought; see Prov. 4:20–27, note) must diligently seek to understand wisdom. Obedience is a life-long endeavor.

10When wisdom enters your heart,
And knowledge is pleasant to your soul,
11Discretion will preserve you;
Understanding will keep you,
12To deliver you from the way of evil,
From the man who speaks perverse things,
13From those who leave the paths of uprightness
To walk in the ways of darkness;
14Who rejoice in doing evil,
And delight in the perversity of the wicked;
15Whose ways are crooked,
And who are devious in their paths;
16To deliver you from the immoral woman,
From the seductress who flatters with her words,
17Who forsakes the companion of her youth,
And forgets the covenant of her God.
18For her house leads down to death,
And her paths to the dead;
19None who go to her return,
Nor do they regain the paths of life—
20So you may walk in the way of goodness,
And keep to the paths of righteousness.
21For the upright will dwell in the land,
And the blameless will remain in it;
22But the wicked will be cut off from the earth,
And the unfaithful will be uprooted from it.

Guidance for the Young

3 My son, do not forget my law,
But let your heart keep my commands;
2For length of days and long life
And peace they will add to you.

3Let not mercy and truth forsake you;
Bind them around your neck,
Write them on the tablet of your heart,
4*And* so find favor and high esteem
In the sight of God and man.

5Trust in the LORD with all your heart,
And lean not on your own understanding;
6In all your ways acknowledge Him,
And He shall direct[a] your paths.

7Do not be wise in your own eyes;
Fear the LORD and depart from evil.
8It will be health to your flesh,[a]
And strength[b] to your bones.

9Honor the LORD with your possessions,
And with the firstfruits of all your increase;
10So your barns will be filled with plenty,
And your vats will overflow with new wine.

11My son, do not despise the chastening of the LORD,
Nor detest His correction;
12For whom the LORD loves He corrects,
Just as a father the son in whom he delights.

13Happy is the man who finds wisdom,
And the man who gains understanding;
14For her proceeds are better than the profits of silver,
And her gain than fine gold.
15She is more precious than rubies,
And all the things you may desire cannot compare with her.
16Length of days is in her right hand,
In her left hand riches and honor.
17Her ways are ways of pleasantness,
And all her paths are peace.
18She is a tree of life to those who take hold of her,
And happy are all who retain her.

19The LORD by wisdom founded the earth;
By understanding He established the heavens;
20By His knowledge the depths were broken up,
And clouds drop down the dew.

21My son, let them not depart from your eyes—
Keep sound wisdom and discretion;
22So they will be life to your soul
And grace to your neck.
23Then you will walk safely in your way,
And your foot will not stumble.
24When you lie down, you will not be afraid;
Yes, you will lie down and your sleep will be sweet.
25Do not be afraid of sudden terror,
Nor of trouble from the wicked when it comes;
26For the LORD will be your confidence,
And will keep your foot from being caught.

27Do not withhold good from those to whom it is due,

3:6 [a]Or make smooth or straight 3:8 [a]Literally navel, figurative of the body [b]Literally drink or refreshment

3:2 The practical benefits of wisdom include a lack of anxiety, which brings peace to the soul as well as vigorous physical health.

3:6 Direct (Heb. yashar, lit. "to make smooth, straight, right"), includes the idea of removing obstacles that are in the way. God will straighten the stressful paths. He does not say when or how; He just promises that He will.

3:1–12 This passage lists commands in the odd-numbered verses and the blessings that come from obedience in the even-numbered verses. Wisdom and obedience bring longevity and exemplary reputation (vv. 2, 4), God's guidance (v. 6), physical well-being (v. 8), prosperity (v. 10), and discipline (v. 12; compare vv. 13–18). Three actions are required on our part: "trust" God, "lean not" to our own understanding, and "acknowledge" His leadership (vv. 5, 6). God responds with His action, which is to "direct" (v. 6, note).

BEAUTY MORE THAN AN APPEALING FACE

The Bible has a great deal to say about both inner and outer beauty. Many women in the Bible are noted for their lovely appearance, such as Sarah, Rebekah, Rachel, Abigail, Bathsheba, and Esther (Gen. 12:11; 24:16; 29:17; 1 Sam 25:3; 2 Sam. 11:2; Esth. 2:7). Queen Esther had a beauty regimen (Esth. 2:3, 12). In fact, the account of a beauty pageant is found in the Book of Esther (Esth. 2).

A Christian woman's appearance should be a complement to her inner spirit and never a hindrance to the kingdom of God. Beauty is more than an appealing face or the latest fashion. For a godly woman, good hygiene, healthy skin care, appropriate attire, and gracious manners are all expected to be a means of presenting an outward appearance that attracts others toward her life and ultimately gives opportunity for sharing a testimony of the Christ who dwells within her (2 Cor. 3:2, 3).

A woman's countenance is often a mirror of her heart. When she abides in God's love, her facial features tend to soften and lines become tempered. An inner peace and joy are reflected on her face. A woman's actions and attitudes are often an indication of where her roots are planted. When a woman's heart is rooted in peace and joy (Gal. 5:22, 23), her outward countenance radiates vitality, enthusiasm, love, and a deep sense of well-being—something no amount of make-up, perfume, professional styling, high fashion, or personal fitness program can create. Having the Holy Spirit within empowers a woman with vitality and enthusiasm, making her a magnet to other people.

True beauty comes from within and is manifested by pure motives and a generous, unselfish spirit toward others. Jesus alone can establish such a wellspring of love (see 1 Chr. 16:29) when a woman yields her life to Him. No beautification regimen or stylish clothes can mask an unattractive heart, unkind words, or hurtful actions.

When it is in the power of your hand to do so.
28 Do not say to your neighbor,
"Go, and come back,
And tomorrow I will give it,"
When you have it with you.
29 Do not devise evil against your neighbor,
For he dwells by you for safety's sake.
30 Do not strive with a man without cause,
If he has done you no harm.

31 Do not envy the oppressor,
And choose none of his ways;
32 For the perverse person is an abomination to the LORD,
But His secret counsel is with the upright.
33 The curse of the LORD is on the house of the wicked,
But He blesses the home of the just.
34 Surely He scorns the scornful,
But gives grace to the humble.
35 The wise shall inherit glory,
But shame shall be the legacy of fools.

Security in Wisdom

4 Hear, my children, the instruction of a father,
And give attention to know understanding;
2 For I give you good doctrine:
Do not forsake my law.
3 When I was my father's son,
Tender and the only one in the sight of my mother,
4 He also taught me, and said to me:
"Let your heart retain my words;
Keep my commands, and live.
5 Get wisdom! Get understanding!
Do not forget, nor turn away from the words of my mouth.
6 Do not forsake her, and she will preserve you;
Love her, and she will keep you.
7 Wisdom is the principal thing;
Therefore get wisdom.
And in all your getting, get understanding.
8 Exalt her, and she will promote you;
She will bring you honor, when you embrace her.
9 She will place on your head an ornament of grace;
A crown of glory she will deliver to you."

10 Hear, my son, and receive my sayings,
And the years of your life will be many.
11 I have taught you in the way of wisdom;
I have led you in right paths.
12 When you walk, your steps will not be hindered,
And when you run, you will not stumble.
13 Take firm hold of instruction, do not let go;
Keep her, for she is your life.

3:27–35 Five principles concerning relationships with others, each beginning with the words "do not," appear in this passage. These principles are specific examples of what it means to acknowledge God in everything (v. 6). The Lord's "secret counsel" (lit. "confidential, intimate speech") is strong motivation for maintaining a distance from the wicked (vv. 31–35).

14 Do not enter the path of the wicked,
And do not walk in the way of evil.
15 Avoid it, do not travel on it;
Turn away from it and pass on.
16 For they do not sleep unless they have done evil;
And their sleep is taken away unless they make someone fall.
17 For they eat the bread of wickedness,
And drink the wine of violence.

18 But the path of the just is like the shining sun,[a]
That shines ever brighter unto the perfect day.
19 The way of the wicked is like darkness;
They do not know what makes them stumble.

20 My son, give attention to my words;
Incline your ear to my sayings.
21 Do not let them depart from your eyes;
Keep them in the midst of your heart;
22 For they are life to those who find them,
And health to all their flesh.
23 Keep your heart with all diligence,
For out of it spring the issues of life.
24 Put away from you a deceitful mouth,
And put perverse lips far from you.
25 Let your eyes look straight ahead,
And your eyelids look right before you.
26 Ponder the path of your feet,
And let all your ways be established.
27 Do not turn to the right or the left;
Remove your foot from evil.

The Peril of Adultery

5 My son, pay attention to my wisdom;
Lend your ear to my understanding,
2 That you may preserve discretion,
And your lips may keep knowledge.
3 For the lips of an immoral woman drip honey,
And her mouth is smoother than oil;
4 But in the end she is bitter as wormwood,
Sharp as a two-edged sword.
5 Her feet go down to death,
Her steps lay hold of hell.[a]
6 Lest you ponder her path of life—
Her ways are unstable;
You do not know them.

7 Therefore hear me now, my children,
And do not depart from the words of my mouth.
8 Remove your way far from her,
And do not go near the door of her house,
9 Lest you give your honor to others,
And your years to the cruel one;
10 Lest aliens be filled with your wealth,
And your labors go to the house of a foreigner;
11 And you mourn at last,
When your flesh and your body are consumed,
12 And say:
"How I have hated instruction,
And my heart despised correction!
13 I have not obeyed the voice of my teachers,
Nor inclined my ear to those who instructed me!
14 I was on the verge of total ruin,
In the midst of the assembly and congregation."

15 Drink water from your own cistern,
And running water from your own well.
16 Should your fountains be dispersed abroad,
Streams of water in the streets?
17 Let them be only your own,
And not for strangers with you.
18 Let your fountain be blessed,

4:18 [a]Literally light 5:5 [a]Or Sheol

4:18, 19 A contrast between light and darkness illustrates the paths of the wise and the wicked (see chart, The Choice Between Life and Death). The path of the wise is like the dawn's first rays of light that gradually increase to greater brightness. The path of the wicked is characterized by complete and utter darkness that causes instability and stumbling.

4:20–27 Heart is a term that includes mind, emotions, and will. The decision is made in the inner being (v. 21) but quickly shows forth in outer actions (see Luke 6:43–45). Therefore, the heart must be guarded carefully (Prov. 4:23). Keeping the heart involves what is said (v. 24), what is seen (v. 25), and what is done (vv. 26, 27).

5:4 Wormwood is a plant used as a biblical symbol for that which is harmful and bitter (see chart, The Herbs of the Bible). Its root meaning, though not used in Scripture, is understood to be "curse." The words of the adulteress may sound sweet but in reality she is a "bitter curse."

5:7–14 The father-teacher pleaded with his son not to turn away from his words but to turn away from the adulteress. The temptations of the adulteress are to be resisted through the strength of wisdom, which dictates that a man not even go near the house of an adulteress. Failure to turn from such a woman results in the loss of strength (v. 9) and health (v. 11) and in misery and ruin (vv. 12–14). Contrast with the blessings of Proverbs 3 and 4; compare with the blessings of obedience and the curses of disobedience (Deut. 28). Two ways are given to resist the adulteress: Avoid her and do not go near her house (Prov. 5:8), and enjoy a vital and exciting sexual relationship with your wife (vv. 15, 18).

5:15–20 God's view of sex in marriage. A beautiful parallel is drawn between the quenching of thirst by drinks of cool, fresh water and the satisfaction of a couple's sexual thirst with regular, exciting sexual intimacy in marriage. "Rejoice with the wife of your youth" indicates that the sexual relationship is to provide the marriage partners great pleasure (v. 18). The wife is described as tender, charming, loving, and satisfying. God's view of the sexual relationship in marriage is of an exciting, erotic, intoxicating, and loving partnership. Such a relationship is the most effective means of preventing infidelity.

MARRIAGE THE FACETS OF LOVE

Love has several aspects, and each is designed to be an integral part of a marriage relationship. There is first the magnetic drawing of two people together, which is usually termed desire (Gen. 29:18) and which should remain a very important facet of every marriage (Prov. 5:17–19). Love also has a facet of romance—strong, sweet, and absorbing (Gen. 26:8, 9). Genuine love is marked by contentment with each other, and a sense of assurance and belonging that enables partners to care for one another and to give the promise of total loyalty (Ruth 3:9–11). The fourth facet of love is friendship, with an emphasis on communicating and being close, sharing thoughts and feelings, and dreaming together (Song 2:14).

These four aspects of love are held together with God's love, which is absolutely essential if the marriage is going to endure. God's love is unconditional; it is given with no thought of response. Self-sacrificing love (Gk. Agapē) is an act of the will and not the emotions (1 Cor. 13:4–8). Agapē love is unselfish and undemanding, realizes the value of the loved one, recognizes responsibility for the beloved, continues to grow, never fades, and is pure (1 Cor. 13:12, 13).

God demands permanence in marriage (Mal. 2:16), but He intended for it to be a growing, loving relationship from beginning to end (Eccl. 9:9). This is a truth bound up in God's will, and thus it is possible for Christians to accomplish it.

As all five aspects of love come to find expression in a marriage relationship, permanence is assured. The house will be built, established, and filled with precious and pleasant riches (Prov. 14:1; 24:3, 4).

And rejoice with the wife of your youth.
19 As a loving deer and a graceful doe,
Let her breasts satisfy you at all times;
And always be enraptured with her love.
20 For why should you, my son, be enraptured by an immoral woman,
And be embraced in the arms of a seductress?

21 For the ways of man are before the eyes of the LORD,
And He ponders all his paths.
22 His own iniquities entrap the wicked man,
And he is caught in the cords of his sin.
23 He shall die for lack of instruction,
And in the greatness of his folly he shall go astray.

Dangerous Promises

6 My son, if you become surety for your friend,
If you have shaken hands in pledge for a stranger,
2 You are snared by the words of your mouth;
You are taken by the words of your mouth.
3 So do this, my son, and deliver yourself;
For you have come into the hand of your friend:
Go and humble yourself;
Plead with your friend.
4 Give no sleep to your eyes,
Nor slumber to your eyelids.
5 Deliver yourself like a gazelle from the hand of the hunter,
And like a bird from the hand of the fowler.[a]

The Folly of Indolence

6 Go to the ant, you sluggard!
Consider her ways and be wise,
7 Which, having no captain,
Overseer or ruler,
8 Provides her supplies in the summer,
And gathers her food in the harvest.
9 How long will you slumber, O sluggard?

6:5 [a]That is, one who catches birds in a trap or snare

5:21–23 God ponders all the paths (lit. "habits") of the wicked. The course of life chosen by the wicked entraps in ignorance and sin and leads to death. Judgment is of the Lord. People may talk about being "free" to do whatever they feel like doing, but in reality sin takes away all freedom.

6:1–5 The warning is against being held accountable for another person's loan. Putting up security is often mentioned in Proverbs (Prov. 11:15; 17:18; 20:16; 22:26, 27; 27:13). Two strong expressions are used to encourage the release of a person who has become surety for a friend (Prov. 6:3). "Humble yourself" (lit. "trample upon yourself") suggests it is better, if necessary, to be humiliated in order to secure release from a pledge. "Plead" (lit. "urge with troublesome persistence") advises strong and continuous argument until your neighbor is willing to release you.

6:6–11 The sluggard is mentioned a number of times in Proverbs. His procrastination and lack of initiative are strongly condemned (Prov. 26:13). His foolishness is evident in his lack of preparation for the future. Rather he prefers to stay in bed (Prov. 6:9, 10). As he waits and does nothing, opportunities slip away, and without notice his poverty and need overwhelm him.

When will you rise from your sleep?
10A little sleep, a little slumber,
A little folding of the hands to sleep—
11So shall your poverty come on you like a prowler,
And your need like an armed man.

The Wicked Man

12A worthless person, a wicked man,
Walks with a perverse mouth;
13He winks with his eyes,
He shuffles his feet,
He points with his fingers;
14Perversity is in his heart,
He devises evil continually,
He sows discord.
15Therefore his calamity shall come suddenly;
Suddenly he shall be broken without remedy.

16These six things the LORD hates,
Yes, seven are an abomination to Him:
17A proud look,
A lying tongue,
Hands that shed innocent blood,
18A heart that devises wicked plans,
Feet that are swift in running to evil,
19A false witness who speaks lies,
And one who sows discord among brethren.

Beware of Adultery

20My son, keep your father's command,
And do not forsake the law of your mother.
21Bind them continually upon your heart;
Tie them around your neck.
22When you roam, they[a] will lead you;
When you sleep, they will keep you;
And when you awake, they will speak with you.
23For the commandment is a lamp,
And the law a light;
Reproofs of instruction are the way of life,
24To keep you from the evil woman,
From the flattering tongue of a seductress.
25Do not lust after her beauty in your heart,
Nor let her allure you with her eyelids.
26For by means of a harlot
A man is reduced to a crust of bread;
And an adulteress[a] will prey upon his precious life.
27Can a man take fire to his bosom,
And his clothes not be burned?
28Can one walk on hot coals,
And his feet not be seared?
29So is he who goes in to his neighbor's wife;
Whoever touches her shall not be innocent.

30*People* do not despise a thief
If he steals to satisfy himself when he is starving.
31Yet when he is found, he must restore sevenfold;
He may have to give up all the substance of his house.
32Whoever commits adultery with a woman lacks understanding;
He who does so destroys his own soul.
33Wounds and dishonor he will get,
And his reproach will not be wiped away.
34For jealousy is a husband's fury;
Therefore he will not spare in the day of vengeance.
35He will accept no recompense,
Nor will he be appeased though you give many gifts.

7 My son, keep my words,
And treasure my commands within you.

6:22 [a]Literally it 6:26 [a]Literally a man's wife, that is, of another

6:12–19 God hates not just the murderer or adulterer but also the one who "sows discord" (vv. 14, 19). Interestingly, among the two lists of things that are an abomination to the Lord, several are sins of attitude ("winks with his eyes," v. 13; "a proud look," v. 17) and sins of the tongue ("a perverse mouth," v. 12; "a lying tongue," v. 17; "a false witness," v. 19).

6:20–23 The mother is described as a teacher of her children (see Prov. 1:8). God's Word is a lamp to your feet and a light to your path (Ps. 119:105). Parental commands, like the Word of God, are a lamp and a light, giving wise guidance to the child's life. This analogy shows parents the importance of teaching according to God's Word. That parents can only teach their children what they themselves know and are applying in their own lives is a sobering fact!

6:24–27 Following the godly wisdom of parents offers protection from an evil woman (vv. 20–23; see also Prov. 9 regarding the foolish woman). The Talmud identifies the heart and eye as agents of sin. To permit your mind to become obsessed with lustful thoughts is to put yourself willingly in the way of temptation. Adultery could be called a type of suicide. The person who enters into an adulterous relationship, embracing foolishness rather than godly wisdom, will surely pay the consequences. His own soul will be destroyed (see Prov. 6:32; 7).

7:1–27 The portrait of adultery in this chapter sounds like a repeat of previous chapters because Solomon three times previously has addressed the problem of sexual immorality as a metaphor for turning from wisdom and following after folly (Prov. 2:16–19; 5:1–23; 6:20–35). Here, the ways of the seductress and the consequences of involvement with her are graphically illustrated. She is disloyal in heart (Prov. 7:5), provocatively dressed (v. 10), boisterous and rebellious (v. 11), and restless and unfulfilled (vv. 11, 12). She uses flattering speech (v. 21; see Prov. 5:3) and destroys her captive (Prov. 7:21–23, 26, 27). The way of folly at its root gives no thought to the path of life (see Prov. 5:6). The consequences of a lack of wisdom in life are dreadfully real. In these verses, the plea is to treat the parent's commandments as a treasure, to burn them into the heart that they might be remembered. Wisdom, when chosen to be an intimate friend, protects from the folly of immorality (Prov. 7:4, 5).

THE ADULTERESS OF PROVERBS

Proverbs 5—7 is a trio of chapters warning against the immoral woman whose character is not only shallow but also evil. Her conscience is seared, her dress seductive, and her heart crafty. The deceptive words from her lips are enticing, as sweet as honey (the sweetest food in ancient Israel) and smoother than olive oil (the smoothest consistency). She is an adulteress, an unfaithful wife whose restless, unstable feet do not stay at home.

Belligerently flaunting her marriage vows and defiant against God's Law, she uses tactics of surprise and flattery. With vivid descriptions of a perfumed bed waiting for a night of exhilarating lovemaking, she uses her energies to lure the naive, foolish man to her bedchamber.

Her evil character and lifestyle result from not pondering the path of life (Prov. 5:6). Instead, she leads her victims on the path to destruction, leading to the utter ruin of a man's strength and vigor and the depletion of his material possessions. Ultimately, his folly will cost him his life (Prov. 7:23).

Three ways are given by the father-teacher to avoid this woman "whose house is the way to hell, descending to the chambers of death" (Prov. 7:27):

1. Observe the commandment of your father and do not forsake the teaching of your mother (Prov. 6:20).
2. Resist temptation by removing yourself from the seductress; keep your way far from her, and do not go near the door of her house (Prov. 5:8).
3. Be exhilarated with the sexual love of your wife (vv. 15–20).

The adulteress seeks and offers quick but unsatisfying pleasures. She is unstable; she has no anchor of godly character to direct her paths. She not only follows a road to destruction herself but also leads others down that avenue. She not only destroys her own family and loses their fellowship, but also she often brings to ruin other homes as well. Yet, however great has been the folly of such a woman, she has but to turn to Christ in order to experience forgiveness and to reach for the "fear of the Lord" in order to achieve the blessings of wisdom.

2 Keep my commands and live,
And my law as the apple of your eye.
3 Bind them on your fingers;
Write them on the tablet of your heart.
4 Say to wisdom, "You are my sister,"
And call understanding your nearest kin,
5 That they may keep you from the immoral woman,
From the seductress who flatters with her words.

The Crafty Harlot

6 For at the window of my house
I looked through my lattice,
7 And saw among the simple,
I perceived among the youths,
A young man devoid of understanding,
8 Passing along the street near her corner;
And he took the path to her house
9 In the twilight, in the evening,
In the black and dark night.

10 And there a woman met him,
With the attire of a harlot, and a crafty heart.
11 She was loud and rebellious,
Her feet would not stay at home.
12 At times she was outside, at times in the open square,
Lurking at every corner.
13 So she caught him and kissed him;
With an impudent face she said to him:
14 "I have peace offerings with me;
Today I have paid my vows.
15 So I came out to meet you,
Diligently to seek your face,
And I have found you.
16 I have spread my bed with tapestry,
Colored coverings of Egyptian linen.
17 I have perfumed my bed
With myrrh, aloes, and cinnamon.
18 Come, let us take our fill of love until morning;
Let us delight ourselves with love.
19 For my husband is not at home;
He has gone on a long journey;
20 He has taken a bag of money with him,
And will come home on the appointed day."

21 With her enticing speech she caused him to yield,
With her flattering lips she seduced him.
22 Immediately he went after her, as an ox goes to the slaughter,
Or as a fool to the correction of the stocks,[a] 23 Till an arrow struck his liver.

SEXUAL IMMORALITY A PATHWAY TO TRAGEDY

In the New Testament, sexual immorality (Gk. porneia) refers to the voluntary sexual intercourse of an unmarried person with anyone of the opposite sex (Col. 3:5; 1 Thess. 4:3). The term is also used to describe prostitution (Rev. 2:14) and all forms of inappropriate sexual behavior (John 8:41; 1 Cor. 5:1; 6:13, 18). Adultery (Gk. moicheia) identified extra-marital infidelity. The two terms later were used interchangeably (Matt. 15:19; Mark 7:21; John 8:3; Gal. 5:19).

Sexual immorality covers a number of sins and came to be used as a general term to cover all sexual sins. Though all these actions forbidden by Scripture were despicable in God's eyes, none is unforgivable. Sexual intimacy is a special gift from God to express the deepest physical and spiritual unity between husband and wife as well as being God's seal on the marriage. Thus, God expects us to take very seriously the safeguards He has established for that exclusive and intimate union.

Sexual immorality has tragic consequences:

- God's gift of sexuality (Gen. 2:24; Song 3:4, 5; Matt. 19:5), which is a good and unifying communication of love, is abused;
- The bodies that God created to be His temple, the dwelling place for the Holy Spirit, are degraded (1 Cor. 3:16, 17);
- As does any sin, those who participate separate themselves from God, break their fellowship with other believers, and bring hurt to the kingdom of God (Amos 3:3; Rom. 3:23);
- Those with whom the perpetrator commits such acts are exploited and violated (2 Sam. 13:14–19);
- The natural and holy intimacy God has designed in a permanent, monogamous relationship is denied (Gen. 24:67; Mark 10:6–9).

Still all must remember God's mercy and forgiveness. Any woman who has engaged in sexual immorality can find forgiveness and healing at the foot of the Cross (John 8:3–11).

As a bird hastens to the snare,
He did not know it would cost his life.

24 Now therefore, listen to me, my children;
Pay attention to the words of my mouth:
25 Do not let your heart turn aside to her ways,
Do not stray into her paths;
26 For she has cast down many wounded,
And all who were slain by her were strong men.
27 Her house is the way to hell,[a]
Descending to the chambers of death.

The Excellence of Wisdom

8 Does not wisdom cry out,
And understanding lift up her voice?
2 She takes her stand on the top of the high hill,
Beside the way, where the paths meet.
3 She cries out by the gates, at the entry of the city,
At the entrance of the doors:
4 "To you, O men, I call,
And my voice is to the sons of men.
5 O you simple ones, understand prudence,
And you fools, be of an understanding heart.
6 Listen, for I will speak of excellent things,
And from the opening of my lips will come right things;
7 For my mouth will speak truth;
Wickedness is an abomination to my lips.
8 All the words of my mouth are with righteousness;
Nothing crooked or perverse is in them.
9 They are all plain to him who understands,

7:27 [a]Or Sheol

8:1–36 Wisdom has credentials! Chapter 8 is a beautiful contrast to chapter 7, showing that folly ends in death and destruction, while wisdom's call is brilliant, emotional, poetic, and convincing. However, some confusion has arisen over the personification of "wisdom" as a woman in this chapter. The literary device of personification (the representing as a person a quality that is recognized by all as not actually being a person) is often seen in Wisdom Literature. Though personified, wisdom is clearly an attribute, not a person. The "wisdom" in Proverbs 8 refers to wisdom that is an attribute of God Himself, going beyond understanding and right decisions. Unfortunately, some have elevated this personification into a goddess, whom they say was associated with Yahweh at creation. They even go so far as to subordinate the Son to the Father by claiming that Jesus is the incarnation of divine wisdom and not God Himself in flesh. Wisdom is not God, although when portrayed as a person, she acts and speaks as God does. Wisdom invites all men and women to choose her path of life. She calls the foolish and the simple because they need her most (vv. 4, 5; see Matt. 9:12, 13). Wisdom is available to all but acquired only by those who love her (Prov. 8:21) and seek her (v. 17).

COUNSELING HELPING OTHERS HELP THEMSELVES

Human beings were created by God with a variety of needs: physical, emotional, intellectual, psychological, and spiritual. These needs God is ready and able to supply (Phil. 4:19). We find His help in prayer, study of Scripture, guidance of the Holy Spirit (Gk. paraklētos, "comforter," lit. one "called alongside"), and from the counsel of godly and wise individuals—whether family, friends, or professionals.

God may choose to meet a need through an individual or "people helper" within an organization or institution or through particular circumstances. When making important or life-changing decisions, we do well to seek counsel from wise, mature Christians (Prov. 11:14).

When life needs are not met in appropriate and effective ways, mental anguish occurs. When this anguish results in serious disruptions of daily activities or damage to relationships, counseling is necessary. To seek biblical counseling is often helpful and should not bring shame or embarrassment. Christian counseling provides the individual with healing, integration, balance, and wholeness through a variety of methods but is always marked by reliance on the Lord as the Great Physician. Jesus assured His followers of the indwelling presence of the Holy Spirit, the Comforter, the Helper, the resident Counselor for every believer (John 16:13).

8:22–31 Wisdom is seen here figuratively as a personification of God's attribute of wisdom. Some scholars suggest that wisdom in chapter 8 refers to Christ. Although Christ was with God before creation and all wisdom resides in Christ (Col. 2:3), these verses give no indication that Jesus Christ Himself is the one referred to as wisdom. Some have suggested that if wisdom is replaced by Christ in chapter 8, then wisdom should be replaced with Christ throughout the Book of Proverbs. Wisdom was present before creation (Prov. 8:24–26) and at creation (vv. 27–29), and wisdom rejoiced at creation as the "master craftsman" (vv. 30, 31).

THE PERSONIFICATION OF WISDOM

ORIGIN OF WISDOM	VIRTUES OF WISDOM	VALUE OF WISDOM
In God (Prov. 8:22)	Prudence (Prov. 8:5, 12)	The wise receive riches and honor (Prov. 8:18)
From everlasting (Prov. 8:23)	Understanding (Prov. 8:5)	The wise have fruit better than gold and silver (Prov. 8:19)
Before all things (Prov. 8:22–31)	Excellence (Prov. 8:6)	The wise are blessed (Prov. 8:32, 34)
	Truth (Prov. 8:7)	The wise find life (Prov. 8:35)
	Righteousness (Prov. 8:8)
	Knowledge (Prov. 8:12)
	Discretion (Prov. 8:12)
	Fear of the Lord (Prov. 8:13)

Note: Wisdom is personified in the Proverbs and acts as God's dynamic Word. In the New Testament Jesus is the Wisdom and Word of God.

