Dove	This bird personified innocence and purity and described the young maiden as a term of endearment (Song 1:15). The Shulamite quoted him as thus addressing her (Song 5:2). She imagined the king urging her to come and alluded to the shy nature of doves as they rested high in the clefts of large rocks (Song 2:14).
Turtledove	This bird is the wild pigeon that passes through Palestine announcing springtime (Song 2:12).
Raven	The shiny feathers of this sleek, black bird are used to describe the royal hair (Song 5:11).
Fawns Gazelles Stags	These designations of deer were found commonly in poetry of this period. Gazelles were graceful and thus a symbol of feminine beauty. Three times a stanza closes with an oath to emphasize the serious nature of marriage (Song 2:7; 3:5; 8:4). Each lover used this analogy for the other. She saw him as a nimble stag (Song 2:9, 17). Her breasts evoked his memory of young fawns feeding (Song 4:5; 7:3).
Filly	The comparison of the Shulamite with the king's filly was intended as a high compliment, since Solomon introduced to the kingdom the finest thoroughbred Egyptian horses, strong and carefully groomed (Song 1:9).
Foxes	These are probably the abundant jackals, canines which were crafty and swift. They are used to denote apprehension that someone would thwart the expressions of the couple's love (Song 2:15).
Lion Leopard	Symbolically, the lion is seen as a threat, stalking its prey; the leopard (panther) is highly intelligent and treacherous. Both lived in mountainous areas (Song 4:8).

[10]Who is she who looks forth as the morning,
Fair as the moon,
Clear as the sun,
Awesome as an army with banners?

The Shulamite

[11]I went down to the garden of nuts
To see the verdure of the valley,
To see whether the vine had budded
And the pomegranates had bloomed.

[12]Before I was even aware,
My soul had made me
As the chariots of my noble people.[a]

The Beloved and His Friends

[13]Return, return, O Shulamite;
Return, return, that we may look upon you!

6:12 [a]Hebrew Ammi Nadib

6:12 The king's love had transformed the Shulamite, in her mind, from a simple maiden into a queen.

SONG OF SOLOMON 7:1 • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • 854 • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • •

[11]Come, my beloved,
Let us go forth to the field;
Let us lodge in the villages.
[12]Let us get up early to the vineyards;
Let us see if the vine has budded,
Whether the grape blossoms are open,
And the pomegranates are in bloom.
There I will give you my love.
[13]The mandrakes give off a fragrance,
And at our gates are pleasant fruits,
All manner, new and old,
Which I have laid up for you, my beloved.

8 Oh, that you were like my brother,
Who nursed at my mother's breasts!
If I should find you outside,
I would kiss you;
I would not be despised.
[2]I would lead you and bring you
Into the house of my mother,
She who used to instruct me.
I would cause you to drink of spiced wine,
Of the juice of my pomegranate.

(To the Daughters of Jerusalem)
[3]His left hand is under my head,
And his right hand embraces me.
[4]I charge you, O daughters of Jerusalem,
Do not stir up nor awaken love
Until it pleases.

Love Renewed in Lebanon

A Relative
[5]Who is this coming up from the wilderness,
Leaning upon her beloved?

I awakened you under the apple tree.
There your mother brought you forth;
There she who bore you brought you forth.

The Shulamite to Her Beloved
[6]Set me as a seal upon your heart,
As a seal upon your arm;
For love is as strong as death,
Jealousy as cruel as the grave;[a]
Its flames are flames of fire,
A most vehement[b] flame.

[7]Many waters cannot quench love,
Nor can the floods drown it.
If a man would give for love
All the wealth of his house,
It would be utterly despised.

The Shulamite's Brothers
[8]We have a little sister,
And she has no breasts.
What shall we do for our sister
In the day when she is spoken for?
[9]If she is a wall,
We will build upon her
A battlement of silver;
And if she is a door,
We will enclose her
With boards of cedar.

The Shulamite
[10]I am a wall,
And my breasts like towers;
Then I became in his eyes
As one who found peace.
[11]Solomon had a vineyard at Baal Hamon;
He leased the vineyard to keepers;
Everyone was to bring for its fruit
A thousand silver coins.

(To Solomon)
[12]My own vineyard is before me.
You, O Solomon, may have a thousand,
And those who tend its fruit two hundred.

8:6 [a]Or Sheol [b]Literally A flame of YAH (a poetic form of YHWH, the LORD)

7:13 The Shulamite had planned sensual pleasures carefully for her beloved. She would give her love to him in ways new and old.

8:1 The ancient Near Eastern culture made improper all public expressions of love except to family members. The Shulamite wished her beloved was like her brother so that she could kiss him in public without shame and disgrace.

8:6 The Shulamite desired permanence and security from her lover. The seal was a mark of ownership and official commitment. The Shulamite wanted to be a "seal" on her lover's heart because the nearness to the seat of his affection gave her security. She wanted to be a "seal" on his arm to remind her of his protection and strength. The phrase "as strong as death" suggested that finality and immutability of his love. The reference to "jealousy" was a reminder of the exclusive intensity of his love, which could be described as a "waterproof torch" (v. 7).

8:8 These words of the concerned brothers of the Shulamite indicate that the future of every Israelite girl depended on her virginity.

8:9 The wall is a picture of a barrier, indicating virtue. The "door" represents promiscuity or the indiscriminate yielding of the body. The brothers are held responsible since a sister's lifestyle would reflect on her family. If the Shulamite were a "door," the brothers would step in and protect her; if she were a "wall," they would trust and praise her.

8:10 The Shulamite testified that she was a virgin. Thus, she had found favor with Solomon.

8:11 The location of Baal Hamon (lit. "owner of a multitude") is undetermined (see chart, Locations in the Song). The reference is to Solomon's wealth and royal status.

8:12 Metaphorical language suggests the abundant profit the Shulamite would be to Solomon. Though her first loyalty was

JEALOUSY ADVERSARY OR ADVOCATE?

Jealousy, unlike envy (Prov. 14:30) and covetousness, can have a positive connotation. In Scripture, the term is used to describe God's intolerance of unfaithfulness on the part of His people, especially as concerns their tendency to be drawn away by other gods (Ex. 20:5; 34:14). God's protection of His people from their enemies is the fruit of this holy jealousy (Ezek. 39:25–28).

Jealousy that is the result of pride or self-centeredness is not a positive quality. It may describe the suspicions of a husband or wife in a marriage where there is unfaithfulness (see Num. 5:11–31). Such human jealousy, often translated in Scripture as "envy," easily becomes hostility toward one considered to be a rival and as such found a listing among the vices or "works of the flesh" (see Rom. 13:13; 2 Cor. 12:20; Gal. 5:20, 21).

Such jealousy among women is not a feeling restricted to modern times. God-fearing women of old also had to deal with those feelings. Hannah longed for a child. Though she was barren, she had the devoted love of her husband Elkanah; yet the jealous and more fruitful Peninnah tormented Hannah constantly (1 Sam. 1:2–8). Peninnah's jealousy led her to treat Hannah in hurtful ways. Likewise, Rachel and Leah bickered out of jealousy (Gen. 30:15). Sarah was cruel to Hagar (Gen. 16:5, 6), jealous of her fruitfulness in bearing a son to Abraham. Instead of being advocates for one another, these women were adversaries because of their jealousies.

Luke 1:41–45 is perhaps the best example of how women might respond appropriately to one another. Elizabeth did not argue over whose child was more important. She was not envious of Mary's child; neither was Mary jealous of Elizabeth's position or marital status. Rather than snipe at each other, they encouraged and became advocates for each other.

Women who are in Christ are joint-heirs to all that belongs to Christ, which is beyond what they deserve or can even imagine (1 Cor. 2:9). They are to focus on honoring and praising God (Col. 3:1–4) and not dwell on what they do not have or what others have, which inevitably leads to jealousy, envy, and covetousness (Ex. 20:17; 2 Cor. 10:12).

The Beloved

The companions listen for your voice—
Let me hear it!

The Shulamite

And be like a gazelle
Or a young stag
On the mountains of spices.

to Solomon, she did not forget the family who reared and nurtured her. The Shulamite's brothers had leased Solomon's vineyard. However, the Shulamite asked Solomon to reward her brothers for protecting her through the years by paying her brothers 20 percent or 200 of 1,000 silver coins, which would represent the traditional percentage of profit due a vineyard's caretakers. This would be Solomon's payment to her brothers for preserving and caring for the Shulamite and for keeping her pure for him (v. 12). Marriage eluded her no longer (see Song 1:6, note).

FLOWERS AND PLANTS

The pastoral setting for this ancient song is authenticated by prolific references to the flora of northern Israel.

PLANT	REFERENCE	DESCRIPTION
Spikenard	Song 1:12; 4:13, 14	Plant with scented roots from which fragrant oil was extracted.
Myrrh	Song 1:13; 3:6; 4:6, 14; 5:1, 13	Short, stubby tree that dripped gum, highly prized for its aromatic qualities used for holy anointing oil, female purification, and cosmetics, as well as in burial shrouds.
Henna	Song 1:14; 4:13	Shrub with fragrant white blossoms, growing to height of 12 feet. Leaves were made into paste and used to color hair and nails as well as the manes and tails of horses, especially by pagan populations.
Cedar	Song 1:17; 5:15	Coniferous tree esteemed for its durability and resistance to larvae as well as its aroma. Grows to 140 feet with 40-foot girth. Used in constructing Solomon's palace and sedan carriage.
Fir	Song 1:17	Evergreen tree used for ships, buildings, and musical instruments. A symbol of the desert's fertility.
Rose of Sharon	Song 2:1	Humble meadow flower resembling a tulip with sweet fragrance. Found in abundance on plain of Sharon.
Lily of the Valley	Song 2:1, 2; 4:5; 5:13; 6:2, 3	Probably a type of hyacinth. Described as "glowing red," a variety akin to red anemone. The common "madonna lily" plentiful in Palestine.
Apple Tree	Song 2:3, 5; 7:8	Symbol of strength, sweetness, and fragrance.
Flowers	Song 2:12	Reference to wildflowers, which appear after the rains of March and April.
Fig Tree/ Green Figs	Song 2:13	Denoting figs that ripen at various times from August onward, some remaining until the following spring.
Grapevines	Song 2:13, 15	Early stage of grape growth when blossoms are fragrant.
Frankincense	Song 3:6; 4:6, 14	Tree that exudes clear resin from incisions in the bark, hardening into small yellow beads with strong odor. A symbol of religious fervor.
Wood of Lebanon	Song 1:17; 3:9	Cedar here symbolizing holiness, truth, and perseverance.
Pomegranate	Song 4:3, 13; 6:7, 11; 7:12; 8:2	Apple-shaped fruit with thin, hard skin, containing pulp of rosy color. Often used symbolically in Oriental poetry.
Saffron	Song 4:14	Dried stigma of the autumn crocus, producing aroma and orange dye. Used in foods as well as therapeutically.
Calamus	Song 4:14	Tawny-colored, reed-like stem grown in wet places in India. Use here obscure, but from context apparently the stem had a flower with a sweet smell.
Cinnamon	Song 4:14	Similar to modern spice used in foods. Also used with other spices as deodorant and disinfectant.

PLANT	REFERENCE	DESCRIPTION
Aloes	Song 4:14	From a large, aromatic tree that produces resin and oil for making perfume.
Wheat	Song 7:2	Pale, newly threshed, and winnowed wheat, often used to describe ideal skin color.
Palm	Song 7:8	Stately trees found in oases along with graceful cypress and tall cedar, often used as poetic images.
Mandrakes	Song 7:13	Dark green, low-growing plant, like lettuce, with purple flower and forked root. Bright red fruit ripens in May and is the size of a small apple.

GEMS AND MINERALS

The rustic lifestyle of the Israelites brought them close to the elements of the earth, to which frequent references are made in the Song.

GEM OR MINERAL	DESCRIPTION
Silver Gold	These precious metals are mentioned together (Song 1:11; 3:10), first spoken by the "daughters of Jerusalem" as the Shulamite anticipated the king's gifts of jewelry to her. Later, in the wedding procession, the description of the royal carriage contained costly supporting framework. Gold was also part of her description of the king's hands and feet (a figure of speech for excellence). Silver was mentioned by her brothers in describing their protection of the Shulamite's purity.
Ivory	This mark of wealth and luxury was procured from the tusks of Syrian elephants, which roamed the upper Euphrates or were imported from India. The bride likened her husband's body to ivory (Song 5:14), and he described her neck similarly (Song 7:4).
Marble	Close-grained crystalline limestone described in the Song was probably white or cream-colored, possibly veined in red or green, and imported from locations near the Gulf of Suez and in southern Greece. It was used for fine statuary, which, no doubt, prompted the Shulamite to describe the legs of her beloved as "pillars of marble" (Song 5:15).
Sapphires Jewels	In their mutual descriptions of each other, the lovers employed extravagant imagery. Sapphires, which are identified by some as lapis lazuli, might have been encrusted on the royal girdle (Song 5:14). His reference to jewels in the description of her thigh (Song 7:1) is linked by scholars to movement, literally, "twisting and winding of the upper part of the body by means of the thigh-joint." Beryl, a chrysolite found in ancient Spain, adorned the royal hands (Songs 5:14).

Isaiah

AUTHOR

Critical scholars in the eighteenth century began questioning the unity of Isaiah with arguments that are impressive to some. Traditionally, however, authorship of the Book of Isaiah has been ascribed to the eighth century B.C. prophet bearing that name. Reasons for maintaining this position include:

- An understanding of the superscription as applicable to the entire book (Is. 1:1);
- The marks of Isaiah's style throughout the book (such as his use of "the Holy One of Israel");
- The New Testament references affirming Isaianic authorship (Matt. 3:3; Luke 3:4; John 1:23; Acts 8:28; Rom. 10:16–20);
- The testimony of Jesus (Matt. 8:17; 12:17; Luke 4:17; John 12:38).

Isaiah (lit. "Yahweh saves" or "Yahweh is salvation") preached God's message to the southern kingdom of Judah during the latter half of the eighth century B.C. Isaiah was the son of Amoz (Is. 1:1), not to be confused with the eighth century B.C. prophet Amos. Isaiah married a woman called "the prophetess," who bore him two sons (Is. 8:3).

Isaiah's two sons received names that bore a direct connection to his ministry and functioned as walking sermons to the people of Judah. Maher-Shalal-Hash-Baz (Heb., lit. "the spoil speeds, the prey hastens" or "speeding to the spoil, hastening to the prey") bore in his name the message of judgment (Is. 8:3, 4). God would judge His people Judah because of their sin (Is. 1:2–4). The name Shear-Jashub (Heb., lit. "a remnant will return") carried a message of judgment in Isaiah's early ministry but later became a message of hope with the assurance that a remnant of the people would survive God's judgment (Is. 7:3). Tradition indicates that Isaiah was martyred by being sawn in two during the reign of the wicked king Manasseh (see Heb. 11:37).

DATE

Isaiah delivered God's message to the people of Judah during the reigns of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah (Is. 1:1). He served as adviser to these kings of Judah. Isaiah's ministry generally has been dated between approximately 740 and 700 B.C. His prophetic activity focused around three major crises in Judah's history.

- The Syro-Ephraimitic Crisis (734 B.C.). Rezin, king of Syria, and Pekah, king of Ephraim or Israel, joined forces against Assyria. They wanted King Ahaz of Judah to join with them. Isaiah counseled Judah not to join the coalition but rather to have faith in the Lord (see Is. 7). Although Judah did not join, Ahaz appealed to Assyria for help and protection. The Assyrians conquered Damascus, the capital of Syria, in 732 B.C. Ephraim, alternately known as Israel, Samaria, or the northern kingdom, fell to the Assyrians in 722 B.C. (see chart, The Terminology for the Divided Kingdom).

- The Ashdod Rebellion (714–711 B.C.). The ruler of the Philistine city of Ashdod led the Philistines to revolt against Assyria. He was assisted by the Egyptians. The five major Philistine cities, located near the coast in the southwestern part of Canaan, were Ashdod, Ashkelon, Gaza, Ekron, and Gath. The Philistines provided a major threat to Israel from the time of Israel's initial settlement in the Land. Isaiah bitterly opposed any participation on the part of Judah in this rebellion (see Is. 20:1–6).
- The Sennacherib Crisis (701 B.C.). King Hezekiah of Judah revolted against Sennacherib (705–681 B.C.), king of Assyria, who came to Judah and besieged Jerusalem. As in every crisis, Isaiah counseled faith in the Lord. He prophesied that God would deliver the city from the hands of the Assyrians. The Lord fulfilled His promise. The "angel of the LORD" killed 185,000 Assyrians, and Sennacherib returned home to Nineveh (see 2 Kin. 18—19 and Is. 36—37). Because of this experience, God's people came to believe that Jerusalem could never be destroyed.

BACKGROUND

SETTING: The setting of chapters 1—39 is in and around Jerusalem. The content of chapters 40—66 reflects the Exile in Babylon and beyond.

PURPOSE: The Book of Isaiah has several key messages the Lord's people needed to hear. Much of Isaiah's teaching comes out of his initial calling (see Is. 6).

- The Lord is the sovereign God (Is. 6:1). He is the only God. No other gods exist. The technical term for this teaching is monotheism, the belief that only one God exists (see Is. 45:14–25).
- God is holy. He is separate from man. He is perfect moral purity (Is. 6:3). "The Holy One of Israel," one of Isaiah's favorite designations for God, appears repeatedly throughout the Book of Isaiah (see Is. 5:19, 24; 10:20; 12:6; 30:12; 41:14, 20; 43:3; 45:11; 47:4; 49:7; 55:5).
- The nature of sin is uncleanness (Is. 6:5), rebellion against God (Is. 1:2); it is universal in scope (Is. 6:5); it is forgiven only by God since sacrifices do not remove sin (Is. 6:6, 7).
- Faith in the Lord is the essential need of everyone (Is. 7:9).
- God preserves a remnant of His people (Is. 6:13).
- The Messiah is identified as a kingly figure who reigns in righteousness (see Is. 1—39, especially Is. 7; 9; 11; 32). The Messiah is also identified as the Suffering Servant who suffers not for any wrong He has done but on behalf of others (Is. 40—66; see 42:1–4; 49:1–6; 50:4–9; 52:13—53:12).

AUDIENCE: Isaiah addressed God's people in Judah in the eighth century B.C. He pronounced judgment on the inhabitants of Judah, not because they lacked religious activity but because they failed in moral and ethical living (see Is. 1:16, 17). Isaiah also had a message of future comfort and hope for the exiles in Babylon.

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: The Book of Isaiah consists of historical narratives (see Is. 36—39) and prophetic pronouncements or oracles against Judah and Jerusalem (Is. 1—12), as well as oracles against foreign nations (Is. 13—23). Much of Isaiah appears in poetic rather than narrative form. Hebrew poetry is characterized by rhythm rather than by rhyme.

THEMES

The primary theme of Isaiah 1—39 is a message of judgment on the Lord's people. The main theme of Isaiah 40—66 is a message of comfort and hope (see also Purpose).

The Wickedness of Judah

2 Hear, O heavens, and give ear, O earth!
For the LORD has spoken:
"I have nourished and brought up children,
And they have rebelled against Me;
3 The ox knows its owner
And the donkey its master's crib;
But Israel does not know,
My people do not consider."

4 Alas, sinful nation,
A people laden with iniquity,
A brood of evildoers,
Children who are corrupters!
They have forsaken the LORD,
They have provoked to anger
The Holy One of Israel,
They have turned away backward.

5 Why should you be stricken again?
You will revolt more and more.
The whole head is sick,
And the whole heart faints.
6 From the sole of the foot even to the head,
There is no soundness in it,
But wounds and bruises and putrefying sores;
They have not been closed or bound up,
Or soothed with ointment.

7 Your country is desolate,
Your cities are burned with fire;
Strangers devour your land in your presence;
And it is desolate, as overthrown by strangers.
8 So the daughter of Zion is left as a booth in a vineyard,
As a hut in a garden of cucumbers,
As a besieged city.
9 Unless the LORD of hosts
Had left to us a very small remnant,
We would have become like Sodom,
We would have been made like Gomorrah.

10 Hear the word of the LORD,
You rulers of Sodom;
Give ear to the law of our God,
You people of Gomorrah:

1:1 For the identity of the prophet, see Introduction: Author; chart, Women in the Minor Prophets.

1:2, 3 God's people lacked the sense that even domestic animals possess. The ox and donkey know their masters, but God's people did not recognize Him as their Creator. "Know" indicates intimate, personal relationship. God's children had rebelled against the One who created and sustained them. "Israel" probably designated Judah, the southern kingdom (v. 3; see chart, The Terminology for the Divided Kingdom). At the conclusion of Solomon's reign in 931 B.C., the kingdom split between the northern ten tribes designated "Israel" and two southern tribes called "Judah." "Rebelled" suggests deliberate revolt (v. 2).

1:4–9 Isaiah pictured God's people as weighted down with their sin or "iniquity" (lit. "moral crookedness" or "perversion," v. 4). Again deliberate action is indicated. God's children had forsaken Him instead of turning toward Him in repentance. "The Holy One of Israel" was one of Isaiah's favorite designations for God (v. 4; see chart, The Names of God). This title appears repeatedly throughout the Book of Isaiah (Is. 5:19, 24; 10:20; 12:6; 30:12; 41:14, 20; 43:3; 45:11; 47:4; 49:7; 55:5). As the Great Physician, the Lord diagnosed the nation's illness (Is. 1:5–8). Yet the people refused to turn to Him for healing. The few remaining survivors demonstrated God's grace (v. 9). For Sodom and Gomorrah, see verses 10–17, note.

1:10–17 True religion has both an inward and an outward dimension. "Rulers of Sodom" and "people of Gomorrah" are figurative designations for the leaders and inhabitants of Judah, indicating that the nation's sin was as great as that of Sodom and Gomorrah, two cities on which the Lord rained brimstone and fire in Abraham's time (v. 10; see Gen. 19:24). The Lord had rejected the sacrifices and the religious observances of His people (Is. 1:11–15). The sacrifices are described as "futile" or "worthless" because the people were not living by the moral and ethical demands of their covenant relationship with the Lord (v. 13). The essence of real religion would be to live in moral and ethical purity and to meet the needs of the helpless in society (vv. 16, 17).

11 "To what purpose is the multitude of your sacrifices to Me?"
Says the LORD.
"I have had enough of burnt offerings of rams
And the fat of fed cattle.
I do not delight in the blood of bulls,
Or of lambs or goats.

12 "When you come to appear before Me,
Who has required this from your hand,
To trample My courts?
13 Bring no more futile sacrifices;
Incense is an abomination to Me.
The New Moons, the Sabbaths, and the calling of assemblies—
I cannot endure iniquity and the sacred meeting.
14 Your New Moons and your appointed feasts
My soul hates;
They are a trouble to Me,
I am weary of bearing them.
15 When you spread out your hands,
I will hide My eyes from you;
Even though you make many prayers,
I will not hear.
Your hands are full of blood.

16 "Wash yourselves, make yourselves clean;
Put away the evil of your doings from before
My eyes.
Cease to do evil,
17 Learn to do good;
Seek justice,
Rebuke the oppressor;[a]
Defend the fatherless,
Plead for the widow.

18 "Come now, and let us reason together,"
Says the LORD,
"Though your sins are like scarlet,
They shall be as white as snow;
Though they are red like crimson,
They shall be as wool.
19 If you are willing and obedient,
You shall eat the good of the land;
20 But if you refuse and rebel,
You shall be devoured by the sword";
For the mouth of the LORD has spoken.

The Degenerate City

21 How the faithful city has become a harlot!
It was full of justice;
Righteousness lodged in it,
But now murderers.
22 Your silver has become dross,
Your wine mixed with water.
23 Your princes are rebellious,
And companions of thieves;
Everyone loves bribes,
And follows after rewards.
They do not defend the fatherless,
Nor does the cause of the widow come before them.

24 Therefore the Lord says,
The LORD of hosts, the Mighty One of Israel,
"Ah, I will rid Myself of My adversaries,
And take vengeance on My enemies.
25 I will turn My hand against you,
And thoroughly purge away your dross,
And take away all your alloy.
26 I will restore your judges as at the first,
And your counselors as at the beginning.
Afterward you shall be called the city of righteousness, the faithful city."

27 Zion shall be redeemed with justice,
And her penitents with righteousness.
28 The destruction of transgressors and of sinners shall be together,
And those who forsake the LORD shall be consumed.
29 For they[a] shall be ashamed of the terebinth trees
Which you have desired;
And you shall be embarrassed because of the gardens
Which you have chosen.
30 For you shall be as a terebinth whose leaf fades,
And as a garden that has no water.
31 The strong shall be as tinder,
And the work of it as a spark;

1:17 [a]Some ancient versions read the oppressed. 1:29 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Septuagint, and Vulgate; some Hebrew manuscripts and Targum read you.

1:18–20 Let us reason together is a legal term. A play on the verb "to eat" is clearly evident in the Hebrew text (vv. 19, 20). If the people obeyed, they would "eat the good of the land" (v. 19). But if they rebelled, they would be eaten or "devoured" by the sword (v. 20).

1:21–26 This lament over Jerusalem appears in the Qinah meter, a Hebrew poetic device used to express lamentation (v. 21). The prophet pictured the funeral of Jerusalem (vv. 21–23). The faithful city of God had become an unfaithful harlot. Righteousness and justice had been replaced with murder, impurity, and bribery. The inhabitants had failed in moral, ethical, and social dimensions. The defenseless members of society, the fatherless and the widows, suffered because of the city's wickedness (see also James 1:27). Because of Jerusalem's wickedness, God would bring a purifying judgment on her inhabitants (Is. 1:24–26). Then Jerusalem would again be a faithful city (v. 26).

Both will burn together,
And no one shall quench them.

The Future House of God

2 The word that Isaiah the son of Amoz saw concerning Judah and Jerusalem.

2 Now it shall come to pass in the latter days
That the mountain of the LORD's house
Shall be established on the top of the mountains,
And shall be exalted above the hills;
And all nations shall flow to it.
3 Many people shall come and say,
"Come, and let us go up to the mountain of the LORD,
To the house of the God of Jacob;
He will teach us His ways,
And we shall walk in His paths."
For out of Zion shall go forth the law,
And the word of the LORD from Jerusalem.
4 He shall judge between the nations,
And rebuke many people;
They shall beat their swords into plowshares,
And their spears into pruning hooks;
Nation shall not lift up sword against nation,
Neither shall they learn war anymore.

The Day of the LORD

5 O house of Jacob, come and let us walk
In the light of the LORD.

6 For You have forsaken Your people, the house of Jacob,
Because they are filled with eastern ways;
They are soothsayers like the Philistines,
And they are pleased with the children of foreigners.
7 Their land is also full of silver and gold,
And there is no end to their treasures;
Their land is also full of horses,
And there is no end to their chariots.
8 Their land is also full of idols;
They worship the work of their own hands,
That which their own fingers have made.
9 People bow down,
And each man humbles himself;
Therefore do not forgive them.

10 Enter into the rock, and hide in the dust,
From the terror of the LORD
And the glory of His majesty.
11 The lofty looks of man shall be humbled,
The haughtiness of men shall be bowed down,
And the LORD alone shall be exalted in that day.

12 For the day of the LORD of hosts
Shall come upon everything proud and lofty,
Upon everything lifted up—
And it shall be brought low—
13 Upon all the cedars of Lebanon that are high and lifted up,
And upon all the oaks of Bashan;
14 Upon all the high mountains,
And upon all the hills that are lifted up;
15 Upon every high tower,
And upon every fortified wall;
16 Upon all the ships of Tarshish,
And upon all the beautiful sloops.
17 The loftiness of man shall be bowed down,
And the haughtiness of men shall be brought low;
The LORD alone will be exalted in that day,
18 But the idols He shall utterly abolish.

19 They shall go into the holes of the rocks,
And into the caves of the earth,
From the terror of the LORD
And the glory of His majesty,
When He arises to shake the earth mightily.

20 In that day a man will cast away his idols of silver
And his idols of gold,
Which they made, each for himself to worship,
To the moles and bats,
21 To go into the clefts of the rocks,
And into the crags of the rugged rocks,
From the terror of the LORD
And the glory of His majesty,
When He arises to shake the earth mightily.

22 Sever yourselves from such a man,
Whose breath is in his nostrils;
For of what account is he?

2:1–4 Future peace was envisioned "in the latter days" (v. 2). In the messianic age all nations are pictured as supernaturally streaming uphill to Zion, and the Law or teaching of the Lord will be the focus in this time of peace (v. 4). Instruments of war (swords, spears) will become instruments of peace (plowshares, pruning hooks). Compare Micah 4:1–3 for a similar prophecy, and note Joel 3:10 for a reversal of part of this prophecy.

2:5–22 The day of the Lord would hold terror for the disobedient. As a general rule, God's people viewed the day of the Lord as a day of victory for themselves and a day of defeat and judgment for their enemies. The 8th century B.C. prophet Amos, who probably delivered his message prior to Isaiah's ministry, reversed that concept, teaching that the day of the Lord would also be a day of judgment for God's people since they had rebelled against Him (see Amos 5:18–20). Isaiah called the house of Jacob (Israel) to walk in the light of the Lord because the day of the Lord would hold terror for those who rebelled against Him (Is. 2:5).

MODESTY A MEASURE OF PROPRIETY

Before their disobedience in the Garden, Adam and Eve "were both naked . . . and were not ashamed," but afterward they were afraid. Their sense of shame and fear is at the core of modesty—the need to cover our bodies. In His grace God provided clothing for the first couple, and ever since, believers who fear God have covered themselves (Gen. 3:21).

The word modesty (Lat. modus, lit. "measure") is quantitative in its original meaning. It has come to mean a measure of propriety or humility, characterized by reserve and freedom from excess. In the New Testament, modesty carries the idea of arrangement, not only adornment of dress but also harmony of the inner life. Its biblical meaning is a sensitive withdrawal from anything that is indelicate or impure.

Throughout the Bible, lack of modesty is most often connected with an intent to commit sexual sin. Noah cursed his grandson Canaan because of the immodest actions of his father Ham (Gen. 9:21–25). Isaiah chided the women of Israel for exhibitionism (Is. 3:16). Hosea's allegory of unfaithful marriage contained reference to shameless behavior with a sexual connotation (Hos. 2:5).

Paul's writing in the New Testament refers more specifically to proper dress for believers. He teaches that the Christian should know when the boundaries of decency are being overstepped. Paul assumed in teaching on spiritual gifts and proper decorum in church that certain parts of the body are to be covered (1 Cor. 12:23; 1 Tim. 2:9).

The culture into which she is born and the Christian society in which she lives are factors in judging decency, but ultimately a woman's sense of modesty is to be regulated by her personal relationship with Jesus Christ and His purity.

Judgment on Judah and Jerusalem

3 For behold, the Lord, the LORD of hosts, Takes away from Jerusalem and from Judah
The stock and the store,
The whole supply of bread and the whole supply of water;
2 The mighty man and the man of war,
The judge and the prophet,
And the diviner and the elder;
3 The captain of fifty and the honorable man,
The counselor and the skillful artisan,
And the expert enchanter.

4 "I will give children to be their princes,
And babes shall rule over them.
5 The people will be oppressed,
Every one by another and every one by his neighbor;
The child will be insolent toward the elder,
And the base toward the honorable."

6 When a man takes hold of his brother
In the house of his father, saying,
"You have clothing;
You be our ruler,
And let these ruins be under your power,"[a] 7 In that day he will protest, saying,
"I cannot cure your ills,
For in my house is neither food nor clothing;
Do not make me a ruler of the people."

8 For Jerusalem stumbled,
And Judah is fallen,
Because their tongue and their doings
Are against the LORD,
To provoke the eyes of His glory.
9 The look on their countenance witnesses against them,
And they declare their sin as Sodom;
They do not hide it.
Woe to their soul!
For they have brought evil upon themselves.

10 "Say to the righteous that it shall be well *with
them,*
For they shall eat the fruit of their doings.
11 Woe to the wicked! It shall be ill with him,
For the reward of his hands shall be given him.

3:6 [a]Literally hand

3:1–15 The Lord is identified as "the Lord of hosts," perhaps signifying His role as Captain of the armies of Judah. He is the One bringing judgment on Jerusalem and Judah (v. 1). Judah cannot escape judgment. The supply of food and water would be exhausted (v. 1); leaders would be lost (vv. 2–12). Judah's leaders had been condemned for living in luxury while oppressing the people (vv. 13–15; compare Is. 1:23). Isaiah, together with the other 8th century B.C. prophets, was especially concerned about social justice. God's judgment came on Judah partly in the form of permitting internal decay.

12 As for My people, children are their oppressors,
And women rule over them.
O My people! Those who lead you cause you to err,
And destroy the way of your paths."

Oppression and Luxury Condemned

13 The LORD stands up to plead,
And stands to judge the people.
14 The LORD will enter into judgment
With the elders of His people
And His princes:
"For you have eaten up the vineyard;
The plunder of the poor is in your houses.
15 What do you mean by crushing My people
And grinding the faces of the poor?"
Says the Lord GOD of hosts.

16 Moreover the LORD says:

"Because the daughters of Zion are haughty,
And walk with outstretched necks
And wanton eyes,
Walking and mincing as they go,
Making a jingling with their feet,
17 Therefore the Lord will strike with a scab
The crown of the head of the daughters of Zion,
And the LORD will uncover their secret parts."

18 In that day the Lord will take away the finery:
The jingling anklets, the scarves, and the crescents;
19 The pendants, the bracelets, and the veils;
20 The headdresses, the leg ornaments, and the headbands;
The perfume boxes, the charms,
21 and the rings;
The nose jewels,
22 the festal apparel, and the mantles;
The outer garments, the purses,
23 and the mirrors;
The fine linen, the turbans, and the robes.

24 And so it shall be:

Instead of a sweet smell there will be a stench;
Instead of a sash, a rope;
Instead of well-set hair, baldness;
Instead of a rich robe, a girding of sackcloth;
And branding instead of beauty.
25 Your men shall fall by the sword,
And your mighty in the war.

26 Her gates shall lament and mourn,
And she being desolate shall sit on the ground.

4 And in that day seven women shall take hold of one man, saying,
"We will eat our own food and wear our own apparel;
Only let us be called by your name,
To take away our reproach."

The Renewal of Zion

2 In that day the Branch of the LORD shall be beautiful and glorious;
And the fruit of the earth shall be excellent and appealing
For those of Israel who have escaped.

3 And it shall come to pass that he who is left in Zion and remains in Jerusalem will be called holy—everyone who is recorded among the living in Jerusalem. 4 When the Lord has washed away the filth of the daughters of Zion, and purged the blood of Jerusalem from her midst, by the spirit of judgment and by the spirit of burning, 5 then the LORD will create above every dwelling place of Mount Zion, and above her assemblies, a cloud and smoke by day and the shining of a flaming fire by night. For over all the glory there will be a

3:16—4:1 The arrogant women of Jerusalem were judged by Isaiah. Amos had condemned the women of Samaria in the northern kingdom for their greed and oppression of the poor ("cows of Bashan," Amos 4:1–3, note). These prophets realized the importance of the character of women for the well-being of society. The aristocratic women of Jerusalem played a role in the ethical and moral collapse of Judah. They were condemned as vain, immodest, self-indulgent, and full of false pride. They engaged in vulgar and shameful behavior. The judgment on these women matched their sin. They were stripped of their fine garments, beauty, and jewels (Is. 3:18–24). Instead of holding their heads high in pride, they bowed them in shame. Part of their judgment included the fact that much of the male population of Jerusalem would die in battle (Is. 3:25, 26). The number "seven" is not literal but represents a large number of women (Is. 4:1; see chart, The Significance of Numbers in Scripture). Childlessness was viewed as a disgrace or "reproach" (Is. 54:4). The women are so desperate for husbands that they are willing to support themselves rather than looking to their husbands for support. Moral decay that reaches the women of society can gain a strong foothold in the home, where the most formative influence on the younger generation is found. When moral corruption reaches the home, the nation is headed for disaster.

4:2–6 Isaiah painted a picture of hope on the backdrop of a situation of gloom and despair. "In that day" points toward a time beyond the coming judgment (v. 2). "Branch" may refer to the Messiah or to the righteous remnant who survive the judgment (v. 2). It may also indicate new growth or the fertility of the Land and thus parallel the phrase "the fruit of the earth." This holy (lit. "set apart") remnant would experience not only God's forgiveness but also His care and protection (vv. 5, 6). The cloud by day and the fire by night are reminders of how the Lord guided and protected His people as they journeyed through the wilderness (v. 5; see Ex. 13:21, 22; Num. 9:15–23). Genuine security does not depend on national leaders but is God's gift of His presence to His people (Is. 4:6).

FEMINISM A SOCIAL IDEOLOGY

Feminism is somewhat difficult to define, for the term means different things to different people. Some who call themselves feminists are merely interested in promoting the dignity and worth of women. Others seek to promote a specific socio-political ideology that goes far beyond this. Feminists raise many valid concerns: the verbal and physical abuse of women, the degradation of women through pornography, and the attitude that women are of less worth or value than men.

Feminist philosophers propose that the solution to these problems lies in women's claiming the right to "name" or decree meaning for themselves. They encourage women to decide who they are, what the world should be like, or who or what God is. Scripture stands against this solution. The Bible teaches that God—and God alone—has the right to define these things. God made the earth and created man and woman, and He has determined who they are and how they should live (Is. 45:10–13; Rom. 9:20, 21).

Women are made in the image of God (Gen. 1:27); therefore, they ought to be treated with the same dignity and respect as men. The Bible does describe, however, basic differences between men and women that are to be honored as part of God's design (1 Cor. 11:3–16). The Bible does not support the degradation or abuse of women. At the same time, it does not support the right of women (or men) to put themselves above God's plan and do as they please. Christians need to respond to the real problems that feminists identify, but they must do so without compromising the plan for male and female that God has revealed in His Word.

God's Disappointing Vineyard

5 Now let me sing to my Well-beloved
A song of my Beloved regarding His vineyard:

My Well-beloved has a vineyard
On a very fruitful hill.
2He dug it up and cleared out its stones,
And planted it with the choicest vine.
He built a tower in its midst,
And also made a winepress in it;
So He expected it to bring forth good grapes,
But it brought forth wild grapes.

3"And now, O inhabitants of Jerusalem and men of Judah,
Judge, please, between Me and My vineyard.
4What more could have been done to My vineyard
That I have not done in it?
Why then, when I expected it to bring forth good grapes,
Did it bring forth wild grapes?
5And now, please let Me tell you what I will do to My vineyard:
I will take away its hedge, and it shall be burned;
And break down its wall, and it shall be trampled down.
6I will lay it waste;
It shall not be pruned or dug,
But there shall come up briers and thorns.
I will also command the clouds
That they rain no rain on it."

7For the vineyard of the LORD of hosts is the house of Israel,
And the men of Judah are His pleasant plant.
He looked for justice, but behold, oppression;
For righteousness, but behold, a cry for help.

Impending Judgment on Excesses

8Woe to those who join house to house;
They add field to field,
Till there is no place
Where they may dwell alone in the midst of the land!

5:1, 2 Isaiah's parable of the vineyard, utilizing the form of a love song, may have been sung by the prophet during one of the harvest festivals. A message that might be rejected if delivered in a sermon might be received in a song. "Beloved" is a reference to the owner of the vineyard (v. 1).

5:3–7 The Lord is the vineyard owner. The vineyard represents God's people. God had lavished loving care on His people and expected positive results. He was sorely disappointed. A play on words is evident (v. 7). The words for "justice" (Heb. mishpat) and "oppression" (Heb. mispak) are similar. The words for "righteousness" (Heb. tsedaqah) and "a cry" (Heb. tse'aqah) are also similar. The technical term for such a wordplay is paranomasia. God still looks for justice and righteousness that are exhibited in moral and ethical living from His people.

5:8–25 Woe can carry the idea of a curse, a reproach, or a funeral lament (vv. 8, 11, 18, 20–22). Here the word is used to announce judgment.

5:8–10 This first woe is a condemnation of those greedy for land and wealth. Despite their increased land holdings, production would decrease significantly (vv. 9, 10). God's judgment would strike the object of their greed.

9 In my hearing the LORD of hosts said,
"Truly, many houses shall be desolate,
Great and beautiful ones, without inhabitant.
10 For ten acres of vineyard shall yield one bath,
And a homer of seed shall yield one ephah."

11 Woe to those who rise early in the morning,
That they may follow intoxicating drink;
Who continue until night, till wine inflames them!
12 The harp and the strings,
The tambourine and flute,
And wine are in their feasts;
But they do not regard the work of the LORD,
Nor consider the operation of His hands.

13 Therefore my people have gone into captivity,
Because they have no knowledge;
Their honorable men are famished,
And their multitude dried up with thirst.
14 Therefore Sheol has enlarged itself
And opened its mouth beyond measure;
Their glory and their multitude and their pomp,
And he who is jubilant, shall descend into it.
15 People shall be brought down,
Each man shall be humbled,
And the eyes of the lofty shall be humbled.
16 But the LORD of hosts shall be exalted in judgment,
And God who is holy shall be hallowed in righteousness.
17 Then the lambs shall feed in their pasture,
And in the waste places of the fat ones strangers shall eat.

18 Woe to those who draw iniquity with cords of vanity,
And sin as if with a cart rope;
19 That say, "Let Him make speed and hasten His work,
That we may see it;
And let the counsel of the Holy One of Israel draw near and come,
That we may know it."

20 Woe to those who call evil good, and good evil;
Who put darkness for light, and light for darkness;
Who put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter!

21 Woe to those who are wise in their own eyes,
And prudent in their own sight!

22 Woe to men mighty at drinking wine,
Woe to men valiant for mixing intoxicating drink,
23 Who justify the wicked for a bribe,
And take away justice from the righteous man!

24 Therefore, as the fire devours the stubble,
And the flame consumes the chaff,
So their root will be as rottenness,
And their blossom will ascend like dust;
Because they have rejected the law of the LORD of hosts,
And despised the word of the Holy One of Israel.
25 Therefore the anger of the LORD is aroused against His people;
He has stretched out His hand against them
And stricken them,
And the hills trembled.
Their carcasses were as refuse in the midst of the streets.

For all this His anger is not turned away,
But His hand is stretched out still.

26 He will lift up a banner to the nations from afar,
And will whistle to them from the end of the earth;
Surely they shall come with speed, swiftly.

5:11–17 The second woe is upon Judah's drunken inhabitants, who pursue intoxicating drink from dawn to dark. This intoxication even occurred at religious festivals (v. 12). In their drunken stupor, the inhabitants of Judah were not aware that God was at work in their midst, probably a reference to God's work of judgment (v. 12). The wise men of Israel condemned excessive drinking (see Prov. 20, Alcoholism; 21:17; 23:29–35; 31:4, 5). The coming exile of God's people is predicted. She'ol (Heb.) refers to the place of the dead (Is. 5:14).

5:18, 19 The third woe is directed toward those who mocked God by continuing in their sin while challenging God to prove Himself to them. They implied that the Lord no longer had power to act. For "The Holy One of Israel," see Isaiah 1:4–9, note.

5:20 The fourth woe encompassed those living in such confusion that they had lost the power of moral discernment. They were no longer able to distinguish between good and evil.

5:21 The fifth woe is aimed at the proud and arrogant who have cut themselves off from God, the source of true wisdom (see James 1:5; 3:17). Claiming to be wise and totally self-sufficient, they were, in reality, fools (see Rom. 1:22).

5:22–25 The sixth woe, like the second, condemned those who became intoxicated through drink and those who perverted justice by accepting bribes (see vv. 11–17). The guilty went free, while the innocent were condemned.

5:24, 25 Because Judah had rejected the Lord, He had rejected them. These verses may belong only with the sixth woe or may apply to all six woes. Judgment was inevitable. The "law of the LORD" refers to His revelation of His will (v. 24).

5:26–30 The sovereign Lord would command a foreign power to come against Judah. Assyria, though not identified by name in this passage, was that power (see Is. 10:5, 6). The Lord is in control of history and will accomplish His purposes.

ATTRIBUTES OF GOD HE IS HOLY

God is not one among many; He is the One and Only (Is. 40:25). The word holy (Heb. qadosh) means "unique, set apart, unlike all others."

God's holiness is a powerful study of contrasts. The threefold "holy, holy, holy" of the seraphim expresses the superlative degree. This not only emphatically separates God from sin but also emphasizes His righteousness in contrast to our sinfulness.

Holiness is not what God does but who He is. The Lord swears by His holiness (Amos 4:2), and He swears by Himself (Amos 6:8)—they are the same. All God's attributes flow out of His holiness. That is why He is incapable of the slightest hint of impurity, unrighteousness, untruth, injustice, or questionable use of power (Gen. 18:25).

Two consistent responses spring from those who have seen God's holiness: they thirst for more (see Ex. 33:17–23; Ps. 42:1, 2; Phil. 3:10), and they know with certainty that He is God and they are not (Ps. 100:3).

See also Ps. 99:9; 111:9; Is. 57:15; Lam. 3:22, note; Luke 1:49; Rev. 15:4; notes on Attributes of God (Ex. 33; Deut. 4; 32; 2 Chr. 19; Job 23; 42; Ps. 25; 90; 102; 119; Is. 65; Jer. 23; Rom. 2; Eph. 1; 1 John 5); Holiness (Lev. 20); Praise (Ps. 149); Worship (Deut. 12)

27 No one will be weary or stumble among
them,
No one will slumber or sleep;
Nor will the belt on their loins be loosed,
Nor the strap of their sandals be broken;
28 Whose arrows are sharp,
And all their bows bent;
Their horses' hooves will seem like flint,
And their wheels like a whirlwind.
29 Their roaring will be like a lion,
They will roar like young lions;
Yes, they will roar
And lay hold of the prey;
They will carry it away safely,
And no one will deliver.
30 In that day they will roar against them
Like the roaring of the sea.
And if one looks to the land,
Behold, darkness and sorrow;
And the light is darkened by the clouds.

Isaiah Called to Be a Prophet

6 In the year that King Uzziah died, I saw the Lord sitting on a throne, high and lifted up, and the train of His robe filled the temple. 2 Above it stood seraphim; each one had six wings: with two he covered his face, with two he covered his feet, and with two he flew. 3 And one cried to another and said:

"Holy, holy, holy is the LORD of hosts;
The whole earth is full of His glory!"

4 And the posts of the door were shaken by the voice of him who cried out, and the house was filled with smoke.

5 So I said:

"Woe is me, for I am undone!
Because I am a man of unclean lips,
And I dwell in the midst of a people of unclean lips;
For my eyes have seen the King,
The LORD of hosts."

6 Then one of the seraphim flew to me, having in his hand a live coal which he had taken with the tongs from the altar. 7 And he touched my mouth with it, and said:

"Behold, this has touched your lips;
Your iniquity is taken away,
And your sin purged."

8 Also I heard the voice of the Lord, saying:

"Whom shall I send,
And who will go for Us?"

6:1–4 The seraphim, who guarded God's holiness, were fiery creatures with six wings (v. 2). With two wings the seraphim covered their faces, indicating reverence, and with two wings they covered their feet, depicting modesty or humility. With the other two wings the creatures flew, demonstrating their readiness for service. The seraphim focused on the holiness of God (v. 3).

6:5 Humility, not pride, should result from any genuine experience with the Lord. Isaiah viewed sin as uncleanness (v. 5), one of his key teachings about sin. Sin is also rebellion (Is. 1:2). A focus on the tools for speech occurred in this encounter with God, pointing to the nature of Isaiah's ministry as a spokesman for God.

6:6, 7 The fiery seraph (singular form of seraphim) touched the live coal directly to Isaiah's mouth in a symbolic act of forgiveness. This action suggests that no painless cure exists for sin. Nevertheless, forgiveness came from God, not from the burning coal. Only God can forgive sin.

6:8 Isaiah responded out of gratitude for what the Lord had done for him. Moses made several excuses when God called

Then I said, "Here am I! Send me."
9And He said, "Go, and tell this people:

'Keep on hearing, but do not understand;
Keep on seeing, but do not perceive.'

10"Make the heart of this people dull,
And their ears heavy,
And shut their eyes;
Lest they see with their eyes,
And hear with their ears,
And understand with their heart,
And return and be healed."

11Then I said, "Lord, how long?"
And He answered:

"Until the cities are laid waste and without inhabitant,
The houses are without a man,
The land is utterly desolate,
12The LORD has removed men far away,
And the forsaken places are many in the midst of the land.
13But yet a tenth will be in it,
And will return and be for consuming,
As a terebinth tree or as an oak,
Whose stump remains when it is cut down.
So the holy seed shall be its stump."

Isaiah Sent to King Ahaz

7 Now it came to pass in the days of Ahaz the son of Jotham, the son of Uzziah, king of Judah, that Rezin king of Syria and Pekah the son of Remaliah, king of Israel, went up to Jerusalem to make war against it, but could not prevail against it. 2And it was told to the house of David, saying, "Syria's forces are deployed in Ephraim." So his heart and the heart of his people were moved as the trees of the woods are moved with the wind.

3Then the LORD said to Isaiah, "Go out now to meet Ahaz, you and Shear-Jashub[a] your son, at the end of the aqueduct from the upper pool, on the highway to the Fuller's Field, 4and say to him: 'Take heed, and be quiet; do not fear or be faint-hearted for these two stubs of smoking fire-brands, for the fierce anger of Rezin and Syria, and the son of Remaliah. 5Because Syria, Ephraim, and the son of Remaliah have plotted evil against you, saying, 6"Let us go up against Judah and trouble it, and let us make a gap in its wall for ourselves, and set a king over them, the son of Tabel"— 7thus says the Lord GOD:

"It shall not stand,
Nor shall it come to pass.
8For the head of Syria is Damascus,
And the head of Damascus is Rezin.
Within sixty-five years Ephraim will be broken,
So that it will not be a people.
9The head of Ephraim is Samaria,
And the head of Samaria is Remaliah's son.
If you will not believe,
Surely you shall not be established." ' "

The Immanuel Prophecy

10Moreover the LORD spoke again to Ahaz, saying, 11"Ask a sign for yourself from the LORD your God; ask it either in the depth or in the height above."

12But Ahaz said, "I will not ask, nor will I test the LORD!"

7:3 [a]Literally A Remnant Shall Return

him because he did not really want to do the task God was calling him to do (see Ex. 3; 4). Jeremiah claimed that he was only a youth and could not speak well when he heard God call (Jer. 1:6). In contrast, Isaiah willingly volunteered to meet the need that the Lord had revealed to him.

6:11–13 Isaiah questioned how long he would be required to continue this difficult ministry. The Lord's answer indicated that Isaiah was to preach until the destruction came and the northern kingdom of Israel fell under Assyrian domination in 722 B.C. (vv. 11, 12). Although the destruction would be extensive, a remnant would survive (v. 13). Early in Isaiah's ministry, the teaching about the remnant singularly emphasized judgment. After the judgment, Isaiah's teaching about the remnant became a message of hope. The Lord's people would not be destroyed totally. A remnant would be spared.

7:1–9 The Syro-Ephraimitic Crisis occurred around 735 or 734 B.C. Syro refers to Syria, while Ephraimitic refers to the northern kingdom or Israel, sometimes designated Ephraim (see chart, The Terminology for the Divided Kingdom). Ahaz was king of Judah at this time. Rezin, king of Syria, and Pekah, king of Israel, formed a coalition against Assyria. They wanted Judah to join with them and she refused. Rezin and Pekah planned to force Judah to join with them by waging war against Judah. Through His prophet Isaiah, the Lord told Ahaz not to be afraid of Rezin or Pekah (vv. 3–8). In this instance (as was true in every crisis the nation faced), Isaiah counseled the people and leaders to have faith in the Lord. God was in control. A play on words appears in the latter part of verse 9. The Hebrew words translated "believe" and "be established" come from the same root word transliterated "amen." God's people must place their faith in Him, not in political alliances. Although Judah did not join the alliance, Ahaz appealed to Assyria for help, looking to men instead of to the Lord for assistance. Judah suffered as a result of Ahaz's foolish decision. Damascus, the capital of Syria, fell in 732 B.C. Samaria, the capital of the northern kingdom or Israel, fell in 722 B.C. (see 2 Kin. 16).

7:10–17 The Lord told Ahaz to request a sign, but he piously refused, implying that asking for a sign would be putting God to a test wrongly. The offer of a sign was linked with a word from God, and Ahaz did not want to hear God's message. His refusal to ask for a sign indicated his lack of faith in the Lord. The Lord gave Ahaz a sign anyway (vv. 14–16). This sign had a double significance—a special meaning for Isaiah's time but also a looking toward the future birth of the Messiah.

THE VIRGIN BIRTH — A MIRACLE OF THE SPIRIT

A virgin is one who has not engaged in sexual intercourse. The "virgin birth" describes the birth of the Savior, who was conceived in the womb of the young virgin Mary through the miraculous work of the Holy Spirit and without the presence of an earthly father. God chose this mystery, which is beyond human understanding, to bring His Son into the world (Matt. 1:18; Luke 1:34, 35).

Belief in the virgin birth is foundational to the Christian faith because this affirms and guarantees the perfect union of the human and divine in Jesus, the God-Man (Is. 9:6, 7); this identifies Jesus as the "New Adam" (Rom. 5:14, 15); this enables Jesus in His sinless nature as the Son of God and His perfect obedience as the Son of Man to meet the requirements for redemption (Heb. 2:17; 1 John 2:1, 2; 4:9, 10).

Being misunderstood is always painful, particularly when all the circumstantial evidence stacks up against you. Young, unmarried, and pregnant in a society that highly valued sexual purity and virginity, Mary surely was among the most misunderstood of women.

Mary's response to the angel's announcement to her must be seen in light of this tremendously high personal cost (Luke 1:38). She made a monumental declaration of faith. God asked Mary to bear the shame of pregnancy out of wedlock with only the knowledge of the truth as her strength—the truth that she was in fact a virgin despite all appearances. Mary accepted God's Word that by His power alone the Holy Child would be planted inside her body, receiving Him in faith and giving witness to His presence.

13 Then he said, "Hear now, O house of David! Is it a small thing for you to weary men, but will you weary my God also? 14 Therefore the Lord Himself will give you a sign: Behold, the virgin shall conceive and bear a Son, and shall call His name Immanuel.[a] 15 Curds and honey He shall eat, that He may know to refuse the evil and choose the good.
16 For before the Child shall know to refuse the evil and choose the good, the land that you dread will be forsaken by both her kings. 17 The LORD will bring the king of Assyria upon you and your people and your father's house—days that have not come since the day that Ephraim departed from Judah."

18 And it shall come to pass in that day
That the LORD will whistle for the fly
That is in the farthest part of the rivers of Egypt,
And for the bee that is in the land of Assyria.
19 They will come, and all of them will rest
In the desolate valleys and in the clefts of the rocks,
And on all thorns and in all pastures.

20 In the same day the Lord will shave with a hired razor,
With those from beyond the River,[a] with the king of Assyria,
The head and the hair of the legs,
And will also remove the beard.

21 It shall be in that day
That a man will keep alive a young cow and two sheep;
22 So it shall be, from the abundance of milk they give,
That he will eat curds;
For curds and honey everyone will eat who is left in the land.

23 It shall happen in that day,
That wherever there could be a thousand vines
Worth a thousand shekels of silver,
It will be for briers and thorns.
24 With arrows and bows men will come there,

7:14 [a]Literally God-With-Us 7:20 [a]That is, the Euphrates

7:14 Two Hebrew words can be translated virgin. 'Almah (Heb.) is the more general term, designating a young woman of marriageable age. Bethulah (Heb.) is a very specific word for "virgin," though not used exclusively in this way. However, in all its OT usages, the word can be, though does not have to be, translated in this way. Isaiah's use of `almah indicates a double fulfillment of this prophecy. Isaiah's son Shear-Jashub was a sign to Ahaz (vv. 3, 4) and the child Immanuel (Heb., lit. "God with us") was a sign to the whole world (vv. 14–16). The emphasis fell on the promise of God's presence in times of crisis. This promise ultimately was fulfilled in Christ (Matt. 1:22, 23).

7:18–25 Because of their lack of faith, judgment was coming on Judah. Isaiah described the devastation of the Land that would result from Ahaz's unwise policy. Four times in this brief passage reference is made to "that day" as the day of judgment (vv. 18, 20, 21, 23). The enemies of Judah are pictured metaphorically as swarming flies, stinging bees, and a hired razor. Disgrace, devastation, and despair would accompany Judah's defeat. The sovereign Lord would be in control of this judgment on His people (vv. 18, 20).

Because all the land will become briers and thorns.

25And to any hill which could be dug with the hoe,
You will not go there for fear of briers and
thorns;
But it will become a range for oxen
And a place for sheep to roam.

Assyria Will Invade the Land

8 Moreover the LORD said to me, "Take a large scroll, and write on it with a man's pen concerning Maher-Shalal-Hash-Baz.[a] 2And I will take for Myself faithful witnesses to record, Uriah the priest and Zechariah the son of Jeberechiah." 3Then I went to the prophetess, and she conceived and bore a son. Then the LORD said to me,
"Call his name Maher-Shalal-Hash-Baz; 4for before the child shall have knowledge to cry 'My father' and 'My mother,' the riches of Damascus and the spoil of Samaria will be taken away before the king of Assyria."
5The LORD also spoke to me again, saying:

6"Inasmuch as these people refused
The waters of Shiloah that flow softly,
And rejoice in Rezin and in Remaliah's son;
7Now therefore, behold, the Lord brings up over them
The waters of the River,[a] strong and mighty—
The king of Assyria and all his glory;
He will go up over all his channels
And go over all his banks.
8He will pass through Judah,
He will overflow and pass over,
He will reach up to the neck;
And the stretching out of his wings
Will fill the breadth of Your land,
O Immanuel.[a]

9"Be shattered, O you peoples, and be broken in pieces!
Give ear, all you from far countries.
Gird yourselves, but be broken in pieces;
Gird yourselves, but be broken in pieces.
10Take counsel together, but it will come to nothing;
Speak the word, but it will not stand,
For God is with us."[a]

Fear God, Heed His Word

11For the LORD spoke thus to me with a strong hand, and instructed me that I should not walk in the way of this people, saying:

12"Do not say, 'A conspiracy,' Concerning all that this people call a conspiracy,
Nor be afraid of their threats, nor be troubled.
13The LORD of hosts, Him you shall hallow;
Let Him be your fear,
And let Him be your dread.
14He will be as a sanctuary,
But a stone of stumbling and a rock of offense
To both the houses of Israel,
As a trap and a snare to the inhabitants of Jerusalem.
15And many among them shall stumble;
They shall fall and be broken,
Be snared and taken."

16Bind up the testimony,
Seal the law among my disciples.
17And I will wait on the LORD,
Who hides His face from the house of Jacob;
And I will hope in Him.
18Here am I and the children whom the LORD has given me!
We are for signs and wonders in Israel
From the LORD of hosts,
Who dwells in Mount Zion.

19And when they say to you, "Seek those who are mediums and wizards, who whisper and mutter," should not a people seek their God? Should they seek the dead on behalf of the living? 20To the law and to the testimony! If they do not speak according to this word, it is because there is no light in them.
21They will pass through it hard-pressed and hungry; and it shall happen, when they are hungry, that they will be enraged and curse their king

8:1 [a]Literally Speed the Spoil, Hasten the Booty 8:7 [a]That is, the Euphrates 8:8 [a]Literally God-With-Us 8:10 [a]Hebrew Immanuel

8:1–4 Isaiah's wife is identified as the prophetess (v. 3), though no reason for this designation is specifically given in the text. She may have been thus identified because she was the wife of a prophet or because she, as the mother of children bearing prophetic names, was involved in delivering God's message. The latter seems less likely since there is no additional textual evidence to affirm that. Isaiah's son Maher-Shalal-Hash-Baz (lit. "speeding to the spoil" or "hastening to the prey") functioned as a walking sermon to indicate that judgment was coming. The name sounds a note of judgment. Prophecy was fulfilled in 732 B.C. when Damascus, the capital of Syria, fell to the Assyrians and in 722 B.C. when Samaria, the capital of Israel, was conquered by Assyria (v. 4).

8:11–15 God is described as either a sanctuary or a stumbling stone (v. 14). To those who reverently feared Him, He would be a sanctuary. To those who feared men and rejected the Lord, He would be a stumbling stone, a trap, and a snare. Every woman has a choice regarding how she will respond to God's revelation, but each is responsible for the consequences of her choice. Without faith, no victory is possible.

and their God, and look upward. 22Then they will look to the earth, and see trouble and darkness, gloom of anguish; and they will be driven into darkness.

The Government of the Promised Son

9 Nevertheless the gloom will not be upon her who is distressed,
As when at first He lightly esteemed
The land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali,
And afterward more heavily oppressed her,
By the way of the sea, beyond the Jordan,
In Galilee of the Gentiles.
2The people who walked in darkness
Have seen a great light;
Those who dwelt in the land of the shadow of death,
Upon them a light has shined.

3You have multiplied the nation
And increased its joy;[a]
They rejoice before You
According to the joy of harvest,
As men rejoice when they divide the spoil.
4For You have broken the yoke of his burden
And the staff of his shoulder,
The rod of his oppressor,
As in the day of Midian.
5For every warrior's sandal from the noisy battle,
And garments rolled in blood,
Will be used for burning and fuel of fire.

6For unto us a Child is born,
Unto us a Son is given;
And the government will be upon His shoulder.
And His name will be called Wonderful, Counselor, Mighty God,
Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace.
7Of the increase of His government and peace
There will be no end,
Upon the throne of David and over His kingdom,
To order it and establish it with judgment and justice
From that time forward, even forever.
The zeal of the Lord of hosts will perform this.

The Punishment of Samaria

8The Lord sent a word against Jacob,
And it has fallen on Israel.
9All the people will know—
Ephraim and the inhabitant of Samaria—
Who say in pride and arrogance of heart:
10"The bricks have fallen down,
But we will rebuild with hewn stones;
The sycamores are cut down,
But we will replace them with cedars."
11Therefore the LORD shall set up
The adversaries of Rezin against him,
And spur his enemies on,
12The Syrians before and the Philistines behind;
And they shall devour Israel with an open mouth.

For all this His anger is not turned away,
But His hand is stretched out still.

13For the people do not turn to Him who strikes them,
Nor do they seek the LORD of hosts.
14Therefore the LORD will cut off head and tail from Israel,
Palm branch and bulrush in one day.
15The elder and honorable, he is the head;
The prophet who teaches lies, he is the tail.
16For the leaders of this people cause them to err,
And those who are led by them are destroyed.
17Therefore the Lord will have no joy in their young men,
Nor have mercy on their fatherless and widows;

9:3 [a]Following Qere and Targum; Kethib and Vulgate read not increased joy; Septuagint reads Most of the people You brought down in Your joy.

9:1–5 The lands of Zebulun and Naphtali in northern Galilee had suffered greatly at the hands of the Assyrians who had annexed these two areas around 732 B.C. The joy of deliverance is portrayed in imagery of harvest and of military victory in this song of thanksgiving to celebrate God's action on behalf of His people (vv. 3–5). The "day of Midian" recalled the story of Gideon's defeat of the Midianites through only a small army of men (v. 4; see Judg. 6—8). In the same way, God would bring a mighty victory to His people despite their weakness and helplessness. Clearly no king of Judah ever fulfilled these hopes.

9:6, 7 The messianic King would usher in the ideal age of peace (v. 5). Four titles describe the Messiah (v. 6): "Wonderful, Counselor" (one with great wisdom and leadership) is actually a single designation; "Mighty God" indicates His deity; "Everlasting Father" describes His unceasingly tender, loving relationship with His people; and "Prince of Peace" refers to a rich, harmonious life. Most glorious of all, His reign will never end (v. 7).

9:8—10:4 The stretching out of the Lord's hand, a refrain repeated throughout this passage, signifies judgment, not compassion (Is. 9:12, 17, 21; 10:4). Alternate designations for the northern kingdom are suggested: Jacob, Israel, Ephraim, and Samaria (Is. 9:8, 9; see chart, The Terminology of the Divided Kingdom). Even though calamity had come upon the northern kingdom, the inhabitants still maintained their stubborn pride and self-sufficiency (Is. 9:9, 10). As a result, God would impose even harsher discipline upon His people Israel (Is. 9:12; see Ex. 6:6; Jer. 21:5). Isaiah sang a funeral hymn over the dying nation (Is. 10:1–4). God's judgment on Israel had failed to produce a reform movement in Judah.

For everyone is a hypocrite and an evildoer,
And every mouth speaks folly.

For all this His anger is not turned away,
But His hand is stretched out still.

18For wickedness burns as the fire;
It shall devour the briers and thorns,
And kindle in the thickets of the forest;
They shall mount up like rising smoke.
19Through the wrath of the LORD of hosts
The land is burned up,
And the people shall be as fuel for the fire;
No man shall spare his brother.
20And he shall snatch on the right hand
And be hungry;
He shall devour on the left hand
And not be satisfied;
Every man shall eat the flesh of his own arm.
21Manasseh shall devour Ephraim, and Ephraim Manasseh;
Together they shall be against Judah.

For all this His anger is not turned away,
But His hand is stretched out still.

10 "Woe to those who decree unrighteous decrees,
Who write misfortune,
Which they have prescribed
2To rob the needy of justice,
And to take what is right from the poor of My people,
That widows may be their prey,
And that they may rob the fatherless.
3What will you do in the day of punishment,
And in the desolation which will come from afar?
To whom will you flee for help?
And where will you leave your glory?
4Without Me they shall bow down among the prisoners,
And they shall fall among the slain."

For all this His anger is not turned away,
But His hand is stretched out still.

Arrogant Assyria Also Judged

5"Woe to Assyria, the rod of My anger
And the staff in whose hand is My indignation.
6I will send him against an ungodly nation,
And against the people of My wrath
I will give him charge,
To seize the spoil, to take the prey,
And to tread them down like the mire of the streets.
7Yet he does not mean so,
Nor does his heart think so;
But it is in his heart to destroy,
And cut off not a few nations.
8For he says,
'Are not my princes altogether kings?
9*Is* not Calno like Carchemish?
Is not Hamath like Arpad?
Is not Samaria like Damascus?
10As my hand has found the kingdoms of the idols,
Whose carved images excelled those of Jerusalem and Samaria, 11As I have done to Samaria and her idols, Shall I not do also to Jerusalem and her idols?' "

12Therefore it shall come to pass, when the Lord has performed all His work on Mount Zion and on Jerusalem, that He will say, "I will punish the fruit of the arrogant heart of the king of Assyria, and the glory of his haughty looks."
13For he says:

"By the strength of my hand I have done it,
And by my wisdom, for I am prudent;
Also I have removed the boundaries of the people,
And have robbed their treasuries;
So I have put down the inhabitants like a valiant man.
14My hand has found like a nest the riches of the people,
And as one gathers eggs that are left,
I have gathered all the earth;
And there was no one who moved his wing,
Nor opened his mouth with even a peep."

15Shall the ax boast itself against him who chops with it?
Or shall the saw exalt itself against him who saws with it?
As if a rod could wield itself against those who lift it up,
Or as if a staff could lift up, as if it were not wood!
16Therefore the Lord, the Lord[a] of hosts,
Will send leanness among his fat ones;
And under his glory
He will kindle a burning
Like the burning of a fire.
17So the Light of Israel will be for a fire,
And his Holy One for a flame;
It will burn and devour

10:16 [a]Following Bomberg; Masoretic Text and Dead Sea Scrolls read YHWH (the LORD).

10:5–19 God used Assyria to judge His people (v. 5). But the prophet clearly revealed that God would judge Assyria also (vv. 12–19). Nineveh, the capital of Assyria, fell in 612 B.C. Discipline is an expression of the Lord's love for His people.

His thorns and his briers in one day.
18 And it will consume the glory of his forest and of his fruitful field,
Both soul and body;
And they will be as when a sick man wastes away.
19 Then the rest of the trees of his forest
Will be so few in number
That a child may write them.

The Returning Remnant of Israel

20 And it shall come to pass in that day
That the remnant of Israel,
And such as have escaped of the house of Jacob,
Will never again depend on him who defeated
them,
But will depend on the LORD, the Holy One of Israel, in truth.
21 The remnant will return, the remnant of Jacob,
To the Mighty God.
22 For though your people, O Israel, be as the sand of the sea,
A remnant of them will return;
The destruction decreed shall overflow with righteousness.
23 For the Lord GOD of hosts
Will make a determined end
In the midst of all the land.

24 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD of hosts:
"O My people, who dwell in Zion, do not be afraid of the Assyrian. He shall strike you with a rod and lift up his staff against you, in the manner of Egypt. 25 For yet a very little while and the indignation will cease, as will My anger in their destruction." 26 And the LORD of hosts will stir up a scourge for him like the slaughter of Midian at the rock of Oreb; as His rod was on the sea, so will
He lift it up in the manner of Egypt.

27 It shall come to pass in that day
That his burden will be taken away from your shoulder,
And his yoke from your neck,
And the yoke will be destroyed because of the anointing oil.

28 He has come to Aiath,
He has passed Migron;
At Michmash he has attended to his equipment.
29 They have gone along the ridge,
They have taken up lodging at Geba.
Ramah is afraid,
Gibeah of Saul has fled.
30 Lift up your voice,
O daughter of Gallim!
Cause it to be heard as far as Laish—
O poor Anathoth![a]
31 Madmenah has fled,
The inhabitants of Gebim seek refuge.
32 As yet he will remain at Nob that day;
He will shake his fist at the mount of the daughter of Zion,
The hill of Jerusalem.

33 Behold, the Lord,
The LORD of hosts,
Will lop off the bough with terror;
Those of high stature will be hewn down,
And the haughty will be humbled.
34 He will cut down the thickets of the forest with iron,
And Lebanon will fall by the Mighty One.

The Reign of Jesse's Offspring

11 There shall come forth a Rod from the stem of Jesse,
And a Branch shall grow out of his roots.
2 The Spirit of the LORD shall rest upon Him,
The Spirit of wisdom and understanding,
The Spirit of counsel and might,
The Spirit of knowledge and of the fear of the LORD.

3 His delight is in the fear of the LORD,
And He shall not judge by the sight of His eyes,
Nor decide by the hearing of His ears;
4 But with righteousness He shall judge the poor,
And decide with equity for the meek of the earth;
He shall strike the earth with the rod of His mouth,
And with the breath of His lips He shall slay
the wicked.
5 Righteousness shall be the belt of His loins,
And faithfulness the belt of His waist.

6 "The wolf also shall dwell with the lamb,
The leopard shall lie down with the young goat,

10:30 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Targum, and Vulgate; Septuagint and Syriac read Listen to her, O Anathoth.

11:1–9 The messianic King is described as a "Rod" or shoot from the "stem" or stump of Jesse, the father of David from whom the Messiah would come. The coming Messiah is pictured as a messianic King with the Spirit of the Lord resting upon Him, possessing wisdom and leadership, and having intimacy with God. "Knowledge" signifies an intimate, personal relationship (v. 2). "Fear of the Lord" describes reverent obedience, not cringing fear (v. 2). The messianic King would delight in doing the Lord's will (v. 3). He would rule with equity. The social and ethical aspects of His reign were emphasized. The Messiah would bring a time of peace with harmony, even among natural enemies (vv. 6, 7).

The calf and the young lion and the fatling
together;
And a little child shall lead them.
7The cow and the bear shall graze;
Their young ones shall lie down together;
And the lion shall eat straw like the ox.
8The nursing child shall play by the cobra's hole,
And the weaned child shall put his hand in the viper's den.
9They shall not hurt nor destroy in all My holy mountain,
For the earth shall be full of the knowledge of
the LORD
As the waters cover the sea.

10"And in that day there shall be a Root of Jesse,
Who shall stand as a banner to the people;
For the Gentiles shall seek Him,
And His resting place shall be glorious."

11It shall come to pass in that day
That the Lord shall set His hand again the second time
To recover the remnant of His people who are left,
From Assyria and Egypt,
From Pathros and Cush,
From Elam and Shinar,
From Hamath and the islands of the sea.

12He will set up a banner for the nations,
And will assemble the outcasts of Israel,
And gather together the dispersed of Judah
From the four corners of the earth.
13Also the envy of Ephraim shall depart,
And the adversaries of Judah shall be cut off;
Ephraim shall not envy Judah,
And Judah shall not harass Ephraim.
14But they shall fly down upon the shoulder of the Philistines toward the west;
Together they shall plunder the people of the East;
They shall lay their hand on Edom and Moab;
And the people of Ammon shall obey them.
15The LORD will utterly destroy[a] the tongue of the Sea of Egypt;
With His mighty wind He will shake His fist
over the River,[b]
And strike it in the seven streams,
And make men cross over dryshod.
16There will be a highway for the remnant of His people
Who will be left from Assyria,
As it was for Israel
In the day that he came up from the land of Egypt.

A Hymn of Praise

12 And in that day you will say:
"O LORD, I will praise You;
Though You were angry with me,
Your anger is turned away, and You comfort me.
2Behold, God is my salvation,
I will trust and not be afraid;
'For YAH, the LORD, is my strength and song;
He also has become my salvation.' "[a]

3Therefore with joy you will draw water
From the wells of salvation.

4And in that day you will say:

"Praise the LORD, call upon His name;
Declare His deeds among the peoples,
Make mention that His name is exalted.
5Sing to the LORD,
For He has done excellent things;
This is known in all the earth.
6Cry out and shout, O inhabitant of Zion,
For great is the Holy One of Israel in your midst!"

Proclamation Against Babylon

13 The burden against Babylon which Isaiah the son of Amoz saw.

2"Lift up a banner on the high mountain,
Raise your voice to them;

11:15 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Vulgate; Septuagint, Syriac, and Targum read dry up. [b]That is, the Euphrates 12:2 [a]Exodus 15:2

11:10–16 In that day, a phrase used by the prophets to describe future times, is eschatological language. The "Root of Jesse" is another designation for the Messiah (v. 10). The imagery of the Exodus from Egypt is employed to describe the Lord's future deliverance of His people (vv. 15, 16).

12:1–6 The joyful response of the Lord's people is anticipated in that future day when God would deliver them. After the disciplining judgment of the Lord was past, His people would look to Him in praise and trust Him as their salvation (v. 2). Yah is the abbreviated form of Yahweh, the Lord's personal name (v. 2; compare Is. 12:2 with Ex. 15:2). The Lord's praise would be proclaimed joyously among the nations. The Lord's name represents His character (Is. 12:4). The Lord was praised for His great acts and also for His presence with His people. For "the Holy One of Israel," see Isaiah 1:4–9, note. Compare the words of this song of praise with Psalm 66:2; 67:2; and 148:13.

13:1–22 God proclaimed judgment on Babylon, a significant foe of God's people in ancient times (Is. 13; 14). The southern kingdom of Judah fell to the Babylonians in 586 B.C. In the NT, the term Babylon symbolizes the oppression of Rome (see 1 Pet. 5:13; Rev. 14:8). While Isaiah 1—12 is concerned primarily with judgment on Judah and Jerusalem, chapters 13—23 concern prophecies against various nations. "The day of the

Wave your hand, that they may enter the gates of the nobles.
3I have commanded My sanctified ones;
I have also called My mighty ones for My anger—
Those who rejoice in My exaltation."

4The noise of a multitude in the mountains,
Like that of many people!
A tumultuous noise of the kingdoms of nations gathered together!
The LORD of hosts musters
The army for battle.
5They come from a far country,
From the end of heaven—
The LORD and His weapons of indignation,
To destroy the whole land.

6Wail, for the day of the LORD is at hand!
It will come as destruction from the Almighty.
7Therefore all hands will be limp,
Every man's heart will melt,
8And they will be afraid.
Pangs and sorrows will take hold of them;
They will be in pain as a woman in childbirth;
They will be amazed at one another;
Their faces will be like flames.

9Behold, the day of the LORD comes,
Cruel, with both wrath and fierce anger,
To lay the land desolate;
And He will destroy its sinners from it.
10For the stars of heaven and their constellations
Will not give their light;
The sun will be darkened in its going forth,
And the moon will not cause its light to shine.

11"I will punish the world for its evil,
And the wicked for their iniquity;
I will halt the arrogance of the proud,
And will lay low the haughtiness of the terrible.
12I will make a mortal more rare than fine gold,
A man more than the golden wedge of Ophir.
13Therefore I will shake the heavens,
And the earth will move out of her place,
In the wrath of the LORD of hosts
And in the day of His fierce anger.
14It shall be as the hunted gazelle,
And as a sheep that no man takes up;
Every man will turn to his own people,
And everyone will flee to his own land.
15Everyone who is found will be thrust through,
And everyone who is captured will fall by the sword.
16Their children also will be dashed to pieces
before their eyes;
Their houses will be plundered
And their wives ravished.

17"Behold, I will stir up the Medes against them,
Who will not regard silver;
And as for gold, they will not delight in it.
18Also their bows will dash the young men to pieces,
And they will have no pity on the fruit of the womb;
Their eye will not spare children.
19And Babylon, the glory of kingdoms,
The beauty of the Chaldeans' pride,
Will be as when God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah.
20It will never be inhabited,
Nor will it be settled from generation to generation;
Nor will the Arabian pitch tents there,
Nor will the shepherds make their sheepfolds
there.
21But wild beasts of the desert will lie there,
And their houses will be full of owls;
Ostriches will dwell there,
And wild goats will caper there.
22The hyenas will howl in their citadels,
And jackals in their pleasant palaces.
Her time is near to come,
And her days will not be prolonged."

Mercy on Jacob

14 For the LORD will have mercy on Jacob, and will still choose Israel, and settle them in their own land. The strangers will be joined with them, and they will cling to the house of Jacob. 2Then people will take them and bring them to their place, and the house of Israel will possess them for servants and maids in the land of the LORD; they will take them captive whose captives they were, and rule over their oppressors.

Fall of the King of Babylon

3It shall come to pass in the day the LORD gives you rest from your sorrow, and from your fear and the hard bondage in which you were made to serve, 4that you will take up this proverb against the king of Babylon, and say:

Lord" would be a day of destruction (Is. 13:6, 9). According to this prophecy, Babylon would become like Sodom and Gomorrah (v. 19), cities on which the Lord rained fire and brimstone in the time of Abraham (Gen. 19:24, 25). Babylon's defeat by the Medes was prophesied (Is. 13:17), and it occurred in 539 B.C.

14:3–23 Babylon, the capital of the ancient nation of Babylonia, was located between the Tigris and Euphrates rivers. The fall, or death, of the king of Babylon was celebrated in the form of a mocking song. The reference to "hell" is literally a reference to She'ol (Heb.), the shadowy place of the dead (v. 9). The Lord Himself would bring about the fall of Babylon

"How the oppressor has ceased,
The golden[a] city ceased!
5 The LORD has broken the staff of the wicked,
The scepter of the rulers;
6 He who struck the people in wrath with a continual stroke,
He who ruled the nations in anger,
Is persecuted and no one hinders.
7 The whole earth is at rest and quiet;
They break forth into singing.
8 Indeed the cypress trees rejoice over you,
And the cedars of Lebanon,
Saying, 'Since you were cut down,
No woodsman has come up against us.'

9 "Hell from beneath is excited about you,
To meet you at your coming;
It stirs up the dead for you,
All the chief ones of the earth;
It has raised up from their thrones
All the kings of the nations.
10 They all shall speak and say to you:

14:4 [a]Or insolent

because of the pride of the king of Babylon, who tried to ascend into heaven and be like the Most High (vv. 13, 15; see chart, A Portrait of the Adversary). Both in Genesis 11 at the Tower of Babel and in Isaiah 14, pride resulted in the downfall of a people. Isaiah 14:12–21 has been interpreted typologically as a description of the fall of Satan, but the fall of Babylon because of its pride is the primary event in view in the context of this passage. The Lord of Hosts, the God of the armies, guaranteed the defeat of Babylon (vv. 22, 23), and the Babylonian Empire fell to the Medes and Persians in 539 B.C.

'Have you also become as weak as we?
Have you become like us?
11 Your pomp is brought down to Sheol,
And the sound of your stringed instruments;
The maggot is spread under you,
And worms cover you.'

The Fall of Lucifer

12 "How you are fallen from heaven,
O Lucifer,[a] son of the morning!
How you are cut down to the ground,
You who weakened the nations!
13 For you have said in your heart:
'I will ascend into heaven,
I will exalt my throne above the stars of God;
I will also sit on the mount of the congregation
On the farthest sides of the north;
14 I will ascend above the heights of the clouds,
I will be like the Most High.'
15 Yet you shall be brought down to Sheol,
To the lowest depths of the Pit.

16 "Those who see you will gaze at you,
And consider you, saying:
'Is this the man who made the earth tremble,
Who shook kingdoms,
17 Who made the world as a wilderness
And destroyed its cities,
Who did not open the house of his prisoners?'

18 "All the kings of the nations,
All of them, sleep in glory,
Everyone in his own house;
19 But you are cast out of your grave
Like an abominable branch,
Like the garment of those who are slain,
Thrust through with a sword,
Who go down to the stones of the pit,
Like a corpse trodden underfoot.
20 You will not be joined with them in burial,
Because you have destroyed your land
And slain your people.
The brood of evildoers shall never be named.
21 Prepare slaughter for his children
Because of the iniquity of their fathers,
Lest they rise up and possess the land,
And fill the face of the world with cities."

Babylon Destroyed

22 "For I will rise up against them," says the LORD of hosts,
"And cut off from Babylon the name and remnant,
And offspring and posterity," says the LORD.
23 "I will also make it a possession for the porcupine,
And marshes of muddy water;
I will sweep it with the broom of destruction,"
says the LORD of hosts.

Assyria Destroyed

24 The LORD of hosts has sworn, saying,
"Surely, as I have thought, so it shall come to pass,
And as I have purposed, so it shall stand:
25 That I will break the Assyrian in My land,
And on My mountains tread him underfoot.
Then his yoke shall be removed from them,
And his burden removed from their shoulders.
26 This is the purpose that is purposed against the whole earth,
And this is the hand that is stretched out over all the nations.
27 For the LORD of hosts has purposed,
And who will annul it?
His hand is stretched out,
And who will turn it back?"

Philistia Destroyed

28 This is the burden which came in the year that King Ahaz died.

29 "Do not rejoice, all you of Philistia,
Because the rod that struck you is broken;
For out of the serpent's roots will come forth a viper,
And its offspring will be a fiery flying serpent.
30 The firstborn of the poor will feed,
And the needy will lie down in safety;
I will kill your roots with famine,
And it will slay your remnant.
31 Wail, O gate! Cry, O city!
All you of Philistia are dissolved;
For smoke will come from the north,
And no one will be alone in his appointed times."

32 What will they answer the messengers of the nation?
That the LORD has founded Zion,

14:12 [a]Literally Day Star

14:24–27 The Lord of Hosts would bring about the fall of Assyria. The northern kingdom completely fell to Assyrian domination in 722 B.C. The Assyrians dominated Palestine during the years 745–650 B.C. The Lord would also bring His judgment finally on the Assyrians (see Is. 10:5–19, note).

14:28–32 The Philistines, a major threat to Israel from soon after the time of Israel's initial settlement in the Land, inhabited the southwestern coast of Canaan. The five major Philistine cities were Ashdod, Ashkelon, Gaza, Ekron, and Gath. Isaiah announced the certain doom of the Philistine revolt against Assyria and bitterly opposed Judah's participation in this rebellion (see Is. 20:1–6). In each crisis that Judah encountered, Isaiah counseled faith in the Lord rather than dependence on military alliances (see Introduction: Date).

And the poor of His people shall take refuge in it.

Proclamation Against Moab

15 The burden against Moab.
Because in the night Ar of Moab is laid waste
And destroyed,
Because in the night Kir of Moab is laid waste
And destroyed,
2 He has gone up to the temple[a] and Dibon,
To the high places to weep.
Moab will wail over Nebo and over Medeba;
On all their heads will be baldness,
And every beard cut off.
3 In their streets they will clothe themselves with sackcloth;
On the tops of their houses
And in their streets
Everyone will wail, weeping bitterly.
4 Heshbon and Elealeh will cry out,
Their voice shall be heard as far as Jahaz;
Therefore the armed soldiers[a] of Moab will cry out;
His life will be burdensome to him.

5 "My heart will cry out for Moab;
His fugitives shall flee to Zoar,
Like a three-year-old heifer.[a]
For by the Ascent of Luhith
They will go up with weeping;
For in the way of Horonaim
They will raise up a cry of destruction,
6 For the waters of Nimrim will be desolate,
For the green grass has withered away;
The grass fails, there is nothing green.
7 Therefore the abundance they have gained,
And what they have laid up,
They will carry away to the Brook of the Willows.
8 For the cry has gone all around the borders of Moab,
Its wailing to Eglaim
And its wailing to Beer Elim.
9 For the waters of Dimon[a] will be full of blood;
Because I will bring more upon Dimon,[b]
Lions upon him who escapes from Moab,
And on the remnant of the land."

Moab Destroyed

16 Send the lamb to the ruler of the land,
From Sela to the wilderness,
To the mount of the daughter of Zion.
2 For it shall be as a wandering bird thrown out of the nest;
So shall be the daughters of Moab at the fords of the Arnon.

3 "Take counsel, execute judgment;
Make your shadow like the night in the middle of the day;
Hide the outcasts,
Do not betray him who escapes.
4 Let My outcasts dwell with you, O Moab;
Be a shelter to them from the face of the spoiler.
For the extortioner is at an end,
Devastation ceases,
The oppressors are consumed out of the land.
5 In mercy the throne will be established;
And One will sit on it in truth, in the tabernacle of David,
Judging and seeking justice and hastening
righteousness."

6 We have heard of the pride of Moab—
He is very proud—
Of his haughtiness and his pride and his wrath;
But his lies shall not be so.
7 Therefore Moab shall wail for Moab;
Everyone shall wail.
For the foundations of Kir Hareseth you shall mourn;
Surely they are stricken.

8 For the fields of Heshbon languish,
And the vine of Sibmah;
The lords of the nations have broken down its choice plants,
Which have reached to Jazer
And wandered through the wilderness.
Her branches are stretched out,
They are gone over the sea.
9 Therefore I will bewail the vine of Sibmah,
With the weeping of Jazer;
I will drench you with my tears,
O Heshbon and Elealeh;
For battle cries have fallen
Over your summer fruits and your harvest.

15:2 [a]Hebrew bayith, literally house 15:4 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Targum, and Vulgate; Septuagint and Syriac read loins. 15:5 [a]Or The Third Eglath, an unknown city (compare Jeremiah 48:34) 15:9 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Targum; Dead Sea Scrolls and Vulgate read Dibon; Septuagint reads Rimon. [b]Following Masoretic Text and Targum; Dead Sea Scrolls and Vulgate read Dibon; Septuagint reads Rimon.

15:1—16:14 This lengthy proclamation against Moab announced the doom of that nation. Moab, whose inhabitants descended from Lot (Gen. 19:30–38), was located east of the Salt Sea. Moab opposed the Israelites when they prepared to enter Canaan (Num. 22—24) and was later overrun by Sargon, king of Assyria. Pride and arrogance are associated with Moab's fall (Is. 16:6, 7).

10 Gladness is taken away,
And joy from the plentiful field;
In the vineyards there will be no singing,
Nor will there be shouting;
No treaders will tread out wine in the presses;
I have made their shouting cease.
11 Therefore my heart shall resound like a harp for Moab,
And my inner being for Kir Heres.

12 And it shall come to pass,
When it is seen that Moab is weary on the high place,
That he will come to his sanctuary to pray;
But he will not prevail.

13 This is the word which the LORD has spoken concerning Moab since that time. 14 But now the LORD has spoken, saying, "Within three years, as the years of a hired man, the glory of Moab will be despised with all that great multitude, and the remnant will be very small and feeble."

Proclamation Against Syria and Israel

17 The burden against Damascus.
"Behold, Damascus will cease from being a city,
And it will be a ruinous heap.
2 The cities of Aroer are forsaken;[a]
They will be for flocks
Which lie down, and no one will make them afraid.
3 The fortress also will cease from Ephraim,
The kingdom from Damascus,
And the remnant of Syria;
They will be as the glory of the children of Israel,"
Says the LORD of hosts.
4 "In that day it shall come to pass
That the glory of Jacob will wane,
And the fatness of his flesh grow lean.
5 It shall be as when the harvester gathers the grain,
And reaps the heads with his arm;
It shall be as he who gathers heads of grain
In the Valley of Rephaim.
6 Yet gleaning grapes will be left in it,
Like the shaking of an olive tree,
Two or three olives at the top of the uppermost bough,
Four or five in its most fruitful branches,"
Says the LORD God of Israel.
7 In that day a man will look to his Maker,
And his eyes will have respect for the Holy One of Israel.
8 He will not look to the altars,
The work of his hands;
He will not respect what his fingers have made,
Nor the wooden images[a] nor the incense altars.

9 In that day his strong cities will be as a forsaken bough[a]
And an uppermost branch,[b]
Which they left because of the children of Israel;
And there will be desolation.

10 Because you have forgotten the God of your salvation,
And have not been mindful of the Rock of your stronghold,
Therefore you will plant pleasant plants
And set out foreign seedlings;
11 In the day you will make your plant to grow,
And in the morning you will make your seed to flourish;
But the harvest will be a heap of ruins
In the day of grief and desperate sorrow.

12 Woe to the multitude of many people
Who make a noise like the roar of the seas,
And to the rushing of nations
That make a rushing like the rushing of mighty waters!
13 The nations will rush like the rushing of many waters;
But God will rebuke them and they will flee far away,
And be chased like the chaff of the mountains before the wind,
Like a rolling thing before the whirlwind.
14 Then behold, at eventide, trouble!
And before the morning, he is no more.
This is the portion of those who plunder us,
And the lot of those who rob us.

17:2 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Vulgate; Septuagint reads It shall be forsaken forever; Targum reads Its cities shall be forsaken and desolate. 17:8 [a]Hebrew Asherim, Canaanite deities 17:9 [a]Septuagint reads Hivites; Targum reads laid waste; Vulgate reads as the plows. [b]Septuagint reads Amorites; Targum reads in ruins; Vulgate reads corn.

17:1–6 Damascus, the capital of Syria, was located northeast of Israel. Ephraim and Jacob in this passage are alternate designations for Israel, the northern kingdom (see chart, The Terminology for the Divided Kingdom). The message of this passage is associated with the Syro-Ephraimitic Crisis in 734 B.C. (see Introduction: Date). Just as Syria and Ephraim united themselves and tried to force Judah into coalition with them against Assyria, they were united in receiving condemnation. Syria fell in 732 B.C. Ephraim or Israel ultimately fell to the Assyrians in 722 B.C.

Proclamation Against Ethiopia

18 Woe to the land shadowed with buzzing wings,
Which is beyond the rivers of Ethiopia,
2 Which sends ambassadors by sea,
Even in vessels of reed on the waters, saying,
"Go, swift messengers, to a nation tall and smooth of skin,
To a people terrible from their beginning onward,
A nation powerful and treading down,
Whose land the rivers divide."

3 All inhabitants of the world and dwellers on the earth:
When he lifts up a banner on the mountains, you see it;
And when he blows a trumpet, you hear it.
4 For so the LORD said to me,
"I will take My rest,
And I will look from My dwelling place
Like clear heat in sunshine,
Like a cloud of dew in the heat of harvest."
5 For before the harvest, when the bud is perfect
And the sour grape is ripening in the flower,
He will both cut off the sprigs with pruning hooks
And take away and cut down the branches.
6 They will be left together for the mountain birds of prey
And for the beasts of the earth;
The birds of prey will summer on them,
And all the beasts of the earth will winter on them.

7 In that time a present will be brought to the LORD of hosts
From[a] a people tall and smooth of skin,
And from a people terrible from their beginning onward,
A nation powerful and treading down,
Whose land the rivers divide—
To the place of the name of the LORD of hosts,
To Mount Zion.

Proclamation Against Egypt

19 The burden against Egypt.
Behold, the LORD rides on a swift cloud,
And will come into Egypt;
The idols of Egypt will totter at His presence,
And the heart of Egypt will melt in its midst.

2 "I will set Egyptians against Egyptians;
Everyone will fight against his brother,
And everyone against his neighbor,
City against city, kingdom against kingdom.
3 The spirit of Egypt will fail in its midst;
I will destroy their counsel,
And they will consult the idols and the charmers,
The mediums and the sorcerers.
4 And the Egyptians I will give
Into the hand of a cruel master,
And a fierce king will rule over them,"
Says the Lord, the LORD of hosts.

5 The waters will fail from the sea,
And the river will be wasted and dried up.
6 The rivers will turn foul;
The brooks of defense will be emptied and dried up;
The reeds and rushes will wither.
7 The papyrus reeds by the River,[a] by the mouth of the River,
And everything sown by the River,
Will wither, be driven away, and be no more.
8 The fishermen also will mourn;
All those will lament who cast hooks into the River,
And they will languish who spread nets on the waters.
9 Moreover those who work in fine flax
And those who weave fine fabric will be ashamed;
10 And its foundations will be broken.
All who make wages will be troubled of soul.

11 Surely the princes of Zoan are fools;
Pharaoh's wise counselors give foolish counsel.
How do you say to Pharaoh, "I am the son of the wise,
The son of ancient kings?"
12 Where are they?
Where are your wise men?
Let them tell you now,
And let them know what the LORD of hosts has purposed against Egypt.

18:7 [a]Following Dead Sea Scrolls, Septuagint, and Vulgate; Masoretic Text omits From; Targum reads To. 19:7 [a]That is, the Nile

18:1–7 The designations Egypt and Ethiopia are used almost synonymously in the Book of Isaiah. Egypt was ruled by an Ethiopian dynasty during the latter part of the 8th century and the first half of the 7th century B.C. Egyptians experienced new hope for the supremacy of their nation under Ethiopian leadership, but that hope ended when the Assyrians conquered Thebes, the capital city of Egypt, in the 7th century B.C.

19:1–17 Egypt, the ancient enemy of God's people, would once again face God's judgment, just as the armies of Pharaoh met devastation by the power of the Lord at the sea (Ex. 14; 15). The drying up of the Nile River, the source of Egypt's life, would seal the destruction of the nation (Is. 19:5–10). The city of Zoan is also known as Tanis or Raamses. Noph is an alternate name for the city of Memphis. Both cities had served as Egypt's capital.

13 The princes of Zoan have become fools;
The princes of Noph[a] are deceived;
They have also deluded Egypt,
Those who are the mainstay of its tribes.
14 The LORD has mingled a perverse spirit in her midst;
And they have caused Egypt to err in all her work,
As a drunken man staggers in his vomit.
15 Neither will there be any work for Egypt,
Which the head or tail,
Palm branch or bulrush, may do.[a]

16 In that day Egypt will be like women, and will be afraid and fear because of the waving of the hand of the LORD of hosts, which He waves over it. 17 And the land of Judah will be a terror to Egypt; everyone who makes mention of it will be afraid in himself, because of the counsel of the LORD of hosts which He has determined against it.

Egypt, Assyria, and Israel Blessed

18 In that day five cities in the land of Egypt will speak the language of Canaan and swear by the LORD of hosts; one will be called the City of Destruction.[a]

19 In that day there will be an altar to the LORD in the midst of the land of Egypt, and a pillar to the LORD at its border. 20 And it will be for a sign and for a witness to the LORD of hosts in the land of Egypt; for they will cry to the LORD because of the oppressors, and He will send them a Savior and a Mighty One, and He will deliver them. 21 Then the LORD will be known to Egypt, and the Egyptians will know the LORD in that day, and will make sacrifice and offering; yes, they will make a vow to the LORD and perform it. 22 And the LORD will strike Egypt, He will strike and heal it; they will return to the LORD, and He will be entreated by them and heal them.

23 In that day there will be a highway from Egypt to Assyria, and the Assyrian will come into Egypt and the Egyptian into Assyria, and the Egyptians will serve with the Assyrians.

24 In that day Israel will be one of three with Egypt and Assyria—a blessing in the midst of the land, 25 whom the LORD of hosts shall bless, saying, "Blessed is Egypt My people, and Assyria the work of My hands, and Israel My inheritance."

The Sign Against Egypt and Ethiopia

20 In the year that Tartan[a] came to Ashdod, when Sargon the king of Assyria sent him, and he fought against Ashdod and took it, 2 at the same time the LORD spoke by Isaiah the son of Amoz, saying, "Go, and remove the sackcloth from your body, and take your sandals off your feet." And he did so, walking naked and barefoot.

3 Then the LORD said, "Just as My servant Isaiah has walked naked and barefoot three years for a sign and a wonder against Egypt and Ethiopia, 4 so shall the king of Assyria lead away the Egyptians as prisoners and the Ethiopians as captives, young and old, naked and barefoot, with their buttocks uncovered, to the shame of Egypt. 5 Then they shall be afraid and ashamed of Ethiopia their expectation and Egypt their glory. 6 And the inhabitant of this territory will say in that day, 'Surely such is our expectation, wherever we flee for help to be delivered from the king of Assyria; and how shall we escape?' "

The Fall of Babylon Proclaimed

21 The burden against the Wilderness of the Sea.
As whirlwinds in the South pass through,
So it comes from the desert, from a terrible land.
2 A distressing vision is declared to me;
The treacherous dealer deals treacherously,
And the plunderer plunders.
Go up, O Elam!
Besiege, O Media!
All its sighing I have made to cease.

3 Therefore my loins are filled with pain;
Pangs have taken hold of me, like the pangs of a woman in labor.
I was distressed when I heard it;
I was dismayed when I saw it.

19:13 [a]That is, ancient Memphis 19:15 [a]Compare Isaiah 9:14–16 19:18 [a]Some Hebrew manuscripts, Arabic, Dead Sea Scrolls, Targum, and Vulgate read Sun; Septuagint reads Asedek (literally Righteousness). 20:1 [a]Or the Commander in Chief

19:18–25 The day would come when the Lord would bless Egypt, Assyria, and Israel. The inhabitants of Egypt and Assyria would become worshipers of the Lord, the God of Israel, who would be recognized as the God of the whole earth. A tremendous missionary emphasis appears in this passage. The future would bring the fulfillment of the promise made to Abram (Gen. 12:1–3). Egypt and Assyria, two of the worst enemies of God's people, would be partners with Israel in serving as a blessing to the world.

20:1–6 Isaiah employed a symbolic act to emphasize vividly God's judgment on Egypt and Ethiopia. Isaiah's action of walking naked and barefoot symbolized a captive being taken into exile. The setting of this passage is the Ashdod Rebellion (714–711 B.C.). The ruler of Ashdod led the Philistines to revolt against Assyria. Isaiah bitterly opposed any participation on the part of Judah in this rebellion, for in every crisis he counseled Judah to have faith in the Lord instead of trusting in political alliances. Evidently Judah did not become involved in this rebellion (see Is. 14:28–32, note).

21:1–10 Babylon, who led forces against Assyrian power, fell to Cyrus of Persia in 539 B.C. (see Is. 14:3–23, note). The message to Judah was clear: God's people should trust in the Lord, not in political or military alliances.

4My heart wavered, fearfulness frightened me;
The night for which I longed He turned into fear for me.
5Prepare the table,
Set a watchman in the tower,
Eat and drink.
Arise, you princes,
Anoint the shield!

6For thus has the Lord said to me:
"Go, set a watchman,
Let him declare what he sees."
7And he saw a chariot with a pair of horsemen,
A chariot of donkeys, and a chariot of camels,
And he listened earnestly with great care.
8Then he cried, "A lion,[a] my Lord!
I stand continually on the watchtower in the daytime;
I have sat at my post every night.
9And look, here comes a chariot of men with a pair of horsemen!"
Then he answered and said,
"Babylon is fallen, is fallen!
And all the carved images of her gods
He has broken to the ground."

10Oh, my threshing and the grain of my floor!
That which I have heard from the LORD of hosts,
The God of Israel,
I have declared to you.

Proclamation Against Edom

11The burden against Dumah.

He calls to me out of Seir,
"Watchman, what of the night?
Watchman, what of the night?"
12The watchman said,
"The morning comes, and also the night.
If you will inquire, inquire;
Return! Come back!"

Proclamation Against Arabia

13The burden against Arabia.

In the forest in Arabia you will lodge,
O you traveling companies of Dedanites.
14O inhabitants of the land of Tema,
Bring water to him who is thirsty;
With their bread they met him who fled.
15For they fled from the swords, from the drawn sword,
From the bent bow, and from the distress of war.

16For thus the LORD has said to me: "Within a year, according to the year of a hired man, all the glory of Kedar will fail; 17and the remainder of the number of archers, the mighty men of the people of Kedar, will be diminished; for the LORD God of Israel has spoken it."

Proclamation Against Jerusalem

22 The burden against the Valley of Vision.

What ails you now, that you have all gone up to the housetops, 2You who are full of noise,
A tumultuous city, a joyous city?
Your slain men are not slain with the sword,
Nor dead in battle.
3All your rulers have fled together;
They are captured by the archers.
All who are found in you are bound together;
They have fled from afar.
4Therefore I said, "Look away from me,
I will weep bitterly;
Do not labor to comfort me
Because of the plundering of the daughter of my people."

5For it is a day of trouble and treading down and perplexity
By the Lord GOD of hosts
In the Valley of Vision—
Breaking down the walls
And of crying to the mountain.
6Elam bore the quiver
With chariots of men and horsemen,
And Kir uncovered the shield.
7It shall come to pass that your choicest valleys
Shall be full of chariots,
And the horsemen shall set themselves in array at the gate.

21:8 [a]Dead Sea Scrolls read Then the observer cried.

21:11–17 Dumah is probably a reference to Edom as indicated by the further reference to Seir, an alternate designation for Edom (v. 11). The Edomites were descendants of Esau. The oracle or prophecy of an uncertain future is indicated for Edom (vv. 11, 12). The Dedanites, the inhabitants of Tema, and the people of Kedar are all apparently associated with the area of Arabia (vv. 13–17).

22:1–25 In the Sennacherib Crisis of 701 B.C., the third major crisis in Judah's history, King Sennacherib of Assyria laid siege to Jerusalem (2 Kin. 18; 19). God's message through His prophet Isaiah was that the king of Assyria would not enter the city of Jerusalem (2 Kin. 19:32–34). God did deliver the city (2 Kin. 19:35). The inhabitants of Jerusalem engaged in boisterous celebration (Is. 22:1, 2), to which Isaiah responded with disappointment because God's people had not learned the lesson God intended for them to learn. They did not repent and change their lifestyles but came to view Jerusalem as indestructible. In this oracle God assured them that they would not escape judgment because of their sin (v. 14).

8 He removed the protection of Judah.
You looked in that day to the armor of the House of the Forest;
9 You also saw the damage to the city of David,
That it was great;
And you gathered together the waters of the lower pool.
10 You numbered the houses of Jerusalem,
And the houses you broke down
To fortify the wall.
11 You also made a reservoir between the two walls
For the water of the old pool.
But you did not look to its Maker,
Nor did you have respect for Him who fashioned it long ago.

12 And in that day the Lord God of hosts
Called for weeping and for mourning,
For baldness and for girding with sackcloth.
13 But instead, joy and gladness,
Slaying oxen and killing sheep,
Eating meat and drinking wine:
"Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die!"

14 Then it was revealed in my hearing by the Lord of hosts,
"Surely for this iniquity there will be no
atonement for you,
Even to your death," says the Lord God of hosts.

The Judgment on Shebna

15 Thus says the Lord God of hosts:

"Go, proceed to this steward,
To Shebna, who is over the house, and say:
16 'What have you here, and whom have you here,
That you have hewn a sepulcher here,
As he who hews himself a sepulcher on high,
Who carves a tomb for himself in a rock?
17 Indeed, the Lord will throw you away violently,
O mighty man,
And will surely seize you.
18 He will surely turn violently and toss you like a ball
Into a large country;
There you shall die, and there your glorious chariots
Shall be the shame of your master's house.
19 So I will drive you out of your office,
And from your position he will pull you down.[a] 20 'Then it shall be in that day,
That I will call My servant Eliakim the son of Hilkiah;
21 I will clothe him with your robe
And strengthen him with your belt;
I will commit your responsibility into his hand.
He shall be a father to the inhabitants of Jerusalem
And to the house of Judah.
22 The key of the house of David
I will lay on his shoulder;
So he shall open, and no one shall shut;
And he shall shut, and no one shall open.
23 I will fasten him as a peg in a secure place,
And he will become a glorious throne to his father's house.

24 'They will hang on him all the glory of his father's house, the offspring and the posterity, all vessels of small quantity, from the cups to all the pitchers. 25 In that day,' says the Lord of hosts, 'the peg that is fastened in the secure place will be removed and be cut down and fall, and the burden that was on it will be cut off; for the Lord has spoken.' "

Proclamation Against Tyre

23 The burden against Tyre.
Wail, you ships of Tarshish!
For it is laid waste,
So that there is no house, no harbor;
From the land of Cyprus[a] it is revealed to
them.

2 Be still, you inhabitants of the coastland,
You merchants of Sidon,
Whom those who cross the sea have filled.[a]
3 And on great waters the grain of Shihor,
The harvest of the River,[a] is her revenue;
And she is a marketplace for the nations.

4 Be ashamed, O Sidon;
For the sea has spoken,
The strength of the sea, saying,
"I do not labor, nor bring forth children;
Neither do I rear young men,
Nor bring up virgins."

22:19 [a]Septuagint omits he will pull you down; Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate read I will pull you down. 23:1 [a]Hebrew Kittim, western lands, especially Cyprus 23:2 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Vulgate; Septuagint and Targum read Passing over the water; Dead Sea Scrolls read Your messengers passing over the sea. 23:3 [a]That is, the Nile

23:1–18 This prophetic oracle pronounced God's judgment on Tyre and Sidon, Phoenician seacoast cities located north of Israel. In contrast with the oracles on the nations pronounced by Amos (see Amos 1; 2), the message of judgment in Isaiah continued even after God announced judgment on His own people (Is. 22). Israel had depended on the Phoenicians, sailors engaging in overseas trade, for international trade.

5When the report reaches Egypt,
They also will be in agony at the report of Tyre.

6Cross over to Tarshish;
Wail, you inhabitants of the coastland!
7*Is* this your joyous city,
Whose antiquity is from ancient days,
Whose feet carried her far off to dwell?
8Who has taken this counsel against Tyre, the crowning city,
Whose merchants are princes,
Whose traders are the honorable of the earth?
9The LORD of hosts has purposed it,
To bring to dishonor the pride of all glory,
To bring into contempt all the honorable of the earth.

10Overflow through your land like the River,[a]
O daughter of Tarshish;
There is no more strength.
11He stretched out His hand over the sea,
He shook the kingdoms;
The LORD has given a commandment against Canaan
To destroy its strongholds.
12And He said, "You will rejoice no more,
O you oppressed virgin daughter of Sidon.
Arise, cross over to Cyprus;
There also you will have no rest."

13Behold, the land of the Chaldeans,
This people which was not;
Assyria founded it for wild beasts of the desert.
They set up its towers,
They raised up its palaces,
And brought it to ruin.

14Wail, you ships of Tarshish!
For your strength is laid waste.

15Now it shall come to pass in that day that Tyre will be forgotten seventy years, according to the days of one king. At the end of seventy years it will happen to Tyre as in the song of the harlot:

16"Take a harp, go about the city,
You forgotten harlot;
Make sweet melody, sing many songs,
That you may be remembered."

17And it shall be, at the end of seventy years, that the LORD will deal with Tyre. She will return to her hire, and commit fornication with all the kingdoms of the world on the face of the earth. 18Her gain and her pay will be set apart for the LORD; it will not be treasured nor laid up, for her gain will be for those who dwell before the LORD, to eat sufficiently, and for fine clothing.

Impending Judgment on the Earth

24 Behold, the LORD makes the earth empty and makes it waste,
Distorts its surface
And scatters abroad its inhabitants.
2And it shall be:
As with the people, so with the priest;
As with the servant, so with his master;
As with the maid, so with her mistress;
As with the buyer, so with the seller;
As with the lender, so with the borrower;
As with the creditor, so with the debtor.
3The land shall be entirely emptied and utterly plundered,
For the LORD has spoken this word.

4The earth mourns and fades away,
The world languishes and fades away;
The haughty people of the earth languish.
5The earth is also defiled under its inhabitants,
Because they have transgressed the laws,
Changed the ordinance,
Broken the everlasting covenant.
6Therefore the curse has devoured the earth,
And those who dwell in it are desolate.
Therefore the inhabitants of the earth are burned,
And few men are left.

7The new wine fails, the vine languishes,
All the merry-hearted sigh.
8The mirth of the tambourine ceases,
The noise of the jubilant ends,
The joy of the harp ceases.
9They shall not drink wine with a song;
Strong drink is bitter to those who drink it.
10The city of confusion is broken down;
Every house is shut up, so that none may go in.
11*There is* a cry for wine in the streets,
All joy is darkened,
The mirth of the land is gone.

23:10 [a]That is, the Nile

24:1—27:13 The little apocalypse holds prophecies of both judgment and redemption (Is. 24—27). Disaster would come upon the entire earth, for the everlasting covenant with the Lord had been broken (Is. 24:5; see Gen. 9:16). The 8th century B.C. prophet Hosea also observed that the Land mourned because of the broken covenant with the Lord (Compare Is. 24:4, 5 with Hos. 4:1–3). The Lord would be praised because of His victory over all His enemies and because of His care for His people (Is. 25; 26). The Lord's people looked forward to restoration after the judgment was past, though such restoration would not be automatic but dependent upon their response in obedience to Him (Is. 27).

ECOLOGICAL CONCERNS — OUR HABITAT FOR LIFE

The Lord God created the earth to be a habitat for life (Is. 45:18). He blessed the earth and put it under our care (Gen. 1:26). But something went terribly wrong with this scenario when Adam and Eve rebelled against their Creator. To this day the earth is still groaning under the curse of our sinfulness (Rom. 8:19–25).

Jesus Christ came to redeem His creation from sin. The earth will share in that redemption when, at the end of history, He comes, freeing both the earth and its inhabitants from sin. The Bible speaks of an environmental restoration of global magnitude: a recreated earth (Rev. 21:1).

Until that time, we have a responsibility to God to be good stewards of the earth He entrusted to us. We cannot exploit the earth's resources in greed and technological ambition. Nor must we care for the environment more than we care for people. In our attempt to protect the environment, we cannot forget that God created the earth in order to sustain the traffic of life upon it (Ps. 24:1).

While we must take our stewardship responsibilities seriously, we must also keep in mind that in the ultimate sense only Jesus Christ can restore the perfect balance between a new earth and a new humanity. Until that time, believers are challenged to be wise stewards of God's good creation—to be fruitful, multiply, and fill the earth even as we subdue it and take dominion over it (Gen. 1:28).

12 In the city desolation is left,
And the gate is stricken with destruction.
13 When it shall be thus in the midst of the land
among the people,
It shall be like the shaking of an olive tree,
Like the gleaning of grapes when the vintage is done.

14 They shall lift up their voice, they shall sing;
For the majesty of the LORD
They shall cry aloud from the sea.
15 Therefore glorify the LORD in the dawning
light,
The name of the LORD God of Israel in the coastlands of the sea.
16 From the ends of the earth we have heard songs:
"Glory to the righteous!"
But I said, "I am ruined, ruined!
Woe to me!
The treacherous dealers have dealt
treacherously,
Indeed, the treacherous dealers have dealt very
treacherously."

17 Fear and the pit and the snare
Are upon you, O inhabitant of the earth.
18 And it shall be
That he who flees from the noise of the fear
Shall fall into the pit,
And he who comes up from the midst of the pit
Shall be caught in the snare;
For the windows from on high are open,
And the foundations of the earth are shaken.

19 The earth is violently broken,
The earth is split open,
The earth is shaken exceedingly.
20 The earth shall reel to and fro like a drunkard,
And shall totter like a hut;
Its transgression shall be heavy upon it,
And it will fall, and not rise again.

21 It shall come to pass in that day
That the LORD will punish on high the host of exalted ones,
And on the earth the kings of the earth.
22 They will be gathered together,
As prisoners are gathered in the pit,
And will be shut up in the prison;
After many days they will be punished.
23 Then the moon will be disgraced
And the sun ashamed;
For the LORD of hosts will reign
On Mount Zion and in Jerusalem
And before His elders, gloriously.

Praise to God

25 O LORD, You are my God.
I will exalt You,
I will praise Your name,
For You have done wonderful things;
Your counsels of old are faithfulness and truth.
2 For You have made a city a ruin,
A fortified city a ruin,
A palace of foreigners to be a city no more;
It will never be rebuilt.
3 Therefore the strong people will glorify You;
The city of the terrible nations will fear You.
4 For You have been a strength to the poor,
A strength to the needy in his distress,

A refuge from the storm,
A shade from the heat;
For the blast of the terrible ones is as a storm against the wall.
5You will reduce the noise of aliens,
As heat in a dry place;
As heat in the shadow of a cloud,
The song of the terrible ones will be diminished.

6And in this mountain
The LORD of hosts will make for all people
A feast of choice pieces,
A feast of wines on the lees,
Of fat things full of marrow,
Of well-refined wines on the lees.
7And He will destroy on this mountain
The surface of the covering cast over all
people,
And the veil that is spread over all nations.
8He will swallow up death forever,
And the Lord GOD will wipe away tears from all faces;
The rebuke of His people
He will take away from all the earth;
For the LORD has spoken.

9And it will be said in that day:
"Behold, this is our God;
We have waited for Him, and He will save us.
This is the LORD;
We have waited for Him;
We will be glad and rejoice in His salvation."

10For on this mountain the hand of the LORD will rest,
And Moab shall be trampled down under Him,
As straw is trampled down for the refuse heap.
11And He will spread out His hands in their midst
As a swimmer reaches out to swim,
And He will bring down their pride
Together with the trickery of their hands.
12The fortress of the high fort of your walls
He will bring down, lay low,
And bring to the ground, down to the dust.

A Song of Salvation

26 In that day this song will be sung in the land of Judah:

"We have a strong city;
God will appoint salvation for walls and bulwarks.
2Open the gates,
That the righteous nation which keeps the truth may enter in.
3You will keep him in perfect peace,
Whose mind is stayed on You,
Because he trusts in You.
4Trust in the LORD forever,
For in YAH, the LORD, is everlasting strength.[a] 5For He brings down those who dwell on high,
The lofty city;
He lays it low,
He lays it low to the ground,
He brings it down to the dust.
6The foot shall tread it down—
The feet of the poor
And the steps of the needy."

7The way of the just is uprightness;
O Most Upright,
You weigh the path of the just.
8Yes, in the way of Your judgments,
O LORD, we have waited for You;
The desire of our soul is for Your name
And for the remembrance of You.
9With my soul I have desired You in the night,
Yes, by my spirit within me I will seek You early;
For when Your judgments are in the earth,
The inhabitants of the world will learn
righteousness.

10Let grace be shown to the wicked,
Yet he will not learn righteousness;
In the land of uprightness he will deal unjustly,
And will not behold the majesty of the LORD.
11LORD, when Your hand is lifted up, they will not see.
But they will see and be ashamed
For their envy of people;
Yes, the fire of Your enemies shall devour
them.

12LORD, You will establish peace for us,
For You have also done all our works in us.
13O LORD our God, masters besides You
Have had dominion over us;
But by You only we make mention of Your name.
14*They are* dead, they will not live;
They are deceased, they will not rise.
Therefore You have punished and destroyed
them,
And made all their memory to perish.
15You have increased the nation, O LORD,
You have increased the nation;
You are glorified;
You have expanded all the borders of the land.

16LORD, in trouble they have visited You,
They poured out a prayer when Your chastening was upon them.

26:4 [a]Or Rock of Ages

17 As a woman with child
Is in pain and cries out in her pangs,
When she draws near the time of her delivery,
So have we been in Your sight, O LORD.
18 We have been with child, we have been in pain;
We have, as it were, brought forth wind;
We have not accomplished any deliverance in the earth,
Nor have the inhabitants of the world fallen.

19 Your dead shall live;
Together with my dead body[a] they shall arise.
Awake and sing, you who dwell in dust;
For your dew is like the dew of herbs,
And the earth shall cast out the dead.

Take Refuge from the Coming Judgment

20 Come, my people, enter your chambers,
And shut your doors behind you;
Hide yourself, as it were, for a little moment,
Until the indignation is past.
21 For behold, the LORD comes out of His place
To punish the inhabitants of the earth for their iniquity;
The earth will also disclose her blood,
And will no more cover her slain.

27 In that day the LORD with His severe sword, great and strong,
Will punish Leviathan the fleeing serpent,
Leviathan that twisted serpent;
And He will slay the reptile that is in the sea.

The Restoration of Israel

2 In that day sing to her,
"A vineyard of red wine![a]
3 I, the LORD, keep it,
I water it every moment;
Lest any hurt it,
I keep it night and day.
4 Fury is not in Me.
Who would set briers and thorns
Against Me in battle?
I would go through them,
I would burn them together.
5 Or let him take hold of My strength,
That he may make peace with Me;
And he shall make peace with Me."

6 Those who come He shall cause to take root in Jacob;
Israel shall blossom and bud,
And fill the face of the world with fruit.

7 Has He struck Israel as He struck those who struck him?
Or has He been slain according to the slaughter of those who were slain by Him?
8 In measure, by sending it away,
You contended with it.
He removes it by His rough wind
In the day of the east wind.
9 Therefore by this the iniquity of Jacob will be covered;
And this is all the fruit of taking away his sin:
When he makes all the stones of the altar
Like chalkstones that are beaten to dust,
Wooden images[a] and incense altars shall not stand.

10 Yet the fortified city will be desolate,
The habitation forsaken and left like a wilderness;
There the calf will feed, and there it will lie down
And consume its branches.
11 When its boughs are withered, they will be broken off;
The women come and set them on fire.
For it is a people of no understanding;
Therefore He who made them will not have mercy on them,
And He who formed them will show them no favor.

12 And it shall come to pass in that day
That the LORD will thresh,
From the channel of the River[a] to the Brook of Egypt;
And you will be gathered one by one,
O you children of Israel.

13 So it shall be in that day:
The great trumpet will be blown;
They will come, who are about to perish in the land of Assyria,
And they who are outcasts in the land of Egypt,
And shall worship the LORD in the holy mount at Jerusalem.

Woe to Ephraim and Jerusalem

28 Woe to the crown of pride, to the drunkards of Ephraim,
Whose glorious beauty is a fading flower

26:19 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Vulgate; Syriac and Targum read their dead bodies; Septuagint reads those in the tombs. 27:2 [a]Following Masoretic Text (Kittel's Biblia Hebraica), Bomberg, and Vulgate; Masoretic Text (Biblia Hebraica Stuttgartensia), some Hebrew manuscripts, and Septuagint read delight; Targum reads choice vineyard. 27:9 [a]Hebrew Asherim, Canaanite deities 27:12 [a]That is, the Euphrates

28:1–13 The drunken leaders of the Lord's people were condemned. Ephraim is an alternate designation for Israel or the northern kingdom (v. 1). "The crown of pride" usually is interpreted as the city of Samaria, located on a hill (v. 1). The city

Which is at the head of the verdant valleys,
To those who are overcome with wine!
2Behold, the Lord has a mighty and strong one,
Like a tempest of hail and a destroying storm,
Like a flood of mighty waters overflowing,
Who will bring them down to the earth with His hand.
3The crown of pride, the drunkards of Ephraim,
Will be trampled underfoot;
4And the glorious beauty is a fading flower
Which is at the head of the verdant valley,
Like the first fruit before the summer,
Which an observer sees;
He eats it up while it is still in his hand.

5In that day the LORD of hosts will be
For a crown of glory and a diadem of beauty
To the remnant of His people,
6For a spirit of justice to him who sits in judgment,
And for strength to those who turn back the battle at the gate.

7But they also have erred through wine,
And through intoxicating drink are out of the way;
The priest and the prophet have erred through intoxicating drink,
They are swallowed up by wine,
They are out of the way through intoxicating drink;
They err in vision, they stumble in judgment.
8For all tables are full of vomit and filth;
No place is clean.

9"Whom will he teach knowledge?
And whom will he make to understand the message?
Those just weaned from milk?
Those just drawn from the breasts?
10For precept must be upon precept, precept upon precept,
Line upon line, line upon line,
Here a little, there a little."

11For with stammering lips and another tongue
He will speak to this people, 12To whom He said, "This is the rest with which You may cause the weary to rest,"
And, "This is the refreshing";
Yet they would not hear.
13But the word of the LORD was to them,
"Precept upon precept, precept upon precept,
Line upon line, line upon line,
Here a little, there a little,"
That they might go and fall backward, and be broken
And snared and caught.

14Therefore hear the word of the LORD, you scornful men,
Who rule this people who are in Jerusalem,
15Because you have said, "We have made a covenant with death,
And with Sheol we are in agreement.
When the overflowing scourge passes through,
It will not come to us,
For we have made lies our refuge,
And under falsehood we have hidden ourselves."

A Cornerstone in Zion

16Therefore thus says the Lord GOD:

"Behold, I lay in Zion a stone for a foundation,
A tried stone, a precious cornerstone, a sure foundation;
Whoever believes will not act hastily.
17Also I will make justice the measuring line,
And righteousness the plummet;
The hail will sweep away the refuge of lies,
And the waters will overflow the hiding place.
18Your covenant with death will be annulled,
And your agreement with Sheol will not stand;
When the overflowing scourge passes through,
Then you will be trampled down by it.
19As often as it goes out it will take you;
For morning by morning it will pass over,
And by day and by night;
It will be a terror just to understand the report."

20For the bed is too short to stretch out on,
And the covering so narrow that one cannot wrap himself in it.
21For the LORD will rise up as at Mount Perazim,
He will be angry as in the Valley of Gibeon—
That He may do His work, His awesome work,
And bring to pass His act, His unusual act.
22Now therefore, do not be mockers, of Samaria did fall to the Assyrians in 722 B.C. The genuine crown of God's people is the Lord Himself (v. 5). "In that day" is eschatological language looking toward a glorious future time when the Lord of Hosts would be an everlasting crown of glory to the remnant of His people (v. 5). The sinful priests and prophets were no longer capable of guiding the Lord's people (vv. 7–13). Because the leaders of God's people had refused to hear the Lord's message in their own language, the Lord would speak to them in Assyrian (v. 11).

28:14–22 Isaiah addressed the political leaders of Jerusalem, who sought security in foreign alliances, believing their alliances would afford them protection from calamity (v. 15). But judgment did come on the nation. Faith is a key element in Isaiah's preaching. God's judgment on His people was predicted (v. 20).

EMPLOYMENT RELATIONSHIPS IN THE WORKPLACE AND AT HOME

A woman who is employed outside her home faces numerous decisions on a daily basis about how to juggle various obligations and priorities. As a woman evaluates her priorities and decisions, these guidelines may be helpful:

- Careers are usually based on contracts that are temporary; family relationships are covenants with spiritual commitment and are thus eternal. Employees and employers come and go, but a mother's children are hers for the rest of her life.
- Careers provide only part of a woman's identity. Ultimately, a woman is not what she does but who she is, which is largely determined by her relationships to God and to others.

When the inevitable feelings of guilt come, as the result of less than perfect choices, these principles of Scripture offer comfort: God created you and gave you the gifts and talents you choose to use in your career (Matt. 25:14–29). God's criterion for success is faithfulness with what you have been given to the task He has assigned (1 Cor. 4:2). You, as well as others, may expect perfection. Perfection is never possible, of course, but faithfulness is. God honors your efforts and intentions. He knows your weaknesses as well as your strengths. Neither your family members nor your colleagues in the workplace see the big picture of your life. Only God does. Conversely, He alone knows the way to meet all of the needs of those with whom you live or work.

A woman who is employed must acknowledge that she is obligated in certain ways to her employer, regardless of their spiritual state. For example, she owes her employer hard work (Prov. 10:4, 26; 15:19). A Christian should always give a full day's work and never take advantage of employers by cheating them out of time and work that is owed to them (Eccl. 9:10; 2 Tim. 2:15). She must be careful not to steal from our employers, doing everything she can to conserve their resources—both time and material assets (Prov. 1:19). She owes her employer loyalty. A Christian should not be found slandering or gossiping about her employer (see Titus 2:3).

Just as a woman must be willing to give an employer what is rightfully belonging to the employer, she must also give to God what is God's. For example, we do not owe our employer dishonesty of any sort, even if that employer should demand such (Prov. 2:12–15; 20:17). God requires a life of integrity and honesty, and an employer has no right to ask an employee to lie or deceive in any way.

A woman does not owe her employer participation in any activity that is dishonorable (1 Cor. 10:31). That includes social occasions marked by lewd conversation or sinful behavior. No employer has a right to require an employee to take part in sexually or morally compromising situations in order to keep a job.

Also, while a woman owes her employer an honest day's work, she does not owe all of her energy and time. She not only owes time and resources to God, but also God expects a balanced lifestyle with family and home priorities firmly established according to His divine order.

Lest your bonds be made strong;
For I have heard from the Lord GOD of hosts,
A destruction determined even upon the whole earth.

Listen to the Teaching of God

23 Give ear and hear my voice,
Listen and hear my speech.
24 Does the plowman keep plowing all day to sow?
Does he keep turning his soil and breaking the clods?
25 When he has leveled its surface,
Does he not sow the black cummin
And scatter the cummin,
Plant the wheat in rows,
The barley in the appointed place,
And the spelt in its place?
26 For He instructs him in right judgment,
His God teaches him.

27 For the black cummin is not threshed with a threshing sledge,
Nor is a cartwheel rolled over the cummin;
But the black cummin is beaten out with a stick,
And the cummin with a rod.
28 Bread flour must be ground;
Therefore he does not thresh it forever,

28:23–29 Isaiah employed a parable regarding the farmer who practiced wisdom as he went about his work. The farmer knew when to till the soil and when and where to plant the seed. His cultivating, planting, and harvesting were in tune with the seasons or cycle of nature. Surely then God knew the needs of His people at each particular time in their existence. He knew when they needed chastening and when that discipline had accomplished His ultimate purpose—the salvation of His people.

Break it with his cartwheel,
Or crush it with his horsemen.
29 This also comes from the LORD of hosts,
Who is wonderful in counsel and excellent in guidance.

Woe to Jerusalem

29 "Woe to Ariel,[a] to Ariel, the city where David dwelt!
Add year to year;
Let feasts come around.
2 Yet I will distress Ariel;
There shall be heaviness and sorrow,
And it shall be to Me as Ariel.
3 I will encamp against you all around,
I will lay siege against you with a mound,
And I will raise siegeworks against you.
4 You shall be brought down,
You shall speak out of the ground;
Your speech shall be low, out of the dust;
Your voice shall be like a medium's, out of the ground;
And your speech shall whisper out of the dust.

5 "Moreover the multitude of your foes
Shall be like fine dust,
And the multitude of the terrible ones
Like chaff that passes away;
Yes, it shall be in an instant, suddenly.
6 You will be punished by the LORD of hosts
With thunder and earthquake and great noise,
With storm and tempest
And the flame of devouring fire.
7 The multitude of all the nations who fight against Ariel,
Even all who fight against her and her fortress,
And distress her,
Shall be as a dream of a night vision.
8 It shall even be as when a hungry man dreams,
And look—he eats;
But he awakes, and his soul is still empty;
Or as when a thirsty man dreams,
And look—he drinks;
But he awakes, and indeed he is faint,
And his soul still craves:
So the multitude of all the nations shall be,
Who fight against Mount Zion."

The Blindness of Disobedience

9 Pause and wonder!
Blind yourselves and be blind!
They are drunk, but not with wine;
They stagger, but not with intoxicating drink.
10 For the LORD has poured out on you
The spirit of deep sleep,
And has closed your eyes, namely, the prophets;
And He has covered your heads, namely, the seers.

11 The whole vision has become to you like the words of a book that is sealed, which men deliver to one who is literate, saying, "Read this, please."
And he says, "I cannot, for it is sealed."
12 Then the book is delivered to one who is illiterate, saying, "Read this, please."
And he says, "I am not literate."
13 Therefore the Lord said:

"Inasmuch as these people draw near with their mouths
And honor Me with their lips,
But have removed their hearts far from Me,
And their fear toward Me is taught by the commandment of men,
14 Therefore, behold, I will again do a marvelous work
Among this people,
A marvelous work and a wonder;
For the wisdom of their wise men shall perish,
And the understanding of their prudent men shall be hidden."

15 Woe to those who seek deep to hide their counsel far from the LORD,
And their works are in the dark;
They say, "Who sees us?" and, "Who knows us?"
16 Surely you have things turned around!
Shall the potter be esteemed as the clay;
For shall the thing made say of him who made it,
"He did not make me"?
Or shall the thing formed say of him who formed it,
"He has no understanding"?

29:1 [a] That is, Jerusalem

29:1–8 Ariel probably refers to Jerusalem as the "altar of God." Isaiah described a day of judgment on Jerusalem, the city David captured from the Jebusites and established as his capital (vv. 1–4; see 2 Sam. 5:6–9). The Lord brought both judgment and deliverance to His people. Zion originally referred to the fortified hill of the city. The temple was built on Mount Zion. Eventually Zion came to be a designation for the city of Jerusalem itself (see chart, The Terminology for the Divided Kingdom).

29:9–16 This prophecy probably was delivered shortly before the Sennacherib Crisis in 701 B.C. (see Introduction: Date). The people went through all the motions of religion (v. 13); yet their hearts were far from the Lord. Blindness was not the result intended by God but the inevitable result of continuing in the way of disobedience to the Lord. Personal experience with God was missing from the lives of God's people, a condition compared to a deep sleep (v. 10). Disobedience had made God's people incapable of understanding His message. God would awaken His people by performing a marvelous work in their midst (v. 14). Judah's leaders were condemned for their spiritual lethargy and disobedience to the Lord (vv. 10, 15, 16).

GOAL SETTING PLOTTING A COURSE

Goals are dreams with a deadline. In life's pursuits, you either move ahead or find yourself falling back; there is no middle ground! Some goals express good desires but cannot be measured and have no deadlines and thus are not achievable.

Meaningful vision and realistic goals must include: an explanation of the goal (what will it take to reach the goal?), and a date for completion (what is the deadline?).

The ardent and relentless pursuit of a goal was important to Paul! He spoke of pressing "toward the goal for the prize" (Phil. 3:14) and of running toward a prize and disciplining himself to "obtain" that prize (1 Cor. 9:24, 25). In both cases, however, Paul was speaking of achieving that which is imperishable: the crown that belongs to those who answer the upward call of God in Christ Jesus. The Lord is not at all opposed to your achievement—He simply calls upon you to direct your achievement toward right and eternal things!

Biblical guidelines determine goals (1 Cor. 10:31). All goals must be consistent with the written Word of God (2 Tim. 3:14–17) and like-minded with Jesus Christ (Phil. 2:5). Goal setting is appropriate for any age from youth through adulthood (1 Tim. 4:12–16), for all God-ordained relationships, and in all areas of life.

Certain commitments are involved in setting goals: Priorities must be specific or measurable (Heb. 6:10); goals should be realistic (Phil. 3:13, 14); a plan must be developed to get the work done (1 Cor. 9:24–27); time must be set aside to complete the task (Acts 20:24); and evaluation of the goal reached ought to be included (2 Tim. 4:7).

To accomplish an ultimate purpose or goal, steps are important. You first ask for direction from God (Prov. 3:5, 6). This establishes objectives for what is to be done (Ps. 37:23, 24) and determines a program for how you are going to accomplish your goal (Prov. 16:9). You must schedule when you are going to do what God has put in your heart to do (see 1 Chr. 12:32) and budget how much time and money is required.

A Christian's ultimate goal is always to please God. Discover His priorities (Matt. 22:36–40); study His principles (Ps. 119:105); determine His plans (Ps. 16:7–11); note His way of evaluating progress (Gal. 6:3, 4); remember His promise for help (Phil. 1:6); commit to His way of problem-solving (Ps. 37:4–9).

See also Phil. 3:12–14; Heb. 12:1, 2; notes on Organization (John 9); Priorities (Matt. 6); Time Management (Ps. 31)

Future Recovery of Wisdom

17 Is it not yet a very little while
Till Lebanon shall be turned into a fruitful field,
And the fruitful field be esteemed as a forest?
18 In that day the deaf shall hear the words of the book,
And the eyes of the blind shall see out of obscurity and out of darkness.
19 The humble also shall increase their joy in the LORD,
And the poor among men shall rejoice
In the Holy One of Israel.
20 For the terrible one is brought to nothing,
The scornful one is consumed,
And all who watch for iniquity are cut off—
21 Who make a man an offender by a word,
And lay a snare for him who reproves in the gate,
And turn aside the just by empty words.

22 Therefore thus says the LORD, who redeemed Abraham, concerning the house of Jacob:

"Jacob shall not now be ashamed,
Nor shall his face now grow pale;
23 But when he sees his children,
The work of My hands, in his midst,
They will hallow My name,
And hallow the Holy One of Jacob,
And fear the God of Israel.
24 These also who erred in spirit will come to understanding,
And those who complained will learn doctrine."

Futile Confidence in Egypt

30 "Woe to the rebellious children," says the LORD,
"Who take counsel, but not of Me,
And who devise plans, but not of My Spirit,
That they may add sin to sin;
2 Who walk to go down to Egypt,
And have not asked My advice,
To strengthen themselves in the strength of Pharaoh,
And to trust in the shadow of Egypt!

30:1–7 God's people would experience humiliation and shame because they trusted in Egypt instead of the Lord. Isaiah referred to Egypt as "Rahab-Hem-Shebeth," or as "Rahab who sits still" or "remains idle" (v. 7). Rahab refers to a primeval monster or dragon. Egypt's help was worthless.

3 Therefore the strength of Pharaoh
Shall be your shame,
And trust in the shadow of Egypt
Shall be your humiliation.
4 For his princes were at Zoan,
And his ambassadors came to Hanes.
5 They were all ashamed of a people who could not benefit them,
Or be help or benefit,
But a shame and also a reproach."

6 The burden against the beasts of the South.

Through a land of trouble and anguish,
From which came the lioness and lion,
The viper and fiery flying serpent,
They will carry their riches on the backs of young donkeys,
And their treasures on the humps of camels,
To a people who shall not profit;
7 For the Egyptians shall help in vain and to no purpose.
Therefore I have called her
Rahab-Hem-Shebeth.[a]

A Rebellious People

8 Now go, write it before them on a tablet,
And note it on a scroll,
That it may be for time to come,
Forever and ever:
9 That this is a rebellious people,
Lying children,
Children who will not hear the law of the LORD;
10 Who say to the seers, "Do not see,"
And to the prophets, "Do not prophesy to us right things;
Speak to us smooth things, prophesy deceits.
11 Get out of the way,
Turn aside from the path,
Cause the Holy One of Israel
To cease from before us."

12 Therefore thus says the Holy One of Israel:

"Because you despise this word,
And trust in oppression and perversity,
And rely on them,
13 Therefore this iniquity shall be to you
Like a breach ready to fall,
A bulge in a high wall,
Whose breaking comes suddenly, in an instant.
14 And He shall break it like the breaking of the potter's vessel,
Which is broken in pieces;
He shall not spare.
So there shall not be found among its fragments
A shard to take fire from the hearth,
Or to take water from the cistern."

15 For thus says the Lord GOD, the Holy One of Israel:

"In returning and rest you shall be saved;
In quietness and confidence shall be your strength."
But you would not,
16 And you said, "No, for we will flee on horses"—
Therefore you shall flee!
And, "We will ride on swift horses"—
Therefore those who pursue you shall be swift!

17 One thousand shall flee at the threat of one,
At the threat of five you shall flee,
Till you are left as a pole on top of a mountain
And as a banner on a hill.

God Will Be Gracious

18 Therefore the LORD will wait, that He may be gracious to you;

30:7 [a]Literally Rahab Sits Idle

30:8–17 The rebellious and unfaithful nature of God's people was to be written down as a testimony for future generations. Isaiah announced the coming judgment using two familiar images. Disaster would come like a crack in a wall, causing a sudden collapse, or like a worthless vessel that a potter smashes into tiny pieces. Bits of broken pottery or shards were used in Isaiah's time for such purposes as dipping water or writing messages. Isaiah described a vessel so shattered that no fragments could be salvaged, emphasizing that judgment would be both sudden and complete. Trust in God, not dependence on foreign alliances, was the desperate need of God's people (vv. 15, 16). "Horses" may refer to dependence on military cavalry (v. 16). Egypt and Assyria had horses (Is. 31:3). The folly of dependence on foreign alliances and military might was again indicated (Is. 30:15–17).

30:18–26 God's people were assured of His love for them in the midst of His discipline. Nevertheless, as the all-wise Parent, the Lord knows that His discipline is essential for His children's spiritual health. The verb "to be gracious" carries the idea of unmerited favor and denotes the attitude of a superior toward those under him (v. 18). "Mercy" is related closely to the Hebrew word for "womb," denoting the tender compassion that a mother shows to the child of her womb or the brotherly feeling of those born from the same womb (v. 18; see chart, Female Metaphors for God). "In that day" when the disciplining judgment would be past, the Lord would bountifully provide for His people (v. 23, see Is. 11:10–16, note). Agricultural imagery is used to picture the restoration of Zion (Is. 30:19) as a time of abundant provision (vv. 23, 24) and as a time of healing (v. 26). The Lord's judgment or discipline was intended to draw His people closer to Himself.

And therefore He will be exalted, that He may have mercy on you.
For the LORD is a God of justice;
Blessed are all those who wait for Him.

19 For the people shall dwell in Zion at Jerusalem;
You shall weep no more.
He will be very gracious to you at the sound of your cry;
When He hears it, He will answer you.
20 And though the Lord gives you
The bread of adversity and the water of affliction,
Yet your teachers will not be moved into a corner anymore,
But your eyes shall see your teachers.
21 Your ears shall hear a word behind you, saying,
"This is the way, walk in it,"
Whenever you turn to the right hand
Or whenever you turn to the left.
22 You will also defile the covering of your images of silver,
And the ornament of your molded images of gold.
You will throw them away as an unclean thing;
You will say to them, "Get away!"

23 Then He will give the rain for your seed
With which you sow the ground,
And bread of the increase of the earth;
It will be fat and plentiful.
In that day your cattle will feed
In large pastures.
24 Likewise the oxen and the young donkeys that work the ground
Will eat cured fodder,
Which has been winnowed with the shovel and fan.
25 There will be on every high mountain
And on every high hill
Rivers and streams of waters,
In the day of the great slaughter,
When the towers fall.
26 Moreover the light of the moon will be as the light of the sun,
And the light of the sun will be sevenfold,
As the light of seven days,
In the day that the LORD binds up the bruise of His people
And heals the stroke of their wound.

Judgment on Assyria

27 Behold, the name of the LORD comes from afar,
Burning with His anger,
And His burden is heavy;
His lips are full of indignation,
And His tongue like a devouring fire.
28 His breath is like an overflowing stream,
Which reaches up to the neck,
To sift the nations with the sieve of futility;
And there shall be a bridle in the jaws of the
people,
Causing them to err.

29 You shall have a song
As in the night when a holy festival is kept,
And gladness of heart as when one goes with a flute,
To come into the mountain of the LORD,
To the Mighty One of Israel.
30 The LORD will cause His glorious voice to be heard,
And show the descent of His arm,
With the indignation of His anger
And the flame of a devouring fire,
With scattering, tempest, and hailstones.
31 For through the voice of the LORD
Assyria will be beaten down,
As He strikes with the rod.
32 And in every place where the staff of punishment passes,
Which the LORD lays on him,
It will be with tambourines and harps;
And in battles of brandishing He will fight with it.
33 For Tophet was established of old,
Yes, for the king it is prepared.
He has made it deep and large;
Its pyre is fire with much wood;
The breath of the LORD, like a stream of brimstone,
Kindles it.

30:27–33 The Lord's judgment on Assyria takes the form of a theophany (an appearance of God in bodily form). "The name of the LORD" is another way of expressing the concept of God's presence and power (v. 27). God's name represents His character. God's tender compassion toward His people was emphasized (vv. 18–20), and God's wrath toward Assyria was revealed (vv. 27–33). The response of the Lord's people to Him, obedience or disobedience, determined which aspect of the Lord's character—mercy or wrath—would apply in any given situation. The description of the coming of the Lord in these verses is reminiscent of the description of His theophany on Mount Sinai when Israel received the Law (see Ex. 19:16–18). The reference to the tambourines and harps may indicate the rejoicing of God's people as the Lord brings judgment on their enemies (Is. 30:32; see chart, Musical Instruments of the Old Testament). Assyria previously had served as the instrument of God's discipline on His people, and the time had come for Assyria to experience God's judgment (see Is. 10:5–19, note). "Tophet," literally a "hearth" or "burning place," refers to the place where human sacrifices were made to the pagan god Molech (Is. 30:33). In this case, the king of Assyria would be the sacrificial victim.

The Folly of Not Trusting God

31 Woe to those who go down to Egypt for help,
And rely on horses,
Who trust in chariots because they are many,
And in horsemen because they are very strong,
But who do not look to the Holy One of Israel,
Nor seek the LORD!
2 Yet He also is wise and will bring disaster,
And will not call back His words,
But will arise against the house of evildoers,
And against the help of those who work iniquity.
3 Now the Egyptians are men, and not God;
And their horses are flesh, and not spirit.
When the LORD stretches out His hand,
Both he who helps will fall,
And he who is helped will fall down;
They all will perish together.

God Will Deliver Jerusalem

4 For thus the LORD has spoken to me:

"As a lion roars,
And a young lion over his prey
(When a multitude of shepherds is summoned against him,
He will not be afraid of their voice
Nor be disturbed by their noise),
So the LORD of hosts will come down
To fight for Mount Zion and for its hill.
5 Like birds flying about,
So will the LORD of hosts defend Jerusalem.
Defending, He will also deliver it;
Passing over, He will preserve it."

6 Return to Him against whom the children of Israel have deeply revolted. 7 For in that day every man shall throw away his idols of silver and his idols of gold—sin, which your own hands have made for yourselves.

8 "Then Assyria shall fall by a sword not of man,
And a sword not of mankind shall devour him.
But he shall flee from the sword,
And his young men shall become forced labor.
9 He shall cross over to his stronghold for fear,
And his princes shall be afraid of the banner,"
Says the LORD,
Whose fire is in Zion
And whose furnace is in Jerusalem.

A Reign of Righteousness

32 Behold, a king will reign in righteousness,
And princes will rule with justice.
2 A man will be as a hiding place from the wind,
And a cover from the tempest,
As rivers of water in a dry place,
As the shadow of a great rock in a weary land.
3 The eyes of those who see will not be dim,
And the ears of those who hear will listen.
4 Also the heart of the rash will understand knowledge,
And the tongue of the stammerers will be ready to speak plainly.

5 The foolish person will no longer be called generous,
Nor the miser said to be bountiful;
6 For the foolish person will speak foolishness,
And his heart will work iniquity:
To practice ungodliness,
To utter error against the LORD,
To keep the hungry unsatisfied,
And he will cause the drink of the thirsty to fail.
7 Also the schemes of the schemer are evil;
He devises wicked plans
To destroy the poor with lying words,
Even when the needy speaks justice.
8 But a generous man devises generous things,
And by generosity he shall stand.

31:4–9 The imagery of the lion may express the Lord's commitment to hold Jerusalem in His control regardless of how hard the shepherds (perhaps a reference to foreign kings) tried to snatch Jerusalem away. The Lord's commitment to the defense of His city may be pictured in the imagery of a mother bird protecting her young (v. 5; see chart, Female Metaphors for God). The Hebrew word translated "passing over" comes from the same root as the noun "Passover" (v. 5; see Ex. 12:1–30). Repentance was encouraged on the basis of God's love and grace, not on the basis of fear and punishment. Returning to the Lord involved casting away false gods (Is. 31:7, see 2:20). Isaiah 31:8, 9 acknowledges that God, not men, would defeat the Assyrians. This promise of deliverance found fulfillment when the Lord delivered Jerusalem from the armies of Sennacherib in 701 B.C. (see Introduction: Date).

32:1–8 The ideal of kingship is set forth. This prophecy was fulfilled in Christ but may also be interpreted as a description of good government, indicating what the nation would be like if its leaders were righteous men. Good leaders practice justice and righteousness and render right judgments. "Righteousness" carries the idea of meeting the demands of a relationship. Righteous leaders wisely fulfill the duties and obligations of their offices. Good leaders protect their people (vv. 1–5). Under the guidance of such leaders, truth can be distinguished from falsehood. The foolish person can be distinguished from the wise and noble individual. The "generous" person is one who operates with no ulterior motive (v. 8), making decisions objectively on the basis of what is best for the whole nation rather than on the basis of personal interests. This quality of nobility or generosity is associated closely with the qualities of justice and righteousness.

CONFIDENCE INWARD ASSURANCE

In the Old Testament, the words "confidence" and "assurance" are different forms of the same Hebrew word. Isaiah adds the concept of "quietness": "In quietness and confidence" (Is. 30:15) we find our strength. Isaiah also tells us that "quietness and assurance" are the effect of righteousness (Is. 32:17). In the New Testament, the Greek words translated "assurance" (Col. 2:2), "persuaded" (Rom. 8:38), and "convinced" (Rom. 14:5) convey the same idea as similar words in the Old Testament.

Assurance is not based on optimism about your own abilities. Rather it is an inward peace based on God's righteous work in you. Such confidence is not self-confidence, for that would be false security and reliance on something unreliable (Prov. 14:16; Jer. 9:23, 24). Scripture states that those who have confidence in their own strength (Is. 30:12), beauty (Ezek. 16:15), or righteousness (Ezek. 33:12) are to be considered fools (Prov. 28:26).

True confidence—rooted in the Lord's capabilities and His relationship with His children—is a quiet strength that brings "great reward" (Heb. 10:35, 36), a lasting security that is fully satisfying.

Consequences of Complacency

9 Rise up, you women who are at ease,
Hear my voice;
You complacent daughters,
Give ear to my speech.
10 In a year and some days
You will be troubled, you complacent women;
For the vintage will fail,
The gathering will not come.
11 Tremble, you women who are at ease;
Be troubled, you complacent ones;
Strip yourselves, make yourselves bare,
And gird sackcloth on your waists.

12 People shall mourn upon their breasts
For the pleasant fields, for the fruitful vine.
13 On the land of my people will come up thorns and briers,
Yes, on all the happy homes in the joyous city;
14 Because the palaces will be forsaken,
The bustling city will be deserted.
The forts and towers will become lairs forever,
A joy of wild donkeys, a pasture of flocks—15 Until the Spirit is poured upon us from on high,
And the wilderness becomes a fruitful field,
And the fruitful field is counted as a forest.

The Peace of God's Reign

16 Then justice will dwell in the wilderness,
And righteousness remain in the fruitful field.
17 The work of righteousness will be peace,
And the effect of righteousness, quietness and assurance forever.
18 My people will dwell in a peaceful habitation,
In secure dwellings, and in quiet resting places,
19 Though hail comes down on the forest,
And the city is brought low in humiliation.

20 Blessed are you who sow beside all waters,
Who send out freely the feet of the ox and the donkey.

A Prayer in Deep Distress

33 Woe to you who plunder, though you have not been plundered;
And you who deal treacherously, though they have not dealt treacherously with you!
When you cease plundering,
You will be plundered;

32:9–14 A challenge is issued to complacent women. The prophet challenged the women of his day to take heed of the current political situation. God's women must not be complacent and at ease in familiar surroundings. They must not look to externals as sources of security and trust. The Lord is the only true source of security for His people. Isaiah predicted trouble ahead for God's people! He foresaw a time of lamentation and mourning. Distress would come upon the happy homes of Jerusalem. This prophecy ultimately reached fulfillment in the destruction of Jerusalem by the Babylonians in 586 B.C. The women of Jerusalem had an important role to play in helping their nation find true security in the Lord.

32:15–20 The scene shifts from that of judgment to that of salvation (vv. 9–14). Justice, righteousness, and peace are the effects of God's reign in the lives of His people. No longer would God's people feel a frantic need to seek a false security in military alliances. Genuine security results from a right relationship with the Lord (v. 18). Normal activities of daily living would be resumed in this time of peace (v. 20). God's gracious blessing of salvation reversed the destruction resulting from judgment.

33:1–9 The unnamed enemy on whom woe had been pronounced was identified as the Assyrians. The destroyer would now experience destruction. "Be gracious" carries the idea of unmerited favor and denotes the attitude of a superior toward those under him (v. 2). A note in the text indicates that the Septuagint (a Greek translation of the Hebrew OT) omits the word "their" preceding "arm" (v. 2). Other translations of

When you make an end of dealing
treacherously,
They will deal treacherously with you.

2 O LORD, be gracious to us;
We have waited for You.
Be their[a] arm every morning,
Our salvation also in the time of trouble.
3 At the noise of the tumult the people shall flee;
When You lift Yourself up, the nations shall be scattered;
4 And Your plunder shall be gathered
Like the gathering of the caterpillar;
As the running to and fro of locusts,
He shall run upon them.

5 The LORD is exalted, for He dwells on high;
He has filled Zion with justice and
righteousness.
6 Wisdom and knowledge will be the stability of your times,
And the strength of salvation;
The fear of the LORD is His treasure.

7 Surely their valiant ones shall cry outside,
The ambassadors of peace shall weep bitterly.
8 The highways lie waste,
The traveling man ceases.
He has broken the covenant,
He has despised the cities,[a]
He regards no man.
9 The earth mourns and languishes,
Lebanon is shamed and shriveled;
Sharon is like a wilderness,
And Bashan and Carmel shake off their fruits.

Impending Judgment on Zion

10 "Now I will rise," says the LORD;
"Now I will be exalted,
Now I will lift Myself up.
11 You shall conceive chaff,
You shall bring forth stubble;
Your breath, as fire, shall devour you.
12 And the people shall be like the burnings of lime;
Like thorns cut up they shall be burned in the fire.
13 Hear, you who are afar off, what I have done;
And you who are near, acknowledge My might."

14 The sinners in Zion are afraid;
Fearfulness has seized the hypocrites:
"Who among us shall dwell with the devouring
fire?
Who among us shall dwell with everlasting burnings?"
15 He who walks righteously and speaks
uprightly,
He who despises the gain of oppressions,
Who gestures with his hands, refusing bribes,
Who stops his ears from hearing of bloodshed,
And shuts his eyes from seeing evil:
16 He will dwell on high;
His place of defense will be the fortress of rocks;
Bread will be given him,
His water will be sure.

The Land of the Majestic King

17 Your eyes will see the King in His beauty;
They will see the land that is very far off.
18 Your heart will meditate on terror:
"Where is the scribe?
Where is he who weighs?
Where is he who counts the towers?"
19 You will not see a fierce people,
A people of obscure speech, beyond perception,
Of a stammering tongue that you cannot understand.

20 Look upon Zion, the city of our appointed feasts;
Your eyes will see Jerusalem, a quiet home,
A tabernacle that will not be taken down;
Not one of its stakes will ever be removed,
Nor will any of its cords be broken.
21 But there the majestic LORD will be for us
A place of broad rivers and streams,
In which no galley with oars will sail,
Nor majestic ships pass by 22 (For the LORD is our Judge,

33:2 [a]Septuagint omits their; Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate read our.

the OT, such as the Syriac and the Latin Vulgate, read "our arm" instead of "their arm." The reading "our arm" fits the context of the verse with its predominant use of first person plural pronouns. If "our arm" is the correct reading, then the cry is for God to be the arm or strength of His people, their salvation in the time of trouble. The exalted Lord established Zion (Jerusalem) as the city of justice and righteousness (see Is. 32:1–8, note). "The fear of the Lord" refers not to cringing fear, but to reverent obedience (Is. 33:6).

33:17–24 This eschatological passage looks toward a future time when God's people will celebrate His majestic reign and enjoy the glories of the New Jerusalem. The terror of foreign domination would be past (vv. 18, 19). Jerusalem would become the immovable and secure dwelling place of the righteous (v. 20). The Lord would be recognized as the great Judge, Lawgiver, and King (v. 22). In that future day, happiness would abound as sickness is healed and sin is forgiven, reflecting the close association between sin and sickness in Hebrew thought (v. 24).

The LORD is our Lawgiver,
The LORD is our King;
He will save us);
23 Your tackle is loosed,
They could not strengthen their mast,
They could not spread the sail.

Then the prey of great plunder is divided;
The lame take the prey.
24 And the inhabitant will not say, "I am sick";
The people who dwell in it will be forgiven their iniquity.

Judgment on the Nations

34 Come near, you nations, to hear;
And heed, you people!
Let the earth hear, and all that is in it,
The world and all things that come forth from it.
2 For the indignation of the LORD is against all nations,
And His fury against all their armies;
He has utterly destroyed them,
He has given them over to the slaughter.
3 Also their slain shall be thrown out;
Their stench shall rise from their corpses,
And the mountains shall be melted with their blood.
4 All the host of heaven shall be dissolved,
And the heavens shall be rolled up like a scroll;
All their host shall fall down
As the leaf falls from the vine,
And as fruit falling from a fig tree.

5 "For My sword shall be bathed in heaven;
Indeed it shall come down on Edom,
And on the people of My curse, for judgment.
6 The sword of the LORD is filled with blood,
It is made overflowing with fatness,
With the blood of lambs and goats,
With the fat of the kidneys of rams.
For the LORD has a sacrifice in Bozrah,
And a great slaughter in the land of Edom.
7 The wild oxen shall come down with them,
And the young bulls with the mighty bulls;
Their land shall be soaked with blood,
And their dust saturated with fatness."

8 For it is the day of the LORD's vengeance,
The year of recompense for the cause of Zion.
9 Its streams shall be turned into pitch,
And its dust into brimstone;
Its land shall become burning pitch.
10 It shall not be quenched night or day;
Its smoke shall ascend forever.
From generation to generation it shall lie waste;
No one shall pass through it forever and ever.
11 But the pelican and the porcupine shall possess it,
Also the owl and the raven shall dwell in it.
And He shall stretch out over it
The line of confusion and the stones of emptiness.
12 They shall call its nobles to the kingdom,
But none shall be there, and all its princes shall be nothing.

13 And thorns shall come up in its palaces,
Nettles and brambles in its fortresses;
It shall be a habitation of jackals,
A courtyard for ostriches.
14 The wild beasts of the desert shall also meet with the jackals,
And the wild goat shall bleat to its companion;
Also the night creature shall rest there,
And find for herself a place of rest.
15 There the arrow snake shall make her nest and lay eggs
And hatch, and gather them under her shadow;
There also shall the hawks be gathered,
Every one with her mate.

16 "Search from the book of the LORD, and read:
Not one of these shall fail;
Not one shall lack her mate.
For My mouth has commanded it, and His Spirit has gathered them.
17 He has cast the lot for them,
And His hand has divided it among them with a measuring line.
They shall possess it forever;
From generation to generation they shall dwell in it."

The Future Glory of Zion

35 The wilderness and the wasteland shall be glad for them,
And the desert shall rejoice and blossom as the rose;

34:1–4 The entire earth was called to witness the fury of the Lord. The slain bodies of God's enemies would not receive burial, a sign of great tragedy or disrespect from the Hebrew perspective. This judgment is described as apocalyptic in nature because it is connected with the end of world history (v. 4; see Zech., Introduction: Literary Characteristics). The sovereignty of the Lord is emphasized.

34:5–17 Edom is singled out for judgment because of that nation's intense hatred of God's people. Edom, located southeast of Judah, is associated with Esau (see Gen. 36:1). Constant hostility existed between God's people and Edom during the time of the kings. The Edomites assisted the Babylonians in their destruction of Jerusalem in 586 B.C. Amos condemned the Edomites for their hostility toward God's people (Amos 1:11, 12), and the theme of Obadiah is the destruction of Edom.

35:1–10 This proclamation of new life from the Lord provides the background for the commission given to the prophet (vv. 3, 4). This new message of hope would strengthen the 2It shall blossom abundantly and rejoice,

Even with joy and singing.
The glory of Lebanon shall be given to it,
The excellence of Carmel and Sharon.
They shall see the glory of the LORD,
The excellency of our God.

3Strengthen the weak hands,
And make firm the feeble knees.
4Say to those who are fearful-hearted,
"Be strong, do not fear!
Behold, your God will come with vengeance,
With the recompense of God;
He will come and save you."

5Then the eyes of the blind shall be opened,
And the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped.
6Then the lame shall leap like a deer,
And the tongue of the dumb sing.
For waters shall burst forth in the wilderness,
And streams in the desert.
7The parched ground shall become a pool,
And the thirsty land springs of water;
In the habitation of jackals, where each lay,
There shall be grass with reeds and rushes.

8A highway shall be there, and a road,
And it shall be called the Highway of Holiness.
The unclean shall not pass over it,
But it shall be for others.
Whoever walks the road, although a fool,
Shall not go astray.
9No lion shall be there,
Nor shall any ravenous beast go up on it;
It shall not be found there.
But the redeemed shall walk there,
10And the ransomed of the LORD shall return,
And come to Zion with singing,
With everlasting joy on their heads.
They shall obtain joy and gladness,
And sorrow and sighing shall flee away.

Sennacherib Boasts Against the LORD

36 Now it came to pass in the fourteenth year of King Hezekiah that Sennacherib king of Assyria came up against all the fortified cities of Judah and took them. 2Then the king of Assyria sent the Rabshakeh[a] with a great army from Lachish to King Hezekiah at Jerusalem. And he stood by the aqueduct from the upper pool, on the highway to the Fuller's Field. 3And Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, who was over the household, Shebna the scribe, and Joah the son of Asaph, the recorder, came out to him.

4Then the Rabshakeh said to them, "Say now to Hezekiah, 'Thus says the great king, the king of Assyria: "What confidence is this in which you trust? 5I say you speak of having plans and power for war; but they are mere words. Now in whom do you trust, that you rebel against me? 6Look! You are trusting in the staff of this broken reed, Egypt, on which if a man leans, it will go into his hand and pierce it. So is Pharaoh king of Egypt to all who trust in him.

7"But if you say to me, 'We trust in the LORD our God,' is it not He whose high places and whose altars Hezekiah has taken away, and said to Judah and Jerusalem, 'You shall worship before this altar'?" ' 8Now therefore, I urge you, give a pledge to my master the king of Assyria, and I will give you two thousand horses—if you are able on your part to put riders on them! 9How then will you repel one captain of the least of my master's servants, and put your trust in Egypt for chariots and horsemen? 10Have I now come up without the LORD against this land to destroy it? The LORD said to me, 'Go up against this land, and destroy it.' "

11Then Eliakim, Shebna, and Joah said to the Rabshakeh, "Please speak to your servants in Aramaic, for we understand it; and do not speak to us in Hebrew[a] in the hearing of the people who are on the wall."

12But the Rabshakeh said, "Has my master sent me to your master and to you to speak these words, and not to the men who sit on the wall, who will eat and drink their own waste with you?"

13Then the Rabshakeh stood and called out with a loud voice in Hebrew, and said, "Hear the words of the great king, the king of Assyria!

36:2 [a]A title, probably Chief of Staff or Governor 36:11 [a]Literally Judean weak and fearful. God would defeat His people's enemies and bring His people salvation (v. 4). The desert symbolizes life without God. God's highway would provide a safe and joyful way for His people to journey to Zion (vv. 8–10), signifying the everlasting joy and security He would bring to the lives of His people. This chapter shares themes common to Isaiah 40–66 such as the joy of God's redeemed people, the transformation of the desert, the preparation of the highway, and the message of comfort and hope.

36:1—37:38 Sennacherib ascended the throne in 705 B.C. after the death of his father Sargon II, king of Assyria. A rebellion involving the entire Assyrian Empire occurred early in Sennacherib's reign. Hezekiah, king of Judah, joined the revolt. Sennacherib and his army marched westward to put down the rebellion. Rabshakeh is a title designating the chief officer of the Assyrian army (Is. 36:2). Isaiah prophesied that the Assyrian king would return to his own land and die by the sword, and he did (Is. 37:37, 38). Jerusalem was spared for the sake of the Lord's name or reputation and also for the sake of the Lord's servant David.

36:1—39:8 A historical interlude functions as a bridge between Isaiah 35 and 40 (see 2 Kin. 18:13—20:19; 2 Chr. 32). Chapters 36—39 of Isaiah deal with events surrounding the illness of Hezekiah and the Sennacherib Crisis in 701 B.C. (see Introduction: Date).

14Thus says the king: 'Do not let Hezekiah deceive you, for he will not be able to deliver you;
15nor let Hezekiah make you trust in the LORD, saying, "The LORD will surely deliver us; this city will not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria." ' 16Do not listen to Hezekiah; for thus says the king of Assyria: 'Make peace with me by a present and come out to me; and every one of you eat from his own vine and every one from his own fig tree, and every one of you drink the waters of his own cistern; 17until I come and take you away to a land like your own land, a land of grain and new wine, a land of bread and vineyards. 18*Beware* lest Hezekiah persuade you, saying, "The LORD will deliver us." Has any one of the gods of the nations delivered its land from the hand of the king of Assyria? 19Where are the gods of Hamath and Arpad? Where are the gods of Sepharvaim? Indeed, have they delivered Samaria from my hand? 20Who among all the gods of these lands have delivered their countries from my hand, that the LORD should deliver Jerusalem from my hand?' "

21But they held their peace and answered him not a word; for the king's commandment was, "Do not answer him." 22Then Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, who was over the household, Shebna the scribe, and Joah the son of Asaph, the recorder, came to Hezekiah with their clothes torn, and told him the words of the Rabshakeh.

Isaiah Assures Deliverance

37 And so it was, when King Hezekiah heard it, that he tore his clothes, covered himself with sackcloth, and went into the house of the LORD. 2Then he sent Eliakim, who was over the household, Shebna the scribe, and the elders of the priests, covered with sackcloth, to Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz. 3And they said to him,
"Thus says Hezekiah: 'This day is a day of trouble and rebuke and blasphemy; for the children have come to birth, but there is no strength to bring them forth. 4It may be that the LORD your God will hear the words of the Rabshakeh, whom his master the king of Assyria has sent to reproach the living God, and will rebuke the words which the LORD your God has heard.
Therefore lift up your prayer for the remnant that is left.' "

5So the servants of King Hezekiah came to Isaiah. 6And Isaiah said to them, "Thus you shall say to your master, 'Thus says the LORD: "Do not be afraid of the words which you have heard, with which the servants of the king of Assyria have blasphemed Me. 7Surely I will send a spirit upon him, and he shall hear a rumor and return to his own land; and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his own land." ' "

Sennacherib's Threat and Hezekiah's Prayer

8Then the Rabshakeh returned, and found the king of Assyria warring against Libnah, for he heard that he had departed from Lachish. 9And the king heard concerning Tirhakah king of Ethiopia, "He has come out to make war with you."
So when he heard it, he sent messengers to Hezekiah, saying, 10"Thus you shall speak to Hezekiah king of Judah, saying: 'Do not let your God in whom you trust deceive you, saying, "Jerusalem shall not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria." 11Look! You have heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all lands by utterly destroying them; and shall you be delivered? 12Have the gods of the nations delivered those whom my fathers have destroyed, Gozan and Haran and Rezeph, and the people of Eden who were in Telassar? 13Where is the king of Hamath, the king of Arpad, and the king of the city of Sepharvaim, Hena, and Ivah?' "

14And Hezekiah received the letter from the hand of the messengers, and read it; and Hezekiah went up to the house of the LORD, and spread it before the LORD. 15Then Hezekiah prayed to the LORD, saying: 16"O LORD of hosts, God of Israel, the
One who dwells between the cherubim, You are God, You alone, of all the kingdoms of the earth.
You have made heaven and earth. 17Incline Your ear, O LORD, and hear; open Your eyes, O LORD, and see; and hear all the words of Sennacherib, which he has sent to reproach the living God. 18Truly, LORD, the kings of Assyria have laid waste all the nations and their lands, 19and have cast their gods into the fire; for they were not gods, but the work of men's hands—wood and stone. Therefore they destroyed them. 20Now therefore, O LORD our God, save us from his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that You are the LORD, You alone."

The Word of the LORD Concerning Sennacherib

21Then Isaiah the son of Amoz sent to Hezekiah, saying, "Thus says the LORD God of Israel, 'Because you have prayed to Me against Sennacherib king of Assyria, 22this is the word which the LORD has spoken concerning him:

"The virgin, the daughter of Zion,
Has despised you, laughed you to scorn;
The daughter of Jerusalem
Has shaken her head behind your back!

23"Whom have you reproached and blasphemed?
Against whom have you raised your voice,
And lifted up your eyes on high?
Against the Holy One of Israel.
24By your servants you have reproached the
Lord,

And said, 'By the multitude of my chariots
I have come up to the height of the mountains,
To the limits of Lebanon;
I will cut down its tall cedars
And its choice cypress trees;
I will enter its farthest height,
To its fruitful forest.
25 I have dug and drunk water,
And with the soles of my feet I have dried up
All the brooks of defense.'

26 "Did you not hear long ago
How I made it,
From ancient times that I formed it?
Now I have brought it to pass,
That you should be
For crushing fortified cities into heaps of ruins.
27 Therefore their inhabitants had little power;
They were dismayed and confounded;
They were as the grass of the field
And the green herb,
As the grass on the housetops
And grain blighted before it is grown.

28 "But I know your dwelling place,
Your going out and your coming in,
And your rage against Me.
29 Because your rage against Me and your tumult
Have come up to My ears,
Therefore I will put My hook in your nose
And My bridle in your lips,
And I will turn you back
By the way which you came." '

30 "This shall be a sign to you:

You shall eat this year such as grows of itself,
And the second year what springs from the same;
Also in the third year sow and reap,
Plant vineyards and eat the fruit of them.
31 And the remnant who have escaped of the house of Judah
Shall again take root downward,
And bear fruit upward.
32 For out of Jerusalem shall go a remnant,
And those who escape from Mount Zion.
The zeal of the LORD of hosts will do this.

33 "Therefore thus says the LORD concerning the king of Assyria:

'He shall not come into this city,
Nor shoot an arrow there,
Nor come before it with shield,
Nor build a siege mound against it.
34 By the way that he came,
By the same shall he return;
And he shall not come into this city,'
Says the LORD.
35 "For I will defend this city, to save it
For My own sake and for My servant David's sake.' "

Sennacherib's Defeat and Death

36 Then the angel[a] of the LORD went out, and killed in the camp of the Assyrians one hundred and eighty-five thousand; and when people arose early in the morning, there were the corpses—all dead. 37 So Sennacherib king of Assyria departed and went away, returned home, and remained at Nineveh. 38 Now it came to pass, as he was worshiping in the house of Nisroch his god, that his sons Adrammelech and Sharezer struck him down with the sword; and they escaped into the land of Ararat. Then Esarhaddon his son reigned in his place.

Hezekiah's Life Extended

38 In those days Hezekiah was sick and near death. And Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz, went to him and said to him, "Thus says the LORD: 'Set your house in order, for you shall die and not live.' "

2 Then Hezekiah turned his face toward the wall, and prayed to the LORD, 3 and said, "Remember now, O LORD, I pray, how I have walked before You in truth and with a loyal heart, and have done what is good in Your sight." And Hezekiah wept bitterly.

4 And the word of the LORD came to Isaiah, saying, 5 "Go and tell Hezekiah, 'Thus says the LORD, the God of David your father: "I have heard your prayer, I have seen your tears; surely I will add to your days fifteen years. 6 I will deliver you and this city from the hand of the king of Assyria, and I will defend this city." ' 7 And this is the sign to you from the LORD, that the LORD will do this thing which He has spoken: 8 Behold, I will bring the shadow on the sundial, which has gone down with the sun on the sundial of Ahaz, ten degrees backward." So the sun

37:36 [a] Or Angel

38:1–22 King Hezekiah went to the Lord in prayer after Isaiah delivered the news of his impending death. As a wise king, Hezekiah took both personal and national crises to the Lord (see Is. 37:14–20). The Lord, who alone has power over life and death, added 15 years to Hezekiah's life. Hezekiah offered a prayer of thanksgiving for healing (Is. 38:10–20). Hezekiah not only prayed in the difficult times of life, but he also offered praise for the Lord's deliverance and salvation. Insight into the Hebrew concept of death is provided (v. 18). Those in "Sheol" lived a shadowy kind of existence, lacking hope and no longer praising God.

returned ten degrees on the dial by which it had gone down.

9This is the writing of Hezekiah king of Judah, when he had been sick and had recovered from his sickness:

10I said,
"In the prime of my life
I shall go to the gates of Sheol;
I am deprived of the remainder of my years."
11I said,
"I shall not see YAH,
The LORD[a] in the land of the living;
I shall observe man no more among the inhabitants of the world.[b]
12My life span is gone,
Taken from me like a shepherd's tent;
I have cut off my life like a weaver.
He cuts me off from the loom;
From day until night You make an end of me.
13I have considered until morning—
Like a lion,
So He breaks all my bones;
From day until night You make an end of me.
14Like a crane or a swallow, so I chattered;
I mourned like a dove;
My eyes fail from looking upward.
O LORD,[a] I am oppressed;
Undertake for me!

15"What shall I say?
He has both spoken to me,[a]
And He Himself has done it.
I shall walk carefully all my years
In the bitterness of my soul.
16O Lord, by these things men live;
And in all these things is the life of my spirit;
So You will restore me and make me live.
17Indeed it was for my own peace
That I had great bitterness;
But You have lovingly delivered my soul from the pit of corruption,
For You have cast all my sins behind Your back.
18For Sheol cannot thank You,
Death cannot praise You;
Those who go down to the pit cannot hope for Your truth.
19The living, the living man, he shall praise You,
As I do this day;
The father shall make known Your truth to the children.

20"The LORD was ready to save me;
Therefore we will sing my songs with stringed instruments
All the days of our life, in the house of the LORD."

21Now Isaiah had said, "Let them take a lump of figs, and apply it as a poultice on the boil, and he shall recover."

22And Hezekiah had said, "What is the sign that I shall go up to the house of the LORD?"

The Babylonian Envoys

39 At that time Merodach-Baladan[a] the son of Baladan, king of Babylon, sent letters and a present to Hezekiah, for he heard that he had been sick and had recovered. 2And Hezekiah was pleased with them, and showed them the house of his treasures—the silver and gold, the spices and precious ointment, and all his armory—all that was found among his treasures. There was nothing in his house or in all his dominion that Hezekiah did not show them.

3Then Isaiah the prophet went to King Hezekiah, and said to him, "What did these men say, and from where did they come to you?"

So Hezekiah said, "They came to me from a far country, from Babylon."

4And he said, "What have they seen in your house?"

So Hezekiah answered, "They have seen all that is in my house; there is nothing among my treasures that I have not shown them."

5Then Isaiah said to Hezekiah, "Hear the word of the LORD of hosts: 6'Behold, the days are coming when all that is in your house, and what your fathers have accumulated until this day, shall be carried to Babylon; nothing shall be left,' says the LORD. 7'And they shall take away some of your sons who will descend from you, whom you will beget; and they shall be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon.' "

8So Hezekiah said to Isaiah, "The word of the LORD which you have spoken is good!" For he said, "At least there will be peace and truth in my days."

God's People Are Comforted

40 "Comfort, yes, comfort My people!"
Says your God.

That her warfare is ended,

39:1–8 After Hezekiah's recovery, he trusted in human resources instead of putting his faith in the Lord. Isaiah prophesied the coming Exile in Babylon. Hezekiah's response reflects his selfish attitude. He did not seem too concerned about the coming judgment as long as it did not affect him personally (v. 8). The reference to Babylon in this chapter provides a link with the remainder of the Book of Isaiah.

40:1–11 The Lord had heard the cries of His people in Exile (cf. Ex. 2:23–25). Through His prophet, He delivered a message of

That her iniquity is pardoned;
For she has received from the LORD's hand
Double for all her sins."

3 The voice of one crying in the wilderness:
"Prepare the way of the LORD;
Make straight in the desert[a]
A highway for our God.
4 Every valley shall be exalted
And every mountain and hill brought low;
The crooked places shall be made straight
And the rough places smooth;
5 The glory of the LORD shall be revealed,
And all flesh shall see it together;
For the mouth of the LORD has spoken."

6 The voice said, "Cry out!"
And he[a] said, "What shall I cry?"

"All flesh is grass,
And all its loveliness is like the flower of the field.
7 The grass withers, the flower fades,
Because the breath of the LORD blows upon it;
Surely the people are grass.
8 The grass withers, the flower fades,
But the word of our God stands forever."

9 O Zion,
You who bring good tidings,
Get up into the high mountain;
O Jerusalem,
You who bring good tidings,
Lift up your voice with strength,
Lift it up, be not afraid;
Say to the cities of Judah, "Behold your God!"

10 Behold, the Lord GOD shall come with a strong hand,
And His arm shall rule for Him;
Behold, His reward is with Him,
And His work before Him.
11 He will feed His flock like a shepherd;
He will gather the lambs with His arm,
And carry them in His bosom,
And gently lead those who are with young.

12 Who has measured the waters[a] in the hollow of His hand,
Measured heaven with a span
And calculated the dust of the earth in a measure?
Weighed the mountains in scales
And the hills in a balance?
13 Who has directed the Spirit of the LORD,
Or as His counselor has taught Him?
14 With whom did He take counsel, and who instructed Him,
And taught Him in the path of justice?
Who taught Him knowledge,
And showed Him the way of understanding?

15 Behold, the nations are as a drop in a bucket,
And are counted as the small dust on the scales;
Look, He lifts up the isles as a very little thing.
16 And Lebanon is not sufficient to burn,
Nor its beasts sufficient for a burnt offering.
17 All nations before Him are as nothing,
And they are counted by Him less than nothing and worthless.

18 To whom then will you liken God?
Or what likeness will you compare to Him?
19 The workman molds an image,
The goldsmith overspreads it with gold,
And the silversmith casts silver chains.

comfort to them regarding their return from captivity. Captivity and Exile had resulted from the sins of God's people (Is. 40:2). "Speak comfort to Jerusalem" (lit. "speak upon the heart of Jerusalem") carries the picture of bringing encouragement, reassurance, and tender compassion to the people of Jerusalem (v. 2). "All flesh" indicates that through His act of deliverance, God would reveal Himself to all peoples, not just to His own (v. 5). For "glory" (lit. "to be heavy" or "to be weighty"; see Psalm 19:1, note). Isaiah 40:8 underlines the necessity of focusing on the dependability of God's Word, not on the unreliability of mankind. The Lord is revealed as One who is both strong and tender (vv. 10, 11). The essence of comfort for the Lord's people would be God's presence in their midst (v. 9).

40:12–26 The prophet proclaimed the majesty of the Lord over the idols worshiped by other nations. The great Creator God, the Lord, intimately knows the universe He has created (v. 12). No one instructs the Lord; He is the all-knowing God (vv. 13, 14). Satire is evident in the suggestion that one could even think of comparing the great Creator God to an image made out of a tree, itself part of God's creative handiwork (vv. 18–20). The great Creator is separate from His creation (v. 22). "Created" (Heb. bara'), appearing a number of times

FATIGUE REFUELING FOR RENEWED SERVICE

Fatigue can make a "nag" of anyone! Nothing goes further to make a woman less able to cope with unruly children, household or job crises, and thousands of other mundane irritations. Scripture offers ways for women to reduce fatigue and avoid weariness.

- Support from an understanding husband or close friend helps you handle pressure and stress more effectively. Knowing that someone not only knows about the burden but comes alongside to help you bear up under the load (Is. 50:4; Gal. 6:2) makes every crisis more tolerable.
- Women are refreshed and invigorated by being able to walk away from burdens even for a few hours. Such time for yourself can provide renewal of energies and revival of spirit and can produce creativity and re-create productivity (Eccl. 5:18).
- Women need to guard against overcommitment. Even good and godly pursuits must be weighed against the purposes of God (Heb. 12:1). You must learn to say "no," determine to slow your frantic pace, resist the temptation to add more and more to your schedule. Busyness is not necessarily godliness. Perhaps your "R and R" should become Reprioritizing responsibilities (Matt. 6:33) and Rethinking free time (Eccl. 3:1–8).

Being tired is a physical affliction. Being weary, on the other hand, is a spiritual attitude that results in part from blaming God for your own sinfulness. Life will never free you from fatigue, but fatigue can bring you to the point of setting aside the mundane cares of the world in order to open your heart and soul to the Lord (Eccl. 12:12).

God can use fatigue:

1) to cause you to look to Him for satisfaction (Is. 28:12, 13),
2) to administer correction (Heb. 12:5) as He pulls back His hand of strength to force your body to slow down for refueling, and
3) to prepare you for a greater challenge (Jer. 12:5).

God has promised to satisfy fully the weary soul and replenish faithfully the sorrowful heart (Jer. 31:25). Sometimes that means, "He makes me to lie down" (Ps. 23:2). Physical frailties may cause you to miss earthly fun and fellowship, but spiritual resources will enable you to grow stronger on the bed of affliction.

20 Whoever is too impoverished for such a contribution
Chooses a tree that will not rot;
He seeks for himself a skillful workman
To prepare a carved image that will not totter.

21 Have you not known?
Have you not heard?
Has it not been told you from the beginning?
Have you not understood from the foundations of the earth?
22 It is He who sits above the circle of the earth,
And its inhabitants are like grasshoppers,
Who stretches out the heavens like a curtain,
And spreads them out like a tent to dwell in.
23 He brings the princes to nothing;
He makes the judges of the earth useless.

24 Scarcely shall they be planted,
Scarcely shall they be sown,
Scarcely shall their stock take root in the
earth,
When He will also blow on them,
And they will wither,
And the whirlwind will take them away like stubble.

in Isaiah 40–66, suggests the idea of creation out of nothing because it is always used with God as subject. Bara' refers to something only God can do.

40:27–31 The Lord's people, referred to as Jacob and as Israel, felt that He had forgotten them. They were discouraged and afraid because their concept of God was too small. The prophet reminded them of the greatness of the Lord. The greatest human strength is insufficient to meet the challenges of life. The powerful Creator God gives power (v. 29). "Renew" actually means "to exchange." Those who wait or depend on the Lord will exchange their weakness for God's strength. Neither soaring with wings as eagles nor running is pictured as the climax; rather the sought-after prize of walking is presented as the mainstay of Christian experience. Serving God in the mountain-top experiences of life when His people can soar with Him is not so difficult. The most difficult times of service can be in the monotonous, everyday grind of life when God's people feel like they are spinning their wheels and going nowhere. The Lord's children can exchange their weaknesses for God's strength in the daily walk of life.

25"To whom then will you liken Me,
Or to whom shall I be equal?" says the Holy One.
26Lift up your eyes on high,
And see who has created these things,
Who brings out their host by number;
He calls them all by name,
By the greatness of His might
And the strength of His power;
Not one is missing.

27Why do you say, O Jacob,
And speak, O Israel:
"My way is hidden from the LORD,
And my just claim is passed over by my God"?
28Have you not known?
Have you not heard?
The everlasting God, the LORD,
The Creator of the ends of the earth,
Neither faints nor is weary.
His understanding is unsearchable.
29He gives power to the weak,
And to those who have no might He increases strength.
30Even the youths shall faint and be weary,
And the young men shall utterly fall,
31But those who wait on the LORD
Shall renew their strength;
They shall mount up with wings like eagles,
They shall run and not be weary,
They shall walk and not faint.

Israel Assured of God's Help

41 "Keep silence before Me, O coastlands,
And let the people renew their strength!
Let them come near, then let them speak;
Let us come near together for judgment.

2"Who raised up one from the east?
Who in righteousness called him to His feet?
Who gave the nations before him,
And made him rule over kings?
Who gave them as the dust to his sword,
As driven stubble to his bow?
3Who pursued them, and passed safely
By the way that he had not gone with his feet?
4Who has performed and done it,
Calling the generations from the beginning?
'I, the LORD, am the first;
And with the last I am He.' "

5The coastlands saw it and feared,
The ends of the earth were afraid;
They drew near and came.
6Everyone helped his neighbor,
And said to his brother,
"Be of good courage!"
7So the craftsman encouraged the goldsmith;
He who smooths with the hammer inspired him who strikes the anvil,
Saying, "It is ready for the soldering";
Then he fastened it with pegs,
That it might not totter.

8"But you, Israel, are My servant,
Jacob whom I have chosen,
The descendants of Abraham My friend.
9*You* whom I have taken from the ends of the earth,
And called from its farthest regions,
And said to you,
'You are My servant,
I have chosen you and have not cast you away:
10Fear not, for I am with you;
Be not dismayed, for I am your God.
I will strengthen you,
Yes, I will help you,
I will uphold you with My righteous right hand.'

11"Behold, all those who were incensed against you Shall be ashamed and disgraced;
They shall be as nothing,
And those who strive with you shall perish.
12You shall seek them and not find them—
Those who contended with you.
Those who war against you
Shall be as nothing,
As a nonexistent thing.
13For I, the LORD your God, will hold your right hand, Saying to you, 'Fear not, I will help you.'

14"Fear not, you worm Jacob,
You men of Israel!

41:1–7 A court scene is envisioned, and legal arguments are employed to demonstrate the incomparable nature of the Lord over the gods of the other nations. The "one from the east" is Cyrus, king of Persia, who began to rule over Babylon in 539 B.C. (v. 2). The edict or decree of Cyrus allowed captives to return to their homelands (see Ezra 1:1–4). The Lord in His sovereignty permitted Cyrus to rule. The Lord has always been in control of history. Fear fell on the nations when they heard of the success of Cyrus (Is. 41:5–7). A satire on the folly of idol worship appears in these verses as, in panic, the nations try to make more powerful gods.

41:8–20 Israel is identified as the Lord's servant (v. 8), providing reassurance to the Lord's people that He has not given up on them or abandoned them. The Lord's election of His people still stands (Ex. 19:1–6). To be God's servant means to belong to the Lord and to give allegiance only to Him. The Lord's servant has no reason to fear, for the Lord provides security and protection for His own (Is. 41:10, 13, 14). Jacob is an alternate designation for the nation Israel (see chart, Terminology for the People of God). The patriarch Jacob received the name Israel after he wrestled with the Man of God at Peniel (see Gen. 32:22–32). For "the Holy One of Israel," see Isaiah 1:4–9, note.

IDOLATRY — WORSHIPING PSEUDO-GODS

An idol—that is, an image or a phantom—in ancient times was often cast as the actual physical image of a god. Idolatry is a direct attack against the basic nature of God. In the New Testament, idolatry is associated with sexual sin (Gal 5:19–20), evil desires, covetousness (1 Cor. 5:11; Eph. 5:5; Col. 3:5), and anything else that causes people to deviate from the gospel of Jesus Christ (1 John 5:18–21).

An idol is whatever claims the loyalty and glory that belong to God alone (Ps. 95:3; Is. 42:8). For that reason, idols are detestable in God's sight (Jer. 4:1). They arouse His jealousy (Ps. 78:58), anger (Deut. 32:16), and even hatred (Jer. 44:4).

Idols are nonentities that are crafted and fashioned out of human imagination (Ps. 31:6; 1 Cor. 8:4). Nevertheless, they are associated with witchcraft and contain demonic potencies that constitute a very real spiritual menace (2 Chr. 33:5–7; Mic. 5:12–13; Gal. 5:20). Idolatry and Christianity are totally and utterly incompatible (2 Cor. 6:16), and believers are thus admonished to keep themselves free from idols (1 John 5:21).

I will help you," says the LORD
And your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel.
15"Behold, I will make you into a new threshing sledge with sharp teeth;
You shall thresh the mountains and beat them
small,
And make the hills like chaff.
16You shall winnow them, the wind shall carry them away,
And the whirlwind shall scatter them;
You shall rejoice in the LORD,
And glory in the Holy One of Israel.

17"The poor and needy seek water, but there is none,
Their tongues fail for thirst.
I, the LORD, will hear them;
I, the God of Israel, will not forsake them.
18I will open rivers in desolate heights,
And fountains in the midst of the valleys;
I will make the wilderness a pool of water,
And the dry land springs of water.
19I will plant in the wilderness the cedar and the acacia tree,
The myrtle and the oil tree;
I will set in the desert the cypress tree and the pine
And the box tree together,
20That they may see and know,
And consider and understand together,
That the hand of the LORD has done this,
And the Holy One of Israel has created it.

The Futility of Idols

21"Present your case," says the LORD.
"Bring forth your strong reasons," says the King of Jacob.
22"Let them bring forth and show us what will happen;
Let them show the former things, what they were,
That we may consider them,
And know the latter end of them;
Or declare to us things to come.
23Show the things that are to come hereafter,
That we may know that you are gods;
Yes, do good or do evil,
That we may be dismayed and see it
together.
24Indeed you are nothing,
And your work is nothing;
He who chooses you is an abomination.

25"I have raised up one from the north,
And he shall come;
From the rising of the sun he shall call on My
name;
And he shall come against princes as though mortar,
As the potter treads clay.
26Who has declared from the beginning, that we may know?
And former times, that we may say, 'He is righteous'?
Surely there is no one who shows,
Surely there is no one who declares,
Surely there is no one who hears your words.
27The first time I said to Zion,
'Look, there they are!'
And I will give to Jerusalem one who brings good tidings.
28For I looked, and there was no man;
I looked among them, but there was no counselor,

41:21–29 Again in a courtroom scene the Lord challenged the false gods of the nations to prove whether they could control history. The silence of the idols indicated their worthlessness and lack of power. In contrast, the Lord had raised up Cyrus as ruler and had directed world history.

Who, when I asked of them, could answer a word.
29 Indeed they are all worthless;[a]
Their works are nothing;
Their molded images are wind and confusion.

The Servant of the LORD

42 "Behold! My Servant whom I uphold,
My Elect One in whom My soul delights!
I have put My Spirit upon Him;
He will bring forth justice to the Gentiles.
2 He will not cry out, nor raise His voice,
Nor cause His voice to be heard in the street.
3 A bruised reed He will not break,
And smoking flax He will not quench;
He will bring forth justice for truth.
4 He will not fail nor be discouraged,
Till He has established justice in the earth;
And the coastlands shall wait for His law."

5 Thus says God the LORD,
Who created the heavens and stretched them out,
Who spread forth the earth and that which comes from it,
Who gives breath to the people on it,
And spirit to those who walk on it:
6 "I, the LORD, have called You in righteousness,
And will hold Your hand;
I will keep You and give You as a covenant to the people,
As a light to the Gentiles,
7 To open blind eyes,
To bring out prisoners from the prison,
Those who sit in darkness from the prison house.
8 I am the LORD, that is My name;
And My glory I will not give to another,
Nor My praise to carved images.
9 Behold, the former things have come to pass,
And new things I declare;
Before they spring forth I tell you of them."

Praise to the LORD

10 Sing to the LORD a new song,
And His praise from the ends of the earth,
You who go down to the sea, and all that is in it,
You coastlands and you inhabitants of them!
11 Let the wilderness and its cities lift up their voice,
The villages that Kedar inhabits.
Let the inhabitants of Sela sing,
Let them shout from the top of the mountains.
12 Let them give glory to the LORD,
And declare His praise in the coastlands.
13 The LORD shall go forth like a mighty man;
He shall stir up His zeal like a man of war.
He shall cry out, yes, shout aloud;
He shall prevail against His enemies.

Promise of the LORD's Help

14 "I have held My peace a long time,
I have been still and restrained Myself.
Now I will cry like a woman in labor,
I will pant and gasp at once.
15 I will lay waste the mountains and hills,
And dry up all their vegetation;
I will make the rivers coastlands,
And I will dry up the pools.
16 I will bring the blind by a way they did not know;
I will lead them in paths they have not known.
I will make darkness light before them,
And crooked places straight.
These things I will do for them,
And not forsake them.
17 They shall be turned back,
They shall be greatly ashamed,
Who trust in carved images,
Who say to the molded images,
'You are our gods.'

41:29 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Vulgate; Dead Sea Scrolls, Syriac, and Targum read nothing; Septuagint omits the first line.

42:1–4 A series of servant songs or poems have been identified in Isaiah 40—66 (Is. 42:1–4 or 42:1–9; 49:1–6; 50:4–9; 52:13—53:12). Who is the servant of these passages? The Lord put His Spirit upon His servant to equip him for ministry (Is. 42:1–4). His servant had the mission of bringing justice to the Gentiles, to all the earth. The servant was to accomplish the Lord's purpose in a gentle and patient manner (vv. 2, 3). In context, some identify the servant described in this passage as the Lord's people Israel (see Is. 41:8), who were intended to be a light to the nations (Is. 42:6). The Lord called Abram or Abraham in order that He might bless all the families of the earth through him (Gen. 12:1–3). The Lord's purpose from the beginning was for His people to function as instruments of His salvation (see Ex. 19:1–6). Others see the servant as an individual who would bring salvation to Israel. The NT seems to apply the messianic "servant" passages to Jesus (see Matt. 12:17–20). In any case, the servant mission given to Israel was perfectly fulfilled in Jesus. The identification of the servant with Israel would certainly point to ultimate fulfillment in Jesus Christ.

42:14–17 God's intervention on behalf of His people will have a negative effect on idol worshipers (vv. 14–17). God presented Himself using the metaphor of a pregnant woman in labor. The Hebrew text suggest a breathless and convulsive condition (v. 14; see chart, Female Metaphors for God). The "blind" are the Lord's people (v. 16). They are designated as blind because they felt that their future was hopeless. Though they were blind, the Lord would lead them along the right paths.

SUFFERING EXPERIENCING GOD'S GOODNESS IN THE MIDST

God's goodness is nowhere more apparent than in the midst of suffering. His history of providential care and deliverance for His people remains a constant reminder in every generation that He is to carry us through every adversity and trial. His presence is sufficient to banish fear. His power is enough to deliver from despair. His ultimate purpose is always for our good (Rom. 8:28).

Much of our suffering as human beings is rooted either in circumstances beyond our control, or in relationships.

Everyone is affected by circumstances that bring suffering. Mary Magdalene, for example, had been possessed of demons. She testified to the suffering of body and mind she endured before meeting Jesus. The outpouring of devotion that she showed in following Jesus to the cross (Mark 15:40, 47), as well as the unutterable joy she displayed to Jesus at the Garden after His resurrection (John 20:1, 11–18), left little doubt that she had known at a very deep level a response of love from our Lord that had liberated her from the demon possession she had previously suffered. In the light of His love, she experienced status, acceptance, and peace.

The Scriptures have a number of stories of suffering that are rooted in a woman's relationships: mother, wife, sister, daughter, friend. One example is Mary, the mother of Jesus. As a result of her openness and obedience to God, she exposed herself to the suffering that was to manifest itself in various ways: She endangered her engagement to Joseph (Matt. 1:18–25); she fled into exile once Jesus was born in order to safeguard His life (Matt. 2:14–15); she suffered the rejection of Jesus as He moved out of the exclusiveness of His family to the inclusiveness of the kingdom of God (Mark 3:31–35); and finally, she suffered the agonies of watching her Son's cruel death on Calvary. As with other biblical motifs, suffering, however, does not have the final word; for with the Resurrection of the Lord, the arrows that pierced Mary's soul were turned to the joy that every believer will experience at the Lord's return.

In the story of the Shunammite mother and her son is an insight into the profound suffering that comes peculiarly to mothers who experience the death of a dearly loved child (2 Kin. 4:8–37). Pathos and tragedy combine in the growing relationship between a family from Shunem and Elisha the prophet. Elisha received hospitality from a wealthy woman from Shunem. Her barrenness obviously had not made her bitter because she was profoundly hospitable. As a result of her hospitality to Elisha, she was blessed with a son. What greater joy could a woman know than the blessing of a child, and yet what greater pain could she endure than to lose this son through death. As with many biblical presentations of suffering, the pain is not belittled, but the promise of life broke through in her faith and obedience, which led to her son being raised to life.

18 "Hear, you deaf;
And look, you blind, that you may see.
19 Who is blind but My servant,
Or deaf as My messenger whom I send?
Who is blind as he who is perfect,
And blind as the LORD's servant?
20 Seeing many things, but you do not observe;
Opening the ears, but he does not hear."

Israel's Obstinate Disobedience

21 The LORD is well pleased for His righteousness' sake;
He will exalt the law and make it honorable.
22 But this is a people robbed and plundered;
All of them are snared in holes,
And they are hidden in prison houses;
They are for prey, and no one delivers;
For plunder, and no one says, "Restore!"

23 Who among you will give ear to this?
Who will listen and hear for the time to come?
24 Who gave Jacob for plunder, and Israel to the robbers?
Was it not the LORD,
He against whom we have sinned?
For they would not walk in His ways,
Nor were they obedient to His law.
25 Therefore He has poured on him the fury of His anger
And the strength of battle;
It has set him on fire all around,
Yet he did not know;

42:18–25 The Lord's people had not been sensitive to His mission for them. They had forsaken His law. They believed the Lord had chosen them for privilege and were blind to the responsibility that accompanied the Lord's choice of the nation. The people blamed the Lord for their defeat and captivity, though the prophet clearly indicated that defeat occurred because of the people's sin. The Lord was neither blind nor deaf to His servant; rather the Lord's servant was blind and deaf to Him.

And it burned him,
Yet he did not take it to heart.

The Redeemer of Israel

43 But now, thus says the LORD, who created you, O Jacob,
And He who formed you, O Israel:
"Fear not, for I have redeemed you;
I have called you by your name;
You are Mine.
2 When you pass through the waters, I will be with you;
And through the rivers, they shall not overflow you.
When you walk through the fire, you shall not be burned,
Nor shall the flame scorch you.
3 For I am the LORD your God,
The Holy One of Israel, your Savior;
I gave Egypt for your ransom,
Ethiopia and Seba in your place.
4 Since you were precious in My sight,
You have been honored,
And I have loved you;
Therefore I will give men for you,
And people for your life.
5 Fear not, for I am with you;
I will bring your descendants from the east,
And gather you from the west;
6 I will say to the north, 'Give them up!'
And to the south, 'Do not keep them back!'
Bring My sons from afar,
And My daughters from the ends of the earth—
7 Everyone who is called by My name,
Whom I have created for My glory;
I have formed him, yes, I have made him."

8 Bring out the blind people who have eyes,
And the deaf who have ears.
9 Let all the nations be gathered together,
And let the people be assembled.
Who among them can declare this,
And show us former things?
Let them bring out their witnesses, that they may be justified;
Or let them hear and say, "It is truth."
10 "You are My witnesses," says the LORD,
"And My servant whom I have chosen,
That you may know and believe Me,
And understand that I am He.
Before Me there was no God formed,
Nor shall there be after Me.
11 I, even I, am the LORD,
And besides Me there is no savior.
12 I have declared and saved,
I have proclaimed,
And there was no foreign god among you;
Therefore you are My witnesses,"
Says the LORD, "that I am God.
13 Indeed before the day was, I am He;
And there is no one who can deliver out of My hand;
I work, and who will reverse it?"

14 Thus says the LORD, your Redeemer,
The Holy One of Israel:
"For your sake I will send to Babylon,
And bring them all down as fugitives—
The Chaldeans, who rejoice in their ships.
15 I am the LORD, your Holy One,
The Creator of Israel, your King."

16 Thus says the LORD, who makes a way in the sea
And a path through the mighty waters,
17 Who brings forth the chariot and horse,
The army and the power
(They shall lie down together, they shall not rise;
They are extinguished, they are quenched like a wick):
18 "Do not remember the former things,
Nor consider the things of old.
19 Behold, I will do a new thing,
Now it shall spring forth;
Shall you not know it?
I will even make a road in the wilderness
And rivers in the desert.
20 The beast of the field will honor Me,
The jackals and the ostriches,
Because I give waters in the wilderness
And rivers in the desert,
To give drink to My people, My chosen.
21 This people I have formed for Myself;
They shall declare My praise.

Pleading with Unfaithful Israel

22 "But you have not called upon Me, O Jacob;
And you have been weary of Me, O Israel.

43:1–7 Jacob is an alternate designation for Israel (v. 1; see chart, The Terminology for the People of God). Comforting and encouraging words are provided for the Lord's people. Israel belonged to God by right of creation, redemption, and naming (v. 1). Just as the Lord brought the Hebrew slaves safely through the waters of the sea (Ex. 14:1–31), so He would continue to bring His people "through" when they encountered troubled times (Is. 43:2). The Lord named His people and they are His (v. 1). The Hebrew concept of naming implies having power or control over that which is named (See Is. 45, Naming of Children). For "the Holy One of Israel," see Isaiah 1:4–9, note.

43:8–13 The prophet turned to the courtroom scene again to demonstrate the greatness of the Lord. The Lord's people are called as witnesses to the fact that there is no other like the Lord.

43:22–28 The Lord condemned His people for their unfaithfulness. The designation "Jacob" may be a reminder that they

23 You have not brought Me the sheep for your burnt offerings,
Nor have you honored Me with your sacrifices.
I have not caused you to serve with grain offerings,
Nor wearied you with incense.
24 You have bought Me no sweet cane with money,
Nor have you satisfied Me with the fat of your sacrifices;
But you have burdened Me with your sins,
You have wearied Me with your iniquities.

25 "I, even I, am He who blots out your transgressions for My own sake;
And I will not remember your sins.
26 Put Me in remembrance;
Let us contend together;
State your case, that you may be acquitted.
27 Your first father sinned,
And your mediators have transgressed against Me.
28 Therefore I will profane the princes of the sanctuary;
I will give Jacob to the curse,
And Israel to reproaches.

God's Blessing on Israel

44 "Yet hear me now, O Jacob My servant,
And Israel whom I have chosen.
2 Thus says the LORD who made you
And formed you from the womb, who will help
you:
'Fear not, O Jacob My servant;
And you, Jeshurun, whom I have chosen.
3 For I will pour water on him who is thirsty,
And floods on the dry ground;
I will pour My Spirit on your descendants,
And My blessing on your offspring;
4 They will spring up among the grass
Like willows by the watercourses.'
5 One will say, 'I am the LORD's';
Another will call himself by the name of Jacob;
Another will write with his hand, 'The LORD's,'
And name himself by the name of Israel.

There Is No Other God

6 "Thus says the LORD, the King of Israel,
And his Redeemer, the LORD of hosts:
'I am the First and I am the Last;
Besides Me there is no God.
7 And who can proclaim as I do?
Then let him declare it and set it in order for Me,
Since I appointed the ancient people.
And the things that are coming and shall come,
Let them show these to them.
8 Do not fear, nor be afraid;
Have I not told you from that time, and declared it?
You are My witnesses.
Is there a God besides Me?
Indeed there is no other Rock;
I know not one.' "

Idolatry Is Foolishness

9 Those who make an image, all of them are useless,
And their precious things shall not profit;
They are their own witnesses;
They neither see nor know, that they may be ashamed.
10 Who would form a god or mold an image
That profits him nothing?
11 Surely all his companions would be ashamed;
And the workmen, they are mere men.
Let them all be gathered together,
Let them stand up;
Yet they shall fear,
They shall be ashamed together.

12 The blacksmith with the tongs works one in the coals,

were imitating the character of their deceitful ancestor Jacob, whose name was later changed to Israel (v. 22). The Lord's requirements for His people were not overly demanding; yet the people failed to meet those basic requirements. Instead they burdened the Lord with their sins (v. 24). The people had come to view the Lord as their servant rather than as their Lord. The Lord had not failed in the covenant relationship with Israel; His people had failed Him. The Lord repeatedly had forgiven their sins (v. 25). "Transgressions" also can be translated "rebellion" (v. 25). The Lord's people had deliberately rebelled against Him.

44:1–5 God's people had sinned from the beginning of their existence (see Is. 43:27); yet the people of Israel had also remained the Lord's chosen instrument from the beginning of their existence (Is. 44:2). "Jeshurun" (Heb. lit. "upright") is a positive title the Lord gave His people, indicating His ideal for His own (v. 2). Note the contrast in verse 2 between the designations "Jacob" (lit. "trickster") and "Jeshurun" (lit. "upright one"). As water brings life to dry ground, so the Lord's Spirit will bring new life to His people. Verse 5 may be a reference to the increase of the Lord's people through proselytizing among the nations.

44:9–20 The folly of worshiping idols is described with sarcasm. The Hebrew word "useless" is the same word used to describe the emptiness or formlessness of the world in the beginning (v. 9; see Gen. 1:2). The prophet indicated that those who practice idol worship are empty-headed. The satire reaches its height when the craftsman cuts down a tree and uses part of it to build a fire to cook his meal and warm himself (Is. 44:15–17). With the rest of the wood the craftsman makes an idol before which he bows and cries for deliverance! Such a person is deluded and deceived, and he "feeds on ashes" (v. 20).

Fashions it with hammers,
And works it with the strength of his arms.
Even so, he is hungry, and his strength fails;
He drinks no water and is faint.

13 The craftsman stretches out his rule,
He marks one out with chalk;
He fashions it with a plane,
He marks it out with the compass,
And makes it like the figure of a man,
According to the beauty of a man, that it may remain in the house.
14 He cuts down cedars for himself,
And takes the cypress and the oak;
He secures it for himself among the trees of the forest.
He plants a pine, and the rain nourishes it.

15 Then it shall be for a man to burn,
For he will take some of it and warm himself;
Yes, he kindles it and bakes bread;
Indeed he makes a god and worships it;
He makes it a carved image, and falls down to it.
16 He burns half of it in the fire;
With this half he eats meat;
He roasts a roast, and is satisfied.
He even warms himself and says,
"Ah! I am warm,
I have seen the fire."
17 And the rest of it he makes into a god,
His carved image.
He falls down before it and worships it,
Prays to it and says,
"Deliver me, for you are my god!"

18 They do not know nor understand;
For He has shut their eyes, so that they cannot see,
And their hearts, so that they cannot understand.
19 And no one considers in his heart,
Nor is there knowledge nor understanding to say,
"I have burned half of it in the fire,
Yes, I have also baked bread on its coals;
I have roasted meat and eaten it;
And shall I make the rest of it an abomination?
Shall I fall down before a block of wood?"
20 He feeds on ashes;
A deceived heart has turned him aside;
And he cannot deliver his soul,
Nor say, "Is there not a lie in my right hand?"

Israel Is Not Forgotten

21 "Remember these, O Jacob,
And Israel, for you are My servant;
I have formed you, you are My servant;
O Israel, you will not be forgotten by Me!
22 I have blotted out, like a thick cloud, your transgressions,
And like a cloud, your sins.
Return to Me, for I have redeemed you."

23 Sing, O heavens, for the LORD has done it!
Shout, you lower parts of the earth;
Break forth into singing, you mountains,
O forest, and every tree in it!
For the LORD has redeemed Jacob,
And glorified Himself in Israel.

Judah Will Be Restored

24 Thus says the LORD, your Redeemer,
And He who formed you from the womb:
"I am the LORD, who makes all things,
Who stretches out the heavens all alone,
Who spreads abroad the earth by Myself;
25 Who frustrates the signs of the babblers,
And drives diviners mad;
Who turns wise men backward,
And makes their knowledge foolishness;
26 Who confirms the word of His servant,
And performs the counsel of His messengers;
Who says to Jerusalem, 'You shall be inhabited,'
To the cities of Judah, 'You shall be built,'
And I will raise up her waste places;
27 Who says to the deep, 'Be dry!
And I will dry up your rivers';
28 Who says of Cyrus, 'He is My shepherd,
And he shall perform all My pleasure,
Saying to Jerusalem, "You shall be built,"
And to the temple, "Your foundation shall be laid." '

Cyrus, God's Instrument

45 "Thus says the LORD to His anointed,
To Cyrus, whose right hand I have held—
To subdue nations before him
And loose the armor of kings,
To open before him the double doors,
So that the gates will not be shut:
2 'I will go before you
And make the crooked places[a] straight;
I will break in pieces the gates of bronze
And cut the bars of iron.

45:2 [a]Dead Sea Scrolls and Septuagint read mountains; Targum reads I will trample down the walls; Vulgate reads I will humble the great ones of the earth.

45:1–13 The Lord chose Cyrus, king of Persia, to be His instrument in accomplishing His purposes, even though Cyrus did not acknowledge the Lord (vv. 4, 5). The Hebrew practice was to anoint with oil those who assumed positions of leadership (v. 1). The right hand is the hand of strength or power (v. 1).

NAMING OF CHILDREN — WHAT'S IN A NAME?

The Hebrews believed that naming something was to encompass and control it. Names of children, thus, spoke of the "essence" of children—their attributes, identities, or distinguishing characteristics.

In the Old Testament, there are more than fifty examples in which children are given names that have a meaning. Some of these relate to events associated with the child's birth or conception (Gen. 17:19; 25:26; 1 Sam. 4:21). The Lord commanded Hosea to name his children as part of a prophetic message to Israel (Hos. 1:4, 6, 9)—Jezreel meaning "my punishment," Lo-Ruhamah meaning "not loved," and Lo-Ammi meaning "not my people."

Names also frequently referred to a child's lineage. The Aramaic word "bar" means "the son of"—so that Bartimaeus means "son of Timaeus" (Mark 10:46). The Hebrew word "ben" also means "son" and is frequently linked to a circumstance or situation. For example, Ben-ammi means the "son of my people," Benoni is "the son of my trouble," and Benjamin is "the son of my right hand" (see Gen. 19:38, 35:18).

In some cases, parents in the Bible are told specifically what to name their children, perhaps most notably in the case of John the Baptist (Luke 1:57–66) and Jesus (Luke 2:21). A change in a person's name nearly always refers to a change in that person's character or identity, such as when Jesus changed the name of Simon to Peter (John 1:42).

3 I will give you the treasures of darkness
And hidden riches of secret places,
That you may know that I, the LORD,
Who call you by your name,
Am the God of Israel.
4 For Jacob My servant's sake,
And Israel My elect,
I have even called you by your name;
I have named you, though you have not known Me.
5 I am the LORD, and there is no other;
There is no God besides Me.
I will gird you, though you have not known Me,
6 That they may know from the rising of the sun to its setting
That there is none besides Me.
I am the LORD, and there is no other;
7 I form the light and create darkness,
I make peace and create calamity;
I, the LORD, do all these things.'

8 "Rain down, you heavens, from above,
And let the skies pour down righteousness;
Let the earth open, let them bring forth salvation,
And let righteousness spring up together.
I, the LORD, have created it.

9 "Woe to him who strives with his Maker!
Let the potsherd strive with the potsherds of the earth!
Shall the clay say to him who forms it, 'What are you making?'
Or shall your handiwork say, 'He has no hands'?
10 Woe to him who says to his father, 'What are you begetting?'
Or to the woman, 'What have you brought forth?' "

11 Thus says the LORD,
The Holy One of Israel, and his Maker:
"Ask Me of things to come concerning My sons;
And concerning the work of My hands, you command Me.
12 I have made the earth,
And created man on it.
I—My hands—stretched out the heavens,
And all their host I have commanded.
13 I have raised him up in righteousness,
And I will direct all his ways;
He shall build My city
And let My exiles go free,
Not for price nor reward,"
Says the LORD of hosts.

The LORD, the Only Savior

14 Thus says the LORD:

"The labor of Egypt and merchandise of Cush
And of the Sabeans, men of stature,
Shall come over to you, and they shall be yours;
They shall walk behind you,
They shall come over in chains;
And they shall bow down to you.
They will make supplication to you, saying,
'Surely God is in you,
And there is no other;
There is no other God.' "

15 Truly You are God, who hide Yourself,
O God of Israel, the Savior!
16 They shall be ashamed

And also disgraced, all of them;
They shall go in confusion together,
Who are makers of idols.
17 But Israel shall be saved by the LORD
With an everlasting salvation;
You shall not be ashamed or disgraced
Forever and ever.

18 For thus says the LORD,
Who created the heavens,
Who is God,
Who formed the earth and made it,
Who has established it,
Who did not create it in vain,
Who formed it to be inhabited:
"I am the LORD, and there is no other.
19 I have not spoken in secret,
In a dark place of the earth;
I did not say to the seed of Jacob,
'Seek Me in vain';
I, the LORD, speak righteousness,
I declare things that are right.

20 "Assemble yourselves and come;
Draw near together,
You who have escaped from the nations.
They have no knowledge,
Who carry the wood of their carved image,
And pray to a god that cannot save.
21 Tell and bring forth your case;
Yes, let them take counsel together.
Who has declared this from ancient time?
Who has told it from that time?
Have not I, the LORD?
And there is no other God besides Me,
A just God and a Savior;
There is none besides Me.

22 "Look to Me, and be saved,
All you ends of the earth!
For I am God, and there is no other.
23 I have sworn by Myself;
The word has gone out of My mouth in righteousness,
And shall not return,
That to Me every knee shall bow,
Every tongue shall take an oath.
24 He shall say,
'Surely in the LORD I have righteousness and strength.
To Him men shall come,
And all shall be ashamed
Who are incensed against Him.
25 In the LORD all the descendants of Israel
Shall be justified, and shall glory.' "

Dead Idols and the Living God

46 Bel bows down, Nebo stoops;
Their idols were on the beasts and on the cattle.
Your carriages were heavily loaded,
A burden to the weary beast.
2 They stoop, they bow down together;
They could not deliver the burden,
But have themselves gone into captivity.

3 "Listen to Me, O house of Jacob,
And all the remnant of the house of Israel,
Who have been upheld by Me from birth,
Who have been carried from the womb:
4 Even to your old age, I am He,
And even to gray hairs I will carry you!
I have made, and I will bear;
Even I will carry, and will deliver you.

5 "To whom will you liken Me, and make Me equal
And compare Me, that we should be alike?
6 They lavish gold out of the bag,
And weigh silver on the scales;
They hire a goldsmith, and he makes it a god;
They prostrate themselves, yes, they worship.
7 They bear it on the shoulder, they carry it
And set it in its place, and it stands;
From its place it shall not move.
Though one cries out to it, yet it cannot answer
Nor save him out of his trouble.

8 "Remember this, and show yourselves men;
Recall to mind, O you transgressors.
9 Remember the former things of old,
For I am God, and there is no other;
I am God, and there is none like Me,
10 Declaring the end from the beginning,
And from ancient times things that are not yet done,
Saying, 'My counsel shall stand,
And I will do all My pleasure,'
11 Calling a bird of prey from the east,
The man who executes My counsel, from a far country.
Indeed I have spoken it;
I will also bring it to pass.
I have purposed it;
I will also do it.

46:1–13 The prophet drew a startling contrast between the Lord and idols. Bel and Nebo were Babylonian gods (v. 1). When the Persians conquered Babylon, the fleeing people loaded their idols on their already overburdened beasts. The idols could not deliver their worshipers; instead they provided an additional burden for those trying to escape their captors. What a mighty contrast to the Lord of Israel! His people do not carry Him; rather, He carries them (vv. 3, 4). He had carried the people of Israel since their birth as a nation (see Ex. 19:4). He would continue to carry them to old age.

ATTRIBUTES OF GOD HE IS OMNISCIENT

God knows everything from eternity past to eternity future simultaneously. He learns from no one, is never surprised, and never forgets (Is. 46:9, 10).

God knows His creation completely. He names the stars (Ps. 147:4, 5), places the clouds (Job 37:16), tracks activity in the oceans (Job 38:16), clothes the fields (Matt. 6:28), and is aware of every creature and its activities at all times (Matt. 10:29).

God knows each woman fully (Ps. 33:15)—her past (Rev. 2:2, 3), where she goes, what she does, thinks, says, (Ps. 33:13–15), and even her motivations (1 Sam. 16:7).

The comforting news is that God knows and loves you anyway (Ps. 103:14). He knows the number of hairs on your head (Matt. 10:30), your needs (Matt. 6:8), your feelings (Is. 40:28, 29), and your future (John 14:2, 3). You can take comfort in these words in Scripture, "O Lord God, You know" (Ezek. 37:3).

12 "Listen to Me, you stubborn-hearted,
Who are far from righteousness:
13 I bring My righteousness near, it shall not be far off;
My salvation shall not linger.
And I will place salvation in Zion,
For Israel My glory.

The Humiliation of Babylon

47 "Come down and sit in the dust,
O virgin daughter of Babylon;
Sit on the ground without a throne,
O daughter of the Chaldeans!
For you shall no more be called
Tender and delicate.
2 Take the millstones and grind meal.
Remove your veil,
Take off the skirt,
Uncover the thigh,
Pass through the rivers.
3 Your nakedness shall be uncovered,
Yes, your shame will be seen;
I will take vengeance,
And I will not arbitrate with a man."

4 As for our Redeemer, the LORD of hosts is His name,
The Holy One of Israel.

5 "Sit in silence, and go into darkness,
O daughter of the Chaldeans;
For you shall no longer be called
The Lady of Kingdoms.
6 I was angry with My people;
I have profaned My inheritance,
And given them into your hand.
You showed them no mercy;
On the elderly you laid your yoke very heavily.
7 And you said, 'I shall be a lady forever,'
So that you did not take these things to heart,
Nor remember the latter end of them.

8 "Therefore hear this now, you who are given to pleasures,
Who dwell securely,
Who say in your heart, 'I am, and there is no one else besides me;
I shall not sit as a widow,
Nor shall I know the loss of children';
9 But these two things shall come to you
In a moment, in one day:
The loss of children, and widowhood.
They shall come upon you in their fullness
Because of the multitude of your sorceries,
For the great abundance of your enchantments.

10 "For you have trusted in your wickedness;
You have said, 'No one sees me';
Your wisdom and your knowledge have warped you;
And you have said in your heart,
"I am, and there is no one else besides me.'
11 Therefore evil shall come upon you;
You shall not know from where it arises.
And trouble shall fall upon you;
You will not be able to put it off.
And desolation shall come upon you suddenly,
Which you shall not know.

12 "Stand now with your enchantments
And the multitude of your sorceries,

47:1–15 The prophet predicted the downfall of Babylon. God used Babylon to discipline His people. But Persia would conquer wicked Babylon, and the Lord would rescue His people. Babylon, in its arrogance, made a claim for itself that belonged only to the Lord (see vv. 8, 10; see Is. 45:14, 18). Babylon became the symbol of evil in Scripture (see Rev. 17; 18). For "the Holy One of Israel," see Isaiah 1:4–9, note.

In which you have labored from your youth—
Perhaps you will be able to profit,
Perhaps you will prevail.
13 You are wearied in the multitude of your counsels;
Let now the astrologers, the stargazers,
And the monthly prognosticators
Stand up and save you
From what shall come upon you.
14 Behold, they shall be as stubble,
The fire shall burn them;
They shall not deliver themselves
From the power of the flame;
It shall not be a coal to be warmed by,
Nor a fire to sit before!
15 Thus shall they be to you
With whom you have labored,
Your merchants from your youth;
They shall wander each one to his quarter.
No one shall save you.

Israel Refined for God's Glory

48 "Hear this, O house of Jacob,
Who are called by the name of Israel,
And have come forth from the wellsprings of Judah;
Who swear by the name of the LORD,
And make mention of the God of Israel,
But not in truth or in righteousness;
2 For they call themselves after the holy city,
And lean on the God of Israel;
The LORD of hosts is His name:

3 "I have declared the former things from the beginning;
They went forth from My mouth, and I caused them to hear it.
Suddenly I did them, and they came to pass.
4 Because I knew that you were obstinate,
And your neck was an iron sinew,
And your brow bronze,
5 Even from the beginning I have declared it to
you;
Before it came to pass I proclaimed it to you,
Lest you should say, 'My idol has done them,
And my carved image and my molded image
Have commanded them.'

6 "You have heard;
See all this.
And will you not declare it?
I have made you hear new things from this time,
Even hidden things, and you did not know
them.
7 They are created now and not from the beginning;
And before this day you have not heard them,
Lest you should say, 'Of course I knew them.'
8 Surely you did not hear,
Surely you did not know;
Surely from long ago your ear was not opened.
For I knew that you would deal very
treacherously,
And were called a transgressor from the womb.

9 "For My name's sake I will defer My anger,
And for My praise I will restrain it from you,
So that I do not cut you off.
10 Behold, I have refined you, but not as silver;
I have tested you in the furnace of affliction.
11 For My own sake, for My own sake, I will do it;
For how should My name be profaned?
And I will not give My glory to another.

God's Ancient Plan to Redeem Israel

12 "Listen to Me, O Jacob,
And Israel, My called:
I am He, I am the First,
I am also the Last.
13 Indeed My hand has laid the foundation of the earth,
And My right hand has stretched out the heavens;
When I call to them,
They stand up together.

14 "All of you, assemble yourselves, and hear!
Who among them has declared these things?
The LORD loves him;
He shall do His pleasure on Babylon,
And His arm shall be against the Chaldeans.
15 I, even I, have spoken;
Yes, I have called him,
I have brought him, and his way will prosper.

16 "Come near to Me, hear this:
I have not spoken in secret from the
beginning;
From the time that it was, I was there.
And now the Lord GOD and His Spirit
Have[a] sent Me."

17 Thus says the LORD, your Redeemer,

48:16 [a]The Hebrew verb is singular.

48:1–8 The Lord's people, alternately referred to as Jacob, Israel, and Judah, are described as obstinate, stiff-necked or stubborn, idol worshipers, deaf, treacherous, and rebellious (vv. 1, 4, 5, 8). "Transgressor" refers to one who rebels against the Lord (v. 8). The Lord's people gave the appearance of being religious (vv. 1, 2), but they did not obey the Lord's commands. They closed their ears to the words of the Lord (v. 8). Genuine faith in the Lord, as the 8th century B.C. prophets repeatedly emphasized, makes a difference in the way a person lives every day.

AGING THE PASSING OF YEARS

The Bible offers repeated assurances that the process we call aging is completely secure in God's hand. Looks, health, and circumstances change with time and often in ways we would not desire. Many cope with the stress of aging by trying to cling to outward beauty, youthful strength, or vocational achievement. Yet, only when we realize that God has made each of us and, in accordance with His plan, carries us through the changing seasons of life, do we come to peace with the inevitability of getting older.

Just as each season of nature has its beauty and purpose by God's design, so there is no season of life in which the Christian should despair of living. Though opportunities and abilities may decline with age, each day of life that God gives is purposefully ordained according to His perfect wisdom. God's plan includes people of every age. Miriam was a young girl when she stood by a river and watched her baby brother, Moses. Many years later, she helped her brother lead God's people across another body of water to freedom. Mary was a teenager when Gabriel announced her motherhood and middle-aged when she witnessed His Crucifixion and Resurrection, and the sending of the Holy Spirit to the early church. Sarah was well past menopause when she gave birth to her son, Isaac. Those who live each day for Christ will bear fruit not only in youth but in old age as well (Ps. 92:12–15).

The Holy One of Israel:
"I am the LORD your God,
Who teaches you to profit,
Who leads you by the way you should go.
18 Oh, that you had heeded My commandments!
Then your peace would have been like a river,
And your righteousness like the waves of the sea.
19 Your descendants also would have been like the sand,
And the offspring of your body like the grains of sand;
His name would not have been cut off
Nor destroyed from before Me."

20 Go forth from Babylon!
Flee from the Chaldeans!
With a voice of singing,
Declare, proclaim this,
Utter it to the end of the earth;
Say, "The LORD has redeemed
His servant Jacob!"
21 And they did not thirst
When He led them through the deserts;
He caused the waters to flow from the rock for them;
He also split the rock, and the waters gushed out.

22 "There is no peace," says the LORD, "for the wicked."

The Servant, the Light to the Gentiles

49 "Listen, O coastlands, to Me,
And take heed, you peoples from afar!
The LORD has called Me from the womb;
From the matrix of My mother He has made mention of My name.
2 And He has made My mouth like a sharp sword;
In the shadow of His hand He has hidden Me,
And made Me a polished shaft;
In His quiver He has hidden Me."

3 "And He said to me,
'You are My servant, O Israel,
In whom I will be glorified.'
4 Then I said, 'I have labored in vain,
I have spent my strength for nothing and in vain;
Yet surely my just reward is with the LORD,
And my work with my God.' "

49:1–6 In the second servant passage, a tension exists regarding the identity of the servant (see Is. 42:1–4, note). The servant himself speaks, testifying how the Lord had called him and prepared him for his task (Is. 49:1, 2). The Lord hid His servant (v. 2), indicating the Lord's care and protection. In verse 3 the servant is called "Israel." The Lord did indeed choose Israel to be His instrument in making Himself known to the entire world. Verse 4 may reflect the complaint of the servant (or the people of Israel) that their mission was too great and they were too weak. Ultimately, this Servant is the Lord Himself, and certainly His earthly ministry in many ways was disappointing to Him since the fruit borne was small in light of the sacrifice made. Yet He willingly left the results in the Father's hand. Verses 5 and 6 increase the tension in this passage regarding the identity of the servant. If the servant is identified as Israel (v. 3), the servant here is said to have a mission to bring Jacob or Israel back to the Lord (vv. 5, 6). The servant could be a remnant or a part of Israel. Verse 6 further extends the mission of this servant as overwhelming and far beyond any human agent. The servant is to bring Israel back to the Lord and bring the Lord's salvation to the Gentiles, not only as the bearer of that salvation but as the Savior (v. 6). For this reason, it seems more prudent to identify the Servant as none other than Jesus Christ (see John 8:12).

5 "And now the LORD says,
Who formed Me from the womb to be His Servant,
To bring Jacob back to Him,
So that Israel is gathered to Him[a]
(For I shall be glorious in the eyes of the LORD,
And My God shall be My strength),

6 Indeed He says,
'It is too small a thing that You should be My Servant
To raise up the tribes of Jacob,
And to restore the preserved ones of Israel;
I will also give You as a light to the Gentiles,
That You should be My salvation to the ends of the earth.' "

7 Thus says the LORD,
The Redeemer of Israel, their Holy One,
To Him whom man despises,
To Him whom the nation abhors,
To the Servant of rulers:
"Kings shall see and arise,
Princes also shall worship,
Because of the LORD who is faithful,
The Holy One of Israel;
And He has chosen You."

8 Thus says the LORD:

"In an acceptable time I have heard You,
And in the day of salvation I have helped You;
I will preserve You and give You
As a covenant to the people,
To restore the earth,
To cause them to inherit the desolate heritages;
9 That You may say to the prisoners, 'Go forth,'
To those who are in darkness, 'Show yourselves.'

"They shall feed along the roads,
And their pastures shall be on all desolate heights.
10 They shall neither hunger nor thirst,
Neither heat nor sun shall strike them;
For He who has mercy on them will lead them,
Even by the springs of water He will guide them.
11 I will make each of My mountains a road,
And My highways shall be elevated.
12 Surely these shall come from afar;
Look! Those from the north and the west,
And these from the land of Sinim."

13 Sing, O heavens!
Be joyful, O earth!
And break out in singing, O mountains!
For the LORD has comforted His people,
And will have mercy on His afflicted.

God Will Remember Zion

14 But Zion said, "The LORD has forsaken me,
And my Lord has forgotten me."

15 "Can a woman forget her nursing child,
And not have compassion on the son of her womb?
Surely they may forget,
Yet I will not forget you.
16 See, I have inscribed you on the palms of My hands;
Your walls are continually before Me.
17 Your sons[a] shall make haste;
Your destroyers and those who laid you waste
Shall go away from you.
18 Lift up your eyes, look around and see;
All these gather together and come to you.
As I live," says the LORD,
"You shall surely clothe yourselves with them all as an ornament,
And bind them on you as a bride does.

19 "For your waste and desolate places,
And the land of your destruction,
Will even now be too small for the inhabitants;
And those who swallowed you up will be far away.
20 The children you will have,
After you have lost the others,
Will say again in your ears,
'The place is too small for me;
Give me a place where I may dwell.'
21 Then you will say in your heart,
'Who has begotten these for me,
Since I have lost my children and am desolate,
A captive, and wandering to and fro?
And who has brought these up?
There I was, left alone;
But these, where were they?' "

22 Thus says the Lord GOD:

"Behold, I will lift My hand in an oath to the nations,
And set up My standard for the peoples;

49:5 [a]Qere, Dead Sea Scrolls, and Septuagint read is gathered to Him; Kethib reads is not gathered. 49:17 [a]Dead Sea Scrolls, Septuagint, Targum, and Vulgate read builders.

49:7–26 The prophet encouraged the Lord's people. For "the Holy One of Israel," see Isaiah 1:4–9, note. In the allusion to a mother and the child of her womb, the Lord's loving concern for His people goes even beyond that of the most devoted mother (Is. 49:15; see chart, Female Metaphors for God).

CULTURE — THE JUDEO-CHRISTIAN HERITAGE

The culture of a people includes its language, customs, laws, mores, traditions, music and art, symbols, artifacts—everything that points toward the best of a group of people and those things which the group desires to pass on to future generations. The Bible may very well be considered the handbook for Judeo-Christian culture since it clearly defines the essence of what it means to be "God's people" (Is. 51:16).

The Bible clearly states that the culture of God's people is to have these hallmarks:

- To live in obedience to the Law by faith. To follow God's commands is to be in a position to receive God's blessings; to disobey God's laws is to experience God's wrath (Ex. 15:26; Deut. 28:1–14).
- To have a heart for the one true and living God plus a heart for your neighbor. The Law's purpose is to reveal a heart for God and for others (Matt. 22:37–40).
- To maintain family alliances. God's people dwell in a community that has a family orientation. Inheritances are to be kept within a tribe (Deut. 32:6–9).

God's people are strongly warned against diluting their culture through intermarriage with nonbelievers (2 Cor. 6:14–16) and endangering their culture through situations making them vulnerable to captivity and slavery (Deut. 7:2–5). Conversely, God's people are admonished to spread their culture to others (Acts 10:34–43) and to be a moral light to the nations (Acts 13:47). Women in the history of God's people held a unique responsibility for the transmission of culture within the family context. Religious descent among the Hebrews is matrilineal. If the mother is Jewish, then so is the child. Women are also responsible for preparing the most important "cultural" celebration: the Shabbat or Sabbath feast.

See also Deut. 11:1–12; Is. 29:13–16; chart on Terminology for the People of God; notes on Celebrations and Holidays (Ex. 12); Family (Gen. 32; 1 Sam. 3; Ps. 78; 127); Inheritance (Prov. 13); Patriarchy (Gen. 28); Traditions (1 Sam. 7)

They shall bring your sons in their arms,
And your daughters shall be carried on their shoulders;
23 Kings shall be your foster fathers,
And their queens your nursing mothers;
They shall bow down to you with their faces to the earth,
And lick up the dust of your feet.
Then you will know that I am the LORD,
For they shall not be ashamed who wait for Me."

24 Shall the prey be taken from the mighty,
Or the captives of the righteous[a] be delivered?

25 But thus says the LORD:

"Even the captives of the mighty shall be taken away,
And the prey of the terrible be delivered;
For I will contend with him who contends with you,
And I will save your children.
26 I will feed those who oppress you with their own flesh,
And they shall be drunk with their own blood as with sweet wine.
All flesh shall know
That I, the LORD, am your Savior,
And your Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob."

The Servant, Israel's Hope

50 Thus says the LORD:

"Where is the certificate of your mother's divorce,
Whom I have put away?
Or which of My creditors is it to whom I have sold you?
For your iniquities you have sold yourselves,
And for your transgressions your mother has been put away.
2 Why, when I came, was there no man?
Why, when I called, was there none to answer?
Is My hand shortened at all that it cannot redeem?
Or have I no power to deliver?
Indeed with My rebuke I dry up the sea,
I make the rivers a wilderness;
Their fish stink because there is no water,
And die of thirst.
3 I clothe the heavens with blackness,
And I make sackcloth their covering."

49:24 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Targum; Dead Sea Scrolls, Syriac, and Vulgate read the mighty; Septuagint reads unjustly.

50:1–3 That the Lord's people suffered defeat was not a sign that He had forgotten them. The people had brought calamity upon themselves by their sins. He had not divorced them; He had not sold them into slavery.

4"The Lord GOD has given Me
The tongue of the learned,
That I should know how to speak
A word in season to him who is weary.
He awakens Me morning by morning,
He awakens My ear
To hear as the learned.
5The Lord GOD has opened My ear;
And I was not rebellious,
Nor did I turn away.
6I gave My back to those who struck Me,
And My cheeks to those who plucked out the beard;
I did not hide My face from shame and spitting.

7"For the Lord GOD will help Me;
Therefore I will not be disgraced;
Therefore I have set My face like a flint,
And I know that I will not be ashamed.
8*He is* near who justifies Me;
Who will contend with Me?
Let us stand together.
Who is My adversary?
Let him come near Me.
9Surely the Lord GOD will help Me;
Who is he who will condemn Me?
Indeed they will all grow old like a garment;
The moth will eat them up.

10"Who among you fears the LORD?
Who obeys the voice of His Servant?
Who walks in darkness
And has no light?
Let him trust in the name of the LORD
And rely upon his God.
11Look, all you who kindle a fire,
Who encircle yourselves with sparks:
Walk in the light of your fire and in the sparks you have kindled—
This you shall have from My hand:
You shall lie down in torment.

The LORD Comforts Zion

51 "Listen to Me, you who follow after righteousness,
You who seek the LORD:
Look to the rock from which you were hewn,
And to the hole of the pit from which you were dug.
2Look to Abraham your father,
And to Sarah who bore you;
For I called him alone,
And blessed him and increased him."

3For the LORD will comfort Zion,
He will comfort all her waste places;
He will make her wilderness like Eden,
And her desert like the garden of the LORD;
Joy and gladness will be found in it,
Thanksgiving and the voice of melody.

4"Listen to Me, My people;
And give ear to Me, O My nation:
For law will proceed from Me,
And I will make My justice rest
As a light of the peoples.
5My righteousness is near,
My salvation has gone forth,
And My arms will judge the peoples;
The coastlands will wait upon Me,
And on My arm they will trust.
6Lift up your eyes to the heavens,
And look on the earth beneath.
For the heavens will vanish away like smoke,
The earth will grow old like a garment,
And those who dwell in it will die in like manner;
But My salvation will be forever,
And My righteousness will not be abolished.

7"Listen to Me, you who know righteousness,
You people in whose heart is My law:
Do not fear the reproach of men,
Nor be afraid of their insults.
8For the moth will eat them up like a garment,
And the worm will eat them like wool;
But My righteousness will be forever,
And My salvation from generation to generation."

9Awake, awake, put on strength,
O arm of the LORD!
Awake as in the ancient days,
In the generations of old.
Are You not the arm that cut Rahab apart,
And wounded the serpent?

10*Are* You not the One who dried up the sea,
The waters of the great deep;
That made the depths of the sea a road
For the redeemed to cross over?
11So the ransomed of the LORD shall return,
And come to Zion with singing,
With everlasting joy on their heads.

50:4–9 In the third servant passage, the servant had an encouraging word from the Lord for those around him (v. 4; see Is. 42:1–4; 49:1–6, notes). The servant suffered persecution willingly and without complaint (Is. 50:6). The servant expressed faith that the Lord would help him and vindicate him (vv. 7–9). The servant's fellowship with the Lord brought him confidence in the most difficult situations. Again Jesus in His perfect obedience to the Father fit the description of this servant.

GRIEF SORROW OF SOUL

Sorrow of soul, such as the disciples experienced at the imminent death of Jesus, is a very real thing (Luke 22:45). God expects us to grieve when we are brokenhearted (John 11:19, 31–35).

Unexpressed grief often brings complex emotional and physical illness. Release from grief and inner happiness comes only when you offer your unique circumstances to God so that He can cause them to bear fruit on your behalf (John 7:37, 38). As Jesus used the words of the prophet Isaiah to describe Himself and His messianic role, He included the replacement of the signs of sorrow—ashes, mourning, or the spirit of heaviness—with the marks of victory—beauty, joy, and the garment of praise (Is. 61:1–3; Luke 4:18–21).

Jesus identifies with your broken heart because He is "a Man of sorrows and acquainted with grief" (Is. 53:3). He understands when you hurt (Is. 53:4).

Jesus wept (John 11:35) and taught His children by example at the Cross to express openly feelings of protest, sadness, anxieties, and fears (Matt. 26:39; 27:46).

For women, grief is not confined to the death of a loved one. It also includes sorrow at the tearing apart of anything that they have thought to be secure, such as a marriage, possessions, job, health, relationships, or finances.

Believers must remember that grief is not forever. It is healed through a deliberate, personal, lived-out experience of the unfailing grace of God (2 Cor. 12:9).

See also notes on Brokenheartedness (Ps. 34); Death (1 Cor. 15); Emotions (Ps. 42); Sorrow (Rev. 21); Widowhood (Ps. 68; Jer. 29; 1 Cor. 2); portraits of Rizpah (2 Sam. 3); the Widow of Nain (Luke 7); the Widow of Zarephath (1 Kin. 17)

They shall obtain joy and gladness;
Sorrow and sighing shall flee away.

12 "I, even I, am He who comforts you.
Who are you that you should be afraid
Of a man who will die,
And of the son of a man who will be made like grass?
13 And you forget the LORD your Maker,
Who stretched out the heavens
And laid the foundations of the earth;
You have feared continually every day
Because of the fury of the oppressor,
When he has prepared to destroy.
And where is the fury of the oppressor?
14 The captive exile hastens, that he may be loosed,
That he should not die in the pit,
And that his bread should not fail.
15 But I am the LORD your God,
Who divided the sea whose waves roared—
The LORD of hosts is His name.
16 And I have put My words in your mouth;
I have covered you with the shadow of My hand,
That I may plant the heavens,
Lay the foundations of the earth,
And say to Zion, 'You are My people.' "

God's Fury Removed

17 Awake, awake!
Stand up, O Jerusalem,
You who have drunk at the hand of the LORD
The cup of His fury;
You have drunk the dregs of the cup of trembling,
And drained it out.
18 There is no one to guide her
Among all the sons she has brought forth;
Nor is there any who takes her by the hand
Among all the sons she has brought up.
19 These two things have come to you;
Who will be sorry for you?—
Desolation and destruction, famine and sword—
By whom will I comfort you?
20 Your sons have fainted,
They lie at the head of all the streets,
Like an antelope in a net;
They are full of the fury of the LORD,
The rebuke of your God.

21 Therefore please hear this, you afflicted,
And drunk but not with wine.
22 Thus says your Lord,
The LORD and your God,
Who pleads the cause of His people:
"See, I have taken out of your hand
The cup of trembling,
The dregs of the cup of My fury;
You shall no longer drink it.
23 But I will put it into the hand of those who afflict you,
Who have said to you,[a]

51:23 [a]Literally your soul

'Lie down, that we may walk over you.'
And you have laid your body like the ground,
And as the street, for those who walk over."

God Redeems Jerusalem

52 Awake, awake!
Put on your strength, O Zion;
Put on your beautiful garments,
O Jerusalem, the holy city!
For the uncircumcised and the unclean
Shall no longer come to you.
2 Shake yourself from the dust, arise;
Sit down, O Jerusalem!
Loose yourself from the bonds of your neck,
O captive daughter of Zion!

3 For thus says the LORD:

"You have sold yourselves for nothing,
And you shall be redeemed without money."

4 For thus says the Lord GOD:

"My people went down at first
Into Egypt to dwell there;
Then the Assyrian oppressed them without cause.
5 Now therefore, what have I here," says the LORD,
"That My people are taken away for nothing?
Those who rule over them
Make them wail,"[a] says the LORD,
"And My name is blasphemed continually every day.
6 Therefore My people shall know My name;
Therefore they shall know in that day
That I am He who speaks:
'Behold, it is I.' "

7 How beautiful upon the mountains
Are the feet of him who brings good news,
Who proclaims peace,
Who brings glad tidings of good things,
Who proclaims salvation,
Who says to Zion,
"Your God reigns!"
8 Your watchmen shall lift up their voices,
With their voices they shall sing together;
For they shall see eye to eye
When the LORD brings back Zion.
9 Break forth into joy, sing together,
You waste places of Jerusalem!
For the LORD has comforted His people,
He has redeemed Jerusalem.
10 The LORD has made bare His holy arm
In the eyes of all the nations;
And all the ends of the earth shall see
The salvation of our God.

11 Depart! Depart! Go out from there,
Touch no unclean thing;
Go out from the midst of her,
Be clean,
You who bear the vessels of the LORD.
12 For you shall not go out with haste,
Nor go by flight;
For the LORD will go before you,
And the God of Israel will be your rear guard.

The Sin-Bearing Servant

13 Behold, My Servant shall deal prudently;
He shall be exalted and extolled and be very high.
14 Just as many were astonished at you,
So His visage was marred more than any man,
And His form more than the sons of men;
15 So shall He sprinkle[a] many nations.
Kings shall shut their mouths at Him;
For what had not been told them they shall see,
And what they had not heard they shall consider.

53 Who has believed our report?
And to whom has the arm of the LORD been revealed?

52:5 [a]Dead Sea Scrolls read Mock; Septuagint reads Marvel and wail; Targum reads Boast themselves; Vulgate reads Treat them unjustly.
52:15 [a]Or startle

52:1–12 A recollection of the oppression the Lord's people had experienced in Egypt and at the hands of the Assyrians is presented (v. 4). The northern kingdom fell completely to Assyrian domination in 722 B.C. and ceased to exist as a nation. The Lord would act on behalf of His people out of concern for His name (character or reputation, vv. 5, 6). A watchman's song describes the joy of Jerusalem in the Lord's redemption and deliverance of His people (vv. 7–10). Paul quoted verse 7 in describing those who preach the gospel of Christ (Rom. 10:15). As He led His people out of captivity, the Lord would go before them and also be their rear guard.

52:13—53:12 The final servant song or poem consists of five stanzas (Is. 52:13–15; 53:1–3, 4–6, 7–9, 10–12; see also Is. 42:1–4, note). A vivid picture of the nature and work of the servant is presented. Clearly the picture portrayed reached fulfillment in the life and work of Jesus, the Messiah.

52:13–15 The servant's changed status from humiliation to exaltation is noted in the first stanza (see chart, Jesus' Pilgrimage). The people were astonished at the servant because his suffering had left him disfigured. "Sprinkle" is associated with the priestly function of cleansing from sin. An alternate reading for "sprinkle" is "startle." In this case, the meaning may be that the servant would startle the nations by his sudden rise from humiliation to exaltation.

53:1–3 The servant's humble beginning made His exaltation difficult to believe. He had no outward splendor to attract others to himself.

2For He shall grow up before Him as a tender plant,
And as a root out of dry ground.
He has no form or comeliness;
And when we see Him,
There is no beauty that we should desire Him.
3He is despised and rejected by men,
A Man of sorrows and acquainted with grief.
And we hid, as it were, our faces from Him;
He was despised, and we did not esteem Him.

4Surely He has borne our griefs
And carried our sorrows;
Yet we esteemed Him stricken,
Smitten by God, and afflicted.
5But He was wounded for our transgressions,
He was bruised for our iniquities;
The chastisement for our peace was upon Him,
And by His stripes we are healed.
6All we like sheep have gone astray;
We have turned, every one, to his own way;
And the LORD has laid on Him the iniquity of us all.

7He was oppressed and He was afflicted,
Yet He opened not His mouth;
He was led as a lamb to the slaughter,
And as a sheep before its shearers is silent,
So He opened not His mouth.
8He was taken from prison and from judgment,
And who will declare His generation?
For He was cut off from the land of the living;
For the transgressions of My people He was stricken.
9And they[a] made His grave with the wicked—
But with the rich at His death,
Because He had done no violence,
Nor was any deceit in His mouth.

10Yet it pleased the LORD to bruise Him;
He has put Him to grief.
When You make His soul an offering for sin,
He shall see His seed, He shall prolong His days,
And the pleasure of the LORD shall prosper in His hand.
11He shall see the labor of His soul,[a] and be satisfied.
By His knowledge My righteous Servant shall justify many,
For He shall bear their iniquities.
12Therefore I will divide Him a portion with the great,
And He shall divide the spoil with the strong,
Because He poured out His soul unto death,
And He was numbered with the transgressors,
And He bore the sin of many,
And made intercession for the transgressors.

A Perpetual Covenant of Peace

54 "Sing, O barren,
You who have not borne!
Break forth into singing, and cry aloud,
You who have not labored with child!
For more are the children of the desolate
Than the children of the married woman," says the LORD.
2"Enlarge the place of your tent,
And let them stretch out the curtains of your dwellings;
Do not spare;
Lengthen your cords,
And strengthen your stakes.
3For you shall expand to the right and to the left,
And your descendants will inherit the nations,
And make the desolate cities inhabited.

4"Do not fear, for you will not be ashamed;
Neither be disgraced, for you will not be put to shame;

53:9 [a]Literally he or He 53:11 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Targum, and Vulgate; Dead Sea Scrolls and Septuagint read From the labor of His soul He shall see light.

53:4–6 The servant was described as carrying the griefs and sorrows of those who looked on him as rejected by God in this third stanza of the poem. The Hebrew or Jewish people observed a close, sometimes extreme, relationship between sin and suffering. Any suffering individual was viewed as having committed a specific sin that resulted in his sickness or suffering (see John 9:1–3; Job, Introduction: Purpose). This servant of Isaiah 53 suffered not for any wrong that he had done, but vicariously for the sake of others. "Iniquity" (lit. "twistedness" or "moral crookedness") is a reference to sin as the universal condition of the human race.

53:10–12 The servant's death did not result in defeat, but victory. The one who died would live again. The servant successfully completed His mission (v. 11). He would possess the spoils of victory after the battle had been won (v. 12). Truly none other than Jesus of Nazareth perfectly fulfilled these stanzas of this servant song.

54:1–17 The Lord's redemption of His people was celebrated. Verses 1–3 focus on how the multiplication of the Lord's people had been like a widow without children, but the Lord would again multiply His people as He promised Abraham (vv. 1–3; Gen. 15:5). Redeemed Israel is compared to an unfaithful wife who will be restored to her husband, the Lord. The imagery in this passage is similar to that found in the Book of Hosea. The Lord will show everlasting kindness and mercy on His people (Is. 54:8). "Kindness" refers to covenant love or loyalty (see Ps. 5:7–12, note). "I will have mercy" is related closely to the Hebrew word for "womb" (see chart, Female Metaphors for God). The Lord's mercy is like the tender compassion a mother shows toward the child of her womb. God is making a new beginning with His people so startling that it can only be compared to the new beginning and the new covenant He made with Noah (Is. 54:9, 10).

FULFILLED PROPHECIES FROM ISAIAH

THE PROPHECY	THE FULFILLMENT
The Messiah . . .	Jesus Christ . . .

will heal the brokenhearted (Is. 61:1, 2).	healed the brokenhearted (Luke 4:18, 19).

For you will forget the shame of your youth,
And will not remember the reproach of your widowhood anymore.
5For your Maker is your husband,
The LORD of hosts is His name;
And your Redeemer is the Holy One of Israel;
He is called the God of the whole earth.
6For the LORD has called you
Like a woman forsaken and grieved in spirit,
Like a youthful wife when you were refused,"
Says your God.
7"For a mere moment I have forsaken you,
But with great mercies I will gather you.
8With a little wrath I hid My face from you for a moment;
But with everlasting kindness I will have mercy on you,"
Says the LORD, your Redeemer.

9"For this is like the waters of Noah to Me;
For as I have sworn

That the waters of Noah would no longer cover
the earth,
So have I sworn
That I would not be angry with you, nor rebuke
you.
10For the mountains shall depart
And the hills be removed,
But My kindness shall not depart from you,
Nor shall My covenant of peace be removed,"
Says the LORD, who has mercy on you.

11"O you afflicted one,
Tossed with tempest, and not comforted,
Behold, I will lay your stones with colorful gems,
And lay your foundations with sapphires.
12I will make your pinnacles of rubies,
Your gates of crystal,
And all your walls of precious stones.
13All your children shall be taught by the LORD,
And great shall be the peace of your children.
14In righteousness you shall be established;
You shall be far from oppression, for you shall not fear;
And from terror, for it shall not come near you.
15Indeed they shall surely assemble, but not because of Me.
Whoever assembles against you shall fall for your sake.

16"Behold, I have created the blacksmith
Who blows the coals in the fire,
Who brings forth an instrument for his work;
And I have created the spoiler to destroy.
17No weapon formed against you shall prosper,
And every tongue which rises against you in judgment
You shall condemn.
This is the heritage of the servants of the
LORD,
And their righteousness is from Me,"
Says the LORD.

An Invitation to Abundant Life

55 "Ho! Everyone who thirsts,
Come to the waters;
And you who have no money,
Come, buy and eat.
Yes, come, buy wine and milk
Without money and without price.
2Why do you spend money for what is not bread,
And your wages for what does not satisfy?
Listen carefully to Me, and eat what is good,
And let your soul delight itself in abundance.
3Incline your ear, and come to Me.
Hear, and your soul shall live;
And I will make an everlasting covenant with
you—
The sure mercies of David.
4Indeed I have given him as a witness to the
people,
A leader and commander for the people.
5Surely you shall call a nation you do not know,
And nations who do not know you shall run to
you,
Because of the LORD your God,
And the Holy One of Israel;
For He has glorified you."

6Seek the LORD while He may be found,
Call upon Him while He is near.
7Let the wicked forsake his way,
And the unrighteous man his thoughts;
Let him return to the LORD,
And He will have mercy on him;
And to our God,
For He will abundantly pardon.

8"For My thoughts are not your thoughts,
Nor are your ways My ways," says the LORD.
9"For as the heavens are higher than the earth,
So are My ways higher than your ways,
And My thoughts than your thoughts.

10"For as the rain comes down, and the snow from heaven,
And do not return there,
But water the earth,
And make it bring forth and bud,
That it may give seed to the sower
And bread to the eater, 11So shall My word be that goes forth from My
mouth;
It shall not return to Me void,
But it shall accomplish what I please,

55:1–5 The invitation in this passage is extended to everyone. "Come," "buy," and "eat" are imperatives which express the specific invitation. The language employed is that of the marketplace or street vendor. Due to the scarcity of water, its vendors were common in the Near East. In these verses, the call is issued by the Lord Himself. Not only does He offer water, the basic necessity of life, but He also offers all that brings overwhelming satisfaction or abundance to life. Best of all, the invitation is extended to those who have no money. The Lord freely offers everything necessary to give His people an abundant life (cf. John 10:10). The vendors required money, but their products did not satisfy. "Listen" carries the idea of obedience. If the people would respond to Him in obedience, they would enjoy the good life.

55:10–13 God's word never fails to accomplish His purpose. The Hebrews viewed the spoken word as having a power of its own once it left the mouth of the speaker. Like the arrow shot from the bow, the spoken word could not be recalled. God remains faithful to His word. His word restores life to His people as surely as the rain coming down from the heavens brings new life to the earth.

And it shall prosper in the thing for which I sent it.

12"For you shall go out with joy,
And be led out with peace;
The mountains and the hills
Shall break forth into singing before you,
And all the trees of the field shall clap their hands.
13Instead of the thorn shall come up the cypress tree,
And instead of the brier shall come up the myrtle tree;
And it shall be to the LORD for a name,
For an everlasting sign that shall not be cut off."

Salvation for the Gentiles

56 Thus says the LORD:
"Keep justice, and do righteousness,
For My salvation is about to come,
And My righteousness to be revealed.
2Blessed is the man who does this,
And the son of man who lays hold on it;
Who keeps from defiling the Sabbath,
And keeps his hand from doing any evil."

3Do not let the son of the foreigner
Who has joined himself to the LORD
Speak, saying,
"The LORD has utterly separated me from His people";
Nor let the eunuch say,
"Here I am, a dry tree."
4For thus says the LORD:
"To the eunuchs who keep My Sabbaths,
And choose what pleases Me,
And hold fast My covenant,
5Even to them I will give in My house
And within My walls a place and a name
Better than that of sons and daughters;
I will give them[a] an everlasting name
That shall not be cut off.

6"Also the sons of the foreigner
Who join themselves to the LORD, to serve Him,
And to love the name of the LORD, to be His servants—
Everyone who keeps from defiling the Sabbath,
And holds fast My covenant—
7Even them I will bring to My holy mountain,
And make them joyful in My house of prayer.
Their burnt offerings and their sacrifices
Will be accepted on My altar;
For My house shall be called a house of prayer for all nations."
8The Lord GOD, who gathers the outcasts of Israel, says,
"Yet I will gather to him Others besides those who are gathered to him."

Israel's Irresponsible Leaders

9All you beasts of the field, come to devour,
All you beasts in the forest.
10His watchmen are blind,
They are all ignorant;
They are all dumb dogs,
They cannot bark;
Sleeping, lying down, loving to slumber.
11Yes, they are greedy dogs
Which never have enough.
And they are shepherds
Who cannot understand;
They all look to their own way,
Every one for his own gain,
From his own territory.
12"Come," one says, "I will bring wine,
And we will fill ourselves with intoxicating drink;
Tomorrow will be as today,
And much more abundant."

Israel's Futile Idolatry

57 The righteous perishes,
And no man takes it to heart;
Merciful men are taken away,
While no one considers
That the righteous is taken away from evil.
2He shall enter into peace;
They shall rest in their beds,
Each one walking in his uprightness.

3"But come here,
You sons of the sorceress,
You offspring of the adulterer and the harlot!
4Whom do you ridicule?
Against whom do you make a wide mouth

56:5 [a]Literally him

56:1–8 The Lord's salvation is available to all, including those with physical disabilities (as a eunuch) and those from various racial or ethnic backgrounds (as the son of the foreigner). The Lord gathers to Himself all who respond to Him in faith and obedience. His people likewise are to demonstrate attitudes of inclusiveness rather than exclusiveness. The Lord's house is to be a house of prayer for all peoples (v. 7). Jesus quoted this verse when He cleansed the temple (see Matt. 21:13; Luke 19:46).

56:9–12 The prophet harshly condemned the leaders of God's people. These irresponsible leaders are portrayed as beasts preying on the people, as blind watchmen, and as lazy, greedy, and drunken. The Lord's people needed protection from their own leaders! Irresponsible leaders are accountable to the Lord for their failure to render service.

And stick out the tongue?
Are you not children of transgression,
Offspring of falsehood,
5Inflaming yourselves with gods under every green tree,
Slaying the children in the valleys,
Under the clefts of the rocks?
6Among the smooth stones of the stream
Is your portion;
They, they, are your lot!
Even to them you have poured a drink offering,
You have offered a grain offering.
Should I receive comfort in these?

7"On a lofty and high mountain
You have set your bed;
Even there you went up
To offer sacrifice.
8Also behind the doors and their posts
You have set up your remembrance;
For you have uncovered yourself to those other than Me,
And have gone up to them;
You have enlarged your bed
And made a covenant with them;
You have loved their bed,
Where you saw their nudity.[a]
9You went to the king with ointment,
And increased your perfumes;
You sent your messengers far off,
And even descended to Sheol.
10You are wearied in the length of your way;
Yet you did not say, 'There is no hope.'
You have found the life of your hand;
Therefore you were not grieved.

11"And of whom have you been afraid, or feared,
That you have lied
And not remembered Me,
Nor taken it to your heart?
Is it not because I have held My peace from of old
That you do not fear Me?
12I will declare your righteousness
And your works,
For they will not profit you.
13When you cry out,
Let your collection of idols deliver you.
But the wind will carry them all away,
A breath will take them.
But he who puts his trust in Me shall possess the land,
And shall inherit My holy mountain."

Healing for the Backslider

14And one shall say,
"Heap it up! Heap it up!
Prepare the way,
Take the stumbling block out of the way of My people."

15For thus says the High and Lofty One Who inhabits eternity, whose name is Holy:
"I dwell in the high and holy place,
With him who has a contrite and humble spirit,
To revive the spirit of the humble,
And to revive the heart of the contrite ones.
16For I will not contend forever,
Nor will I always be angry;
For the spirit would fail before Me,
And the souls which I have made.
17For the iniquity of his covetousness
I was angry and struck him;
I hid and was angry,
And he went on backsliding in the way of his heart.
18I have seen his ways, and will heal him;
I will also lead him,
And restore comforts to him
And to his mourners.

19"I create the fruit of the lips:
Peace, peace to him who is far off and to him who is near,"
Says the LORD,
"And I will heal him."
20But the wicked are like the troubled sea,

57:8 [a]Literally hand, a euphemism

57:14–21 The Lord tempered His judgment with mercy. Those who respond to the Lord with a contrite heart and humble spirit would experience the blessing of His presence (v. 15; see Matt. 5:3–5). Paul quoted Isaiah 57:19 in his reference to the work of Christ (Eph. 2:17). The repetition of the word "peace," the Lord's gift to those who respond to Him in faith, indicated complete peace or perfect peace (Is. 57:19). The wicked, in contrast, cannot experience peace (vv. 20, 21).

58:1–12 Fasting in biblical times was a spontaneous expression of grief at the time of death or great trouble (see Matt. 6:16–18, note). Evidence indicates that fasting also accompanied repentance (see Jon. 3:6–9). In the time of the NT, the Pharisees observed fasting as a ritual. The Lord told the prophet to declare to His people their transgressions or rebellion against the Lord (Is. 58:1). The people practiced religious observances faithfully (v. 2). They had fasted, but the Lord did not seem to notice. The prophet announced several reasons why the Lord had not responded to their fasting:

1) They sought their own pleasure in fasting (v. 3).
2) They oppressed their slaves in fasting (v. 3).
3) They quarreled and fought in their fasting (v. 4).

Their fasting did not draw them closer to the Lord. The Lord wanted the kind of fast that seeks to do good to others (vv. 6, 7). He wanted His people to relieve the oppressed, to share their food with the hungry, and to provide housing for the poor and clothing for the naked. Genuine faith is focused outward in ministry and service.

When it cannot rest,
Whose waters cast up mire and dirt.

21"There is no peace,"
Says my God, "for the wicked."

Fasting that Pleases God

58 "Cry aloud, spare not;
Lift up your voice like a trumpet;
Tell My people their transgression,
And the house of Jacob their sins.
2Yet they seek Me daily,
And delight to know My ways,
As a nation that did righteousness,
And did not forsake the ordinance of their God.
They ask of Me the ordinances of justice;
They take delight in approaching God.
3'Why have we fasted,' they say, 'and You have not seen?
Why have we afflicted our souls, and You take no notice?'

"In fact, in the day of your fast you find pleasure,
And exploit all your laborers.
4Indeed you fast for strife and debate,
And to strike with the fist of wickedness.
You will not fast as you do this day,
To make your voice heard on high.
5Is it a fast that I have chosen,
A day for a man to afflict his soul?
Is it to bow down his head like a bulrush,
And to spread out sackcloth and ashes?
Would you call this a fast,
And an acceptable day to the LORD?

6"Is this not the fast that I have chosen:
To loose the bonds of wickedness,
To undo the heavy burdens,
To let the oppressed go free,
And that you break every yoke?
7*Is it* not to share your bread with the hungry,
And that you bring to your house the poor who are cast out;
When you see the naked, that you cover him,
And not hide yourself from your own flesh?
8Then your light shall break forth like the morning,
Your healing shall spring forth speedily,
And your righteousness shall go before you;
The glory of the LORD shall be your rear guard.
9Then you shall call, and the LORD will answer;
You shall cry, and He will say, 'Here I am.'

"If you take away the yoke from your midst,
The pointing of the finger, and speaking wickedness,
10*If* you extend your soul to the hungry
And satisfy the afflicted soul,
Then your light shall dawn in the darkness,
And your darkness shall be as the noonday.
11The LORD will guide you continually,
And satisfy your soul in drought,
And strengthen your bones;
You shall be like a watered garden,
And like a spring of water, whose waters do not fail.
12Those from among you
Shall build the old waste places;
You shall raise up the foundations of many generations;
And you shall be called the Repairer of the Breach,
The Restorer of Streets to Dwell In.

13"If you turn away your foot from the Sabbath,
From doing your pleasure on My holy day,
And call the Sabbath a delight,
The holy day of the LORD honorable,
And shall honor Him, not doing your own ways,
Nor finding your own pleasure,
Nor speaking your own words,
14Then you shall delight yourself in the LORD;
And I will cause you to ride on the high hills of the earth,
And feed you with the heritage of Jacob your father.
The mouth of the LORD has spoken."

Separated from God

59 Behold, the LORD'S hand is not shortened,
That it cannot save;
Nor His ear heavy,
That it cannot hear.
2But your iniquities have separated you from your God;
And your sins have hidden His face from you,
So that He will not hear.
3For your hands are defiled with blood,
And your fingers with iniquity;
Your lips have spoken lies,
Your tongue has muttered perversity.

58:13, 14 Obedience brought blessing. After the destruction of the temple, Sabbath observance became an identifying mark of the Lord's people (see chart, The Principle of the Sabbath).

59:1–8 God's people were doubting His goodness and power in their experience of distress. The prophet put the situation in its proper perspective. The Lord had not changed. He remained the all-powerful God. Instead the iniquities and sins of the people had separated them from God. "Iniquities" indicated moral crookedness or perversion (v. 2). "Sins" referred to missing the mark (v. 2). The people were walking in crooked ways and were missing the Lord's target or mark for their lives.

4 No one calls for justice,
Nor does any plead for truth.
They trust in empty words and speak lies;
They conceive evil and bring forth iniquity.
5 They hatch vipers' eggs and weave the spider's web;
He who eats of their eggs dies,
And from that which is crushed a viper breaks out.

6 Their webs will not become garments,
Nor will they cover themselves with their works;
Their works are works of iniquity,
And the act of violence is in their hands.
7 Their feet run to evil,
And they make haste to shed innocent blood;
Their thoughts are thoughts of iniquity;
Wasting and destruction are in their paths.
8 The way of peace they have not known,
And there is no justice in their ways;
They have made themselves crooked paths;
Whoever takes that way shall not know peace.

Sin Confessed

9 Therefore justice is far from us,
Nor does righteousness overtake us;
We look for light, but there is darkness!
For brightness, but we walk in blackness!
10 We grope for the wall like the blind,
And we grope as if we had no eyes;
We stumble at noonday as at twilight;
We are as dead men in desolate places.
11 We all growl like bears,
And moan sadly like doves;
We look for justice, but there is none;
For salvation, but it is far from us.
12 For our transgressions are multiplied before You,
And our sins testify against us;
For our transgressions are with us,
And as for our iniquities, we know them:
13 In transgressing and lying against the LORD,
And departing from our God,
Speaking oppression and revolt,
Conceiving and uttering from the heart words of falsehood.
14 Justice is turned back,
And righteousness stands afar off;
For truth is fallen in the street,
And equity cannot enter.
15 So truth fails,
And he who departs from evil makes himself a prey.

The Redeemer of Zion

Then the LORD saw it, and it displeased Him
That there was no justice.
16 He saw that there was no man,
And wondered that there was no intercessor;
Therefore His own arm brought salvation for Him;
And His own righteousness, it sustained Him.
17 For He put on righteousness as a breastplate,
And a helmet of salvation on His head;
He put on the garments of vengeance for clothing,
And was clad with zeal as a cloak.
18 According to their deeds, accordingly He will repay,
Fury to His adversaries,
Recompense to His enemies;
The coastlands He will fully repay.
19 So shall they fear
The name of the LORD from the west,
And His glory from the rising of the sun;
When the enemy comes in like a flood,
The Spirit of the LORD will lift up a standard against him.

20 "The Redeemer will come to Zion,
And to those who turn from transgression in Jacob,"
Says the LORD.

21 "As for Me," says the LORD, "this is My covenant with them: My Spirit who is upon you, and My words which I have put in your mouth, shall not depart from your mouth, nor from the mouth of your descendants, nor from the mouth of your descendants' descendants," says the LORD, "from this time and forevermore."

The Gentiles Bless Zion

60 Arise, shine;
For your light has come!
And the glory of the LORD is risen upon you.
2 For behold, the darkness shall cover the earth,

59:9–15 The people's disobedience brought misery and disillusionment. "Transgressions" indicates rebellion (v. 12). For "sins" and "iniquities," see verses 1–8, note. The threefold reference to sin signifies completeness. Complete confession is essential in order to experience forgiveness.

59:16–21 The Lord responded to the prayer of confession. He forgives sin, bringing His salvation. Human failure cannot defeat the purposes of God. God faithfully maintained His covenant with His people (v. 21).

60:1–22 The Lord's people are commanded to reflect the light that the Lord has shone upon them. They are to be His witnesses to all nations. The initial command is not to go, but rather first to reflect clearly the light of God's glory. The Lord is the everlasting light of His people (v. 19). Compare this chapter with Revelation 21. For "the Holy One of Israel," see Isaiah 1:4–9, note.

61:1–3 Some have identified these verses as a fifth servant song or poem (see Is. 42:1–4, note). Jesus read part of this

And deep darkness the people;
But the LORD will arise over you,
And His glory will be seen upon you.
3The Gentiles shall come to your light,
And kings to the brightness of your rising.

4"Lift up your eyes all around, and see:
They all gather together, they come to you;
Your sons shall come from afar,
And your daughters shall be nursed at your side.
5Then you shall see and become radiant,
And your heart shall swell with joy;
Because the abundance of the sea shall be turned to you,
The wealth of the Gentiles shall come to you.
6The multitude of camels shall cover your land,
The dromedaries of Midian and Ephah;
All those from Sheba shall come;
They shall bring gold and incense,
And they shall proclaim the praises of the LORD.
7All the flocks of Kedar shall be gathered together to you,
The rams of Nebaioth shall minister to you;
They shall ascend with acceptance on My altar,
And I will glorify the house of My glory.

8"Who are these who fly like a cloud,
And like doves to their roosts?
9Surely the coastlands shall wait for Me;
And the ships of Tarshish will come first,
To bring your sons from afar,
Their silver and their gold with them,
To the name of the LORD your God,
And to the Holy One of Israel,
Because He has glorified you.

10"The sons of foreigners shall build up your walls,
And their kings shall minister to you;
For in My wrath I struck you,
But in My favor I have had mercy on you.
11Therefore your gates shall be open continually;
They shall not be shut day or night,
That men may bring to you the wealth of the Gentiles,
And their kings in procession.
12For the nation and kingdom which will not serve you shall perish,
And those nations shall be utterly ruined.

13"The glory of Lebanon shall come to you,
The cypress, the pine, and the box tree together,
To beautify the place of My sanctuary;
And I will make the place of My feet glorious.
14Also the sons of those who afflicted you
Shall come bowing to you,
And all those who despised you shall fall prostrate at the soles of your feet;
And they shall call you The City of the LORD,
Zion of the Holy One of Israel.

15"Whereas you have been forsaken and hated,
So that no one went through you,
I will make you an eternal excellence,
A joy of many generations.
16You shall drink the milk of the Gentiles,
And milk the breast of kings;
You shall know that I, the LORD, am your Savior
And your Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob.

17"Instead of bronze I will bring gold,
Instead of iron I will bring silver,
Instead of wood, bronze,
And instead of stones, iron.
I will also make your officers peace,
And your magistrates righteousness.
18Violence shall no longer be heard in your land,
Neither wasting nor destruction within your borders;
But you shall call your walls Salvation,
And your gates Praise.

God the Glory of His People

19"The sun shall no longer be your light by day,
Nor for brightness shall the moon give light to you;
But the LORD will be to you an everlasting light,
And your God your glory.
20Your sun shall no longer go down,
Nor shall your moon withdraw itself;
For the LORD will be your everlasting light,
And the days of your mourning shall be ended.
21Also your people shall all be righteous;
They shall inherit the land forever,
The branch of My planting,
The work of My hands,
That I may be glorified.
22A little one shall become a thousand,
And a small one a strong nation.
I, the LORD, will hasten it in its time."

The Good News of Salvation

61 "The Spirit of the Lord GOD is upon Me,
Because the LORD has anointed Me
To preach good tidings to the poor;

passage in the synagogue at Nazareth and interpreted it as a reference to Himself (Luke 4:16–21). The Lord's salvation will bring a reversal in the fortunes of His people. Joy will replace mourning. Liberty will take the place of bondage. This passage also reveals the positive nature of the ministry the Lord wants His people to perform.

61:4–11 The ruined cities will be rebuilt in the time of salvation (v. 4). The Lord's people will serve as priests to all nations

PRISONERS REACHING BEYOND BARS

Prisoners are those accused and convicted, whether justly or unjustly, of criminal activity. Joseph was imprisoned in Egypt (Gen. 39:20). The prophet Jeremiah had perhaps the worst experience as he was confined to a muddy cistern or underground dungeon (Jer. 37:16). John the Baptist was murdered while in prison (Matt. 14:3–12).

Paul, who was thrown in jail for his faith, often called himself a prisoner of Jesus Christ (Acts 16:23, 24). The apostle was delivered from spiritual imprisonment on accepting Christ as his Savior; he then submitted himself to physical imprisonment that the Word of God might move forward.

Causes for imprisonment ranged from offending the king (Gen. 40:1–3) or differing with his policies (2 Chr. 16:10) to an accusation of treason (Jer. 37:11–15). Treatment of prisoners was harsh (Judg. 16:21; Jer. 29:26).

Prison is Satan's domain over which he has ruled through the ages. Yet the Light dispels darkness. Those who suffer for the gospel's sake will be delivered (Ps. 146:7). Believers are reminded to give love and support to those under persecution because of their work for Christ and to share the gospel with all prisoners (Acts 16:25).

Individuals who reach out to prisoners in loving compassion demonstrate the spirit of Christ, for His own description of His messianic task taken from the prophet Isaiah (61:1–3) included "the opening of the prison" (Matt. 25:34–44; Luke 4:18–21). Salvation opened the spiritual prison, but our Lord also showed His compassion for those languishing in an earthly prison. They, too, need the gospel and loving concern.

See also Rom. 3:23, note; Eph. 3:1; 2 Tim 1:8; Phil 1:1; notes on Evangelism (John 6; Col. 4; 1 Pet. 3); Prejudice (Acts 15)

He has sent Me to heal the brokenhearted,
To proclaim liberty to the captives,
And the opening of the prison to those who are bound;
2 To proclaim the acceptable year of the LORD,
And the day of vengeance of our God;
To comfort all who mourn,
3 To console those who mourn in Zion,
To give them beauty for ashes,
The oil of joy for mourning,
The garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness;
That they may be called trees of righteousness,
The planting of the LORD, that He may be glorified."

4 And they shall rebuild the old ruins,
They shall raise up the former desolations,
And they shall repair the ruined cities,
The desolations of many generations.
5 Strangers shall stand and feed your flocks,
And the sons of the foreigner
Shall be your plowmen and your vinedressers.
6 But you shall be named the priests of the LORD,
They shall call you the servants of our God.
You shall eat the riches of the Gentiles,
And in their glory you shall boast.
7 Instead of your shame you shall have double honor,
And instead of confusion they shall rejoice in their portion.
Therefore in their land they shall possess double;
Everlasting joy shall be theirs.

8 "For I, the LORD, love justice;
I hate robbery for burnt offering;
I will direct their work in truth,
And will make with them an everlasting covenant.
9 Their descendants shall be known among the Gentiles,
And their offspring among the people.
All who see them shall acknowledge them,
That they are the posterity whom the LORD has blessed."

10 I will greatly rejoice in the LORD,
My soul shall be joyful in my God;
For He has clothed me with the garments of salvation,
He has covered me with the robe of righteousness,
As a bridegroom decks himself with ornaments,
And as a bride adorns herself with her jewels.
11 For as the earth brings forth its bud,
As the garden causes the things that are sown in it to spring forth,

(v. 6). The reference to a double portion in verse 7 is reminiscent of Isaiah 40:2 where comfort is announced to the Lord's people because they have received double for all their sins. The concept of the double portion also suggests Israel's role as the firstborn among the nations. The firstborn son received a double portion of the inheritance (see Deut. 21:17). The Lord will make an everlasting covenant with His people. Their descendants will be recognized among the nations as the people whom the Lord has blessed. A hymn of rejoicing describes their joy as being like the joy at a wedding feast (Is. 61:10, 11).

So the Lord God will cause righteousness and praise to spring forth before all the nations.

Assurance of Zion's Salvation

62 For Zion's sake I will not hold My peace,
And for Jerusalem's sake I will not rest, Until her righteousness goes forth as brightness,
And her salvation as a lamp that burns.
2 The Gentiles shall see your righteousness,
And all kings your glory.
You shall be called by a new name,
Which the mouth of the Lord will name.
3 You shall also be a crown of glory
In the hand of the Lord,
And a royal diadem
In the hand of your God.
4 You shall no longer be termed Forsaken,
Nor shall your land any more be termed Desolate;
But you shall be called Hephzibah,[a] and your land Beulah;[b]
For the Lord delights in you,
And your land shall be married.
5 For as a young man marries a virgin,
So shall your sons marry you;
And as the bridegroom rejoices over the bride,
So shall your God rejoice over you.

6 I have set watchmen on your walls,
O Jerusalem;
They shall never hold their peace day or night.
You who make mention of the Lord, do not keep silent,
7 And give Him no rest till He establishes And till He makes Jerusalem a praise in the earth.

8 The Lord has sworn by His right hand
And by the arm of His strength:
"Surely I will no longer give your grain
As food for your enemies;
And the sons of the foreigner shall not drink
your new wine,
For which you have labored.
9 But those who have gathered it shall eat it,
And praise the Lord;
Those who have brought it together shall drink it in My holy courts."

10 Go through,
Go through the gates!
Prepare the way for the people;
Build up,
Build up the highway!
Take out the stones,
Lift up a banner for the peoples!

11 Indeed the Lord has proclaimed
To the end of the world:
"Say to the daughter of Zion,
'Surely your salvation is coming;
Behold, His reward is with Him,
And His work before Him.' "
12 And they shall call them The Holy People,
The Redeemed of the Lord;
And you shall be called Sought Out,
A City Not Forsaken.

The Lord in Judgment and Salvation

63 Who is this who comes from Edom,
With dyed garments from Bozrah,
This One who is glorious in His apparel,
Traveling in the greatness of His strength?—

"I who speak in righteousness, mighty to save."

2 Why is Your apparel red,
And Your garments like one who treads in the winepress?

62:4 [a]Literally My Delight Is in Her [b]Literally Married

62:1–12 The Lord would rejoice over His people as a bridegroom rejoices over his bride. The Lord would change their name, signifying that His people belong to Him. A play on words in the Hebrew illustrates a change of character through the change of a name (v. 4). They would no longer be called "Forsaken" (Heb., Azubah, the name of Jehoshaphat's mother, 1 Kin. 22:42) or their land "Desolate" (Heb. shemamah), but they would be called Heph-zibah (Heb., lit. "My Delight Is in Her," the name of Manasseh's mother, 2 Kin. 21:1) and their land Beulah (Heb., lit. "Married"). The negative is rejected for the positive. Though it is not possible to be married to a land, marriage is a strong figure to portray loyalty between the people and land. Imagery of the husband-wife relationship between the Lord and His people also appears in the Book of Hosea (Hos. 1:2; 2:2). See also Revelation 21:2, 9 where the Lord's people are pictured as His bride. The Lord had established watchmen to protect His people (Is. 62:6, 7). Foreigners would no longer confiscate His people's harvest (vv. 8, 9). The people were encouraged to prepare a highway for the Lord who would bring salvation to His people (vv. 10–12; see Is. 40:3).

62:5 The analogy of love between a young man and a virgin illustrates the relationship between the Lord and Israel. Ba'al (Heb.) can be translated "marry" or "take possession of." Sons do not marry mothers. However, the secondary meaning "possess" does fit the context with the understanding that the young man would marry in the sense of possessing the virgin. Israel would then no longer be desolate or abandoned but possessed and filled by her spiritual sons. The Lord would rejoice in Zion just as a bridegroom would rejoice in his bride.

63:1–6 The prophet observed a lone figure with red-stained garments coming from Edom, which represented the enemies of God's people. That figure was the Lord, who alone and in His own strength defeated the enemy of His people. He is able to fulfill all His promises.

3"I have trodden the winepress alone,
And from the peoples no one was with Me.
For I have trodden them in My anger,
And trampled them in My fury;
Their blood is sprinkled upon My garments,
And I have stained all My robes.
4For the day of vengeance is in My heart,
And the year of My redeemed has come.
5I looked, but there was no one to help,
And I wondered
That there was no one to uphold;
Therefore My own arm brought salvation for Me;
And My own fury, it sustained Me.
6I have trodden down the peoples in My anger,
Made them drunk in My fury,
And brought down their strength to the earth."

God's Mercy Remembered

7I will mention the lovingkindnesses of the LORD
And the praises of the LORD,
According to all that the LORD has bestowed on us,
And the great goodness toward the house of Israel,
Which He has bestowed on them according to His mercies,
According to the multitude of His lovingkindnesses.
8For He said, "Surely they are My people,
Children who will not lie."
So He became their Savior.
9In all their affliction He was afflicted,
And the Angel of His Presence saved them;
In His love and in His pity He redeemed them;
And He bore them and carried them
All the days of old.
10But they rebelled and grieved His Holy Spirit;
So He turned Himself against them as an enemy,
And He fought against them.

11Then he remembered the days of old,
Moses and his people, saying:
"Where is He who brought them up out of the sea
With the shepherd of His flock?
Where is He who put His Holy Spirit within them, 12Who led them by the right hand of Moses,
With His glorious arm,
Dividing the water before them
To make for Himself an everlasting name,
13Who led them through the deep,
As a horse in the wilderness,
That they might not stumble?"

14As a beast goes down into the valley,
And the Spirit of the LORD causes him to rest,
So You lead Your people,
To make Yourself a glorious name.

A Prayer of Penitence

15Look down from heaven,
And see from Your habitation, holy and glorious.
Where are Your zeal and Your strength,
The yearning of Your heart and Your mercies toward me?
Are they restrained?
16Doubtless You are our Father,
Though Abraham was ignorant of us,
And Israel does not acknowledge us.
You, O LORD, are our Father;
Our Redeemer from Everlasting is Your name.
17O LORD, why have You made us stray from Your ways,
And hardened our heart from Your fear?
Return for Your servants' sake,
The tribes of Your inheritance.
18Your holy people have possessed it but a little while;
Our adversaries have trodden down Your sanctuary.
19We have become like those of old, over whom You never ruled,
Those who were never called by Your name.

63:7–14 This prayer reviewed the Lord's goodness to His people in history, although they rebelled against Him, and provided the basis for the prophet's intercession for the people. The prophet focused upon the great goodness, mercies, and loving-kindnesses of the Lord (v. 7). The term "lovingkindnesses" (Heb. chesed) refers to the Lord's covenant loyalty or steadfast love to His people. "Mercies" comes from the same Hebrew root as the word "womb" (v. 7; see chart, Female Metaphors of God). Thus "mercies" may indicate the compassion a mother shows to the child of her womb or the brotherly feeling of those born from the same womb. The plural form may add emphasis to the fullness of God's mercy. The Lord shared the suffering of His people in Egypt and sent His angel to rescue them (vv. 8, 9; see Ex. 3:7–10; 14:19). Like a parent the Lord cared for His people and carried them in their helplessness. Yet His people responded in rebellion, and the Lord became His people's enemy (Is. 63:10).

63:15—64:12 The people cried out to Him for help. They longed for Him to reveal Himself to them. They acknowledged Him as their compassionate Father and their everlasting Redeemer. According to the Hebrew concept of the Lord's sovereignty, no secondary causes existed, and thus everything that happened was due to God's will. The Lord had let His people suffer the consequences of their sin, which had separated them from the presence of the Lord (Is. 64:7). The Lord is identified as both Father and potter, indicating His role as both Father and Creator (Is. 63:8; see Jer. 18:6).

64 Oh, that You would rend the heavens!
That You would come down!
That the mountains might shake at Your presence—
2 As fire burns brushwood,
As fire causes water to boil—
To make Your name known to Your adversaries,
That the nations may tremble at Your presence!
3 When You did awesome things for which we did not look,
You came down,
The mountains shook at Your presence.
4 For since the beginning of the world
Men have not heard nor perceived by the ear,
Nor has the eye seen any God besides You,
Who acts for the one who waits for Him.
5 You meet him who rejoices and does righteousness,
Who remembers You in Your ways.
You are indeed angry, for we have sinned—
In these ways we continue;
And we need to be saved.

6 But we are all like an unclean thing,
And all our righteousnesses are like filthy rags;
We all fade as a leaf,
And our iniquities, like the wind,
Have taken us away.
7 And there is no one who calls on Your name,
Who stirs himself up to take hold of You;
For You have hidden Your face from us,
And have consumed us because of our iniquities.

8 But now, O LORD,
You are our Father;
We are the clay, and You our potter;
And all we are the work of Your hand.
9 Do not be furious, O LORD,
Nor remember iniquity forever;
Indeed, please look— we all are Your people!
10 Your holy cities are a wilderness,
Zion is a wilderness,
Jerusalem a desolation.
11 Our holy and beautiful temple,
Where our fathers praised You,
Is burned up with fire;
And all our pleasant things are laid waste.
12 Will You restrain Yourself because of these things, O LORD?
Will You hold Your peace, and afflict us very severely?

The Righteousness of God's Judgment

65 "I was sought by those who did not ask for Me;
I was found by those who did not seek Me.
I said, 'Here I am, here I am,'
To a nation that was not called by My name.
2 I have stretched out My hands all day long to a rebellious people,
Who walk in a way that is not good,
According to their own thoughts;
3 A people who provoke Me to anger continually to My face;
Who sacrifice in gardens,
And burn incense on altars of brick;
4 Who sit among the graves,
And spend the night in the tombs;
Who eat swine's flesh,
And the broth of abominable things is in their vessels;
5 Who say, 'Keep to yourself,
Do not come near me,
For I am holier than you!'
These are smoke in My nostrils,
A fire that burns all the day.

6 "Behold, it is written before Me:
I will not keep silence, but will repay—
Even repay into their bosom—
7 Your iniquities and the iniquities of your fathers together,"
Says the LORD,
"Who have burned incense on the mountains
And blasphemed Me on the hills;
Therefore I will measure their former work into their bosom."

8 Thus says the LORD:

"As the new wine is found in the cluster,
And one says, 'Do not destroy it,
For a blessing is in it,'
So will I do for My servants' sake,
That I may not destroy them all.
9 I will bring forth descendants from Jacob,
And from Judah an heir of My mountains;
My elect shall inherit it,
And My servants shall dwell there.
10 Sharon shall be a fold of flocks,
And the Valley of Achor a place for herds to lie down,
For My people who have sought Me.

11 "But you are those who forsake the LORD,
Who forget My holy mountain,

65:1–16 The Lord is the righteous Judge. He responded to the prayer of His people. He would not destroy all His people (vv. 8–16). The faithful servants would receive the Lord's blessing, while the unfaithful would experience His judgment. The blessings on the righteous are contrasted with the curses on the wicked (vv. 13–15; see Luke 6:20–26). The promises the Lord made to the patriarch Abraham would be fulfilled in the lives of the faithful remnant (Is. 65:16; see Gen. 12:1–3).

MOTHERHOOD A NOBLE MINISTRY

A mother is one who bears and/or rears children. References to motherhood are found throughout Scripture: conception (Gen. 4:1), pregnancy (Luke 1:24), childbirth (Is. 66:7–9), breastfeeding (1 Sam. 1:23). Mothers were to be respected and obeyed (Ex. 20:12).

More than a job or responsibility, mothering is ministry. Most assuredly it takes work! It means sacrifice. Children do not come off an assembly line, nor are they the by-product of an impersonal biological process; they are to be lovingly nurtured by their mothers (2 Tim. 1:3–5). Mothers divide time among their children but multiply their love for all their children. To this they add the care of the home, often subtracting many extras in order to do so.

When Isaiah the prophet searched for an illustration of God's constant love for His people, the best example he could find was a new baby's mother (Is. 49:15). Mothers have enduring love that even the most trying circumstances or rebellious child cannot dim. As a mother lets go of her own life for the sake of her child, she is reminded of the depth and height and breadth of God's love for her, and in a unique way she experiences the true joy of motherhood. This is a truth that will transform any suffering or sacrifice into reward and joy (1 John 3:16).

There are caring mothers in the Bible: Hagar, wandering in the wilderness, wept for her child, and God responded to the cry of her heart by revealing a well of water nearby to quench the thirst of her and her child (Gen. 21:16, 19). Jochebed defied Pharaoh in order to save the life of her son (Ex. 2:1–8). The mother who appealed to Solomon was willing to let another woman enjoy her child rather than see the child murdered (1 Kin. 3:26). The mother from Shunem loved her child so devotedly that she made the difficult journey to find the prophet and inspired him to come and seek life for her child (2 Kin. 4:22–35). Hannah was devoted to her son, yet willingly offered him to the Lord (1 Sam. 1:27, 28). On the other hand, there are wicked mothers such as Athaliah, the idolatrous mother of King Ahaziah, who guided her son into devotion to evil (2 Kin. 8:26, 27).

God has a plan for mothers (Ex. 2:1–10). The high calling is an all-consuming task (Deut. 6:6, 7): in the morning, you can read God's Word to your child; at mealtime you are to give attention to meeting physical needs; as you are outside, you can teach your child about the beauty of creation; at bedtime you can pray for your child and give assurance. The reward is worth the effort (Prov. 31:28).

Godly mothers are the nation's greatest treasure, the Lord's best helpers, and the most blessed among women.

See also Gen. 27:5–46; Ezek. 16:44; Matt. 18:3, note; 2 Cor. 4:7–12; 11:27–30; Gal. 4:19; notes on Childbirth (John 16); Child Care (John 15); Children (2 Sam. 21; Ps. 128; Prov. 22; Luke 15); Family (Gen. 32; 1 Sam. 3; Ps. 78; 127); Fatherhood (Eph. 5); Motherhood (1 Sam. 1; Ezek. 16); portraits of Athaliah (2 Kin. 11); Hannah (1 Sam. 1); Herodias and Salome (Matt. 14); Jochebed (Ex. 6); Samson's Confident Mother (Judg. 13); the Shunammite Woman (2 Kin. 4)

Who prepare a table for Gad,[a]
And who furnish a drink offering for Meni.[b]
12 Therefore I will number you for the sword,
And you shall all bow down to the slaughter;
Because, when I called, you did not answer;
When I spoke, you did not hear,
But did evil before My eyes,
And chose that in which I do not delight."

13 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD:

"Behold, My servants shall eat,
But you shall be hungry;
Behold, My servants shall drink,
But you shall be thirsty;
Behold, My servants shall rejoice,
But you shall be ashamed;
14 Behold, My servants shall sing for joy of heart,
But you shall cry for sorrow of heart,
And wail for grief of spirit.
15 You shall leave your name as a curse to My chosen;
For the Lord GOD will slay you,
And call His servants by another name;
16 So that he who blesses himself in the earth
Shall bless himself in the God of truth;
And he who swears in the earth
Shall swear by the God of truth;
Because the former troubles are forgotten,
And because they are hidden from My eyes.

The Glorious New Creation

17 "For behold, I create new heavens and a new earth;

65:11 [a]Literally Troop or Fortune, a pagan deity [b]Literally Number or Destiny, a pagan deity

65:17–25 The faithful remnant will enjoy the Lord's new creation. "Create" (Heb. bara') refers to activity only God can perform. Joy, not sorrow, will characterize the lives of the Lord's people (vv. 18, 19). The righteous will live to a full old

And the former shall not be remembered or come to mind.
18 But be glad and rejoice forever in what I create;
For behold, I create Jerusalem as a rejoicing,
And her people a joy.
19 I will rejoice in Jerusalem,
And joy in My people;
The voice of weeping shall no longer be heard in her,
Nor the voice of crying.

20 "No more shall an infant from there live but a few days,
Nor an old man who has not fulfilled his days;
For the child shall die one hundred years old,
But the sinner being one hundred years old shall be accursed.
21 They shall build houses and inhabit them;
They shall plant vineyards and eat their fruit.
22 They shall not build and another inhabit;
They shall not plant and another eat;
For as the days of a tree, so shall be the days of My people,
And My elect shall long enjoy the work of their hands.
23 They shall not labor in vain,
Nor bring forth children for trouble;
For they shall be the descendants of the blessed of the LORD,
And their offspring with them.

24 "It shall come to pass
That before they call, I will answer;
And while they are still speaking, I will hear.
25 The wolf and the lamb shall feed together,
The lion shall eat straw like the ox,
And dust shall be the serpent's food.
They shall not hurt nor destroy in all My holy mountain,"
Says the LORD.

True Worship and False

66 Thus says the LORD:
"Heaven is My throne,
And earth is My footstool.
Where is the house that you will build Me?
And where is the place of My rest?
2 For all those things My hand has made,
And all those things exist,"
Says the LORD.
"But on this one will I look:
On him who is poor and of a contrite spirit,
And who trembles at My word.

3 "He who kills a bull is as if he slays a man;
He who sacrifices a lamb, as if he breaks a dog's neck;
He who offers a grain offering, as if he offers
swine's blood;
He who burns incense, as if he blesses an idol.
Just as they have chosen their own ways,
And their soul delights in their abominations,
4 So will I choose their delusions,
And bring their fears on them;
Because, when I called, no one answered,
When I spoke they did not hear;
But they did evil before My eyes,
And chose that in which I do not delight."

The LORD Vindicates Zion

5 Hear the word of the LORD,
You who tremble at His word:
"Your brethren who hated you,
Who cast you out for My name's sake, said,
'Let the LORD be glorified,
That we may see your joy.'
But they shall be ashamed."

6 The sound of noise from the city!
A voice from the temple!
The voice of the LORD,
Who fully repays His enemies!

7 "Before she was in labor, she gave birth;
Before her pain came,
She delivered a male child.
8 Who has heard such a thing?
Who has seen such things?
Shall the earth be made to give birth in one day?
Or shall a nation be born at once?
For as soon as Zion was in labor,
She gave birth to her children.
9 Shall I bring to the time of birth, and not cause delivery?" says the LORD.

age (v. 20). Their work will not be in vain (contrast vv. 21–23 with Zeph. 1:13). The Lord will answer the prayers of His people (Is. 65:24). Finally, peace among enemies in the natural order will occur in the glorious future of the Lord's people (v. 25; see Is. 11:6–9).

66:1–4 The internal dimension of faith is what matters. The Lord hears those who cry to Him with an humble and contrite heart. Without the proper inner attitude, sacrifices and other ritual observances are worthless (see Ps. 51:16, 17). Those whom the Lord blesses are those who respond in obedience to Him. Those who choose against the Lord reap the evil consequences of their choices (Is. 66:3, 4).

66:5, 6 The Lord will bring judgment on His enemies. These verses assume a split among the Lord's people. The faithful believers were being cast out. The terminology "cast out" later came to mean excommunication from the synagogue (see John 9:34, 35). The Lord will judge the unfaithful among His people.

"Shall I who cause delivery shut up the womb?"
says your God.
10"Rejoice with Jerusalem,
And be glad with her, all you who love her;
Rejoice for joy with her, all you who mourn for her;
11That you may feed and be satisfied
With the consolation of her bosom,
That you may drink deeply and be delighted
With the abundance of her glory."

12For thus says the LORD:

"Behold, I will extend peace to her like a river,
And the glory of the Gentiles like a flowing stream.
Then you shall feed;
On her sides shall you be carried,
And be dandled on her knees.
13As one whom his mother comforts,
So I will comfort you;
And you shall be comforted in Jerusalem."

The Reign and Indignation of God

14When you see this, your heart shall rejoice,
And your bones shall flourish like grass;
The hand of the LORD shall be known to His servants,
And His indignation to His enemies.
15For behold, the LORD will come with fire
And with His chariots, like a whirlwind,
To render His anger with fury,
And His rebuke with flames of fire.
16For by fire and by His sword
The LORD will judge all flesh;
And the slain of the LORD shall be many.

17"Those who sanctify themselves and purify themselves,
To go to the gardens
After an idol in the midst,
Eating swine's flesh and the abomination and the mouse,
Shall be consumed together," says the LORD.

18"For I know their works and their thoughts. It shall be that I will gather all nations and tongues; and they shall come and see My glory. 19I will set a sign among them; and those among them who escape I will send to the nations: to Tarshish and Pul[a] and Lud, who draw the bow, and Tubal and Javan, to the coastlands afar off who have not heard My fame nor seen My glory. And they shall declare My glory among the Gentiles. 20Then they shall bring all your brethren for an offering to the LORD out of all nations, on horses and in chariots and in litters, on mules and on camels, to My holy mountain Jerusalem," says the LORD, "as the children of Israel bring an offering in a clean vessel into the house of the LORD. 21And I will also take some of them for priests and Levites," says the LORD.

22"For as the new heavens and the new earth
Which I will make shall remain before Me,"
says the LORD,
"So shall your descendants and your name remain.
23And it shall come to pass
That from one New Moon to another,
And from one Sabbath to another,
All flesh shall come to worship before Me,"
says the LORD.

24"And they shall go forth and look
Upon the corpses of the men
Who have transgressed against Me.
For their worm does not die,
And their fire is not quenched.
They shall be an abhorrence to all flesh."

66:19 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Targum; Septuagint reads Put (compare Jeremiah 46:9).

66:17–24 All nations would see and experience the glory of the Lord. All nations would worship Him. Even foreigners would serve the Lord (v. 21). This passage begins and ends with a pronouncement of judgment (vv. 17, 24). In between these verses lies a glorious picture of salvation. The new creation of God is revealed (vv. 22, 23). These verses challenge the Lord's children in every age to reach out into all the world with the Good News of the gospel (Matt. 28:18–20).

Jeremiah

AUTHOR

The Book of Jeremiah is titled after its author. Its pages record the ministry and personal life of the prophet in greater depth and detail than any other Old Testament prophet except perhaps Moses. Jeremiah devotedly served the God who called him, but he experienced deep emotional conflict as God set before him one difficult task after another. He suffered not only resistance to his ministry and persecution by God's own people, but he also witnessed the downfall of Jerusalem and the temple.

Jeremiah's name may mean "Yahweh exalts" or "Yahweh loosens [the womb]," depending on the Hebrew root with which the name is associated. Jeremiah's hometown was Anathoth. He was born into the priestly family of Hilkiah, although no evidence exists to suggest that he himself was a priest (1 Kin. 2:26, 27). Jeremiah was unique among the writing prophets in that he was commanded not to marry and produce offspring because of the impending judgment on the nation (Jer. 16:1–4). The faithful scribe Baruch recorded the words of the prophet (Jer. 36:4) and accompanied him into Egypt (Jer. 43:6, 7). Baruch may have been responsible for the final compilation of the book and the addendum of the historical material in Jeremiah 52.

Jeremiah provided a portrait of a great man of God. Yet he was not a superman or the stoic ideal who allowed the currents of life to wash around him with no effect. Rather, Jeremiah was a real person with a complex personality, who nonetheless remained true to his calling and to God. He experienced fear and despair, joy and praise. Called the "weeping prophet," Jeremiah agonized over Judah's sin and coming judgment. In a series of prayers labeled "confessions," Jeremiah honestly confronted the meaning of his messages and complained to God in a spirit of humility (Jer. 11:18–23; 12:1–4; 15:10–21; 17:14–18; 18:18–23; 20:7–18). However, God did rebuke Jeremiah for worthless talk (Jer. 15:19). His prayers against his enemies recall the imprecatory psalms (see Jer. 12:1–3; 18:19–23; Ps. 35), so zealous was Jeremiah for the glory and reputation of God. As Jeremiah dealt with his conflicting emotions, he turned to God to receive encouragement. Jeremiah's words reflect a man in rich, honest dialogue with God.

DATE

The approximate dates of Jeremiah's ministry are 626 to 586 B.C. Jeremiah received God's call in the thirteenth year of King Josiah's reign (Jer. 1:2). He was a contemporary of Zephaniah, Ezekiel, Habakkuk, and perhaps Obadiah. It is difficult to determine the amount of interaction that such prophets would have had (compare Obad. 1–4 with Jer. 49:14–16). The northern kingdom of Israel had disappeared into exile approximately one hundred years before Jeremiah's call. After that event, the southern kingdom of Judah sometimes is designated Israel (see chart, Terminology for the Divided Kingdom).

Jeremiah's writing ministry is dated from the fourth year of Jehoiakim in 605 B.C. (Jer. 36:1, 2), though portions of the Book of Jeremiah may have been written earlier. The book was completed sometime after the fall of Jerusalem. The events recorded in the Book of Jeremiah are not in chronological order.

BACKGROUND

SETTING: The dates of Jeremiah's ministry encompass a world experiencing great change. The three great powers of that time were Assyria, Babylon, and Egypt. The strength of Assyria and Egypt was on the wane, and the power of Babylon was rising. Much of what happened to God's people and the surrounding states happened in the context of the struggle among these powers, a struggle in which Babylon and the dynasty of Nabopolassar would dominate (see chart, The Kings of Babylon). Judah, located on a major route used by invading armies, was particularly vulnerable since whoever controlled Syria-Palestine could attack Egypt. At such times, the smaller city states were under great pressure to declare for one power or the other and usually chose either the one represented by the nearest army or the one most likely to win. A wrong choice would have serious consequences. Judah's rebellion against Babylon, despite Jeremiah's counsel to surrender, contributed, in human terms, to the destruction of Jerusalem.

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: The Book of Jeremiah contains lengthy prose sections, both narrative and discourse (Jer. 7; 11; 16; 19; 21; 24—29; 32—45), but much of the work is poetic in form. The poetry of Jeremiah reflects skillful use of the Hebrew language. Jeremiah was particularly adept at using poetic repetition, as well as "living metaphors." These living metaphors were actions taken by the prophet to reflect or embody symbolically his message. Other prophets, especially Jeremiah's contemporary, Ezekiel, used this technique. Examples include the ruined sash (Jer. 13:1–11), God's command not to marry and raise a family (Jer. 16:1–4), the prohibition against participating in a funeral meal or feast (Jer. 16:5–9), the smashed flask (Jer. 19:1–15), the bonds and yokes (Jer. 27:1–22), the purchase of his relative's field in Anathoth (Jer. 32:6–15), and the hidden stones (Jer. 43:8–13). All these directives involved actual objects and actions in Jeremiah's life. God also revealed Himself to Jeremiah in ordinary experiences of life such as a visit to the potter's house (Jer.18:1–11) and two baskets of figs (Jer. 24).

The composition of the book is not chronological, but rather loosely thematic. The Book of Jeremiah should be viewed as a collection of the writings and sermons of the prophet, which, when read together, form a powerful, unitary whole.

THEMES

The skillfully combined writings effectively communicate the controlling theme of Jeremiah, clearly summarized in Jeremiah 1:10. God used Jeremiah to proclaim His word of both judgment and hope to the nations. Verbs of destruction predominate in this verse, indicating that Jeremiah's message would be primarily one of judgment. Constructive verbs, "to build" and "to plant," indicate that Jeremiah's message also contained an element of hope, such as that found in the New Covenant passage (Jer. 31:31–34).

1 The words of Jeremiah the son of Hilkiah, of the priests who were in Anathoth in the land of Benjamin, 2 to whom the word of the LORD came in the days of Josiah the son of Amon, king of Judah, in the thirteenth year of his reign. 3 It came also in the days of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, until the end of the eleventh year of Zedekiah the son of Josiah, king of Judah, until the carrying away of Jerusalem captive in the fifth month.

The Prophet Is Called

4 Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying:

5 "Before I formed you in the womb I knew you;
Before you were born I sanctified you;
I ordained you a prophet to the nations."

6 Then said I:

"Ah, Lord GOD!
Behold, I cannot speak, for I am a youth."

7 But the LORD said to me:

"Do not say, 'I am a youth,'
For you shall go to all to whom I send you,
And whatever I command you, you shall speak.
8 Do not be afraid of their faces,
For I am with you to deliver you," says the LORD.

9 Then the LORD put forth His hand and touched my mouth, and the LORD said to me:

"Behold, I have put My words in your mouth.
10 See, I have this day set you over the nations and over the kingdoms,

1:2 The word of the Lord is a common way of introducing a divine oracle at the beginning of a prophetic book (see Ezek. 1:3; Hos. 1:1; Joel 1:1; Jon. 1:1; Mic. 1:1; Zeph. 1:1; Hag. 1:1; Zech. 1:1). Fulfillment of Jeremiah's prophecy provided evidence of the authenticity of his call. Jeremiah heard the Lord's call in the 13th year of Josiah's reign (640 to 609 B.C.). Thus, Jeremiah's ministry began about 626 B.C. and extended beyond the fall of Jerusalem (586 B.C.).

1:5 God's call of Jeremiah preceded the prophet's birth. "Formed," "knew," "sanctified," and "ordained" are verbs that illustrate the extent to which God was active in Jeremiah's life, preparing him for a ministry that would involve every aspect of his being. "Formed" (Heb. yatsar) revealed that God, the ultimate life-giving source, is involved intimately with the birth process. Even before Jeremiah's formation in the womb, God "knew" (Heb. yada') him, implying an active foreknowledge grounded in God's sovereign purposes (see Ps. 139:13–18, note). "Sanctified" (Heb. qadash) means to set apart for God's special use.

1:6 Jeremiah's reluctance to assume the prophetic ministry stemmed from his perception of his youth and his inability to speak. Moses experienced a similar sense of inadequacy (Ex. 3:11; 4:10–13).

1:9, 10 Jeremiah's ministry would have both a negative (judgment) and positive (grace) aspect, expressed here with verbs drawn from agriculture and construction (v. 10). The predominance of destructive verbs indicated Jeremiah's message would be mainly one of judgment. But an element of hope is present also in the verbs "to build" and "to plant." This verse summarizes the major themes of the book.

ABORTION DEFENDING THE INNOCENT

Although the Bible does not specifically address the subject of abortion, Scripture clearly regards the unborn child as fully human life. This life is to be protected in the same way that God calls us to defend the lives of all innocent human beings.

Jesus affirmed the value of unborn life in the womb through His Incarnation—coming as a baby rather than arriving on earth as an adult (Matt. 1:20, 21, 25). Other passages of Scripture also affirm the extension of the sanctity of life to the unborn. The psalmist speaks of God's care for the baby while still in the womb (Ps. 139:13–16), and the Mosaic Law punished violence done to the unborn the same as violence done to a full-grown adult (Ex. 21:22–25).

The existence of a person is established at conception. God had plans for you before you were born (Jer. 1:4, 5), and He tells you He has been your God since before your birth (Ps. 22:10). John the Baptist "leaped" while in the womb of his mother Elizabeth as she acknowledged the coming of the Messiah (Luke 1:41–45). These verses all speak of the unborn child as an actual human being, not a mere potential that will become a human being at birth.

The unborn child is to be protected because the child is a life (Ex. 21:22–25); God does get angry over the killing of unborn children (Amos 1:13). An unintended pregnancy can be difficult for a woman and her family, but God wants both the woman and her unborn child to be protected and cherished.

However, a woman who has had an abortion, for whatever reason, needs to know that Jesus still loves her and stands ready to forgive her just as He freely forgave women who erred against His law in other ways (John 8:1–11).

To root out and to pull down,
To destroy and to throw down,
To build and to plant."

11 Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying, "Jeremiah, what do you see?"
And I said, "I see a branch of an almond tree."
12 Then the LORD said to me, "You have seen well, for I am ready to perform My word."
13 And the word of the LORD came to me the second time, saying, "What do you see?"
And I said, "I see a boiling pot, and it is facing away from the north."
14 Then the LORD said to me:

"Out of the north calamity shall break forth
On all the inhabitants of the land.
15 For behold, I am calling
All the families of the kingdoms of the north,"
says the LORD;
"They shall come and each one set his throne
At the entrance of the gates of Jerusalem,
Against all its walls all around,
And against all the cities of Judah.
16 I will utter My judgments
Against them concerning all their wickedness,
Because they have forsaken Me,
Burned incense to other gods,
And worshiped the works of their own hands.

17 "Therefore prepare yourself and arise,
And speak to them all that I command you.
Do not be dismayed before their faces,
Lest I dismay you before them.
18 For behold, I have made you this day
A fortified city and an iron pillar,
And bronze walls against the whole land—
Against the kings of Judah,
Against its princes,
Against its priests,
And against the people of the land.
19 They will fight against you,
But they shall not prevail against you.
For I am with you," says the LORD, "to deliver you."

God's Case Against Israel

2 Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2 "Go and cry in the hearing of Jerusalem, saying, 'Thus says the LORD:

1:11, 12 In a Hebraic play on words, "almond" (Heb. shaqed) and "I am ready" (Heb. shoqed, lit., "watching") are remarkably similar. The almond was the first tree to awaken to life in the spring, signifying that God is awake, watching over His word to bring it to pass.

1:13 God spoke to Jeremiah through the ordinary experiences of life. The boiling pot suggests God's judgment waiting to be poured out on Judah. The pot is tilted southward, indicating that an enemy would come on God's people from the north.

1:14–16 God revealed to Jeremiah His intent to use a foreign power to judge the people of Judah for idolatry. Later Jeremiah identified the Babylonians as the enemy from the north.

2:2 The kindness (Heb. chesed) of Israel's youth indicated the

"I remember you,
The kindness of your youth,
The love of your betrothal,
When you went after Me in the wilderness,
In a land not sown.
3 Israel was holiness to the LORD,
The firstfruits of His increase.
All that devour him will offend;
Disaster will come upon them," says the LORD.' "

4 Hear the word of the LORD, O house of Jacob and all the families of the house of Israel. 5 Thus says the LORD:

"What injustice have your fathers found in Me,
That they have gone far from Me,
Have followed idols,
And have become idolaters?
6 Neither did they say, 'Where is the LORD,
Who brought us up out of the land of Egypt,
Who led us through the wilderness,
Through a land of deserts and pits,
Through a land of drought and the shadow of death,
Through a land that no one crossed
And where no one dwelt?'
7 I brought you into a bountiful country,
To eat its fruit and its goodness.
But when you entered, you defiled My land
And made My heritage an abomination.
8 The priests did not say, 'Where is the LORD?'
And those who handle the law did not know Me;
The rulers also transgressed against Me;
The prophets prophesied by Baal,
And walked after things that do not profit.
9 "Therefore I will yet bring charges against you," says the LORD,
"And against your children's children I will bring charges.
10 For pass beyond the coasts of Cyprus[a] and see,
Send to Kedar[b] and consider diligently,
And see if there has been such a thing.
11 Has a nation changed its gods,
Which are not gods?
But My people have changed their Glory
For what does not profit.
12 Be astonished, O heavens, at this,
And be horribly afraid;
Be very desolate," says the LORD.
13 "For My people have committed two evils:
They have forsaken Me, the fountain of living waters,
And hewn themselves cisterns—broken cisterns that can hold no water.

14 "Is Israel a servant?
Is he a homeborn slave?
Why is he plundered?
15 The young lions roared at him, and growled;
They made his land waste;
His cities are burned, without inhabitant.
16 Also the people of Noph[a] and Tahpanhes
Have broken the crown of your head.
17 Have you not brought this on yourself,
In that you have forsaken the LORD your God
When He led you in the way?

2:10 [a]Hebrew Kittim, western lands, especially Cyprus [b]In the northern Arabian desert, representative of the eastern cultures 2:16 [a]That is, Memphis in ancient Egypt intimacy of the covenantal relationship between God and Israel, denoting a high degree of loyalty, love, and unfailing devotion. Israel is pictured as a young bride, accepting the Lord as her husband with full confidence and entering into a new life with Him. Israel's trust in God led her to follow Him into the wilderness. Jeremiah idealized the desert period of Israel's history much the same way as did Hosea (Hos. 2:14, 15; 9:10).

2:3 Israel was God's firstfruits of His harvest of the nations. Thus, anyone who touched God's special possession would suffer the consequences. According to OT law, the first yield of the harvest belonged to God as a way of acknowledging the abundance of God's providence.

2:4–13 Jeremiah unfolded a three-point progression repeated throughout his book: Israel's devotion to God; Israel's apostasy; the results of Israel's apostasy. Israel sometimes is used to refer to the southern kingdom of Judah after the northern kingdom fell in 722 B.C.

2:5 Idols (Heb. hevel) implied a worthless vanity or emptiness. By following idols, the people had pursued emptiness and become empty themselves. Sin results in emptiness. People become like whatever they worship (see also v. 13).

2:9 The Hebrew legal term translated "bring charges" introduced the lawsuit God brought against Israel. God's judgment ultimately came in 586 B.C. when Jerusalem fell completely to Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon (2 Kin. 24—25).

2:10, 11 Jeremiah detailed the enormity of Israel's crime by drawing evidence from surrounding nations. The rhetorical question in verse 11 anticipated a negative answer and emphasized the enormity of Israel's sin. From Cyprus in the west to Kedar in the east, no nation had ever turned against its pagan gods; yet Israel had forsaken the living God.

2:13 The people of Israel had the full resources of God, the living water; yet they turned aside to worthless substitutes and entrusted themselves to powerless deities that could not meet their spiritual needs.

2:15 While lions may be understood literally (2 Kin. 17:25, 26), they are most likely a reference to Assyria. Devastation of land and destruction of cities may refer to the numerous Assyrian campaigns.

2:16 Noph traditionally is identified with Memphis, the ancient capital of lower Egypt. Tahpanhes may refer to the city of Daphne, also located in Egypt. To break (or graze) the crown of the head may be a figurative reference to the disgrace and death of King Josiah of Judah in 609 B.C. (see 2 Kin. 23:29). He was killed by the Egyptian Pharaoh Necho.

18 And now why take the road to Egypt,
To drink the waters of Sihor?
Or why take the road to Assyria,
To drink the waters of the River?[a]
19 Your own wickedness will correct you,
And your backslidings will rebuke you.
Know therefore and see that it is an evil and bitter thing
That you have forsaken the LORD your God,
And the fear of Me is not in you,"
Says the Lord GOD of hosts.

20 "For of old I have broken your yoke and burst your bonds;
And you said, 'I will not transgress,'
When on every high hill and under every green tree
You lay down, playing the harlot.
21 Yet I had planted you a noble vine, a seed of highest quality.
How then have you turned before Me
Into the degenerate plant of an alien vine?
22 For though you wash yourself with lye, and use much soap,
Yet your iniquity is marked before Me," says the Lord GOD.