31 Rejoicing in His inhabited world,
And my delight was with the sons of men.

32 "Now therefore, listen to me, my children,
For blessed are those who keep my ways.
33 Hear instruction and be wise,
And do not disdain it.
34 Blessed is the man who listens to me,
Watching daily at my gates,
Waiting at the posts of my doors.
35 For whoever finds me finds life,
And obtains favor from the LORD;
36 But he who sins against me wrongs his own soul;
All those who hate me love death."

The Way of Wisdom

9 Wisdom has built her house,
She has hewn out her seven pillars;
2 She has slaughtered her meat,
She has mixed her wine,
She has also furnished her table.
3 She has sent out her maidens,
She cries out from the highest places of the city,
4 "Whoever is simple, let him turn in here!"
As for him who lacks understanding, she says to him,
5 "Come, eat of my bread
And drink of the wine I have mixed.
6 Forsake foolishness and live,
And go in the way of understanding.

7 "He who corrects a scoffer gets shame for himself,
And he who rebukes a wicked man only harms himself.
8 Do not correct a scoffer, lest he hate you;
Rebuke a wise man, and he will love you.
9 Give instruction to a wise man, and he will be still wiser;

8:32–36 Wisdom's call is to discipleship. Following wisdom is an act of faithful and obedient service. This is reminiscent of Joshua's call to the people of Israel to serve the Lord and forsake other gods (Josh. 24:14, 15). Wisdom offers long-term satisfaction and leads to life, while folly, which brings immediate gratification, ultimately leads to death.

9:1–6 Wisdom prepares her home, as would a resourceful woman. The "house" is considered by some to be a reference to the world (Job 38:6; Ps. 104:5). The "seven pillars" are imagery describing the house (Prov. 9:1). Perhaps the number "seven" suggests that wisdom is essential for a perfect world (see chart, The Significance of Numbers in Scripture).

9:7–9 The wise accept rebuke, learn from it, and become even wiser. A scoffer will never accept correction and therefore cannot grow or change.

WISDOM PERSONIFIED

Wisdom, together with the virtuous wife (Prov. 31) and the adulteress of folly (Prov. 5—7), is one of the three dominant personifications in the Book of Proverbs. This literary device does not present a literal woman or goddess but is a means of picturing the contrast between good and evil and between wisdom and folly.

This divine attribute and activity is personified as a dignified and noble woman who is warm, caring, and competent. She offers life with long-term satisfaction (Prov. 1:33; 8:34, 35). In contrast, her rival or "counter-wisdom," called "folly" (Prov. 15:21), provides immediate gratification but ultimate ruin.

Wisdom pleads with her hearers, begging them to follow her and learn how to take their knowledge about God and apply it to their lives in a practical and successful way (Prov. 8:1–11). She sets forth her virtues and her rewards. She is incomparable, better than rubies (Prov. 8:11); her instructions more precious than silver and her knowledge exceeding the worth of choice gold (Prov. 8:10). Excellent things from her lips lead to life, and her followers are blessed materially and spiritually (Prov. 8:17–21).

After detailing why wisdom and not folly is the appropriate choice, Wisdom invites all who wish to sit at her banquet, to eat of the fruits of wisdom, to forsake foolishness, and to go in the way of life and understanding (Prov. 9:1–6). The shining and winsome godliness of Wisdom set against the dark and evil seductiveness of the adulteress shows the path of wisdom in all its beauty. Wisdom, in fact, foreshadows the divine wisdom found in Jesus Christ (see Col. 1:9, 16–18).

When women move away from Scripture as their sole authority and rather claim a collection of extra-biblical texts as authority in order to establish a biblical deity, they are reconstructing the basic foundation of theology itself. For example, to introduce goddess worship through creating a feminine deity named Wisdom or "Sophia" (a transliteration of the Greek word for "wisdom") is using language loosely in order to blur the distinction between the Word of God and pagan ritual. We must reject any union of Christianity and paganism. A careful look at Wisdom points directly to the God who names Himself by revealing to us who He is (Ex. 3:14).

And years of life will be added to you.
12 If you are wise, you are wise for yourself,
And if you scoff, you will bear it alone."

The Way of Folly

13 A foolish woman is clamorous;
She is simple, and knows nothing.
14 For she sits at the door of her house,
On a seat by the highest places of the city,
15 To call to those who pass by,
Who go straight on their way:
16 "Whoever is simple, let him turn in here";
And as for him who lacks understanding, she says to him,
17 "Stolen water is sweet,
And bread eaten in secret is pleasant."
18 But he does not know that the dead are there,
That her guests are in the depths of hell.[a]

Wise Sayings of Solomon

10 The proverbs of Solomon:

A wise son makes a glad father,
But a foolish son is the grief of his mother.

2 Treasures of wickedness profit nothing,
But righteousness delivers from death.

9:18 [a]Or Sheol

9:13–18 The foolish woman tries in secretive and deceptive ways to imitate wisdom in order to deceive all but those who are most discerning (v. 3). She is loud (v. 13); she is without discipline and void of knowledge (v. 13). Ignorance in Proverbs is a reference to the lack of moral understanding. She tries to convince the simple that only "stolen water," synonymous with an adulterous relationship, is exciting (v. 17). Many today have accepted this erroneous viewpoint that something gained unjustly and secretly is better. Such a life of folly runs contrary to God's plan of wisdom and inevitably will end in death (v. 18).

10:1—31:31 The theological groundwork of Proverbs 1—9 is ended, and what remains is the purely practical. The emphasis in chapters 10—31 is on the application of wisdom, on how to fear the Lord in daily life. Continuing with the theme of the righteous (wisdom) and the wicked (folly), these chapters contain short contrasting proverbs emphasizing the radical difference between the wise living of the righteous and the evil living of the wicked. In many cases, the second line of the verse begins with the word "but."

10:1 In this example of a contrasting proverb (see Prov. 10:1—31:31, note), the use of father in one line and mother in the

But he who refuses correction goes astray.

And whoever spreads slander is a fool.

But the expectation of the wicked will perish.
29 The way of the LORD is strength for the upright,
But destruction will come to the workers of iniquity.

30 The righteous will never be removed,
But the wicked will not inhabit the earth.
31 The mouth of the righteous brings forth wisdom,
But the perverse tongue will be cut out.
32 The lips of the righteous know what is acceptable,
But the mouth of the wicked what is perverse.

10:21 [a] Literally heart

other indicates that just as both parents are involved in teaching their children, both share in the joy and grief associated with parenting (see Prov. 1:8; 4:3, 4; 6:20).

10:11 The tongue is one of Solomon's favorite subjects (vv. 11, 13, 14, 18–21, 31, 32). What is said and how it is said are good indicators and measures of wisdom.

10:19 Silence brings healing. "Restrains his lips" (lit. "keeps a check on his tongue") confirms the adage that "the less said the better." Rabbinic sayings also address silence: "Silence is a healing for all ailments"; "Silence is good for the wise; how much more so for the foolish."

10:27 Proverbs are not necessarily promises or absolutes but guidelines (compare Ps. 73:12). Usually the righteous will live longer than the wicked because the lifestyle of the wise brings peace, security, and a lack of anxiety. These blessings of wisdom contribute to the wise person's health and longevity.

10:31 What a wonderful epitaph to have on a gravestone, "The mouth of this woman brought forth wisdom." The phrase "brings forth" (lit. "bears fruit") illustrates clearly that wisdom is a reflection of righteousness. Just as a tree naturally brings forth fruit of its own kind, so words of wisdom are a natural result of righteousness.

PARENTHOOD A GOD-GIVEN RESPONSIBILITY

Something must be incredibly basic, important, and possible in parenthood if being parents is part of the primary command God gave to the mother and father of the human race (Gen. 1:28). True, reproduction was necessary to continue the generations, but to see children as simply the by-product of a biological function is to miss completely the divine significance attached to parenthood (Ps. 127; 128).

God made us in His image (Gen. 1:27), and nothing reveals the true nature of His deity any more than God's loving creation of human life. How could man and woman more unambiguously reflect that characteristic of God than in their own loving procreation of a child?

The Bible contains clear principles for rearing children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.

- Parents are to demonstrate God's pattern for Christian marriage (1 Tim. 3:4, 12; Titus 2:1–5). A loving relationship between mother and father is a living object lesson for the child in how a husband and wife are to relate in marriage.
- Parents are responsible for teaching their children spiritual truths (Deut. 6:4–9; Ps. 78:1–8; 2 Tim. 1:3–5; Eph. 6:4). Such an important task cannot be left to the church and Christian school.
- Parents must lead their children to go God's way through loving and consistent discipline (Prov. 13:24; 19:18; 20:30; 22:15; Heb. 12:5–8, 11). This is not merely administering punishment but careful nurture to make "disciples" out of their children, teaching them how to live the Christian life by word and example.

11 Dishonest scales are an abomination to the LORD,
But a just weight is His delight.

2 When pride comes, then comes shame;
But with the humble is wisdom.

3 The integrity of the upright will guide them,
But the perversity of the unfaithful will destroy them.
4 Riches do not profit in the day of wrath,
But righteousness delivers from death.
5 The righteousness of the blameless will direct[a] his way aright,
But the wicked will fall by his own wickedness.
6 The righteousness of the upright will deliver them,
But the unfaithful will be caught by their lust.

7 When a wicked man dies, his expectation will perish,
And the hope of the unjust perishes.
8 The righteous is delivered from trouble,
And it comes to the wicked instead.
9 The hypocrite with his mouth destroys his neighbor,
But through knowledge the righteous will be delivered.
10 When it goes well with the righteous, the city rejoices;
And when the wicked perish, there is jubilation.
11 By the blessing of the upright the city is exalted,
But it is overthrown by the mouth of the wicked.

12 He who is devoid of wisdom despises his neighbor,
But a man of understanding holds his peace.

13 A talebearer reveals secrets,
But he who is of a faithful spirit conceals a matter.

14 Where there is no counsel, the people fall;
But in the multitude of counselors there is safety.

15 He who is surety for a stranger will suffer,
But one who hates being surety is secure.

11:5 [a]Or make smooth or straight

11:2 Self-centered pride brings disgrace to the person and dishonor to God. This theme is common in Proverbs. In contrast, the wise display humility. To be humble is to be submissive to God and to the authorities He places in your life (see Mic. 6:8).

11:13 The mouth is a destroyer of people and places (vv. 9, 11). One of the most terrible forms of destruction by the mouth is gossip (v. 13). The divulging of a secret by a "talebearer" (lit. "one who goes about in slander") is a betrayal of trust (Prov. 16:28; 17:9; 26:20–22).

11:14 Counsel (lit. "steering" or "guidance") carries the idea of giving wise direction on the course of life.

16 A gracious woman retains honor,
But ruthless men retain riches.
17 The merciful man does good for his own soul,
But he who is cruel troubles his own flesh.
18 The wicked man does deceptive work,
But he who sows righteousness will have a sure reward.
19 As righteousness leads to life,
So he who pursues evil pursues it to his own death.
20 Those who are of a perverse heart are an abomination to the LORD,
But the blameless in their ways are His delight.
21 Though they join forces,[a] the wicked will not go unpunished;
But the posterity of the righteous will be delivered.

22 As a ring of gold in a swine's snout,
So is a lovely woman who lacks discretion.

23 The desire of the righteous is only good,
But the expectation of the wicked is wrath.

24 There is one who scatters, yet increases more;
And there is one who withholds more than is right,
But it leads to poverty.
25 The generous soul will be made rich,
And he who waters will also be watered himself.
26 The people will curse him who withholds grain,
But blessing will be on the head of him who sells it.

27 He who earnestly seeks good finds favor,
But trouble will come to him who seeks evil.

28 He who trusts in his riches will fall,
But the righteous will flourish like foliage.

29 He who troubles his own house will inherit the wind,
And the fool will be servant to the wise of heart.

30 The fruit of the righteous is a tree of life,
And he who wins souls is wise.

31 If the righteous will be recompensed on the earth,
How much more the ungodly and the sinner.

12 Whoever loves instruction loves knowledge,
But he who hates correction is stupid.

2 A good man obtains favor from the LORD,
But a man of wicked intentions He will condemn.

3 A man is not established by wickedness,
But the root of the righteous cannot be moved.

4 An excellent[a] wife is the crown of her husband,
But she who causes shame is like rottenness in his bones.

5 The thoughts of the righteous are right,
But the counsels of the wicked are deceitful.
6 The words of the wicked are, "Lie in wait for blood,"
But the mouth of the upright will deliver them.

7 The wicked are overthrown and are no more,
But the house of the righteous will stand.

8 A man will be commended according to his wisdom,

11:21 [a]Literally hand to hand 12:4 [a]Literally A wife of valor

11:16 A gracious woman is described by contrasting the quiet victories of a beautiful character, which are honor and approval, with the ruthless victories won by force, which consist in making and holding riches. Women of commendable character are mentioned elsewhere (Prov. 12:4; 14:1; 19:14; 31:10–31; see also chart, Biblical Manhood and Womanhood).

11:22 The women of Israel wore nose rings as ornaments in the same way that women wear earrings and finger rings (see Ex. 28, Jewelry). The swine were considered unclean animals, thus making the example of a ring of gold in a pig's nose ludicrous. A gold ring could not beautify a dirty pig. Similarly, to suppose that a woman's physical beauty can cover her lack of discretion (or moral perception) is ridiculous. Outward beauty with indiscreet conduct has no value and actually turns beauty into ugliness (see Prov. 4, Beauty).

12:4 A wife affects her husband. She either becomes a crown to him or brings him to ruin like a horrible disease that weakens the body. "Excellent" (Heb. chayil, lit. "strength") can also be understood as a reference to moral character. This wife possesses a strong and virtuous character. She is a woman of ability and worth. "Crown" suggests that this wife of quality enables her husband to realize his potential. Because of her character and resourcefulness, her husband is greatly admired by others (see Prov. 31:10; Ruth 3:11). In contrast is the woman who puts her husband to shame before the world. While the wife of quality helps her husband reach the fullness of his abilities, the shameful wife will drag her husband down all his days, and he will never command respect nor win influence in the community. To have such a wife is like enduring an infestation of maggots in the bones. It is a horrible irritant and a fatal disease.

12:5 Thoughts may break into words at any time! We eventually become that on which we allow our minds to dwell (Prov. 23:7). The apostle Paul encouraged us to dwell on the positive, good, lovely, excellent, and praiseworthy (Phil. 4:8, 9).

EDUCATION STUDYING WITH HIM

The Lord is our ultimate Teacher (Ex. 4:15; Ps. 25:8, 9, 12); we are His students (Job 6:24). The first and foremost textbook is to be His Word—His commandments, the inspired account of the life of Jesus, and the divine revelation of the Holy Spirit (Prov. 6:23; Luke 12:12; John 14:26). The curriculum includes:

- Fear of the Lord (Ps. 34:11–14)—His laws and the outworking of those laws;
- His truth (Ps. 86:11)—the nature of the Lord and His promises to us;
- Right judgment (Is. 28:26)—the ability to distinguish between good and evil, right and wrong;
- The way to profit from His blessings (Is. 48:17–19) and to be in a position to receive all His benefits, including peace, righteousness, and righteous children;
- The difference between what is holy and unholy (Ezek. 44:23, 24)—how to discern what is of God;
- Wisdom (James 1:5)—the way in which to live in good relationship with both God and man.

We as students are to be humble (Ps. 25:9), eager to learn (Prov. 12:1), and obedient (2 Tim. 3:14). We are to share generously our worldly goods with those who teach us God's Word (Gal. 6:6). We are to remember His lessons and diligently do what He has taught us to do (Deut. 4:9). Above all, we are to learn with our wills as well as with our minds. We are to live out, not simply know, His laws.

But he who is of a perverse heart will be despised.

9 Better is the one who is slighted but has a servant,
Than he who honors himself but lacks bread.

10 A righteous man regards the life of his animal,
But the tender mercies of the wicked are cruel.

11 He who tills his land will be satisfied with bread,
But he who follows frivolity is devoid of understanding.[a]

12 The wicked covet the catch of evil men,
But the root of the righteous yields fruit.
13 The wicked is ensnared by the transgression of his lips,
But the righteous will come through trouble.
14 A man will be satisfied with good by the fruit of his mouth,
And the recompense of a man's hands will be rendered to him.

15 The way of a fool is right in his own eyes,
But he who heeds counsel is wise.

16 A fool's wrath is known at once,
But a prudent man covers shame.

17 He who speaks truth declares righteousness,
But a false witness, deceit.
18 There is one who speaks like the piercings of a
sword,
But the tongue of the wise promotes health.
19 The truthful lip shall be established forever,
But a lying tongue is but for a moment.
20 Deceit is in the heart of those who devise evil,
But counselors of peace have joy.
21 No grave trouble will overtake the righteous,
But the wicked shall be filled with evil.
22 Lying lips are an abomination to the LORD,
But those who deal truthfully are His delight.

23 A prudent man conceals knowledge,
But the heart of fools proclaims foolishness.

24 The hand of the diligent will rule,
But the lazy man will be put to forced labor.

25 Anxiety in the heart of man causes depression,
But a good word makes it glad.

12:11 [a] Literally heart

12:12–15 Words, as deeds, bear fruit. Words can bring satisfaction when they are wise or disaster when they are unwise. Wicked words will trap a woman or man.

12:17–22 Words heal or hurt. "Piercings," containing the notion of the quick thrustings of a sword (v. 18), is a fitting picture for the verb "speak" (Heb. batah, lit. "speak rashly or unadvisedly," v. 18; see Ps. 106:33). Once spoken, words cannot be taken back. Jesus said that each man and woman will be accountable for every carelessly spoken word (Matt. 12:36, 37). If Jesus was so concerned about careless words, what would He think of rash words that thrust like a sword? The contrast in this verse is shown in the wonderful healing power of the words of the wise.

12:25 Good words help someone want to be a better person, even when life is tough. God tells us to cast all our cares on Him (1 Pet. 5:7) and not to be anxious (Phil. 4:6). Yet how uplifting it is in the midst of a trial to hear a word of encouragement! Encouragement stirs up, provokes, incites people in a given direction.

THE ROD OF DISCIPLINE

PURPOSE	GUIDELINES
• To express loving parental concern (Prov. 13:24) • To offer hope for the most effective development of the child (Prov. 19:18) • To cleanse the child of willfulness and disobedience (Prov. 20:30) • To drive out foolishness, which in Proverbs is the opposite of wisdom and centers in the spiritual realm (Prov. 20:30; 22:15) • To break the rebellious heart and deliver the child from eternal punishment (Prov. 23:13, 14) • To teach (Prov. 10:13; 29:15) • To give a parent rest and satisfaction (Prov. 29:17) • To underscore the responsibility of the individual for personal attitudes, actions, and reactions (Ps. 53:3; Jer. 17:10; Ezek. 18:4, 20; Rom. 3:10, 23; 14:12; Col. 3:25)	• Administer "promptly" before behavior patterns become set (Prov. 13:24) • Temper firmness with tenderness (Prov. 4:3; 15:32) • Explain clearly the offense for which the child is being punished (Prov. 4:4, 11) • Reflect grief with the child for his act of disobedience (Prov. 17:25; Jer. 4:18, 22; Matt. 23:37; Heb. 3:10, 17) • Remain with the child until the fellowship and the relationship have been restored (Ps. 51:7–12) • Avoid unnecessary severity (Eph. 6:4)

[26]The righteous should choose his friends carefully,
For the way of the wicked leads them astray.

[27]The lazy man does not roast what he took in hunting,
But diligence is man's precious possession.

[28]In the way of righteousness is life,
And in its pathway there is no death.

13 A wise son heeds his father's instruction,
But a scoffer does not listen to rebuke.

[2]A man shall eat well by the fruit of his mouth,
But the soul of the unfaithful feeds on violence.
[3]He who guards his mouth preserves his life,
But he who opens wide his lips shall have destruction.

[4]The soul of a lazy man desires, and has nothing;
But the soul of the diligent shall be made rich.

[5]A righteous man hates lying,
But a wicked man is loathsome and comes to shame.
[6]Righteousness guards him whose way is blameless,
But wickedness overthrows the sinner.

[7]There is one who makes himself rich, yet has
nothing;
And one who makes himself poor, yet has great riches.

[8]The ransom of a man's life is his riches,
But the poor does not hear rebuke.

[9]The light of the righteous rejoices,
But the lamp of the wicked will be put out.

[10]By pride comes nothing but strife,
But with the well-advised is wisdom.

[11]Wealth gained by dishonesty will be diminished,
But he who gathers by labor will increase.

[12]Hope deferred makes the heart sick,
But when the desire comes, it is a tree of life.

13:7 Money is only a small ingredient of both wealth and poverty. A person may be rich in material goods but have nothing of wisdom. In Proverbs, "great riches" are not measured by money (see Prov. 8:1–36, note).

13:12 Hope deferred (lit. "long drawn out" or "delayed in fulfillment") can cause disappointment and depression in body and spirit. The realization of hope gives encouragement just

INHERITANCE PASSING IT ON

Every home should provide a storehouse of happy memories. God knows us even before we are formed. Aunts, uncles, grandparents, and parents should be challenged to link hand and heart to provide a vital, living example of what true Christianity is all about (Ps. 78:4–6).

God's plan is for godly heritage to begin before birth. The privileges and blessings of the extended family provide untold blessings. The influence of grandparents in forming values and character cannot be underestimated. The valuable advice of parents, the care and concern of brothers and sisters, the influence of all the family members on the children is vitally important to the development of godly character in a child.

The unique privileges and tremendous responsibility of providing influence and atmosphere are not confined to the walls of the parental home. The potential influence of a faithful grandparent and God-fearing parent is unending. Principles and precepts are shared in the family's faith journey from generation to generation by parents, grandparents, and great-grandparents—the godly men and women who make up our spiritual heritage (Deut. 5:29) and who consider the "passing on" of the instructions given to Moses a priority (Deut. 6:6, 7). Such a spiritual inheritance will outlive its own generation, bringing strength and joy to our children's children as they experience ups and downs, difficulties, problems, and, of course, the faithfulness of God.

Deuteronomy 6 directs parents to pass along their spiritual heritage throughout the course of any given day—when working in the kitchen, carpooling to school, sitting around the breakfast table, or watching TV in the evenings. There are no set times or specific locations to pass on our values and spiritual legacy. This passage implies a lifestyle modeling and discussion of those things that are deeply important to us. If these values are not woven through the everyday cloth of normal life, then the fabric of life is weak indeed.

Our task is not to showcase perfect families within our communities but rather to allow an unbelieving world to see ordinary families struggling with real issues, yet finding strength and wisdom in a loving, sufficient Savior.

13 He who despises the word will be destroyed,
But he who fears the commandment will be rewarded.
14 The law of the wise is a fountain of life,
To turn one away from the snares of death.

15 Good understanding gains favor,
But the way of the unfaithful is hard.
16 Every prudent man acts with knowledge,
But a fool lays open his folly.

17 A wicked messenger falls into trouble,
But a faithful ambassador brings health.

18 Poverty and shame will come to him who disdains correction,
But he who regards a rebuke will be honored.

19 A desire accomplished is sweet to the soul,
But it is an abomination to fools to depart from evil.

20 He who walks with wise men will be wise,
But the companion of fools will be destroyed.

21 Evil pursues sinners,
But to the righteous, good shall be repaid.

22 A good man leaves an inheritance to his children's children,
But the wealth of the sinner is stored up for the righteous.

23 Much food is in the fallow ground of the poor,
And for lack of justice there is waste.[a]

24 He who spares his rod hates his son,
But he who loves him disciplines him promptly.

25 The righteous eats to the satisfying of his soul,
But the stomach of the wicked shall be in want.

13:23 [a]Literally what is swept away like a tree that gives life. It brings new vitality to the body and the spirit.

13:24 God disciplines His children, and earthly parents are instructed to do the same (Prov. 3:11, 12; 22:6, note; Heb. 12:5, 6). Loving parents inflict temporary discomfort on their children to keep them from the long-range tragedy that inevitably accompanies lives without discipline. God disciplines us for our good that we might share His holiness and learn to live wisely and righteously (Heb. 12:10, 11). Parents discipline their children for these same reasons (see Prov. 22, Children). The method of discipline mentioned in this verse and throughout Proverbs is spanking with a "rod" (Heb. shevet; see chart, The Rod of Discipline). "Hates" is used figuratively in the sense that refusal to discipline a child is to act as his enemy. Over-

But he who is perverse in his ways despises Him.

But the lips of the wise will preserve them.

But much increase comes by the strength of an ox.

But a false witness will utter lies.

6 A scoffer seeks wisdom and does not find it,
But knowledge is easy to him who understands.
7 Go from the presence of a foolish man,
When you do not perceive in him the lips of knowledge.
8 The wisdom of the prudent is to understand his way,
But the folly of fools is deceit.

9 Fools mock at sin,
But among the upright there is favor.

10 The heart knows its own bitterness,
And a stranger does not share its joy.

But the tent of the upright will flourish.

But its end is the way of death.

And the end of mirth may be grief.

14 The backslider in heart will be filled with his own ways,
But a good man will be satisfied from above.[a]

But the prudent considers well his steps.

But the rich has many friends.

But he who has mercy on the poor, happy is he.

But mercy and truth belong to those who devise good.

23 In all labor there is profit,
But idle chatter[a] leads only to poverty.

24 The crown of the wise is their riches,
But the foolishness of fools is folly.

25 A true witness delivers souls,
But a deceitful witness speaks lies.

14:14 [a]Literally from above himself 14:23 [a]Literally talk of the lips looking faults, ignoring disobedience, and refusing to administer discipline does not influence a child to go the right way but rather allows the child's self-will to gain control over life and actions (Prov. 1:31; 3:5, 6; 12:15; 16:9, 25; 19:18, note; 21:2; 30:12). Love is the balance and tempering force in discipline. Love is always to be the greatest motivation for discipline (see Prov. 29:17).

14:1 A wise woman builds. The fact that this woman is called "wise" indicates that she fears and reverences the Lord. She conscientiously builds her house, making her entire household thrive, because she has learned that wisdom brings the happiness and prosperity she desires for her family. The wise woman cares for her home, causing it to flourish and become a haven to those who live there. She builds her home by making wise choices in her relationships with her husband and children. She works on her marriage, knowing that intimacy does not happen naturally but must be developed. All building takes time, picturing brick set on brick until a sturdy safe home is constructed. In contrast, the foolish woman does not build. She tears down both her possessions and her relationships. She destroys by her own efforts—with her hands, her tongue, her idleness, and her lack of interest.

14:4 Where there is no progress, there are no problems. Some disturbance is necessary for growth and accomplishment to occur.

14:12 The right way. The figure is that of a journey, in which the traveler imagines that he is pursuing a straight path that will lead him to his desired goal of success and happiness. Sin is often able to hide its own character and disguise its bitter end. He finds, too late, that the easy path leads to an early death. Human wisdom (folly) is the "way of death" (see Eccl. 1:12—12:8), the path that a person determines to be right, without regard for God. The path of life is submissive obedience to the will of the Lord. That is true wisdom (see Prov. 1:7; 9:10).

14:14 The backslider (lit. "proven to be unfaithful") is a person who has turned away from God in his heart and instead is seeking his own way. Sadly, he will reap what he sows (Gal. 6:7). He will never find true satisfaction.

GRACIOUSNESS — A COMPLEMENT TO BEAUTY

A gracious spirit enhances a woman's demeanor, while a selfish heart tarnishes her appearance and limits her effectiveness. The word "gracious" is used to describe God Himself (Ex. 34:6; Neh. 9:17; Ps. 111:4).

Abigail was a gracious woman. She realized and accepted her husband's weak habits (1 Sam. 25:23–31). She poised herself before David with respect, kindness, and courtesy. Yet in so doing she showed deference to her husband and others by taking upon herself responsibility for the lack of hospitality.

The Moabitess Ruth was a quiet woman whose perseverance complemented her beauty. She was gracious to her mother-in-law even when Naomi was absorbed in bitterness and self-pity (Ruth 2:2). Her strong character and gracious manner were eventually rewarded with a devoted husband and important offspring (4:13).

Having experienced God's forgiveness and love should increase a woman's sensitivity to another's needs. A condescending or resentful attitude does not exemplify graciousness. Believers are challenged to be gracious, kind, merciful, and forgiving (Neh. 9:17).

A Christian reflects God's kingdom by words spoken. Wise words are gracious, but foolish words are damaging (Eccl. 10:12). Believers are also admonished to speak with kindness and truth (Col. 3:12, 13). Words can scar the heart and forever damage a reputation and relationship. To possess graciousness is to showcase His love and channel His care to a needy world.

As an end in itself, graciousness or charm is merely a pleasing manner which has been developed through painstaking determination to do certain things in order to win the favor of family and friends. In other words, it is an outward polish or refinement. However, if this graciousness is the fruit of godly character, springing from a heart committed to the Lord, then such charm becomes a tool for drawing others to the Savior and for service to Christ in the kingdom. Such a "gracious" woman retains a great honor.