23 "How can you say, 'I am not polluted,
I have not gone after the Baals'?
See your way in the valley;
Know what you have done:
You are a swift dromedary breaking loose in her ways,
24 A wild donkey used to the wilderness,
That sniffs at the wind in her desire;
In her time of mating, who can turn her away?
All those who seek her will not weary themselves;
In her month they will find her.
25 Withhold your foot from being unshod, and your throat from thirst.
But you said, 'There is no hope.
No! For I have loved aliens, and after them I will go.'

26 "As the thief is ashamed when he is found out,
So is the house of Israel ashamed;
They and their kings and their princes, and their priests and their prophets,
27 Saying to a tree, 'You are my father,'
And to a stone, 'You gave birth to me.'
For they have turned their back to Me, and not their face.
But in the time of their trouble
They will say, 'Arise and save us.'
28 But where are your gods that you have made for yourselves?
Let them arise,
If they can save you in the time of your trouble;
For according to the number of your cities
Are your gods, O Judah.

29 "Why will you plead with Me?
You all have transgressed against Me," says the LORD.
30 "In vain I have chastened your children;
They received no correction.
Your sword has devoured your prophets
Like a destroying lion.

31 "O generation, see the word of the LORD!
Have I been a wilderness to Israel,
Or a land of darkness?
Why do My people say, 'We are lords;
We will come no more to You'?
32 Can a virgin forget her ornaments,
Or a bride her attire?

2:18 [a]That is, the Euphrates

2:18 Sihor (Heb., lit. "black") may refer to the Nile River. In a play on words, Jeremiah could be slighting the Nile River god. Jeremiah rebuked the people who had taken roads to a broken cistern or a black river when they had living water.

2:19 Assyria and Egypt were not responsible for Israel's disaster. The nation's own sin, the repeated breach of the covenant with God, resulted in calamity. Israel had shown more respect to earthly rulers than to God.

2:20–29 Seven illustrations show the collapse of Israel's loyalty:

1) an ox that breaks its yoke (v. 20);
2) an unfaithful wife who has played the harlot (v. 20);
3) God's planting of a noble vine that has become a degenerate plant (v. 21);
4) someone unable to cleanse his iniquity even with lye or soap (v. 22);
5) a wild camel wandering with no direction (v. 23);
6) a female donkey in heat wildly pursuing a mate (v. 24); and
7) a thief caught and ashamed (v. 26).

The phrase "plead with Me" (v. 29) is a legal term used here to show how ironic it was for Israel to bring charges against God.

2:23, 24 Israel is graphically compared to a dromedary and a female donkey in heat. Young female camels are altogether unreliable and easily disturbed. When confused, they dash about in a disorganized fashion. A female donkey in heat is very wild. She tracks the male donkeys, pursuing them relentlessly. This is an extremely vivid picture of Israel recklessly, shamelessly chasing after the Baals, in stark contrast to Deuteronomy 28:14, where God commanded her to turn neither to the right or left but to obey God and follow Him. However, there was no hope Israel would continue after her first love, and she would ultimately be led thirsty and shameless (as pictured here) into Babylonian captivity.

2:32 Jeremiah asked a rhetorical question, while giving an indictment against Israel. That a bride would forget the wedding sash or girdle that signified her status is highly unlikely.

THE TIMELINE FOR JEREMIAH

YEAR	EVENT	REFERENCE
640–609 B.C.	Josiah was king of Judah.	2 Kin. 22:1—23:30
628/627 B.C.	Josiah's reform began with the removal of high places and all vestiges of foreign cults.	2 Chr. 34:1–7

Yet My people have forgotten Me days without number.

33"Why do you beautify your way to seek love?
Therefore you have also taught
The wicked women your ways.
34Also on your skirts is found
The blood of the lives of the poor innocents.
I have not found it by secret search,
But plainly on all these things.
35Yet you say, 'Because I am innocent,
Surely His anger shall turn from me.'
Behold, I will plead My case against you,
Because you say, 'I have not sinned.'
36Why do you gad about so much to change your way?
Also you shall be ashamed of Egypt as you were ashamed of Assyria.
37Indeed you will go forth from him
With your hands on your head;
For the LORD has rejected your trusted allies,
And you will not prosper by them.

Israel Is Shameless

3 "They say, 'If a man divorces his wife,
And she goes from him
And becomes another man's,
May he return to her again?'
Would not that land be greatly polluted?
But you have played the harlot with many lovers;
Yet return to Me," says the LORD.

2"Lift up your eyes to the desolate heights and
see:
Where have you not lain with men?
By the road you have sat for them
Like an Arabian in the wilderness;
And you have polluted the land
With your harlotries and your wickedness.
3Therefore the showers have been withheld,
And there has been no latter rain.
You have had a harlot's forehead;
You refuse to be ashamed.
4Will you not from this time cry to Me,
'My Father, You are the guide of my youth?
5Will He remain angry forever?
Will He keep it to the end?'
Behold, you have spoken and done evil things,
As you were able."

A Call to Repentance

6The LORD said also to me in the days of Josiah the king: "Have you seen what backsliding Israel has done? She has gone up on every high mountain and under every green tree, and there played the harlot. 7And I said, after she had done all these things, 'Return to Me.' But she did not return. And her treacherous sister Judah saw it. 8Then I saw that for all the causes for which backsliding Israel had committed adultery, I had put her away and given her a certificate of divorce; yet her treacherous sister Judah did not fear, but went and played the harlot also. 9So it came to pass, through her casual harlotry, that she defiled the land and committed adultery with stones and trees. 10And yet for all this her treacherous sister Judah has not turned to Me with her whole heart, but in pretense," says the LORD.

11Then the LORD said to me, "Backsliding Israel has shown herself more righteous than treacherous Judah. 12Go and proclaim these words toward the north, and say:

'Return, backsliding Israel,' says the LORD;
'I will not cause My anger to fall on you.
For I am merciful,' says the LORD;
'I will not remain angry forever.

Yet for countless days Israel, God's bride, had forgotten her wedding adornment—God Himself.

2:36, 37 Both Egypt and Assyria were fickle and unreliable. Already Assyria had taken the northern kingdom captive. Judah was under heavy tribute. God had rejected Israel's allies. Prosperity and deliverance would only come from God. The phrase "your hands on your head" probably indicates subjection to a foreign power. Archaeological evidence depicts captives being led into slavery with their hands over their heads.

3:1 After forsaking God and taking many lovers, Israel found reconciliation with God impossible. Yet as in Hosea 2:2—3:5, God pleaded with His people for their true repentance and return. God's grace makes reconciliation possible. Jeremiah applied Deuteronomy 24:1–4 to Israel, God's betrothed wife.

3:2, 3 A close link existed between sin and the Land's productivity in OT thought (Lev. 18:24–28; Deut. 24:4; Hos. 4:2, 3; Amos 4:6–10). Drought was a consequence of Israel's sin. Showers that fell normally in October or November as well as the late rain in March and April were withheld. Yet Judah refused to be ashamed or humiliated because of idolatry. Another reference to droughts during the time of Jeremiah's ministry is found in Jeremiah 14:1–6.

3:6, 7 The northern kingdom of Israel became the paradigm of backsliding or apostasy, as Judah watched (see Ezek. 23). The hilltops and leafy trees were the chosen site for those practicing fertility rites.

3:8 Samaria or Israel fell to Assyria in 722 B.C. (2 Kin. 17:1–18). Judah understood this fall of the northern kingdom as judgment for sin; yet Judah continued to play the harlot.

3:9 A warning is issued against treating sin lightly. Stones and trees were significant instruments in the fertility cult (Jer. 2:27). Judah exchanged the God of living water for the gods of trees and stones.

3:12–14 God's judgment is restrained by His mercy to provide ample time for Israel's repentance and return to Him. Husband-wife imagery is used to describe the Lord's relationship with His people (vv. 14, 20). Israel is portrayed as an unfaithful wife. Similar imagery appears in the Book of Hosea (Hos. 2).

13 Only acknowledge your iniquity,
That you have transgressed against the LORD your God,
And have scattered your charms
To alien deities under every green tree,
And you have not obeyed My voice,' says the LORD.

14 "Return, O backsliding children," says the LORD; "for I am married to you. I will take you, one from a city and two from a family, and I will bring you to Zion. 15 And I will give you shepherds according to My heart, who will feed you with knowledge and understanding.

16 "Then it shall come to pass, when you are multiplied and increased in the land in those days," says the LORD, "that they will say no more, 'The ark of the covenant of the LORD.' It shall not come to mind, nor shall they remember it, nor shall they visit it, nor shall it be made anymore.

17 "At that time Jerusalem shall be called The Throne of the LORD, and all the nations shall be gathered to it, to the name of the LORD, to Jerusalem. No more shall they follow the dictates of their evil hearts.

18 "In those days the house of Judah shall walk with the house of Israel, and they shall come together out of the land of the north to the land that I have given as an inheritance to your fathers.

19 "But I said:

'How can I put you among the children
And give you a pleasant land,
A beautiful heritage of the hosts of nations?'

"And I said:

'You shall call Me, "My Father,"
And not turn away from Me.'
20 Surely, as a wife treacherously departs from her husband,
So have you dealt treacherously with Me,
O house of Israel," says the LORD.

21 A voice was heard on the desolate heights,
Weeping and supplications of the children of Israel.
For they have perverted their way;
They have forgotten the LORD their God.

22 "Return, you backsliding children,
And I will heal your backslidings."

"Indeed we do come to You,
For You are the LORD our God.
23 Truly, in vain is salvation hoped for from the hills,
And from the multitude of mountains;
Truly, in the LORD our God
Is the salvation of Israel.
24 For shame has devoured
The labor of our fathers from our youth—
Their flocks and their herds,
Their sons and their daughters.
25 We lie down in our shame,
And our reproach covers us.
For we have sinned against the LORD our God,
We and our fathers,
From our youth even to this day,
And have not obeyed the voice of the LORD our God."

4 "If you will return, O Israel," says the LORD,
"Return to Me;
And if you will put away your abominations out of My sight,
Then you shall not be moved.
2 And you shall swear, 'The LORD lives,'
In truth, in judgment, and in righteousness;
The nations shall bless themselves in Him,
And in Him they shall glory."

3 For thus says the LORD to the men of Judah and Jerusalem:

"Break up your fallow ground,
And do not sow among thorns.
4 Circumcise yourselves to the LORD,
And take away the foreskins of your hearts,
You men of Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem,
Lest My fury come forth like fire,
And burn so that no one can quench it,
Because of the evil of your doings."

An Imminent Invasion

5 Declare in Judah and proclaim in Jerusalem, and say:

3:16 In those days refers to the messianic age (v. 18; Jer. 31:29). The ark of the covenant, which designated God's royal presence, will be irrelevant when the Messiah is seated upon His throne in Jerusalem (see 1 Sam. 4:3). Since the ark was the center of OT worship, for an OT prophet to suggest its absence would be shocking.

3:21 Baal worship took place on bare hilltops. Josiah's reform destroyed these Baal sanctuaries. Yet the bare hills or high places still attracted God's people to perversion, casting doubt on the sincerity of their repentance.

4:2 Israel's true repentance would have far-reaching consequences for mankind in general (Is. 1:16, 17; 42:6; 49:6). Jeremiah clearly had God's promise to Abraham in mind here (Gen. 12:2, 3).

4:3, 4 The necessity of deep and radical repentance is portrayed in both agricultural and ceremonial imagery. "Fallow ground" refers to unplowed ground. Breaking up hardened or weed-covered earth was no easy task on the rocky slopes of Judah. The radical change necessary in Judah's inhabitants is illustrated further by the call to circumcision of the heart, a radical change in the total inner being.

"Blow the trumpet in the land;
Cry, 'Gather together,'
And say, 'Assemble yourselves,
And let us go into the fortified cities.'
6Set up the standard toward Zion.
Take refuge! Do not delay!
For I will bring disaster from the north,
And great destruction."

7The lion has come up from his thicket,
And the destroyer of nations is on his way.
He has gone forth from his place
To make your land desolate.
Your cities will be laid waste,
Without inhabitant.
8For this, clothe yourself with sackcloth,
Lament and wail.
For the fierce anger of the LORD
Has not turned back from us.

9"And it shall come to pass in that day," says the LORD,
"That the heart of the king shall perish,
And the heart of the princes;
The priests shall be astonished,
And the prophets shall wonder."

10Then I said, "Ah, Lord GOD!
Surely You have greatly deceived this people and Jerusalem,
Saying, 'You shall have peace,'
Whereas the sword reaches to the heart."

11At that time it will be said
To this people and to Jerusalem,
"A dry wind of the desolate heights blows in the wilderness
Toward the daughter of My people—
Not to fan or to cleanse—
12A wind too strong for these will come for Me;
Now I will also speak judgment against them."

13"Behold, he shall come up like clouds,
And his chariots like a whirlwind.
His horses are swifter than eagles.
Woe to us, for we are plundered!"

14O Jerusalem, wash your heart from wickedness,
That you may be saved.
How long shall your evil thoughts lodge within you?
15For a voice declares from Dan
And proclaims affliction from Mount Ephraim:
16"Make mention to the nations,
Yes, proclaim against Jerusalem,
That watchers come from a far country
And raise their voice against the cities of Judah.
17Like keepers of a field they are against her all around,
Because she has been rebellious against Me,"
says the LORD.
18"Your ways and your doings
Have procured these things for you.
This is your wickedness,
Because it is bitter,
Because it reaches to your heart."

Sorrow for the Doomed Nation

19O my soul, my soul!
I am pained in my very heart!
My heart makes a noise in me;
I cannot hold my peace,
Because you have heard, O my soul,
The sound of the trumpet,
The alarm of war.
20Destruction upon destruction is cried,
For the whole land is plundered.
Suddenly my tents are plundered,
And my curtains in a moment.
21How long will I see the standard,
And hear the sound of the trumpet?

22"For My people are foolish,
They have not known Me.
They are silly children,
And they have no understanding.
They are wise to do evil,
But to do good they have no knowledge."

23I beheld the earth, and indeed it was without form, and void;
And the heavens, they had no light.
24I beheld the mountains, and indeed they trembled,
And all the hills moved back and forth.
25I beheld, and indeed there was no man,
And all the birds of the heavens had fled.

4:7 The invading lion is not named but has been identified variously as the Scythian, Assyrian, or Babylonian armies. The enemy is described as the "destroyer." Jeremiah painted a vivid picture of the utter devastation the invasion would bring. Observe that the Lord is behind this judgment on His people (v. 6).

4:10 You have greatly deceived is a reference to the sovereignty of God that permitted the people to be deceived. The phrase "you shall have peace" was quoted often by false prophets who propagated the view that all was well in Judah (Jer. 6:14; 14:13; 23:16, 17).

4:23–26 The repetition of "I beheld" at the beginning of each of these verses gives them a unity which emphasizes the visionary nature of the poetry. As Jeremiah viewed the utter destruction of his nation, he used the imagery of creation in reverse. "Without form, and void" is found only in Genesis 1:2. A return to the darkness and chaos of the pre-creation state is pictured in these verses.

26 I beheld, and indeed the fruitful land was a wilderness,
And all its cities were broken down
At the presence of the LORD,
By His fierce anger.

27 For thus says the LORD:

"The whole land shall be desolate;
Yet I will not make a full end.
28 For this shall the earth mourn,
And the heavens above be black,
Because I have spoken.
I have purposed and will not relent,
Nor will I turn back from it.
29 The whole city shall flee from the noise of the horsemen and bowmen.
They shall go into thickets and climb up on the rocks.
Every city shall be forsaken,
And not a man shall dwell in it.

30 "And when you are plundered,
What will you do?
Though you clothe yourself with crimson,
Though you adorn yourself with ornaments of
gold,
Though you enlarge your eyes with paint,
In vain you will make yourself fair;
Your lovers will despise you;
They will seek your life.

31 "For I have heard a voice as of a woman in labor,
The anguish as of her who brings forth her first child,
The voice of the daughter of Zion bewailing herself;
She spreads her hands, saying,
'Woe is me now, for my soul is weary
Because of murderers!'

The Justice of God's Judgment

5 "Run to and fro through the streets of Jerusalem;
See now and know;
And seek in her open places
If you can find a man,
If there is anyone who executes judgment,
Who seeks the truth,
And I will pardon her.
2 Though they say, 'As the LORD lives,' Surely they swear falsely."

3 O LORD, are not Your eyes on the truth?
You have stricken them,
But they have not grieved;
You have consumed them,
But they have refused to receive correction.
They have made their faces harder than rock;
They have refused to return.

4 Therefore I said, "Surely these are poor.
They are foolish;
For they do not know the way of the LORD,
The judgment of their God.
5 I will go to the great men and speak to them,
For they have known the way of the LORD,
The judgment of their God."

But these have altogether broken the yoke
And burst the bonds.
6 Therefore a lion from the forest shall slay
them,
A wolf of the deserts shall destroy them;
A leopard will watch over their cities.
Everyone who goes out from there shall be torn in pieces,
Because their transgressions are many;
Their backslidings have increased.

7 "How shall I pardon you for this?
Your children have forsaken Me
And sworn by those that are not gods.
When I had fed them to the full,
Then they committed adultery
And assembled themselves by troops in the harlots' houses.
8 They were like well-fed lusty stallions;
Every one neighed after his neighbor's wife.

4:30, 31 Jerusalem is portrayed as a woman who, though adorning herself for suitors, welcomes her foe. The description of such ornamentation is that of a harlot seeking to lure lovers. To "paint" (lit. "to tear") the eyes with black antimony to make them appear larger is a practice still common in the Middle East (see Ex. 30, Cosmetics). "Lovers" designates those with whom Judah has entered into political alliances, particularly the Babylonians.

5:1 Two terms in prophetic literature denote qualities that should characterize those in covenantal relationship with God—"judgment" (Heb. mishpat, lit. "justice") and "truth" (Heb. 'emunah, lit. "faithfulness"). God promised to spare Sodom for the sake of ten such men (Gen. 18:23–32). Here he offered much more lenient terms for Jerusalem, despite her greater sin.

5:2, 3 To swear by God is to invoke His name as a guarantee of the obligation to be undertaken. If the agreement is broken, God is expected to afflict the covenant breaker with judgment, with the intent of bringing His people to repentance. In stubbornness the people of Jerusalem rejected "correction" or discipline and made their faces harder than rock, a vivid illustration of rebellion.

5:7, 8 During Manasseh's reign, cult-prostitution was practiced widely. The sexual activities destroyed by Josiah's reform in the sanctuaries moved to the brothels. The people turned from God who "fed" or satisfied them to immorality and adulterous lust (Jer. 2:20–37). Adultery, punishable then by death, is a particularly grievous sin against the covenant foundation of the family and society (see Hos. 3, Adultery).

9 Shall I not punish them for these things?" says
the LORD.
"And shall I not avenge Myself on such a nation
as this?

10 "Go up on her walls and destroy,
But do not make a complete end.
Take away her branches,
For they are not the LORD's.
11 For the house of Israel and the house of Judah
Have dealt very treacherously with Me," says
the LORD.

12 They have lied about the LORD,
And said, "It is not He.
Neither will evil come upon us,
Nor shall we see sword or famine.
13 And the prophets become wind,
For the word is not in them.
Thus shall it be done to them."

14 Therefore thus says the LORD God of hosts:

"Because you speak this word,
Behold, I will make My words in your mouth
fire,
And this people wood,
And it shall devour them.
15 Behold, I will bring a nation against you from afar,
O house of Israel," says the LORD.
"It is a mighty nation,
It is an ancient nation,
A nation whose language you do not know,
Nor can you understand what they say.
16 Their quiver is like an open tomb;
They are all mighty men.
17 And they shall eat up your harvest and your bread,
Which your sons and daughters should eat.
They shall eat up your flocks and your herds;
They shall eat up your vines and your fig trees;
They shall destroy your fortified cities,
In which you trust, with the sword.

18 "Nevertheless in those days," says the LORD, "I will not make a complete end of you. 19 And it will be when you say, 'Why does the LORD our God do all these things to us?' then you shall answer them, 'Just as you have forsaken Me and served foreign gods in your land, so you shall serve aliens in a land that is not yours.'

20 "Declare this in the house of Jacob
And proclaim it in Judah, saying,
21 'Hear this now, O foolish people,
Without understanding,
Who have eyes and see not,
And who have ears and hear not:
22 Do you not fear Me?' says the LORD.
'Will you not tremble at My presence,
Who have placed the sand as the bound of the sea,
By a perpetual decree, that it cannot pass
beyond it?
And though its waves toss to and fro,
Yet they cannot prevail;
Though they roar, yet they cannot pass over it.
23 But this people has a defiant and rebellious heart;
They have revolted and departed.
24 They do not say in their heart,
"Let us now fear the LORD our God,
Who gives rain, both the former and the latter,
in its season.
He reserves for us the appointed weeks of the harvest."
25 Your iniquities have turned these things away,
And your sins have withheld good from you.

26 'For among My people are found wicked
men;
They lie in wait as one who sets snares;
They set a trap;
They catch men.
27 As a cage is full of birds,
So their houses are full of deceit.
Therefore they have become great and grown rich.
28 They have grown fat, they are sleek;
Yes, they surpass the deeds of the wicked;
They do not plead the cause,
The cause of the fatherless;
Yet they prosper,
And the right of the needy they do not defend.
29 Shall I not punish them for these things?' says
the LORD.
'Shall I not avenge Myself on such a nation as
this?'

30 "An astonishing and horrible thing
Has been committed in the land:
31 The prophets prophesy falsely,
And the priests rule by their own power;

5:17 The outcome of Nebuchadnezzar's invasion is depicted in graphic language by the prophet. Destruction of the cities of Judah is affirmed by archaeological evidence. Many cities never were occupied again.

5:18, 19 A remnant would be preserved (v. 10; Jer. 4:27). Jeremiah poetically reiterated the fact that, while the destruction would be severe, God's righteous judgment would be tempered with grace.

5:30, 31 Even the religious leaders entrusted with the moral and spiritual guidance of God's people were corrupt. "Astonishing" (Heb. shammah) denotes a horrified amazement that the prophets and priests in their unholy alliance would falsify God's truth and that the people would love this corruption despite Jeremiah's pleas. "What will you do in the end" refers to the coming judgment.

And My people love to have it so.
But what will you do in the end?

Impending Destruction from the North

6 "O you children of Benjamin,
Gather yourselves to flee from the midst of Jerusalem!
Blow the trumpet in Tekoa,
And set up a signal-fire in Beth Haccerem;
For disaster appears out of the north,
And great destruction.
2 I have likened the daughter of Zion
To a lovely and delicate woman.
3 The shepherds with their flocks shall come to her.
They shall pitch their tents against her all around.
Each one shall pasture in his own place."

4 "Prepare war against her;
Arise, and let us go up at noon.
Woe to us, for the day goes away,
For the shadows of the evening are lengthening.
5 Arise, and let us go by night,
And let us destroy her palaces."

6 For thus has the LORD of hosts said:

"Cut down trees,
And build a mound against Jerusalem.
This is the city to be punished.
She is full of oppression in her midst.
7 As a fountain wells up with water,
So she wells up with her wickedness.
Violence and plundering are heard in her.
Before Me continually are grief and wounds.
8 Be instructed, O Jerusalem,
Lest My soul depart from you;
Lest I make you desolate,
A land not inhabited."

9 Thus says the LORD of hosts:

"They shall thoroughly glean as a vine the remnant of Israel;
As a grape-gatherer, put your hand back into the branches."

10 To whom shall I speak and give warning,
That they may hear?
Indeed their ear is uncircumcised,
And they cannot give heed.
Behold, the word of the LORD is a reproach to them;
They have no delight in it.
11 Therefore I am full of the fury of the LORD.
I am weary of holding it in.
"I will pour it out on the children outside,
And on the assembly of young men together;
For even the husband shall be taken with the wife,
The aged with him who is full of days.
12 And their houses shall be turned over to others,
Fields and wives together;
For I will stretch out My hand
Against the inhabitants of the land," says the LORD.
13 "Because from the least of them even to the greatest of them,
Everyone is given to covetousness;
And from the prophet even to the priest,
Everyone deals falsely.
14 They have also healed the hurt of My people slightly,
Saying, 'Peace, peace!'
When there is no peace.
15 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination?
No! They were not at all ashamed;
Nor did they know how to blush.
Therefore they shall fall among those who fall;
At the time I punish them,
They shall be cast down," says the LORD.

16 Thus says the LORD:

"Stand in the ways and see,
And ask for the old paths, where the good way is,
And walk in it;
Then you will find rest for your souls.
But they said, 'We will not walk in it.'

6:1 The warning came to Jeremiah's own tribe of Benjamin. Tekoa, located approximately 12 miles south of Jerusalem, was the home village of the prophet Amos (Amos 1:1). Disaster in Jerusalem appeared imminent despite the ancient cultic beliefs that Jerusalem's walls were impregnable. The belief that Jerusalem would never be destroyed developed because of the Lord's deliverance of the city during the Sennacherib Crisis in 701 B.C. (see 2 Kin. 18:17—19:37).

6:10 The ears of God's people were closed (lit. "uncircumcised"), denoting willful rebellion and refusal to hear. They no longer delighted in the Lord's Word.

6:14 The message of the false prophets was "peace," a false hope because no peace existed. Judah's religious leaders treated the people's sin superficially, thereby implicitly encouraging their waywardness.

6:16 Old paths refer to the ways of faith and obedience, the ways followed by Moses and the patriarchs. "Walk" indicates lifestyle (Ps. 1:1). Jeremiah encouraged the people not only to remember the old traditions of faith but also to live them.

PAGANISM FOLLOWING FALSE GODS

Solomon was a man of great God-given wisdom; yet his heart was turned away from the Lord by his foreign wives (1 Kin. 11:1–8). Even though God had appeared to Solomon twice, warning him of the danger of following false gods, ultimately Solomon did not listen and chose to follow his own sinful heart instead of God (vv. 9, 10).

Likewise, Israel's King Ahab was influenced by his Sidonian wife, Jezebel, to worship Baal (1 Kin. 16:31). Jezebel opposed the worship of the Lord God of Israel, and on one occasion she demanded the slaying of all the prophets of the Lord she could find (1 Kin. 18:4). Her threats upon the life of Elijah, because he had executed the prophets of Baal, sent the prophet into hiding and deep depression (1 Kin. 19:1–4).

Not only foreign women, but the women of Israel themselves, influenced God's people to embrace pagan gods (Jer. 7:16–18; Ezek. 8:14). With the full permission of their husbands, the women of Israel and Judah baked cakes to offer to the queen of heaven; they also burned incense and poured out drink offerings to her. These men and women were totally unrepentant when confronted with their sin. Therefore, God pronounced judgment upon them through Jeremiah (Jer. 44:15–29).

In recent times, a renewed interest in paganism has arisen among many women. Focus has been placed upon such ancient goddesses as Gaia, the earth goddess, and Sophia, the goddess of wisdom. Some women's organizations, even within the church, are introducing women to goddesses and pagan elements of worship and theology.

Christian women must guard their hearts and minds against these influences. The power of their persuasion must be used to turn the hearts of men, women, and children not away from but toward the one true God as revealed in Jesus Christ.

17 Also, I set watchmen over you, saying,
'Listen to the sound of the trumpet!'
But they said, 'We will not listen.'
18 Therefore hear, you nations,
And know, O congregation, what is among them.
19 Hear, O earth!
Behold, I will certainly bring calamity on this people—
The fruit of their thoughts,
Because they have not heeded My words
Nor My law, but rejected it.
20 For what purpose to Me
Comes frankincense from Sheba,
And sweet cane from a far country?
Your burnt offerings are not acceptable,
Nor your sacrifices sweet to Me."

21 Therefore thus says the LORD:

"Behold, I will lay stumbling blocks before this people,
And the fathers and the sons together shall fall on them.
The neighbor and his friend shall perish."

22 Thus says the LORD:

"Behold, a people comes from the north country,
And a great nation will be raised from the farthest parts of the earth.
23 They will lay hold on bow and spear;
They are cruel and have no mercy;
Their voice roars like the sea;
And they ride on horses,
As men of war set in array against you,
O daughter of Zion."

24 We have heard the report of it;
Our hands grow feeble.
Anguish has taken hold of us,
Pain as of a woman in labor.
25 Do not go out into the field,
Nor walk by the way.
Because of the sword of the enemy,

6:17 Watchmen are true prophets who give warning to a city about to be destroyed (Ezek. 33). The true prophets were in direct opposition to the prophets who presented the false hope of peace (see Jer. 6:14).

6:20 No offering could substitute for obedience. "Frankincense" was imported from Sheba, located in Arabia, and "sweet cane" may have been brought from India. "Burnt offerings" indicated those in which the entire animal was consumed. "Sacrifices" were those in which only choice portions of the animal were offered, while the rest was consumed by the worshipers (see Amos 5:21–24).

Fear is on every side.
[26]O daughter of my people,
Dress in sackcloth
And roll about in ashes!
Make mourning as for an only son, most bitter lamentation;
For the plunderer will suddenly come upon us.

[27]"I have set you as an assayer and a fortress among My people,
That you may know and test their way.
[28]They are all stubborn rebels, walking as slanderers.
They are bronze and iron,
They are all corrupters;
[29]The bellows blow fiercely,
The lead is consumed by the fire;
The smelter refines in vain,
For the wicked are not drawn off.
[30]People will call them rejected silver,
Because the LORD has rejected them."

Trusting in Lying Words

7 The word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying, [2]"Stand in the gate of the LORD's house, and proclaim there this word, and say, 'Hear the word of the LORD, all you of Judah who enter in at these gates to worship the LORD!' " [3]Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "Amend your ways and your doings, and I will cause you to dwell in this place. [4]Do not trust in these lying words, saying, 'The temple of the LORD, the temple of the LORD, the temple of the LORD are these.'

[5]"For if you thoroughly amend your ways and your doings, if you thoroughly execute judgment between a man and his neighbor, [6]if you do not oppress the stranger, the fatherless, and the widow, and do not shed innocent blood in this place, or walk after other gods to your hurt, [7]then I will cause you to dwell in this place, in the land that I gave to your fathers forever and ever.

[8]"Behold, you trust in lying words that cannot profit. [9]Will you steal, murder, commit adultery, swear falsely, burn incense to Baal, and walk after other gods whom you do not know, [10]and then come and stand before Me in this house which is called by My name, and say, 'We are delivered to do all these abominations'? [11]Has this house, which is called by My name, become a den of thieves in your eyes? Behold, I, even I, have seen it," says the LORD.

[12]"But go now to My place which was in Shiloh, where I set My name at the first, and see what I did to it because of the wickedness of My people Israel. [13]And now, because you have done all these works," says the LORD, "and I spoke to you, rising up early and speaking, but you did not hear, and I called you, but you did not answer, [14]therefore I will do to the house which is called by My name, in which you trust, and to this place which I gave to you and your fathers, as I have done to Shiloh. [15]And I will cast you out of My sight, as I have cast out all your brethren—the whole posterity of Ephraim.

[16]"Therefore do not pray for this people, nor lift up a cry or prayer for them, nor make intercession to Me; for I will not hear you. [17]Do you not see what they do in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem? [18]The children gather wood, the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead dough, to make cakes for the queen of heaven; and they pour out drink offerings to other gods, that they may provoke Me to anger. [19]Do they provoke Me to anger?" says the LORD. "Do they not provoke themselves, to the shame of their own faces?"

[20]Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: "Behold, My anger and My fury will be poured out on this place—on man and on beast, on the trees of the field and on the fruit of the ground. And it will burn and not be quenched."

[21]Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "Add your burnt offerings to your sacrifices and eat meat. [22]For I did not speak to your fathers, or command them in the day that I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offerings or sacrifices. [23]But this is what I commanded them, saying, 'Obey My voice, and I will be your God, and you shall be My people. And walk in all

6:29, 30 The ancient metallurgical process of refining raw ore to pure silver is applied metaphorically to the people of Judah, who were hopelessly impure and beyond refining.

7:4 False prophets deceived the people with the promise that God would not allow the temple, His earthly dwelling place, to be destroyed. This delusion was strengthened by the miraculous deliverance of Jerusalem during the reign of Hezekiah (2 Kin. 19:20–36) and by the promise that David and his descendants would have a kingdom forever (2 Sam. 7:10–13).

7:12 Under Joshua the tabernacle was erected in Shiloh, located in the territory of Ephraim in the northern kingdom. Archaeological evidence indicates that it was destroyed by the Philistines around 1050 B.C. (1 Sam. 4).

7:15 The Assyrian exile of the northern kingdom occurred in 722 B.C. (2 Kin. 17:22, 23). For Ephraim, see chart, Terminology for the Divided Kingdom.

7:18 Queen of heaven is a reference to the Assyro-Babylonian Astarte or Ishtar, an ancient cult practiced throughout the Orient (see Jer. 44:15–19, note). The queen of heaven was the goddess of love and fertility (see chart, Graceo-Roman Goddesses). Such worship involved a pinch of incense, a cake in the shape of a woman, a crescent moon or a star, or a libation. Apparently this goddess was worshiped primarily by women (Jer. 44:15–19), but this idolatry evidently spread throughout the land and was practiced not only by women but by entire families, including children.

7:22 All sacrifices are not rejected, but they are meaningless without true repentance and obedience (see 1 Sam. 15:22).

the ways that I have commanded you, that it may be well with you.' 24Yet they did not obey or incline their ear, but followed the counsels and the dictates of their evil hearts, and went backward and not forward. 25Since the day that your fathers came out of the land of Egypt until this day, I have even sent to you all My servants the prophets, daily rising up early and sending them. 26Yet they did not obey Me or incline their ear, but stiffened their neck. They did worse than their fathers.

27"Therefore you shall speak all these words to them, but they will not obey you. You shall also call to them, but they will not answer you.

Judgment on Obscene Religion

28"So you shall say to them, 'This is a nation that does not obey the voice of the LORD their God nor receive correction. Truth has perished and has been cut off from their mouth. 29Cut off your hair and cast it away, and take up a lamentation on the desolate heights; for the LORD has rejected and forsaken the generation of His wrath.' 30For the children of Judah have done evil in My sight," says the LORD. "They have set their abominations in the house which is called by My name, to pollute it. 31And they have built the high places of Tophet, which is in the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, to burn their sons and their daughters in the fire, which I did not command, nor did it come into My heart.

32"Therefore behold, the days are coming," says the LORD, "when it will no more be called Tophet, or the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, but the Valley of Slaughter; for they will bury in Tophet until there is no room. 33The corpses of this people will be food for the birds of the heaven and for the beasts of the earth. And no one will frighten them away. 34Then I will cause to cease from the cities of Judah and from the streets of Jerusalem the voice of mirth and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride. For the land shall be desolate.

8"At that time," says the LORD, "they shall bring out the bones of the kings of Judah, and the bones of its princes, and the bones of the priests, and the bones of the prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Jerusalem, out of their graves. 2They shall spread them before the sun and the moon and all the host of heaven, which they have loved and which they have served and after which they have walked, which they have sought and which they have worshiped. They shall not be gathered nor buried; they shall be like refuse on the face of the earth. 3Then death shall be chosen rather than life by all the residue of those who remain of this evil family, who remain in all the places where I have driven them," says the LORD of hosts.

The Peril of False Teaching

4"Moreover you shall say to them, 'Thus says the LORD:

"Will they fall and not rise?
Will one turn away and not return?
5Why has this people slidden back,
Jerusalem, in a perpetual backsliding?
They hold fast to deceit,
They refuse to return.
6I listened and heard,
But they do not speak aright.
No man repented of his wickedness,
Saying, 'What have I done?'
Everyone turned to his own course,
As the horse rushes into the battle.

7"Even the stork in the heavens
Knows her appointed times;
And the turtledove, the swift, and the swallow

7:29 Cutting the hair was a sign of mourning (Job 1:20; Mic. 1:16; see 2 Sam. 14, Hair). The long hair of the Nazirite was a sign of his consecration to God (Num. 6:1, 2, 3–8, notes). Judah had abandoned her consecration to God and was now seen lamenting on the barren hills where so many of her evils had been committed.

7:31 The Valley of the Son of Hinnom (NT Gehenna), south of Jerusalem, was the site of the worship of Molech, to which children were sacrificed. Tophet, located near the eastern end of the southern part of the Valley of Hinnon, was commonly used to designate a place of child sacrifice. Hebrew scribes often translated the word as "shameful thing" because of the hideous practices that took place there. High places were the scenes of such pagan rites during the reigns of Ahaz (2 Kin. 16:2, 3) and Manasseh (2 Kin. 21:6). Human sacrifice was strictly forbidden under Mosaic Law (Lev. 18:21; 20:2–5).

7:32 The valley where Israel sacrificed her children to Molech would become her own graveyard, called the "Valley of Slaughter." The Babylonian army would destroy Judah in judgment for her wickedness.

7:33 This judgment was one of the curses for breaking the covenant (Deut. 28:26). For a body to be unburied was an abomination. Even the bodies of criminals were buried (Deut. 21:22, 23).

8:2 The sun, moon, and host of heaven were astral deities worshiped by Judah before, during, and following the reign of Manasseh (2 Kin. 21:3, 5; 23:11). Ironically, the bones of those who worshiped these pagan gods would be spread before the astral deities and denied the decency of burial.

8:4 Turn away . . . return is a word play in which the Hebrew verb forms are identical. Jeremiah emphasized the irrationality of the people's behavior.

8:6 To repent (Heb. nacham) is to be sorry, to mourn for one's sin. Instead of turning from their sin, the people rushed to embrace it.

8:7 Drawing from nature, Jeremiah noted that even the birds obey their God-given instincts. Similarly obedience to the covenant should be natural for God's people (see Is. 1:2, 3).

Observe the time of their coming.
But My people do not know the judgment of
the LORD.

8"How can you say, 'We are wise,
And the law of the LORD is with us'?
Look, the false pen of the scribe certainly works falsehood.
9The wise men are ashamed,
They are dismayed and taken.
Behold, they have rejected the word of the
LORD;
So what wisdom do they have?
10Therefore I will give their wives to others,
And their fields to those who will inherit them;
Because from the least even to the greatest
Everyone is given to covetousness;
From the prophet even to the priest
Everyone deals falsely.
11For they have healed the hurt of the daughter of My people slightly,
Saying, 'Peace, peace!'
When there is no peace.
12Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination?
No! They were not at all ashamed,
Nor did they know how to blush.
Therefore they shall fall among those who fall;
In the time of their punishment
They shall be cast down," says the LORD.

13"I will surely consume them," says the LORD.
"No grapes shall be on the vine,
Nor figs on the fig tree,
And the leaf shall fade;
And the things I have given them shall pass away from them." ' "

14"Why do we sit still?
Assemble yourselves,
And let us enter the fortified cities,
And let us be silent there.
For the LORD our God has put us to silence
And given us water of gall to drink,
Because we have sinned against the LORD.
15"We looked for peace, but no good came;
And for a time of health, and there was trouble!
16The snorting of His horses was heard from Dan.
The whole land trembled at the sound of the neighing of His strong ones;
For they have come and devoured the land and all that is in it,
The city and those who dwell in it."

17"For behold, I will send serpents among you,
Vipers which cannot be charmed,
And they shall bite you," says the LORD.

The Prophet Mourns for the People

18I would comfort myself in sorrow;
My heart is faint in me.
19Listen! The voice,
The cry of the daughter of my people
From a far country:
"Is not the LORD in Zion?
Is not her King in her?"

"Why have they provoked Me to anger
With their carved images—
With foreign idols?"

20"The harvest is past,
The summer is ended,
And we are not saved!"

21For the hurt of the daughter of my people I am hurt.
I am mourning;
Astonishment has taken hold of me.
22*Is there* no balm in Gilead,
Is there no physician there?
Why then is there no recovery
For the health of the daughter of my people?

9 Oh, that my head were waters,
And my eyes a fountain of tears,
That I might weep day and night
For the slain of the daughter of my people!

8:8, 9 The scribes manipulated God's Law in order to twist its meaning to suit their own purposes (see chart, Jewish Sects). They wanted the people to believe that they could sin without consequence. This reference to "scribes" as an organized group may be the earliest (see 1 Chr. 2:55). The scribes copied, studied, and interpreted the law.

8:11 Jeremiah criticized the false prophets for fostering a false hope of security in the people. Hypnotized by the comfortable and profitable doctrine of prosperity and peace (Heb. shalom, lit. "completeness, well-being, and contentment"), they neglected the repentance and obedience that would bring healing.

8:16 Dan lies at the northern border of Israel, near the headwaters of the Jordan (1 Kin. 4:25). The army of the invading foe was so numerous that the snorting and neighing of their stallions made the ground shake. The Lord had warned that destruction would come from the north (Jer. 1:14, 15).

8:17 Vipers were sent by God in judgment, reminiscent of Numbers 21:6–9. Although deliverance came in Moses' day, none would come in Jeremiah's time.

8:20 This popular proverb was used in everyday life to depict the loss of all hope of deliverance.

8:22 Gilead, on the eastern side of the Jordan River, was well known for its healing balms (Gen. 37:25). The "balm" came from the turpentine and pistachio trees.

9:1 Jeremiah is known as the weeping prophet. Although his message was one of doom and destruction, he mourned over

2 Oh, that I had in the wilderness
A lodging place for travelers;
That I might leave my people,
And go from them!
For they are all adulterers,
An assembly of treacherous men.

3 "And like their bow they have bent their tongues for lies.
They are not valiant for the truth on the earth.
For they proceed from evil to evil,
And they do not know Me," says the LORD.
4 "Everyone take heed to his neighbor,
And do not trust any brother;
For every brother will utterly supplant,
And every neighbor will walk with slanderers.
5 Everyone will deceive his neighbor,
And will not speak the truth;
They have taught their tongue to speak lies;
They weary themselves to commit iniquity.
6 Your dwelling place is in the midst of deceit;
Through deceit they refuse to know Me," says
the LORD.

7 Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts:

"Behold, I will refine them and try them;
For how shall I deal with the daughter of My
people?
8 Their tongue is an arrow shot out;
It speaks deceit;
One speaks peaceably to his neighbor with his
mouth,
But in his heart he lies in wait.
9 Shall I not punish them for these things?" says
the LORD.
"Shall I not avenge Myself on such a nation as this?"

10 I will take up a weeping and wailing for the mountains,
And for the dwelling places of the wilderness a lamentation,
Because they are burned up,
So that no one can pass through;
Nor can men hear the voice of the cattle.
Both the birds of the heavens and the beasts
have fled;
They are gone.

11 "I will make Jerusalem a heap of ruins, a den of jackals.
I will make the cities of Judah desolate,
without an inhabitant."

12 Who is the wise man who may understand this? And who is he to whom the mouth of the LORD has spoken, that he may declare it? Why does the land perish and burn up like a wilderness, so that no one can pass through?
13 And the LORD said, "Because they have forsaken My law which I set before them, and have not obeyed My voice, nor walked according to it, 14 but they have walked according to the dictates of their own hearts and after the Baals, which their fathers taught them," 15 therefore thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "Behold, I will feed them, this people, with wormwood, and give them water of gall to drink. 16 I will scatter them also among the Gentiles, whom neither they nor their fathers have known. And I will send a sword after them until I have consumed them."

The People Mourn in Judgment

17 Thus says the LORD of hosts:

"Consider and call for the mourning women,
That they may come;
And send for skillful wailing women,
That they may come.
18 Let them make haste
And take up a wailing for us,
That our eyes may run with tears,
And our eyelids gush with water.
19 For a voice of wailing is heard from Zion:
'How we are plundered!
We are greatly ashamed,
Because we have forsaken the land,
Because we have been cast out of our dwellings.' "

20 Yet hear the word of the LORD, O women,
And let your ear receive the word of His mouth;
Teach your daughters wailing,
And everyone her neighbor a lamentation.
21 For death has come through our windows,
Has entered our palaces,
To kill off the children— no longer to be outside!
And the young men— no longer on the streets!

22 Speak, "Thus says the LORD:

---

the sufferings of his people out of his deep compassion for them.

9:2 Jeremiah sought a lodging place, probably little more than a simple shelter in the wilderness, as an escape from the sight of the people's degradation that sickened his heart.

9:12–14 Judah had forsaken God's Law and soon would be destroyed. The reference to the covenant is clear. These verses offer an explanation of the judgment on Judah.

9:15 Wormwood denotes bitterness, while "water of gall" is poisoned water (see Prov. 5:4, note; chart, The Herbs of the Bible). Moses had warned the Israelites centuries before about similar consequences of idolatry (Deut. 29:18).

9:17–20 Mourning women (Heb. qonen) are professional mourners. So great will be the need for mourners that mothers are encouraged to teach their daughters to lament.

9:22 Jeremiah lamented that the dead were too numerous to

Those who call to mind the sufferings of Christ and who offer up their own to God through His passion find their pains sweet and pleasant.

St. Mary Magdalene dei Pazzi

'Even the carcasses of men shall fall as refuse on the open field,
Like cuttings after the harvester,
And no one shall gather them.' "

23 Thus says the LORD:

"Let not the wise man glory in his wisdom,
Let not the mighty man glory in his might,
Nor let the rich man glory in his riches;
24 But let him who glories glory in this,
That he understands and knows Me,
That I am the LORD, exercising lovingkindness, judgment, and righteousness in the earth.
For in these I delight," says the LORD.

25 "Behold, the days are coming," says the LORD, "that I will punish all who are circumcised with the uncircumcised— 26 Egypt, Judah, Edom, the people of Ammon, Moab, and all who are in the farthest corners, who dwell in the wilderness. For all these nations are uncircumcised, and all the house of Israel are uncircumcised in the heart."

Idols and the True God

10 Hear the word which the LORD speaks to you,
O house of Israel.
2 Thus says the LORD:

"Do not learn the way of the Gentiles;
Do not be dismayed at the signs of heaven,
For the Gentiles are dismayed at them.
3 For the customs of the peoples are futile;
For one cuts a tree from the forest,
The work of the hands of the workman, with the ax.
4 They decorate it with silver and gold;
They fasten it with nails and hammers
So that it will not topple.
5 They are upright, like a palm tree,
And they cannot speak;
They must be carried,
Because they cannot go by themselves.
Do not be afraid of them,
For they cannot do evil,
Nor can they do any good."

6 Inasmuch as there is none like You, O LORD
(You are great, and Your name is great in might),
7 Who would not fear You, O King of the nations?
For this is Your rightful due.
For among all the wise men of the nations,
And in all their kingdoms,
There is none like You.
8 But they are altogether dull-hearted and foolish;
A wooden idol is a worthless doctrine.
9 Silver is beaten into plates;
It is brought from Tarshish,
And gold from Uphaz,
The work of the craftsman
And of the hands of the metalsmith;
Blue and purple are their clothing;
They are all the work of skillful men.
10 But the LORD is the true God;
He is the living God and the everlasting King.
At His wrath the earth will tremble,
And the nations will not be able to endure His indignation.

11 Thus you shall say to them: "The gods that have not made the heavens and the earth shall perish from the earth and from under these heavens."

12 He has made the earth by His power,
He has established the world by His wisdom,
And has stretched out the heavens at His discretion.
13 When He utters His voice,
There is a multitude of waters in the heavens:

be buried. Unburied corpses were viewed as a particularly loathsome degradation (see Jer. 8:2; 16:4–6; 25:33).

9:23, 24 This beautiful poem on wisdom is in the best tradition of wisdom literature. The absolute superiority of the true knowledge of God over the best of human thinking is a recurring theme of Jeremiah (Jer. 2:8; 4:22; 9:2–5; 22:16; 24:7). "To know" in Hebrew thought indicates intimate, personal relationship. True religion consists of acknowledging the complete sovereignty of God in every facet of life. The lives of those who know God will reflect His attributes: lovingkindness, justice, and righteousness.

10:2 To learn (lit. "to adopt") has overtones of discipleship. The "way" refers to religious customs. "Signs of heaven" are the heavenly bodies created by God for His purposes (Gen. 1:14–18). Unusual natural phenomena associated with the heavens were considered portents of good and evil and often were part of idolatrous worship.

10:8 Dull-hearted (Heb. ba`ar) can mean "stupid" or "unreceptive." Teaching received from idolaters is as worthless as the idols themselves.

"And He causes the vapors to ascend from the ends of the earth.
He makes lightning for the rain,
He brings the wind out of His treasuries."[a]

14 Everyone is dull-hearted, without knowledge;
Every metalsmith is put to shame by an image;
For his molded image is falsehood,
And there is no breath in them.
15 They are futile, a work of errors;
In the time of their punishment they shall perish.
16 The Portion of Jacob is not like them,
For He is the Maker of all things,
And Israel is the tribe of His inheritance;
The LORD of hosts is His name.

The Coming Captivity of Judah

17 Gather up your wares from the land,
O inhabitant of the fortress!

18 For thus says the LORD:

"Behold, I will throw out at this time
The inhabitants of the land,
And will distress them,
That they may find it so."

19 Woe is me for my hurt!
My wound is severe.
But I say, "Truly this is an infirmity,
And I must bear it."
20 My tent is plundered,
And all my cords are broken;
My children have gone from me,
And they are no more.
There is no one to pitch my tent anymore,
Or set up my curtains.

21 For the shepherds have become dull-hearted,
And have not sought the LORD;
Therefore they shall not prosper,
And all their flocks shall be scattered.
22 Behold, the noise of the report has come,
And a great commotion out of the north country,
To make the cities of Judah desolate, a den of jackals.

23 O LORD, I know the way of man is not in himself;
It is not in man who walks to direct his own steps.
24 O LORD, correct me, but with justice;
Not in Your anger, lest You bring me to nothing.
25 Pour out Your fury on the Gentiles, who do not know You,
And on the families who do not call on Your name;
For they have eaten up Jacob,
Devoured him and consumed him,
And made his dwelling place desolate.

The Broken Covenant

11 The word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying, 2 "Hear the words of this covenant, and speak to the men of Judah and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem; 3 and say to them, 'Thus says the LORD God of Israel: "Cursed is the man who does not obey the words of this covenant 4 which I commanded your fathers in the day I brought them out of the land of Egypt, from the iron furnace, saying, 'Obey My voice, and do according to all that I command you; so shall you be My people, and I will be your God,' 5 that I may establish the oath which I have sworn to your fathers, to give them 'a land flowing with milk and honey,'[a] as it is this day." ' "

And I answered and said, "So be it, LORD."

6 Then the LORD said to me, "Proclaim all these words in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem, saying: 'Hear the words of this covenant and do them. 7 For I earnestly exhorted your fathers in the day I brought them up out of the land of Egypt, until this day, rising early and exhorting, saying, "Obey My voice." 8 Yet they did not obey or incline their ear, but everyone followed the dictates of his evil heart; therefore I will bring upon them all the words of this covenant, which I commanded them to do, but which they have not done.' "

9 And the LORD said to me, "A conspiracy has been found among the men of Judah and among the inhabitants of Jerusalem. 10 They have turned back to the iniquities of their forefathers who refused to hear My words, and they have gone after other gods to serve them; the house of Israel and the house of Judah have broken My covenant which I made with their fathers."

10:13 [a]Psalm 135:7 11:5 [a]Exodus 3:8

10:16 The "portion" refers to anything that rightfully belongs to an individual. In this context, God chose Israel to be His inheritance, and He was Israel's "portion." The essence of the covenant relationship between Israel and the Lord is that God calls them "My people," and they call Him "our God" (Ex. 6:6, 7).

10:22 The great commotion out of the north refers to the Babylonian army. Indeed, Nebuchadnezzar's invasion around 586 B.C. carried widespread destruction. Many cities destroyed in the 6th century never were inhabited again.

11:1, 2 The covenant, a typical Middle Eastern treaty, was comprised of stipulations, curses, blessings, and witnesses. Under oath, the subject promised obedience, which brought blessing, while disobedience brought a curse.

11Therefore thus says the LORD: "Behold, I will surely bring calamity on them which they will not be able to escape; and though they cry out to Me, I will not listen to them. 12Then the cities of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem will go and cry out to the gods to whom they offer incense, but they will not save them at all in the time of their trouble. 13For according to the number of your cities were your gods, O Judah; and according to the number of the streets of Jerusalem you have set up altars to that shameful thing, altars to burn incense to Baal.

14"So do not pray for this people, or lift up a cry or prayer for them; for I will not hear them in the time that they cry out to Me because of their trouble.

15"What has My beloved to do in My house,
Having done lewd deeds with many?
And the holy flesh has passed from you.
When you do evil, then you rejoice.
16The LORD called your name,
Green Olive Tree, Lovely and of Good Fruit.
With the noise of a great tumult
He has kindled fire on it,
And its branches are broken.

17"For the LORD of hosts, who planted you, has pronounced doom against you for the evil of the house of Israel and of the house of Judah, which they have done against themselves to provoke Me to anger in offering incense to Baal."

Jeremiah's Life Threatened

18Now the LORD gave me knowledge of it, and I know it; for You showed me their doings. 19But I was like a docile lamb brought to the slaughter;
and I did not know that they had devised schemes against me, saying, "Let us destroy the tree with its fruit, and let us cut him off from the land of the living, that his name may be remembered no more."

20But, O LORD of hosts,
You who judge righteously,
Testing the mind and the heart,
Let me see Your vengeance on them,
For to You I have revealed my cause.

21"Therefore thus says the LORD concerning the men of Anathoth who seek your life, saying,
'Do not prophesy in the name of the LORD, lest you die by our hand'— 22therefore thus says the LORD of hosts: 'Behold, I will punish them. The young men shall die by the sword, their sons and their daughters shall die by famine; 23and there shall be no remnant of them, for I will bring catastrophe on the men of Anathoth, even the year of their punishment.' "

Jeremiah's Question

12 Righteous are You, O LORD, when I plead with You;
Yet let me talk with You about Your judgments.
Why does the way of the wicked prosper?
Why are those happy who deal so
treacherously?
2You have planted them, yes, they have taken root;
They grow, yes, they bear fruit.
You are near in their mouth
But far from their mind.

3But You, O LORD, know me;
You have seen me,
And You have tested my heart toward You.
Pull them out like sheep for the slaughter,
And prepare them for the day of slaughter.
4How long will the land mourn,
And the herbs of every field wither?
The beasts and birds are consumed,
For the wickedness of those who dwell
there,
Because they said, "He will not see our final end."

The LORD Answers Jeremiah

5"If you have run with the footmen, and they have wearied you,
Then how can you contend with horses?
And if in the land of peace,
In which you trusted, they wearied you,

11:11, 12 Judah would be judged as surely as Israel had been judged earlier. Doom came upon Israel in 722 B.C. by the hands of the Assyrian army. Jerusalem was destroyed and the inhabitants of Judah taken into captivity in 586 B.C. by Babylon.

11:18–23 Jeremiah learned of a plot against his life. Some from his own family and community threatened his life. Jeremiah's lament is similar to some psalms of complaint (Ps. 44; 55). This passage reads like excerpts from his spiritual journal. The man behind the message is revealed.

11:19 Like a docile lamb brought to the slaughter are words reminiscent of Jeremiah 51:40 and Isaiah 53:7. Isaiah's portrait of the Suffering Servant was fulfilled in Christ (Is. 53:7; Acts 8:32).

12:1 Why do the wicked prosper? This age-old question greatly perplexed the faithful of Israel—Job (Job 21; 24), David (Ps. 37), and Asaph (Ps. 73). That the wicked could not prosper was a widely held belief in ancient Israel (see Ps. 1). Only the righteous would take root and become a sturdy tree. However, Jeremiah's experience, as well as that of others, challenged that assumption.

12:5, 6 God answered Jeremiah's question about the prosperity of the wicked by telling him that the worst was yet to come. Jeremiah needed endurance if he was to withstand the struggle. "Footmen" may refer to other prophets or enemies or conspirators he faced. "Wearied" (Heb. la'ah) implies exhaustion. "Horses" may allude to the military power of Babylon (Jer. 4:13;

Then how will you do in the floodplain[a] of the Jordan?
6For even your brothers, the house of your father,
Even they have dealt treacherously with you;
Yes, they have called a multitude after you.
Do not believe them,
Even though they speak smooth words to you.

7"I have forsaken My house, I have left My heritage;
I have given the dearly beloved of My soul into the hand of her enemies.
8My heritage is to Me like a lion in the forest;
It cries out against Me;
Therefore I have hated it.
9My heritage is to Me like a speckled vulture;
The vultures all around are against her.
Come, assemble all the beasts of the field,
Bring them to devour!

10"Many rulers[a] have destroyed My vineyard,
They have trodden My portion underfoot;
They have made My pleasant portion a desolate wilderness.
11They have made it desolate;
Desolate, it mourns to Me;
The whole land is made desolate,
Because no one takes it to heart.
12The plunderers have come
On all the desolate heights in the wilderness,
For the sword of the LORD shall devour
From one end of the land to the other end of the land;
No flesh shall have peace.
13They have sown wheat but reaped thorns;
They have put themselves to pain but do not profit.
But be ashamed of your harvest
Because of the fierce anger of the LORD."

14Thus says the LORD: "Against all My evil neighbors who touch the inheritance which I have caused My people Israel to inherit—behold, I will pluck them out of their land and pluck out the house of Judah from among them. 15Then it shall be, after I have plucked them out, that I will return and have compassion on them and bring them back, everyone to his heritage and everyone to his land. 16And it shall be, if they will learn carefully the ways of My people, to swear by My name, 'As the LORD lives,' as they taught My people to swear by Baal, then they shall be established in the midst of My people. 17But if they do not obey, I will utterly pluck up and destroy that nation," says the LORD.

Symbol of the Linen Sash

13 Thus the LORD said to me: "Go and get yourself a linen sash, and put it around your waist, but do not put it in water." 2So I got a sash according to the word of the LORD, and put it around my waist.

3And the word of the LORD came to me the second time, saying, 4"Take the sash that you acquired, which is around your waist, and arise, go to the Euphrates,[a] and hide it there in a hole in the rock." 5So I went and hid it by the Euphrates, as the LORD commanded me.

6Now it came to pass after many days that the LORD said to me, "Arise, go to the Euphrates, and take from there the sash which I commanded you to hide there." 7Then I went to the Euphrates and dug, and I took the sash from the place where I had hidden it; and there was the sash, ruined. It was profitable for nothing.

8Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 9"Thus says the LORD: 'In this manner I will ruin the pride of Judah and the great pride of Jerusalem. 10This evil people, who refuse to hear My words, who follow the dictates of their hearts, and walk after other gods to serve them and worship them, shall be just like this sash which is profitable for nothing. 11For as the sash clings to the waist of a man, so I have caused the whole house of Israel and the whole house of Judah to cling to Me,' says the LORD, 'that they may become My people, for renown, for praise, and for glory; but they would not hear.'

Symbol of the Wine Bottles

12"Therefore you shall speak to them this word: 'Thus says the LORD God of Israel: "Every bottle shall be filled with wine." '

"And they will say to you, 'Do we not certainly know that every bottle will be filled with wine?'

12:5 [a]Or thicket 12:10 [a]Literally shepherds or pastors 13:4 [a]Hebrew Perath

8:16). The "floodplain" or thicket of Jordan was a place of jungle growth and a lair of lions (Jer. 49:19; 50:44).

12:10 Rulers were leaders from foreign countries. They had ravaged the vineyard of the Lord—the people and land of Judah (Jer. 2:21; 5:10).

12:14–17 Israel's faith moved within the confines of a narrow nationalism, Yet God's sovereignty included His desire for the salvation of even Israel's worst enemies if they would repent (Ps. 67).

13:1 The sash of linen, an expensive material used in priestly attire, was worn around the prophet's waist as a symbol of the intimacy of Judah's covenantal relationship with God (see chart, The High Priest's Clothing).

13:12 Jeremiah used the imagery of a popular proverb "Every bottle shall be filled with wine" to announce that since the people no longer were filled with the glory of God, God would fill them with the wine of His wrath.

13"Then you shall say to them, 'Thus says the LORD: "Behold, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land—even the kings who sit on David's throne, the priests, the prophets, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem—with drunkenness! 14And I will dash them one against another, even the fathers and the sons together," says the LORD. "I will not pity nor spare nor have mercy, but will destroy them." ' "

Pride Precedes Captivity

15Hear and give ear:
Do not be proud,
For the LORD has spoken.
16Give glory to the LORD your God
Before He causes darkness,
And before your feet stumble
On the dark mountains,
And while you are looking for light,
He turns it into the shadow of death
And makes it dense darkness.
17But if you will not hear it,
My soul will weep in secret for your pride;
My eyes will weep bitterly
And run down with tears,
Because the LORD's flock has been taken captive.

18Say to the king and to the queen mother,
"Humble yourselves;
Sit down,
For your rule shall collapse, the crown of your glory."
19The cities of the South shall be shut up,
And no one shall open them;
Judah shall be carried away captive, all of it;
It shall be wholly carried away captive.

20Lift up your eyes and see
Those who come from the north.
Where is the flock that was given to you,
Your beautiful sheep?
21What will you say when He punishes you?
For you have taught them
To be chieftains, to be head over you.
Will not pangs seize you,
Like a woman in labor?

22And if you say in your heart,
"Why have these things come upon me?"
For the greatness of your iniquity
Your skirts have been uncovered,
Your heels made bare.
23Can the Ethiopian change his skin or the leopard its spots?
Then may you also do good who are accustomed to do evil.

24"Therefore I will scatter them like stubble
That passes away by the wind of the wilderness.
25This is your lot,
The portion of your measures from Me," says the LORD,
"Because you have forgotten Me
And trusted in falsehood.
26Therefore I will uncover your skirts over your face,
That your shame may appear.
27I have seen your adulteries
And your lustful neighings,
The lewdness of your harlotry,
Your abominations on the hills in the fields.
Woe to you, O Jerusalem!
Will you still not be made clean?"

Sword, Famine, and Pestilence

14 The word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah concerning the droughts.

2"Judah mourns,
And her gates languish;
They mourn for the land,
And the cry of Jerusalem has gone up.
3Their nobles have sent their lads for water;
They went to the cisterns and found no water.
They returned with their vessels empty;
They were ashamed and confounded
And covered their heads.
4Because the ground is parched,
For there was no rain in the land,
The plowmen were ashamed;
They covered their heads.
5Yes, the deer also gave birth in the field,
But left because there was no grass.

13:15–17 This brief elegy or poem of lament expresses in a few sensitive words both the prophet's message and his feelings. To "give glory" to the Lord is to acknowledge God in the fullness of His revelation, an important element in repentance. The phrase is often used as an idiom for "confess your sins" (Josh. 7:19; John 9:24).

13:18 The king may be Jehoiachin, who reigned for three months (598–597 B.C.) He was taken captive to Babylon with his mother, Nehushta, and 10,000 other prominent citizens of Judah (see chart, The Queens of the Old Testament).

13:22 To uncover a woman's skirts (lit. "to tear off the skirts") was a common way to bring shame to a prostitute in Israel (Hos. 2:3–10). Israel's prostitution to other gods is a dominant theme in Jeremiah's message.

13:23 This rhetorical question required a negative answer in the literature of Jeremiah's day. It showed the utter hopelessness of Israel's ability to repent.

14:1–6 Droughts were one of the curses threatened for disobedience to the covenant (Lev. 26:19, 20; Deut. 28:22–24). Jeremiah graphically portrayed the most pathetic aspects of nature in a time of drought: empty wells, parched farmlands, and starving wild animals.

6 And the wild donkeys stood in the desolate heights;
They sniffed at the wind like jackals;
Their eyes failed because there was no grass."

7 O LORD, though our iniquities testify against us,
Do it for Your name's sake;
For our backslidings are many,
We have sinned against You.
8 O the Hope of Israel, his Savior in time of trouble,
Why should You be like a stranger in the land,
And like a traveler who turns aside to tarry for a night?
9 Why should You be like a man astonished,
Like a mighty one who cannot save?
Yet You, O LORD, are in our midst,
And we are called by Your name;
Do not leave us!

10 Thus says the LORD to this people:

"Thus they have loved to wander;
They have not restrained their feet.
Therefore the LORD does not accept them;
He will remember their iniquity now,
And punish their sins."

11 Then the LORD said to me, "Do not pray for this people, for their good. 12 When they fast, I will not hear their cry; and when they offer burnt offering and grain offering, I will not accept them. But I will consume them by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence."

13 Then I said, "Ah, Lord GOD! Behold, the prophets say to them, 'You shall not see the sword, nor shall you have famine, but I will give you assured peace in this place.' "

14 And the LORD said to me, "The prophets prophesy lies in My name. I have not sent them, commanded them, nor spoken to them; they prophesy to you a false vision, divination, a worthless thing, and the deceit of their heart. 15 Therefore thus says the LORD concerning the prophets who prophesy in My name, whom I did not send, and who say, 'Sword and famine shall not be in this land'—'By sword and famine those prophets shall be consumed! 16 And the people to whom they prophesy shall be cast out in the streets of Jerusalem because of the famine and the sword; they will have no one to bury them—them nor their wives, their sons nor their daughters—for I will pour their wickedness on them.'

17 "Therefore you shall say this word to them:

'Let my eyes flow with tears night and day,
And let them not cease;
For the virgin daughter of my people
Has been broken with a mighty stroke, with a very severe blow.
18 If I go out to the field,
Then behold, those slain with the sword!
And if I enter the city,
Then behold, those sick from famine!
Yes, both prophet and priest go about in a land they do not know.' "

The People Plead for Mercy

19 Have You utterly rejected Judah?
Has Your soul loathed Zion?
Why have You stricken us so that there is no healing for us?
We looked for peace, but there was no good;
And for the time of healing, and there was trouble.
20 We acknowledge, O LORD, our wickedness
And the iniquity of our fathers,
For we have sinned against You.
21 Do not abhor us, for Your name's sake;
Do not disgrace the throne of Your glory.
Remember, do not break Your covenant with us.
22 Are there any among the idols of the nations that can cause rain?
Or can the heavens give showers?
Are You not He, O LORD our God?
Therefore we will wait for You,
Since You have made all these.

The LORD Will Not Relent

15 Then the LORD said to me, "Even if Moses and Samuel stood before Me, My mind would not be favorable toward this people. Cast them out of My sight, and let them go forth. 2 And 14:7–9 Jeremiah's appeal for God's help and deliverance was powerful. He questioned the balance of judgment and mercy in the character of God. The Lord was as equally God of the covenant when He fulfilled the curses of the covenant as when He fulfilled the blessings.

14:9 The assertion that the people were "called" by God's "name" was an attempt to invoke God's covenantal protection and presence. In ancient Near Eastern treaties, the inferior party pledged obedience, and the superior pledged to protect the weaker (see Ex. 19:5, note). Judah had rejected God and so invalidated any hope of divine protection.

14:15, 16 The people of Judah had not obeyed the Lord's command to put false prophets to death (Deut. 13:1–5; 18:20). Rather, they had welcomed them. Therefore, God would destroy both prophets and people by reversing the false prophecy of deliverance and turning it into a death sentence.

14:21 God is petitioned, for the sake of His name or His glory, not to reject His people. God's name represents His character or reputation. This confession is a typical lament and a concise summary of many of the themes of Jeremiah's prophecy: the people's sin; the covenant; God's superiority to the idols; and God's glory (lit. "weightiness"; see Ps. 19:1–15, note).

15:1 Two of Israel's great intercessors are used to illustrate the depth of the people's sin and the irrevocability of God's it shall be, if they say to you, 'Where should we go?' then you shall tell them, 'Thus says the LORD:

"Such as are for death, to death;
And such as are for the sword, to the sword;
And such as are for the famine, to the famine;
And such as are for the captivity, to the captivity." '

3"And I will appoint over them four forms of destruction," says the LORD: "the sword to slay, the dogs to drag, the birds of the heavens and the beasts of the earth to devour and destroy. 4I will hand them over to trouble, to all kingdoms of the earth, because of Manasseh the son of Hezekiah, king of Judah, for what he did in Jerusalem.

5"For who will have pity on you, O Jerusalem?
Or who will bemoan you?
Or who will turn aside to ask how you are doing?
6You have forsaken Me," says the LORD,
"You have gone backward.
Therefore I will stretch out My hand against you and destroy you;
I am weary of relenting!
7And I will winnow them with a winnowing fan in the gates of the land;
I will bereave them of children;
I will destroy My people,
Since they do not return from their ways.
8Their widows will be increased to Me more than the sand of the seas;
I will bring against them,
Against the mother of the young men,
A plunderer at noonday;
I will cause anguish and terror to fall on them suddenly.

9"She languishes who has borne seven;
She has breathed her last;
Her sun has gone down
While it was yet day;
She has been ashamed and confounded.
And the remnant of them I will deliver to the sword
Before their enemies," says the LORD.

Jeremiah's Dejection

10Woe is me, my mother,
That you have borne me,
A man of strife and a man of contention to the whole earth!
I have neither lent for interest,
Nor have men lent to me for interest.
Every one of them curses me.

11The LORD said:

"Surely it will be well with your remnant;
Surely I will cause the enemy to intercede with you
In the time of adversity and in the time of affliction.
12Can anyone break iron,
The northern iron and the bronze?
13Your wealth and your treasures
I will give as plunder without price,
Because of all your sins,
Throughout your territories.
14And I will make you cross over with[a] your enemies
Into a land which you do not know;
For a fire is kindled in My anger,
Which shall burn upon you."
15O LORD, You know;
Remember me and visit me,

15:14 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Vulgate; Septuagint, Syriac, and Targum read cause you to serve (compare 17:4).

judgment. Moses pleaded with God for rebellious Israel (Ex. 32:11–14, 30–32), and his intercession was heard. Samuel, too, pleaded for Israel (1 Sam. 7:8, 9; 12:19–25), and God answered.

15:3 Four forms of destruction project a poetic description of the complete judgment of Judah. The imagery of beasts and birds devouring human flesh vividly portrays an unclean death.

15:4 Manasseh, son of the good king Hezekiah, is considered Judah's most wicked king (2 Kin. 21:1–18). He led the people into grotesque forms of sin and idolatry, and so is credited as being a primary cause of Judah's eventual destruction.

15:6 God enforced the moral law of the covenant with grief. "Relenting" (Heb. naham) may include the ideas of pity and compassion. Judgment had come. The Lord's hand indicated His power.

15:8, 9 Grief is one of the results of war women must bear. The image of widows more numerous than the sands of the sea is a tragic reversal of the Abrahamic covenant, which promised innumerable offspring (Gen. 22:17). The "mother of the young men" was honored and considered to be blessed greatly (Ruth 4:15). The mother with "seven" sons would have her happiness complete (see chart, The Significance of Numbers in Scripture), but this mother would lose all (Jer. 15:9).

15:10–21 Both Jeremiah's weakness and God's reassurance were revealed. The prophet's addressing his mother illustrates the tenderness of his own character. The text implies that she was still living. Jeremiah's grief was intensified as he was reminded of his mother's sorrow and suffering on his behalf (see 1 Sam. 1, Motherhood; see also Luke 2:35). The Lord dealt with Jeremiah differently than He did with the people. They have been judged as beyond repentance. Jeremiah was given hope and encouragement. Jeremiah 15:12–14 was fulfilled when the temple and the city of Jerusalem were plundered (see Jer. 52). Jeremiah 15:20 and 21 contain the same vocabulary found in Jeremiah's original call (see Jer. 1:8, 18, 19).

And take vengeance for me on my persecutors.
In Your enduring patience, do not take me away.
Know that for Your sake I have suffered rebuke.
16 Your words were found, and I ate them,
And Your word was to me the joy and rejoicing of my heart;
For I am called by Your name,
O LORD God of hosts.
17 I did not sit in the assembly of the mockers,
Nor did I rejoice;
I sat alone because of Your hand,
For You have filled me with indignation.
18 Why is my pain perpetual
And my wound incurable,
Which refuses to be healed?
Will You surely be to me like an unreliable stream,
As waters that fail?

The LORD Reassures Jeremiah

19 Therefore thus says the LORD:

"If you return,
Then I will bring you back;
You shall stand before Me;
If you take out the precious from the vile,
You shall be as My mouth.
Let them return to you,
But you must not return to them.
20 And I will make you to this people a fortified bronze wall;
And they will fight against you,
But they shall not prevail against you;
For I am with you to save you
And deliver you," says the LORD.
21 "I will deliver you from the hand of the wicked,
And I will redeem you from the grip of the terrible."

Jeremiah's Life-Style and Message

16 The word of the LORD also came to me, saying, 2 "You shall not take a wife, nor shall you have sons or daughters in this place." 3 For thus says the LORD concerning the sons and daughters who are born in this place, and concerning their mothers who bore them and their fathers who begot them in this land: 4 "They shall die gruesome deaths; they shall not be lamented nor shall they be buried, but they shall be like refuse on the face of the earth. They shall be consumed by the sword and by famine, and their corpses shall be meat for the birds of heaven and for the beasts of the earth."

5 For thus says the LORD: "Do not enter the house of mourning, nor go to lament or bemoan them; for I have taken away My peace from this people," says the LORD, "lovingkindness and mercies. 6 Both the great and the small shall die in this land. They shall not be buried; neither shall men lament for them, cut themselves, nor make themselves bald for them. 7 Nor shall men break bread in mourning for them, to comfort them for the dead; nor shall men give them the cup of consolation to drink for their father or their mother. 8 Also you shall not go into the house of feasting to sit with them, to eat and drink."

9 For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "Behold, I will cause to cease from this place, before your eyes and in your days, the voice of mirth and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride.

10 "And it shall be, when you show this people all these words, and they say to you, 'Why has the LORD pronounced all this great disaster against us? Or what is our iniquity? Or what is our sin that we have committed against the LORD our God?' 11 then you shall say to them, 'Because your fathers have forsaken Me,' says the LORD; 'they have walked after other gods and have served them and worshiped them, and have forsaken Me and not kept My law. 12 And you have done worse than your fathers, for behold, each one follows the dictates of his own evil heart, so that no one listens to Me. 13 Therefore I will cast you out of this land into a land that you do not know, neither you nor your fathers; and there you shall serve other gods day and night, where I will not show you favor.'

God Will Restore Israel

14 "Therefore behold, the days are coming," says the LORD, "that it shall no more be said, 'The LORD lives who brought up the children of Israel from the land of Egypt,' 15 but, 'The LORD lives who brought up the children of Israel from the land of 16:2 The prophetic word often is proclaimed through the life of a prophet. Jeremiah's call to celibacy is unique in the OT. In the ancient Near East, marriage was considered the natural state, and children were viewed as a blessing (Gen. 22:17; Ps. 127:3–5). Sterility and barrenness were regarded as a curse (1 Sam. 1:6–8). Jeremiah's celibacy was a dramatic witness that Judah's end was near. He faced life with God as his sole comfort and support.

16:5 Jeremiah, as well as Ezekiel, was commanded by God not to mourn (Ezek. 24:16, 17, 22, 23). To "cut themselves" and to "make themselves bald" were acts of self-mutilation closely associated with pagan cults (Jer. 16:6). Though they were expressly forbidden in Israel, the people practiced these acts (Lev. 19:27, 28; 21:5).

16:12 The sin of Judah was individual as well as corporate. Judgment would not be blamed on the sins of previous generations. Individual responsibility was a major teaching of Jeremiah (Jer. 31:30) and Ezekiel (Ezek. 18:1–4).

16:14, 15 The future restoration of Israel would surpass the ancient deliverance from Egypt. The "land of the north" refers to the Babylonian Empire.

An iron is fashioned by fire and on an anvil, so in fire of suffering and under the weight of trials, our souls receive the form which our Lord desires them to have.

St. Madeleine Sophie Barat

the north and from all the lands where He had driven them.' For I will bring them back into their land which I gave to their fathers.

16"Behold, I will send for many fishermen," says the LORD, "and they shall fish them; and afterward I will send for many hunters, and they shall hunt them from every mountain and every hill, and out of the holes of the rocks. 17For My eyes are on all their ways; they are not hidden from My face, nor is their iniquity hidden from My eyes. 18And first I will repay double for their iniquity and their sin, because they have defiled My land; they have filled My inheritance with the carcasses of their detestable and abominable idols."

19O LORD, my strength and my fortress,
My refuge in the day of affliction,
The Gentiles shall come to You
From the ends of the earth and say,
"Surely our fathers have inherited lies,
Worthlessness and unprofitable things."
20Will a man make gods for himself,
Which are not gods?

21"Therefore behold, I will this once cause them to know,
I will cause them to know
My hand and My might;
And they shall know that My name is the LORD.

Judah's Sin and Punishment

17 "The sin of Judah is written with a pen of iron;
With the point of a diamond it is engraved
On the tablet of their heart,
And on the horns of your altars,
2While their children remember
Their altars and their wooden images[a]
By the green trees on the high hills.
3O My mountain in the field,
I will give as plunder your wealth, all your treasures,
And your high places of sin within all your borders.
4And you, even yourself,
Shall let go of your heritage which I gave you;
And I will cause you to serve your enemies
In the land which you do not know;
For you have kindled a fire in My anger which shall burn forever."

5Thus says the LORD:

"Cursed is the man who trusts in man
And makes flesh his strength,
Whose heart departs from the LORD.
6For he shall be like a shrub in the desert,
And shall not see when good comes,
But shall inhabit the parched places in the wilderness,
In a salt land which is not inhabited.

7"Blessed is the man who trusts in the LORD,
And whose hope is the LORD.
8For he shall be like a tree planted by the waters,
Which spreads out its roots by the river,
And will not fear[a] when heat comes;
But its leaf will be green,
And will not be anxious in the year of drought,
Nor will cease from yielding fruit.

9"The heart is deceitful above all things,
And desperately wicked;
Who can know it?
10I, the LORD, search the heart,

17:2 [a]Hebrew Asherim, Canaanite deities 17:8 [a]Qere and Targum read see.

16:19–21 Israel's future restoration not only would bring God's people back to their Promised Land, but it also would bring the offer of salvation to the nations.

17:1 Judah's sin is entrenched deeply. It is compared to an inscription carved into a rock face that cannot be erased. Only when God writes His law on the people's hearts can obedience replace rebellion (Jer. 31:31–34).

17:3 My mountain refers to Mt. Zion, the location of the temple in Jerusalem. "High places" were the locations of idol worship.

17:5–8 The curse of trusting in human strength is contrasted with the blessings of trusting in God (vv. 5–13). The truth that the person who trusts in the Lord of the covenant and surrenders to Him will be blessed is here affirmed with illustrations. These words bear a marked similarity to Psalm 1.

17:9, 10 The heart (Heb. leb) refers to the mind, the source of thinking, feeling, and action. The Hebrews viewed the heart as the center of life. It is desperately deceitful and incurably sick. Yet God not only knows the heart, He searches it. The "heart" and the "mind" encompass human emotions and together cover the hidden elements in a person's character and personality.

I test the mind,
Even to give every man according to his ways,
According to the fruit of his doings.

11"As a partridge that broods but does not hatch,
So is he who gets riches, but not by right;
It will leave him in the midst of his days,
And at his end he will be a fool."

12A glorious high throne from the beginning
Is the place of our sanctuary.
13O LORD, the hope of Israel,
All who forsake You shall be ashamed.

"Those who depart from Me
Shall be written in the earth,
Because they have forsaken the LORD,
The fountain of living waters."

Jeremiah Prays for Deliverance

14Heal me, O LORD, and I shall be healed;
Save me, and I shall be saved,
For You are my praise.
15Indeed they say to me,
"Where is the word of the LORD?
Let it come now!"
16As for me, I have not hurried away from being a shepherd who follows You,
Nor have I desired the woeful day;
You know what came out of my lips;
It was right there before You.
17Do not be a terror to me;
You are my hope in the day of doom.
18Let them be ashamed who persecute me,
But do not let me be put to shame;
Let them be dismayed,
But do not let me be dismayed.
Bring on them the day of doom,
And destroy them with double destruction!

Hallow the Sabbath Day

19Thus the LORD said to me: "Go and stand in the gate of the children of the people, by which the kings of Judah come in and by which they go out, and in all the gates of Jerusalem; 20and say to them, 'Hear the word of the LORD, you kings of Judah, and all Judah, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, who enter by these gates. 21Thus says the LORD: "Take heed to yourselves, and bear no burden on the Sabbath day, nor bring it in by the gates of Jerusalem; 22nor carry a burden out of your houses on the Sabbath day, nor do any work, but hallow the Sabbath day, as I commanded your fathers. 23But they did not obey nor incline their ear, but made their neck stiff, that they might not hear nor receive instruction.

24"And it shall be, if you heed Me carefully," says the LORD, "to bring no burden through the gates of this city on the Sabbath day, but hallow the Sabbath day, to do no work in it, 25then shall enter the gates of this city kings and princes sitting on the throne of David, riding in chariots and on horses, they and their princes, accompanied by the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem; and this city shall remain forever. 26And they shall come from the cities of Judah and from the places around Jerusalem, from the land of Benjamin and from the lowland, from the mountains and from the South, bringing burnt offerings and sacrifices, grain offerings and incense, bringing sacrifices of praise to the house of the LORD.

27"But if you will not heed Me to hallow the Sabbath day, such as not carrying a burden when entering the gates of Jerusalem on the Sabbath day, then I will kindle a fire in its gates, and it shall devour the palaces of Jerusalem, and it shall not be quenched." ' "

The Potter and the Clay

18 The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying: 2"Arise and go down to the potter's house, and there I will cause you to hear My words." 3Then I went down to the potter's house, and there he was, making something at the wheel. 4And the vessel that he made of clay was marred in the hand of the potter; so he made it again into another vessel, as it seemed good to the potter to make.

5Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying: 6"O house of Israel, can I not do with you as this potter?" says the LORD. "Look, as the clay is in the potter's hand, so are you in My hand, O house

17:11 This simile of nature portrays the prosperity of the wicked as a foolish delusion. Popular belief held that a "partridge" would hatch eggs that were not her own. When the young recognized the difference, they would abandon the mother.

17:13 Written in the earth perhaps means "written in the sand" and thus soon forgotten, referring to the death of those who had forsaken God (Ex. 32:32). In contrast, note those who are "written in the Book of Life" (Dan. 12:1, 2; Rev. 20:11–15).

17:19–27 Keeping the Sabbath was vitally important for the future of Judah (see Ex. 20:8–11; Deut. 5:12–15). If the people guarded this day, as God had instructed, then the Land would be blessed. If they violated its sanctity, then Jerusalem would be destroyed. The keeping of the Sabbath had become to the people of Judah a symbol of their entire relationship with God.

18:1–3 The prophets heard God speak in the simple events of daily life. Jeremiah had heard the word of the Lord while observing an almond tree (Jer. 1:11, 12) and a boiling pot (Jer. 1:13, 14), and now while watching a potter shape clay.

18:4–6 God is in control (see 1 Tim. 6:15). "Marred" (Heb. nishchath) suggests two variations in meaning: "morally corrupt" (Gen. 6:11) or "physically ruined" (Jer. 13:7). The marred clay would be used for another purpose. As a potter has absolute authority over the clay to fashion it into whatever he wishes, so the Lord God of Israel has the power to do what He chooses with His people.

of Israel! 7The instant I speak concerning a nation and concerning a kingdom, to pluck up, to pull down, and to destroy it, 8if that nation against whom I have spoken turns from its evil, I will relent of the disaster that I thought to bring upon it. 9And the instant I speak concerning a nation and concerning a kingdom, to build and to plant it, 10if it does evil in My sight so that it does not obey My voice, then I will relent concerning the good with which I said I would benefit it.

11"Now therefore, speak to the men of Judah and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, saying, 'Thus says the LORD: "Behold, I am fashioning a disaster and devising a plan against you. Return now every one from his evil way, and make your ways and your doings good." '"

God's Warning Rejected

12And they said, "That is hopeless! So we will walk according to our own plans, and we will every one obey the dictates of his evil heart."

13Therefore thus says the LORD:

"Ask now among the Gentiles,
Who has heard such things?
The virgin of Israel has done a very horrible thing.
14Will a man leave the snow water of Lebanon,
Which comes from the rock of the field?
Will the cold flowing waters be forsaken for strange waters?

15"Because My people have forgotten Me,
They have burned incense to worthless idols.
And they have caused themselves to stumble in their ways,
From the ancient paths,
To walk in pathways and not on a highway, 16To make their land desolate and a perpetual hissing;
Everyone who passes by it will be astonished
And shake his head.
17I will scatter them as with an east wind before the enemy;
I will show them[a] the back and not the face
In the day of their calamity."

Jeremiah Persecuted

18Then they said, "Come and let us devise plans against Jeremiah; for the law shall not perish from the priest, nor counsel from the wise, nor the word from the prophet. Come and let us attack him with the tongue, and let us not give heed to any of his words."

19Give heed to me, O LORD,
And listen to the voice of those who contend with me!
20Shall evil be repaid for good?
For they have dug a pit for my life.
Remember that I stood before You
To speak good for them,
To turn away Your wrath from them.
21Therefore deliver up their children to the famine,
And pour out their blood
By the force of the sword;
Let their wives become widows
And bereaved of their children.
Let their men be put to death,
Their young men be slain
By the sword in battle.
22Let a cry be heard from their houses,
When You bring a troop suddenly upon them;
For they have dug a pit to take me,
And hidden snares for my feet.
23Yet, LORD, You know all their counsel
Which is against me, to slay me.
Provide no atonement for their iniquity,
Nor blot out their sin from Your sight;
But let them be overthrown before You.
Deal thus with them
In the time of Your anger.

The Sign of the Broken Flask

19 Thus says the LORD: "Go and get a potter's earthen flask, and take some of the elders of the people and some of the elders of the priests.
2And go out to the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, which is by the entry of the Potsherd Gate; and proclaim there the words that I will tell you, 3and

18:17 [a]Following Septuagint, Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate; Masoretic Text reads look them in.

18:13 Israel did not remain chaste as a "virgin" awaiting her husband. Instead, she corrupted herself with the practices of pagan religions, usually through participating in some of the sexually oriented, Canaanite rituals. Jeremiah noted Israel's behavior with astonishment. The peoples of the ancient Near East considered their gods to be one with their culture and national identity. To abandon a "god" would be to deny themselves of their personal identity. Yet Israel had abandoned the living God.

18:16, 17 God withheld His face or His grace from His people. Ancient Near Eastern cultures were more shame-based than modern western peoples. To face scorn and degradation would have been to endure physical pain and loss.

18:18–23 Jeremiah's prayer was an honest and heartfelt response to the wickedness plotted against him. He called upon God to allow the curses of the broken covenant to take effect. Jeremiah found comfort in the Lord's knowledge of his situation.

19:2 The Potsherd Gate is identified with the Dung or Refuse Gate (Neh. 2:13), which indicated that the city dump was nearby. Potsherds are broken pieces of pottery.

say, 'Hear the word of the LORD, O kings of Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem. Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "Behold, I will bring such a catastrophe on this place, that whoever hears of it, his ears will tingle.

4"'Because they have forsaken Me and made this an alien place, because they have burned incense in it to other gods whom neither they, their fathers, nor the kings of Judah have known, and have filled this place with the blood of the innocents 5(they have also built the high places of Baal, to burn their sons with fire for burnt offerings to Baal, which I did not command or speak, nor did it come into My mind), 6therefore behold, the days are coming," says the LORD, "that this place shall no more be called Tophet or the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, but the Valley of Slaughter. 7And I will make void the counsel of Judah and Jerusalem in this place, and I will cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies and by the hands of those who seek their lives; their corpses I will give as meat for the birds of the heaven and for the beasts of the earth. 8I will make this city desolate and a hissing; everyone who passes by it will be astonished and hiss because of all its plagues. 9And I will cause them to eat the flesh of their sons and the flesh of their daughters, and everyone shall eat the flesh of his friend in the siege and in the desperation with which their enemies and those who seek their lives shall drive them to despair." '

10"'Then you shall break the flask in the sight of the men who go with you, 11and say to them, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts: "Even so I will break this people and this city, as one breaks a potter's vessel, which cannot be made whole again; and they shall bury them in Tophet till there is no place to bury. 12Thus I will do to this place," says the LORD, "and to its inhabitants, and make this city like Tophet. 13And the houses of Jerusalem and the houses of the kings of Judah shall be defiled like the place of Tophet, because of all the houses on whose roofs they have burned incense to all the host of heaven, and poured out drink offerings to other gods." ' "

14Then Jeremiah came from Tophet, where the LORD had sent him to prophesy; and he stood in the court of the Lord's house and said to all the people, 15"'Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: 'Behold, I will bring on this city and on all her towns all the doom that I have pronounced against it, because they have stiffened their necks that they might not hear My words.' "

The Word of God to Pashhur

20 Now Pashhur the son of Immer, the priest who was also chief governor in the house of the LORD, heard that Jeremiah prophesied these things. 2Then Pashhur struck Jeremiah the prophet, and put him in the stocks that were in the high gate of Benjamin, which was by the house of the LORD.

3And it happened on the next day that Pashhur brought Jeremiah out of the stocks. Then Jeremiah said to him, "The LORD has not called your name Pashhur, but Magor-Missabib.[a] 4For thus says the LORD: 'Behold, I will make you a terror to yourself and to all your friends; and they shall fall by the sword of their enemies, and your eyes shall see it. I will give all Judah into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall carry them captive to Babylon and slay them with the sword. 5Moreover I will deliver all the wealth of this city, all its produce, and all its precious things; all the treasures of the kings of Judah I will give into the hand of their enemies, who will plunder them, seize them, and carry them to Babylon. 6And you, Pashhur, and all who dwell in your house, shall go

20:3 [a]Literally Fear on Every Side

19:4–6 Abandoning the true God and following idols was not only a violation of the first commandment but also involved a host of corollary sins included in pagan worship with the worst being human sacrifice.

19:8 Hissing was then, as it still is in the Middle East, a sign of derision. "Desolate" (Heb. shamah) may be translated "waste" or "horror."

19:9 The people had destroyed one another by participation in ritual human sacrifice. God's judgment would confirm them in mutual self-destruction. Eating flesh was one of the curses for disobedience (Deut. 28:53–57). This prophecy was literally fulfilled first in 586 B.C. and again in A.D. 70, as recorded by the historian Josephus. Under pressure of siege, the people of Jerusalem ate the flesh of their children and devoured one another (Lam. 2:20; 4:10).

19:10, 11 Jeremiah completed the parable. God commanded Jeremiah to break the flask and in the name of the Lord to predict the destruction of the city. The first analogy emphasizes God's sovereignty over His people (Jer. 18:1–6); the image here underscores God's power to accomplish His purposes.

20:1–6 Jeremiah faced opposition because he faithfully proclaimed the word of the Lord. The religious leaders, who should have been the first to respond to Jeremiah's message, ironically were the ones who most vehemently opposed it. This passage is the first record of physical violence against Jeremiah (v. 2) and the first time the title "prophet" was applied to him.

20:3 To name something, in Hebrew thought, is to control it, to own it, or to bring out its true essence (Gen. 2:19–23; Dan. 1:6, 7). Here, God's renaming of Pashhur, a high official in the temple, shows God's power over him in judgment (see Is. 45, Naming of Children). The name Magor-Missabib means "Fear on Every Side."

20:4 The king of Babylon was Nebuchadnezzar, who assumed the throne of Babylon in 605 B.C. (see chart, The Kings of Babylon). As the time of destruction drew near, Jeremiah became more specific concerning the details of Judah's demise.

into captivity. You shall go to Babylon, and there you shall die, and be buried there, you and all your friends, to whom you have prophesied lies.' "

Jeremiah's Unpopular Ministry

7 O LORD, You induced me, and I was persuaded;
You are stronger than I, and have prevailed.
I am in derision daily;
Everyone mocks me.
8 For when I spoke, I cried out;
I shouted, "Violence and plunder!"
Because the word of the LORD was made to me
A reproach and a derision daily.
9 Then I said, "I will not make mention of Him, Nor speak anymore in His name."
But His word was in my heart like a burning fire
Shut up in my bones;
I was weary of holding it back,
And I could not.
10 For I heard many mocking:
"Fear on every side!"
"Report," they say, "and we will report it!"
All my acquaintances watched for my stumbling, saying,
"Perhaps he can be induced;
Then we will prevail against him,
And we will take our revenge on him."

11 But the LORD is with me as a mighty, awesome One.
Therefore my persecutors will stumble, and will not prevail.
They will be greatly ashamed, for they will not prosper.
Their everlasting confusion will never be forgotten.
12 But, O LORD of hosts,
You who test the righteous,
And see the mind and heart,
Let me see Your vengeance on them;
For I have pleaded my cause before You.

13 Sing to the LORD! Praise the LORD!
For He has delivered the life of the poor
From the hand of evildoers.

14 Cursed be the day in which I was born!
Let the day not be blessed in which my mother bore me!
15 Let the man be cursed
Who brought news to my father, saying,
"A male child has been born to you!"
Making him very glad.
16 And let that man be like the cities
Which the LORD overthrew, and did not relent;
Let him hear the cry in the morning
And the shouting at noon,
17 Because he did not kill me from the womb,
That my mother might have been my grave,
And her womb always enlarged with me.
18 Why did I come forth from the womb to see labor and sorrow,
That my days should be consumed with shame?

Jerusalem's Doom Is Sealed

21 The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD when King Zedekiah sent to him Pashhur the son of Melchiah, and Zephaniah the son of Maaseiah, the priest, saying, 2 "Please inquire of the LORD for us, for Nebuchadnezzar[a] king of Babylon makes war against us. Perhaps the LORD will deal with us according to all His wonderful works, that the king may go away from us."

3 Then Jeremiah said to them, "Thus you shall say to Zedekiah, 4 'Thus says the LORD God of Israel: "Behold, I will turn back the weapons of war that are in

21:2 [a]Hebrew Nebuchadrezzar, and so elsewhere

20:7–18 This last and longest of Jeremiah's confessions is similar to the psalms of lament. The progression is the same: Jeremiah first complained about the consequences of his call to ministry, then found hope in the Lord his God (see Ps. 22).

20:9 The imagery here is a powerful way of portraying the inner psychological necessity that Jeremiah felt. As a hungry fire must consume everything it touches, so the word of God in Jeremiah had to find an outlet. The verb "weary" in Hebrew thought implies a struggle to the point of exhaustion.

20:13 Contemplation of the promise of protection led Jeremiah to an outburst of praise. God is the God who protects the "poor," those who are in need and cannot help themselves.

20:14, 15 Jeremiah's crisis reached its peak. He avoided cursing either God or his parents, capital offenses in Israel (Lev. 20:9; 24:10–16), by cursing the day he was born (see Job 3:3).

20:14–18 Jeremiah again lapsed into despair, even after remembering the promise of God and praising Him for it. Note the balanced order of this lament: complaint (vv. 7–10); promise and praise (vv. 11–13); complaint (vv. 14–18). The placing of the promise and praise in the central position of this triad suggests that this was the most important element of the section. Jeremiah lamented, while acknowledging God's sovereignty and grace, which took priority over his difficult circumstances.

21:1 Pashhur, son of Melchiah, is not the same Pashhur of Jeremiah 20:1–6 (see Jer. 38:1). The priest Zephaniah is not the same person as the prophet Zephaniah (see Jer. 29:25, 29; 37:3; 52:24; Zeph. 1:1). King Zedekiah finally acknowledged Jeremiah as a true prophet and sought his intercession, but it was too little too late.

your hands, with which you fight against the king of Babylon and the Chaldeans[a] who besiege you outside the walls; and I will assemble them in the midst of this city. 5I Myself will fight against you with an outstretched hand and with a strong arm, even in anger and fury and great wrath. 6I will strike the inhabitants of this city, both man and beast; they shall die of a great pestilence. 7And afterward," says the LORD, "I will deliver Zedekiah king of Judah, his servants and the people, and such as are left in this city from the pestilence and the sword and the famine, into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those who seek their life; and he shall strike them with the edge of the sword. He shall not spare them, or have pity or mercy." '

8"Now you shall say to this people, 'Thus says the LORD: "Behold, I set before you the way of life and the way of death. 9He who remains in this city shall die by the sword, by famine, and by pestilence; but he who goes out and defects to the Chaldeans who besiege you, he shall live, and his life shall be as a prize to him. 10For I have set My face against this city for adversity and not for good," says the LORD. "It shall be given into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall burn it with fire." '

Message to the House of David

11"And concerning the house of the king of Judah, say, 'Hear the word of the LORD, 12O house of David! Thus says the LORD:

"Execute judgment in the morning;
And deliver him who is plundered
Out of the hand of the oppressor,
Lest My fury go forth like fire
And burn so that no one can quench it,
Because of the evil of your doings.

13"Behold, I am against you, O inhabitant of the valley,
And rock of the plain," says the LORD,
"Who say, 'Who shall come down against us?
Or who shall enter our dwellings?'
14But I will punish you according to the fruit of your doings," says the LORD;
"I will kindle a fire in its forest,
And it shall devour all things around it." ' "

22 Thus says the LORD: "Go down to the house of the king of Judah, and there speak this word, 2and say, 'Hear the word of the LORD, O king of Judah, you who sit on the throne of David, you and your servants and your people who enter these gates! 3Thus says the LORD: "Execute judgment and righteousness, and deliver the plundered out of the hand of the oppressor. Do no wrong and do no violence to the stranger, the fatherless, or the widow, nor shed innocent blood in this place. 4For if you indeed do this thing, then shall enter the gates of this house, riding on horses and in chariots, accompanied by servants and people, kings who sit on the throne of David. 5But if you will not hear these words, I swear by Myself," says the LORD, "that this house shall become a desolation." ' "

6For thus says the LORD to the house of the king of Judah:

"You are Gilead to Me,
The head of Lebanon;
Yet I surely will make you a wilderness,
Cities which are not inhabited.
7I will prepare destroyers against you,
Everyone with his weapons;
They shall cut down your choice cedars
And cast them into the fire.

8And many nations will pass by this city; and everyone will say to his neighbor, 'Why has the LORD done so to this great city?' 9Then they will answer, 'Because they have forsaken the covenant of the LORD their God, and worshiped other gods and served them.' "

21:4 [a]Or Babylonians

21:5 The divine Warrior image, which portrays God as fighting on behalf of His people, is reversed (Josh. 10:9–15). Not only would God not perform marvelous works on behalf of Judah, He would actively oppose His people.

21:7 This prophecy of doom was fulfilled (Jer. 52:8–11, 24–27; see Ezek. 12:10–14).

21:9, 10 The way of life was the way of submission to the Lord's will. Paradoxically, obedience to the Lord no longer meant fighting, but submitting to Judah's enemies. Jeremiah 21:9 was fulfilled (Jer. 39:9; 52:15).

22:1 The king of Judah is probably Zedekiah (Jer. 21:3, 7).

22:3, 4 Kings of Israel and Judah are evaluated according to whether they did good or evil in the sight of the Lord. The Books of Kings and Chronicles record the various fortunes of these kings. Under a wicked king, idolatry and various forms of sin raged unchecked, especially oppression of the needy and injustice to the most vulnerable in society, and most of the people gave themselves wholeheartedly to such activities (see Mal. 3:5; Luke 4, Poverty; 9, the Homeless). Under a righteous king, these activities were severely limited, although not totally eliminated. God had delayed judgment on Judah because of the reforms of righteous kings (Hezekiah, 2 Kin. 19:14—20:21; Josiah, 2 Kin. 22:1—23:25).

22:5 This prophecy was fulfilled (Jer. 52:13).

22:9 The pagan nations would know why Jerusalem had been destroyed and its inhabitants deported. God preserved His witness to the world as much in His judgment of Judah as in His kindness toward His people. Worshiping and serving other gods violated the first two commandments of the Sinai covenant (Ex. 20:3–5).

10 Weep not for the dead, nor bemoan him;
Weep bitterly for him who goes away,
For he shall return no more,
Nor see his native country.

Message to the Sons of Josiah

11 For thus says the LORD concerning Shallum[a] the son of Josiah, king of Judah, who reigned instead of Josiah his father, who went from this place: "He shall not return here anymore, 12 but he shall die in the place where they have led him captive, and shall see this land no more.

13 "Woe to him who builds his house by unrighteousness
And his chambers by injustice,
Who uses his neighbor's service without wages
And gives him nothing for his work,
14 Who says, 'I will build myself a wide house with spacious chambers,
And cut out windows for it,
Paneling it with cedar
And painting it with vermilion.'

15 "Shall you reign because you enclose yourself in cedar?
Did not your father eat and drink,
And do justice and righteousness?
Then it was well with him.
16 He judged the cause of the poor and needy;
Then it was well.
Was not this knowing Me?" says the LORD.
17 "Yet your eyes and your heart are for nothing but your covetousness,
For shedding innocent blood,
And practicing oppression and violence."

18 Therefore thus says the LORD concerning Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah:

"They shall not lament for him,
Saying, 'Alas, my brother!' or 'Alas, my sister!'
They shall not lament for him,
Saying, 'Alas, master!' or 'Alas, his glory!'
19 He shall be buried with the burial of a donkey,
Dragged and cast out beyond the gates of Jerusalem.

20 "Go up to Lebanon, and cry out,
And lift up your voice in Bashan;
Cry from Abarim,
For all your lovers are destroyed.
21 I spoke to you in your prosperity,
But you said, 'I will not hear.'
This has been your manner from your youth,
That you did not obey My voice.
22 The wind shall eat up all your rulers,
And your lovers shall go into captivity;
Surely then you will be ashamed and humiliated
For all your wickedness.
23 O inhabitant of Lebanon,
Making your nest in the cedars,
How gracious will you be when pangs come upon you,
Like the pain of a woman in labor?

Message to Coniah

24 "As I live," says the LORD, "though Coniah[a] the son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, were the signet on My right hand, yet I would pluck you off; 25 and I will give you into the hand of those who seek your life, and into the hand of those whose face you fear—the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and the hand of the Chaldeans. 26 So I will cast you out, and your mother who bore you, into another country where you were not born; and there you shall die. 27 But to the land to which they desire to return, there they shall not return.

28 "Is this man Coniah a despised, broken idol—
A vessel in which is no pleasure?
Why are they cast out, he and his descendants,
And cast into a land which they do not know?
29 O earth, earth, earth,
Hear the word of the LORD!
30 Thus says the LORD:
'Write this man down as childless,

22:11 [a]Also called Jehoahaz 22:24 [a]Also called Jeconiah and Jehoiachin

22:10–19 The dead refers to Josiah who was mourned long after he was killed at the Battle of Megiddo in 609 B.C. (2 Chr. 35:20–25). Shallum is the one who went away. He was carried to Egypt in 609 B.C. and died in exile. Shallum is an alternate name of Jehoahaz (see chart, The Kings With Two Names). Two poems draw a contrast between Josiah and his successors, Shallum and Jehoiakim. The first contrast invites pity (Jer. 22:10–12); the second invites scorn (Jer. 22:13–19). Both Shallum (Jehoahaz) and Jehoiakim were sons of Josiah.

22:20–23 Bashan is in the Transjordan toward the northeast of Israel. Abarim is a mountainous region in Moab to the southeast. It includes Mt. Nebo where Moses first saw the Promised Land (Deut. 32:49). Judah's "lovers" are the political allies to whom she turned for help. Jerusalem is personified as a woman in this lament. When calamity came, she would experience the pain of a woman in childbirth.

22:24 Coniah also is known as Jehoiachin or Jeconiah (Jer. 24:1; see chart, The Kings With Two Names). The removal of the signet ring, which was used to authenticate all official documents, edicts, and correspondence, signified a rejection of Jehoiachin's kingship, but the Davidic monarchy would be reestablished through the Messiah (see Hag. 2:25).

22:30 Jehoiachin had heirs, but none of his offspring sat on the Davidic throne (1 Chr. 3:16, 17).

ATTRIBUTES OF GOD HE IS OMNIPRESENT

The active presence of God, both in places and in relationships, is one of the chief presuppositions running through Scripture. There is no place without God, no place beyond Him (2 Chr. 6:18), and He is everywhere simultaneously (Eph. 4:6). Yet God is not bound by, nor dependent upon, any place or anyone (Jer. 23:23, 24).

God's universal presence encompasses all space—extending to every geographical location (Ps. 33:18; 34:15; 121:1–8), creation (Ps. 104), and all human affairs (Is. 40:21–23). This in no way suggests that He is immersed in His creation, as pantheism suggests. God is always distinct from His creation because He, as the Creator, brought all into existence (Gen. 1:31). His relational presence is experienced only by believers. He indwells His children (1 Cor. 6:19, 20). In "taking up residence," He establishes ownership, provision, love, workmanship, guidance, teaching, and personal friendship (Ps. 139).

Jesus reveals what God's presence is like. In a created universe filled with energy and wonder, God's passion was and is to have a relationship with every man and woman (John 1:1–18). God does not come and go in our lives—rather, we live and move and have our being in Him (Acts 17:27, 28; Phil. 1:6).

A man who shall not prosper in his days;
For none of his descendants shall prosper,
Sitting on the throne of David,
And ruling anymore in Judah.' "

The Branch of Righteousness

23 "Woe to the shepherds who destroy and scatter the sheep of My pasture!" says the LORD. 2Therefore thus says the LORD God of Israel against the shepherds who feed My people: "You have scattered My flock, driven them away, and not attended to them. Behold, I will attend to you for the evil of your doings," says the LORD. 3"But I will gather the remnant of My flock out of all countries where I have driven them, and bring them back to their folds; and they shall be fruitful and increase. 4I will set up shepherds over them who will feed them; and they shall fear no more, nor be dismayed, nor shall they be lacking," says the LORD.

5"Behold, the days are coming," says the LORD,
"That I will raise to David a Branch of
righteousness;
A King shall reign and prosper,
And execute judgment and righteousness in
the earth.
6In His days Judah will be saved,
And Israel will dwell safely;
Now this is His name by which He will be called:

THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS.[a]

7"Therefore, behold, the days are coming," says the LORD, "that they shall no longer say, 'As the LORD lives who brought up the children of Israel from the land of Egypt,' 8but, 'As the LORD lives who brought up and led the descendants of the house of Israel from the north country and from all the countries where I had driven them.' And they shall dwell in their own land."

False Prophets and Empty Oracles

9My heart within me is broken
Because of the prophets;
All my bones shake.
I am like a drunken man,
And like a man whom wine has overcome,

23:6 [a]Hebrew YHWH Tsidkenu

23:1, 2 Jeremiah continued the theme of the wicked rulers, employing the familiar ancient Near Eastern metaphor of the shepherd with his sheep. Unlike the good shepherd who cared for his flock and protected his investment, the rulers of Israel had scattered the people through their unrighteous acts.

23:3, 4 God's people had been scattered, but they would be restored to the Land, and the righteous would have an abundant life. Part of this blessing would include leaders who would treat the people of God according to God's standards. This theme of a second Exodus was frequent among the prophets of the Exile (Is. 49:8–26; Ezek. 36:24—37:14).

23:5, 6 The Davidic line would be restored, and a king after the heart of David would reign (see Ezek. 37:24, 25). The Jews interpreted such passages as a reference to the Messiah and the golden age over which He would reign. The writers of the NT saw Jesus Christ as the fulfillment of these verses (Luke 3:31; Rom. 1:1–4; Rev. 22:16). "THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS" is a fit designation for the ruler of Israel.

23:7, 8 The second Exodus would be greater than the first, becoming the paradigm to the nations of God's grace and lovingkindness to His people. The first Exodus was a witness to Egypt and surrounding nations; the second a witness to the nations of the earth.

Because of the LORD,
And because of His holy words.
10For the land is full of adulterers;
For because of a curse the land mourns.
The pleasant places of the wilderness are dried up.
Their course of life is evil,
And their might is not right.

11"For both prophet and priest are profane;
Yes, in My house I have found their wickedness," says the LORD.
12"Therefore their way shall be to them
Like slippery ways;
In the darkness they shall be driven on
And fall in them;
For I will bring disaster on them,
The year of their punishment," says the LORD.
13"And I have seen folly in the prophets of Samaria:
They prophesied by Baal
And caused My people Israel to err.
14Also I have seen a horrible thing in the prophets of Jerusalem:
They commit adultery and walk in lies;
They also strengthen the hands of evildoers,
So that no one turns back from his wickedness.
All of them are like Sodom to Me,
And her inhabitants like Gomorrah.

15"Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts concerning the prophets:

'Behold, I will feed them with wormwood,
And make them drink the water of gall;
For from the prophets of Jerusalem
Profaneness has gone out into all the land.' "

16Thus says the LORD of hosts:

"Do not listen to the words of the prophets who prophesy to you.
They make you worthless;
They speak a vision of their own heart,
Not from the mouth of the LORD.
17They continually say to those who despise Me,
'The LORD has said, "You shall have peace" ';
And to everyone who walks according to the dictates of his own heart, they say,
'No evil shall come upon you.' "

18For who has stood in the counsel of the LORD,
And has perceived and heard His word?
Who has marked His word and heard it?
19Behold, a whirlwind of the LORD has gone forth in fury—
A violent whirlwind!
It will fall violently on the head of the wicked.
20The anger of the LORD will not turn back
Until He has executed and performed the thoughts of His heart.
In the latter days you will understand it perfectly.

21"I have not sent these prophets, yet they ran.
I have not spoken to them, yet they prophesied.
22But if they had stood in My counsel,
And had caused My people to hear My words,
Then they would have turned them from their evil way
And from the evil of their doings.

23"Am I a God near at hand," says the LORD,
"And not a God afar off?
24Can anyone hide himself in secret places,
So I shall not see him?" says the LORD;
"Do I not fill heaven and earth?" says the LORD.

25"I have heard what the prophets have said who prophesy lies in My name, saying, 'I have dreamed, I have dreamed!' 26How long will this be in the heart of the prophets who prophesy lies? Indeed they are prophets of the deceit of their own heart, 27who try to make My people forget My name by their dreams which everyone tells his neighbor, as their fathers forgot My name for Baal.

28"The prophet who has a dream, let him tell a dream;
And he who has My word, let him speak My word faithfully.
What is the chaff to the wheat?" says the LORD.
29"Is not My word like a fire?" says the LORD,
"And like a hammer that breaks the rock in pieces?

30"Therefore behold, I am against the prophets," says the LORD, "who steal My words every one from his neighbor. 31Behold, I am

23:14 Sodom and Gomorrah were primary examples of wickedness in the OT. Sodom was judged not only for immoral sexual practices (Gen. 19) but also for pride and failure to care for the poor (Ezek. 16:49, 50).

23:16–22 The false prophets sinned by declaring their own thoughts to be the message of the Lord. Their message of peace ran directly counter to the truth, leading the people into a false security.

23:23, 24 Common conceptions of deity focused on localized deities who, largely restricted to their own temples, had no knowledge beyond the range of sight (see 1 Kin. 18:27). In contrast, the true God sees and knows all.

23:25–29 God used dreams and visions, oral preaching, and the written word as modes of revelation (Num. 12:6). However, the false prophets were preaching daydreams. The genuine Word of God has a powerful effect (Jer. 23:29; see Is. 55:10, 11).

23:30–40 The people were responsible for listening to a prophet's message and discerning whether it was of the Lord.

against the prophets," says the LORD, "who use their tongues and say, 'He says.' 32Behold, I am against those who prophesy false dreams," says the LORD, "and tell them, and cause My people to err by their lies and by their recklessness. Yet I did not send them or command them; therefore they shall not profit this people at all," says the LORD.

33"So when these people or the prophet or the priest ask you, saying, 'What is the oracle of the LORD?' you shall then say to them, 'What oracle?'[a] I will even forsake you," says the LORD. 34"And as for the prophet and the priest and the people who say, 'The oracle of the LORD!' I will even punish that man and his house. 35Thus every one of you shall say to his neighbor, and every one to his brother, 'What has the LORD answered?' and, 'What has the LORD spoken?' 36And the oracle of the LORD you shall mention no more. For every man's word will be his oracle, for you have perverted the words of the living God, the LORD of hosts, our God. 37Thus you shall say to the prophet, 'What has the LORD answered you?' and, 'What has the LORD spoken?' 38But since you say, 'The oracle of the LORD!' therefore thus says the LORD: 'Because you say this word, "The oracle of the LORD!" and I have sent to you, saying, "Do not say, 'The oracle of the LORD!' " 39therefore behold, I, even I, will utterly forget you and forsake you, and the city that I gave you and your fathers, and will cast you out of My presence. 40And I will bring an everlasting reproach upon you, and a perpetual shame, which shall not be forgotten.' "

The Sign of Two Baskets of Figs

24 The LORD showed me, and there were two baskets of figs set before the temple of the LORD, after Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had carried away captive Jeconiah the son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, and the princes of Judah with the craftsmen and smiths, from Jerusalem, and had brought them to Babylon. 2One basket had very good figs, like the figs that are first ripe; and the other basket had very bad figs which could not be eaten, they were so bad. 3Then the LORD said to me, "What do you see, Jeremiah?"

And I said, "Figs, the good figs, very good; and the bad, very bad, which cannot be eaten, they are so bad."

4Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 5"Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: 'Like these good figs, so will I acknowledge those who are carried away captive from Judah, whom I have sent out of this place for their own good, into the land of the Chaldeans. 6For I will set My eyes on them for good, and I will bring them back to this land; I will build them and not pull them down, and I will plant them and not pluck them up. 7Then I will give them a heart to know Me, that I am the LORD; and they shall be My people, and I will be their God, for they shall return to Me with their whole heart.

8'And as the bad figs which cannot be eaten, they are so bad'—surely thus says the LORD—'so will I give up Zedekiah the king of Judah, his princes, the residue of Jerusalem who remain in this land, and those who dwell in the land of Egypt. 9I will deliver them to trouble into all the kingdoms of the earth, for their harm, to be a reproach and a byword, a taunt and a curse, in all places where I shall drive them. 10And I will send the sword, the famine, and the pestilence among them, till they are consumed from the land that I gave to them and their fathers.' "

Seventy Years of Desolation

25 The word that came to Jeremiah concerning all the people of Judah, in the fourth year of

23:33 [a]Septuagint, Targum, and Vulgate read 'You are the burden.'

False prophets were to be punished by death (Deut. 13:1–5). Not only would the false prophets be judged, but those who listened to them as well.

23:30 Steal My words indicates that the false prophets would twist the true Word of God in order to deceive the people. Heresy may sound like the truth, but it is not the truth.

24:1 Nebuchadnezzar took captive the leaders of the people and the skilled craftsmen. Highly selective, the Babylonians were interested in those who would benefit the empire (see Dan. 1:3–5). The poorest and least educated people would have been left behind to till the land (Jer. 39:10).

24:2–10 Through the vision of the good and bad figs, God revealed His plans for His people in Exile. The Exile actually became a means of protecting the true remnant and rejecting the faithless, such as Zedekiah and his followers. Through the ministry of men such as Daniel and Nehemiah, God's word came even to the pagan kings of the Babylonian and Persian empires. God's purposes are accomplished despite the failure of His people. He is faithful, though people fail.

24:6 The heart of Jeremiah's preaching included verbs like "build up," "plant," "pull down," and "pluck up" (see Jer. 1:10; see also 31:27, 28). Both elements of judgment and hope were included in his message.

24:7 A heart to know Me suggests not just outward conformity but complete inward renewal. Language similar to that of the initial establishment of the covenant is used but with an added spiritual dimension (Ex. 6:6–8).

24:8 Archaeological discoveries on the island of Elephantine have shown that a community of Jews existed in Egypt at Syene (modern Aswan), surviving until postexilic times and possibly dating from this period. They even built a temple to the Lord and sought approval and advice from Jerusalem. What eventually happened to them is unknown. Centuries later Jewish communities developed in Alexandria and elsewhere in Egypt from the policy of Alexander the Great and his generals, who encouraged the resettlement of the Jews as an economic stimulus.

25:1 The fourth year of Jehoiakim and the first of Nebuchadnezzar was 605 B.C.

Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah (which was the first year of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon), 2which Jeremiah the prophet spoke to all the people of Judah and to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, saying: 3"From the thirteenth year of Josiah the son of Amon, king of Judah, even to this day, this is the twenty-third year in which the word of the LORD has come to me; and I have spoken to you, rising early and speaking, but you have not listened. 4And the LORD has sent to you all His servants the prophets, rising early and sending them, but you have not listened nor inclined your ear to hear. 5They said, 'Repent now everyone of his evil way and his evil doings, and dwell in the land that the LORD has given to you and your fathers forever and ever. 6Do not go after other gods to serve them and worship them, and do not provoke Me to anger with the works of your hands; and I will not harm you.' 7Yet you have not listened to Me," says the LORD, "that you might provoke Me to anger with the works of your hands to your own hurt.

8"Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts: 'Because you have not heard My words, 9behold, I will send and take all the families of the north,' says the LORD, 'and Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon, My servant, and will bring them against this land, against its inhabitants, and against these nations all around, and will utterly destroy them, and make them an astonishment, a hissing, and perpetual desolations. 10Moreover I will take from them the voice of mirth and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, the sound of the millstones and the light of the lamp. 11And this whole land shall be a desolation and an astonishment, and these nations shall serve the king of Babylon seventy years.

12"Then it will come to pass, when seventy years are completed, that I will punish the king of Babylon and that nation, the land of the Chaldeans, for their iniquity,' says the LORD; 'and I will make it a perpetual desolation. 13So I will bring on that land all My words which I have pronounced against it, all that is written in this book, which Jeremiah has prophesied concerning all the nations. 14(For many nations and great kings shall be served by them also; and I will repay them according to their deeds and according to the works of their own hands.)' "

Judgment on the Nations

15For thus says the LORD God of Israel to me: "Take this wine cup of fury from My hand, and cause all the nations, to whom I send you, to drink it. 16And they will drink and stagger and go mad because of the sword that I will send among them."

17Then I took the cup from the LORD's hand, and made all the nations drink, to whom the LORD had sent me: 18Jerusalem and the cities of Judah, its kings and its princes, to make them a desolation, an astonishment, a hissing, and a curse, as it is this day; 19Pharaoh king of Egypt, his servants, his princes, and all his people; 20all the mixed multitude, all the kings of the land of Uz, all the kings of the land of the Philistines (namely, Ashkelon, Gaza, Ekron, and the remnant of Ashdod); 21Edom, Moab, and the people of Ammon; 22all the kings of Tyre, all the kings of Sidon, and the kings of the coastlands which are across the sea; 23Dedan, Tema, Buz, and all who are in the farthest corners; 24all the kings of Arabia and all the kings of the mixed multitude who dwell in the desert; 25all the kings of Zimri, all the kings of Elam, and all the kings of the Medes; 26all the kings of the north, far and near, one with another; and all the kingdoms of the world which are on the face of the earth. Also the king of Sheshach[a] shall drink after them.

27"Therefore you shall say to them, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "Drink, be drunk, and vomit! Fall and rise no more, because of the sword which I will send among you." ' 28And it shall be, if they refuse to take the cup from your hand to drink, then you shall say to them, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts: "You shall certainly drink! 29For behold, I begin to bring calamity on the city which is called by My name, and should you be utterly unpunished? You shall not be unpunished, for I will call for a sword on all the inhabitants of the earth," says the LORD of hosts.'

25:26 [a]A code word for Babylon (compare 51:41)

25:3–7 The people of Judah were not in trouble for lack of revelation and knowledge of the truth. In fact, God had been faithful to send them prophets to declare the truth. The problem was not lack of knowledge, but willful rebellion. The 13th year of Josiah (v. 3) dated the beginning of Jeremiah's prophetic ministry around 626 B.C. (Jer. 1:2).

25:11, 12 The seventy years of Babylonian Exile lasted from approximately 605 to 538 B.C. Babylon, though the instrument of the Lord to accomplish His judgment against Judah, was a pagan nation full of idolatry and sin and under divine condemnation. Babylon was conquered by Cyrus of Persia in 539 B.C. This message would have been a comfort to the remnant.

25:15 The cup of fury symbolizes divine judgment. Isaiah, Ezekiel, and Habakkuk used similar terminology (Is. 51:17, 21, 22; Ezek. 23:32–34; Hab. 2:16).

25:15–38 God would judge not only Judah, but pagan nations as well. This passage anticipates the oracles against the nations (Jer. 46:1—51:64). God's judgment was focused on His people, who were His chief representatives to these nations.

25:26 Sheshach is possibly a cipher or code name for Babylon written as an Atbash, a literary device which exchanges the letters of a name counted from the beginning of the alphabet for letters counted from the end.

30"Therefore prophesy against them all these words, and say to them:

'The LORD will roar from on high,
And utter His voice from His holy habitation;
He will roar mightily against His fold.
He will give a shout, as those who tread the grapes,
Against all the inhabitants of the earth.
31A noise will come to the ends of the earth—
For the LORD has a controversy with the nations;
He will plead His case with all flesh.
He will give those who are wicked to the sword,'
says the LORD."

32Thus says the LORD of hosts:

"Behold, disaster shall go forth
From nation to nation,
And a great whirlwind shall be raised up
From the farthest parts of the earth.

33"And at that day the slain of the LORD shall be from one end of the earth even to the other end of the earth. They shall not be lamented, or gathered, or buried; they shall become refuse on the ground.

34"Wail, shepherds, and cry!
Roll about in the ashes,
You leaders of the flock!
For the days of your slaughter and your dispersions are fulfilled;
You shall fall like a precious vessel.
35And the shepherds will have no way to flee,
Nor the leaders of the flock to escape.
36A voice of the cry of the shepherds,
And a wailing of the leaders to the flock will be heard.
For the LORD has plundered their pasture,
37And the peaceful dwellings are cut down
Because of the fierce anger of the LORD.
38He has left His lair like the lion;
For their land is desolate
Because of the fierceness of the Oppressor,
And because of His fierce anger."

Jeremiah Saved from Death

26 In the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, this word came from the LORD, saying, 2"Thus says the LORD: 'Stand in the court of the LORD's house, and speak to all the cities of Judah, which come to worship in the LORD's house, all the words that I command you to speak to them. Do not diminish a word. 3Perhaps everyone will listen and turn from his evil way, that I may relent concerning the calamity which I purpose to bring on them because of the evil of their doings.' 4And you shall say to them, 'Thus says the LORD: "If you will not listen to Me, to walk in My law which I have set before you, 5to heed the words of My servants the prophets whom I sent to you, both rising up early and sending them (but you have not heeded), 6then I will make this house like Shiloh, and will make this city a curse to all the nations of the earth." ' "

7So the priests and the prophets and all the people heard Jeremiah speaking these words in the house of the LORD. 8Now it happened, when Jeremiah had made an end of speaking all that the LORD had commanded him to speak to all the people, that the priests and the prophets and all the people seized him, saying, "You will surely die! 9Why have you prophesied in the name of the LORD, saying, 'This house shall be like Shiloh, and this city shall be desolate, without an inhabitant'?" And all the people were gathered against Jeremiah in the house of the LORD.

10When the princes of Judah heard these things, they came up from the king's house to the house of the LORD and sat down in the entry of the New Gate of the LORD's house. 11And the priests and the prophets spoke to the princes and all the people, saying, "This man deserves to die! For he has prophesied against this city, as you have heard with your ears."

12Then Jeremiah spoke to all the princes and all the people, saying: "The LORD sent me to prophesy against this house and against this city with all the words that you have heard. 13Now therefore, amend your ways and your doings, and obey the voice of the LORD your God; then the LORD will relent concerning the doom that He has 26:2 Jeremiah was called to proclaim God's word in the temple of the Lord, the focal point of Judah's religion. Paradoxically, the temple had become a hotbed of idolatry and falsehood hostile to God's purposes rather than a place of true worship and righteous teaching. Facing such opposition required great courage from Jeremiah (see Jer. 7).

26:3 God knew the people's response would be and earlier had described their inability to change (Jer. 13:23) and the inevitability of judgment (Jer. 17:1–4). The language here, however, reflects the covenantal language (see Deut. 30:10–20). In His mercy, God gave His people every opportunity to repent.

26:7–9 The false prophets, the priests, and the people ironically accused Jeremiah of prophesying falsely and were willing to put him to death (see Deut. 13:5). In their depravity the people called evil "good" and good "evil." To speak of the destruction of the temple, which was considered inviolate, was equal to blasphemy. The sanctuary at Shiloh had been destroyed by the Philistines in the time of Samuel (see 1 Sam. 4).

26:12–19 Jeremiah successfully conducted his defense by forcefully claiming God as his authority. Micah the prophet, who predicted the destruction of Jerusalem in the time of Hezekiah (715–686 B.C.), was cited as a precedent (Mic. 3:12). Micah's life had been spared.

pronounced against you. 14As for me, here I am, in your hand; do with me as seems good and proper to you. 15But know for certain that if you put me to death, you will surely bring innocent blood on yourselves, on this city, and on its inhabitants; for truly the LORD has sent me to you to speak all these words in your hearing."

16So the princes and all the people said to the priests and the prophets, "This man does not deserve to die. For he has spoken to us in the name of the LORD our God."

17Then certain of the elders of the land rose up and spoke to all the assembly of the people, saying: 18"Micah of Moresheth prophesied in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah, and spoke to all the people of Judah, saying, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts:

"Zion shall be plowed like a field,
Jerusalem shall become heaps of ruins,
And the mountain of the temple[a]
Like the bare hills of the forest." '[b]

19Did Hezekiah king of Judah and all Judah ever put him to death? Did he not fear the LORD and seek the LORD's favor? And the LORD relented concerning the doom which He had pronounced against them. But we are doing great evil against ourselves."

20Now there was also a man who prophesied in the name of the LORD, Urijah the son of Shemaiah of Kirjath Jearim, who prophesied against this city and against this land according to all the words of Jeremiah. 21And when Jehoiakim the king, with all his mighty men and all the princes, heard his words, the king sought to put him to death; but when Urijah heard it, he was afraid and fled, and went to Egypt. 22Then Jehoiakim the king sent men to Egypt: Elnathan the son of Achbor, and other men who went with him to Egypt. 23And they brought Urijah from Egypt and brought him to Jehoiakim the king, who killed him with the sword and cast his dead body into the graves of the common people.

24Nevertheless the hand of Ahikam the son of Shaphan was with Jeremiah, so that they should not give him into the hand of the people to put him to death.

Symbol of the Bonds and Yokes

27 In the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim[a] the son of Josiah, king of Judah, this word came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying,[b] 2"Thus says the LORD to me: 'Make for yourselves bonds and yokes, and put them on your neck, 3and send them to the king of Edom, the king of Moab, the king of the Ammonites, the king of Tyre, and the king of Sidon, by the hand of the messengers who come to Jerusalem to Zedekiah king of Judah. 4And command them to say to their masters, "Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel—thus you shall say to your masters: 5'I have made the earth, the man and the beast that are on the ground, by My great power and by My outstretched arm, and have given it to whom it seemed proper to Me. 6And now I have given all these lands into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon, My servant; and the beasts of the field I have also given him to serve him. 7So all nations shall serve him and his son and his son's son, until the time of his land comes; and then many nations and great kings shall make him serve them. 8And it shall be, that the nation and kingdom which will not serve Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon, and which will not put its neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, that nation I will punish,' says the LORD, 'with the sword, the famine, and the pestilence, until I have consumed them by his hand. 9Therefore do not listen to your prophets, your diviners, your dreamers, your soothsayers, or your sorcerers, who speak to you, saying, "You shall not serve the king of Babylon." 10For they prophesy a lie to you, to remove you far from your land; and I will drive you out, and you will perish. 11But the nations that bring their necks under the yoke of the king of Babylon and serve him, I will let them remain in their own land,' says the LORD, 'and they shall till it and dwell in it.' " ' "

26:18 [a]Literally house [b]Compare Micah 3:12 27:1 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Targum, and Vulgate; some Hebrew manuscripts, Arabic, and Syriac read Zedekiah (compare 27:3, 12; 28:1). [b]Septuagint omits verse 1.

26:20–24 The threat of death was real. Nothing is known of Urijah, except what is recorded here. This passage clearly reveals that at least one other prophet was declaring God's word in Judah during Jeremiah's time. Jeremiah is the best known because his sermons and observations have been preserved in writing.

27:2–6 Bonds and yokes were symbols of political submission. The sovereign Lord is in control of all nations.

27:5 God's authority over the nations is based on His role as Creator of all. God's decisions are rooted in His eternal plan. He always acts according to His wisdom ("proper") and power ("My great power").

27:6 Nebuchadnezzar was identified as the Lord's servant. He was the instrument through whom God would judge His people. That even the "beasts" would serve the king of Babylon shows the extent of power God would grant Nebuchadnezzar.

27:9, 14 The court or royal prophets, who served the kings of the nations, were most likely prophetic puppets. They served the social function of making the gods favorable to the current regime. Thus, in the face of invaders, they might proclaim victory or peace, whichever seemed most likely to please the king. Sadly, the descendants of David had yielded to the temptation to employ such a pagan practice in Judah.

WIDOWHOOD TRUSTING GOD TO PROVIDE

God sometimes asks questions that reveal truths otherwise unseen. To the penniless widow with two sons for whom to care, God asked what she had in the house. Though the widow's response was that she had "nothing in the house but a jar of oil" (2 Kin. 4:2), she was touched by the living God at this turning point in her life. Like the widow, when all else is gone, God's children always have the oil of His Spirit within (1 Cor. 3:16, 17). It is to be used only as He personally directs (1 Cor. 6:19, 20).

When Elisha requested the widow to act in order to meet her needs, he undoubtedly rekindled hope in her heart (2 Kin. 4:3). God never leaves His children without resources for all circumstances. The answer may not be what was expected, but by listening to His heart the believing woman will come to understand that He is providing for her good and His glory (Jer. 29:11; Phil. 4:19).

Widows without means of support became the responsibility for the people as a whole, just as the Levites, strangers, and orphans (Deut. 14:29). This concept of care for widows was readily embraced by the early church. Paul gave very specific advice to Timothy about the definition and care of widows (1 Tim. 5:3–16).

Widows face unending challenges. By relying on God's character and determining to become more like Him, their lives are forever changed. The widow to whom God sent Elisha never hesitated or questioned the prophet's unusual request. She listened intently (2 Kin. 4:5). She remembered his instructions. And she immediately "went from him" into active work she knew to be God's plan for her. She had all the resources she would ever need—God's presence within (see Phil. 4:13). Widows—and all women—have that same power available as they face the complexities of an ever-changing world.

Everyone in the church is called to care for widows—both materially and spiritually (Acts 6:1). The church should undergird and provide support for those who have no means of support and should give freely of time and life to widows. As part of giving to widows, an active effort should be made to include them in all activities of the church and to invite them to be a part of celebrations within the church family.

12 I also spoke to Zedekiah king of Judah according to all these words, saying, "Bring your necks under the yoke of the king of Babylon, and serve him and his people, and live! 13 Why will you die, you and your people, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the LORD has spoken against the nation that will not serve the king of Babylon? 14 Therefore do not listen to the words of the prophets who speak to you, saying, 'You shall not serve the king of Babylon,' for they prophesy a lie to you; 15 for I have not sent them," says the LORD, "yet they prophesy a lie in My name, that I may drive you out, and that you may perish,
you and the prophets who prophesy to you."

16 Also I spoke to the priests and to all this people, saying, "Thus says the LORD: 'Do not listen to the words of your prophets who prophesy to you, saying, "Behold, the vessels of the LORD's house will now shortly be brought back from Babylon"; for they prophesy a lie to you. 17 Do not listen to them; serve the king of Babylon, and live! Why should this city be laid waste? 18 But if they are prophets, and if the word of the LORD is with them, let them now make intercession to the LORD of hosts, that the vessels which are left in the house of the LORD, in the house of the king of Judah, and at Jerusalem, do not go to Babylon.'

19 "For thus says the LORD of hosts concerning the pillars, concerning the Sea, concerning the carts, and concerning the remainder of the vessels that remain in this city, 20 which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon did not take, when he carried away captive Jeconiah the son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, from Jerusalem to Babylon, and all the nobles of Judah and Jerusalem— 21 yes, thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that remain in the house of the LORD, and in the house of the king of Judah and of Jerusalem: 22 'They shall be carried to Babylon, and there they shall be until the day that I visit them,' says the LORD. 'Then I will bring them up and restore them to this place.' "

Hananiah's Falsehood and Doom

28 And it happened in the same year, at the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Ju-

27:16–22 The vessels of the Lord's house were the various furnishings and utensils used in the worship and service of the temple. Taking such items was viewed as the victory of the gods of the conqueror over the gods of the defeated.

28:1–4 A fascinating interaction occurred between two prophets in Judah—Jeremiah the true prophet and Hananiah the false. False prophets often act and speak much like true representatives of the Lord. Hananiah invoked the name of the Lord and preached a message that pleased his hearers.

dah, in the fourth year and in the fifth month, that Hananiah the son of Azur the prophet, who was from Gibeon, spoke to me in the house of the LORD in the presence of the priests and of all the people, saying, 2"Thus speaks the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, saying: 'I have broken the yoke of the king of Babylon. 3Within two full years I will bring back to this place all the vessels of the LORD's house, that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon took away from this place and carried to Babylon. 4And I will bring back to this place Jeconiah the son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, with all the captives of Judah who went to Babylon,' says the LORD, 'for I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon.' "

5Then the prophet Jeremiah spoke to the prophet Hananiah in the presence of the priests and in the presence of all the people who stood in the house of the LORD, 6and the prophet Jeremiah said, "Amen! The LORD do so; the LORD perform your words which you have prophesied, to bring back the vessels of the LORD's house and all who were carried away captive, from Babylon to this place. 7Nevertheless hear now this word that I speak in your hearing and in the hearing of all the people: 8The prophets who have been before me and before you of old prophesied against many countries and great kingdoms—of war and disaster and pestilence. 9As for the prophet who prophesies of peace, when the word of the prophet comes to pass, the prophet will be known as one whom the LORD has truly sent."

10Then Hananiah the prophet took the yoke off the prophet Jeremiah's neck and broke it. 11And Hananiah spoke in the presence of all the people, saying, "Thus says the LORD: 'Even so I will break the yoke of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon from the neck of all nations within the space of two full years.' " And the prophet Jeremiah went his way.

12Now the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, after Hananiah the prophet had broken the yoke from the neck of the prophet Jeremiah, saying, 13"Go and tell Hananiah, saying, 'Thus says the LORD: "You have broken the yokes of wood, but you have made in their place yokes of iron." 14For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "I have put a yoke of iron on the neck of all these nations, that they may serve Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon; and they shall serve him. I have given him the beasts of the field also." ' "

15Then the prophet Jeremiah said to Hananiah the prophet, "Hear now, Hananiah, the LORD has not sent you, but you make this people trust in a lie. 16Therefore thus says the LORD: 'Behold, I will cast you from the face of the earth. This year you shall die, because you have taught rebellion against the LORD.' " 17So Hananiah the prophet died the same year in the seventh month.

Jeremiah's Letter to the Captives

29 Now these are the words of the letter that Jeremiah the prophet sent from Jerusalem to the remainder of the elders who were carried away captive—to the priests, the prophets, and all the people whom Nebuchadnezzar had carried away captive from Jerusalem to Babylon. 2(This happened after Jeconiah the king, the queen mother, the eunuchs, the princes of Judah and Jerusalem, the craftsmen, and the smiths had departed from Jerusalem.) 3*The letter was sent* by the hand of Elasah the son of Shaphan, and Gemariah the son of Hilkiah, whom Zedekiah king of Judah sent to Babylon, to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, saying,

> 4Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, to all who were carried away captive, whom I have caused to be carried away from Jerusalem to Babylon:
> 5Build houses and dwell in them; plant gardens and eat their fruit. 6Take wives and beget

28:6–9 Jeremiah spoke "Amen" with measured sarcasm. He would like to believe Hananiah's message; clearly he could not. Jeremiah noted that such optimistic prophecy was opposed diametrically to his own and typical of other prophets of the day. A test of the true prophet is that his prophecy of peace is verified by history (v. 9). Jeremiah knew that his nation was headed for catastrophe because of the people's sins. Nothing short of radical repentance could possibly alter that course. Genuine prophecy is ethically conditioned.

28:10 Jeremiah had placed this yoke around his neck according to God's command as a witness of the approaching victory of the Babylonians (Jer. 27:2). False prophets also employed symbolic actions.

28:15–17 By Hananiah's preaching and his actions, he set himself up as a personal enemy of Jeremiah and therefore of God. He was rebellious, and he taught others to rebel. God therefore singled him out for special judgment and sentenced him to imminent death (for Korah's rebellion, see Num. 16).

29:4–9 Babylon was going to be the home of the exiles for approximately 70 years (v. 10). Therefore the exiles were instructed not only to seek personal prosperity but also the well-being of the city. God would improve the welfare of the city due to the presence and prayers of His people. God's "common grace" (or His creation-based blessings to unbelievers) often is connected with His special grace to His people, so that the presence of His people in a community improves the community as a whole.

sons and daughters; and take wives for your sons and give your daughters to husbands, so that they may bear sons and daughters— that you may be increased there, and not diminished. 7And seek the peace of the city where I have caused you to be carried away captive, and pray to the LORD for it; for in its peace you will have peace. 8For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Do not let your prophets and your diviners who are in your midst deceive you, nor listen to your dreams which you cause to be dreamed. 9For they prophesy falsely to you in My name; I have not sent them, says the LORD.

10For thus says the LORD: After seventy years are completed at Babylon, I will visit you and perform My good word toward you, and cause you to return to this place. 11For I know the thoughts that I think toward you, says the LORD, thoughts of peace and not of evil, to give you a future and a hope. 12Then you will call upon Me and go and pray to Me, and I will listen to you. 13And you will seek Me and find Me, when you search for Me with all your heart. 14I will be found by you, says the LORD, and I will bring you back from your captivity; I will gather you from all the nations and from all the places where I have driven you, says the LORD, and I will bring you to the place from which I cause you to be carried away captive.

15Because you have said, "The LORD has raised up prophets for us in Babylon"— 16therefore thus says the LORD concerning the king who sits on the throne of David, concerning all the people who dwell in this city, and concerning your brethren who have not gone out with you into captivity— 17thus says the LORD of hosts: Behold, I will send on them the sword, the famine, and the pestilence, and will make them like rotten figs that cannot be eaten, they are so bad. 18And I will pursue them with the sword, with famine, and with pestilence; and I will deliver them to trouble among all the kingdoms of the earth— to be a curse, an astonishment, a hissing, and a reproach among all the nations where I have driven them, 19because they have not heeded My words, says the LORD, which I sent to them by My servants the prophets, rising up early and sending them; neither would you heed, says the LORD. 20Therefore hear the word of the LORD, all you of the captivity, whom I have sent from Jerusalem to Babylon.

21Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, concerning Ahab the son of Kolaiah, and Zedekiah the son of Maaseiah, who prophesy a lie to you in My name: Behold, I will deliver them into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and he shall slay them before your eyes. 22And because of them a curse shall be taken up by all the captivity of Judah who are in Babylon, saying, "The LORD make you like Zedekiah and Ahab, whom the king of Babylon roasted in the fire"; 23because they have done disgraceful things in Israel, have committed adultery with their neighbors' wives, and have spoken lying words in My name, which I have not commanded them. Indeed I know, and am a witness, says the LORD.

24You shall also speak to Shemaiah the Nehelamite, saying, 25Thus speaks the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, saying: You have sent letters in your name to all the people who are at Jerusalem, to Zephaniah the son of Maaseiah the priest, and to all the priests, saying, 26"The LORD has made you priest instead of Jehoiada the priest, so that there should be officers in the house of the LORD over every man who is demented and considers himself a prophet, that you should put him in prison and in the stocks. 27Now therefore, why have you not rebuked Jeremiah of Anathoth who makes himself a prophet to you? 28For he has sent to us in Babylon, saying, 'This captivity is long; build houses and dwell in them, and plant gardens and eat their fruit.' "

29Now Zephaniah the priest read this letter in the hearing of Jeremiah the prophet. 30Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, saying: 31Send to all those in captivity, saying, Thus says the LORD concerning Shemaiah the Nehelamite: Because Shemaiah has prophesied to you, and I have not sent him, and he has caused you to trust in a lie— 32therefore thus says the LORD: Behold, I will punish Shemaiah the Nehelamite and his family: he shall not have anyone to dwell among this people, nor shall he see the good that I will do for My people, says the LORD, because he has taught rebellion against the LORD.

29:16–19 The judgment on those who had not gone to Babylon stands in contrast to the blessing on the faithful remnant. The remnant in Babylon would receive peace, prosperity, and return to the Land. The others would experience war, famine and disease, and permanent exile.

Restoration of Israel and Judah

30 The word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying, 2"Thus speaks the LORD God of Israel, saying: 'Write in a book for yourself all the words that I have spoken to you. 3For behold, the days are coming,' says the LORD, 'that I will bring back from captivity My people Israel and Judah,' says the LORD. 'And I will cause them to return to the land that I gave to their fathers, and they shall possess it.' "

4Now these are the words that the LORD spoke concerning Israel and Judah.

5"For thus says the LORD:

'We have heard a voice of trembling,
Of fear, and not of peace.
6Ask now, and see,
Whether a man is ever in labor with child?
So why do I see every man with his hands on his loins
Like a woman in labor,
And all faces turned pale?
7Alas! For that day is great,
So that none is like it;
And it is the time of Jacob's trouble,
But he shall be saved out of it.

'For it shall come to pass in that day,'
Says the LORD of hosts,
'That I will break his yoke from your neck,
And will burst your bonds;
Foreigners shall no more enslave them.
9But they shall serve the LORD their God,
And David their king,
Whom I will raise up for them.

10"Therefore do not fear, O My servant Jacob,' says the LORD,
'Nor be dismayed, O Israel;
For behold, I will save you from afar,
And your seed from the land of their captivity.
Jacob shall return, have rest and be quiet,
And no one shall make him afraid.
11For I am with you,' says the LORD, 'to save you;
Though I make a full end of all nations where I have scattered you,
Yet I will not make a complete end of you.
But I will correct you in justice,
And will not let you go altogether unpunished.'

12"For thus says the LORD:

'Your affliction is incurable,
Your wound is severe.
13*There is* no one to plead your cause,
That you may be bound up;
You have no healing medicines.
14All your lovers have forgotten you;
They do not seek you;
For I have wounded you with the wound of an enemy,
With the chastisement of a cruel one,
For the multitude of your iniquities,
Because your sins have increased.
15Why do you cry about your affliction?
Your sorrow is incurable.
Because of the multitude of your iniquities,
Because your sins have increased,
I have done these things to you.

16"Therefore all those who devour you shall be devoured;
And all your adversaries, every one of them, shall go into captivity;
Those who plunder you shall become plunder,
And all who prey upon you I will make a prey.
17For I will restore health to you
And heal you of your wounds,' says the LORD,
'Because they called you an outcast saying:
"This is Zion;
No one seeks her." '

18"Thus says the LORD:

'Behold, I will bring back the captivity of Jacob's tents,
And have mercy on his dwelling places;
The city shall be built upon its own mound,
And the palace shall remain according to its own plan.
19Then out of them shall proceed thanksgiving
And the voice of those who make merry;

30:2 Jeremiah was commissioned as a writing prophet (see Jer. 26:2; 45:1). Jeremiah recorded various portions of his message at different times. Baruch may have been responsible for the final compilation of the book (see Introduction: Author). "Book" (Heb. sepher, lit. "writing" or "document") is probably understood here as an ancient scroll-book.

30:8, 9 The people of God are encouraged that God would fulfill His covenant promises to them and to the house of David (2 Sam. 7:12–16).

30:11 God's discipline of His covenant people is not like His judgment on those outside His covenantal protection. Rather this discipline is designed for correction. It is a mark of sonship and an act of love (Prov. 3:11, 12).

30:12–17 The desolate state of the remnant is described in vivid detail. "Incurable" affliction and "severe" wounds indicate the depth of their sin and depravity. Human aid would not help in this affliction (vv. 13, 14). "Lovers" may refer to political allies or to the idols in Judah. These "lovers" had left and could offer no hope. Although Judah had lost all hope, God declared that He would do what was impossible for any one else: deliver, heal, and restore them to Himself.

I will multiply them, and they shall not diminish;
I will also glorify them, and they shall not be small.
20 Their children also shall be as before,
And their congregation shall be established before Me;
And I will punish all who oppress them.
21 Their nobles shall be from among them,
And their governor shall come from their
midst;
Then I will cause him to draw near,
And he shall approach Me;
For who is this who pledged his heart to approach Me?' says the LORD.
22 'You shall be My people,
And I will be your God.' "

23 Behold, the whirlwind of the LORD
Goes forth with fury,
A continuing whirlwind;
It will fall violently on the head of the wicked.
24 The fierce anger of the LORD will not return until He has done it,
And until He has performed the intents of His heart.

In the latter days you will consider it.

The Remnant of Israel Saved

31 "At the same time," says the LORD, "I will be the God of all the families of Israel, and they shall be My people."
2 Thus says the LORD:

"The people who survived the sword
Found grace in the wilderness—
Israel, when I went to give him rest."

3 The LORD has appeared of old to me, saying:
"Yes, I have loved you with an everlasting love;
Therefore with lovingkindness I have drawn you.
4 Again I will build you, and you shall be rebuilt,
O virgin of Israel!
You shall again be adorned with your tambourines,
And shall go forth in the dances of those who rejoice.
5 You shall yet plant vines on the mountains of Samaria;
The planters shall plant and eat them as ordinary food.
6 For there shall be a day
When the watchmen will cry on Mount Ephraim,
'Arise, and let us go up to Zion,
To the LORD our God.' "

7 For thus says the LORD:

"Sing with gladness for Jacob,
And shout among the chief of the nations;
Proclaim, give praise, and say,
'O LORD, save Your people,
The remnant of Israel!'
8 Behold, I will bring them from the north country,
And gather them from the ends of the earth,
Among them the blind and the lame,
The woman with child
And the one who labors with child, together;
A great throng shall return there.
9 They shall come with weeping,
And with supplications I will lead them.
I will cause them to walk by the rivers of waters,
In a straight way in which they shall not stumble;
For I am a Father to Israel,
And Ephraim is My firstborn.

10 "Hear the word of the LORD, O nations,
And declare it in the isles afar off, and say,
'He who scattered Israel will gather him,
And keep him as a shepherd does his flock.'
11 For the LORD has redeemed Jacob,
And ransomed him from the hand of one stronger than he.

30:23, 24 A storm of judgment awaits the wicked or those who oppose God. Those who reject the Lord's salvation experience His storm.

31:3 God has never ceased to love His people, and all that He has done for them has been rooted in that love. The Hebrew word translated "love" sometimes indicates the love that initiates relationships. "Lovingkindness" (Heb. chesed) refers to God's steadfast love or covenant loyalty (see Ps. 5:7–12, note).

31:4–6 The metaphor of the building was applied to God's people. God's people are seen as His dwelling place. The remaining imagery here suggests a rich, abundant life filled with rejoicing. In the OT, the blessing of God's people often is described in material terms and is tied particularly to the Land.

31:7–9 A crowd greater than that which was taken from the Land is portrayed returning to the Land. In this second Exodus, even the "blind," the "lame," and the "woman with child" would not stumble. Unlike the first Exodus with its 40 years of wandering, the people would return "in a straight way" to the Promised Land. This instance is among the few in which "Father" is a title given to the Lord God. The image could refer to His fatherly protection of the returning remnant or to rebirth imagery in which God granted a radically new beginning for His people.

31:11 Redeemed and ransomed are Exodus terms, metaphorically applied to God's work in rescuing His people from their enemies. The Israelites were slaves in Egypt whom God bought back with His mighty power. The sacrificial system God instituted was meant in part to remind the people of 12 Therefore they shall come and sing in the height of Zion,

Streaming to the goodness of the LORD—
For wheat and new wine and oil,
For the young of the flock and the herd;
Their souls shall be like a well-watered garden,
And they shall sorrow no more at all.

13 "Then shall the virgin rejoice in the dance,
And the young men and the old, together;
For I will turn their mourning to joy,
Will comfort them,
And make them rejoice rather than sorrow.
14 I will satiate the soul of the priests with abundance,
And My people shall be satisfied with My goodness, says the LORD."

Mercy on Ephraim

15 Thus says the LORD:

"A voice was heard in Ramah,
Lamentation and bitter weeping,
Rachel weeping for her children,
Refusing to be comforted for her children,
Because they are no more."

16 Thus says the LORD:

"Refrain your voice from weeping,
And your eyes from tears;
For your work shall be rewarded, says the
LORD,
And they shall come back from the land of the enemy.
17 There is hope in your future, says the LORD,
That your children shall come back to their own border.

18 "I have surely heard Ephraim bemoaning himself:
'You have chastised me, and I was chastised,
Like an untrained bull;
Restore me, and I will return,
For You are the LORD my God.
19 Surely, after my turning, I repented;
And after I was instructed, I struck myself on the thigh;
I was ashamed, yes, even humiliated,
Because I bore the reproach of my youth.'
20 Is Ephraim My dear son?
Is he a pleasant child?
For though I spoke against him,
I earnestly remember him still;
Therefore My heart yearns for him;
I will surely have mercy on him, says the LORD.

21 "Set up signposts,
Make landmarks;
Set your heart toward the highway,
The way in which you went.
Turn back, O virgin of Israel,
Turn back to these your cities.
22 How long will you gad about,
O you backsliding daughter?
For the LORD has created a new thing in the earth—
A woman shall encompass a man."

Future Prosperity of Judah

23 Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "They shall again use this speech in the land of Judah and in its cities, when I bring back their captivity: 'The LORD bless you, O home of justice, and mountain of holiness!' 24 And there shall dwell in Judah itself, and in all its cities together, farmers and those going out with flocks. 25 For I have satiated the weary soul, and I have replenished every sorrowful soul."

26 After this I awoke and looked around, and my sleep was sweet to me.

27 "Behold, the days are coming, says the LORD, that I will sow the house of Israel and the house of Judah with the seed of man and the seed of beast. 28 And it shall come to pass, that as I have watched over them to pluck up, to break down, to throw down, to destroy, and to afflict, so I will watch over them to build and to plant, says the LORD. 29 In those days they shall say no more:

'The fathers have eaten sour grapes,
And the children's teeth are set on edge.'

their deliverance. In the NT, Jesus Christ became the literal sacrifice for His people, to purchase them from the kingdom of darkness (Titus 2:13, 14).

31:15 This verse was quoted by Matthew when he commented on Herod's murder of the innocent children of Bethlehem and the surrounding area as he sought to destroy the Messiah (Matt. 2:17, 18). Rachel was the favored wife of Jacob, the mother of Joseph and Benjamin.

31:22 The new thing probably refers to the fact that virgin Israel would encompass or cling to her divine Bridegroom. For God's people to express faithful devotion to Him certainly would be something new.

31:23–28 The prosperity of the messianic period is described again, primarily in agricultural terms. The depleted population of Israel would be replenished, and the people's lives would be characterized by justice and holiness, precisely those elements that the people of Judah in Jeremiah's time lacked. The verbs of verse 28 refer to both the negative and positive aspects of Jeremiah's ministry—judgment and hope (Jer. 1:10).

31:29, 30 The new concept of individual responsibility is a key teaching of Jeremiah. Each person must bear responsibility for his sins.

30 But every one shall die for his own iniquity;
every man who eats the sour grapes, his teeth
shall be set on edge.

A New Covenant

31 "Behold, the days are coming, says the LORD,
when I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah— 32 not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day that I took them by the hand to lead them out of the land of Egypt, My covenant which they broke, though I was a husband to them,[a] says the LORD. 33 But this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, says the LORD: I will put My law in their minds, and write it on their hearts; and I will be their God, and they shall be My people. 34 No more shall every man teach his neighbor, and every man his brother, saying, 'Know the LORD,' for they all shall know Me, from the least of them to the greatest of them, says the LORD. For I will forgive their iniquity, and their sin I will remember no more."

35 Thus says the LORD,
Who gives the sun for a light by day,
The ordinances of the moon and the stars for a light by night,
Who disturbs the sea,
And its waves roar
(The LORD of hosts is His name):

36 "If those ordinances depart
From before Me, says the LORD,
Then the seed of Israel shall also cease
From being a nation before Me forever."

37 Thus says the LORD:

"If heaven above can be measured,
And the foundations of the earth searched out beneath,
I will also cast off all the seed of Israel
For all that they have done, says the LORD.

38 "Behold, the days are coming, says the LORD, that the city shall be built for the LORD from the Tower of Hananel to the Corner Gate. 39 The surveyor's line shall again extend straight forward over the hill Gareb; then it shall turn toward Goath. 40 And the whole valley of the dead bodies and of the ashes, and all the fields as far as the Brook Kidron, to the corner of the Horse Gate toward the east, shall be holy to the LORD. It shall not be plucked up or thrown down anymore forever."

Jeremiah Buys a Field

32 The word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD in the tenth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, which was the eighteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar. 2 For then the king of Babylon's army besieged Jerusalem, and Jeremiah the prophet was shut up in the court of the prison, which was in the king of Judah's house. 3 For Zedekiah king of Judah had shut him up, saying, "Why do you prophesy and say, 'Thus says the LORD: "Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall take it; 4 and Zedekiah king of Judah shall not escape from the hand of the Chaldeans, but shall surely be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon, and shall speak with him face to face,[a] and see him eye to eye; 5 then he shall lead Zedekiah to Babylon, and there he shall be until I visit him," says the LORD; "though you fight with the Chaldeans, you shall not succeed" '?"

6 And Jeremiah said, "The word of the LORD came to me, saying, 7 'Behold, Hanamel the son of Shallum your uncle will come to you, saying, "Buy my field which is in Anathoth, for the right of redemption is yours to buy it." ' 8 Then Hanamel my uncle's son came to me in the court of the prison
according to the word of the LORD, and said to me,
'Please buy my field that is in Anathoth, which is in the country of Benjamin; for the right of inheritance is yours, and the redemption yours; buy it for yourself.' Then I knew that this was the word of the LORD. 9 So I bought the field from Hanamel, the son of my uncle who was in Anathoth, and weighed out to him the money—seventeen shekels of silver. 10 And I signed the deed and sealed it, took witnesses, and weighed the money on the

31:32 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Targum, and Vulgate; Septuagint and Syriac read and I turned away from them. 32:4 [a]Literally mouth to mouth

31:31–34 God would establish a new covenant with His people. Unlike the covenant at Sinai which demanded outward obedience to external laws, this covenant would consist of inward spiritual renewal, which would enable the people to live in a right covenantal relationship with God. The new covenant is internal, universal, and unconditional. All people have the opportunity for an intimate personal relationship with the Lord. A primary element of this new covenant is forgiveness (Heb. salach). God would remember their sins no more. NT writers find the fulfillment of this prophecy in Jesus Christ (Heb. 8:7–13).

31:35–37 The foundation of the new covenant is as sure as the God who providentially maintains creation. These rhetorical statements underscore the certainty of the prophecy.

32:2–5 Jeremiah had violated the cultural ethic of court prophets, committing the equivalent of treason by preaching the truth. Zedekiah threw him in prison.

32:7–15 Jeremiah was instructed to buy a field, a foolish decision in human terms. But this was God's sign that the Land eventually would be restored. Similarly, Abraham purchased ground in Canaan to bury Sarah, land which the Israelites eventually returned to reclaim (Gen. 23:1–20).

scales. 11So I took the purchase deed, both that which was sealed according to the law and custom, and that which was open; 12and I gave the purchase deed to Baruch the son of Neriah, son of Mahseiah, in the presence of Hanamel my uncle's son, and in the presence of the witnesses who signed the purchase deed, before all the Jews who sat in the court of the prison.

13"Then I charged Baruch before them, saying, 14'Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "Take these deeds, both this purchase deed which is sealed and this deed which is open, and put them in an earthen vessel, that they may last many days." 15For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "Houses and fields and vineyards shall be possessed again in this land." '

Jeremiah Prays for Understanding

16"Now when I had delivered the purchase deed to Baruch the son of Neriah, I prayed to the LORD, saying: 17'Ah, Lord GOD! Behold, You have made the heavens and the earth by Your great power and outstretched arm. There is nothing too hard for You. 18*You* show lovingkindness to thousands, and repay the iniquity of the fathers into the bosom of their children after them—the Great, the Mighty God, whose name is the LORD of hosts. 19*You are* great in counsel and mighty in work, for Your eyes are open to all the ways of the sons of men, to give everyone according to his ways and according to the fruit of his doings. 20You have set signs and wonders in the land of Egypt, to this day, and in Israel and among other men; and You have made Yourself a name, as it is this day. 21You have brought Your people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signs and wonders, with a strong hand and an outstretched arm, and with great terror; 22You have given them this land, of which You swore to their fathers to give them—"a land flowing with milk and honey."[a] 23And they came in and took possession of it, but they have not obeyed Your voice or walked in Your law. They have done nothing of all that You commanded them to do; therefore You have caused all this calamity to come upon them.

24'Look, the siege mounds! They have come to the city to take it; and the city has been given into the hand of the Chaldeans who fight against it, because of the sword and famine and pestilence. What You have spoken has happened; there You see it! 25And You have said to me, O Lord GOD, "Buy the field for money, and take witnesses"!—yet the city has been given into the hand of the Chaldeans.' "

God's Assurance of the People's Return

26Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, saying, 27"Behold, I am the LORD, the God of all flesh. Is there anything too hard for Me? 28Therefore thus says the LORD: 'Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the Chaldeans, into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and he shall take it. 29And the Chaldeans who fight against this city shall come and set fire to this city and burn it, with the houses on whose roofs they have offered incense to Baal and poured out drink offerings to other gods, to provoke Me to anger; 30because the children of Israel and the children of Judah have done only evil before Me from their youth. For the children of Israel have provoked Me only to anger with the work of their hands,' says the LORD. 31'For this city has been to Me a provocation of My anger and My fury from the day that they built it, even to this day; so I will remove it from before My face 32because of all the evil of the children of Israel and the children of Judah, which they have done to provoke Me to anger—they, their kings, their princes, their priests, their prophets, the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. 33And they have turned to Me the back, and not the face; though I taught them, rising up early and teaching them, yet they have not listened to receive instruction. 34But they set their abominations in the house which is called by My name, to defile it. 35And they built the high places of Baal which are in the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, to cause their sons and their daughters to pass through the fire to Molech, which I did not command them, nor did it come into My mind that they should do this abomination, to cause Judah to sin.'

36"Now therefore, thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, concerning this city of which you say, 'It shall be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence: 37Behold, I will gather them out of all countries where I have driven them in My anger, in My fury, and in great wrath; I will bring them back to this place, and I will cause them to dwell safely. 38They shall be My people, and I will be their God; 39then I will give them one heart and one way, that they may fear Me forever, for the

32:16–25 Jeremiah seemed to doubt what God had instructed him to do, even though he had preached the answer (see v. 15). But he responded by asking for God's help, providing insight into his prayer life. The prayer consisted almost entirely of praise, acknowledging God for His sovereign lovingkindness and His marvelous deeds in redeeming Israel. Jeremiah took his doubts to the Lord.

32:26–44 The answer God gave is a summary of everything He had proclaimed through Jeremiah to this point—His judgment on the sin of Judah and His promise to restore them in the future. What Jeremiah needed was a reminder. This principle of remembrance and repetition of truth is a biblical one (Deut. 6:4–9, 20–25).

PRAYER ROOTED IN GOD'S PROMISES

Prayer is one way in which the believer claims the promises of God. Through prayer God reveals His character and His blessings. His precious promises are apparent to believers as they pray (2 Pet. 1:2–4).

God makes several promises to His children who are committed to prayer. First and foremost, He promises a response. God promises to hear and to answer the prayer of every sinner who seek forgiveness and to act on the request of every believer who asks in faith. Jesus told His disciples that the Father would do anything asked in His name (John 14:13, 14).

To the believer, God's answer at first may be unclear or different from the answer expected or desired, or the answer may be delayed. God's answers include "yes," "no," and "wait." You must recognize in praying that sometimes you ask the Lord to do things that are not for your good, the good of others, or the ultimate fulfillment of God's plan. You see life from a limited, finite viewpoint; He alone can see the beginning and ending of all things. The Lord alone knows how your prayer requests fit into His purpose—which is both for your good and the good of all other believers.

Second, God promises His presence through prayer. When you are called by name, you should respond with attention. When you call God by name, He gives you His ear. From the time of salvation, a believer is promised the presence of the Holy Spirit as Helper, Tutor, and Guide (Acts 2:33). The Holy Spirit through His presence fulfills the promises of God to and in believers.

Third, God promises His wisdom as believers pray. Often during a time of crisis, a believer does not know how to pray. At other times a believer may not know what to pray. You can take heart at those times in knowing that the Holy Spirit helps the believer to pray (Jude 20). God promises to answer the sincere intent of the heart, even if you cannot find the "right words." When a believer prays in faith, God does even more than He is asked (Jer. 33:3). He answers us liberally, abundantly, and generously.

good of them and their children after them. 40And
I will make an everlasting covenant with them, that I will not turn away from doing them good;
but I will put My fear in their hearts so that they will not depart from Me. 41Yes, I will rejoice over them to do them good, and I will assuredly plant them in this land, with all My heart and with all My soul.'

42"For thus says the LORD: 'Just as I have brought all this great calamity on this people, so I will bring on them all the good that I have promised them. 43And fields will be bought in this land of which you say, "It is desolate, without man or beast; it has been given into the hand of the Chaldeans." 44Men will buy fields for money, sign deeds and seal them, and take witnesses, in the land of Benjamin, in the places around Jerusalem, in the cities of Judah, in the cities of the mountains, in the cities of the lowland, and in the cities of the South; for I will cause their captives to return,' says the LORD."

Excellence of the Restored Nation

33 Moreover the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah a second time, while he was still shut up in the court of the prison, saying, 2"Thus says the LORD who made it, the LORD who formed it to establish it (the LORD is His name): 3'Call to Me, and I will answer you, and show you great and mighty things, which you do not know.'

4"For thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, concerning the houses of this city and the houses of the kings of Judah, which have been pulled down to fortify[a] against the siege mounds and the sword: 5'They come to fight with the Chaldeans, but only to fill their places[a] with the dead bodies of men whom I will slay in My anger and My fury, all for whose wickedness I have hidden My face from this city. 6Behold, I will bring it health and healing; I will heal them and reveal to them the abundance of peace and truth. 7And I will cause the captives of Judah and the captives of Israel to return, and will rebuild those places as at the first. 8I will cleanse them from all their iniquity by which they have sinned against Me, and I will pardon all their iniquities by which they have sinned and by which they have transgressed against Me.
9Then it shall be to Me a name of joy, a praise, and 33:3 Call to Me is a sign of the great love of God for His prophet. He invited Jeremiah to pray and then promised an answer to that prayer beyond Jeremiah's present understanding. God's people are invited to do the same (John 15:16).

33:6–18 The time of restoration would bring joy such as that of the bride and bridegroon at a wedding feast. As is common in prophetic literature, the passage begins with the current situation and then merges seamlessly with the messianic age. The elements of forgiveness of sin, healing, restoration, and prosperity appear.

an honor before all nations of the earth, who shall hear all the good that I do to them; they shall fear and tremble for all the goodness and all the prosperity that I provide for it.'

10"Thus says the LORD: 'Again there shall be heard in this place—of which you say, "It is desolate, without man and without beast"—in the cities of Judah, in the streets of Jerusalem that are desolate, without man and without inhabitant and without beast, 11the voice of joy and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, the voice of those who will say:

"Praise the LORD of hosts,
For the LORD is good,
For His mercy endures forever"— and of those who will bring the sacrifice of praise into the house of the LORD. For I will cause the captives of the land to return as at the first,' says the LORD.

12"Thus says the LORD of hosts: 'In this place which is desolate, without man and without beast, and in all its cities, there shall again be a dwelling place of shepherds causing their flocks to lie down. 13In the cities of the mountains, in the cities of the lowland, in the cities of the South, in the land of Benjamin, in the places around Jerusalem, and in the cities of Judah, the flocks shall again pass under the hands of him who counts them,' says the LORD.

14'Behold, the days are coming,' says the LORD, 'that I will perform that good thing which I have promised to the house of Israel and to the house of Judah:

15'In those days and at that time
I will cause to grow up to David
A Branch of righteousness;
He shall execute judgment and righteousness
in the earth.
16In those days Judah will be saved,
And Jerusalem will dwell safely.
And this is the name by which she will be called:

THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS.'[a]

17"For thus says the LORD: 'David shall never lack a man to sit on the throne of the house of Israel; 18nor shall the priests, the Levites, lack a man to offer burnt offerings before Me, to kindle grain offerings, and to sacrifice continually.' "

The Permanence of God's Covenant

19And the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, saying, 20"Thus says the LORD: 'If you can break My covenant with the day and My covenant with the night, so that there will not be day and night in their season, 21then My covenant may also be broken with David My servant, so that he shall not have a son to reign on his throne, and with the Levites, the priests, My ministers. 22As the host of heaven cannot be numbered, nor the sand of the sea measured, so will I multiply the descendants of David My servant and the Levites who minister to Me.' "

23Moreover the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, saying, 24"Have you not considered what these people have spoken, saying, 'The two families which the LORD has chosen, He has also cast them off'? Thus they have despised My people, as if they should no more be a nation before them.

25"Thus says the LORD: 'If My covenant is not with day and night, and if I have not appointed the ordinances of heaven and earth, 26then I will cast away the descendants of Jacob and David My servant, so that I will not take any of his descendants to be rulers over the descendants of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. For I will cause their captives to return, and will have mercy on them.' "

Zedekiah Warned by God

34 The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD, when Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and all his army, all the kingdoms of the earth under his dominion, and all the people, fought against Jerusalem and all its cities, saying, 2"Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: 'Go and speak to Zedekiah king of Judah and tell him, "Thus says the LORD: 'Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall burn it with fire. 3And you shall not escape from his hand, but shall surely be taken and delivered into his hand; your eyes shall see the eyes of the king of Babylon, he shall speak with you face to face,[a] and you shall go to Babylon.' " ' 4Yet hear the word of the LORD, O Zedekiah king of Judah! Thus says the LORD concerning you: 'You shall not die by the sword. 5You shall die in peace; as in the ceremonies of your fathers, the former kings who were before you, so they shall burn incense for you and lament for you, saying, "Alas, lord!" For I have pronounced the word, says the LORD.' "

33:16 [a]Compare 23:5, 6 34:3 [a]Literally mouth to mouth

33:17, 18 Jesus, as Priest and King, fulfills both offices in the NT.

33:22 The Davidic covenant is a renewal of the covenant given to Abraham (Gen. 22:17). In the NT, Jesus is the further fulfillment of this covenant (Matt. 1:1).

34:1–7 God in His grace and justice often seems to respond to individuals in the measure they turn to Him. God showed a certain measure of grace to Zedekiah. This was in keeping with a partial repentance (see vv. 18–22) after the pattern of Ahab's shallow, albeit sincere, repentance (1 Kin. 21:27–29).

[6]Then Jeremiah the prophet spoke all these words to Zedekiah king of Judah in Jerusalem, [7]when the king of Babylon's army fought against Jerusalem and all the cities of Judah that were left, against Lachish and Azekah; for only these fortified cities remained of the cities of Judah.

Treacherous Treatment of Slaves

[8]This is the word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, after King Zedekiah had made a covenant with all the people who were at Jerusalem to proclaim liberty to them: [9]that every man should set free his male and female slave—a Hebrew man or woman—that no one should keep a Jewish brother in bondage. [10]Now when all the princes and all the people, who had entered into the covenant, heard that everyone should set free his male and female slaves, that no one should keep them in bondage anymore, they obeyed and let them go. [11]But afterward they changed their minds and made the male and female slaves return, whom they had set free, and brought them into subjection as male and female slaves.

[12]Therefore the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying, [13]"Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: 'I made a covenant with your fathers in the day that I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage, saying, [14]"At the end of seven years let every man set free his Hebrew brother, who has been sold to him; and when he has served you six years, you shall let him go free from you." But your fathers did not obey Me nor incline their ear. [15]Then you recently turned and did what was right in My sight—every man proclaiming liberty to his neighbor; and you made a covenant before Me in the house which is called by My name. [16]Then you turned around and profaned My name, and every one of you brought back his male and female slaves, whom you had set at liberty, at their pleasure, and brought them back into subjection, to be your male and female slaves.'

[17]"Therefore thus says the LORD: 'You have not obeyed Me in proclaiming liberty, every one to his brother and every one to his neighbor. Behold, I proclaim liberty to you,' says the LORD—'to the sword, to pestilence, and to famine! And I will deliver you to trouble among all the kingdoms of the earth. [18]And I will give the men who have transgressed My covenant, who have not performed the words of the covenant which they made before Me, when they cut the calf in two and passed between the parts of it— [19]the princes of Judah, the princes of Jerusalem, the eunuchs, the priests, and all the people of the land who passed between the parts of the calf— [20]I will give them into the hand of their enemies and into the hand of those who seek their life. Their dead bodies shall be for meat for the birds of the heaven and the beasts of the earth. [21]And I will give Zedekiah king of Judah and his princes into the hand of their enemies, into the hand of those who seek their life, and into the hand of the king of Babylon's army which has gone back from you. [22]Behold, I will command,' says the LORD, 'and cause them to return to this city. They will fight against it and take it and burn it with fire; and I will make the cities of Judah a desolation without inhabitant.' "

The Obedient Rechabites

35 The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD in the days of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, saying, [2]"Go to the house of the Rechabites, speak to them, and bring them into the house of the LORD, into one of the chambers, and give them wine to drink."

[3]Then I took Jaazaniah the son of Jeremiah, the son of Habazziniah, his brothers and all his sons, and the whole house of the Rechabites, [4]and I brought them into the house of the LORD, into the chamber of the sons of Hanan the son of Igdaliah, a man of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, above the chamber of Maaseiah the son of Shallum, the keeper of the door. [5]Then I set be-

34:8–22 The attempt to release all the slaves and fulfill Leviticus 25:54 was halfhearted at best. To reenslave them was worse than not releasing them at all and so earned a harsher judgment. The institution of slavery in Israel was quite different from slavery in the western world. Rather than racially based, slavery was an economic provision intended to prevent absolute destitution of those who had no other recourse. Strict laws protected the rights of slaves. Though a foreigner theoretically could be kept a slave in perpetuity (since he was not a member of God's people), a fellow Israelite had to be freed in the Year of Jubilee, unless he decided to remain a slave out of love for his master (Lev. 25:39–55; see chart, The Principle of the Sabbath).

34:18 To cut a covenant is a literal Hebrew expression that refers to the making of a covenant. The two parties butchered an animal, divided it into several parts, and walked between the pieces, reciting the terms of the covenant (Gen. 15:9–18). The idea here is "may God so do to me as we have done to this animal if I do not fulfill the terms of the covenant." God would punish His people for their failure to obey Him by freeing the slaves (Jer. 34:18–20).

35:1 Jehoiakim began to rule in 609 B.C. and Zedekiah in 597 B.C. The placement of this passage (recording events some 10 years earlier than the previous chapters) illustrates the nonchronological nature of the Book of Jeremiah (see Introduction: Date).

35:2 The Rechabites were descendants of Jonadab, the son of Rechab, who taught his relatives to abstain from wine, building houses, and agriculture. Jonadab was a strong opponent of Baal worship. The Baals were fertility gods. Jonadab's instructions were meant to guard against his descendants becoming involved in Baal worship (2 Kin. 10:15–28). All Jonadab's descendants faithfully had carried out his instructions.

fore the sons of the house of the Rechabites bowls full of wine, and cups; and I said to them, "Drink wine."

6But they said, "We will drink no wine, for Jonadab the son of Rechab, our father, commanded us, saying, 'You shall drink no wine, you nor your sons, forever. 7You shall not build a house, sow seed, plant a vineyard, nor have any of these; but all your days you shall dwell in tents, that you may live many days in the land where you are sojourners.' 8Thus we have obeyed the voice of Jonadab the son of Rechab, our father, in all that he charged us, to drink no wine all our days, we, our wives, our sons, or our daughters, 9nor to build ourselves houses to dwell in; nor do we have vineyard, field, or seed. 10But we have dwelt in tents, and have obeyed and done according to all that Jonadab our father commanded us. 11But it came to pass, when Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came up into the land, that we said, 'Come, let us go to Jerusalem for fear of the army of the Chaldeans and for fear of the army of the Syrians.' So we dwell at Jerusalem."

12Then came the word of the LORD to Jeremiah, saying, 13"Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: 'Go and tell the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, "Will you not receive instruction to obey My words?" says the LORD. 14"The words of Jonadab the son of Rechab, which he commanded his sons, not to drink wine, are performed; for to this day they drink none, and obey their father's commandment. But although I have spoken to you, rising early and speaking, you did not obey Me. 15I have also sent to you all My servants the prophets, rising up early and sending them, saying, 'Turn now everyone from his evil way, amend your doings, and do not go after other gods to serve them; then you will dwell in the land which I have given you and your fathers.' But you have not inclined your ear, nor obeyed Me. 16Surely the sons of Jonadab the son of Rechab have performed the commandment of their father, which he commanded them, but this people has not obeyed Me." '

17"Therefore thus says the LORD God of hosts, the God of Israel: 'Behold, I will bring on Judah and on all the inhabitants of Jerusalem all the doom that I have pronounced against them; because I have spoken to them but they have not heard, and I have called to them but they have not answered.' "

18And Jeremiah said to the house of the Rechabites, "Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: 'Because you have obeyed the commandment of Jonadab your father, and kept all his precepts and done according to all that he commanded you, 19therefore thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "Jonadab the son of Rechab shall not lack a man to stand before Me forever." ' "

The Scroll Read in the Temple

36 Now it came to pass in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, that this word came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying: 2"Take a scroll of a book and write on it all the words that I have spoken to you against Israel, against Judah, and against all the nations, from the day I spoke to you, from the days of Josiah even to this day. 3It may be that the house of Judah will hear all the adversities which I purpose to bring upon them, that everyone may turn from his evil way, that I may forgive their iniquity and their sin."

4Then Jeremiah called Baruch the son of Neriah; and Baruch wrote on a scroll of a book, at the instruction of Jeremiah,[a] all the words of the LORD which He had spoken to him. 5And Jeremiah commanded Baruch, saying, "I am confined, I cannot go into the house of the LORD. 6You go, therefore, and read from the scroll which you have written at my instruction,[a] the words of the LORD, in the hearing of the people in the LORD's house on the day of fasting. And you shall also read them in the hearing of all Judah who come from their cities. 7It may be that they will present their supplication before the LORD, and everyone will turn from his evil way. For great is the anger and the fury that the LORD has pronounced against this people." 8And Baruch the son of Neriah did according to all that Jeremiah the prophet commanded him, reading from the book the words of the LORD in the LORD's house.

9Now it came to pass in the fifth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, in the ninth month, that they proclaimed a fast before the LORD to all the people in Jerusalem, and to all the people who came from the cities of Judah to Jerusalem. 10Then Baruch read from the book the words of Jeremiah in the house of the LORD, in the 35:14 Father often is used of a remote ancestor. The faithfulness of the Rechabites became an example and a rebuke to the people of Judah. If the Rechabites were willing to obey their earthly ancestor, how much more the Israelites should obey God, who created and redeemed them.

36:4 Baruch acted as Jeremiah's amanuensis—a secretary or assistant.

36:6 The ability to read in ancient times often was restricted to the upper classes and those with special training, such as scribes. Only at such public gatherings would the common people hear the Word of God (or any written work) read.

36:9 Fasting was common, particularly in times of distress. Isaiah rebuked the merely outward ritual of fasting that lacked heartfelt repentance (Is. 58; see Matt. 6:16–18, note).

chamber of Gemariah the son of Shaphan the scribe, in the upper court at the entry of the New Gate of the LORD's house, in the hearing of all the people.

The Scroll Read in the Palace

11When Michaiah the son of Gemariah, the son of Shaphan, heard all the words of the LORD from the book, 12he then went down to the king's house, into the scribe's chamber; and there all the princes were sitting—Elishama the scribe, Delaiah the son of Shemaiah, Elnathan the son of Achbor, Gemariah the son of Shaphan, Zedekiah the son of Hananiah, and all the princes. 13Then Michaiah declared to them all the words that he had heard when Baruch read the book in the hearing of the people. 14Therefore all the princes sent Jehudi the son of Nethaniah, the son of Shelemiah, the son of Cushi, to Baruch, saying, "Take in your hand the scroll from which you have read in the hearing of the people, and come." So Baruch the son of Neriah took the scroll in his hand and came to them. 15And they said to him, "Sit down now, and read it in our hearing." So Baruch read it in their hearing.

16Now it happened, when they had heard all the words, that they looked in fear from one to another, and said to Baruch, "We will surely tell the king of all these words." 17And they asked Baruch, saying, "Tell us now, how did you write all these words—at his instruction?"[a]

18So Baruch answered them, "He proclaimed with his mouth all these words to me, and I wrote them with ink in the book."

19Then the princes said to Baruch, "Go and hide, you and Jeremiah; and let no one know where you are."

The King Destroys Jeremiah's Scroll

20And they went to the king, into the court; but they stored the scroll in the chamber of Elishama the scribe, and told all the words in the hearing of the king. 21So the king sent Jehudi to bring the scroll, and he took it from Elishama the scribe's chamber. And Jehudi read it in the hearing of the king and in the hearing of all the princes who stood beside the king. 22Now the king was sitting in the winter house in the ninth month, with a fire burning on the hearth before him. 23And it happened, when Jehudi had read three or four columns, that the king cut it with the scribe's knife and cast it into the fire that was on the hearth, until all the scroll was consumed in the fire that was on the hearth. 24Yet they were not afraid, nor did they tear their garments, the king nor any of his servants who heard all these words. 25Nevertheless Elnathan, Delaiah, and Gemariah implored the king not to burn the scroll; but he would not listen to them. 26And the king commanded Jerahmeel the king's[a] son, Seraiah the son of Azriel, and Shelemiah the son of Abdeel, to seize Baruch the scribe and Jeremiah the prophet, but the LORD hid them.

Jeremiah Rewrites the Scroll

27Now after the king had burned the scroll with the words which Baruch had written at the instruction of Jeremiah,[a] the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, saying: 28"Take yet another scroll, and write on it all the former words that were in the first scroll which Jehoiakim the king of Judah has burned. 29And you shall say to Jehoiakim king of Judah, 'Thus says the LORD: "You have burned this scroll, saying, 'Why have you written in it that the king of Babylon will certainly come and destroy this land, and cause man and beast to cease from here?' " 30Therefore thus says the LORD concerning Jehoiakim king of Judah: "He shall have no one to sit on the throne of David, and his dead body shall be cast out to the heat of the day and the frost of the night. 31I will punish him, his family, and his servants for their iniquity; and I will bring on them, on the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and on the men of Judah all the doom that I have pronounced against them; but they did not heed." ' "

32Then Jeremiah took another scroll and gave it to Baruch the scribe, the son of Neriah, who wrote on it at the instruction of Jeremiah[a] all the words of the book which Jehoiakim king of Judah had burned in the fire. And besides, there were added to them many similar words.

Zedekiah's Vain Hope

37 Now King Zedekiah the son of Josiah reigned instead of Coniah the son of Jehoiakim, whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon made king in the land of Judah. 2But neither he

36:11–19 The princes, whether sympathetic to Jeremiah or not, realized the political import of Jeremiah's message and the potential danger to him. They, therefore, warned him to hide in order to escape the king's wrath. Their suspicions were well-founded.

36:27–32 God's Word cannot be destroyed. God instructed Jeremiah to rewrite the scroll, adding to it. The attempt to suppress God's Word resulted in its increase (v. 32). For his act of rebellion, the king received a punishment reserved for the worst of the kings of Israel and Judah—the complete overthrow of his dynasty (1 Kin. 21:20–23).

37:1 The Babylonians, as later did the Romans, left much of the local power structure and religion of a conquered people intact, as long as they submitted by paying tribute and by nor his servants nor the people of the land gave heed to the words of the LORD which He spoke by the prophet Jeremiah.

3And Zedekiah the king sent Jehucal the son of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the son of Maaseiah, the priest, to the prophet Jeremiah, saying, "Pray now to the LORD our God for us." 4Now Jeremiah was coming and going among the people, for they had not yet put him in prison. 5Then Pharaoh's army came up from Egypt; and when the Chaldeans who were besieging Jerusalem heard news of them, they departed from Jerusalem.

6Then the word of the LORD came to the prophet Jeremiah, saying, 7"Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, 'Thus you shall say to the king of Judah, who sent you to Me to inquire of Me: "Behold, Pharaoh's army which has come up to help you will return to Egypt, to their own land. 8And the Chaldeans shall come back and fight against this city, and take it and burn it with fire." ' 9Thus says the LORD: 'Do not deceive yourselves, saying, "The Chaldeans will surely depart from us," for they will not depart. 10For though you had defeated the whole army of the Chaldeans who fight against you, and there remained only wounded men among them, they would rise up, every man in his tent, and burn the city with fire.' "

Jeremiah Imprisoned

11And it happened, when the army of the Chaldeans left the siege of Jerusalem for fear of Pharaoh's army, 12that Jeremiah went out of Jerusalem to go into the land of Benjamin to claim his property there among the people. 13And when he was in the Gate of Benjamin, a captain of the guard was there whose name was Irijah the son of Shelemiah, the son of Hananiah; and he seized Jeremiah the prophet, saying, "You are defecting to the Chaldeans!"

14Then Jeremiah said, "False! I am not defecting to the Chaldeans." But he did not listen to him.

So Irijah seized Jeremiah and brought him to the princes. 15Therefore the princes were angry with Jeremiah, and they struck him and put him in prison in the house of Jonathan the scribe. For they had made that the prison.

16When Jeremiah entered the dungeon and the cells, and Jeremiah had remained there many days, 17then Zedekiah the king sent and took him out. The king asked him secretly in his house, and said, "Is there any word from the LORD?"

And Jeremiah said, "There is." Then he said, "You shall be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon!"

18Moreover Jeremiah said to King Zedekiah, "What offense have I committed against you, against your servants, or against this people, that you have put me in prison? 19Where now are your prophets who prophesied to you, saying, 'The king of Babylon will not come against you or against this land'? 20Therefore please hear now, O my lord the king. Please, let my petition be accepted before you, and do not make me return to the house of Jonathan the scribe, lest I die there."

21Then Zedekiah the king commanded that they should commit Jeremiah to the court of the prison, and that they should give him daily a piece of bread from the bakers' street, until all the bread in the city was gone. Thus Jeremiah remained in the court of the prison.

Jeremiah in the Dungeon

38 Now Shephatiah the son of Mattan, Gedaliah the son of Pashhur, Jucal[a] the son of Shelemiah, and Pashhur the son of Malchiah heard the words that Jeremiah had spoken to all the people, saying, 2"Thus says the LORD: 'He who remains in this city shall die by the sword, by famine, and by pestilence; but he who goes over to the Chaldeans shall live; his life shall be as a prize to him, and he shall live.'[a] 3Thus says the LORD: 'This city shall surely be given into the hand of the king of Babylon's army, which shall take it.' "

4Therefore the princes said to the king, "Please, let this man be put to death, for thus he weakens the hands of the men of war who remain in this city, and the hands of all the people, by speaking such words to them. For this man does not seek the welfare of this people, but their harm."

5Then Zedekiah the king said, "Look, he is in your hand. For the king can do nothing against you." 6So they took Jeremiah and cast him into the dungeon of Malchiah the king's[a] son, which was in the court of the prison, and they let Jeremiah down with ropes. And in the dungeon there was no water, but mire. So Jeremiah sank in the mire.

supporting the greater interests of the empire. Zedekiah must have agreed to similar stipulations with Nebuchadnezzar, but he later broke the agreement and came under the emperor's wrath. The breaking of the human covenant and its consequences parallels the breaking of the divine covenant and the resulting judgment.

37:3 Zedekiah sought Jeremiah's intervention under the pressure of the impending attack. Though there was temporary reprieve, the prophecy of destruction remained in effect.

38:4 Jeremiah was charged with treason because he counseled surrender to the Babylonians. The princes' response to Jeremiah's preaching reveals their lack of faith and their rebellion against God.

7Now Ebed-Melech the Ethiopian, one of the eunuchs, who was in the king's house, heard that they had put Jeremiah in the dungeon. When the king was sitting at the Gate of Benjamin, 8Ebed-Melech went out of the king's house and spoke to the king, saying: 9"My lord the king, these men have done evil in all that they have done to Jeremiah the prophet, whom they have cast into the dungeon, and he is likely to die from hunger in the place where he is. For there is no more bread in the city." 10Then the king commanded Ebed-Melech the Ethiopian, saying, "Take from here thirty men with you, and lift Jeremiah the prophet out of the dungeon before he dies." 11So Ebed-Melech took the men with him and went into the house of the king under the treasury, and took from there old clothes and old rags, and let them down by ropes into the dungeon to Jeremiah. 12Then Ebed-Melech the Ethiopian said to Jeremiah, "Please put these old clothes and rags under your armpits, under the ropes." And Jeremiah did so. 13So they pulled Jeremiah up with ropes and lifted him out of the dungeon. And Jeremiah remained in the court of the prison.

Zedekiah's Fears and Jeremiah's Advice

14Then Zedekiah the king sent and had Jeremiah the prophet brought to him at the third entrance of the house of the LORD. And the king said to Jeremiah, "I will ask you something. Hide nothing from me."

15Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, "If I declare it to you, will you not surely put me to death? And if I give you advice, you will not listen to me."

16So Zedekiah the king swore secretly to Jeremiah, saying, "As the LORD lives, who made our very souls, I will not put you to death, nor will I give you into the hand of these men who seek your life."

17Then Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, "Thus says the LORD, the God of hosts, the God of Israel: 'If you surely surrender to the king of Babylon's princes, then your soul shall live; this city shall not be burned with fire, and you and your house shall live. 18But if you do not surrender to the king of Babylon's princes, then this city shall be given into the hand of the Chaldeans; they shall burn it with fire, and you shall not escape from their hand.' "

19And Zedekiah the king said to Jeremiah, "I am afraid of the Jews who have defected to the Chaldeans, lest they deliver me into their hand, and they abuse me."

20But Jeremiah said, "They shall not deliver you. Please, obey the voice of the LORD which I speak to you. So it shall be well with you, and your soul shall live. 21But if you refuse to surrender, this is the word that the LORD has shown me: 22'Now behold, all the women who are left in the king of Judah's house shall be surrendered to the king of Babylon's princes, and those women shall say:

"Your close friends have set upon you
And prevailed against you;
Your feet have sunk in the mire,
And they have turned away again."

23'So they shall surrender all your wives and children to the Chaldeans. You shall not escape from their hand, but shall be taken by the hand of the king of Babylon. And you shall cause this city to be burned with fire.' "

24Then Zedekiah said to Jeremiah, "Let no one know of these words, and you shall not die. 25But if the princes hear that I have talked with you, and they come to you and say to you, 'Declare to us now what you have said to the king, and also what the king said to you; do not hide it from us, and we will not put you to death,' 26then you shall say to them, 'I presented my request before the king, that he would not make me return to Jonathan's house to die there.' "

27Then all the princes came to Jeremiah and asked him. And he told them according to all these words that the king had commanded. So they stopped speaking with him, for the conversation had not been heard. 28Now Jeremiah remained in the court of the prison until the day that Jerusalem was taken. And he was there when Jerusalem was taken.

The Fall of Jerusalem

39 In the ninth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the tenth month, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and all his army came against Jerusalem, and besieged it. 2In the eleventh year of Zedekiah, in the fourth month, on the ninth day of the month, the city was penetrated.

3Then all the princes of the king of Babylon came in and sat in the Middle Gate: Nergal-Sharezer, Samgar-Nebo, Sarsechim, Rabsaris,[a] Nergal-Sarezer, Rabmag,[b] with the rest of the princes of the king of Babylon.

39:3 [a]A title, probably Chief Officer; also verse 13 [b]A title, probably Troop Commander; also verse 13

38:7 Ebed-Melech (Heb., lit. "servant of the king") is likely a title rather than a personal name. Ironically, a foreigner, rather than one of God's own people, led the attempt to rescue Jeremiah.

38:14 Zedekiah, to his credit, listened sincerely to Jeremiah's message, though he did not obey. This attitude also may have contributed to God's mercy shown to him (see Jer. 34:4, 5).

39:1 Jeremiah and his message were vindicated by the historical reality of the fall of Jerusalem in 586 B.C. The treatment accorded Jerusalem is typical imperial punishment for a city in rebellion.

39:3 The elders would sit in the gate and conduct the government of a small town. This action of the princes of the Babylonian king indicated their control of the city.

4So it was, when Zedekiah the king of Judah and all the men of war saw them, that they fled and went out of the city by night, by way of the king's garden, by the gate between the two walls.
And he went out by way of the plain.[a] 5But the Chaldean army pursued them and overtook Zedekiah in the plains of Jericho. And when they had captured him, they brought him up to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, to Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he pronounced judgment on him. 6Then the king of Babylon killed the sons of Zedekiah before his eyes in Riblah; the king of Babylon also killed all the nobles of Judah. 7Moreover he put out Zedekiah's eyes, and bound him with bronze fetters to carry him off to Babylon.
8And the Chaldeans burned the king's house and the houses of the people with fire, and broke down the walls of Jerusalem. 9Then Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard carried away captive to Babylon the remnant of the people who remained in the city and those who defected to him, with the rest of the people who remained. 10But Ne-buzaradan the captain of the guard left in the land of Judah the poor people, who had nothing, and gave them vineyards and fields at the same time.

Jeremiah Goes Free

11Now Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon gave charge concerning Jeremiah to Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard, saying, 12"Take him and look after him, and do him no harm; but do to him just as he says to you." 13So Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard sent Nebushasban, Rabsaris, Nergal-Sharezer, Rabmag, and all the king of Babylon's chief officers; 14then they sent someone to take Jeremiah from the court of the prison, and committed him to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, that he should take him home. So he dwelt among the people.

15Meanwhile the word of the LORD had come to Jeremiah while he was shut up in the court of the prison, saying, 16"Go and speak to Ebed-Melech the Ethiopian, saying, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "Behold, I will bring My words upon this city for adversity and not for good, and they shall be performed in that day before you. 17But I will deliver you in that day," says the LORD, "and you shall not be given into the hand of the men of whom you are afraid. 18For I will surely deliver you, and you shall not fall by the sword; but your life shall be as a prize to you, because you have put your trust in Me," says the LORD.' "

Jeremiah with Gedaliah the Governor

40 The word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD after Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard had let him go from Ramah, when he had taken him bound in chains among all who were carried away captive from Jerusalem and Judah, who were carried away captive to Babylon.

2And the captain of the guard took Jeremiah and said to him: "The LORD your God has pronounced this doom on this place. 3Now the LORD has brought it, and has done just as He said. Because you people have sinned against the LORD, and not obeyed His voice, therefore this thing has come upon you. 4And now look, I free you this day from the chains that were on your hand. If it seems good to you to come with me to Babylon, come, and I will look after you. But if it seems wrong for you to come with me to Babylon, remain here. See, all the land is before you; wherever it seems good and convenient for you to go, go there."

5Now while Jeremiah had not yet gone back, Nebuzaradan said, "Go back to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, whom the king of Babylon has made governor over the cities of Judah, and dwell with him among the people. Or go wherever it seems convenient for you to go." So the captain of the guard gave him rations and a gift and let him go. 6Then Jeremiah went to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, to Mizpah, and dwelt with him among the people who were left in the land.

7And when all the captains of the armies who were in the fields, they and their men, heard that the king of Babylon had made Gedaliah the son of Ahikam governor in the land, and had committed to him men, women, children, and the poorest of the land who had not been carried away captive to Babylon, 8then they came to Gedaliah at Mizpah—Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, Johanan and Jonathan the sons of Kareah, Seraiah the son of Tanhumeth,

39:4 [a]Or the Arabah, that is, the Jordan Valley

39:5, 6 Zedekiah's suffering was indeed great. Jeremiah had not prophesied that Zedekiah would escape suffering, since his sins were grievous, but that Zedekiah would die in peace and receive a burial fit for a king (Jer. 34:5).

39:12 Jeremiah's preaching and actions undoubtedly had been reported to the king of Babylon. As one of the few who openly advocated submission to Nebuchadnezzar, Jeremiah was seen as faithful to the covenant between Judah and Babylon, and so was rewarded (as in Jer. 40). In this case, Jeremiah's faithfulness to the covenant of God paralleled his faithfulness to surrender to Nebuchadnezzar.

40:2, 3 For pagans to acknowledge the God of Israel and recognize His power, even in a qualified measure, was a rebuke to the disbelief of the people. Here in Jeremiah and several times in other exilic writings (particularly Daniel), the king of the pagan empire or one of his high ranking officials is seen speaking in respectful or even positive terms of the God of Israel. These pronouncements do not mean that they were true believers; they simply had found room for another god in their pantheon.

the sons of Ephai the Netophathite, and Jezaniah[a] the son of a Maachathite, they and their men. 9And Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, took an oath before them and their men, saying, "Do not be afraid to serve the Chaldeans. Dwell in the land and serve the king of Babylon, and it shall be well with you. 10As for me, I will indeed dwell at Mizpah and serve the Chaldeans who come to us. But you, gather wine and summer fruit and oil, put them in your vessels, and dwell in your cities that you have taken." 11Likewise, when all the Jews who were in Moab, among the Ammonites, in Edom, and who were in all the countries, heard that the king of Babylon had left a remnant of Judah, and that he had set over them Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, 12then all the Jews returned out of all places where they had been driven, and came to the land of Judah, to Gedaliah at Mizpah, and gathered wine and summer fruit in abundance.

13Moreover Johanan the son of Kareah and all the captains of the forces that were in the fields came to Gedaliah at Mizpah, 14and said to him, "Do you certainly know that Baalis the king of the Ammonites has sent Ishmael the son of Nethaniah to murder you?" But Gedaliah the son of Ahikam did not believe them.

15Then Johanan the son of Kareah spoke secretly to Gedaliah in Mizpah, saying, "Let me go, please, and I will kill Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and no one will know it. Why should he murder you, so that all the Jews who are gathered to you would be scattered, and the remnant in Judah perish?"

16But Gedaliah the son of Ahikam said to Johanan the son of Kareah, "You shall not do this thing, for you speak falsely concerning Ishmael."

Insurrection Against Gedaliah

41 Now it came to pass in the seventh month that Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, the son of Elishama, of the royal family and of the officers of the king, came with ten men to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, at Mizpah. And there they ate bread together in Mizpah. 2Then Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and the ten men who were with him, arose and struck Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, with the sword, and killed him whom the king of Babylon had made governor over the land. 3Ishmael also struck down all the Jews who were with him, that is, with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and the Chaldeans who were found there, the men of war.

4And it happened, on the second day after he had killed Gedaliah, when as yet no one knew it, 5that certain men came from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, eighty men with their beards shaved and their clothes torn, having cut themselves, with offerings and incense in their hand, to bring them to the house of the LORD. 6Now Ishmael the son of Nethaniah went out from Mizpah to meet them, weeping as he went along; and it happened as he met them that he said to them, "Come to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam!" 7So it was, when they came into the midst of the city, that Ishmael the son of Nethaniah killed them and cast them into the midst of a pit, he and the men who were with him. 8But ten men were found among them who said to Ishmael, "Do not kill us, for we have treasures of wheat, barley, oil, and honey in the field." So he desisted and did not kill them among their brethren. 9Now the pit into which Ishmael had cast all the dead bodies of the men whom he had slain, because of Gedaliah, was the same one Asa the king had made for fear of Baasha king of Israel. Ishmael the son of Nethaniah filled it with the slain. 10Then Ishmael carried away captive all the rest of the people who were in Mizpah, the king's daughters and all the people who remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard had committed to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam. And Ishmael the son of Nethaniah carried them away captive and departed to go over to the Ammonites.

11But when Johanan the son of Kareah and all the captains of the forces that were with him heard of all the evil that Ishmael the son of Nethaniah had done, 12they took all the men and went to fight with Ishmael the son of Nethaniah; and they found him by the great pool that is in Gibeon. 13So it was, when all the people who were with Ishmael saw Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the cap-

40:9–12 Gedaliah, too, swore the oath of covenantal allegiance to Babylon, and unlike Zedekiah, was faithful for his short tenure. Gedaliah's faithfulness resulted in a sort of precursor to the restoration, as Jews scattered throughout nearby countries returned. Submission to Babylon paralleled submission to God, and so God began to reward Gedaliah.

40:13—41:2 Ishmael murdered Gedaliah. Gedaliah apparently was too trusting of his enemies (Jer. 40:16). This trust cost him his life.

41:2 The insurrection was ultimately against the king of Babylon, who had appointed Gedaliah as governor over the Land. Ishmael and his followers probably prided themselves on being patriots, but in fact they were rebelling against the Lord's command to submit to the Babylonians. Paradoxically, true patriotism meant submitting to Nebuchadnezzar.

41:4–10 Ishmael pretended to welcome the 80 pilgrims, but he deceived them. He murdered 70 of them. Ten escaped death by claiming to have treasures of grain, oil, and honey, products which Ishmael needed. Ishmael carried away a number of captives.

tains of the forces who were with him, that they were glad. 14Then all the people whom Ishmael had carried away captive from Mizpah turned around and came back, and went to Johanan the son of Kareah. 15But Ishmael the son of Nethaniah escaped from Johanan with eight men and went to the Ammonites.

16Then Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were with him, took from Mizpah all the rest of the people whom he had recovered from Ishmael the son of Nethaniah after he had murdered Gedaliah the son of Ahikam—the mighty men of war and the women and the children and the eunuchs, whom he had brought back from Gibeon. 17And they departed and dwelt in the habitation of Chimham, which is near Bethlehem, as they went on their way to Egypt, 18because of the Chaldeans; for they were afraid of them, because Ishmael the son of Nethaniah had murdered Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, whom the king of Babylon had made governor in the land.

The Flight to Egypt Forbidden

42 Now all the captains of the forces, Johanan the son of Kareah, Jezaniah the son of Hoshaiah, and all the people, from the least to the greatest, came near 2and said to Jeremiah the prophet, "Please, let our petition be acceptable to you, and pray for us to the LORD your God, for all this remnant (since we are left but a few of many, as you can see), 3that the LORD your God may show us the way in which we should walk and the thing we should do."

4Then Jeremiah the prophet said to them, "I have heard. Indeed, I will pray to the LORD your God according to your words, and it shall be, that whatever the LORD answers you, I will declare it to you. I will keep nothing back from you."

5So they said to Jeremiah, "Let the LORD be a true and faithful witness between us, if we do not do according to everything which the LORD your God sends us by you. 6Whether it is pleasing or displeasing, we will obey the voice of the LORD our God to whom we send you, that it may be well with us when we obey the voice of the LORD our God."

7And it happened after ten days that the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah. 8Then he called Johanan the son of Kareah, all the captains of the forces which were with him, and all the people from the least even to the greatest, 9and said to them, "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, to whom you sent me to present your petition before Him: 10'If you will still remain in this land, then I will build you and not pull you down, and I will plant you and not pluck you up. For I relent concerning the disaster that I have brought upon you. 11Do not be afraid of the king of Babylon, of whom you are afraid; do not be afraid of him,' says the LORD, 'for I am with you, to save you and deliver you from his hand. 12And I will show you mercy, that he may have mercy on you and cause you to return to your own land.'

13"But if you say, 'We will not dwell in this land,' disobeying the voice of the LORD your God, 14saying, 'No, but we will go to the land of Egypt where we shall see no war, nor hear the sound of the trumpet, nor be hungry for bread, and there we will dwell'— 15Then hear now the word of the LORD, O remnant of Judah! Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: 'If you wholly set your faces to enter Egypt, and go to dwell there, 16then it shall be that the sword which you feared shall overtake you there in the land of Egypt; the famine of which you were afraid shall follow close after you there in Egypt; and there you shall die. 17So shall it be with all the men who set their faces to go to Egypt to dwell there. They shall die by the sword, by famine, and by pestilence. And none of them shall remain or escape from the disaster that I will bring upon them.'

18"For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: 'As My anger and My fury have been poured out on the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so will My fury be poured out on you when you enter Egypt. And you shall be an oath, an astonishment, a curse, and a reproach; and you shall see this place no more.'

19"The LORD has said concerning you, O remnant of Judah, 'Do not go to Egypt!' Know certainly that I have admonished you this day. 20For you were hypocrites in your hearts when you sent me to the LORD your God, saying, 'Pray for us to the LORD our God, and according to all that the LORD your God says, so declare to us and we will do it.' 21And I have this day declared it to you, but you have not obeyed the voice of the LORD your God, or anything which He has sent you by me. 22Now therefore, know certainly that you shall die

41:16–18 Johanan rescued the people whom Ishmael had kidnapped, but his fear of retaliation from the Babylonians motivated him and his followers to flee toward Egypt, an enemy of Babylon.

42:10–22 The temptation to flee to Egypt was an attractive option to Johanan and his followers. Fleeing appeared to be the safe and logical thing to do because Ishmael's rebellion once again had made Nebuchadnezzar the enemy. Such action, however, ran directly counter to God's will. The peace and safety they desired could not be found in Egypt. Obedience to their higher sovereign, the Lord Himself, demanded that they stay in the Land and offer Nebuchadnezzar their allegiance. Returning to Egypt, whether in Moses' time or later, always was seen as a reversal of God's purposes for His people. Only by remaining in the Land could they experience the Lord's building and planting them as a people (see Jer. 1:10).

by the sword, by famine, and by pestilence in the place where you desire to go to dwell."

Jeremiah Taken to Egypt

43 Now it happened, when Jeremiah had stopped speaking to all the people all the words of the LORD their God, for which the LORD their God had sent him to them, all these words, 2that Azariah the son of Hoshaiah, Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the proud men spoke, saying to Jeremiah, "You speak falsely! The LORD our God has not sent you to say, 'Do not go to Egypt to dwell there.' 3But Baruch the son of Neriah has set you against us, to deliver us into the hand of the Chaldeans, that they may put us to death or carry us away captive to Babylon." 4So Johanan the son of Kareah, all the captains of the forces, and all the people would not obey the voice of the LORD, to remain in the land of Judah. 5But Johanan the son of Kareah and all the captains of the forces took all the remnant of Judah who had returned to dwell in the land of Judah, from all nations where they had been driven— 6men, women, children, the king's daughters, and every person whom Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard had left with Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, and Jeremiah the prophet and Baruch the son of Neriah. 7So they went to the land of Egypt, for they did not obey the voice of the LORD. And they went as far as Tahpanhes.

8Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah in Tahpanhes, saying, 9"Take large stones in your hand, and hide them in the sight of the men of Judah, in the clay in the brick courtyard which is at the entrance to Pharaoh's house in Tahpanhes; 10and say to them, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "Behold, I will send and bring Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon, My servant, and will set his throne above these stones that I have hidden. And he will spread his royal pavilion over them. 11When he comes, he shall strike the land of Egypt and deliver to death those appointed for death, and to captivity those appointed for captivity, and to the sword those appointed for the sword. 12I[a] will kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt, and he shall burn them and carry them away captive. And he shall array himself with the land of Egypt, as a shepherd puts on his garment, and he shall go out from there in peace. 13He shall also break the sacred pillars of Beth Shemesh[a] that are in the land of Egypt; and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians he shall burn with fire." ' "

Israelites Will Be Punished in Egypt

44 The word that came to Jeremiah concerning all the Jews who dwell in the land of Egypt, who dwell at Migdol, at Tahpanhes, at Noph,[a] and in the country of Pathros, saying, 2"Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: 'You have seen all the calamity that I have brought on Jerusalem and on all the cities of Judah; and behold, this day they are a desolation, and no one dwells in them, 3because of their wickedness which they have committed to provoke Me to anger, in that they went to burn incense and to serve other gods whom they did not know, they nor you nor your fathers. 4However I have sent to you all My servants the prophets, rising early and sending them, saying, "Oh, do not do this abominable thing that I hate!" 5But they did not listen or incline their ear to turn from their wickedness, to burn no incense to other gods. 6So My fury and My anger were poured out and kindled in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem; and they are wasted and desolate, as it is this day.'

7"Now therefore, thus says the LORD, the God of hosts, the God of Israel: 'Why do you commit this great evil against yourselves, to cut off from you man and woman, child and infant, out of Judah, leaving none to remain, 8in that you provoke Me to wrath with the works of your hands, burn-

43:12 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Targum; Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read He. 43:13 [a]Literally House of the Sun, ancient On; later called Heliopolis 44:1 [a]That is, ancient Memphis

43:1–3 This vehement response revealed the rebellious hearts of the people. They already had made up their minds to disobey and simply were hoping for a message from God that would confirm what they desired.

43:9 Tahpanhes was a garrison city and not the capital of Egypt, though Pharaoh maintained a statehouse or royal residence there.

43:10, 11 Nebuchadnezzar invaded Egypt about 568 B.C. The Egyptians maintained a peaceful relationship with the Babylonians following the invasion.

44:1 The Jews would include Johanan's group as well as others deported earlier (2 Kin. 23:34). Groups of refugees probably had been migrating since the Babylonian invasion became imminent.

44:2–6 In the fashion of covenant indictment, Jeremiah recited the recent history of God's dealings with Judah. The title "LORD of hosts" portrays the Lord as the commander of armies (v. 2).

44:7 A remnant ideally would have been left not only in Babylon, but in the Land as well. Instead, those who returned after the years of Babylonian captivity found a group of mixed Jewish and pagan descent who were quite hostile to rebuilding Jerusalem (see Ezra 9—10; Neh. 4:1–3). This situation had resulted in part from the resettlement policies of the Assyrians, who always transplanted conquered peoples to other lands to reduce the risk of rebellion.

44:8 Their stubborn sin of idolatry explains the Jews' unwillingness to submit to the Word of God. The essence of idolatry is to place something in place of God in the center of one's affections. The people who fled to Egypt were as corrupt as those who had been judged and deported.

ing incense to other gods in the land of Egypt where you have gone to dwell, that you may cut yourselves off and be a curse and a reproach among all the nations of the earth? 9Have you forgotten the wickedness of your fathers, the wickedness of the kings of Judah, the wickedness of their wives, your own wickedness, and the wickedness of your wives, which they committed in the land of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem? 10They have not been humbled, to this day, nor have they feared; they have not walked in My law or in My statutes that I set before you and your fathers.'

11"Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: 'Behold, I will set My face against you for catastrophe and for cutting off all Judah. 12And I will take the remnant of Judah who have set their faces to go into the land of Egypt to dwell there, and they shall all be consumed and fall in the land of Egypt. They shall be consumed by the sword and by famine. They shall die, from the least to the greatest, by the sword and by famine; and they shall be an oath, an astonishment, a curse and a reproach! 13For I will punish those who dwell in the land of Egypt, as I have punished Jerusalem, by the sword, by famine, and by pestilence, 14so that none of the remnant of Judah who have gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there shall escape or survive, lest they return to the land of Judah, to which they desire to return and dwell. For none shall return except those who escape.' "

15Then all the men who knew that their wives had burned incense to other gods, with all the women who stood by, a great multitude, and all the people who dwelt in the land of Egypt, in Pathros, answered Jeremiah, saying: 16"As for the word that you have spoken to us in the name of the LORD, we will not listen to you! 17But we will certainly do whatever has gone out of our own mouth, to burn incense to the queen of heaven and pour out drink offerings to her, as we have done, we and our fathers, our kings and our princes, in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem. For then we had plenty of food, were well-off, and saw no trouble. 18But since we stopped burning incense to the queen of heaven and pouring out drink offerings to her, we have lacked everything and have been consumed by the sword and by famine."

19*The women also said,* "And when we burned incense to the queen of heaven and poured out drink offerings to her, did we make cakes for her, to worship her, and pour out drink offerings to her without our husbands' permission?"

20Then Jeremiah spoke to all the people—the men, the women, and all the people who had given him that answer—saying: 21"The incense that you burned in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem, you and your fathers, your kings and your princes, and the people of the land, did not the LORD remember them, and did it not come into His mind? 22So the LORD could no longer bear it, because of the evil of your doings and because of the abominations which you committed. Therefore your land is a desolation, an astonishment, a curse, and without an inhabitant, as it is this day. 23Because you have burned incense and because you have sinned against the LORD, and have not obeyed the voice of the LORD or walked in His law, in His statutes or in His testimonies, therefore this calamity has happened to you, as at this day."

24Moreover Jeremiah said to all the people and to all the women, "Hear the word of the LORD, all Judah who are in the land of Egypt! 25Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, saying: 'You and your wives have spoken with your mouths and fulfilled with your hands, saying, "We will surely keep our vows that we have made, to burn incense to the queen of heaven and pour out drink offerings to her." You will surely keep your vows and perform your vows!' 26Therefore hear the word of the LORD, all Judah who dwell in the land of Egypt: 'Behold, I have sworn by My great name,' says the LORD, 'that My name shall no more be named in the mouth of any man of Judah in all the land of Egypt, saying, "The Lord GOD lives." 27Behold, I will watch over them for adversity and not for good. And all the men of Judah who are in the land of Egypt shall be consumed by the sword and by famine, until there is an end to them. 28Yet a small number who escape the sword shall return from the land of Egypt to the land of Judah; and all the remnant of Judah, who have gone to the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall know whose words will stand, Mine or theirs. 29And this shall be a sign to you,' says the LORD, 'that I will punish you in this place, that you may know that My words will surely stand against you for adversity.'

30"Thus says the LORD: 'Behold, I will give Pharaoh Hophra king of Egypt into the hand of his enemies and into the hand of those who seek his life, as I gave Zedekiah king of Judah into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, his enemy who sought his life.' "

44:15–19 Both women and men defied Jeremiah. They were practicing idolatry openly and even seeking to justify it. The prominence of women in this worship may have been because of Astarte, the queen of heaven, who was the goddess of fertility (see Jer. 7:18, note; chart, the Graeco-Roman Goddesses). The women sarcastically responded to Jeremiah by justifying their worship of the queen of heaven on the grounds that they did so with the knowledge and approval of their husbands (Jer. 44:19; see Num. 30, Vows). However, nowhere in Scripture is there a higher authority in personal spiritual matters than Yahweh God Himself. He acts consistently with His Word, but He expects complete obedience.

Assurance to Baruch

45 The word that Jeremiah the prophet spoke to Baruch the son of Neriah, when he had written these words in a book at the instruction of Jeremiah,[a] in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, saying, 2"Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, to you, O Baruch: 3'You said, "Woe is me now! For the LORD has added grief to my sorrow. I fainted in my sighing, and I find no rest." '
4"Thus you shall say to him, 'Thus says the LORD: "Behold, what I have built I will break down, and what I have planted I will pluck up, that is,
this whole land. 5And do you seek great things for yourself? Do not seek them; for behold, I will bring adversity on all flesh," says the LORD. "But I will give your life to you as a prize in all places, wherever you go." ' "

Judgment on Egypt

46 The word of the LORD which came to Jeremiah the prophet against the nations.
2Against Egypt.
Concerning the army of Pharaoh Necho, king of Egypt, which was by the River Euphrates in Carchemish, and which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon defeated in the fourth year of Jehoiakim
the son of Josiah, king of Judah:

3"Order the buckler and shield,
And draw near to battle!
4Harness the horses,
And mount up, you horsemen!
Stand forth with your helmets,
Polish the spears,
Put on the armor!
5Why have I seen them dismayed and turned back?
Their mighty ones are beaten down;
They have speedily fled,
And did not look back,
For fear was all around," says the LORD.
6"Do not let the swift flee away,
Nor the mighty man escape;
They will stumble and fall
Toward the north, by the River Euphrates.

7"Who is this coming up like a flood,
Whose waters move like the rivers?
8Egypt rises up like a flood,
And its waters move like the rivers;
And he says, 'I will go up and cover the earth,
I will destroy the city and its inhabitants.'
9Come up, O horses, and rage, O chariots!
And let the mighty men come forth:
The Ethiopians and the Libyans who handle
the shield,
And the Lydians who handle and bend the bow.
10For this is the day of the Lord GOD of hosts,
A day of vengeance,
That He may avenge Himself on His adversaries.
The sword shall devour;
It shall be satiated and made drunk with their
blood;
For the Lord GOD of hosts has a sacrifice
In the north country by the River Euphrates.

11"Go up to Gilead and take balm,
O virgin, the daughter of Egypt;
In vain you will use many medicines;
You shall not be cured.
12The nations have heard of your shame,
And your cry has filled the land;
For the mighty man has stumbled against the mighty;
They both have fallen together."

Babylonia Will Strike Egypt

13The word that the LORD spoke to Jeremiah
the prophet, how Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon would come and strike the land of Egypt.

14"Declare in Egypt, and proclaim in Migdol;
Proclaim in Noph[a] and in Tahpanhes;
Say, 'Stand fast and prepare yourselves,
For the sword devours all around you.'
15Why are your valiant men swept away?
They did not stand
Because the LORD drove them away.
16He made many fall;
Yes, one fell upon another.
And they said, 'Arise!
Let us go back to our own people
And to the land of our nativity
From the oppressing sword.'
17They cried there,

45:1 [a]Literally from Jeremiah's mouth 46:14 [a]That is, ancient Memphis

45:5 The Lord's assurance to Baruch is recorded. What did Baruch expect for himself? Perhaps he thought he would be to Jeremiah as Elisha was to Elijah. His great expectations, however, were not to be met. Jeremiah told Baruch that his proper expectation should be the preservation of his own life.

46:1—51:64 Oracles or prophecies addressed to various nations near Israel are included. These neighbors received God's judgment for cruelty toward Israel or for idolatry. A major theme of this section is God's sovereignty over all nations, regardless of their power and standing in the world (see Ps. 2; Amos 1:3—2:16).

46:2 Nebuchadnezzar's forces met the forces of Pharaoh Necho at Carchemish on the Euphrates in 605 B.C. Necho was soundly defeated, and the power of Egypt never returned to its former heights. The result of this battle revealed the folly of the exiles who fled to Egypt (see Jer. 42:10–22, note).

'Pharaoh, king of Egypt, is but a noise.
He has passed by the appointed time!'

18"As I live," says the King,
Whose name is the LORD of hosts,
"Surely as Tabor is among the mountains
And as Carmel by the sea, so he shall come.
19O you daughter dwelling in Egypt,
Prepare yourself to go into captivity!
For Noph[a] shall be waste and desolate, without inhabitant.

20"Egypt is a very pretty heifer,
But destruction comes, it comes from the north.
21Also her mercenaries are in her midst like fat bulls,
For they also are turned back,
They have fled away together.
They did not stand,
For the day of their calamity had come upon them,
The time of their punishment.
22Her noise shall go like a serpent,
For they shall march with an army
And come against her with axes,
Like those who chop wood.

23"They shall cut down her forest," says the LORD,
"Though it cannot be searched,
Because they are innumerable,
And more numerous than grasshoppers.
24The daughter of Egypt shall be ashamed;
She shall be delivered into the hand
Of the people of the north."

25The LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, says: "Behold, I will bring punishment on Amon[a] of No,[b] and Pharaoh and Egypt, with their gods and their kings—Pharaoh and those who trust in him. 26And I will deliver them into the hand of those who seek their lives, into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and the hand of his servants. Afterward it shall be inhabited as in the days of old," says the LORD.

God Will Preserve Israel

27"But do not fear, O My servant Jacob,
And do not be dismayed, O Israel!
For behold, I will save you from afar,
And your offspring from the land of their captivity;
Jacob shall return, have rest and be at ease;
No one shall make him afraid.
28Do not fear, O Jacob My servant," says the LORD,
"For I am with you;
For I will make a complete end of all the nations
To which I have driven you,
But I will not make a complete end of you.
I will rightly correct you,
For I will not leave you wholly unpunished."

Judgment on Philistia

47 The word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah the prophet against the Philistines, before Pharaoh attacked Gaza.
2Thus says the LORD:

"Behold, waters rise out of the north,
And shall be an overflowing flood;
They shall overflow the land and all that is in it,
The city and those who dwell within;
Then the men shall cry,
And all the inhabitants of the land shall wail.
3At the noise of the stamping hooves of his strong horses,
At the rushing of his chariots,
At the rumbling of his wheels,
The fathers will not look back for their children,
Lacking courage,
4Because of the day that comes to plunder all the Philistines,
To cut off from Tyre and Sidon every helper who remains;
For the LORD shall plunder the Philistines,
The remnant of the country of Caphtor.
5Baldness has come upon Gaza,
Ashkelon is cut off
With the remnant of their valley.
How long will you cut yourself?

46:19 [a]That is, ancient Memphis 46:25 [a]A sun god [b]That is, ancient Thebes

46:27, 28 The destruction of Egypt did not mean the destruction of God's people. All the nations of the ancient Near East would be destroyed, but God faithfully would preserve His remnant (see Jer. 30:10, 11).

47:1 Disaster would come on Philistia, Judah's immediate neighbor, from the north (v. 2; see Jer. 1:13–16). Five major Philistine cities mentioned elsewhere in the OT were Ashdod, Ashkelon, Gaza, Ekron, and Gath (see 1 Sam. 6:17; Amos 1:6–8). The cities of Tyre and Sidon were located in Phoenicia, an ally of Philistia (Jer. 47:4). Amos condemned Gath, Philistia, and Phoenicia for their involvement in slave trade (Amos 1:6–10).

47:5 Baldness (referring either to hair or beard) signified shame or great distress in ancient Near Eastern culture (2 Sam. 10:4, 5; 2 Kin. 2:23; Is. 15:2).

6"O you sword of the LORD,
How long until you are quiet?
Put yourself up into your scabbard,
Rest and be still!
7How can it be quiet,
Seeing the LORD has given it a charge
Against Ashkelon and against the seashore?
There He has appointed it."

Judgment on Moab

48 Against Moab.
Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel:

"Woe to Nebo!
For it is plundered,
Kirjathaim is shamed and taken;
The high stronghold[a] is shamed and dismayed—
2No more praise of Moab.
In Heshbon they have devised evil against her:
'Come, and let us cut her off as a nation.'
You also shall be cut down, O Madmen![a]
The sword shall pursue you;
3A voice of crying shall be from Horonaim:
'Plundering and great destruction!'

4"Moab is destroyed;
Her little ones have caused a cry to be heard;[a] 5For in the Ascent of Luhith they ascend with continual weeping;
For in the descent of Horonaim the enemies have heard a cry of destruction.

6"Flee, save your lives!
And be like the juniper[a] in the wilderness.
7For because you have trusted in your works and your treasures,
You also shall be taken.
And Chemosh shall go forth into captivity,
His priests and his princes together.
8And the plunderer shall come against every city;
No one shall escape.
The valley also shall perish,
And the plain shall be destroyed,
As the LORD has spoken.

9"Give wings to Moab,
That she may flee and get away;
For her cities shall be desolate,
Without any to dwell in them.

10Cursed is he who does the work of the LORD deceitfully,
And cursed is he who keeps back his sword from blood.

11"Moab has been at ease from his[a] youth;
He has settled on his dregs,
And has not been emptied from vessel to vessel,
Nor has he gone into captivity.
Therefore his taste remained in him,
And his scent has not changed.

12"Therefore behold, the days are coming," says the LORD,
"That I shall send him wine-workers
Who will tip him over
And empty his vessels
And break the bottles.
13Moab shall be ashamed of Chemosh,
As the house of Israel was ashamed of Bethel, their confidence.

14"How can you say, 'We are mighty
And strong men for the war'?
15Moab is plundered and gone up from her cities;
Her chosen young men have gone down to the slaughter," says the King,
Whose name is the LORD of hosts.

16"The calamity of Moab is near at hand,
And his affliction comes quickly.
17Bemoan him, all you who are around him;
And all you who know his name,
Say, 'How the strong staff is broken,
The beautiful rod!'

18"O daughter inhabiting Dibon,
Come down from your glory,
And sit in thirst;
For the plunderer of Moab has come against you,
He has destroyed your strongholds.
19O inhabitant of Aroer,
Stand by the way and watch;
Ask him who flees
And her who escapes;
Say, 'What has happened?'

48:1 [a]Hebrew Misgab 48:2 [a]A city of Moab 48:4 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Targum, and Vulgate; Septuagint reads Proclaim it in Zoar. 48:6 [a]Or Aroer, a city of Moab 48:11 [a]The Hebrew uses masculine and feminine pronouns interchangeably in this chapter.

47:6 The Philistine hope of being spared apparently is voiced here. It does not indicate repentance—merely the Philistine perception that the God of Israel was superior to their own idols and must be appeased (1 Sam. 5; 6). The Lord's sword represents His righteous judgments.

48:13 Moab was proud of its culture and deity, as was any nation of the ancient world (see v. 11). Chemosh was the national god of both Moab and Ammon. The comparison here may indicate that Moab gloated over the destruction of its enemy Israel, but Moab would be subject to the same fate.

20 Moab is shamed, for he is broken down.
Wail and cry!
Tell it in Arnon, that Moab is plundered.

21 "And judgment has come on the plain country:
On Holon and Jahzah and Mephaath,
22 On Dibon and Nebo and Beth Diblathaim,
23 On Kirjathaim and Beth Gamul and Beth Meon,
24 On Kerioth and Bozrah,
On all the cities of the land of Moab,
Far or near.
25 The horn of Moab is cut off,
And his arm is broken," says the LORD.

26 "Make him drunk,
Because he exalted himself against the LORD.
Moab shall wallow in his vomit,
And he shall also be in derision.
27 For was not Israel a derision to you?
Was he found among thieves?
For whenever you speak of him,
You shake your head in scorn.
28 You who dwell in Moab,
Leave the cities and dwell in the rock,
And be like the dove which makes her nest
In the sides of the cave's mouth.

29 "We have heard the pride of Moab
(He is exceedingly proud),
Of his loftiness and arrogance and pride,
And of the haughtiness of his heart."

30 "I know his wrath," says the LORD,
"But it is not right;
His lies have made nothing right.
31 Therefore I will wail for Moab,
And I will cry out for all Moab;
I[a] will mourn for the men of Kir Heres.
32 O vine of Sibmah! I will weep for you with the weeping of Jazer.
Your plants have gone over the sea,
They reach to the sea of Jazer.
The plunderer has fallen on your summer fruit and your vintage.
33 Joy and gladness are taken
From the plentiful field
And from the land of Moab;
I have caused wine to fail from the winepresses;
No one will tread with joyous shouting—
Not joyous shouting!

34 "From the cry of Heshbon to Elealeh and to Jahaz
They have uttered their voice,
From Zoar to Horonaim,
Like a three-year-old heifer;[a]
For the waters of Nimrim also shall be desolate.

35 "Moreover," says the LORD,
"I will cause to cease in Moab
The one who offers sacrifices in the high places
And burns incense to his gods.
36 Therefore My heart shall wail like flutes for Moab,
And like flutes My heart shall wail
For the men of Kir Heres.
Therefore the riches they have acquired have perished.

37 "For every head shall be bald, and every beard clipped;
On all the hands shall be cuts, and on the loins sackcloth—
38 A general lamentation
On all the housetops of Moab,
And in its streets;
For I have broken Moab like a vessel in which is no pleasure," says the LORD.
39 "They shall wail:
'How she is broken down!
How Moab has turned her back with shame!'
So Moab shall be a derision
And a dismay to all those about her."

40 For thus says the LORD:

"Behold, one shall fly like an eagle,
And spread his wings over Moab.
41 Kerioth is taken,
And the strongholds are surprised;
The mighty men's hearts in Moab on that day shall be
Like the heart of a woman in birth pangs.
42 And Moab shall be destroyed as a people,
Because he exalted himself against the LORD.
43 Fear and the pit and the snare shall be upon you,
O inhabitant of Moab," says the LORD.
44 "He who flees from the fear shall fall into the pit,
And he who gets out of the pit shall be caught in the snare.

48:31 [a]Following Dead Sea Scrolls, Septuagint, and Vulgate; Masoretic Text reads He. 48:34 [a]Or The Third Eglath, an unknown city (compare Isaiah 15:5)

48:29 The essence of Moab's sin was pride, haughtiness toward God and the people of Israel. Not every nation or ruler in ancient times expressed such haughtiness. The queen of Sheba and King Hiram of Tyre showed sincere respect for the God of Israel (2 Chr. 2:11, 12; 9:1–12).

For upon Moab, upon it I will bring
The year of their punishment," says the
LORD.

45"Those who fled stood under the shadow of Heshbon
Because of exhaustion.
But a fire shall come out of Heshbon,
A flame from the midst of Sihon,
And shall devour the brow of Moab,
The crown of the head of the sons of tumult.
46Woe to you, O Moab!
The people of Chemosh perish;
For your sons have been taken captive,
And your daughters captive.

47"Yet I will bring back the captives of Moab
In the latter days," says the LORD.

Thus far is the judgment of Moab.

Judgment on Ammon

49 Against the Ammonites.
Thus says the LORD:

"Has Israel no sons?
Has he no heir?
Why then does Milcom[a] inherit Gad,
And his people dwell in its cities?
2Therefore behold, the days are coming," says
the LORD,
"That I will cause to be heard an alarm of war
In Rabbah of the Ammonites;
It shall be a desolate mound,
And her villages shall be burned with fire.
Then Israel shall take possession of his inheritance," says the LORD.

3"Wail, O Heshbon, for Ai is plundered!
Cry, you daughters of Rabbah,
Gird yourselves with sackcloth!
Lament and run to and fro by the walls;
For Milcom shall go into captivity
With his priests and his princes together.
4Why do you boast in the valleys,
Your flowing valley, O backsliding daughter?
Who trusted in her treasures, saying,
'Who will come against me?'
5Behold, I will bring fear upon you,"
Says the Lord GOD of hosts,
"From all those who are around you;
You shall be driven out, everyone headlong,
And no one will gather those who wander off.
6But afterward I will bring back
The captives of the people of Ammon," says the LORD.

Judgment on Edom

7Against Edom.
Thus says the LORD of hosts:

"Is wisdom no more in Teman?
Has counsel perished from the prudent?
Has their wisdom vanished?
8Flee, turn back, dwell in the depths,
O inhabitants of Dedan!
For I will bring the calamity of Esau upon him,
The time that I will punish him.
9If grape-gatherers came to you,
Would they not leave some gleaning grapes?
If thieves by night,
Would they not destroy until they have enough?
10But I have made Esau bare;
I have uncovered his secret places,[a]
And he shall not be able to hide himself.
His descendants are plundered,
His brethren and his neighbors,
And he is no more.
11Leave your fatherless children,
I will preserve them alive;
And let your widows trust in Me."

12For thus says the LORD: "Behold, those whose judgment was not to drink of the cup have assuredly drunk. And are you the one who will altogether go unpunished? You shall not go unpunished, but you shall surely drink of it. 13For I have sworn by Myself," says the LORD, "that Bozrah shall become a desolation, a reproach, a waste, and a curse. And all its cities shall be perpetual wastes."

14I have heard a message from the LORD,
And an ambassador has been sent to the
nations:
"Gather together, come against her,
And rise up to battle!

15"For indeed, I will make you small among
nations,
Despised among men.
16Your fierceness has deceived you,
The pride of your heart,
O you who dwell in the clefts of the rock,

49:1 [a]Hebrew Malcam, literally their king, a god of the Ammonites; also called Molech (compare verse 3) 49:10 [a]Compare Obadiah 5, 6

48:47 Though the destruction of Moab is regarded in almost absolute terms, the judgment is not permanent. In some distant future, Moab would be restored. The Moabites descended from Lot, Abraham's nephew (Gen. 19:30–38).

49:6 The Ammonites were given the same future hope as the Egyptians and the Moabites (Jer. 46:25, 26; 48:47).

Who hold the height of the hill!
Though you make your nest as high as the eagle,
I will bring you down from there," says the LORD.[a] 17"Edom also shall be an astonishment;

Everyone who goes by it will be astonished
And will hiss at all its plagues.
18As in the overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah
And their neighbors," says the LORD,
"No one shall remain there,
Nor shall a son of man dwell in it.

19"Behold, he shall come up like a lion from the floodplain[a] of the Jordan
Against the dwelling place of the strong;
But I will suddenly make him run away from her.
And who is a chosen man that I may appoint over her?
For who is like Me?
Who will arraign Me?
And who is that shepherd
Who will withstand Me?"

20Therefore hear the counsel of the LORD that He has taken against Edom,
And His purposes that He has proposed against the inhabitants of Teman:
Surely the least of the flock shall draw them out;
Surely He shall make their dwelling places desolate with them.
21The earth shakes at the noise of their fall;
At the cry its noise is heard at the Red Sea.
22Behold, He shall come up and fly like the eagle,
And spread His wings over Bozrah;
The heart of the mighty men of Edom in that day shall be
Like the heart of a woman in birth pangs.

Judgment on Damascus

23Against Damascus.

"Hamath and Arpad are shamed,
For they have heard bad news.
They are fainthearted;
There is trouble on the sea;
It cannot be quiet.
24Damascus has grown feeble;
She turns to flee,
And fear has seized her.
Anguish and sorrows have taken her like a woman in labor.
25Why is the city of praise not deserted, the city of My joy?
26Therefore her young men shall fall in her streets,
And all the men of war shall be cut off in that day," says the LORD of hosts.
27"I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus,
And it shall consume the palaces of Ben-Hadad."[a]

Judgment on Kedar and Hazor

28Against Kedar and against the kingdoms of Hazor, which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon shall strike.
Thus says the LORD:

"Arise, go up to Kedar,
And devastate the men of the East!
29Their tents and their flocks they shall take away.
They shall take for themselves their curtains,
All their vessels and their camels;
And they shall cry out to them,
'Fear is on every side!'

30"Flee, get far away! Dwell in the depths,
O inhabitants of Hazor!" says the LORD.
"For Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon has taken counsel against you,
And has conceived a plan against you.

31"Arise, go up to the wealthy nation that dwells securely," says the LORD,
"Which has neither gates nor bars,
Dwelling alone.
32Their camels shall be for booty,
And the multitude of their cattle for plunder.
I will scatter to all winds those in the farthest corners,
And I will bring their calamity from all its sides," says the LORD.
33"Hazor shall be a dwelling for jackals, a desolation forever;
No one shall reside there,
Nor son of man dwell in it."

Judgment on Elam

34The word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah the prophet against Elam, in the beginning of the

49:16 [a]Compare Obadiah 3, 4 49:19 [a]Or thicket 49:27 [a]Compare Amos 1:4

49:17, 18 No future hope was given to the Edomites. Edom's destruction is pictured as being as total as that of Sodom and Gomorrah. The prophet Obadiah revealed that this judgment was due to their overwhelming pride and mistreatment of the Israelites (see Obad. 3, 4, 10, 12, 18, 19).

49:23–39 Damascus was the capital of Aram or Syria, an ancient enemy of Israel. Kedar and Hazor apparently were nomadic peoples, since they possessed "tents" and "flocks" and lacked city "gates" or "bars." Elam, located east of Babylon, would experience restoration after disaster (v. 39; see Jer. 48:47; 49:6).

reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, saying, 35"Thus says the LORD of hosts:

'Behold, I will break the bow of Elam,
The foremost of their might.
36Against Elam I will bring the four winds
From the four quarters of heaven,
And scatter them toward all those winds;
There shall be no nations where the outcasts of Elam will not go.
37For I will cause Elam to be dismayed before their enemies
And before those who seek their life.
I will bring disaster upon them,
My fierce anger,' says the LORD;
'And I will send the sword after them
Until I have consumed them.
38I will set My throne in Elam,
And will destroy from there the king and the princes,' says the LORD.

39'But it shall come to pass in the latter days:
I will bring back the captives of Elam,' says the LORD."

Judgment on Babylon and Babylonia

50 The word that the LORD spoke against Babylon and against the land of the Chaldeans by Jeremiah the prophet.

2"Declare among the nations,
Proclaim, and set up a standard;
Proclaim—do not conceal it—
Say, 'Babylon is taken, Bel is shamed.
Merodach[a] is broken in pieces;
Her idols are humiliated,
Her images are broken in pieces.'
3For out of the north a nation comes up against her,
Which shall make her land desolate,
And no one shall dwell therein.
They shall move, they shall depart,
Both man and beast.

4"In those days and in that time," says the LORD,
"The children of Israel shall come,
They and the children of Judah together;
With continual weeping they shall come,
And seek the LORD their God.
5They shall ask the way to Zion,
With their faces toward it, saying,
'Come and let us join ourselves to the LORD
In a perpetual covenant
That will not be forgotten.'

6"My people have been lost sheep.
Their shepherds have led them astray;
They have turned them away on the mountains.
They have gone from mountain to hill;
They have forgotten their resting place.
7All who found them have devoured them;
And their adversaries said, 'We have not offended,
Because they have sinned against the LORD, the habitation of justice,
The LORD, the hope of their fathers.'

8"Move from the midst of Babylon,
Go out of the land of the Chaldeans;
And be like the rams before the flocks.
9For behold, I will raise and cause to come up against Babylon
An assembly of great nations from the north country,
And they shall array themselves against her;
From there she shall be captured.
Their arrows shall be like those of an expert warrior;[a]
None shall return in vain.
10And Chaldea shall become plunder;
All who plunder her shall be satisfied," says the LORD.

11"Because you were glad, because you rejoiced,
You destroyers of My heritage,
Because you have grown fat like a heifer threshing grain,
And you bellow like bulls,
12Your mother shall be deeply ashamed;
She who bore you shall be ashamed.
Behold, the least of the nations shall be a wilderness,
A dry land and a desert.
13Because of the wrath of the LORD
She shall not be inhabited,
But she shall be wholly desolate.
Everyone who goes by Babylon shall be horrified
And hiss at all her plagues.

14"Put yourselves in array against Babylon all around,
All you who bend the bow;
Shoot at her, spare no arrows,
For she has sinned against the LORD.
15Shout against her all around;

50:2 [a]A Babylonian god; sometimes spelled Marduk 50:9 [a]Following some Hebrew manuscripts, Septuagint, and Syriac; Masoretic Text, Targum, and Vulgate read a warrior who makes childless.

50:1 Babylon was God's tool to punish Judah and the surrounding nations. Babylon, too, would experience God's judgment. Bel and Merodach (Mardut) were Babylonian idols.

She has given her hand,
Her foundations have fallen,
Her walls are thrown down;
For it is the vengeance of the LORD.
Take vengeance on her.
As she has done, so do to her.
16 Cut off the sower from Babylon,
And him who handles the sickle at harvest time.
For fear of the oppressing sword
Everyone shall turn to his own people,
And everyone shall flee to his own land.

17 "Israel is like scattered sheep;
The lions have driven him away.
First the king of Assyria devoured him;
Now at last this Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon has broken his bones."

18 Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel:

"Behold, I will punish the king of Babylon and his land,
As I have punished the king of Assyria.
19 But I will bring back Israel to his home,
And he shall feed on Carmel and Bashan;
His soul shall be satisfied on Mount Ephraim and Gilead.
20 In those days and in that time," says the LORD,
"The iniquity of Israel shall be sought, but there shall be none;
And the sins of Judah, but they shall not be found;
For I will pardon those whom I preserve.

21 "Go up against the land of Merathaim, against it,
And against the inhabitants of Pekod.
Waste and utterly destroy them," says the LORD,
"And do according to all that I have commanded you.
22 A sound of battle is in the land,
And of great destruction.
23 How the hammer of the whole earth has been cut apart and broken!
How Babylon has become a desolation among the nations!
24 I have laid a snare for you;
You have indeed been trapped, O Babylon,
And you were not aware;
You have been found and also caught,
Because you have contended against the LORD.
25 The LORD has opened His armory,
And has brought out the weapons of His indignation;
For this is the work of the Lord GOD of hosts
In the land of the Chaldeans.
26 Come against her from the farthest border;
Open her storehouses;
Cast her up as heaps of ruins,
And destroy her utterly;
Let nothing of her be left.
27 Slay all her bulls,
Let them go down to the slaughter.
Woe to them!
For their day has come, the time of their punishment.
28 The voice of those who flee and escape from the land of Babylon
Declares in Zion the vengeance of the LORD our God,
The vengeance of His temple.

29 "Call together the archers against Babylon.
All you who bend the bow, encamp against it all around;
Let none of them escape.[a]
Repay her according to her work;
According to all she has done, do to her;
For she has been proud against the LORD,
Against the Holy One of Israel.
30 Therefore her young men shall fall in the streets,
And all her men of war shall be cut off in that day," says the LORD.
31 "Behold, I am against you,
O most haughty one!" says the Lord GOD of hosts;
"For your day has come,
The time that I will punish you.[a]
32 The most proud shall stumble and fall,
And no one will raise him up;
I will kindle a fire in his cities,
And it will devour all around him."

33 Thus says the LORD of hosts:

"The children of Israel were oppressed,
Along with the children of Judah;
All who took them captive have held them fast;
They have refused to let them go.
34 Their Redeemer is strong;
The LORD of hosts is His name.
He will thoroughly plead their case,

50:29 [a]Qere, some Hebrew manuscripts, Septuagint, and Targum add to her. 50:31 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Targum; Septuagint and Vulgate read The time of your punishment.

50:31, 32 The pride of the Babylonians was their most notable sin—a theme also found in the Book of Daniel (Dan. 4:28–30; 5:22–23).

50:34 God is the Redeemer (Heb. go'el) of His people. The term was used in the OT to describe the nearest of kin who had the duties of blood revenge, redeeming property in danger

That He may give rest to the land,
And disquiet the inhabitants of Babylon.

35 "A sword is against the Chaldeans," says the LORD,
"Against the inhabitants of Babylon,
And against her princes and her wise men.
36 A sword is against the soothsayers, and they will be fools.
A sword is against her mighty men, and they will be dismayed.
37 A sword is against their horses,
Against their chariots,
And against all the mixed peoples who are in her midst;
And they will become like women.
A sword is against her treasures, and they will be robbed.
38 A drought[a] is against her waters, and they will be dried up.
For it is the land of carved images,
And they are insane with their idols.

39 "Therefore the wild desert beasts shall dwell there with the jackals,
And the ostriches shall dwell in it.
It shall be inhabited no more forever,
Nor shall it be dwelt in from generation to generation.
40 As God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah
And their neighbors," says the LORD,
"So no one shall reside there,
Nor son of man dwell in it.

41 "Behold, a people shall come from the north,
And a great nation and many kings
Shall be raised up from the ends of the earth.
42 They shall hold the bow and the lance;
They are cruel and shall not show mercy.
Their voice shall roar like the sea;
They shall ride on horses,
Set in array, like a man for the battle,
Against you, O daughter of Babylon.

43 "The king of Babylon has heard the report about them,
And his hands grow feeble;
Anguish has taken hold of him,
Pangs as of a woman in childbirth.

44 "Behold, he shall come up like a lion from the floodplain[a] of the Jordan
Against the dwelling place of the strong;
But I will make them suddenly run away from her.
And who is a chosen man that I may appoint over her?
For who is like Me?
Who will arraign Me?
And who is that shepherd
Who will withstand Me?"

45 Therefore hear the counsel of the LORD that He has taken against Babylon,
And His purposes that He has proposed against the land of the Chaldeans:
Surely the least of the flock shall draw them out;
Surely He will make their dwelling place desolate with them.
46 At the noise of the taking of Babylon
The earth trembles,
And the cry is heard among the nations.

The Utter Destruction of Babylon

51 Thus says the LORD:
"Behold, I will raise up against Babylon,
Against those who dwell in Leb Kamai,[a]
A destroying wind.
2 And I will send winnowers to Babylon,
Who shall winnow her and empty her land.
For in the day of doom
They shall be against her all around.
3 Against her let the archer bend his bow,
And lift himself up against her in his armor.
Do not spare her young men;
Utterly destroy all her army.
4 Thus the slain shall fall in the land of the Chaldeans,
And those thrust through in her streets.
5 For Israel is not forsaken, nor Judah,
By his God, the LORD of hosts,
Though their land was filled with sin against the Holy One of Israel."

6 Flee from the midst of Babylon,
And every one save his life!
Do not be cut off in her iniquity,
For this is the time of the LORD's vengeance;
He shall recompense her.
7 Babylon was a golden cup in the LORD's hand,
That made all the earth drunk.

50:38 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Targum, and Vulgate; Syriac reads sword; Septuagint omits A drought is. 50:44 [a]Or thicket 51:1 [a]A code word for Chaldea (Babylonia); may be translated The Midst of Those Who Rise Up Against Me of being lost to the family, and providing the deceased with an heir. The full revelation of God as Redeemer is in Christ. The fate of Babylon is compared with that of Sodom and Gomorrah (see Gen. 19:24, 25).

51:5 Despite outward appearances, God has neither forgotten nor forsaken His people. God's purpose in raising up Babylon was to chastise and purify His people. "The Holy One of Israel," a favorite designation for God used by Isaiah, emphasizes God as perfect moral purity (see Is. 17:7; 29:19; 30:12; 41:14; 43:3, 14).

The nations drank her wine;
Therefore the nations are deranged.
8Babylon has suddenly fallen and been destroyed.
Wail for her!
Take balm for her pain;
Perhaps she may be healed.

9We would have healed Babylon,
But she is not healed.
Forsake her, and let us go everyone to his own country;
For her judgment reaches to heaven and is lifted up to the skies.
10The LORD has revealed our righteousness.
Come and let us declare in Zion the work of the LORD our God.

11Make the arrows bright!
Gather the shields!
The LORD has raised up the spirit of the kings of the Medes.
For His plan is against Babylon to destroy it,
Because it is the vengeance of the LORD,
The vengeance for His temple.
12Set up the standard on the walls of Babylon;
Make the guard strong,
Set up the watchmen,
Prepare the ambushes.
For the LORD has both devised and done
What He spoke against the inhabitants of Babylon.
13O you who dwell by many waters,
Abundant in treasures,
Your end has come,
The measure of your covetousness.
14The LORD of hosts has sworn by Himself:
"Surely I will fill you with men, as with locusts,
And they shall lift up a shout against you."

15He has made the earth by His power;
He has established the world by His wisdom,
And stretched out the heaven by His understanding.
16When He utters His voice—
There is a multitude of waters in the heavens:
"He causes the vapors to ascend from the ends of the earth;
He makes lightnings for the rain;
He brings the wind out of His treasuries."[a]

17Everyone is dull-hearted, without knowledge;
Every metalsmith is put to shame by the carved image;
For his molded image is falsehood,
And there is no breath in them.
18They are futile, a work of errors;
In the time of their punishment they shall perish.
19The Portion of Jacob is not like them,
For He is the Maker of all things;
And Israel is the tribe of His inheritance.
The LORD of hosts is His name.

20"You are My battle-ax and weapons of war:
For with you I will break the nation in pieces;
With you I will destroy kingdoms;
21With you I will break in pieces the horse and its rider;
With you I will break in pieces the chariot and its rider;
22With you also I will break in pieces man and woman;
With you I will break in pieces old and young;
With you I will break in pieces the young man and the maiden;
23With you also I will break in pieces the shepherd and his flock;
With you I will break in pieces the farmer and his yoke of oxen;
And with you I will break in pieces governors and rulers.

24"And I will repay Babylon
And all the inhabitants of Chaldea
For all the evil they have done
In Zion in your sight," says the LORD.

25"Behold, I am against you, O destroying mountain,
Who destroys all the earth," says the LORD.
"And I will stretch out My hand against you,
Roll you down from the rocks,
And make you a burnt mountain.
26They shall not take from you a stone for a corner
Nor a stone for a foundation,
But you shall be desolate forever," says the LORD.

27Set up a banner in the land,
Blow the trumpet among the nations!
Prepare the nations against her,
Call the kingdoms together against her:
Ararat, Minni, and Ashkenaz.
Appoint a general against her;
Cause the horses to come up like the bristling locusts.
28Prepare against her the nations,
With the kings of the Medes,

51:16 [a]Psalm 135:7

51:17–19 Almighty God the Creator is contrasted with the worthless idols of Babylon (see Is. 40:18–20). The difference is simple: He is real and they are not. Absolute dependence on any other than the true God is a vain hope.

Its governors and all its rulers,
All the land of his dominion.
29And the land will tremble and sorrow;
For every purpose of the LORD shall be performed against Babylon,
To make the land of Babylon a desolation without inhabitant.
30The mighty men of Babylon have ceased fighting,
They have remained in their strongholds;
Their might has failed,
They became like women;
They have burned her dwelling places,
The bars of her gate are broken.
31One runner will run to meet another,
And one messenger to meet another,
To show the king of Babylon that his city is taken on all sides;
32The passages are blocked,
The reeds they have burned with fire,
And the men of war are terrified.

33For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel:

"The daughter of Babylon is like a threshing floor
When it is time to thresh her;
Yet a little while
And the time of her harvest will come."

34"Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon
Has devoured me, he has crushed me;
He has made me an empty vessel,
He has swallowed me up like a monster;
He has filled his stomach with my delicacies,
He has spit me out.
35Let the violence done to me and my flesh be upon Babylon,"
The inhabitant of Zion will say;
"And my blood be upon the inhabitants of Chaldea!"
Jerusalem will say.

36Therefore thus says the LORD:

"Behold, I will plead your case and take vengeance for you.
I will dry up her sea and make her springs dry.
37Babylon shall become a heap,
A dwelling place for jackals,
An astonishment and a hissing,
Without an inhabitant.
38They shall roar together like lions,
They shall growl like lions' whelps.
39In their excitement I will prepare their feasts;
I will make them drunk,
That they may rejoice,
And sleep a perpetual sleep
And not awake," says the LORD.
40"I will bring them down
Like lambs to the slaughter,
Like rams with male goats.

41"Oh, how Sheshach[a] is taken!
Oh, how the praise of the whole earth is seized!
How Babylon has become desolate among the nations!
42The sea has come up over Babylon;
She is covered with the multitude of its waves.
43Her cities are a desolation,
A dry land and a wilderness,
A land where no one dwells,
Through which no son of man passes.
44I will punish Bel in Babylon,
And I will bring out of his mouth what he has swallowed;
And the nations shall not stream to him anymore.
Yes, the wall of Babylon shall fall.

45"My people, go out of the midst of her!
And let everyone deliver himself from the fierce anger of the LORD.
46And lest your heart faint,
And you fear for the rumor that will be heard in the land
(A rumor will come one year,
And after that, in another year
A rumor will come,
And violence in the land,
Ruler against ruler),
47Therefore behold, the days are coming
That I will bring judgment on the carved images of Babylon;
Her whole land shall be ashamed,
And all her slain shall fall in her midst.
48Then the heavens and the earth and all that is in them
Shall sing joyously over Babylon;
For the plunderers shall come to her from the north," says the LORD.

49As Babylon has caused the slain of Israel to fall,
So at Babylon the slain of all the earth shall fall.
50You who have escaped the sword,
Get away! Do not stand still!
Remember the LORD afar off,
And let Jerusalem come to your mind.

51:41 [a]A code word for Babylon (compare Jeremiah 25:26)

51:36 God is pictured as the divine advocate who would plead on Israel's behalf. Disaster would fall on Babylon.

51 We are ashamed because we have heard reproach.
Shame has covered our faces,
For strangers have come into the sanctuaries of the LORD's house.

52 "Therefore behold, the days are coming," says
the LORD,
"That I will bring judgment on her carved images,
And throughout all her land the wounded shall groan.
53 Though Babylon were to mount up to heaven,
And though she were to fortify the height of her strength,
Yet from Me plunderers would come to her,"
says the LORD.

54 The sound of a cry comes from Babylon,
And great destruction from the land of the Chaldeans,
55 Because the LORD is plundering Babylon
And silencing her loud voice,
Though her waves roar like great waters,
And the noise of their voice is uttered,
56 Because the plunderer comes against her,
against Babylon,
And her mighty men are taken.
Every one of their bows is broken;
For the LORD is the God of recompense,
He will surely repay.

57 "And I will make drunk
Her princes and wise men,
Her governors, her deputies, and her mighty
men.
And they shall sleep a perpetual sleep
And not awake," says the King,
Whose name is the LORD of hosts.

58 Thus says the LORD of hosts:

"The broad walls of Babylon shall be utterly broken,
And her high gates shall be burned with fire;
The people will labor in vain,
And the nations, because of the fire;
And they shall be weary."

Jeremiah's Command to Seraiah

59 The word which Jeremiah the prophet commanded Seraiah the son of Neriah, the son of Mahseiah, when he went with Zedekiah the king of Judah to Babylon in the fourth year of his reign. And Seraiah was the quartermaster. 60 So Jeremiah wrote in a book all the evil that would come upon Babylon, all these words that are written against Babylon. 61 And Jeremiah said to Seraiah, "When you arrive in Babylon and see it, and read all these words, 62 then you shall say, 'O LORD, You have spoken against this place to cut it off, so that none shall remain in it, neither man nor beast, but it shall be desolate forever.' 63 Now it shall be, when you have finished reading this book, that you shall tie a stone to it and throw it out into the Euphrates. 64 Then you shall say, 'Thus Babylon shall sink and not rise from the catastrophe that I will bring upon her. And they shall be weary.' "

Thus far are the words of Jeremiah.

The Fall of Jerusalem Reviewed

52 Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah. 2 He also did evil in the sight of the LORD, according to all that Jehoiakim had done. 3 For because of the anger of the LORD this happened in Jerusalem and Judah, till He finally cast them out from His presence. Then Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon.

4 Now it came to pass in the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, on the tenth day of the month, that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and all his army came against Jerusalem and encamped against it; and they built a siege wall against it all around. 5 So the city was besieged until the eleventh year of King Zedekiah. 6 By the fourth month, on the ninth day of the month, the famine had become so severe in the city that there was no food for the people of the land. 7 Then the city wall was broken through, and all the men of war fled and went out of the city at night by way of the gate between the two walls, which was by the king's garden, even though the Chaldeans were near the city all around. And they went by way of the plain.[a]

8 But the army of the Chaldeans pursued the king, and they overtook Zedekiah in the plains of Jericho. All his army was scattered from him. 9 So they took the king and brought him up to the king of Babylon at Riblah in the land of Hamath, and he pronounced judgment on him. 10 Then the king of Babylon killed the sons of Zedekiah before

51:56 People reap what they sow (see Gal. 6:7). At the root of all God's activities of judgment recorded in Jeremiah is the reality of His justice.

52:1–34 The material in this chapter is strikingly similar to that recorded in 2 Kings 24:18—25:30. The chapter provides a fitting capstone for the ministry of Jeremiah. This appendix may have been included to demonstrate the fulfillment of God's word proclaimed through His prophet Jeremiah.

his eyes. And he killed all the princes of Judah in Riblah. 11He also put out the eyes of Zedekiah; and the king of Babylon bound him in bronze fetters, took him to Babylon, and put him in prison till the day of his death.

The Temple and City Plundered and Burned

12Now in the fifth month, on the tenth day of the month (which was the nineteenth year of King Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon), Nebuzaradan, the captain of the guard, who served the king of Babylon, came to Jerusalem. 13He burned the house of the LORD and the king's house; all the houses of Jerusalem, that is, all the houses of the great, he burned with fire. 14And all the army of the Chaldeans who were with the captain of the guard broke down all the walls of Jerusalem all around. 15Then Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard carried away captive some of the poor people, the rest of the people who remained in the city, the defectors who had deserted to the king of Babylon, and the rest of the craftsmen. 16But Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard left some of the poor of the land as vinedressers and farmers.

17The bronze pillars that were in the house of the LORD, and the carts and the bronze Sea that were in the house of the LORD, the Chaldeans broke in pieces, and carried all their bronze to Babylon. 18They also took away the pots, the shovels, the trimmers, the bowls, the spoons, and all the bronze utensils with which the priests ministered. 19The basins, the firepans, the bowls, the pots, the lampstands, the spoons, and the cups, whatever was solid gold and whatever was solid silver, the captain of the guard took away. 20The two pillars, one Sea, the twelve bronze bulls which were under it, and the carts, which King Solomon had made for the house of the LORD— the bronze of all these articles was beyond measure. 21Now concerning the pillars: the height of one pillar was eighteen cubits, a measuring line of twelve cubits could measure its circumference, and its thickness was four fingers; it was hollow. 22A capital of bronze was on it; and the height of one capital was five cubits, with a network and pomegranates all around the capital, all of bronze. The second pillar, with pomegranates was the same. 23There were ninety-six pomegranates on the sides; all the pomegranates, all around on the network, were one hundred.

The People Taken Captive to Babylonia

24The captain of the guard took Seraiah the chief priest, Zephaniah the second priest, and the three doorkeepers. 25He also took out of the city an officer who had charge of the men of war, seven men of the king's close associates who were found in the city, the principal scribe of the army who mustered the people of the land, and sixty men of the people of the land who were found in the midst of the city. 26And Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard took these and brought them to the king of Babylon at Riblah. 27Then the king of Babylon struck them and put them to death at Riblah in the land of Hamath. Thus Judah was carried away captive from its own land.

28These are the people whom Nebuchadnezzar carried away captive: in the seventh year, three thousand and twenty-three Jews; 29in the eighteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar he carried away captive from Jerusalem eight hundred and thirty-two persons; 30in the twenty-third year of Nebuchadnezzar, Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard carried away captive of the Jews seven hundred and forty-five persons. All the persons were four thousand six hundred.

Jehoiachin Released from Prison

31Now it came to pass in the thirty-seventh year of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the twelfth month, on the twenty-fifth day of the month, that Evil-Merodach[a] king of Babylon, in the first year of his reign, lifted up the head of Jehoiachin king of Judah and brought him out of prison. 32And he spoke kindly to him and gave him a more prominent seat than those of the kings who were with him in Babylon. 33So Jehoiachin changed from his prison garments, and he ate bread regularly before the king all the days of his life. 34And as for his provisions, there was a regular ration given him by the king of Babylon, a portion for each day until the day of his death, all the days of his life.

52:31 [a]Or Awil-Marduk

52:27 The word of the Lord through His faithful prophet has come to pass (see Jer. 13—16). The kingdom of Judah has fallen because of its sin.

52:31 A king in the ancient Near East customarily eliminated his enemies and showed mercy on those who no longer would pose a threat to him. Jehoiachin, after being released from prison, lived the rest of his life dependent on the king of Babylon and received the Babylonian king's favor (v. 34).

Lamentations

AUTHOR

Though not directly stated in the text, traditionally Jeremiah is viewed as the author. In the Latin Vulgate this book is entitled "The Lamentations of Jeremiah." The close similarity between Lamentations and Jeremiah and the nature of the subject matter suggest Jeremiah could be the author. Second Chronicles 35:24, 25 also has been cited in support of Jeremiah's authorship of Lamentations.

DATE

Jeremiah (Heb., lit. "the Lord exalts" or "the Lord loosens [the womb]") ministered forty years, from 626 B.C. to 586 B.C. He prophesied during the reigns of Josiah, Jehoahaz, Jehoiakim, Jehoiachin, and Zedekiah, kings of Judah. The Book of Lamentations was written at the end of Jeremiah's ministry in 586 B.C.

BACKGROUND

SETTING: Assyria had ceased to be a dominant world power. Babylon and Egypt were in a power struggle for control. Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, had utterly destroyed Judah, including the city of Jerusalem and the temple in 586 B.C.

Jeremiah noted three deportations of the Jews to Babylon, occurring respectively in 597, 586, and 582 B.C. (see Jer. 52:28–30). Those exiled were a relatively small portion of the population, but they were the best of their country's political, ecclesiastical, and intellectual leadership. The poorest peasants of Judah were allowed to remain in the Land. Those left behind experienced lack of leadership and the loss of all their identity as a people. They faced battle, execution, starvation, and disease.

PURPOSE: The author's purpose was to examine honestly the causes, responsibilities, and future possibilities connected with the fall of Jerusalem. "How does one maintain faith in God in the midst of great calamity?" is a major concern of Jeremiah. Jeremiah's grief was both personal and universal as he recounted the events surrounding the capture and fall of Jerusalem. Lamentations is a lament for what had been lost. Both the temple and the throne were gone; their destruction seemed to mark the end of the Davidic kingdom, which God had promised would have no end (see 2 Sam. 7:16). Jeremiah mourned this demise and the fate of those left behind. He acknowledged the sin of the people and the justice of God in bringing judgment.

AUDIENCE: The book reminded those left after the fall of Jerusalem, as well as believers throughout history, that God is faithful to His promise to judge—and to restore. Lamentations is read annually by the Jewish people on the "Ninth of Ab," a day of fasting (see chart, The Jewish Sacred Calendar).

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: The style is poetic. The first four chapters are an acrostic of the Hebrew alphabet, and the fifth chapter has twenty-two lines, which is the number of letters in the Hebrew alphabet. This device apparently was used to aid the memory.

THEMES

Two primary themes of Lamentations are:

- the sovereignty of God and the justice of His judgments
- the hope of restoration after judgment.

OUTLINE

I. The Image of Destruction (1:1–22)
II. Judgment from God (2:1–22)
III. The Hope of Restoration (3:1–66)
IV. The Reality of Destruction (4:1—5:22)

Jerusalem in Affliction

1 How lonely sits the city
That was full of people!
How like a widow is she,
Who was great among the nations!
The princess among the provinces
Has become a slave!

2 She weeps bitterly in the night,
Her tears are on her cheeks;
Among all her lovers
She has none to comfort her.
All her friends have dealt treacherously with her;
They have become her enemies.

3 Judah has gone into captivity,
Under affliction and hard servitude;
She dwells among the nations,
She finds no rest;
All her persecutors overtake her in dire straits.

4 The roads to Zion mourn
Because no one comes to the set feasts.
All her gates are desolate;
Her priests sigh,
Her virgins are afflicted,
And she is in bitterness.

5 Her adversaries have become the master,
Her enemies prosper;
For the LORD has afflicted her
Because of the multitude of her transgressions.
Her children have gone into captivity before the enemy.

6 And from the daughter of Zion
All her splendor has departed.
Her princes have become like deer
That find no pasture,
That flee without strength
Before the pursuer.

7 In the days of her affliction and roaming,
Jerusalem remembers all her pleasant things
That she had in the days of old.
When her people fell into the hand of the enemy,
With no one to help her,
The adversaries saw her
And mocked at her downfall.[a]

8 Jerusalem has sinned gravely,
Therefore she has become vile.[a]
All who honored her despise her
Because they have seen her nakedness;
Yes, she sighs and turns away.

1:7 [a]Vulgate reads her Sabbaths. 1:8 [a]Septuagint and Vulgate read moved or removed.

1:1 Jerusalem is personified as a woman. An alternate translation of the Hebrew phrase "full of people" is "mistress of the nations." The same Hebrew word may be translated as the noun "mistress" or as an adjective meaning "much, many, great"—hence "full." The former fits the female imagery of the verse. In either case, note the contrasts. She who had "many" or was "full" was filled with loneliness. She who had been a princess was now a slave. The term "widow" is appropriate. The widow, as a helpless member of society, often was rejected and treated poorly (see Ps. 68, Widowhood).

9 Her uncleanness is in her skirts;
She did not consider her destiny;
Therefore her collapse was awesome;
She had no comforter.
"O LORD, behold my affliction,
For the enemy is exalted!"

10 The adversary has spread his hand
Over all her pleasant things;
For she has seen the nations enter her sanctuary,
Those whom You commanded
Not to enter Your assembly.

11 All her people sigh,
They seek bread;
They have given their valuables for food to restore life.
"See, O LORD, and consider,
For I am scorned."

12 "Is it nothing to you, all you who pass by?
Behold and see
If there is any sorrow like my sorrow,
Which has been brought on me,
Which the LORD has inflicted
In the day of His fierce anger.

13 "From above He has sent fire into my bones,
And it overpowered them;
He has spread a net for my feet
And turned me back;
He has made me desolate
And faint all the day.

14 "The yoke of my transgressions was bound;[a]
They were woven together by His hands,
And thrust upon my neck.
He made my strength fail;
The Lord delivered me into the hands of those whom I am not able to withstand.

15 "The Lord has trampled underfoot all my mighty men in my midst;
He has called an assembly against me
To crush my young men;
The Lord trampled as in a winepress
The virgin daughter of Judah.

16 "For these things I weep;
My eye, my eye overflows with water;
Because the comforter, who should restore my life,
Is far from me.
My children are desolate
Because the enemy prevailed."

17 Zion spreads out her hands,
But no one comforts her;
The LORD has commanded concerning Jacob
That those around him become his adversaries;
Jerusalem has become an unclean thing among them.

18 "The LORD is righteous,
For I rebelled against His commandment.
Hear now, all peoples,
And behold my sorrow;
My virgins and my young men
Have gone into captivity.

19 "I called for my lovers,
But they deceived me;
My priests and my elders
Breathed their last in the city,
While they sought food
To restore their life.

20 "See, O LORD, that I am in distress;
My soul is troubled;
My heart is overturned within me,
For I have been very rebellious.
Outside the sword bereaves,
At home it is like death.

21 "They have heard that I sigh,
But no one comforts me.
All my enemies have heard of my trouble;
They are glad that You have done it.
Bring on the day You have announced,
That they may become like me.

22 "Let all their wickedness come before You,
And do to them as You have done to me
For all my transgressions;
For my sighs are many,
And my heart is faint."

God's Anger with Jerusalem

2 How the Lord has covered the daughter of Zion
With a cloud in His anger!
He cast down from heaven to the earth

1:14 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Targum; Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read watched over.

1:18 A turning point in the chapter is marked by this verse. The focus moves from circumstances to God and then outward to "all peoples." Jeremiah did not soften the message in the verses that follow (vv. 19–22). The situation had not changed, but the city that had appeared a victim now assumed responsibility for her rebellion.

2:1–9 God is central. More than 40 references to God, either His title "Lord" or the pronouns "He" and "His," appear in these verses. The message concerns His righteous anger against "the daughter of Zion" (v. 8).

The beauty of Israel,
And did not remember His footstool
In the day of His anger.

2 The Lord has swallowed up and has not pitied
All the dwelling places of Jacob.
He has thrown down in His wrath
The strongholds of the daughter of Judah;
He has brought them down to the ground;
He has profaned the kingdom and its princes.

3 He has cut off in fierce anger
Every horn of Israel;
He has drawn back His right hand
From before the enemy.
He has blazed against Jacob like a flaming fire
Devouring all around.

4 Standing like an enemy, He has bent His bow;
With His right hand, like an adversary,
He has slain all who were pleasing to His eye;
On the tent of the daughter of Zion,
He has poured out His fury like fire.

5 The Lord was like an enemy.
He has swallowed up Israel,
He has swallowed up all her palaces;
He has destroyed her strongholds,
And has increased mourning and lamentation
In the daughter of Judah.

6 He has done violence to His tabernacle,
As if it were a garden;
He has destroyed His place of assembly;
The LORD has caused
The appointed feasts and Sabbaths to be forgotten in Zion.
In His burning indignation He has spurned the king and the priest.

7 The Lord has spurned His altar,
He has abandoned His sanctuary;
He has given up the walls of her palaces
Into the hand of the enemy.
They have made a noise in the house of the LORD
As on the day of a set feast.

8 The LORD has purposed to destroy
The wall of the daughter of Zion.
He has stretched out a line;
He has not withdrawn His hand from destroying;
Therefore He has caused the rampart and wall to lament;
They languished together.

9 Her gates have sunk into the ground;
He has destroyed and broken her bars.
Her king and her princes are among the nations;
The Law is no more,
And her prophets find no vision from the LORD.

10 The elders of the daughter of Zion
Sit on the ground and keep silence;
They throw dust on their heads
And gird themselves with sackcloth.
The virgins of Jerusalem
Bow their heads to the ground.

11 My eyes fail with tears,
My heart is troubled;
My bile is poured on the ground
Because of the destruction of the daughter of my people,
Because the children and the infants
Faint in the streets of the city.

12 They say to their mothers,
"Where is grain and wine?"
As they swoon like the wounded
In the streets of the city,
As their life is poured out
In their mothers' bosom.

13 How shall I console you?
To what shall I liken you,
O daughter of Jerusalem?
What shall I compare with you, that I may comfort you,
O virgin daughter of Zion?
For your ruin is spread wide as the sea;
Who can heal you?

14 Your prophets have seen for you
False and deceptive visions;
They have not uncovered your iniquity,
To bring back your captives,
But have envisioned for you false prophecies and delusions.

15 All who pass by clap their hands at you;
They hiss and shake their heads
At the daughter of Jerusalem:
"Is this the city that is called
'The perfection of beauty,
The joy of the whole earth'?"

16 All your enemies have opened their mouth against you;

2:10 Sackcloth, a rough fabric, originally made of goat's hair, was worn as an expression of grief or penitence. Mourning behavior included assuming a position of prostration as well as wearing ashes or dust on the head. "Elders" are city officials.

Pain is God's beautiful gift to make us lean harder on Him, when He knows we need it.

Anne Ortlund

They hiss and gnash their teeth.
They say, "We have swallowed her up!
Surely this is the day we have waited for;
We have found it, we have seen it!"

17 The LORD has done what He purposed;
He has fulfilled His word
Which He commanded in days of old.
He has thrown down and has not pitied,
And He has caused an enemy to rejoice over you;
He has exalted the horn of your adversaries.

18 Their heart cried out to the Lord,
"O wall of the daughter of Zion,
Let tears run down like a river day and night;
Give yourself no relief;
Give your eyes no rest.

19 "Arise, cry out in the night,
At the beginning of the watches;
Pour out your heart like water before the face of the Lord.
Lift your hands toward Him
For the life of your young children,
Who faint from hunger at the head of every street."

20 "See, O LORD, and consider!
To whom have You done this?
Should the women eat their offspring,
The children they have cuddled?[a]
Should the priest and prophet be slain
In the sanctuary of the Lord?

21 "Young and old lie
On the ground in the streets;
My virgins and my young men
Have fallen by the sword;
You have slain them in the day of Your anger,
You have slaughtered and not pitied.

22 "You have invited as to a feast day
The terrors that surround me.
In the day of the LORD's anger
There was no refugee or survivor.
Those whom I have borne and brought up
My enemies have destroyed."

The Prophet's Anguish and Hope

3 I am the man who has seen affliction by the rod of His wrath.
2 He has led me and made me walk
In darkness and not in light.
3 Surely He has turned His hand against me
Time and time again throughout the day.

4 He has aged my flesh and my skin,
And broken my bones.
5 He has besieged me
And surrounded me with bitterness and woe.
6 He has set me in dark places
Like the dead of long ago.

7 He has hedged me in so that I cannot get out;
He has made my chain heavy.
8 Even when I cry and shout,
He shuts out my prayer.
9 He has blocked my ways with hewn stone;
He has made my paths crooked.

10 He has been to me a bear lying in wait,
Like a lion in ambush.
11 He has turned aside my ways and torn me in pieces;
He has made me desolate.
12 He has bent His bow
And set me up as a target for the arrow.

13 He has caused the arrows of His quiver
To pierce my loins.[a]
14 I have become the ridicule of all my people—
Their taunting song all the day.
15 He has filled me with bitterness,
He has made me drink wormwood.

16 He has also broken my teeth with gravel,
And covered me with ashes.
17 You have moved my soul far from peace;
I have forgotten prosperity.
18 And I said, "My strength and my hope
Have perished from the LORD."

2:20 [a]Vulgate reads a span long. 3:13 [a]Literally kidneys

2:17 God promised or covenanted with Moses to judge sin (see Deut. 28:15, 16). The destruction witnessed is a fulfillment of that promise.

3:1–18 Jeremiah gave a personal testimony which paralleled the experience of the city as a whole (see Lam. 1; 2). The people felt forsaken by the Lord.

19 Remember my affliction and roaming,
The wormwood and the gall.
20 My soul still remembers
And sinks within me.
21 This I recall to my mind,
Therefore I have hope.

22 Through the LORD's mercies we are not consumed,
Because His compassions fail not.
23 They are new every morning;
Great is Your faithfulness.
24 "The LORD is my portion," says my soul,
"Therefore I hope in Him!"

25 The LORD is good to those who wait for Him,
To the soul who seeks Him.
26 It is good that one should hope and wait quietly
For the salvation of the LORD.
27 It is good for a man to bear
The yoke in his youth.

28 Let him sit alone and keep silent,
Because God has laid it on him;
29 Let him put his mouth in the dust—
There may yet be hope.
30 Let him give his cheek to the one who strikes him,
And be full of reproach.

31 For the Lord will not cast off forever.
32 Though He causes grief,
Yet He will show compassion
According to the multitude of His mercies.
33 For He does not afflict willingly,
Nor grieve the children of men.

34 To crush under one's feet
All the prisoners of the earth,
35 To turn aside the justice due a man
Before the face of the Most High,
36 Or subvert a man in his cause—
The Lord does not approve.

37 Who is he who speaks and it comes to pass,
When the Lord has not commanded it?
38 Is it not from the mouth of the Most High
That woe and well-being proceed?
39 Why should a living man complain,
A man for the punishment of his sins?

40 Let us search out and examine our ways,
And turn back to the LORD;
41 Let us lift our hearts and hands
To God in heaven.
42 We have transgressed and rebelled;
You have not pardoned.

43 You have covered Yourself with anger
And pursued us;
You have slain and not pitied.
44 You have covered Yourself with a cloud,
That prayer should not pass through.
45 You have made us an offscouring and refuse
In the midst of the peoples.

46 All our enemies
Have opened their mouths against us.
47 Fear and a snare have come upon us,
Desolation and destruction.
48 My eyes overflow with rivers of water
For the destruction of the daughter of my people.

49 My eyes flow and do not cease,
Without interruption,
50 Till the LORD from heaven
Looks down and sees.
51 My eyes bring suffering to my soul
Because of all the daughters of my city.

3:19, 20 Wormwood is a bitter plant (see Prov. 5:4, note; chart, The Herbs of the Bible). Gall, also bitter, is a secretion of the liver. Both suggest the extent of Jeremiah's sorrowful and painful experience.

3:21–24 Jeremiah had reached the point of despair. Verse 21 is a pivotal statement. Here Jeremiah turned toward God. His remembrance of God's faithfulness marked the turning point. The Hebrew word translated "mercies" (v. 22) refers to the steadfast love or covenant loyalty of the Lord (see Ps. 5:7–12, note). Every woman will have times of discouragement and even depression during which she must remember and even cling to God's faithfulness (see 1 Sam. 16, Depression)

3:22 God's faithfulness is a commitment on His part and is as dependable as the scheduled appearances of the sun and moon (Ps. 89:2, 5, 36, 37). When you wake up in the morning, God will always be there. Family and friends may disappoint; heroes and heroines may fail to live up to expectations. Nevertheless, God is ever faithful.

The root meaning of faithfulness (Heb. 'emunah) is "certainty" and "dependability." Faithfulness describes who God is (1 Cor. 1:9). No matter what you do, God cannot be unfaithful because He cannot deny Himself (2 Tim. 2:13). He is steadfast and trustworthy. He keeps His promises (Heb. 10:23).

God's presence is assured, even if you are unaware of it (Matt. 28:20). His faithfulness is experienced in His protection (2 Thess. 3:3), mercy (Ps. 89:2), preservation (1 Thess. 5:23, 24), love (Rom. 8:35–39), and discipline (Ps. 89:32, 33); it is revealed in all His promises (Josh. 23:14). What a comfort and encouragement to experience His faithfulness (see Ex. 33; Deut. 4; 32; 2 Chr. 19; Job 23; 42; Ps. 25; 90; 102; 119; Is. 6; 65; Jer. 23; Rom. 2; Eph. 1; 1 John 4, Attributes of God).

3:25–41 The prophet's job was to speak on behalf of God. Having reconciled his own sorrow in the previous verses (see vv. 21–24), Jeremiah turned his attention outward and preached to the people of Judah. His message urged them to accept what was from the hand of God without complaint and hope in His mercy.

52My enemies without cause
Hunted me down like a bird.
53They silenced[a] my life in the pit
And threw stones at me.
54The waters flowed over my head;
I said, "I am cut off!"

55I called on Your name, O LORD,
From the lowest pit.
56You have heard my voice:
"Do not hide Your ear
From my sighing, from my cry for help."
57You drew near on the day I called on You,
And said, "Do not fear!"

58O Lord, You have pleaded the case for my soul;
You have redeemed my life.
59O LORD, You have seen how I am wronged;
Judge my case.
60You have seen all their vengeance,
All their schemes against me.

61You have heard their reproach, O LORD,
All their schemes against me,
62The lips of my enemies
And their whispering against me all the day.
63Look at their sitting down and their rising up;
I am their taunting song.

64Repay them, O LORD,
According to the work of their hands.
65Give them a veiled[a] heart;
Your curse be upon them!
66In Your anger,
Pursue and destroy them
From under the heavens of the LORD.

The Degradation of Zion

4 How the gold has become dim!
How changed the fine gold!
The stones of the sanctuary are scattered
At the head of every street.

2The precious sons of Zion,
Valuable as fine gold,
How they are regarded as clay pots,
The work of the hands of the potter!

3Even the jackals present their breasts
To nurse their young;
But the daughter of my people is cruel,
Like ostriches in the wilderness.

4The tongue of the infant clings
To the roof of its mouth for thirst;
The young children ask for bread,
But no one breaks it for them.

5Those who ate delicacies
Are desolate in the streets;
Those who were brought up in scarlet
Embrace ash heaps.

6The punishment of the iniquity of the daughter of my people
Is greater than the punishment of the sin of Sodom,
Which was overthrown in a moment,
With no hand to help her!

7Her Nazirites[a] were brighter than snow
And whiter than milk;
They were more ruddy in body than rubies,
Like sapphire in their appearance.

8*Now* their appearance is blacker than soot;
They go unrecognized in the streets;
Their skin clings to their bones,
It has become as dry as wood.

9*Those* slain by the sword are better off
Than those who die of hunger;
For these pine away,
Stricken for lack of the fruits of the field.

10The hands of the compassionate women
Have cooked their own children;
They became food for them
In the destruction of the daughter of my people.

11The LORD has fulfilled His fury,
He has poured out His fierce anger.

3:53 [a]Septuagint reads put to death. 3:65 [a]A Jewish tradition reads sorrow of. 4:7 [a]Or nobles

4:1 The temple was destroyed with the fall of Jerusalem in 586 B.C. The reference is to the people of Israel as God's sanctuary. God's people were the real treasure of the city. God's true dwelling place is among His people, not in fine buildings.

4:6 God destroyed Sodom quickly and without human intervention (see Gen. 19:24, 25). Jerusalem was left in the hands of her captors, making her destruction neither quick nor merciful.

4:7 The Nazirites in ancient Israel had strict religious convictions. They took vows to abstain from wine and strong drink, contact with unclean objects such as dead bodies, and use of the razor. They were not to cut their hair (see Num. 6:1–8). This verse may refer to any class of nobility. Its significance lies in the fact that no group of society was spared destruction.

4:10 During the severe siege, the plight of the children was especially tragic (vv. 2–4). The ultimate degradation came when mothers boiled and ate their children because food was so scarce (Lam. 2:20). The practice of cannibalism emphasizes the horror of the siege.

He kindled a fire in Zion,
And it has devoured its foundations.

12 The kings of the earth,
And all inhabitants of the world,
Would not have believed
That the adversary and the enemy
Could enter the gates of Jerusalem—

13 Because of the sins of her prophets
And the iniquities of her priests,
Who shed in her midst
The blood of the just.

14 They wandered blind in the streets;
They have defiled themselves with blood,
So that no one would touch their garments.

15 They cried out to them,
"Go away, unclean!
Go away, go away,
Do not touch us!"
When they fled and wandered,
Those among the nations said,
"They shall no longer dwell here."

16 The face[a] of the LORD scattered them;
He no longer regards them.
The people do not respect the priests
Nor show favor to the elders.

17 Still our eyes failed us,
Watching vainly for our help;
In our watching we watched
For a nation that could not save us.

18 They tracked our steps
So that we could not walk in our streets.
Our end was near;
Our days were over,
For our end had come.

19 Our pursuers were swifter
Than the eagles of the heavens.
They pursued us on the mountains
And lay in wait for us in the wilderness.

20 The breath of our nostrils, the anointed of the LORD,
Was caught in their pits,
Of whom we said, "Under his shadow
We shall live among the nations."

21 Rejoice and be glad, O daughter of Edom,
You who dwell in the land of Uz!
The cup shall also pass over to you
And you shall become drunk and make yourself naked.

22 The punishment of your iniquity is accomplished,
O daughter of Zion;
He will no longer send you into captivity.
He will punish your iniquity,
O daughter of Edom;
He will uncover your sins!

A Prayer for Restoration

5 Remember, O LORD, what has come upon us;
Look, and behold our reproach!
2 Our inheritance has been turned over to aliens,
And our houses to foreigners.
3 We have become orphans and waifs,
Our mothers are like widows.

4 We pay for the water we drink,
And our wood comes at a price.
5 They pursue at our heels;[a]
We labor and have no rest.
6 We have given our hand to the Egyptians
And the Assyrians, to be satisfied with bread.

7 Our fathers sinned and are no more,
But we bear their iniquities.
8 Servants rule over us;
There is none to deliver us from their hand.
9 We get our bread at the risk of our lives,
Because of the sword in the wilderness.

10 Our skin is hot as an oven,
Because of the fever of famine.
11 They ravished the women in Zion,
The maidens in the cities of Judah.
12 Princes were hung up by their hands,
And elders were not respected.
13 Young men ground at the millstones;
Boys staggered under loads of wood.
14 The elders have ceased gathering at the gate,
And the young men from their music.

15 The joy of our heart has ceased;
Our dance has turned into mourning.
16 The crown has fallen from our head.
Woe to us, for we have sinned!

4:16 [a]Targum reads anger. 5:5 [a]Literally necks

4:21, 22 The Edomites were descendants of Esau and long-time enemies of Israel. Edom was located south of the Dead Sea. These verses emphasize that God would judge Israel's enemies in His time (see also Obadiah).

5:1–18 The reality of bondage for those who survived deportation to Babylon included extreme hardship, sexual abuse, humiliation, and servitude. This passage is viewed by others as a description of the terrible conditions in Jerusalem after its capture.

17 Because of this our heart is faint;
Because of these things our eyes grow dim;
18 Because of Mount Zion which is desolate,
With foxes walking about on it.

19 You, O LORD, remain forever;
Your throne from generation to generation.

20 Why do You forget us forever,
And forsake us for so long a time?
21 Turn us back to You, O LORD, and we will be restored;
Renew our days as of old,
22 Unless You have utterly rejected us,
And are very angry with us!

5:19–22 Lamentations ends with a plea to God to restore and renew. The conclusion affirms the unchangeable nature of the Lord (see Lam. 3:22, note). He remains sovereign on His throne.

Ezekiel

AUTHOR

The prophet Ezekiel (Heb., lit. "God strengthens") was born into a priestly family who probably lived in Jerusalem (Ezek. 1:3). Ezekiel descended from the accepted priestly line of Zadok (see 1 Kin. 2:35) in contrast to Jeremiah, who descended from the rejected priestly line of Abiathar. In 597 B.C., Ezekiel was carried into exile by the Babylonians with King Jehoiachin of Judah and ten thousand other prominent citizens, including military leaders, artisans, and craftsmen (2 Kin. 24:8–16).

Ezekiel lived with other Jewish exiles in a settlement called Tel Abib, located near the Chebar River and the ancient site of Nippur, southeast of Babylon (Ezek. 1:1–3). He prophesied among the exiles for at least twenty-two years from 593 to 571 B.C. Little more is known of Ezekiel's circumstances. He was married, although his wife died shortly before the fall of Jerusalem in 586 B.C. (Ezek. 24:15–18). He had his own house, where he was visited on occasion by elders of his community seeking a word from God (Ezek. 8:1).

Ezekiel was an unusual figure among the Lord's prophets. More than any other prophet, Ezekiel's preaching was accompanied by numerous, striking symbolic acts (see Ezek. 3:1, 2; 4:1–17; 5:1–4; 12:3–7). Sensitive to ritual defilement as a result of his priestly upbringing (Ezek. 4:14, 15), Ezekiel nonetheless could use shockingly graphic language to depict the sins of the people (Ezek. 23:20, 21). The vocabulary, phraseology, and theology of his book bear the imprint of a singular and powerful mind and argue for a single author. For a book of its size, containing prophecies spanning more than two decades, the Book of Ezekiel displays an amazing consistency of language, perspective, and purpose.

DATE

This prophetic book, as the Book of Haggai, contains an orderly sequence of dates. Various visions and prophecies are dated, including the year, month, and day. With one exception, the dates follow a scheme based on the year in which King Jehoiachin of Judah was taken into captivity by the Babylonians (Ezek. 1:1). Based on archaeological records and astronomical data, scholars can give precise equivalents in the modern calendar for these dates with reasonable confidence. The beginning of Ezekiel's prophetic ministry is dated 593 B.C. Ezekiel's last dated prophecy was delivered April 26, 571 B.C. (Ezek. 29:17). The book was probably compiled by Ezekiel into its final form shortly thereafter.

BACKGROUND

SETTING: Ezekiel prophesied during a period of great turmoil. The people of Judah had reverted to idolatry and lawlessness after the death of King Josiah in 609 B.C. The Exile of King Jehoiachin caused a great stir among God's people, who had believed that the Lord would always deliver Jerusalem from the armies of the nations. False prophets were preaching that the Lord soon would overthrow the Babylonians and return Jehoiachin to his throne. In Judah, the prophet Jeremiah proclaimed that Nebuchadnezzar, the Babylonian king, was God's instrument of judgment on the nation for its sins (Jer. 34:1–3).

Under King Zedekiah, the leaders of Judah revolted against Babylon around 589 B.C. In response, the Babylonians ravaged Judah. After a siege of eighteen months, they destroyed even Jerusalem and the temple in 586 B.C. and carried all but the poorest survivors into Exile (Jer. 39:1, 2). This catastrophe weakened the faith of many exiles in Ezekiel's community. Some grumbled about the justice of God (Ezek. 18:2). Others despaired, thinking that God had rejected His people forever (Ezek. 37:11; see Ps. 137).

PURPOSE: Like most of the Lord's prophets, Ezekiel's message consisted of two elements: judgment and hope. Prior to the fall of Jerusalem (586 B.C.), Ezekiel primarily proclaimed coming judgment because of the people's sins. After the fall of Jerusalem, Ezekiel focused on the message of hope, which included restoration for God's people and judgment on their enemies. Ezekiel also proclaimed the concept of individual responsibility (Ezek. 18:1–32). Each person is responsible for his own sins.

AUDIENCE: Ezekiel was called to preach to "the house of Israel" (Ezek. 3:4). This designation applied to the inhabitants of Judah, also known as the southern kingdom. Though the designation "Israel" usually applied to the northern kingdom, after the nation was destroyed by the Assyrians, its inhabitants disappeared into Exile (722 B.C.). After that time, Israel was sometimes used to designate the southern kingdom (see chart, Terminology for the Divided Kingdom). Ezekiel ministered to God's people in Babylon, though in some of his visions he was transported to Jerusalem. Although the leaders came to hear him (Ezek. 14:1; 20:1; 33:30–32), the majority of the exiles failed to accept his preaching (Ezek. 33:32).

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: The Book of Ezekiel consists almost entirely of visions and prophetic oracles. The book can be divided roughly into three sections: judgment on God's people (Ezek. 1—24), judgment on the nations (Ezek. 25—32), and salvation for God's people (Ezek. 33—48).

The Book of Ezekiel consists of both prose and poetry. The prophet used such literary devices as parables, allegories, and rhetorical questions. Several unusual stylistic features appear in the Book of Ezekiel. The prophet utilized popular religious sayings to introduce his teachings. Symbolic actions and pantomines were employed as a means of conveying the Lord's word. Ezekiel repeatedly is referred to as "son of man" (over 80 times), a phrase emphasizing the humanness of the prophet. Ezekiel's choice of language and his preaching appear to have been influenced by the Mosaic Law.

THEMES

A major theme of the Book of Ezekiel is the Lord's revelation of His holiness and majesty by the fulfillment of His Word in the history of God's people and the nations. Throughout the book the Lord proclaimed that after He fulfilled His Word, people would "know that I am the LORD" (see Ezek. 6:10, 13; 7:4, 9, 27; 11:12).

Another major theme is the Lord's judgment on Judah and Jerusalem because of the people's sins. Although God delighted in His people, gave Himself to them, and proved Himself worthy of their exclusive devotion, they turned to other gods and other nations for security and blessing (Ezek. 16; 23). Their unfaithfulness and impurity obscured His holiness in the eyes of the nations. Therefore, the Lord would restore His honor or glory by bringing judgment. Ezekiel also taught the concept of individual responsibility: "The soul who sins shall die" (Ezek. 18:4; see also 7:27; 18:30; 24:14; 33:20; 36:19).

Ezekiel emphasized future hope and forgiveness for the Lord's people. Chapters 33—39 consist of restoration messages, while chapters 40—48 provide a picture of the restored community. For Ezekiel, the revelation of God's glory was connected closely to the temple. The coming of God to dwell in the temple (Ezek. 43) foreshadowed the coming of the Holy Spirit to the church as the spiritual temple of God (Eph. 2:19–22). The Book of Ezekiel also contains a new covenant passage (Ezek. 36:22–32) similar to that found in the Book of Jeremiah (Jer. 31:31–34).

OUTLINE

I. Judgment on Judah and Jerusalem (1:1—24:27)
  A. Ezekiel's call to prophesy (1:1—3:27)
    1. His vision of God's glory (1:1–28)
    2. His commissioning (2:1—3:15)
    3. His appointment as a watchman (3:16–27)
  B. Symbolic acts of judgment on God's people (4:1—5:17)
  C. Oracles of judgment on God's people (6:1—7:27)
  D. A vision of judgment at the temple (8:1—11:25)
    1. Idolatrous practices (8:1–18)
    2. The release of executioners in Jerusalem (9:1–11)
    3. The departure of God's glory from the temple (10:1–22)
    4. The inheritance of the Land by the exiles (11:1–25)
  E. Symbolic acts regarding the Exile (12:1–28)
  F. More oracles of judgment on God's People (13:1—24:27)
    1. A word against false prophets (13:1–23)
    2. The judgment against ineffective intercessors (14:1–23)
    3. The figure of the burned vine (15:1–8)
    4. The parable of the harlot (16:1–63)
    5. The parable of the eagles and branches (17:1–24)
    6. An explanation of God's justice (18:1–32)
    7. A lament for the princes of Israel (19:1–14)
    8. A history of God's rebellious people (20:1–49)
    9. The sword of the Lord's judgment (21:1–32)
    10. God's judgment on Jerusalem (22:1–31)
    11. The parable of two sisters (23:1–49)
    12. The figure of the cooking pot (24:1–14)
    13. The death of the beloved (24:15–27)

II. God's Judgment on the Nations (25:1—32:32)
  A. Oracles of retribution on Ammon, Moab, Edom, and Philistia (25:1–17)
  B. Oracles against Tyre (26:1—28:19)
  C. Oracle against Sidon (28:20–26)
  D. Oracles against Egypt (29:1—32:32)

III. Salvation for God's People (33:1—48:35)
  A. A defense of God's justice (33:1–20)
  B. The unworthiness of God's people (33:21–33)
  C. The evil shepherds vs. the Good Shepherd (34:1–31)
  D. Mount Seir vs. the mountains of Israel (35:1—36:38)
  E. The vision of the valley of dry bones (37:1–28)
  F. The judgment on Gog (38:1—39:29)
  G. A vision of the restored kingdom (40:1—48:35)
    1. The new temple (40:1—43:27)
    2. The regulations for worship (44:1—46:24)
    3. New conditions in the Land (47:1–23)
    4. New allotments for the tribes of Israel (48:1–35)

Ezekiel's Vision of God

1 Now it came to pass in the thirtieth year, in the fourth month, on the fifth day of the month, as I was among the captives by the River Chebar, that the heavens were opened and I saw visions[a] of God.
2On the fifth day of the month, which was in the fifth year of King Jehoiachin's captivity, 3the word of the LORD came expressly to Ezekiel the priest, the son of Buzi, in the land of the Chaldeans[a] by the River Chebar; and the hand of the LORD was upon him there.

4Then I looked, and behold, a whirlwind was coming out of the north, a great cloud with raging fire engulfing itself; and brightness was all around it and radiating out of its midst like the color of amber, out of the midst of the fire. 5Also from within it came the likeness of four living creatures. And this was their appearance: they had the likeness of a man. 6Each one had four faces, and each one had four wings. 7Their legs were straight, and the soles of their feet were like the soles of calves' feet. They sparkled like the color of burnished bronze. 8The hands of a man were under their wings on their four sides; and each of the four had faces and wings. 9Their wings touched one another. The creatures did not turn when they went, but each one went straight forward.

10As for the likeness of their faces, each had the face of a man; each of the four had the face of a lion on the right side, each of the four had the face of an ox on the left side, and each of the four had the face of an eagle. 11Thus were their faces.
Their wings stretched upward; two wings of each one touched one another, and two covered their bodies. 12And each one went straight forward; they went wherever the spirit wanted to go, and they did not turn when they went.

13As for the likeness of the living creatures, their appearance was like burning coals of fire, like the appearance of torches going back and forth among the living creatures. The fire was bright, and out of the fire went lightning. 14And the living creatures ran back and forth, in appearance like a flash of lightning.

15Now as I looked at the living creatures, behold, a wheel was on the earth beside each living creature with its four faces. 16The appearance of the wheels and their workings was like the color of beryl, and all four had the same likeness. The appearance of their workings was, as it were, a wheel in the middle of a wheel. 17When they moved, they went toward any one of four directions; they did not turn aside when they went. 18As for their rims, they were so high they were awesome; and their rims were full of eyes, all around the four of them. 19When the living creatures went, the wheels went beside them; and when the living creatures were lifted up from the earth, the wheels were lifted up. 20Wherever the spirit wanted to go, they went, because there the spirit went; and the wheels were lifted together with them, for the spirit of the living creatures[a] was in the wheels. 21When those went, these went; when those stood, these stood; and when those were lifted up from the earth, the wheels were lifted up together with them, for the spirit of the living creatures[a] was in the wheels.

22The likeness of the firmament above the heads of the living creatures[a] was like the color of an awesome crystal, stretched out over their heads. 23And under the firmament their wings spread out straight, one toward another. Each one had two which covered one side, and each one had two which covered the other side of the body.
24When they went, I heard the noise of their wings, like the noise of many waters, like the voice of the Almighty, a tumult like the noise of an

1:1 The thirtieth year may refer to the 30th year of Josiah's reform, which began in 622 B.C., or to the age of Ezekiel himself. The latter interpretation is more likely. Ezekiel may have had in mind the special significance of the 30th year for himself as a member of a priestly family. The 30th year was the usual age for a man to assume the full responsibilities of the priesthood (Num. 4:3). If this be the case, then at the precise time Ezekiel would have assumed his priestly responsibilities, the Lord called him to be a prophet to His people in Exile.

1:2, 3 King Jehoiachin's captivity is used as a reference point for dating. That captivity began in 597 B.C. Thus, Ezekiel's call to be a prophet came around 593 B.C. The River Chebar was an irrigation canal off the Euphrates River. It left the Euphrates north of Babylon and flowed to the southeast of Babylon, passing through the city of Nippur before it re-entered the Euphrates.

1:4–28 Ezekiel's account of his vision of God began with a physical description of a storm cloud "coming out of the north." As it drew closer, an outline emerged in which four "living creatures," along with intersecting wheels, supported a brilliant expanse above which stood a sapphire throne. According to Jewish tradition the four faces of the living creatures (man, lion, ox, eagle) were chosen for their places of honor in their respective domains. Despite their dignified status, all served under God's chariot. The description of intersecting wheels with rims full of eyes may indicate both the omnipresence and omniscience of God.

As the theophany or vision of God drew nearer, Ezekiel's description became more vague as he attempted to portray the glory of God. Precision gave way to approximations (note the multiple uses of "appearance" and "likeness" in vv. 26–28) until Ezekiel fell on his face in recognition of "the appearance of the likeness of the glory of the LORD" (v. 28).

army; and when they stood still, they let down their wings. 25A voice came from above the firmament that was over their heads; whenever they stood, they let down their wings.

26And above the firmament over their heads was the likeness of a throne, in appearance like a sapphire stone; on the likeness of the throne was a likeness with the appearance of a man high above it. 27Also from the appearance of His waist and upward I saw, as it were, the color of amber with the appearance of fire all around within it; and from the appearance of His waist and downward I saw, as it were, the appearance of fire with brightness all around. 28Like the appearance of a rainbow in a cloud on a rainy day, so was the appearance of the brightness all around it. This was the appearance of the likeness of the glory of the LORD.

Ezekiel Sent to Rebellious Israel

So when I saw it, I fell on my face, and I heard a voice of One speaking.

2And He said to me, "Son of man, stand on your feet, and I will speak to you." 2Then the Spirit entered me when He spoke to me, and set me on my feet; and I heard Him who spoke to me. 3And He said to me: "Son of man, I am sending you to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation that has rebelled against Me; they and their fathers have transgressed against Me to this very day. 4For they are impudent and stubborn children. I am sending you to them, and you shall say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD.' 5As for them, whether they hear or whether they refuse—for they are a rebellious house—yet they will know that a prophet has been among them.

6"And you, son of man, do not be afraid of them nor be afraid of their words, though briers and thorns are with you and you dwell among scorpions; do not be afraid of their words or dismayed by their looks, though they are a rebellious house. 7You shall speak My words to them, whether they hear or whether they refuse, for they are rebellious. 8But you, son of man, hear what I say to you. Do not be rebellious like that rebellious house; open your mouth and eat what I give you."

9Now when I looked, there was a hand stretched out to me; and behold, a scroll of a book was in it. 10Then He spread it before me; and there was writing on the inside and on the outside, and written on it were lamentations and mourning and woe.

3Moreover He said to me, "Son of man, eat what you find; eat this scroll, and go, speak to the house of Israel." 2So I opened my mouth, and He caused me to eat that scroll.

3And He said to me, "Son of man, feed your belly, and fill your stomach with this scroll that I give you." So I ate, and it was in my mouth like honey in sweetness.

4Then He said to me: "Son of man, go to the house of Israel and speak with My words to them. 5For you are not sent to a people of unfamiliar speech and of hard language, but to the house of Israel, 6not to many people of unfamiliar speech and of hard language, whose words you cannot understand. Surely, had I sent you to them, they would have listened to you. 7But the house of Israel will not listen to you, because they will not listen to Me; for all the house of Israel are impudent and hard-hearted. 8Behold, I have made your face strong against their faces, and your forehead strong against their foreheads. 9Like adamant stone, harder than flint, I have made your forehead; do not be afraid of them, nor be dismayed at their looks, though they are a rebellious house."

10Moreover He said to me: "Son of man, receive into your heart all My words that I speak to you, and hear with your ears. 11And go, get to the captives, to the children of your people, and speak to them and tell them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD,' whether they hear, or whether they refuse."

12Then the Spirit lifted me up, and I heard behind me a great thunderous voice: "Blessed is the glory of the LORD from His place!" 13*I* also heard the noise of the wings of the living creatures that

1:28 Ezekiel's vision contained several important messages for both the prophet and his fellow exiles. God's people associated God's glory and enthronement with the temple in Jerusalem (1 Kin. 8:10–13); but here, God's glory appeared to the priest Ezekiel while he was in Exile. God was made manifest in His mobile chariot throne in splendor and majesty. God revealed to Ezekiel that He was far superior to any earthly king or kingdom. Certainly, His glory exceeded that of Nebuchadnezzar. The God of Israel had come in victory to His exiled people. The natural question in the minds of those in Exile was, "What does the appearance of God's glory mean for Jerusalem and the temple?" Obviously, God could not be limited to the temple. He is omnipresent and omnipotent. The message of impending judgment for Jerusalem was also delivered. God was removing His glory (the manifestation of His presence) in order to allow Nebuchadnezzar to destroy His city and to remove from His people the false sense of security they had developed. Nevertheless, there was also hope that ultimately His glory would return, bringing restoration to His people and His city.

2:1 Ezekiel's title "son of man" was God's way of addressing Ezekiel in order to emphasize his status as a mortal in contrast to the divine glory he had just witnessed. This title appears approximately 90 times in the book.

3:1–6 The eating of the scroll graphically portrayed the divine origin of Ezekiel's message as well as his own acceptance of that message. The message must become part of the prophet's life. The words that Ezekiel would preach to his fellow exiles were God's words. As such, a rejection of them by the exilic community was not so much a rejection of the prophet as it was a rejection of God Himself. Note that "house of Israel" referred to God's covenant people who lived in Judah.

touched one another, and the noise of the wheels beside them, and a great thunderous noise. 14So the Spirit lifted me up and took me away, and I went in bitterness, in the heat of my spirit; but the hand of the LORD was strong upon me. 15Then I came to the captives at Tel Abib, who dwelt by the River Chebar; and I sat where they sat, and remained there astonished among them seven days.

Ezekiel Is a Watchman

16Now it came to pass at the end of seven days that the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 17"Son of man, I have made you a watchman for the house of Israel; therefore hear a word from My mouth, and give them warning from Me: 18When I say to the wicked, 'You shall surely die,' and you give him no warning, nor speak to warn the wicked from his wicked way, to save his life, that same wicked man shall die in his iniquity; but his blood I will require at your hand. 19Yet, if you warn the wicked, and he does not turn from his wickedness, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquity; but you have delivered your soul.

20"Again, when a righteous man turns from his righteousness and commits iniquity, and I lay a stumbling block before him, he shall die; because you did not give him warning, he shall die in his sin, and his righteousness which he has done shall not be remembered; but his blood I will require at your hand. 21Nevertheless if you warn the righteous man that the righteous should not sin, and he does not sin, he shall surely live because he took warning; also you will have delivered your soul."

22Then the hand of the LORD was upon me there, and He said to me, "Arise, go out into the plain, and there I shall talk with you."

23So I arose and went out into the plain, and behold, the glory of the LORD stood there, like the glory which I saw by the River Chebar; and I fell on my face. 24Then the Spirit entered me and set me on my feet, and spoke with me and said to me: "Go, shut yourself inside your house. 25And you, O son of man, surely they will put ropes on you and bind you with them, so that you cannot go out among them. 26I will make your tongue cling to the roof of your mouth, so that you shall be mute and not be one to rebuke them, for they are a rebellious house. 27But when I speak with you, I will open your mouth, and you shall say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD.' He who hears, let him hear; and he who refuses, let him refuse; for they are a rebellious house.

The Siege of Jerusalem Portrayed

4 "You also, son of man, take a clay tablet and lay it before you, and portray on it a city, Jerusalem. 2Lay siege against it, build a siege wall against it, and heap up a mound against it; set camps against it also, and place battering rams against it all around. 3Moreover take for yourself an iron plate, and set it as an iron wall between you and the city. Set your face against it, and it shall be besieged, and you shall lay siege against it. This will be a sign to the house of Israel.

4"Lie also on your left side, and lay the iniquity of the house of Israel upon it. According to the number of the days that you lie on it, you shall bear their iniquity. 5For I have laid on you the years of their iniquity, according to the number of the days, three hundred and ninety days; so you shall bear the iniquity of the house of Israel. 6And when you have completed them, lie again on your right side; then you shall bear the iniquity of the house of Judah forty days. I have laid on you a day for each year.

7"Therefore you shall set your face toward the siege of Jerusalem; your arm shall be uncovered, and you shall prophesy against it. 8And surely I will restrain you so that you cannot turn from one

3:14, 15 The expression in the heat of my spirit may refer to the prophet's knowledge that his ministry would be largely one of rejection and pain. He experienced the same type of anger that the Lord had toward His rebellious people. Tel Abib means "mound left by the flood" in Akkadian, probably referring to mounds covering buried cities. It was not uncommon for exiles to occupy such ruins (see Ezra 2:59; Neh. 7:61). Ezekiel's "seven days" may refer symbolically to the traditional time of mourning for the dead (see Gen. 50:10; Num. 19:11; Job 2:13), as well as to the period of consecration for a priest (see Lev. 8:33).

3:16–21 Ezekiel was commissioned as a watchman with the responsibility to warn the exilic community of impending danger. These verses emphasize Ezekiel's need to be faithful regardless of the response of the people.

3:24–27 The Lord afflicted Ezekiel with muteness (v. 26), which lasted until the fall of Jerusalem (Ezek. 33:21, 22), except for brief periods when God commanded him to speak.

4:1 Ezekiel's ministry began with a series of symbolic acts, providing a message for the exilic community (Ezek. 4:1—6:7). Ezekiel repeatedly emphasized God's impending judgment on Jerusalem, the site of Judah's hope, in an attempt to break the people's ironclad belief that God would never allow Jerusalem to be harmed.

4:3 Ezekiel used a common household cooking tool to symbolize the impassable barrier between God and Jerusalem. The people would cry out to God when the invading army besieged Jerusalem, but their prayers would go unheeded.

4:4–6 God's judgment on His chosen city Jerusalem occurred because of the people's unfaithfulness. The command for Ezekiel to lie on his side for a total of 430 days probably is understood best as something Ezekiel was to do for part of each day. Obviously from the text, Ezekiel was to do other things, such as to prepare bread and drink. These unusual actions symbolized God's punishment on both the northern kingdom ("House of Israel") and the southern kingdom ("House of Judah").

side to another till you have ended the days of your siege.

9"Also take for yourself wheat, barley, beans, lentils, millet, and spelt; put them into one vessel, and make bread of them for yourself. During the number of days that you lie on your side, three hundred and ninety days, you shall eat it. 10And your food which you eat shall be by weight, twenty shekels a day; from time to time you shall eat it. 11You shall also drink water by measure, one-sixth of a hin; from time to time you shall drink. 12And you shall eat it as barley cakes; and bake it using fuel of human waste in their sight."

13Then the LORD said, "So shall the children of Israel eat their defiled bread among the Gentiles, where I will drive them."

14So I said, "Ah, Lord GOD! Indeed I have never defiled myself from my youth till now; I have never eaten what died of itself or was torn by beasts, nor has abominable flesh ever come into my mouth."

15Then He said to me, "See, I am giving you cow dung instead of human waste, and you shall prepare your bread over it."

16Moreover He said to me, "Son of man, surely I will cut off the supply of bread in Jerusalem; they shall eat bread by weight and with anxiety, and shall drink water by measure and with dread, 17that they may lack bread and water, and be dismayed with one another, and waste away because of their iniquity.

A Sword Against Jerusalem

5 "And you, son of man, take a sharp sword, take it as a barber's razor, and pass it over your head and your beard; then take scales to weigh and divide the hair. 2You shall burn with fire one-third in the midst of the city, when the days of the siege are finished; then you shall take one-third and strike around it with the sword, and one-third you shall scatter in the wind: I will draw out a sword after them. 3You shall also take a small number of them and bind them in the edge of your garment. 4Then take some of them again and throw them into the midst of the fire, and burn them in the fire. From there a fire will go out into all the house of Israel.

5"'Thus says the Lord GOD: 'This is Jerusalem; I have set her in the midst of the nations and the countries all around her. 6She has rebelled against My judgments by doing wickedness more than the nations, and against My statutes more than the countries that are all around her; for they have refused My judgments, and they have not walked in My statutes.' 7Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 'Because you have multiplied disobedience more than the nations that are all around you, have not walked in My statutes nor kept My judgments, nor even done[a] according to the judgments of the nations that are all around you'— 8therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 'Indeed I, even I, am against you and will execute judgments in your midst in the sight of the nations. 9And I will do among you what I have never done, and the like of which I will never do again, because of all your abominations. 10Therefore fathers shall eat their sons in your midst, and sons shall eat their fathers; and I will execute judgments among you, and all of you who remain I will scatter to all the winds.

11"'Therefore, as I live,' says the Lord GOD, 'surely, because you have defiled My sanctuary with all your detestable things and with all your abominations, therefore I will also diminish you; My eye will not spare, nor will I have any pity. 12One-third of you shall die of the pestilence, and be consumed with famine in your midst; and one-third shall fall by the sword all around you; and I will scatter another third to all the winds, and I will draw out a sword after them.

13"'Thus shall My anger be spent, and I will cause My fury to rest upon them, and I will be avenged; and they shall know that I, the LORD, have spoken it in My zeal, when I have spent My fury upon them. 14Moreover I will make you a waste and a reproach among the nations that are all around you, in the sight of all who pass by.

15"'So it[a] shall be a reproach, a taunt, a lesson, and an astonishment to the nations that are all around you, when I execute judgments among you in anger and in fury and in furious rebukes. I, the LORD, have spoken. 16When I send against them the terrible arrows of famine which shall be for

5:7 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Septuagint, Targum, and Vulgate; many Hebrew manuscripts and Syriac read but have done (compare 11:12). 5:15 [a]Septuagint, Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate read you.

4:9–11 Ezekiel's sparse rations highlight the meager food supply during a long siege. "Twenty shekels" of food would be eight or nine ounces, and "one-sixth of a hin" is a little more than a pint (see chart, Money and Measurements in the Bible). Whether this amount was all Ezekiel was permitted to consume is uncertain.

4:12–15 The Lord's command for Ezekiel to use human waste was unthinkable for his priestly sensibilities regarding ritual purity, even though cow dung was and still is used commonly for fuel in the Near East. God allowed him to use cow dung, which still underscored the message of future adversity for Jerusalem.

5:1–4 Ezekiel's final symbolic enactment regarding Jerusalem's impending danger is recorded. For the Israelites, shaving the head was an indication of both shame (see 2 Sam. 10:4, 5) and grief (see Is. 15:2; Jer. 41:5, 6; 48:37).