26 In the fear of the LORD there is strong confidence,
And His children will have a place of refuge.
27 The fear of the LORD is a fountain of life,

28 In a multitude of people is a king's honor,
But in the lack of people is the downfall of a prince.

29 He who is slow to wrath has great understanding,
But he who is impulsive[a] exalts folly.

30 A sound heart is life to the body,
But envy is rottenness to the bones.

31 He who oppresses the poor reproaches his Maker,
But he who honors Him has mercy on the needy.

But the righteous has a refuge in his death.

But what is in the heart of fools is made known.
34 Righteousness exalts a nation,
But sin is a reproach to any people.

But a harsh word stirs up anger.
2 The tongue of the wise uses knowledge rightly,

14:29 [a]Literally short of spirit

14:26, 27 The fear of the Lord brings blessing (Prov. 1:7; 9:10), including a "strong confidence" (security) and a "fountain of life" (source of spiritual vitality). With wisdom, there is refuge in the Lord and escape from death. The children, too, will learn from their mother and father the benefits of a wise life lived in reverence before God.

14:29 Patience is evidence of wisdom, but the "impulsive" (lit. "short of spirit" or "impatient"), quick-tempered person shows folly. Patience produces increased wisdom, that is, the "righteousness of God" (James 1:19, 20).

14:30 A sound heart could be translated as a "healthy, tranquil mind" (see Prov. 4:20–27; note). A healthy mind produces a healthy body. But envy destroys physical health (see Phil. 4:11–13).

15:1–33 A woman's words, the tongue that speaks them, and the heart that chooses them reveal much about her (vv. 2, 4,

7 The lips of the wise disperse knowledge,
But the heart of the fool does not do so.

8 The sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination
to the LORD,
But the prayer of the upright is His delight.
9 The way of the wicked is an abomination to the
LORD,
But He loves him who follows righteousness.

10 Harsh discipline is for him who forsakes the
way,
And he who hates correction will die.

11 Hell[a] and Destruction[b] are before the LORD;
So how much more the hearts of the sons of men.

12 A scoffer does not love one who corrects him,
Nor will he go to the wise.

13 A merry heart makes a cheerful countenance,
But by sorrow of the heart the spirit is broken.

14 The heart of him who has understanding seeks knowledge,
But the mouth of fools feeds on foolishness.

15 All the days of the afflicted are evil,
But he who is of a merry heart has a continual feast.

16 Better is a little with the fear of the LORD,
Than great treasure with trouble.
17 Better is a dinner of herbs[a] where love is,
Than a fatted calf with hatred.

18 A wrathful man stirs up strife,
But he who is slow to anger allays contention.

19 The way of the lazy man is like a hedge of thorns,
But the way of the upright is a highway.

20 A wise son makes a father glad,
But a foolish man despises his mother.

21 Folly is joy to him who is destitute of discernment,
But a man of understanding walks uprightly.

22 Without counsel, plans go awry,
But in the multitude of counselors they are established.

23 A man has joy by the answer of his mouth,
And a word spoken in due season, how good it is!

24 The way of life winds upward for the wise,
That he may turn away from hell[a] below.

25 The LORD will destroy the house of the proud,
But He will establish the boundary of the widow.

26 The thoughts of the wicked are an abomination
to the LORD,
But the words of the pure are pleasant.

15:11 [a]Or Sheol [b]Hebrew Abaddon 15:17 [a]Or vegetables 15:24 [a]Or Sheol

7, 14, 23, 26, 28). An ideal of conduct is urged in the comments on how we should say what we say (v. 1). A soft answer is a conciliatory answer, often relieving a tense situation by dissolving a person's anger. Such responses require kindness, self-control, patience, love, peace—all the fruit of the Spirit (see Gal. 5, Fruit of the Spirit).

15:13–15 Attitude is an inward feeling expressed by outward behavior. Attitude can be seen without the speaking of a word. Attitude can produce a "merry" (lit. "joyful" or "cheerful") face (v. 13). Attitudes also color a person's whole experience (v. 15)! Happiness and depression are issues of the heart. What a person is on the inside has more impact on his emotional state than the circumstances.

15:17 Lavish hospitality is not necessarily an indication of goodwill. Behind the stimulating conversation of a good host-ess may lie ulterior motives. A simple meal with love, honesty, and true fellowship is far better than a sumptuous feast amid wealth with hatred (see 1 Pet. 4, Hospitality; chart, Hospitality or Entertainment).

15:25 God cares for the woman who is alone. He is the champion of the defenseless and will secure the land belonging to the widow (see Ps. 68, Widowhood). Land was kept in a family, and its boundaries were important. A widow was easy prey to thieves who might steal her land; so the Lord promised that He would protect her boundaries. God did this for Naomi when He provided Ruth as a dutiful daughter-in-law and established her borders in Israel (Ruth 1:7–18; 4:14–17). The contrast is between the proud and humble. The proud woman would depend on her own resources, but the widow (usually in humble circumstances) would depend on the Lord.

ENVY DISCONTENT WITH WHAT YOU HAVE

Envy begins when contentment is interrupted by an awareness of the advantages enjoyed by another followed by the determination to seize such advantage—whether in social standing, material possessions, or personal praise (Gen. 26:14; 30:1; Ps. 73:3). To want what others have has become a part of our culture of abundant things accompanied by the expectation that life should continually escalate to something better, easier, and more affluent.

Scripture says that envy co-exists with "every evil thing." Envy is commonly included in the New Testament vice list, and the list is ugly: striving, self-seeking, malice, deceit, hypocrisy, and evil speaking (Phil. 1:15; James 3:14–16; 1 Pet. 2:1–3). Envy is a disastrous emotion because it displaces our trust that God knows best and will supply our needs.

Even a Christian woman is capable of envying the good that others have received from God—whether a leadership position, spiritual power, family relationships (especially children), or spiritual gifts. In so doing, she generally fails to reach her own potential in Christ Jesus. In seeking more that does not rightfully belong to her, she actually is diminished, a state described in Scripture as "leanness [of] soul" and "rottenness to the bones" (Ps. 106:13–15; Prov. 14:30).

You escape envy only by giving your desires to God so that He might satisfy them in His timing and by His methods. When you do so, you find that the love of God transforms your emotions. Contentment with what you have and in whatever state you find yourself replaces envy (Phil. 4:11). You will receive a new long-range perspective of what is really important.

27 He who is greedy for gain troubles his own house,
But he who hates bribes will live.

28 The heart of the righteous studies how to answer,
But the mouth of the wicked pours forth evil.

29 The LORD is far from the wicked,
But He hears the prayer of the righteous.

30 The light of the eyes rejoices the heart,
And a good report makes the bones healthy.[a]

31 The ear that hears the rebukes of life
Will abide among the wise.
32 He who disdains instruction despises his own soul,
But he who heeds rebuke gets understanding.

33 The fear of the LORD is the instruction of wisdom,
And before honor is humility.

16 The preparations of the heart belong to man,
But the answer of the tongue is from the LORD.

2 All the ways of a man are pure in his own eyes,
But the LORD weighs the spirits.

3 Commit your works to the LORD,
And your thoughts will be established.

4 The LORD has made all for Himself,
Yes, even the wicked for the day of doom.

15:30 [a]Literally fat

15:28 To open our mouths with wisdom requires study. The wise person ponders and thinks carefully by studying other people, the situation, and the impact of the potential words before answering. In contrast, a foolish person gushes out evil words like the water that bubbles forth out of a spring.

16:1—22:16 Wise living was emphasized by contrast using the key word "but" (Prov. 10—15; see Prov. 10:1—31:31, note). Beginning in Proverbs 16, wise living is encouraged by the use of the word "and." For example, "pride goes before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall" (Prov. 16:18).

16:1–9 Dependence on God is the crucial ingredient for the outworking of the wisdom of Proverbs in life (Prov. 1:7; 3:5, 6; 9:10). God is the blessed controller of all things (1 Tim. 6:15). He is sovereign with absolute authority and power (Prov. 16:33). These verses emphasize God's role as sovereign King of the universe. We may make plans, but the answers are from God (v. 1). We think our ways are pure, but God weighs the motives of each one of us (v. 2). We may commit our works to the Lord, but God establishes the plans (v. 3). God has made everything for His own purpose (v. 4). We may plan the way but God directs each step (v. 9). What appears to be chance in reality is part of God's sovereign plan (v. 33).

16:3 Commit (lit. "roll" or "roll away") carries the idea that each woman should roll her efforts or roll away her burdens on the Lord. The Lord already clearly has charge of them (1 Pet. 5:7).

16:4 God's sovereignty is shown in the way He has shaped the world. The mysteries of God's sovereign plan are obviously

5 Everyone proud in heart is an abomination to the LORD;
Though they join forces,[a] none will go unpunished.

6 In mercy and truth
Atonement is provided for iniquity;
And by the fear of the LORD one departs from evil.

7 When a man's ways please the LORD,
He makes even his enemies to be at peace with him.

8 Better is a little with righteousness,
Than vast revenues without justice.

9 A man's heart plans his way,
But the LORD directs his steps.

10 Divination is on the lips of the king;
His mouth must not transgress in judgment.
11 Honest weights and scales are the LORD's;
All the weights in the bag are His work.
12 It is an abomination for kings to commit wickedness,
For a throne is established by righteousness.
13 Righteous lips are the delight of kings,
And they love him who speaks what is right.
14 As messengers of death is the king's wrath,
But a wise man will appease it.
15 In the light of the king's face is life,
And his favor is like a cloud of the latter rain.

16 How much better to get wisdom than gold!
And to get understanding is to be chosen rather than silver.

17 The highway of the upright is to depart from evil;
He who keeps his way preserves his soul.

18 Pride goes before destruction,
And a haughty spirit before a fall.

19 Better to be of a humble spirit with the lowly,
Than to divide the spoil with the proud.

20 He who heeds the word wisely will find good,
And whoever trusts in the LORD, happy is he.

21 The wise in heart will be called prudent,
And sweetness of the lips increases learning.

22 Understanding is a wellspring of life to him who has it.
But the correction of fools is folly.

23 The heart of the wise teaches his mouth,
And adds learning to his lips.

24 Pleasant words are like a honeycomb,
Sweetness to the soul and health to the bones.

25 There is a way that seems right to a man,
But its end is the way of death.

26 The person who labors, labors for himself,
For his hungry mouth drives him on.

27 An ungodly man digs up evil,
And it is on his lips like a burning fire.
28 A perverse man sows strife,
And a whisperer separates the best of friends.
29 A violent man entices his neighbor,
And leads him in a way that is not good.
30 He winks his eye to devise perverse things;
He purses his lips and brings about evil.

31 The silver-haired head is a crown of glory,
If it is found in the way of righteousness.

32 He who is slow to anger is better than the mighty,
And he who rules his spirit than he who takes a city.

33 The lot is cast into the lap,
But its every decision is from the LORD.

16:5 [a]Literally hand to hand

beyond our comprehension and, sometimes, our inclinations. Theologians often categorize the will of God into two broad aspects, His effective or directive will, which encompasses His plan to produce certain events by means of His own power, and His permissive will, which is defined as His willingness to allow certain events. Both aspects of His will are equally certain, and He is always sovereign over all. The success of evil and existence of suffering are part of a fallen world. We must be cautious not to expect our earthly perspectives to overshadow or dictate heavenly purposes. The Lord "made" the wicked in the sense that in His plan He allowed evil. However, all will ultimately conform to His good and loving purpose (see Acts 2:23; Rom. 8:28–39). God's judgment of sin reveals His justice as well as His sovereignty.

16:18 The sin of pride is strongly condemned because it violates the first principle of wisdom, which is to fear the Lord. Our abilities, appearance, success, and wealth are not of our own efforts and energy but come from God. The sin of pride is attributing to ourselves that which comes by the mercy and will of God.

16:32 Having strength over tempers is honored above physical strength. The "mighty" man (lit. "strong and valiant") subdues his might and exercises self-control. This was an unbelievable statement in a place and time when military might was greatly admired and when safety and security depended on might in warfare. Being able to conquer temperament is more highly prized than conquering a city!

HUMOR A TIME TO LAUGH

The psalmist declares that God Himself sits in the heavens and laughs (Ps. 2:4), and the writer of Proverbs describes the "woman of strength" as one who rejoices (lit. "laughs at") times to come (Prov. 31:25). Life can become taxing at times, and moments come when we desperately need a change. Laughter is one way the Creator gave us to switch gears and punctuate monotony with joy. Humor is an exit from the mundane "road of life." Laughter is a simple yet reasonable prescription for some of life's ills and most of its tedium (Prov. 17:22). Physicians have assigned healing properties to humor, especially in cases of mental illness, such as depression. Certainly humor defuses tensions and helps put at ease.

With so much tragedy in life, choosing humor instead of despair is good scriptural advice. Humor generally involves an acceptance of the ups and downs of life and the determination not to take ourselves too seriously. To combat stress, to relieve tension, and even to provide delightful diversion in the midst of trials and sufferings, laughter and a keen sense of humor may prove to be precious possessions.

Jesus Himself was unpredictable and witty and full of life in His responses. He used irony, word play, and hyperbole to get across His messages (see Matt. 22:15–22, in which Jesus cleverly eludes the trap of the Pharisees and unmasks their hypocrisy). Jesus asks a Pharisee for a coin with an image of Caesar and an inscription proclaiming Caesar to be god, knowing that to carry such a coin was breaking two commandments (Ex. 20:3, 4).

At the end of life's road we may all end up in the same place someday, but because of laughter along the way, some will have enjoyed the journey and arrived more refreshed.

He who is glad at calamity will not go unpunished.

11 An evil man seeks only rebellion;
Therefore a cruel messenger will be sent against him.

12 Let a man meet a bear robbed of her cubs,
Rather than a fool in his folly.

13 Whoever rewards evil for good,
Evil will not depart from his house.

14 The beginning of strife is like releasing water;
Therefore stop contention before a quarrel starts.

17:1 [a]Or sacrificial meals

17:1 Peace and contentment within are more important than material possessions. A home full of anger, however elegant, is a place of misery.

17:9 Gossip destroys friendship. Silence is never more golden than when one refuses to discuss the weaknesses of a friend (see Prov. 11:13; 18:8, notes; 25, Gossip).

17:14 A quarrel begins like a tiny hole in a reservoir that releases only a trickle of water. If not stopped, however, the trickle becomes a flood. An issue of conflict should be dropped before a dispute can even begin; nothing should be allowed to fester. This excellent advice will keep peace in all relationships.

GOD ANSWERS DIFFICULT QUESTIONS

YOUR QUESTION	HIS ANSWER
Where was God when this happened to me?	He was there—He sees everything (Prov. 15:3).
Didn't He care?	Yes, He did and still does (Nah. 1:7; 1 Pet. 5:6, 7).
How could a loving God allow this to happen?	God gave His creations freedom of choice. He did not make people like puppets (Deut. 30:15–20).
Does the Lord understand how I feel?	Yes, more than anyone (Is. 53:3; Heb. 4:15).
Is recovery possible?	With God all things are possible (Matt. 19:26). Yes, He wants to bring healing to you (Jer. 17:14).
How can I be healed?	Trust God to be faithful to His Word (Ps. 18:25).
Where do I begin?	God hears you—confess your hurt (Ps. 34:17, 18). Give your hurt to Him (1 Pet. 5:7). Forgive the one who has grieved you (Col. 3:13).
Isn't forgiveness difficult?	Yes, but what God commands you to do, He will equip you to do (1 Thess. 5:24). Realize that God has forgiven you (Eph. 4:32).
Then what do I do?	Don't take revenge—God will deal with the violator (Rom. 12:19). Let go—move on with life (Is. 43:18, 19). Look for the good that will come out of the bad (Rom. 8:28).
When will I heal?	Healing of deep hurt takes time (Eccl. 3:3). It is a process of: • facing the harm (Ps. 51:6). • acknowledging your feelings (Eccl. 3:4–8). • applying God's truth from His Word (Ps. 107:20).

15 He who justifies the wicked, and he who condemns the just,
Both of them alike are an abomination to the LORD.

16 Why is there in the hand of a fool the purchase price of wisdom,
Since he has no heart for it?

17 A friend loves at all times,
And a brother is born for adversity.

18 A man devoid of understanding shakes hands in a pledge,
And becomes surety for his friend.

19 He who loves transgression loves strife,
And he who exalts his gate seeks destruction.

20 He who has a deceitful heart finds no good,
And he who has a perverse tongue falls into evil.

21 He who begets a scoffer does so to his sorrow,
And the father of a fool has no joy.

17:17 A true friend, like a brother, loves "at all times," in joy and sorrow, sickness and health, when communication is easy and when communication requires hard work. "At all times" means there are no times when one does not love a friend. A genuine friend multiplies the joys and divides the sorrows (Eccl. 4:9–12, note; see Luke 1, Friendship).

17:21 Foolish sons and daughters bring bitterness, grief, sorrow, and a lack of joy to parents. "Scoffer" refers to one who is dull and thickheaded, while "fool" refers to one who lacks spiritual perception and sensitivity. The child with such characteristics brings sorrow and brokenness to the parents (see also v. 25).

COMMUNICATION EXCHANGING IDEAS

Communication is the exchange of ideas and information by talk, gestures, or writing. It is an active process present in all meaningful relationships. Communication is not only talking but also listening, looking, and feeling. Though individuals have different communication styles, spiritually mature believers are to seek continually to improve their communication with other people and with God.

Speech is powerful. The spoken word can either encourage or discourage. Scripture teaches believers to control the tongue (James 3:1–12) and speak only words of kindness (Eph. 4:29, 32). The Book of Proverbs discusses the importance of listening with understanding to others who speak (Prov. 11:12; 18:2, 13; 29:20).

Words alone cannot fully express meaning. Body language, facial expression, tone of voice, and other means of nonverbal communication are essentials for effectiveness. Those who study communication patterns have concluded that two-thirds of the intent of a message is communicated non-verbally, while only one-third of the message is communicated through words.

Obviously, communication is more than conveying information. Women especially use communication to express feelings more than facts, to establish rapport more than to give a report.

Paul underscores the significance of communication and gives advice about verbal behavior (Eph. 4:25–32). Christians are to

- speak the truth in love (vv. 15, 25),
- control angry words (v. 26),
- speak words of encouragement and healing (v. 29),
- avoid unkind or bitter speech (v. 29),
- speak words of forgiveness (v. 32).

Mature believers realize that clear, loving communication is important in conveying the message of salvation effectively.

22 A merry heart does good, like medicine,[a]
But a broken spirit dries the bones.

23 A wicked man accepts a bribe behind the back[a]
To pervert the ways of justice.

24 Wisdom is in the sight of him who has understanding,
But the eyes of a fool are on the ends of the earth.

25 A foolish son is a grief to his father,
And bitterness to her who bore him.

26 Also, to punish the righteous is not good,
Nor to strike princes for their uprightness.

27 He who has knowledge spares his words,
And a man of understanding is of a calm spirit.
28 Even a fool is counted wise when he holds his peace;
When he shuts his lips, he is considered perceptive.

18 A man who isolates himself seeks his own desire;
He rages against all wise judgment.

2 A fool has no delight in understanding,
But in expressing his own heart.

3 When the wicked comes, contempt comes also;
And with dishonor comes reproach.

17:22 [a]Or makes medicine even better 17:23 [a]Literally from the bosom

17:22 Inner-life affects physical well-being; attitude affects countenance (Prov. 15:13, 15, 30; 18:14). A broken, depressed spirit may be attributed to many things: family strife (v. 1), gossip (v. 9), quarrels (v. 14), or a foolish child (vv. 21, 25). How can you have a "merry heart" in the midst of grief and brokenness? The apostle Paul admonished us to trust God even within the tragedy and choose to dwell on what is good in the person or situation (Phil. 4:6–9).

18:1—19:29 Pleasing the Lord in our interactions with others is the subject of these two chapters. These principles are applicable in our relationships with spouses, children, parents, colleagues, and friends.

18:2 The wise speak because they have something to say, fools because they have to say something. A fool's nature is revealed in his speech. He must air his personal opinions, based on nothing but his own folly. He takes no pleasure in receiving wisdom.

4 The words of a man's mouth are deep waters;
The wellspring of wisdom is a flowing brook.

5 It is not good to show partiality to the wicked,
Or to overthrow the righteous in judgment.

6 A fool's lips enter into contention,
And his mouth calls for blows.
7 A fool's mouth is his destruction,
And his lips are the snare of his soul.
8 The words of a talebearer are like tasty trifles,[a]
And they go down into the inmost body.

9 He who is slothful in his work
Is a brother to him who is a great destroyer.

10 The name of the LORD is a strong tower;
The righteous run to it and are safe.
11 The rich man's wealth is his strong city,
And like a high wall in his own esteem.

12 Before destruction the heart of a man is haughty,
And before honor is humility.

13 He who answers a matter before he hears it,
It is folly and shame to him.

14 The spirit of a man will sustain him in sickness,
But who can bear a broken spirit?

15 The heart of the prudent acquires knowledge,
And the ear of the wise seeks knowledge.

16 A man's gift makes room for him,
And brings him before great men.

17 The first one to plead his cause seems right,
Until his neighbor comes and examines him.

18 Casting lots causes contentions to cease,
And keeps the mighty apart.

19 A brother offended is harder to win than a strong city,
And contentions are like the bars of a castle.

20 A man's stomach shall be satisfied from the fruit of his mouth;
From the produce of his lips he shall be filled.

21 Death and life are in the power of the tongue,
And those who love it will eat its fruit.

22 He who finds a wife finds a good thing,
And obtains favor from the LORD.

23 The poor man uses entreaties,
But the rich answers roughly.

24 A man who has friends must himself be friendly,[a]
But there is a friend who sticks closer than a brother.

19 Better is the poor who walks in his integrity
Than one who is perverse in his lips, and is a fool.

2 Also it is not good for a soul to be without knowledge,
And he sins who hastens with his feet.

3 The foolishness of a man twists his way,
And his heart frets against the LORD.

4 Wealth makes many friends,
But the poor is separated from his friend.

5 A false witness will not go unpunished,
And he who speaks lies will not escape.

6 Many entreat the favor of the nobility,

18:8 [a]A Jewish tradition reads wounds. 18:24 [a]Following Greek manuscripts, Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate; Masoretic Text reads may come to ruin.

18:8 A gossip's words are like "tasty trifles" (lit. "things greedily devoured"). Slanderous words do not make a superficial impression but penetrate into the innermost recesses of the listener's mind where they are thoroughly digested (see Prov. 11:13; 17:9, notes; 25, Gossip).

18:10, 11 The name of the LORD is often used in the OT for God Himself (Ps. 20:7). The righteous or wise person makes the Lord his refuge (Prov. 18:10). The rich falsely put their security in their wealth (v. 11). The message is that God alone is a sure refuge.

18:13 Warnings against forming hasty opinions are given (vv. 2, 13, 17). Listening to the other person's "heart" as well as his words is an important aspect of interpersonal relationships (v. 13).

18:21 The strong words "death" and "life" refer to the impact of speech on others. The Midrash notes that the evil tongue destroys three individuals, "the slanderer, the slandered, and the listener." Obviously, the "death" caused by malicious, backbiting, gossiping, or harsh words is not a physical death but is more deadly because it cannot always be seen.

18:22 A good wife is understood to be one pleasing to God and thus helpful to her husband and a joy to all. The parallel structure adds emphasis as the second line of the verse explains the first. In other words, the finding of a wife is a sign of God's favor. That every wife is not a good wife is implicit here and this is the "good" wife (Heb. tov, lit. "fortune" or "favor") whose price is far above rubies (Prov. 31:10).

HAPPINESS A POSITIVE CHOICE

Happiness can be defined as a feeling of spiritual contentment that will carry you through the triumphs, pitfalls, or even heartaches of life with calm stability, serenity, peace of mind, and tranquility (Matt. 5:3–12). Happiness may or may not be related to the happenings in your life. In many instances, the outward happenings in a life affect our attitudes. However, happiness is also an act of the will (Ps. 144:15). We all have things "happen" in our lives that give us reason to be unhappy, but we have the power through Christ to make our own response to those happenings. Happiness is a potential positive choice.

Jesus gives some characteristics that promote a response of happiness (meekness, righteousness, merciful, peacemakers; Matt. 5:8–11). A believer must concentrate not on doing, but on BEING and LIVING! Total commitment to the Lord will result in a believer's instinctive Christlike response to various happenings as they occur. You must appropriate the tools God has given (His Word and His indwelling Spirit) in order to pursue happiness (Prov. 3:13; 29:18). When a believer's faith and conduct are balanced, happiness will always result. Happiness is enjoying everything the Lord has given you and not fretting about the things that have been taken away or withheld (Matt. 6:33, 34). Happiness is trusting in God's sovereignty and omniscience. You must believe that in every "happening" God will work for your good (Rom. 8:28). Happiness comes from daily obedience and faith in the Lord.

And every man is a friend to one who gives gifts.
7 All the brothers of the poor hate him;
How much more do his friends go far from him!
He may pursue them with words, yet they abandon him.

8 He who gets wisdom loves his own soul;
He who keeps understanding will find good.

9 A false witness will not go unpunished,
And he who speaks lies shall perish.

10 Luxury is not fitting for a fool,
Much less for a servant to rule over princes.

11 The discretion of a man makes him slow to anger,
And his glory is to overlook a transgression.

12 The king's wrath is like the roaring of a lion,
But his favor is like dew on the grass.

13 A foolish son is the ruin of his father,
And the contentions of a wife are a continual dripping.

14 Houses and riches are an inheritance from fathers,
But a prudent wife is from the LORD.

15 Laziness casts one into a deep sleep,
And an idle person will suffer hunger.

16 He who keeps the commandment keeps his soul,
But he who is careless[a] of his ways will die.

17 He who has pity on the poor lends to the LORD,
And He will pay back what he has given.

18 Chasten your son while there is hope,
And do not set your heart on his destruction.[a]

19:16 [a]Literally despises, figurative of recklessness or carelessness
19:18 [a]Literally to put him to death; a Jewish tradition reads on his crying.

19:13 The ingredients of a tragic and miserable home are presented here: a foolish son and a nagging wife. This is the first of five references in Proverbs to a quarrelsome wife (Prov. 21:9, 19; 25:24; 27:15). "Contentious" is also translated "quarrelsome." The continual dripping that drives one to distraction is like an irritating mosquito buzzing in the night. Sleep is almost found when the buzzing begins again. More than one person has been forced from his bed by a bug! A man can be driven to distraction (or away) by raindrops, a tiny bug, or a nagging, contentious wife. An Arab proverb uses three words that rhyme to convey this point. "Three things make a house uninhabitable: tak (leakage of rain), nak (a woman's nagging), and bak (bugs)."

19:14 The prudent wife is in contrast to the contentious wife (v. 13; see Prov. 18:22, note). A prudent wife is cautious and possesses good judgment and discretion. She is a good manager of her home (Prov. 31:10–31; see Prov. 24, Homemaking; chart, Homemaking in the Bible). She is a woman of practical wisdom. Here the contrast is between wealth inherited and a gift from God. Unhappy marriages are not addressed. The writer confirmed that God should be credited when the marriage is good.

19 A man of great wrath will suffer punishment;
For if you rescue him, you will have to do it again.

20 Listen to counsel and receive instruction,
That you may be wise in your latter days.

21 There are many plans in a man's heart,
Nevertheless the LORD's counsel—that will stand.

22 What is desired in a man is kindness,
And a poor man is better than a liar.

23 The fear of the LORD leads to life,
And he who has it will abide in satisfaction;
He will not be visited with evil.

24 A lazy man buries his hand in the bowl,[a]
And will not so much as bring it to his mouth again.

25 Strike a scoffer, and the simple will become wary;
Rebuke one who has understanding, and he will discern knowledge.

26 He who mistreats his father and chases away his mother
Is a son who causes shame and brings reproach.

27 Cease listening to instruction, my son,
And you will stray from the words of knowledge.

28 A disreputable witness scorns justice,
And the mouth of the wicked devours iniquity.

29 Judgments are prepared for scoffers,
And beatings for the backs of fools.

20 Wine is a mocker,
Strong drink is a brawler,
And whoever is led astray by it is not wise.

2 The wrath[a] of a king is like the roaring of a lion;
Whoever provokes him to anger sins against his own life.

3 It is honorable for a man to stop striving,
Since any fool can start a quarrel.

4 The lazy man will not plow because of winter;
He will beg during harvest and have nothing.

5 Counsel in the heart of man is like deep water,
But a man of understanding will draw it out.

6 Most men will proclaim each his own goodness,
But who can find a faithful man?

7 The righteous man walks in his integrity;
His children are blessed after him.

8 A king who sits on the throne of judgment
Scatters all evil with his eyes.

9 Who can say, "I have made my heart clean,
I am pure from my sin"?

19:24 [a]Septuagint and Syriac read bosom; Targum and Vulgate read armpit. 20:2 [a]Literally fear or terror which is produced by the king's wrath

19:21 God's plans stand. The Book of Proverbs enables us to gain wisdom and take that knowledge and apply it in a practical way in our own lives. We can acquire wisdom by our own means, but our wisdom will always be finite compared to the limitless wisdom and power of God. Because God is absolutely right and because He has the necessary power to bring His plans or "counsel" about, He always succeeds. Our "plans" are many and uncertain, and the success of our plans depends on the will of God. Only plans that God approves will succeed (see Ps. 33:10, 11; Prov. 16:9; Is. 14:26, 27).