5:10 Cannibalism is cited in the Pentateuch as one of the curses associated with God's punishment for covenant breaking (see Lev. 26:27–29; Deut. 28:53). Such practices actually occurred when Jerusalem fell (Lam. 4:10).

destruction, which I will send to destroy you, I will increase the famine upon you and cut off your supply of bread. 17So I will send against you famine and wild beasts, and they will bereave you. Pestilence and blood shall pass through you, and I will bring the sword against you. I, the LORD, have spoken.' "

Judgment on Idolatrous Israel

6 Now the word of the LORD came to me, saying:
2"Son of man, set your face toward the mountains of Israel, and prophesy against them, 3and say, 'O mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord GOD! Thus says the Lord GOD to the mountains, to the hills, to the ravines, and to the valleys: "Indeed I, even I, will bring a sword against you, and I will destroy your high places. 4Then your altars shall be desolate, your incense altars shall be broken, and I will cast down your slain men before your idols. 5And I will lay the corpses of the children of Israel before their idols, and I will scatter your bones all around your altars. 6In all your dwelling places the cities shall be laid waste, and the high places shall be desolate, so that your altars may be laid waste and made desolate, your idols may be broken and made to cease, your incense altars may be cut down, and your works may be abolished. 7The slain shall fall in your midst, and you shall know that I am the LORD.

8"Yet I will leave a remnant, so that you may have some who escape the sword among the nations, when you are scattered through the countries. 9Then those of you who escape will remember Me among the nations where they are carried captive, because I was crushed by their adulterous heart which has departed from Me, and by their eyes which play the harlot after their idols; they will loathe themselves for the evils which they committed in all their abominations. 10And they shall know that I am the LORD; I have not said in vain that I would bring this calamity upon them."

11'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Pound your fists and stamp your feet, and say, 'Alas, for all the evil abominations of the house of Israel! For they shall fall by the sword, by famine, and by pestilence. 12He who is far off shall die by the pestilence, he who is near shall fall by the sword, and he who remains and is besieged shall die by the famine. Thus will I spend My fury upon them. 13Then you shall know that I am the LORD, when their slain are among their idols all around their altars, on every high hill, on all the mountaintops, under every green tree, and under every thick oak, wherever they offered sweet incense to all their idols. 14So I will stretch out My hand against them and make the land desolate, yes, more desolate than the wilderness toward Diblah, in all their dwelling places. Then they shall know that I am the LORD.' " ' "

Judgment on Israel Is Near

7 Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2"And you, son of man, thus says the Lord GOD to the land of Israel:

'An end! The end has come upon the four corners of the land.
3Now the end has come upon you,
And I will send My anger against you;
I will judge you according to your ways,
And I will repay you for all your abominations.
4My eye will not spare you,
Nor will I have pity;
But I will repay your ways,
And your abominations will be in your midst;
Then you shall know that I am the LORD!'

5"Thus says the Lord GOD:

'A disaster, a singular disaster;
Behold, it has come!
6An end has come,
The end has come;
It has dawned for you;
Behold, it has come!
7Doom has come to you, you who dwell in the land;
The time has come,
A day of trouble is near,
And not of rejoicing in the mountains.
8Now upon you I will soon pour out My fury,
And spend My anger upon you;

6:3, 4 The high places repeatedly were condemned throughout the OT as representing a compromising combination of Canaanite idol worship and the true worship of the Lord (see 1 Kin. 14:23; 2 Kin. 17:9, 10). The "altars" were used for burning animal sacrifices to various idols; "incense altars" were small stands holding bowls of aromatic spices, herbs, and other materials.

6:8–10 The survival of a remnant also is proclaimed in the midst of Ezekiel's pronouncement of looming judgment. The adversity of the Exile, hunger, and sword would eventually result in strengthening the people.

6:14 The identification of Diblah is uncertain. Some suggest it refers either to Almon Diblathaim (Num. 33:46) or Beth Diblathaim (Jer. 48:22). Several Hebrew manuscripts read "Riblah," which was a city north of Damascus. The Hebrew letters for "R" and "D" are so similar that a scribal change could have easily occurred. Either way, the point of utter destruction remains the same.

7:7 The day (see vv. 10, 12), a common expression in prophetic writings, refers to the "day of the Lord," a time of decisive judgment (see Amos 5:18–20; Obad. 15).

7:8 Pour out My fury is a common expression used by the prophets to describe God's judgments. The imagery is that of a cup filled to overflowing and then poured out (see Hos. 5:10; Ezek. 23:31–34).

I will judge you according to your ways,
And I will repay you for all your abominations.

9 'My eye will not spare,
Nor will I have pity;
I will repay you according to your ways,
And your abominations will be in your midst.
Then you shall know that I am the LORD who strikes.

10 'Behold, the day!
Behold, it has come!
Doom has gone out;
The rod has blossomed,
Pride has budded.
11 Violence has risen up into a rod of wickedness;
None of them shall remain,
None of their multitude,
None of them;
Nor shall there be wailing for them.
12 The time has come,
The day draws near.

'Let not the buyer rejoice,
Nor the seller mourn,
For wrath is on their whole multitude.
13 For the seller shall not return to what has been sold,
Though he may still be alive;
For the vision concerns the whole multitude,
And it shall not turn back;
No one will strengthen himself
Who lives in iniquity.

14 'They have blown the trumpet and made everyone ready,
But no one goes to battle;
For My wrath is on all their multitude.
15 The sword is outside,
And the pestilence and famine within.
Whoever is in the field
Will die by the sword;
And whoever is in the city,
Famine and pestilence will devour him.

16 'Those who survive will escape and be on the mountains
Like doves of the valleys,
All of them mourning,
Each for his iniquity.
17 Every hand will be feeble,
And every knee will be as weak as water.
18 They will also be girded with sackcloth;
Horror will cover them;
Shame will be on every face,
Baldness on all their heads.

19 'They will throw their silver into the streets,
And their gold will be like refuse;
Their silver and their gold will not be able to deliver them
In the day of the wrath of the LORD;
They will not satisfy their souls,
Nor fill their stomachs,
Because it became their stumbling block of iniquity.

20 'As for the beauty of his ornaments,
He set it in majesty;
But they made from it
The images of their abominations—
Their detestable things;
Therefore I have made it
Like refuse to them.
21 I will give it as plunder
Into the hands of strangers,
And to the wicked of the earth as spoil;
And they shall defile it.
22 I will turn My face from them,
And they will defile My secret place;
For robbers shall enter it and defile it.

23 'Make a chain,
For the land is filled with crimes of blood,
And the city is full of violence.
24 Therefore I will bring the worst of the Gentiles,
And they will possess their houses;
I will cause the pomp of the strong to cease,
And their holy places shall be defiled.
25 Destruction comes;
They will seek peace, but there shall be none.
26 Disaster will come upon disaster,
And rumor will be upon rumor.
Then they will seek a vision from a prophet;
But the law will perish from the priest,
And counsel from the elders.

27 'The king will mourn,
The prince will be clothed with desolation,
And the hands of the common people will tremble.
I will do to them according to their way,
And according to what they deserve I will judge them;
Then they shall know that I am the LORD!' "

Abominations in the Temple

8 And it came to pass in the sixth year, in the sixth month, on the fifth day of the month, as I

7:10–12 The rod has blossomed and "violence has arisen" imply that God's judgment included the unbridled fruition of sinful human behavior. Normal commercial activity would cease when God came in judgment (v. 12). The daily routine of life as God's people had known it would end.

7:22 My secret place refers to the temple in Jerusalem.

8:1 In the sixth year, in the sixth month, on the fifth day introduces Ezekiel's vision dated September 17, 592 B. C. (see Ezek. 1:2; 40:1). This date is approximately 14 months after Ezekiel's initial vision.

sat in my house with the elders of Judah sitting before me, that the hand of the Lord GOD fell upon me there. 2Then I looked, and there was a likeness, like the appearance of fire—from the appearance of His waist and downward, fire; and from His waist and upward, like the appearance of brightness, like the color of amber. 3He stretched out the form of a hand, and took me by a lock of my hair; and the Spirit lifted me up between earth and heaven, and brought me in visions of God to Jerusalem, to the door of the north gate of the inner court, where the seat of the image of jealousy was, which provokes to jealousy. 4And behold, the glory of the God of Israel was there, like the vision that I saw in the plain.

5Then He said to me, "Son of man, lift your eyes now toward the north." So I lifted my eyes toward the north, and there, north of the altar gate, was this image of jealousy in the entrance.

6Furthermore He said to me, "Son of man, do you see what they are doing, the great abominations that the house of Israel commits here, to make Me go far away from My sanctuary? Now turn again, you will see greater abominations." 7So He brought me to the door of the court; and when I looked, there was a hole in the wall. 8Then He said to me, "Son of man, dig into the wall"; and when I dug into the wall, there was a door.

9And He said to me, "Go in, and see the wicked abominations which they are doing there." 10So I went in and saw, and there—every sort of creeping thing, abominable beasts, and all the idols of the house of Israel, portrayed all around on the walls. 11And there stood before them seventy men of the elders of the house of Israel, and in their midst stood Jaazaniah the son of Shaphan. Each man had a censer in his hand, and a thick cloud of incense went up. 12Then He said to me, "Son of man, have you seen what the elders of the house of Israel do in the dark, every man in the room of his idols? For they say, 'The LORD does not see us, the LORD has forsaken the land.' "

13And He said to me, "Turn again, and you will see greater abominations that they are doing." 14So He brought me to the door of the north gate of the LORD's house; and to my dismay, women were sitting there weeping for Tammuz.

15Then He said to me, "Have you seen this, O son of man? Turn again, you will see greater abominations than these." 16So He brought me into the inner court of the LORD's house; and there, at the door of the temple of the LORD, between the porch and the altar, were about twenty-five men with their backs toward the temple of the LORD and their faces toward the east, and they were worshiping the sun toward the east.

17And He said to me, "Have you seen this, O son of man? Is it a trivial thing to the house of Judah to commit the abominations which they commit here? For they have filled the land with violence; then they have returned to provoke Me to anger. Indeed they put the branch to their nose. 18Therefore I also will act in fury. My eye will not spare nor will I have pity; and though they cry in My ears with a loud voice, I will not hear them."

The Wicked Are Slain

9 Then He called out in my hearing with a loud voice, saying, "Let those who have charge over the city draw near, each with a deadly weapon in his hand." 2And suddenly six men came from the direction of the upper gate, which faces north, each with his battle-ax in his hand. One man among them was clothed with linen and had a writer's inkhorn at his side. They went in and stood beside the bronze altar.

3Now the glory of the God of Israel had gone up from the cherub, where it had been, to the threshold of the temple.[a] And He called to the man clothed with linen, who had the writer's inkhorn at his side; 4and the LORD said to him, "Go through the midst of the city, through the midst

9:3 [a]Literally house

8:3 The image of jealousy has been identified with an image of the Canaanite fertility goddess, Asherah, which Manasseh had set up in the temple area (2 Kin. 21:1–7; 2 Chr. 33:7). Though it had been removed during Josiah's reform (2 Kin. 23:6), the idolatry apparently had been reinstated after Josiah's death.

8:4 Amidst the details of Ezekiel's vision of the temple in Jerusalem was the progressive movement of God's glory (symbolizing His presence) from within the temple to a mountain on the east side of the city (see Ezek. 9:3; 10:14–19; 11:23). This mountain has been identified as the Mount of Olives.

8:7–13 Ezekiel depicted the failure of the elders of Judah to worship the Lord properly. Instead, they secretly and defiantly practiced idolatry. The mention of Jaazaniah, the son of Shaphan, emphasized the extent of the apostasy, for Shaphan had been a leader in Josiah's reforms (see 2 Kin. 22:3–20).

8:14 Tammuz was the Babylonian god of nature or of vegetation (the husband and brother of Ishtar) who supposedly died in summer and came back to life in the spring (see chart, Graeco-Roman Goddesses). Ezekiel's vision occurred in September when Palestine was so parched that the women were crying for relief and fertility in the Land. The involvement of Israelite women in the ritual of weeping for Tammuz at the entrance to God's sanctuary was further indication of blatant idolatry. Later the Jewish calendar named a month Tammuz.

8:16, 17 These men were probably priests. By standing with their backs toward the sanctuary, they deliberately were rejecting God in favor of some sort of sun worship (see Joel 2:17). "They put the branch to their nose" is an obscure Hebrew idiom, probably referring to some offensive or insulting gesture.

9:4 Marking a person in the ancient Near East indicated that the individual was the object of another's protection or mercy (see Gen. 4:15). Those grieved over Judah's sin received the mark.

of Jerusalem, and put a mark on the foreheads of the men who sigh and cry over all the abominations that are done within it."

5To the others He said in my hearing, "Go after him through the city and kill; do not let your eye spare, nor have any pity. 6Utterly slay old and young men, maidens and little children and women; but do not come near anyone on whom is the mark; and begin at My sanctuary." So they began with the elders who were before the temple. 7Then He said to them, "Defile the temple, and fill the courts with the slain. Go out!" And they went out and killed in the city.

8So it was, that while they were killing them, I was left alone; and I fell on my face and cried out, and said, "Ah, Lord GOD! Will You destroy all the remnant of Israel in pouring out Your fury on Jerusalem?"

9Then He said to me, "The iniquity of the house of Israel and Judah is exceedingly great, and the land is full of bloodshed, and the city full of perversity; for they say, 'The LORD has forsaken the land, and the LORD does not see!' 10And as for Me also, My eye will neither spare, nor will I have pity, but I will recompense their deeds on their own head."

11Just then, the man clothed with linen, who had the inkhorn at his side, reported back and said, "I have done as You commanded me."

The Glory Departs from the Temple

10 And I looked, and there in the firmament that was above the head of the cherubim, there appeared something like a sapphire stone, having the appearance of the likeness of a throne. 2Then He spoke to the man clothed with linen, and said, "Go in among the wheels, under the cherub, fill your hands with coals of fire from among the cherubim, and scatter them over the city." And he went in as I watched.

3Now the cherubim were standing on the south side of the temple[a] when the man went in, and the cloud filled the inner court. 4Then the glory of the LORD went up from the cherub, and paused over the threshold of the temple; and the house was filled with the cloud, and the court was full of the brightness of the LORD's glory. 5And the sound of the wings of the cherubim was heard even in the outer court, like the voice of Almighty God when He speaks.

6Then it happened, when He commanded the man clothed in linen, saying, "Take fire from among the wheels, from among the cherubim," that he went in and stood beside the wheels. 7And the cherub stretched out his hand from among the cherubim to the fire that was among the cherubim, and took some of it and put it into the hands of the man clothed with linen, who took it and went out. 8The cherubim appeared to have the form of a man's hand under their wings.

9And when I looked, there were four wheels by the cherubim, one wheel by one cherub and another wheel by each other cherub; the wheels appeared to have the color of a beryl stone. 10*As for* their appearance, all four looked alike—as it were, a wheel in the middle of a wheel. 11When they went, they went toward any of their four directions; they did not turn aside when they went, but followed in the direction the head was facing. They did not turn aside when they went. 12And their whole body, with their back, their hands, their wings, and the wheels that the four had, were full of eyes all around. 13As for the wheels, they were called in my hearing, "Wheel."

14Each one had four faces: the first face was the face of a cherub, the second face the face of a man, the third the face of a lion, and the fourth the face of an eagle. 15And the cherubim were lifted up. This was the living creature I saw by the River Chebar. 16When the cherubim went, the wheels went beside them; and when the cherubim lifted their wings to mount up from the earth, the same wheels also did not turn from beside them. 17When the cherubim[a] stood still, the wheels stood still, and when one[b] was lifted up, the other[c] lifted itself up, for the spirit of the living creature was in them.

20This is the living creature I saw under the God of Israel by the River Chebar, and I knew they were cherubim. 21Each one had four faces and each one four wings, and the likeness of the hands of a man was under their wings. 22And the likeness of their faces was the same as the faces which I had seen by the River Chebar, their appearance and their persons. They each went straight forward.

Judgment on Wicked Counselors

11 Then the Spirit lifted me up and brought me to the East Gate of the LORD's house,

10:3 [a]Literally house, also in verses 4 and 18 10:17 [a]Literally they [b]Literally they [c]Literally they

9:6 This scene of judgment paralleled the Exodus Passover. In both instances those without the mark of safety were slain (see Ex. 12:13).

10:2 The command to scatter the coals of fire over the city symbolized God's purifying judgment (see Gen. 19:24; Is. 6:6, 7).

which faces eastward; and there at the door of the gate were twenty-five men, among whom I saw Jaazaniah the son of Azzur, and Pelatiah the son of Benaiah, princes of the people. 2And He said to me: "Son of man, these are the men who devise iniquity and give wicked counsel in this city, 3who say, 'The time is not near to build houses; this city is the caldron, and we are the meat.' 4Therefore prophesy against them, prophesy, O son of man!"

5Then the Spirit of the LORD fell upon me, and said to me, "Speak! 'Thus says the LORD: "Thus you have said, O house of Israel; for I know the things that come into your mind. 6You have multiplied your slain in this city, and you have filled its streets with the slain." 7Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: "Your slain whom you have laid in its midst, they are the meat, and this city is the caldron; but I shall bring you out of the midst of it. 8You have feared the sword; and I will bring a sword upon you," says the Lord GOD. 9"And I will bring you out of its midst, and deliver you into the hands of strangers, and execute judgments on you. 10You shall fall by the sword. I will judge you at the border of Israel. Then you shall know that I am the LORD. 11This city shall not be your caldron, nor shall you be the meat in its midst. I will judge you at the border of Israel. 12And you shall know that I am the LORD; for you have not walked in My statutes nor executed My judgments, but have done according to the customs of the Gentiles which are all around you." ' "

13Now it happened, while I was prophesying, that Pelatiah the son of Benaiah died. Then I fell on my face and cried with a loud voice, and said, "Ah, Lord GOD! Will You make a complete end of the remnant of Israel?"

God Will Restore Israel

14Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 15"Son of man, your brethren, your relatives, your countrymen, and all the house of Israel in its entirety, are those about whom the inhabitants of Jerusalem have said, 'Get far away from the LORD; this land has been given to us as a possession.' 16Therefore say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Although I have cast them far off among the Gentiles, and although I have scattered them among the countries, yet I shall be a little sanctuary for them in the countries where they have gone." ' 17Therefore say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "I will gather you from the peoples, assemble you from the countries where you have been scattered, and I will give you the land of Israel." ' 18And they will go there, and they will take away all its detestable things and all its abominations from there. 19Then I will give them one heart, and I will put a new spirit within them,[a] and take the stony heart out of their flesh, and give them a heart of flesh, 20that they may walk in My statutes and keep My judgments and do them; and they shall be My people, and I will be their God. 21But as for those whose hearts follow the desire for their detestable things and their abominations, I will recompense their deeds on their own heads," says the Lord GOD.

22So the cherubim lifted up their wings, with the wheels beside them, and the glory of the God of Israel was high above them. 23And the glory of the LORD went up from the midst of the city and stood on the mountain, which is on the east side of the city.

24Then the Spirit took me up and brought me in a vision by the Spirit of God into Chaldea,[a] to those in captivity. And the vision that I had seen went up from me. 25So I spoke to those in captivity of all the things the LORD had shown me.

Judah's Captivity Portrayed

12 Now the word of the LORD came to me, saying: 2"Son of man, you dwell in the midst of a rebellious house, which has eyes to see but does not see, and ears to hear but does not hear; for they are a rebellious house.

3"Therefore, son of man, prepare your belongings for captivity, and go into captivity by day in their sight. You shall go from your place into captivity to another place in their sight. It may be that they will consider, though they are a rebellious house. 4By day you shall bring out your belongings in their sight, as though going into captivity; and at evening you shall go in their sight, like those who go into captivity. 5Dig through the wall in their sight, and carry your belongings out through it. 6In their sight you shall bear them on your shoulders and carry them out at twilight; you shall cover your face, so that you cannot see the ground, for I have made you a sign to the house of Israel."

11:19 [a]Literally you 11:24 [a]Or Babylon, and so elsewhere in this book

11:6–9 For these reckless leaders God had prepared a special punishment that would take place outside the confines of the city (see Amos 7:17).

11:13 The death of Pelatiah (Heb., lit. "the Lord's remnant" or "the Lord delivers") confirmed Ezekiel's prophecy. At the same time, Ezekiel feared again that no remnant would survive.

11:16 The proud survivors in Jerusalem were left an empty shell of a sanctuary once God's glory departed (see Ezek. 11:23). God promised to be a sanctuary to the scattered remnant in Babylon by helping them in their distress.

11:23 God's glory departed. In the final stage before its departure from Jerusalem, the glory of God rested on the Mount of Olives east of the city (2 Sam. 15:30). On this same mountain Jesus wept over Jerusalem (Luke 19:41); here He ascended and will return (Acts 1:9–12).

7So I did as I was commanded. I brought out my belongings by day, as though going into captivity, and at evening I dug through the wall with my hand. I brought them out at twilight, and I bore them on my shoulder in their sight.

8And in the morning the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 9"Son of man, has not the house of Israel, the rebellious house, said to you,
'What are you doing?' 10Say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "This burden concerns the prince in Jerusalem and all the house of Israel who are among them." ' 11Say, 'I am a sign to you. As I have done, so shall it be done to them; they shall be carried away into captivity.' 12And the prince who is among them shall bear his belongings on his shoulder at twilight and go out. They shall dig through the wall to carry them out through it. He shall cover his face, so that he cannot see the ground with his eyes. 13I will also spread My net over him, and he shall be caught in My snare. I will bring him to Babylon, to the land of the Chaldeans; yet he shall not see it, though he shall die there. 14I will scatter to every wind all who are around him to help him, and all his troops; and I will draw out the sword after them.

15"Then they shall know that I am the LORD,
when I scatter them among the nations and disperse them throughout the countries. 16But I will spare a few of their men from the sword, from famine, and from pestilence, that they may declare all their abominations among the Gentiles wherever they go. Then they shall know that I am
the LORD."

Judgment Not Postponed

17Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 18"Son of man, eat your bread with quaking, and drink your water with trembling and anxiety. 19And say to the people of the land, 'Thus says the Lord GOD to the inhabitants of Jerusalem and to the land of Israel: "They shall eat their bread with anxiety, and drink their water with dread, so that her land may be emptied of all who are in it, because of the violence of all those who dwell in
it. 20Then the cities that are inhabited shall be laid waste, and the land shall become desolate; and you shall know that I am the LORD." ' "

21And the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 22"Son of man, what is this proverb that you people have about the land of Israel, which says,
'The days are prolonged, and every vision fails'?
23Tell them therefore, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "I will lay this proverb to rest, and they shall no more use it as a proverb in Israel." ' But say to them, '"The days are at hand, and the fulfillment of every vision. 24For no more shall there be any false vision or flattering divination within the house of Israel. 25For I am the LORD. I speak, and the word which I speak will come to pass; it will no more be postponed; for in your days, O rebellious house, I will say the word and perform it,"
says the Lord GOD.' "

26Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 27"Son of man, look, the house of Israel is saying, 'The vision that he sees is for many days from now, and he prophesies of times far off.' 28Therefore say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "None of My words will be postponed any more, but the word which I speak will be done," says the Lord GOD.' "

Woe to Foolish Prophets

13 And the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2"Son of man, prophesy against the prophets of Israel who prophesy, and say to those who prophesy out of their own heart, 'Hear the word of the LORD!' "

3Thus says the Lord GOD: "Woe to the foolish prophets, who follow their own spirit and have seen nothing! 4O Israel, your prophets are like foxes in the deserts. 5You have not gone up into the gaps to build a wall for the house of Israel to stand in battle on the day of the LORD. 6They have envisioned futility and false divination, saying,
'Thus says the LORD!' But the LORD has not sent them; yet they hope that the word may be confirmed. 7Have you not seen a futile vision, and have you not spoken false divination? You say, 'The LORD says,' but I have not spoken."

8Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: "Because you have spoken nonsense and envisioned lies, therefore I am indeed against you," says the Lord GOD. 9"My hand will be against the prophets who envision futility and who divine lies; they shall not be in the assembly of My people, nor be written in the record of the house of Israel, nor shall they enter into the land of Israel. Then you shall know that I am the Lord GOD.

12:10 The prince of Jerusalem probably refers to Zedekiah, the puppet king whose rebellion against Babylon led to the destruction of Jerusalem (see 2 Kin. 24:17—25:2).

12:12, 13 When Zedekiah attempted to flee Jerusalem after its capture by the Babylonians, he was caught, blinded, and taken to Babylon (see 2 Kin. 25:4–7).

12:18 Ezekiel's eating and drinking, as if in mortal terror, symbolized the coming fear that those in Jerusalem would experience during the siege of the city.

13:5 The true prophet of the Lord was one who went "into the gaps to build a wall." Such a prophet would strengthen the moral and spiritual defenses of God's people. This military metaphor assumed a knowledge of the defense of a walled city. If a city wall was breached by a siege engine, a repair team would be sent under guard to repair the hole. The guards would hold off any intruders while repairs were being completed. A true prophet would undergird and fortify God's people by calling them back to the Lord. Most of all a true prophet spoke the truth as God gave it.

10"Because, indeed, because they have seduced
My people, saying, 'Peace!' when there is no peace—and one builds a wall, and they plaster it with untempered mortar— 11say to those who plaster it with untempered mortar, that it will fall.
There will be flooding rain, and you, O great hailstones, shall fall; and a stormy wind shall tear it down. 12Surely, when the wall has fallen, will it not be said to you, 'Where is the mortar with which you plastered it?' "

13Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: "I will cause a stormy wind to break forth in My fury;
and there shall be a flooding rain in My anger, and great hailstones in fury to consume it. 14So I will break down the wall you have plastered with un-tempered mortar, and bring it down to the ground, so that its foundation will be uncovered; it will fall, and you shall be consumed in the midst of it.
Then you shall know that I am the LORD.

15"Thus will I accomplish My wrath on the wall and on those who have plastered it with untem-pered mortar; and I will say to you, 'The wall is no more, nor those who plastered it, 16*that is,* the prophets of Israel who prophesy concerning Jerusalem, and who see visions of peace for her when there is no peace,' " says the Lord GOD.

17"Likewise, son of man, set your face against the daughters of your people, who prophesy out of their own heart; prophesy against them, 18and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Woe to the women who sew magic charms on their sleeves[a] and make veils for the heads of people of every height to hunt souls! Will you hunt the souls of My people, and keep yourselves alive? 19And will you profane Me among My people for handfuls of barley and for pieces of bread, killing people who should not die, and keeping people alive who should not live, by your lying to My people who listen to lies?"

20'Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: "Behold, I am against your magic charms by which you hunt souls there like birds. I will tear them from your arms, and let the souls go, the souls you hunt like birds. 21I will also tear off your veils and deliver My people out of your hand, and they shall no longer be as prey in your hand. Then you shall know that I am the LORD.

22"Because with lies you have made the heart of the righteous sad, whom I have not made sad; and you have strengthened the hands of the wicked, so that he does not turn from his wicked way to save his life. 23Therefore you shall no longer envision futility nor practice divination; for I will deliver My people out of your hand, and you shall know that I am the LORD." ' "

Idolatry Will Be Punished

14 Now some of the elders of Israel came to me and sat before me. 2And the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 3"Son of man, these men have set up their idols in their hearts, and put before them that which causes them to stumble into iniquity. Should I let Myself be inquired of at all by them?

4"Therefore speak to them, and say to them,
'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Everyone of the house of Israel who sets up his idols in his heart, and puts before him what causes him to stumble into iniquity, and then comes to the prophet, I the LORD will answer him who comes, according to the multitude of his idols, 5that I may seize the house of Israel by their heart, because they are all estranged from Me by their idols." '

6"Therefore say to the house of Israel, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Repent, turn away from your idols, and turn your faces away from all your abominations. 7For anyone of the house of Israel, or of the strangers who dwell in Israel, who separates himself from Me and sets up his idols in his heart and puts before him what causes him to stumble into iniquity, then comes to a prophet to inquire of him concerning Me, I the LORD will answer him by Myself. 8I will set My face against that man and make him a sign and a proverb, and I will cut him off from the midst of My people. Then you shall know that I am the LORD.

9"And if the prophet is induced to speak

13:18 [a]Literally over all the joints of My hands; Vulgate reads under every elbow; Septuagint and Targum read on all elbows of the hands.

13:10 Plaster also means whitewash. The imagery of this verse assumes a wall of stone or brick built without a bonding agent. The wall was then plastered in such a way that it appeared strong. The false prophets who misled the people by proclaiming peace were like those who whitewashed or plastered a weak wall, making it appear strong. When the storm of God's judgment struck Judah, the nation would fall (vv. 13, 14).

13:17 Daughters of your people were evidently women who practiced crude magic as prophecy in the name of the Lord for personal gain (vv. 18, 19). Though female prophets were rare in Israel, Miriam, Deborah, and Huldah are identified as filling such a role in the Lord's service (see Ex. 15:20; Judg. 4:4; 2 Kin. 22:14).

13:19 Barley and bread were used as payment for magical services rendered. Many with superstitious fears were being exploited by the false prophetesses.

13:23 The Canaanites practiced many types of "divination" (see Ezek. 21:21, note) in stark contrast to the prophets of the Lord, who were forbidden to use such methods (see Deut. 18:9–14).

14:3, 4 The elders of Ezekiel's community, despite being in Exile because of idolatry, still practiced some sort of idolatry secretly. They came to Ezekiel anticipating an oracular decision but instead were given a word of judgment.

CLOTHING GARMENTS IN BIBLE TIMES

The Bible teaches that believers are not to fret over what they are going to wear (Matt. 6:25–30), they are not to judge others by what they wear, nor are they to show favor based on how well someone is dressed (James 2:2–4). They are to be generous in clothing the poor (Matt. 25:36, 44). Embroidered cloth, leather sandals, and fine linen were typical clothing (Is. 3:18–23; Ezek. 16:9–13). Gold and silver jewelry included bracelets, necklaces, earrings, crowns, and even nose rings—often encrusted with jewels.

Both men and women in Bible times wore tunics as their primary garments. These were loose-fitting, dresslike garments with sleeves to the mid-forearm. They were tucked at the waist, sometimes by a money pocket, a belt, or, more commonly, a sash. Women's tunics were usually decorated with embroidery. A man was forbidden by the Law to wear a woman's garment, and vice versa (Deut. 22:5).

Fabrics mentioned in Scripture include goat and camel hair (Matt. 3:4), leather (Matt. 3:4), linen (Lev. 16:4; Ezek. 16:10; Rev. 18:12; 19:14), and wool (Job. 31:20). In Bible times, the texture of a garment was a sign of wealth. Rough-textured garments were worn by the poor. Since dyes were expensive, garments generally were in the natural colors. The Israelites, however, did weave colored threads—including gold thread—into the fabrics of special garments (Ex. 39:3).

Head Coverings included veils that were used to hide a woman's beauty from strangers until she was united with her husband in marriage. Once married, an Israelite woman was not bound to wear a veil, but she generally continued to cover her face in the presence of strangers (Gen. 24:65). High priests covered their heads in the temple, and women also were admonished to cover their heads in worship services of the first-century church (1 Cor. 11:5, 6).

Footwear, especially sandals, provided protection from scorching sands and rocky paths but were not worn inside homes. Hosts showed kindness to their guests by removing their shoes at the home's entrance and washing their feet (Luke 7:44; John 13:5). Shoes were also removed in the temple and on "holy ground" and were not worn during times of mourning. Footwear also has symbolic meaning in the Scriptures. Boaz sealed his marriage contract with Ruth using a shoe (Ruth 4:7–10). To lift up your shoe to show its sole or heel to another person was considered an insult (Ps. 41:9).

anything, I the LORD have induced that prophet, and I will stretch out My hand against him and destroy him from among My people Israel. 10And they shall bear their iniquity; the punishment of the prophet shall be the same as the punishment of the one who inquired, 11that the house of Israel may no longer stray from Me, nor be profaned anymore with all their transgressions, but that they may be My people and I may be their God," says the Lord GOD.'"

Judgment on Persistent Unfaithfulness

12The word of the LORD came again to me, saying: 13"Son of man, when a land sins against Me by persistent unfaithfulness, I will stretch out My hand against it; I will cut off its supply of bread, send famine on it, and cut off man and beast from it. 14Even if these three men, Noah, Daniel, and Job, were in it, they would deliver only themselves by their righteousness," says the Lord GOD.

15"If I cause wild beasts to pass through the land, and they empty it, and make it so desolate that no man may pass through because of the beasts, 16*even though* these three men were in it, as I live," says the Lord GOD, "they would deliver neither sons nor daughters; only they would be delivered, and the land would be desolate.

17"Or if I bring a sword on that land, and say, 'Sword, go through the land,' and I cut off man and beast from it, 18even though these three men were in it, as I live," says the Lord GOD, "they would deliver neither sons nor daughters, but only they themselves would be delivered.

19"Or if I send a pestilence into that land and pour out My fury on it in blood, and cut off from it man and beast, 20even though Noah, Daniel, and Job were in it, as I live," says the Lord GOD, "they would deliver neither son nor daughter; they would deliver only themselves by their righteousness."

21For thus says the Lord GOD: "How much more it shall be when I send My four severe judg-

14:14 Noah, Daniel, and Job were well-known examples of true righteousness. Noah is described as just and blameless (Gen. 6:9) and Job as blameless and upright (Job 1:1). Daniel was a contemporary of Ezekiel (Dan. 1:1–6).

14:16 A prevalent misconception was that Jerusalem would be spared because of a righteous remnant. Ezekiel dispelled this falsehood by announcing that the presence of three proverbially righteous men could not save the city.

ments on Jerusalem—the sword and famine and wild beasts and pestilence—to cut off man and beast from it? 22Yet behold, there shall be left in it a remnant who will be brought out, both sons and daughters; surely they will come out to you, and you will see their ways and their doings. Then you will be comforted concerning the disaster that I have brought upon Jerusalem, all that I have brought upon it. 23And they will comfort you, when you see their ways and their doings; and you shall know that I have done nothing without cause that I have done in it," says the Lord GOD.

The Outcast Vine

15 Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying: 2"Son of man, how is the wood of the vine better than any other wood, the vine branch which is among the trees of the forest? 3Is wood taken from it to make any object? Or can men make a peg from it to hang any vessel on? 4Instead, it is thrown into the fire for fuel; the fire devours both ends of it, and its middle is burned. Is it useful for any work? 5Indeed, when it was whole, no object could be made from it. How much less will it be useful for any work when the fire has devoured it, and it is burned?

6"'Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 'Like the wood of the vine among the trees of the forest, which I have given to the fire for fuel, so I will give up the inhabitants of Jerusalem; 7and I will set My face against them. They will go out from one fire, but another fire shall devour them. Then you shall know that I am the LORD, when I set My face against them. 8Thus I will make the land desolate, because they have persisted in unfaithfulness,' says the Lord GOD."

God's Love for Jerusalem

16 Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2"Son of man, cause Jerusalem to know her abominations, 3and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD to Jerusalem: "Your birth and your nativity are from the land of Canaan; your father was an Amorite and your mother a Hittite. 4*As for* your nativity, on the day you were born your navel cord was not cut, nor were you washed in water to cleanse you; you were not rubbed with salt nor wrapped in swaddling cloths. 5No eye pitied you, to do any of these things for you, to have compassion on you; but you were thrown out into the open field, when you yourself were loathed on the day you were born.

6"'And when I passed by you and saw you struggling in your own blood, I said to you in your blood, 'Live!' Yes, I said to you in your blood, 'Live!' 7I made you thrive like a plant in the field; and you grew, matured, and became very beautiful. Your breasts were formed, your hair grew, but you were naked and bare.

8"'When I passed by you again and looked upon you, indeed your time was the time of love; so I spread My wing over you and covered your nakedness. Yes, I swore an oath to you and entered into a covenant with you, and you became Mine," says the Lord GOD.

9"'Then I washed you in water; yes, I thoroughly washed off your blood, and I anointed you with oil. 10I clothed you in embroidered cloth and gave you sandals of badger skin; I clothed you with fine linen and covered you with silk. 11I adorned you with ornaments, put bracelets on your wrists, and a chain on your neck. 12And I put a jewel in your nose, earrings in your ears, and a beautiful crown on your head. 13Thus you were adorned with gold and silver, and your clothing was of fine linen, silk, and embroidered cloth. You ate pastry of fine flour, honey, and oil. You were exceedingly beautiful, and succeeded to royalty. 14Your fame went out among the nations because of your beauty, for it was perfect through My splendor which I had bestowed on you," says the Lord GOD.

15:2 The image of a vine is used in Scripture to depict Israel's standing before God. Normally, the picture is that of a vine tended and protected by the Lord (see Is. 5:1–10; Jer. 2:21; Hos. 10:1). Ezekiel focused on the uselessness of the wood of the vine (Ezek. 15:3, 4). Such wood served only to fuel a fire. Likewise, Jerusalem would experience the fire of God's judgment because of the people's unfaithfulness to the Lord.

15:7 They will go out from one fire may refer to the siege under Jehoiachin. "Another fire" points to the coming destruction of the city (see 2 Kin. 24:10–16; 25:1–10).

16:3 Ezekiel began this section of historical narrative with a reminder that Jerusalem's past was rooted in Canaanite history. Ezekiel drew a condemning comparison between the Jews and the idolatrous Canaanite inhabitants of Jerusalem in the days before Israel captured the city. The Amorites were Semitic inhabitants of Canaan before the conquest. The Hittites were non-Semitic peoples who settled in Canaan before the conquest (see Gen. 9:25; Josh. 15:63; Judg. 1:21).

16:4–6 Rubbing the infant with salt, water, and oil and wrapping the baby in cloth strips for seven days and repeating the process for 40 days after the umbilical cord had been cut was done for hygienic purposes (v. 4). This process promoted the good health of the baby. Unwanted newborns, especially girls, often were abandoned to die in the ancient world. The female child depicted in these verses was deprived of the normal postnatal cleansing and health care procedures.

16:8 Wing also referred to the corner or extremity of a garment. In the ancient Near East, clothing often served a symbolic function. The spreading of one's garment over another symbolized entry into a marriage relationship (see Deut. 22:30; Ruth 3:9).

16:10–12 God used the imagery of the bridal costume to describe His care for His people. According to what the family could afford, brides wore lavish clothing, expensive jewelry, and a crown (see Ps. 45:13, 14; Song 3:11).

MOTHERHOOD MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS

Mothers often fail to savor the precious, fleeting moments with their daughters. In rushing through life, they sometimes take time only for the high spots, while the small, daily experiences that give life its character and the most delicious and meaningful moments are all but lost in the shuffle. The lasting and eternal are engulfed in triviality.

There is no better opportunity to enjoy life's small, mundane responsibilities than to invest time and energy in lifestyle teaching of your daughter—giving her instruction on how to care for younger children, to fix family meals, to study the art and method of homemaking, even teaching her to set a table with care and creativity (see Titus 2:3–5). Sensing pleasure and significance in caring for the simple needs of the family is caught as well as taught (2 Cor. 3:2, 3) so that irksome, bothersome, and irritating chores become meaningful, delightful, and rewarding opportunities for service.

There are many practical ways of spending time together without making elaborate plans. In the biblical story of Mary and Martha, Martha was not rebuked by the Lord for setting the table, cooking, sweeping the floor, or decorating the house. She was not doing anything wrong, but her priorities were not right at that time. Busy with good things, she missed her opportunity for the best thing (Luke 10:38–42). Many mothers today are busy with good things, but miss the opportunity for the best thing—investing time in a daughter (Ps. 127:3–5).

Childhood cannot be used over again for another set of memories (Deut 6:10–25). Therefore, the spending of time is an irrevocable act that cannot be used again (Eph. 5:15–17). No day or even hour can be recaptured. What greater delight than to work side by side with your daughters, mentoring and modeling and sharing.

Jerusalem's Harlotry

15 "But you trusted in your own beauty, played the harlot because of your fame, and poured out your harlotry on everyone passing by who would have it. 16 You took some of your garments and adorned multicolored high places for yourself, and played the harlot on them. Such things should not happen, nor be. 17 You have also taken your beautiful jewelry from My gold and My silver, which I had given you, and made for yourself male images and played the harlot with them. 18 You took your embroidered garments and covered them, and you set My oil and My incense before them. 19 Also My food which I gave you—the pastry of fine flour, oil, and honey which I fed you—you set it before them as sweet incense; and so it was,"
says the Lord GOD.

20 "Moreover you took your sons and your daughters, whom you bore to Me, and these you sacrificed to them to be devoured. Were your acts of harlotry a small matter, 21 that you have slain
My children and offered them up to them by causing them to pass through the fire? 22 And in all your abominations and acts of harlotry you did not remember the days of your youth, when you were naked and bare, struggling in your blood.

23 "Then it was so, after all your wickedness—
'Woe, woe to you!' says the Lord GOD— 24 that you also built for yourself a shrine, and made a high place for yourself in every street. 25 You built your high places at the head of every road, and made your beauty to be abhorred. You offered yourself to everyone who passed by, and multiplied your acts of harlotry. 26 You also committed harlotry with the Egyptians, your very fleshly neighbors,

16:15 The accusation that Israel "played the harlot" is significant in two ways. First, in the OT this language often describes turning away from the Lord to worship other gods. Second, worship in Canaanite fertility cults involved prostitution (see Hos. 2:2–13; 4:11, 12). Jerusalem had been crowned with beauty and fame but began to trust in her own devices instead of the God who had given her all she had. Thus, her gifts merely led to her downfall.

16:17 The beloved wife is charged with taking the gifts of precious jewelry and exquisite garments lavished on her by her husband and turning them into male images and worshiping these images with incense and offerings to satisfy her lusts.

16:20–22 Child sacrifice, part of Canaanite cultic rituals, was practiced to some extent by Israel, even though this practice was expressly prohibited in the Law (Lev. 18:21; Deut. 12:31). This crime appears in its starkest horror by contrasting God's rescue of Israel when she was abandoned to infanticide with the nation's subsequent sacrifice of its own children (see Judg. 11:39; 2 Kin. 16:3). Anyone who would slaughter a helpless child has forgotten that children are a blessing from God (see Ps. 128, Children). Every generation has had to deal with this issue (see Gen. 9, Sanctity of Life; Jer. 1, Abortion). Children are indeed a precious gift from the Creator and an awesome responsibility in the kingdom (Is. 49, Motherhood).

16:23–29 Israel repeatedly had been warned to avoid political alliances because such alliances often resulted in idol worship (see Josh. 24:14, 15; 2 Chr. 7:19–22).

and increased your acts of harlotry to provoke Me to anger.

27"Behold, therefore, I stretched out My hand against you, diminished your allotment, and gave you up to the will of those who hate you, the daughters of the Philistines, who were ashamed of your lewd behavior. 28You also played the harlot with the Assyrians, because you were insatiable; indeed you played the harlot with them and still were not satisfied. 29Moreover you multiplied your acts of harlotry as far as the land of the trader, Chaldea; and even then you were not satisfied.

30"How degenerate is your heart!" says the Lord GOD, "seeing you do all these things, the deeds of a brazen harlot.

Jerusalem's Adultery

31"You erected your shrine at the head of every road, and built your high place in every street. Yet you were not like a harlot, because you scorned payment. 32*You are* an adulterous wife, who takes strangers instead of her husband. 33Men make payment to all harlots, but you made your payments to all your lovers, and hired them to come to you from all around for your harlotry. 34You are the opposite of other women in your harlotry, because no one solicited you to be a harlot. In that you gave payment but no payment was given you, therefore you are the opposite."

Jerusalem's Lovers Will Abuse Her

35'Now then, O harlot, hear the word of the LORD! 36Thus says the Lord GOD: "Because your filthiness was poured out and your nakedness uncovered in your harlotry with your lovers, and with all your abominable idols, and because of the blood of your children which you gave to them, 37surely, therefore, I will gather all your lovers with whom you took pleasure, all those you loved, and all those you hated; I will gather them from all around against you and will uncover your nakedness to them, that they may see all your nakedness. 38And I will judge you as women who break wedlock or shed blood are judged; I will bring blood upon you in fury and jealousy. 39I will also give you into their hand, and they shall throw down your shrines and break down your high places. They shall also strip you of your clothes, take your beautiful jewelry, and leave you naked and bare.

40"They shall also bring up an assembly against you, and they shall stone you with stones and thrust you through with their swords. 41They shall burn your houses with fire, and execute judgments on you in the sight of many women; and I will make you cease playing the harlot, and you shall no longer hire lovers. 42So I will lay to rest My fury toward you, and My jealousy shall depart from you. I will be quiet, and be angry no more. 43Because you did not remember the days of your youth, but agitated Me[a] with all these things, surely I will also recompense your deeds on your own head," says the Lord GOD. "And you shall not commit lewdness in addition to all your abominations.

More Wicked than Samaria and Sodom

44"Indeed everyone who quotes proverbs will use this proverb against you: 'Like mother, like daughter!' 45You are your mother's daughter, loathing husband and children; and you are the sister of your sisters, who loathed their husbands and children; your mother was a Hittite and your father an Amorite.

46"Your elder sister is Samaria, who dwells with her daughters to the north of you; and your younger sister, who dwells to the south of you, is Sodom and her daughters. 47You did not walk in their ways nor act according to their abominations; but, as if that were too little, you became more corrupt than they in all your ways.

48"As I live," says the Lord GOD, "neither your sister Sodom nor her daughters have done as you and your daughters have done. 49Look, this was the iniquity of your sister Sodom: She and her daughter had pride, fullness of food, and abundance of idleness; neither did she strengthen the hand of the poor and needy. 50And they were haughty and committed abomination before Me; therefore I took them away as I saw fit.[a]

16:43 [a]Following Septuagint, Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate; Masoretic Text reads were agitated with Me. 16:50 [a]Vulgate reads you saw; Septuagint reads he saw; Targum reads as was revealed to Me.

16:33, 34 The senselessness of Israel's apostasy is highlighted. Unlike those who practiced prostitution in exchange for compensation, Israel practiced "prostitution" for pleasure and was willing to compensate others rather than to receive payment herself.

16:37 The woman, representing Israel or Jerusalem, was stripped of her clothing. Her nakedness served as a reminder of the exposed and unattended situation in which God found her (v. 7).

16:38 The death penalty was proscribed by God Himself, acting as the husband, as judgment for adultery (see Lev. 20:10; Deut. 22:21–24).

16:44 The proverbial saying, "Like mother, like daughter!" was meant to cause sober reflection, as it drove home Jerusalem's Canaanite origins (see v. 3). The phrase refers to the fact that God's people were pagan and immoral like the original residents of Canaan. Mothers in every generation do well to consider their unique influence on their daughters.

16:46, 47 Sodom served as a type for the sinful city in the OT because of its rampant sexual perversion, violence, and injustice (Gen. 18:20; 19:24, 25). Ezekiel could not have used stronger language to depict the depths of Jerusalem's depravity than to say that the city was worse than Sodom (see Deut. 29:23; 32:32; Is. 1:9, 10; Jer. 23:14).

51"Samaria did not commit half of your sins;
but you have multiplied your abominations more than they, and have justified your sisters by all the abominations which you have done. 52You who judged your sisters, bear your own shame also, because the sins which you committed were more abominable than theirs; they are more righteous than you. Yes, be disgraced also, and bear your own shame, because you justified your sisters.

53"When I bring back their captives, the captives of Sodom and her daughters, and the captives of Samaria and her daughters, then I will also bring back the captives of your captivity among them, 54that you may bear your own shame and be disgraced by all that you did when you comforted them. 55When your sisters, Sodom and her daughters, return to their former state, and Samaria and her daughters return to their former state, then you and your daughters will return to your former state. 56For your sister Sodom was not a byword in your mouth in the days of your pride, 57before your wickedness was uncovered. It was like the time of the reproach of the daughters of Syria[a] and all those around her, and of the daughters of the Philistines, who despise you everywhere. 58You have paid for your lewdness and your abominations," says the LORD.
59For thus says the Lord GOD: "I will deal with you as you have done, who despised the oath by breaking the covenant.

An Everlasting Covenant

60"Nevertheless I will remember My covenant with you in the days of your youth, and I will establish an everlasting covenant with you. 61Then you will remember your ways and be ashamed, when you receive your older and your younger sisters; for I will give them to you for daughters, but not because of My covenant with you. 62And I will establish My covenant with you. Then you shall know that I am the LORD, 63that you may remember and be ashamed, and never open your mouth anymore because of your shame, when I provide you an atonement for all you have done," says the Lord GOD.' "

The Eagles and the Vine

17 And the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2"Son of man, pose a riddle, and speak a parable to the house of Israel, 3and say, 'Thus says
the Lord GOD:

"A great eagle with large wings and long
pinions,
Full of feathers of various colors,
Came to Lebanon
And took from the cedar the highest branch.
4He cropped off its topmost young twig
And carried it to a land of trade;
He set it in a city of merchants.
5Then he took some of the seed of the land
And planted it in a fertile field;
He placed it by abundant waters
And set it like a willow tree.
6And it grew and became a spreading vine of low stature;
Its branches turned toward him,
But its roots were under it.
So it became a vine,
Brought forth branches,
And put forth shoots.

7"But there was another[a] great eagle with large wings and many feathers;
And behold, this vine bent its roots toward him,
And stretched its branches toward him,
From the garden terrace where it had been planted,
That he might water it.
8It was planted in good soil by many
waters,
To bring forth branches, bear fruit,
And become a majestic vine." '

9"Say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD:

"Will it thrive?
Will he not pull up its roots,
Cut off its fruit,
And leave it to wither?
All of its spring leaves will wither,
And no great power or many people
Will be needed to pluck it up by its roots.
10Behold, it is planted,
Will it thrive?
Will it not utterly wither when the east wind touches it?
It will wither in the garden terrace where it grew." ' "

16:57 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Septuagint, Targum, and Vulgate; many Hebrew manuscripts and Syriac read Edom. 17:7 [a]Following Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate; Masoretic Text and Targum read one.

17:2–4 The riddle or parable which Ezekiel was commanded to speak is presented (vv. 3–10), and the divine interpretation is given (vv. 11–21). The first "great eagle" is identified as Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon. The land of trade is Babylonia (v. 4). The "topmost young twig" (v. 4) represented King Jehoiachin taken from Jerusalem into Exile in 597 B.C. (2 Kin. 24:10–12).

17:5–10 The seed of the Land symbolized Zedekiah, Jehoiachin's uncle, whom Nebuchadnezzar installed as puppet king over Judah (see 2 Kin. 24:17). The second "great eagle" (Ezek. 17:7) referred to an Egyptian pharaoh, either Pharaoh Hophra (see Jer. 44:30) or Pharaoh Psammetichus II. The point was that Zedekiah broke his vassal oath to Nebuchadnezzar by looking to Egypt for help (see 2 Kin. 24:20). Political alliance 11Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 12"Say now to the rebellious house: 'Do you not know what these things mean?' Tell them, 'Indeed the king of Babylon went to Jerusalem and took its king and princes, and led them with him to Babylon. 13And he took the king's offspring, made a covenant with him, and put him under oath. He also took away the mighty of the land, 14that the kingdom might be brought low and not lift itself up, but that by keeping his covenant it might stand. 15But he rebelled against him by sending his ambassadors to Egypt, that they might give him horses and many people. Will he prosper? Will he who does such things escape? Can he break a covenant and still be delivered?

16'As I live,' says the Lord GOD, 'surely in the place where the king dwells who made him king, whose oath he despised and whose covenant he broke—with him in the midst of Babylon he shall die. 17Nor will Pharaoh with his mighty army and great company do anything in the war, when they heap up a siege mound and build a wall to cut off many persons. 18Since he despised the oath by breaking the covenant, and in fact gave his hand and still did all these things, he shall not escape.'"

19Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: "As I live, surely My oath which he despised, and My covenant which he broke, I will recompense on his own head. 20I will spread My net over him, and he shall be taken in My snare. I will bring him to Babylon and try him there for the treason which he committed against Me. 21All his fugitives[a] with all his troops shall fall by the sword, and those who remain shall be scattered to every wind; and you shall know that I, the LORD, have spoken."

Israel Exalted at Last

22Thus says the Lord GOD: "I will take also one of the highest branches of the high cedar and set it out. I will crop off from the topmost of its young twigs a tender one, and will plant it on a high and prominent mountain. 23On the mountain height of Israel I will plant it; and it will bring forth boughs, and bear fruit, and be a majestic cedar. Under it will dwell birds of every sort; in the shadow of its branches they will dwell. 24And all the trees of the field shall know that I, the LORD, have brought down the high tree and exalted the low tree, dried up the green tree and made the dry tree flourish; I, the LORD, have spoken and have done it."

A False Proverb Refuted

18 The word of the LORD came to me again, saying, 2"What do you mean when you use this proverb concerning the land of Israel, saying:

'The fathers have eaten sour grapes,
And the children's teeth are set on edge'?

3"As I live," says the Lord GOD, "you shall no longer use this proverb in Israel.

4"Behold, all souls are Mine;
The soul of the father
As well as the soul of the son is Mine;
The soul who sins shall die.
5But if a man is just
And does what is lawful and right;
6If he has not eaten on the mountains,
Nor lifted up his eyes to the idols of the house of Israel,
Nor defiled his neighbor's wife,
Nor approached a woman during her impurity;
7If he has not oppressed anyone,
But has restored to the debtor his pledge;
Has robbed no one by violence,
But has given his bread to the hungry
And covered the naked with clothing;
8If he has not exacted usury
Nor taken any increase,
But has withdrawn his hand from iniquity
And executed true judgment between man and man;
9*If* he has walked in My statutes
And kept My judgments faithfully—
He is just;

with Egypt would result in the destruction of the vine, that is, Judah's kings (Ezek. 17:10).

17:15–20 Zedekiah's disloyalty to Nebuchadnezzar involved oath-breaking and therefore required punishment (see v. 18). In the ancient Near East, oaths between countries were sworn in the names of their respective gods. Therefore, Zedekiah was breaking an oath he had sworn in the name of the Lord (see v. 19). He also violated God's covenant with Israel by looking to Egypt for help. Zedekiah had committed treason against the Lord by refusing to submit to Babylon (2 Chr. 36:11–13). As a result, God employed the angry Babylonians as His instruments of retribution.

17:22 The reference to a twig, shoot, or branch is a common OT metaphor for the messianic king (see Is. 11:1–5; 53:2; Jer. 23:5–8; Zech. 3:8–10).

18:2 This popular proverb probably arose out of a bitter twisting of the concept of corporate responsibility (see Ex. 20:5; 34:7). It had come into popular use among the exiles as a confession of innocence (that is, we are suffering for the sins of earlier generations) or as a protest against God's perceived injustice (see Jer. 31:29).

18:6 The principle of individual responsibility is here presented. The righteous person was expected to guard moral purity and honor marital commitments (Ex. 20:14; Lev. 15:19–30).

He shall surely live!"
Says the Lord GOD.

10"If he begets a son who is a robber
Or a shedder of blood,
Who does any of these things
11And does none of those duties,
But has eaten on the mountains
Or defiled his neighbor's wife;
12If he has oppressed the poor and needy,
Robbed by violence,
Not restored the pledge,
Lifted his eyes to the idols,
Or committed abomination;
13If he has exacted usury
Or taken increase—
Shall he then live?
He shall not live!
If he has done any of these abominations,
He shall surely die;
His blood shall be upon him.

14"If, however, he begets a son
Who sees all the sins which his father has done,
And considers but does not do likewise;
15*Who* has not eaten on the mountains,
Nor lifted his eyes to the idols of the house of Israel,
Nor defiled his neighbor's wife;
16Has not oppressed anyone,
Nor withheld a pledge,
Nor robbed by violence,
But has given his bread to the hungry
And covered the naked with clothing;
17*Who* has withdrawn his hand from the poor[a]
And not received usury or increase,
But has executed My judgments
And walked in My statutes—
He shall not die for the iniquity of his father;
He shall surely live!

18"As for his father,
Because he cruelly oppressed,
Robbed his brother by violence,
And did what is not good among his people,
Behold, he shall die for his iniquity.

Turn and Live

19"Yet you say, 'Why should the son not bear the guilt of the father?' Because the son has done what is lawful and right, and has kept all My statutes and observed them, he shall surely live. 20The soul who sins shall die. The son shall not bear the guilt of the father, nor the father bear the guilt of the son. The righteousness of the righteous shall be upon himself, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon himself.

21"But if a wicked man turns from all his sins which he has committed, keeps all My statutes, and does what is lawful and right, he shall surely live; he shall not die. 22None of the transgressions which he has committed shall be remembered against him; because of the righteousness which he has done, he shall live. 23Do I have any pleasure at all that the wicked should die?" says the Lord GOD, "and not that he should turn from his ways and live?

24"But when a righteous man turns away from his righteousness and commits iniquity, and does according to all the abominations that the wicked man does, shall he live? All the righteousness which he has done shall not be remembered; because of the unfaithfulness of which he is guilty and the sin which he has committed, because of them he shall die.

25"Yet you say, 'The way of the Lord is not fair.' Hear now, O house of Israel, is it not My way which is fair, and your ways which are not fair? 26When a righteous man turns away from his righteousness, commits iniquity, and dies in it, it is because of the iniquity which he has done that he dies. 27Again, when a wicked man turns away from the wickedness which he committed, and does what is lawful and right, he preserves himself alive. 28Because he considers and turns away from all the transgressions which he committed, he shall surely live; he shall not die. 29Yet the house of Israel says, 'The way of the Lord is not fair.' O house of Israel, is it not My ways which are fair, and your ways which are not fair?

30"Therefore I will judge you, O house of Israel, every one according to his ways," says the Lord GOD. "Repent, and turn from all your transgressions, so that iniquity will not be your ruin. 31Cast away from you all the transgressions which you have committed, and get yourselves a new heart and a new spirit. For why should you die, O house of Israel? 32For I have no pleasure in the death of one who dies," says the Lord GOD. "Therefore turn and live!"

18:17 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Targum, and Vulgate; Septuagint reads iniquity (compare verse 8).

18:21–24 Ezekiel shifted his focus to the present state of affairs with an individual. Past guilt could not nullify current repentance, and past righteousness could not excuse present rebellion. By stressing their present response to God, Ezekiel sought to bring the exiles to a better understanding of their current opportunities and responsibilities.

18:31, 32 God manifested His patience and love as He sent the prophets repeatedly to preach repentance in light of Israel's sin and coming judgment. Note the emphasis on the need for a new heart and spirit (v. 31; see Jer. 31:31–34).

Parents will not rear righteous children in the midst of their own unrighteous standards.

Israel Degraded

19 "Moreover take up a lamentation for the princes of Israel, 2and say:

'What is your mother? A lioness:
She lay down among the lions;
Among the young lions she nourished her cubs.
3She brought up one of her cubs,
And he became a young lion;
He learned to catch prey,
And he devoured men.
4The nations also heard of him;
He was trapped in their pit,
And they brought him with chains to the land of Egypt.

5'When she saw that she waited, that her hope was lost,
She took another of her cubs and made him a young lion.
6He roved among the lions,
And became a young lion;
He learned to catch prey;
He devoured men.
7He knew their desolate places,[a]
And laid waste their cities;
The land with its fullness was desolated
By the noise of his roaring.
8Then the nations set against him from the provinces on every side,
And spread their net over him;
He was trapped in their pit.
9They put him in a cage with chains,
And brought him to the king of Babylon;
They brought him in nets,
That his voice should no longer be heard on the mountains of Israel.

10'Your mother was like a vine in your bloodline,[a]
Planted by the waters,
Fruitful and full of branches
Because of many waters.
11She had strong branches for scepters of rulers.
She towered in stature above the thick branches,
And was seen in her height amid the dense foliage.
12But she was plucked up in fury,
She was cast down to the ground,
And the east wind dried her fruit.
Her strong branches were broken and withered;
The fire consumed them.
13And now she is planted in the wilderness,
In a dry and thirsty land.
14Fire has come out from a rod of her branches
And devoured her fruit,
So that she has no strong branch—a scepter for ruling.' "

This is a lamentation, and has become a lamentation.

The Rebellions of Israel

20 It came to pass in the seventh year, in the fifth month, on the tenth day of the month, that certain of the elders of Israel came to inquire of the LORD, and sat before me. 2Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 3"Son of man, speak to the elders of Israel, and say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Have you come to inquire of Me? As I live," says the Lord GOD, "I will not be inquired of by you." ' 4Will you judge them, son of man, will you judge them? Then make known to them the abominations of their fathers.

19:7 [a]Septuagint reads He stood in insolence; Targum reads He destroyed its palaces; Vulgate reads He learned to make widows.
19:10 [a]Literally blood, following Masoretic Text, Syriac, and Vulgate; Septuagint reads like a flower on a pomegranate tree; Targum reads in your likeness.

19:1 Take up a lamentation indicated to the people that Ezekiel was singing a funeral dirge. The prophets commonly employed this type of song in their proclamations of judgment (see Jer. 7:29; Amos 5:1–3).

19:3, 4 These verses refer to Jehoahaz, Josiah's son, who reigned only three months before he was deported to Egypt by Pharaoh Necho (see 2 Kin. 23:31–34).

19:5–9 The identity of this second cub is uncertain. It may refer to Jehoiakim, Jehoiachin, or Zedekiah, Judah's last three kings. Or instead of representing specific rulers, the lions may represent a composite picture of Judah's kings. Such kings forfeited their power by acting irresponsibly.

19:10–14 This lament emphasized the death of the vine representing Judah or Judah's rulers. The reason for the fall of Judah and the Davidic line resulted from internal, not external, factors. Judah's own foolishness and the poor leadership of its kings brought disaster on the nation (v. 14).

20:1 This prophecy dated August 9, 591 B.C. was given approximately one year after the vision of the temple in Jerusalem (Ezek. 8:1).

5"Say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "On the day when I chose Israel and raised My hand in an oath to the descendants of the house of Jacob, and made Myself known to them in the land of Egypt, I raised My hand in an oath to them, saying, 'I am the LORD your God.' 6On that day I raised My hand in an oath to them, to bring them out of the land of Egypt into a land that I had searched out for them, 'flowing with milk and honey,'[a] the glory of all lands. 7Then I said to them, 'Each of you, throw away the abominations which are before his eyes, and do not defile yourselves with the idols of Egypt. I am the LORD your God.' 8But they rebelled against Me and would not obey Me. They did not all cast away the abominations which were before their eyes, nor did they forsake the idols of Egypt. Then I said, 'I will pour out My fury on them and fulfill My anger against them in the midst of the land of Egypt.' 9But I acted for My name's sake, that it should not be profaned before the Gentiles among whom they were, in whose sight I had made Myself known to them, to bring them out of the land of Egypt.

10"Therefore I made them go out of the land of Egypt and brought them into the wilderness.
11And I gave them My statutes and showed them
My judgments, 'which, if a man does, he shall live by them.'[a] 12Moreover I also gave them My Sabbaths, to be a sign between them and Me, that they might know that I am the LORD who sanctifies them. 13Yet the house of Israel rebelled against Me in the wilderness; they did not walk in My statutes; they despised My judgments, 'which, if a man does, he shall live by them';[a] and they greatly defiled My Sabbaths. Then I said I would pour out My fury on them in the wilderness, to consume them. 14But I acted for My name's sake, that it should not be profaned before the Gentiles, in whose sight I had brought them out. 15So I also raised My hand in an oath to them in the wilderness, that I would not bring them into the land which I had given them, 'flowing with milk and honey,'[a] the glory of all lands, 16because they despised My judgments and did not walk in My statutes, but profaned My Sabbaths; for their heart went after their idols. 17Nevertheless My eye spared them from destruction. I did not make an end of them in the wilderness.

18"But I said to their children in the wilderness,
'Do not walk in the statutes of your fathers, nor observe their judgments, nor defile yourselves with their idols. 19I am the LORD your God: Walk in My statutes, keep My judgments, and do them;
20hallow My Sabbaths, and they will be a sign between Me and you, that you may know that I am the LORD your God.'

21"Notwithstanding, the children rebelled against Me; they did not walk in My statutes, and were not careful to observe My judgments, 'which, if a man does, he shall live by them';[a] but they profaned My Sabbaths. Then I said I would pour out My fury on them and fulfill My anger against them in the wilderness. 22Nevertheless I withdrew My hand and acted for My name's sake, that it should not be profaned in the sight of the Gentiles, in whose sight I had brought them out.
23Also I raised My hand in an oath to those in the wilderness, that I would scatter them among the Gentiles and disperse them throughout the countries, 24because they had not executed My judgments, but had despised My statutes, profaned My Sabbaths, and their eyes were fixed on their fathers' idols.

25"Therefore I also gave them up to statutes that were not good, and judgments by which they could not live; 26and I pronounced them unclean because of their ritual gifts, in that they caused all their firstborn to pass through the fire, that I might make them desolate and that they might know that I am the LORD." '

27"Therefore, son of man, speak to the house of Israel, and say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD:
"In this too your fathers have blasphemed Me, by being unfaithful to Me. 28When I brought them into the land concerning which I had raised My hand in an oath to give them, and they saw all the high hills and all the thick trees, there they offered their sacrifices and provoked Me with their offerings. There they also sent up their sweet aroma and poured out their drink offerings.
29Then I said to them, 'What is this high place to which you go?' So its name is called Bamah[a] to this day." ' 30Therefore say to the house of Israel, 'Thus

20:6, 15 [a]Exodus 3:8 20:11, 13, 21 [a]Leviticus 18:5 20:29 [a]Literally High Place

20:5–9 God recounted the history of Israel's election, beginning with bondage in Egypt. Despite God's sworn oath to His people, they continued to worship the gods of Egypt (see chart, The Goddesses of Egypt).

20:9 A name signified character or reputation in Hebrew thought. The Lord chose Israel to reveal His character; thus the nation's demise would lead to the profaning of His name. God acted to preserve His reputation (see vv. 14, 22, 44; Ex. 32:12).

20:12 The Sabbath marked the Israelites as a people consecrated to God among all the nations (see Ex. 19:4–6; Deut. 14:2; chart, The Principle of the Sabbath).

20:25 God's laws, though given to lead to life, brought death (see v. 11). Such radical judgment occurs when God gives people up to their own sinful desires and their hearts become hardened (see Rom. 1:18–32).

20:33, 34 Using language clearly reminiscent of the first Exodus, God's answer to the blatant disobedience of His people was to begin again by gathering Israel out of Exile and reaffirming His love and plan for Israel (Ex. 3:19; 6:6).

says the Lord GOD: "Are you defiling yourselves in the manner of your fathers, and committing harlotry according to their abominations? 31For when you offer your gifts and make your sons pass through the fire, you defile yourselves with all your idols, even to this day. So shall I be inquired of by you, O house of Israel? As I live," says the Lord GOD, "I will not be inquired of by you. 32What you have in your mind shall never be, when you say, 'We will be like the Gentiles, like the families in other countries, serving wood and stone.'

God Will Restore Israel

33"As I live," says the Lord GOD, "surely with a mighty hand, with an outstretched arm, and with fury poured out, I will rule over you. 34I will bring you out from the peoples and gather you out of the countries where you are scattered, with a mighty hand, with an outstretched arm, and with fury poured out. 35And I will bring you into the wilderness of the peoples, and there I will plead My case with you face to face. 36Just as I pleaded My case with your fathers in the wilderness of the land of Egypt, so I will plead My case with you," says the Lord GOD.

37"I will make you pass under the rod, and I will bring you into the bond of the covenant; 38I will purge the rebels from among you, and those who transgress against Me; I will bring them out of the country where they dwell, but they shall not enter the land of Israel. Then you will know that I am the LORD.

39"As for you, O house of Israel," thus says the Lord GOD: "Go, serve every one of you his idols—and hereafter—if you will not obey Me; but profane My holy name no more with your gifts and your idols. 40For on My holy mountain, on the mountain height of Israel," says the Lord GOD, "there all the house of Israel, all of them in the land, shall serve Me; there I will accept them, and there I will require your offerings and the firstfruits of your sacrifices, together with all your holy things. 41I will accept you as a sweet aroma when I bring you out from the peoples and gather you out of the countries where you have been scattered; and I will be hallowed in you before the Gentiles. 42Then you shall know that I am the LORD, when I bring you into the land of Israel, into the country for which I raised My hand in an oath to give to your fathers. 43And there you shall remember your ways and all your doings with which you were defiled; and you shall loathe yourselves in your own sight because of all the evils that you have committed. 44Then you shall know that I am the LORD, when I have dealt with you for My name's sake, not according to your wicked ways nor according to your corrupt doings, O house of Israel," says the Lord GOD.' "

Fire in the Forest

45Furthermore the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 46"Son of man, set your face toward the south; preach against the south and prophesy against the forest land, the South,[a] 47and say to the forest of the South, 'Hear the word of the LORD! Thus says the Lord GOD: "Behold, I will kindle a fire in you, and it shall devour every green tree and every dry tree in you; the blazing flame shall not be quenched, and all faces from the south to the north shall be scorched by it. 48All flesh shall see that I, the LORD, have kindled it; it shall not be quenched." ' "

49Then I said, "Ah, Lord GOD! They say of me, 'Does he not speak parables?' "

Babylon, the Sword of God

21 And the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2"Son of man, set your face toward Jerusalem, preach against the holy places, and prophesy against the land of Israel; 3and say to the land of Israel, 'Thus says the LORD: "Behold, I am against you, and I will draw My sword out of its sheath and cut off both righteous and wicked from you. 4Because I will cut off both righteous and wicked from you, therefore My sword shall go out of its sheath against all flesh from south to north, 5that all flesh may know that I, the LORD, have drawn My sword out of its sheath; it shall not return anymore." ' 6Sigh therefore, son of man, with a breaking heart, and sigh with bitterness before their eyes. 7And it shall be when they say to you, 'Why are you sighing?' that you shall answer, 'Because of the news; when it comes, every heart will melt, all hands will be feeble, every spirit will faint, and all knees will be weak as water. Behold, it is coming and shall be brought to pass,' says the Lord GOD."

20:46 [a]Hebrew Negev

20:37 Pass under the rod refers to the way a shepherd counted or separated his flock (see Matt. 25:31–46).

20:46 The south refers to Jerusalem, which is located almost directly west of Babylon (see Ezek. 21:2). However, the Syrian desert, which lies between the two nations, forced travelers to take a northward arc along the Fertile Crescent. As a result, a traveler from Babylon would be heading south in approaching Jerusalem.

21:1–5 A parable is explained (see Ezek. 20:45–49). "Holy places" included, along with the temple, numerous high places on which idolatrous worship was practiced (Ezek. 21:2). The reference to "righteous and wicked" does not contradict Ezekiel's earlier statements about individual responsibility before God (v. 3; see Ezek. 14:12–23; 18:1–32). The earlier statements do not mean that the righteous person has an ironclad exemption from suffering. Some members of the righteous remnant, including Ezekiel, had not escaped the judgment of deportation.

8 Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 9 "Son of man, prophesy and say, 'Thus says the LORD!' Say:

'A sword, a sword is sharpened
And also polished!
10 Sharpened to make a dreadful slaughter,
Polished to flash like lightning!
Should we then make mirth?
It despises the scepter of My son,
As it does all wood.
11 And He has given it to be polished,
That it may be handled;
This sword is sharpened, and it is polished
To be given into the hand of the slayer.'

12 "Cry and wail, son of man;
For it will be against My people,
Against all the princes of Israel.
Terrors including the sword will be against My people;
Therefore strike your thigh.

13 "Because it is a testing,
And what if the sword despises even the scepter?
The scepter shall be no more,"

says the Lord GOD.

14 "You therefore, son of man, prophesy,
And strike your hands together.
The third time let the sword do double damage.
It is the sword that slays,
The sword that slays the great men,
That enters their private chambers.
15 I have set the point of the sword against all their gates,
That the heart may melt and many may stumble.
Ah! It is made bright;
It is grasped for slaughter:

16 "Swords at the ready!
Thrust right!
Set your blade!
Thrust left—
Wherever your edge is ordered!

17 "I also will beat My fists together,
And I will cause My fury to rest;
I, the LORD, have spoken."

18 The word of the LORD came to me again, saying: 19 "And son of man, appoint for yourself two ways for the sword of the king of Babylon to go; both of them shall go from the same land. Make a sign; put it at the head of the road to the city. 20 Appoint a road for the sword to go to Rabbah of the Ammonites, and to Judah, into fortified Jerusalem. 21 For the king of Babylon stands at the parting of the road, at the fork of the two roads, to use divination: he shakes the arrows, he consults the images, he looks at the liver. 22 In his right hand is the divination for Jerusalem: to set up battering rams, to call for a slaughter, to lift the voice with shouting, to set battering rams against the gates, to heap up a siege mound, and to build a wall. 23 And it will be to them like a false divination in the eyes of those who have sworn oaths with them; but he will bring their iniquity to remembrance, that they may be taken.

24 "Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 'Because you have made your iniquity to be remembered, in that your transgressions are uncovered, so that in all your doings your sins appear—because you have come to remembrance, you shall be taken in hand.

25 'Now to you, O profane, wicked prince of Israel, whose day has come, whose iniquity shall end, 26 thus says the Lord GOD:

"Remove the turban, and take off the crown;
Nothing shall remain the same.
Exalt the humble, and humble the exalted.
27 Overthrown, overthrown,
I will make it overthrown!
It shall be no longer,
Until He comes whose right it is,
And I will give it to Him." '

A Sword Against the Ammonites

28 "And you, son of man, prophesy and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD concerning the Ammonites and concerning their reproach,' and say:

'A sword, a sword is drawn,
Polished for slaughter,

21:12 Strike your thigh was an action expressing mourning, hopelessness, and despair (see Jer. 31:19).

21:14 Clapping or striking the hands indicated a summons, exultation over an enemy, or sorrow (see Nah. 3:19).

21:20 Rabbah was the capital of the Ammonite nation, which had joined with Judah in revolt against Babylon.

21:21 Magical methods to determine the will of the gods were used extensively in Babylon. Examinations of the livers of animals had been an established practice for centuries. Ancient soothsayers would cut up an animal, observe the shape and condition of the liver, and use elaborate tables to determine what the omen revealed about the will of the gods. Other methods included shaking arrows marked affirmatively and negatively and consulting images or household gods (see Deut. 18, The Occult).

21:27 The threefold repetition of "overthrown" denotes complete ruin. The phrase "until He comes whose right it is" has been understood to refer to the Messiah, the rightful Ruler.

These . . . events are permitted and guided by thy wisdom, which solely is light. We are in darkness and must be thankful that our knowledge is not {needed} to perfect thy work.

St. Elizabeth Seton

For consuming, for flashing—
29While they see false visions for you,
While they divine a lie to you,
To bring you on the necks of the wicked, the slain
Whose day has come,
Whose iniquity shall end.

30"Return it to its sheath.
I will judge you
In the place where you were created,
In the land of your nativity.
31I will pour out My indignation on you;
I will blow against you with the fire of My wrath,
And deliver you into the hands of brutal men who are skillful to destroy.
32You shall be fuel for the fire;
Your blood shall be in the midst of the land.
You shall not be remembered,
For I the LORD have spoken.' "

Sins of Jerusalem

22 Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2"Now, son of man, will you judge, will you judge the bloody city? Yes, show her all her abominations! 3Then say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "The city sheds blood in her own midst, that her time may come; and she makes idols within herself to defile herself. 4You have become guilty by the blood which you have shed, and have defiled yourself with the idols which you have made. You have caused your days to draw near, and have come to the end of your years; therefore I have made you a reproach to the nations, and a mockery to all countries. 5*Those* near and those far from you will mock you as infamous and full of tumult.

6"Look, the princes of Israel: each one has used his power to shed blood in you. 7In you they have made light of father and mother; in your midst they have oppressed the stranger; in you they have mistreated the fatherless and the widow. 8You have despised My holy things and profaned My Sabbaths. 9In you are men who slander to cause bloodshed; in you are those who eat on the mountains; in your midst they commit lewdness. 10In you men uncover their fathers' nakedness; in you they violate women who are set apart during their impurity. 11One commits abomination with his neighbor's wife; another lewdly defiles his daughter-in-law; and another in you violates his sister, his father's daughter. 12In you they take bribes to shed blood; you take usury and increase; you have made profit from your neighbors by extortion, and have forgotten Me," says the Lord GOD.

13"Behold, therefore, I beat My fists at the dishonest profit which you have made, and at the bloodshed which has been in your midst. 14Can your heart endure, or can your hands remain strong, in the days when I shall deal with you? I, the LORD, have spoken, and will do it. 15I will scatter you among the nations, disperse you throughout the countries, and remove your filthiness completely from you. 16You shall defile yourself in the sight of the nations; then you shall know that I am the LORD." ' "

Israel in the Furnace

17The word of the LORD came to me, saying, 18"Son of man, the house of Israel has become dross to Me; they are all bronze, tin, iron, and lead, in the midst of a furnace; they have become dross from silver. 19Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 'Because you have all become dross, therefore behold, I will gather you into the midst of Jerusalem. 20*As men* gather silver, bronze, iron, lead, and tin into the midst of a furnace, to blow fire on it, to melt it; so I will gather you in My anger and in My fury, and I will leave you there and melt you. 21Yes, I will gather you and blow on you with the fire of My wrath, and you shall be melted in its midst. 22As silver is melted in the midst of a furnace, so shall you be melted in its midst; then you shall know that I, the LORD, have poured out My fury on you.' "

22:7 In Israel's patriarchal, agricultural society, those without the economic and legal protection of a male head of household were objects of God's special care. Specific laws were instituted by God to ensure that the fatherless and widow received justice. The stranger also was to be treated right (see Deut. 14:29; 16:11; 24:19–21; 26:12–15).

22:29 The people of the Land, oppressed by their leaders, became oppressors of those weaker than themselves.

22:30 For standing in the gap, see Ezekiel 13:5, note.

Israel's Wicked Leaders

23 And the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 24 "Son of man, say to her: 'You are a land that is not cleansed[a] or rained on in the day of indignation.' 25 The conspiracy of her prophets[a] in her midst is like a roaring lion tearing the prey; they have devoured people; they have taken treasure and precious things; they have made many widows in her midst. 26 Her priests have violated My law and profaned My holy things; they have not distinguished between the holy and unholy, nor have they made known the difference between the unclean and the clean; and they have hidden their eyes from My Sabbaths, so that I am profaned among them. 27 Her princes in her midst are like wolves tearing the prey, to shed blood, to destroy people, and to get dishonest gain. 28 Her prophets plastered them with untempered mortar, seeing false visions, and divining lies for them, saying,
'Thus says the Lord GOD,' when the LORD had not spoken. 29 The people of the land have used oppressions, committed robbery, and mistreated the poor and needy; and they wrongfully oppress the stranger. 30 So I sought for a man among them who would make a wall, and stand in the gap before Me on behalf of the land, that I should not destroy it;
but I found no one. 31 Therefore I have poured out My indignation on them; I have consumed them with the fire of My wrath; and I have recompensed their deeds on their own heads," says the Lord
GOD.

Two Harlot Sisters

23 The word of the LORD came again to me,
saying:

2 "Son of man, there were two women,
The daughters of one mother.
3 They committed harlotry in Egypt,
They committed harlotry in their youth;
Their breasts were there embraced,
Their virgin bosom was there pressed.
4 Their names: Oholah[a] the elder and Oholibah[b]
her sister;
They were Mine,
And they bore sons and daughters.
As for their names,
Samaria is Oholah, and Jerusalem is Oholibah.

The Older Sister, Samaria

5 "Oholah played the harlot even though she was Mine;
And she lusted for her lovers, the neighboring Assyrians,
6 Who were clothed in purple,
Captains and rulers,
All of them desirable young men,
Horsemen riding on horses.
7 Thus she committed her harlotry with them,
All of them choice men of Assyria;
And with all for whom she lusted,
With all their idols, she defiled herself.
8 She has never given up her harlotry brought from Egypt,
For in her youth they had lain with her,
Pressed her virgin bosom,
And poured out their immorality upon her.

9 "Therefore I have delivered her
Into the hand of her lovers,
Into the hand of the Assyrians,
For whom she lusted.
10 They uncovered her nakedness,
Took away her sons and daughters,
And slew her with the sword;
She became a byword among women,
For they had executed judgment on her.

The Younger Sister, Jerusalem

11 "Now although her sister Oholibah saw this,
she became more corrupt in her lust than she, and in her harlotry more corrupt than her sister's har-lotry.

12 "She lusted for the neighboring Assyrians,
Captains and rulers,
Clothed most gorgeously,
Horsemen riding on horses,
All of them desirable young men.
13 Then I saw that she was defiled;
Both took the same way.
14 But she increased her harlotry;
She looked at men portrayed on the wall,
Images of Chaldeans portrayed in vermilion,
15 Girded with belts around their waists,
Flowing turbans on their heads,
All of them looking like captains,
In the manner of the Babylonians of Chaldea,
The land of their nativity.
16 As soon as her eyes saw them,

22:24 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Syriac, and Vulgate; Septuagint reads showered upon. 22:25 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Vulgate; Septuagint reads princes; Targum reads scribes. 23:4 [a]Literally Her Own Tabernacle [b]Literally My Tabernacle Is in Her

23:1–49 In this allegory of two sisters, Oholah and Oholibah, respectively, represent Samaria and Jerusalem, the capital cities of the northern and southern kingdoms. Ezekiel employed shocking sexual metaphors to describe how the two nations violated the covenant with the Lord. Through this parable Ezekiel emphasized the horror of idolatry.

23:4 Oholah and Oholibah are variant forms meaning "tent-dweller," perhaps referring to Israel's origin as a nation without a land (see vv. 1–49, note). Marital imagery is employed to describe the relationship between God and Israel.

She lusted for them
And sent messengers to them in Chaldea.

17"Then the Babylonians came to her, into the bed of love,
And they defiled her with their immorality;
So she was defiled by them, and alienated herself from them.
18She revealed her harlotry and uncovered her nakedness.
Then I alienated Myself from her,
As I had alienated Myself from her sister.

19"Yet she multiplied her harlotry
In calling to remembrance the days of her youth,
When she had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.
20For she lusted for her paramours,
Whose flesh is like the flesh of donkeys,
And whose issue is like the issue of horses.
21Thus you called to remembrance the lewdness of your youth,
When the Egyptians pressed your bosom
Because of your youthful breasts.

Judgment on Jerusalem

22"Therefore, Oholibah, thus says the Lord GOD:

'Behold, I will stir up your lovers against you,
From whom you have alienated yourself,
And I will bring them against you from every side:
23The Babylonians,
All the Chaldeans,
Pekod, Shoa, Koa,
All the Assyrians with them,
All of them desirable young men,
Governors and rulers,
Captains and men of renown,
All of them riding on horses.
24And they shall come against you
With chariots, wagons, and war-horses,
With a horde of people.
They shall array against you
Buckler, shield, and helmet all around.

'I will delegate judgment to them,
And they shall judge you according to their judgments.
25I will set My jealousy against you,
And they shall deal furiously with you;
They shall remove your nose and your ears,
And your remnant shall fall by the sword;
They shall take your sons and your daughters,
And your remnant shall be devoured by fire.
26They shall also strip you of your clothes
And take away your beautiful jewelry.

27'Thus I will make you cease your lewdness and your harlotry
Brought from the land of Egypt,
So that you will not lift your eyes to them,
Nor remember Egypt anymore.'

28"For thus says the Lord GOD: 'Surely I will deliver you into the hand of those you hate, into the hand of those from whom you alienated yourself. 29They will deal hatefully with you, take away all you have worked for, and leave you naked and bare. The nakedness of your harlotry shall be uncovered, both your lewdness and your harlotry. 30I will do these things to you because you have gone as a harlot after the Gentiles, because you have become defiled by their idols. 31You have walked in the way of your sister; therefore I will put her cup in your hand.'

32"Thus says the Lord GOD:

'You shall drink of your sister's cup,
The deep and wide one;
You shall be laughed to scorn
And held in derision;
It contains much.
33You will be filled with drunkenness and sorrow,
The cup of horror and desolation,
The cup of your sister Samaria.
34You shall drink and drain it,
You shall break its shards,
And tear at your own breasts;
For I have spoken,'
Says the Lord GOD.

35"Therefore thus says the Lord GOD:

'Because you have forgotten Me and cast Me behind your back,
Therefore you shall bear the penalty
Of your lewdness and your harlotry.' "

Both Sisters Judged

36The LORD also said to me: "Son of man, will you judge Oholah and Oholibah? Then declare to 23:23 Chaldeans were the inhabitants of a region in southern Babylonia. The term also referred to the final dynasty of Babylon in the 7th and 6th centuries B.C. Pekod, Shoa, and Koa were tribes located on the eastern border of the Babylonian Empire. Some have identified their tribesmen as mercenaries.

23:25 The removal of nose and ears was a horrifying penalty. Although not widely practiced in Israel, mutilation was a frequent punishment for prisoners of war in the ancient Near East. Both Babylonians and Egyptians practiced mutilation.

THE WIFE OF EZEKIEL

Ezekiel's wife is unnamed, but we may assume that she was a godly woman who helped the priest Ezekiel serve the Lord in a colony of Jewish exiles at Tel Abib on a canal of the Euphrates called Chebar. The details of her life are undisclosed; yet her death was the symbol of Ezekiel's most poignant message depicting the destruction in Israel.

Ezekiel's wife was taken quite suddenly in what may have been a stroke. Ezekiel was forewarned of his wife's death, but he was forbidden to display any public sign of mourning (Ezek. 24:15–17). He was expected to bear his grief silently. Indeed, on the morning of the day his wife died, the prophet spoke to his people about the coming destruction of Jerusalem (vv. 18–21). Just as he was losing his wife, "the desire of his eyes," so they would lose God's sanctuary and their loved ones remaining in Jerusalem—the desire of their eyes (vv. 16, 21). The people were instructed to restrain their grief as well. In this sense, Ezekiel and his wife became a heart-breaking sign to God's people of the grief and loss they would endure.

them their abominations. 37For they have committed adultery, and blood is on their hands. They have committed adultery with their idols, and even sacrificed their sons whom they bore to Me, passing them through the fire, to devour them. 38Moreover they have done this to Me: They have defiled My sanctuary on the same day and profaned My Sabbaths. 39For after they had slain their children for their idols, on the same day they came into My sanctuary to profane it; and indeed thus they have done in the midst of My house.

40"Furthermore you sent for men to come from afar, to whom a messenger was sent; and there they came. And you washed yourself for them, painted your eyes, and adorned yourself with ornaments. 41You sat on a stately couch, with a table prepared before it, on which you had set My incense and My oil. 42The sound of a carefree multitude was with her, and Sabeans were brought from the wilderness with men of the common sort, who put bracelets on their wrists and beautiful crowns on their heads. 43Then I said concerning her who had grown old in adulteries, 'Will they commit harlotry with her now, and she with them?' 44Yet they went in to her, as men go in to a woman who plays the harlot; thus they went in to Oholah and Oholibah, the lewd women. 45But righteous men will judge them after the manner of adulteresses, and after the manner of women who shed blood, because they are adulteresses, and blood is on their hands.

46"For thus says the Lord GOD: 'Bring up an assembly against them, give them up to trouble and plunder. 47The assembly shall stone them with stones and execute them with their swords; they shall slay their sons and their daughters, and burn their houses with fire. 48Thus I will cause lewdness to cease from the land, that all women may be taught not to practice your lewdness. 49They shall repay you for your lewdness, and you shall pay for your idolatrous sins. Then you shall know that I am the Lord GOD.' "

Symbol of the Cooking Pot

24 Again, in the ninth year, in the tenth month, on the tenth day of the month, the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2"Son of man, write down the name of the day, this very day— the king of Babylon started his siege against Jerusalem this very day. 3And utter a parable to the rebellious house, and say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD:

"Put on a pot, set it on,
And also pour water into it.
4Gather pieces of meat in it,
Every good piece,
The thigh and the shoulder.
Fill it with choice cuts;
5Take the choice of the flock.
Also pile fuel bones under it,
Make it boil well,
And let the cuts simmer in it."

6"Therefore thus says the Lord GOD:

23:37 Child sacrifice in the pagan cultures around Israel was done partially to provide food for the gods. Israel's children belonged to the Lord (see Ps. 127:3).

23:45 The terminology righteous men, as applying to Assyria and Babylon, is puzzling. These pagan nations were certainly not righteous in the sense of meeting God's requirements for salvation. However, they were "righteous" in their execution of God's proscribed judgment against Samaria and Jerusalem, respectively.

24:1 This prophecy is dated January 15, 588 B.C., which became a day of fasting to commemorate Jerusalem's fall (Zech. 8:19).

24:3–14 This parable is an ironic reversal of the figure of the pot and the flesh used by the leaders of Judah. In Ezekiel 11:3 the emphasis was on military activity and preparation for war. The emphasis here falls on the destruction of Jerusalem.

"Woe to the bloody city,
To the pot whose scum is in it,
And whose scum is not gone from it!
Bring it out piece by piece,
On which no lot has fallen.
7For her blood is in her midst;
She set it on top of a rock;
She did not pour it on the ground,
To cover it with dust.
8That it may raise up fury and take vengeance,
I have set her blood on top of a rock,
That it may not be covered."

9"Therefore thus says the Lord GOD:

"Woe to the bloody city!
I too will make the pyre great.
10Heap on the wood,
Kindle the fire;
Cook the meat well,
Mix in the spices,
And let the cuts be burned up.

11"Then set the pot empty on the coals,
That it may become hot and its bronze may burn,
That its filthiness may be melted in it,
That its scum may be consumed.
12She has grown weary with lies,
And her great scum has not gone from her.
Let her scum be in the fire!
13In your filthiness is lewdness.
Because I have cleansed you, and you were not cleansed,
You will not be cleansed of your filthiness anymore,
Till I have caused My fury to rest upon you.
14I, the LORD, have spoken it;
It shall come to pass, and I will do it;
I will not hold back,
Nor will I spare,
Nor will I relent;
According to your ways
And according to your deeds
They[a] will judge you,"
Says the Lord GOD.' "

The Prophet's Wife Dies

15Also the word of the LORD came to me, saying,
16"Son of man, behold, I take away from you the desire of your eyes with one stroke; yet you shall neither mourn nor weep, nor shall your tears run down. 17Sigh in silence, make no mourning for the dead; bind your turban on your head, and put your sandals on your feet; do not cover your lips, and do not eat man's bread of sorrow."

18So I spoke to the people in the morning, and at evening my wife died; and the next morning I did as I was commanded.

19And the people said to me, "Will you not tell us what these things signify to us, that you behave so?"

20Then I answered them, "The word of the LORD came to me, saying, 21'Speak to the house of Israel, "Thus says the Lord GOD: 'Behold, I will profane My sanctuary, your arrogant boast, the desire of your eyes, the delight of your soul; and your sons and daughters whom you left behind shall fall by the sword. 22And you shall do as I have done; you shall not cover your lips nor eat man's bread of sorrow. 23Your turbans shall be on your heads and your sandals on your feet; you shall neither mourn nor weep, but you shall pine away in your iniquities and mourn with one another. 24Thus Ezekiel is a sign to you; according to all that he has done you shall do; and when this comes, you shall know that I am the Lord GOD.' "

25'And you, son of man—will it not be in the day when I take from them their stronghold, their joy and their glory, the desire of their eyes, and that on which they set their minds, their sons and their daughters: 26*that* on that day one who escapes will come to you to let you hear it with your ears? 27On that day your mouth will be opened to him who has escaped; you shall speak and no longer be mute. Thus you will be a sign to them, and they shall know that I am the LORD.' "

Proclamation Against Ammon

25 The word of the LORD came to me, saying,
2"Son of man, set your face against the Ammonites, and prophesy against them. 3Say to the 24:14 [a]Septuagint, Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate read I.

24:7 The spilled blood of an innocent person was evidence of injustice visible to God. The moral insensitivity of the inhabitants of Jerusalem was so great that they practiced corruption openly and shamelessly (see Gen. 4:10).

24:15–18 The death of Ezekiel's wife must have been unbelievably difficult for the prophet, but he faithfully responded to this tragedy as God directed (vv. 16, 18; see The Wife of Ezekiel). The cause of her death was described as "one stroke," usually a reference to a plague or disease (v. 16; see also Ex. 9:14, 15). Ezekiel was forbidden the usual procedures of public mourning. His suffering had to be in silence (Ezek. 24:17). This unnatural response must have been a powerful testimony to the people (v. 19).

25:2 The Ammonites, longstanding enemies of Israel, lived east of the Jordan River north of Moab and south of Gad's tribal allotment.

25:3 Ammon joined a coalition of nations, including Judah, who planned to revolt against Babylon. The term "Aha" indicates that the Ammonites gloated over the misfortune of God's people. They would reap the consequences of their evil attitudes (vv. 4, 5).

Ammonites, 'Hear the word of the Lord GOD! Thus says the Lord GOD: "Because you said, 'Aha!' against My sanctuary when it was profaned, and against the land of Israel when it was desolate, and against the house of Judah when they went into captivity, 4indeed, therefore, I will deliver you as a possession to the men of the East, and they shall set their encampments among you and make their dwellings among you; they shall eat your fruit, and they shall drink your milk. 5And I will make Rabbah a stable for camels and Ammon a resting place for flocks. Then you shall know that I am the LORD."

6'For thus says the Lord GOD: "Because you clapped your hands, stamped your feet, and rejoiced in heart with all your disdain for the land of Israel, 7indeed, therefore, I will stretch out My hand against you, and give you as plunder to the nations; I will cut you off from the peoples, and I will cause you to perish from the countries; I will destroy you, and you shall know that I am the LORD."

Proclamation Against Moab

8'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Because Moab and Seir say, 'Look! The house of Judah is like all the nations,' 9therefore, behold, I will clear the territory of Moab of cities, of the cities on its frontier, the glory of the country, Beth Jeshimoth, Baal Meon, and Kirjathaim. 10To the men of the East I will give it as a possession, together with the Ammonites, that the Ammonites may not be remembered among the nations. 11And I will execute judgments upon Moab, and they shall know that I am the LORD."

Proclamation Against Edom

12'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Because of what Edom did against the house of Judah by taking vengeance, and has greatly offended by avenging itself on them," 13therefore thus says the Lord GOD: "I will also stretch out My hand against Edom, cut off man and beast from it, and make it desolate from Teman; Dedan shall fall by the sword. 14I will lay My vengeance on Edom by the hand of My people Israel, that they may do in Edom according to My anger and according to My fury; and they shall know My vengeance," says the Lord GOD.

Proclamation Against Philistia

15'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Because the Philistines dealt vengefully and took vengeance with a spiteful heart, to destroy because of the old hatred," 16therefore thus says the Lord GOD: "I will stretch out My hand against the Philistines, and I will cut off the Cherethites and destroy the remnant of the seacoast. 17I will execute great vengeance on them with furious rebukes; and they shall know that I am the LORD, when I lay My vengeance upon them." ' "

Proclamation Against Tyre

26 And it came to pass in the eleventh year, on the first day of the month, that the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2"Son of man, because Tyre has said against Jerusalem, 'Aha! She is broken who was the gateway of the peoples; now she is turned over to me; I shall be filled; she is laid waste.'

3"'Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 'Behold, I am against you, O Tyre, and will cause many nations to come up against you, as the sea causes its waves to come up. 4And they shall destroy the walls of Tyre and break down her towers; I will

25:8 Moab, on the east coast of the Dead Sea, sent representatives to a council of nations planning to revolt against Babylon (see Jer. 27:3). Seir is identified with Edom (v. 12).

25:9 Beth Jeshimoth, Baal Meon, and Kirjathaim were in territory that was formerly part of Reuben's tribal allotment (see Josh. 13:15–20). Moab and Israel fought for control of this territory. During the time of Ezekiel, these cities were Moabite defensive fortresses.

25:12, 13 Edom, descended from Esau and occupying the territory southeast of the Dead Sea, sent representatives to the council on revolt (see Jer. 27:3). Edom joined with the Babylonians against Judah (see Jer. 49:7–22). Teman was a district in northern Edom. Dedan was an area on the southern end of Edom. The entire nation would experience destruction.

25:15 The animosity between Israel and Philistia was perpetual. The Philistine nation consisted of a confederacy of five city-states (Gaza, Ashkelon, Ashdod, Ekron, and Gath) on the Mediterranean coast west of Judah. "Old hatred" may refer to the wars between Israel and Philistia in the days of Samuel, Saul, and David (see 1 Sam. 1—7; 14; 17; 31; 2 Sam. 5:17–25; 8:1).

25:16 The Cherethites may be synonymous with the Philistines, a part of the "sea peoples" that migrated from the Aegean area. This group may originally have come from Caphtor, identified with Crete by most or with Cappadocia in Asia Minor by others (Jer. 47:4).

26:1—32:32 Oracles against two of Israel's neighbors, Phoenicia and Egypt, are contained in these chapters. Tyre was a significant seaport of the Phoenicians. Much space is devoted to prophecies about these two great powers. They were both resisting Nebuchadnezzar, whom Ezekiel recognized as God's instrument of judgment (see Ezek. 29:19, 20).

26:1 This prophecy against Tyre is dated 587/586 B.C., the year Jerusalem fell.

26:2 Tyre was a wealthy port on the Mediterranean coast north of Israel. It was the home base of the sprawling Phoenician commercial empire. By virtue of their enterprising spirit, advanced sailing technology, and powerful navy, the Phoenicians had dominated sea-going trade in the Mediterranean for centuries and as a result had amassed vast wealth. The city itself was built partly on the mainland and partly on a heavily fortified island.

26:4 Alexander the Great destroyed Tyre in 332 B.C., fulfilling the prophecy of this verse. The punishment of being reduced to bare "rock" is an ironic play on the name Tyre. This port city sat on rocky terrain (lit. "rock").

also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the top of a rock. 5It shall be a place for spreading nets in the midst of the sea, for I have spoken,' says the Lord GOD; 'it shall become plunder for the nations. 6Also her daughter villages which are in the fields shall be slain by the sword. Then they shall know that I am the LORD.'

7"For thus says the Lord GOD: 'Behold, I will bring against Tyre from the north Nebuchadnezzar[a] king of Babylon, king of kings, with horses, with chariots, and with horsemen, and an army with many people. 8He will slay with the sword your daughter villages in the fields; he will heap up a siege mound against you, build a wall against you, and raise a defense against you. 9He will direct his battering rams against your walls, and with his axes he will break down your towers. 10Be-cause of the abundance of his horses, their dust will cover you; your walls will shake at the noise of the horsemen, the wagons, and the chariots, when he enters your gates, as men enter a city that has been breached. 11With the hooves of his horses he will trample all your streets; he will slay your people by the sword, and your strong pillars will fall to the ground. 12They will plunder your riches and pillage your merchandise; they will break down your walls and destroy your pleasant houses; they will lay your stones, your timber, and your soil in the midst of the water. 13I will put an end to the sound of your songs, and the sound of your harps shall be heard no more. 14I will make you like the top of a rock; you shall be a place for spreading nets, and you shall never be rebuilt, for I the LORD have spoken,' says the Lord GOD.

15"Thus says the Lord GOD to Tyre: 'Will the coastlands not shake at the sound of your fall, when the wounded cry, when slaughter is made in the midst of you? 16Then all the princes of the sea will come down from their thrones, lay aside their robes, and take off their embroidered garments;
they will clothe themselves with trembling; they will sit on the ground, tremble every moment, and be astonished at you. 17And they will take up a lamentation for you, and say to you:

"How you have perished,
O one inhabited by seafaring men,
O renowned city,
Who was strong at sea,
She and her inhabitants,
Who caused their terror to be on all her inhabitants!
18Now the coastlands tremble on the day of your fall;
Yes, the coastlands by the sea are troubled at your departure." '

19"For thus says the Lord GOD: 'When I make you a desolate city, like cities that are not inhabited, when I bring the deep upon you, and great waters cover you, 20then I will bring you down with those who descend into the Pit, to the people of old, and I will make you dwell in the lowest part of the earth, in places desolate from antiquity, with those who go down to the Pit, so that you may never be inhabited; and I shall establish glory in the land of the living. 21I will make you a terror, and you shall be no more; though you are sought for, you will never be found again,' says the Lord
GOD."

Lamentation for Tyre

27 The word of the LORD came again to me, saying, 2"Now, son of man, take up a lamentation for Tyre, 3and say to Tyre, 'You who are situated at the entrance of the sea, merchant of the peoples on many coastlands, thus says the Lord
GOD:

"O Tyre, you have said,
'I am perfect in beauty.'
4Your borders are in the midst of the seas.
Your builders have perfected your beauty.
5They made all your planks of fir trees from Senir;
They took a cedar from Lebanon to make you a mast.
6*Of* oaks from Bashan they made your oars;
The company of Ashurites have inlaid your planks
With ivory from the coasts of Cyprus.[a]

26:6 Daughter villages referred to settlements on the mainland dependent on Tyre.

26:7 The Babylonian king attacked Tyre sometime around 585 B.C. The Jewish historian Josephus reported that Nebuchadnezzar besieged Tyre for 13 years.

26:20 Ezekiel employed an analogy with the "Pit" between the destruction of Tyre and the burial of the dead to convey the finality of the city's doom.

27:2 The lament or funeral song for Tyre exhibits the following characteristics: a remembrance of the former circumstances of the deceased, a description of her death, a description of the reaction to her death, and a contrast between her former glory and her current tragic condition. A prose description of Tyre's trading relationships also appears (vv. 12–24).

27:4 The Phoenicians made contact with much of the known ancient world by way of the sea. Ezekiel described Tyre using the figure of one of her trading vessels.

27:5 Senir is another name for Mount Hermon in southern Lebanon. The mountain range is famous for its cedars (Deut. 3:9).

7 Fine embroidered linen from Egypt was what you spread for your sail;
Blue and purple from the coasts of Elishah was what covered you.

8 "Inhabitants of Sidon and Arvad were your oarsmen;
Your wise men, O Tyre, were in you;
They became your pilots.
9 Elders of Gebal and its wise men
Were in you to caulk your seams;
All the ships of the sea
And their oarsmen were in you
To market your merchandise.

10 "Those from Persia, Lydia,[a] and Libya[b]
Were in your army as men of war;
They hung shield and helmet in you;
They gave splendor to you.
11 Men of Arvad with your army were on your walls all around,
And the men of Gammad were in your towers;
They hung their shields on your walls all around;
They made your beauty perfect.

12 "Tarshish was your merchant because of your many luxury goods. They gave you silver, iron, tin, and lead for your goods. 13 Javan, Tubal, and Meshech were your traders. They bartered human lives and vessels of bronze for your merchandise.
14 Those from the house of Togarmah traded for your wares with horses, steeds, and mules. 15 The men of Dedan were your traders; many isles were the market of your hand. They brought you ivory tusks and ebony as payment. 16 Syria was your merchant because of the abundance of goods you made. They gave you for your wares emeralds, purple, embroidery, fine linen, corals, and rubies.
17 Judah and the land of Israel were your traders.
They traded for your merchandise wheat of Min-nith, millet, honey, oil, and balm. 18 Damascus was your merchant because of the abundance of goods
you made, because of your many luxury items, with the wine of Helbon and with white wool.
19 Dan and Javan paid for your wares, traversing back and forth. Wrought iron, cassia, and cane were among your merchandise. 20 Dedan was your merchant in saddlecloths for riding. 21 Arabia and all the princes of Kedar were your regular merchants. They traded with you in lambs, rams, and goats. 22 The merchants of Sheba and Raamah were your merchants. They traded for your wares the choicest spices, all kinds of precious stones, and gold. 23 Haran, Canneh, Eden, the merchants of Sheba, Assyria, and Chilmad were your merchants.
24 These were your merchants in choice items—in purple clothes, in embroidered garments, in chests of multicolored apparel, in sturdy woven cords, which were in your marketplace.

25 "The ships of Tarshish were carriers of your merchandise.
You were filled and very glorious in the midst of the seas.
26 Your oarsmen brought you into many
waters,
But the east wind broke you in the midst of the seas.

27 "Your riches, wares, and merchandise,
Your mariners and pilots,
Your caulkers and merchandisers,
All your men of war who are in you,
And the entire company which is in your midst,
Will fall into the midst of the seas on the day of your ruin.
28 The common-land will shake at the sound of the cry of your pilots.

27:7 Elishah was a region or city of the island of Cyprus.

27:8, 9 Sidon, Arvad, and Gebal were Phoenician cities and rivals of Tyre. Gebal is modern Byblos. As part of the metaphor comparing the trade of Tyre to the sailing of a vessel, the best trained seamen of Sidon, Arvad, and Gebal were given menial tasks to perform. However, the "wise men" or intelligentsia of Tyre performed the skilled task of piloting the ship. This distinction highlighted the dominance of Tyre over her sister cities.

27:10 The Phoenicians hired mercenary soldiers to help defend themselves. This list suggests their broad influence. Persia is modern Iran, Lydia was a kingdom in Asia Minor, and Libya lay west of Egypt in North Africa.

27:12 The location of Tarshish is still disputed. Many scholars identify it with the Phoenician port of Tartessus, Spain. However, recent archaeological excavations suggest that the location could be in the Far East or South America because of the exotic nature of the cargo and the possibility of the roundtrip length of the voyage extending to three years (see Jon. 1:3, note).

27:13 Javan refers to Greece. Tubal was located in the eastern region of Asia Minor, and Meshech was located in the central region of Asia Minor.

27:14 Togarmah was a region in eastern Asia Minor, the location of modern Armenia.

27:15 Dedan may refer to an Arab tribe in Edom.

27:17 Minnith was a city of the Ammonites.

27:18 Helbon was a famous wine-producing center near Damascus.

27:21 Kedar referred to a group of nomads in the Arabian desert.

27:22 Sheba and Raamah were located in southwestern Arabia.

27:23 Canneh and Eden were located south of Haran in Mesopotamia. Chilmad is an unknown reference.

29 "All who handle the oar,
The mariners,
All the pilots of the sea
Will come down from their ships and stand on the shore.
30 They will make their voice heard because of you;
They will cry bitterly and cast dust on their heads;
They will roll about in ashes;
31 They will shave themselves completely bald because of you,
Gird themselves with sackcloth,
And weep for you
With bitterness of heart and bitter wailing.
32 In their wailing for you
They will take up a lamentation,
And lament for you:
'What city is like Tyre,
Destroyed in the midst of the sea?

33 'When your wares went out by sea,
You satisfied many people;
You enriched the kings of the earth
With your many luxury goods and your merchandise.
34 But you are broken by the seas in the depths of the waters;
Your merchandise and the entire company will fall in your midst.
35 All the inhabitants of the isles will be astonished at you;
Their kings will be greatly afraid,
And their countenance will be troubled.
36 The merchants among the peoples will hiss at you;
You will become a horror, and be no more forever.' " ' "

Proclamation Against the King of Tyre

28 The word of the LORD came to me again, saying, 2 "Son of man, say to the prince of Tyre, 'Thus says the Lord GOD:

"Because your heart is lifted up,
And you say, 'I am a god,
I sit in the seat of gods,
In the midst of the seas,'
Yet you are a man, and not a god,
Though you set your heart as the heart of a god
3 (Behold, you are wiser than Daniel!
There is no secret that can be hidden from you!
4 With your wisdom and your understanding
You have gained riches for yourself,
And gathered gold and silver into your treasuries;
5 By your great wisdom in trade you have increased your riches,
And your heart is lifted up because of your riches),"

6 "Therefore thus says the Lord GOD:

"Because you have set your heart as the heart of a god,
7 Behold, therefore, I will bring strangers against you,
The most terrible of the nations;
And they shall draw their swords against the beauty of your wisdom,
And defile your splendor.
8 They shall throw you down into the Pit,
And you shall die the death of the slain
In the midst of the seas.

9 "'Will you still say before him who slays you,
'I am a god'?
But you shall be a man, and not a god,
In the hand of him who slays you.
10 You shall die the death of the uncircumcised
By the hand of aliens;
For I have spoken," says the Lord GOD.' "

Lamentation for the King of Tyre

11 Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 12 "Son of man, take up a lamentation for the king of Tyre, and say to him, 'Thus says the Lord GOD:

"You were the seal of perfection,
Full of wisdom and perfect in beauty.

27:30, 31 These acts were traditional ways of expressing grief in the ancient Near East.

27:36 Hissing indicated astonishment or derision.

28:10 To die the death of the uncircumcised indicated a shameful and dishonorable death. Circumcision was a sign of the covenant. To be uncircumcised was to stand outside God's covenant (see Gen. 17, Circumcision).

28:12–19 This lament over the king of Tyre employs imagery drawn from the creation story (Gen. 2) and ancient Near Eastern mythology. The most logical understanding is that these verses were a funeral lament for the king of Tyre. Many interpreters have also seen a description of Satan in the hyperbolic language used by Ezekiel (see charts, The Names for Satan; A Portrait of the Adversary). Parts of the description do point to more than a human creature: "anointed cherub" (v. 14), previous resident "on the holy mountain of God" rather than on the earth (v. 14), and one who "walked . . . in the midst of fiery stones" (Ezek. 28:14). It is also possible that Ezekiel moved his focus from the historical king of Tyre to the figurative character. No doubt Ezekiel meant to associate the king of Tyre with an exalted cherub in order to emphasize the gravity of the king's sin. Ezekiel's purpose was to describe the judgment of Tyre. Tyre's sin was that of pride and self-exaltation (v. 17). The lament warns against false pride.

13 You were in Eden, the garden of God;
Every precious stone was your covering:
The sardius, topaz, and diamond,
Beryl, onyx, and jasper,
Sapphire, turquoise, and emerald with gold.
The workmanship of your timbrels and pipes
Was prepared for you on the day you were created.

14 "You were the anointed cherub who covers;
I established you;
You were on the holy mountain of God;
You walked back and forth in the midst of fiery stones.
15 You were perfect in your ways from the day you were created,
Till iniquity was found in you.

16 "By the abundance of your trading
You became filled with violence within,
And you sinned;
Therefore I cast you as a profane thing
Out of the mountain of God;
And I destroyed you, O covering cherub,
From the midst of the fiery stones.

17 "Your heart was lifted up because of your beauty;
You corrupted your wisdom for the sake of your splendor;
I cast you to the ground,
I laid you before kings,
That they might gaze at you.

18 "You defiled your sanctuaries
By the multitude of your iniquities,
By the iniquity of your trading;
Therefore I brought fire from your midst;
It devoured you,
And I turned you to ashes upon the earth
In the sight of all who saw you.
19 All who knew you among the peoples are astonished at you;
You have become a horror,
And shall be no more forever." ' "

Proclamation Against Sidon

20 Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 21 "Son of man, set your face toward Sidon, and prophesy against her, 22 and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD:

"Behold, I am against you, O Sidon;
I will be glorified in your midst;
And they shall know that I am the LORD,
When I execute judgments in her and am hallowed in her.
23 For I will send pestilence upon her,
And blood in her streets;
The wounded shall be judged in her midst
By the sword against her on every side;
Then they shall know that I am the LORD.

24 "And there shall no longer be a pricking brier or a painful thorn for the house of Israel from among all who are around them, who despise them. Then they shall know that I am the Lord GOD."

Israel's Future Blessing

25 "Thus says the Lord GOD: "When I have gathered the house of Israel from the peoples among whom they are scattered, and am hallowed in them in the sight of the Gentiles, then they will dwell in their own land which I gave to My servant Jacob. 26 And they will dwell safely there, build houses, and plant vineyards; yes, they will dwell securely, when I execute judgments on all those around them who despise them. Then they shall know that I am the LORD their God." ' "

Proclamation Against Egypt

29 In the tenth year, in the tenth month, on the twelfth day of the month, the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2 "Son of man, set your face against Pharaoh king of Egypt, and prophesy against him, and against all Egypt. 3 Speak, and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD:

"Behold, I am against you,
O Pharaoh king of Egypt,
O great monster who lies in the midst of his rivers,
Who has said, 'My River[a] is my own;
I have made it for myself.'
4 But I will put hooks in your jaws,
And cause the fish of your rivers to stick to your scales;
I will bring you up out of the midst of your rivers,
And all the fish in your rivers will stick to your scales.

29:3 [a]That is, the Nile

28:13 The glory of the king of Tyre is denoted by the reference to precious stones. The high priest's breastplate contained various precious stones (Ex. 28:15–21; see chart, The Breastplate of the High Priest).

28:14 The king of Tyre held an exalted status and enjoyed God's presence, according to the imagery of this verse.

28:18 Fire represents judgment (see Amos 1:4, 7, 10).

28:21 For Sidon, see Ezekiel 27:8, 9, note.

29:1 This prophecy, the first of several against Egypt, is dated 587 B.C.

29:3 The monster, with whom Pharaoh is compared, is most likely a Nile crocodile. The "River" is the Nile.

5I will leave you in the wilderness,
You and all the fish of your rivers;
You shall fall on the open field;
You shall not be picked up or gathered.[a]
I have given you as food
To the beasts of the field
And to the birds of the heavens.

6"'Then all the inhabitants of Egypt
Shall know that I am the LORD,
Because they have been a staff of reed to the house of Israel.
7When they took hold of you with the hand,
You broke and tore all their shoulders;[a]
When they leaned on you,
You broke and made all their backs quiver."

8"'Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: "Surely I will bring a sword upon you and cut off from you man and beast. 9And the land of Egypt shall become desolate and waste; then they will know that I am the LORD, because he said, 'The River is mine, and I have made it.' 10Indeed, therefore, I am against you and against your rivers, and I will make the land of Egypt utterly waste and desolate, from Migdol[a] to Syene, as far as the border of Ethiopia. 11Neither foot of man shall pass through it nor foot of beast pass through it, and it shall be uninhabited forty years. 12I will make the land of Egypt desolate in the midst of the countries that are desolate; and among the cities that are laid waste, her cities shall be desolate forty years; and I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations and disperse them throughout the countries."

13"'Yet, thus says the Lord GOD: "At the end of forty years I will gather the Egyptians from the peoples among whom they were scattered. 14I will bring back the captives of Egypt and cause them to return to the land of Pathros, to the land of their origin, and there they shall be a lowly kingdom. 15It shall be the lowliest of kingdoms; it shall never again exalt itself above the nations, for I will diminish them so that they will not rule over the nations anymore. 16No longer shall it be the confidence of the house of Israel, but will remind them of their iniquity when they turned to follow them. Then they shall know that I am the Lord GOD." ' "

Babylonia Will Plunder Egypt

17And it came to pass in the twenty-seventh year, in the first month, on the first day of the month, that the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 18"Son of man, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon caused his army to labor strenuously against Tyre; every head was made bald, and every shoulder rubbed raw; yet neither he nor his army received wages from Tyre, for the labor which they expended on it. 19Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 'Surely I will give the land of Egypt to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon; he shall take away her wealth, carry off her spoil, and remove her pillage; and that will be the wages for his army. 20I have given him the land of Egypt for his labor, because they worked for Me,' says the Lord GOD.

21"'In that day I will cause the horn of the house of Israel to spring forth, and I will open your mouth to speak in their midst. Then they shall know that I am the LORD.' "

Egypt and Her Allies Will Fall

30 The word of the LORD came to me again, saying, 2"Son of man, prophesy and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD:

"Wail, 'Woe to the day!'
3For the day is near,

29:5 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Septuagint, and Vulgate; some Hebrew manuscripts and Targum read buried. 29:7 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Vulgate; Septuagint and Syriac read hand. 29:10 [a]Or tower

29:5–7 To be left unburied after death was a sign of great disgrace. This fate was an especially fitting judgment for the pharaohs, whose bodies were preserved by mummification. Such an end was viewed as jeopardizing possible entrance into their afterlife.

29:10 Migdol to Syene was a common designation for the whole of Egypt. Since Egypt is mostly desert, only a thin strip of land on either side of the Nile would support human settlement. Migdol was located in the extreme north, near the Nile Delta. Syene is Aswan in the south. In similar fashion "Dan to Beersheba" signified the land of Israel (Judg. 20:1).

29:12–16 The judgment on Egypt is cast in terms parallel to the judgment on Judah: desolate land (Ezek. 6:14), people exiled (Ezek. 12:15), 40 years of punishment (Ezek. 4:6), and finally a return to the Land (Ezek. 28:25). The crucial difference is that Egypt would be restored in weakness as a reminder of God's judgment.

29:17 This prophecy is the prophecy with the latest date in the Book of Ezekiel. The month is March/April (see chart, The Jewish Sacred Calendar), and the year would have been 573–571 B.C., depending on the technical chronology used.

29:18 Nebuchadnezzar's attack on Tyre apparently did not result in the wholesale pillage and destruction that chapter 26 seems to predict. Historical evidence indicates that the siege of Tyre failed. At least it appeared unsuccessful from an economic perspective. Perhaps the prophecy (Ezek. 26) was conditioned on Tyre's continued rebellion against Nebuchadnezzar, just as the prophecies against Judah were conditioned on her refusal to repent. Perhaps Tyre submitted to Nebuchadnezzar and was spared the full extent of God's wrath.

29:19 A civil war broke out in Egypt a few years after this prophecy. Nebuchadnezzar seized this opportunity to invade Egypt. Egypt would be given as wages to the Babylonians. Nebuchadnezzar, as an employee of the Lord, would receive the wealth of Egypt to compensate for his losses in Tyre. The sovereignty of God over all nations is evident.

30:3 The day of the Lord refers to that time in history when the Lord would vindicate Himself. God's people typically had

Even the day of the LORD is near;
It will be a day of clouds, the time of the Gentiles.
4The sword shall come upon Egypt,
And great anguish shall be in Ethiopia,
When the slain fall in Egypt,
And they take away her wealth,
And her foundations are broken down.

5"Ethiopia, Libya,[a] Lydia,[b] all the mingled people, Chub, and the men of the lands who are allied, shall fall with them by the sword."
6"Thus says the LORD:

"Those who uphold Egypt shall fall,
And the pride of her power shall come down.
From Migdol to Syene
Those within her shall fall by the sword,"
Says the Lord GOD.

7"They shall be desolate in the midst of the desolate countries,
And her cities shall be in the midst of the cities that are laid waste.
8Then they will know that I am the LORD,
When I have set a fire in Egypt
And all her helpers are destroyed.
9On that day messengers shall go forth from Me in ships
To make the careless Ethiopians afraid,
And great anguish shall come upon them,
As on the day of Egypt;
For indeed it is coming!"

10"Thus says the Lord GOD:

"I will also make a multitude of Egypt to cease
By the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon.
11He and his people with him, the most terrible of the nations,
Shall be brought to destroy the land;
They shall draw their swords against Egypt,
And fill the land with the slain.
12I will make the rivers dry,
And sell the land into the hand of the wicked;
I will make the land waste, and all that is in it,
By the hand of aliens.
I, the LORD, have spoken."

13"Thus says the Lord GOD:

"I will also destroy the idols,
And cause the images to cease from Noph;[a]
There shall no longer be princes from the land of Egypt;
I will put fear in the land of Egypt.
14I will make Pathros desolate,
Set fire to Zoan,
And execute judgments in No.[a]
15I will pour My fury on Sin,[a] the strength of Egypt;
I will cut off the multitude of No,
16And set a fire in Egypt;
Sin shall have great pain,
No shall be split open,
And Noph shall be in distress daily.
17The young men of Aven[a] and Pi Beseth shall fall by the sword,
And these cities shall go into captivity.
18At Tehaphnehes[a] the day shall also be darkened,[b]
When I break the yokes of Egypt there.
And her arrogant strength shall cease in her;
As for her, a cloud shall cover her,
And her daughters shall go into captivity.
19Thus I will execute judgments on Egypt,
Then they shall know that I am the LORD." ' "

Proclamation Against Pharaoh

20And it came to pass in the eleventh year, in the first month, on the seventh day of the month, that the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 21"Son of man, I have broken the arm of Pharaoh king of Egypt; and see, it has not been bandaged for healing, nor a splint put on to bind it, to make it strong enough to hold a sword. 22Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 'Surely I am against Pharaoh king of Egypt, and will break his arms, both the strong one and the one that was broken; and I will make the sword fall out of his hand. 23I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them throughout the countries. 24I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon and put My sword in his hand; but I will break Pharaoh's arms, and he will groan before him with the groanings of a mortally wounded man. 25Thus

30:5 [a]Hebrew Put [b]Hebrew Lud 30:13 [a]That is, ancient Memphis 30:14 [a]That is, ancient Thebes 30:15 [a]That is, ancient Pelusium 30:17 [a]That is, ancient On (Heliopolis) 30:18 [a]Spelled Tahpanhes in Jeremiah 43:7 and elsewhere [b]Following many Hebrew manuscripts, Bomberg, Septuagint, Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate; Masoretic Text reads refrained.

viewed that Day as a time of victory for themselves and of defeat for their enemies. Amos (in the 8th century B.C.) presented the day of the Lord as also a day of judgment for God's people (see Amos 5:16–20).

30:5 Egypt's allies supplied mercenary troops for their protection.

30:9 The ships were actually papyrus boats sent up the Nile.

30:20 This prophecy against Pharaoh is dated April 587 B.C.

30:21 I have broken the arm is a reference to Egypt's recent military defeats. The background of this verse is Jerusalem's siege that began in approximately 588 B.C. Pharaoh Hophra sent an army to assist Jerusalem's inhabitants against the Babylonians. Egypt's army was weak and ineffective. Nebuchadnezzar routed the Egyptians (Jer. 37:5–8).

I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon, but the arms of Pharaoh shall fall down; they shall know that I am the LORD, when I put My sword into the hand of the king of Babylon and he stretches it out against the land of Egypt. 26I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations and disperse them throughout the countries. Then they shall know that I am the LORD.'"

Egypt Cut Down Like a Great Tree

31 Now it came to pass in the eleventh year, in the third month, on the first day of the month, that the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2"Son of man, say to Pharaoh king of Egypt and to his multitude:

'Whom are you like in your greatness?
3Indeed Assyria was a cedar in Lebanon,
With fine branches that shaded the forest,
And of high stature;
And its top was among the thick boughs.
4The waters made it grow;
Underground waters gave it height,
With their rivers running around the place where it was planted,
And sent out rivulets to all the trees of the field.

5"Therefore its height was exalted above all the trees of the field;
Its boughs were multiplied,
And its branches became long because of the abundance of water,
As it sent them out.
6All the birds of the heavens made their nests
in its boughs;
Under its branches all the beasts of the field
brought forth their young;
And in its shadow all great nations made their home.
7"Thus it was beautiful in greatness and in the length of its branches,
Because its roots reached to abundant
waters.
8The cedars in the garden of God could not hide it;
The fir trees were not like its boughs,
And the chestnut[a] trees were not like its branches;
No tree in the garden of God was like it in beauty.
9I made it beautiful with a multitude of
branches,
So that all the trees of Eden envied it,
That were in the garden of God.'

10"Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 'Because you have increased in height, and it set its top among the thick boughs, and its heart was lifted up in its height, 11therefore I will deliver it into the hand of the mighty one of the nations, and he shall surely deal with it; I have driven it out for its wickedness. 12And aliens, the most terrible of the nations, have cut it down and left it; its branches have fallen on the mountains and in all the valleys;
its boughs lie broken by all the rivers of the land;
and all the peoples of the earth have gone from under its shadow and left it.

13"On its ruin will remain all the birds of the heavens,
And all the beasts of the field will come to its branches—

14"So that no trees by the waters may ever again exalt themselves for their height, nor set their tops among the thick boughs, that no tree which drinks water may ever be high enough to reach up to them.

'For they have all been delivered to death,
To the depths of the earth,
Among the children of men who go down to the Pit.'

15"Thus says the Lord GOD: 'In the day when it went down to hell, I caused mourning. I covered the deep because of it. I restrained its rivers, and the great waters were held back. I caused Lebanon to mourn for it, and all the trees of the field wilted because of it. 16I made the nations shake at the sound of its fall, when I cast it down to hell together with those who descend into the Pit; and all the trees of Eden, the choice and best of Lebanon, all that drink water, were comforted in the depths of the earth. 17They also went down to hell with it, with those slain by the sword; and those who were its strong arm dwelt in its shadows among the nations.

18"To which of the trees in Eden will you then be likened in glory and greatness? Yet you shall be brought down with the trees of Eden to the depths of the earth; you shall lie in the midst of the uncircumcised, with those slain by the sword.

31:8 [a]Hebrew armon

31:1 This prophecy against Egypt is dated in the third month 587 B.C. (see chart, The Jewish Sacred Calendar).

31:3 Parables using a plant to symbolize a nation or leader appear in many parts of Scripture. Assyria dominated and terrified the ancient Near East for over a century, until the Babylonians and the Medes overran the nation in 612–610 B.C. The same fate that Assyria experienced awaited Egypt (see Judg. 9:7–15; Ps. 80:8–11; Is. 5:1–7; Matt. 13:31–32).

This is Pharaoh and all his multitude,' says the Lord GOD."

Lamentation for Pharaoh and Egypt

32 And it came to pass in the twelfth year, in the twelfth month, on the first day of the month, that the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2"Son of man, take up a lamentation for Pharaoh king of Egypt, and say to him:

'You are like a young lion among the nations,
And you are like a monster in the seas,
Bursting forth in your rivers,
Troubling the waters with your feet,
And fouling their rivers.

3'Thus says the Lord GOD:

"I will therefore spread My net over you with a company of many people,
And they will draw you up in My net.
4Then I will leave you on the land;
I will cast you out on the open fields,
And cause to settle on you all the birds of the heavens.
And with you I will fill the beasts of the whole earth.
5I will lay your flesh on the mountains,
And fill the valleys with your carcass.

6"I will also water the land with the flow of your blood,
Even to the mountains;
And the riverbeds will be full of you.
7When I put out your light,
I will cover the heavens, and make its stars dark;
I will cover the sun with a cloud,
And the moon shall not give her light.
8All the bright lights of the heavens I will make dark over you,
And bring darkness upon your land,"
Says the Lord GOD.

9"I will also trouble the hearts of many peoples, when I bring your destruction among the nations, into the countries which you have not known. 10Yes, I will make many peoples astonished at you, and their kings shall be horribly afraid of you when I brandish My sword before them; and they shall tremble every moment, every man for his own life, in the day of your fall.

11'For thus says the Lord GOD: "The sword of the king of Babylon shall come upon you. 12By the swords of the mighty warriors, all of them the most terrible of the nations, I will cause your multitude to fall.

"They shall plunder the pomp of Egypt,
And all its multitude shall be destroyed.
13Also I will destroy all its animals
From beside its great waters;
The foot of man shall muddy them no more,
Nor shall the hooves of animals muddy them.
14Then I will make their waters clear,
And make their rivers run like oil,"
Says the Lord GOD.

15"When I make the land of Egypt desolate,
And the country is destitute of all that once filled it,
When I strike all who dwell in it,
Then they shall know that I am the LORD.

16"This is the lamentation
With which they shall lament her;
The daughters of the nations shall lament her;
They shall lament for her, for Egypt,
And for all her multitude,"
Says the Lord GOD.'"

Egypt and Others Consigned to the Pit

17It came to pass also in the twelfth year, on the fifteenth day of the month, that the word of the LORD came to me, saying:

18"Son of man, wail over the multitude of Egypt,
And cast them down to the depths of the earth,
Her and the daughters of the famous nations,
With those who go down to the Pit:
19'Whom do you surpass in beauty?
Go down, be placed with the uncircumcised.'

20"They shall fall in the midst of those slain by the sword;
She is delivered to the sword,
Drawing her and all her multitudes.
21The strong among the mighty
Shall speak to him out of the midst of hell

32:1 This lamentation for Pharaoh is dated March 585 B.C., more than a year and a half after Jerusalem fell.

32:17–32 The Pit is repeatedly mentioned (vv. 18, 23, 24, 25, 29, 30). The imagery Ezekiel used to describe this place of the dead is part of a larger constellation of ideas about the afterlife found in the OT. In the popular conception of the time, all the dead dwelt in the depths of the earth. Sometimes the words "grave" and "hell" (Heb. She'ol) refer to this place. Other OT writers gave descriptions of the place of the dead (Job 26:5, 6; Ps. 88:10–12; Is. 14:9–20). Ezekiel employed the concept of "the Pit" to show the human frailty of Pharaoh and his armies. The NT provides a clearer revelation of the afterlife.

32:17 A funeral lament against Egypt was given sometime in 586–585 B.C.

With those who help him:
'They have gone down,
They lie with the uncircumcised, slain by the sword.'

22"Assyria is there, and all her company,
With their graves all around her,
All of them slain, fallen by the sword.
23Her graves are set in the recesses of the Pit,
And her company is all around her grave,
All of them slain, fallen by the sword,
Who caused terror in the land of the living.

24"There is Elam and all her multitude,
All around her grave,
All of them slain, fallen by the sword,
Who have gone down uncircumcised to the lower parts of the earth,
Who caused their terror in the land of the living;
Now they bear their shame with those who go down to the Pit.
25They have set her bed in the midst of the slain,
With all her multitude,
With her graves all around it,
All of them uncircumcised, slain by the sword;
Though their terror was caused
In the land of the living,
Yet they bear their shame
With those who go down to the Pit;
It was put in the midst of the slain.

26"There are Meshech and Tubal and all their multitudes,
With all their graves around it,
All of them uncircumcised, slain by the sword,
Though they caused their terror in the land of the living.
27They do not lie with the mighty
Who are fallen of the uncircumcised,
Who have gone down to hell with their weapons of war;
They have laid their swords under their heads,
But their iniquities will be on their bones,
Because of the terror of the mighty in the land of the living.

28Yes, you shall be broken in the midst of the uncircumcised,
And lie with those slain by the sword.

29"There is Edom,
Her kings and all her princes,
Who despite their might
Are laid beside those slain by the sword;
They shall lie with the uncircumcised,
And with those who go down to the Pit.
30There are the princes of the north,
All of them, and all the Sidonians,
Who have gone down with the slain
In shame at the terror which they caused by their might;
They lie uncircumcised with those slain by the sword,
And bear their shame with those who go down to the Pit.

31"Pharaoh will see them
And be comforted over all his multitude,
Pharaoh and all his army,
Slain by the sword,"
Says the Lord GOD.

32"For I have caused My terror in the land of the living;
And he shall be placed in the midst of the uncircumcised
With those slain by the sword,
Pharaoh and all his multitude,"
Says the Lord GOD.

The Watchman and His Message

33 Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2"Son of man, speak to the children of your people, and say to them: 'When I bring the sword upon a land, and the people of the land take a man from their territory and make him their watchman, 3when he sees the sword coming upon the land, if he blows the trumpet and warns the people, 4then whoever hears the sound of the trumpet and does not take warning, if the sword comes and takes him away, his blood shall be on his own head. 5He heard the sound of the trumpet, 32:24 Elam was situated east of Babylon.

32:26 For Meshech and Tubal, see Ezekiel 27:13, note.

33:2 The focus of Ezekiel's message shifted from judgment to salvation and restoration in chapter 33. The commissioning of Ezekiel as a watchman marked the beginning of a new emphasis in his prophetic ministry. Ezekiel's first commissioning was primarily a call to warn the people of impending judgment (Ezek. 3:17–21). This commissioning, coming before the announcement of Jerusalem's destruction was given prior to the wonderful message of hope for their future restoration, which would come after several more messages of warning (see Ezek. 33:21).

33:3 The watchman's duty was to monitor the surrounding countryside and warn the city's inhabitants of approaching enemies. Sometimes the watchman would shout out information, but in case of coming danger he would often blow a ram's horn to alert the people (see 2 Sam. 13:34–36; 18:24–27; 2 Kin. 9:17–20; Jer. 4:5, 19, 21; 6:1, 17; Joel 2:1; Amos 3:6).

33:4 His blood shall be on his own head refers to the responsibility placed on an individual for his own sin. Some interpreters suggest that the expression arises from the Oriental custom of transporting loads atop the head.

but did not take warning; his blood shall be upon himself. But he who takes warning will save his life. 6But if the watchman sees the sword coming and does not blow the trumpet, and the people are not warned, and the sword comes and takes any person from among them, he is taken away in his iniquity; but his blood I will require at the watchman's hand.'

7"So you, son of man: I have made you a watchman for the house of Israel; therefore you shall hear a word from My mouth and warn them for Me. 8When I say to the wicked, 'O wicked man, you shall surely die!' and you do not speak to warn the wicked from his way, that wicked man shall die in his iniquity; but his blood I will require at your hand. 9Nevertheless if you warn the wicked to turn from his way, and he does not turn from his way, he shall die in his iniquity; but you have delivered your soul.

10"Therefore you, O son of man, say to the house of Israel: 'Thus you say, "If our transgressions and our sins lie upon us, and we pine away in them, how can we then live?" ' 11Say to them: 'As I live,' says the Lord GOD, 'I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turn from his way and live. Turn, turn from your evil ways! For why should you die, O house of Israel?'

The Fairness of God's Judgment

12"Therefore you, O son of man, say to the children of your people: 'The righteousness of the righteous man shall not deliver him in the day of his transgression; as for the wickedness of the wicked, he shall not fall because of it in the day that he turns from his wickedness; nor shall the righteous be able to live because of his righteousness in the day that he sins.' 13When I say to the righteous that he shall surely live, but he trusts in his own righteousness and commits iniquity, none of his righteous works shall be remembered; but because of the iniquity that he has committed, he shall die. 14Again, when I say to the wicked, 'You shall surely die,' if he turns from his sin and does what is lawful and right, 15*if* the wicked restores the pledge, gives back what he has stolen, and walks in the statutes of life without committing iniquity, he shall surely live; he shall not die. 16None of his sins which he has committed shall be remembered against him; he has done what is lawful and right; he shall surely live.

17"Yet the children of your people say, 'The way of the LORD is not fair.' But it is their way which is not fair! 18When the righteous turns from his righteousness and commits iniquity, he shall die because of it. 19But when the wicked turns from his wickedness and does what is lawful and right, he shall live because of it. 20Yet you say, 'The way of the LORD is not fair.' O house of Israel, I will judge every one of you according to his own ways."

The Fall of Jerusalem

21And it came to pass in the twelfth year of our captivity, in the tenth month, on the fifth day of the month, that one who had escaped from Jerusalem came to me and said, "The city has been captured!"

22Now the hand of the LORD had been upon me the evening before the man came who had escaped. And He had opened my mouth; so when he came to me in the morning, my mouth was opened, and I was no longer mute.

The Cause of Judah's Ruin

23Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying: 24"Son of man, they who inhabit those ruins in the land of Israel are saying, 'Abraham was only one, and he inherited the land. But we are many; the land has been given to us as a possession.'

25"Therefore say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "You eat meat with blood, you lift up your eyes toward your idols, and shed blood. Should you then possess the land? 26You rely on your sword, you commit abominations, and you defile one another's wives. Should you then possess the land?" '

27"Say thus to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "As I live, surely those who are in the ruins shall fall by the sword, and the one who is in the open

33:11 The rhetorical question of Ezekiel 18:23 is answered emphatically in this verse. God desires that the wicked turn from their evil and live (see Ezek. 14:6; 18:30; 18:32).

33:12–20 These same concerns are expressed in Ezekiel 18:21–29. The present state of affairs is what matters with God. The person weighed down with an evil past is not beyond hope, nor is the one with a righteous history beyond peril.

33:15 A garment (outer cloak) taken in pledge from the poor by a lender was to be returned by nightfall (Ex. 22:26). For a poor Israelite, the cloak served both as a garment and a blanket (Deut. 24:12, 13; Amos 2:7, 8, note).

33:21 Jerusalem fell to the Babylonians about 586 B.C. An eyewitness bearing the news came to Ezekiel some months later.

33:22 Ezekiel's divinely-imposed muteness was lifted (see Ezek. 3:26, 27). The period of silence had lasted seven and a half years. The prophet did speak during this silent period when God gave him specific messages to deliver. Now he would function as a regular prophet—a spokesman for God.

33:24 Those who remained in Jerusalem after its destruction about 586 B.C. still assumed that they were God's elect, with whom the future of Israel lay. Their appeal to God's promises to Abraham revealed their misplaced confidence in their physical lineage and their misunderstanding of covenant obedience (see Ezek. 11:15).

33:27 Sword, beasts, and pestilence are mentioned specifically as curses to be inflicted on the Israelites for not keeping God's laws (Lev. 26:21–33; Deut. 28:15–26).

field I will give to the beasts to be devoured, and those who are in the strongholds and caves shall die of the pestilence. 28For I will make the land most desolate, her arrogant strength shall cease, and the mountains of Israel shall be so desolate that no one will pass through. 29Then they shall know that I am the LORD, when I have made the land most desolate because of all their abominations which they have committed." '

Hearing and Not Doing

30"As for you, son of man, the children of your people are talking about you beside the walls and in the doors of the houses; and they speak to one another, everyone saying to his brother, 'Please come and hear what the word is that comes from the LORD.' 31So they come to you as people do, they sit before you as My people, and they hear your words, but they do not do them; for with their mouth they show much love, but their hearts pursue their own gain. 32Indeed you are to them as a very lovely song of one who has a pleasant voice and can play well on an instrument; for they hear your words, but they do not do them. 33And when this comes to pass—surely it will come—then they will know that a prophet has been among them."

Irresponsible Shepherds

34 And the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2"Son of man, prophesy against the shepherds of Israel, prophesy and say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD to the shepherds: "Woe to the shepherds of Israel who feed themselves! Should not the shepherds feed the flocks? 3You eat the fat and clothe yourselves with the wool; you slaughter the fatlings, but you do not feed the flock. 4The weak you have not strengthened, nor have you healed those who were sick, nor bound up the broken, nor brought back what was driven away, nor sought what was lost; but with force and cruelty you have ruled them. 5So they were scattered because there was no shepherd; and they became food for all the beasts of the field when they were scattered. 6My sheep wandered through all the mountains, and on every high hill; yes, My flock was scattered over the whole face of the earth, and no one was seeking or searching for them."

7"Therefore, you shepherds, hear the word of the LORD: 8"As I live," says the Lord GOD, "surely because My flock became a prey, and My flock became food for every beast of the field, because there was no shepherd, nor did My shepherds search for My flock, but the shepherds fed themselves and did not feed My flock"— 9therefore, O shepherds, hear the word of the LORD! 10Thus says the Lord GOD: "Behold, I am against the shepherds, and I will require My flock at their hand; I will cause them to cease feeding the sheep, and the shepherds shall feed themselves no more; for I will deliver My flock from their mouths, that they may no longer be food for them."

God, the True Shepherd

11"For thus says the Lord GOD: "Indeed I Myself will search for My sheep and seek them out. 12As a shepherd seeks out his flock on the day he is among his scattered sheep, so will I seek out My sheep and deliver them from all the places where they were scattered on a cloudy and dark day. 13And I will bring them out from the peoples and gather them from the countries, and will bring them to their own land; I will feed them on the mountains of Israel, in the valleys and in all the inhabited places of the country. 14I will feed them in good pasture, and their fold shall be on the high mountains of Israel. There they shall lie down in a good fold and feed in rich pasture on the mountains of Israel. 15I will feed My flock, and I will make them lie down," says the Lord GOD. 16"I will seek what was lost and bring back what was driven away, bind up the broken and strengthen what was sick; but I will destroy the fat and the strong, and feed them in judgment."

17"And as for you, O My flock, thus says the Lord GOD: "Behold, I shall judge between sheep and sheep, between rams and goats. 18*Is it* too little for you to have eaten up the good pasture, that you must tread down with your feet the residue of 34:2, 3 Shepherds referred to the rulers of Israel. This designation commonly was used in the ancient Near East for royalty, prophets, and priests (2 Sam. 7:7; Is. 56:11; Jer. 22:22; 23:9–11; 25:34–36; 50:6). Instead of caring for the flock, Israel's rulers enriched themselves by the use of their power.

34:5, 6 The scattering of the sheep referred to the dispersal of the people by the Exile (see Ezek. 11:16, 17; 22:15).

34:10 God judged the irresponsible shepherds or leaders of Israel for misusing their power for personal gain. In the midst of God's judgment against the shepherds, a promise of deliverance for the sheep is offered.

34:12 The Lord shepherds His people (Ps. 23:1; 77:20; 80:1; Is. 40:10, 11). Jesus described Himself as the Good Shepherd (John 10:7–18). "Cloudy and dark day" is typical language describing the day of the Lord (see Amos 5:16–27, note).

34:17 God's proclamation of judgment turned to the flock itself. Although the leaders were judged for their misuse of power, the flock was not without guilt. The judgment was not between sheep and goats but between sheep and sheep. Israelites who brutally had exploited their fellow Israelites were not going to escape punishment. The fact that Israel had poor leaders did not excuse God's people from their individual responsibilities (see Ezek. 18; 33).

34:18, 19 Judgment occurred on the basis of how others were treated (vv. 20–22). Not being satisfied with securing the best pastures and water for themselves, the evil sheep spitefully rendered the water and pasture useless for others.

your pasture—and to have drunk of the clear waters, that you must foul the residue with your feet? 19And as for My flock, they eat what you have trampled with your feet, and they drink what you have fouled with your feet."

20"Therefore thus says the Lord GOD to them: "Behold, I Myself will judge between the fat and the lean sheep. 21Because you have pushed with side and shoulder, butted all the weak ones with your horns, and scattered them abroad, 22therefore I will save My flock, and they shall no longer be a prey; and I will judge between sheep and sheep. 23I will establish one shepherd over them, and he shall feed them—My servant David. He shall feed them and be their shepherd. 24And I, the LORD, will be their God, and My servant David a prince among them; I, the LORD, have spoken.

25"I will make a covenant of peace with them, and cause wild beasts to cease from the land; and they will dwell safely in the wilderness and sleep in the woods. 26I will make them and the places all around My hill a blessing; and I will cause showers to come down in their season; there shall be showers of blessing. 27Then the trees of the field shall yield their fruit, and the earth shall yield her increase. They shall be safe in their land; and they shall know that I am the LORD, when I have broken the bands of their yoke and delivered them from the hand of those who enslaved them. 28And they shall no longer be a prey for the nations, nor shall beasts of the land devour them; but they shall dwell safely, and no one shall make them afraid. 29I will raise up for them a garden of renown, and they shall no longer be consumed with hunger in the land, nor bear the shame of the Gentiles anymore. 30Thus they shall know that I, the LORD their God, am with them, and they, the house of Israel, are My people," says the Lord GOD.'

31"You are My flock, the flock of My pasture; you are men, and I am your God," says the Lord GOD.

Judgment on Mount Seir

35 Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2"Son of man, set your face against Mount Seir and prophesy against it, 3and say to it, 'Thus says the Lord GOD:

"Behold, O Mount Seir, I am against you;
I will stretch out My hand against you,
And make you most desolate;
4I shall lay your cities waste,
And you shall be desolate.
Then you shall know that I am the LORD.

5"Because you have had an ancient hatred, and have shed the blood of the children of Israel by the power of the sword at the time of their calamity, when their iniquity came to an end, 6therefore, as I live," says the Lord GOD, "I will prepare you for blood, and blood shall pursue you; since you have not hated blood, therefore blood shall pursue you. 7Thus I will make Mount Seir most desolate, and cut off from it the one who leaves and the one who returns. 8And I will fill its mountains with the slain; on your hills and in your valleys and in all your ravines those who are slain by the sword shall fall. 9I will make you perpetually desolate, and your cities shall be uninhabited; then you shall know that I am the LORD.

10"Because you have said, 'These two nations and these two countries shall be mine, and we will possess them,' although the LORD was there, 11therefore, as I live," says the Lord GOD, "I will do according to your anger and according to the envy which you showed in your hatred against them; and I will make Myself known among them when I judge you. 12Then you shall know that I am the LORD. I have heard all your blasphemies which you have spoken against the mountains of Israel, saying, 'They are desolate; they are given to us to consume.' 13Thus with your mouth you have boasted against Me and multiplied your words against Me; I have heard them."

14"Thus says the Lord GOD: "The whole earth will rejoice when I make you desolate. 15As you rejoiced because the inheritance of the house of Israel was desolate, so I will do to you; you shall be desolate, O Mount Seir, as well as all of Edom—all of it! Then they shall know that I am the LORD." '

Blessing on Israel

36 "And you, son of man, prophesy to the mountains of Israel, and say, 'O mountains of Israel, hear the word of the LORD! 2Thus says the Lord GOD: "Because the enemy has said of you, 34:23 My servant David refers to a messianic King from the Davidic line (2 Sam. 7:1–16).

34:25–31 The covenant of peace anticipated a time when people would live in harmony with God, with one another, and with themselves. The New Covenant (see Ezek. 36:26–36; Jer. 31:31–34) is a "covenant of peace." This coming age is described in terms of agricultural productivity and harmony in the natural world (see Is. 11:1–11). Physical and political blessings accompany this time of peace. This passage ultimately will be fulfilled in Christ. Through Christ, God offers a covenant relationship that brings peace with God, with self, and with others (see John 14:27). Upon His return, Christ will establish everlasting peace.

35:2 This oracle against Edom is paired with the oracle to the mountains of Israel in chapter 36 (see Ezek. 25:8, note). The oracles addressed the issue of Israel's return from the Exile to reoccupy its land. In the aftermath of the fall of Jerusalem, Edomites began moving into southern Judah (Ezek. 35:10). They also killed Jewish refugees (v. 5; see Obad. 14).

36:1 This oracle, given after the fall of Jerusalem, is to be contrasted with the oracle in Ezekiel 6. Whereas chapter 6 is a

'Aha! The ancient heights have become our possession,' " ' 3therefore prophesy, and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Because they made you desolate and swallowed you up on every side, so that you became the possession of the rest of the nations, and you are taken up by the lips of talkers and slandered by the people"— 4therefore, O mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord GOD! Thus says the Lord GOD to the mountains, the hills, the rivers, the valleys, the desolate wastes, and the cities that have been forsaken, which became plunder and mockery to the rest of the nations all around— 5therefore thus says the Lord GOD: "Surely I have spoken in My burning jealousy against the rest of the nations and against all Edom, who gave My land to themselves as a possession, with wholehearted joy and spiteful minds, in order to plunder its open country." '

6"'Therefore prophesy concerning the land of Israel, and say to the mountains, the hills, the rivers, and the valleys, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Behold, I have spoken in My jealousy and My fury, because you have borne the shame of the nations." 7Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: "I have raised My hand in an oath that surely the nations that are around you shall bear their own shame. 8But you, O mountains of Israel, you shall shoot forth your branches and yield your fruit to My people Israel, for they are about to come. 9For indeed I am for you, and I will turn to you, and you shall be tilled and sown. 10I will multiply men upon you, all the house of Israel, all of it; and the cities shall be inhabited and the ruins rebuilt. 11I will multiply upon you man and beast; and they shall increase and bear young; I will make you inhabited as in former times, and do better for you than at your beginnings. Then you shall know that I am the LORD. 12Yes, I will cause men to walk on you, My people Israel; they shall take possession of you, and you shall be their inheritance; no more shall you bereave them of children."

13'"Thus says the Lord GOD: "Because they say to you, 'You devour men and bereave your nation of children,' 14therefore you shall devour men no more, nor bereave your nation anymore," says the Lord GOD. 15"Nor will I let you hear the taunts of the nations anymore, nor bear the reproach of the peoples anymore, nor shall you cause your nation to stumble anymore," says the Lord GOD.' "

The Renewal of Israel

16Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying: 17"Son of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their own land, they defiled it by their own ways and deeds; to Me their way was like the uncleanness of a woman in her customary impurity. 18Therefore I poured out My fury on them for the blood they had shed on the land, and for their idols with which they had defiled it. 19So I scattered them among the nations, and they were dispersed throughout the countries; I judged them according to their ways and their deeds. 20When they came to the nations, wherever they went, they profaned My holy name—when they said of them, 'These are the people of the LORD, and yet they have gone out of His land.' 21But I had concern for My holy name, which the house of Israel had profaned among the nations wherever they went.

22"Therefore say to the house of Israel, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "I do not do this for your sake, O house of Israel, but for My holy name's sake, which you have profaned among the nations wherever you went. 23And I will sanctify My great name, which has been profaned among the nations, which you have profaned in their midst; and the nations shall know that I am the LORD," says the Lord GOD, "when I am hallowed in you before their eyes. 24For I will take you from among the nations, gather you out of all countries, and bring you into your own land. 25Then I will sprinkle clean water on you, and you shall be clean; I will cleanse you from all your filthiness and from all your idols. 26I will give you a new heart and put a new spirit within you; I will take the heart of stone out of your flesh and give you a heart of flesh. 27I will put My Spirit within you and cause you to walk in My statutes, and you will keep My judgments and do them. 28Then you shall dwell in the land that I gave to your fathers; you shall be My people, and I will be your God. 29I will deliver you from all your uncleannesses. I will call for the grain and multiply it, and bring no famine upon you. 30And I will multiply the fruit of your trees and the increase of your fields, so that you need never again bear the reproach of famine among the nations. 31Then you will remember your evil ways and your deeds that were not good; and you will loathe yourselves in your own sight, for your message of judgment, chapter 36 is a message of restoration. In both passages Ezekiel addressed "the mountains of Israel."

36:17 Bodily discharges such as a woman's menstruation or a man's semen were declared to cause ritual impurity in the Mosaic Law (see Lev. 15, Menstrual Cycle). A person with a discharge was unable to come into the presence of the Lord until ritually purified, even though no moral blame was attached to the individual. Israel had made herself impure willfully, and therefore deserved to be cast from God's presence.

36:24–38 The return from the Exile in Babylon was a partial fulfillment of this messianic passage. It looks forward to the coming of Christ to inaugurate the New Covenant. The New Covenant is internal and unconditional. All who respond to God in faith can have a personal, intimate relationship with Him (see Jer. 31:31–34).

iniquities and your abominations. 32Not for your sake do I do this," says the Lord GOD, "let it be known to you. Be ashamed and confounded for your own ways, O house of Israel!"

33'Thus says the Lord GOD: "On the day that I cleanse you from all your iniquities, I will also enable you to dwell in the cities, and the ruins shall be rebuilt. 34The desolate land shall be tilled instead of lying desolate in the sight of all who pass by. 35So they will say, 'This land that was desolate has become like the garden of Eden; and the wasted, desolate, and ruined cities are now fortified and inhabited.' 36Then the nations which are left all around you shall know that I, the LORD, have rebuilt the ruined places and planted what was desolate. I, the LORD, have spoken it, and I will do it."

37'Thus says the Lord GOD: "I will also let the house of Israel inquire of Me to do this for them: I will increase their men like a flock. 38Like a flock offered as holy sacrifices, like the flock at Jerusalem on its feast days, so shall the ruined cities be filled with flocks of men. Then they shall know that I am the LORD." ' "

The Dry Bones Live

37 The hand of the LORD came upon me and brought me out in the Spirit of the LORD, and set me down in the midst of the valley; and it was full of bones. 2Then He caused me to pass by them all around, and behold, there were very many in the open valley; and indeed they were very dry. 3And He said to me, "Son of man, can these bones live?"

So I answered, "O Lord GOD, You know."

4Again He said to me, "Prophesy to these bones, and say to them, 'O dry bones, hear the word of the LORD! 5Thus says the Lord GOD to these bones: "Surely I will cause breath to enter into you, and you shall live. 6I will put sinews on you and bring flesh upon you, cover you with skin and put breath in you; and you shall live. Then you shall know that I am the LORD." ' "

7So I prophesied as I was commanded; and as I prophesied, there was a noise, and suddenly a rattling; and the bones came together, bone to bone. 8Indeed, as I looked, the sinews and the flesh came upon them, and the skin covered them over; but there was no breath in them.

9Also He said to me, "Prophesy to the breath, prophesy, son of man, and say to the breath, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Come from the four winds, O breath, and breathe on these slain, that they may live." ' " 10So I prophesied as He commanded me, and breath came into them, and they lived, and stood upon their feet, an exceedingly great army.

11Then He said to me, "Son of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel. They indeed say, 'Our bones are dry, our hope is lost, and we ourselves are cut off!' 12Therefore prophesy and say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Behold, O My people, I will open your graves and cause you to come up from your graves, and bring you into the land of Israel. 13Then you shall know that I am the LORD, when I have opened your graves, O My people, and brought you up from your graves. 14I will put My Spirit in you, and you shall live, and I will place you in your own land. Then you shall know that I, the LORD, have spoken it and performed it," says the LORD.' "

One Kingdom, One King

15Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 16"As for you, son of man, take a stick for yourself and write on it: 'For Judah and for the children of Israel, his companions.' Then take another stick and write on it, 'For Joseph, the stick of Ephraim, and for all the house of Israel, his companions.' 17Then join them one to another for yourself into one stick, and they will become one in your hand.

18"And when the children of your people speak to you, saying, 'Will you not show us what you mean by these?'— 19say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Surely I will take the stick of Joseph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of 37:1 In the valley of dry bones, Ezekiel was confronted with a scene of death. The corpses had been there for some time, picked clean by the birds and baked in the hot sun. According to verse 11, these bones symbolized the whole nation of Israel. The restoration was more than a return to the Land. It also had a spiritual dimension in a renewed covenant. Though the concept of the resurrection is not fully developed in the OT, obviously there is some concept of the resurrection in this chapter.

37:9 Breath (Heb. ruah, lit. "wind" or "spirit") is part of a word play. It is used 10 times in verses 1–14. The Spirit of the Lord is like "breath" or "wind" because He cannot be seen or contained but moves throughout the world (see John 3:4–8).

37:11 Although this vision is not dated, the note of utter despair displayed by the words of the exiles indicated that the vision was given sometime after Jerusalem's destruction about 586 B.C. God's Spirit allowed Ezekiel to see Israel in its dead state and in its future resurrection and restoration.