19:22 Kindness (Heb. chesed, lit. "lovingkindness") is an attribute that people desire in others and God desires in us (see Ps. 5:7–12, note). Certainly every wife should know that kindness in her husband. Such kindness is an evidence of wisdom and should be demonstrated in godly lives (Ps. 36:7; Mic. 6:8, translated "mercy"). Anyone practicing unfailing loving-kindness will draw others to himself. Loyal love is of much greater value than wealth; even poverty would be preferable over the absence of this unfailing love. A man's kindness is one of the things that enables his wife to trust him.

20:1 Wine mocks the one who drinks it, and the strong drink makes him loud, aggressive, and without self-control. Intoxicating drinks have often led to great misery and suffering. They can lead people astray and cause them to do foolish and abusive things. Though Scripture mentions the medicinal value of a small amount of wine (1 Tim. 5:23), unquestionably its excessive use and any form of intoxication were expressly forbidden for God's people (Prov. 23:20; 31:4–7). Also clear is how quickly its use moves to become a snare and destroyer (see Gen. 9:20, 21; 19:30–36; Prov. 23:29–35).

20:7 The children of the righteous are blessed. These children see in righteous and blameless parents the model of integrity in their home. They are encouraged by this godly example of parents who live out their faith, and they are challenged to become wise themselves.

20:9 Scripture has many affirmations of our sinfulness (Gen. 6:5; 1 Kin. 8:46; Ps. 143:2). No man or woman can say, "I am perfect and without sin." Two levels are addressed: faultlessness in motive and thoughts (having a "pure" heart) and perfection in moral actions (being "clean"). Because of sin, we all need Jesus Christ as Savior (Rom. 3:23).

ALCOHOLISM THE BONDAGE OF STRONG DRINK

The Bible clearly warns about the consequences of using strong drink (Prov. 20:1). Society today encourages the use of alcohol at almost every occasion. Drinking is not limited to specific amounts, to certain rituals or times of the year. The use of alcohol is increasingly romanticized and idealized by younger age groups. The impact of the consumption of alcohol on individuals, families, employers, and churches is devastating.

Those who choose to follow Christ are exhorted to "not be drunk with wine, in which is dissipation" (Eph. 5:18). The world encourages the use of strong drink by promising good times, many friends, and great glamour. What happens to those who continue to drink over a period of time is the exact opposite: bad times, fewer and fewer friends, and physical deterioration—and generally a host of other woes such as depression, broken family relationships, and financial as well as legal difficulties. Abstinence is not only possible but desirable for two reasons:

1) The person who drinks may not be able to determine if she can stop drinking until after she is addicted to alcohol. Genetic and other physical and emotional factors can play a large part in a person's inability to quit after one or two drinks.
2) The unbeliever needs to see the believer as a model of Christ who chooses to be filled only with the Holy Spirit because believers have discovered the Spirit to be sufficient in meeting all their emotional needs.

10 Diverse weights and diverse measures,
They are both alike, an abomination to the LORD.

11 Even a child is known by his deeds,
Whether what he does is pure and right.

12 The hearing ear and the seeing eye,
The LORD has made them both.

13 Do not love sleep, lest you come to poverty;
Open your eyes, and you will be satisfied with bread.

14 "It is good for nothing,"[a] cries the buyer;
But when he has gone his way, then he boasts.

15 There is gold and a multitude of rubies,
But the lips of knowledge are a precious jewel.

16 Take the garment of one who is surety for a stranger,
And hold it as a pledge when it is for a seductress.

17 Bread gained by deceit is sweet to a man,
But afterward his mouth will be filled with gravel.

18 Plans are established by counsel;
By wise counsel wage war.

19 He who goes about as a talebearer reveals secrets;
Therefore do not associate with one who flatters with his lips.

20 Whoever curses his father or his mother,
His lamp will be put out in deep darkness.

21 An inheritance gained hastily at the beginning
Will not be blessed at the end.

22 Do not say, "I will recompense evil";
Wait for the LORD, and He will save you.

23 Diverse weights are an abomination to the LORD,
And dishonest scales are not good.

24 A man's steps are of the LORD;
How then can a man understand his own way?

20:14 [a]Literally evil, evil

20:11 Character is recognized, even in childhood. A child's actions and conduct reveal what he is like. Parents must be alert to evaluate the actions of their children and thus mold them through discipline, teaching, and example.

20:19 See Proverbs 11:13, note; 25, Gossip.

20:22 Vengeance should be left to God. Only God is able to deliver just vengeance (Rom. 12:19). Deliverance of the righteous does involve judgment of the wicked. Nevertheless, punishment for injustice must be left in God's hands.

20:24 Although we can try to understand God's sovereignty, we will never fully comprehend the incomprehensible God (see Is. 55:8, 9).

25 It is a snare for a man to devote rashly something as holy,
And afterward to reconsider his vows.

26 A wise king sifts out the wicked,
And brings the threshing wheel over them.

27 The spirit of a man is the lamp of the LORD,
Searching all the inner depths of his heart.[a]

28 Mercy and truth preserve the king,
And by lovingkindness he upholds his throne.

29 The glory of young men is their strength,
And the splendor of old men is their gray
head.

30 Blows that hurt cleanse away evil,
As do stripes the inner depths of the heart.[a]

21 The king's heart is in the hand of the
LORD,
Like the rivers of water; He turns it wherever
He wishes.

2 Every way of a man is right in his own eyes,
But the LORD weighs the hearts.

3 To do righteousness and justice
Is more acceptable to the LORD than sacrifice.

4 A haughty look, a proud heart,
And the plowing[a] of the wicked are sin.

5 The plans of the diligent lead surely to plenty,
But those of everyone who is hasty, surely to poverty.

6 Getting treasures by a lying tongue
Is the fleeting fantasy of those who seek death.[a]

7 The violence of the wicked will destroy them,[a]
Because they refuse to do justice.

8 The way of a guilty man is perverse;[a]
But as for the pure, his work is right.

9 Better to dwell in a corner of a housetop,
Than in a house shared with a contentious
woman.

10 The soul of the wicked desires evil;
His neighbor finds no favor in his eyes.

11 When the scoffer is punished, the simple is made wise;
But when the wise is instructed, he receives
knowledge.

12 The righteous God wisely considers the house of the wicked,
Overthrowing the wicked for their wickedness.

13 Whoever shuts his ears to the cry of the poor
Will also cry himself and not be heard.

14 A gift in secret pacifies anger,
And a bribe behind the back,[a] strong wrath.

15 It is a joy for the just to do justice,
But destruction will come to the workers of iniquity.

16 A man who wanders from the way of understanding
Will rest in the assembly of the dead.

20:27, 30 [a]Literally the rooms of the belly 21:4 [a]Or lamp 21:6 [a]Septuagint reads Pursue vanity on the snares of death; Vulgate reads Is vain and foolish, and shall stumble on the snares of death; Targum reads They shall be destroyed, and they shall fall who seek death. 21:7 [a]Literally drag them away 21:8 [a]Or The way of a man is perverse and strange 21:14 [a]Literally in the bosom

20:27 God reveals what is in the depths of a person's heart (thoughts, attitudes, desires, will) in the same way a lamp reveals what is in the darkness. He discerns our motives and evaluates our actions. God's Spirit enables us to know and please God, functioning far beyond the human conscience.

20:30 The purpose of discipline is not to wound or cause pain but to heal a person of evil and lead him to maturity (see Prov. 13:24, note). Sometimes when the conscience is slow to work, physical discipline is needed to break the most stubborn self-will. There is absolutely no hint of abuse, since cruel correction is forbidden and since the worth of the child is consistently affirmed (Ps. 127:3–5, note; 128, Children; chart, The Rod of Discipline).

21:1 Rivers (lit. "streams" or "divisions") refers to watercourses or irrigation ditches dug to direct the water. In the same way, God, in His sovereignty, directs the hearts of kings (see Prov. 16:1, 9). Cyrus (Is. 44:28; 45:1–7), Artaxerxes (Ezra 7:21), and Pharaoh (Ex. 10:1, 2) are examples of kings whose hearts were directed by the King of Kings.

21:9 The portrait of marriage God paints in Scripture is a most intimate relationship in which husband and wife grow to become lovers and best friends (see Gen. 2, Marriage). The husband is commanded to love his wife as Christ loved the church and to love her as his own body (see Job 31, Husbands). The wife is commanded to respond to her husband and to respect him (Eph. 5:22, 23; see Prov. 31, Wives). A contentious spirit in a wife says, "I will not respond to you and I do not respect you" (see Prov. 19:13, note). Instead of being like the excellent, prudent wife who is a blessing to her husband by her words and her works, the contentious wife makes life in the home miserable (see Prov. 12:4; 31:10–31, notes). The man living with a contentious woman would rather live on the rooftop, exposed to the elements, or in a small dusty attic that is hot in the summer and cold in the winter. The joys of intimate companionship are nonexistent with such a wife.

PMS (PREMENSTRUAL SYNDROME) COPING WITH YOUR BODY CYCLE

PMS (premenstrual syndrome) includes a wide variety of physical and psychological symptoms that may recur during the menstrual cycle. Traits such as being argumentative, combative, angry, and vexing (Prov. 21:19) are commonplace among women suffering from PMS. Medical studies reveal that only 10 percent of the menstruating-aged female population are completely free of PMS symptoms; the other 90 percent struggle to some degree.

Would it really be better to live alone, hungry, and thirsty in a desert rather than to live with a woman who exhibits these characteristics? Some husbands think so (Prov. 12:4; 19:13; 21:9, 19; 25:24; 27:15). If you suffer from the extreme symptoms of PMS, realize that it is a physical illness and should be given serious medical attention. Severe PMS can even lead to alarming problems such as child abuse, marital conflict, divorce, depression, and suicide. Seek out a physician who can help you take care of your body, which is the temple of the Lord (2 Cor. 6:16).

17 He who loves pleasure will be a poor man;
He who loves wine and oil will not be rich.

18 The wicked shall be a ransom for the righteous,
And the unfaithful for the upright.

19 Better to dwell in the wilderness,
Than with a contentious and angry woman.

20 There is desirable treasure,
And oil in the dwelling of the wise,
But a foolish man squanders it.

21 He who follows righteousness and mercy
Finds life, righteousness, and honor.

22 A wise man scales the city of the mighty,
And brings down the trusted stronghold.

23 Whoever guards his mouth and tongue
Keeps his soul from troubles.

24 A proud and haughty man—"Scoffer" is his name;
He acts with arrogant pride.

25 The desire of the lazy man kills him,
For his hands refuse to labor.
26 He covets greedily all day long,
But the righteous gives and does not spare.

27 The sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination;
How much more when he brings it with wicked intent!

28 A false witness shall perish,
But the man who hears him will speak endlessly.

29 A wicked man hardens his face,
But as for the upright, he establishes[a] his way.

30 There is no wisdom or understanding
Or counsel against the LORD.

31 The horse is prepared for the day of battle,
But deliverance is of the LORD.

22 A good name is to be chosen rather than great riches,
Loving favor rather than silver and gold.

2 The rich and the poor have this in common,
The LORD is the maker of them all.

3 A prudent man foresees evil and hides himself,
But the simple pass on and are punished.

4 By humility and the fear of the LORD
Are riches and honor and life.

5 Thorns and snares are in the way of the perverse;
He who guards his soul will be far from them.

21:29 [a]Qere and Septuagint read understands.

22:1 A good name is the reward of good behavior, a token of the esteem of family and community, and one of wisdom's most valuable prizes. Living wisely and traveling the path of wisdom results in a good name. Solomon chose wisdom, walked this path, and received a "good name." After years of walking the wise path, Solomon tragically compromised his convictions about God and wisdom. In the end, all his wealth and power could not salvage his "good name" (1 Kin. 11:1–13). This admonition urges us to keep our eyes on the Lord, trusting Him to give us the power and strength to keep walking in the path of wisdom.

6 Train up a child in the way he should go,
And when he is old he will not depart from it.

7 The rich rules over the poor,
And the borrower is servant to the lender.

8 He who sows iniquity will reap sorrow,
And the rod of his anger will fail.

9 He who has a generous eye will be blessed,
For he gives of his bread to the poor.

10 Cast out the scoffer, and contention will leave;
Yes, strife and reproach will cease.

11 He who loves purity of heart
And has grace on his lips,
The king will be his friend.

12 The eyes of the LORD preserve knowledge,
But He overthrows the words of the faithless.

13 The lazy man says, "There is a lion outside!
I shall be slain in the streets!"

14 The mouth of an immoral woman is a deep pit;
He who is abhorred by the LORD will fall there.

15 Foolishness is bound up in the heart of a child;
The rod of correction will drive it far from him.

16 He who oppresses the poor to increase his riches,
And he who gives to the rich, will surely come to poverty.

Sayings of the Wise

17 Incline your ear and hear the words of the wise,
And apply your heart to my knowledge;
18 For it is a pleasant thing if you keep them within you;
Let them all be fixed upon your lips,
19 So that your trust may be in the LORD;
I have instructed you today, even you.
20 Have I not written to you excellent things
Of counsels and knowledge,
21 That I may make you know the certainty of the words of truth,
That you may answer words of truth
To those who send to you?

22 Do not rob the poor because he is poor,
Nor oppress the afflicted at the gate;
23 For the LORD will plead their cause,
And plunder the soul of those who plunder them.

24 Make no friendship with an angry man,
And with a furious man do not go,
25 Lest you learn his ways
And set a snare for your soul.

26 Do not be one of those who shakes hands in a pledge,
One of those who is surety for debts;
27 If you have nothing with which to pay,
Why should he take away your bed from under you?

28 Do not remove the ancient landmark
Which your fathers have set.

29 Do you see a man who excels in his work?
He will stand before kings;
He will not stand before unknown men.

23 When you sit down to eat with a ruler,
Consider carefully what is before you;
2 And put a knife to your throat
If you are a man given to appetite.
3 Do not desire his delicacies,
For they are deceptive food.

22:6 The interpretation of this verse as a promise to "good parents" that training their children in God's way would result in "good children" has caused heartache and feelings of failure for many parents who have trusted God, yet watched their children stray. Though generally wise parents produce wise children, there are exceptions. God has given every individual the freedom to choose his own way. "Train up" (Heb. chanak, lit. "to put something into the mouth") also describes the breaking and bringing into submission of a wild horse by a rope in the mouth. In Solomon's time, the term was used to describe the way a midwife, after delivering a child, would dip her fingers into crushed dates and massage the gums of the newborn with her sweet-tasting fingers to stimulate sucking. Then when placed at the mother's breast, the infant would begin to feed. Some suggest "in the way" alludes to "God's way" or "the path of wisdom"; others believe the phrase is a call for parents to discover the child's "natural bent." Yet children of godly parents sometimes are determined to choose the path of foolishness, and their choices bring heartache and deep grief to their parents. This verse is not necessarily a promise but more likely a warning to parents to break the willfulness of their children and direct them to God's way.

22:17—24:34 Sayings of the wise are to be heard and heeded. The appeal in this section is to act on the knowledge learned from the statements describing wise and foolish living (Prov. 10:1—22:16). Many of the proverbs in these chapters are warnings. These proverbs are similar to those with the personal father-son appeals (Prov. 1—9).

22:17–21 Applying the words of the wise is important. Memorized, they will be on our lips. Our trust in the Lord will increase, and we will be convinced of the certainty of the words and know how to give a good answer to those who ask.

GLUTTONY AN UNDISCIPLINED APPETITE

Scripture speaks especially harshly about gluttony—linking it with poverty. Gluttony can indicate excessive eating and drinking, and it does refer to a ravenous, nearly unstoppable, appetite. It is to food what greed is to material wealth, a craving that cannot be satisfied.

More specifically, in Scripture gluttony is associated with eating foods forbidden to the Israelites, the meat and delicacies that are called "deceptive food" (Prov. 23:1–3, 20, 21). It was also associated with a loose and undisciplined lifestyle—disobedience, stubbornness, and rebellion (Deut. 21:20). The fruits of gluttony were laziness and poverty to the glutton (Prov. 23:21) and shame to others (Prov. 28:7).

Gluttony has been smiled upon in modern times. Though never listed on the death certificate, you would probably be amazed at how many diseases have gluttony as a root cause. Solomon prescribed drastic measures if a person is "given to appetite." He said, "Put a knife to your throat" (Prov. 23:2), a stern and severe way of dealing with an undesirable habit or a health problem.

Daniel recognized that food and drink affected nutrition and health (Dan. 1:8, 12–16), and Solomon speaks of deceitful "delicacies" and warns us not to desire them (Prov. 23:3). Many modern foods have been robbed of their vital nutrients and contain ingredients that may fill our bodies with elements that take the place of nutritious foods. The gluttonous use of foods high in sugar and fat takes away from the nutritional balance of milk, fruit, vegetables, meat, and bread, which contain fiber and other nutrients for good digestion and health.

First and foremost, we are not to satisfy our selfish and harmful appetites but rather use our bodies to bring glory to God (1 Cor. 6:19, 20).

4 Do not overwork to be rich;
Because of your own understanding, cease!
5 Will you set your eyes on that which is not?
For riches certainly make themselves wings;
They fly away like an eagle toward heaven.

6 Do not eat the bread of a miser,[a]
Nor desire his delicacies;
7 For as he thinks in his heart, so is he.
"Eat and drink!" he says to you,
But his heart is not with you.
8 The morsel you have eaten, you will vomit up,
And waste your pleasant words.

9 Do not speak in the hearing of a fool,
For he will despise the wisdom of your words.

10 Do not remove the ancient landmark,
Nor enter the fields of the fatherless;
11 For their Redeemer is mighty;
He will plead their cause against you.

12 Apply your heart to instruction,
And your ears to words of knowledge.

13 Do not withhold correction from a child,
For if you beat him with a rod, he will not die.
14 You shall beat him with a rod,
And deliver his soul from hell.[a]

15 My son, if your heart is wise,
My heart will rejoice— indeed, I myself;
16 Yes, my inmost being will rejoice
When your lips speak right things.

17 Do not let your heart envy sinners,
But be zealous for the fear of the LORD all the day;
18 For surely there is a hereafter,
And your hope will not be cut off.

19 Hear, my son, and be wise;
And guide your heart in the way.

23:6 [a]Literally one who has an evil eye 23:14 [a]Or Sheol

23:4, 5 In the quest for wealth, we are encouraged to remember that the first priority in life is not work (see Is. 26, Balancing Home and Career). This is not speaking against industriousness and hard work but rather warning against overwork for the sake of accumulating riches. A wise person realizes that wealth is temporary and unstable; it can fly away like an eagle soars to the heavens (see 1 Tim. 6, Wealth).

23:13, 14 One of the strongest admonitions to parents in Proverbs is to discipline their children that they might be delivered from physical death (see Prov. 13:24; 20:30, notes). Discipline enables a child to live the fullest and happiest life.

23:15, 16 Great rejoicing occurs in the hearts of mothers and fathers when their adult children choose the path of wisdom (vv. 24, 25). This child should be honored with praise for wise choices. How easy for parents to speak loudly and often when a child is being foolish but fail to speak words of praise when she walks wisely.

SUBSTANCE ABUSE THE DEVASTATION OF DRUGS

Drugs are used by many as a way to avoid emotional pain—the pain of past or present hurts, or future fears. The impact of drugs on the individual, her family, and others is devastating. Family and friends, however, often find themselves unwittingly aiding the abuser in her denial process by making excuses or refusing to accept that she is harming herself and them. As long as she is able to deny her behavior, she will not see the need for change.

Although alcohol is the drug to which most frequent reference is made in the Bible and also the one more often used by people today, Scripture refers to two other situations where drugs may well have been involved: witchcraft or sorcery, and idolatry. Grim warning is given to those who practice those activities (Gal. 5:19–21).

God encourages us as believers to bring our cares to Him (Ps. 55:22; 1 Pet. 5:6, 7) instead of trying to handle them alone or escape from them by using chemicals or any other artificial means. He stands willing to forgive those who have been involved with drugs or any other harmful substance if we ask for His forgiveness (1 John 1:9).

Believers are exhorted to be filled with and to walk by the Spirit instead of being dependent on wine (Gal. 5:16, 25; Eph. 5:18). What is said about wine applies to the use of any chemical that alters behavior and has the potential to become addictive.

Facing the problem of substance abuse and giving it over to God, confident that He is able to deliver you and bring you through the pain and out of the bondage, puts a person on the road to recovery and victory (Rom. 4:20, 21).

[20]Do not mix with winebibbers,
Or with gluttonous eaters of meat;
[21]For the drunkard and the glutton will come to poverty,
And drowsiness will clothe a man with rags.

[22]Listen to your father who begot you,
And do not despise your mother when she is old.

[23]Buy the truth, and do not sell it,
Also wisdom and instruction and understanding.

[24]The father of the righteous will greatly rejoice,
And he who begets a wise child will delight in him.
[25]Let your father and your mother be glad,
And let her who bore you rejoice.

[26]My son, give me your heart,
And let your eyes observe my ways.
[27]For a harlot is a deep pit,
And a seductress is a narrow well.
[28]She also lies in wait as for a victim,
And increases the unfaithful among men.

[29]Who has woe?
Who has sorrow?
Who has contentions?
Who has complaints?
Who has wounds without cause?
Who has redness of eyes?
[30]Those who linger long at the wine,
Those who go in search of mixed wine.
[31]Do not look on the wine when it is red,
When it sparkles in the cup,
When it swirls around smoothly;
[32]At the last it bites like a serpent,
And stings like a viper.
[33]Your eyes will see strange things,
And your heart will utter perverse things.
[34]Yes, you will be like one who lies down in the midst of the sea,
Or like one who lies at the top of the mast,
saying:
[35]"They have struck me, but I was not hurt;
They have beaten me, but I did not feel it.

23:29–35 This vivid portrait describes a drunkard. Often drunkenness is characterized by laughter, partying, and great fun. The devastating picture here is exactly the opposite. This person is beset by problems, quarrels, anxiety, hallucinations, and poor health. How many marriages, homes, and businesses have been wrecked because a man or woman became enslaved to drink. Even though the drunkard described is miserable, he cannot wait to wake up so he can have another drink (v. 35). The admonition is to refuse to allow your eyes to look at the wine (v. 31). Outwardly it sparkles, but it is as deadly as a poisonous snake (see Prov. 20, Alcoholism).

CHILDREN DISCIPLINE FROM PARENTS

Parenthood involves a process of "making disciples" of your own children. Parents teach obedience not just to bring children under parental authority but in order to bring them to salvation and spiritual discipleship (Heb. 12:11). While punishment may sometimes be a part of discipline, much more is involved in moving a child from parent-controlled behavior to self-controlled, independent decision making and ultimately to a God-controlled lifestyle in which the child learns to make wise, God-honoring decisions on his own (Heb. 12:10–11). Godly discipline provides an umbrella of protection under which a child learns to obey God during the days of vulnerability.

Willful defiance is a deliberate act of disobedience in which a child knows what his parents expect, then chooses to do the opposite (Prov. 29:1). This is to be distinguished from childish irresponsibility, resulting from forgetting, making mistakes, having a short attention span or low frustration tolerance, or immaturity.

To nurture and control children demands enough firmness to correct unacceptable behavior (Prov. 22:15) but not so much as to injure or damage a child (Eph. 6:4). Loving parents, who exhibit a tenderness, kindness, and gentleness no matter what the child's behavior, err when they intervene to protect the child from reaping the consequences of that behavior (Prov. 13:24).

Guidelines are given for administering the "rod" of discipline, which, as a symbol of the parent's loving care and concern, should be administered only in love. The rod underscores the responsibility of the individual for his own attitudes, actions, and reactions (Ezek. 18:20; Rom. 3:23; 14:12). Correction shows the child the error of his way and pulls him to the right way.

Discipline should be delivered "promptly" at the time of the offense (Prov. 13:24), catching wrong behavior patterns before they become set. The child must understand clearly that the behavior was wrong (Col. 3:25) and that the authority violated is not merely that of the earthly parent, but of God. The child must be led to evaluate his action as sin, and he must be led to see the need of seeking forgiveness and changing direction. The child should see grief reflected in the parent (Prov. 17:25), who should remain with the child until their fellowship has been restored (Ps. 51:7–12).

In this light, Proverbs 22:6 is not just a promise to good parents that consistent spiritual nurture ultimately assures their children of godly lives, but it is also a warning that leaving a child to the willfulness of going his own way is the path to destruction (Prov. 3:5, 6), laying a foundation for self-willed living from which the child will not depart (Judg. 21:25; Prov. 3:5; 12:15; 14:12; 21:2; 29:15; Is. 53:6).

When shall I awake, that I may seek another drink?"

24 Do not be envious of evil men,
Nor desire to be with them;
2 For their heart devises violence,
And their lips talk of troublemaking.

3 Through wisdom a house is built,
And by understanding it is established;
4 By knowledge the rooms are filled
With all precious and pleasant riches.

5 A wise man is strong,
Yes, a man of knowledge increases strength;
6 For by wise counsel you will wage your own war,
And in a multitude of counselors there is safety.

7 Wisdom is too lofty for a fool;
He does not open his mouth in the gate.

8 He who plots to do evil
Will be called a schemer.
9 The devising of foolishness is sin,
And the scoffer is an abomination to men.

10 If you faint in the day of adversity,
Your strength is small.

24:3, 4 A house is built, not with wallpaper, drapes, and throw pillows but with wisdom, understanding, and knowledge. "Wisdom" is the ability to take the knowledge about God concerning life and apply it in a practical and successful way in our homes. It takes godly skill (wisdom) to build a godly home. "Understanding" is discernment. Of utmost importance in the relationships of life is the ability to be discerning. "Knowledge" for knowledge's sake alone is meaningless. But knowledge about God enables a woman to fill her home and her relationships with "precious and pleasant riches." The word "built" (Heb. banah) is also used to describe the creation of the woman (Gen. 2:22), in which God took Adam's rib and "rebuilt" the bone and made Eve. It is never too late to begin applying this verse and using wisdom, understanding, and knowledge as mortar to join the bricks in building the home!

11 Deliver those who are drawn toward death,
And hold back those stumbling to the slaughter.
12 If you say, "Surely we did not know this,"
Does not He who weighs the hearts consider it?
He who keeps your soul, does He not know it?
And will He not render to each man according to his deeds?

13 My son, eat honey because it is good,
And the honeycomb which is sweet to your taste;
14 So shall the knowledge of wisdom be to your soul;
If you have found it, there is a prospect,
And your hope will not be cut off.

15 Do not lie in wait, O wicked man, against the dwelling of the righteous;
Do not plunder his resting place;
16 For a righteous man may fall seven times
And rise again,
But the wicked shall fall by calamity.

17 Do not rejoice when your enemy falls,
And do not let your heart be glad when he stumbles;
18 Lest the LORD see it, and it displease Him,
And He turn away His wrath from him.

19 Do not fret because of evildoers,
Nor be envious of the wicked;
20 For there will be no prospect for the evil man;
The lamp of the wicked will be put out.

21 My son, fear the LORD and the king;
Do not associate with those given to change;
22 For their calamity will rise suddenly,
And who knows the ruin those two can bring?

Further Sayings of the Wise

23 These things also belong to the wise:

It is not good to show partiality in judgment.

24 He who says to the wicked, "You are righteous,"
Him the people will curse;
Nations will abhor him.
25 But those who rebuke the wicked will have delight,
And a good blessing will come upon them.

26 He who gives a right answer kisses the lips.

27 Prepare your outside work,
Make it fit for yourself in the field;
And afterward build your house.

28 Do not be a witness against your neighbor without cause,
For would you deceive[a] with your lips?
29 Do not say, "I will do to him just as he has done to me;
I will render to the man according to his work."

30 I went by the field of the lazy man,
And by the vineyard of the man devoid of understanding;
31 And there it was, all overgrown with thorns;
Its surface was covered with nettles;
Its stone wall was broken down.
32 When I saw it, I considered it well;
I looked on it and received instruction:
33 A little sleep, a little slumber,
A little folding of the hands to rest;
34 So shall your poverty come like a prowler,
And your need like an armed man.

Further Wise Sayings of Solomon

25 These also are proverbs of Solomon which the men of Hezekiah king of Judah copied:

2 It is the glory of God to conceal a matter,
But the glory of kings is to search out a matter.

3 As the heavens for height and the earth for depth,
So the heart of kings is unsearchable.

24:28 [a]Septuagint and Vulgate read Do not deceive.

24:10 Trusting God is easy when life is going smoothly but difficult when adversity attacks. Some say that a woman never shows her colors as truly as in crisis. A crisis will either tear a marriage apart or cause a couple to pull together. Proverbs offers good advice on how to be strong in adversity (see Acts 5, Adversity).

24:13, 14 As honey is to the lips, so wisdom is to the soul. Sweet satisfaction comes from the freedom wisdom gives. To know what to do and to do it brings joy. Parents should strive to impart wisdom so that it appears sweet to the child! The woman who finds wisdom will hope with a hope that endures to the end.

25:1 Hezekiah, king of Judah, reigned about 250 years after Solomon. Hezekiah walked the way of wisdom and thus became one of the greatest kings since Solomon. King Hezekiah led a revival in the Land and restored temple service (2 Chr. 29:20–35). He wisely commissioned a group of his counselors and scholars to compile the proverbs of Solomon (Prov. 25—27). Many of these proverbs use the literary device of comparison to teach truth. A stated likeness between objects of different classes using "like" or "as" is often found.

25:2 God has chosen not to reveal everything about Himself. God conceals some things, but what is needed in order to obey Him is revealed clearly (Deut. 29:29). The king must investigate God's revelation to lead his people rightly (Deut. 17:18–20). These verses praise not academic research but administrative ability. A king needs godly wisdom so that he can make wise decisions.

HOMEMAKING AN EXPRESSION OF CREATIVITY AND LOVE

King Solomon identified three great foundation stones of a home:

1) wisdom—knowledge of God's ways and the ability to make right choices in both practical and ethical matters,
2) understanding—an ability to apply God's principles, especially to relationships, and
3) knowledge—very practical skills in specific areas (Prov. 24:3, 4).

The home is the primary place where children and parents learn God's wisdom and how to apply it to their lives, where loving relationships are built on mutual communication and understanding, and where children and adults both learn and grow in the basic practical skills needed for life to function smoothly.

A woman's role involved helping family members get along with one another in the context of the home and creating an environment in which each family member might feel fully at ease, nurtured, and safe. Home is expected to be a place of refuge from life's storms.

A woman's homemaking ability should be infused with creativity and love so that her home reflects her own personal style. Homemaking skills were highly prized in Bible times, and the training of young women focused primarily on the care of husbands, children, and home (Titus 2:3–5).

Homemaking from a biblical perspective, however, is not limited to the care of physical property or the meeting of physical needs but extends to the creation of a nurturing and satisfying environment in which a family might flourish emotionally and spiritually. In the context of such a home our identities are forged in a healthy and positive way, and we truly become equipped to minister to others. A home built on the Lord Jesus and nurtured by a woman who spends time seeking wisdom, understanding, and knowledge with the Lord each day will stand strong in the storms of life.

4 Take away the dross from silver,
And it will go to the silversmith for jewelry.
5 Take away the wicked from before the king,
And his throne will be established in righteousness.

6 Do not exalt yourself in the presence of the king,
And do not stand in the place of the great;
7 For it is better that he say to you,
"Come up here,"
Than that you should be put lower in the presence of the prince,
Whom your eyes have seen.

8 Do not go hastily to court;
For what will you do in the end,
When your neighbor has put you to shame?
9 Debate your case with your neighbor,
And do not disclose the secret to another;
10 Lest he who hears it expose your shame,
And your reputation be ruined.

11 A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold
In settings of silver.

12 Like an earring of gold and an ornament of fine gold
Is a wise rebuker to an obedient ear.

13 Like the cold of snow in time of harvest
Is a faithful messenger to those who send him,
For he refreshes the soul of his masters.

14 Whoever falsely boasts of giving
Is like clouds and wind without rain.

15 By long forbearance a ruler is persuaded,
And a gentle tongue breaks a bone.

16 Have you found honey?
Eat only as much as you need,
Lest you be filled with it and vomit.

17 Seldom set foot in your neighbor's house,
Lest he become weary of you and hate you.

18 A man who bears false witness against his neighbor
Is like a club, a sword, and a sharp arrow.

25:12 A rebuke given in love and received with intent to obey at the right time, in the right place, and in the right way is more valuable than gold.

25:16, 17 Overdoing anything can be a problem. A disastrous difference exists between healthy appetite and greed or gluttony (v. 16). False thinking suggests "ecstasy," not "nausea," is ahead. "Seldom" (lit. "make precious") carries the idea that a visit becomes more valuable when rare. Good manners take into consideration the feelings of others. Do not visit so often that you become a nuisance, but visit often enough that the visit is made special. As the saying goes, familiarity breeds contempt.

19 Confidence in an unfaithful man in time of trouble
Is like a bad tooth and a foot out of joint.

20 Like one who takes away a garment in cold weather,
And like vinegar on soda,
Is one who sings songs to a heavy heart.

21 If your enemy is hungry, give him bread to eat;
And if he is thirsty, give him water to drink;
22 For so you will heap coals of fire on his head,
And the LORD will reward you.

23 The north wind brings forth rain,
And a backbiting tongue an angry
countenance.

24 It is better to dwell in a corner of a housetop,
Than in a house shared with a contentious
woman.

25 As cold water to a weary soul,
So is good news from a far country.

26 A righteous man who falters before the wicked
Is like a murky spring and a polluted well.

27 It is not good to eat much honey;
So to seek one's own glory is not glory.

28 Whoever has no rule over his own spirit
Is like a city broken down, without walls.

26 As snow in summer and rain in harvest,
So honor is not fitting for a fool.

2 Like a flitting sparrow, like a flying swallow,
So a curse without cause shall not alight.

3 A whip for the horse,
A bridle for the donkey,
And a rod for the fool's back.

4 Do not answer a fool according to his folly,
Lest you also be like him.
5 Answer a fool according to his folly,
Lest he be wise in his own eyes.
6 He who sends a message by the hand of a fool
Cuts off his own feet and drinks violence.
7 Like the legs of the lame that hang limp
Is a proverb in the mouth of fools.
8 Like one who binds a stone in a sling
Is he who gives honor to a fool.
9 Like a thorn that goes into the hand of a drunkard
Is a proverb in the mouth of fools.
10 The great God who formed everything Gives the fool his hire and the transgressor his wages.[a]
11 As a dog returns to his own vomit,
So a fool repeats his folly.
12 Do you see a man wise in his own eyes?
There is more hope for a fool than for him.

13 The lazy man says, "There is a lion in the road!
A fierce lion is in the streets!"
14 As a door turns on its hinges,
So does the lazy man on his bed.
15 The lazy man buries his hand in the bowl;[a]
It wearies him to bring it back to his mouth.
16 The lazy man is wiser in his own eyes
Than seven men who can answer sensibly.

17 He who passes by and meddles in a quarrel not his own
Is like one who takes a dog by the ears.

18 Like a madman who throws firebrands, arrows,
and death,
19 Is the man who deceives his neighbor,
And says, "I was only joking!"

20 Where there is no wood, the fire goes out;
And where there is no talebearer, strife ceases.

26:10 [a]The Hebrew is difficult; ancient and modern translators differ greatly. 26:15 [a]Compare 19:24

25:21, 22 Caring and compassion, not revenge, should characterize Christians. Kindness makes an enemy ashamed and invokes a blessing from God (see Rom. 12:20). "Coals of fire" are the feelings of guilt, which are far better felt now as shame than later as punishment. When a person shows compassion to his enemy, the Lord rewards him.

25:23 What is happening inwardly affects the outward appearance both positively and negatively (see Prov. 18:6, 7, note). Of all the things a woman wears, her expression is the most important. A woman who possesses a calm and gentle spirit has a peaceful countenance (1 Pet. 3:4).

26:1–12 The fool is graphically painted as a ludicrous individual. A fool must be controlled by a "rod" or physical force because he cannot be reached through his intellect, and he does not respond to reason (v. 3). A fool cannot be trusted with a message (v. 6), and wisdom is as useless to a fool as the paralyzed limbs of a lame man (v. 7). A fool cannot learn from experience. Even though his habits are disgusting, he returns to repeat them (v. 11). The fool has the possibility of learning; a conceited individual is more hopeless (v. 12).

26:13–16 The lazy person is a tragic figure glued to his bed (v. 14). He gives ridiculous excuses to get out of work (v. 13) and is totally helpless (vv. 15, 16; see Prov. 6:6–11, note). He is called a sluggard and described as a person who neither begins nor completes things (Prov. 6:9, 10; 12:27). His slothfulness causes him to be restless (Prov. 13:4; 21:25, 26). He is truly pathetic.

26:17–28 Speech is a popular topic in Proverbs. The negative impact of words said without thinking or with evil intent cannot be underestimated: quarrels (vv. 17, 20, 21), deceit (vv. 18, 19, 26), gossip (vv. 20–22; see Prov. 25, Gossip), and lying (Prov. 26:23–28; see also Prov. 15, Communication).

GOSSIP CONTROLLING YOUR TONGUE

Most of us are not strangers to gossip—we have listened to it, spread it, and been the victim of it. Rumors have a dangerous edge in that people do not feel responsible for that which they simply pass on as hearsay, making accountability and damage control much more difficult. Gossip can run the gamut from talk of a personal, sensational, or intimate nature to statements that defame or injure the reputation or well-being of a person. Often our conversations are full of judgments. The Lord lists gossips together with the untrustworthy, unloving, unrighteous, murderers, and haters of God (Rom. 1:28–32). The Bible is clear about the damage (Prov. 11:13; 16:28; 18:6–8; 26:20) and consequences of gossip and slander (Ps. 101:5; Prov. 8:13; 17:9; Matt. 12:36, 37; 1 Tim. 5:13).

Not only the spreading of lies but also the telling of partially or entirely true facts may yet fall under the wrath of God. Sharing anything about a person that does not help or edify may be considered gossip. God has His own plan for dealing with someone in sin (Matt. 18:15). We are to go to an offending individual and no one else to begin a longsuffering effort for their restoration to God if we are concerned about their eternal welfare (Gal. 6:1). Listening to gossip is just as bad as spreading the words of hurt (1 Sam. 24:9; Prov. 17:4). A mark of spiritual maturity is to have control over your tongue (James 1:26). Gossip and slander are tools of Satan.

In Paul's discussion of the holy lifestyle in which spiritually mature women are to teach younger women, he includes a warning about slander and admonishes the women not to accuse others (Gk. diabolous, "the accuser," a title assigned to Satan 34 times in Scripture), thus refraining from being "devils" in their relationships. Nothing is a sharper sword with which to wound another than hurtful words. Gossip is never an act of kindness: it diminishes the person about whom you are talking; it degrades any Christian who would do such a thing; it serves as a temptation and snare to any listener who would join in such unkindness.

21 As charcoal is to burning coals, and wood to fire,
So is a contentious man to kindle strife.
22 The words of a talebearer are like tasty trifles,
And they go down into the inmost body.

23 Fervent lips with a wicked heart
Are like earthenware covered with silver dross.

24 He who hates, disguises it with his lips,
And lays up deceit within himself;
25 When he speaks kindly, do not believe him,
For there are seven abominations in his heart;
26 Though his hatred is covered by deceit,
His wickedness will be revealed before the assembly.

27 Whoever digs a pit will fall into it,
And he who rolls a stone will have it roll back on him.

28 A lying tongue hates those who are crushed by it,
And a flattering mouth works ruin.

27 Do not boast about tomorrow,
For you do not know what a day may bring forth.

2 Let another man praise you, and not your own mouth;
A stranger, and not your own lips.

3 A stone is heavy and sand is weighty,
But a fool's wrath is heavier than both of them.

4 Wrath is cruel and anger a torrent,
But who is able to stand before jealousy?

5 Open rebuke is better
Than love carefully concealed.

26:20–22 Destructive words create strife and wound deeply. Inestimable damage is done by those who deliberately use their speech to harm the reputations of other people (see Prov. 25, Gossip). Just as a fire goes out when there is no fuel, a quarrel dies down when there is no gossip. Gossip spreads like a fire; it is untameable (see Prov. 11:13, note).

27:1, 2 The uncertainty of the future makes it presumptuous to predict what tomorrow will bring. This does not discourage wise planning for the future and, in fact, encourages wise use of today. Therefore, it is prideful to assert that anyone has knowledge of tomorrow (James 4:13–16). Another form of pride is self-praise. It is far wiser to let another issue your praise.

27:5, 6 Open rebuke suggests constructive criticism or loving correction and is the evidence of the love of a true friend. Concealed love is too cowardly to admit that rebuke and correction are necessary ingredients in the edification that is a part of genuine friendship.

6 Faithful are the wounds of a friend,
But the kisses of an enemy are deceitful.

7 A satisfied soul loathes the honeycomb,
But to a hungry soul every bitter thing is sweet.

8 Like a bird that wanders from its nest
Is a man who wanders from his place.

9 Ointment and perfume delight the heart,
And the sweetness of a man's friend gives delight by hearty counsel.

10 Do not forsake your own friend or your father's friend,
Nor go to your brother's house in the day of your calamity;
Better is a neighbor nearby than a brother far away.

11 My son, be wise, and make my heart glad,
That I may answer him who reproaches me.

12 A prudent man foresees evil and hides himself;
The simple pass on and are punished.

13 Take the garment of him who is surety for a stranger,
And hold it in pledge when he is surety for a seductress.

14 He who blesses his friend with a loud voice, rising early in the morning,
It will be counted a curse to him.

15 A continual dripping on a very rainy day
And a contentious woman are alike;
16 Whoever restrains her restrains the wind,
And grasps oil with his right hand.

17 As iron sharpens iron,
So a man sharpens the countenance of his friend.

18 Whoever keeps the fig tree will eat its fruit;
So he who waits on his master will be honored.

19 As in water face reflects face,
So a man's heart reveals the man.

20 Hell[a] and Destruction[b] are never full;
So the eyes of man are never satisfied.

21 The refining pot is for silver and the furnace for gold,
And a man is valued by what others say of him.

22 Though you grind a fool in a mortar with a pestle along with crushed grain,
Yet his foolishness will not depart from him.

23 Be diligent to know the state of your flocks,
And attend to your herds;
24 For riches are not forever,
Nor does a crown endure to all generations.
25 When the hay is removed, and the tender grass shows itself,
And the herbs of the mountains are gathered in,
26 The lambs will provide your clothing,
And the goats the price of a field;
27 You shall have enough goats' milk for your food,
For the food of your household,
And the nourishment of your maidservants.

28 The wicked flee when no one pursues,
But the righteous are bold as a lion.

2 Because of the transgression of a land, many are its princes;
But by a man of understanding and knowledge
Right will be prolonged.

3 A poor man who oppresses the poor
Is like a driving rain which leaves no food.

27:20 [a]Or Sheol [b]Hebrew Abaddon

27:9 Hearty counsel (lit. "advice of the soul") is saturated with compassion. It gives delight, edifies, and encourages.

27:10 Long-term friendship is precious indeed. It is not intended to demean the help of a brother but to emphasize that of a trusted friend (see Luke 1, Friendship). We cannot choose brothers or sisters, but a friend, freely chosen, can sometimes be closer than a blood relative. Often a relative lives far away, and a friend who is nearby is an immediate help in time of trial.

27:15, 16 A contentious woman is as untameable as the wind and as slippery as oil (see Prov. 19:13, note). Her character is unsteady, and she cannot be restrained. "Restrains" (lit. "hide") suggests that this woman's contentious character cannot be hidden from neighbors and friends. Concealing her contentious spirit is like attempting to enclose the wind.

27:17 Constructive criticism can be a precious link between two friends. Iron rubbed against iron shapes and sharpens it. In the same way, discussion and soul-searching interaction between friends bring obvious changes. A woman's thinking and even her face are shaped and sharpened as a result of her "rubbing together" with another.

27:23–27 Care and diligent concern over what God has provided to meet the needs of life is the practical message of these verses. Such care takes hard work and effort and is evidence of great wisdom. The pastoral scene beautifully calls to remembrance that money does not last (v. 24). Deep satisfaction arises naturally for a job well done (v. 23).

28:9 Those who do not listen to God cannot expect God to listen to them. "Turns away his ear" indicates a decision to turn from the path of wisdom. The activities of such a person, even his prayers, are an "abomination" to the Lord.

FAVORITISM THE NEED FOR EQUAL LOVE

Though a parent may feel a special rapport with a child—same interests, similar physical characteristics, compatible goals—a parent errs in consistently offering special consideration, responsibility, or privilege to one child to the exclusion of another (Gen. 25:28). Some parents favor beauty or intellect; others elevate the child who is difficult or a troublemaker. Some seek to undercut the brighter child or more spiritually sensitive child in order to compensate for her sibling who is not gifted in the same way.

One child may be showered with attention and the others ignored (Gen. 37:3). Anger, resentment, and insecurity will arise in the child denied (v. 4); guilt and defensiveness or even tyranny may characterize the one singled out for attention (vv. 5–11). A child may also be singled out for criticism and unrealistic expectations with the burden of never being able to measure up (Prov. 11:29).

Each child should be given praise and recognition in inclusive, not exclusive, ways (Prov. 25:11). A parent should build on a child's strengths, allowing for differences (Prov. 24:3). A child should be enjoyed and accepted for who she is, not what she may do for you. Comparison must be avoided (2 Cor. 10:12). A parent does well to love equally but appreciate individually (Ps. 32:8). Fair and equal are not synonymous, but both are necessary in relating to children.

4 Those who forsake the law praise the wicked,
But such as keep the law contend with them.

5 Evil men do not understand justice,
But those who seek the LORD understand all.

6 Better is the poor who walks in his integrity
Than one perverse in his ways, though he be rich.

7 Whoever keeps the law is a discerning son,
But a companion of gluttons shames his father.

8 One who increases his possessions by usury and extortion
Gathers it for him who will pity the poor.

9 One who turns away his ear from hearing the law,
Even his prayer is an abomination.

10 Whoever causes the upright to go astray in an evil way,
He himself will fall into his own pit;
But the blameless will inherit good.

11 The rich man is wise in his own eyes,
But the poor who has understanding searches him out.

12 When the righteous rejoice, there is great glory;
But when the wicked arise, men hide themselves.

13 He who covers his sins will not prosper,
But whoever confesses and forsakes them will have mercy.

14 Happy is the man who is always reverent,
But he who hardens his heart will fall into calamity.

15 Like a roaring lion and a charging bear
Is a wicked ruler over poor people.

16 A ruler who lacks understanding is a great oppressor,
But he who hates covetousness will prolong his days.

17 A man burdened with bloodshed will flee into a pit;
Let no one help him.

28:11 The rich person's success does not mean he has obtained wisdom. The poor person who is wise and has understanding can see through the pretentious facade of one who seems "to have it all."

28:13 Covers his sin carries with it the notion of refusing to admit guilt. King David found that hiding sin only led to negative physical, emotional, and spiritual consequences. His body wasted away, he groaned all day long, and his vitality was drained (Ps. 32:3, 4). The same consequences will fall on any man or woman who refuses to admit guilt. But confession brings peace and joy as sin is first uncovered and then covered by God with His forgiveness (Ps. 32:1, 5; 51:5, 6, note). "Confess" and "forsake" imply a changing of mind about sin. The name of the Lord is confessed as the sin is forgiven (1 John 1:9).

28:14 Reverence here is the awesome fear and dread of sin and its consequences (contrast Prov. 1:7, referring to the "fear of the Lord"). The one who "hardens his heart" disregards such fear and does what he pleases. He gives no thought to God's punishment of sin.

18 Whoever walks blamelessly will be saved,
But he who is perverse in his ways will suddenly fall.

19 He who tills his land will have plenty of bread,
But he who follows frivolity will have poverty enough!

20 A faithful man will abound with blessings,
But he who hastens to be rich will not go unpunished.

21 To show partiality is not good,
Because for a piece of bread a man will transgress.

22 A man with an evil eye hastens after riches,
And does not consider that poverty will come upon him.

23 He who rebukes a man will find more favor afterward
Than he who flatters with the tongue.

24 Whoever robs his father or his mother,
And says, "It is no transgression,"
The same is companion to a destroyer.

25 He who is of a proud heart stirs up strife,
But he who trusts in the LORD will be prospered.

26 He who trusts in his own heart is a fool,
But whoever walks wisely will be delivered.

27 He who gives to the poor will not lack,
But he who hides his eyes will have many curses.

28 When the wicked arise, men hide themselves;
But when they perish, the righteous increase.

29 He who is often rebuked, and hardens his neck,
Will suddenly be destroyed, and that without remedy.

2 When the righteous are in authority, the people rejoice;
But when a wicked man rules, the people groan.

3 Whoever loves wisdom makes his father rejoice,
But a companion of harlots wastes his wealth.

4 The king establishes the land by justice,
But he who receives bribes overthrows it.

5 A man who flatters his neighbor
Spreads a net for his feet.

6 By transgression an evil man is snared,
But the righteous sings and rejoices.

7 The righteous considers the cause of the poor,
But the wicked does not understand such knowledge.

8 Scoffers set a city aflame,
But wise men turn away wrath.

9 If a wise man contends with a foolish man,
Whether the fool rages or laughs, there is no peace.

10 The bloodthirsty hate the blameless,
But the upright seek his well-being.[a]

11 A fool vents all his feelings,[a]
But a wise man holds them back.

12 If a ruler pays attention to lies,
All his servants become wicked.

13 The poor man and the oppressor have this in common:
The LORD gives light to the eyes of both.

14 The king who judges the poor with truth,
His throne will be established forever.

29:10 [a]Literally soul 29:11 [a]Literally spirit

29:7 A compassionate attitude toward those in need demonstrates a godly character. The "woman of strength" extends her hands to the poor (Prov. 31:20).

29:11 The slave to impulse has no power to keep back the expression of what he feels. Every feeling is voiced; every emotion or gripe is vented. Such a person has no control over his words and actions. In contrast, the wise person keeps himself under control. Although he feels irritation, he is characterized by self-control; his irritation does not explode in anger. "Hold them back" (lit. "soothe" or "still") is the calming of the storm of emotions.

29:15 The rebuke (verbal discipline) and the rod (physical discipline) are tools used to make children wise (Prov. 17:10). The "child left to himself" lives without restriction, allowed to run wild and go unchecked (see Prov. 22, Children). This child brings shame to his mother. How difficult to find the balance. Often, parents are inconsistent—not faithful in discipline or too severe in punishment. Much prayer, patience, and perseverance is needed to be a parent with the right mixture of love and discipline. But it is worth the effort (Prov. 29:17).

BOLDNESS A MEMORABLE PRESENCE

Biblical boldness (Gk. parrēsia, lit. "all speech") describes clear communication unhindered by fear (Phil. 1:14). A woman can be frank in her speech because of confidence in her spirit (Phil. 1:20). Such determination to make your opinions known gives memorable presence and makes your influence felt.

Boldness should not be equated with obnoxious or aggressive personalities. It is a gift to be sought by every believer. We ask and receive boldness from God (Acts 4:29–31). New Testament boldness is not found in safe and secure places but rather where God's Word needs to be on the cutting edge to penetrate the hearts and minds of the individuals to whom we relate.

God uses boldness for His own purpose. Our weakness is used of God to prove His strength (Acts 4:13). Rahab, the prostitute, acted to aid God's people and save herself and her family. Her boldness brought forgiveness for her sins and a place in the genealogy of the Messiah (Josh. 6:17, 22–25; Matt. 1:5). Abigail, the wife of an abusive husband, acted redemptively in making a bold personal appeal to David for the lives of her husband and their servants (1 Sam. 25:23–35). Ruth, the Gentile widow, accepted her mother-in-law's plan and boldly asked Boaz to be her kinsman-redeemer and become her husband (Ruth 3:1–11).

Queen Esther knew that God was in control of the king (Prov. 21:1), and she made her intercession for her people first to the Lord (Esth. 4:15, 16). She continued to be sensitive to God's timing and patiently waited for the ideal opportunity to make her bold request to Ahasuerus (Esth. 5—8). Esther did not attempt to usurp the authority of her husband the king, nor did she seek to deceive him or the court, nor did she devise a plan of manipulation (Esth. 5:2–8).

Submission and boldness are not antithetical. When boldness is founded on unwavering confidence in the Lord and kept within the boundaries God has set, a woman can stand for right even in the face of overwhelming opposition and receive the blessing and favor of God.

15 The rod and rebuke give wisdom,
But a child left to himself brings shame to his mother.

16 When the wicked are multiplied, transgression increases;
But the righteous will see their fall.

17 Correct your son, and he will give you rest;
Yes, he will give delight to your soul.

18 Where there is no revelation,[a] the people cast off restraint;
But happy is he who keeps the law.

19 A servant will not be corrected by mere words;
For though he understands, he will not respond.

20 Do you see a man hasty in his words?
There is more hope for a fool than for him.

21 He who pampers his servant from childhood
Will have him as a son in the end.

22 An angry man stirs up strife,
And a furious man abounds in transgression.

23 A man's pride will bring him low,
But the humble in spirit will retain honor.

24 Whoever is a partner with a thief hates his own life;
He swears to tell the truth,[a] but reveals nothing.

25 The fear of man brings a snare,
But whoever trusts in the LORD shall be safe.

26 Many seek the ruler's favor,
But justice for man comes from the LORD.

27 An unjust man is an abomination to the righteous,
And he who is upright in the way is an abomination to the wicked.

The Wisdom of Agur

30 The words of Agur the son of Jakeh, his utterance. This man declared to Ithiel—to Ithiel and Ucal:

29:18 [a]Or prophetic vision 29:24 [a]Literally hears the adjuration

30:1–33 The words of Agur form a separate collection of Proverbs and are somewhat different in tone from the rest of the book. A variety of literary forms have been used, including prayer, argument, instruction, and enchanting numerical say-

[2]Surely I am more stupid than any man,
And do not have the understanding of a man.
[3]I neither learned wisdom
Nor have knowledge of the Holy One.

[4]Who has ascended into heaven, or descended?
Who has gathered the wind in His fists?
Who has bound the waters in a garment?
Who has established all the ends of the earth?
What is His name, and what is His Son's name,
If you know?

[5]Every word of God is pure;
He is a shield to those who put their trust in Him.
[6]Do not add to His words,
Lest He rebuke you, and you be found a liar.

[7]Two things I request of You (Deprive me not before I die):
[8]Remove falsehood and lies far from me;
Give me neither poverty nor riches—
Feed me with the food allotted to me;
[9]Lest I be full and deny You,
And say, "Who is the LORD?"
Or lest I be poor and steal,
And profane the name of my God.

[10]Do not malign a servant to his master,
Lest he curse you, and you be found guilty.

[11]There is a generation that curses its father,
And does not bless its mother.
[12]There is a generation that is pure in its own eyes,
Yet is not washed from its filthiness.
[13]There is a generation— oh, how lofty are their eyes!
And their eyelids are lifted up.
[14]There is a generation whose teeth are like swords,
And whose fangs are like knives,
To devour the poor from off the earth,
And the needy from among men.

Give and Give!

THE ANSWER TO INAPPROPRIATE ANGER

MEMORIZE AND MEDITATE ON THESE SCRIPTURES.

Don't give full vent to your anger (Prov. 29:11).

Don't take revenge on a violator (Rom. 12:19).

Don't get caught up in name-calling (Matt. 5:22).

Don't expect perfection from people (Rom. 3:10, 23).

Seek out the source of your anger (Ps. 139:23, 24).

Ask your wise God for His wisdom (James 1:5).

Be slow to speak if angry (James 1:19, 20).

Release your right to stay angry (Col. 3:8).

Give your anger to God (1 Pet. 5:7).

Pray for those who persecute you (Matt. 5:44).

Forgive as the Lord forgave you (Col. 3:13).

Trust God to bring good from your trials (Rom. 8:28).

Stay ready to forgive anyone for anything (Eph. 4:31, 32).

Lord, I see that "anger" is one little letter away from "danger."

There are three things that are never satisfied,
Four never say, "Enough!":

ings that are more like puzzles than proverbs. The questions of verse 4 remind us of Job 38—41. Nothing is known of Agur, but he was apparently a well-known sage. Ithiel and Ucal were evidently his students or possibly his sons. Agur shows a spirit of humility (Prov. 30:1–9). Genuine humility is seen in Scripture as a sign of wisdom and greatness (see Prov. 22:4).

30:2–4 Words of doubt and skepticism seem to belong to the Book of Job or Ecclesiastes more than to the Book of Proverbs. These words show that part of the ministry of the teachers, along with their instruction in the path of wisdom, was dealing with uncertainties of faith. Agur says that he is incapable of comprehending the mind of finite man. How could he presume to try to understand the workings of God's infinite mind! There is no evidence that Agur has not applied himself to the study of wisdom but rather that after all his study, he still has not mastered the subject (v. 3).

30:7–9 The numerical sayings are introduced here by the words "two things." Agur's humility (vv. 2, 3) is reaffirmed as he was more concerned with character than with wealth and an easy life. He acknowledged his own frailty and asked for circumstances that would enable him to keep his eyes on God.

30:11–14 A generation is used here to depict a certain group who possess the common characteristics of the disrepectful (v. 11), the hypocrite (v. 12), the proud (v. 13), and the greedy (v. 14).

30:15, 16 Greed, symbolized by the "leech," is the theme of these verses. The "two daughters" refer to the two suckers of

COVETOUSNESS A HEART OF GREED

A materialistic society demands that we constantly be in a state of acquisition for more and more. We often are mentally assaulted by messages that say, "You don't have enough, nor will you ever."

"Feed me with the food allotted to me" (Prov. 30:8) is a refreshing cry of the heart. To realize that we can trust God to give us our portion, and that it will be sufficient, is a relief (Matt. 6:8).

When David became involved with Bathsheba, their adultery and ultimately the murder of Uriah were not his only sins. His root sin was covetousness (2 Sam. 12:1–8). God reminded David of all the people, power, and prosperity he had received. He continued, "And if that had been too little, I also would have given you much more!" An ungrateful heart and eyes that continue to seek more can lead to deadly consequences.