37:12–14 The divine interpretation of Ezekiel's vision is a message of hope regarding Israel's restoration. Ezekiel spoke of that glorious future in terms of re-establishment in the Land. The passage anticipates also a spiritual restoration based on a New Covenant with the Lord (v. 14).

37:16 Again Ezekiel was commanded to act out his message for the people. The designations Joseph and Judah represent the northern and southern kingdoms. Ephraim, the leading tribe in the northern kingdom, often was used as a designation for that kingdom. The northern kingdom also was identified as Israel, a term Ezekiel used for the nation as a whole (see chart, Terminology for the Divided Kingdom). Once again, this prophecy awaits complete fulfillment.

Israel, his companions; and I will join them with it, with the stick of Judah, and make them one stick, and they will be one in My hand." ' 20And the sticks on which you write will be in your hand before their eyes.

21"Then say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Surely I will take the children of Israel from among the nations, wherever they have gone, and will gather them from every side and bring them into their own land; 22and I will make them one nation in the land, on the mountains of Israel; and one king shall be king over them all; they shall no longer be two nations, nor shall they ever be divided into two kingdoms again. 23They shall not defile themselves anymore with their idols, nor with their detestable things, nor with any of their transgressions; but I will deliver them from all their dwelling places in which they have sinned, and will cleanse them. Then they shall be My people, and I will be their God.

24"David My servant shall be king over them, and they shall all have one shepherd; they shall also walk in My judgments and observe My statutes, and do them. 25Then they shall dwell in the land that I have given to Jacob My servant, where your fathers dwelt; and they shall dwell there, they, their children, and their children's children, forever; and My servant David shall be their prince forever. 26Moreover I will make a covenant of peace with them, and it shall be an everlasting covenant with them; I will establish them and multiply them, and I will set My sanctuary in their midst forevermore. 27My tabernacle also shall be with them; indeed I will be their God, and they shall be My people. 28The nations also will know that I, the LORD, sanctify Israel, when My sanctuary is in their midst forevermore." ' "

Gog and Allies Attack Israel

38 Now the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2"Son of man, set your face against Gog, of the land of Magog, the prince of Rosh,[a] Meshech, and Tubal, and prophesy against him, 3and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Behold, I am against you, O Gog, the prince of Rosh, Meshech, and Tubal. 4I will turn you around, put hooks into your jaws, and lead you out, with all your army, horses, and horsemen, all splendidly clothed, a great company with bucklers and shields, all of them handling swords. 5Persia, Ethiopia,[a] and Libya[b] are with them, all of them with shield and helmet; 6Gomer and all its troops; the house of Togarmah from the far north and all its troops—many people are with you.

7"Prepare yourself and be ready, you and all your companies that are gathered about you; and be a guard for them. 8After many days you will be visited. In the latter years you will come into the land of those brought back from the sword and gathered from many people on the mountains of Israel, which had long been desolate; they were brought out of the nations, and now all of them dwell safely. 9You will ascend, coming like a storm, covering the land like a cloud, you and all your troops and many peoples with you."

10"Thus says the Lord GOD: "On that day it shall come to pass that thoughts will arise in your mind, and you will make an evil plan: 11You will say, 'I will go up against a land of unwalled villages; I will go to a peaceful people, who dwell safely, all of them dwelling without walls, and having neither bars nor gates'— 12to take plunder and to take booty, to stretch out your hand against the waste places that are again inhabited, and against a people gathered from the nations, who have acquired livestock and goods, who dwell in the midst of the land. 13Sheba, Dedan, the merchants of Tarshish, and all their young lions will say to you, 'Have you come to take plunder? Have you gathered your army to take booty, to carry away silver and gold, to take away livestock and goods, to take great plunder?' " ' "

14"Therefore, son of man, prophesy and say to 37:22 The nation of Israel had divided into two kingdoms shortly after the death of Solomon in 931 B.C. (1 Kin. 12). Around 722 B.C. the 10 tribes of the northern kingdom were destroyed and carried into exile by the Assyrians. The promise given here is one of a reunified nation re-established in the Land.

37:24 For My servant David, see Ezekiel 34:23, note.

37:26–28 Despite Israel's sinful past, God had not rejected His people but instead promised to establish His sanctuary in their midst. This theme is developed in Ezekiel 40—48. The repetition of the word "forevermore" in Ezekiel 37:26–28 emphasized the irreversible nature of the promise ("covenant of peace"; see Ezek. 34:25–31, note).

38:2 The identity of Gog is uncertain (see Ezek. 38; 39; Rev. 20:8). Some identify him with Gyges, prince of Lydia, a kingdom in southwestern Asia Minor in the 7th century B.C. Some suggest that the land of Magog is a veiled reference to Babylon, the only major enemy of the Israelites about which no oracle of judgment is given in the Book of Ezekiel (see Ezek. 25—32; see also Gen. 10:2). As a captive in Babylon, Ezekiel may have felt the need to write cryptically. Ezekiel 38:16, 17 seem to suggest that for years the prophets had prophesied concerning Gog.

38:2 The identity of prince of Rosh (Heb., lit. "chief") is not clear. No land or people called "Rosh" have been identified in Ezekiel's time. Many scholars translate this phrase "the chief prince."

38:6 Gomer refers to a region north of the Black Sea.

38:13 For Sheba, Dedan, and Tarshish, see Ezekiel 27:12, 15, 22, notes.

Gog, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "On that day when My people Israel dwell safely, will you not know it? 15Then you will come from your place out of the far north, you and many peoples with you, all of them riding on horses, a great company and a mighty army. 16You will come up against My people Israel like a cloud, to cover the land. It will be in the latter days that I will bring you against My land, so that the nations may know Me, when I am hallowed in you, O Gog, before their eyes." 17Thus says the Lord GOD: 'Are you he of whom I have spoken in former days by My servants the prophets of Israel, who prophesied for years in those days that I would bring you against them?

Judgment on Gog

18"And it will come to pass at the same time, when Gog comes against the land of Israel," says the Lord GOD, "that My fury will show in My face. 19For in My jealousy and in the fire of My wrath I have spoken: 'Surely in that day there shall be a great earthquake in the land of Israel, 20so that the fish of the sea, the birds of the heavens, the beasts of the field, all creeping things that creep on the earth, and all men who are on the face of the earth shall shake at My presence. The mountains shall be thrown down, the steep places shall fall, and every wall shall fall to the ground.' 21I will call for a sword against Gog throughout all My mountains," says the Lord GOD. "Every man's sword will be against his brother. 22And I will bring him to judgment with pestilence and bloodshed; I will rain down on him, on his troops, and on the many peoples who are with him, flooding rain, great hailstones, fire, and brimstone. 23Thus I will magnify Myself and sanctify Myself, and I will be known in the eyes of many nations. Then they shall know that I am the LORD." '

Gog's Armies Destroyed

39 "And you, son of man, prophesy against Gog, and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Behold, I am against you, O Gog, the prince of Rosh,[a] Meshech, and Tubal; 2and I will turn you around and lead you on, bringing you up from the far north, and bring you against the mountains of Israel. 3Then I will knock the bow out of your left hand, and cause the arrows to fall out of your right hand. 4You shall fall upon the mountains of Israel, you and all your troops and the peoples who are with you; I will give you to birds of prey of every sort and to the beasts of the field to be devoured. 5You shall fall on the open field; for I have spoken," says the Lord GOD. 6"And I will send fire on Magog and on those who live in security in the coastlands. Then they shall know that I am the LORD. 7So I will make My holy name known in the midst of My people Israel, and I will not let them profane My holy name anymore. Then the nations shall know that I am the LORD, the Holy One in Israel. 8Surely it is coming, and it shall be done," says the Lord GOD. "This is the day of which I have spoken.

9"'Then those who dwell in the cities of Israel will go out and set on fire and burn the weapons, both the shields and bucklers, the bows and arrows, the javelins and spears; and they will make fires with them for seven years. 10They will not take wood from the field nor cut down any from the forests, because they will make fires with the weapons; and they will plunder those who plundered them, and pillage those who pillaged them," says the Lord GOD.

The Burial of Gog

11"It will come to pass in that day that I will give Gog a burial place there in Israel, the valley of those who pass by east of the sea; and it will obstruct travelers, because there they will bury Gog and all his multitude. Therefore they will call it the Valley of Hamon Gog.[a] 12For seven months the house of Israel will be burying them, in order to cleanse the land. 13Indeed all the people of the land will be burying, and they will gain renown for it on the day that I am glorified," says the Lord GOD. 14"They will set apart men regularly employed, with the help of a search party,[a] to pass through the land and bury those bodies remaining on the ground, in order to cleanse it. At the end of seven months they will make a search. 15The search party will pass through the land; and when anyone sees a man's bone, he shall set up a marker by it, till the buriers have buried it in the Valley of Hamon Gog. 16*The* name of the city will also be Hamonah. Thus they shall cleanse the land." '

A Triumphant Festival

17"And as for you, son of man, thus says the Lord GOD, 'Speak to every sort of bird and to every beast of the field:

39:1 [a]Targum, Vulgate and Aquila read chief prince of. 39:11 [a]Literally The Multitude of Gog 39:14 [a]Literally those who pass through

38:17 The invasion by Gog evidently had been predicted earlier by the Lord's prophets, though which prophets were intended remains unclear (see Num. 24:17–24; Deut. 32:43; Jer. 4:5–31; Dan. 2:44, 45; Joel 3:1–16; Zeph. 1:14–18).

38:22, 23 This list of curses against Gog is similar to the covenant curses pronounced on Israel (Deut. 32:23, 24, 42).

39:1 For the prince of Rosh, see Ezekiel 38:2, note.

39:9 Seven is a number often used in apocalyptic passages to symbolize completeness and finality. Here it refers to the completeness of God's judgment (see chart, The Significance of Numbers in Scripture).

39:12 According to the law, dead bodies were ritually impure; therefore, the Land needed cleansing (see Lev. 5:2; 22:4). For "seven," see Ezekiel 39:9, note.

"Assemble yourselves and come;
Gather together from all sides to My sacrificial meal
Which I am sacrificing for you,
A great sacrificial meal on the mountains of Israel,
That you may eat flesh and drink blood.
18 You shall eat the flesh of the mighty,
Drink the blood of the princes of the earth,
Of rams and lambs,
Of goats and bulls,
All of them fatlings of Bashan.
19 You shall eat fat till you are full,
And drink blood till you are drunk,
At My sacrificial meal
Which I am sacrificing for you.
20 You shall be filled at My table
With horses and riders,
With mighty men
And with all the men of war," says the Lord GOD.

Israel Restored to the Land

21 "I will set My glory among the nations; all the nations shall see My judgment which I have executed, and My hand which I have laid on them.
22 So the house of Israel shall know that I am the LORD their God from that day forward. 23 The Gentiles shall know that the house of Israel went into captivity for their iniquity; because they were unfaithful to Me, therefore I hid My face from them. I gave them into the hand of their enemies, and they all fell by the sword. 24 According to their uncleanness and according to their transgressions I have dealt with them, and hidden My face from them." '

25 "Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 'Now I will bring back the captives of Jacob, and have mercy on the whole house of Israel; and I will be jealous for My holy name— 26 after they have borne their shame, and all their unfaithfulness in which they were unfaithful to Me, when they dwelt safely in their own land and no one made them afraid. 27 When I have brought them back from the peoples and gathered them out of their enemies' lands, and I am hallowed in them in the sight of many nations, 28 then they shall know that I am the LORD their God, who sent them into captivity among the nations, but also brought them back to their land, and left none of them captive any longer. 29 And I will not hide My face from them anymore; for I shall have poured out My Spirit on the house of Israel,' says the Lord GOD."

A New City, a New Temple

40 In the twenty-fifth year of our captivity, at the beginning of the year, on the tenth day of the month, in the fourteenth year after the city was captured, on the very same day the hand of the LORD was upon me; and He took me there. 2 In the visions of God He took me into the land of Israel and set me on a very high mountain; on it toward the south was something like the structure of a city. 3 He took me there, and behold, there was a man whose appearance was like the appearance of bronze. He had a line of flax and a measuring rod in his hand, and he stood in the gateway.

4 And the man said to me, "Son of man, look with your eyes and hear with your ears, and fix your mind on everything I show you; for you were brought here so that I might show them to you. Declare to the house of Israel everything you see."
5 Now there was a wall all around the outside of the temple.[a] In the man's hand was a measuring rod six cubits long, each being a cubit and a handbreadth; and he measured the width of the wall structure, one rod; and the height, one rod.

The Eastern Gateway of the Temple

6 Then he went to the gateway which faced east; and he went up its stairs and measured the threshold of the gateway, which was one rod wide, and the other threshold was one rod wide. 7 Each gate chamber was one rod long and one rod wide; between the gate chambers was a space of five cubits; and the threshold of the gateway by the vestibule of the inside gate was one rod. 8 He also measured the vestibule of the inside gate, one rod. 9 Then he measured the vestibule of the gateway, eight cubits; and the gateposts, two cubits. The vestibule of the gate was on the inside. 10 In the eastern gateway were three gate chambers on

40:5 [a] Literally house, and so elsewhere in this book

40:1–4 This vision occurred in April 573 B.C. Just as the Book of Ezekiel opens with a vision (Ezek. 1—3), so it closes with one (Ezek. 40—48). This vision included a diagram of the temple (see charts, The Plan for Ezekiel's Temple; The Temples of the Bible). Ezekiel 40—48 present a picture of the restored community of God.

40:3 Bronze suggests the person was an angel (Dan. 10:6; Rev. 1:15). The "line of flax" was used for measuring long distances, the "measuring rod" for short measurements.

40:5 The cubit, an ancient measurement, was normally about 18 inches (see chart, Money and Measurements in the Bible). For a long time, however, ancient Near Eastern builders also used a longer cubit, about 21 inches. Apparently, the longer cubit was used for Solomon's temple (2 Chr. 3:3; see chart, The Plan of Solomon's Temple). The longer cubit equaled the shorter cubit (18 in.) plus a handbreadth (about 3 in.).

40:6 The temple of Ezekiel's vision had eastern (v. 6), northern (v. 20), and southern (v. 24) gateways. There was no gateway on the western side at the back of the temple (see chart, The Plan for Ezekiel's Temple). The gates were designed to withstand assault and to provide protection.

40:10 These gate chambers were for temple guards, who one side and three on the other; the three were all the same size; also the gateposts were of the same size on this side and that side.

11 He measured the width of the entrance to the gateway, ten cubits; and the length of the gate, thirteen cubits. 12 There was a space in front of the gate chambers, one cubit on this side and one cubit on that side; the gate chambers were six cubits on this side and six cubits on that side. 13 Then he measured the gateway from the roof of one gate chamber to the roof of the other; the width was twenty-five cubits, as door faces door. 14 He measured the gateposts, sixty cubits high, and the court all around the gateway extended to the gatepost. 15 From the front of the entrance gate to the front of the vestibule of the inner gate was fifty cubits. 16 There were beveled window frames in the gate chambers and in their intervening archways on the inside of the gateway all around, and likewise in the vestibules. There were windows all around on the inside. And on each gatepost were palm trees.

The Outer Court

17 Then he brought me into the outer court; and there were chambers and a pavement made all around the court; thirty chambers faced the pavement. 18 The pavement was by the side of the gateways, corresponding to the length of the gateways; this was the lower pavement. 19 Then he measured the width from the front of the lower gateway to the front of the inner court exterior, were needed to control crowds and preserve order during the festivals. The alcoves were built into the walls of the gates.

40:16 Solomon's temple had similar decorations (see Ezek. 41:18; 1 Kin. 6:29; chart, The Plan of Solomon's Temple).

40:17 These rooms or storage chambers probably were used by worshipers not permitted to enter the inner court (see chart, The Plan for Ezekiel's Temple).

one hundred cubits toward the east and the north.

The Northern Gateway

20On the outer court was also a gateway facing north, and he measured its length and its width. 21Its gate chambers, three on this side and three on that side, its gateposts and its archways, had the same measurements as the first gate; its length was fifty cubits and its width twenty-five cubits. 22Its windows and those of its archways, and also its palm trees, had the same measurements as the gateway facing east; it was ascended by seven steps, and its archway was in front of it. 23A gate of the inner court was opposite the northern gateway, just as the eastern gateway; and he measured from gateway to gateway, one hundred cubits.

The Southern Gateway

24After that he brought me toward the south, and there a gateway was facing south; and he measured its gateposts and archways according to these same measurements. 25*There were* windows in it and in its archways all around like those windows; its length was fifty cubits and its width twenty-five cubits. 26Seven steps led up to it, and its archway was in front of them; and it had palm trees on its gateposts, one on this side and one on that side. 27*There was* also a gateway on the inner court, facing south; and he measured from gateway to gateway toward the south, one hundred cubits.

Gateways of the Inner Court

28Then he brought me to the inner court through the southern gateway; he measured the southern gateway according to these same measurements. 29Also its gate chambers, its gateposts, and its archways were according to these same measurements; there were windows in it and in its archways all around; it was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide. 30*There were* archways all around, twenty-five cubits long and five cubits wide. 31Its archways faced the outer court, palm trees were on its gateposts, and going up to it were eight steps.

32And he brought me into the inner court facing east; he measured the gateway according to these same measurements. 33Also its gate chambers, its gateposts, and its archways were according to these same measurements; and there were windows in it and in its archways all around; it was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide. 34Its archways faced the outer court, and palm trees were on its gateposts on this side and on that side; and going up to it were eight steps.

35Then he brought me to the north gateway and measured it according to these same measurements— 36also its gate chambers, its gateposts, and its archways. It had windows all around; its length was fifty cubits and its width twenty-five cubits. 37Its gateposts faced the outer court, palm trees were on its gateposts on this side and on that side, and going up to it were eight steps.

Where Sacrifices Were Prepared

38*There was* a chamber and its entrance by the gateposts of the gateway, where they washed the burnt offering. 39In the vestibule of the gateway were two tables on this side and two tables on that side, on which to slay the burnt offering, the sin offering, and the trespass offering. 40At the outer side of the vestibule, as one goes up to the entrance of the northern gateway, were two tables; and on the other side of the vestibule of the gateway were two tables. 41Four tables were on this side and four tables on that side, by the side of the gateway, eight tables on which they slaughtered the sacrifices. 42*There were* also four tables of hewn stone for the burnt offering, one cubit and a half long, one cubit and a half wide, and one cubit high; on these they laid the instruments with which they slaughtered the burnt offering and the sacrifice. 43Inside were hooks, a handbreadth wide, fastened all around; and the flesh of the sacrifices was on the tables.

Chambers for Singers and Priests

44Outside the inner gate were the chambers for the singers in the inner court, one facing south at the side of the northern gateway, and the other facing north at the side of the southern[a] gateway. 45Then he said to me, "This chamber which faces south is for the priests who have charge of the temple. 46The chamber which faces north is for the priests who have charge of the altar; these are the sons of Zadok, from the sons of Levi, who come near the LORD to minister to Him."

40:44 [a]Following Septuagint; Masoretic Text and Vulgate read eastern.

40:28 The temple consisted of an outer court (vv. 5–27) and an inner court (vv. 28–37). The entire temple structure revealed a careful symmetry of design (see chart, The Plan for Ezekiel's Temple). Since there were gates, there must have been a wall around the inner court, even though it is not mentioned. Only priests were permitted to enter the inner court. The measurement of the inner court was 100 cubits square.

40:45, 46 The priests who had charge of the temple were the Levites. The priests who had charge of the altar were descendants of Zadok. Zadok, along with Abiathar, served as priest during David's reign (2 Sam. 8:17; 15:24; 1 Kin. 1:1–39). He became the sole high priest after Abiathar was dismissed for sedition and exiled by Solomon (1 Kin. 2:26, 27, 35). According to 1 Chronicles, Zadok descended from Eleazer, Aaron's son (1 Chr. 6:1–8; see also Ezek. 44:15, note).

Dimensions of the Inner Court and Vestibule

47And he measured the court, one hundred cubits long and one hundred cubits wide, foursquare. The altar was in front of the temple.
48Then he brought me to the vestibule of the temple and measured the doorposts of the vestibule, five cubits on this side and five cubits on that side; and the width of the gateway was three cubits on this side and three cubits on that side. 49The length of the vestibule was twenty cubits, and the width eleven cubits; and by the steps which led up to it there were pillars by the doorposts, one on this side and another on that side.

Dimensions of the Sanctuary

41 Then he brought me into the sanctuary[a] and measured the doorposts, six cubits wide on one side and six cubits wide on the other side—the width of the tabernacle. 2The width of the entryway was ten cubits, and the side walls of the entrance were five cubits on this side and five cubits on the other side; and he measured its length, forty cubits, and its width, twenty cubits.
3Also he went inside and measured the door-posts, two cubits; and the entrance, six cubits high;
and the width of the entrance, seven cubits. 4He measured the length, twenty cubits; and the width, twenty cubits, beyond the sanctuary; and he said to me, "This is the Most Holy Place."

The Side Chambers on the Wall

5Next, he measured the wall of the temple, six cubits. The width of each side chamber all around the temple was four cubits on every side. 6The side chambers were in three stories, one above the other, thirty chambers in each story; they rested on ledges which were for the side chambers all around, that they might be supported, but not fastened to the wall of the temple. 7As one went up from story to story, the side chambers became wider all around, because their supporting ledges in the wall of the temple ascended like steps; therefore the width of the structure increased as one went up from the lowest story to the highest by way of the middle one. 8I also saw an elevation all around the temple; it was the foundation of the side chambers, a full rod, that is, six cubits high.
9The thickness of the outer wall of the side chambers was five cubits, and so also the remaining terrace by the place of the side chambers of the temple. 10And between it and the wall chambers was a width of twenty cubits all around the temple on every side. 11The doors of the side chambers opened on the terrace, one door toward the north and another toward the south; and the width of the terrace was five cubits all around.

The Building at the Western End

12The building that faced the separating courtyard at its western end was seventy cubits wide;
the wall of the building was five cubits thick all around, and its length ninety cubits.

Dimensions and Design of the Temple Area

13So he measured the temple, one hundred cubits long; and the separating courtyard with the building and its walls was one hundred cubits long; 14also the width of the eastern face of the temple, including the separating courtyard, was one hundred cubits. 15He measured the length of the building behind it, facing the separating courtyard, with its galleries on the one side and on the other side, one hundred cubits, as well as the inner temple and the porches of the court, 16their doorposts and the beveled window frames.
And the galleries all around their three stories opposite the threshold were paneled with wood from the ground to the windows—the windows were covered— 17from the space above the door, even to the inner room,[a] as well as outside, and on every wall all around, inside and outside, by measure.
18And it was made with cherubim and palm trees, a palm tree between cherub and cherub.
Each cherub had two faces, 19so that the face of a man was toward a palm tree on one side, and the face of a young lion toward a palm tree on the other side; thus it was made throughout the temple all around. 20From the floor to the space above the door, and on the wall of the sanctuary, cheru-bim and palm trees were carved.
21The doorposts of the temple were square, as was the front of the sanctuary; their appearance was similar. 22The altar was of wood, three cubits

41:1 [a]Hebrew heykal, here the main room of the temple, sometimes called the holy place (compare Exodus 26:33) 41:17 [a]Literally house, here the Most Holy Place

40:48—41:4 Ezekiel was led through the temple proper, moving through three rooms: the vestibule, the sanctuary or holy place, and the Most Holy Place. Each had a doorway. As he approached the Most Holy Place, the doorways became smaller, perhaps focusing the worshiper's eyes to the center of worship—the presence of God in the Most Holy Place. No one was permitted to enter the Most Holy Place except the high priest once a year on the Day of Atonement (Lev. 16).

41:6 The 90 rooms built into the side of the temple were used to store tithes and offerings, as well as temple equipment and furnishings.

41:18 The cherubim function as guardians of God's holiness. Here, the cherubim have two faces, unlike Ezekiel's earlier vision (see Ezek. 10:14). The cherubim and palm tree motifs were used in Solomon's temple (see 1 Kin. 6:29–35).

41:22 The altar could hardly have been used to burn sacrifices, since it was made of wood. The description suggests that this table was for the bread of the Presence.

high, and its length two cubits. Its corners, its length, and its sides were of wood; and he said to me, "This is the table that is before the LORD."

23The temple and the sanctuary had two doors. 24The doors had two panels apiece, two folding panels: two panels for one door and two panels for the other door. 25Cherubim and palm trees were carved on the doors of the temple just as they were carved on the walls. A wooden canopy was on the front of the vestibule outside. 26*There were* beveled window frames and palm trees on one side and on the other, on the sides of the vestibule—also on the side chambers of the temple and on the canopies.

The Chambers for the Priests

42 Then he brought me out into the outer court, by the way toward the north; and he brought me into the chamber which was opposite the separating courtyard, and which was opposite the building toward the north. 2Facing the length, which was one hundred cubits (the width was fifty cubits), was the north door. 3Opposite the inner court of twenty cubits, and opposite the pavement of the outer court, was gallery against gallery in three stories. 4In front of the chambers, toward the inside, was a walk ten cubits wide, at a distance of one cubit; and their doors faced north. 5Now the upper chambers were shorter, because the galleries took away space from them more than from the lower and middle stories of the building. 6For they were in three stories and did not have pillars like the pillars of the courts; therefore the upper level was shortened more than the lower and middle levels from the ground up. 7And a wall which was outside ran parallel to the chambers, at the front of the chambers, toward the outer court; its length was fifty cubits. 8The length of the chambers toward the outer court was fifty cubits, whereas that facing the temple was one hundred cubits. 9At the lower chambers was the entrance on the east side, as one goes into them from the outer court.

10Also there were chambers in the thickness of the wall of the court toward the east, opposite the separating courtyard and opposite the building. 11*There was* a walk in front of them also, and their appearance was like the chambers which were toward the north; they were as long and as wide as the others, and all their exits and entrances were according to plan. 12And corresponding to the doors of the chambers that were facing south, as one enters them, there was a door in front of the walk, the way directly in front of the wall toward the east.

13Then he said to me, "The north chambers and the south chambers, which are opposite the separating courtyard, are the holy chambers where the priests who approach the LORD shall eat the most holy offerings. There they shall lay the most holy offerings—the grain offering, the sin offering, and the trespass offering—for the place is holy. 14When the priests enter them, they shall not go out of the holy chamber into the outer court; but there they shall leave their garments in which they minister, for they are holy. They shall put on other garments; then they may approach that which is for the people."

Outer Dimensions of the Temple

15Now when he had finished measuring the inner temple, he brought me out through the gateway that faces toward the east, and measured it all around. 16He measured the east side with the measuring rod,[a] five hundred rods by the measuring rod all around. 17He measured the north side, five hundred rods by the measuring rod all around. 18He measured the south side, five hundred rods by the measuring rod. 19He came around to the west side and measured five hundred rods by the measuring rod. 20He measured it on the four sides; it had a wall all around, five hundred cubits long and five hundred wide, to separate the holy areas from the common.

The Temple, the LORD's Dwelling Place

43 Afterward he brought me to the gate, the gate that faces toward the east. 2And behold, the glory of the God of Israel came from the way of the east. His voice was like the sound of many waters; and the earth shone with His glory. 3*It was* like the appearance of the vision which I saw—like the vision which I saw when I[a] came to 42:16 [a]Compare 40:5 43:3 [a]Some Hebrew manuscripts and Vulgate read He.

42:1 There were two chambers for the priests (see chart, The Plan for Ezekiel's Temple). These chambers were located opposite one another on the north and south sides of the temple, possibly between the inner and the outer courts. Each chamber was a complex structure. The chambers functioned as protective barriers to prevent defilement of the most sacred areas.

42:13 The priests who approached the Lord were the descendants of Zakok (see Ezek. 40:45, 46; 44:15, notes).

42:14 The priestly clothing used in divine service was to be kept separate from the people due to the holiness of God (see chart, The High Priest's Clothing).

42:15–20 The boundary of the entire temple complex formed a perfect square (see chart, The Plan for Ezekiel's Temple).

43:2 The return of God's glory formed a climax to the temple vision, witnessed by Ezekiel 19 years after he saw God's departure. The Lord returned by the way He left, from the east (see Ezek. 11:23). The Hebrew word translated "glory" comes from a root meaning "to be heavy" or "weighty"(see Ps. 19:1, note).

destroy the city. The visions were like the vision which I saw by the River Chebar; and I fell on my face. 4And the glory of the LORD came into the temple by way of the gate which faces toward the east. 5The Spirit lifted me up and brought me into the inner court; and behold, the glory of the LORD filled the temple.

6Then I heard Him speaking to me from the temple, while a man stood beside me. 7And He said to me, "Son of man, this is the place of My throne and the place of the soles of My feet, where I will dwell in the midst of the children of Israel forever. No more shall the house of Israel defile My holy name, they nor their kings, by their harlotry or with the carcasses of their kings on their high places. 8When they set their threshold by My threshold, and their doorpost by My doorpost, with a wall between them and Me, they defiled My holy name by the abominations which they committed; therefore I have consumed them in My anger. 9Now let them put their harlotry and the carcasses of their kings far away from Me, and I will dwell in their midst forever.

10"Son of man, describe the temple to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their iniquities; and let them measure the pattern. 11And if they are ashamed of all that they have done, make known to them the design of the temple and its arrangement, its exits and its entrances, its entire design and all its ordinances, all its forms and all its laws. Write it down in their sight, so that they may keep its whole design and all its ordinances, and perform them. 12This is the law of the temple: The whole area surrounding the mountaintop is most holy. Behold, this is the law of the temple.

Dimensions of the Altar

13"These are the measurements of the altar in cubits (the cubit is one cubit and a handbreadth): the base one cubit high and one cubit wide, with a rim all around its edge of one span. This is the height of the altar: 14from the base on the ground to the lower ledge, two cubits; the width of the ledge, one cubit; from the smaller ledge to the larger ledge, four cubits; and the width of the ledge, one cubit. 15The altar hearth is four cubits high, with four horns extending upward from the hearth. 16The altar hearth is twelve cubits long, twelve wide, square at its four corners; 17the ledge, fourteen cubits long and fourteen wide on its four sides, with a rim of half a cubit around it; its base, one cubit all around; and its steps face toward the east."

Consecrating the Altar

18And He said to me, "Son of man, thus says the Lord GOD: 'These are the ordinances for the altar on the day when it is made, for sacrificing burnt offerings on it, and for sprinkling blood on it. 19You shall give a young bull for a sin offering to the priests, the Levites, who are of the seed of Zadok, who approach Me to minister to Me,' says the Lord GOD. 20"You shall take some of its blood and put it on the four horns of the altar, on the four corners of the ledge, and on the rim around it; thus you shall cleanse it and make atonement for it. 21Then you shall also take the bull of the sin offering, and burn it in the appointed place of the temple, outside the sanctuary. 22On the second day you shall offer a kid of the goats without blemish for a sin offering; and they shall cleanse the altar, as they cleansed it with the bull. 23When you have finished cleansing it, you shall offer a young bull without blemish, and a ram from the flock without blemish. 24When you offer them before the LORD, the priests shall throw salt on them, and they will offer them up as a burnt offering to the LORD. 25Every day for seven days you shall prepare a goat for a sin offering; they shall also prepare a young bull and a ram from the flock, both without blemish. 26Seven days they shall make atonement for the altar and purify it, and so consecrate it. 27When these days are over it shall be, on the eighth day and thereafter, that the priests shall offer your burnt offerings and your peace offerings on the altar; and I will accept you,' says the Lord GOD."

The East Gate and the Prince

44 Then He brought me back to the outer gate of the sanctuary which faces toward the 43:5 The Lord's glory filled the temple. As in Solomon's temple, God's presence entered the temple (1 Kin. 8:10, 11).

43:7 Carcasses of kings on high places may refer to the graves of Manasseh and Amon, who were buried close to the temple precincts (2 Kin. 21:18, 26). Actually some 14 kings had been buried in the area of the palace and temple. These tombs were viewed as an impingement on the Lord's holy place. In the temple area, the phrase also may refer to memorials set up in honor of kings. In any case, the temple complex had been defiled.

43:13 The altar was built of several layers with each successive level smaller than the preceding one (Ezek. 40:47; 43:13–27; see chart, The Plan for Ezekiel's Temple). The description of the altar follows the return of God's presence to indicate the way of access to Him.

43:17 These steps of the altar illustrated one of the differences between the millennial altar and the Mosaic altar of sacrifice in which ascending by steps was forbidden (Ex. 20:26). The millennial altar was so large that steps were needed (approximately 3½ feet at the base and 19¼ feet high; see Ezek. 43:13–17; charts, Money and Measurements in the Bible; The Plan for Ezekiel's Temple).

43:25 This period of consecration is similar to that for the altar of sacrifice in the tabernacle (Ex. 29:37).

east, but it was shut. 2And the LORD said to me, "This gate shall be shut; it shall not be opened, and no man shall enter by it, because the LORD God of Israel has entered by it; therefore it shall be shut. 3*As for* the prince, because he is the prince, he may sit in it to eat bread before the LORD; he shall enter by way of the vestibule of the gateway, and go out the same way."

Those Admitted to the Temple

4Also He brought me by way of the north gate to the front of the temple; so I looked, and behold, the glory of the LORD filled the house of the LORD; and I fell on my face. 5And the LORD said to me, "Son of man, mark well, see with your eyes and hear with your ears, all that I say to you concerning all the ordinances of the house of the LORD and all its laws. Mark well who may enter the house and all who go out from the sanctuary.

6"Now say to the rebellious, to the house of Israel, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "O house of Israel, let Us have no more of all your abominations. 7When you brought in foreigners, uncircumcised in heart and uncircumcised in flesh, to be in My sanctuary to defile it—My house—and when you offered My food, the fat and the blood, then they broke My covenant because of all your abominations. 8And you have not kept charge of My holy things, but you have set others to keep charge of My sanctuary for you." 9Thus says the Lord GOD: "No foreigner, uncircumcised in heart or uncircumcised in flesh, shall enter My sanctuary, including any foreigner who is among the children of Israel.

Laws Governing Priests

10"And the Levites who went far from Me, when Israel went astray, who strayed away from Me after their idols, they shall bear their iniquity. 11Yet they shall be ministers in My sanctuary, as gatekeepers of the house and ministers of the house; they shall slay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people, and they shall stand before them to minister to them. 12Because they ministered to them before their idols and caused the house of Israel to fall into iniquity, therefore I have raised My hand in an oath against them," says the Lord GOD, "that they shall bear their iniquity. 13And they shall not come near Me to minister to Me as priest, nor come near any of My holy things, nor into the Most Holy Place; but they shall bear their shame and their abominations which they have committed. 14Nevertheless I will make them keep charge of the temple, for all its work, and for all that has to be done in it.

15"But the priests, the Levites, the sons of Zadok, who kept charge of My sanctuary when the children of Israel went astray from Me, they shall come near Me to minister to Me; and they shall stand before Me to offer to Me the fat and the blood," says the Lord GOD. 16"They shall enter My sanctuary, and they shall come near My table to minister to Me, and they shall keep My charge. 17And it shall be, whenever they enter the gates of the inner court, that they shall put on linen garments; no wool shall come upon them while they minister within the gates of the inner court or within the house. 18They shall have linen turbans on their heads and linen trousers on their bodies; they shall not clothe themselves with anything that causes sweat. 19When they go out to the outer court, to the outer court to the people, they shall take off their garments in which they have ministered, leave them in the holy chambers, and put on other garments; and in their holy garments they shall not sanctify the people.

20"They shall neither shave their heads, nor let their hair grow long, but they shall keep their hair well trimmed. 21No priest shall drink wine when he enters the inner court. 22They shall not take as wife a widow or a divorced woman, but take virgins of the descendants of the house of Israel, or widows of priests.

23"And they shall teach My people the difference between the holy and the unholy, and cause them

44:2 The east gate of the outer court was to remain closed out of reverence for the Lord's future return through that gate. The shut gate also may indicate that God promised not to leave the temple again.

44:3 The prince was Ezekiel's designation for a king (Ezek. 28:2; 38:2). The king was granted this one privilege of eating bread before the Lord in recognition of his special role. The regulation addressed the tendency of the kings to usurp temple worship for their own purposes (2 Chr. 26:16–23). The temple belonged to the Lord. This prince also has been identified as King David or as the Messiah (Ezek. 34:24; 37:25).

44:7–9 The Israelites had defiled the temple by bringing in foreigners. Some foreigners had been charged with care of the sanctuary (v. 8). God's people failed to appreciate that the temple epitomized their special covenant relationship with God (Deut. 23:3). Foreigners who accepted the Lord as their God were received in Israel. Ruth the Moabitess is an example. She even became a part of the ancestry of the Messiah. In most cases, however, foreigners corrupted Israel with their idols.

44:10–14 The Levites would be punished for their idolatrous practices by being restricted to menial tasks such as guarding the gates and killing the sacrificial animals. The Levites had contributed to the corruption and fall of Jerusalem.

44:15 The sons of Zadok were not included in Ezekiel's indictments of the priests (Ezek. 8:16; 22:26; see also 40:45, 46, note).

44:17 The priestly regulations are similar to those in Leviticus and Numbers. These restrictions highlighted the holiness of the priestly office.

44:19 For priestly garments, see Ezekiel 42:14, note.

to discern between the unclean and the clean. 24In controversy they shall stand as judges, and judge it according to My judgments. They shall keep My laws and My statutes in all My appointed meetings, and they shall hallow My Sabbaths.

25"They shall not defile themselves by coming near a dead person. Only for father or mother, for son or daughter, for brother or unmarried sister may they defile themselves. 26After he is cleansed, they shall count seven days for him. 27And on the day that he goes to the sanctuary to minister in the sanctuary, he must offer his sin offering in the inner court," says the Lord GOD.

28"It shall be, in regard to their inheritance, that I am their inheritance. You shall give them no possession in Israel, for I am their possession. 29They shall eat the grain offering, the sin offering, and the trespass offering; every dedicated thing in Israel shall be theirs. 30The best of all firstfruits of any kind, and every sacrifice of any kind from all your sacrifices, shall be the priest's; also you shall give to the priest the first of your ground meal, to cause a blessing to rest on your house. 31The priests shall not eat anything, bird or beast, that died naturally or was torn by wild beasts.

The Holy District

45 "Moreover, when you divide the land by lot into inheritance, you shall set apart a district for the LORD, a holy section of the land; its length shall be twenty-five thousand cubits, and the width ten thousand. It shall be holy throughout its territory all around. 2Of this there shall be a square plot for the sanctuary, five hundred by five hundred rods, with fifty cubits around it for an open space. 3So this is the district you shall measure: twenty-five thousand cubits long and ten thousand wide; in it shall be the sanctuary, the Most Holy Place. 4It shall be a holy section of the land, belonging to the priests, the ministers of the sanctuary, who come near to minister to the LORD; it shall be a place for their houses and a holy place for the sanctuary. 5*An area* twenty-five thousand cubits long and ten thousand wide shall belong to the Levites, the ministers of the temple; they shall have twenty chambers as a possession.[a]

Properties of the City and the Prince

6"You shall appoint as the property of the city an area five thousand cubits wide and twenty-five thousand long, adjacent to the district of the holy section; it shall belong to the whole house of Israel.

7"The prince shall have a section on one side and the other of the holy district and the city's property; and bordering on the holy district and the city's property, extending westward on the west side and eastward on the east side, the length shall be side by side with one of the tribal portions, from the west border to the east border. 8The land shall be his possession in Israel; and My princes shall no more oppress My people, but they shall give the rest of the land to the house of Israel, according to their tribes."

Laws Governing the Prince

9"Thus says the Lord GOD: "Enough, O princes of Israel! Remove violence and plundering, execute justice and righteousness, and stop dispossessing My people," says the Lord GOD. 10"You shall have honest scales, an honest ephah, and an honest bath. 11The ephah and the bath shall be of the same measure, so that the bath contains one-tenth of a homer, and the ephah one-tenth of a homer; their measure shall be according to the homer. 12The shekel shall be twenty gerahs; twenty shekels, twenty-five shekels, and fifteen shekels shall be your mina.

13"This is the offering which you shall offer: you shall give one-sixth of an ephah from a homer of wheat, and one-sixth of an ephah from a homer of barley. 14The ordinance concerning oil, the bath of oil, is one-tenth of a bath from a kor. A kor is a homer or ten baths, for ten baths are a homer. 15And one lamb shall be given from a flock of two hundred, from the rich pastures of Israel. These shall be for grain offerings, burnt offerings, and peace offerings, to make atonement for them," says the Lord GOD. 16"All the people of the land shall give this offering for the prince in Israel. 17Then it shall be the prince's part to give burnt offerings, grain offerings, and drink offerings, at the feasts, the New Moons, the Sabbaths, and at all the appointed seasons of the house of Israel. He shall prepare the sin offering, the grain offering, the burnt offering, and the peace offerings to make atonement for the house of Israel."

45:1–6 Three sections of land in Jerusalem—one for the temple and priesthood (vv. 1–4), one for the Levites (v. 5), and one for all the house of Israel (v. 6)—are described.

45:8 The prince or king was warned not to expropriate land for royal use (see 1 Kin. 21). This warning was necessary because the expropriation of lands deprived families in Israel of their lawful inheritance. No one was to lose his property (see Ezek. 46:18).

45:10 The ephah was a dry measure. The "bath" was a liquid measure (see chart, Money and Measurements in the Bible).

45:11, 12 The homer was a dry measure. The "shekel" was a dry measure equaling about two-fifths ounce. The "mina" was a dry measure, here equal to 60 shekels. It was commonly 50 shekels in the Canaanite system (see chart, Money and Measurements in the Bible). Ezekiel was following the Babylonian system.

Keeping the Feasts

18 Thus says the Lord GOD: "In the first month, on the first day of the month, you shall take a young bull without blemish and cleanse the sanctuary. 19 The priest shall take some of the blood of the sin offering and put it on the doorposts of the temple, on the four corners of the ledge of the altar, and on the gateposts of the gate of the inner court. 20 And so you shall do on the seventh day of the month for everyone who has sinned unintentionally or in ignorance. Thus you shall make atonement for the temple.

21 "In the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month, you shall observe the Passover, a feast of seven days; unleavened bread shall be eaten.
22 And on that day the prince shall prepare for himself and for all the people of the land a bull for a sin offering. 23 On the seven days of the feast
he shall prepare a burnt offering to the LORD, seven bulls and seven rams without blemish, daily for seven days, and a kid of the goats daily for a sin offering. 24 And he shall prepare a grain offering of one ephah for each bull and one ephah for each ram, together with a hin of oil for each ephah.

25 "In the seventh month, on the fifteenth day of the month, at the feast, he shall do likewise for seven days, according to the sin offering, the burnt offering, the grain offering, and the oil."

The Manner of Worship

46 Thus says the Lord GOD: "The gateway of the inner court that faces toward the east shall be shut the six working days; but on the Sabbath it shall be opened, and on the day of the New Moon it shall be opened. 2 The prince shall enter by way of the vestibule of the gateway from the outside, and stand by the gatepost. The priests shall prepare his burnt offering and his peace offerings. He shall worship at the threshold of the gate. Then he shall go out, but the gate shall not be shut until evening. 3 Likewise the people of the land shall worship at the entrance to this gateway before the LORD on the Sabbaths and the New Moons. 4 The burnt offering that the prince offers to the LORD on the Sabbath day shall be six lambs without blemish, and a ram without blemish; 5 and the grain offering shall be one ephah for a ram, and the grain offering for the lambs, as much as he wants to give, as well as a hin of oil with every ephah. 6 On the day of the New Moon it shall be a young bull without blemish, six lambs, and a ram;
they shall be without blemish. 7 He shall prepare a grain offering of an ephah for a bull, an ephah for a ram, as much as he wants to give for the lambs, and a hin of oil with every ephah. 8 When the prince enters, he shall go in by way of the vestibule of the gateway, and go out the same way.

9 "But when the people of the land come before the LORD on the appointed feast days, whoever enters by way of the north gate to worship shall go out by way of the south gate; and whoever enters by way of the south gate shall go out by way of the north gate. He shall not return by way of the gate through which he came, but shall go out through the opposite gate. 10 The prince shall then be in their midst. When they go in, he shall go in; and when they go out, he shall go out. 11 At the festivals and the appointed feast days the grain offering shall be an ephah for a bull, an ephah for a ram, as much as he wants to give for the lambs, and a hin of oil with every ephah.

12 "Now when the prince makes a voluntary burnt offering or voluntary peace offering to the LORD, the gate that faces toward the east shall then be opened for him; and he shall prepare his burnt offering and his peace offerings as he did on the Sabbath day. Then he shall go out, and after he goes out the gate shall be shut.

13 "You shall daily make a burnt offering to the LORD of a lamb of the first year without blemish;
you shall prepare it every morning. 14 And you shall prepare a grain offering with it every morning, a sixth of an ephah, and a third of a hin of oil to moisten the fine flour. This grain offering is a perpetual ordinance, to be made regularly to the LORD. 15 Thus they shall prepare the lamb, the grain offering, and the oil, as a regular burnt offering every morning."

The Prince and Inheritance Laws

16 Thus says the Lord GOD: "If the prince gives a gift of some of his inheritance to any of his sons, it shall belong to his sons; it is their possession by inheritance. 17 But if he gives a gift of some of his inheritance to one of his servants, it shall be his until the year of liberty, after which it shall return to the prince. But his inheritance shall belong to 45:18—46:24 Regulations for feast days, worship, and inheritance are discussed in this section. Many of these regulations differ from those found in the Mosaic Law. For example, the Feast of Harvest (Ex. 23:16) is not mentioned as part of the annual cycle of feasts (see chart, The Feasts of Israel). The return of the sacrificial system and feast day celebrations in the millennial earthly kingdom would point to the saving work of Christ on the Cross as the Mosaic sacrificial system had pointed to His atonement on the Cross. Sacrifices have always been symbols that point to Christ. They in themselves have never been efficacious (Heb. 9:12). The Mosaic covenant would be fulfilled in the messianic kingdom in which Israel would be God's holy people and He would be their God (Ezek. 37:15–28).

46:17 Year of liberty is probably a reference to the Year of Jubilee (see Lev. 25:8–17; see chart, The Principle of the Sabbath).

his sons; it shall become theirs. 18Moreover the prince shall not take any of the people's inheritance by evicting them from their property; he shall provide an inheritance for his sons from his own property, so that none of My people may be scattered from his property." '"

How the Offerings Were Prepared

19Now he brought me through the entrance, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the priests which face toward the north; and there a place was situated at their extreme western end. 20And he said to me, "This is the place where the priests shall boil the trespass offering and the sin offering, and where they shall bake the grain offering, so that they do not bring them out into the outer court to sanctify the people."

21Then he brought me out into the outer court and caused me to pass by the four corners of the court; and in fact, in every corner of the court there was another court. 22In the four corners of the court were enclosed courts, forty cubits long and thirty wide; all four corners were the same size. 23*There was* a row of building stones all around in them, all around the four of them; and cooking hearths were made under the rows of stones all around. 24And he said to me, "These are the kitchens where the ministers of the temple shall boil the sacrifices of the people."

The Healing Waters and Trees

47 Then he brought me back to the door of the temple; and there was water, flowing from under the threshold of the temple toward the east, for the front of the temple faced east; the water was flowing from under the right side of the temple, south of the altar. 2He brought me out by way of the north gate, and led me around on the outside to the outer gateway that faces east; and there was water, running out on the right side.

3And when the man went out to the east with the line in his hand, he measured one thousand cubits, and he brought me through the waters; the water came up to my ankles. 4Again he measured one thousand and brought me through the waters; the water came up to my knees. Again he measured one thousand and brought me through; the water came up to my waist. 5Again he measured one thousand, and it was a river that I could not cross; for the water was too deep, water in which one must swim, a river that could not be crossed. 6He said to me, "Son of man, have you seen this?" Then he brought me and returned me to the bank of the river.

7When I returned, there, along the bank of the river, were very many trees on one side and the other. 8Then he said to me: "This water flows toward the eastern region, goes down into the valley, and enters the sea. When it reaches the sea, its waters are healed. 9And it shall be that every living thing that moves, wherever the rivers go, will live. There will be a very great multitude of fish, because these waters go there; for they will be healed, and everything will live wherever the river goes. 10It shall be that fishermen will stand by it from En Gedi to En Eglaim; they will be places for spreading their nets. Their fish will be of the same kinds as the fish of the Great Sea, exceedingly many. 11But its swamps and marshes will not be healed; they will be given over to salt. 12Along the bank of the river, on this side and that, will grow all kinds of trees used for food; their leaves will not wither, and their fruit will not fail. They will bear fruit every month, because their water flows from the sanctuary. Their fruit will be for food, and their leaves for medicine."

Borders of the Land

13Thus says the Lord GOD: "These are the borders by which you shall divide the land as an in-

46:18 For limitations on the prince or king, see Ezekiel 45:8, note.

46:19–24 Kitchens used by the priests to cook sacrifices were described by Ezekiel (see chart, The Plan for Ezekiel's Temple). Another set of kitchens in the corners of the outer court was dedicated to cooking sacrifices that the people were allowed to eat.

47:1 The stream under the temple is a reminder of the river that flowed out of the Garden of Eden (Gen. 2:10). It represents life flowing out from God to His creation. The woman of Samaria took of this life-giving water (see John 4:14). The image of the temple and Jerusalem as the source of life-giving waters appears in several prophetic books (see Is. 33:20, 21; Rev. 22). The only natural spring known to have existed in Jerusalem in biblical times was the Gihon spring in the Kidron Valley (2 Chr. 32:2–4).

47:3–5 One thousand cubits equals approximately one-third of a mile (see chart, Money and Measurements in the Bible). The volume of water increased miraculously (no tributaries are mentioned) as the stream proceeded out of the city.

47:8 The mighty river from the temple changed the salty Dead Sea into a sea of life. The power of God transforms death into life.

47:10 En Gedi is an oasis west of the Dead Sea. The location of En Eglaim is uncertain. The Great Sea is another name for the Mediterranean Sea (see vv. 15, 19, 20).

47:12 John used this verse to describe the "tree of life" in Revelation 22, showing that God's goal for His eternal kingdom is to realize the glory creation would have achieved under Adam and Eve, if not corrupted by sin.

47:13 The Levites received no separate portion of the Land (Ezek. 44:28; see Josh. 13:14). Joseph's two sons, Ephraim and Manasseh, each received a portion, making a total of 12 portions (see Gen. 48:17–20).

heritance among the twelve tribes of Israel. Joseph shall have two portions. 14You shall inherit it equally with one another; for I raised My hand in an oath to give it to your fathers, and this land shall fall to you as your inheritance.

15"This shall be the border of the land on the north: from the Great Sea, by the road to Hethlon, as one goes to Zedad, 16Hamath, Berothah, Sibraim (which is between the border of Damascus and the border of Hamath), to Hazar Hatticon (which is on the border of Hauran). 17Thus the boundary shall be from the Sea to Hazar Enan, the border of Damascus; and as for the north, northward, it is the border of Hamath. This is the north side.

18"On the east side you shall mark out the border from between Hauran and Damascus, and between Gilead and the land of Israel, along the Jordan, and along the eastern side of the sea. This is the east side.

19"The south side, toward the South,[a] shall be from Tamar to the waters of Meribah by Kadesh, along the brook to the Great Sea. This is the south side, toward the South.

20"The west side shall be the Great Sea, from the southern boundary until one comes to a point opposite Hamath. This is the west side.

21"Thus you shall divide this land among yourselves according to the tribes of Israel. 22It shall be that you will divide it by lot as an inheritance for yourselves, and for the strangers who dwell among you and who bear children among you. They shall be to you as native-born among the children of Israel; they shall have an inheritance with you among the tribes of Israel. 23And it shall be that in whatever tribe the stranger dwells, there you shall give him his inheritance," says the Lord GOD.

Division of the Land

48"Now these are the names of the tribes: From the northern border along the road to Hethlon at the entrance of Hamath, to Hazar Enan, the border of Damascus northward, in the direction of Hamath, there shall be one section for Dan from its east to its west side; 2by the border of Dan, from the east side to the west, one section for Asher; 3by the border of Asher, from the east side to the west, one section for Naphtali; 4by the border of Naphtali, from the east side to the west, one section for Manasseh; 5by the border of Manasseh, from the east side to the west, one section for Ephraim; 6by the border of Ephraim, from the east side to the west, one section for Reuben; 7by the border of Reuben, from the east side to the west, one section for Judah; 8by the border of Judah, from the east side to the west, shall be the district which you shall set apart, twenty-five thousand cubits in width, and in length the same as one of the other portions, from the east side to the west, with the sanctuary in the center.

9"The district that you shall set apart for the LORD shall be twenty-five thousand cubits in length and ten thousand in width. 10To these—to the priests—the holy district shall belong: on the north twenty-five thousand cubits in length, on the west ten thousand in width, on the east ten thousand in width, and on the south twenty-five thousand in length. The sanctuary of the LORD shall be in the center. 11*It shall be* for the priests of the sons of Zadok, who are sanctified, who have kept My charge, who did not go astray when the children of Israel went astray, as the Levites went astray. 12And this district of land that is set apart shall be to them a thing most holy by the border of the Levites.

13"Opposite the border of the priests, the Levites shall have an area twenty-five thousand cubits in length and ten thousand in width; its entire length shall be twenty-five thousand and its width ten thousand. 14And they shall not sell or exchange

47:15–20 The boundaries of the Land of Promise are approximately those described in Numbers 34. Ezekiel did not mention any land east of the Jordan River. See Joshua 13 for an account of the division of the land east of the Jordan River (see map, The Division of the Land of Israel).

47:19 Meribah was the site in the wilderness where Moses brought forth water for the people. The brook to the Great Sea, the modern Wadi el 'Arish is elsewhere "the brook of Egypt" (see Num. 34:5; Josh. 15:4; 1 Kin. 8:65).

47:22 The mention of strangers (foreigners) sharing in the inheritance of the Land is striking. It reflects the reality of the conquest under Joshua, in which some foreigners such as Caleb inherited land in Israel (Josh. 14:6–15). It also points forward to the inclusion of the Gentiles in the New Covenant.

48:1–12 Tribal territories in the new arrangement are grouped according to the status of their ancestral mother. The sons of Leah and Rachel are closest to the temple and city. Dan and Naphtali were sons of Rachel's maidservant, Bilhah (vv. 1, 3; Gen. 35:25). Gad and Asher were sons of Leah's maidservant, Zilpah (Ezek. 48:2, 27; Gen. 35:26). Reuben, Judah, Simeon, Issachar, and Zebulun were sons of Leah (Ezek. 48:6, 7, 24–26; Gen. 35:23). Benjamin and Joseph (Manasseh and Ephraim) were sons of Rachel (Ezek. 48:4, 5, 23; Gen. 35:24).

48:7 Judah borders on the north of the consecrated district and the lands of the prince (vv. 8–22). In Judah's case, the messianic promise made it proper for Judah's tribal territory to be located near the prince's lands (Gen. 49:8–12).

48:8–22 The temple, the Lord's dwelling place, would be in the center of a special district. This district would be in the form of a perfect square set apart for the Lord in the midst of the land of Israel (see Ezek. 45:1–8; chart, The Plan for Ezekiel's Temple). Ezekiel's millennial temple and its sacrifices are a step forward in God's preparation of His people for worshiping Him in heaven (see chart, The Temples of the Bible).

Daniel

AUTHOR

The author is Daniel (Heb., lit. "God is my judge"), a contemporary of Jeremiah and Ezekiel, who was taken into Exile in Babylon along with other young men of high birth. The internal evidence of the book supports the authorship of Daniel (see Dan. 8:1; 9:2, 20; 10:2). Additionally, Jesus assumed the authenticity of Daniel's authorship and his prophecies (Matt. 24:15). Daniel's authorship was essentially unquestioned, except for Porphyry in the third century, until higher criticism appeared in the seventeenth century.

Daniel was probably in his late teens when he and his friends were taken to Babylon to serve in Nebuchadnezzar's court, possibly in 605 B.C. during the first of several deportations. Additional deportations followed in 597 B.C. and 586 B.C.

DATE

For most of Christian history, biblical scholars proposed that Daniel wrote the book during his own lifetime. Events recorded in the book span the period between 605 and 536 B.C., the third year of Cyrus' reign. His book was most likely completed by the year 530 B.C.

Although some contend that the Book of Daniel was written during the second century B.C. (Maccabean Period), recent archaeological discoveries strongly support a sixth century date for the writing of Daniel (see also Dan. 5:31, note).

BACKGROUND

SETTING: Because of its geographical location, the land occupied by God's chosen people was constantly the target of conquest. For many years Judah was threatened by the Assyrians. Then finally it was conquered by the Babylonians under Nebuchadnezzar. Promising youth, of royal lineage or prominent families, were trained for service in the government of the Babylonian Empire to serve as advisers to the king regarding the customs and beliefs of the different people in his empire. The book was written in Babylon, where Daniel spent all of his adult life in the service of three different rulers. The events recorded by Daniel span the time from 605 B.C. into the third year of the reign of King Cyrus the Great of Persia (536 B.C.).

PURPOSE: The events recorded and prophesied in the Book of Daniel encouraged and comforted the Jews of Daniel's day. Though they were defeated and scattered in Exile, their God was still in control of history. To those who served other gods, the message of the sovereignty of the God of Israel over all other gods was clearly delivered.

RELATIONSHIP TO SECULAR HISTORY: During the period of the events recorded in Daniel, the Babylonian Empire reached its height, began its decline, then fell to the Medo-Persian army under Cyrus. Many of the events recorded in Daniel are corroborated in secular records of the same period.

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: Interestingly, the Book of Daniel is written in two languages: Aramaic (Dan. 2:4—7:28) and Hebrew (Dan. 1:1—2:4; 8:1—12:13). Aramaic was the official and legal language of the empire. Even now official Jewish documents are written in Aramaic.

THEMES

The book is generally divided into two major sections. The first section records stories of Daniel and his friends and is primarily historical narrative. The second half features the dreams and visions of the future and is primarily predictive prophecy. The Book of Daniel belongs to apocalyptic (Gk. apokalupsis, lit. "revelation" or "disclosure") literature, the contents of which concern "revelations," especially those communicated through dreams and visions or symbols.

One cannot read the Book of Daniel without recognizing the clear message that Daniel's God is sovereign and His kingdom everlasting. He rules over the events of individual lives, and He is sovereign over all history. That message not only comforted and strengthened the Jews in Daniel's day, it has also provided comfort and strength through the generations for the uncertainties of every age.

OUTLINE

I. Daniel's Life and Work in Babylon (1:1—6:28)
   - A. Nebuchadnezzar's capture of Jerusalem and deportation of promising youth to Babylon (1:1–21)
   - B. Daniel's interpretation of Nebuchadnezzar's dream (2:1–49)
   - C. The preservation of Daniel's three friends in the fiery furnace (3:1–30)
   - D. Daniel's interpretation of Nebuchadnezzar's second dream (4:1–37)
   - E. Daniel's interpretation of the handwriting on the wall (5:1–31)
   - F. Daniel's survival of the plot against his life and deliverance from the lion's den (6:1–28)

   - A. Daniel's vision of the four beasts (7:1–28)
   - B. The vision of the ram and goat (8:1–27)
   - C. Daniel's prayer for his people (9:1–27)
   - D. The vision by the Tigris River (10:1–21)
   - E. Israel's suffering between opposing armies of warring kingdoms (11:1–45)
   - F. Daniel's prophecy of the end of time (12:1–13)

Daniel and His Friends Obey God

1 In the third year of the reign of Jehoiakim king of Judah, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came to Jerusalem and besieged it. 2And the Lord gave Jehoiakim king of Judah into his hand, with some of the articles of the house of God, which he carried into the land of Shinar to the house of his god; and he brought the articles into the treasure house of his god.

3Then the king instructed Ashpenaz, the master of his eunuchs, to bring some of the children of Israel and some of the king's descendants and some of the nobles, 4young men in whom there was no blemish, but good-looking, gifted in all wisdom, possessing knowledge and quick to understand, who had ability to serve in the king's palace, and whom they might teach the language and literature of the Chaldeans. 5And the king appointed for them a daily provision of the king's delicacies and of the wine which he drank, and three years of training for them, so that at the end of that time they might serve before the king. 6Now from among those of the sons of Judah were Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah. 7To them the chief of the eunuchs gave names: he gave Daniel the name Belteshazzar; to Hananiah, Shadrach; to Mishael, Meshach; and to Azariah, Abed-Nego.

11So Daniel said to the steward[a] whom the chief of the eunuchs had set over Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, 12"Please test your servants for ten days, and let them give us vegetables to eat and water to drink. 13Then let our appearance be examined before you, and the appearance of the young men who eat the portion of the king's delicacies; and as you see fit, so deal with your servants." 14So he consented with them in this matter, and tested them ten days.

15And at the end of ten days their features appeared better and fatter in flesh than all the young men who ate the portion of the king's delicacies. 16Thus the steward took away their portion of delicacies and the wine that they were to drink, and gave them vegetables.

17As for these four young men, God gave them knowledge and skill in all literature and wisdom; and Daniel had understanding in all visions and dreams.

18Now at the end of the days, when the king had said that they should be brought in, the chief of the eunuchs brought them in before Nebuchadnezzar. 19Then the king interviewed[a] them, and among them all none was found like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah; therefore they served before the king. 20And in all matters of wisdom and understanding about which the king examined them, he found them ten times better than all the magicians and astrologers who were in all his realm. 21Thus Daniel continued until the first year of King Cyrus.

Nebuchadnezzar's Dream

2 Now in the second year of Nebuchadnezzar's reign, Nebuchadnezzar had dreams; and his spirit was so troubled that his sleep left him. 2Then the

1:11 [a]Hebrew Melzar, also in verse 16 1:19 [a]Literally talked with them

1:1 Daniel dates Nebuchadnezzar's siege of Jerusalem as the third year of Jehoiakim's reign over Judah. Jeremiah, the fourth year of Jehoiakim's reign (Jer. 25:1). This difference is explained by the variation in the Babylonian and Judean systems of dating a king's reign. In Judah, the year of accession to the throne was counted as the first year; in Babylon it was not.

1:2 Removing some of the articles of the house of God and taking them to "the treasure house of his god" was symbolic of the supposedly superior strength of Nebuchadnezzar's god over the God of Israel. The act introduces the primary theme of the Book of Daniel—the sovereignty of God.

1:4 Training promising youth, as Daniel and his friends, from conquered nations was common in Nebuchadnezzar's reign. No mention is made of Daniel's parents who may not have been taken to Babylon. To suggest that these parents had prepared their children well for such times of testing, is not unreasonable speculation since their sons remained faithful to God. "Chaldeans" is another reference for the Babylonians as a whole. In this book it is also used to refer to pagan priests who practiced the old traditions of astrology and classical Babylonian philosophy.

1:6, 7 All four names of the Jewish youth contained some form or variation of the Hebrew names for God—Daniel, "God is my judge"; Mishael, "Who is like God?"; Hananiah, "Yahweh is gracious"; Azariah, "Yahweh is my helper." Their new Babylonian names contained some reference to pagan gods. In spite of pagan surroundings and new names, these youth had clear understandings of who they were and where their loyalties belonged (see Is. 45, Naming of Children).

1:8 Daniel did not want to defile himself by eating the type of food that was unclean or what had been offered to pagan idols before being put on the king's table (see Lev. 10, Clean vs. Unclean). Eating the food offered to a pagan god was an indication of loyalty to that god. We must marvel at the deep commitment to the faith of these young men that enabled them to take the stands they took. Perhaps these young men bore testimony to the faithfulness of mothers and fathers who ingrained in them a deep understanding of the central issues of obedience and faithfulness.

king gave the command to call the magicians, the astrologers, the sorcerers, and the Chaldeans to tell the king his dreams. So they came and stood before the king. 3And the king said to them, "I have had a dream, and my spirit is anxious to know the dream."

4Then the Chaldeans spoke to the king in Aramaic,[a] "O king, live forever! Tell your servants the dream, and we will give the interpretation."

5The king answered and said to the Chaldeans, "My decision is firm: if you do not make known the dream to me, and its interpretation, you shall be cut in pieces, and your houses shall be made an ash heap. 6However, if you tell the dream and its interpretation, you shall receive from me gifts, rewards, and great honor. Therefore tell me the dream and its interpretation."

7They answered again and said, "Let the king tell his servants the dream, and we will give its interpretation."

8The king answered and said, "I know for certain that you would gain time, because you see that my decision is firm: 9if you do not make known the dream to me, there is only one decree for you! For you have agreed to speak lying and corrupt words before me till the time has changed. Therefore tell me the dream, and I shall know that you can give me its interpretation."

10The Chaldeans answered the king, and said, "There is not a man on earth who can tell the king's matter; therefore no king, lord, or ruler has ever asked such things of any magician, astrologer, or Chaldean. 11*It is* a difficult thing that the king requests, and there is no other who can tell it to the king except the gods, whose dwelling is not with flesh."

12For this reason the king was angry and very furious, and gave the command to destroy all the wise men of Babylon. 13So the decree went out, and they began killing the wise men; and they sought Daniel and his companions, to kill them.

God Reveals Nebuchadnezzar's Dream

14Then with counsel and wisdom Daniel answered Arioch, the captain of the king's guard, who had gone out to kill the wise men of Babylon; 15he answered and said to Arioch the king's captain, "Why is the decree from the king so urgent?" Then Arioch made the decision known to Daniel.

16So Daniel went in and asked the king to give him time, that he might tell the king the interpretation. 17Then Daniel went to his house, and made the decision known to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, his companions, 18that they might seek mercies from the God of heaven concerning this secret, so that Daniel and his companions might not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babylon. 19Then the secret was revealed to Daniel in a night vision. So Daniel blessed the God of heaven.

20Daniel answered and said:

"Blessed be the name of God forever and ever,
For wisdom and might are His.
21And He changes the times and the seasons;
He removes kings and raises up kings;
He gives wisdom to the wise
And knowledge to those who have understanding.
22He reveals deep and secret things;
He knows what is in the darkness,
And light dwells with Him.

23"I thank You and praise You,
O God of my fathers;
You have given me wisdom and might,
And have now made known to me what we asked of You,
For You have made known to us the king's demand."

2:4 [a]The original language of Daniel 2:4b through 7:28 is Aramaic.

2:2 Dreams were considered important for foretelling the future and communicating the will of the gods in ancient cultures. Great effort was therefore expended in the proper interpretation of dreams, and many books and formulas were used specifically in the interpretation of dreams. The chief responsibilities of the magicians, sorcerers, and astrologers in the king's court included interpreting the meaning of the king's dreams. Although not every dream was thought to be from God, dreams often revealed the future to God's people. Symbolic meanings had to be interpreted carefully. There is no indication that Nebuchadnezzar's behavior was altered by this dream, though it is obvious he considered the understanding of the dream's meaning important.

2:23 A personal devotional life was modeled by Daniel so that he "purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself" with the riches and delicacies offered to him by the king (Dan. 1:8–17). He openly refrained from these luxuries offered to him, exhibiting the strength of his convictions. As a result God gave Daniel and his friends—Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego—"knowledge and skill in all literature and wisdom." To Daniel he also gave understanding in visions and dreams.

One of Daniel's foremost lifestyle choices was a decision to pray and give thanks to God—which he had done three times a day since his "early days" (Dan. 6:10). Daniel kept this personal devotional commitment even in the face of a royal decree that sought to prohibit the worship of Yahweh (Dan. 6:3–5). Daniel was also quick to ask for God's wisdom, to seek the counsel of godly advisers, and to praise God for the revelations of His wisdom. Daniel's life exhibited a commitment to hearing and knowing God's Word, then living it out in practical ways. Jesus taught this same pattern: hearing and doing (Matt. 7:24).

Devotion to knowing and doing the work of God—refraining from being pulled into the sinfulness of the world—enables one to inherit the grace, love, and wisdom that God offers those who give themselves totally to Him (Matt. 22:37; see Matt. 6:16–18, note; 6, Priorities; Rom. 10, Access to God).

Daniel Explains the Dream

24 Therefore Daniel went to Arioch, whom the king had appointed to destroy the wise men of Babylon. He went and said thus to him: "Do not destroy the wise men of Babylon; take me before the king, and I will tell the king the interpretation."

25 Then Arioch quickly brought Daniel before the king, and said thus to him, "I have found a man of the captives[a] of Judah, who will make known to the king the interpretation."

26 The king answered and said to Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, "Are you able to make known to me the dream which I have seen, and its interpretation?"

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the king, and said, "The secret which the king has demanded, the wise men, the astrologers, the magicians, and the soothsayers cannot declare to the king. 28 But there is a God in heaven who reveals secrets, and He has made known to King Nebuchadnezzar what will be in the latter days. Your dream, and the visions of your head upon your bed, were these: 29 As for you, O king, thoughts came to your mind while on your bed, about what would come to pass after this; and He who reveals secrets has made known to you what will be. 30 But as for me, this secret has not been revealed to me because I have more wisdom than anyone living, but for our sakes who make known the interpretation to the king, and that you may know the thoughts of your heart.

31 "You, O king, were watching; and behold, a great image! This great image, whose splendor was excellent, stood before you; and its form was awesome. 32 This image's head was of fine gold, its chest and arms of silver, its belly and thighs[a] of bronze, 33 its legs of iron, its feet partly of iron and partly of clay.[a] 34 You watched while a stone was cut out without hands, which struck the image on its feet of iron and clay, and broke them in pieces. 35 Then the iron, the clay, the bronze, the silver, and the gold were crushed together, and became like chaff from the summer threshing floors; the wind carried them away so that no trace of them was found. And the stone that struck the image became a great mountain and filled the whole earth.

36 "This is the dream. Now we will tell the interpretation of it before the king. 37 You, O king, are a king of kings. For the God of heaven has given you a kingdom, power, strength, and glory; 38 and wherever the children of men dwell, or the beasts of the field and the birds of the heaven, He has given them into your hand, and has made you ruler over them all—you are this head of gold. 39 But after you shall arise another kingdom inferior to yours; then another, a third kingdom of bronze, which shall rule over all the earth. 40 And the fourth kingdom shall be as strong as iron, inasmuch as iron breaks in pieces and shatters everything; and like iron that crushes, that kingdom will break in pieces and crush all the others. 41 Whereas you saw the feet and toes, partly of potter's clay and partly of iron, the kingdom shall be divided; yet the strength of the iron shall be in it, just as you saw the iron mixed with ceramic clay. 42 And as the toes of the feet were partly of iron and partly of clay, so the kingdom shall be partly strong and partly fragile. 43 As you saw iron mixed with ceramic clay, they will mingle with the seed of men; but they will not adhere to one another, just as iron does not mix with clay. 44 And in the days of these kings the God of heaven will set up a kingdom which shall never be destroyed; and the kingdom shall not be left to other people; it shall break in pieces and consume all these kingdoms, and it shall stand forever. 45 Inasmuch as you saw that the stone was cut out of the mountain without hands, and that it broke in pieces the iron, the bronze, the clay, the silver, and the gold—the great God has made known to the king what will come to pass after this. The dream is certain, and its interpretation is sure."

Daniel and His Friends Promoted

46 Then King Nebuchadnezzar fell on his face, prostrate before Daniel, and commanded that they should present an offering and incense to him. 47 The king answered Daniel, and said, "Truly

2:31–45 In interpreting the dream, Daniel identified Nebuchadnezzar as the head of gold. The succeeding kingdoms were not specifically identified in this dream or its interpretation, but subsequent dreams and visions added additional and more specific identifying details. Scholars who accept a 6th century B.C. date of authorship take this dream as predictive and generally identify the four kingdoms as Babylon, the Medo-Persian Empire, Greece, and Rome (see chart, Dreams and Visions).

2:43 Will mingle with the seed of men is a probable reference to marriages, for political purposes, between stronger political families and weaker ones. These alliances would prove to be unstable, just as the iron and clay mixture was unstable.

2:44, 45 For all the value and strength represented by the metals in the image, they were neither enduring nor strong when compared with the stone representing the kingdom of God, which overrules all earthly powers and endures forever.

2:47 Though Nebuchadnezzar made this statement about Daniel's God, remember that as a polytheist (worshiper of many gods), the king could easily add one more deity to the pantheon of gods he worshiped.

When we pray, we talk to God; but when we read His Word, He talks to us. As our "listening" skills improve, so do our "conversation" skills.

your God is the God of gods, the Lord of kings, and a revealer of secrets, since you could reveal this secret." 48Then the king promoted Daniel and gave him many great gifts; and he made him ruler over the whole province of Babylon, and chief administrator over all the wise men of Babylon. 49Also Daniel petitioned the king, and he set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego over the affairs of the province of Babylon; but Daniel sat in the gate[a] of the king.

The Image of Gold

3 Nebuchadnezzar the king made an image of gold, whose height was sixty cubits and its width six cubits. He set it up in the plain of Dura, in the province of Babylon. 2And King Nebuchadnezzar sent word to gather together the satraps, the administrators, the governors, the counselors, the treasurers, the judges, the magistrates, and all the officials of the provinces, to come to the dedication of the image which King Nebuchadnezzar had set up. 3So the satraps, the administrators, the governors, the counselors, the treasurers, the judges, the magistrates, and all the officials of the provinces gathered together for the dedication of the image that King Nebuchadnezzar had set up; and they stood before the image that Nebuchadnezzar had set up. 4Then a herald cried aloud: "To you it is commanded, O peoples, nations, and languages, 5*that* at the time you hear the sound of the horn, flute, harp, lyre, and psaltery, in symphony with all kinds of music, you shall fall down and worship the gold image that King Nebuchadnezzar has set up; 6and whoever does not fall down and worship shall be cast immediately into the midst of a burning fiery furnace."

7So at that time, when all the people heard the sound of the horn, flute, harp, and lyre, in symphony with all kinds of music, all the people, nations, and languages fell down and worshiped the gold image which King Nebuchadnezzar had set up.

Daniel's Friends Disobey the King

8Therefore at that time certain Chaldeans came forward and accused the Jews. 9They spoke and said to King Nebuchadnezzar, "O king, live forever! 10You, O king, have made a decree that everyone who hears the sound of the horn, flute, harp, lyre, and psaltery, in symphony with all kinds of music, shall fall down and worship the gold image; 11and whoever does not fall down and worship shall be cast into the midst of a burning fiery furnace. 12There are certain Jews whom you have set over the affairs of the province of Babylon: Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego; these men, O king, have not paid due regard to you. They do not serve your gods or worship the gold image which you have set up."

13Then Nebuchadnezzar, in rage and fury, gave the command to bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego. So they brought these men before the king. 14Nebuchadnezzar spoke, saying to them, "Is it true, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego, that you do not serve my gods or worship the gold image which I have set up? 15Now if you are ready at the time you hear the sound of the horn, flute, harp, lyre, and psaltery, in symphony with all kinds of music, and you fall down and worship the image which I have made, good! But if you do not worship, you shall be cast immediately into the midst of a burning fiery furnace. And who is the god who will deliver you from my hands?"

16Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego answered

2:49 [a]That is, the king's court

3:1–7 Nebuchadnezzar's action in making an image of gold, 90 feet high and 9 feet wide, is indicative of both his own arrogance and his lack of understanding of Daniel's God. He may have intended the image to be symbolic of himself. On the other hand, since verse 3 indicates that all the government officials from across the empire were summoned, he might have been trying to unify all the various nations under his rule by imposing a common religion. As is generally the case with idolatry, the idol served the goals and purposes of the one who made it.

3:5, 7 The use of three Greek words in the listing of musical instruments does not indicate that the book was written some time after the conquests of Alexander the Great. Commercial trading activities by the Greeks were prevalent throughout the Middle East from the 8th century B.C. onward. That various Greek musical instruments would have been known by their Greek names in Babylon in the 6th century is entirely reasonable.

3:9 O, king, live forever was not a prayer that the king would indeed live forever, but rather a typical greeting.

3:12 The three Jewish youth obeyed God's command, even at the risk of their lives (Ex. 20:3–5). Their reply in Daniel 3:17, 18 is a powerful testimony to their faith in God and their willingness to trust His will, regardless of the cost.

and said to the king, "O Nebuchadnezzar, we have no need to answer you in this matter. 17If that is the case, our God whom we serve is able to deliver us from the burning fiery furnace, and He will deliver us from your hand, O king. 18But if not, let it be known to you, O king, that we do not serve your gods, nor will we worship the gold image which you have set up."

Saved in Fiery Trial

19Then Nebuchadnezzar was full of fury, and the expression on his face changed toward Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego. He spoke and commanded that they heat the furnace seven times more than it was usually heated. 20And he commanded certain mighty men of valor who were in his army to bind Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego, and cast them into the burning fiery furnace. 21Then these men were bound in their coats, their trousers, their turbans, and their other garments, and were cast into the midst of the burning fiery furnace. 22Therefore, because the king's command was urgent, and the furnace exceedingly hot, the flame of the fire killed those men who took up Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego. 23And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego, fell down bound into the midst of the burning fiery furnace.

24Then King Nebuchadnezzar was astonished; and he rose in haste and spoke, saying to his counselors, "Did we not cast three men bound into the midst of the fire?"

They answered and said to the king, "True, O king."

25"Look!" he answered, "I see four men loose, walking in the midst of the fire; and they are not hurt, and the form of the fourth is like the Son of God."[a]

Nebuchadnezzar Praises God

26Then Nebuchadnezzar went near the mouth of the burning fiery furnace and spoke, saying, "Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego, servants of the Most High God, come out, and come here." Then Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego came from the midst of the fire. 27And the satraps, administrators, governors, and the king's counselors gathered together, and they saw these men on whose bodies the fire had no power; the hair of their head was not singed nor were their garments affected, and the smell of fire was not on them.

28Nebuchadnezzar spoke, saying, "Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego, who sent His Angel[a] and delivered His servants who trusted in Him, and they have frustrated the king's word, and yielded their bodies, that they should not serve nor worship any god except their own God! 29Therefore I make a decree that any people, nation, or language which speaks anything amiss against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego shall be cut in pieces, and their houses shall be made an ash heap; because there is no other God who can deliver like this."

30Then the king promoted Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego in the province of Babylon.

Nebuchadnezzar's Second Dream

4 Nebuchadnezzar the king,

To all peoples, nations, and languages that dwell in all the earth:

Peace be multiplied to you.

2I thought it good to declare the signs and wonders that the Most High God has worked for me.

3How great are His signs,
And how mighty His wonders!
His kingdom is an everlasting kingdom,
And His dominion is from generation to generation.

4I, Nebuchadnezzar, was at rest in my house, and flourishing in my palace. 5I saw a dream which made me afraid, and the thoughts on my bed and the visions of my head troubled me. 6Therefore I issued a decree to bring in all the wise men of Babylon before me, that they might make known to me the interpretation of the dream. 7Then the magicians, the astrologers, the Chaldeans, and the soothsayers came in, and I told them the dream; but they did not make known to me its interpretation. 8But at last Daniel came before me (his name is Belteshazzar, according to the

3:25–30 Nebuchadnezzar is astonished and forced to admit that there is a "Most High God" who is even more powerful than he is.

4:1–37 Another disquieting dream caused Nebuchadnezzar to call for his astrologers and magicians, who once again proved inadequate to tell him what the dream meant. Then Daniel was called to explain the vision. Despite having seen with his own eyes the power of God in the deliverance of the three Jewish youth from the fiery furnace, Nebuchadnezzar still did not personally recognize the limits of his own power and intelligence. After being warned that "the Most High rules in the kingdom of men" and "gives it to whomever He will," the king endured the painful humiliation of insanity before he finally acknowledged the sovereignty of the God of Israel over the affairs of humanity.

name of my god; in him is the Spirit of the Holy God), and I told the dream before him, saying: 9"Belteshazzar, chief of the magicians, because I know that the Spirit of the Holy God is in you, and no secret troubles you, explain to me the visions of my dream that I have seen, and its interpretation.

10"These were the visions of my head while on my bed:

I was looking, and behold,
A tree in the midst of the earth,
And its height was great.
11The tree grew and became strong;
Its height reached to the heavens,
And it could be seen to the ends of all the earth.
12Its leaves were lovely,
Its fruit abundant,
And in it was food for all.
The beasts of the field found shade under it,
The birds of the heavens dwelt in its branches,
And all flesh was fed from it.

13"I saw in the visions of my head while on my bed, and there was a watcher, a holy one, coming down from heaven. 14He cried aloud and said thus:

'Chop down the tree and cut off its branches,
Strip off its leaves and scatter its fruit.
Let the beasts get out from under it,
And the birds from its branches.
15Nevertheless leave the stump and roots in the earth,
Bound with a band of iron and bronze,
In the tender grass of the field.
Let it be wet with the dew of heaven,
And let him graze with the beasts
On the grass of the earth.
16Let his heart be changed from that of a man,
Let him be given the heart of a beast,
And let seven times[a] pass over him.

17"This decision is by the decree of the watchers,
And the sentence by the word of the holy ones,
In order that the living may know
That the Most High rules in the kingdom of men, Gives it to whomever He will,
And sets over it the lowest of men.'

18"This dream I, King Nebuchadnezzar, have seen. Now you, Belteshazzar, declare its interpretation, since all the wise men of my kingdom are not able to make known to me the interpretation; but you are able, for the Spirit of the Holy God is in you."

Daniel Explains the Second Dream

19Then Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, was astonished for a time, and his thoughts troubled him. So the king spoke, and said, "Belteshazzar, do not let the dream or its interpretation trouble you." Belteshazzar answered and said, "My lord, may the dream concern those who hate you, and its interpretation concern your enemies!

20"The tree that you saw, which grew and became strong, whose height reached to the heavens and which could be seen by all the earth, 21whose leaves were lovely and its fruit abundant, in which was food for all, under which the beasts of the field dwelt, and in whose branches the birds of the heaven had their home— 22it is you, O king, who have grown and become strong; for your greatness has grown and reaches to the heavens, and your dominion to the end of the earth.

23"And inasmuch as the king saw a watcher, a holy one, coming down from heaven and saying, 'Chop down the tree and destroy it, but leave its stump and roots in the earth, bound with a band of iron and bronze in the tender grass of the field; let it be wet with the dew of heaven, and let him graze with the beasts of the field, till seven times pass over him'; 24this is the interpretation, O king, and this is the decree of the Most High, which has come upon my lord the king: 25They shall drive you from men, your dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field, and they shall make you eat grass like oxen. They shall wet you with the dew of heaven, and seven times shall pass over you, till you know that the Most High rules in the kingdom of men, and gives it to whomever He chooses.

26"And inasmuch as they gave the command to leave the stump and roots of the tree, your kingdom shall be assured to you, after you come to know that Heaven rules. 27Therefore, O king, let my advice be acceptable to you; break off your sins by being righteous, and your iniquities by showing mercy to the poor.

4:16 [a]Possibly seven years, and so in verses 23, 25, and 32

4:27 God's grace extends to all, as evidenced in His intervention in the life of this pagan king. Daniel pleaded with the king to change his ways, hoping that the consequences portrayed in the vision might be allayed. Apparently Nebuchadnezzar ignored Daniel's plea.

Perhaps there may be a lengthening of your prosperity."

Nebuchadnezzar's Humiliation

28 All this came upon King Nebuchadnezzar. 29 At the end of the twelve months he was walking about the royal palace of Babylon. 30 The king spoke, saying, "Is not this great Babylon, that I have built for a royal dwelling by my mighty power and for the honor of my majesty?"

31 While the word was still in the king's mouth, a voice fell from heaven: "King Nebuchadnezzar, to you it is spoken: the kingdom has departed from you! 32 And they shall drive you from men, and your dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field. They shall make you eat grass like oxen; and seven times shall pass over you, until you know that the Most High rules in the kingdom of men, and gives it to whomever He chooses."

33 That very hour the word was fulfilled concerning Nebuchadnezzar; he was driven from men and ate grass like oxen; his body was wet with the dew of heaven till his hair had grown like eagles' feathers and his nails like birds' claws.

Nebuchadnezzar Praises God

34 And at the end of the time[a] I, Nebuchadnezzar, lifted my eyes to heaven, and my understanding returned to me; and I blessed the Most High and praised and honored Him who lives forever:

For His dominion is an everlasting dominion,
And His kingdom is from generation to generation.
35 All the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as
nothing;
He does according to His will in the army of heaven
And among the inhabitants of the earth.
No one can restrain His hand
Or say to Him, "What have You done?"

36 At the same time my reason returned to me, and for the glory of my kingdom, my honor and splendor returned to me. My counselors and nobles resorted to me, I was restored to my kingdom, and excellent majesty was added to me. 37 Now I, Nebuchadnezzar, praise and extol and honor the King of heaven, all of whose works are truth, and His ways justice.
And those who walk in pride He is able to put down.

Belshazzar's Feast

5 Belshazzar the king made a great feast for a thousand of his lords, and drank wine in the presence of the thousand. 2 While he tasted the wine, Belshazzar gave the command to bring the gold and silver vessels which his father Nebuchadnezzar had taken from the temple which had been in Jerusalem, that the king and his lords, his wives, and his con-cubines might drink from them. 3 Then they brought the gold vessels that had been taken from the temple of the house of God which had been in Jerusalem; and the king and his lords, his wives, and his concubines drank from them. 4 They drank wine, and praised the gods of gold and silver, bronze and iron, wood and stone.

5 In the same hour the fingers of a man's hand appeared and wrote opposite the lampstand on the plaster of the wall of the king's palace; and the king saw the part of the hand that wrote.
6 Then the king's countenance changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the joints of his hips were loosened and his knees knocked against each other. 7 The king cried aloud to bring in the astrologers, the Chaldeans, and the soothsayers.
The king spoke, saying to the wise men of Babylon,
"Whoever reads this writing, and tells me its interpretation, shall be clothed with purple and have a chain of gold around his neck; and he shall be the third ruler in the kingdom." 8 Now all the king's wise men came, but they could not read the writing, or make known to the king its interpretation. 9 Then King Belshazzar was greatly troubled,

4:34 [a] Literally days

4:30, 31 Instead of humbling himself before the Most High, Nebuchadnezzar displayed remarkable personal arrogance. While surveying the palace and its environs, he boasted of and revelled in his own power and majesty. At that moment the judgment of God took effect by the loss of sanity, and for "seven times" the king lived like an animal, and was an outcast from humanity (v. 32). The number seven frequently signifies completeness in that the time of insanity was completed. It could also indicate seven years.

5:2 Even pagans were superstitious enough not to use articles plundered from temples. In a drunken orgy, however, Belshazzar committed a great blasphemy. During the feast, he and his guests drank from the sacred articles that Nebuchadnezzar had taken from the temple in Jerusalem while they praised their pagan idols (see Dan. 1:2).

5:2 The Aramaic word for "father" was also frequently used for "grandfather," "ancestor," or "predecessor." Belshazzar was the oldest son of Nabonidus, the last king of Babylon, and therefore the grandson of Nebuchadnezzar. Because Nabonidus was away on campaigns for more than half of his reign, his son Belshazzar served as co-regent in his father's absence.

5:7 Third ruler in the kingdom indicates that Belshazzar understood himself to be the second ruler, as co-regent with his father.

his countenance was changed, and his lords were astonished.

10The queen, because of the words of the king and his lords, came to the banquet hall. The queen spoke, saying, "O king, live forever! Do not let your thoughts trouble you, nor let your countenance change. 11There is a man in your kingdom in whom is the Spirit of the Holy God. And in the days of your father, light and understanding and wisdom, like the wisdom of the gods, were found in him; and King Nebuchadnezzar your father—your father the king—made him chief of the magicians, astrologers, Chaldeans, and soothsayers. 12Inasmuch as an excellent spirit, knowledge, understanding, interpreting dreams, solving riddles, and explaining enigmas[a] were found in this Daniel, whom the king named Belteshazzar, now let Daniel be called, and he will give the interpretation."

The Writing on the Wall Explained

13Then Daniel was brought in before the king. The king spoke, and said to Daniel, "Are you that Daniel who is one of the captives[a] from Judah, whom my father the king brought from Judah? 14I have heard of you, that the Spirit of God is in you, and that light and understanding and excellent wisdom are found in you. 15Now the wise men, the astrologers, have been brought in before me, that they should read this writing and make known to me its interpretation, but they could not give the interpretation of the thing. 16And I have heard of you, that you can give interpretations and explain enigmas. Now if you can read the writing and make known to me its interpretation, you shall be clothed with purple and have a chain of gold around your neck, and shall be the third ruler in the kingdom."

17Then Daniel answered, and said before the king, "Let your gifts be for yourself, and give your rewards to another; yet I will read the writing to the king, and make known to him the interpretation. 18O king, the Most High God gave Nebuchadnezzar your father a kingdom and majesty, glory and honor. 19And because of the majesty that He gave him, all peoples, nations, and languages trembled and feared before him. Whomever he wished, he executed; whomever he wished, he kept alive; whomever he wished, he set up; and whomever he wished, he put down. 20But when his heart was lifted up, and his spirit was hardened in pride, he was deposed from his kingly throne, and they took his glory from him. 21Then he was driven from the sons of men, his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wild donkeys. They fed him with grass like oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven, till he knew that the Most High God rules in the kingdom of men, and appoints over it whomever He chooses.

22"But you his son, Belshazzar, have not humbled your heart, although you knew all this. 23And you have lifted yourself up against the Lord of heaven. They have brought the vessels of His house before you, and you and your lords, your wives and your concubines, have drunk wine from them. And you have praised the gods of silver and gold, bronze and iron, wood and stone, which do not see or hear or know; and the God who holds your breath in His hand and owns all your ways, you have not glorified. 24Then the fingers[a] of the hand were sent from Him, and this writing was written.

25"And this is the inscription that was written:

MENE,[a] MENE, TEKEL,[b] UPHARSIN.[c]

26This is the interpretation of each word. MENE: God has numbered your kingdom, and finished it; 27TEKEL: You have been weighed in the balances, and found wanting; 28PERES: Your kingdom has been divided, and given to the Medes and Persians."[a] 29Then Belshazzar gave the command, and they clothed Daniel with purple and put a chain of gold around his neck, and made a proclamation concerning him that he should be the third ruler in the kingdom.

Belshazzar's Fall

30That very night Belshazzar, king of the Chaldeans, was slain. 31And Darius the Mede received the kingdom, being about sixty-two years old.

5:12 [a]Literally untying knots, and so in verse 16 5:13 [a]Literally of the sons of the captivity 5:24 [a]Literally palm 5:25 [a]Literally a mina (50 shekels) from the verb "to number" [b]Literally a shekel from the verb "to weigh" [c]Literally and half-shekels from the verb "to divide" 5:28 [a]Aramaic Paras, consonant with Peres

5:10 Since Belshazzar's wives and concubines were already present at the feasting (v. 2), the woman who came to the banquet hall may have been the widow of Nebuchadnezzar, or his daughter, and Belshazzar's own mother, the wife of Nabonidus.

5:22 The word for son was often used for "grandson" or "successor" in the OT. This family history made Belshazzar's own sins of pride and disobedience even more reprehensible.

5:25 Daniel interpreted these three words as roots of Aramaic verbs. Mene comes from the verb "to number." Tekel comes from the verb "to weigh." Upharsin comes from the verb "to divide." While the common meaning of the verbs was well known, special insights were necessary for Daniel to apply them to the current situation.

5:30 Belshazzar was killed that very night. While the king and his officials were feasting and drinking, the city of Babylon, thought by many to be impregnable, fell to the Persians. In October 539 B.C., according to the historian Herodotus, Cyrus

The Plot Against Daniel

6 It pleased Darius to set over the kingdom one hundred and twenty satraps, to be over the whole kingdom; 2and over these, three governors, of whom Daniel was one, that the satraps might give account to them, so that the king would suffer no loss. 3Then this Daniel distinguished himself above the governors and satraps, because an excellent spirit was in him; and the king gave thought to setting him over the whole realm. 4So the governors and satraps sought to find some charge against Daniel concerning the kingdom;
but they could find no charge or fault, because he was faithful; nor was there any error or fault found in him. 5Then these men said, "We shall not find any charge against this Daniel unless we find it against him concerning the law of his God."

6So these governors and satraps thronged before the king, and said thus to him: "King Darius, live forever! 7All the governors of the kingdom, the administrators and satraps, the counselors and advisors, have consulted together to establish a royal statute and to make a firm decree, that whoever petitions any god or man for thirty days, except you, O king, shall be cast into the den of lions. 8Now, O king, establish the decree and sign the writing, so that it cannot be changed, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which does not alter." 9Therefore King Darius signed the written decree.

Daniel in the Lions' Den

10Now when Daniel knew that the writing was signed, he went home. And in his upper room, with his windows open toward Jerusalem, he knelt down on his knees three times that day, and prayed and gave thanks before his God, as was his custom since early days.

11Then these men assembled and found Daniel praying and making supplication before his God.
12And they went before the king, and spoke concerning the king's decree: "Have you not signed a decree that every man who petitions any god or man within thirty days, except you, O king, shall be cast into the den of lions?"

The king answered and said, "The thing is true, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which does not alter."

13So they answered and said before the king,
"That Daniel, who is one of the captives[a] from Judah, does not show due regard for you, O king, or for the decree that you have signed, but makes his petition three times a day."

14And the king, when he heard these words, was greatly displeased with himself, and set his heart on Daniel to deliver him; and he labored till the going down of the sun to deliver him. 15Then these men approached the king, and said to the king, "Know, O king, that it is the law of the Medes and Persians that no decree or statute which the king establishes may be changed."

16So the king gave the command, and they brought Daniel and cast him into the den of lions.
But the king spoke, saying to Daniel, "Your God, whom you serve continually, He will deliver you."
17Then a stone was brought and laid on the mouth of the den, and the king sealed it with his own signet ring and with the signets of his lords, that the purpose concerning Daniel might not be changed.

Daniel Saved from the Lions

18Now the king went to his palace and spent the night fasting; and no musicians[a] were brought before him. Also his sleep went from him. 19Then the king arose very early in the morning and went in haste to the den of lions. 20And when he came to the den, he cried out with a lamenting voice to Daniel. The king spoke, saying to Daniel, "Daniel, servant of the living God, has your God, whom you serve continually, been able to deliver you from the lions?"

21Then Daniel said to the king, "O king, live forever! 22My God sent His angel and shut the lions' mouths, so that they have not hurt me, because I was found innocent before Him; and also,
O king, I have done no wrong before you."

23Now the king was exceedingly glad for him, and his forces diverted the waters from the Euphrates River and entered the city by way of the nearly dry river bed. The Cyrus Cylinder and Babylonian Chronicle agree on the invasion but attribute it to treason within, which resulted in the opening of the gates to the invaders.

5:31 Darius the Mede remains one of the unsolved mysteries in the Book of Daniel. Historical evidence is clear that the Babylonian Empire was conquered by the Persians under Cyrus. Some scholars have used Darius as evidence for a late date of writing, saying that a 6th century B.C. writer would have been aware of these historical facts (see Introduction: Date). According to this argument, whoever wrote the book in the 2nd century B.C. simply was not an accurate historian. However, archaeological discoveries have continued to substantiate Daniel's accuracy and to support an early writing date. Use of the words "received the kingdom" leaves room for the possibility that Darius was made ruler over the conquered Babylonian territories by someone else, that is, Cyrus. Daniel was clearly aware of Cyrus (Dan. 6:28). Some scholars believe that Darius was a different name for Gubaru, who is named in some ancient texts (such as the Nabonidus Chronicle) as governor of Babylon and could well have been appointed to serve over Babylon during Cyrus' absence (see Dan. 6:1, 2); or it may be that the word "Darius" was a title meaning "the Royal One." At this point there is not enough evidence to be certain.

and commanded that they should take Daniel up out of the den. So Daniel was taken up out of the den, and no injury whatever was found on him, because he believed in his God.

Darius Honors God

24 And the king gave the command, and they brought those men who had accused Daniel, and they cast them into the den of lions—them, their children, and their wives; and the lions overpowered them, and broke all their bones in pieces before they ever came to the bottom of the den.

25 Then King Darius wrote:

To all peoples, nations, and languages that dwell in all the earth:

Peace be multiplied to you.

26 I make a decree that in every dominion of my kingdom men must tremble and fear before the God of Daniel.

For He is the living God,
And steadfast forever;
His kingdom is the one which shall not be destroyed,
And His dominion shall endure to the end.
27 He delivers and rescues,
And He works signs and wonders
In heaven and on earth,
Who has delivered Daniel from the power of the lions.

28 So this Daniel prospered in the reign of Darius and in the reign of Cyrus the Persian.

Vision of the Four Beasts

7 In the first year of Belshazzar king of Babylon, Daniel had a dream and visions of his head while on his bed. Then he wrote down the dream, telling the main facts.[a]

2 Daniel spoke, saying, "I saw in my vision by night, and behold, the four winds of heaven were stirring up the Great Sea. 3 And four great beasts came up from the sea, each different from the other. 4 The first was like a lion, and had eagle's wings. I watched till its wings were plucked off; and it was lifted up from the earth and made to stand on two feet like a man, and a man's heart was given to it.

5 "And suddenly another beast, a second, like a bear. It was raised up on one side, and had three ribs in its mouth between its teeth. And they said thus to it: 'Arise, devour much flesh!'

6 "After this I looked, and there was another, like a leopard, which had on its back four wings of a bird. The beast also had four heads, and dominion was given to it.

7 "After this I saw in the night visions, and behold, a fourth beast, dreadful and terrible, exceedingly strong. It had huge iron teeth; it was devouring, breaking in pieces, and trampling the residue with its feet. It was different from all the beasts that were before it, and it had ten horns. 8 I was

7:1 [a] Literally the head (or chief) of the words

7:1 The second major section of the Book of Daniel, which features visions and dreams and their related prophecies, begins with this chapter. The first year of Belshazzar was about 553 B.C., over 50 years from Daniel's deportation from Jerusalem. The dreams and visions of these last six chapters took place during the time period covered by the first six chapters. Much of the imagery has parallels or similarities in either the Book of Ezekiel (see Ezek. 17:3) or in the Book of Revelation (see Rev. 13:12). The identification of the empires or kingdoms portrayed by the various animals has generally been less difficult than the interpretation of the events and specific times predicted for the end times. While Christians have an interest in ascertaining the meanings of these prophecies, the believer's faith is not dependent on knowing the precise events that will take place as human history moves toward conclusion. Rather, faith is based on a personal relationship with the Lord of history, and that relationship requires faithfulness and obedience now, just as in Daniel's day.

7:2–28 The sea is frequently used in biblical visions as a symbol for the nations of the world in tumult (Is. 17:12, 13); "four winds" are used to indicate the four cardinal directions—north, south, east, and west—and symbolize the whole earth. Each of the "great beasts" represents a kingdom, corresponding with the kingdoms related to Nebuchadnezzar's image. Daniel then saw a great throne room, where the God of history would deliver His judgment against the beasts, and their kingdoms are given to "One like the Son of Man" (see chart, Dreams and Visions).

7:4 The winged lion represented the Babylonian Empire and Nebuchadnezzar. Jeremiah also used the imagery of the lion and the eagle (Jer. 49:19–22).

7:5 The bear "raised up on one side" with "three ribs in its mouth" represents the Medo-Persian Empire, with Persia as the stronger and the ribs possibly representing the primary nations it conquered: Lydia, Babylon, and Egypt.

7:6 The leopard, with wings and four heads, symbolizes a kingdom which was realized by Greek dominion under Alexander the Great, who swept through the then known world with astonishing speed and power (as with "wings"). Historians record that Alexander wept that there were no more worlds to conquer. After his death, Alexander's great empire was eventually divided among four of his generals (four heads): Seleucus, Ptolemy, Lysimachus, and Cassander.

7:7 The fourth animal, while not described by name, was "dreadful and terrible, exceedingly strong," with teeth of iron, the same metal which represented the Roman Empire in the image in Nebuchadnezzar's dream (Dan. 2:40). As that image had ten toes, this one had ten horns, representing great and unusual power (see Rev. 13:1, 2).

7:8 The message of Daniel's dreams is clear: God's kingdom will prevail over the kingdoms of earth, and it will never pass considering the horns, and there was another horn, a little one, coming up among them, before whom three of the first horns were plucked out by the roots. And there, in this horn, were eyes like the eyes of a man, and a mouth speaking pompous words.

Vision of the Ancient of Days

9"I watched till thrones were put in place,
And the Ancient of Days was seated;
His garment was white as snow,
And the hair of His head was like pure wool.
His throne was a fiery flame,
Its wheels a burning fire;
10A fiery stream issued
And came forth from before Him.
A thousand thousands ministered to Him;
Ten thousand times ten thousand stood before Him.
The court[a] was seated,
And the books were opened.

11"I watched then because of the sound of the pompous words which the horn was speaking; I watched till the beast was slain, and its body destroyed and given to the burning flame. 12As for the rest of the beasts, they had their dominion taken away, yet their lives were prolonged for a season and a time.

13"I was watching in the night visions,
And behold, One like the Son of Man,
Coming with the clouds of heaven!
He came to the Ancient of Days,
And they brought Him near before Him.
14Then to Him was given dominion and glory and a kingdom,
That all peoples, nations, and languages should serve Him.
His dominion is an everlasting dominion,
Which shall not pass away,
And His kingdom the one
Which shall not be destroyed.

Daniel's Visions Interpreted

15"I, Daniel, was grieved in my spirit within my body, and the visions of my head troubled me. 16I came near to one of those who stood by, and asked him the truth of all this. So he told me and made known to me the interpretation of these things: 17'Those great beasts, which are four, are four kings[a] which arise out of the earth. 18But the saints of the Most High shall receive the kingdom, and possess the kingdom forever, even forever and ever.'

19"Then I wished to know the truth about the fourth beast, which was different from all the others, exceedingly dreadful, with its teeth of iron and its nails of bronze, which devoured, broke in pieces, and trampled the residue with its feet; 20and the ten horns that were on its head, and the other horn which came up, before which three fell, namely, that horn which had eyes and a mouth which spoke pompous words, whose appearance was greater than his fellows.

21"I was watching; and the same horn was making war against the saints, and prevailing against them, 22until the Ancient of Days came, and a judgment was made in favor of the saints of the Most High, and the time came for the saints to possess the kingdom.

23"Thus he said:

'The fourth beast shall be
A fourth kingdom on earth,
Which shall be different from all other kingdoms,
And shall devour the whole earth,
Trample it and break it in pieces.
24The ten horns are ten kings
Who shall arise from this kingdom.
And another shall rise after them;
He shall be different from the first ones,
And shall subdue three kings.
25He shall speak pompous words against the Most High,
Shall persecute[a] the saints of the Most High,
And shall intend to change times and law.
Then the saints shall be given into his hand
For a time and times and half a time.

26'But the court shall be seated,
And they shall take away his dominion,
To consume and destroy it forever.
27Then the kingdom and dominion,

7:10 [a]Or judgment 7:17 [a]Representing their kingdoms (compare verse 23) 7:25 [a]Literally wear out away. Scholars agree that some elements of this part of Daniel's vision refer to the rise and rule of the first Roman Empire, while other elements refer to a future political power. For example, it seems clear that this little horn refers to a world ruler, at some future time, who will be so powerful that he will cause great suffering to God's people and even challenge God Himself (see Dan. 11:36, 37; 2 Thess. 2:3–12; Rev. 13:5, 6).

7:9 The Ancient of Days refers to God the Father (see also v. 13). This title expresses God's eternal existence. The kingdoms of this world will be judged by God.

7:13 The Son of Man is a designation Jesus later used of Himself (Matt. 8:20; 9:6; Mark 14:62). Rather than being like one of the beasts mentioned—lion (Dan. 7:4), bear (v. 5), leopard (v. 6)—or incomparably horrible, the divine King of Kings will come in human form; yet He will be the perfect representative of humanity. This One is the Son of Man and the Son of God—our Lord Jesus Christ. All kingdoms serve Him (Phil. 2:10).

And the greatness of the kingdoms under the whole heaven,
Shall be given to the people, the saints of the Most High.
His kingdom is an everlasting kingdom,
And all dominions shall serve and obey Him.'

28"This is the end of the account.[a] As for me, Daniel, my thoughts greatly troubled me, and my countenance changed; but I kept the matter in my heart."

Vision of a Ram and a Goat

8 In the third year of the reign of King Belshazzar a vision appeared to me—to me, Daniel—after the one that appeared to me the first time. 2I saw in the vision, and it so happened while I was looking, that I was in Shushan, the citadel, which is in the province of Elam; and I saw in the vision that I was by the River Ulai. 3Then I lifted my eyes and saw, and there, standing beside the river, was a ram which had two horns, and the two horns were high; but one was higher than the other, and the higher one came up last. 4I saw the ram pushing westward, northward, and southward, so that no animal could withstand him; nor was there any that could deliver from his hand, but he did according to his will and became great.

5And as I was considering, suddenly a male goat came from the west, across the surface of the whole earth, without touching the ground; and the goat had a notable horn between his eyes. 6Then he came to the ram that had two horns, which I had seen standing beside the river, and ran at him with furious power. 7And I saw him confronting the ram; he was moved with rage against him, attacked the ram, and broke his two horns. There was no power in the ram to withstand him, but he cast him down to the ground and trampled him; and there was no one that could deliver the ram from his hand.

8Therefore the male goat grew very great; but when he became strong, the large horn was broken, and in place of it four notable ones came up toward the four winds of heaven. 9And out of one of them came a little horn which grew exceedingly great toward the south, toward the east, and toward the Glorious Land. 10And it grew up to the host of heaven; and it cast down some of the host and some of the stars to the ground, and trampled them. 11He even exalted himself as high as the Prince of the host; and by him the daily sacrifices were taken away, and the place of His sanctuary was cast down. 12Because of transgression, an army was given over to the horn to oppose the daily sacrifices; and he cast truth down to the ground. He did all this and prospered.

13Then I heard a holy one speaking; and another holy one said to that certain one who was speaking, "How long will the vision be, concerning the daily sacrifices and the transgression of desolation, the giving of both the sanctuary and the host to be trampled underfoot?"

14And he said to me, "For two thousand three hundred days;[a] then the sanctuary shall be cleansed."

Gabriel Interprets the Vision

15Then it happened, when I, Daniel, had seen the vision and was seeking the meaning, that suddenly there stood before me one having the appearance of a man. 16And I heard a man's voice between the banks of the Ulai, who called, and said, "Gabriel, make this man understand the vision." 17So he came near where I stood, and when he came I was afraid and fell on my face; but he said

7:28 [a]Literally the word 8:14 [a]Literally evening-mornings

8:1–27 The third year was about 550 B.C. The date is significant because it is the year Cyrus established the joint state of the Medes and Persians. Beginning with this chapter, the language reverts to Hebrew, and its message relates primarily to the Jews. The writer records the interpretation of his vision given to him by the angel Gabriel (one of only two good angels named in the Bible). It deals with only two of the four empires which Daniel saw in his vision (Dan. 7). The primary focus is "the time of the end" (Dan. 8:17).

8:3, 4 The ram represents the Medo-Persian Empire (v. 20), with the larger horn referring to the predominance of Persia. Within a period of ten years after this vision, Cyrus had indeed pushed "westward, northward and southward" (see Dan. 7:5, note).

8:5–8 The male goat image represents pagan political powers. In this vision, the male goat represents the Greek Empire (v. 21) with Alexander the Great as its principal ruler. This empire was subsequently divided into four kingdoms after an extended power struggle by four of Alexander's generals (v. 22), none of whom was as powerful as he.

8:9–12 The little horn mentioned here arises from the 3rd kingdom and is therefore not identical to the one in Daniel 7, which rose from the 4th kingdom. This one is generally accepted to symbolize Antiochus IV Epiphanes, of the Seleucid line who took over Asia Minor, Syria, and the western part of Alexander's empire after his death (Dan. 8:23, 24). This occurred in the 2nd century B.C., a period of much conflict in Palestine (the "Glorious Land," v. 9) as the Jews resisted the process of Hellenization of their land and society. History records that, in his efforts at various times to subdue the Jews, Antiochus was brutal and ruthless. Calling himself "Epiphanes" (which means "God manifest"), Antiochus stopped the daily sacrifices in the temple in Jerusalem, built an altar there to the Greek god Jupiter, and offered swine on the altar. Reading of the Scripture, observance of the Sabbath, and circumcision were forbidden. In his ruthlessness against the people of God, Antiochus foreshadowed the Antichrist of the end times.

8:27 Daniel resumed his service. Though he was physically affected by the implications of the vision, it was characteristic to me, "Understand, son of man, that the vision refers to the time of the end."

18Now, as he was speaking with me, I was in a deep sleep with my face to the ground; but he touched me, and stood me upright. 19And he said, "Look, I am making known to you what shall happen in the latter time of the indignation; for at the appointed time the end shall be. 20The ram which you saw, having the two horns—they are the kings of Media and Persia. 21And the male goat is the kingdom[a] of Greece. The large horn that is between its eyes is the first king. 22As for the broken horn and the four that stood up in its place, four kingdoms shall arise out of that nation, but not with its power.

23"And in the latter time of their kingdom,
When the transgressors have reached their fullness,
A king shall arise,
Having fierce features,
Who understands sinister schemes.
24His power shall be mighty, but not by his own power;
He shall destroy fearfully,
And shall prosper and thrive;
He shall destroy the mighty, and also the holy people.

25"Through his cunning
He shall cause deceit to prosper under his rule;[a]
And he shall exalt himself in his heart.
He shall destroy many in their prosperity.
He shall even rise against the Prince of princes;
But he shall be broken without human means.[b]

26"And the vision of the evenings and mornings
Which was told is true;
Therefore seal up the vision,
For it refers to many days in the future."

27And I, Daniel, fainted and was sick for days; afterward I arose and went about the king's business. I was astonished by the vision, but no one understood it.

Daniel's Prayer for the People

9 In the first year of Darius the son of Ahasuerus, of the lineage of the Medes, who was made king over the realm of the Chaldeans— 2in the first year of his reign I, Daniel, understood by the books the number of the years specified by the word of the LORD through Jeremiah the prophet, that He would accomplish seventy years in the desolations of Jerusalem.

3Then I set my face toward the Lord God to make request by prayer and supplications, with fasting, sackcloth, and ashes. 4And I prayed to the LORD my God, and made confession, and said, "O Lord, great and awesome God, who keeps His covenant and mercy with those who love Him, and with those who keep His commandments, 5we have sinned and committed iniquity, we have done wickedly and rebelled, even by departing from Your precepts and Your judgments. 6Neither have we heeded Your servants the prophets, who spoke in Your name to our kings and our princes, to our fathers and all the people of the land. 7O Lord, righteousness belongs to You, but to us shame of face, as it is this day—to the men of Judah, to the inhabitants of Jerusalem and all Israel, those near and those far off in all the countries to which You have driven them, because of the unfaithfulness which they have committed against You.

8"O Lord, to us belongs shame of face, to our kings, our princes, and our fathers, because we have sinned against You. 9To the Lord our God belong mercy and forgiveness, though we have rebelled against Him. 10We have not obeyed the voice of the LORD our God, to walk in His laws, which He set before us by His servants the prophets. 11Yes, all Israel has transgressed Your law, and has departed so as not to obey Your voice; therefore the curse and the oath written in the Law of Moses the servant of God have been poured out on us, because we have sinned against Him. 12And He has confirmed His words, which He spoke against us and against our judges who judged us, by bringing upon us a great disaster; for under the whole heaven such has never been done as what has been done to Jerusalem.

13"As it is written in the Law of Moses, all this disaster has come upon us; yet we have not made our prayer before the LORD our God, that we might turn from our iniquities and understand Your truth. 14Therefore the LORD has kept the disaster in mind, and brought it upon us; for the LORD our God is righteous in all the works which He does, though we have not obeyed His voice.

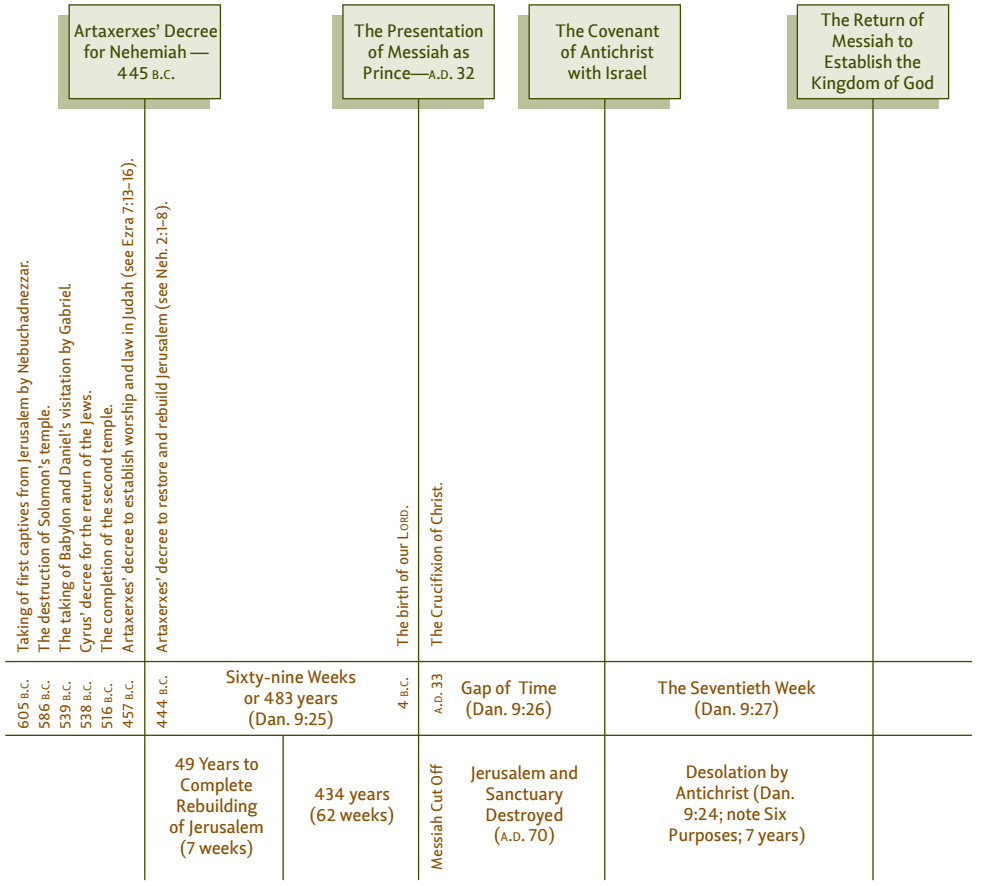
of Daniel's life that he "arose and went about the king's business," maintaining his habits of faithful service. Daniel, just as those in succeeding generations, was obviously bewildered over his lack of understanding of what was to come, since some of the events prophesied obviously would remain in the future. However, Daniel believed that God knew the future and controlled it. Believers have that same assurance.

9:1–19 Daniel knew Jeremiah's promise to the Jews that their captivity would last 70 years (v. 2), and he realized that the time was nearly completed. This event is dated approximately 539 B.C., during the first year of the reign of Darius (or Gubaru; v. 1; see also Dan. 5:31, note), the son of Ahasuerus (not the Persian husband of Queen Esther). He immediately began a season of prayer and fasting (see Matt. 6:16–18, note;

THE PROPHECY OF SEVENTY WEEKS



15 And now, O Lord our God, who brought Your people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and made Yourself a name, as it is this day—we have sinned, we have done wickedly!

16 "O Lord, according to all Your righteousness,
I pray, let Your anger and Your fury be turned away from Your city Jerusalem, Your holy mountain; because for our sins, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Jerusalem and Your people are a reproach to all those around us. 17 Now therefore, our God, hear the prayer of Your servant, and his sup-plications, and for the Lord's sake cause Your face to shine on Your sanctuary, which is desolate. 18 O my God, incline Your ear and hear; open Your eyes and see our desolations, and the city which is called by Your name; for we do not present our supplications before You because of our righteous deeds, but because of Your great mercies. 19 O Lord, hear! O Lord, forgive! O Lord, listen and act!
Do not delay for Your own sake, my God, for Your city and Your people are called by Your name."

The Seventy-Weeks Prophecy

20 Now while I was speaking, praying, and confessing my sin and the sin of my people Israel, and presenting my supplication before the LORD my God for the holy mountain of my God, 21 yes, while I was speaking in prayer, the man Gabriel, whom I chart, Lessons from the Model Prayer). Daniel pleaded with God to remember His promise. He openly acknowledged the sinfulness of his own people. He knew that they deserved the judgment of captivity, but he also reminded God that His own righteousness and mercy were at stake in the fulfilling of the promise.

9:21–27 God sent the angel Gabriel in response to Daniel's prayers to give Daniel "skill to understand" and to assure him had seen in the vision at the beginning, being caused to fly swiftly, reached me about the time of the evening offering. 22And he informed me, and talked with me, and said, "O Daniel, I have now come forth to give you skill to understand. 23At the beginning of your supplications the command went out, and I have come to tell you, for you are greatly beloved; therefore consider the matter, and understand the vision:

24"Seventy weeks[a] are determined
For your people and for your holy city,
To finish the transgression,
To make an end of[b] sins,
To make reconciliation for iniquity,
To bring in everlasting righteousness,
To seal up vision and prophecy,
And to anoint the Most Holy.

25"Know therefore and understand,
That from the going forth of the command
To restore and build Jerusalem
Until Messiah the Prince,
There shall be seven weeks and sixty-two weeks;
The street[a] shall be built again, and the wall,[b]
Even in troublesome times.

26"And after the sixty-two weeks
Messiah shall be cut off, but not for Himself;
And the people of the prince who is to come
Shall destroy the city and the sanctuary.
The end of it shall be with a flood,
And till the end of the war desolations are determined.
27Then he shall confirm a covenant with many for one week;
But in the middle of the week
He shall bring an end to sacrifice and offering.
And on the wing of abominations shall be one who makes desolate,
Even until the consummation, which is determined,
Is poured out on the desolate."

Vision of the Glorious Man

10 In the third year of Cyrus king of Persia a message was revealed to Daniel, whose name was called Belteshazzar. The message was true, but the appointed time was long;[a] and he understood the message, and had understanding of the vision. 2In those days I, Daniel, was mourning three full weeks. 3I ate no pleasant food, no meat or wine came into my mouth, nor did I anoint myself at all, till three whole weeks were fulfilled.

4Now on the twenty-fourth day of the first month, as I was by the side of the great river, that is, the Tigris,[a] 5I lifted my eyes and looked, and behold, a certain man clothed in linen, whose waist was girded with gold of Uphaz! 6His body was like beryl, his face like the appearance of lightning, his eyes like torches of fire, his arms and feet like burnished bronze in color, and the sound of his words like the voice of a multitude.

7And I, Daniel, alone saw the vision, for the men who were with me did not see the vision; but a great terror fell upon them, so that they fled to hide themselves. 8Therefore I was left alone when I saw this great vision, and no strength remained in me; for my vigor was turned to frailty in me, and I retained no strength. 9Yet I heard the sound of his words; and while I heard the sound of his words I was in a deep sleep on my face, with my face to the ground.

Prophecies Concerning Persia and Greece

10Suddenly, a hand touched me, which made me tremble on my knees and on the palms of my hands. 11And he said to me, "O Daniel, man greatly beloved, understand the words that I speak to you, and stand upright, for I have now been sent to you." While he was speaking this word to me, I stood trembling.

12Then he said to me, "Do not fear, Daniel, for

9:24 [a]Literally sevens, and so throughout the chapter [b]Following Qere, Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate; Kethib and Theodotion read To seal up. 9:25 [a]Or open square [b]Or moat 10:1 [a]Or and of great conflict 10:4 [a]Hebrew Hiddekel that he was "greatly beloved" by God. The revelation that Gabriel gave involved "seventy weeks," with a "week" representing seven years, making a total of 490 years. Some scholars feel that the number should be taken symbolically; others have developed fairly detailed schedules of events, culminating in the Crucifixion of Jesus or His yet future return (see chart, The Prophecy of Seventy Weeks). Regardless of the various interpretations, however, clearly God is in control of the timetable of human history.

10:1–21 The third year of Cyrus king of Persia was about 536 B.C. The first group of exiles had returned to Jerusalem, but Daniel remained in Babylon. The purpose of this vision was to give Daniel another word about his people and their future (v. 14). Before he could receive the vision, however, Daniel needed strength and encouragement. Several references are made in this chapter (and in previous chapters) to the fact that the visions left Daniel in a state of weakness caused by the awe, wholesome fear, and sometimes sorrow, attendant to a heavenly vision or being in the presence of a heavenly being. That he was specifically told "do not fear" (v. 12) and that he was reminded on two different occasions (vv. 11, 19) that he was greatly loved must be an indication of the degree of his fear and anxiety in the experience of this vision.

10:5, 6 The glorious man of this vision may simply be an angel sent to deliver a message to Daniel. Some would identify the angel as Gabriel (Dan. 8:16; 9:21). Yet others point to Daniel's unusual response (Dan. 10:7–10, 15) and suggest that the man dressed in linen was God Himself appearing in a Christophany (an appearance of the preincarnate Christ). There are similarities between these verses and Revelation 1:12–16.

from the first day that you set your heart to understand, and to humble yourself before your God, your words were heard; and I have come because of your words. 13But the prince of the kingdom of Persia withstood me twenty-one days; and behold, Michael, one of the chief princes, came to help me, for I had been left alone there with the kings of Persia. 14Now I have come to make you understand what will happen to your people in the latter days, for the vision refers to many days yet to come."

15When he had spoken such words to me, I turned my face toward the ground and became speechless. 16And suddenly, one having the likeness of the sons[a] of men touched my lips; then I opened my mouth and spoke, saying to him who stood before me, "My lord, because of the vision my sorrows have overwhelmed me, and I have retained no strength. 17For how can this servant of my lord talk with you, my lord? As for me, no strength remains in me now, nor is any breath left in me."

18Then again, the one having the likeness of a man touched me and strengthened me. 19And he said, "O man greatly beloved, fear not! Peace be to you; be strong, yes, be strong!"

So when he spoke to me I was strengthened, and said, "Let my lord speak, for you have strengthened me."

20Then he said, "Do you know why I have come to you? And now I must return to fight with the prince of Persia; and when I have gone forth, indeed the prince of Greece will come. 21But I will tell you what is noted in the Scripture of Truth. (No one upholds me against these, except Michael your prince.

11 "Also in the first year of Darius the Mede, I, even I, stood up to confirm and strengthen him.) 2And now I will tell you the truth: Behold, three more kings will arise in Persia, and the fourth shall be far richer than them all; by his strength, through his riches, he shall stir up all against the realm of Greece. 3Then a mighty king shall arise, who shall rule with great dominion, and do according to his will. 4And when he has arisen, his kingdom shall be broken up and divided toward the four winds of heaven, but not among his posterity nor according to his dominion with which he ruled; for his kingdom shall be uprooted, even for others besides these.

Warring Kings of North and South

5"Also the king of the South shall become strong, as well as one of his princes; and he shall gain power over him and have dominion. His dominion shall be a great dominion. 6And at the end of some years they shall join forces, for the daughter of the king of the South shall go to the king of the North to make an agreement; but she shall not retain the power of her authority,[a] and neither he nor his authority[b] shall stand; but she shall be given up, with those who brought her, and with him who begot her, and with him who strengthened her in those times. 7But from a branch of her roots one shall arise in his place, who shall come with an army, enter the fortress of the king of the North, and deal with them and prevail. 8And he shall also carry their gods captive to Egypt, with their princes[a] and their precious

10:13 The prince of the kingdom of Persia was not a human king. The clear implication is that, just as God is concerned with the affairs of humanity and works for the well-being of His people, so also Satan is actively at work to subvert and thwart the will of God in the lives of individuals and nations, and particularly to hinder the welfare of God's people (see Eph. 6:11, 12; chart, A Portrait of the Adversary). Just as Satan sends emissaries to work his evil will, so also God sends His heavenly messengers to assist His people. In this case, Michael was sent to help. There are only two angels named in the Bible, Michael and Gabriel; both appear in the Book of Daniel.

11:2–35 The events that the messenger prophesied in this chapter were fulfilled and recorded in secular histories with amazing accuracy. As in the previous vision, this one also dealt with only two of the four kingdoms, Persia and Greece, though the primary concern was the time of oppression of God's people.

11:2 The accuracy of detail is amazing concerning the history of nations after the Persian and Alexandrian states had passed. The kings of Persia to come were to be Cambyses (529–522 B.C.), Smerdis or Pseudo-Smerdis (522–512 B.C.), Darius Hystaspis (521–486 B.C.; see Ezra 5; 6), and Xerxes I or Ahasuerus (486–465 B.C.; see Ezra 4:6). The omission of the names of kings after Xerxes could well have been due to their unimportance to the author's purpose.

11:3 The mighty king of Greece was Alexander the Great, whose kingdom was divided among four of his generals (see Dan. 7:6, note).

11:5–9 South of Palestine was Egypt, which came under the rule of the Ptolemies, the "king of the South." North and east of Palestine was Syria, under the rule of the Seleucids, the "king of the North." The Jewish homeland was caught in the middle and often suffered at the hands of competing political forces, though at least while under the control of the Ptolemies the Jews were free to practice their faith.

11:6 The daughter of the king of the South was an unfortunate pawn in the game of political alliance. The prophecy was fulfilled by the daughter of Ptolemy II, Egyptian princess Berenice, who was married to Antiochus II of Syria, thus sealing a treaty between Egypt and Syria. As she was subsequently murdered by her husband's former wife, she in fact did not "retain the power of her authority." The "agreement" between Egypt and Syria did not last, and the power struggle resumed.

11:7 Berenice's brother Ptolemy Euergetes, "a branch of her roots," attacked Syria and prevailed, avenging his sister's death and conquering part of Syria.

articles of silver and gold; and he shall continue more years than the king of the North.

9"Also the king of the North shall come to the kingdom of the king of the South, but shall return to his own land. 10However his sons shall stir up strife, and assemble a multitude of great forces; and one shall certainly come and overwhelm and pass through; then he shall return to his fortress and stir up strife.

11"And the king of the South shall be moved with rage, and go out and fight with him, with the king of the North, who shall muster a great multitude; but the multitude shall be given into the hand of his enemy. 12When he has taken away the multitude, his heart will be lifted up; and he will cast down tens of thousands, but he will not prevail. 13For the king of the North will return and muster a multitude greater than the former, and shall certainly come at the end of some years with a great army and much equipment.

14"Now in those times many shall rise up against the king of the South. Also, violent men[a] of your people shall exalt themselves in fulfillment of the vision, but they shall fall. 15So the king of the North shall come and build a siege mound, and take a fortified city; and the forces[a] of the South shall not withstand him. Even his choice troops shall have no strength to resist. 16But he who comes against him shall do according to his own will, and no one shall stand against him. He shall stand in the Glorious Land with destruction in his power.[a]

17"He shall also set his face to enter with the strength of his whole kingdom, and upright ones[a] with him; thus shall he do. And he shall give him the daughter of women to destroy it; but she shall not stand with him, or be for him. 18After this he shall turn his face to the coastlands, and shall take many. But a ruler shall bring the reproach against them to an end; and with the reproach removed, he shall turn back on him. 19Then he shall turn his face toward the fortress of his own land; but he shall stumble and fall, and not be found.

20"There shall arise in his place one who imposes taxes on the glorious kingdom; but within a few days he shall be destroyed, but not in anger or in battle. 21And in his place shall arise a vile person, to whom they will not give the honor of royalty; but he shall come in peaceably, and seize the kingdom by intrigue. 22With the force[a] of a flood they shall be swept away from before him and be broken, and also the prince of the covenant. 23And after the league is made with him he shall act deceitfully, for he shall come up and become strong with a small number of people. 24He shall enter peaceably, even into the richest places of the province; and he shall do what his fathers have not done, nor his forefathers: he shall disperse among them the plunder, spoil, and riches; and he shall devise his plans against the strongholds, but only for a time.

25"He shall stir up his power and his courage against the king of the South with a great army. And the king of the South shall be stirred up to battle with a very great and mighty army; but he shall not stand, for they shall devise plans against him. 26Yes, those who eat of the portion of his delicacies shall destroy him; his army shall be swept away, and many shall fall down slain. 27Both these kings' hearts shall be bent on evil, and they shall speak lies at the same table; but it shall not prosper, for the end will still be at the appointed time. 28While returning to his land with great riches, his heart shall be moved against the holy covenant; so he shall do damage and return to his own land.

11:9–15 The picture in these verses is one of constant incursions by the armies of Egypt and Syria against each other. The reality for the Jews was a continual flow of opposing troops back and forth through their homeland.

11:16–20 The Seleucid king Antiochus III was successful, after many attempts, in overcoming Ptolemy V of Egypt. The control of the "Glorious Land" (Palestine) passed from Egypt to Syria. These political changes also meant changes of a drastic nature for the Jews, as the new high priest was determined to change Jerusalem into a Greek city. Great turmoil and resistance followed as the Jews refused what they saw as pagan ways.

11:17 The daughter of women was Antiochus's daughter Cleopatra, whom he gave in marriage to Ptolemy V. This is the second mention in the Book of Daniel of a marriage for political purposes (see v. 6).

11:21–35 The coming of Antiochus IV Epiphanes is generally thought to be predicted in this section. It also has implications for future times. Antiochus was a real historical figure, whose harsh treatment of the Jews and desecrations of the temple are well documented; he was also an example of political power against God's people that will recur until Christ returns. When the Jews rebelled against the high priest whom he had installed in Jerusalem, Antiochus IV sent an army to put down the rebellion (v. 30) and forbade the Jews to carry out the practices of their faith. He ended the daily sacrifices in the temple (v. 31), rededicated the temple to Jupiter, and offered swine on the altar. This forcible worship of another god was the "abomination of desolation" to which Jesus referred (Matt. 24:15; Luke 21:20). Having stood all that they could stand, the "people who know their God" (faithful Jews) revolted (Dan. 11:32). With able leadership given by Mattathias Maccabeus and his son Judas, they were able to "carry out great exploits" in defense of their homeland and their faith.

11:36–45 The similarity to Antiochus IV and his oppression of the Jews decreases, and the emphasis moves, in this transitional section, to the end times and a focus on the final evil ruler who dares to "exalt and magnify himself above every god," including the God of the universe (v. 36). He will use force, deception, and idolatry in his campaign to rule and to cause suffering to the people of God. When seemingly evil has triumphed, the God of history will intervene. The evil one and those who allied themselves with him "shall come to his end, and no one will help him" (v. 45). God's judgment against evil will be sure and everlasting, and His kingdom of righteousness will last forever. That sure knowledge gives hope to the people of God.

38But in their place he shall honor a god of fortresses; and a god which his fathers did not know he shall honor with gold and silver, with precious stones and pleasant things. 39Thus he shall act against the strongest fortresses with a foreign god, which he shall acknowledge, and advance its glory; and he shall cause them to rule over many, and divide the land for gain.

The Northern King's Conquests

40"At the time of the end the king of the South shall attack him; and the king of the North shall come against him like a whirlwind, with chariots, horsemen, and with many ships; and he shall enter the countries, overwhelm them, and pass through. 41He shall also enter the Glorious Land, and many countries shall be overthrown; but these shall escape from his hand: Edom, Moab, and the prominent people of Ammon. 42He shall stretch out his hand against the countries, and the land of Egypt shall not escape. 43He shall have power over the treasures of gold and silver, and over all the precious things of Egypt; also the Libyans and Ethiopians shall follow at his heels. 44But news from the east and the north shall trouble him; therefore he shall go out with great fury to destroy and annihilate many. 45And he shall plant the tents of his palace between the seas and the glorious holy mountain; yet he shall come to his end, and no one will help him.

Prophecy of the End Time

12 "At that time Michael shall stand up,
The great prince who stands watch over the sons of your people;
And there shall be a time of trouble,
Such as never was since there was a nation,
Even to that time.
And at that time your people shall be delivered,
Every one who is found written in the book.
2And many of those who sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake,
Some to everlasting life,
Some to shame and everlasting contempt.
3Those who are wise shall shine
Like the brightness of the firmament,
And those who turn many to righteousness
Like the stars forever and ever.

4"But you, Daniel, shut up the words, and seal the book until the time of the end; many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall increase."

5Then I, Daniel, looked; and there stood two others, one on this riverbank and the other on that riverbank. 6And one said to the man clothed in linen, who was above the waters of the river, "How long shall the fulfillment of these wonders be?"

7Then I heard the man clothed in linen, who was above the waters of the river, when he held up his right hand and his left hand to heaven, and swore by Him who lives forever, that it shall be for a time, times, and half a time; and when the power of the holy people has been completely shattered, all these things shall be finished.

8Although I heard, I did not understand. Then I said, "My lord, what shall be the end of these things?"

9And he said, "Go your way, Daniel, for the words are closed up and sealed till the time of the end. 10Many shall be purified, made white, and refined, but the wicked shall do wickedly; and none of the wicked shall understand, but the wise shall understand.

11"And from the time that the daily sacrifice is taken away, and the abomination of desolation is set up, there shall be one thousand two hundred and ninety days. 12Blessed is he who waits, and comes to the one thousand three hundred and thirty-five days.

13"But you, go your way till the end; for you shall rest, and will arise to your inheritance at the end of the days."

12:1–4 God's final triumph over evil will come after a period of intense suffering, particularly for God's people, who will be delivered in the midst of their suffering by Michael.

12:2–4 Everlasting life is mentioned here for the first time in the Bible and the only time in the OT, though there are other OT references to the concept of resurrection (see Ps. 16:10; Is. 25:8; 26:19). Mention of "shame and everlasting contempt" indicates that not all will spend eternity in the presence of God. The sealing is in anticipation of the One who is able to unseal Daniel's vision. Jesus Christ ultimately will make the vision clear.

12:5–13 Some see the 70th week in the prophecy as being fulfilled without any intervening time period and culminating in the Crucifixion of Christ and the ultimate destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70. Other interpreters attribute this 70th week to the future (see Dan. 9:27; chart, The Prophecy of Seventy Weeks). According to this view, a future for the Jewish people includes building a temple and establishing a protective covenant with the "prince who is to come" (Dan. 9:26). This reference is to the Antichrist of the Tribulation period, who breaks his covenant with Israel at the mid-point of the 70th week, desecrates the temple, and makes war with God's children until "the consummation which is determined" (Dan. 9:27). God's people (Israel) would undergo dreadful suffering for a "time, times, and half a time" (three and a half years or half of the seven years represented by the 70th week; see Dan. 9:21–27, note).

The "words are closed up and sealed," perhaps to keep believers in every generation from dwelling on the end times to the exclusion of living responsibly each day (Dan. 12:9). Daniel's life was characterized by faithfulness and obedience (Dan. 12:13). The book ends, despite the message of great turmoil, suffering, and unrest, on a note of peace and hope for Daniel and for all who find refuge in the Lord.

Hosea

AUTHOR

Hosea marked a new stage in Hebrew prophecy because he was one of the first prophets to put his prophecies into writing. His book is placed at the beginning of the scroll of the twelve prophets, which the Jews have designated "The Twelve." They are sometimes called the Minor Prophets, "minor" referring to their brevity rather than their importance.

Hosea appeared to have been a native of the northern kingdom of Israel, since he was well acquainted with the geography and details of the political, religious, and social life there. Except for the text of the Book of Hosea itself, the Old Testament is silent about the man Hosea. He simply identified himself as "the son of Beeri" (Hos. 1:1). Because of his knowledge of the work of a baker, some have conjectured that baking was his profession (Hos. 7:4). The most outstanding feature about Hosea is his marriage and family life. His marriage to Gomer, at God's command to take a "wife of harlotry," provided the setting for God to present the nature of His covenant with His people and how they had defiled that covenant (Hos. 1:2, note). It also allowed Hosea to register the vivid and painful emotions of love betrayed and to record the steps he took to redeem the woman who had so wronged him. That action, of course, is representative of the redemptive love of God, which is so passionately revealed in the prophecies God entrusted to Hosea.

DATE

Hosea recorded the reigning kings in both Israel and Judah when the word of the Lord came to him. Thus, there is a way to determine when his prophetic activity occurred. He mentioned the reigns of four kings in Judah (Hos. 1:1): Uzziah (792–740 B.C.), Jotham (750–731 B.C.), Ahaz (735–715 B.C.), and Hezekiah (715–686 B.C. as well as the coregency with Ahaz, 729–715 B.C.). In the northern kingdom, Jeroboam II reigned (793–753 B.C.). After him came the last six kings of Israel, whose rules Hosea witnessed, although he did not name these kings in his prophecy. They were Zechariah (753–752 B.C.), Shallum (752 B.C.), Menahem (752–742 B.C.), Pekahiah (742–740 B.C.), Pekah (740–732 B.C.), and Hoshea (732–722 B.C.), and they represent a time of political instability and moral collapse in the nation of Israel. For Hosea to have been a witness to this part of history, his prophetic activity had to occur not earlier than 760 B.C. His ministry occurred in the same period as that of Amos in the northern kingdom and Isaiah and Micah in the southern kingdom.

BACKGROUND

SETTING: Hosea's preaching took place against a background of extreme political and spiritual decline in Israel. After Jeroboam II (793–753 B.C.) institutionalized idolatry, the life of the people was characterized in every way by unfaithfulness to the covenant God had made with them. As external political pressures exerted themselves, the kings of Israel sought help and protection not from God but from alliances with Egypt and Assyria. In addition, the people were lured into the worship of idols, forsaking their allegiance to God and manifesting in their lives every type of immorality and impurity. Hosea lived and preached among a nation that had lost its heart for God.

PURPOSE: Hosea warned Israel of the tragedy of her betrayal of God and the sure judgment that would follow if she did not return to Him. He included a note of joy even in the midst of judgment. Israel's time of sorrow and judgment would be followed by happiness and restoration (Hos. 1:10; 2:14, 15).

AUDIENCE: God's people living in Israel, the northern kingdom, were the ones to whom Hosea addressed his prophecies, although occasionally he included the southern kingdom of Judah in his warnings.

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: Hosea used a variety of literary devices to deliver his prophetic message. There are numerous judgment and salvation speeches, which provide a rhythmic structure to the book. In addition, Hosea used proverbs, metaphors, and similes to give life to his message. A feeling of spontaneity, freedom, and passion marks the movement of his words.

THEMES

As one who personally had known the agony of a broken covenant, Hosea wrote movingly of God's redeeming love for Israel. The marriage he embraced with Gomer is a living demonstration of how far true love will go in order to keep its covenant. The book simmers with the wild vacillations in the heart of the one betrayed: an acknowledgment of the sin and the anger it arouses, the appropriateness of punishment, yet a steadfast, unwavering desire for reconciliation and a promise of loving restoration. No one before Hosea had spoken so repeatedly of God's love for His people; neither had anyone couched divine grace in the terms of marital intimacy.

OUTLINE

I. Hosea's Marriage: The Making of a Prophet, the Breaking of a Covenant (1:1—3:5)
   A. The faithful husband, the harlot wife (1:1—2:1)
   B. The punishment for unfaithfulness accompanied by a quest for restoration (2:2–23)
   C. Gomer's redemption, Israel's hope (3:1–5)

II. Hosea's Preaching: A Revelation of God's Love (4:1—14:9)
   A. God's condemnation of an unrepentant Israel (4:1—7:16)
      1. The charges against Israel (4:1–19)
      2. The judgment on Israel and Judah (5:1–15)
      3. An invitation to repentance (6:1–3)
      4. The consequences of Israel's sin (6:4—7:16)
   B. Israel's judgment following condemnation (8:1—10:15)
      1. The certainty of judgment (8:1–14)
      2. The nature of the judgment (9:1–17)
      3. The Exile of Israel into captivity (10:1–15)
   C. Israel's restoration because of God's love (11:1—14:9)
      1. God as Israel's true Father (11:1–11)
      2. The guilt of Judah (11:12—12:14)
      3. The spurning of God's love by Ephraim (13:1–16)
      4. The triumph of God's grace (14:1–9)

GOMER A Selfish Harlot

During a time when the nation of Israel defiantly turned her back on God and gave herself to idolatry, God called Hosea to pursue an unusual prophetic role among His people. Hosea's job was to prophesy by both words and actions—he was commanded to marry Gomer (Hos. 1:2). Gomer was apparently pure when she married Hosea, but she had harlotry in her heart. The life Hosea and Gomer had together was symbolic of the relationship between God and His people.

Gomer conducted her harlotry in a shamefully flagrant manner, judging from Hosea's descriptions. What drove her to this sin? Whatever her reasons, the consequences of her actions, especially the agony she caused her husband and children (see Hos. 2), were the unavoidable realities of her selfish behavior. Gomer sought her own enjoyment so irresponsibly that she ultimately wound up in some sort of bondage from which she had to be redeemed (see Hos. 3:1–3). As Hosea paid the price for her and took her back to himself, he restored her as his wife after a preliminary period of discipline to help her direct her life afresh to the vows she had made to Hosea in marriage.

The meaning for all who love God is profound: God Himself likewise paid the price to redeem His people, demonstrating that the aim of His love is reconciliation, restoration, and forgiveness (see Titus 2:14).

The Family of Hosea

2 When the LORD began to speak by Hosea, the LORD said to Hosea:

"Go, take yourself a wife of harlotry
And children of harlotry,
For the land has committed great harlotry
By departing from the LORD."

3 So he went and took Gomer the daughter of Dib-laim, and she conceived and bore him a son. 4 Then the LORD said to him:

"Call his name Jezreel,
For in a little while
I will avenge the bloodshed of Jezreel on the house of Jehu,
And bring an end to the kingdom of the house of Israel.
5 It shall come to pass in that day
That I will break the bow of Israel in the Valley of Jezreel."

6 And she conceived again and bore a daughter.
Then God said to him:

1:1 God's people were divided into two kingdoms at the time of Hosea's prophecies. Sometimes the northern kingdom is referred to as "Ephraim," its most influential tribe, or as "Samaria," its capital city (see chart, Terminology for the Divided Kingdom). Hosea was probably a resident of the northern kingdom.

1:2 Hosea's marriage is interwoven with his prophetic work. Hosea was to understand Israel's unfaithfulness to the Lord in all its tragedy through the betrayal of his own wife Gomer, described here as "a wife of harlotry." To consider the marriage allegorical, is highly unlikely because of the details presented in the narrative, which are not symbolic and are presented as historical facts (vv. 3, 8; Hos. 3:2). Others suggest that the marriage actually occurred and that Gomer was unchaste, perhaps even a temple prostitute, at the time. However, again this does not seem an appropriate conclusion since genuine affection on the part of Hosea for Gomer would seem difficult if not impossible under such circumstances. Hosea as a prophet would have been sensitive to the law forbidding such a union (Lev. 21:7, 14). Thus, it seems more likely that Hosea married Gomer, who was presumably chaste at the time, and she bore Hosea a son. In this case, the description is taken proleptically (with the future act presented as already existing). After Gomer married Hosea, she allowed harlotry to rule in her heart. The children she bore were given names symbolic of the severe break in the covenant relationship between God and His unfaithful people. This latter view also more closely paralleled God's experience with His people Israel (Hos. 1:2, 6, 7, 9; 2:2–13). Israel was presented to Yahweh as chaste (Jer. 2:2, 3), but He knew that she would play the harlot and become unfaithful.

1:4 At Jezreel (lit. "God will scatter") Jehu was swept to power through bloodthirsty acts (see 2 Kin. 9:21, 37; 10:1–11). Jehu's extermination of the house of Ahab and his efforts to remove Baalism were commanded and commended by God (2 Kin. 9:1–10; 10:30). Jehu, nevertheless, was wrong in the way he carried out God's commands (2 Kin. 10:31–36). The blood of Naboth was shed by Ahab and Jezebel at Jezreel (1 Kin. 21:1–16), resulting in God's curse and the complete extermination of the house of Ahab (1 Kin. 21:19–24). Jehu's continuation in idolatry would keep him in the line of judgment (2 Kin. 10:31). God avenged that terrible act by bringing an end to that dynasty of kings through the murder of Zechariah (2 Kin. 15:8–10; see chart, The Dynasties of Israel—Part 2) and the fall of Samaria, which scattered Israel into exile (see 2 Kin. 17:5, 6).

"Call her name Lo-Ruhamah,[a]
For I will no longer have mercy on the house of Israel,
But I will utterly take them away.[b]
7Yet I will have mercy on the house of Judah,
Will save them by the LORD their God,
And will not save them by bow,
Nor by sword or battle,
By horses or horsemen."

8Now when she had weaned Lo-Ruhamah, she conceived and bore a son. 9Then God said:

"Call his name Lo-Ammi,[a]
For you are not My people,
And I will not be your God.

The Restoration of Israel

10"Yet the number of the children of Israel
Shall be as the sand of the sea,
Which cannot be measured or numbered.
And it shall come to pass
In the place where it was said to them,
'You are not My people,'[a]
There it shall be said to them,
'You are sons of the living God.'
11Then the children of Judah and the children of Israel
Shall be gathered together,
And appoint for themselves one head;
And they shall come up out of the land,
For great will be the day of Jezreel!

2 Say to your brethren, 'My people,'[a]
And to your sisters, 'Mercy[b] is shown.'

God's Unfaithful People

2"Bring charges against your mother, bring charges;
For she is not My wife, nor am I her Husband!
Let her put away her harlotries from her sight,
And her adulteries from between her breasts;
3Lest I strip her naked
And expose her, as in the day she was born,
And make her like a wilderness,
And set her like a dry land,
And slay her with thirst.

4"I will not have mercy on her children,
For they are the children of harlotry.
5For their mother has played the harlot;
She who conceived them has behaved shamefully.
For she said, 'I will go after my lovers,
Who give me my bread and my water,
My wool and my linen,
My oil and my drink.'

6"Therefore, behold,
I will hedge up your way with thorns,
And wall her in,
So that she cannot find her paths.
7She will chase her lovers,
But not overtake them;
Yes, she will seek them, but not find them.
Then she will say,
'I will go and return to my first husband,
For then it was better for me than now.'
8For she did not know
That I gave her grain, new wine, and oil,
And multiplied her silver and gold—
Which they prepared for Baal.

9"Therefore I will return and take away
My grain in its time
And My new wine in its season,
And will take back My wool and My linen,
Given to cover her nakedness.
10Now I will uncover her lewdness in the sight of her lovers,
And no one shall deliver her from My hand.
11I will also cause all her mirth to cease,
Her feast days,

1:6 [a]Literally No-Mercy [b]Or That I may forgive them at all 1:9 [a]Literally Not-My-People 1:10 [a]Hebrew lo-ammi (compare verse 9) 2:1 [a]Hebrew Ammi (compare 1:9, 10) [b]Hebrew Ruhamah (compare 1:6)

1:6 Lo-Ruhamah (lit. "she has not been shown compassion") indicates that the harlot Israel would suffer her punishment to the full.

1:9 The waywardness of the people, as well as God's response of separating Himself from them are indicated in the name of the third child, "Lo-Ammi" (lit. "not my people").

1:10 The name changes portray a move from judgment to blessing. "Lo" (Heb., lit. "no" or "not") removed from "Lo-Ruhamah" and "Lo-Ammi" is then "my people" (Ammi) and "mercy is shown" (Ruhamah), pointing to Israel's future restoration (Rom. 9:25, 26).

2:2 God brought an indictment against Israel: The charge was adultery, a flagrant violation of the covenant of love. Gomer also betrayed Hosea and offered herself to those to whom she did not belong. Hosea's personal experience of having an unfaithful wife enabled him to understand in part God's heartbreak over His unfaithful people.

2:8 Baal (lit. "lord," "husband," or "owner") was a reference to the Canaanite gods of the autumn and winter rains that were so vital to good crops. Using the analogy of Baal as a husband fertilizing the land, temple prostitution was practiced with the hope that such acts would induce Baal to fertilize the earth. The people refused to recognize God as the source of their blessings of grain, wine, and oil (basic household needs) as well as silver and gold (metals used in trade). They failed to express gratitude to God for these; then they actually used God's blessings (silver and gold) to fashion idols.

MARRIAGE A METAPHOR OF UNION WITH GOD

Throughout Scripture the marriage union is a metaphor or picture of the relationship between God and His people. In the Old Testament, Israel is pictured as the wife of Yahweh. When Israel became unfaithful and worshiped other gods, she was described as a harlot (Jer. 3:1; Ezek. 23). Her spiritual adultery became so despicable in God's sight that He issued a writing of divorcement (Jer. 3:8). Actually, this was a separation, as God in His great love for His chosen people could not bear to cut off Israel without a promise of renewal (Hos. 2:14–20; 5:15).

In the Epistles and in Revelation, the church is described as the Bride of Christ. The experience of obtaining a bride is similar for both Adam and Christ—Adam was put to sleep; Christ was laid in a tomb. When Christ came to earth in human form, He left His Father. When He began His earthly ministry and ultimately died on the Cross, He left His mother. This was for the purpose of cleaving to the object of His love—His people. As He is received into the heart of each sinner, they become one flesh (Gen. 2:24; 1 Cor. 6:15).

The whole focus and course of a life is changed both by marriage and a personal experience with Jesus Christ. Marriage (1 Cor. 7:3) and becoming a child of God (Mark 8:34; 1 Cor. 6:20; 7:23) both demand death to self and accountability to God and to others. A wife or husband cannot be faithful to more than one partner, as a Christian cannot serve any other God (Matt. 6:24). Believers should have no hesitation in giving themselves in totality to God because of the high price He paid for them (1 Pet. 1:18, 19). God has given all He has to give; He now expects our all in response (Rom. 12:1, 2).

In marriage two hearts are grafted together, making them dependent on one another for life. This is depicted in John 15, with Jesus as the vine and believers the branches. Through the infilling of the Holy Spirit and His control in the life of both partners, this picture of marriage and the parallel relationship of Christ and His Bride come into focus. The Holy Spirit fills and fulfills both.

Her New Moons,
Her Sabbaths—
All her appointed feasts.

12 "And I will destroy her vines and her fig trees,
Of which she has said,
'These are my wages that my lovers have given me.'
So I will make them a forest,
And the beasts of the field shall eat them.
13 I will punish her
For the days of the Baals to which she burned incense.
She decked herself with her earrings and jewelry,
And went after her lovers;
But Me she forgot," says the LORD.

God's Mercy on His People

14 "Therefore, behold, I will allure her,
Will bring her into the wilderness,
And speak comfort to her.
15 I will give her her vineyards from there,
And the Valley of Achor as a door of hope;
She shall sing there,
As in the days of her youth,
As in the day when she came up from the land of Egypt.

16 "And it shall be, in that day,"
Says the LORD,
"That you will call Me 'My Husband,'[a]
And no longer call Me 'My Master,'[b]
17 For I will take from her mouth the names of the Baals,
And they shall be remembered by their name no more.
18 In that day I will make a covenant for them
With the beasts of the field,
With the birds of the air,
And with the creeping things of the ground.
Bow and sword of battle I will shatter from the earth,
To make them lie down safely.

19 "I will betroth you to Me forever;
Yes, I will betroth you to Me
In righteousness and justice,
In lovingkindness and mercy;

2:16 [a]Hebrew Ishi [b]Hebrew Baali

2:19, 20 The ingredients of the betrothal relationship included "righteousness and justice" as the legal requirement, "lovingkindness and mercy" as the personal ties of affection, and "faithfulness" as the seal of exclusive and permanent commitment. These qualities should mark every marital union (see John 2, Weddings; chart, God's Plan for Marriage).

20 I will betroth you to Me in faithfulness,
And you shall know the LORD.

21 "It shall come to pass in that day
That I will answer," says the LORD;
"I will answer the heavens,
And they shall answer the earth.
22 The earth shall answer
With grain,
With new wine,
And with oil;
They shall answer Jezreel.[a]
23 Then I will sow her for Myself in the earth,
And I will have mercy on her who had not obtained mercy;[a]
Then I will say to those who were not My people,[b]
'You are My people!'
And they shall say, 'You are my God!' "

Israel Will Return to God

3 Then the LORD said to me, "Go again, love a woman who is loved by a lover[a] and is committing adultery, just like the love of the LORD for the children of Israel, who look to other gods and love the raisin cakes of the pagans."

2 So I bought her for myself for fifteen shekels of silver, and one and one-half homers of barley. 3 And I said to her, "You shall stay with me many days; you shall not play the harlot, nor shall you have a man—so, too, will I be toward you."

4 For the children of Israel shall abide many days without king or prince, without sacrifice or sacred pillar, without ephod or teraphim. 5 Afterward the children of Israel shall return and seek the LORD their God and David their king. They shall fear the LORD and His goodness in the latter days.

God's Charge Against Israel

4 Hear the word of the LORD,
You children of Israel,
For the LORD brings a charge against the inhabitants of the land:

"There is no truth or mercy
Or knowledge of God in the land.
2 By swearing and lying,
Killing and stealing and committing adultery,
They break all restraint,
With bloodshed upon bloodshed.
3 Therefore the land will mourn;
And everyone who dwells there will waste away
With the beasts of the field
And the birds of the air;
Even the fish of the sea will be taken away.