To free your heart of covetousness:

- Repent of a discontented heart (Phil. 4:11, 12).
- Set your heart on things eternal (1 John 2:15–17).
- Trust that God will keep His promises (Phil. 4:19; Heb. 13:5).
- Yield to God's plan for your life (2 Cor. 9:8–10).

17 The eye that mocks his father,
And scorns obedience to his mother,

Yes, four which I do not understand:
19 The way of an eagle in the air,
The way of a serpent on a rock,
The way of a ship in the midst of the sea,
And the way of a man with a virgin.

20 This is the way of an adulterous woman:
She eats and wipes her mouth,
And says, "I have done no wickedness."

21 For three things the earth is perturbed,
Yes, for four it cannot bear up:
22 For a servant when he reigns,
A fool when he is filled with food,
23 A hateful woman when she is married,
And a maidservant who succeeds her mistress.

24 There are four things which are little on the earth,
But they are exceedingly wise:
25 The ants are a people not strong,
Yet they prepare their food in the summer;
26 The rock badgers[a] are a feeble folk,
Yet they make their homes in the crags;
27 The locusts have no king,
Yet they all advance in ranks;
28 The spider[a] skillfully grasps with its hands,
And it is in kings' palaces.

29 There are three things which are majestic in pace,
Yes, four which are stately in walk:
30 A lion, which is mighty among beasts
And does not turn away from any;
31 A greyhound,[a]
A male goat also,
And a king whose troops are with him.[b]

32 If you have been foolish in exalting yourself,
Or if you have devised evil, put your hand on your mouth.

And wringing the nose produces blood,
So the forcing of wrath produces strife.

The Words of King Lemuel's Mother

WIVES CALLED TO BE STRONG AND AFFIRMING

Being a godly wife begins with the right priorities—nourishing your personal relationship to God (Matt. 6:33), ministering to your husband (Prov. 18:22; 19:14), nurturing your children (2 Tim. 1:5), keeping your home (Titus 2:5), then adding whatever other activities time and energy permit (Prov. 31:10–31).

This passage praises a "virtuous wife" (lit. "woman of strength") in the form of an acrostic, with each successive verse beginning with one of the twenty-two letters in the Hebrew alphabet. This divinely inspired portrait of an ideal wife includes: pleasant appearance (v. 22, giving her husband a sense of pride), godly character (vv. 10–12, 17, 25, 30, 31, without a materialistic mindset), efficiency in homemaking (vv. 13–15, 21, 27, seeing value in the mundane household tasks), helpfulness to her husband (vv. 11, 23, 28, especially when he is emotionally and spiritually drained), attentiveness to her children (v. 28, understanding the awesome task of producing the next generation), interest in her community (vv. 20, 26), willingness to use energies and creativity (vv. 16, 18, 19, 24), and determination to be worthy of honor and commendation (vv. 28–31).

These very positive qualities are contrasted with the "contentious" wife (Prov. 19:13; 21:9, 19) and "immoral" (in some translations "strange") woman elsewhere (Prov. 5:3–14, 20; 6:24–32; 7:6–27).

A wife also has unique needs that are best met by her own husband:

- Spiritual leadership, including family worship of prayer and Bible study (1 Pet. 3:7)
- Personal affirmation (Eph. 5:25)
- Tender loving care, including touching, courtesies, and loving words (Prov. 5:19)
- Intimate, sensitive, and understanding communication (Song 2:16)
- Integrity worthy of respect and transparency so that nothing is hidden (Gen. 2:25)
- Provision and sustenance as well as protection (Gen. 2:15)
- Commitment of loyal devotion (Eccl. 9:9)

Scripture describes the creation of woman with the word "made" (Heb. banah, lit. "build"). God planned and supervised this "building" of the woman with the intent that she would be a "helper comparable to the man" (Heb 'ezer kenegdo). Unlike the animals, the woman was of the same nature as the man (Gen. 2:23). The word "helper" is also used to describe God (Ps. 33:20). It is a term of function rather than worth. A woman does not lose value as a person by humbly assuming the role of a helper.

The wife then has the assignment of being her husband's helper: (1) as a spiritual partner, assisting him in obeying the Word of God and in doing spiritual ministries, (2) as a counterpart in linking hands with the Creator to continue the generations, (3) as a confidant to offer comfort and fellowship (Gen. 2:23, 24), and (4) as a companion to provide encouragement and inspiration.

trayed through contrasts between the wise and the foolish (the good and the evil), giving practical, everyday advice for living and relating to people. The excellent wife lives and embodies wisdom in her home, in her community, and in her relationships (Prov. 31:10–31). The key to all she has become is clear: She has feared and reverenced the Lord (vv. 30, 31; Prov. 1:7; 9:10).

THE VIRTUOUS WIFE OF PROVERBS

Many outstanding godly women appear throughout the Bible, but the virtuous wife described here merits special praise (Prov. 31:29). This woman was a wife and mother. For centuries women have been amazed and challenged by her life (v. 31).

The passage describes what kind of wife a woman should be and what kind of woman a man should choose to marry. An acrostic poem, each of the twenty-two verses begins with a successive letter of the Hebrew alphabet, encouraging the memorization of this literary masterpiece. We are told not who she was but what she was. This woman of strength comes alive.

This rare woman was a paragon of virtue: trustworthy, industrious, organized, and loving. Yet amazingly she was able to order the priorities of her world. Her husband totally trusted her; her grown children voluntarily praised her, and her home was a model of efficiency. Still she found time to reach out to her community, to help the poor, and even to increase her family's resources through wise investments and productive management of all placed in her care. Moreover, she was as outwardly beautiful as she was inwardly wise.

The portrait of the virtuous wife closes with the key to her success (v. 30). Illustrating the theme of wisdom found throughout Proverbs, this woman first feared and reverenced God. Therefore, relationships and responsibilities were wisely balanced. She exemplifies the truth spoken by Jesus Christ, "Seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added to you" (Matt. 6:33). A close look at this woman can prove invaluable in helping every woman set her own priorities in managing the time, resources, and giftedness God has given.

The Virtuous Wife

10 Who[a] can find a virtuous[b] wife?
For her worth is far above rubies.
11 The heart of her husband safely trusts her;
So he will have no lack of gain.
12 She does him good and not evil
All the days of her life.
13 She seeks wool and flax,
And willingly works with her hands.
14 She is like the merchant ships,
She brings her food from afar.
15 She also rises while it is yet night,
And provides food for her household,
And a portion for her maidservants.
16 She considers a field and buys it;
From her profits she plants a vineyard.
17 She girds herself with strength,
And strengthens her arms.
18 She perceives that her merchandise is good,
And her lamp does not go out by night.
19 She stretches out her hands to the distaff,
And her hand holds the spindle.
20 She extends her hand to the poor,
Yes, she reaches out her hands to the needy.
21 She is not afraid of snow for her household,
For all her household is clothed with scarlet.
22 She makes tapestry for herself;
Her clothing is fine linen and purple.
23 Her husband is known in the gates,
When he sits among the elders of the land.
24 She makes linen garments and sells them,
And supplies sashes for the merchants.
25 Strength and honor are her clothing;
She shall rejoice in time to come.
26 She opens her mouth with wisdom,
And on her tongue is the law of kindness.
27 She watches over the ways of her household,
And does not eat the bread of idleness.
28 Her children rise up and call her blessed;
Her husband also, and he praises her:
29 "Many daughters have done well,
But you excel them all."
30 Charm is deceitful and beauty is passing,
But a woman who fears the LORD, she shall be praised.
31 Give her of the fruit of her hands,
And let her own works praise her in the gates.

31:10 [a]Verses 10 through 31 are an alphabetic acrostic in Hebrew (compare Psalm 119). [b]Literally a wife of valor, in the sense of all forms of excellence

31:10–12 A virtuous woman (lit. "a woman of strength") is trustworthy and would never do anything to bring dishonor to her husband's name. "All the days of her life" indicates her "forever" commitment to her husband.

31:28, 29 This description of the wise woman of strength ends with the testimony of those who knew her best: her husband and her children. Her children blessed her for their early training. Her husband praised her for her excellence among women. The praise from family was the most meaningful because they were the ones who had observed her in every situation and truly knew her character. Such praise should encourage every woman to follow in the steps and acquire wisdom as did this extraordinary woman.

Ecclesiastes

TITLE

The Hebrew title (qoheleth, "the Preacher," lit. "one who calls together an assembly") is from the root qahal, meaning "assembly" or "congregation" (Eccl. 12:8). Qoheleth appears nowhere else in Scripture. The English title of the book is a transliteration of the Greek ekklesiastes (lit. "one who calls an assembly"), which is the book's title in the Septuagint (a Greek translation of the Old Testament).

AUTHOR

Tradition is strong in ascribing the authorship of Ecclesiastes to King Solomon. The book itself supports this view by asserting that the words are those of "the son of David, king in Jerusalem" (Eccl. 1:1). The author identified himself as "the Preacher," as king reigning over Israel in Jerusalem (Eccl. 1:1, 12), as a wealthy individual (Eccl. 2:7, 8), and as a lover of proverbs (Eccl. 12:9). These characteristics lend further weight to Solomonic authorship.

However, because the name Solomon never appears in Ecclesiastes, Solomonic authorship has been questioned. Martin Luther, in the sixteenth century, was the first to assert non-Solomonic authorship. One basis for the rejection of Solomonic authorship is the interpretation of the author's words as indicating that he was writing at a time when he was no longer king over Israel. However, the phrase translated "was king" could also be translated "have been king," suggesting that the penning of Ecclesiastes came late in Solomon's life (Eccl. 1:12). Solomon "reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel" until his death (1 Kin. 11:42, 43). Furthermore, the author expressed helplessness before the nation's injustices (Eccl. 4:1–3). As king, Solomon had authority to correct such problems. On the other hand, to express helplessness is not the same as being helpless. From what is known of Solomon's life, the Book of Ecclesiastes certainly reflects much of what King Solomon could have taught from his vast experience.

DATE

Those who reject Solomonic authorship date the book as late as the fourth or third century B.C. According to the traditional view of Solomonic authorship, however, the Book of Ecclesiastes was written during the tenth century B.C. when Solomon reigned. This tradition was unquestioned until the sixteenth century and has the stronger support.

BACKGROUND

SETTING: As Wisdom Literature, Ecclesiastes may have been used in an educational setting.

PURPOSE: Ecclesiastes records Qoheleth's observations as he searched for meaning in life. Qoheleth concluded that human wisdom, apart from God is vanity or emptiness. Yet the Preacher ended on a positive note as he observed that the ultimate meaning of life is found only in a right relationship with God.

AUDIENCE: The audience of Qoheleth may have been his pupils. "My son" was the typical way a teacher addressed his students (see Eccl. 12:12).

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: The Book of Ecclesiastes is classified as Wisdom Literature. Wisdom teachers drew conclusions about life from their observations. The wisdom teacher Qoheleth was pessimistic or skeptical in his outlook as he drew conclusions about the meaning of life from human wisdom. Qoheleth employed the literary forms of the proverb, the parable, and repeated refrains ("all is vanity," "under the sun").

THEMES

The theme of Ecclesiastes is the search for life's meaning. Is life worth living, or is it just a meaningless existence that ends in futility? Qoheleth set out to investigate thoroughly what makes life worth living. He discovered that the meaning of life does not lie in labor, luxury, lust, leisure, learning, or liquor. Ultimately, the author realized that a life worth living can be found only in a relationship with the Lord (Eccl. 12:13, 14) and that a life not focused on the Lord is futile and empty. Ecclesiastes reflects the skeptical, pessimistic assessment of human life projected by Qoheleth, yet ends with a declaration of the ultimate purpose of life, which is to obey and glorify God.

The Vanity of Life

1 The words of the Preacher, the son of David, king in Jerusalem.

2 "Vanity[a] of vanities," says the Preacher;
"Vanity of vanities, all is vanity."

3 What profit has a man from all his labor
In which he toils under the sun?
4 One generation passes away, and another generation comes;
But the earth abides forever.
5 The sun also rises, and the sun goes down,
And hastens to the place where it arose.
6 The wind goes toward the south,
And turns around to the north;
The wind whirls about continually,
And comes again on its circuit.
7 All the rivers run into the sea,
Yet the sea is not full;
To the place from which the rivers come,
There they return again.
8 All things are full of labor;
Man cannot express it.
The eye is not satisfied with seeing,
Nor the ear filled with hearing.

9 That which has been is what will be,
That which is done is what will be done,
And there is nothing new under the sun.
10 Is there anything of which it may be said,
"See, this is new"?
It has already been in ancient times before us.
11 There is no remembrance of former things,
Nor will there be any remembrance of things that are to come
By those who will come after.

The Grief of Wisdom

12 I, the Preacher, was king over Israel in Jerusalem. 13 And I set my heart to seek and search out by wisdom concerning all that is done under heaven; this burdensome task God has given to the sons of man, by which they may be exercised. 14 I have seen all the works that are done under the sun; and indeed, all is vanity and grasping for the wind.

15 What is crooked cannot be made straight,
And what is lacking cannot be numbered.

16 I communed with my heart, saying, "Look, I have attained greatness, and have gained more wisdom than all who were before me in Jerusalem. My heart has understood great wisdom and knowledge." 17 And I set my heart to know wisdom and to know madness and folly. I perceived that this also is grasping for the wind.

18 For in much wisdom is much grief,
And he who increases knowledge increases sorrow.

The Vanity of Pleasure

2 I said in my heart, "Come now, I will test you with mirth; therefore enjoy pleasure"; but surely, this also was vanity. 2 I said of laughter—"Madness!"; and of mirth, "What does it accomplish?" 3 I searched in my heart how to gratify my flesh with wine, while guiding my heart with wisdom, and how to lay hold on folly, till I might see what was good for the sons of men to do under heaven all the days of their lives.

4 I made my works great, I built myself houses, and planted myself vineyards. 5 I made myself gardens and orchards, and I planted all kinds of fruit trees in them. 6 I made myself water pools from which to water the growing trees of the grove. 7 I acquired male and female servants, and had servants born in my house. Yes, I had greater possessions of herds and flocks than all who were in Jerusalem before me. 8 I also gathered for myself

1:2 [a]Or Absurdity, Frustration, Futility, Nonsense; and so throughout this book

1:2 Vanity (Heb. hebel, lit. "vapor" or "breath") is used figuratively to describe that which is without substance or transitory. It carries the concept of ultimate meaninglessness, emptiness, or worthlessness. The Preacher began on a less than positive note by declaring that earthly life was hollow and meaningless.

1:3–11 Life is meaningless because it is as a treadmill going nowhere. The word translated "profit" (v. 3) refers to the gain accrued from a business transaction. Qoheleth cited evidence to support his evaluation of the vanity of all human effort. Generation follows generation in a monotonous fashion (v. 4); the sun rises, sets, and comes up again. The wind whirls about on its own circular route. Even the movement of waters on the earth's surface follows a routine, monotonous pattern (vv. 5–7). The author viewed life as constantly in motion but never achieving a meaningful goal (vv. 4–7).

1:9 Under the sun is a frequent and significant phrase of Qoheleth (v. 14; Eccl. 2:11, 18, 19, 20, 22; 3:16; 4:3, 7, 15; 5:13, 18; 6:1, 12; 8:9, 15, 17; 9:3, 6, 9, 11, 13; 10:5). The phrase indicates the limited focus of his vision. As an earthly observer, he could not seem to get his eyes above the limited perspective of life on earth.

1:13–18 Searching for human wisdom alone is a futile quest. Qoheleth determined to make a thorough investigation (v. 13). He ventured to test the competence of human wisdom to discover the principles on which the world is ordered. Solomonic authorship receives strong support since King Solomon was uniquely noted for his great wisdom (v. 16; see 1 Kin. 3; 4:30, 31). Qoheleth concluded that mere human wisdom or knowledge brought only disillusionment and grief (Eccl. 1:18). He evaluated human wisdom as resulting only in increased sorrow and heartache rather than in the achievement of real success.

HEALING OF MEMORIES — A PERSONAL STOREHOUSE

Memories may be either conscious or unconscious; they are stored in our brains and may include thoughts, feelings, and sensory perceptions. Paul realized that he could have hidden thoughts and motives (1 Cor. 4:1–5), and David asked God to search his heart for known anxieties and any hidden wicked way (lit. "way of pain"; Ps. 139:23, 24).

Memories filled with pain are frequently healed when a woman asks the Holy Spirit to touch a known memory or bring to light a hidden memory. In response to this request, God sometimes allows a person to re-experience in varying degrees the hurt stored in the memory. He then enables her to choose to forgive those who victimized her and to repent of any sin of her own. As she brings her deep wound to Him for healing, He touches her and, over a period of time, takes away the pain. In its place the Lord gives her the love, acceptance, tenderness, or encouragement that she lacked from others in that situation. He does not alter the facts of the past; rather, He alters her perception of these facts. Then she is able to move forward with courage and victory in greater wholeness.

silver and gold and the special treasures of kings and of the provinces. I acquired male and female singers, the delights of the sons of men, and musical instruments[a] of all kinds.

9So I became great and excelled more than all who were before me in Jerusalem. Also my wisdom remained with me.

10Whatever my eyes desired I did not keep from them.
I did not withhold my heart from any pleasure,
For my heart rejoiced in all my labor;
And this was my reward from all my labor.
11Then I looked on all the works that my hands had done
And on the labor in which I had toiled;
And indeed all was vanity and grasping for the wind.
There was no profit under the sun.

The End of the Wise and the Fool

12Then I turned myself to consider wisdom and madness and folly;
For what can the man do who succeeds the king?—
Only what he has already done.
13Then I saw that wisdom excels folly
As light excels darkness.
14The wise man's eyes are in his head,
But the fool walks in darkness.
Yet I myself perceived
That the same event happens to them all.

15So I said in my heart,
"As it happens to the fool,
It also happens to me,
And why was I then more wise?"
Then I said in my heart,
"This also is vanity."
16For there is no more remembrance of the wise than of the fool forever,
Since all that now is will be forgotten in the days to come.
And how does a wise man die?
As the fool!

17Therefore I hated life because the work that was done under the sun was distressing to me, for all is vanity and grasping for the wind.

18Then I hated all my labor in which I had toiled under the sun, because I must leave it to the man who will come after me. 19And who knows whether he will be wise or a fool? Yet he will rule over all my labor in which I toiled and in which I have shown myself wise under the sun. This also is vanity. 20Therefore I turned my heart and despaired of all the labor in which I had toiled under the sun. 21For there is a man whose labor is with

2:8 [a]Exact meaning unknown

2:14–16 Qoheleth made a clear distinction between the wise and the foolish. The fool walks in darkness, while the wise focuses on the eternal dimensions of life. The biblical definition of a fool is one who leaves God out of his life in all his actions and thoughts (see Ps. 14:1, note; 53:1). Those who are genuinely wise make God the focus of life. A wise woman orders her daily life in tune with the purposes of God. Yet from Qoheleth's earthly perspective, the wise and the fool would come to a very similar ending. Both would die and soon be forgotten! Thus for Qoheleth, vanity or meaninglessness prevailed.

2:17–23 Dwelling on the negative reflected a lack of faith and finally left Qoheleth in despair. As long as he was still searching for meaning in temporary, worldly things, he met only profitlessness and disappointment (v. 11). He viewed the emptiness or futility of human toil, which upon death must be left as an inheritance to others (vv. 18–23). His heirs might turn out to be shiftless, lazy men who would soon squander what he had worked so long to gain. Thus, Qoheleth faced the ultimate realization that material possessions could not be carried away with the decedent on his death (see Ps. 49).

wisdom, knowledge, and skill; yet he must leave his heritage to a man who has not labored for it. This also is vanity and a great evil. 22For what has man for all his labor, and for the striving of his heart with which he has toiled under the sun? 23For all his days are sorrowful, and his work burdensome; even in the night his heart takes no rest. This also is vanity.

24Nothing is better for a man than that he should eat and drink, and that his soul should enjoy good in his labor. This also, I saw, was from the hand of God. 25For who can eat, or who can have enjoyment, more than I?[a] 26For God gives wisdom and knowledge and joy to a man who is good in His sight; but to the sinner He gives the work of gathering and collecting, that he may give to him who is good before God. This also is vanity and grasping for the wind.

Everything Has Its Time

3 To everything there is a season,
A time for every purpose under heaven:

2A time to be born,
And a time to die;
A time to plant,
And a time to pluck what is planted;
3A time to kill,
And a time to heal;
A time to break down,
And a time to build up;
4A time to weep,
And a time to laugh;
A time to mourn,
And a time to dance;
5A time to cast away stones,
And a time to gather stones;
A time to embrace,
And a time to refrain from embracing;
6A time to gain,
And a time to lose;
A time to keep,
And a time to throw away;
7A time to tear,
And a time to sew;
A time to keep silence,
And a time to speak;
8A time to love,
And a time to hate;
A time of war,
And a time of peace.

The God-Given Task

9What profit has the worker from that in which he labors? 10I have seen the God-given task with which the sons of men are to be occupied. 11He has made everything beautiful in its time. Also He has put eternity in their hearts, except that no one can find out the work that God does from beginning to end.

12I know that nothing is better for them than to rejoice, and to do good in their lives, 13and also that every man should eat and drink and enjoy the good of all his labor—it is the gift of God.

14I know that whatever God does,
It shall be forever.
Nothing can be added to it,
And nothing taken from it.
God does it, that men should fear before Him.
15That which is has already been,
And what is to be has already been;
And God requires an account of what is past.

Injustice Seems to Prevail

16Moreover I saw under the sun:

2:25 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Targum, and Vulgate; some Hebrew manuscripts, Septuagint, and Syriac read without Him.

2:24–26 Qoheleth drew a tentative conclusion about the futility of life in these verses. One should enjoy food, drink, and work, capitalizing on whatever joy he can find. The sovereignty of God is the most important factor in the distribution of gifts (v. 26). A great mystery emerges from the fact that some have wealth and power, while others do not.

3:1–8 Every activity has its proper time as ordained by God. These rhythmic verses affirm that God definitely has a plan. Notice that each verse of this poem cites a characteristic activity of life matched with its opposite (vv. 2–8). Every activity has an appointed time (see Ps. 31, Time Management). We can accept God's timetable or be crushed by it. The God who ordains the routine events of our lives is a compassionate, gracious, faithful God. We must trust His will and rest in Him. Birth and death, sowing and harvesting, weeping and laughing, mourning and dancing, speaking and keeping silent, and war and peace are common occurrences in life. We must fit ourselves appropriately into God's plan for our lives (see Change Points in Life).

3:5 To cast away stones may be a euphemism for marital sex, while "to gather stones" may be a reference to refraining from that activity. Others suggest that these phrases literally refer to throwing stones into a field to prevent its cultivation and collecting the stones so the field can be utilized for planting. A third possibility is that of scattering stones from an old building that has been destroyed, while all the time collecting good stones to build a new structure. The meaning of these verses remains obscure.

3:11 God has imposed limitations on life. As finite beings, we can catch only a small glimpse of God's majestic works. Thus, in recognition of our limitations, we should at least enjoy food, drink, and the results of our labor as God's gifts (vv. 12, 13). Enjoyment itself is a gift from God.

3:14, 15 God's actions cannot be changed by mankind. Therefore, we should live in fear or reverence of Him (v. 14). The cyclical nature of life is now described by Qoheleth (v. 15). Thus, life appears to be just a wearisome treadmill (compare Eccl. 1:3–11, note).

CHANGE POINTS OF LIFE — TIMES OF TRANSITION

Change is an inevitable part of life! While knowledge, experience, and routine foster security, the uncertainty of change is uncomfortable for many people. When circumstances are changing, Christian women can depend on God for strength, guidance, and constancy. He never changes (see Heb. 1:10–12). In times of transition, we can trust a sovereign and loving God to order all the events in our lives according to His purposes (Rom. 8:28).

Every life includes nearly constant contact with change—marriage, career, children, illness, relocations, divorce, retirement. Some changes are voluntary; others are forced by circumstances. Some changes bring joy; others, sorrow and confusion. All changes can become positive, strengthening experiences for those under God's authority.

Women respond to life's changes in different ways. Sometimes there is fear about the unknown. Often women lack self-confidence in times of transition. Others experience frustration, loneliness, and pain. The antidote for these feelings is faith and active obedience. Christian women are challenged to accept the reality of change and provide words of encouragement to those experiencing change.

The study of Scripture is especially important when facing change. Inner strength from God during times of distress results in God's richest blessings forever (2 Cor. 4:7–18). Change can be a gift from God to heighten, deepen, and widen your personal relationship with the Lord. Changes in life are cause to remember that God is faithful yesterday, today, and forever (Heb. 13:8).

In the place of judgment,
Wickedness was there;
And in the place of righteousness,
Iniquity was there.

17 I said in my heart,

"God shall judge the righteous and the wicked,
For there is a time there for every purpose and for every work."

18 I said in my heart, "Concerning the condition of the sons of men, God tests them, that they may see that they themselves are like animals." 19 For what happens to the sons of men also happens to animals; one thing befalls them: as one dies, so dies the other. Surely, they all have one breath; man has no advantage over animals, for all is vanity. 20 All go to one place: all are from the dust, and all return to dust. 21 Who knows the spirit of the sons of men, which goes upward, and the spirit of the animal, which goes down to the earth?[a] 22 So I perceived that nothing is better than that a man should rejoice in his own works, for that is his heritage. For who can bring him to see what will happen after him?

4 Then I returned and considered all the oppression that is done under the sun:

And look! The tears of the oppressed,
But they have no comforter—
On the side of their oppressors there is power,
But they have no comforter.
2 Therefore I praised the dead who were already dead,
More than the living who are still alive.
3 Yet, better than both is he who has never existed,
Who has not seen the evil work that is done
under the sun.

The Vanity of Selfish Toil

4 Again, I saw that for all toil and every skillful work a man is envied by his neighbor. This also is vanity and grasping for the wind.

5 The fool folds his hands
And consumes his own flesh.

3:21 [a]Septuagint, Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate read Who knows whether the spirit . . . goes upward, and whether . . . goes downward to the earth?

3:16—4:6 The oppressed seem to be powerless in confronting their oppressors. The author of Ecclesiastes pondered the prevalence of injustice and oppression in the world. This important fact supported Qoheleth's conclusions regarding the vanity or emptiness of human existence. Life does not seem to deal fairly with people. Equity is hardly upheld in the courts of law (Eccl. 3:16). Thus, Qoheleth could only conclude that God would bring about justice in His own time and way (Eccl. 3:17). Whether or not Qoheleth understood about life after death is not altogether clear (Eccl. 3:21). The prevalent view within Hebrew opinion was that meaningful life really ends at death. From this consideration, Qoheleth drew another temporary conclusion: Enjoy your work, for no one knows what lies ahead (Eccl. 3:22).

4:4–6 Emptiness and vanity result from selfish toil (v. 4). Qoheleth might be saying that working to get ahead of a neigh-

6 Better a handful with quietness Than both hands full, together with toil and grasping for the wind.

7 Then I returned, and I saw vanity under the sun:

8 There is one alone, without companion:
He has neither son nor brother.
Yet there is no end to all his labors,
Nor is his eye satisfied with riches.
But he never asks,
"For whom do I toil and deprive myself of good?"
This also is vanity and a grave misfortune.

The Value of a Friend

9 Two are better than one,
Because they have a good reward for their labor.
10 For if they fall, one will lift up his companion.
But woe to him who is alone when he falls,
For he has no one to help him up.
11 Again, if two lie down together, they will keep warm;
But how can one be warm alone?
12 Though one may be overpowered by another,
two can withstand him.
And a threefold cord is not quickly broken.

Popularity Passes Away

13 Better a poor and wise youth
Than an old and foolish king who will be admonished no more.
14 For he comes out of prison to be king,
Although he was born poor in his kingdom.
15 I saw all the living who walk under the sun;
They were with the second youth who stands in his place.
16 There was no end of all the people over whom he was made king;
Yet those who come afterward will not rejoice
in him.
Surely this also is vanity and grasping for the wind.

Fear God, Keep Your Vows

5 Walk prudently when you go to the house of God; and draw near to hear rather than to give the sacrifice of fools, for they do not know that they do evil.

2 Do not be rash with your mouth,
And let not your heart utter anything hastily before God.
For God is in heaven, and you on earth;
Therefore let your words be few.
3 For a dream comes through much activity,
And a fool's voice is known by his many words.

4 When you make a vow to God, do not delay to pay it;
For He has no pleasure in fools.
Pay what you have vowed—
5 Better not to vow than to vow and not pay.

6 Do not let your mouth cause your flesh to sin, nor say before the messenger of God that it was an error. Why should God be angry at your excuse[a] and destroy the work of your hands? 7 For in the multitude of dreams and many words there is also vanity. But fear God.

The Vanity of Gain and Honor

8 If you see the oppression of the poor, and the violent perversion of justice and righteousness in a province, do not marvel at the matter; for high official watches over high official, and higher officials are over them.

5:6 [a] Literally voice

bor is poor motivation or that the envy of a neighbor undermines the satisfaction the laborer should receive from his toil. Two proverbs are suggested (vv. 5, 6). The first is a warning against laziness (v. 5). The folding of the hands is a gesture of the lazy (see Prov. 6:9–11). Consuming one's own flesh may refer to bringing about personal ruin by constantly consuming instead of producing. The second proverb suggests that while laziness must be avoided, so also must be the drive to work just to get ahead of other people. Satisfaction with a handful is better than to have an abundance motivated by envy (v. 6). The man who works endlessly out of a sense of greed never ends up satisfied with what he has acquired. Work for the sake of work alone is mere vanity (1 Tim. 6:10).

4:9–12 The value of companionship and friendship is the focus of these verses. The selfish individual works in competition with others (v. 8). He misses the reward of cooperation (vv. 9–12). God Himself realized that it was not good for us to be alone (Gen. 2:18; see Loneliness). He made provisions from the beginning for our need of companionship and fellowship with others (see Luke 1, Friendship).

4:13–16 Earthly fame and popularity quickly fade and are not remembered. To make them our chief goals is vanity or emptiness. Qoheleth viewed fame or popularity as an unworthy end in itself. Even a prestigious position never provides lasting happiness and contentment.

5:1–7 Qoheleth warned against a casual approach to worship. He focused on the meaninglessness of insincerity and irreverence in worship. How easy it is to go to church on Sunday and sit through the entire service with our minds far from God. Qoheleth instructed us to listen when we worship (v. 1). Listening in Hebrew thought carried the meaning of obedience. When we read the Scripture and sing the hymns of faith in worship, our words must be sincere (v. 2). Excessive words sometimes indicate a lack of sincerity (v. 3; see Matt. 6:7, 8). We also sin with our speech when we make a pledge we do not keep (Eccl. 5:4–7). Qoheleth ended this section with the admonition to "fear God" (v. 7). Such fear does not refer to cringing servitude but to reverent obedience.

LONELINESS NEVER ALONE

Before God created Eve, He told Adam, "It is not good that man should be alone" (Gen. 2:18). Though not actually alone (for the animals were there), Adam was incomplete without human companionship. Central to God's purpose for His people are relationships with Him and with others (1 John 1:3, 7). Outside this fellowship is loneliness, a sense of isolation, as Adam and Eve were to discover when they disobeyed God (Gen. 3:22–24).

Loneliness, the result of broken relationships, is not the same as aloneness. In order to have a deeply intimate relationship with Christ, we must withdraw periodically from human companionship in order to meet with Him. Such aloneness with Christ is desirable and quite different from the pain of loneliness. We are never truly alone because of our friend Jesus (Prov. 18:24; John 15:15).

Jesus experienced aloneness when He was tempted in the wilderness (Mark 1:12, 13); when He traveled (Matt. 8:19, 20); and when His disciples forsook Him (Mark 14:50). However, He was only lonely once—when on the Cross He was made sin for us (Matt. 27:46).

9 Moreover the profit of the land is for all; even the king is served from the field.

10 He who loves silver will not be satisfied with silver;
Nor he who loves abundance, with increase.
This also is vanity.

11 When goods increase,
They increase who eat them;
So what profit have the owners
Except to see them with their eyes?

12 The sleep of a laboring man is sweet,
Whether he eats little or much;
But the abundance of the rich will not permit him to sleep.

13 There is a severe evil which I have seen under the sun:
Riches kept for their owner to his hurt.
14 But those riches perish through misfortune;
When he begets a son, there is nothing in his hand.
15 As he came from his mother's womb, naked shall he return,
To go as he came;
And he shall take nothing from his labor
Which he may carry away in his hand.

16 And this also is a severe evil—
Just exactly as he came, so shall he go.
And what profit has he who has labored for the wind?
17 All his days he also eats in darkness,
And he has much sorrow and sickness and anger.

18 Here is what I have seen: It is good and fitting for one to eat and drink, and to enjoy the good of all his labor in which he toils under the sun all the days of his life which God gives him; for it is his heritage. 19 As for every man to whom God has given riches and wealth, and given him power to eat of it, to receive his heritage and rejoice in his labor—this is the gift of God. 20 For he will not dwell unduly on the days of his life, because God keeps him busy with the joy of his heart.

6 There is an evil which I have seen under the sun, and it is common among men: 2 A man to whom God has given riches and wealth and honor, so that he lacks nothing for himself of all he desires; yet God does not give him power to eat of it, but a foreigner consumes it. This is vanity, and it is an evil affliction.

5:8–20 Qoheleth warned that the pursuit of wealth or power would lead to the exploitation of the helpless members of society (vv. 8, 9). Wealth never brings inner satisfaction (vv. 10–12). Thus, the accumulation of riches is vanity or emptiness. Riches may disappear at any time (vv. 13–17) so that those who are wealthy today may end up in poverty tomorrow. Ultimately, death comes to us all, and we all face the grave empty-handed. Qoheleth instructed us that wise living consists of enjoying what God has provided (vv. 18–20). Qoheleth's philosophy is that we should learn to accept and enjoy our lot or position in life, whatever it may be. The transitory nature of life should not prevent us from enjoying God's gifts.

6:1–6 The possession of riches, wealth, and honor does not guarantee joy or pleasure in life (v. 2). For the phrase "under the sun," see Ecclesiastes 1:9, note. The phrase "to eat" means "to enjoy" or "to utilize" (Eccl. 6:2). Many children and a long life were signs of God's blessing (Ps. 127:3–5, note; Prov. 3:16). The stillborn child who never had opportunity to enjoy life's benefits is better off than the individual who never knew how to enjoy what he already possessed.

[3]If a man begets a hundred children and lives many years, so that the days of his years are many, but his soul is not satisfied with goodness, or indeed he has no burial, I say that a stillborn child is better than he— [4]for it comes in vanity and departs in darkness, and its name is covered with darkness. [5]Though it has not seen the sun or known anything, this has more rest than that man, [6]even if he lives a thousand years twice—but has not seen goodness. Do not all go to one place?

[7]All the labor of man is for his mouth,
And yet the soul is not satisfied.
[8]For what more has the wise man than the fool?
What does the poor man have,
Who knows how to walk before the living?
[9]Better is the sight of the eyes than the wandering of desire.
This also is vanity and grasping for the wind.

[10]Whatever one is, he has been named already,
For it is known that he is man;
And he cannot contend with Him who is mightier than he.
[11]Since there are many things that increase vanity,
How is man the better?

[12]For who knows what is good for man in life, all the days of his vain life which he passes like a shadow? Who can tell a man what will happen after him under the sun?

The Value of Practical Wisdom

7 A good name is better than precious ointment,
And the day of death than the day of one's birth;
[2]Better to go to the house of mourning

6:7–12 A person should enjoy the present rather than continually longing for more possessions and greater achievements in the future. Qoheleth questioned the value of a man's labor. He worked to feed himself but would be hungry again. He never would be satisfied permanently. Thus, Qoheleth stated his philosophy: "Enjoy life now" (v. 9). "The sight of the eyes" refers to the tangible present (v. 9). Qoheleth expressed a deterministic viewpoint. He believed that life was part of a prearranged system that could not be changed (vv. 10–12). All we could do in such a system would be to enjoy the present because no one would know what the future might bring.

7:1–29 Vanity of human wisdom. In these reflections on practical wisdom Qoheleth stressed the value of moderation. In a

ANGER ACT OR REACT

Anger can most often be defined as an emotional response to a perceived wrong or injustice. Hence, anger is normally expressed when a woman misinterprets circumstances, makes a mistake in judgment, or reacts quickly because she feels threatened or hurt. This anger is unjustified and sinful. This anger, in effect, denies the power of God to care for your needs and hurts and can even completely take over your life. There are many warnings about the danger of anger in Scripture (Eccl. 7:9; Matt. 5:22; Eph. 4:26, 31). Most often, you should leave your anger or wrath at the feet of Jesus and allow Him to act in your behalf.

God's anger is always perfectly controlled and expressed (Ps. 30:5; 78:38). There are examples of righteous anger given in Scripture, such as Moses' anger toward the children of Israel for not trusting God and following Him (Ex. 32:19). Righteous anger can be described as one that results when God's laws and His will are knowingly disobeyed. The concern must be for righteousness and reconciliation, never for personal vengeance coming out of our own hurts. We must be careful to take our anger to the Lord for Him to analyze and manage.

Do you act or *re*act? The answer to this simple question will most likely reveal any weaknesses you have in expressing the emotion of anger. A person who acts knows who she is, what she believes, and how she should behave (Col. 3:23, 24). She not only knows this information, but she chooses to act on it. Another person's actions do not dictate her reactions, but rather the wisdom of the Lord is her mainstay (Col. 3:16, 17).

Than to go to the house of feasting,
For that is the end of all men;
And the living will take it to heart.
3 Sorrow is better than laughter,
For by a sad countenance the heart is made better.
4 The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning,
But the heart of fools is in the house of mirth.

5 It is better to hear the rebuke of the wise
Than for a man to hear the song of fools.
6 For like the crackling of thorns under a pot,
So is the laughter of the fool.
This also is vanity.
7 Surely oppression destroys a wise man's reason,
And a bribe debases the heart.

8 The end of a thing is better than its beginning;
The patient in spirit is better than the proud in spirit.
9 Do not hasten in your spirit to be angry,
For anger rests in the bosom of fools.
10 Do not say,
"Why were the former days better than these?"
For you do not inquire wisely concerning this.

11 Wisdom is good with an inheritance,
And profitable to those who see the sun.
12 For wisdom is a defense as money is a defense,
But the excellence of knowledge is that wisdom gives life to those who have it.

13 Consider the work of God;
For who can make straight what He has made crooked?
14 In the day of prosperity be joyful,
But in the day of adversity consider:

series of proverbs Qoheleth mentioned certain values that are to be sought. These godly values were not just rules but a way of life that would bring happiness and fulfillment.

7:1 A good name was equated with one's character or reputation in Hebrew thought (see Prov. 22:1). Death is preferred over birth because the newborn has had no chance to develop a good reputation, but the man on his deathbed may rejoice in having earned a good name.

7:3 Sorrow or grief is better than laughter, for sorrow leads to reflection about the serious nature of life and its ultimate meaning. We also learn lessons from sorrow that we can learn in no other way. Sorrow accepted in the right way draws us closer to the Lord and closer to other people. Grief can help us get priorities in order (Is. 53, Grief).

7:8 The success of a particular venture can only be evaluated properly at its end. How an endeavor ends is much more important than how it began (see 1 Kin. 20:11). Thus, a wise man or woman is content to wait patiently and not demand immediate results. Patience is necessary to accomplish any successful achievement. The spirit of patience is preferable to the spirit of false pride.

7:9 Anger can cause us to act foolishly. The wise woman controls her temper rather than being controlled by it. Undisciplined anger can destroy our lives. Qoheleth warns us not to get angry too quickly (see Prov. 14:7; James 1:19; chart, The Answer to Inappropriate Anger).

Surely God has appointed the one as well as the other,
So that man can find out nothing that will come after him.

15 I have seen everything in my days of vanity:

There is a just man who perishes in his righteousness,
And there is a wicked man who prolongs life in his wickedness.

16 Do not be overly righteous,
Nor be overly wise:
Why should you destroy yourself?
17 Do not be overly wicked,
Nor be foolish:
Why should you die before your time?
18 It is good that you grasp this,
And also not remove your hand from the other;
For he who fears God will escape them all.

19 Wisdom strengthens the wise
More than ten rulers of the city.

20 For there is not a just man on earth who does good
And does not sin.

21 Also do not take to heart everything people say,
Lest you hear your servant cursing you.
22 For many times, also, your own heart has known
That even you have cursed others.

23 All this I have proved by wisdom.
I said, "I will be wise";
But it was far from me.
24 As for that which is far off and exceedingly deep,
Who can find it out?
25 I applied my heart to know,
To search and seek out wisdom and the reason of things,
To know the wickedness of folly,
Even of foolishness and madness.
26 And I find more bitter than death
The woman whose heart is snares and nets,
Whose hands are fetters.
He who pleases God shall escape from her,
But the sinner shall be trapped by her.

27 "Here is what I have found," says the Preacher,
"Adding one thing to the other to find out the reason, 28 Which my soul still seeks but I cannot find:
One man among a thousand I have found,
But a woman among all these I have not found.
29 Truly, this only I have found:
That God made man upright,
But they have sought out many schemes."

8 Who is like a wise man?
And who knows the interpretation of a thing?
A man's wisdom makes his face shine,
And the sternness of his face is changed.

Obey Authorities for God's Sake

2 I say, "Keep the king's commandment for the sake of your oath to God. 3 Do not be hasty to go from his presence. Do not take your stand for an evil thing, for he does whatever pleases him."

4 Where the word of a king is, there is power;
And who may say to him, "What are you doing?"

7:16–18 Life is filled with mysteries we cannot comprehend (see Providence). The righteous die young, and the wicked live a long life (v. 15). Therefore, Qoheleth recommended moderation. If you live in moderation and fear God, according to Qoheleth, you will come out all right in the end. No one does good all the time (v. 20).

7:21, 22 Qoheleth's advice is not to take what others say about you too seriously. An individual may praise you to your face and condemn you behind your back. Qoheleth reminded us that we have been guilty of speaking evil things of others. We should not be too surprised to hear bad things being spoken about us because we are all a mixture of good and evil.

7:23–29 Qoheleth does not deny the existence of an upright woman. However, he does note that a good woman is hard to find (v. 28). Qoheleth confessed that he himself had not found wisdom. What he denied to women, he did not claim for himself. Few women or men measure up to Qoheleth's definition of what constitutes a wise individual. The wise woman or man avoids wickedness. A wise woman is to be a motivator, not a manipulator. Her lifestyle is not "snares and nets" that entrap but Christlike character that attracts. "The woman whose heart is snares and nets" used her beauty to seduce and manipulate to get her own way. Qoheleth found this kind of woman to be "more bitter than death." It was difficult to escape her grasp. A man who does not flee from such a woman is a fool (Prov. 7:5, 21). Solomon had learned through experience the tragedy of ignoring God's plan for marriage by building up an extensive royal harem instead of settling for one good wife (Eccl. 7:26; see also Eccl. 9:9; Prov. 31:10–31). God created people good, but they have made themselves evil by their own schemes (Eccl. 7:29).

8:2–9 Wisdom involves submission to authorities. People employed in the service of the government wisely obey even when a task is personally unpleasant (v. 3). Yet the wise man will choose the best manner and the proper time for carrying out a command (vv. 5, 6) and accept the fact that he will not like everything he will have to do. Qoheleth also reminded us of another inevitability to which we must all submit—the reality of death (v. 8). Note the phrase "under the sun" (Eccl. 1:9, note).

PROVIDENCE PATIENT WAITING

The theme of God's providential care for His created order is woven throughout Scripture. In the Sermon on the Mount, Jesus assured His hearers of His presence in the midst of their trials (Matt. 6:25–34).

God's eternal and unfailing purpose is to sustain and direct His created beings (Matt. 6:10) from the beginning of creation into eternity (John 5:17). He has shown His providential care again and again (2 Tim. 1:12), extending it from the least to the greatest, covering the sinner and the saved.

Esther was simultaneously the humble Jewess, honoring her husband, and the queen of Persia, delivering her people. The God who controlled the cruel and despotic Ahasuerus of Persia has ultimate power over every situation. God's control is all-inclusive and absolutely certain, but at the same time every individual is responsible for her own decisions and actions. Still, no one can defeat the plans of God since all actions are included in His active or permissive will.

We are not under the tyranny of blind fate or an inviolable law of cause and effect, which by definition would seem to imply that there is a realm into which God cannot enter (Prov. 16:33). The events of our universe are ordered by a compassionate, gracious, longsuffering, faithful God (Ps. 16:9–11).

God has not promised that everything happening to us will be what we consider good. However, if tragedy strikes, we have only to wait patiently for His hour of redemption. God is able to cause even unfortunate happenings to work for good to those who love the Lord (Rom. 8:28). Nothing can happen to us apart from God's knowledge, presence, and love so that even in the most desperate circumstances we can be assured that God is working on our behalf for our eternal good. God is for us; He is not against us (Rom. 8:31, 32). In the tension between blessing and adversity, we recognize our complete dependence on Him, as well as His sovereignty over our own decisions and actions.

5 He who keeps his command will experience
nothing harmful;
And a wise man's heart discerns both time and judgment,
6 Because for every matter there is a time and
judgment,
Though the misery of man increases greatly.
7 For he does not know what will happen;
So who can tell him when it will occur?
8 No one has power over the spirit to retain the spirit,
And no one has power in the day of death.
There is no release from that war,
And wickedness will not deliver those who are given to it.

9 All this I have seen, and applied my heart to every work that is done under the sun: There is a time in which one man rules over another to his own hurt.

Death Comes to All

10 Then I saw the wicked buried, who had come and gone from the place of holiness, and they were forgotten[a] in the city where they had so done. This also is vanity. 11 Because the sentence against an evil work is not executed speedily, therefore the heart of the sons of men is fully set in them to do evil. 12 Though a sinner does evil a hundred times, and his days are prolonged, yet I surely know that it will be well with those who fear God, who fear before Him. 13 But it will not be well with the wicked; nor will he prolong his days,

8:10 [a]Some Hebrew manuscripts, Septuagint, and Vulgate read praised.

8:10–17 The success of the wicked is soon forgotten. Qoheleth wondered why the world was so full of inequities. Why do the wicked prosper and the righteous suffer? The general principle is that those who reverence God will experience well-being, while those who reject God will not prosper; yet observations do not confirm this general principle. Good men have experienced disaster, while the wicked have gone on practicing evil undisturbed (v. 14; see Ps. 1, Prosperity). This philosophy of life sometimes is termed the "deuteronomic formula" (Deut. 4:40; 5:29, 32, 33; 28:1, 2). According to this philosophy, living right and practicing good will result in blessings of prosperity in this life. On the other hand, doing evil will reap only suffering and negative repercussions in this life (Deut. 28:15, 58–63). While the "deuteronomic formula" expresses a basic principle of life (we reap what we sow), we know many exceptions exist. Bad things do happen to good people, and the wicked do not immediately get the punishment they deserve (see chart, Suffering in Divine Perspective). The Book of Job deals with the mystery of the suffering of the righteous. According to Job, this mystery of life's inequities can be surmounted only by faith, not by reason.

which are as a shadow, because he does not fear before God.

14There is a vanity which occurs on earth, that there are just men to whom it happens according to the work of the wicked; again, there are wicked men to whom it happens according to the work of the righteous. I said that this also is vanity.

15So I commended enjoyment, because a man has nothing better under the sun than to eat, drink, and be merry; for this will remain with him in his labor all the days of his life which God gives him under the sun.

16When I applied my heart to know wisdom and to see the business that is done on earth, even though one sees no sleep day or night, 17then I saw all the work of God, that a man cannot find out the work that is done under the sun. For though a man labors to discover it, yet he will not find it; moreover, though a wise man attempts to know it, he will not be able to find it.

9 For I considered all this in my heart, so that I could declare it all: that the righteous and the wise and their works are in the hand of God. People know neither love nor hatred by anything they see before them. 2All things come alike to all:

One event happens to the righteous and the wicked;
To the good,[a] the clean, and the unclean;
To him who sacrifices and him who does not sacrifice.
As is the good, so is the sinner;
He who takes an oath as he who fears an oath.

3This is an evil in all that is done under the sun: that one thing happens to all. Truly the hearts of the sons of men are full of evil; madness is in their hearts while they live, and after that they go to the dead. 4But for him who is joined to all the living there is hope, for a living dog is better than a dead lion.

5For the living know that they will die;
But the dead know nothing,
And they have no more reward,
For the memory of them is forgotten.
6Also their love, their hatred, and their envy have now perished;
Nevermore will they have a share
In anything done under the sun.

7Go, eat your bread with joy,
And drink your wine with a merry heart;
For God has already accepted your works.
8Let your garments always be white,
And let your head lack no oil.

9Live joyfully with the wife whom you love all the days of your vain life which He has given you under the sun, all your days of vanity; for that is your portion in life, and in the labor which you perform under the sun.

10Whatever your hand finds to do, do it with your might; for there is no work or device or knowledge or wisdom in the grave where you are going.

11I returned and saw under the sun that—

The race is not to the swift,
Nor the battle to the strong,
Nor bread to the wise,
Nor riches to men of understanding,
Nor favor to men of skill;
But time and chance happen to them all.
12For man also does not know his time:
Like fish taken in a cruel net,
Like birds caught in a snare,
So the sons of men are snared in an evil time,
When it falls suddenly upon them.

Wisdom Superior to Folly

13This wisdom I have also seen under the sun, and it seemed great to me: 14*There was* a little city with few men in it; and a great king came against it, besieged it, and built great snares[a] around it. 15Now there was found in it a poor wise man, and

9:2 [a]Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read good and bad. 9:14 [a]Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read bulwarks.

8:15 Qoheleth's advice is to enjoy the simple daily pleasures of life. "Eat, drink, and be merry" (v. 15; 2:24; 5:18). For "under the sun," see Ecclesiastes 1:9, note.

9:2–12 Death comes to all (vv. 2, 3). Death functions as the great leveler. Thus, Qoheleth concluded that it is better to be alive than dead (v. 4). Contrast this thought with Qoheleth's viewpoint in Ecclesiastes 4:2, 3. The Preacher's depression and despair caused him to sway back and forth in his opinions. The people of Palestine viewed the lion as a noble beast, while they utterly despised the dog as an unclean scavenger (Eccl. 9:4; 1 Sam. 17:43; Prov. 26:11). The most miserable life is better than the grandest death because only in life is there hope (Eccl. 9:5, 6). Note the repetition of "under the sun" (vv. 3, 6, 9, 11; see Eccl. 1:9, note). As long as one is alive, hope exists that life can get better.

9:7–10 Enjoy earthly pleasures while life lasts because death brings the end of pleasure (v. 7). Enjoy relationships with others and enjoy your work (vv. 9, 10). Qoheleth did not have the concept of an afterlife that we as Christians have. Sheol (Heb., lit. "grave" or "place of the dead") was viewed as a shadowy existence (v. 10). Everybody, both good and bad, went to Sheol.

9:13–18 The superiority of wisdom. Note the phrase "under the sun" (v. 13; see Eccl. 1:9, note). Qoheleth related a parable about a poor wise man who was able to deliver his city from a powerful enemy but was forgotten (Eccl. 9:14, 15). Yet,

EMPLOYMENT — THE CHALLENGE OF A CAREER

The woman who manages a profitable career while watching over the affairs of her household has a tremendous challenge. Frequently, her career activities take her into male-dominated arenas in which she seeks to achieve success with strength and dignity. Often her determination to seek employment is an economic necessity.

Career success does not often come easily. A woman frequently works long, hard hours and sacrifices a great deal of personal time in order to do all her jobs well. This demands unique creativity in order to maintain priorities and fulfill legitimate expectations with home and family (Eccl. 10:10). Wisdom from the Lord enables a woman to prepare herself to accomplish her tasks in a way so that time and energy are used most efficiently and effectively.

By focusing on God's unconditional love a woman can keep from demanding perfection of herself. Jesus Himself finished His life on earth without healing every person who was sick or preaching to everyone who was lost (John 4:34). The challenge for women with careers is to make sure that first they are women who fear the Lord and then that their work is ordered according to the priorities and plan the Lord has given.

Where does a career woman place her focus? Paul admonished women and men to seek in all pursuits to "[please] . . . God" (1 Thess. 2:4–6). Focus on pleasing God, and He will enable you not only to please others and meet their needs but also to bring honor to Him through your pursuits. In other words, He is the source of wisdom and strength to do all in a Christ-honoring way. The Lord will go with and in you to your job, and He is totally capable of helping you with any problems. He can make an enormous difference in your focus, attitude, and motivations (Col. 3:23, 24).

he by his wisdom delivered the city. Yet no one remembered that same poor man.

16 Then I said:

"Wisdom is better than strength.
Nevertheless the poor man's wisdom is despised,
And his words are not heard.
17 Words of the wise, spoken quietly, should be heard
Rather than the shout of a ruler of fools.
18 Wisdom is better than weapons of war;
But one sinner destroys much good."

10 Dead flies putrefy[a] the perfumer's ointment,
And cause it to give off a foul odor;
So does a little folly to one respected for wisdom and honor.
2 A wise man's heart is at his right hand,
But a fool's heart at his left.
3 Even when a fool walks along the way,
He lacks wisdom,
And he shows everyone that he is a fool.
4 If the spirit of the ruler rises against you,
Do not leave your post;
For conciliation pacifies great offenses.

5 There is an evil I have seen under the sun,
As an error proceeding from the ruler:
6 Folly is set in great dignity,
While the rich sit in a lowly place.
7 I have seen servants on horses,
While princes walk on the ground like servants.

8 He who digs a pit will fall into it,
And whoever breaks through a wall will be bitten by a serpent.
9 He who quarries stones may be hurt by them,
And he who splits wood may be endangered by it.
10 If the ax is dull,
And one does not sharpen the edge,

10:1 [a]Targum and Vulgate omit putrefy.

Qoheleth praised the value of wisdom. Wisdom is better than strength (Eccl. 7:19), better than the powerful weapons of war. However, much of the good done by the wise can be undermined by the wicked (Eccl. 9:18). Every individual has a tremendous influence for good or evil in this world.

10:1—11:8 A collection of wisdom sayings was recorded. Note the identification of the right hand with good and the left hand with evil (Eccl. 10:2; see Matt. 25:33). A fool is easy to recognize (Eccl. 10:3). The values of the world are often mixed up and are the reverse of what they should be (Eccl. 10:6, 7). Any worthwhile endeavor involves a risk (Eccl. 10:8, 9). The possibility of failure is always present. Wisdom involves using brains and not just brawn (Eccl. 10:10). The fool shows no restraint in speech (Eccl. 10:14). Our words reveal our character (see Matt. 12:34). A familiar warning against laziness is given (Eccl. 10:18). Money does have power (Eccl. 10:19)! Be careful what you say (Eccl. 10:20). Word does get around!

Then he must use more strength;
But wisdom brings success.

11 A serpent may bite when it is not charmed;
The babbler is no different.
12 The words of a wise man's mouth are gracious,
But the lips of a fool shall swallow him up;
13 The words of his mouth begin with foolishness,
And the end of his talk is raving madness.
14 A fool also multiplies words.
No man knows what is to be;
Who can tell him what will be after him?
15 The labor of fools wearies them,
For they do not even know how to go to the city!

16 Woe to you, O land, when your king is a child,
And your princes feast in the morning!
17 Blessed are you, O land, when your king is the son of nobles,
And your princes feast at the proper time—
For strength and not for drunkenness!
18 Because of laziness the building decays,
And through idleness of hands the house leaks.
19 A feast is made for laughter,
And wine makes merry;
But money answers everything.

20 Do not curse the king, even in your thought;
Do not curse the rich, even in your bedroom;
For a bird of the air may carry your voice,
And a bird in flight may tell the matter.

The Value of Diligence

11 Cast your bread upon the waters,
For you will find it after many days.
2 Give a serving to seven, and also to eight,
For you do not know what evil will be on the earth.

3 If the clouds are full of rain,
They empty themselves upon the earth;
And if a tree falls to the south or the north,
In the place where the tree falls, there it shall lie.
4 He who observes the wind will not sow,
And he who regards the clouds will not reap.

5 As you do not know what is the way of the wind,[a]
Or how the bones grow in the womb of her who is with child,
So you do not know the works of God who makes everything.
6 In the morning sow your seed,
And in the evening do not withhold your hand;
For you do not know which will prosper,
Either this or that,
Or whether both alike will be good.

7 Truly the light is sweet,
And it is pleasant for the eyes to behold the sun;
8 But if a man lives many years
And rejoices in them all,
Yet let him remember the days of darkness,
For they will be many.
All that is coming is vanity.

Seek God in Early Life

9 Rejoice, O young man, in your youth,
And let your heart cheer you in the days of your youth;
Walk in the ways of your heart,
And in the sight of your eyes;
But know that for all these
God will bring you into judgment.
10 Therefore remove sorrow from your heart,
And put away evil from your flesh,
For childhood and youth are vanity.

12 Remember now your Creator in the days of your youth,
Before the difficult days come,
And the years draw near when you say,
"I have no pleasure in them":

11:5 [a]Or spirit

11:1–8 We do not know what the future holds. Yet we still must act on our limited knowledge (v. 6). We must take risks and have faith. Life is a precious gift (see vv. 7, 8). Qoheleth ended here on a note of emptiness, for he still had not grasped the ultimate meaning of life (v. 8).

12:1–8 Remember your Creator so that you can live a fruitful life of obedience to Him. The difficult (lit. "evil") days in verse 1 may refer to times of trouble or to the infirmities of old age. A series of metaphors is used to describe the characteristics of old age (vv. 2–6). Old age as the winter season of life is a time of darkness (v. 2). The "keepers of the house" represent arms, the "strong men" suggest the legs, the "grinders" are the teeth, and the "windows" represent the eyes (v. 3). The "doors" may represent the lips or the ears (v. 4). "Daughters of music" must be a reference to singing women (v. 4; see 2 Sam. 19:35). The singing women may no longer move him, or perhaps he could no longer hear them clearly. The verse could also suggest that the aged man described was unable to sing, uttering only a dreary moaning noise. Fear often accompanies old age (Eccl. 12:5). The "almond tree blossoms" refer to the elderly individual's white hair (v. 5). The "eternal home" is the grave, indicating the finality of death (v. 5). The reference to mourners indicates a funeral. There are four references to death, all symbolizing life poured out and ended in death (v. 6). At death the body returns to the dust from which it came, and the spirit or breath returns to God who gave it (see Gen. 2:7; Job 34:14, 15). To Qoheleth, who saw only human wisdom, this is vanity, meaningless and empty (Eccl. 12:8).