4 "Now let no man contend, or rebuke another;
For your people are like those who contend with the priest.
5 Therefore you shall stumble in the day;
The prophet also shall stumble with you in the night;
And I will destroy your mother.
6 My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge.
Because you have rejected knowledge,
I also will reject you from being priest for Me;

2:22 [a]Literally God Will Sow 2:23 [a]Hebrew lo-ruhamah [b]Hebrew lo-ammi 3:1 [a]Literally friend or husband

3:1 God commanded Hosea to demonstrate in his marriage to Gomer the same kind of steadfast, redeeming love that He had for His idolatrous people Israel. "The raisin cakes of the pagans" were sweetmeats made of pressed grapes, an integral part of worship in many Canaanite cultic festivals.

3:2 The measure of shekels here refers to a weight of silver, about 0.4 ounces, not coins. A "homer" was a measure of cereal, roughly equal to about five bushels (see chart, Money and Measurements in the Bible).

3:3 The reciprocity in commitment is essential. Hosea directed Gomer to return home and resume her responsibilities as wife and mother, and he committed himself to remain faithful to her as his wife and only love. Forgiveness and restoration are possible only for one who is absolutely committed to going God's way.

3:4 The waiting period imposed on Gomer after Hosea bought her back is analogous to Israel's coming exile. The "ephod" was part of the garment worn by the high priest when he inquired of the Lord (see chart, The High Priest's Clothing); whereas the "teraphim" were household idols used as a means of divination (see Gen. 31:19, note).

3:5 The northern kingdom, under their own king (1 Kin. 12:20) and with their own centers for worship (1 Kin. 12:28, 29), was in rebellion against the Davidic covenant (2 Sam. 7:1–16; see 1 Chr. 17:7–12). Christian and Jewish scholars interpret this as a reference to the Messiah since David had long been dead at the time of this prophecy. The "latter days" refers to the messianic era.

4:1 Hosea announced that the Lord would take His people to court to focus the attention of all Israel on the magnitude of its crime. God charged Israel with a breach in the covenant. "Truth" is nowhere to be found because the people of Israel had not sustained or supported their covenant with God. "Mercy" (Heb. chesed; see Ps. 5:7–12, note) is the term for God's covenant love that Israel experienced when God redeemed His people from Egypt. They would know that love again when God would call the contrite nation back to Himself. The "knowledge of God" that expressed covenantal intimacy had been completely abandoned.

4:5 The designation your mother identifies the nation Israel, which gave birth to the people (Hos. 1:2; 3:2–5). The northern kingdom had been destroyed and had disappeared completely as an entity. Since the priests had ignored or "forgotten" God's Law, God would "forget" their descendants (Hos. 4:6).

ADULTERY UNFAITHFULNESS IN MARRIAGE

A theme running throughout Scripture is God's intent for husbands and wives to be faithful to each other. Fidelity in marriage is God's plan for His kingdom and God's purpose for His children. Adultery—when a husband or wife willfully engages in sexual intercourse with someone other than the marriage partner—is prohibited (Ex. 20:14; Deut. 5:18). Many Old Testament regulations prescribed severe punishment for adultery (Lev. 20:10; Deut. 22:22). In the New Testament, Jesus condemned adultery (Mark 10:11, 12; Luke 16:18), and Paul denounced it as one of the "works of the flesh" (Gal. 5:19).

Adulterers can receive God's forgiveness (John 8:3–11) from extra-marital sexual infidelity, which is an act of unfaithfulness. Believers are to practice faithfulness to God and in their personal relationships. A spouse who is able to forgive adulterous behavior on the part of a mate is encouraged to remain within a marriage. At the same time, in Scripture, adultery is regarded as such a severe breach of trust and fidelity that it is noted as permissible grounds for divorce (Matt. 5:32).

Jesus taught that adultery begins in the heart (Matt. 5:27, 28; 19:18, 19) and is rooted in lust. Many a marriage has suffered greatly because of "emotional adultery," which Jesus taught was just as serious as sexual immorality.

In part, adultery was dealt with so harshly in Scripture because it distorts one of God's illustrations about Himself and His intentions toward His creation. God wants to use the faithfulness between husband and wife to illustrate His faithfulness to His people. For this reason, adultery is likened to idolatry in the Old Testament. To commit adultery is to distort the very relationship God wants with those whom He loves.

Because you have forgotten the law of your God,
I also will forget your children.

7"The more they increased,
The more they sinned against Me;
I will change[a] their glory[b] into shame.
8They eat up the sin of My people;
They set their heart on their iniquity.
9And it shall be: like people, like priest.
So I will punish them for their ways,
And reward them for their deeds.
10For they shall eat, but not have enough;
They shall commit harlotry, but not increase;
Because they have ceased obeying the LORD.

The Idolatry of Israel

11"Harlotry, wine, and new wine enslave the heart.
12My people ask counsel from their wooden idols,
And their staff informs them.
For the spirit of harlotry has caused them to stray,
And they have played the harlot against their God.
13They offer sacrifices on the mountaintops,
And burn incense on the hills,
Under oaks, poplars, and terebinths,
Because their shade is good.
Therefore your daughters commit harlotry,
And your brides commit adultery.

14"I will not punish your daughters when they commit harlotry,
Nor your brides when they commit adultery;
For the men themselves go apart with harlots,
And offer sacrifices with a ritual harlot.[a]
Therefore people who do not understand will be trampled.

15"Though you, Israel, play the harlot,
Let not Judah offend.

4:7 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Septuagint, and Vulgate; scribal tradition, Syriac, and Targum read They will change. [b]Following Masoretic Text, Septuagint, Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate; scribal tradition reads My glory. 4:14 [a]Compare Deuteronomy 23:18

4:13, 14 Israel's practice of pagan ritual was described. The people were slaying and offering sacrifices as well as burning incense. These practices were performed on elevated sites instead of in Jerusalem where God had commanded sacrifices were to be offered. Hosea mockingly referred to the only true benefit of choosing these sites for their abominations: good shade. As if these abominations were not enough, the leaders of Israel allowed their daughters and daughters-in-law (Heb. kallah, lit. "bride") to participate in cultic prostitution. God in His justice would not punish these young women, while the men were pursuing cultic prostitutes without penalty. With immorality on such a grand scale, among both the leaders of Israel and the general population, it is no surprise that Hosea predicted the ruin of Israel: they were without understanding and were consequently headed for certain disaster.

4:15 Hosea presented Israel as an example to the people of Judah and warned them not to make pilgrimages to the north, a practice common at the time. Gilgal and Beth Aven (or

Do not come up to Gilgal,
Nor go up to Beth Aven,
Nor swear an oath, saying, 'As the LORD lives'—

Like a stubborn calf;
Now the LORD will let them forage
Like a lamb in open country.

17"Ephraim is joined to idols,
Let him alone.
18Their drink is rebellion,
They commit harlotry continually.
Her rulers dearly[a] love dishonor.

And they shall be ashamed because of their sacrifices.

Impending Judgment on Israel and Judah

5 "Hear this, O priests!
Take heed, O house of Israel!
Give ear, O house of the king!
For yours is the judgment,
Because you have been a snare to Mizpah
And a net spread on Tabor.
2The revolters are deeply involved in slaughter,
Though I rebuke them all.
3I know Ephraim,
And Israel is not hidden from Me;
For now, O Ephraim, you commit harlotry;
Israel is defiled.

4"They do not direct their deeds
Toward turning to their God,
For the spirit of harlotry is in their midst,
And they do not know the LORD.
5The pride of Israel testifies to his face;
Therefore Israel and Ephraim stumble in their iniquity;
Judah also stumbles with them.

6"With their flocks and herds
They shall go to seek the LORD,
But they will not find Him;
He has withdrawn Himself from them.
7They have dealt treacherously with the LORD,
For they have begotten pagan children.
Now a New Moon shall devour them and their heritage.

8"Blow the ram's horn in Gibeah,
The trumpet in Ramah!
Cry aloud at Beth Aven,
'Look behind you, O Benjamin!'
9Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of rebuke;
Among the tribes of Israel I make known what is sure.

10"The princes of Judah are like those who remove a landmark;
I will pour out My wrath on them like water.
11Ephraim is oppressed and broken in judgment,
Because he willingly walked by human precept.
12Therefore I will be to Ephraim like a moth,
And to the house of Judah like rottenness.

And Judah saw his wound,
Then Ephraim went to Assyria
And sent to King Jareb;
Yet he cannot cure you,

Bethel) were cities considered to be heavily infected with idolatry (see Amos 4:4; 5:5). Beth Aven (Heb., lit "house of nothingness") is actually Hosea's contemptuous renaming of Bethel (Heb., lit. "house of God").

5:1 Israel's impending judgment would start with the priests and the king, the two primary entities of covenant leadership. The failure of Israel's leaders negatively affected the people. Hosea referred to Mizpah (a site on Samuel's circuit of judging; see 1 Sam. 7:5–11) and Tabor (a famous mountain in north central Palestine, south of the Lebanese border) as two places where evil was perpetrated.

5:6 The Lord withdrew from His people. The judgment here was complete. In vain Israel would seek the Lord; He would withdraw from them. The futility of their idolatrous devotion with all its sacrifices was profound. The people sought God's favor through sacrifices, here symbolized in the two words "flocks" (small cattle like sheep and goats) and "herds" (larger cattle such as cows and oxen). However, true faith involved the heart's devotion and not just outward ritual.

5:8 The soundings of the ram's horn and trumpet were standard warning systems that alerted the people working in the fields to take protection behind the city walls and get ready for battle. Hosea furnished his audience with a glimpse of the doom about to overtake them in the form of an attack from Assyria.

5:13 In the day of judgment, Ephraim's immediate response was to seek aid not from God but from the king of Assyria. King Jareb (lit. "great king") is a reference to the king of Assyria, possibly Tiglath-pileser III (see chart, The Kings of Assyria).

Nor heal you of your wound.
14For I will be like a lion to Ephraim,
And like a young lion to the house of Judah.
I, even I, will tear them and go away;
I will take them away, and no one shall rescue.
15I will return again to My place
Till they acknowledge their offense.
Then they will seek My face;
In their affliction they will earnestly seek Me."

A Call to Repentance

6 Come, and let us return to the LORD;
For He has torn, but He will heal us;
He has stricken, but He will bind us up.
2After two days He will revive us;
On the third day He will raise us up,
That we may live in His sight.
3Let us know,
Let us pursue the knowledge of the LORD.
His going forth is established as the morning;
He will come to us like the rain,
Like the latter and former rain to the earth.

Impenitence of Israel and Judah

4"O Ephraim, what shall I do to you?
O Judah, what shall I do to you?
For your faithfulness is like a morning cloud,
And like the early dew it goes away.
5Therefore I have hewn them by the prophets,
I have slain them by the words of My mouth;
And your judgments are like light that goes forth.
6For I desire mercy and not sacrifice,
And the knowledge of God more than burnt offerings.

7"But like men[a] they transgressed the covenant;
There they dealt treacherously with Me.
8Gilead is a city of evildoers
And defiled with blood.
9As bands of robbers lie in wait for a man,
So the company of priests murder on the way to Shechem;
Surely they commit lewdness.
10I have seen a horrible thing in the house of Israel:
There is the harlotry of Ephraim;
Israel is defiled.
11Also, O Judah, a harvest is appointed for you,
When I return the captives of My people.

7 "When I would have healed Israel,
Then the iniquity of Ephraim was uncovered,
And the wickedness of Samaria.
For they have committed fraud;
A thief comes in;
A band of robbers takes spoil outside.
2They do not consider in their hearts
That I remember all their wickedness;
Now their own deeds have surrounded them;
They are before My face.
3They make a king glad with their wickedness,
And princes with their lies.

4"They are all adulterers.
Like an oven heated by a baker—
He ceases stirring the fire after kneading the dough,
Until it is leavened.
5In the day of our king
Princes have made him sick, inflamed with wine;
He stretched out his hand with scoffers.
6They prepare their heart like an oven,
While they lie in wait;
Their baker[a] sleeps all night;
In the morning it burns like a flaming fire.
7They are all hot, like an oven,
And have devoured their judges;
All their kings have fallen.
None among them calls upon Me.

8"Ephraim has mixed himself among the peoples;
Ephraim is a cake unturned.

6:7 [a]Or like Adam 7:6 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Vulgate; Syriac and Targum read Their anger; Septuagint reads Ephraim.

6:2 Israel hoped for mercy. Although the call to repentance that begins in verse 1, on Israel's part, appears to be an acknowledgment of God's just judgment on them, it is not enough (see vv. 4, 5 and God's rejection). The crucial requirement of admitting guilt is lacking. This contrasts sharply with Hosea's closing song of penitence (see Hos. 14:1–3). The verbs "revive" and "raise" up anticipate God's restoration of His people.

6:6 God has always wanted religious activity to reflect what is in the heart (see Matt. 9:13; 12:7). The importance of the sacrificial system, which God Himself had given, is not denied; but God's plan for sacrifice, which was to be an outward manifestation of inner faith, is defined. The outward rituals are meaningless to Him unless "mercy" and the "knowledge of God" form the inward reality.

7:1 God's gracious intention to heal and restore Israel was blocked by the realities of Ephraim's rebellion. The charge here reiterated murder and looting by priests (Hos. 6:7–9). God wanted to renew the nation. However, the wickedness of one segment, Ephraim, and its corrupt capital Samaria made that renewal impossible (see Hos. 1:1, note).

7:4 Adultery was mentioned specifically. Though primarily a reference to spiritual adultery, unfaithfulness to marital vows must have also been in view because of the cultic prostitution associated with Baalism. Hosea compared the lustful release of all moral restraints that characterized the religious and moral life of Israel to the heating of leavened bread in the oven. The heat of the oven was so intense that it needed no tending during the night and still could be revived for baking on the morrow.

Your marriage is the guidepost by which your children will establish their standards for their own marriage.

10 And the pride of Israel testifies to his face,
But they do not return to the LORD their God,
Nor seek Him for all this.

Futile Reliance on the Nations

11 "Ephraim also is like a silly dove, without sense—
They call to Egypt,
They go to Assyria.
12 Wherever they go, I will spread My net on them;
I will bring them down like birds of the air;
I will chastise them
According to what their congregation has heard.

13 "Woe to them, for they have fled from Me!
Destruction to them,
Because they have transgressed against Me!
Though I redeemed them,
Yet they have spoken lies against Me.
14 They did not cry out to Me with their heart
When they wailed upon their beds.

"They assemble together for[a] grain and new wine,
They rebel against Me;[b]
15 Though I disciplined and strengthened their arms,
Yet they devise evil against Me;
16 They return, but not to the Most High;[a]
They are like a treacherous bow.
Their princes shall fall by the sword
For the cursings of their tongue.
This shall be their derision in the land of Egypt.

The Apostasy of Israel

8 "Set the trumpet[a] to your mouth!
He shall come like an eagle against the house of the LORD,
Because they have transgressed My covenant
And rebelled against My law.
2 Israel will cry to Me,
'My God, we know You!'
3 Israel has rejected the good;
The enemy will pursue him.

4 "They set up kings, but not by Me;
They made princes, but I did not acknowledge them.
From their silver and gold
They made idols for themselves—
That they might be cut off.
5 Your calf is rejected, O Samaria!
My anger is aroused against them—
How long until they attain to innocence?
6 For from Israel is even this:
A workman made it, and it is not God;
But the calf of Samaria shall be broken to pieces.

7 "They sow the wind,
And reap the whirlwind.
The stalk has no bud;
It shall never produce meal.
If it should produce,
Aliens would swallow it up.
8 Israel is swallowed up;
Now they are among the Gentiles
Like a vessel in which is no pleasure.
9 For they have gone up to Assyria,
Like a wild donkey alone by itself;
Ephraim has hired lovers.
10 Yes, though they have hired among the nations,
Now I will gather them;
And they shall sorrow a little,[a]
Because of the burden[b] of the king of princes.

7:14 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Targum; Vulgate reads thought upon; Septuagint reads slashed themselves for (compare 1 Kings 18:28). [b]Following Masoretic Text, Syriac, and Targum; Septuagint omits They rebel against Me; Vulgate reads They departed from Me. 7:16 [a]Or upward 8:1 [a]Hebrew shophar, ram's horn 8:10 [a]Or begin to diminish [b]Or oracle

7:11 The complete failure of Ephraim to worship her true God, in time of trouble, led to a senseless foreign policy in which she sought help from her natural enemies Egypt and Assyria. Subsequently, Israel's ruler Pekah went to Egypt for assistance while under the vassalship of Assyria, a fatal move that led to the loss of both his country and his life (see 2 Kin. 15:29, 30).

8:5, 6 God's anger burned against His people. The "calf of Samaria," in all likelihood, was situated and housed in the royal shrine at Bethel. As a symbol of Israel's embracing forbidden cults, these calves had been fashioned by men to take the place of Yahweh and were an abomination before the Lord (1 Kin. 12:28). Though the people had rationalized that they were still honoring God, their worship at this shrine was rejected by Him.

11"Because Ephraim has made many altars for sin,
They have become for him altars for sinning.
12I have written for him the great things of My law,
But they were considered a strange thing.
13*For* the sacrifices of My offerings they sacrifice flesh and eat it,
But the LORD does not accept them.
Now He will remember their iniquity and punish their sins.
They shall return to Egypt.

14"For Israel has forgotten his Maker,
And has built temples;[a]
Judah also has multiplied fortified cities;
But I will send fire upon his cities,
And it shall devour his palaces."

Judgment of Israel's Sin

9 Do not rejoice, O Israel, with joy like other peoples,
For you have played the harlot against your God.
You have made love for hire on every threshing floor.
2The threshing floor and the winepress
Shall not feed them,
And the new wine shall fail in her.

3They shall not dwell in the LORD's land,
But Ephraim shall return to Egypt,
And shall eat unclean things in Assyria.
4They shall not offer wine offerings to the LORD,
Nor shall their sacrifices be pleasing to Him.
It shall be like bread of mourners to them;
All who eat it shall be defiled.
For their bread shall be for their own life;
It shall not come into the house of the LORD.

5What will you do in the appointed day,
And in the day of the feast of the LORD?
6For indeed they are gone because of destruction.
Egypt shall gather them up;
Memphis shall bury them.
Nettles shall possess their valuables of silver;
Thorns shall be in their tents.

7The days of punishment have come;
The days of recompense have come.
Israel knows!
The prophet is a fool,
The spiritual man is insane,
Because of the greatness of your iniquity and great enmity.
8The watchman of Ephraim is with my God;
But the prophet is a fowler's[a] snare in all his ways—
Enmity in the house of his God.
9They are deeply corrupted,
As in the days of Gibeah.
He will remember their iniquity;
He will punish their sins.

10"I found Israel
Like grapes in the wilderness;
I saw your fathers
As the firstfruits on the fig tree in its first season.
But they went to Baal Peor,
And separated themselves to that shame;
They became an abomination like the thing they loved.
11*As for* Ephraim, their glory shall fly away like a bird—
No birth, no pregnancy, and no conception!
12Though they bring up their children,
Yet I will bereave them to the last man.
Yes, woe to them when I depart from them!
13Just as I saw Ephraim like Tyre, planted in a pleasant place,
So Ephraim will bring out his children to the murderer."

14Give them, O LORD—
What will You give?

8:14 [a]Or palaces 9:8 [a]That is, one who catches birds in a trap or snare

9:1 Israel's rejection of God was complete. The Israelites, through their devotion to cultic practices, had put their hopes in Baal to provide material blessing. That blessing was thought to be guaranteed in exchange for ritual prostitution practiced at the shrines, which here were connected to "threshing floors" (see Hos. 2:8, note).

9:6 Any who attempted to find refuge in Egypt from the destruction brought on Israel by Assyria would not find it. Instead, they would be collected and buried in Memphis (a city in northern Egypt), where extensive burial grounds and ancient pyramids were located. All their cultic paraphernalia would have been abandoned when they fled; "nettles" and "thorns" were all that would remain.

9:10 God's joy over Israel when they first formed their covenant with Him in the wilderness is likened to the joy of both a hungry traveler who finds grapes growing in the desert and a gardener who finds the first ripe fig of the season. But He also recalled the time when Israel corrupted herself by committing adultery with the Moabites and devoting herself to their idols (see Num. 25:1–9). The punishment for adultery was death.

9:11 God's judgment of Israel would be so severe that it would strip them of their "glory," which in this context refers to their offspring. The future generation would have assured their continuity in the Land, but they would be cut off from that. To emphasize the barrenness that would affect the Land, God mentioned all three stages of human development. God's people would be painfully denied the children for whom they most longed.

God's love is so delightful–any other pleasure seems dismal in comparison with it.

St. Catherine of Genoa

Give them a miscarrying womb
And dry breasts!

15"All their wickedness is in Gilgal,
For there I hated them.
Because of the evil of their deeds
I will drive them from My house;
I will love them no more.
All their princes are rebellious.
16Ephraim is stricken,
Their root is dried up;
They shall bear no fruit.
Yes, were they to bear children,
I would kill the darlings of their womb."

17My God will cast them away,
Because they did not obey Him;
And they shall be wanderers among the nations.

Israel's Sin and Captivity

10 Israel empties his vine;
He brings forth fruit for himself.
According to the multitude of his fruit
He has increased the altars;
According to the bounty of his land
They have embellished his sacred pillars.
2Their heart is divided;
Now they are held guilty.
He will break down their altars;
He will ruin their sacred pillars.

3For now they say,
"We have no king,
Because we did not fear the LORD.
And as for a king, what would he do for us?"
4They have spoken words,
Swearing falsely in making a covenant.
Thus judgment springs up like hemlock in the furrows of the field.

5The inhabitants of Samaria fear
Because of the calf[a] of Beth Aven.
For its people mourn for it,
And its priests shriek for it—
Because its glory has departed from it.
6*The idol* also shall be carried to Assyria
As a present for King Jareb.
Ephraim shall receive shame,
And Israel shall be ashamed of his own counsel.

7*As for* Samaria, her king is cut off
Like a twig on the water.
8Also the high places of Aven, the sin of Israel,
Shall be destroyed.
The thorn and thistle shall grow on their altars;
They shall say to the mountains, "Cover us!"
And to the hills, "Fall on us!"

9"O Israel, you have sinned from the days of Gibeah;
There they stood.
The battle in Gibeah against the children of iniquity[a]
Did not overtake them.
10When it is My desire, I will chasten them.
Peoples shall be gathered against them
When I bind them for their two transgressions.[a] 11Ephraim is a trained heifer
That loves to thresh grain;
But I harnessed her fair neck,
I will make Ephraim pull a plow.
Judah shall plow;
Jacob shall break his clods."

12Sow for yourselves righteousness;
Reap in mercy;
Break up your fallow ground,
For it is time to seek the LORD,
Till He comes and rains righteousness on you.

13You have plowed wickedness;
You have reaped iniquity.
You have eaten the fruit of lies,

10:5 [a]Literally calves 10:9 [a]So read many Hebrew manuscripts, Septuagint, and Vulgate; Masoretic Text reads unruliness. 10:10 [a]Or in their two habitations

10:4 Samaria's kings had attempted to find security, not in faithfulness to God but in alliances and treaties with foreign powers. Thus, Samaria had sowed the seeds of her own judgment, which were now sprouting like poisonous weeds throughout the Land.

10:8 The execution of God's judgment would produce such a terror in Israel that the people would cry out for the mountains to cover them and the hills to fall on them. About 700 years later, Jesus used this imagery to describe how the Jews would react to their destruction by Rome (Luke 23:30); also, those in the Great Tribulation, at the end of time, will likewise utilize this cry (see Rev. 6:16).

Because you trusted in your own way,
In the multitude of your mighty men.
14 Therefore tumult shall arise among your people,
And all your fortresses shall be plundered
As Shalman plundered Beth Arbel in the day of battle—
A mother dashed in pieces upon her children.
15 Thus it shall be done to you, O Bethel,
Because of your great wickedness.
At dawn the king of Israel
Shall be cut off utterly.

God's Continuing Love for Israel

11 "When Israel was a child, I loved him,
And out of Egypt I called My son.
2 As they called them,[a]
So they went from them;[b]
They sacrificed to the Baals,
And burned incense to carved images.

3 "I taught Ephraim to walk,
Taking them by their arms;[a]
But they did not know that I healed them.
4 I drew them with gentle cords,[a]
With bands of love,
And I was to them as those who take the yoke from their neck.[b]
I stooped and fed them.

5 "He shall not return to the land of Egypt;
But the Assyrian shall be his king,
Because they refused to repent.
6 And the sword shall slash in his cities,
Devour his districts,
And consume them,
Because of their own counsels.
7 My people are bent on backsliding from Me.
Though they call to the Most High,[a]
None at all exalt Him.

8 "How can I give you up, Ephraim?
How can I hand you over, Israel?
How can I make you like Admah?
How can I set you like Zeboiim?
My heart churns within Me;
My sympathy is stirred.
9 I will not execute the fierceness of My anger;
I will not again destroy Ephraim.
For I am God, and not man,
The Holy One in your midst;
And I will not come with terror.[a]

10 "They shall walk after the LORD.
He will roar like a lion.
When He roars,
Then His sons shall come trembling from the west;
11 They shall come trembling like a bird from Egypt,
Like a dove from the land of Assyria.
And I will let them dwell in their houses,"
Says the LORD.

God's Charge Against Ephraim

12 "Ephraim has encircled Me with lies,
And the house of Israel with deceit;
But Judah still walks with God,
Even with the Holy One[a] who is faithful.

12 "Ephraim feeds on the wind,
And pursues the east wind;
He daily increases lies and desolation.
Also they make a covenant with the Assyrians,
And oil is carried to Egypt.

2 "The LORD also brings a charge against Judah,
And will punish Jacob according to his ways;
According to his deeds He will recompense him.
3 He took his brother by the heel in the womb,
And in his strength he struggled with God.[a]
4 Yes, he struggled with the Angel and prevailed;

11:2 [a]Following Masoretic Text and Vulgate; Septuagint reads Just as I called them; Targum interprets as I sent prophets to a thousand of them. [b]Following Masoretic Text, Targum, and Vulgate; Septuagint reads from My face. 11:3 [a]Some Hebrew manuscripts, Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read My arms. 11:4 [a]Literally cords of a man [b]Literally jaws 11:7 [a]Or upward 11:9 [a]Or I will not enter a city 11:12 [a]Or holy ones 12:3 [a]Compare Genesis 32:28

11:1–4 God revealed another dimension of His love for Israel in these verses. In addition to loving her as a husband loves a wife, He loved her as a devoted and nurturing parent. Israel's rejection of God's love seemed even more outrageous in light of the tender care and interest He has always had for His cherished children.

11:8 God had sympathy for His people. God did not want to see His people utterly destroyed, as were Admah and Zeboiim, the cities of the plain, destroyed with Sodom and Gomorrah (see Gen. 10:19; 19:24; Deut. 29:23).

11:11 God's repentant people will be returned to their Land. The "lion" simile is used for God. The "roar" of the "lion" suggests a clear and loud call from God to His people. Christ is the Lion of Judah (Rev. 5:5). The "bird" and "dove" images represent Israel. "Bird" and "dove" suggest the swiftness of the future return of God's people. These images strengthen the pictures of divine authority ("lion," Hos. 11:10), violated by Israel's rebellion (v. 12). This return of God's chastened and obedient people took place after they had served their time of punishment in Exile.

12:1 The foolishness of Ephraim's desertion of God culminated in a senseless and ultimately dangerous foreign policy. Here Ephraim is shown courting two foreign powers that were each other's enemy. She made a "covenant" with Assyria, while at the same time paying a tribute of olive "oil" to Egypt. This madness would eventually lead to Ephraim's destruction by these two volatile forces.

The ultimate expectation in Marriage is not in our consensus that we are one, but in our commitment to something bigger than any of us.

Gloria Gaither

He wept, and sought favor from Him.
He found Him in Bethel,
And there He spoke to us—
5That is, the LORD God of hosts.
The LORD is His memorable name.
6So you, by the help of your God, return;
Observe mercy and justice,
And wait on your God continually.

7"A cunning Canaanite!
Deceitful scales are in his hand;
He loves to oppress.
8And Ephraim said,
'Surely I have become rich,
I have found wealth for myself;
In all my labors
They shall find in me no iniquity that is sin.'

9"But I am the LORD your God,
Ever since the land of Egypt;
I will again make you dwell in tents,
As in the days of the appointed feast.
10I have also spoken by the prophets,
And have multiplied visions;
I have given symbols through the witness of the prophets."

11Though Gilead has idols—
Surely they are vanity—
Though they sacrifice bulls in Gilgal,
Indeed their altars shall be heaps in the furrows of the field.

12Jacob fled to the country of Syria;
Israel served for a spouse,
And for a wife he tended sheep.
13By a prophet the LORD brought Israel out of Egypt,
And by a prophet he was preserved.
14Ephraim provoked Him to anger most bitterly;
Therefore his Lord will leave the guilt of his bloodshed upon him,
And return his reproach upon him.

Relentless Judgment on Israel

13 When Ephraim spoke, trembling,
He exalted himself in Israel;
But when he offended through Baal worship, he died.
2Now they sin more and more,
And have made for themselves molded images,
Idols of their silver, according to their skill;
All of it is the work of craftsmen.
They say of them,
"Let the men who sacrifice[a] kiss the calves!"
3Therefore they shall be like the morning cloud
And like the early dew that passes away,
Like chaff blown off from a threshing floor
And like smoke from a chimney.

4"Yet I am the LORD your God
Ever since the land of Egypt,
And you shall know no God but Me;
For there is no savior besides Me.
5I knew you in the wilderness,
In the land of great drought.
6When they had pasture, they were filled;
They were filled and their heart was exalted;
Therefore they forgot Me.

7"So I will be to them like a lion;
Like a leopard by the road I will lurk;
8I will meet them like a bear deprived of her cubs;
I will tear open their rib cage,
And there I will devour them like a lion.
The wild beast shall tear them.

9"O Israel, you are destroyed,[a]
But your help[b] is from Me.
10I will be your King;[a]
Where is any other,
That he may save you in all your cities?
And your judges to whom you said,
'Give me a king and princes'?
11I gave you a king in My anger,
And took him away in My wrath.

12"The iniquity of Ephraim is bound up;
His sin is stored up.
13The sorrows of a woman in childbirth shall come upon him.

13:2 [a]Or those who offer human sacrifice 13:9 [a]Literally it or he destroyed you [b]Literally in your help 13:10 [a]Septuagint, Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate read Where is your king?

12:10 God had not left His people without guidance, warning, and instruction. He had given words and visions to the prophets, as well as using their lives as living parables of His teachings. Hosea's marriage to Gomer is an obvious example.

13:13 God used the familiar figure of a woman giving birth to alert Israel to the fact that the sufferings and calamities she was experiencing ("sorrows of a woman in childbirth") are meant as refining judgments, which could lead Israel to a new

He is an unwise son,
For he should not stay long where children are born.

14 "I will ransom them from the power of the grave;[a]
I will redeem them from death.
O Death, I will be your plagues![b]
O Grave,[c] I will be your destruction![d]
Pity is hidden from My eyes."

15 Though he is fruitful among his brethren,
An east wind shall come;
The wind of the LORD shall come up from the wilderness.
Then his spring shall become dry,
And his fountain shall be dried up.
He shall plunder the treasury of every desirable prize.
16 Samaria is held guilty,[a]
For she has rebelled against her God.
They shall fall by the sword,
Their infants shall be dashed in pieces,
And their women with child ripped open.

Israel Restored at Last

14 O Israel, return to the LORD your God,
For you have stumbled because of your iniquity;
2 Take words with you,
And return to the LORD.
Say to Him,
"Take away all iniquity;
Receive us graciously,
For we will offer the sacrifices[a] of our lips.
3 Assyria shall not save us,
We will not ride on horses,
Nor will we say anymore to the work of our hands, 'You are our gods.'
For in You the fatherless finds mercy."

4 "I will heal their backsliding,
I will love them freely,
For My anger has turned away from him.
5 I will be like the dew to Israel;
He shall grow like the lily,
And lengthen his roots like Lebanon.
6 His branches shall spread;
His beauty shall be like an olive tree,
And his fragrance like Lebanon.
7 Those who dwell under his shadow shall return;
They shall be revived like grain,
And grow like a vine.
Their scent[a] shall be like the wine of Lebanon.

8 "Ephraim shall say, 'What have I to do anymore with idols?'
I have heard and observed him.
I am like a green cypress tree;
Your fruit is found in Me."
9 Who is wise?
Let him understand these things.
Who is prudent?
Let him know them.
For the ways of the LORD are right;
The righteous walk in them,
But transgressors stumble in them.

13:14 [a]Or Sheol [b]Septuagint reads where is your punishment? [c]Or Sheol [d]Septuagint reads where is your sting? 13:16 [a]Septuagint reads shall be disfigured 14:2 [a]Literally bull calves; Septuagint reads fruit. 14:7 [a]Literally remembrance birth. Unwisely, the child refused to heed the signals of birth, and so the womb became a grave.

13:14 God promised to redeem His people even from all-powerful "death." God has authority over death and the "grave." The apostle Paul quoted this verse in his teaching on the Resurrection, where Christ's power over death and hades (Gk., lit. "the place of the dead," the equivalent of Heb. she'ol) is final (see 1 Cor. 15:55, 56).

13:16 Because Samaria rebelled against her covenant with God, she would no longer enjoy His protection when the wrath of her enemies (the "east wind" of Assyria, v. 15) fell upon her. The viciousness of this attack was revealed in the horrific picture of Israel's infants, born and unborn, falling victim to the onslaught.

14:1–3 Hosea issued one final call for true repentance, characterized by both the correct words and the correct actions. Israel must know that only in acknowledging guilt and putting her faith in God alone would she be able to find her Father's mercy.

14:4–7 Hosea portrayed Israel's beautiful restoration. Although Hosea's prophecies have boiled with warnings and threats of God's judgment, which subsequently were fulfilled, he ended his book on a note of hope. The ultimate reunion Hosea and Gomer experienced in their marriage was a picture of Israel's future restoration with the Lord. God's healing and restoring love would endure forever.

HOSEA'S MARRIAGE AND ISRAEL'S APOSTASY

HOSEA'S MARRIAGE	ADVICE FROM ISRAEL'S PROPHETS
The betrothal	Remember "the love of your betrothed" (Jer. 2:2).
Marriage (Hos. 1:2)	Protect and provide for your bride (Ezek. 16:8–14).
Children (Hos. 1:3)	Beware of neglecting your sons and daughters (Ezek. 16:20, 21).
Adultery (Hos. 3:1)	Remain faithful to the covenant of marriage (Jer. 5:7; Ezek. 16:15–34).
Estrangement (Hos. 3:3, 4)	Resolve conflict and rebuild intimacy (Jer. 3:8–10; Ezek. 16:35–52).
Restoration (Hos. 3:5)	Renew marriage vows and rebuild relationship (Ezek. 16:53–63).

Note: The stages in Hosea's relationship with Gomer are illustrative of the stages in Israel's relationship with Yahweh as depicted by the prophets.

Joel

AUTHOR

Joel (Heb. "Yahweh is God"), the son of Pethuel, states that this prophecy is "the word of the LORD" (Joel 1:1). Most scholars agree that Joel was highly educated, perhaps a member of the priesthood, and that he lived in or around Jerusalem. He is mentioned nowhere else in Scripture.

DATE

Several dates have been proposed, ranging from the preexilic time of King Joash (835–796 B.C.) to the postexilic period after or during the restoration of the wall of Jerusalem (400 B.C.), but no date is given in the text. The earlier traditional date has been favored for these reasons:

- the absence of the influence of a king or government in the book (King Joash ascended the throne as a child, and the priest Jehoiada actually ruled);
- the strong influence of the priesthood;
- the names of foreign nations found in the book.

The books of Joel and Amos have similar material (compare Joel 2:2 with Amos 5:18; Joel 3:16 with Amos 2:2; Joel 3:18 with Amos 9:13). These similarities could suggest an eighth century B.C. date for Joel, that Amos preached from the writings of Joel, or that both were inspired with the same prophecies. Fortunately, an understanding of Joel's message does not depend on a precise dating of its composition.

BACKGROUND

SETTING: Joel apparently was a prophet in Judah, the southern kingdom. The capital of Judah was Jerusalem. Joel's frequent references to the temple and its rituals suggest that he was a resident of Jerusalem, and perhaps a priest.

PURPOSE: Joel's prophecy stressed that calamities were judgments from God and warnings of the final judgment to come. He strongly proclaimed that judgment was coming on Judah because of sin, and he exhorted the covenant people to observe the events around them, to repent, and to return wholeheartedly to God. Finally, he wanted to impress on all people that the coming culmination of history would put the scales of God's justice in perfect balance.

AUDIENCE: Joel's message was first to the people in Jerusalem and Judah—they would be judged first and restored first. He boldly identified their sins and called for repentance. Then he expanded his prophecy to include all people—Jew and Gentile, present and future.

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: Joel wove together the three concepts of ruin, repentance, and restoration. His literary style is exceptional and unique in this respect. The focus and clarity of his images are almost lifelike. He builds toward the denouement (the revelation or outcome), and the book is tied together with the powerful and beautiful concluding image of believers living in the presence of a loving and eternal God.

THEMES

Three themes are evident:

- God judges sin;
- God demands repentance; and
- God restores and blesses those who repent and commit themselves to Him.

Overriding these is the dominant idea that God is merciful and patient as seen in His repeated warnings; but there will be an end to His favor. He will judge the unrepentant (those who choose to stand against Him), while blessing the faithful.

OUTLINE

Introduction (1:1)

I. The Locust Plague and the Call to Repentance (1:2–20)
   A. The destruction of the plague (1:2–12)
   B. The instructions to priests and people to repent (1:13, 14)
   C. The devastation of the day of the Lord (1:15–20)

II. The Coming Ruin and Promised Restoration (2:1–27)
   A. A description of the invading army (2:1–11)
   B. The continued call for repentance (2:12–17)
   C. God's promise of restoration (2:18–27)

III. God's Promise of the Holy Spirit (2:28–32)
   A. The availability of the Spirit to all (2:28, 29)
   B. The accessibility of salvation to all (2:30–32)

IV. The Final Day of the Lord, Judgment, and Restoration (3:1–21)
   A. The judgment of the wicked (3:1–16)
   B. The fulfillment of the promised eternal restoration (3:17–21)

The Land Laid Waste

2 Hear this, you elders,
And give ear, all you inhabitants of the land!
Has anything like this happened in your days,
Or even in the days of your fathers?
3 Tell your children about it,
Let your children tell their children,
And their children another generation.

4 What the chewing locust[a] left, the swarming locust has eaten;
What the swarming locust left, the crawling locust has eaten;
And what the crawling locust left, the consuming locust has eaten.

1:4 [a]Exact identity of these locusts is unknown.

1:1 Prophets were responsible for both "forthtelling" the Word of God and "foretelling" the future events ordained by God. Joel (Heb. "Yahweh is God") was the son of Pethuel.

1:2, 3 Joel warned the people not to be lulled into a false sense of security by the good life they had enjoyed. The prophet drew a direct correlation between the devotion and obedience of the people to God and the social and agricultural conditions in the Land (see Lev. 26). The disaster that had occurred must be taught from generation to generation as a reminder that God's final judgment would come surely and swiftly.

1:4 Four kinds of locusts are mentioned: "gnawer," "licker" or "hopper," "devourer" or "stripper," and "masses," describing the activities of the locusts. What the first onslaught of locusts missed, the second would devour, and so on until nothing was left. Locusts multiply at an alarming rate and swarm together in clouds that block the sun. Joel used the locust imagery to describe the final judgment. Strong emphasis is placed on the totality of the destruction that occurred. Joel recognized that as horrific as this calamity was, even more disasters would come unless the people made a complete and immediate return to their exclusive covenant with Yahweh.

5 Awake, you drunkards, and weep;
And wail, all you drinkers of wine,
Because of the new wine,
For it has been cut off from your mouth.
6 For a nation has come up against My land,
Strong, and without number;
His teeth are the teeth of a lion,
And he has the fangs of a fierce lion.
7 He has laid waste My vine,
And ruined My fig tree;
He has stripped it bare and thrown it away;
Its branches are made white.

8 Lament like a virgin girded with sackcloth
For the husband of her youth.
9 The grain offering and the drink offering
Have been cut off from the house of the
LORD;
The priests mourn, who minister to the LORD.
10 The field is wasted,
The land mourns;
For the grain is ruined,
The new wine is dried up,
The oil fails.

11 Be ashamed, you farmers,
Wail, you vinedressers,
For the wheat and the barley;
Because the harvest of the field has perished.
12 The vine has dried up,
And the fig tree has withered;
The pomegranate tree,
The palm tree also,
And the apple tree—
All the trees of the field are withered;
Surely joy has withered away from the sons of men.

Mourning for the Land

13 Gird yourselves and lament, you priests;
Wail, you who minister before the altar;
Come, lie all night in sackcloth,
You who minister to my God;
For the grain offering and the drink offering
Are withheld from the house of your God.
14 Consecrate a fast,
Call a sacred assembly;
Gather the elders
And all the inhabitants of the land
Into the house of the LORD your God,
And cry out to the LORD.

15 Alas for the day!
For the day of the LORD is at hand;
It shall come as destruction from the Almighty.
16 Is not the food cut off before our eyes,
Joy and gladness from the house of our God?
17 The seed shrivels under the clods,
Storehouses are in shambles;
Barns are broken down,
For the grain has withered.
18 How the animals groan!
The herds of cattle are restless,
Because they have no pasture;
Even the flocks of sheep suffer punishment.[a]

19 O LORD, to You I cry out;
For fire has devoured the open pastures,
And a flame has burned all the trees of the field.
20 The beasts of the field also cry out to You,
For the water brooks are dried up,
And fire has devoured the open pastures.

1:18 [a]Septuagint and Vulgate read are made desolate.

1:5 The prophet wanted the people to understand why God sent the locust plague to impact the drunkards, farmers, and priests (vv. 5–13) and how this plague would affect God's purpose for His people (vv. 14–20). Because the vineyards, which were not inherently evil, had been consumed by the locusts, there was no wine, a sign that God's blessing had departed from the Land.

1:6 Far worse than the scourge of locusts were the Assyrian (8th century B.C.) and Babylonian (6th century B.C.) invasions that came upon Israel and Judah. The plague was judgment in the present and warning for the future. Prosperity had lulled the people into complacency and moral decadence.

1:7 The fig tree and vine are references to ancient Israel (see Is. 5:1–7; Matt. 21:18, 19).

1:8 The Jewish nation is described as a virgin throughout Scripture (see Jer. 14:17). Sackcloth (usually woven of black goat's hair) was worn during times of mourning. Joel described the inconsolable grief of a virgin at the death of her betrothed prior to consummation of the marriage. Her opportunities for marriage would be almost non-existent. Israel's grief would be likewise inconsolable.

1:9, 10 The priests and the farmers were to mourn, not only for their livelihood, which had been destroyed, but also because the sacrifices and feasts of the Lord had been reduced or canceled by the devastation. Grain, wine, and oil were essential elements of sacrifice, and the locust plague destroyed them. The sacrifices were prerequisite for God to meet with His people. For Israel, suspension of the daily sacrifices implied a break in their fellowship with God.

1:11, 12 The nation faced starvation, for the grains (wheat and barley) and fruits (dates, apples, grapes, figs, and pomegranates) had been destroyed. Since abundant crops and food were signs of God's blessing, the destruction of the harvest was a severe indictment.

1:14 This key verse instructs all to repent, to fast, and to cry out to the Lord. God never leaves His people without recourse.

1:15 In Egypt the plague of locusts came before the plagues of darkness and death (Ex. 10:21–29; 11; 12:29, 30). Joel viewed this locust plague as a harbinger of worse things to come. God protected and delivered His people when He brought plagues on the Egyptians. Now His own people would experience a taste of what it was like to be an enemy of God.

The Day of the LORD

2 Blow the trumpet in Zion,
And sound an alarm in My holy mountain!
Let all the inhabitants of the land tremble;
For the day of the LORD is coming,
For it is at hand:
2 A day of darkness and gloominess,
A day of clouds and thick darkness,
Like the morning clouds spread over the mountains.
A people come, great and strong,
The like of whom has never been;
Nor will there ever be any such after them,
Even for many successive generations.

3 A fire devours before them,
And behind them a flame burns;
The land is like the Garden of Eden before them,
And behind them a desolate wilderness;
Surely nothing shall escape them.
4 Their appearance is like the appearance of horses;
And like swift steeds, so they run.
5 With a noise like chariots
Over mountaintops they leap,
Like the noise of a flaming fire that devours the stubble,
Like a strong people set in battle array.

6 Before them the people writhe in pain;
All faces are drained of color.[a]
7 They run like mighty men,
They climb the wall like men of war;
Every one marches in formation,
And they do not break ranks.
8 They do not push one another;
Every one marches in his own column.[a]
Though they lunge between the weapons,
They are not cut down.[b]
9 They run to and fro in the city,
They run on the wall;
They climb into the houses,
They enter at the windows like a thief.

10 The earth quakes before them,
The heavens tremble;
The sun and moon grow dark,
And the stars diminish their brightness.
11 The LORD gives voice before His army,
For His camp is very great;
For strong is the One who executes His word.
For the day of the LORD is great and very terrible;
Who can endure it?

A Call to Repentance

12 "Now, therefore," says the LORD,
"Turn to Me with all your heart,
With fasting, with weeping, and with mourning."
13 So rend your heart, and not your garments;
Return to the LORD your God,
For He is gracious and merciful,
Slow to anger, and of great kindness;
And He relents from doing harm.
14 Who knows if He will turn and relent,
And leave a blessing behind Him—
A grain offering and a drink offering
For the LORD your God?

15 Blow the trumpet in Zion,
Consecrate a fast,
Call a sacred assembly;

2:6 [a]Septuagint, Targum, and Vulgate read gather blackness. 2:8 [a]Literally his own highway [b]That is, they are not halted by losses

2:1 The trumpet (Heb. shophar) was a ram's horn, blown to alert people of impending danger, the start of the Sabbath, the beginning of the month, and the celebration of various feasts. The holy mount is the Temple Mount in Jerusalem. At this point, Joel shifted images from that of an army of locusts to an actual invading army. Locust invasions were normally from the south or southeast, but this army came out of the north and was the instrument of the Lord for destruction to turn the people back to Him (v. 20).

2:1 The day of the Lord may refer to any time God intervenes actively to judge or to bless but always points to that final day of judgment at the end of history. The phrase is particularly associated with the latter days and that "great and awesome day of the LORD" (Joel 2:31; see also Ezek. 30:3; Acts 2:20; 2 Pet. 3:10).

2:3–11 Another description of the day of the Lord is revealed, more terrible than the previous one when the locusts covered the land. This description vividly pictures the invasion of a foreign army, the captivity of Israel, and the punishment of Judah. However, even this calamity pales in comparison to the final divine judgment of those who refuse Christ.

2:10, 11 This description of cosmic disturbance depicted the divine commander as the leader, initiator, and conductor of judgment (Is. 13:13).

2:12–17 This appeal for a change of heart was initiated by the Lord. In the face of calamity, the only effective response was to call on the Lord Almighty.

2:13 When tragedy occurred, the proper expression of mourning was to smear the head with ashes, tear garments, and put on sackcloth. God instructed the people that He was not interested in outward expressions but in a broken and contrite heart (1 Sam. 16:7).

2:13, 14 Sin breaks the heart of God more than the rules of God. God seeks your repentance and the restoration of your relationship to Him. In His sovereignty, He can bring blessings from the most tragic and traumatic situations (Rom. 8:28–30). By mentioning the grain and drink offering, the prophet indicated that it is a privilege and a blessing to worship God.

16 Gather the people,
Sanctify the congregation,
Assemble the elders,
Gather the children and nursing babes;
Let the bridegroom go out from his chamber,
And the bride from her dressing room.
17 Let the priests, who minister to the LORD,
Weep between the porch and the altar;
Let them say, "Spare Your people, O LORD,
And do not give Your heritage to reproach,
That the nations should rule over them.
Why should they say among the peoples,
'Where is their God?' "

The Land Refreshed

18 Then the LORD will be zealous for His land,
And pity His people.
19 The LORD will answer and say to His people,
"Behold, I will send you grain and new wine and oil,
And you will be satisfied by them;
I will no longer make you a reproach among the nations.

20 "But I will remove far from you the northern army,
And will drive him away into a barren and desolate land,
With his face toward the eastern sea
And his back toward the western sea;
His stench will come up,
And his foul odor will rise,
Because he has done monstrous things."

21 Fear not, O land;
Be glad and rejoice,
For the LORD has done marvelous things!
22 Do not be afraid, you beasts of the field;
For the open pastures are springing up,
And the tree bears its fruit;
The fig tree and the vine yield their strength.
23 Be glad then, you children of Zion,
And rejoice in the LORD your God;
For He has given you the former rain faithfully,[a]
And He will cause the rain to come down for you—
The former rain,
And the latter rain in the first month.
24 The threshing floors shall be full of wheat,
And the vats shall overflow with new wine and oil.

25 "So I will restore to you the years that the swarming locust has eaten,
The crawling locust,
The consuming locust,
And the chewing locust,[a]
My great army which I sent among you.
26 You shall eat in plenty and be satisfied,
And praise the name of the LORD your God,
Who has dealt wondrously with you;
And My people shall never be put to shame.
27 Then you shall know that I am in the midst of Israel:
I am the LORD your God
And there is no other.
My people shall never be put to shame.

God's Spirit Poured Out

28 "And it shall come to pass afterward
That I will pour out My Spirit on all flesh;
Your sons and your daughters shall prophesy,
Your old men shall dream dreams,
Your young men shall see visions.
29 And also on My menservants and on My maidservants
I will pour out My Spirit in those days.

30 "And I will show wonders in the heavens and in the earth:
Blood and fire and pillars of smoke.
31 The sun shall be turned into darkness,
And the moon into blood,

2:23 [a]Or the teacher of righteousness 2:25 [a]Compare 1:4

2:16 All were to gather at the sacred assembly to weep and pray (v. 17). None was exempt, not even those normally excused, such as nursing mothers and children and those about to be married (see Deut. 24:5). Extreme urgency was expressed in the tone of the words.

2:18–25 When God's people repented, the Land would be restored. This theme of sin and restoration permeates Scripture (Gen. 3:13–24; Lev. 26:3, 4). Sin never occurs in isolation; it is always social in nature and influence.

2:25–27 God's grace would return the time spent in judgment. The statement implied that when repentance occurred, joy would be of such magnitude that former times of sorrow and pain would be erased.

2:28, 29 After judgment, God's Spirit would be poured out on all His people, regardless of age, sex, or social class. Twice Joel stated that the outpouring of the Spirit would include women. Paul reinforced this principle of equality in Christ (Gal. 3:28). This outpouring differed from the OT pattern, in which God poured out His Spirit on an individual for a particular task. This prophecy declared that God's Spirit would be given to all believers. Peter quoted this passage at Pentecost (Acts 2:17–21) to explain the manifestation of the Holy Spirit upon believers. Jesus anticipated this same outpouring of the Spirit upon His followers (John 14:15–17; 16:7–15).

2:30, 31 Cosmic cataclysm announced the "day of the LORD." The progression is from the locusts (whether in Egypt or in Joel's time) to the invading army, to any time of judgment, to the final judgment. Every calamity is a reminder of the great and final judgment.

You cannot be half a saint. You must be a whole saint or no saint at all.

St. Therese of Lisieux

Before the coming of the great and awesome
day of the LORD.
32 And it shall come to pass
That whoever calls on the name of the LORD
Shall be saved.
For in Mount Zion and in Jerusalem there shall be deliverance,
As the LORD has said,
Among the remnant whom the LORD calls.

God Judges the Nations

3 "For behold, in those days and at that time,
When I bring back the captives of Judah and
Jerusalem,
2 I will also gather all nations,
And bring them down to the Valley of Jehoshaphat;
And I will enter into judgment with them
there
On account of My people, My heritage Israel,
Whom they have scattered among the nations;
They have also divided up My land.
3 They have cast lots for My people,
Have given a boy as payment for a harlot,
And sold a girl for wine, that they may drink.

4 "Indeed, what have you to do with Me,
O Tyre and Sidon, and all the coasts of Philistia?
Will you retaliate against Me?
But if you retaliate against Me, Swiftly and speedily I will return your retaliation upon your own head;
5 Because you have taken My silver and My gold,
And have carried into your temples My prized possessions.
6 Also the people of Judah and the people of Jerusalem
You have sold to the Greeks,
That you may remove them far from their borders.

7 "Behold, I will raise them
Out of the place to which you have sold them,
And will return your retaliation upon your own head.
8 I will sell your sons and your daughters
Into the hand of the people of Judah,
And they will sell them to the Sabeans,[a]
To a people far off;
For the LORD has spoken."

9 Proclaim this among the nations:
"Prepare for war!
Wake up the mighty men,
Let all the men of war draw near,
Let them come up.
10 Beat your plowshares into swords
And your pruning hooks into spears;
Let the weak say, 'I am strong.' "
11 Assemble and come, all you nations,
And gather together all around.
Cause Your mighty ones to go down there,
O LORD.

12 "Let the nations be wakened, and come up to the Valley of Jehoshaphat;
For there I will sit to judge all the surrounding
nations.
13 Put in the sickle, for the harvest is ripe.
Come, go down;
For the winepress is full,
The vats overflow—
For their wickedness is great."

3:8 [a]Literally Shebaites (compare Isaiah 60:6 and Ezekiel 27:22)

2:32 The salvation of God is available to all who call on the name of the Lord. There is salvation in no other name (John 3:36; Acts 4:12; Rom. 10:13). God is Creator, Jesus is Lord and Redeemer, and the Holy Spirit is Sustainer.

3:1 God will restore the Jews to their Land, their fortunes, and the covenant He made with them (Jer. 30:18; 31:23). God will judge the nations concerning their treatment of His people (Rom. 11:25, 26). God will initiate the final day of judgment, and He will bring all the nations to the Valley of Jehoshaphat (lit., "Yahweh judges"). This valley's importance is more theological than topographical. The character of the judgment, not the location, is emphasized (Joel 3:12).

3:4 The neighbors who perennially harassed Judah included Tyre, Sidon, Philistia, Egypt, and Edom (v. 19). Many of these nations engaged in slave trade. Punishment would be delivered especially for two crimes—the looting of treasures (probably from the temple in Jerusalem) and the selling of God's people into slavery.

3:9–12 Joel deliberately reversed the commands in which the peace and blessings of the messianic kingdom were anticipated (Is. 2:4; Mic. 4:3). The time for peace had not yet arrived. The present time, declared Joel, would be a time for war. The nations would gather their forces, but the Sovereign Lord would not be anxious or moved. He would be the final judge. Joel 3:12 offers great hope for the believer.

3:13 Joel used an agricultural theme throughout the book. Now the harvest imagery changed from grains and wine to the destruction and judgment of the enemies of God.

14 Multitudes, multitudes in the valley of decision!
For the day of the LORD is near in the valley of
decision.
15 The sun and moon will grow dark,
And the stars will diminish their brightness.
16 The LORD also will roar from Zion,
And utter His voice from Jerusalem;
The heavens and earth will shake;
But the LORD will be a shelter for His
people,
And the strength of the children of Israel.

17 "So you shall know that I am the LORD your
God,
Dwelling in Zion My holy mountain.
Then Jerusalem shall be holy,
And no aliens shall ever pass through her again."

God Blesses His People

18 And it will come to pass in that day
That the mountains shall drip with new wine,
The hills shall flow with milk,
And all the brooks of Judah shall be flooded with water;
A fountain shall flow from the house of the LORD
And water the Valley of Acacias.

19 "Egypt shall be a desolation,
And Edom a desolate wilderness,
Because of violence against the people of Judah,
For they have shed innocent blood in their
land.
20 But Judah shall abide forever,
And Jerusalem from generation to generation.
21 For I will acquit them of the guilt of bloodshed, whom I had not acquitted;
For the LORD dwells in Zion."

3:14–16 The valley of decision (which may be the same as the Valley of Jehoshaphat) refers to the verdict of the Lord as He carried out His divine judgment on the nations. The time for decisions by individuals is past—now God would judge and decree punishment. One of the saddest features in these verses is the reference to "multitudes," suggesting innumerable people. The certainty of final judgment must prompt believers to commit themselves to God and to call unbelievers to repentance.

3:16 The climax of the battle is described in poetic terms, enabling the reader to picture the judgment of God more vividly. While the heavens and earth are shaking, the Lord will be a shelter for His people.

3:17–21 The prophet described the hope and goal of all prophecy—a time when God would dwell with His people and the joy of His presence would exist forever (Rev. 21:3, 4). Joel emphasized that the people of God would dwell in the holy place of God (Jerusalem) in the beautiful Promised Land.

3:18 Joel spoke of the same river the prophet John mentioned (Rev. 22:1, 2).

3:20, 21 The judgment for sin will finally be over. Atonement for the enormous bloodguilt of God's people was finally and completely made by Jesus Christ in His death on the Cross (Heb. 9:28; 10:10). Joel reiterated the promise that the people of God would return to their Land and to Jerusalem, and God would reign and live in Zion with His people forever.

Amos

AUTHOR

Traditionally, authorship of the Book of Amos has been ascribed to the eighth century B.C. prophet bearing that name (Amos 1:1). Amos laid claim to God's call to prophesy (Amos 7:14, 15), but he denied association with the group of professional prophets, many of whom made their living by prophesying only what the people and leaders of Israel wanted to hear. Amos earned his living as a sheepbreeder, and he had a seasonal job as a tender of sycamore fruit, slitting the "poor man's figs" to make them sweeter and softer for market (Amos 7:14). He was a native of Tekoa, a city located in Judah, approximately ten miles south of Jerusalem. Amos was not necessarily a poor man. Yet he left all when the Lord called him to go as a foreign missionary from the southern kingdom to the northern kingdom of Israel. Amos (lit. "burdened" or "burden bearer") delivered a weighty message from the Lord to His wayward people.

DATE

Amos' prophecy is placed during the reigns of Uzziah in Judah (792–740 B.C.) and Jeroboam II in Israel (793–753 B.C.; see Amos 1:1). A definite date for his initial prophecy is noted as "two years before the earthquake" (Amos 1:1), but an exact date for the quake is not known. It is placed in the reign of Uzziah (Zech. 14:5). Archaeological evidence from the excavation at Hazor suggests a date of 765–760 B.C. for the earthquake. A specific prophecy regarding the imminent doom of "the house of Jeroboam" (Amos 7:9) would also support a date for Amos' ministry near the end of Jeroboam's reign around 760 B.C.

BACKGROUND

SETTING: Israel was enjoying a golden age of peace and prosperity in its history. Jeroboam II had extended Israel's borders (2 Kin. 14:23–25). The nation was free from external pressures. In this pleasant environment, God's people had forgotten Him. They had divided themselves into a two-class society—the wealthy and the poor. They were religious but not righteous, tracing their wayward religious practices back to Jeroboam I, who set up pagan worship centers in Dan and Bethel.

PURPOSE: Amos indicted Israel for four major sins: inhumane treatment of others, mistreatment of the poor, false pride in their wealth and race, and insincere worship. Although God's people regularly participated in religious activities, their lives did not demonstrate what they professed. Thus, Amos announced Israel's day of judgment, which he designated "the day of the Lord" (Amos 5:18–20).

AUDIENCE: Amos' audience consisted of the inhabitants of the northern kingdom of Israel.

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: Much of the Book of Amos is written in Hebrew poetry, characterized by rhythm instead of rhyme. Amos utilized a numerical pattern in the oracles or prophecies against the nations (Amos 1—2).

THEMES

The primary theme of the Book of Amos is the Lord's judgment on His people. Israel would face God's judgment and go into exile because of sin (Amos 7:17). They acted with injustice toward the poor and needy. The message of Amos is relevant for affluent societies in all generations. Amos appropriately is designated "the prophet of God's justice" (see Amos 5:24).

OUTLINE

Introduction (1:1, 2)

I. The Words of Amos (1:3—6:14)
   A. Judgment on the nations (1:3—2:3)
   B. Judgment on God's people (2:4—6:14)
      1. The judgment on Judah (2:4, 5)
      2. The judgment on Israel (2:6–8)
      3. The Lord's relationship with Israel (2:9–12)
      4. The consequences of disobedience (2:13—3:15)
      5. God's warnings and wooings (4:1—5:17)
      6. The woes of ungodliness (5:18—6:14)
         a. Against the self-righteous (5:18–27)
         b. Against the self-confident (6:1, 2)
         c. Against the self-indulgent (6:3–7)
         d. Against the proud (6:8–14)

II. The Visions of Amos: Revelation, Resistance, and Restoration (7:1—9:15)
   A. The vision of swarms of locusts (7:1–3)
   B. The vision of the devouring fire (7:4–6)
   C. The vision of the plumb line (7:7–9)
   D. The confrontation of Amaziah by Amos (7:10–17)
   E. The vision of the basket of summer fruit (8:1–14)
   F. The vision of the Lord by the altar (9:1–10)
   G. The restoration of Israel: hope for the future (9:11–15)

1 The words of Amos, who was among the sheep-breeders[a] of Tekoa, which he saw concerning Israel in the days of Uzziah king of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam the son of Joash, king of Israel, two years before the earthquake.

2 And he said:

"The LORD roars from Zion,
And utters His voice from Jerusalem;
The pastures of the shepherds mourn,
And the top of Carmel withers."

Judgment on the Nations

3 Thus says the LORD:

"For three transgressions of Damascus, and for four,
I will not turn away its punishment,
Because they have threshed Gilead with implements of iron.
4 But I will send a fire into the house of Hazael,

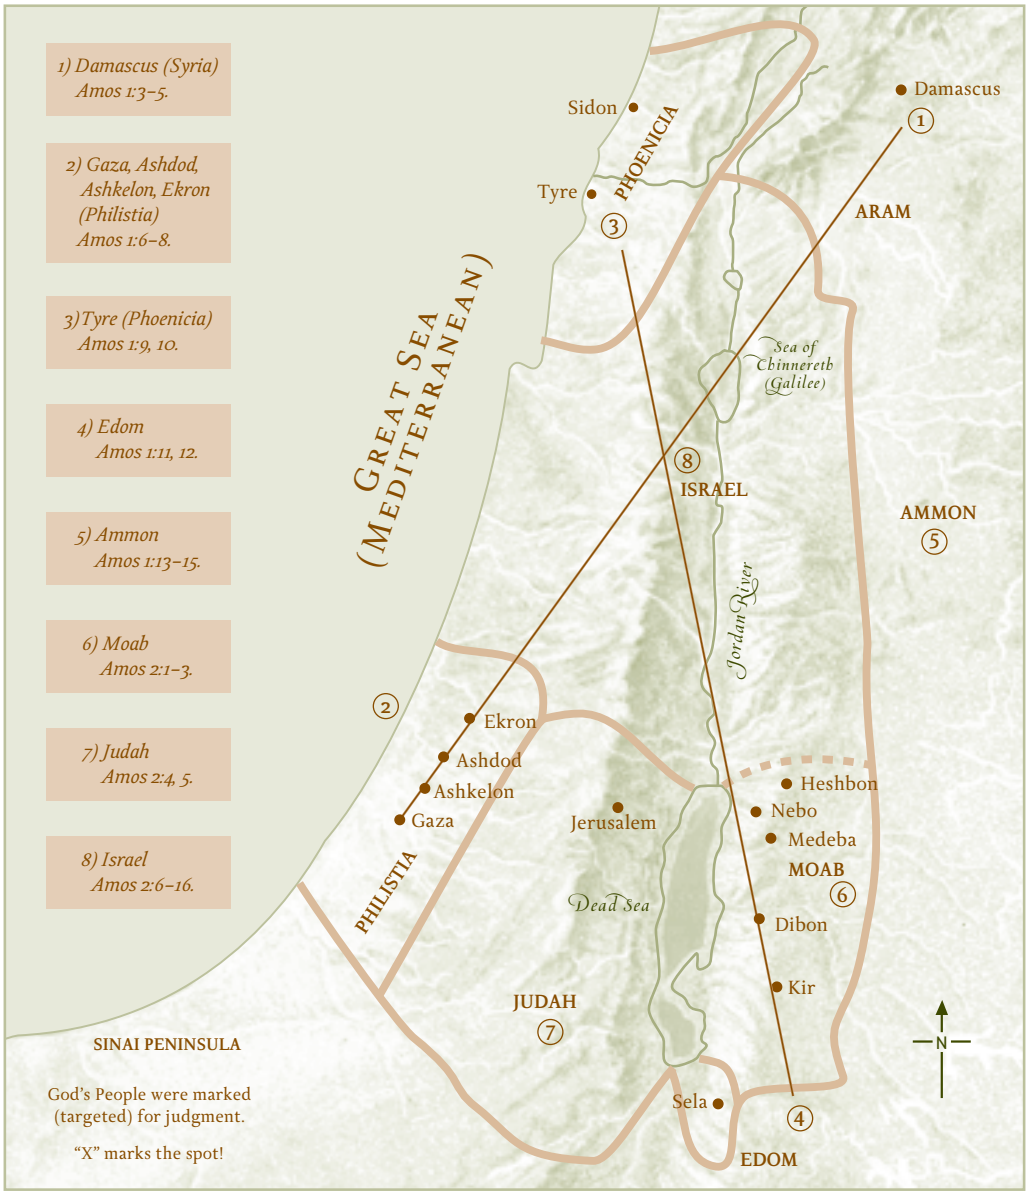
1:1 [a]Compare 2 Kings 3:4

1:3—2:3 Amos described the reasons for God's judgment on six neighbors of Israel and Judah. These nations were condemned primarily for their inhumane treatment of others. The basic structure for each announcement of judgment is as follows: the introductory formula, the charge, the specific punishment, and the concluding formula. God would not revoke or "turn away" His judgment on the nations (Amos 1:3, 6, 9, 11, 13; 2:1).

1:3 A specific pattern is generally repeated with each announcement of judgment on a nation. "For three transgressions . . . and for four" begins each oracle (vv. 3, 6, 9, 11, 13; Amos 2:1, 4, 6). The phrase "three transgressions" indicates that the Lord has had enough of the people's sin. "Transgressions" often refers to rebellion or deliberate revolt (see Ps. 32:1, 2, note). "Four" represents the fact that their sin is overflowing and intolerable. Damascus had sinned again and again. They had reached the limit, and God's judgment upon them was now certain. Most mothers have felt frustration similar to this when a child disobeys again and again and correction is made with boundaries clearly defined. Finally, punishment comes swiftly and effectively.

1:3–5 Damascus, the capital of Syria, was indicted for cruelty in warfare toward Gilead, their less powerful neighbors to the south. "Implements of iron," normally used to thresh grain,

ORACLES AGAINST THE NATIONS



Which shall devour the palaces of Ben-Hadad.
5 I will also break the gate bar of Damascus,
And cut off the inhabitant from the Valley of Aven,
And the one who holds the scepter from Beth Eden.
The people of Syria shall go captive to Kir,"
Says the LORD.

may have been used by the Syrians to rake over their prisoners of war. Hazael murdered Ben-Hadad and succeeded him as king of Syria. Both led border wars against Israel (v. 4; see 2 Kin. 6:24, 25; 8:7–15; 10:32, 33; 13:3; see chart, The Kings of Syria). "Fire" symbolizes warfare.

6 Thus says the LORD:

"For three transgressions of Gaza, and for four,
I will not turn away its punishment,
Because they took captive the whole captivity
To deliver them up to Edom.
7 But I will send a fire upon the wall of Gaza,
Which shall devour its palaces.
8 I will cut off the inhabitant from Ashdod,
And the one who holds the scepter from Ashkelon;
I will turn My hand against Ekron,
And the remnant of the Philistines shall perish,"
Says the Lord GOD.

9 Thus says the LORD:

"For three transgressions of Tyre, and for four,
I will not turn away its punishment,
Because they delivered up the whole captivity to Edom,
And did not remember the covenant of brotherhood.
10 But I will send a fire upon the wall of Tyre,
Which shall devour its palaces."

11 Thus says the LORD:

"For three transgressions of Edom, and for four,
I will not turn away its punishment,
Because he pursued his brother with the sword,
And cast off all pity;
His anger tore perpetually,
And he kept his wrath forever.
12 But I will send a fire upon Teman,
Which shall devour the palaces of Bozrah."

13 Thus says the LORD:

"For three transgressions of the people of Ammon, and for four,
I will not turn away its punishment,
Because they ripped open the women with child in Gilead,
That they might enlarge their territory.
14 But I will kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah,
And it shall devour its palaces,
Amid shouting in the day of battle,
And a tempest in the day of the whirlwind.
15 Their king shall go into captivity,
He and his princes together,"
Says the LORD.

2 Thus says the LORD:

"For three transgressions of Moab, and for four,
I will not turn away its punishment,
Because he burned the bones of the king of Edom to lime.
2 But I will send a fire upon Moab,
And it shall devour the palaces of Kerioth;
Moab shall die with tumult,
With shouting and trumpet sound.
3 And I will cut off the judge from its midst,
And slay all its princes with him,"
Says the LORD.

1:6–8 Gaza was the chief Philistine city during the time of Amos and one of a league of five Philistine cities located southwest of Israel. The Philistines were indicted for slave trade with Edom. Their sin was compounded by the fact that they carried an entire people into captivity (v. 6), leaving no hope for repopulation.

1:9, 10 Tyre, a prominent Phoenician city, disregarded basic human rights. Phoenicia was located northwest of Israel in what is modern Lebanon. Tyre received condemnation for delivering an entire population to Edom. They went beyond the sin of the Philistines with the added treachery of attacking their allies, thus violating "the covenant of brotherhood" (v. 9). This covenant may refer to the relationship of friendship and mutual assistance established between kings David and Solomon of Israel and Hiram of Tyre (v. 9; see 2 Sam. 5:11; 1 Kin. 5:1–11).

1:11, 12 The inhabitants of Edom descended from Esau, the brother of Jacob. Hostility between the twins Jacob and Esau began in their mother's womb, persisted throughout their lives, and continued in their descendants. The Edomites refused passage through their land to the children of Israel bound for Canaan (Num. 20:14–21). They served as the intermediary for the slave trade between the Philistines and Phoenicians and distant nations (Amos 1:11).

1:13–15 The Ammonites, descendants of Lot, lived north of Moab east of the Jordan River. Ripping open pregnant women, a means of controlling the population in neighboring Gilead, alludes to a common wartime atrocity in the ancient Near East. A sword was used to slash open the stomachs of pregnant women and rip the unborn baby from the womb (see 2 Kin. 8:12; 15:16; Hos. 13:16). This barbaric practice is documented in an Assyrian text praising Tiglath-Pileser I (about 1100 B.C.) and in Homer's Iliad, which advises that not even "the manchild whom his mother bears in her womb" be allowed to escape from battle. Amos cited this atrocity as evidence of the depth of depravity of those who consumed the poor, the weak, and the helpless. For any society, killing the unborn child is the ultimate sin against the helpless (see Gen. 9, Sanctity of Life; Jer. 1, Abortion). The Ammonites engaged in this cruelty for the purpose of enlarging their own borders. Rabbah served as the capital of Ammon (Amos 1:14).

2:1–3 Moab was situated east of the Dead Sea between Ammon and Edom. The Moabites descended from Lot. The exact nature of Moab's crime is unclear. Probably the reference is to violating the sanctity of a tomb and treating the remains of a dead Edomite king with indignity. Punishment came in the form of "fire" or warfare (v. 2). Kerioth was a major city of Moab (Jer. 48:41).

Judgment on Judah

4 Thus says the LORD:

"For three transgressions of Judah, and for four,
I will not turn away its punishment,
Because they have despised the law of the LORD,
And have not kept His commandments.
Their lies lead them astray,
Lies which their fathers followed.
5 But I will send a fire upon Judah,
And it shall devour the palaces of Jerusalem."

Judgment on Israel

6 Thus says the LORD:

"For three transgressions of Israel, and for four,
I will not turn away its punishment,
Because they sell the righteous for silver,
And the poor for a pair of sandals.
7 They pant after[a] the dust of the earth which is on the head of the poor,
And pervert the way of the humble.
A man and his father go in to the same girl,
To defile My holy name.
8 They lie down by every altar on clothes taken in pledge,
And drink the wine of the condemned in the house of their god.

9 "Yet it was I who destroyed the Amorite before them,
Whose height was like the height of the cedars,
And he was as strong as the oaks;
Yet I destroyed his fruit above
And his roots beneath.
10 Also it was I who brought you up from the land of Egypt,
And led you forty years through the wilderness,
To possess the land of the Amorite.
11 I raised up some of your sons as prophets,
And some of your young men as Nazirites.
Is it not so, O you children of Israel?"
Says the LORD.
12 "But you gave the Nazirites wine to drink,
And commanded the prophets saying,
'Do not prophesy!'

13 "Behold, I am weighed down by you,
As a cart full of sheaves is weighed down.
14 Therefore flight shall perish from the swift,
The strong shall not strengthen his power,
Nor shall the mighty deliver himself;
15 He shall not stand who handles the bow,
The swift of foot shall not escape,
Nor shall he who rides a horse deliver himself.
16 The most courageous men of might Shall flee naked in that day,"
Says the LORD.

Authority of the Prophet's Message

3 Hear this word that the LORD has spoken against you, O children of Israel, against the

2:7 [a]Or trample on

2:4, 5 Amos denounced Judah, having the rapt attention of his audience in Israel. The inhabitants of Judah, who had sunk to the level of the pagan nations, were condemned because they "despised the law of the LORD" (the revelation of God's will and way) and did not obey the Torah. "Lies" refers to idolatry (v. 4). The Lord's people were held accountable for the greater revelation they had received.

2:6–16 The indictment against Israel is the most lengthy of Amos' pronouncements against the nations. The prophet especially pointed out the crimes against their own countrymen. The poor of the land were being sold for money (silver) or property (represented by "a pair of sandals," the most insignificant item) because they could not pay debts owed to wealthy creditors (see also Ruth 4:7, note, for another reference to the sandal).

2:7, 8 Both son and father consorted sexually with the same maiden, a practice forbidden in Israel (Lev. 18:8, 15; 20:11; Deut. 22:30; 23:17, 18). They compounded their sin of sensual indulgence with idolatry, perhaps the practice of cultic prostitution associated with the worship of Baal. Here the worshipers lay down by the altars for luxurious religious feasts on garments taken in pledge, in order to keep their own clothing clean. The borrowed clothes were to have been returned before sundown so that the owners would not be deprived of their coverings (Ex. 22:26, 27). The idol worshipers indulged themselves at the expense of the poor. They went to the place of worship but defied God's Law and brought more misery to the least of His people.

2:9–12 The Lord rehearsed His mighty acts on behalf of His people accompanied by a note of His exasperation with their disobedience (vv. 13–16). God raised up prophets to instruct His people in righteousness and Nazirites to be an example of devotion to the Lord by separating themselves from wine or strong drink, the razor, and dead bodies (v. 12; Num. 6:1–8). The Israelites rejected the message of the prophets and ridiculed the Nazirite vow (Amos 2:12). Amos had experienced firsthand Israel's sin of commanding the prophets not to prophesy (v. 12, see Amos 7:12, 13, 16).

2:13–16 The Lord's judgment on Israel was inevitable and inescapable. A cart weighed down with sheaves would have been a common sight and illustrated graphically how God was burdened with the sins of His people (v. 13). The tragic irony lay in the fact that the Lord had used Israel to destroy the sinful Amorites who previously occupied the Land (v. 10). Now Israel had fallen into the same sins as the Amorites. They, too, would face God's judgment at the hands of an invading nation.

3:1, 2 The people of Israel had experienced a unique, covenant relationship with the Lord because He had elected them from

MARRIAGE PRINCIPLES FROM GOD

Marriage is the oldest relationship in the world, established by a sovereign Creator in the Garden of Eden. In that beautiful, perfect setting, God organized the home by assigning roles and defining responsibilities to Adam and Eve.

Adam was to be the provider ("to tend" the garden), the protector ("and keep" the garden), and the leader ("the Lord God commanded the man . . ."). His assigned occupation was to care for the garden and those in it (Gen. 2:15–17). This demanded the type of servant leadership emulated by Jesus (see Eph. 5:21–33). Certainly there is no room for abuse or tyranny directed to a wife on the part of her husband, nor is there the option of a wife's willful disregard for her husband's leadership.

The woman's responsibilities were several: She was to be a "helper" (Gen. 2:18), a comforter (Gen. 24:67), and an encourager (Prov. 31:12, 26). Eve was Adam's partner for carrying out God's purpose to multiply and replenish the earth (Gen. 1:28). She was to be his closest earthly companion, relieving his loneliness (Gen. 2:18).

When sin entered the world, chaos followed. God's plan did not change, but it was distorted by the sinful choices of Adam and Eve and their descendants. God let Adam and Eve choose to sin, but He did not let them choose sin's consequences. Fear emerged; they were afraid to face God because of their disobedience (Gen. 3:10). They were cast out of their idyllic home with this foretelling: Adam's work would become difficult because he would have to contend with thorns and thistles (Gen. 3:17, 18), and Eve would suffer pain in childbirth (Gen. 3:16). Adam and Eve and their posterity would have spiritual warfare until the end of time.

Despite the failure of Adam and Eve, God's principles for marriage have remained the same—according to their God-defined roles, husbands are to use their God-given authority to provide, to protect, and to love (Gen. 2:15–17; Eph. 5:25), and wives are to help their husbands and submit to their God-directed leadership (Gen. 2:18; Eph. 5:23, 24). Husbands and wives can ignore God's program for the home, but when a spiritual principle is violated, division is the result. They can seek to redefine God's plan according to their own desires and circumstances, but ultimately human wisdom cannot compete with the all-wise God. There can be no unity, no contentment, and no peace—only a house divided—in a marriage that defies God's principles. Husbands and wives are challenged to spend time, energy, and creativity looking for ways to conform to servant leadership and Christlike submission.

earth;
Therefore I will punish you for all your iniquities."

3Can two walk together, unless they are agreed?
4Will a lion roar in the forest, when he has no prey?
Will a young lion cry out of his den, if he has caught nothing?
5Will a bird fall into a snare on the earth, where there is no trap for it?
Will a snare spring up from the earth, if it has caught nothing at all?
6If a trumpet is blown in a city, will not the people be afraid?
If there is calamity in a city, will not the LORD have done it?

7Surely the Lord GOD does nothing,
Unless He reveals His secret to His servants
the prophets.
8A lion has roared!
Who will not fear?
The Lord GOD has spoken!

among all the nations to be His people. They had forgotten that along with covenant promise comes covenant responsibility. Israel's special relationship with the Lord did not result in immunity from the Lord's judgment. Instead His suzerainty covenant (between unequal parties) formed the basis for God's judgment of His people (see Ex. 19:5, note). If God had not judged His people, He would have been in violation of His own covenant. "Iniquities" refers to moral crookedness and perversion (Amos. 3:2; see Ps. 32:1, 2, note).

3:3–8 The rhetorical questions raised reveal that events do not occur in nature or history without causes. The first six questions needed no response. However, the 7th did: Can God bring about calamity (Is. 45:7; see Ex. 14; Josh. 6, Justice)? God had pronounced certain disaster: The appointment had been made, the lion had roared, the trap had been set, and the trumpet had blown (Amos 3:7, 8). Amos explained the cause behind His preaching as the call of the Lord (v. 8). The Lord desired to disclose Himself and His ways to His servants the prophets so they could deliver His words before God carried out His judgment (v. 7). This principle provided a method of authenticating a prophet's ministry.

Punishment of Israel's Sins

9"Proclaim in the palaces at Ashdod,[a]
And in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and say:
'Assemble on the mountains of Samaria;
See great tumults in her midst,
And the oppressed within her.
10For they do not know to do right,'
Says the LORD,
'Who store up violence and robbery in their palaces.' "

11Therefore thus says the Lord GOD:

"An adversary shall be all around the land;
He shall sap your strength from you,
And your palaces shall be plundered."

12Thus says the LORD:

"As a shepherd takes from the mouth of a lion
Two legs or a piece of an ear,
So shall the children of Israel be taken out
Who dwell in Samaria—
In the corner of a bed and on the edge[a] of a couch!
13Hear and testify against the house of Jacob,"
Says the Lord GOD, the God of hosts,
14"That in the day I punish Israel for their transgressions,
I will also visit destruction on the altars of Bethel;
And the horns of the altar shall be cut off
And fall to the ground.
15I will destroy the winter house along with the summer house;
The houses of ivory shall perish,
And the great houses shall have an end,"
Says the LORD.

4 Hear this word, you cows of Bashan, who are on the mountain of Samaria,
Who oppress the poor,
Who crush the needy,
Who say to your husbands,[a] "Bring wine, let us drink!"
2The Lord GOD has sworn by His holiness:
"Behold, the days shall come upon you
When He will take you away with fishhooks,
And your posterity with fishhooks.
3You will go out through broken walls,
Each one straight ahead of her,
And you will be cast into Harmon,"
Says the LORD.

4"Come to Bethel and transgress,
At Gilgal multiply transgression;
Bring your sacrifices every morning,
Your tithes every three days.[a]
5Offer a sacrifice of thanksgiving with leaven,
Proclaim and announce the freewill offerings;
For this you love,
You children of Israel!"
Says the Lord GOD.

Israel Did Not Accept Correction

6"Also I gave you cleanness of teeth in all your cities,
And lack of bread in all your places;
Yet you have not returned to Me,"
Says the LORD.

7"I also withheld rain from you,
When there were still three months to the harvest.
I made it rain on one city,
I withheld rain from another city.

3:9 [a]Following Masoretic Text; Septuagint reads Assyria. 3:12 [a]The Hebrew is uncertain. 4:1 [a]Literally their lords or their masters 4:4 [a]Or years (compare Deuteronomy 14:28)

3:13–15 Houses of ivory have an interesting archaeological corroboration. Numerous fragments of ivory, some dating from the 8th century B.C., have been uncovered in Samaria. Some scholars believe these were inlays in the furniture and wall paneling of the homes of the wealthy Israelites against whom Amos prophesied. When God destroyed Samaria at the hands of the Assyrians, the ivory was smashed and the ruins of this wealthy society lay buried for many generations. God's pronouncement of impending disaster was fulfilled in history exactly as spoken by Amos.

4:1–3 In this stinging indictment of Israel's women, the designation "cows of Bashan" refers to the insensitive wives of wealthy officials living in luxury. Although they may not have oppressed the poor overtly, these women pressured their husbands to provide them with luxuries to satisfy their self-indulgence at the expense of the poor and needy. They had forfeited their right to be respected (Is. 3:16—4:1). The Lord's judgment on them takes the form of an oath (Amos 4:2). Bashan was a fertile, well-watered region (now the Golan Heights; see Deut. 32:14; Ps. 22:12; Mic. 7:14) where sheep and cattle grazed in lush pastures. Animals for cultic sacrifice were raised here. Just as the fattening cattle were oblivious to their sure but pending slaughter, the Israelite women were living in luxury unaware of the catastrophe about to crush them. The Lord would lead them away like slaves with fishhooks, a humiliating captivity.

4:4, 5 Bethel, one of the sites where Jeroboam I had set up a golden calf, was Israel's primary worship center in Amos' time (Amos 7:13). It had become a center for idolatry. Gilgal was the second most important place for worship. Amos' invitation to "come" and "offer" thanks was a form of satire. The religious practices of the people did not draw them closer to God, but rather led them further from Him. Their worship resulted in multiplied transgression or rebellion against the Lord.

One part was rained upon,
And where it did not rain the part withered.
8So two or three cities wandered to another city to drink water,
But they were not satisfied;
Yet you have not returned to Me,"
Says the LORD.

9"I blasted you with blight and mildew.
When your gardens increased,
Your vineyards,
Your fig trees,
And your olive trees,
The locust devoured them;
Yet you have not returned to Me,"
Says the LORD.

10"I sent among you a plague after the manner of Egypt;
Your young men I killed with a sword,
Along with your captive horses;
I made the stench of your camps come up into your nostrils;
Yet you have not returned to Me,"
Says the LORD.

11"I overthrew some of you,
As God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah,
And you were like a firebrand plucked from the burning;
Yet you have not returned to Me,"
Says the LORD.

12"Therefore thus will I do to you, O Israel;
Because I will do this to you,
Prepare to meet your God, O Israel!"

13For behold,
He who forms mountains,
And creates the wind,
Who declares to man what his[a] thought is,
And makes the morning darkness,
Who treads the high places of the earth—
The LORD God of hosts is His name.

A Lament for Israel

5 Hear this word which I take up against you, a lamentation, O house of Israel:

2The virgin of Israel has fallen;
She will rise no more.
She lies forsaken on her land;
There is no one to raise her up.

3For thus says the Lord GOD:

"The city that goes out by a thousand
Shall have a hundred left,
And that which goes out by a hundred
Shall have ten left to the house of Israel."

A Call to Repentance

4For thus says the LORD to the house of Israel:

"Seek Me and live;
5But do not seek Bethel,
Nor enter Gilgal,
Nor pass over to Beersheba;
For Gilgal shall surely go into captivity,
And Bethel shall come to nothing.
6Seek the LORD and live,
Lest He break out like fire in the house of Joseph,
And devour it,
With no one to quench it in Bethel—
7You who turn justice to wormwood,
And lay righteousness to rest in the earth!"

8He made the Pleiades and Orion;
He turns the shadow of death into morning
And makes the day dark as night;
He calls for the waters of the sea
And pours them out on the face of the earth;
The LORD is His name.
9He rains ruin upon the strong,
So that fury comes upon the fortress.

10They hate the one who rebukes in the gate,
And they abhor the one who speaks uprightly.

4:13 [a]Or His

5:1–3 A funeral song over the "house of Israel," the northern kingdom is found here. The house of Israel is designated as "the virgin of Israel" (v. 2). This phrase represents the earliest reference to Israel as a woman and indicates youthfulness as well as virginity. Israel was doomed for untimely destruction. Failure to live according to God's holy Law would bring about the tithe of a remnant: "a hundred left" out of "a thousand"; "ten left" out of "a hundred" (v. 3).

5:4–7 The Lord's people could find life only by seeking Him, not by performing the prescribed ritual at traditional religious sites such as Bethel and Gilgal, for these cities had become centers for idolatry.

5:8, 9 The Pleiades and Orion are two primary constellations (see Job 9:9, note). The stars were worshiped by many ancient peoples, but they are created objects, not gods.

5:10–13 The elders and judges of the city officially met at the "gate" where legal transactions took place (see vv. 10, 12; see Ruth 4:1, 7). "Evil time" probably refers to a time of calamity (Amos 5:13). They would not benefit from any of their labors because they had denied justice to the poor, who could not pay the "bribes."

11 Therefore, because you tread down the poor
And take grain taxes from him,
Though you have built houses of hewn stone,
Yet you shall not dwell in them;
You have planted pleasant vineyards,
But you shall not drink wine from them.
12 For I know your manifold transgressions
And your mighty sins:
Afflicting the just and taking bribes;
Diverting the poor from justice at the gate.
13 Therefore the prudent keep silent at that time,
For it is an evil time.

14 Seek good and not evil,
That you may live;
So the LORD God of hosts will be with you,
As you have spoken.
15 Hate evil, love good;
Establish justice in the gate.
It may be that the LORD God of hosts
Will be gracious to the remnant of Joseph.

The Day of the LORD

16 Therefore the LORD God of hosts, the Lord, says this:

"There shall be wailing in all streets,
And they shall say in all the highways,
'Alas! Alas!'
They shall call the farmer to mourning,
And skillful lamenters to wailing.
17 In all vineyards there shall be wailing,
For I will pass through you,"
Says the LORD.

18 Woe to you who desire the day of the LORD!
For what good is the day of the LORD to you?
It will be darkness, and not light.
19 It will be as though a man fled from a lion,
And a bear met him!
Or as though he went into the house,
Leaned his hand on the wall,
And a serpent bit him!
20 Is not the day of the LORD darkness, and not light?
Is it not very dark, with no brightness in it?

21 "I hate, I despise your feast days,
And I do not savor your sacred assemblies.
22 Though you offer Me burnt offerings and your grain offerings,
I will not accept them,
Nor will I regard your fattened peace offerings.
23 Take away from Me the noise of your songs,
For I will not hear the melody of your stringed instruments.
24 But let justice run down like water,
And righteousness like a mighty stream.

25 "Did you offer Me sacrifices and offerings
In the wilderness forty years, O house of Israel?
26 You also carried Sikkuth[a] your king[b]
And Chiun,[c] your idols,
The star of your gods,
Which you made for yourselves.
27 Therefore I will send you into captivity beyond Damascus,"
Says the LORD, whose name is the God of hosts.

Warnings to Zion and Samaria

6 Woe to you who are at ease in Zion,
And trust in Mount Samaria,
Notable persons in the chief nation,
To whom the house of Israel comes!
2 Go over to Calneh and see;
And from there go to Hamath the great;
Then go down to Gath of the Philistines.
Are you better than these kingdoms?
Or is their territory greater than your territory?

5:26 [a]A pagan deity [b]Septuagint and Vulgate read tabernacle of Moloch. [c]A pagan deity

5:14, 15 The way of life lies in seeking God and doing right. The way of death is to persist in sinning. Each woman chooses the way she will take (see Ps. 1; chart, The Choice Between Life and Death).

5:16–27 The people of Israel perceived the day of the Lord as a day of victory for themselves and a day of judgment for their enemies. Amos corrected that popular misconception. He presented the day of the Lord as a day of judgment for the Lord's people. Their judgment would be greater because they had received greater revelation (see Amos 3:1, 2, note). The Israelites misunderstood and asked for the day of the Lord (Amos 5:18), but Amos warned that this "day" would not bring "brightness" or blessing but doom and "darkness" (v. 20). The Israelites kept "feast days," attended "sacred assemblies," and offered "burnt offerings" but neglected justice and righteousness (vv. 21, 22).

5:18—6:7 Oracles of Woe (Heb. hoy, lit. "pain" or "bereavement") were delivered by Amos against the Israelites. Jesus used this same form of address in a series of woes against the scribes and Pharisees (Matt. 23:13–36; see chart, Jewish Sects). The self-righteous Jews saw themselves as fulfilling all the Law, but Jesus said that they "neglected the weightier matters of the law" (see Matt. 23:23). God wanted justice and righteousness from His people (Amos 5:24).

6:1–7 Amos condemned the rich, powerful leaders for living in luxury gained through violence and for ignoring the poor of the Land. Israel felt safe on the mountain of Samaria. Similarly, Judah felt at "ease in Zion." The ruling class felt secure in their religion because they went through the prescribed rituals. The people had blinded themselves to the serious nature of their sin, which had made them indistinguishable from the pagan nations. Israel was not exempt from God's judgment (see Luke 12:48).

3 Woe to you who put far off the day of doom,
Who cause the seat of violence to come near;
4 Who lie on beds of ivory,
Stretch out on your couches,
Eat lambs from the flock
And calves from the midst of the stall;
5 Who sing idly to the sound of stringed instruments,
And invent for yourselves musical instruments like David;
6 Who drink wine from bowls,
And anoint yourselves with the best ointments,
But are not grieved for the affliction of Joseph.
7 Therefore they shall now go captive as the first of the captives,
And those who recline at banquets shall be removed.

8 The Lord GOD has sworn by Himself,
The LORD God of hosts says:
"I abhor the pride of Jacob,
And hate his palaces;
Therefore I will deliver up the city
And all that is in it."

9 Then it shall come to pass, that if ten men remain in one house, they shall die. 10 And when a relative of the dead, with one who will burn the bodies, picks up the bodies[a] to take them out of the house, he will say to one inside the house, "Are there any more with you?"
Then someone will say, "None."
And he will say, "Hold your tongue! For we dare not mention the name of the LORD."

11 For behold, the LORD gives a command:
He will break the great house into bits,
And the little house into pieces.

12 Do horses run on rocks?
Does one plow there with oxen?
Yet you have turned justice into gall,
And the fruit of righteousness into wormwood,
13 You who rejoice over Lo Debar,[a]
Who say, "Have we not taken Karnaim[b] for ourselves
By our own strength?"

14 "But, behold, I will raise up a nation against you,
O house of Israel,"
Says the LORD God of hosts;
"And they will afflict you from the entrance of Hamath
To the Valley of the Arabah."

Vision of the Locusts

7 Thus the Lord GOD showed me: Behold, He formed locust swarms at the beginning of the late crop; indeed it was the late crop after the king's mowings. 2 And so it was, when they had finished eating the grass of the land, that I said:

"O Lord GOD, forgive, I pray!
Oh, that Jacob may stand,
For he is small!"
3 So the LORD relented concerning this.
"It shall not be," said the LORD.

Vision of the Fire

4 Thus the Lord GOD showed me: Behold, the Lord GOD called for conflict by fire, and it consumed the great deep and devoured the territory. 5 Then I said:

"O Lord GOD, cease, I pray!
Oh, that Jacob may stand,
For he is small!"
6 So the LORD relented concerning this.
"This also shall not be," said the Lord GOD.

Vision of the Plumb Line

7 Thus He showed me: Behold, the Lord stood on a wall made with a plumb line, with a plumb line in His hand. 8 And the LORD said to me, "Amos, what do you see?"
And I said, "A plumb line."
Then the Lord said:

"Behold, I am setting a plumb line
In the midst of My people Israel;
I will not pass by them anymore.
9 The high places of Isaac shall be desolate,
And the sanctuaries of Israel shall be laid waste.
I will rise with the sword against the house of Jeroboam."

6:10 [a]Literally bones 6:13 [a]Literally Nothing [b]Literally Horns, symbol of strength

7:1–3 In Amos' first vision, he saw "locust swarms" in the spring after the king's crop but before the people harvested their crop. Amos interceded with one-word prayers: "forgive" (v. 2) and "cease" (v. 5). The Lord "relented," altered His course, and canceled the judgment (vv. 3, 6). Between "it shall come to pass" and "it came to pass" stands God's mercy.

7:4–6 Fire referred to war or drought. Again Amos asked the Lord to cease His judgment (see vv. 1–3, note) because Jacob or Israel (see Gen. 32:28; chart, Terminology for the Divided Kingdom) could not survive the devastation. Again the Lord relented.

7:7–9 God as a building inspector set a plumb line in the midst of Israel. To test the straightness of a wall, the builder used a plumb line, a cord with a heavy weight at one end. Israel failed God's test of straightness or righteousness. Therefore, impending judgment was inevitable.

All the wealth in the world cannot be compared with the happiness of living together happily united.

Amaziah's Complaint

10 Then Amaziah the priest of Bethel sent to Jeroboam king of Israel, saying, "Amos has conspired against you in the midst of the house of Israel. The land is not able to bear all his words.
11 For thus Amos has said:

'Jeroboam shall die by the sword,
And Israel shall surely be led away captive
From their own land.' "

12 Then Amaziah said to Amos:

"Go, you seer!
Flee to the land of Judah.
There eat bread,
And there prophesy.
13 But never again prophesy at Bethel,
For it is the king's sanctuary,
And it is the royal residence."

14 Then Amos answered, and said to Amaziah:

"I was no prophet,
Nor was I a son of a prophet,
But I was a sheepbreeder[a]
And a tender of sycamore fruit.
15 Then the LORD took me as I followed the flock,
And the LORD said to me,
'Go, prophesy to My people Israel.'
16 Now therefore, hear the word of the LORD:
You say, 'Do not prophesy against Israel,
And do not spout against the house of Isaac.'

17 "Therefore thus says the LORD:

'Your wife shall be a harlot in the city;
Your sons and daughters shall fall by the
sword;
Your land shall be divided by survey line;
You shall die in a defiled land;
And Israel shall surely be led away captive
From his own land.' "

Vision of the Summer Fruit

8 Thus the Lord GOD showed me: Behold, a basket of summer fruit. 2 And He said, "Amos, what do you see?"
So I said, "A basket of summer fruit."
Then the LORD said to me:

"The end has come upon My people Israel;
I will not pass by them anymore.
3 And the songs of the temple
Shall be wailing in that day,"
Says the Lord GOD—
"Many dead bodies everywhere,
They shall be thrown out in silence."

4 Hear this, you who swallow up[a] the needy,
And make the poor of the land fail,

5 Saying:

"When will the New Moon be past,
That we may sell grain?
And the Sabbath,
That we may trade wheat?
Making the ephah small and the shekel
large,
Falsifying the scales by deceit,
6 That we may buy the poor for silver,

7:14 [a]Compare 2 Kings 3:4 8:4 [a]Or trample on (compare 2:7)

7:10–17 This encounter between Amos and Amaziah occurred at Bethel, the king's sanctuary (v. 13). Amaziah the priest, who probably had been appointed by the king, accused Amos of being a traitor. The authorities at Bethel (Heb., lit. "house of God") could not tolerate the prophet of God. Amaziah strongly encouraged Amos to return to Judah and earn his living as a prophet there (see Introduction: Author). Amos refused to flee. His authority was from God, not men. The Lord's judgment would fall on Amaziah as well as on Israel (v. 17). Amaziah, as chief priest in the northern kingdom, was rejecting the authority of God, not of Amos. Thus, the consequences would be both personal and national (v. 17).

8:1–14 Judgment was an accomplished fact in this vision. Amos used a play on words to convey his message: "summer fruit" (Heb. qayits, v. 1) and "end" (Heb. qets, v. 2) sound similar in Hebrew. Like the "summer fruit," the end had come for Israel. The vision was followed by the indictment of Israel (vv. 4–14). The charges included insincere worship, mistreatment of the poor, and unethical business practices. "That day" refers to the day of the Lord (v. 9; see Amos 5:16–27, note). Egypt had once known such desperate "mourning" when the Lord struck down the firstborn in every family (Ex. 12:30); now Israel would also know this "bitter day" of God's judgment (Amos 8:10). Because the people rejected the Word of God, God would make His Word scarce (v. 11). "Fair virgins and strong young men" indicates that the vigor and attraction of youth alone cannot provide strength to meet moral and spiritual crises (v. 13). Only God's Word can do this (v. 11).

And the needy for a pair of sandals—
Even sell the bad wheat?"

7 The LORD has sworn by the pride of Jacob:
"Surely I will never forget any of their works.
8 Shall the land not tremble for this,
And everyone mourn who dwells in it?
All of it shall swell like the River,[a]
Heave and subside
Like the River of Egypt.

9 "And it shall come to pass in that day," says the Lord GOD,
"That I will make the sun go down at noon,
And I will darken the earth in broad daylight;
10 I will turn your feasts into mourning,
And all your songs into lamentation;
I will bring sackcloth on every waist,
And baldness on every head;
I will make it like mourning for an only son,
And its end like a bitter day.

11 "Behold, the days are coming," says the Lord GOD,
"That I will send a famine on the land,
Not a famine of bread,
Nor a thirst for water,
But of hearing the words of the LORD.
12 They shall wander from sea to sea,
And from north to east;
They shall run to and fro, seeking the word of the LORD,
But shall not find it.

13 "In that day the fair virgins
And strong young men
Shall faint from thirst.
14 Those who swear by the sin[a] of Samaria,
Who say,
'As your god lives, O Dan!'
And, 'As the way of Beersheba lives!'
They shall fall and never rise again."

The Destruction of Israel

9 I saw the Lord standing by the altar, and He said:

"Strike the doorposts, that the thresholds may shake,
And break them on the heads of them all.
I will slay the last of them with the sword.
He who flees from them shall not get away,
And he who escapes from them shall not be delivered.

2 "Though they dig into hell,[a]
From there My hand shall take them;
Though they climb up to heaven,
From there I will bring them down;
3 And though they hide themselves on top of Carmel,
From there I will search and take them;
Though they hide from My sight at the bottom of the sea,
From there I will command the serpent, and it shall bite them;
4 Though they go into captivity before their enemies,
From there I will command the sword,
And it shall slay them.
I will set My eyes on them for harm and not for good."

5 The Lord GOD of hosts,
He who touches the earth and it melts,
And all who dwell there mourn;
All of it shall swell like the River,[a]
And subside like the River of Egypt.
6 He who builds His layers in the sky,
And has founded His strata in the earth;
Who calls for the waters of the sea,
And pours them out on the face of the earth—
The LORD is His name.

7 "Are you not like the people of Ethiopia to Me, O children of Israel?" says the LORD.
"Did I not bring up Israel from the land of Egypt,
The Philistines from Caphtor,
And the Syrians from Kir?

8 "Behold, the eyes of the Lord GOD are on the sinful kingdom,
And I will destroy it from the face of the earth;
Yet I will not utterly destroy the house of Jacob,"
Says the LORD.

8:8 [a]That is, the Nile; some Hebrew manuscripts, Septuagint, Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate read River; Masoretic Text reads the light. 8:14 [a]Or Ashima, a Syrian goddess 9:2 [a]Or Sheol 9:5 [a]That is, the Nile

9:1–10 The Lord appeared at the altar to announce the total devastation of Israel in this final vision of Amos. None would be able to escape the Lord's judgment, which began with those who claimed to believe Him as Israel had believed. The sovereignty of the Lord permitted no hiding place. "Hell" (Heb. sheol), is the place of the dead (v. 2). Compare the list of hiding places in verses 2–4 with those of Psalm 139:7–12. In Psalm 139 the Lord's omnipresence is related to His benevolent care for His people. In Amos 9:1–10 the Lord's omnipresence is related to His judgment. Israel could not claim privileged status with the Lord (v. 7). The Lord's sovereignty was behind the movement of Israel's enemies, the Philistines and the Syrians, just as the Lord had initiated Israel's deliverance from Egypt. God's eyes focused on His people for calamity and not for good (vv. 4, 8). Judgment would fall on those who least expected it (v. 10).

9 "For surely I will command,
And will sift the house of Israel among all nations,
As grain is sifted in a sieve;
Yet not the smallest grain shall fall to the ground.
10 All the sinners of My people shall die by the sword,
Who say, 'The calamity shall not overtake nor confront us.'

Israel Will Be Restored

11 "On that day I will raise up
The tabernacle[a] of David, which has fallen down,
And repair its damages;
I will raise up its ruins,
And rebuild it as in the days of old;
12 That they may possess the remnant of Edom,[a]
And all the Gentiles who are called by My name,"
Says the LORD who does this thing.

13 "Behold, the days are coming," says the LORD,
"When the plowman shall overtake the reaper,
And the treader of grapes him who sows seed;
The mountains shall drip with sweet wine,
And all the hills shall flow with it.
14 I will bring back the captives of My people Israel;
They shall build the waste cities and inhabit them;
They shall plant vineyards and drink wine from them;
They shall also make gardens and eat fruit from them.
15 I will plant them in their land,
And no longer shall they be pulled up
From the land I have given them,"
Says the LORD your God.

9:11 [a]Literally booth, figure of a deposed dynasty 9:12 [a]Septuagint reads mankind.

9:11–15 Hope existed for Israel beyond judgment. "The days are coming" (v. 13) is language used in the OT to describe the future blessings and hope of the messianic age (see Jer. 31:31–34). The judgment message of Amos 5:11 stands in contrast to the restoration message of Amos 9:14. Amos saw the restoration of Israel as complete and permanent (v. 15). The Lord's judgments have a redemptive purpose in the lives of His people.

Obadiah

AUTHOR

Several individuals named Obadiah (Heb., lit. "servant or worshiper of the Lord") are mentioned in the Old Testament (see 1 Kin. 18:3–16; 1 Chr. 7:3; 8:38; 9:16, 44; 2 Chr. 17:7; 34:12; Ezra 8:9; Neh. 10:5; 12:25). There is not enough evidence to identify positively any of these individuals with the author of the book.

DATE

Since the book offers no specific date, internal evidence, coupled with information given in other Old Testament references, are considerations in dating Obadiah. The prophet refers to an attack on Jerusalem (Obad. 11–14). Assaults on Jerusalem recorded in the Old Testament include those by Shishak, king of Egypt (925 B.C.; 1 Kin. 14:25, 26; 2 Chr. 12:2–9); by the Philistines and Arabs during the reign of Jehoram (around 850 B.C.; 2 Chr. 21:8–10, 16, 17); by Jehoash, king of Israel (around 790 B.C.; 2 Chr. 25); and by Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon (586 B.C.; 2 Kin. 25:1, 2).

Most scholars date the book after Nebuchadnezzar's destruction of Jerusalem in 586 B.C. Edom aided and abetted the attack on Jerusalem by Nebuchadnezzar, looted the city, and prevented its inhabitants from fleeing (see Ps. 137:7; Lam. 4:21, 22; Ezek. 35:1–15).

BACKGROUND

SETTING: Obadiah, a prophet ministering to the southern kingdom of Judah (or to its exiles if the book is dated after 586 B.C.), is also God's messenger to Edom, Judah's hostile neighbor across the Dead Sea to the southeast. The Old Testament recounts a history of conflict between these two nations (see Num. 20:14–21; 2 Chr. 28:17; Ps. 83:1–6; 137:7; Ezek. 35; Joel 3:19).

PURPOSE: Obadiah proclaimed God's judgment on Edom for injustices done to Judah and God's future blessings on His people. Sometime in the sixth or fifth century B.C. the kingdom of Edom fell, probably to Arab tribes. The surviving Edomites relocated to the Negev (southern Judah). During the intertestamental period they came under Jewish and then Roman domination.

AUDIENCE: The prophecy seems to be delivered to those who experienced or observed the overrunning of Jerusalem by a foreign army that conspired with the Edomites. The book contains a prophetic oracle against Edom and also a message of hope for God's people.

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: The structure is tripartite in form, revolving around a central passage (Obad. 10–14) that presents the evidence from which judgments in verses 1–9 and verses 15–21 are derived.

THEMES

The primary theme of this shortest Old Testament book is that of reciprocity (see Obad. 15): God punished Edom by doing the same things to her that she had done to Judah. Because Edom stands as a representative figure for all who oppose the Lord, Obadiah's pronouncement of judgment against Edom warns of the destruction of all who oppose God and His people. Another closely related theme is God's promise of deliverance to His people. Both themes find ultimate fulfillment in Christ, who suffered God's judgment on behalf of His people (see Is. 53; Rom. 3:21–26; 2 Cor. 5:21). Christ will return as final Judge to try every individual and nation and to set up His eternal kingdom at the consummation of the age (see Matt. 19:28; 25:31–46; Rev. 11:15).

The Coming Judgment on Edom

The vision of Obadiah.

Thus says the Lord GOD concerning Edom
(We have heard a report from the LORD,
And a messenger has been sent among the nations, saying,
"Arise, and let us rise up against her for battle"):

2"Behold, I will make you small among the nations;
You shall be greatly despised.
3The pride of your heart has deceived you,
You who dwell in the clefts of the rock,
Whose habitation is high;
You who say in your heart, 'Who will bring me down to the ground?'
4Though you ascend as high as the eagle,
And though you set your nest among the stars,
From there I will bring you down," says the LORD.

5"If thieves had come to you,
If robbers by night—
Oh, how you will be cut off!—
Would they not have stolen till they had enough?
If grape-gatherers had come to you,
Would they not have left some gleanings?

6"Oh, how Esau shall be searched out!
How his hidden treasures shall be sought after!
7All the men in your confederacy
Shall force you to the border;
The men at peace with you
Shall deceive you and prevail against you.
Those who eat your bread shall lay a trap[a] for you.
No one is aware of it.

8"Will I not in that day," says the LORD,
"Even destroy the wise men from Edom,
And understanding from the mountains of Esau?
9Then your mighty men, O Teman, shall be dismayed,

7 [a]Or wound, or plot

1 The nation Edom descended from Esau, Jacob's brother. Esau and Jacob were twins whose rivalry began in the womb as the younger Jacob held Esau's heel at birth (Gen. 25:22–26), thus depicting the struggle between the two brothers. The rivalry between the two was repeated in the history of the two nations that descended from them. Obadiah announced that Edom's day of reckoning had come as God summoned the nations as instruments of His wrath (see Num. 20:14–21; 1 Kin. 11:15–17; 2 Kin. 8:20–22; 2 Chr. 28:17).

3, 4 Rock (Heb. sela) may refer to Sela, Edom's capital city. The city was built on a hill surrounded by steep cliffs and was well supplied with water in case of siege. But the Edomites' strongest defense would not secure them against God's judgment.

5 Obadiah used rhetorical questions to emphasize the completeness of God's judgment. Unlike "robbers" or "grape-gatherers" the nations brought against Edom will leave nothing behind.

6 Esau here refers to the nation of Edom (see v. 1, note).

9 Teman (lit. "south") is another name for the entire country of Edom.

To the end that everyone from the mountains of Esau
May be cut off by slaughter.

Edom Mistreated His Brother

10 "For violence against your brother Jacob,
Shame shall cover you,
And you shall be cut off forever.
11 In the day that you stood on the other side—
In the day that strangers carried captive his forces,
When foreigners entered his gates
And cast lots for Jerusalem—
Even you were as one of them.

12 "But you should not have gazed on the day of your brother
In the day of his captivity;[a]
Nor should you have rejoiced over the children of Judah
In the day of their destruction;
Nor should you have spoken proudly
In the day of distress.
13 You should not have entered the gate of My people
In the day of their calamity.
Indeed, you should not have gazed on their affliction
In the day of their calamity,
Nor laid hands on their substance
In the day of their calamity.
14 You should not have stood at the crossroads
To cut off those among them who escaped;
Nor should you have delivered up those among them who remained
In the day of distress.

15 "For the day of the LORD upon all the nations is near;
As you have done, it shall be done to you;
Your reprisal shall return upon your own head.
16 For as you drank on My holy mountain,
So shall all the nations drink continually;
Yes, they shall drink, and swallow,
And they shall be as though they had never been.

Israel's Final Triumph

17 "But on Mount Zion there shall be deliverance,
And there shall be holiness;
The house of Jacob shall possess their possessions.
18 The house of Jacob shall be a fire,
And the house of Joseph a flame;
But the house of Esau shall be stubble;
They shall kindle them and devour them,
And no survivor shall remain of the house of Esau,"
For the LORD has spoken.

19 The South[a] shall possess the mountains of Esau,
And the Lowland shall possess Philistia.
They shall possess the fields of Ephraim
And the fields of Samaria.
Benjamin shall possess Gilead.
20 And the captives of this host of the children of Israel

12 [a]Literally on the day he became a foreigner 19 [a]Hebrew Negev

10 Your brother Jacob refers to the common ancestry between Edom and Israel. On the basis of this family tie, God commanded Israel to treat Edom with special consideration (Deut. 23:7). Edom's violation of this special relationship made her crimes more heinous.

11–14 The Lord charged Edom, through the words of Obadiah, with a series of crimes against Israel, each more reprehensible than the last, climaxing in murder and betrayal.

15 The day of the Lord is an expression frequently used by the prophets. It refers to any period of history in which God acts spectacularly to display His glory. It may also refer to God's final, climactic, universal action to judge the nations and save His people. This thematic verse affirms that what is sown will be reaped (Gal. 6:7).

16 So all the nations will drink is a metaphor often employed by the prophets for experiencing God's judgment. Jesus used the same metaphor to describe His sufferings on the Cross when He took God's judgment upon Himself (see Matt. 26:42). Everyone will "drink" a "cup" from God—either the cup of the New Covenant, which is offered freely to all, or the cup of God's wrath (see Luke 22:20; 1 Cor. 11:25, 26; Rev. 14:9, 10).

18 House of Jacob and House of Joseph refer to the united nation of Israel, including both Judah and the ten northern tribes which had been exiled by the Assyrians in 722 B.C. (see Ps. 77:15). The fire imagery indicates that God's people will be His instrument of judgment on Edom. Israel will be revived in the latter days to fulfill this prophecy (Amos. 9:11, 12). Some who do not anticipate a literal fulfillment of these prophecies would see this as only the promise of the ultimate victory of good over evil (see chart, Millennial Views).

19 The place names mentioned indicate that Obadiah envisioned an almost complete restoration of the ancient borders of Israel (see Num. 34:2–15). The "Lowland" refers to the region of Judah bordering Philistia. The Philistines were ancient enemies of the Israelites (see 1 Sam. 31:1–10). Ephraim and Samaria refer either to all the territory included in the old northern kingdom of Israel or to the southern section of that kingdom occupied by the tribe of Ephraim. After its conquest in 722 B.C., this section was made into an Assyrian province called Samaria (see Josh. 16:5–10). Gilead refers to territory east of the Jordan once occupied by the tribe of Gad and the half-tribe of Manasseh (see Josh. 13:24–32; chart, Terminology for the Divided Kingdom).

20 Israel and Jerusalem refer to the exiles of the northern and southern kingdoms who would reclaim possession of their inheritance, territories that they had lost to their enemies because of their disobedience. Zarephath was a Phoenician town on the Mediterranean coast between Tyre and Sidon. The location of Sepharad is disputed. The most common identification is with Sardis in Asia Minor (modern-day Turkey).

Jonah

AUTHOR

Though this book does not cite a specific author, tradition ascribes the authorship to its main character, the prophet Jonah, son of Amittai (Jon. 1:1). Jonah (Heb., lit. "dove") was a real person from Gath Hepher near Nazareth (2 Kin. 14:25). This Hebrew prophet was called by God to proclaim His message to the pagan nation of Assyria, while God used other prophets (Amos, Hosea, Isaiah, and Micah) to prophesy to Israel during the same time period.

DATE

The date of the prophet Jonah's ministry is generally accepted as between 800 and 750 B.C. Nothing about the book is incompatible with an eighth century B.C. composition. Some scholars support a later time after the Babylonian exile or the destruction of Nineveh, although these arguments are not conclusive. The Book of Jonah records historical events that occurred before the great city of Nineveh, the capital of Assyria, was destroyed (about 612 B.C.; see Jon. 3:3). Jeroboam II was king of Israel (782–753 B.C.; 2 Kin. 14:25) and Uzziah was king in Judah (792–740 B.C.). During this period, the Assyrian king was probably Ashur-dan III (772–755 B.C.; see chart, The Kings of Assyria).

BACKGROUND

SETTING: The Book of Jonah was initially set in Israel, where the prophet lived in the town of Gath Hepher near Nazareth. When Jonah fled from God's assignment in Nineveh, he went to Joppa, a port city along the Mediterranean Sea to catch a ship sailing in the opposite direction to Tarshish. After his brief encounter with the "great fish," Jonah returned to land. The last two chapters of the book were set in Assyria (present-day Iraq) after the prophet journeyed in obedience to Nineveh.

PURPOSE: The Book of Jonah teaches that only true repentance can bring salvation, and it also demonstrates God's compassion toward all (Jon. 4:2, 11; see Mic. 1:1, note). God wants all people truly to repent and receive salvation. Readers will discover Jonah to be a minor prophet with a major message.

AUDIENCE: While the original audience of the Book of Jonah is unidentified, clearly the Lord gave Jonah a message of hope for the wicked Assyrians and a message of restoration for believers who rebel. Taking that message to the enemies proved to be Jonah's greatest challenge. The impact of the Book of Jonah has continued through the generations, even among the Jews. The book is read in its entirety in the synagogues in the afternoon of Yom Kippur (the Day of Atonement; see chart, The Feasts of Israel). This liturgical use of the book is helpful in understanding its message of hope and assurance for God's chosen people.

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: The Book of Jonah is a historical account of a major event in Jonah's life. Most of Jonah is narrative with almost no proclamation, while other prophets are almost all proclamation and little narrative. In the New Testament, Jesus Christ verified the historical significance of the prophet Jonah and this book (Matt. 12:39–41; Luke 11:29, 30).

THEMES

Several significant, but sometimes overlooked, themes are found in the Book of Jonah. Though only forty-eight verses in length, the message of Jonah is important. The following are among its obvious themes:

Salvation comes only from the Lord. The Book of Jonah teaches that salvation is not by works, but by grace through faith (Jon. 2:8, 9; see also Eph. 2:8).

The God of the Hebrews has always expressed concern for the whole world. Jonah explained that Yahweh God lovingly offers salvation even to people we would prefer to hate (Jon. 4:9–11).

God is a God of beginning anew. The prophet experienced God's forgiveness when he was unfaithful and was offered another opportunity for obedience (Jon. 3:1). Nineveh likewise received the opportunity to repent.

Jesus used the experience of Jonah in the belly of the fish to explain His death, burial, and Resurrection (Jon. 1:17; Matt. 12:38–41).

Jonah's Disobedience

1 Now the word of the LORD came to Jonah the son of Amittai, saying, 2"Arise, go to Nineveh, that great city, and cry out against it; for their wickedness has come up before Me." 3But Jonah arose to flee to Tarshish from the presence of the LORD. He went down to Joppa, and found a ship going to Tarshish; so he paid the fare, and went down into it, to go with them to Tarshish from the presence of the LORD.

The Storm at Sea

4But the LORD sent out a great wind on the sea, and there was a mighty tempest on the sea, so that the ship was about to be broken up.
5Then the mariners were afraid; and every man cried out to his god, and threw the cargo that was in the ship into the sea, to lighten the load.[a] But

1:5 [a]Literally from upon them

1:2 Built by Nimrod (Gen. 10:9–12), the great city of Nineveh was the Assyrian capital and the residence of many Assyrian kings. Located in northeastern Mesopotamia on the Tigris River, Nineveh flourished from 800 to 612 B.C., when it was destroyed by the Medes. The city limits spread widely along the river making it a great city both in size and influence.

1:3 While the exact location of Tarshish is uncertain, it is clear that Jonah's direction was opposite from the destination to which God had directed him (see Ezek. 27:12, note).

1:4 God did not accept Jonah's deliberate disobedience. While Jonah felt safe as he fled from God's call, God intervened supernaturally and caused a storm at sea.

Jonah had gone down into the lowest parts of the ship, had lain down, and was fast asleep.

6So the captain came to him, and said to him, "What do you mean, sleeper? Arise, call on your God; perhaps your God will consider us, so that we may not perish."

7And they said to one another, "Come, let us cast lots, that we may know for whose cause this trouble has come upon us." So they cast lots, and the lot fell on Jonah. 8Then they said to him, "Please tell us! For whose cause is this trouble upon us? What is your occupation? And where do you come from? What is your country? And of what people are you?"

9So he said to them, "I am a Hebrew; and I fear the LORD, the God of heaven, who made the sea and the dry land."

Jonah Thrown into the Sea

10Then the men were exceedingly afraid, and said to him, "Why have you done this?" For the men knew that he fled from the presence of the LORD, because he had told them. 11Then they said to him, "What shall we do to you that the sea may be calm for us?"—for the sea was growing more tempestuous.

12And he said to them, "Pick me up and throw me into the sea; then the sea will become calm for you. For I know that this great tempest is because of me."

13Nevertheless the men rowed hard to return to land, but they could not, for the sea continued to grow more tempestuous against them. 14Therefore they cried out to the LORD and said, "We pray, O LORD, please do not let us perish for this man's life, and do not charge us with innocent blood; for You, O LORD, have done as it pleased You." 15So they picked up Jonah and threw him into the sea, and the sea ceased from its raging. 16Then the men feared the LORD exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice to the LORD and took vows.

Jonah's Prayer and Deliverance

17Now the LORD had prepared a great fish to swallow Jonah. And Jonah was in the belly of the fish three days and three nights.

2 Then Jonah prayed to the LORD his God from the fish's belly. 2And he said:

"I cried out to the LORD because of my affliction,
And He answered me.

"Out of the belly of Sheol I cried,
And You heard my voice.
3For You cast me into the deep,
Into the heart of the seas,
And the floods surrounded me;
All Your billows and Your waves passed over me.
4Then I said, 'I have been cast out of Your sight;
Yet I will look again toward Your holy temple.'
5The waters surrounded me, even to my soul;
The deep closed around me;
Weeds were wrapped around my head.
6I went down to the moorings of the mountains;
The earth with its bars closed behind me forever;
Yet You have brought up my life from the pit,
O LORD, my God.

7"When my soul fainted within me,
I remembered the LORD;

1:6–8 The storm and the sailors were used by God to confront a rebellious Jonah. While the prophet was trying to run from God, the captain forced him to call on God for help.

1:10 The sailors, though filled with fear, realized that there was no escape from God. While Jonah confessed his attempt to run from God's presence, the storm reminded him of God's constant presence.

1:12 Jonah realized that his rebellion from God had brought danger to all aboard the ship. God has many ways to get our attention. Jonah's admission of guilt was the first step in his return to God.

1:14 The sailors themselves called out to Jonah's God for help when their attempt to steer the ship back to shore failed. They did not want to die as a result of Jonah's sin or to receive blame for his death. The great fish was the means for God's gracious deliverance of Jonah from death.

1:15, 16 The sailors saw Jonah as being punished by his angry God. They did not see the "great fish" as God's means for deliverance. The text does not state that these Phoenician sailors committed themselves to Yahweh, but it does indicate that they received a powerful witness.

1:17 Many scholars have investigated the exact type of fish in which a man could be preserved for several days. While discussion continues and though several similar experiences have been reported in modern times, the issue is not finding a similar event but acknowledging the power of God to perform miracles. God intervened through nature to challenge Jonah's disobedience and to deliver Jonah from death. Jonah's encounter with the fish was later mentioned by Jesus (Matt. 12:40; Luke 11:30).

2:2–9 Jonah began his prayer from the belly of the fish with praise and thanksgiving for God's previous work in his life (see chart, Lessons from the Model Prayer). This prayer is structured as a psalm of thanksgiving, verifying that Jonah was not petitioning God for help but thanking Him for undeserved deliverance. This thanksgiving for his undeserved deliverance stands in stark contrast to his own anger when God later delivered undeserving Nineveh. Like the poetic style of the psalms, this prayer is a beautiful flow of Jonah's heartfelt thoughts (see Ps. 120:1). Jonah's use of Sheol (Heb., lit. "the place of the dead" or "the grave") indicates that he thought he was at death's door (Jon. 2:2). Again, the Lord rescued Jonah from physical death.

And my prayer went up to You,
Into Your holy temple.

8"Those who regard worthless idols
Forsake their own Mercy.
9But I will sacrifice to You
With the voice of thanksgiving;
I will pay what I have vowed.
Salvation is of the LORD."

10So the LORD spoke to the fish, and it vomited Jonah onto dry land.

Jonah Preaches at Nineveh

3 Now the word of the LORD came to Jonah the second time, saying, 2"Arise, go to Nineveh, that great city, and preach to it the message that I tell you." 3So Jonah arose and went to Nineveh, according to the word of the LORD. Now Nineveh was an exceedingly great city, a three-day journey[a] in extent. 4And Jonah began to enter the city on the first day's walk. Then he cried out and said, "Yet forty days, and Nineveh shall be overthrown!"

The People of Nineveh Believe

5So the people of Nineveh believed God, proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth, from the greatest to the least of them. 6Then word came to the king of Nineveh; and he arose from his throne and laid aside his robe, covered himself with sackcloth and sat in ashes. 7And he caused it to be proclaimed and published throughout Nineveh by the decree of the king and his nobles, saying,

Let neither man nor beast, herd nor flock, taste anything; do not let them eat, or drink water. 8But let man and beast be covered with sackcloth, and cry mightily to God; yes, let every one turn from his evil way and from the violence that is in his hands. 9Who can tell if God will turn and relent, and turn away from His fierce anger, so that we may not perish?

10Then God saw their works, that they turned from their evil way; and God relented from the disaster that He had said He would bring upon them, and He did not do it.

Jonah's Anger and God's Kindness

4 But it displeased Jonah exceedingly, and he became angry. 2So he prayed to the LORD, and said, "Ah, LORD, was not this what I said when I was still in my country? Therefore I fled previously to Tarshish; for I know that You are a gracious and merciful God, slow to anger and abundant in lovingkindness, One who relents from doing harm. 3Therefore now, O LORD, please take my life from me, for it is better for me to die than to live!"

4Then the LORD said, "Is it right for you to be angry?"

5So Jonah went out of the city and sat on the east side of the city. There he made himself a shelter and sat under it in the shade, till he might see what would become of the city. 6And the LORD God prepared a plant[a] and made it come up over Jonah, that it might be shade for his head to deliver him

3:3 [a]Exact meaning unknown 4:6 [a]Hebrew kikayon, exact identity unknown

3:1 Though Jonah deliberately disobeyed God the first time (Jon. 1:3), he was given another opportunity to follow God's call to Nineveh, illustrating that God saves the undeserving and offers a second chance for service (Num. 12, Second Chances). Jonah's initial rejection of God's plan did not disqualify or excuse him from later service.

3:4 The reluctant prophet finally entered Nineveh and proclaimed God's warning loudly. Since the Assyrians were a hated, barbaric people, Jonah probably hoped they would ignore his warning and experience God's judgment. Though Jonah expected a destruction like that of Sodom and Gomorrah (Gen. 19:25; Lam. 4:6; Amos 4:11), God announced a turning around or repentance for Nineveh. Jonah's prophetic word was beautifully fulfilled but in a completely different sense than Jonah expected.

3:5 The pagan people of Nineveh believed (Heb. 'aman, lit. "to stand firm, trust, believe") the message from God and were saved from destruction. The word "amen," is used most often to conclude a prayer by affirming, "so be it." All the Ninevites demonstrated their belief in God by humbling themselves before God and fasting (see Matt. 6:16–18, note). The inclusion of animals in the fast is documented in extrabiblical sources such as Herodotus (Jon. 3:7, 8). Perhaps it is the same idea as expressed in more recent funeral processions when horses drawing the funeral carriage are draped in black.

3:10 As a result of the genuine repentance of the people of Nineveh, God chose to spare them from divine punishment (see v. 4, note). When we change our wills, God wills a change. When we choose to repent, God may choose to relent.

4:2 The repentant prophet Jonah affirmed the nature of God in the same terms as Moses had centuries before (see Ex. 34:6). The Hebrews recognized that God is "gracious" (used only of God in the OT), favoring even the undeserving; He is "merciful," forgiving and compassionate toward His children; He is "slow to anger," patient with the disobedient; He is "abundant in lovingkindness," personal and consistent, demonstrating unconditional tenderness, love, and mercy (Heb. chesed; see Ps. 5:7–12, note); and He "relents from doing harm," responding to repentance. This prayer is Jonah's second confession of faith.

4:3, 4 Jonah thought God should destroy the Ninevites. Jonah preferred to die rather than live to see this pagan nation saved. For God to forgive the rebellious Assyrians did not seem fair even though God had forgiven him, a rebellious prophet! For Jonah to wish to die (vv. 3, 8) when he had just been so thankful for his own deliverance from death was ironic. Human logic questions fairness when evil is forgiven. But in so doing, it fails to see that if evil were not graciously forgiven, everyone would be destroyed.

from his misery. So Jonah was very grateful for the plant. 7But as morning dawned the next day God prepared a worm, and it so damaged the plant that it withered. 8And it happened, when the sun arose, that God prepared a vehement east wind; and the sun beat on Jonah's head, so that he grew faint. Then he wished death for himself, and said, "It is better for me to die than to live."

9Then God said to Jonah, "Is it right for you to be angry about the plant?"

And he said, "It is right for me to be angry, even to death!"

10But the LORD said, "You have had pity on the plant for which you have not labored, nor made it grow, which came up in a night and perished in a night. 11And should I not pity Nineveh, that great city, in which are more than one hundred and twenty thousand persons who cannot discern between their right hand and their left—and much livestock?"

4:7 God appointed a worm to destroy the plant and teach another lesson to Jonah. God showed His compassion for Jonah as He did for Job and Jeremiah, who, in their own agonies, had accused God (see Jer. 15:15–18). The morning after the weary prophet found comfort under a plant provided by God, his shady covering withered. Jonah met a God-appointed worm, with a God-appointed task, at a God-appointed time, to yield God-appointed results. God chooses us, gives us a job at an appropriate time, and promises victory.

4:11 The Lord clearly confirms His right to destroy or deliver His children, who themselves often lack moral judgment. God's direct question abruptly ends the book. Only one other book of the Bible, Nahum, ends with a question. In both books the divine message is to the people of Nineveh.

Micah

AUTHOR

Micah is a shortened form of Micaiah (lit. "Who is like Yahweh?"). The name is an expression of praise and awe for the God of Israel. Micah lived in Moresheth, a small village in Judah. The author of this book is not the prophet Micaiah, son of Imlah, who prophesied in the northern kingdom during the reign of Ahab (874–853 B.C.; see 1 Kin. 22:8–28; 2 Chr. 18:3–27).

DATE

Micah prophesied in Judah during the reigns of Jotham (750–735 B.C.), Ahaz (735–715 B.C.), and Hezekiah (715–686 B.C., plus coregency with Ahaz 729–715 B.C.), which places him on the scene during the disastrous invasion of Israel and Judah by the Assyrians. Micah was a contemporary of the prophet Isaiah in the southern kingdom and of Amos and Hosea in the northern kingdom.

BACKGROUND

SETTING: The leaders and people of Judah had mixed the worship of Yahweh with the idolatrous practices of their pagan neighbors. Some of Judah's kings, like Hezekiah, were God-fearing but had not been able to effect the needed spiritual reformation. Idolatry still flourished, even in Jerusalem. God announced, through Micah, that He would send Assyria to bring calamity upon His people. After the judgment, He promised restoration and blessing.

PURPOSE: Micah had been sent to declare God's judgment and call the people to repentance. He was to some extent successful. Hezekiah responded to the message, and Jerusalem was spared from assault by the Assyrians (Jer. 26:18).

AUDIENCE: Micah's message concerned both the northern and southern kingdoms, but the prophet delivered his message in Judah. Although Micah was not a court prophet like Isaiah, he probably spoke God's message to the leaders of Jerusalem as well as to the people themselves.

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: Considered one of the most remarkable prophetic books in form, the book was written in eloquent poetic verse, characterized by alliteration and word play. The prophet's anger and urgency are tempered by his tenderness, sympathy, and sorrow for his nation.

THEMES

The major theme of Micah's prophecies is that the people of Judah had become as spiritually and ethically corrupt as the apostate northern kingdom of Israel. The heirs to David's throne were practicing the same abominations as the illegitimate kings of the northern kingdom (see Mic. 1:5; 2 Kin. 16:1–10). A time of prosperity had hardened the rich, who were oppressing the poor to the extent of denying them justice in the courts (Mic. 2:1, 2; 6:9–12; 7:2, 3). The priests and prophets were performing the religious rituals as prescribed by Yahweh, but for a fee. Micah cried out against the ethical and social corruption of his society. He announced impending disaster from the Lord and called for more than external repentance. He called God's people to do justly, to love mercy, and to walk humbly with their God (Mic. 6:8).

1 The word of the LORD that came to Micah of Moresheth in the days of Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah, which he saw concerning Samaria and Jerusalem.

The Coming Judgment on Israel

2 Hear, all you peoples!
Listen, O earth, and all that is in it!
Let the Lord GOD be a witness against you,
The Lord from His holy temple.

3 For behold, the LORD is coming out of His place;
He will come down
And tread on the high places of the earth.
4 The mountains will melt under Him,
And the valleys will split
Like wax before the fire,
Like waters poured down a steep place.

5 All this is for the transgression of Jacob
And for the sins of the house of Israel.
What is the transgression of Jacob?
Is it not Samaria?
And what are the high places of Judah?
Are they not Jerusalem?

6 "Therefore I will make Samaria a heap of ruins in the field,
Places for planting a vineyard;
I will pour down her stones into the valley,
And I will uncover her foundations.
7 All her carved images shall be beaten to pieces,
And all her pay as a harlot shall be burned with the fire;
All her idols I will lay desolate,
For she gathered it from the pay of a harlot,
And they shall return to the pay of a harlot."

1:2–5 The announcement that God had a case against Judah as well as Israel must have come as a shock. The people of Judah proudly believed that they had God's perpetual favor because of the covenant He had made with David (2 Sam. 7:16). But God pronounced Judah (Jerusalem) no better than Israel (Samaria). The entire people of God had become corrupt and idolatrous.

Mourning for Israel and Judah

[8]Therefore I will wail and howl,
I will go stripped and naked;
I will make a wailing like the jackals
And a mourning like the ostriches,
[9]For her wounds are incurable.
For it has come to Judah;
It has come to the gate of My people—
To Jerusalem.

[10]Tell it not in Gath,
Weep not at all;
In Beth Aphrah[a]
Roll yourself in the dust.
[11]Pass by in naked shame, you inhabitant of Shaphir;
The inhabitant of Zaanan[a] does not go out.
Beth Ezel mourns;
Its place to stand is taken away from you.

[12]For the inhabitant of Maroth pined[a] for good,
But disaster came down from the LORD
To the gate of Jerusalem.
[13]O inhabitant of Lachish,
Harness the chariot to the swift steeds
(She was the beginning of sin to the daughter of Zion),
For the transgressions of Israel were found in you.

[14]Therefore you shall give presents to Moresheth Gath;[a]
The houses of Achzib[b] shall be a lie to the kings of Israel.
[15]I will yet bring an heir to you, O inhabitant of Mareshah;[a]
The glory of Israel shall come to Adullam.
[16]Make yourself bald and cut off your hair,
Because of your precious children;
Enlarge your baldness like an eagle,
For they shall go from you into captivity.

Woe to Evildoers

2 Woe to those who devise iniquity,
And work out evil on their beds!
At morning light they practice it,
Because it is in the power of their hand.
[2]They covet fields and take them by violence,
Also houses, and seize them.
So they oppress a man and his house,
A man and his inheritance.

[3]Therefore thus says the LORD:

"Behold, against this family I am devising disaster,
From which you cannot remove your necks;
Nor shall you walk haughtily,
For this is an evil time.
[4]In that day one shall take up a proverb against you,
And lament with a bitter lamentation, saying:
'We are utterly destroyed!
He has changed the heritage of my people;
How He has removed it from me!
To a turncoat He has divided our fields.' "

1:10 [a]Literally House of Dust 1:11 [a]Literally Going Out 1:12 [a]Literally was sick 1:14 [a]Literally Possession of Gath [b]Literally Lie 1:15 [a]Literally Inheritance

1:8, 9 The prophet demonstrated urgency and grief in his lament. Micah showed his grief at the coming disaster by wailing and adopting all the signs of mourning. Jesus wept over Jerusalem with similar grief, remembering how it had suffered for rejecting the prophets and how the city would suffer even more for rejecting Him (Matt. 23:37–39). The prophetic specificity of verse 9 is confirmed by history—the Assyrians came right up to the gate of Jerusalem, but God turned them back when Hezekiah and Isaiah interceded (2 Kin. 18:17—19:37).

1:10–16 The Israelites would suffer the anguish of ridicule by their gloating enemies in Gath. With poetic eloquence Micah named towns that would suffer the impending invasion. The comment on each town is a play on words in the Hebrew. Beth Aphrah ("house of dust") puns the command to its inhabitants to "roll yourself in the dust," as an expression of grief over humiliation and defeat (v. 10). "Tell it not in Gath" (that is, among the Philistines) expresses the fear that these perennial enemies of Judah will gloat over her suffering. All these towns Micah mentioned were destroyed by the Assyrians under Sennacherib in 701 B.C. (vv. 10–16).

2:1 The prophet identified those targeted for judgment because of their sin. Corrupt political leaders were indicted because of their misuse of power to satisfy their own greed. They dreamed of ways to satisfy their lustful appetites, then ran to carry out their plans. The unjust seizing of the Land was a particularly heinous crime because the Land had been given to the respective tribes by God as their perpetual inheritance (see 1 Kin. 21).

2:3 The Lord warned that He was devising disaster against those who devise evil (v. 1). God's disaster had a purpose to punish for sin and to correct ungodly behavior. The disaster God devised came in the form of Assyria's cruel military forces and the accompanying deportation of the people. God was giving His people over to the violent and arrogant Assyrians.

2:4, 5 The prophet warned that the Assyrians would seize the Land, which would be ironic because land-grabbers from among God's chosen people had taken the Land by force from the poor. What had been Israel's exclusive possession would be lost in a humiliating way to her enemies. The siege would be so devastating that the average observer would declare that God had removed His favor from His children. Not only would they lose everything, but God's people would be delivered into the hands of the most evil and corrupt enemies on the face of the earth.

5 Therefore you will have no one to determine boundaries[a] by lot
In the assembly of the LORD.

Lying Prophets

6 "Do not prattle," you say to those who prophesy.
So they shall not prophesy to you;[a]
They shall not return insult for insult.[b]
7 You who are named the house of Jacob:
"Is the Spirit of the LORD restricted?
Are these His doings?
Do not My words do good
To him who walks uprightly?

8 "Lately My people have risen up as an enemy—
You pull off the robe with the garment
From those who trust you, as they pass by,
Like men returned from war.
9 The women of My people you cast out
From their pleasant houses;
From their children
You have taken away My glory forever.

10 "Arise and depart,
For this is not your rest;
Because it is defiled, it shall destroy,
Yes, with utter destruction.
11 If a man should walk in a false spirit
And speak a lie, saying,
'I will prophesy to you of wine and drink,'
Even he would be the prattler of this people.

Israel Restored

12 "I will surely assemble all of you, O Jacob,
I will surely gather the remnant of Israel;
I will put them together like sheep of the fold,[a]
Like a flock in the midst of their pasture;
They shall make a loud noise because of so many people.
13 The one who breaks open will come up before them;
They will break out,
Pass through the gate,
And go out by it;
Their king will pass before them,
With the LORD at their head."

Wicked Rulers and Prophets

3 And I said:

"Hear now, O heads of Jacob,
And you rulers of the house of Israel:
Is it not for you to know justice?
2 You who hate good and love evil;
Who strip the skin from My people,[a]
And the flesh from their bones;
3 Who also eat the flesh of My people,
Flay their skin from them,
Break their bones,
And chop them in pieces
Like meat for the pot,
Like flesh in the caldron."

4 Then they will cry to the LORD,
But He will not hear them;
He will even hide His face from them at that time,
Because they have been evil in their deeds.

5 Thus says the LORD concerning the prophets
Who make my people stray;
Who chant "Peace"
While they chew with their teeth,
But who prepare war against him
Who puts nothing into their mouths:
6 "Therefore you shall have night without vision,
And you shall have darkness without divination;
The sun shall go down on the prophets,
And the day shall be dark for them.
7 So the seers shall be ashamed,
And the diviners abashed;
Indeed they shall all cover their lips;
For there is no answer from God."

8 But truly I am full of power by the Spirit of the LORD,
And of justice and might,
To declare to Jacob his transgression

2:5 [a]Literally one casting a surveyor's line 2:6 [a]Literally to these [b]Vulgate reads He shall not take shame. 2:12 [a]Hebrew Bozrah 3:2 [a]Literally them

2:12 Micah concluded this first announcement of calamity with a promise that the Shepherd-King would protect and gather a remnant of the people. After God had dealt with the Israelites, both Judah and Israel, He would restore them to enjoy God's best fully (Ps. 23:2). Although they had sinned, His love for them and commitment to them would be permanent. Their fellowship with Him had been broken, but their relationship to Him would remain forever. They would never cease to be His children.

3:1–4 The rulers of Judah, princes and priests who were supposed to know right from wrong, were ruthless in their abuse of the people. Micah compared them to a large beast devouring the flesh of a smaller one. For that reason, the Lord would not hear the cries of the princes and priests in their own time of great tribulation.

3:5–7 Because the prophets spoke lies for profit, God would take away their prophetic gift. They would be unable to offer God's word to the suffering people. This humiliation would place their prophetic calling in jeopardy, since prophets are authenticated by their ability to hear from God and to speak about that which is to come (Ezek. 14:6–11). The withdrawal of prophecy was a severe judgment against the nation.

3:8–12 Rulers took bribes, priests ministered for profit, and prophets spoke only for pay. In spite of their sin, they possessed a false sense of safety, assuming that because they were chosen of God, they had no reason to fear His retribution.

Quiet is a blessed gift. We must cherish every moment of it, and carve it out for ourselves every chance we get.

Anne Ortlund

And to Israel his sin.
9Now hear this,
You heads of the house of Jacob
And rulers of the house of Israel,
Who abhor justice
And pervert all equity,
10Who build up Zion with bloodshed
And Jerusalem with iniquity:
11Her heads judge for a bribe,
Her priests teach for pay,
And her prophets divine for money.
Yet they lean on the LORD, and say,
"Is not the LORD among us?
No harm can come upon us."
12Therefore because of you
Zion shall be plowed like a field,
Jerusalem shall become heaps of ruins,
And the mountain of the temple[a]
Like the bare hills of the forest.

The LORD's Reign in Zion

4 Now it shall come to pass in the latter days
That the mountain of the LORD's house
Shall be established on the top of the mountains,
And shall be exalted above the hills;
And peoples shall flow to it.
2Many nations shall come and say,
"Come, and let us go up to the mountain of the LORD,
To the house of the God of Jacob;
He will teach us His ways,
And we shall walk in His paths."
For out of Zion the law shall go forth,
And the word of the LORD from Jerusalem.
3He shall judge between many peoples,
And rebuke strong nations afar off;
They shall beat their swords into plowshares,
And their spears into pruning hooks;
Nation shall not lift up sword against nation,
Neither shall they learn war anymore.[a]
4But everyone shall sit under his vine and under his fig tree,
And no one shall make them afraid;
For the mouth of the LORD of hosts has spoken.
5For all people walk each in the name of his god,
But we will walk in the name of the LORD our God
Forever and ever.

Zion's Future Triumph

6"In that day," says the LORD,
"I will assemble the lame,
I will gather the outcast
And those whom I have afflicted;
7I will make the lame a remnant,
And the outcast a strong nation;
So the LORD will reign over them in Mount Zion
From now on, even forever.
8And you, O tower of the flock,
The stronghold of the daughter of Zion,
To you shall it come,
Even the former dominion shall come,
The kingdom of the daughter of Jerusalem."

9Now why do you cry aloud?
Is there no king in your midst?
Has your counselor perished?
For pangs have seized you like a woman in labor.
10Be in pain, and labor to bring forth,
O daughter of Zion,
Like a woman in birth pangs.
For now you shall go forth from the city,
You shall dwell in the field,
And to Babylon you shall go.
There you shall be delivered;

3:12 [a]Literally house 4:3 [a]Compare Isaiah 2:2–4

4:1–8 Although Jerusalem was threatened with destruction, Micah reassured God's covenant people that the Lord would yet reign from Zion. When He assumed the throne, war between nations would cease (v. 3), and each person would enjoy the security of life free from fear (v. 4).

4:10 Micah here predicted that the people of Judah would go into captivity. Astonishingly, the Lord would deliver and redeem the remnant from their enemies in Babylon. Because of Hezekiah's repentance, Jerusalem did not fall to the Assyrians. Over a century later Jerusalem was destroyed by the Babylonians and the people were taken into Exile in Babylon. Many interpret these words of Micah as a clear statement that the Exile must take place before the messianic age.

4:11–13 The Assyrians arrogantly assumed they could take Jerusalem, because no other city had withstood their advance (see 2 Kin. 18:33). God would use their siege of Jerusalem to slay them. King Hezekiah turned to the Lord in repentance, and God spared Jerusalem by slaughtering the besieging army (see 2 Kin. 19:1–7, 35). However, Hezekiah's repentance brought only a temporary reprieve; almost a century later Jerusalem finally fell to the Babylonians.

There the LORD will redeem you
From the hand of your enemies.

11 Now also many nations have gathered against you,
Who say, "Let her be defiled,
And let our eye look upon Zion."
12 But they do not know the thoughts of the LORD,
Nor do they understand His counsel;
For He will gather them like sheaves to the threshing floor.

13 "Arise and thresh, O daughter of Zion;
For I will make your horn iron,
And I will make your hooves bronze;
You shall beat in pieces many peoples;
I will consecrate their gain to the LORD,
And their substance to the Lord of the whole earth."

5 Now gather yourself in troops,
O daughter of troops;
He has laid siege against us;
They will strike the judge of Israel with a rod on the cheek.

The Coming Messiah

2 "But you, Bethlehem Ephrathah,
Though you are little among the thousands of Judah,
Yet out of you shall come forth to Me
The One to be Ruler in Israel,
Whose goings forth are from of old,
From everlasting."

3 Therefore He shall give them up,
Until the time that she who is in labor has given birth;
Then the remnant of His brethren
Shall return to the children of Israel.
4 And He shall stand and feed His flock
In the strength of the LORD,
In the majesty of the name of the LORD His God;
And they shall abide,
For now He shall be great
To the ends of the earth;
5 And this One shall be peace.

Judgment on Israel's Enemies

When the Assyrian comes into our land,
And when he treads in our palaces,
Then we will raise against him
Seven shepherds and eight princely men.
6 They shall waste with the sword the land of Assyria,
And the land of Nimrod at its entrances;
Thus He shall deliver us from the Assyrian,
When he comes into our land
And when he treads within our borders.

7 Then the remnant of Jacob
Shall be in the midst of many peoples,
Like dew from the LORD,
Like showers on the grass,
That tarry for no man
Nor wait for the sons of men.
8 And the remnant of Jacob
Shall be among the Gentiles,
In the midst of many peoples,
Like a lion among the beasts of the forest,
Like a young lion among flocks of sheep,
Who, if he passes through,
Both treads down and tears in pieces,
And none can deliver.
9 Your hand shall be lifted against your adversaries,
And all your enemies shall be cut off.

5:1 Daughter of troops describes Jerusalem as a warlike city, perhaps a reference to its renown for hostility to the less fortunate. The city would suffer siege because of its sinful actions.

5:2 The birthplace of the Shepherd-King would be the city of Bethlehem. King David, a man after God's own heart, had been born in Bethlehem centuries before. The intervening kings had failed to follow the Lord. By predicting a new King from Bethlehem, Micah was invoking the covenant God made with David (2 Sam. 7). Centuries later when Jesus was born, this prophecy was quoted in answer to the question of the wise men concerning where the Christ was to be born (Mic. 5:2; Matt 2:1–6).

5:3–6 A nation was only as secure as the strength of its king in the ancient Near East. Judah's kings were insufficient to assure lasting peace for God's chosen people. Micah spoke of a king who would come in such greatness and strength that his power would reach to the ends of the earth. Under such a king the people would abide in complete safety and peace. The enemy would be impotent against this king, who would destroy them. The gospel writers identify Jesus as this great King of Israel, who is our peace.

5:7 God would not stop with only redeeming the remnant of Israel; He would use them to bless many. The presence of God's people would be to the nations what the morning dew and rain were to parched soil. The dew and rain were given by God as a sign of blessing. This metaphor must have been clearly understood by people who each morning saw the dew as the source that watered their crops. The prophet here said that the remnant of Jacob would be to the nations like life-giving water from heaven.

5:8 After depicting the remnant of Jacob as life-giving water (v. 7), the prophet now revealed that they would also be like a "lion" among the Gentiles. Assyrian kings likened themselves to the lion, and Assyrian art reflects this national symbol. In a dramatic reversal, Micah portrayed God's people as the "lion" who would prevail. This dual portrayal of God's people as both life and death to the nations is used by Paul as he described the church (2 Cor. 2:14–16).

10 "And it shall be in that day," says the LORD,
"That I will cut off your horses from your midst
And destroy your chariots.
11 I will cut off the cities of your land
And throw down all your strongholds.
12 I will cut off sorceries from your hand,
And you shall have no soothsayers.
13 Your carved images I will also cut off,
And your sacred pillars from your midst;
You shall no more worship the work of your hands;
14 I will pluck your wooden images[a] from your midst;
Thus I will destroy your cities.
15 And I will execute vengeance in anger and fury
On the nations that have not heard."[a]

God Pleads with Israel

6 Hear now what the LORD says:
"Arise, plead your case before the mountains,
And let the hills hear your voice.
2 Hear, O you mountains, the LORD's complaint,
And you strong foundations of the earth;
For the LORD has a complaint against His people,
And He will contend with Israel.

3 "O My people, what have I done to you?
And how have I wearied you?
Testify against Me.
4 For I brought you up from the land of Egypt,
I redeemed you from the house of bondage;
And I sent before you Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.
5 O My people, remember now
What Balak king of Moab counseled,
And what Balaam the son of Beor answered him,
From Acacia Grove[a] to Gilgal,
That you may know the righteousness of the LORD."

6 With what shall I come before the LORD,
And bow myself before the High God?
Shall I come before Him with burnt offerings,
With calves a year old?
7 Will the LORD be pleased with thousands of rams,
Ten thousand rivers of oil?
Shall I give my firstborn for my transgression,
The fruit of my body for the sin of my soul?

8 He has shown you, O man, what is good;
And what does the LORD require of you
But to do justly,
To love mercy,
And to walk humbly with your God?

Punishment of Israel's Injustice

9 The LORD's voice cries to the city—
Wisdom shall see Your name:
"Hear the rod!
Who has appointed it?
10 Are there yet the treasures of wickedness
In the house of the wicked,
And the short measure that is an abomination?
11 Shall I count pure those with the wicked scales,
And with the bag of deceitful weights?
12 For her rich men are full of violence,
Her inhabitants have spoken lies,
And their tongue is deceitful in their mouth.

13 "Therefore I will also make you sick by striking you,
By making you desolate because of your sins.
14 You shall eat, but not be satisfied;
Hunger[a] shall be in your midst.
You may carry some away,[b] but shall not save them;
And what you do rescue I will give over to the sword.

15 "You shall sow, but not reap;
You shall tread the olives, but not anoint yourselves with oil;
And make sweet wine, but not drink wine.

5:14 [a]Hebrew Asherim, Canaanite deities 5:15 [a]Or obeyed 6:5 [a]Hebrew Shittim (compare Numbers 25:1; Joshua 2:1; 3:1) 6:14 [a]Or Emptiness or Humiliation [b]Targum and Vulgate read You shall take hold.

6:1, 2 The Lord used a series of rhetorical questions to help His people understand the reality of their sin. The Hebrew word translated "complaint" is the word used for a legal court case. Because of God's covenant with His people, God had a legal case against them for violation of the covenant. He called the hills and mountains, who had witnessed Israel's transgressions, to hear the case.

6:3–5 God asked His people what He had done to deserve the rejection of His covenant, as evidenced by their wickedness and idolatry. He reminded the people of Judah that they would not exist had He not supernaturally redeemed them from slavery in Egypt. He reminded them of events during their wilderness journey that revealed His righteousness and power. God's people gave no explanation to His question as to how He had failed them.

6:6–8 Although Judah had become corrupt, the people were religiously practicing sacrifice to the Lord in the delusion that this would satisfy His demands. God corrected His people through Micah by demanding justice, not burnt offerings; mercy, not calves and oil; humble obedience, not sacrifice. Justice, mercy, and obedience were precisely those qualities lacking in Judah. These verses actually summarize the messages of the 8th century B.C. prophets: Amos called for justice; Hosea emphasized kindness; Isaiah exhorted the people to obey or to walk humbly with God.

SACRIFICIAL LIVING HERE IS MY LIFE

A sacrifice is an offering rendered acceptable to God. To live sacrificially is to offer your entire life to God. Such a sacrifice is acceptable to God only because of Christ's work in you; He is the final and complete Sacrifice for the atonement of sin (Heb. 7:26, 27).

Micah knew lavish offerings were not acceptable to God (Mic. 6:6–8). David and Isaiah knew acceptability with God was "a contrite heart" (Ps. 51:17; Is. 66:2). Paul described this transaction as "a living sacrifice" (Rom. 12:1). Although you can never match Christ's sacrificial death—and indeed, are not asked to do so—your self-giving is to be complete and wholehearted. Being a living sacrifice means obeying the greatest commandments: giving God all your love, will, reason, and body (Mark 12:29–31), borne out in practical, daily service to others (Matt. 25:34–40). No expression of love, however costly, matches the price paid by Christ. The forgiven woman poured out expensive, fragrant oil to anoint Jesus' feet, but her gift also involved the recognition of her past and the risk of disclosure of her sin. Her example of sacrificial giving did not go unnoticed (Luke 7: 36–50).

16 For the statutes of Omri are kept;
All the works of Ahab's house are done;
And you walk in their counsels,
That I may make you a desolation,
And your inhabitants a hissing.
Therefore you shall bear the reproach of My people."[a]

Sorrow for Israel's Sins

7 Woe is me!
For I am like those who gather summer fruits,
Like those who glean vintage grapes;
There is no cluster to eat
Of the first-ripe fruit which my soul desires.
2 The faithful man has perished from the earth,
And there is no one upright among men.
They all lie in wait for blood;
Every man hunts his brother with a net.

3 That they may successfully do evil with both hands—
The prince asks for gifts,
The judge seeks a bribe,
And the great man utters his evil desire;
So they scheme together.
4 The best of them is like a brier;
The most upright is sharper than a thorn hedge;
The day of your watchman and your punishment comes;
Now shall be their perplexity.

5 Do not trust in a friend;
Do not put your confidence in a companion;
Guard the doors of your mouth
From her who lies in your bosom.
6 For son dishonors father,
Daughter rises against her mother,
Daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law;
A man's enemies are the men of his own household.
7 Therefore I will look to the LORD;
I will wait for the God of my salvation;
My God will hear me.

Israel's Confession and Comfort

8 Do not rejoice over me, my enemy;
When I fall, I will arise;
When I sit in darkness,
The LORD will be a light to me.
9 I will bear the indignation of the LORD,
Because I have sinned against Him,
Until He pleads my case

6:16 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Targum, and Vulgate; Septuagint reads of nations.