2While the sun and the light,
The moon and the stars,
Are not darkened,
And the clouds do not return after the rain;
3In the day when the keepers of the house
tremble,
And the strong men bow down;
When the grinders cease because they are few,
And those that look through the windows
grow dim;
4When the doors are shut in the streets,
And the sound of grinding is low;
When one rises up at the sound of a bird,
And all the daughters of music are brought low.
5Also they are afraid of height,
And of terrors in the way;
When the almond tree blossoms,
The grasshopper is a burden,
And desire fails.
For man goes to his eternal home,
And the mourners go about the streets.

6*Remember your Creator* before the silver cord is loosed,[a]
Or the golden bowl is broken,
Or the pitcher shattered at the fountain,
Or the wheel broken at the well.
7Then the dust will return to the earth as it was,
And the spirit will return to God who gave it.

8"Vanity of vanities," says the Preacher,
"All is vanity."

The Whole Duty of Man

9And moreover, because the Preacher was wise, he still taught the people knowledge; yes, he pondered and sought out and set in order many proverbs. 10The Preacher sought to find acceptable words; and what was written was upright—words of truth. 11The words of the wise are like goads, and the words of scholars[a] are like well-driven nails, given by one Shepherd. 12And further, my son, be admonished by these. Of making many books there is no end, and much study is wearisome to the flesh.

13Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter:

Fear God and keep His commandments,
For this is man's all.
14For God will bring every work into judgment,
Including every secret thing,
Whether good or evil.

12:6 [a]Following Qere and Targum; Kethib reads removed; Septuagint and Vulgate read broken. 12:11 [a]Literally masters of the assemblies

12:11–14 Teachers of the wise function as goads and nails. They prod or motivate us to search out the meaning of life, and they present foundational truths for living. The Shepherd is God (v. 11). Students can identify with verse 12. "My son" is the typical way a wise man addressed his disciples (see Prov. 1:8, 10). Qoheleth came to his ultimate conclusion regarding a proper approach to life (Eccl. 12:13, 14). The essence of wisdom is to show fear or reverence to God by obedience (Job 28:28; Prov. 31:30). We are accountable to Him!

Song of Solomon

TITLE

The Hebrew title (Shir Hashirim, lit "song of songs") is an expression of the superlative, meaning "the best song." The Latin name is Canticles (lit. "songs"). The Hebrew Bible places the Song in the megilloth (Heb., lit. "scrolls"), a collection of books read on feast days of the Jews. Ruth, Esther, Ecclesiastes, and Lamentations are also included in this group.

AUTHOR

King Solomon (Heb., lit. "peace"), the son of David and Bathsheba, claims authorship of the book (Song 1:1). The wisest man of his day, he authored 1,005 songs (see 1 Kin. 4:32). The Song is consonant with his great wisdom and skill. Solomon's name appears repeatedly in the book (Song 1:1, 5; 3:7, 9, 11; 8:11, 12), and the events occur in a royal setting. Also the book's geographic references seem to assume a united kingdom (see map, Locations in the Song).

DATE

The Song was written during Solomon's forty-year reign (971–931 B.C.), probably during the early years of his reign.

BACKGROUND

SETTING: Solomon presided over the royal court in Jerusalem. However, many geographical locations throughout the kingdom are mentioned (see map, Locations in the Song). Solomon's authorship has been questioned, though not until the nineteenth century, and arguments suggested against Solomonic authorship have been inconclusive. Most evangelical scholars remain in support of Solomonic authorship.

PURPOSE: The Song is an epithalamium or nuptial song, an expression of love between a bride and her bridegroom. Biblical scholars have debated whether the Song should be read figuratively or literally. Many Jewish and Christian scholars have interpreted this poetic expression of human physical love as a historical relationship that could also be interpreted as a divine parable.

Ancient Jewish scholars often regarded the story as a picture of Yahweh and His love for Israel. According to early church fathers such as Augustine, Origen, Jerome, and Bernard of Clairvaux, the Song revealed the love between Christ and His church.

As dissatisfaction with allegorical interpretations grew, evangelical scholars adopted the more literal reading as primary. Thus, the Song of Solomon was viewed as extoling human sexuality within the bounds of marriage, with a secondary application to Christ and His bride, the church.

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: Ancient Near Eastern lyrical poetry served as both entertainment and a catalyst for philosophical discussion. The metaphorical language delights and enhances the senses, while it illuminates the understanding. The poet's intent was to underscore the most profound emotions in the human experience. The intensity of longing and loving, the rehearsal of searching and finding, vows of constancy and lavish praise for the one loved are literary conventions that evoke universal response.

No other Old Testament book is so full of technical terms for spices, plants, and shrubs (see charts, Animal Life, Flowers and Plants, Gems and Minerals). The Song of Solomon, part of the Old Testament wisdom literature (including Job, Psalms, Proverbs, and Ecclesiastes), is not mentioned in the New Testament, and the book contains no definite reference to God. The Song contains no explicit doctrinal theology, but it does reflect monotheism in its celebration of God's creation. In its praise of the joys of human love, the Song echoes Psalm 45 with its pastoral touch.

THEMES

The Song stresses the themes of love and devotion between a man and a woman committed to one another, while also echoing the loving relationship between Yahweh and His people Israel and between Christ and His church. With aesthetic imagery, Solomon skillfully highlighted the splendor and majesty of God. No traces of the polytheism that appears in other poetry of this time period is found in the Song.

For women, the Song pictures a bride who is healthy, balanced, and truly loved. In contrast to many contemporary writers who depict female weakness or victimization as inevitable and absolute, God presents a portrait of wholeness and hope. A reflection of the intimate relationship between the man and woman in the Garden of Eden can be traced as mutual devotion and respect between a husband and wife develop and as they are related harmoniously with the natural world around them.

The dialogue forms five poetic units, each a renewal of feeling and growing intimacy. Refrains are interspersed with interjections by friends and supporters who celebrate with the couple. This maturation of married love may be outlined as follows.

The Banquet

The Shulamite[a]
2 Let him kiss me with the kisses of his mouth—
For your[b] love is better than wine.
3 Because of the fragrance of your good ointments,
Your name is ointment poured forth;
Therefore the virgins love you.
4 Draw me away!

The Daughters of Jerusalem
We will run after you.[a]

The Shulamite
The king has brought me into his chambers.

The Daughters of Jerusalem
We will be glad and rejoice in you.[b]

We will remember your[c] love more than wine.

The Shulamite
Rightly do they love you.[d]

5 I am dark, but lovely,
O daughters of Jerusalem,
Like the tents of Kedar,
Like the curtains of Solomon.
6 Do not look upon me, because I am dark,
Because the sun has tanned me.
My mother's sons were angry with me;
They made me the keeper of the vineyards,
But my own vineyard I have not kept.

(To Her Beloved)
7 Tell me, O you whom I love,
Where you feed your flock,
Where you make it rest at noon.
For why should I be as one who veils herself[a]
By the flocks of your companions?

The Beloved
8 If you do not know, O fairest among women,
Follow in the footsteps of the flock,
And feed your little goats
Beside the shepherds' tents.
9 I have compared you, my love,
To my filly among Pharaoh's chariots.
10 Your cheeks are lovely with ornaments,
Your neck with chains of gold.

The Daughters of Jerusalem
11 We will make you[a] ornaments of gold
With studs of silver.

The Shulamite
12 While the king is at his table,
My spikenard sends forth its fragrance.
13 A bundle of myrrh is my beloved to me,
That lies all night between my breasts.
14 My beloved is to me a cluster of henna blooms
In the vineyards of En Gedi.

Occasionally the identity is not certain. 1:2 The Hebrew idiom "love is better than wine" compares every joy and pleasure to wine. Banquets for pleasure were often described as simply "wine" (see Esth. 7:2) because wine was a metaphor for pleasure, intoxication, sweetness, and exhilaration (Song 4:10). Thus, this expression suggests that the Shulamite's love (Heb. dodim) of her beloved brought her indescribable and incomparable joy and delight. The plural form could suggest the expression of love in multiple caresses and kisses.

1:3 Your name is ointment (lit. "your very self is oil wafted about") is a reference to the purification oil used by women. Such an interpretation would identify the Hebrew verb as feminine, and the reference would be to the Shulamite. However, most scholars seem to view the verb as masculine and thus a reference to the lover's name as a fragrant ointment (see Eccl. 7:1). Names were far more important in the ancient Near Eastern culture than they are today (see Is. 45, Naming of Children). The mere mention of the lover's name was a symbol of worth and wealth and awakened pleasurable thoughts and great affection.

1:5 The Shulamite's dark but lovely complexion was the result of her exposure to the sun and was in contrast to the fair-skinned, privileged ladies of the court. She compared herself to the "tents of Kedar," a reference to the tents of black or dark brown goat's hair used by the nomadic Ishmaelite tribe from a territory southeast of Damascus (see Ps. 120:5). The Shulamite acknowledged her darkness but was not unaware of her beauty. She compared herself to the "curtains of Solomon." The palace curtains would be richly ornamented and noted for their great beauty.

1:6 My own vineyard is a picture of the Shulamite's body as she toiled in the fields, often neglecting her grooming. Since vineyards were sometimes a metaphor for sexual intimacy, this expression could have referred to the delaying of her marriage.

1:7 During the heat of the day ("at noon"), the Shulamite's lover, as a herdsman, would be in a shady spot. There the Shulamite wished to be as well. The Shulamite distanced herself from a harlot or a leper, both of whom would be heavily veiled.

1:9 For "filly," see chart, Animal Life.

1:14 En Gedi, a fresh water spring, lay on the western shore of the Dead Sea in the territory of Judah (see map, Locations in the Song). Archaeologists have uncovered evidence that a perfume industry was located there.

THE SHULAMITE BRIDE

From the lyrical pen of King Solomon, a beautiful and sensuous young woman emerged. Much of her person was revealed, but she was not named, simply called the "Shulamite." Southeast of the Sea of Galilee in the fertile uplands of rich alluvial soil, the town of Shunem was probably the home of the king's beloved. Her knowledge of and fondness for the plant and animal world colored every statement; her heart throbbed with the natural world where she spent her youth.

Recounting her childhood, the Shulamite spoke of her brothers, who assigned to her manual field labor. The fact that she mentioned her mother's home and made no reference to her father probably indicates that her father had died, which, according to traditional Israelite practice, would have placed the young woman under the authority of her brothers. Her darker skin probably set her apart from the other women of the royal court. She was, obviously, beautiful of face and form.

Ancient Near Eastern families, as an index of the family's morality, guarded the chastity of their unmarried women with vigor. Moreover, the Torah spoke specifically on the subject (see Deut. 22:13–30). In poetic language, the Shulamite is called a "wall" and a "door." The figures described her virginity, a "wall" which her brothers protected, a "door" behind which they enclosed her (Song 8:8, 9).

Since the king apparently had a summer palace in Lebanon (see Song 8:11), he first may have seen the Shulamite as he traveled to or from this property. He memorialized his deep love for her in a series of songs, typical of the delicate handling of personal and erotic human feelings, which has been honored by its inclusion in the canon of Holy Writ.

The Shulamite loved and was loved passionately. Every fiber of her being echoed with responsive, adoring affection. She rejoiced in her husband's commitment to her (Song 2:4); she was enraptured by his desire for her (Song 7:10); she was secure in her husband's pledge of enduring commitment (Song 8:6, 7). The Shulamite is God's portrait of bridal bliss to be found within a permanent monogamous relationship.

The Beloved
15 Behold, you are fair, my love!
Behold, you are fair!
You have dove's eyes.

The Shulamite
16 Behold, you are handsome, my beloved!
Yes, pleasant!
Also our bed is green.
17 The beams of our houses are cedar,
And our rafters of fir.

2 I am the rose of Sharon,
And the lily of the valleys.

The Beloved
2 Like a lily among thorns,
So is my love among the daughters.

The Shulamite
3 Like an apple tree among the trees of the woods,
So is my beloved among the sons.
I sat down in his shade with great delight,
And his fruit was sweet to my taste.

The Shulamite to the Daughters of Jerusalem
4 He brought me to the banqueting house,
And his banner over me was love.
5 Sustain me with cakes of raisins,
Refresh me with apples,
For I am lovesick.

6 His left hand is under my head,
And his right hand embraces me.
7 I charge you, O daughters of Jerusalem,
By the gazelles or by the does of the field,
Do not stir up nor awaken love
Until it pleases.

The Beloved's Request

The Shulamite
8 The voice of my beloved!
Behold, he comes
Leaping upon the mountains,
Skipping upon the hills.

2:4 A standard or flag ("his banner") identified and led a military encampment or a large procession of people. The banner was a public display showing the army or people where they belonged or where they were to go. The Shulamite was brought to Solomon's banquet table by virtue of his love (Song 6:4, 10). She was made at ease by her lover's protective banner of love.

2:7 A recurring refrain throughout the Song is "Do not stir up nor awaken love until it pleases." The phrase often closes one section and opens another. Several interpretations concerning its significance have been suggested: a warning against forcing the development of love; an admonition to the women of the court not to interrupt the lovers; or a caution against premature arousal of sexual passions. The latter interpretation is [9]My beloved is like a gazelle or a young stag.

Behold, he stands behind our wall;
He is looking through the windows,
Gazing through the lattice.

[10]My beloved spoke, and said to me:
"Rise up, my love, my fair one,
And come away.
[11]For lo, the winter is past,
The rain is over and gone.
[12]The flowers appear on the earth;
The time of singing has come,
And the voice of the turtledove
Is heard in our land.
[13]The fig tree puts forth her green figs,
And the vines with the tender grapes
Give a good smell.
Rise up, my love, my fair one,
And come away!

[14]"O my dove, in the clefts of the rock,
In the secret places of the cliff,
Let me see your face,
Let me hear your voice;
For your voice is sweet,
And your face is lovely."

Her Brothers
[15]Catch us the foxes,
The little foxes that spoil the vines,
For our vines have tender grapes.

The Shulamite
[16]My beloved is mine, and I am his.
He feeds his flock among the lilies.

(To Her Beloved)
[17]Until the day breaks
And the shadows flee away,
Turn, my beloved,
And be like a gazelle
Or a young stag
Upon the mountains of Bether.[a]

A Troubled Night

The Shulamite
3 By night on my bed I sought the one I love;
I sought him, but I did not find him.
[2]"I will rise now," I said,
"And go about the city;
In the streets and in the squares
I will seek the one I love."
I sought him, but I did not find him.
[3]The watchmen who go about the city found me;
I said,
"Have you seen the one I love?"

[4]Scarcely had I passed by them,
When I found the one I love.
I held him and would not let him go,
Until I had brought him to the house of my mother,
And into the chamber of her who conceived me.

[5]I charge you, O daughters of Jerusalem,
By the gazelles or by the does of the field,
Do not stir up nor awaken love
Until it pleases.

The Coming of Solomon

The Shulamite
[6]Who is this coming out of the wilderness
Like pillars of smoke,
Perfumed with myrrh and frankincense,
With all the merchant's fragrant powders?
[7]Behold, it is Solomon's couch,
With sixty valiant men around it,
Of the valiant of Israel.

2:17 [a]Literally Separation more natural and affirms the premarital chastity that is encouraged throughout the Song and all of Scripture (Song 4:12; 8:8–12; see 1 Cor. 7, Sexual Purity).

2:15 Foxes that spoil the vines is a reference to small marauders that were a common pestilence for vineyard keepers (see chart, Animal Life). These "foxes" would represent the problems and differences found in any intimate relationship. In marriage, a commitment to work through such difficulties and to protect the relationship must be in place (see Romance; Song 5, Conflict).

2:17 Bether, an obscure word, has been translated variously. The idea is probably one of "cutting" or "dividing." No place is known by this name. The phrase may simply read "mountains of separation," a metaphor describing the separation of the lovers. In this love poem, some see the "mountains" as a reference to the Shulamite's breasts and to her deep longing for her lover.

3:4 House of my mother presents evidence of legitimate espousal in that the Shulamite's lover was approved by her family.

3:5 Daughters of Jerusalem has been variously understood to identify friends of the bride or women of the royal court of Israel. The epithets used by the Shulamite (vv. 10, 11) are apparently parallel phrases used to address Hebrew women who showed allegiance to the king. Perhaps Jesus had this reference in mind when He addressed the weeping women on His way to Golgotha (Luke 23:28).

3:7 Solomon's couch (Heb. mittah) was a sedan or litter that allowed the occupant to recline. The king was attended by bodyguards to protect him from raiders. The hapax legomenon (a word used only once in the text) "palanquin" (Heb. 'appiryon) seems to be a reference to the same piece of furniture (v. 9). The description is clear that this was an enclosed, portable chair/sofa constructed of wood from Lebanon and probably carried by members of the king's elite guard.

ROMANCE THE ACTS OF LOVE

Scripture approves of romance unreservedly. Marriages, even when arranged, were often recorded as love matches (Gen. 24:67), and Proverbs 30:19 speaks wonderingly of the mystery of romance. Three books in Scripture—Ruth, Esther, and the Song of Solomon—have romance at their center. These books are three of the five traditionally read at Jewish celebrations of the covenant between God and His people, suggesting that they have an extra dimension—they do, indeed, picture the wooing of the soul by God. Ezekiel 16:4–14 recounts God's wooing of Israel; the New Testament reveals that God's love for the church is a romance that ends in marriage (2 Cor. 11:2; Rev. 21:2). Romance provides a balanced picture of God's calling of the soul: The beloved is not forced to respond but desires to respond willingly to the love offered.

Romance offers the lover an opportunity to focus on responsibilities rather than privileges. Rather than dwelling on selfish needs and what others should do, the romantic lover is ever conscious of what he or she can do to show love for the other person (see Matt. 16:24–26). Everyone needs the acts of love for life and growth.

What are some basic elements of romance? Sincere admiration must be felt and shared on a regular basis (Song 1:8–10; 2:3). Differences between men and women must be acknowledged. Romance moves beyond the needs of the lover to minister to the beloved.

Solomon the King
Made himself a palanquin:[a]

Its support of gold,
Its seat of purple,
Its interior paved with love

And see King Solomon with the crown
With which his mother crowned him
On the day of his wedding,
The day of the gladness of his heart.

The Bridegroom Praises the Bride

The Beloved

4 Behold, you are fair, my love!
Behold, you are fair!
You have dove's eyes behind your veil.
Your hair is like a flock of goats,
Going down from Mount Gilead.
2 Your teeth are like a flock of shorn sheep
Which have come up from the washing,
Every one of which bears twins,
And none is barren among them.
3 Your lips are like a strand of scarlet,
And your mouth is lovely.
Your temples behind your veil
Are like a piece of pomegranate.
4 Your neck is like the tower of David,
Built for an armory,
On which hang a thousand bucklers,
All shields of mighty men.
5 Your two breasts are like two fawns,
Twins of a gazelle,
Which feed among the lilies.

6 Until the day breaks
And the shadows flee away,

3:9 [a] A portable enclosed chair

3:10 The palanquin or wedding carriage was luxurious. No expense was spared in preparing for the king's wedding. Even the interior was beautifully prepared with expressions of love.

3:11 Solomon could have worn a crown of jewels, but this was probably the customary garland made by the ancients for festive occasions, especially weddings, and appropriately placed on the king's head by the queen mother.

4:1 Women sometimes wore a small veil over the lower face, but this word also denotes a hairnet (see chart, Head Coverings for Women). Mount Gilead, a chain of mountains east of the Jordan River, intersected with numerous valleys where shiny black goats were habitually seen descending in the sunlight (Song 6:5; see chart, Animal Life; map, Locations in the Song).

4:4 The Shulamite's erect posture and shapely neck adorned with jewelry evoked a military vision, which would be natural for Solomon, possibly conveying the idea of strength and the suggestion of a model for others to follow (see chart, Gems and Minerals).

4:5 The reference to her two breasts is clearly an expression of erotic desire on the part of the lover who envisioned stroking or touching, as he would be drawn to pet a soft, young deer (see chart, Animal Life).

I will go my way to the mountain of myrrh
And to the hill of frankincense.

7You are all fair, my love,
And there is no spot in you.
8Come with me from Lebanon, my spouse,
With me from Lebanon.
Look from the top of Amana,
From the top of Senir and Hermon,
From the lions' dens,
From the mountains of the leopards.

9You have ravished my heart,
My sister, my spouse;
You have ravished my heart
With one look of your eyes,
With one link of your necklace.
10How fair is your love,
My sister, my spouse!
How much better than wine is your love,
And the scent of your perfumes
Than all spices!
11Your lips, O my spouse,
Drip as the honeycomb;
Honey and milk are under your tongue;
And the fragrance of your garments
Is like the fragrance of Lebanon.

12A garden enclosed
Is my sister, my spouse,
A spring shut up,
A fountain sealed.
13Your plants are an orchard of pomegranates
With pleasant fruits,
Fragrant henna with spikenard,
14Spikenard and saffron,
Calamus and cinnamon,
With all trees of frankincense,
Myrrh and aloes,
With all the chief spices—
15A fountain of gardens,
A well of living waters,
And streams from Lebanon.

The Shulamite
16Awake, O north wind,
And come, O south!
Blow upon my garden,
That its spices may flow out.
Let my beloved come to his garden
And eat its pleasant fruits.

The Beloved
5 I have come to my garden, my sister, my spouse;
I have gathered my myrrh with my spice;
I have eaten my honeycomb with my honey;
I have drunk my wine with my milk.

(To His Friends)
Eat, O friends!
Drink, yes, drink deeply,
O beloved ones!

The Shulamite's Troubled Evening

The Shulamite
2I sleep, but my heart is awake;
It is the voice of my beloved!
He knocks, saying,
"Open for me, my sister, my love,
My dove, my perfect one;
For my head is covered with dew,
My locks with the drops of the night."

3I have taken off my robe;
How can I put it on again?
I have washed my feet;
How can I defile them?
4My beloved put his hand
By the latch of the door,
And my heart yearned for him.
5I arose to open for my beloved,
And my hands dripped with myrrh,
My fingers with liquid myrrh,
On the handles of the lock.

4:8 Amana is a hill in the Anti-Lebanon Mountains facing the plain of Damascus (see map, Locations in the Song). All the places mentioned are in northern Israel. Senir and Hermon were the two highest peaks in this range of mountains.

4:12 The Shulamite's garden (Heb. gan, lit. "a covered place") was probably an enclosed and protected place of beauty and shade. Since water was scarce, private land owners sealed their fountains with clay, which would harden in the sun and serve as a protection for the water supply. Both metaphors suggest limited access, and the image is that the bride is a virgin. The Shulamite had indeed kept herself for her beloved, testifying to her own commitment to the faithfulness of marriage partners and to their exclusive monogamous physical intimacy. Though Solomon later violated this commitment, the purposes of God for marriage have not changed (see chart, God's Plan for Marriage).

4:16 The bridegroom would not enter the bridal chamber until invited. Here the Shulamite modestly invited him.

5:1, 2 The Shulamite was no longer a sealed garden because her beloved gained his rightful entrance. The relationship between the Shulamite and her lover was obviously personal and private. An interval occurred, during which the marriage was consummated (v. 1). Then the Shulamite spoke, perhaps as in a fitful dream, revealing her feelings. Every relationship experiences periods of apathy or indifference. However, the Shulamite did not remain in that state but repented (vv. 6–8), had a reawakening of her affections for her lover (vv. 10–16), and changed her heart, leading to reconciliation (Song 6:1–13).

5:4 The latch was a small hole in the door, enabling a woman to look out while remaining inside unexposed to view.

THE DAUGHTERS OF JERUSALEM

The phrase, "daughters of Jerusalem," especially as used in the Song of Solomon, has been variously understood to identify friends of the bride, women of the royal court of Israel, or merely a personification of the audience for the Shulamite and her lover (that is, a literary device rather than a group of real people). The epithets used by the Shulamite (Song 3:5, 11) are apparently parallel phrases used to address Hebrew women who show allegiance to the king. Perhaps Jesus Himself had this reference in the Song in mind when He addressed the weeping women on His way to Golgotha (Luke 23:28). He showed compassion as He addressed them with this tender and intimate phrase, "daughters of Jerusalem." These women were probably not His exclusive inner circle of disciples but inhabitants of Jerusalem. They showed sensitivity to His suffering, but Jesus gently pointed them beyond their emotional sympathy for Him to contemplation of their own innermost spiritual needs.

Certainly, there is a lesson to be learned. Only as women move out from themselves and look to Christ can they see the Savior's incomparable beauty and glory and experience His redeeming love and grace. The women mentioned in the Song were characterized by a willing spirit as they worked to make the palanquin (a portable canopy chair or bed) very beautiful for the king, and the women Jesus addressed showed sensitive hearts as they responded to His suffering with their tears. Women ought to emulate the "daughters of Jerusalem" with willing spirits to work for the Savior and with sensitive hearts in response to all He has done for them.

Where has your beloved turned aside,

To feed his flock in the gardens,
And to gather lilies.

5:7 Night patrols were charged with clearing the streets of wanton women. A large silk mantle or "veil" was often thrown over other garments for warmth (see chart, Head Coverings of Women).

SEXUALITY A GIFT FROM THE CREATOR

Though the word "sex" does not occur in Scripture, the biblical language does describe God's plan for human sexual behavior, including procreation of the next generation and sexual pleasure within marriage. Sex was designed by the Creator as a special gift that allows a husband and wife to express oneness in intimate and exclusive love and to share in His plan for procreation. Sexual drives are given by God as the most natural high human bodies can experience. They are destructive only when uncontrolled or misused.

There are passages that express value for sex and celebrate it joyously (Gen. 18:12; 26:8; Song 4:1–16); others suggest abstinence from sexual activity (Ex. 19:15; 1 Sam. 21:4, 5). Deviant sexual behavior is clearly condemned: homosexuality (Lev. 18:22; Rom. 1:26, 27; 1 Cor. 6:9, 10); bestiality (Ex. 22:19; Lev. 18:23); incest (Lev. 18:6–18; 1 Cor. 5:1–13); rape (Deut. 22:23–29); prostitution (Prov. 7:1–27; 29:3). Any intimate sexual relationship outside of monogamous fidelity within the covenant of marriage is condemned as sexual immorality (Ex. 20:14; Deut. 22:22; 1 Cor. 6:9–10). The alternative is the gift of celibacy (Matt. 19:12; 1 Cor. 7:7). Believers are expected to exercise self-control in overcoming improper sexual impulses, not by asceticism (Gal. 5:16–25; 1 Tim. 4:1–5) but by the power of the Holy Spirit.

Certain facts about sex should be remembered:

1) Sex is God-given (Gen. 2:18). Satan can offer nothing in the realm of sexuality except distortion and emptiness. The open discussion of sex is not wrong in itself, but it is wrong when such discussions are outside the divinely assigned context.
2) Sex between a man and a woman is different than sex in animals (Gen. 2:19, 20). Human sexuality has a specialized purpose beyond procreation.
3) Sex in the human intimacy is a total union and thus both powerful and mysterious (Gen. 2:21–23). God made two out of one, and the two are not complete until they are reunited. (The exception to this would be when God gives the gift of celibacy.)
4) Sex is regulated and purposeful (Gen. 2:24, 25). God Himself sets the boundary (Matt. 19:4–6). Anything short of this total and exclusive commitment between husband and wife is frustrating and destructive.

God approves the relationship in which husband and wife meet their physical needs in sexual intercourse (Prov. 5:15, 18, 19). Both husband and wife have sexual needs that are to be met in marriage (1 Cor. 7:3), and each is to meet the needs of the other and not his own.

The purposes for sexual intimacy are these:

- knowledge (Gen. 4:1),
- unity (Gen. 2:24),
- comfort (Gen. 24:67),
- procreation (Gen. 1:28),
- relaxation and play (Song 2:8–17; 4:1–16), and
- a defense against temptation (1 Cor. 7:2–5).

A husband is commanded to find satisfaction (Prov. 5:19) and joy (Eccl. 9:9) with his wife and to concern himself with meeting her unique needs (Deut. 24:5; 1 Pet. 3:7). A wife is responsible for availability (1 Cor. 7:3–5), preparation and planning (Song 4:9), interest (v. 16; Song 5:2), and sensitivity to unique masculine needs (Gen. 24:67).

ANIMAL LIFE

In ancient Near Eastern culture, animals were vital in maintaining subsistence. The Song uses them in poetic imagery to highlight characteristics of each lover.

ANIMAL	DESCRIPTION
Flock	This term is used repeatedly since the nation's economy was agricultural, involving flocks and herds. Shepherding patterns intertwine the expressions of love. The Shulamite looked for her beloved "at noon" because he would be resting with his flock in the heat of the day (Song 1:7). He responded with advice to follow the footsteps of the flock (Song 1:8).
Goats	Probably the Nubian ibex, with glossy black hair, still found in this area (Song 1:8; 4:1; 6:5).
Sheep	The whiteness of newly washed wool serves as a description of her teeth (Song 4:2; 6:6), perfectly matching ("twins") and evenly set.