6:16 Omri and his son Ahab ruled the northern kingdom of Israel more than a century before Micah. Their violence, injustice, and apostasy were legendary. Now the southern kingdom of Judah had followed that same wicked path. Just as the apostate northern kingdom would fall to Assyria, Judah's sentence of destruction was here made final. Ahab is credited with establishing idolatry as the national religion.

7:1–7 Micah lamented the sorry state of his society where evil was so pervasive that no one could be trusted. All preyed on their neighbors. Sin had so saturated the moral fiber of God's people that even those in the most intimate relationships would not be trusted. Micah stated boldly that only God could right such wrong (v. 7). Christ warned the disciples that similar conditions would exist during the last days (Matt. 24:10–12).

7:8–13 Micah portrayed Jerusalem as speaking to the enemy who would assault her, "Though you may win this battle, I will win the war because of the Lord." Micah encouraged the people that though their suffering in judgment was certain, it was also temporary. God's plan for His people would not ultimately be thwarted by their sin.

And executes justice for me.
He will bring me forth to the light;
I will see His righteousness.
10Then she who is my enemy will see,
And shame will cover her who said to me,
"Where is the LORD your God?"
My eyes will see her;
Now she will be trampled down
Like mud in the streets.

11*In* the day when your walls are to be built,
In that day the decree shall go far and wide.[a] 12*In* that day they[a] shall come to you
From Assyria and the fortified cities,[b]
From the fortress[c] to the River,[d]
From sea to sea,
And mountain to mountain.
13Yet the land shall be desolate
Because of those who dwell in it,
And for the fruit of their deeds.

God Will Forgive Israel

14Shepherd Your people with Your staff,
The flock of Your heritage,
Who dwell solitarily in a woodland,
In the midst of Carmel;
Let them feed in Bashan and Gilead,
As in days of old.

15"As in the days when you came out of the land of Egypt,
I will show them[a] wonders."

16The nations shall see and be ashamed of all their might;
They shall put their hand over their
mouth;
Their ears shall be deaf.
17They shall lick the dust like a serpent;
They shall crawl from their holes like snakes of the earth.
They shall be afraid of the LORD our
God,
And shall fear because of You.
18Who is a God like You,
Pardoning iniquity
And passing over the transgression of the remnant of His heritage?

He does not retain His anger forever,
Because He delights in mercy.
19He will again have compassion on us,
And will subdue our iniquities.

You will cast all our[a] sins
Into the depths of the sea.
20You will give truth to Jacob
And mercy to Abraham,
Which You have sworn to our fathers
From days of old.

7:14 Micah prayed for the protection of God. He conceded that dark days lay ahead. He prayed that God would continue to shepherd them, comfort them, and hold to His covenant promise. He looked ahead to the day when God's people would dwell, as they did in the past, in the fertile land, represented by Carmel, Bashan, and Gilead. These regions were known for their fertile soils and rich pastures, the sign of divine blessing.

7:18–20 Micah was overcome with praise for a God who could work salvation beyond sin. The question "Who is a God like you?" is an expression of awe and wonder and is reminiscent of the prophet's name (v. 18). The compassion and persistence of the Lord caused the prophet to worship Him even in the midst of disaster. Micah remembered God's faithfulness in Judah's history since the days of His promise to Abraham. Asshur, the national god of Assyria, is now unknown, but the God of Israel still reigns. Nineveh, the capital of Assyria, lies beneath the soils of the ages, but Jerusalem abides. The Lord may judge His people, but He utterly destroys the enemies of His people.

Nahum

AUTHOR

Little is known about Nahum (Heb., lit. "comfort") except what he tells about himself. Nahum's message was intended to comfort Judah. He called himself the Elkoshite, which suggests he was a native of Elkosh, a small village of uncertain location. The lack of personal information does not obscure the message of the prophecy.

DATE

The exact time period of Nahum's prophecy is not known, but his references to certain events suggest a date between 663–612 B.C. Apparently the Assyrian Empire was still intact, which places the prophecy before 612 B.C., when Nineveh fell to the Medes and Babylonians.

BACKGROUND

SETTING: Nahum's entire prophecy was concerned with God's judgment and the destruction of Nineveh, the capital city of the great Assyrian Empire. More than a century earlier, the prophet Jonah had reluctantly gone to the city of Nineveh and preached a message that caused spiritual revival in the city. But the revival was short-lived, and the people soon returned to their former arrogant practice of evil. It is unlikely that Nahum delivered his prophecy in Nineveh. Rather, the prophecy was given to the people of Judah as reassurance of the ultimate destruction of their cruel Assyrian oppressors.

The Book of Nahum stands as a strong testament to the power and faithfulness of God, who judges evil wherever it is found. The Lord is able to bring down the greatest stronghold and will always protect His people. Unlike the message to God's people, which promised restoration and deliverance, no promise of hope existed for Assyria because of that nation's wickedness.

PURPOSE: The Book of Nahum conveys a single message: The great Assyrian Empire will be destroyed. Evildoers will have their day of reckoning with God, no matter how mighty their power may seem.

AUDIENCE: Nahum is addressing the people of Judah, with a message concerning the destruction of Nineveh.

LITERARY CHARACTERISTIC: Nahum's prophecy is presented in eloquent Hebrew poetry.

THEMES

Two themes run throughout the Book of Nahum:

1) Evildoers will be destroyed;
2) God is loyal to His people, even in their waywardness, and He will avenge their enemies.

God's Wrath on His Enemies

2 God is jealous, and the LORD avenges;
The LORD avenges and is furious.
The LORD will take vengeance on His
adversaries,
And He reserves wrath for His enemies;
3 The LORD is slow to anger and great in power,
And will not at all acquit the wicked.

The LORD has His way
In the whirlwind and in the storm,
And the clouds are the dust of His feet.
4 He rebukes the sea and makes it dry,
And dries up all the rivers.
Bashan and Carmel wither,
And the flower of Lebanon wilts.
5 The mountains quake before Him,
The hills melt,
And the earth heaves[a] at His presence,
Yes, the world and all who dwell in it.

6 Who can stand before His indignation?
And who can endure the fierceness of His anger?
His fury is poured out like fire,
And the rocks are thrown down by Him.
7 The LORD is good,
A stronghold in the day of trouble;
And He knows those who trust in Him.
8 But with an overflowing flood
He will make an utter end of its place,
And darkness will pursue His enemies.

9 What do you conspire against the LORD?
He will make an utter end of it.
Affliction will not rise up a second time.
10 For while tangled like thorns,
And while drunken like drunkards,
They shall be devoured like stubble fully dried.
11 From you comes forth one
Who plots evil against the LORD,
A wicked counselor.

12 Thus says the LORD:

"Though they are safe, and likewise many,
Yet in this manner they will be cut down
When he passes through.
Though I have afflicted you,
I will afflict you no more;
13 For now I will break off his yoke from you,
And burst your bonds apart."

1:1 [a]Or oracle 1:5 [a]Targum reads burns.

1:1 Nineveh, the capital of Assyria, was known for its cruel deportation and torture of the Israelites. The Book of Nahum is often considered a companion book to Jonah as it is a sequel to the story of Jonah's journey to Nineveh to preach repentance. When Jonah declared the message of the Lord to the people of Nineveh some 100 years earlier, the Ninevites repented (see Jon. 3:5, 10, notes). However, they reverted to their wicked lifestyle, marked by violence and evil. The prophet Nahum now pronounced God's judgment against the city, a mission quite different from that of Jonah.

1:2 God's jealousy is not to be confused with human jealousy. People may jealously desire the possessions of another, but God is zealous to protect the interest and well-being of that which is His. The prophet, in declaring to the Ninevites that God is jealous, meant that God was displeased with the capture and abuse of His people and that Nineveh would be destroyed as a result. Though God disciplined His chosen nation through Assyria's political ambitions, Assyria was nevertheless responsible to God for its arrogance, evil, and violence. The enemies of Judah were God's enemies.

1:3–5 Bashan and Carmel had both been known for their fertile soils, flowers, and fruit vines. The abundance of the Land was considered a sign of God's blessing. Lebanon was noted for its cedars. Nahum, recognizing that he was speaking to people filled with pride and arrogance, emphasized that God used the failure of natural elements and vegetation to judge the nations. At the time Nahum wrote, Assyria had already destroyed Lebanon, as well as Bashan and Carmel, which were part of the northern kingdom of Israel.

1:12–14 Assyria had long threatened the existence of Judah. God announced to Judah that He would subdue her enemy. God had

14 The LORD has given a command concerning you:
"Your name shall be perpetuated no longer.
Out of the house of your gods
I will cut off the carved image and the molded image.
I will dig your grave,
For you are vile."

15 Behold, on the mountains
The feet of him who brings good tidings,
Who proclaims peace!
O Judah, keep your appointed feasts,
Perform your vows.
For the wicked one shall no more pass through you;
He is utterly cut off.

The Destruction of Nineveh

2 He who scatters[a] has come up before your face.
Man the fort!
Watch the road!
Strengthen your flanks!
Fortify your power mightily.

2 For the LORD will restore the excellence of Jacob
Like the excellence of Israel,
For the emptiers have emptied them out
And ruined their vine branches.

3 The shields of his mighty men are made red,
The valiant men are in scarlet.
The chariots come with flaming torches
In the day of his preparation,
And the spears are brandished.[a]
4 The chariots rage in the streets,
They jostle one another in the broad roads;
They seem like torches,
They run like lightning.

5 He remembers his nobles;
They stumble in their walk;
They make haste to her walls,
And the defense is prepared.
6 The gates of the rivers are opened,
And the palace is dissolved.
7 It is decreed:[a]
She shall be led away captive,
She shall be brought up;
And her maidservants shall lead her as with the voice of doves,
Beating their breasts.

8 Though Nineveh of old was like a pool of water,
Now they flee away.
"Halt! Halt!" they cry;
But no one turns back.
9 Take spoil of silver!
Take spoil of gold!
There is no end of treasure,
Or wealth of every desirable prize.
10 She is empty, desolate, and waste!
The heart melts, and the knees shake;
Much pain is in every side,
And all their faces are drained of color.[a]

11 Where is the dwelling of the lions,
And the feeding place of the young lions,
Where the lion walked, the lioness and lion's cub,
And no one made them afraid?
12 The lion tore in pieces enough for his cubs,
Killed for his lionesses,
Filled his caves with prey,
And his dens with flesh.

13 "Behold, I am against you," says the LORD of hosts, "I will burn your[a] chariots in smoke, and the sword shall devour your young lions; I will cut off your prey from the earth, and the voice of your messengers shall be heard no more."

2:1 [a]Vulgate reads He who destroys. 2:3 [a]Literally the cypresses are shaken; Septuagint and Syriac read the horses rush about; Vulgate reads the drivers are stupefied. 2:7 [a]Hebrew Huzzab 2:10 [a]Compare Joel 2:6 2:13 [a]Literally her allowed the Assyrians to attack His people because they had turned from Him. Now that the Lord had judged Judah, He would deliver His people from Assyrian domination. Nineveh would be destroyed. This event occurred in 612 B.C. The Assyrians were overrun by an alliance of the Medes and Babylonians, and Nineveh was sacked. Within a few years, the Assyrian Empire had vanished from the earth.

2:1 Nahum warned the Assyrians that they were about to face their toughest opposition. He suggested that the Assyrians, known for their military prowess and savage attacks, have their weapons in good supply, keep watch continually, and take special measures to strengthen themselves. They would need to be at their greatest strength if they had any thought of standing against Yahweh. Nahum used irony here, since he knew that the Assyrians could do nothing to make themselves less vulnerable under the attack of almighty God.

2:2 This promised end to oppression was to motivate Judah's faithfulness to the covenant as expressed in keeping the appointed feasts (Nah. 1:15). To Judah, word of Assyria's imminent downfall meant their own liberation.

2:11–13 The lion was a symbol of Assyria. Lions were plentiful in the vicinity of Nineveh and became a public menace during Ashurbanipal's reign. To demonstrate their courage and strength, Assyrian kings hunted lions for sport. Several Assyrian kings referred to themselves as lions on the attack. God was mocking Assyria with a rhetorical question (v. 11). Though Assyria had been as strong and ferocious as a lion, the nation would not stand when the Lord of Hosts came against it.

The Woe of Nineveh

3 Woe to the bloody city!
It is all full of lies and robbery.
Its victim never departs.
2 The noise of a whip
And the noise of rattling wheels,
Of galloping horses,
Of clattering chariots!
3 Horsemen charge with bright sword and glittering spear.
There is a multitude of slain,
A great number of bodies,
Countless corpses—
They stumble over the corpses—
4 Because of the multitude of harlotries of the seductive harlot,
The mistress of sorceries,
Who sells nations through her harlotries,
And families through her sorceries.

5 "Behold, I am against you," says the LORD of
hosts;
"I will lift your skirts over your face,
I will show the nations your nakedness,
And the kingdoms your shame.
6 I will cast abominable filth upon you,
Make you vile,
And make you a spectacle.
7 It shall come to pass that all who look upon you
Will flee from you, and say,
'Nineveh is laid waste!
Who will bemoan her?'
Where shall I seek comforters for you?"

8 Are you better than No Amon[a]
That was situated by the River,[b]
That had the waters around her,
Whose rampart was the sea,
Whose wall was the sea?
9 Ethiopia and Egypt were her strength,
And it was boundless;
Put and Lubim were your[a] helpers.
10 Yet she was carried away,
She went into captivity;
Her young children also were dashed to pieces
At the head of every street;
They cast lots for her honorable men,
And all her great men were bound in chains.
11 You also will be drunk;
You will be hidden;
You also will seek refuge from the enemy.

12 All your strongholds are fig trees with ripened figs:
If they are shaken,
They fall into the mouth of the eater.
13 Surely, your people in your midst are women!
The gates of your land are wide open for your enemies;
Fire shall devour the bars of your gates.

14 Draw your water for the siege!
Fortify your strongholds!
Go into the clay and tread the mortar!
Make strong the brick kiln!
15 There the fire will devour you,
The sword will cut you off;
It will eat you up like a locust.

Make yourself many—like the locust!
Make yourself many— like the swarming
locusts!
16 You have multiplied your merchants more than the stars of heaven.
The locust plunders and flies away.
17 Your commanders are like swarming locusts,
And your generals like great grasshoppers,
Which camp in the hedges on a cold day;
When the sun rises they flee away,
And the place where they are is not known.

3:8 [a]That is, ancient Thebes; Targum and Vulgate read populous Alexandria. [b]Literally rivers, that is, the Nile and the surrounding canals 3:9 [a]Septuagint reads her.

3:4–7 Assyria, like a harlot selling her services, had hired out her vicious military forces against small, defenseless nations. Then she would devour her ally as well. Harlotry is often associated with sorcery in the OT. From thousands of clay tablet inscriptions, Assyria was apparently superstitious and steeped in the occult.

3:8–11 The Ninevites foolishly believed they were invincible. Nahum reminded them of the legendary fall of Egypt, whose capital is noted as No Amon (Thebes). The ancient Egyptian Empire had geographical defenses that Nineveh did not have. Situated on the Nile, its military forces were inferior to none, with innumerable soldiers. Though believed to be invincible, Thebes was sacked by the Assyrians in 663 B.C. Nahum's point was this: What happened to invincible Thebes would also happen to Nineveh. Ironically Nahum used one of Assyria's own victims to predict the nation's fate.

3:12 The Ninevites would prove powerless under the wrath of God, like the stem of a ripened fig, brittle and frail. To bring them down would require no tug, only a slight jolt. The Ninevites would fall into the clutches of their enemies, who would devour them.

3:14–17 Ancient cities were often secured by an outer wall erected to ensure safety. Attacking armies would surround the walls, hoping to starve the people or to break the walls. When the threat of war loomed, the people would strengthen the bricks of the wall by filling any cracks in the mortar, and they would store up water and food for the siege. The prophet, of course, understood that despite their preparations, nothing the Ninevites could do would save them. Although they had proved mighty against other earthly kingdoms, they were no match for God's judgment.

[18]Your shepherds slumber, O king of Assyria;
Your nobles rest in the dust.
Your people are scattered on the mountains,
And no one gathers them.
[19]Your injury has no healing,
Your wound is severe.
All who hear news of you
Will clap their hands over you,
For upon whom has not your wickedness passed continually?

3:18, 19 The destruction was complete; the leaders ("shepherds") were dead; the Assyrian people had fled in terror to the mountains. Assyria would not recover from this attack; its demise was certain. These verses were addressed to the king of Assyria. Assyria had been so cruel to the surrounding nations that all who heard of its defeat would applaud. The defeat of the Assyrian Empire occurred in 612 B.C. when an alliance of the Medes and Babylonians destroyed Nineveh.

Habakkuk

AUTHOR

Little is known about the author of this book. The name "Habakkuk" is not a typical Hebrew name and occurs only twice in the Old Testament (Hab. 1:1; 3:1). Some rabbis have related the name to the word translated "embrace" (see 2 Kin. 4:16), in which case his name suggests a prophet who loved his people and sought to draw them to himself in comfort. Others have described the prophet as one who wrestled with God. Accordingly, St. Jerome nicknamed him "the wrestler." The name may also derive from an Akkadian word referring to a type of garden plant. The musical notations in Habakkuk 3 suggest that Habakkuk may have been a levitical priest who gave direction to music in the temple. In any case, nothing is recorded concerning the prophet and his personal life.

DATE

The content of the book indicates that it was written just prior to the destruction of Jerusalem by the Babylonians in 586 B.C. Most scholars date it between 625 and 587 B.C.

BACKGROUND

SETTING: After the reigns of the evil kings Manasseh and Ammon of Judah, God raised up Josiah. Coming to the throne at eight years of age, Josiah was the last good king to reign over Judah. The godly Josiah began to implement sweeping reforms. During the restoration of the temple, a copy of the Law was found and read to the king. Josiah, concerned that God's judgment would fall upon his nation, sent for the prophetess Huldah (see 2 Kin. 22, Huldah). The privilege of bringing a word from God to the king was given to a woman, even though Josiah could have turned to Jeremiah, Nahum, Habakkuk, or Zephaniah, all of whom were prophets at this time. The king ordered the book of the Law to be read in the hearing of all the people (2 Kin. 22; 23).

Josiah's reforms and godly influence died with him. Social injustice and moral corruption became rampant again. The people were cruel and corrupt. False gods were worshiped and very little honor was given to Yahweh.

On the international scene, the Babylonians (Chaldeans) had destroyed the Assyrian forces, which left the Chaldean nation the undisputed master of the east. The Chaldeans, who inhabited southern Babylon, were expanding their empire by the violent conquest of smaller nations. Judah's existence was threatened.

PURPOSE: Habakkuk called his nation to that same trust in God he had found in the midst of life's certain disasters (see Hab. 2:4; 3:16–19). The book continues to be a message of hope and comfort for God's people.

AUDIENCE: Habakkuk, unlike the other prophets, spoke to God about the people. He expected God to respond by bringing the people to repentance and obedience. Habakkuk asked God questions and received answers.

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: The book presents a dialogue between Habakkuk and God (Hab. 1:1—2:5). Habakkuk 3 is a psalm, including musical instructions (Hab. 3:1–19). The book also includes vivid metaphors and idiomatic phrases.

THEMES

Habakkuk, perplexed by the impending destruction of his nation by the Babylonians, found his faith faltering. Questioning God's goodness and wisdom, he called out to the Lord for hope and answers. He learned that he who puts his faith in the faithful God will endure to the end (Hab. 2:4). Habakkuk recorded his own experiences and told his own story. He was a man with honest doubts who had endured trials and learned to wait on God in the midst of all. He ended the book with a hymn of steadfast faith and joy born out of trial and trouble. God had called Habakkuk to embrace what he called him to endure, and the prophet did just that with joy.

OUTLINE

   A. The Lord's reply (1:1–5)
      1. God is in control (1:1–4)
      2. God is active (1:5)
   B. God's instrument, the Chaldeans (1:6–11)
      1. A bitter and nasty nation (1:6)
      2. A self-sufficient people (1:7)
      3. A nation materially equipped for war (1:8)
      4. A violent, conquering nation (1:9)
      5. An arrogant and proud nation (1:10, 11)

II. Is God Fair? (1:12–17)
   A. The character of God explained (1:12, 13)
   B. The actions of God challenged (1:14)
   C. The analogy of the fish (1:15–17)

III. The Lord's Reply (2:1–20)
   A. An admonition to write the message clearly (2:1)
   B. A vision for the future (2:2–4)
   C. An exhortation (2:5)
   D. Five woes (2:6–20)
      1. Against the embezzlers (2:6–8)
      2. Against the extortionists (2:9–11)
      3. Against the tyrants (2:12–14)
      4. Against the drunkards (2:15–17)
      5. Against the idolaters (2:18–20)

IV. Habakkuk's Psalm (3:1–19)
   A. A vision of God (3:1–16)
      1. Coming in intercession (3:1, 2)
      2. Coming from Teman (3:3)
      3. Coming as a warrior (3:4)
      4. Coming with power over pestilence (3:5)
      5. Coming in sovereignty over the nations (3:6)
      6. Coming with salvation for His people (3:7–16)
   B. A hymn of joy (3:17–19)

1 The burden[a] which the prophet Habakkuk saw.

The Prophet's Question

2 O LORD, how long shall I cry,
And You will not hear?
Even cry out to You, "Violence!"
And You will not save.
3 Why do You show me iniquity,
And cause me to see trouble?
For plundering and violence are before me;
There is strife, and contention arises.
4 Therefore the law is powerless,
And justice never goes forth.
For the wicked surround the righteous;
Therefore perverse judgment proceeds.

The LORD's Reply

5 "Look among the nations and watch—
Be utterly astounded!
For I will work a work in your days
Which you would not believe, though it were told you.
6 For indeed I am raising up the Chaldeans,
A bitter and hasty nation
Which marches through the breadth of the earth,
To possess dwelling places that are not theirs.
7 They are terrible and dreadful;
Their judgment and their dignity proceed from themselves.
8 Their horses also are swifter than leopards,
And more fierce than evening wolves.
Their chargers charge ahead;
Their cavalry comes from afar;
They fly as the eagle that hastens to eat.

9 "They all come for violence;
Their faces are set like the east wind.
They gather captives like sand.
10 They scoff at kings,
And princes are scorned by them.
They deride every stronghold,
For they heap up earthen mounds and seize it.
11 Then his mind[a] changes, and he transgresses;
He commits offense,
Ascribing this power to his god."

The Prophet's Second Question

12 Are You not from everlasting,
O LORD my God, my Holy One?
We shall not die.
O LORD, You have appointed them for judgment;
O Rock, You have marked them for correction.
13 You are of purer eyes than to behold evil,
And cannot look on wickedness.
Why do You look on those who deal treacherously,
And hold Your tongue when the wicked devours
A person more righteous than he?
14 Why do You make men like fish of the sea,
Like creeping things that have no ruler over them?

15 They take up all of them with a hook,
They catch them in their net,
And gather them in their dragnet.
Therefore they rejoice and are glad.
16 Therefore they sacrifice to their net,
And burn incense to their dragnet;
Because by them their share is sumptuous
And their food plentiful.
17 Shall they therefore empty their net,
And continue to slay nations without pity?

2 I will stand my watch
And set myself on the rampart,
And watch to see what He will say to me,
And what I will answer when I am corrected.

1:1 [a]Or oracle 1:11 [a]Literally spirit or wind

1:1–4 Habakkuk had doubts. Although the prophets formerly had declared the certainties of God's love for His people, Habakkuk began to doubt the unchanging character of God. In the divine government of the universe, Habakkuk's intellect and faith were faced with a moral problem for which he could find no solution. Like many in such turmoil, he asked, "Why is God inactive? Why doesn't He do something?" Habakkuk was deeply worried about the threatening international situation, Judah's spiritual decline, and his own faltering faith.

1:5–11 God's reply reminds us that His ways are not our ways. When we, like the prophet, ask, "Is God there, does He care, or is He fair?" we might have to struggle to trust His integrity, despite all evidence to the contrary.

1:8 The Babylonians were a terrifying threat to Habakkuk and his people. "Their horses also are swifter than leopards" suggests the rapidity with which the Babylonians struck. "More fierce than evening wolves" describes their voracious appetite for killing. "They fly as the eagle that hastens to eat" conjures up a vivid picture of a bird of prey swooping down from the sky upon its helpless victim.

1:14–17 The fish in the nets is a comparison Habakkuk used to get his point across. The Babylonians treated lesser nations in the same way fish in the net were handled. Fish could not protect themselves, and neither can the hapless souls who fall prey to the assault of the invading Babylonians. The prophet described different nets: a small casting "net" that was thrown on the surface of the water and the "dragnet" that was lowered to the bottom of the sea with floats on top. Nothing escaped the nets. This imagery indicates the overwhelming force of the invading Babylonians.

2:1 Habakkuk settled down to wait for an answer from the Lord. Neither "watch" nor "rampart" need be taken literally but rather as an allusion to Habakkuk's prophetic place of responsibility. In a solitary position away from the mundane pressures of life, Habakkuk would patiently wait for God's revelation. He was confused and distressed, but in his doubt

The Just Live by Faith

2 Then the LORD answered me and said:

"Write the vision
And make it plain on tablets,
That he may run who reads it.
3 For the vision is yet for an appointed time;
But at the end it will speak, and it will not lie.
Though it tarries, wait for it;
Because it will surely come,
It will not tarry.

4 "Behold the proud,
His soul is not upright in him;
But the just shall live by his faith.

Woe to the Wicked

5 "Indeed, because he transgresses by wine,
He is a proud man,
And he does not stay at home.
Because he enlarges his desire as hell,[a]
And he is like death, and cannot be satisfied,
He gathers to himself all nations
And heaps up for himself all peoples.

6 "Will not all these take up a proverb against him,
And a taunting riddle against him, and say,
'Woe to him who increases
What is not his— how long?
And to him who loads himself with many pledges'?[a]
7 Will not your creditors[a] rise up suddenly?
Will they not awaken who oppress you?
And you will become their booty.
8 Because you have plundered many nations,
All the remnant of the people shall plunder you,
Because of men's blood
And the violence of the land and the city,
And of all who dwell in it.

9 "Woe to him who covets evil gain for his house,
That he may set his nest on high,
That he may be delivered from the power of disaster!
10 You give shameful counsel to your house,
Cutting off many peoples,
And sin against your soul.
11 For the stone will cry out from the wall,
And the beam from the timbers will answer it.

12 "Woe to him who builds a town with bloodshed,
Who establishes a city by iniquity!
13 Behold, is it not of the LORD of hosts
That the peoples labor to feed the fire,[a]
And nations weary themselves in vain?
14 For the earth will be filled
With the knowledge of the glory of the LORD,
As the waters cover the sea.

15 "Woe to him who gives drink to his neighbor,
Pressing[a] him to your bottle,
Even to make him drunk,
That you may look on his nakedness!
16 You are filled with shame instead of glory.
You also— drink!
And be exposed as uncircumcised![a]
The cup of the LORD's right hand will be turned against you,
And utter shame will be on your glory.
17 For the violence done to Lebanon will cover you,
And the plunder of beasts which made them afraid,
Because of men's blood
And the violence of the land and the city,
And of all who dwell in it.

18 "What profit is the image, that its maker should carve it,
The molded image, a teacher of lies,
That the maker of its mold should trust in it,
To make mute idols?
19 Woe to him who says to wood, 'Awake!'
To silent stone, 'Arise! It shall teach!'
Behold, it is overlaid with gold and silver,
Yet in it there is no breath at all.

20 "But the LORD is in His holy temple.
Let all the earth keep silence before Him."

2:5 [a]Or Sheol 2:6 [a]Syriac and Vulgate read thick clay. 2:7 [a]Literally those who bite you 2:13 [a]Literally for what satisfies fire, that is, for what is of no lasting value 2:15 [a]Literally Attaching or Joining 2:16 [a]Dead Sea Scrolls and Septuagint read And reel!; Syriac and Vulgate read And fall fast asleep!

he did not abandon his prophetic calling. Instead, his doubt drove him to seek an answer from the Lord.

2:2 Some ancient texts were written on huge clay, stone, or metal tablets for display. Habakkuk was commanded to write the Lord's answer on such tablets for the benefit of others (Is. 8:1; 30:8). As a prophet, Habakkuk was obligated to preserve and deliver the Lord's message to the people as a source of hope for the future. The message was to be conspicuously displayed.

2:6–20 The five woes described were upon the Babylonians, who, by vicious conquest of lands to which they had no moral right, continued to build their empire. The woes covered dishonesty and covetousness (vv. 6, 9), robbery and embezzlement (vv. 6–8), exploitation and extortion (vv. 9–11), tyranny (vv. 12–14), debauchery (vv. 15–17), and idolatry (vv. 18–20). This promise of the eventual destruction of Judah's enemy was the Lord's answer of hope to Habakkuk's question, "Is God fair to use an evil empire to judge His own people?" When God's people find themselves victims of oppression, injustice, or violence, Habakkuk's message recalls God's ultimate faithfulness to destroy all sin and evil.

Feelings come and feelings leave you, but the disciplines of life are what get you to where you want to go.

The Prophet's Prayer

3 A prayer of Habakkuk the prophet, on Shigionoth.[a]

2 O LORD, I have heard Your speech and was afraid;
O LORD, revive Your work in the midst of the years!
In the midst of the years make it known;
In wrath remember mercy.

3 God came from Teman,
The Holy One from Mount Paran. Selah

His glory covered the heavens,
And the earth was full of His praise.
4 His brightness was like the light;
He had rays flashing from His hand,
And there His power was hidden.
5 Before Him went pestilence,
And fever followed at His feet.

6 He stood and measured the earth;
He looked and startled the nations.
And the everlasting mountains were scattered,
The perpetual hills bowed.
His ways are everlasting.
7 I saw the tents of Cushan in affliction;
The curtains of the land of Midian trembled.

8 O LORD, were You displeased with the rivers,
Was Your anger against the rivers,
Was Your wrath against the sea,
That You rode on Your horses,
Your chariots of salvation?
9 Your bow was made quite ready;
Oaths were sworn over Your arrows.[a] Selah

You divided the earth with rivers.
10 The mountains saw You and trembled;
The overflowing of the water passed by.
The deep uttered its voice,
And lifted its hands on high.
11 The sun and moon stood still in their habitation;
At the light of Your arrows they went,
At the shining of Your glittering spear.

12 You marched through the land in indignation;
You trampled the nations in anger.
13 You went forth for the salvation of Your people,
For salvation with Your Anointed.
You struck the head from the house of the wicked,
By laying bare from foundation to neck. Selah

14 You thrust through with his own arrows
The head of his villages.
They came out like a whirlwind to scatter me;
Their rejoicing was like feasting on the poor in secret.
15 You walked through the sea with Your horses,
Through the heap of great waters.

16 When I heard, my body trembled;
My lips quivered at the voice;
Rottenness entered my bones;
And I trembled in myself,
That I might rest in the day of trouble.
When he comes up to the people,
He will invade them with his troops.

A Hymn of Faith

17 Though the fig tree may not blossom,
Nor fruit be on the vines;
Though the labor of the olive may fail,
And the fields yield no food;

3:1 [a]Exact meaning unknown 3:9 [a]Literally rods or tribes (compare verse 14)

3:3–16 Habakkuk had a vision of the Holy One coming from Teman and Mount Paran, a reference to Moses' final blessing on Israel (see Deut. 32:1–4). God's glory filled the world and all nature was convulsed before Him. The prophet was first devastated by this vision but then resolved to be faithful, joyful, and watchful whatever his circumstances. Encouraged by the vision of a God who would prevail, Habakkuk changed his question from "Why does God allow it?" to "Who is this God who will sustain me in the things He allows?" After taking a good look at God, Habakkuk found Him sufficient.

3:16 Doubt was turned to faith. Habakkuk accepted the approaching disaster, believing God was in control and justice would prevail in the end. His love for God was not based on what God would give him. Even if God sent him suffering and loss, he resolved to rejoice, not in the situation but in the Savior who is sovereign and would be his strength (vv. 18, 19). By taking a good look at God, Habakkuk was able to put the Babylonian invasion in perspective. The prophet found a spirit of faith and joy born out of this deeply traumatic spiritual experience (v. 19).

3:17–19 This hymn of faith is one of the most beautiful psalms in the Bible. The poem was composed under great emotional

RENEWAL RETURNING TO THE LORD

The corruption of the church seems to be increasing. The pattern found in Scripture and throughout church history, however, is this Again and again God's people have done what is right in their own eyes (Judg. 21:25), and God must call them back to obedience. The Law is given and the prophets are sent. The message of John the Baptist, then Jesus, is delivered to the lost sheep of Israel: "Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand" (Matt. 3:2). Admonitions against apostasy, disunity, and immorality fill the New Testament epistles. The prophet Hosea's longsuffering love for Gomer is a parable of the price God will pay to woo His people back to Him (Hos. 3:1–5).

One of the key roles of Christ today is to sanctify and cleanse the church (Eph. 5:25–27). Scripture strongly condemns religious leaders who lead others astray (see Matt. 23:24, 27, 33). The biblical view of the church is not of a club that we can easily leave when problems arise (1 Cor. 12:21). Instead, we must labor as Paul did (1 Cor. 11:1).

See also Luke 24:47, note; 2 Cor. 3:2–4; Rev. 1:4—3:22; chart on Spiritual Warfare; notes on Attributes of God (Eph. 1); Commitment (Matt. 16); Forgiveness (Ps. 51; Luke 17); Spiritual Discipline (2 Pet. 3); Spiritual Warfare (Eph. 6)

Though the flock may be cut off from the fold,
And there be no herd in the stalls—
18 Yet I will rejoice in the LORD,
I will joy in the God of my salvation.

19 The LORD God[a] is my strength;
He will make my feet like deer's feet,
And He will make me walk on my high hills.

To the Chief Musician. With my stringed instruments.

3:19 [a]Hebrew YHWH Adonai

pressure. The prophet glanced back to Israel's journey from Egypt to Sinai. Then he saw the Lord coming again to help and to save His people from complete destruction. Invasion, plagues, and pestilence are pictured as judgments of the Lord upon sin, wherever it is found.

3:17 Believers can know joy in the midst of desolation. This verse describes the desolation of the Land and the consequential famine caused by the Babylonian invasion. All of the plants and animals mentioned were staples of life, and their destruction indicated God's judgment on His people for their sin. Because God's judgment was just and temporary, Habakkuk could nevertheless rejoice in the God who saved him. This joyous confidence might be graphically pictured as jumping for joy in the Lord, spinning around for delight in God.

3:18 Habakkuk's joy lay completely in his confidence in God. As with the prophet, our confidence in God grows as we come to know Him more intimately day by day.

3:19 True faith means loving and serving God regardless of the circumstances. Habakkuk learned that fear would turn to faith when he depended upon a dependable God. This faith, in turn, brought unspeakable joy. Habakkuk pictured himself with deer's feet, picking his way through the cracks of trouble, sure-footed because he was "sure-faithed"! This is an image of victory and triumph in precarious times.

Zephaniah

AUTHOR

Zephaniah (lit. "the Lord has hidden") may refer to Zephaniah's protection by God from the oppressive and idolatrous reign of Manasseh (686–642 B.C.) or to the message of God's protection, in the midst of His punishment, for those who repent.

DATE

Zephaniah probably proclaimed his message between the first reform (about 628 B.C.) and the second more sweeping reform of King Josiah six years later. His prophecies can be dated roughly between 628 B.C. and 622 B.C., overlapping the ministry of Jeremiah.

BACKGROUND

SETTING: When Josiah became king of Judah, the international political relationships of the surrounding powers—Assyria, Babylon, and Egypt—gradually allowed a period of peace and expansion in the southern kingdom. Judah was suffering the effects of the idolatrous and wicked practices of her former kings—Ahaz, Manasseh, and Amon. After the prophecies of Isaiah and Micah, at least a half century of prophetic silence occurred during the reigns of Manasseh and Amon. This silence was broken by Zephaniah's message.

PURPOSE: Zephaniah preached the need to seek the Lord in view of the approaching judgment of Judah referred to as the day of the Lord. He also delivered God's promise to establish a purified remnant of His people.

AUDIENCE: The prophecies were delivered to the nation of Judah.

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: The book is a prophetic declaration, mostly in poetic form.

THEMES

The theme is the coming "day of the LORD" (Zeph. 1:7). In the Old Testament, this theme involved God's intervention in history to bring both punishment for the wicked and peace to the righteous. In the New Testament, this theme will culminate in the return of Jesus Christ, who will destroy sin and death and establish a new heaven and a new earth.

the son of Amon, king of Judah.

The Great Day of the LORD

2 "I will utterly consume everything
From the face of the land,"
Says the LORD;
3 "I will consume man and beast;
I will consume the birds of the heavens,
The fish of the sea,
And the stumbling blocks[a] along with the wicked.
I will cut off man from the face of the land,"
Says the LORD.

4 "I will stretch out My hand against Judah,
And against all the inhabitants of Jerusalem.
I will cut off every trace of Baal from this place,
The names of the idolatrous priests[a] with the pagan priests—
5 Those who worship the host of heaven on the housetops;
Those who worship and swear oaths by the
LORD,
But who also swear by Milcom;[a]
6 Those who have turned back from following the
LORD,
And have not sought the LORD, nor inquired of Him."

7 Be silent in the presence of the Lord GOD;
For the day of the LORD is at hand,
For the LORD has prepared a sacrifice;
He has invited[a] His guests.

8 "And it shall be,
In the day of the LORD's sacrifice,
That I will punish the princes and the king's children,
And all such as are clothed with foreign apparel.
9 In the same day I will punish
All those who leap over the threshold,[a]

1:3 [a]Figurative of idols 1:4 [a]Hebrew chemarim 1:5 [a]Or Malcam, an Ammonite god, also called Molech (compare Leviticus 18:21) 1:7 [a]Literally set apart, consecrated 1:9 [a]Compare 1 Samuel 5:5

1:1 Zephaniah is the only one of the 16 writing prophets who traced his genealogy back through four generations to King Hezekiah. Possibly he wanted to document his royal lineage to substantiate his awareness of the sins committed by Jerusalem's leaders.

1:2, 3 The language about destruction is similar to that used in the description of Noah's flood (Gen. 6:7; 7:23). The context shows that the devastation of the "land" encompasses that of the whole world (Zeph. 1:2).

1:4—2:3 The addressees are the inhabitants of Judah (see chart, Terminology for the People of God).

1:4 Baal (lit. "master," "husband," "possessor") worship was a pagan cult with a variety of deities introduced by Israel's King Ahab and revived by Judah's King Manasseh after Hezekiah's eradication of the Baal idols (2 Kin. 21:1–3).

1:5 Milcom is the Ammonite deity (1 Kin. 11:5, 33; 2 Kin. 23:13).

1:7 The metaphor of a sacrificial ritual is used by Zephaniah to portray graphically the judgment coming in the day of the Lord. The sacrificial victim represented the people of Judah, while the guests were the Babylonian enemies, who were to slay the sacrifice and serve as instruments of God's judgment (Is. 13:3). The unrepentant sinner, as the victim of his own sins, would become a sacrifice.

1:8 The princes are the royal officials of Judah. The "king's children" are literally "the sons of the kings," perhaps a reference to the sons of Josiah—Jehoahaz, Jehoiakim, and Zedekiah (2 Kin. 23:31, 36; 24:18) or to the royal family in general (2 Kin. 10:1), including the children of Josiah. The latter is more likely. In 605 B.C., the Babylonians attacked Jerusalem and carried its noble young men to Babylon in the first of several deportations (2 Kin. 24:1; Dan. 1:1–6). In 597 B.C., Josiah's grandson King Jehoiachin, together with the royal family and the royal officers, was deported to Babylon (2 Kin. 24:8–12). In 586 B.C., King Nebuchadnezzar killed the sons of Zedekiah in front of him, took Zedekiah captive, and gouged out his eyes (2 Kin. 25:3–7). Wearing foreign apparel included the adoption of Gentile customs, lifestyle, moral behavior, and religious practices.

1:9 Apparently, the leaders of Judah had adopted this Philistine custom of jumping superstitiously over the doorstep of the entrance to Dagon's temple (1 Sam. 5:1–5). Not only were God's people adopting pagan practices, but their morality had also been corrupted. They had filled their homes with goods taken by means of violence and fraud.

Who fill their masters' houses with violence and deceit.

10"And there shall be on that day," says the
LORD,
"The sound of a mournful cry from the Fish Gate,
A wailing from the Second Quarter,
And a loud crashing from the hills.
11Wail, you inhabitants of Maktesh![a]
For all the merchant people are cut down;
All those who handle money are cut off.

12"And it shall come to pass at that time
That I will search Jerusalem with lamps,
And punish the men
Who are settled in complacency,[a]
Who say in their heart,
'The LORD will not do good,
Nor will He do evil.'
13Therefore their goods shall become booty,
And their houses a desolation;
They shall build houses, but not inhabit them;
They shall plant vineyards, but not drink their wine."

14The great day of the LORD is near;
It is near and hastens quickly.
The noise of the day of the LORD is bitter;
There the mighty men shall cry out.
15That day is a day of wrath,
A day of trouble and distress,
A day of devastation and desolation,
A day of darkness and gloominess,
A day of clouds and thick darkness,
16A day of trumpet and alarm
Against the fortified cities
And against the high towers.
17"I will bring distress upon men,
And they shall walk like blind men,
Because they have sinned against the
LORD;
Their blood shall be poured out like dust,
And their flesh like refuse."

18Neither their silver nor their gold
Shall be able to deliver them
In the day of the LORD's wrath;
But the whole land shall be devoured
By the fire of His jealousy,
For He will make speedy riddance
Of all those who dwell in the land.

A Call to Repentance

2 Gather yourselves together, yes, gather together,
O undesirable[a] nation,
2Before the decree is issued,
Or the day passes like chaff,
Before the LORD's fierce anger comes upon you,
Before the day of the LORD's anger comes upon
you!
3Seek the LORD, all you meek of the earth,
Who have upheld His justice.
Seek righteousness, seek humility.
It may be that you will be hidden
In the day of the LORD's anger.

Judgment on Nations

4For Gaza shall be forsaken,
And Ashkelon desolate;
They shall drive out Ashdod at noonday,
And Ekron shall be uprooted.

1:11 [a]Literally Mortar, a market district of Jerusalem 1:12 [a]Literally on their lees, that is, settled like the dregs of wine 2:1 [a]Or shameless

1:10, 11 The Fish Gate, the "Second Quarter," "the hills," and the "Maktesh" cannot be located exactly. The sense portrayed in these verses is that Jerusalem faced widespread devastation.

1:14–17 The day of the Lord suggests an ominous time of judgment reflected in words like "wrath," "trouble," "distress," "devastation," "darkness," and "gloominess" (v. 15). Its description is vividly portrayed as destructive military conflict. Clearly there is no escape for those who have sinned against the Lord (v. 17; see Amos 5:18–20; Rom. 1:18–25).

2:1–3 The nation (Heb. goy), usually a reference to Gentile nations (v. 1), here is Judah because of her pagan-like sinfulness. Zephaniah admonishes those who have walked in the way of righteousness to continue with a wholehearted pursuit of God, not because the day of judgment would not come but so that the penitent would be protected during the inevitable time of destruction (v. 3).

2:4 The noonday downfall describes the shortness of the siege and indicates the unpredictable timing of judgment.

2:4–7 Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon overran Ashkelon in 604 B.C. By 601 B.C., Babylon must have taken all of Philistia because its seacoast was used as a launching site to invade Egypt. Verses 6 and 7 may have had the return from the Babylonian captivity in view, but like other predictive prophecies having both near and future references, this passage refers also to a later fulfillment.

2:4–15 The nations around Judah would also be the object of punishment for threatening God's people (vv. 8, 10) and for their pride (v. 15). The indicted nations are the Philistines to the west (Gaza, Ashkelon, Ashdod, Ekron), Moab and Ammon to the east, Ethiopia to the southwest, and Assyria (Nineveh) to the northeast. Though the Moabites and Ammonites were blood relatives of the Israelites, they had a long history of animosity with Israel (Gen. 19:30–38). Ethiopia, which roughly corresponds to the present northern Sudan, is the southernmost edge of biblical geography and of the historical ancient Near East. Assyria, centered in what is presently Iran and Iraq, is often considered geographically to the north because the Assyrians had to invade Palestine from that direction. The designation of these border nations portrayed the widespread scope of God's judgment.

5 Woe to the inhabitants of the seacoast,
The nation of the Cherethites!
The word of the LORD is against you,
O Canaan, land of the Philistines:
"I will destroy you;
So there shall be no inhabitant."

6 The seacoast shall be pastures,
With shelters[a] for shepherds and folds for flocks.
7 The coast shall be for the remnant of the house of Judah;
They shall feed their flocks there;
In the houses of Ashkelon they shall lie down at evening.
For the LORD their God will intervene for them,
And return their captives.

8 "I have heard the reproach of Moab,
And the insults of the people of Ammon,
With which they have reproached My people,
And made arrogant threats against their borders.
9 Therefore, as I live,"
Says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel,
"Surely Moab shall be like Sodom,
And the people of Ammon like Gomorrah—
Overrun with weeds and saltpits,
And a perpetual desolation.
The residue of My people shall plunder them,
And the remnant of My people shall possess them."

10 This they shall have for their pride,
Because they have reproached and made arrogant threats
Against the people of the LORD of hosts.
11 The LORD will be awesome to them,
For He will reduce to nothing all the gods of the earth;
People shall worship Him,
Each one from his place,
Indeed all the shores of the nations.

12 "You Ethiopians also,
You shall be slain by My sword."

13 And He will stretch out His hand against the north,
Destroy Assyria,
And make Nineveh a desolation,
As dry as the wilderness.
14 The herds shall lie down in her midst,
Every beast of the nation.
Both the pelican and the bittern
Shall lodge on the capitals of her pillars;
Their voice shall sing in the windows;
Desolation shall be at the threshold;
For He will lay bare the cedar work.
15 This is the rejoicing city
That dwelt securely,
That said in her heart,
"I am it, and there is none besides me."
How has she become a desolation,
A place for beasts to lie down!
Everyone who passes by her
Shall hiss and shake his fist.

The Wickedness of Jerusalem

3 Woe to her who is rebellious and polluted,
To the oppressing city!
2 She has not obeyed His voice,
She has not received correction;
She has not trusted in the LORD,
She has not drawn near to her God.

3 Her princes in her midst are roaring lions;
Her judges are evening wolves
That leave not a bone till morning.
4 Her prophets are insolent, treacherous people;
Her priests have polluted the sanctuary,
They have done violence to the law.
5 The LORD is righteous in her midst,
He will do no unrighteousness.
Every morning He brings His justice to light;
He never fails,
But the unjust knows no shame.

2:6 [a]Literally excavations, either underground huts or cisterns

2:5 The Cherethites were immigrants from Crete who settled with the Philistines along the seacoast of Palestine (Ezek. 25:16).

2:9 Sodom and Gomorrah were completely destroyed by God due to their extreme unrighteousness (Gen. 19:24, 25). They are often used as an example of wickedness and as the recipients of God's wrath toward evil (Jer. 23:14; Matt. 10:15).

The saltpits allowed water from the Dead Sea to seep in and fill them. When the water evaporated, the deposits of salt left behind were sold. Saltpits have been associated with desolation, barrenness, and unfruitfulness.

2:11 A future time is proclaimed when every person in the world will bow before the Lord (see Phil. 2:9–11; Rev. 5:13).

2:13, 14 Nineveh was the capital of Assyria. Although not precisely identified, "pelican" and "bittern" present an image of wild animals frequenting a desolate place. The statements about broken "capitals" and "cedar work" of fine buildings support this picture. "Capitals"refers to the carved top parts of columns that had supported the roofs and had fallen to the ground, while the cedar beams of the walls or ceilings were exposed due to destruction. In 612 B.C., the secure, proud, and prosperous city of Nineveh fell. By 609 B.C., the whole Assyrian Empire had collapsed under the Medo-Babylonian alliance. In 401 B.C., Xenophon, a Greek adventurer, passed through the ruins of the once proud city of Nineveh and did not find any trace of its existence.

6"I have cut off nations,
Their fortresses are devastated;
I have made their streets desolate,
With none passing by.
Their cities are destroyed;
There is no one, no inhabitant.
7I said, 'Surely you will fear Me,
You will receive instruction'—
So that her dwelling would not be cut off,
Despite everything for which I punished her.
But they rose early and corrupted all their deeds.

A Faithful Remnant

8"Therefore wait for Me," says the LORD,
"Until the day I rise up for plunder;[a]
My determination is to gather the nations
To My assembly of kingdoms,
To pour on them My indignation,
All My fierce anger;
All the earth shall be devoured
With the fire of My jealousy.

9"For then I will restore to the peoples a pure language,
That they all may call on the name of the LORD,
To serve Him with one accord.
10From beyond the rivers of Ethiopia
My worshipers,
The daughter of My dispersed ones,
Shall bring My offering.
11In that day you shall not be shamed for any of your deeds
In which you transgress against Me;
For then I will take away from your midst
Those who rejoice in your pride,
And you shall no longer be haughty
In My holy mountain.
12I will leave in your midst
A meek and humble people,
And they shall trust in the name of the LORD.
13The remnant of Israel shall do no unrighteousness
And speak no lies,
Nor shall a deceitful tongue be found in their mouth;
For they shall feed their flocks and lie down,
And no one shall make them afraid."

Joy in God's Faithfulness

14Sing, O daughter of Zion!
Shout, O Israel!
Be glad and rejoice with all your heart,
O daughter of Jerusalem!
15The LORD has taken away your judgments,
He has cast out your enemy.
The King of Israel, the LORD, is in your midst;
You shall see[a] disaster no more.

16In that day it shall be said to Jerusalem:
"Do not fear;
Zion, let not your hands be weak.
17The LORD your God in your midst,
The Mighty One, will save;
He will rejoice over you with gladness,
He will quiet you with His love,
He will rejoice over you with singing."

18"I will gather those who sorrow over the appointed assembly,
Who are among you,
To whom its reproach is a burden.
19Behold, at that time
I will deal with all who afflict you;
I will save the lame,

3:8 [a]Septuagint and Syriac read for witness; Targum reads for the day of My revelation for judgment; Vulgate reads for the day of My resurrection that is to come. 3:15 [a]Some Hebrew manuscripts, Septuagint, and Bomberg read see; Masoretic Text and Vulgate read fear.

3:6, 7 God's chastisement of other nations should have brought the people of Judah to their senses. But they "rose early," becoming more persistent and more eager in the pursuit of sin (v. 7).

3:9 God had already announced that all the nations would worship Him (Zeph. 2:11). Lips or "language" became unclean with the worship of pagan gods. Here a turn of the hearts of all the Gentiles is foreseen, expressed through a change to "pure language," that is, a change from calling on the name of false gods to calling on the name of the Lord (see Gen. 11:1–9). This passage anticipates the NT outpouring of the Holy Spirit after the ascension of Christ when the Gentiles from many nations would call upon the name of the Lord (see Acts 2:1–47).

3:10 Beyond the rivers of Ethiopia refers to the most remote place.

3:10–17 Zephaniah painted another picture of hope in the day of the Lord's coming even in the midst of the predicted devastation. The day of the Lord would mean destruction of evil, but it would also mean that the people of God would worship Him and would be forgiven, humbled, and sanctified (vv. 10–13). God would be the victorious King and Warrior dwelling with His people and providing salvation, security, and peace. Thus, Zephaniah summoned the people of Jerusalem to rejoice. With similar emotions, the Mighty God would find joy in His formerly wayward people (vv. 14–17).

3:14 The word daughter combined with the name of a place or people is a figure of speech referring to the inhabitants of that place (see Is. 23:10, 12; Jer. 46:11). Thus, the "daughter of Zion" and "daughter of Jerusalem" both refer to the population of Jerusalem (see Song 3, The Daughters of Jerusalem). Zion is another name for Jerusalem because the original Jerusalem or City of David was built on Mount Zion. By the time of Josiah, Zion had expanded to include the western hill and the area north of the City of David on which the temple was built.

3:18–20 When the destruction of Jerusalem occurred, its population was deported to Babylon (2 Kin. 24, 25). These verses refer to a remnant of dispersed and afflicted people whom

And gather those who were driven out;
I will appoint them for praise and fame
In every land where they were put to shame.
20 At that time I will bring you back,
Even at the time I gather you;
For I will give you fame and praise
Among all the peoples of the earth,
When I return your captives before your eyes,"
Says the LORD.

God would bring back from Babylon to Jerusalem after 70 years of exile. This restoration began in 539 B.C. when Cyrus issued his decree that allowed the Jews to return to their homeland. The return of the Jews to Judah in fulfillment of Zephaniah's prophecy foreshadows the final redemption of the earth.

Haggai

TITLE

Nothing is known of Haggai's life or background. He appears on the biblical scene without introduction and disappears just as quickly. Haggai (Heb., "feast of Yahweh") may have been born on a special feast day and thus given this name to commemorate that event. According to ancient Jewish tradition, Haggai saw Solomon's temple before the Exile (Hag. 2:3) and so was quite old as he returned to the Land. Ancient Christian tradition holds that Haggai was born in exile and was young when he returned to Jerusalem. Others believe that Haggai never went into exile but instead stayed in the Land. In any case, Haggai was well acquainted with the situation of his day and spoke with such effectiveness that the people were moved to action. Haggai was a contemporary of Zechariah (Ezra 5:1; 6:14), although neither prophet mentioned the other.

DATE

All utterances in this prophecy are given specific dates in the year 520 B.C.; so Haggai's recorded ministry lasted only four months. The compilation of the prophet's oracles may have been done in that year or at a later time.

BACKGROUND

SETTING: In 539 B.C., Cyrus, king of Persia, decreed that all exiled Jews could return from Babylon to Jerusalem to rebuild that devastated city and the temple of the Lord. This decree by Cyrus is corroborated as authentic by extrabiblical sources such as the Cyrus Cylinder, now housed in the British Museum. Enough people returned for the rebuilding project to proceed. However, due to opposition by the Samaritans, work on the temple ceased after the foundation was laid (536 B.C.). The city and temple remained in ruins. By 520 B.C., a new king, Darius I, brought stability to the Persian Empire and to Judah as well. This new political situation allowed the work of rebuilding Jerusalem to resume. In 520 B.C., Haggai encouraged the people to resume the building.

PURPOSE: Haggai admonished the people to obey the Lord by rebuilding the temple. Haggai also announced renewed promises for the future.

AUDIENCE: Haggai's message was directed specifically to Zerubbabel, the governor of Judah; to Joshua, the high priest; and to the Jewish community that had returned from the Exile.

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: Haggai, the second shortest book of the Old Testament, is concise and simple in style. Rhetorical questions are used repeatedly (Hag. 1:4; 2:3, 12, 13, 19). Affirmation that Haggai's words are the words of the Lord is repeated about thirty times.

THEMES

The Jews returning from the Exile needed reassurance that they were still God's people and still in covenant with Him. Haggai provided hope for the future in his message reaffirming God's covenant, His choice of Jerusalem as the place where His name would dwell forever, and His eternal promise concerning David's throne.

OUTLINE

I. The Temple (1:1—2:9)
   A. A rebuke for not rebuilding the temple (1:1, 2)
   B. Covenant curses for not rebuilding (1:3–11)
   C. Repentance and covenant blessing (1:12–15)
   D. Promises for the temple (2:1–9)

II. God's Promise and Haggai's Prophecy (2:10–19)
   A. A rebuke for being unclean (2:10–14)
   B. Covenant curses for being unclean (2:15–17)
   C. Repentance and covenant blessing (2:18, 19)

III. The Restoration of David's Throne (2:20–23)

The Command to Build God's House

1 In the second year of King Darius, in the sixth month, on the first day of the month, the word of the LORD came by Haggai the prophet to Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and to Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, saying, 2"Thus speaks the LORD of hosts, saying: 'This people says, "The time has not come, the time that the LORD's house should be built." ' "

3Then the word of the LORD came by Haggai the prophet, saying, 4"Is it time for you yourselves to dwell in your paneled houses, and this temple[a] to lie in ruins?" 5Now therefore, thus says the LORD of hosts: "Consider your ways!

6"You have sown much, and bring in little;
You eat, but do not have enough;
You drink, but you are not filled with drink;
You clothe yourselves, but no one is warm;
And he who earns wages,
Earns wages to put into a bag with holes."

7Thus says the LORD of hosts: "Consider your ways! 8Go up to the mountains and bring wood and build the temple, that I may take pleasure in it and be glorified," says the LORD. 9"You looked for much, but indeed it came to little; and when you brought it home, I blew it away. Why?" says the LORD of hosts. "Because of My house that is in ruins, while every one of you runs to his own house. 10Therefore the heavens above you withhold the dew, and the earth withholds its fruit. 11For I called for a drought on the land and the mountains, on the grain and the new wine and the oil, on whatever the ground brings forth, on men and livestock, and on all the labor of your hands."

1:4 [a]Literally house, and so in verse 8

1:1 Haggai is more precise and chronological in his dating than any other prophet (see charts, The Jewish Sacred Calendar; Dating the Prophecies of Haggai and Zechariah). The first day of the sixth month of the second year of King Darius Hystaspes (522–486 B.C.) was about August 29, 520 B.C. The first day of each month was a holy day of special offering to the Lord when the people would have gathered around the altar (Num. 28:11–13). This time was appropriate for the prophet to address the people. A fast had occurred during the fifth month to mourn the destruction of the temple in 586 B.C. Thoughts of the temple would have been fresh in the minds of the people, and 24 days later the rebuilding of the temple began (about Sept. 21, 520 B.C.; Hag. 1:15). For Zerubbabel and Joshua, see Haggai 1:12, note.

1:2 God's displeasure is expressed in the phrase, "this people." Israel, living in obedience, was called "My people" (Ex. 5:1, Ezek. 36:28; Zech. 8:8). Living in disobedience, Israel became "not My people" (Hos. 1:9). Haggai's reference to the temple as the Lord's "house" contrasts the "house" of the Lord with the "houses" of the people.

1:4 Paneled houses indicate that either the houses had paneled roofs or richly decorated walls. The people lived in completed houses or in luxury, while the house of the Lord lay in ruin.

1:6–11 Apparently unconcerned about their relationship to God, the people neglected the temple. They were experiencing the curses of that disobedience (Deut. 28:18, 22, 38–42). The economic plight of the people was an indictment against them but reassuring proof of the continuation of the covenant (Hag. 2:15–19).

The People's Obedience

12Then Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, with all the remnant of the people, obeyed the voice of the LORD their God, and the words of Haggai the prophet, as the LORD their God had sent him; and the people feared the presence of the LORD. 13Then Haggai, the LORD's messenger, spoke the LORD's message to the people, saying, "I am with you, says the LORD." 14So the LORD stirred up the spirit of Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and the spirit of Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people; and they came and worked on the house of the LORD of hosts, their God, 15on the twenty-fourth day of the sixth month, in the second year of King Darius.

The Coming Glory of God's House

2 In the seventh month, on the twenty-first of the month, the word of the LORD came by Haggai

1:12 Zerubbabel was listed as the son of Shealtiel (see Matt. 1:12; Luke 3:27) but elsewhere as the son of Pedaiah (brother of Shealtiel; see 1 Chr. 3:17–19). The difference has been explained by Zerubbabel's status as legal son of the childless Shealtiel and biological son of Pedaiah, or that Zerubbabel was the son of a levirate marriage (see Deut. 25:5, 6). In any case, Zerubbabel is a descendant of King David through his grandfather, King Jehoiachin (or Jeconiah), justifying the reference to his leadership and later messianic lineage. Joshua, the high priest, is the son of Jehozadak, who was carried into exile (1 Chr. 6:15) and the grandson of Seraiah (1 Chr. 6:14). He was responsible for the religious affairs of the Jewish community of returning exiles. Zerubbabel and Joshua were important to Haggai as he addressed the concerns regarding David's throne and the temple.

The "remnant" identifies those who are committed to living in obedience to the covenant, not simply those who have survived the Exile.

2:1 The people were to gather in Jerusalem for the Feast of Tabernacles (Lev. 23:39–44; Deut. 16:13–17), an appropriate the prophet, saying: [2]"Speak now to Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and to Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, and to the remnant of the people, saying: [3]'Who is left among you who saw this temple[a] in its former glory? And how do you see it now? In comparison with it, is this not in your eyes as nothing? [4]Yet now be strong, Zerubbabel,' says the LORD; 'and be strong, Joshua, son of Jehozadak, the high priest; and be strong, all you people of the land,' says the LORD, 'and work; for I am with you,' says the LORD of hosts. [5]'According to the word that I covenanted with you when you came out of Egypt, so My Spirit remains among you; do not fear!'

[6]"For thus says the LORD of hosts: 'Once more (it is a little while) I will shake heaven and earth, the sea and dry land; [7]and I will shake all nations, and they shall come to the Desire of All Nations,[a] and I will fill this temple with glory,' says the LORD of hosts. [8]'The silver is Mine, and the gold is Mine,' says the LORD of hosts. [9]'The glory of this latter temple shall be greater than the former,' says the LORD of hosts. 'And in this place I will give peace,' says the LORD of hosts."

The People Are Defiled

[10]On the twenty-fourth day of the ninth month, in the second year of Darius, the word of the LORD came by Haggai the prophet, saying, [11]"Thus says the LORD of hosts: 'Now, ask the priests concerning the law, saying, [12]"If one carries holy meat in the fold of his garment, and with the edge he touches bread or stew, wine or oil, or any food, will it become holy?" ' "

Then the priests answered and said, "No."

[13]And Haggai said, "If one who is unclean because of a dead body touches any of these, will it be unclean?"

So the priests answered and said, "It shall be unclean."

[14]Then Haggai answered and said, " 'So is this people, and so is this nation before Me,' says the LORD, 'and so is every work of their hands; and what they offer there is unclean.

Promised Blessing

[15]'And now, carefully consider from this day forward: from before stone was laid upon stone in the temple of the LORD— [16]since those days, when one came to a heap of twenty ephahs, there were but ten; when one came to the wine vat to draw out fifty baths from the press, there were but twenty. [17]I struck you with blight and mildew and hail in all the labors of your hands; yet you did not turn to Me,' says the LORD. [18]'Consider now from this day forward, from the twenty-fourth day of the ninth month, from the day that the foundation of the LORD's temple was laid— consider it: [19]Is the seed still in the barn? As yet the vine, the fig tree, the pomegranate, and the olive tree have not yielded fruit. But from this day I will bless you.' "

Zerubbabel Chosen as a Signet

[20]And again the word of the LORD came to Haggai on the twenty-fourth day of the month, saying, [21]"Speak to Zerubbabel, governor of Judah, saying:

'I will shake heaven and earth.
[22]I will overthrow the throne of kingdoms;
I will destroy the strength of the Gentile kingdoms.
I will overthrow the chariots
And those who ride in them;
The horses and their riders shall come down,
Every one by the sword of his brother.

[23]'In that day,' says the LORD of hosts, 'I will take you, Zerubbabel My servant, the son of Shealtiel,' says the LORD, 'and will make you like a signet ring; for I have chosen you,' says the LORD of hosts."

2:3 [a]Literally house, and so in verses 7 and 9 2:7 [a]Or the desire of all nations time for Haggai to speak regarding the future glory of the temple. The 21st day of the 7th month (about Oct. 17, 520 B.C.) is the 7th day of the Feast of Tabernacles.

2:6–9 The promise is for a greater glory in the temple to come (see chart, The Temples of the Bible). The temple of Zerubbabel was probably leveled during Herod's renovation. Both are identified as the "second temple." These "shakings" of the nations would prepare the way for the Messiah and His kingdom (Luke 24:47; Acts 1:8). The first "shaking" took place when God gave Moses the Law at Sinai (Ex. 19:16). Another of cosmic dimensions would be coming at the end (see Hag. 2:21; Heb. 12:26–28).

2:10–14 The twenty-fourth day of the ninth month (Dec. 18, 520 B.C.) seems to be an official day of proclamation that God would again accept their worship at the temple. The priests were asked rhetorical questions regarding the transmission of purity and impurity (see Lev. 6:27; 11:28). The holy meat made the garment holy, but the garment was unable to transmit that holiness to anything it touched. The man who touched a dead body became unclean, and whatever he touched also became unclean. The priest's answers showed the people to be unclean (Hag. 2:12), affirming Haggai's word that holiness could not be caught from participation in temple worship.

2:23 The signet ring was a symbol of the authority of the king. Zerubbabel's grandfather, Jehoiachin (Jeconiah), was like the Lord's signet ring, which He pulled from His hand when Jehoiachin went into Exile (Jer. 22:24–30). Zerubbabel was like a signet ring placed on the hand of the Lord once again. He was an heir to David's throne. This promise did not stipulate that Zerubbabel would become king but rather that the Lord had not disregarded David's throne. "My servant" (Zerubbabel) confirmed the Davidic, messianic lineage (1 Kin. 11:34; Ps. 78:70; Is. 52:13).

Zechariah

AUTHOR

The name Zechariah (Heb., lit. "Yahweh remembers") is common in the Old Testament with more than twenty-eight men bearing that designation. The title of the book is appropriate, as the prophecies therein reassured those who had returned from the Exile that they were still God's covenant people. This Zechariah is the son of Berechiah and the grandson of Iddo (Zech. 1:1, 7; see Ezra 5:1). Nothing is known of Zechariah's father, but his grandfather was listed among the priests and Levites returning to the Land from the Exile (Neh. 12:1–47). Ezra's identification of Zechariah as the "son" of his grandfather probably indicates that Zechariah's father died before Iddo, making Zechariah his grandfather's successor as head of the family. Some suggest that Zechariah was born in Exile and returned to the Land as a boy. No compelling reason to doubt Zechariah's authorship of the entire book exists. Zechariah's prophetic ministry overlapped but extended beyond that of Haggai. Both prophets are mentioned in Ezra 5:1 and 6:14, but neither prophet mentioned the other.

DATE

The prophecies of the first eight chapters of Zechariah are explicitly dated between 520 B.C. and 518 B.C. Chapters 9—14 are undated but are most likely from the period about 516–500 B.C. when the Persian Empire was beginning to fall.

BACKGROUND

SETTING: Zechariah ministered to the residents of Jerusalem after their return from Exile in Babylon. Joshua was the newly appointed high priest, and Zerubbabel was the governor. Temple rebuilding had begun anew as a result of Haggai's prophetic ministry. The people were beginning to experience again the blessings of obedience. Zechariah encouraged the people to live in obedience as the necessary prerequisite to continued enjoyment of covenant blessings. Thus, the call to repent opened Zechariah's prophecy (Zech. 1—6). By 518 B.C., work on the temple was progressing, but once again the people needed to be called to obedience and purity (Zech. 7—8). Toward the end of Zechariah's ministry, the Greeks defeated Persia at Marathon (490 B.C.) and again at Salamis (481 B.C.), weakening the position of the Persian Empire. This period of political uncertainty and insecurity prompted new prophecies (Zech. 9—14).

PURPOSE: Zechariah's purpose was to comfort and encourage God's people to remain faithful in times of distress and perplexity. He encouraged them to rebuild the temple. Zechariah focused the attention of the people on the Lord's promises for the future.

AUDIENCE: Zechariah directly addressed the returned Jewish community in Judah, the Jews still in Exile, and the nations.

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: Zechariah is one of the two lengthier books of the Minor Prophets. It is often thought to be obscure and difficult to understand. Zechariah is an example of apocalyptic literature (the content of which concerns "revelations" often communicated through visions or symbols), describing the consummation of history with graphic imagery. Other apocalyptic books include Daniel, Revelation, and portions of Ezekiel.

THEMES

Zechariah insisted that purity in the people and in the Land must accompany the restoration of the temple. Two prominent motifs are the Priest-King and the Shepherd. The message of Zechariah is universal and cosmic in its scope and pictures God's final victory as an accomplished fact. Because Zechariah is frequently referenced in the New Testament, the book is especially worthy of study and careful attention. The gospel writers quoted Zechariah more than any other minor prophet, which indicates Zechariah's strong messianic concerns as he looked to the future of God's people.

OUTLINE

I. Warnings and Visions (1:1—6:15)
  A. The call to repentance (1:1–6)
  B. The night visions and prophecies (1:7—6:15)
    1. God's comfort for Zion (1:7–17)
    2. The visions regarding the nations and Jerusalem (1:18—2:13)
    3. A renewal of the priesthood (3:1–10)
    4. A renewal of the leaders (4:1–14)
    5. The purification of the Land (5:1–11)
    6. The judgment on the north (6:1–8)
    7. The crowning of the priest (6:9–15)

II. Covenant Expectations and Blessing (7:1—8:23)
  A. A question about fasting (7:1–3)
  B. A perspective of the past (7:4–14)
  C. A perspective of the future (8:1–23)

III. The Coming of the Messiah (9:1—11:17)
  A. The victorious Lord (9:1–17)
  B. The Lord's restoration of His people (10:1–12)
  C. Israel's rejection of the Messiah (11:1–17)

IV. The Return of the Messiah (12:1—14:21)
  A. The victorious Lord (12:1–9)
  B. The acknowledgment of the Lord (12:10—13:6)
  C. The Lord's establishment of His kingdom (13:7—14:21)

A Call to Repentance

1 In the eighth month of the second year of Darius, the word of the LORD came to Zechariah
the son of Berechiah, the son of Iddo the prophet, saying, 2"The LORD has been very angry with your fathers. 3Therefore say to them, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts: "Return to Me," says the LORD of hosts, "and I will return to you," says the LORD of hosts. 4"Do not be like your fathers, to whom the former prophets preached, saying, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts: "Turn now from your evil ways and your evil deeds." ' But they did not hear nor heed Me," says the LORD.

5"Your fathers, where are they?
And the prophets, do they live forever?
6Yet surely My words and My statutes, Which I commanded My servants the prophets,
Did they not overtake your fathers?

"So they returned and said:

1:1 The prophecies of Zechariah 1—8 are dated during the early years of the reign of Darius Hystaspes, king of the Persian Empire (522–486 B.C.; vv. 1, 7; Zech. 7:1). Darius reaffirmed Cyrus' decree (539 B.C.), permitting the rebuilding of the temple in Jerusalem.

1:2–6 The use of "your fathers" reminded the people that the Exile was judgment for sin and linked them with the past. The verb "return" is repeated several times in these verses, emphasizing the call to repentance. The same message given to their fathers by the former prophets went unheeded (v. 3; Is. 31:6; Jer. 18:11; Hos. 14:1, 2; Joel 2:12, 13). The returned community would experience similar judgment if they failed to heed this warning.

'Just as the LORD of hosts determined to do to us,
According to our ways and according to our deeds,
So He has dealt with us.' " ' "

Vision of the Horses

7On the twenty-fourth day of the eleventh month, which is the month Shebat, in the second year of Darius, the word of the LORD came to Zechariah the son of Berechiah, the son of Iddo the prophet: 8I saw by night, and behold, a man riding on a red horse, and it stood among the myrtle trees in the hollow; and behind him were horses: red, sorrel, and white. 9Then I said, "My lord, what are these?" So the angel who talked with me said to me, "I will show you what they are."

10And the man who stood among the myrtle trees answered and said, "These are the ones whom the LORD has sent to walk to and fro throughout the earth."

11So they answered the Angel of the LORD, who stood among the myrtle trees, and said, "We have walked to and fro throughout the earth, and behold, all the earth is resting quietly."

The LORD Will Comfort Zion

12Then the Angel of the LORD answered and said, "O LORD of hosts, how long will You not have mercy on Jerusalem and on the cities of Judah, against which You were angry these seventy years?"

13And the LORD answered the angel who talked to me, with good and comforting words. 14So the angel who spoke with me said to me, "Proclaim, saying, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts:

"I am zealous for Jerusalem
And for Zion with great zeal.
15I am exceedingly angry with the nations at ease;
For I was a little angry,
And they helped—but with evil intent."

16"Therefore thus says the LORD:

"I am returning to Jerusalem with mercy;
My house shall be built in it," says the LORD of
hosts,
"And a surveyor's line shall be stretched out over Jerusalem." '

17"Again proclaim, saying, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts:

"My cities shall again spread out through prosperity;
The LORD will again comfort Zion,
And will again choose Jerusalem." ' "

Vision of the Horns

18Then I raised my eyes and looked, and there were four horns. 19And I said to the angel who talked with me, "What are these?"

So he answered me, "These are the horns that have scattered Judah, Israel, and Jerusalem."

20Then the LORD showed me four craftsmen. 21And I said, "What are these coming to do?"

So he said, "These are the horns that scattered Judah, so that no one could lift up his head; but the craftsmen[a] are coming to terrify them, to cast out the horns of the nations that lifted up their horn against the land of Judah to scatter it."

1:21 [a]Literally these

1:7—6:8 Observing the visions with Zechariah was an interpreting angel (Zech. 1:9, 13, 14, 19; 2:3; 4:1, 4, 5; 5:5, 10; 6:4, 5). All these visions except the fourth (Zech. 3:1–5) follow the same literary pattern, in which the prophet described what he saw, asked for an interpretation from the angel, then received an explanation. Five of the visions were accompanied by a prophetic oracle that amplified its message on purity and leadership. Each built on the other, and all eight should be viewed together as a whole.

1:8 The man on the red horse standing "among the myrtle trees in the hollow" was probably to be identified as the "Angel of the LORD" (v. 11), a special manifestation of Yahweh's presence in the OT and thought by some to be the preincarnate Christ (Gen. 16:7–13; Ex. 3:1–6, Judg. 13:3–22; see chart, The Angel of the Lord). With the man were horses of different colors (see chart, Colors in the Bible).

1:12 Have mercy (Heb. racham) is a cognate of the noun meaning "womb," a reference to the tenderness and compassion a mother shows toward the child of her womb (see Ps. 18:1–3, note; chart, Female Metaphors for God). Note the contrast regarding the Lord's zeal and His anger. He is "zealous . . . with great zeal" toward Israel but "exceedingly angry" (lit. "angry with great anger") toward the "nations at ease" (Zech. 1:14, 15). Both Israel and the nations experienced the Lord's anger, but their respective relationships with Him are qualitatively different.

1:18, 19 A horned animal uses its horns for defense of itself and as offense against an enemy. The horn therefore was a symbol of strength and power. The "four horns" could be the four world powers mentioned in Daniel 2 and 7 (Babylon, Medo-Persia, Greece, and Rome) or the earlier powers (Assyria, Egypt, Babylon, and Medo-Persia). They are symbolic of the totality of world power that had attempted, without success, to defeat the purposes of the Lord.

1:20–21 The symbolism of the craftsmen is unclear, though they could represent Medo-Persia, Greece, Rome, and the Messiah, since they were the destroyers of the earlier world empires; or they could represent the nations used by God to destory Israel's enemies (for example, Egypt, Babylonia, Persia, and Greece). Whatever the symbolism, clearly all Israel's enemies would ultimately be defeated.

Vision of the Measuring Line

2 Then I raised my eyes and looked, and behold, a man with a measuring line in his hand. 2So I said, "Where are you going?"

And he said to me, "To measure Jerusalem, to see what is its width and what is its length."

3And there was the angel who talked with me, going out; and another angel was coming out to meet him, 4who said to him, "Run, speak to this young man, saying: 'Jerusalem shall be inhabited as towns without walls, because of the multitude of men and livestock in it. 5For I,' says the LORD, 'will be a wall of fire all around her, and I will be the glory in her midst.' "

Future Joy of Zion and Many Nations

6"Up, up! Flee from the land of the north," says the LORD; "for I have spread you abroad like the four winds of heaven," says the LORD. 7"Up, Zion! Escape, you who dwell with the daughter of Babylon."

8For thus says the LORD of hosts: "He sent Me after glory, to the nations which plunder you; for he who touches you touches the apple of His eye. 9For surely I will shake My hand against them, and they shall become spoil for their servants. Then you will know that the LORD of hosts has sent Me.

10"Sing and rejoice, O daughter of Zion! For behold, I am coming and I will dwell in your midst," says the LORD. 11"Many nations shall be joined to the LORD in that day, and they shall become My people. And I will dwell in your midst. Then you will know that the LORD of hosts has sent Me to you. 12And the LORD will take possession of Judah as His inheritance in the Holy Land, and will again choose Jerusalem. 13Be silent, all flesh, before the LORD, for He is aroused from His holy habitation!"

Vision of the High Priest

3 Then he showed me Joshua the high priest standing before the Angel of the LORD, and Satan standing at his right hand to oppose him.
2And the LORD said to Satan, "The LORD rebuke you, Satan! The LORD who has chosen Jerusalem rebuke you! Is this not a brand plucked from the fire?"

3Now Joshua was clothed with filthy garments, and was standing before the Angel.

4Then He answered and spoke to those who stood before Him, saying, "Take away the filthy garments from him." And to him He said, "See, I have removed your iniquity from you, and I will clothe you with rich robes."

5And I said, "Let them put a clean turban on his head."

So they put a clean turban on his head, and they put the clothes on him. And the Angel of the LORD stood by.

The Coming Branch

6Then the Angel of the LORD admonished Joshua, saying, 7"Thus says the LORD of hosts:

'If you will walk in My ways,
And if you will keep My command,
Then you shall also judge My house,
And likewise have charge of My courts;
I will give you places to walk
Among these who stand here.

8"Hear, O Joshua, the high priest,
You and your companions who sit before you,
For they are a wondrous sign;
For behold, I am bringing forth My Servant the BRANCH.

2:1 Jerusalem could not be measured because it would be filled with such a great multitude that no walls could ever contain it.

2:5 Without walls, Jerusalem would be defenseless. The Lord Himself would be a "wall of fire" to protect Jerusalem, and He would be "glory in her midst." These expressions of the Lord's protective care and presence are reminiscent of the pillars of cloud and fire that accompanied God's people during the Exodus from Egypt (Ex. 13:22; 40:34–38).

2:6 Although Babylon was east of Judah, the route of travel from Judah to Babylon was to the north in order to avoid the desert. Thus, in the context of this prophecy "the land of the north" was Babylon. Jeremiah predicted the invasion of Judah would come from the north (Jer. 6:22; 10:22) and that the people would return from the north (Jer. 3:18; 23:8). This call was extended to the many Jews who had not yet returned to Jerusalem.

2:10 For Daughter of Zion, see Zephaniah 3:14; Zechariah 9:9, 10, notes.

3:1–5 Joshua, the religious leader of the returned community, stood before the Angel of the Lord as high priest, interceding on behalf of the people (see Hag. 1:12, note). Accusing Joshua was Satan (Heb., satan, lit. "accuser" or "adversary"; see chart, The Names of Satan; see also Job 1:6–12; 2:1–6). This vision took place within the heavenly council, not in the earthly temple. The Lord was reinstating the office of high priest through this vision.

3:2 Twice the Lord rebuked Satan on the basis of the covenant because Joshua was a "brand plucked from the fire." This proverbial saying connotes the idea of being saved from complete destruction. A remnant had been saved from the fire of the Exile (see also Deut. 4:20; Jer. 11:4; Amos 4:11).

3:4, 5 Joshua's filthy clothes, soiled as if by human excrement, were replaced with "rich robes," symbolizing the removal of iniquity (v. 3). The high priest wore a special turban as part of his official dress (Ex. 28:36–38; Lev. 8:9; see chart, The High Priest's Clothing), but the word used here by Zechariah is a different word of uncertain meaning (see Job 29:14; Is. 62:3), perhaps to connote righteousness. Joshua was righteous before God in spite of Satan's accusations.

3:8 Joshua's companions, his fellow priests, served as a "wondrous sign" or symbol of what was to come. This future Priest, "My Servant, the BRANCH" (see Zech. 6:12, 13), would be the

[9]For behold, the stone
That I have laid before Joshua:
Upon the stone are seven eyes.
Behold, I will engrave its inscription,'
Says the LORD of hosts,
'And I will remove the iniquity of that land in one day.
[10]In that day,' says the LORD of hosts,
'Everyone will invite his neighbor
Under his vine and under his fig tree.' "

Vision of the Lampstand and Olive Trees

4 Now the angel who talked with me came back and wakened me, as a man who is wakened out of his sleep. [2]And he said to me, "What do you see?"

So I said, "I am looking, and there is a lampstand of solid gold with a bowl on top of it, and on the stand seven lamps with seven pipes to the seven lamps. [3]Two olive trees are by it, one at the right of the bowl and the other at its left." [4]So I answered and spoke to the angel who talked with me, saying, "What are these, my lord?"

[5]Then the angel who talked with me answered and said to me, "Do you not know what these are?"

And I said, "No, my lord."

[6]So he answered and said to me:

"This is the word of the LORD to Zerubbabel:
'Not by might nor by power, but by My Spirit,'
Says the LORD of hosts.
[7]'Who are you, O great mountain?
Before Zerubbabel you shall become a plain!
And he shall bring forth the capstone
With shouts of "Grace, grace to it!" ' "

[8]Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying:

[9]"'The hands of Zerubbabel
Have laid the foundation of this temple;[a]
His hands shall also finish it.
Then you will know
That the LORD of hosts has sent Me to you.
[10]For who has despised the day of small things?
For these seven rejoice to see
The plumb line in the hand of Zerubbabel.
They are the eyes of the LORD,
Which scan to and fro throughout the whole earth."

[11]Then I answered and said to him, "What are these two olive trees—at the right of the lampstand and at its left?" [12]And I further answered and said to him, "What are these two olive branches that drip into the receptacles[a] of the two gold pipes from which the golden oil drains?"

[13]Then he answered me and said, "Do you not know what these are?"

And I said, "No, my lord."

[14]So he said, "These are the two anointed ones, who stand beside the Lord of the whole earth."

Vision of the Flying Scroll

5 Then I turned and raised my eyes, and saw there a flying scroll.

[2]And he said to me, "What do you see?"

So I answered, "I see a flying scroll. Its length is twenty cubits and its width ten cubits."

[3]Then he said to me, "This is the curse that goes out over the face of the whole earth: 'Every thief shall be expelled,' according to this side of the scroll; and, 'Every perjurer shall be expelled,' according to that side of it."

4:9 [a]Literally house 4:12 [a]Literally into the hands of

Priest-King who would judge and execute justice, embody righteousness, reign, bear the transgression of others, justify many, and intercede on their behalf (Jer. 23:5–8; 33:14–18). The NT refers to Jesus Christ as the long-awaited King-Priest.

3:9 The stone, variously interpreted, may be a reference to the Messiah (Ps. 118:22; Matt. 21:42; Eph. 2:20; 1 Pet. 2:6). The "seven eyes" may be symbolic of the fullness of the Godhead (Is. 11:2; Col. 2:3, 9).

3:10 Under his vine and under his fig tree is an OT image referring to a place of safety and peace where there is no fear (1 Kin. 4:25; 2 Kin. 18:31; Mic. 4:4).

4:2, 3 The tabernacle lampstand was to be tended by a priest from evening to morning, serving as a perpetual light in the otherwise dark tabernacle (Ex. 27:20, 21). Zechariah's lampstand, also a continual light, required no such priestly servicing. The tabernacle lampstand had seven lamps (Ex. 25:37). Zechariah's lampstand had seven lamps and seven spouts or a total of 49 wicks, giving forth a much more abundant light. Both lamps were fueled with olive oil (Ex. 27:20), which was used for consecration and anointing and, as such, a symbol for the Holy Spirit. In the OT, specially chosen people and things were anointed with oil (Ex. 40:9–15; 1 Sam. 9:27—10:1; 16:1, 11–13). In the NT, those chosen by God were anointed by the Holy Spirit (Acts 4:27; 10:38; 2 Cor. 1:21, 22).

4:7 The message of the prophecy is clear whether the mountain represents Jerusalem after its destruction or a picture of opposition to the rebuilding. All obstacles will be removed, and the temple will be completed.

4:10 Some felt disappointment with the new temple, which, though incomplete, lacked the splendor of Solomon's temple (see 2 Chr. 3; 4; see also Ezra 3:12, 13; Hag. 2:3; charts, The Plan of Solomon's Temple; The Plan for Ezekiel's Temple; The Temples of the Bible). Although lacking glory in appearance, this new temple would be the cause of the greatest rejoicing.

4:14 The two anointed ones (Heb., lit. "sons of oil"), were the civil and religious leaders, Zerubbabel and Joshua (see Zech. 3:1–5; Hag. 1:12, notes). Zerubbabel and Joshua are the "two olive trees" (Zech. 4:14), through whom the Holy Spirit (the oil; see v. 6) provided for the faithful people (the light) the encouragement they needed in order to rebuild the temple. To the world the people became witnesses or lights of the presence of God among them.

5:1–3 A scroll was a roll of writing material on which copies of biblical books were written in OT times. In Zechariah's vision

4"I will send out the curse," says the LORD of hosts;
"It shall enter the house of the thief
And the house of the one who swears falsely by My name.
It shall remain in the midst of his house
And consume it, with its timber and stones."

Vision of the Woman in a Basket

5Then the angel who talked with me came out and said to me, "Lift your eyes now, and see what this is that goes forth."

6So I asked, "What is it?" And he said, "It is a basket[a] that is going forth."

He also said, "This is their resemblance throughout the earth: 7Here is a lead disc lifted up, and this is a woman sitting inside the basket"; 8then he said, "This is Wickedness!" And he thrust her down into the basket, and threw the lead cover[a] over its mouth. 9Then I raised my eyes and looked, and there were two women, coming with the wind in their wings; for they had wings like the wings of a stork, and they lifted up the basket between earth and heaven.

10So I said to the angel who talked with me, "Where are they carrying the basket?"

11And he said to me, "To build a house for it in the land of Shinar;[a] when it is ready, the basket will be set there on its base."

Vision of the Four Chariots

6 Then I turned and raised my eyes and looked, and behold, four chariots were coming from between two mountains, and the mountains were mountains of bronze. 2With the first chariot were red horses, with the second chariot black horses, 3with the third chariot white horses, and with the fourth chariot dappled horses—strong steeds. 4Then I answered and said to the angel who talked with me, "What are these, my lord?"

5And the angel answered and said to me, "These are four spirits of heaven, who go out from their station before the Lord of all the earth. 6The one with the black horses is going to the north country, the white are going after them, and the dappled are going toward the south country." 7Then the strong steeds went out, eager to go, that they might walk to and fro throughout the earth. And He said, "Go, walk to and fro throughout the earth." So they walked to and fro throughout the earth. 8And He called to me, and spoke to me, saying, "See, those who go toward the north country have given rest to My Spirit in the north country."

The Command to Crown Joshua

9Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying: 10"Receive the gift from the captives—from Heldai, Tobijah, and Jedaiah, who have come from Babylon—and go the same day and enter the house of Josiah the son of Zephaniah. 11Take the silver and gold, make an elaborate crown, and set it on the head of Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest. 12Then speak to him, saying, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, saying:

"Behold, the Man whose name is the BRANCH!
From His place He shall branch out,
And He shall build the temple of the LORD;

5:6 [a]Hebrew ephah, a measuring container, and so elsewhere 5:8 [a]Literally stone 5:11 [a]That is, Babylon

a scroll of considerable size (30' x 15') is already set in motion for judgment. Its designation as "the curse" indicates its relation to covenant Law (see Jer. 36:1–4, 27–32; Ezek. 2:8—3:7; Rev. 5:1–7). The two sins named represent breaking the entire Law, (see Matt. 22:36–40).

5:6 Some identify "their" with the sinners of the previous vision (v. 3). Others consider the pronoun a reference to any who participate in wickedness (v. 8). Still others change "resemblance" (Heb. lit. "eye") to "iniquity" (a slight alteration of one Hebrew letter), which better fits the context of the verse. The removal of sin is clearly the focus of this vision (see vv. 7, 8; 9–11, notes).

5:7, 8 Both positive and negative concepts are personified by a woman in the OT (see Prov. 1:20, 21). Such a metaphor in no way suggests degrading or oppressing women. In Revelation 21:9, the metaphor "bride" is used of the body of Christ, in which both women and men are included. Similarly, when the metaphor of a woman as "wickedness" (a word that happens to be a feminine noun in Hebrew) is used, both women and men are to be understood as sharing equally in the picture.

5:9–11 The stork is a large, migratory bird capable of traveling great distances. Thus, "wickedness" was being carried far away from the place God had chosen for Himself to the "land of Shinar," the ancient Mesopotamian name for the region of Babylon where the Tower of Babel once stood (Gen. 11:2; Dan. 1:2). In Scripture, Babylon is the appropriate place for wickedness to dwell because it is outside the Promised Land (see Rev. 17:1–6, 15–18).

6:1–3 Horses and chariots indicate armies and war, power and judgment. God, the divine Warrior, is often pictured as coming in such style (Ps. 68:17; Is. 66:15, 16; Hab. 3:8). The chariots of this vision came from symbolic "mountains of bronze." Since God was pictured as dwelling in His mountain (Ps. 48:1–3) and since the entrance of the temple, God's earthly dwelling place, was made of bronze (1 Kin. 7:13–22), the image was of chariots coming to earth from the heavenly dwelling place.

6:9–11 The crown was placed on Joshua's head, indicating the joining of the royal and priestly offices.

6:12, 13 The crowning of the priest was not a re-establishment of the throne in Jerusalem but a promise for a future Priest-King. This crowned priest represents "the BRANCH" (Zech. 3:8–10), who would build the temple of the Lord. This merging of the offices of priest and king is distinctive (see Ps. 110). Previously the offices were maintained separately. As Priest, the Priest-King would build the temple; as King, He would rule on His throne (see chart, The Temples of the Bible).

Every little glimpse that can be gained of God exceeds every pain and every joy that man can conceive without it.

St. Catherine of Genoa

13 Yes, He shall build the temple of the
LORD.
He shall bear the glory,
And shall sit and rule on His throne;
So He shall be a priest on His throne,
And the counsel of peace shall be between them both.” ’

14 “Now the elaborate crown shall be for a memorial in the temple of the LORD for Helem,[a] Tobijah, Jedaiah, and Hen the son of Zephaniah. 15 Even those from afar shall come and build the temple of the LORD. Then you shall know that the LORD of hosts has sent Me to you. And this shall come to pass if you diligently obey the voice of the LORD your God.”

Obedience Better than Fasting

7 Now in the fourth year of King Darius it came to pass that the word of the LORD came to Zechariah, on the fourth day of the ninth month, Chislev, 2 when the people[a] sent Sherezer,[b] with Regem-Melech and his men, to the house of God,[c] to pray before the LORD, 3 and to ask the priests who were in the house of the LORD of hosts, and the prophets, saying, “Should I weep in the fifth month and fast as I have done for so many years?”

4 Then the word of the LORD of hosts came to me, saying, 5 “Say to all the people of the land, and to the priests: ‘When you fasted and mourned in the fifth and seventh months during those seventy years, did you really fast for Me—for Me? 6 When you eat and when you drink, do you not eat and drink for yourselves? 7 Should you not have obeyed the words which the LORD proclaimed through the former prophets when Jerusalem and the cities around it were inhabited and prosperous, and the South[a] and the Lowland were inhabited?’ ”

Disobedience Resulted in Captivity

8 Then the word of the LORD came to Zechariah, saying, 9 “Thus says the LORD of hosts:

‘Execute true justice,
Show mercy and compassion
Everyone to his brother.
10 Do not oppress the widow or the fatherless,
The alien or the poor.
Let none of you plan evil in his heart
Against his brother.’

11 “But they refused to heed, shrugged their shoulders, and stopped their ears so that they could not hear. 12 Yes, they made their hearts like flint, refusing to hear the law and the words which the LORD of hosts had sent by His Spirit through the former prophets. Thus great wrath came from the LORD of hosts. 13 Therefore it happened, that just as He proclaimed and they would not hear, so they called out and I would not listen,” says the LORD of hosts. 14 “But I scattered them with a whirlwind among all the nations which they had not known. Thus the land became desolate after them, so that no one passed through or returned; for they made the pleasant land desolate.”

Jerusalem, Holy City of the Future

8 Again the word of the LORD of hosts came, saying, 2 “Thus says the LORD of hosts:

‘I am zealous for Zion with great zeal;
With great fervor I am zealous for her.’

6:14 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Targum, and Vulgate; Syriac reads for Heldai (compare verse 10); Septuagint reads for the patient ones.
7:2 [a]Literally they (compare verse 5) [b]Or Sar-Ezer [c]Hebrew Bethel
7:7 [a]Hebrew Negev

6:14, 15 Joshua’s crown would not remain on his head but was to be placed in the temple for a memorial to all who returned from the Exile. The crown would serve as a reminder of the promise of the Priest-King, who is called “the BRANCH” (see vv. 12, 13, note). The temple which Zerubbabel would build would act as surety for that promise. Just as the Lord’s promise that the temple would be rebuilt was being fulfilled, so the people could be sure that the promise regarding “the BRANCH” would likewise come to pass.

7:1–3 The third and final date is given (see Zech. 1:1, note). It corresponds to December 7, 518 B.C. Two years have passed since temple reconstruction resumed and since the night visions occurred (Zech. 1:7—6:15). During the Exile, certain fasts were celebrated throughout the year as a remembrance of the humiliation of being taken into Exile. The fast in the fifth month commemorated the destruction of the temple in 586 B.C. (Zech. 7:5).

7:4–14 While in exile, the people fasted, not because of sorrow for their sins, but for their own personal satisfaction. Even the activities of daily life were not lived to the honor of God. Righteous living was the theme of God’s prophetic word both before and after the Exile (vv. 9, 10; Is. 1:10–17; Mic. 6:6–8). The Lord’s message to His people remained the same.

8:1–23 Rather than concentrating on past judgment with fasting and mourning, the community of returned exiles was

3"Thus says the LORD:

'I will return to Zion,
And dwell in the midst of Jerusalem.
Jerusalem shall be called the City of Truth,
The Mountain of the LORD of hosts,
The Holy Mountain.'

4"Thus says the LORD of hosts:

'Old men and old women shall again sit
In the streets of Jerusalem,
Each one with his staff in his hand
Because of great age.
5The streets of the city
Shall be full of boys and girls
Playing in its streets.'

6"Thus says the LORD of hosts:

'If it is marvelous in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these days,
Will it also be marvelous in My eyes?'
Says the LORD of hosts.

7"Thus says the LORD of hosts:

'Behold, I will save My people from the land of the east
And from the land of the west;
8I will bring them back,
And they shall dwell in the midst of Jerusalem.
They shall be My people
And I will be their God,
In truth and righteousness.'

9"Thus says the LORD of hosts:

'Let your hands be strong,
You who have been hearing in these days
These words by the mouth of the prophets,
Who spoke in the day the foundation was laid
For the house of the LORD of hosts,
That the temple might be built.
10For before these days
There were no wages for man nor any hire for beast;
There was no peace from the enemy for whoever went out or came in;
For I set all men, everyone, against his neighbor.
11But now I will not treat the remnant of this people as in the former days,' says the LORD of hosts.

12'For the seed shall be prosperous,
The vine shall give its fruit,
The ground shall give her increase,
And the heavens shall give their dew—
I will cause the remnant of this people
To possess all these.
13And it shall come to pass
That just as you were a curse among the
nations,
O house of Judah and house of Israel,
So I will save you, and you shall be a blessing.
Do not fear,
Let your hands be strong.'

14"For thus says the LORD of hosts:

'Just as I determined to punish you
When your fathers provoked Me to wrath,'
Says the LORD of hosts,
'And I would not relent,
15So again in these days
I am determined to do good
To Jerusalem and to the house of Judah.
Do not fear.
16These are the things you shall do:
Speak each man the truth to his neighbor;
Give judgment in your gates for truth, justice,
and peace;
17Let none of you think evil in your[a] heart against your neighbor;
And do not love a false oath.
For all these are things that I hate,'
Says the LORD."

18Then the word of the LORD of hosts came to me, saying, 19"Thus says the LORD of hosts:

'The fast of the fourth month,
The fast of the fifth,
The fast of the seventh,
And the fast of the tenth,
Shall be joy and gladness and cheerful feasts
For the house of Judah.
Therefore love truth and peace.'

20"Thus says the LORD of hosts:

8:17 [a]Literally his encouraged to live righteously in the present as future blessings were promised. A number of promises, each beginning with the phrase "Thus says the LORD of Hosts," or a variation of it, repeated a previous message of Zechariah.

8:18–23 Weeping and fasting were not to be continued because weeping had turned to "joy and gladness" and fasting to "cheerful feasts" as Jerusalem was restored. When the nations would see this change, they would come to Jerusalem in crowds to seek the Lord and to pray.

'Peoples shall yet come,
Inhabitants of many cities;
21The inhabitants of one city shall go to another,
saying,
"Let us continue to go and pray before the
LORD,
And seek the LORD of hosts.
I myself will go also."
22Yes, many peoples and strong nations
Shall come to seek the LORD of hosts in Jerusalem,
And to pray before the LORD.'

23"Thus says the LORD of hosts: 'In those days ten men from every language of the nations shall grasp the sleeve of a Jewish man, saying, "Let us go with you, for we have heard that God is with you." ' "

Israel Defended Against Enemies

9 The burden[a] of the word of the LORD
Against the land of Hadrach,
And Damascus its resting place
(For the eyes of men
And all the tribes of Israel
Are on the LORD);
2Also against Hamath, which borders on it,
And against Tyre and Sidon, though they are very wise.

3For Tyre built herself a tower,
Heaped up silver like the dust,
And gold like the mire of the streets.
4Behold, the Lord will cast her out;
He will destroy her power in the sea,
And she will be devoured by fire.

5Ashkelon shall see it and fear;
Gaza also shall be very sorrowful;
And Ekron, for He dried up her expectation.
The king shall perish from Gaza,
And Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.
6"A mixed race shall settle in Ashdod,
And I will cut off the pride of the Philistines.
7I will take away the blood from his mouth,
And the abominations from between his teeth.
But he who remains, even he shall be for our
God,
And shall be like a leader in Judah,
And Ekron like a Jebusite.
8I will camp around My house
Because of the army,
Because of him who passes by and him who returns.
No more shall an oppressor pass through
them,
For now I have seen with My eyes.

The Coming King

9"Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion!
Shout, O daughter of Jerusalem!
Behold, your King is coming to you;
He is just and having salvation,
Lowly and riding on a donkey,
A colt, the foal of a donkey.
10I will cut off the chariot from Ephraim
And the horse from Jerusalem;
The battle bow shall be cut off.
He shall speak peace to the nations;
His dominion shall be 'from sea to sea,
And from the River to the ends of the earth.'[a]

God Will Save His People

11"As for you also,
Because of the blood of your covenant,
I will set your prisoners free from the waterless pit.
12Return to the stronghold,
You prisoners of hope.
Even today I declare
That I will restore double to you.
13For I have bent Judah, My bow,
Fitted the bow with Ephraim,

9:1 [a]Or oracle 9:10 [a]Psalm 72:8

9:1 The burden introduces prophecies of judgment. Considerable time had lapsed since Zechariah's last recorded prophecy. The rebuilding of the temple had been completed. The once strong Persian Empire was beginning to crumble.

9:1–7 The cities mentioned here are the target of other prophecies of judgment (see Amos 1:3–10). They represent the most extensive borders of the Land, which, though promised, were never conquered by Israel (Josh. 13:1–6; Ezek. 47:13–20). The "land of Hadrach" was probably a region near the Syrian capital of Damascus. Tyre was noted for its wisdom, wealth, trade, and impregnable fortress (Zech. 9:2, 3). Ashkelon, Gaza, Ekron, and Ashdod were Philistine cities, which would tremble when they saw the terrible fate of Tyre. The goal of judgment is always repentance (v. 7).

9:9, 10 This royal procession of the victorious King is met with spontaneous shouts of exclamation from His people. It is the triumphant entry of the King, riding a donkey, coming to Jerusalem to dwell with His people (see Zech. 2:10). Chariots, war horses, and weapons are no longer needed. This King, whose kingdom is the whole earth "from sea to sea, from the river to the ends of the earth"), brings with Him everlasting peace. Verse 9 is used in the NT to speak of Jesus' entry into Jerusalem (Matt. 21:4, 5; John 12:12–19).

9:11–13 Blood is a vital part of God's covenants (Gen. 15:7–10, 17, 18; Ex. 24:6–8; Mark 14:24; 1 Cor. 11:25, 26; Heb. 9:22). In OT times, an animal sacrifice often ratified political treaties or covenants. The "prisoners" to be freed were the remaining exiles in Babylon. They cannot remain prisoners forever because of their covenant with Yahweh. Jesus spoke of Himself as the sacrifice whose blood would ratify a new covenant, setting free those who would come to Christ in faith (Mark 14:24).

And raised up your sons, O Zion,
Against your sons, O Greece,
And made you like the sword of a mighty man."

14 Then the LORD will be seen over them,
And His arrow will go forth like lightning.
The Lord GOD will blow the trumpet,
And go with whirlwinds from the south.
15 The LORD of hosts will defend them;
They shall devour and subdue with slingstones.
They shall drink and roar as if with wine;
They shall be filled with blood like basins,
Like the corners of the altar.
16 The LORD their God will save them in that day,
As the flock of His people.
For they shall be like the jewels of a crown,
Lifted like a banner over His land—
17 For how great is its[a] goodness
And how great its[b] beauty!
Grain shall make the young men thrive,
And new wine the young women.

Restoration of Judah and Israel

10 Ask the LORD for rain
In the time of the latter rain.[a]
The LORD will make flashing clouds;
He will give them showers of rain,
Grass in the field for everyone.

2 For the idols[a] speak delusion;
The diviners envision lies,
And tell false dreams;
They comfort in vain.
Therefore the people wend their way like sheep;
They are in trouble because there is no shepherd.

3 "My anger is kindled against the shepherds,
And I will punish the goatherds.
For the LORD of hosts will visit His flock,
The house of Judah,
And will make them as His royal horse in the battle.
4 From him comes the cornerstone,
From him the tent peg,
From him the battle bow,
From him every ruler[a] together.
5 They shall be like mighty men,
Who tread down their enemies
In the mire of the streets in the battle.
They shall fight because the LORD is with them,
And the riders on horses shall be put to shame.

6 "I will strengthen the house of Judah,
And I will save the house of Joseph.
I will bring them back,
Because I have mercy on them.
They shall be as though I had not cast them aside;
For I am the LORD their God,
And I will hear them.
7 Those of Ephraim shall be like a mighty man,
And their heart shall rejoice as if with wine.
Yes, their children shall see it and be glad;
Their heart shall rejoice in the LORD.
8 I will whistle for them and gather them,
For I will redeem them;
And they shall increase as they once increased.

9 "I will sow them among the peoples,
And they shall remember Me in far countries;
They shall live, together with their children,
And they shall return.
10 I will also bring them back from the land of Egypt,
And gather them from Assyria.
I will bring them into the land of Gilead and Lebanon,
Until no more room is found for them.
11 He shall pass through the sea with affliction,
And strike the waves of the sea:
All the depths of the River[a] shall dry up.
Then the pride of Assyria shall be brought down,
And the scepter of Egypt shall depart.

12 "So I will strengthen them in the LORD,
And they shall walk up and down in His name,"
Says the LORD.

Desolation of Israel

11 Open your doors, O Lebanon,
That fire may devour your cedars.
2 Wail, O cypress, for the cedar has fallen,

9:17 [a]Or His [b]Or His 10:1 [a]That is, spring rain 10:2 [a]Hebrew teraphim 10:4 [a]Or despot 10:11 [a]That is, the Nile

10:1, 2 Instead of seeking the Lord through the prophets, the leaders of the people used illegitimate means to gain knowledge of the future (see Deut. 18:9–22). "Idols" were statuettes revered as household gods. The leaders failed to lead effectively, and the people strayed like sheep "because there is no shepherd."

10:3–5 The Lord would visit the leaders ("shepherds") in anger, but He would strengthen His people ("flock"). Note the many images of the people as strong and mighty in battle against their enemies (vv. 4–11). For example, "cornerstone" and "tent peg" indicate that on which all else depends—steadfast strength (v. 4).

10:6, 7 After the kingdom divided (931 B.C.), distinctions between the southern kingdom Judah and the northern kingdom Israel were significant (see chart, Terminology for the Divided Kingdom). After the return from the Exile, God renewed His covenant with all His people; Judah, Joseph, and Ephraim emphasize this inclusiveness.

Because the mighty trees are ruined.
Wail, O oaks of Bashan,
For the thick forest has come down.
3 There is the sound of wailing shepherds!
For their glory is in ruins.
There is the sound of roaring lions!
For the pride[a] of the Jordan is in ruins.

Prophecy of the Shepherds

4 Thus says the LORD my God, "Feed the flock for slaughter, 5 whose owners slaughter them and feel no guilt; those who sell them say, 'Blessed be the LORD, for I am rich'; and their shepherds do not pity them. 6 For I will no longer pity the inhabitants of the land," says the LORD. "But indeed I will give everyone into his neighbor's hand and into the hand of his king. They shall attack the land, and I will not deliver them from their hand."

7 So I fed the flock for slaughter, in particular the poor of the flock.[a] I took for myself two staffs:
the one I called Beauty,[b] and the other I called Bonds;[c] and I fed the flock. 8 I dismissed the three shepherds in one month. My soul loathed them, and their soul also abhorred me. 9 Then I said, "I will not feed you. Let what is dying die, and what is perishing perish. Let those that are left eat each other's flesh." 10 And I took my staff, Beauty, and cut it in two, that I might break the covenant which I had made with all the peoples. 11 So it was broken on that day. Thus the poor[a] of the flock, who were watching me, knew that it was the word of the LORD. 12 Then I said to them, "If it is agreeable to you, give me my wages; and if not, refrain."
So they weighed out for my wages thirty pieces of silver.

13 And the LORD said to me, "Throw it to the potter"—that princely price they set on me. So I took the thirty pieces of silver and threw them into the house of the LORD for the potter. 14 Then I cut in two my other staff, Bonds, that I might break the brotherhood between Judah and Israel.

15 And the LORD said to me, "Next, take for yourself the implements of a foolish shepherd. 16 For indeed I will raise up a shepherd in the land who will not care for those who are cut off, nor seek the young, nor heal those that are broken, nor feed those that still stand. But he will eat the flesh of the fat and tear their hooves in pieces.

17 "Woe to the worthless shepherd,
Who leaves the flock!
A sword shall be against his arm
And against his right eye;
His arm shall completely wither,
And his right eye shall be totally blinded."

The Coming Deliverance of Judah

12 The burden[a] of the word of the LORD against Israel. Thus says the LORD, who stretches out the heavens, lays the foundation of the earth, and forms the spirit of man within him: 2 "Behold, I will make Jerusalem a cup of drunkenness to all the surrounding peoples, when they lay siege against Judah and Jerusalem. 3 And it shall happen in that day that I will make Jerusalem a very heavy stone for all peoples; all who would heave it away will surely be cut in pieces, though all nations of the earth are gathered against it. 4 In that day," says the LORD, "I will strike every horse with confusion, and its rider with madness; I will open My eyes on the house of Judah, and will strike every horse of the peoples with blindness. 5 And the governors of Judah shall say in their heart, 'The inhabitants of Jerusalem are my strength in the LORD of hosts, their God.' 6 In that day I will make the governors of Judah like a firepan in the woodpile, and like a fiery torch in the sheaves; they shall devour all the surrounding peoples on the right hand and on the left, but Jerusalem shall be inhabited again in her own place—Jerusalem.

7 "The LORD will save the tents of Judah first, so that the glory of the house of David and the glory of the inhabitants of Jerusalem shall not become greater than that of Judah. 8 In that day the LORD will defend the inhabitants of Jerusalem; the one who is feeble among them in that day shall be like David, and the house of David shall be like God, like the Angel of the LORD before them. 9 It shall be in that day that I will seek to destroy all the nations that come against Jerusalem.

11:3 [a]Or floodplain, thicket 11:7 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Targum, and Vulgate; Septuagint reads for the Canaanites. [b]Or Grace, and so in verse 10 [c]Or Unity, and so in verse 14 11:11 [a]Following Masoretic Text, Targum, and Vulgate; Septuagint reads the Canaanites. 12:1 [a]Or oracle

11:4–17 Zechariah was to play the part of a shepherd who leads the sheep rightly. The staffs, "Beauty" (or grace) and "Bonds" (or unity), were the tools of the good shepherd. The people who suffered from bad leadership nonetheless despised and rejected godly leadership (see chart, Preparation for Leadership). The breaking of the staffs of the good shepherd signaled that God would give the people to the "foolish shepherd." The people received the leader they wanted and deserved. The later rejection of Jesus Christ as the Shepherd-King was the culmination of Israel's long history of rejecting God's leadership through the prophets.

12:2–5 The attackers of Jerusalem would become like drunken men, powerless and unable to function properly. Though they expected Jerusalem to fall easily, they would be rendered impotent in their attack. Jerusalem would also be like a "heavy stone," which would injure its foes when they tried to lift it. The protective activity of the Lord on behalf of Jerusalem was a source of encouragement for the people.

12:8 The Lord would so strengthen Jerusalem and Judah that even the "feeble among them" would be "like David," a strong and mighty warrior and Israel's ideal king. For the "Angel of the LORD," see Zech. 1:8, note.

Mourning for the Pierced One

10"And I will pour on the house of David and on the inhabitants of Jerusalem the Spirit of grace and supplication; then they will look on Me whom they pierced. Yes, they will mourn for Him as one mourns for his only son, and grieve for Him as one grieves for a firstborn. 11In that day there shall be a great mourning in Jerusalem, like the mourning at Hadad Rimmon in the plain of Megiddo.[a] 12And the land shall mourn, every family by itself: the family of the house of David by itself, and their wives by themselves; the family of the house of Nathan by itself, and their wives by themselves; 13the family of the house of Levi by itself, and their wives by themselves; the family of Shimei by itself, and their wives by themselves; 14all the families that remain, every family by itself, and their wives by themselves.

Idolatry Cut Off

13 "In that day a fountain shall be opened for the house of David and for the inhabitants of Jerusalem, for sin and for uncleanness.
2"It shall be in that day," says the LORD of hosts,
"that I will cut off the names of the idols from the land, and they shall no longer be remembered. I will also cause the prophets and the unclean spirit to depart from the land. 3It shall come to pass that if anyone still prophesies, then his father and mother who begot him will say to him, 'You shall not live, because you have spoken lies in the name of the LORD.' And his father and mother who begot him shall thrust him through when he prophesies.
4"And it shall be in that day that every prophet will be ashamed of his vision when he prophesies;
they will not wear a robe of coarse hair to deceive.
5But he will say, 'I am no prophet, I am a farmer;
for a man taught me to keep cattle from my youth.' 6And one will say to him, 'What are these wounds between your arms?'[a] Then he will answer,
'Those with which I was wounded in the house of my friends.'

The Shepherd Savior

7"Awake, O sword, against My Shepherd, Against the Man who is My Companion,"
Says the LORD of hosts.
"Strike the Shepherd,
And the sheep will be scattered;
Then I will turn My hand against the little ones.
8And it shall come to pass in all the land,"
Says the LORD,
"That two-thirds in it shall be cut off and die,
But one-third shall be left in it:
9I will bring the one-third through the fire,
Will refine them as silver is refined,
And test them as gold is tested.
They will call on My name,
And I will answer them.
I will say, 'This is My people';
And each one will say, 'The LORD is my God.' "

The Day of the LORD

14 Behold, the day of the LORD is coming,
And your spoil will be divided in your midst.
2For I will gather all the nations to battle against Jerusalem;
The city shall be taken,
The houses rifled,
And the women ravished.
Half of the city shall go into captivity,
But the remnant of the people shall not be cut off from the city.

3Then the LORD will go forth
And fight against those nations,
As He fights in the day of battle.

12:11 [a]Hebrew Megiddon 13:6 [a]Or hands

12:10 Through the work of the Holy Spirit, the people will see clearly the one "whom they pierced." They would mourn in repentance for their actions (Luke 23:48) with the gravest of emotions ("as one mourns for his only son"). And "they will look on Me" (the Lord). The context demands that "Me" be identified as the Messiah (see Is. 53:5; John 19:34–37; Rev. 1:7).

12:11–14 An identification of Hadad Rimmon cannot be made with certainty. Apparently, it was associated with infamous mourning. Josiah, a righteous king of Judah, was mortally wounded at Megiddo (2 Chr. 35:20–25). If Hadad Rimmon is the name of a place, perhaps it was the site of this Megiddo battle where the people mourned the death of their righteous king. The name may also refer to a person or to a pagan deity. "Their wives by themselves" probably emphasizes the sincerity of their mourning. These were not professional mourners. Such sorrow revealed their genuine repentance for sin.

13:2–6 Just as God cuts off idols from the Land, He will cut off false prophets, who deserved death (Deut. 13:6–10; 18:20–22). So serious was this matter, that even a mother and father would not allow a son to live if he persisted in delivering false prophecy. The distinctive clothing of the prophet was a "robe of coarse hair" (worn by Elijah, Elisha, John the Baptist), which the false prophet would discard to avoid judgment. However, self-inflicted "wounds," characteristic of idol worship, would identify him (1 Kin. 18:28).

13:7–9 The Shepherd was struck, and the sheep were scattered. The Lord directed that His Shepherd be put to death (Is. 53:10; Acts 2:23). Jesus quoted this verse on the night He was betrayed and arrested (Matt. 26:31; Mark 14:27).

14:1–21 Clearly Jerusalem is the dominant city of the world and most precious to the Lord, who reigns in Jerusalem as the King over all the earth. However, there are a wide range of opinions regarding the interpretation of this difficult chapter.

4 And in that day His feet will stand on the Mount of Olives,
Which faces Jerusalem on the east.
And the Mount of Olives shall be split in two,
From east to west,
Making a very large valley;
Half of the mountain shall move toward the north
And half of it toward the south.

5 Then you shall flee through My mountain valley,
For the mountain valley shall reach to Azal.
Yes, you shall flee
As you fled from the earthquake
In the days of Uzziah king of Judah.

Thus the LORD my God will come,
And all the saints with You.[a]

6 It shall come to pass in that day
That there will be no light;
The lights will diminish.
7 It shall be one day
Which is known to the LORD—
Neither day nor night.
But at evening time it shall happen
That it will be light.

8 And in that day it shall be
That living waters shall flow from Jerusalem,
Half of them toward the eastern sea
And half of them toward the western sea;
In both summer and winter it shall occur.
9 And the LORD shall be King over all the earth.
In that day it shall be—
"The LORD is one,"[a]
And His name one.

10 All the land shall be turned into a plain from Geba to Rimmon south of Jerusalem. Jerusalem[a] shall be raised up and inhabited in her place from Benjamin's Gate to the place of the First Gate and the Corner Gate, and from the Tower of Hananel to the king's winepresses.

11 The people shall dwell in it;
And no longer shall there be utter destruction,
But Jerusalem shall be safely inhabited.

12 And this shall be the plague with which the LORD will strike all the people who fought against Jerusalem:

Their flesh shall dissolve while they stand on their feet,
Their eyes shall dissolve in their sockets,
And their tongues shall dissolve in their mouths.

13 It shall come to pass in that day
That a great panic from the LORD will be among them.
Everyone will seize the hand of his neighbor,
And raise his hand against his neighbor's
hand;
14 Judah also will fight at Jerusalem.
And the wealth of all the surrounding nations
Shall be gathered together:
Gold, silver, and apparel in great abundance.

15 Such also shall be the plague
On the horse and the mule,
On the camel and the donkey,
And on all the cattle that will be in those camps.
So shall this plague be.

The Nations Worship the King

16 And it shall come to pass that everyone who is left of all the nations which came against Jerusalem shall go up from year to year to worship the King, the LORD of hosts, and to keep the Feast of Tabernacles. 17 And it shall be that whichever of the families of the earth do not come up to Jerusalem to worship the King, the LORD of hosts, on them there will be no rain. 18 If the family of Egypt will not come up and enter in, they shall have no rain; they shall receive the plague with which the LORD strikes the nations who do not come up to

14:5 [a]Or you; Septuagint, Targum, and Vulgate read Him. 14:9 [a]Compare Deuteronomy 6:4 14:10 [a]Literally She

14:4 The Mount of Olives dominates a range of hills running from north to southeast of Jerusalem. Departure from the city toward the east is thus slow and difficult. Zechariah pictured the Mount of Olives split in two, creating a valley of quick escape from the city.

14:5 The inhabitants of the city were to flee through the valley formed by the split mountain (v. 4). Azal's exact identification is unknown, but as the farthest point of the valley to the east of the city, it is named the place of safety.

14:10 The Judean mountains surrounding Jerusalem would be leveled from Geba in the north to Rimmon in the south. Jerusalem would become the high point of the entire region. The entire city would be raised and fully inhabited, as indicated by the gates named, which define the fullest area of the city in every direction (Zech. 1:17; 2:4; 8:3–5).

14:16–19 The Feast of Tabernacles was one of the three feasts that required male attendance in Jerusalem (Deut. 16:16; see chart, The Feasts of Israel). Zechariah foresaw the celebration of this feast by peoples from "all the nations" and not just by the Jews. A remnant of Gentiles from the nations would join God's chosen covenant people.

keep the Feast of Tabernacles. 19This shall be the punishment of Egypt and the punishment of all the nations that do not come up to keep the Feast of Tabernacles.

20In that day "HOLINESS TO THE LORD" shall be engraved on the bells of the horses. The pots in the LORD's house shall be like the bowls before the altar. 21Yes, every pot in Jerusalem and Judah shall be holiness to the LORD of hosts.[a] Everyone who sacrifices shall come and take them and cook in them. In that day there shall no longer be a Canaanite in the house of the LORD of hosts.

14:21 [a]Or on every pot . . . shall be (engraved) "HOLINESS TO THE LORD OF HOSTS"

14:20, 21 The priest had HOLINESS TO THE LORD engraved on a gold plate on the turban he wore as a reminder and expression of his consecration (Ex. 28:36–38; see chart, The High Priest's Clothing). "In that day" even the most common and ordinary things would be holy. All of life would be consecrated to the Lord. There would be no "Canaanite" because no person outside of the covenant would be in the house of the Lord.

Malachi

AUTHOR

The identity of the author of Malachi (Heb., lit. "my messenger" or "my angel") is uncertain. The author's identity revolves around whether Malachi is a proper name or a common noun used as a title. The book offers no biographical information about the prophet. Therefore, some scholars believe that Malachi is not the personal name of the prophet. If the name of the prophet is unknown, Malachi would be the only "anonymous" book in the prophetic section. Tradition suggests that Malachi refers to Ezra the scribe. However, Ezra was never called a "prophet" or "messenger." A fourth century A.D. Jewish writing conjectures that Malachi was the name of a prophet who might have been from a place called Sopha. After reviewing the evidence, the best conclusion is that the prophet named Malachi was the author of this book.

DATE

The Book of Malachi deals with the destruction of the Edomite Empire, impure sacrifices, a corrupt priesthood, and intermarriages with pagans. Malachi also used Persian terms such as pehah (governor). The language and concerns of the book are similar to those of Nehemiah (see Mal. 3:5, note). Therefore, the majority of scholars date Malachi from the first half of the fifth century B.C., after the Jews had returned to Jerusalem from the Exile and the temple had been rebuilt.

BACKGROUND

SETTING: Although a remnant had returned to Jerusalem from Babylon and had rebuilt the temple, God's people were in a state of spiritual apathy. With the exception of Sabbath-breaking, Malachi spoke against the same sins as did Nehemiah (Neh. 13:6–31). Foreigners had been received into the community without conversion, mixed marriages and divorces were prevalent, and the temple offerings were being neglected. These sins were precisely what the people had promised not to commit when they had rededicated the temple and renewed the covenant (Neh. 10:28–39). The people expected God to reward them for half-hearted religious performances and to disregard their unfaithfulness.

PURPOSE: God's people were directed to return to Him and to renew their faithfulness to the covenant.

AUDIENCE: Malachi prophesied to postexilic Israel. However, his message is relevant for any believer whose commitment is half-hearted.

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: The book was composed in prose, using prophetic dialogue. In this series of dialogues, each begins with "yet you say." Most of the fifty-five verses are in the first person, with the Lord Himself directly addressing His people. This offers a vividness of personal encounter with the Lord.

THEMES

There are four major themes in Malachi:

- God's love for His people, despite their unfaithfulness and hypocrisy.
- The importance of serving God in the proper manner and with the right attitude.
- The importance of protecting and maintaining the sacred vows of marriage.
- The coming of the Messiah, His forerunner, and the day of the Lord.

1 The burden[a] of the word of the LORD to Israel by Malachi.

Israel Beloved of God

2 "I have loved you," says the LORD.
"Yet you say, 'In what way have You loved us?'
Was not Esau Jacob's brother?"
Says the LORD.
"Yet Jacob I have loved;
3 But Esau I have hated,
And laid waste his mountains and his heritage
For the jackals of the wilderness."

4 Even though Edom has said,
"We have been impoverished,
But we will return and build the desolate
places,"

Thus says the LORD of hosts:

"They may build, but I will throw down;
They shall be called the Territory of Wickedness,
And the people against whom the LORD will have indignation forever.
5 Your eyes shall see,
And you shall say,

1:1 [a]Or oracle

1:1 Burden (Heb. massa', lit. "judgment" or "oracle") is used in prophetic books to introduce a message that originates from God (see Is. 13:1; 15:1; Nah. 1:1; Hab. 1:1; Zech. 9:1; 12:1).

1:2, 3 God's love is unconditional, personal, and undeserved, but His sovereign choice of Jacob over Esau was tantamount to "hating" Esau. God does not hate in the common usage of the term. Hate is a term used to describe comparative treatment. Jacob (Israel) and Esau (Edom) were brothers. God chose Jacob to inherit the covenant blessing and to procreate the nation upon whom He would set His love. Such choice implied selection for service. Israel was chosen to be the avenue of God's blessing to all the world. Esau remained outside of the Lord's covenant relationship with His people (Gen. 25:29–34; 27:1–40). The Lord was reminding His people that by choosing them He had loved them with an everlasting love not bestowed on any other peoples. The fact that "Jacob" was "loved" implies by contrast that "Esau" was "hated."

1:4, 5 The nation Edom was located across the Jordan valley southeast of Jerusalem. The Edomites descended from Esau, Jacob's brother, and thus were kinsmen of God's people. Nevertheless, the relationship between Israel and Edom was characterized by enmity throughout their history. The Edomite destruction is foretold in other books (see Jer. 25:15–26; Amos 1:11, 12: Obad.). Regardless of efforts to rebuild, the Edomites would be unsuccessful because the Lord was against them. God is sovereign even over nations who are not in covenant with Him.

'The LORD is magnified beyond the border of Israel.'

Polluted Offerings

6"A son honors his father,
And a servant his master.
If then I am the Father,
Where is My honor?
And if I am a Master,
Where is My reverence?
Says the LORD of hosts
To you priests who despise My name.
Yet you say, 'In what way have we despised Your name?'

7"You offer defiled food on My altar,
But say,
'In what way have we defiled You?'
By saying,
'The table of the LORD is contemptible.'
8And when you offer the blind as a sacrifice,
Is it not evil?
And when you offer the lame and sick,
Is it not evil?
Offer it then to your governor!
Would he be pleased with you?
Would he accept you favorably?"
Says the LORD of hosts.

9"But now entreat God's favor,
That He may be gracious to us.
While this is being done by your hands,
Will He accept you favorably?"
Says the LORD of hosts.
10"Who is there even among you who would shut
the doors,
So that you would not kindle fire on My altar in vain?
I have no pleasure in you,"
Says the LORD of hosts,
"Nor will I accept an offering from your hands.
11For from the rising of the sun, even to its going down,
My name shall be great among the Gentiles;
In every place incense shall be offered to My name,
And a pure offering;
For My name shall be great among the
nations,"
Says the LORD of hosts.

12"But you profane it,
In that you say,
'The table of the LORD[a] is defiled;
And its fruit, its food, is contemptible.'
13You also say,
'Oh, what a weariness!'
And you sneer at it,"
Says the LORD of hosts.
"And you bring the stolen, the lame, and the sick;
Thus you bring an offering!
Should I accept this from your hand?"
Says the LORD.
14"But cursed be the deceiver
Who has in his flock a male,
And takes a vow,
But sacrifices to the Lord what is blemished—
For I am a great King,"
Says the LORD of hosts,
"And My name is to be feared among the nations.

Corrupt Priests

2"And now, O priests, this commandment is for
you.
2If you will not hear,
And if you will not take it to heart,
To give glory to My name,"
Says the LORD of hosts,
"I will send a curse upon you,
And I will curse your blessings.
Yes, I have cursed them already,
Because you do not take it to heart.

3"Behold, I will rebuke your descendants
And spread refuse on your faces,
The refuse of your solemn feasts;
And one will take you away with it.
4Then you shall know that I have sent this commandment to you,
That My covenant with Levi may continue,"
Says the LORD of hosts.

1:12 [a]Following Bomberg; Masoretic Text reads Lord.

1:6–14 If a son honors his father and a servant his master, then God, being the supreme Father and Master, deserves supreme honor. But the priests were despising God by offering Him defective animals in sacrifice. Such shameful expressions of "honor" would be rejected by the governor. How much more God is justified in rejecting them! Yet even while offering contemptuous sacrifices, the priests were entreating God's favor (see Mal. 3:5, note).

1:10 Because of their contempt for God and the Mosaic Law, they would be wiser to close the temple doors than to offer polluted sacrifices. God does not want sacrifices for sin from people intent on sinning.

1:11 In contrast to Israel, people of other nations will honor the name of God and worship Him purely. Incense was used in temple worship to accompany prayers. The acceptable worship of Yahweh would extend beyond Israel even to the Gentiles.

2:1–9 Priests were expected to be obedient and lead the people in the way of godliness. They were messengers of God to the people. The people would not be led to a right relationship with God unless the priests first turned back to the Lord.

5"My covenant was with him, one of life and peace,
And I gave them to him that he might fear Me;
So he feared Me
And was reverent before My name.
6The law of truth[a] was in his mouth,
And injustice was not found on his lips.
He walked with Me in peace and equity,
And turned many away from iniquity.

7"For the lips of a priest should keep knowledge,
And people should seek the law from his mouth;
For he is the messenger of the LORD of hosts.
8But you have departed from the way;
You have caused many to stumble at the law.
You have corrupted the covenant of Levi,"
Says the LORD of hosts.
9"Therefore I also have made you contemptible and base
Before all the people,
Because you have not kept My ways
But have shown partiality in the law."

Treachery of Infidelity

10Have we not all one Father?
Has not one God created us?
Why do we deal treacherously with one another
By profaning the covenant of the fathers?
11Judah has dealt treacherously,
And an abomination has been committed in Israel and in Jerusalem,
For Judah has profaned
The LORD's holy institution which He loves:
He has married the daughter of a foreign god.
12May the LORD cut off from the tents of Jacob
The man who does this, being awake and aware,[a]
Yet who brings an offering to the LORD of hosts!

13And this is the second thing you do:
You cover the altar of the LORD with tears,
With weeping and crying;
So He does not regard the offering anymore,
Nor receive it with goodwill from your hands.
14Yet you say, "For what reason?"
Because the LORD has been witness
Between you and the wife of your youth,
With whom you have dealt treacherously;
Yet she is your companion
And your wife by covenant.
15But did He not make them one,
Having a remnant of the Spirit?
And why one?
He seeks godly offspring.
Therefore take heed to your spirit,
And let none deal treacherously with the wife of his youth.

16"For the LORD God of Israel says
That He hates divorce,
For it covers one's garment with violence,"
Says the LORD of hosts.
"Therefore take heed to your spirit,
That you do not deal treacherously."

17You have wearied the LORD with your words;
Yet you say,

2:6 [a]Or true instruction 2:12 [a]Talmud and Vulgate read teacher and student.

2:5–9 God established that the Levites, who assisted the priests in the temple, would have no inheritance of land because their livelihood would come from the animals and fruits offered by the people (Num. 18:21–24). Nowhere in the OT is there mention of God making a specific covenant with Levi. In the time of Malachi, the people's offerings at the temple were so scanty and of such poor quality that the Levites could not be supported. They were forced to farm the land for themselves; hence the temple service deteriorated further (Neh. 10:37; 13:10). God was commanding that proper offerings be restored so that the Levites might have sufficient livelihood to devote themselves to their work at the temple (Mal. 2:5). In return, the Levites were to be teachers of the knowledge of the Lord and were to lead sincere and proper worship of Yahweh.

2:10–12 Mixed marriages were against the Mosaic Law. A divorce broke the marriage covenant, which had been witnessed by God. That the people must marry within the chosen nation was one of the terms of the covenant relationship between God and Israel (Deut. 7:1–4). Foreigners could join themselves to the chosen nation by forsaking their gods and worshiping Yahweh alone, as did Ruth the Moabitess (Ruth 1:16, 17). The social problem addressed by Malachi was marriage to foreign women who continued to practice idolatry. Intermarriage with unbelievers and divorces were matters of concern to Ezra and Nehemiah as well because these acts of disobedience represented dangerous spiritual compromise (Ezra 9:12, note; Neh. 13:23–27, 28; see Mal. 3:5, note). "The daughter of a foreign god" could be a reference to marriage to a foreigner or to the fact that God's people adopted pagan religious practices (Mal. 2:11). Malachi invoked a curse that such unions might produce no offspring, thus cutting off that mixed line in order to preserve the purity of the chosen people ("the tents of Jacob," v. 12).

2:13–16 Divorce was also a problem in Israel. Couples in which husband and wife were both members of the covenant community were ending their marriages in divorce. Throughout the ancient Near East, all marriages were legally binding contracts. Only Israel upheld marriage as a spiritual covenant worthy of life-long commitment. Though the people had permitted and regulated divorce by the Law (Deut. 24:1–4), God expressly rejected the breaking of marital vows in any way (see Matt. 19, Divorce).

2:17 Longsuffering is an attribute of God, but the people had "wearied" the Lord by claiming that evil was good and that God was unjust. The people had drifted so far from God's instructive Law that they were morally confused.

We cannot expect the Church to exhibit more godliness than its leaders.

"In what way have we wearied Him?"
In that you say,
"Everyone who does evil
Is good in the sight of the LORD,
And He delights in them,"
Or, "Where is the God of justice?"

The Coming Messenger

3 "Behold, I send My messenger,
And he will prepare the way before Me.
And the Lord, whom you seek,
Will suddenly come to His temple,
Even the Messenger of the covenant,
In whom you delight.
Behold, He is coming,"
Says the LORD of hosts.

2 "But who can endure the day of His coming?
And who can stand when He appears?
For He is like a refiner's fire
And like launderers' soap.
3 He will sit as a refiner and a purifier of silver;
He will purify the sons of Levi,
And purge them as gold and silver,
That they may offer to the LORD
An offering in righteousness.

4 "Then the offering of Judah and Jerusalem
Will be pleasant to the LORD,
As in the days of old,
As in former years.
5 And I will come near you for judgment;
I will be a swift witness
Against sorcerers,
Against adulterers,
Against perjurers,
Against those who exploit wage earners and widows and orphans,
And against those who turn away an alien—
Because they do not fear Me,"
Says the LORD of hosts.

6 "For I am the LORD, I do not change;
Therefore you are not consumed, O sons of Jacob.
7 Yet from the days of your fathers
You have gone away from My ordinances
And have not kept them.
Return to Me, and I will return to you,"
Says the LORD of hosts.
"But you said,
'In what way shall we return?'

Do Not Rob God

8 "Will a man rob God?
Yet you have robbed Me!
But you say,
'In what way have we robbed You?'
In tithes and offerings.
9 You are cursed with a curse,
For you have robbed Me,
Even this whole nation.
10 Bring all the tithes into the storehouse,
That there may be food in My house,

3:1–5 In their apathy, the people had lost sight of the value of their relationship with the Lord. Malachi reminded them that the Lord was not far off, and He was aware of the sins of His people. He would be coming to purge and purify them of their unrighteousness (see Mal. 3:5, note). God Himself, accused by the people of delighting in those who do evil (Mal. 2:17), would come to judge the people for grievous sins. His purpose was to restore holiness to His people and renew covenant faithfulness. God came and judged the sinner worthy of death when Jesus bore the penalty of that death Himself. The messenger who heralded the ministry of the Messiah was later revealed as John the Baptist (Matt. 11:10–15).

3:2 We can identify with purifying agents: fire for metals and soap for clothing. The refiner's fire is a metaphor used often for spiritual purification (Job 23:10; Ps. 66:10; Is. 1:25; 48:10; Dan. 12:10; Zech. 13:9). The Lord promised to purify Levites in the last days so they could carry out their ministries effectively (Mal. 3:3).

3:5 A comparison of Malachi and Nehemiah shows that both address these issues:

- Perversion of the priesthood (Mal. 1:6—2:9; Neh. 13:4–9);
- Mixed marriages (Mal. 2:11–16; Neh. 13:23–27);
- Problems in society (Mal. 3:5; Neh. 5:1–13);
- Disobedience of principles governing giving (Mal. 3:8–11; Neh. 13:10–14).

3:6, 7 Because of God's character, His people were not consumed, though their sins had made them worthy of death (see Rom. 6:23). Their existence rested upon the covenant promises of the unchangeable God.

3:8–12 Israel was robbing God. God had already provided specific directions for the offerings and tithes (Num. 18:21–24). The tithes were used to support the Levites and their families, who were ministers of the covenant. The tithes being presented, which consisted of animals and produce, were of poor quality and thus reflected a poor attitude. The entire nation was cursed. The people began by robbing God, but in the end they robbed themselves.

And try Me now in this,"
Says the LORD of hosts,
"If I will not open for you the windows of heaven
And pour out for you such blessing
That there will not be room enough to receive it.

11"And I will rebuke the devourer for your sakes,
So that he will not destroy the fruit of your ground,
Nor shall the vine fail to bear fruit for you in the field,"
Says the LORD of hosts;
12And all nations will call you blessed,
For you will be a delightful land,"
Says the LORD of hosts.

The People Complain Harshly

13"Your words have been harsh against Me,"
Says the LORD,
"Yet you say,
'What have we spoken against You?'
14You have said,
'It is useless to serve God;
What profit is it that we have kept His ordinance,
And that we have walked as mourners
Before the LORD of hosts?
15So now we call the proud blessed,
For those who do wickedness are raised up;
They even tempt God and go free.' "

A Book of Remembrance

16Then those who feared the LORD spoke to one another,
And the LORD listened and heard them;
So a book of remembrance was written before Him
For those who fear the LORD
And who meditate on His name.

17"They shall be Mine," says the LORD of hosts,
"On the day that I make them My jewels.[a]
And I will spare them
As a man spares his own son who serves him."
18Then you shall again discern
Between the righteous and the wicked,
Between one who serves God
And one who does not serve Him.

The Great Day of God

4 "For behold, the day is coming,
Burning like an oven,
And all the proud, yes, all who do wickedly will be stubble.
And the day which is coming shall burn them up,"
Says the LORD of hosts,
"That will leave them neither root nor branch.
2But to you who fear My name
The Sun of Righteousness shall arise
With healing in His wings;
And you shall go out
And grow fat like stall-fed calves.
3You shall trample the wicked,
For they shall be ashes under the soles of your feet
On the day that I do this,"
Says the LORD of hosts.

4"Remember the Law of Moses, My servant,
Which I commanded him in Horeb for all Israel,
With the statutes and judgments.

3:17 [a]Literally special treasure

3:10–12 God asked the people to prove His word because they questioned His holiness and righteousness. If they would bring the full tithe as required, divine blessing would be renewed. God would restore their agricultural abundance, remove pestilence, and increase the respect of the nations for His people. Israel would be a delight and winsome witness to other nations (see v. 5, note).

3:13–15 God's people had become cynical and spoke harsh words against Him. They maintained that the wicked prospered, the proud were blessed, and evildoers escaped judgment from God. They concluded that it was worthless to serve God.

3:16 A few among God's chosen nation still feared the Lord and heeded Malachi's warnings. The Lord was not far off but was so close to His people that He overheard their conversation. Ancient Near Eastern kings customarily recorded the names and deeds of people who were particularly loyal. This loyalty was usually lavishly recompensed (Esth. 6:1–11).

3:17 The Lord's jewels (Heb. segullah) is a reference found in ancient covenant contracts in regard to a valuable possession acquired by a powerful king in covenant with a vassal nation. God was claiming these faithful people as His special possession under the terms of His covenant with Israel (see also Ex. 19:5; 1 Pet. 2:9).

3:18 The people had claimed there was no difference between those who worshiped the Lord and those who did not. The wicked still prospered, and the faithful suffered. But God's people must not be deceived by appearances. The day would come when it would be clear to everyone that there is an eternal difference between those who serve God and those who do not.

4:1–3 The coming day of the Lord would be like a burning furnace, consuming the wicked. For those who feared the Lord, this Day would be a day of joy when the "Sun of Righteousness," the Messiah, would rise with healing in His wings.

4:4–6 The righteous Law came through Moses. It was fitting that Israel's last prophet before the messianic age should call the people to remember the covenant commandments. The promise that Elijah would come to herald the day of the Lord offered hope that God would yet speak to Israel. Jesus identi-

5 Behold, I will send you Elijah the prophet Before the coming of the great and dreadful
day of the LORD.
6 And he will turn
The hearts of the fathers to the children,
And the hearts of the children to their fathers,
Lest I come and strike the earth with a curse."

fied John the Baptist as the Elijah who heralded the Messiah (Matt. 17:10–13). Moses and Elijah appeared with Jesus on the Mount of Transfiguration (Matt. 17:1–3).

4:6 Malachi's last word to God's people is "curse." Had God left His redemptive plan unfinished, the earth would have been destroyed by God's curse. The promise of an Elijah yet to come offered hope that a curse would not be God's last word. In Jesus, God's grace and not His curse is the final word (Rev. 22:21).

FLOWERS AND PLANTS OF THE BIBLE

God created plants on the third day (Gen. 1:11–13), and, when God created man, He placed him in a garden to tend and keep it (Gen. 2:15). One of the final moments of our Lord's life was spent in a garden—praying and seeking His Father's will (Matt. 26:36). The Bible says that Jesus often brought His disciples there. Every year the spring rains turn the parched and dry hillsides of Palestine into a vivid blaze of wildflowers and bulbous plants. Although ancient writers as well as biblical scholars debate some references to flora as to specifically which species is referenced, the following chart can help you visualize how the plants mentioned in the Bible may have looked.

FLOWERS OF THE BIBLE

FLOWERS	REFERENCE/ BIBLICAL TERM	DESCRIPTION/USE
Anemone	Matt. 6:28, 29 Luke 12:27, 28 "Lilies"	The single-flowered poppy anemone or windflower covers the hillsides of Palestine with dazzling color each spring.
Crocus	Song 4:14 "Saffron"	Four thousand stigmas and upper portions of the style of the saffron crocus are needed to make an ounce of saffron, a valuable dye in biblical times and even in the modern era.
Cyclamen	Matt. 6:28–30 Luke 12:27, 28 "Lilies"	Also called Solomon's crown and another possibility for "lily of the field." It is often given at Christmas time because of its glorious blooms (pinks and reds) and deep biblical roots.
Hyacinth	Song 2:1, 2, 16 Song 6:2, 3 "Lilies"	Native to eastern Mediterranean where it flowers in the wild with deep blue perfumed spikes.

FLOWERS	REFERENCE/ BIBLICAL TERM	DESCRIPTION/USE
Iris Yellow Flag	Hos. 14:5 "Lilies"	In Palestine it grows in masses along streams and waterways.
Scarlet Turk's Cap Lily	Song 5:13 "Lilies"	Probably refers to the scarlet lily, since the passage refers to the lips. Grows wild in the woods in Palestine.
Madonna Lily	Song 6:2 "Lilies"	Grows wild in upper Galilee. Used in religious paintings to symbolize chastity, purity, and eternal beauty.
Narcissus	Is. 35:1 "Rose"	Sweet smelling, it grows commonly in Palestine. Some scholars believe it to be Isaiah's "rose."
Star of Bethlehem	2 Kin. 6:25 "Dove Droppings"	This bulbous and delicate plant dots fields and hillsides with prolific white blossoms that resemble dove droppings.
Tulip	Song 2:1 "Rose"	The "Rose of Sharon" is believed to be the mountain tulip. The deep red flowers grow wild in the sandy plains of Sharon.

GARDENS IN THE BIBLE PLACES OF SHELTER AND DELIGHT

The garden (Heb. gan or Gk. kepos, lit. "a covered or hidden place") has been an important part of Near Eastern culture as well as a delightful place of repose throughout the generations. In biblical literature, frequent references appear to the garden, picturing an enclosed or walled plot with vegetation and water, shade and quiet, beauty and utility. Enough drawings are extant of ancient gardens to confirm these general features: Planning for aesthetic effect and convenience of using water supplies (Gen. 13:10; Jer. 31:12); Beauty and fragrance of flowers and fruits (Gen. 2:9); Shelter and shade (Song 6:11; Luke 13:19); Pleasure, such as the meeting place for friends (John 18:1, 2) or site for social events (Esth. 1:5); Provision of food (Jer. 29:5, 28; Amos 9:14); Protection (Song 4:12); Retreat for quiet meditation (Esth. 7:7; Matt. 26:36–46).

The garden took time and effort to prepare; yet it offered rewards in return. In Genesis 2, the Lord chose to use the garden for a metaphor to describe the first home He established for Adam and Eve. That home was to be a place of shelter and delight (Gen. 2:8, note).

Biblical gardens include: The Garden of Eden or Garden of the Lord (Gen. 2; 3; Ezek. 28:13; 31:8, 9; 36:35); The Shulamite's figurative garden (Song 4:12–16); Solomon's gardens (Eccl. 2:5, 6); The King's Garden in Jerusalem (2 Kin. 25:4; Neh. 3:15; Jer. 39:4; 52:7); the garden in the palace of Ahasuerus (Esth. 1:5; 7:7, 8); Gethsemane (Matt. 26:36; Mark 14:32; John 18:2).

VEGETABLES OF THE BIBLE

VEGETABLES	REFERENCE/ BIBLICAL TERM	DESCRIPTION/USE
Cucumber	Num. 11:4–6 Is. 1:8 "Cucumbers"	Grown along the Nile, a major food of the poor centuries before Christ. A "cooling fruit" enjoyed in Egypt during the summer heat.
Melon Muskmelon Watermelon	Num. 11:5 "Melons"	Commentators believe the word "melons" refers to both the muskmelon and watermelon since both grew in Egypt prior to Israel's deliverance. Served as an alternative to water, largely consumed by the poor.
Leek	Num. 11:5 "Leeks"	The leek's delicate flavor replaced the stronger tasting onion in cooking. Regarded as a "sacred plant" for its multi-medicinal value.
Onion	Num. 11:5 "Onions"	The "Egyptian Onion" was sweet and mild. It was highly esteemed and worshiped by the Egyptians; it flourished more than any other plant in tomb paintings.

Watercress	Deut. 32:2 "Herb" Ex. 12:8 "Bitter Herbs"	Known for its pungent flavor and medicinal qualities. High in vitamins and iron.

"Bitter herbs" are bitter-tasting plants that grew in ancient Egypt and were eaten by Moses and the Israelites during Passover. Many botanical scholars feel these six plants are among the bitter herbs referenced in Scripture. Sometimes the text uses general terms for classification instead of specific species. Today these herbs are more commonly known as vegetables.*

HERBS OF THE BIBLE

Herbs were cultivated by the ancients for practical purposes ranging from the making of essential oils and culinary uses to the healing purposes of medicine (Gen. 1:29). The latter was the most important.

The New Testament

Matthew

AUTHOR

Though the author of this gospel is unnamed, the early church consistently considered it to be the work of the apostle Matthew (also known as Levi). Though a Jew by birth, his duties as a Roman tax collector would have made fluency in Greek necessary as a complement to his Aramaic. Recent literary critics have argued that the writer of Matthew used Mark as his source. However, the early church, together with many evangelical scholars through the generations, has argued for the priority of Matthew.

DATE

The evidence for the date of Matthew is inconclusive. Because the book was written primarily to the Jews, many scholars feel it was written before the fall of Jerusalem in A.D. 70.

BACKGROUND

SETTING: A city along the coast of Phoenicia or Syria, such as Antioch, is generally accepted as the place where Matthew wrote his book (see Matt. 17:24, 27). Though a Greek-speaking city, Antioch had a large Jewish population. The book does not state specifically where it was written; yet it is probable that it originated somewhere in Rome's Syrian province.

PURPOSE: The author sought to show that the Messiah, whom the prophets predicted in the Old Testament, had come in the Person of Jesus.

AUDIENCE: The Gospel of Matthew, though one of four accounts covering the life and ministry of Jesus, was written especially for the Jews, who knew the Old Testament prophecies. The promised kingdom was first offered to them, and they were foremost among those responsible for spreading the Good News.

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: Matthew is the bridge between the Old Testament and New Testament. It contains more than 50 direct quotations from the Old Testament—more than the other three gospels combined—as well as many other affirming statements such as "you have heard," "it is written," and "that which was spoken."

The book is chronologically arranged, yet with a topical structure. Many of Jesus' teachings, as well as His healings, other miracles, and the parables concerning the kingdom, are grouped together.

THEMES

The major theme is that what the Old Testament foretold about the Messiah has been fulfilled in Jesus, and thus the book pays detailed attention to the lineage of Christ (Matt. 1). Because the lineage of royalty was important to the Jews, Matthew traced Jesus not only to Abraham, the father of the Jews, but also to the kingly lineage of David.

The book also delineates what a disciple's life should be. The Sermon on the Mount and related teachings give not only the code of conduct God requires but, more importantly, the quality of the relationship Jesus desired with His disciples.

Related to the discipleship theme is the key phrase, "the kingdom of heaven." This theme encompasses both the daily life of each disciple and the future coming of Christ.

The Genealogy of Jesus Christ

1 The book of the genealogy of Jesus Christ, the Son of David, the Son of Abraham:
2 Abraham begot Isaac, Isaac begot Jacob, and Jacob begot Judah and his brothers. 3 Judah begot
Perez and Zerah by Tamar, Perez begot Hezron, and Hezron begot Ram. 4 Ram begot Amminadab, Amminadab begot Nahshon, and Nahshon begot Salmon. 5 Salmon begot Boaz by Rahab, Boaz begot Obed by Ruth, Obed begot Jesse, 6 and Jesse begot David the king.

David the king begot Solomon by her who had been the wife[a] of Uriah. 7 Solomon begot Rehoboam, Rehoboam begot Abijah, and Abijah begot Asa.[a] 8 Asa begot Jehoshaphat, Jehoshaphat begot Joram, and Joram begot Uzziah. 9 Uzziah begot Jotham, Jotham begot Ahaz, and Ahaz begot Hezekiah.
10 Hezekiah begot Manasseh, Manasseh begot
Amon,[a] and Amon begot Josiah. 11 Josiah begot Je-coniah and his brothers about the time they were carried away to Babylon.

1:6 [a]Words in italic type have been added for clarity. They are not found in the original Greed. 1:7 [a]NU-Text reads Asaph. 1:10 [a]NU-Text reads Amos.

1:1 In the lineage of the Messiah, Matthew highlighted the calling of one man (Abraham) to father the Jewish nation and the calling of one man from that nation (David) to father the line of the kings. If there had been any doubts about Jesus being a son of David, His claim to kingship would have been invalid. "Begot" can mean direct descent instead of direct parentage (v. 2).

1:2–6 Although the ancestral list does not include everyone, five women are mentioned: Tamar, Rahab, Ruth, Uriah's wife (Bathsheba), and Mary. Tamar, Rahab, and Bathsheba were connected with sexual sins; Rahab and Ruth were not Jewish, and Ruth belonged to the nation of Moab, which had its origin in incest (see Gen. 19:30–37; Deut. 23:3); Mary was an humble Jewish maiden. The fact that Gentile women were included showed in a dramatic way the inclusion of the Gentiles in the blessings of God's redemptive plan. These women were part of God's unique providence in preparing for and bringing the Messiah to His people.

12And after they were brought to Babylon, Jeconiah begot Shealtiel, and Shealtiel begot Zerubbabel. 13Zerubbabel begot Abiud, Abiud begot Eliakim, and Eliakim begot Azor. 14Azor begot Zadok, Zadok begot Achim, and Achim begot Eliud. 15Eliud begot Eleazar, Eleazar begot Matthan, and Matthan begot Jacob. 16And Jacob begot Joseph the husband of Mary, of whom was born Jesus who is called Christ.

17So all the generations from Abraham to David are fourteen generations, from David until the captivity in Babylon are fourteen generations, and from the captivity in Babylon until the Christ are fourteen generations.

Christ Born of Mary

18Now the birth of Jesus Christ was as follows: After His mother Mary was betrothed to Joseph, before they came together, she was found with child of the Holy Spirit. 19Then Joseph her husband, being a just man, and not wanting to make her a public example, was minded to put her away secretly. 20But while he thought about these things, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared to him in a dream, saying, "Joseph, son of David, do not be afraid to take to you Mary your wife, for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Spirit. 21And she will bring forth a Son, and you shall call His name JESUS, for He will save His people from their sins."

22So all this was done that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Lord through the prophet, saying: 23*"Behold, the virgin shall be with child, and bear a Son, and they shall call His name Immanuel,"*[a] which is translated, "God with us."

24Then Joseph, being aroused from sleep, did as the angel of the Lord commanded him and took to him his wife, 25and did not know her till she had brought forth her firstborn Son.[a] And he called His name JESUS.

Wise Men from the East

2 Now after Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, behold, wise men from the East came to Jerusalem, 2saying, "Where is He who has been born King of the Jews? For we have seen His star in the East and have come to worship Him."

3When Herod the king heard this, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him. 4And when he had gathered all the chief priests and scribes of the people together, he inquired of them where the Christ was to be born.

5So they said to him, "In Bethlehem of Judea, for thus it is written by the prophet:

> 6*'But you, Bethlehem, in the land of Judah,*
> Are not the least among the rulers of Judah;
> For out of you shall come a Ruler
> Who will shepherd My people Israel.'"[a]

7Then Herod, when he had secretly called the wise men, determined from them what time the star appeared. 8And he sent them to Bethlehem and said, "Go and search carefully for the young Child, and when you have found Him, bring back word to me, that I may come and worship Him also."

1:23 [a]Isaiah 7:14. Words in oblique type in the New Testament are quoted from the Old Testament. 1:25 [a]NU-Text reads a Son. 2:6 [a]Micah 5:2

1:19 The engagement period was legally binding, requiring a divorce to break it. The engagement period lasted as long as a year, perhaps to provide assurance that the woman was not pregnant by another man (see Engagement). Matthew, as Luke, affirms the virgin conception (vv. 18–25; Luke 1:26–38) and attributes that conception to the Holy Spirit (see Is. 7, The Virgin Birth). Only through the virgin conception could Jesus be both God and man and thus make atonement for sin.

1:21 Jesus is the Greek form of Joshua (Heb., lit. Yahweh saves); Christ (Gk. christos) or Messiah (Heb. mashiach) is His title, meaning "anointed one." The royal lineage of Jesus is through Mary, the mother who gave Him birth, and her husband Joseph, who was Jesus' legal father (v. 20). Most important, Jesus was God's eternal Son (see Matt. 2:15).

1:23 The process of naming in biblical times was important in expressing the character and work of the person named (see Is. 45, Naming of Children).

2:1 The account of the Magi is found only in Matthew, the book that presents Jesus as the Jewish King. The "wise men" (Gk. magoi) were magicians or astrologers. They probably came from Persia or Babylon (where wise men were part of the priestly order). Historians had predicted a world ruler from Judea at this time. The belief that a phenomenon of stars announced special births was widely held. The names of the wise men are not given, but three gifts are mentioned: gold, associated with royalty; frankincense, a costly incense; and myrrh, a prized perfume (v. 11). These men viewed the phenomenon of stars at the time of Jesus' birth in a distant land, and they could have taken up to two years to reach Judea. The wise men came to the house, not the stable (v. 11), and saw the Child, not the baby (vv. 9, 11).

2:3, 4 The chief priests and scribes were the ones who had supposedly been watching for this event for hundreds of years. Scribes practiced the highly prized skill of writing and specialized in copying official records, Scripture, and commentaries on Scripture. They had developed additional laws and traditions first to explain Scripture and ultimately to be obeyed as Scripture. For them, Jesus did not qualify as the Messiah because He did not fit these new laws and traditions. They were numbered among the chief opponents to the One about whom Scripture spoke (see Matt. 23:1–39; 26:57; 27:17–26, 39–43).

2:5, 6 Bethlehem is the place where Ruth (the great grandmother of David) met Boaz (Ruth 1:22—2:6) and where David was born and reared (1 Sam. 16:1, 12, 13; see also 2 Sam. 5:2; Mic. 5:2). This small hamlet is within walking distance of Jerusalem, less than ten miles away.

ENGAGEMENT — A STEP IN COMMITMENT

Engagement or betrothal, in Jewish culture, was a formal bond between a man and a woman, almost as binding as marriage itself, yet without physical intimacy. According to the Law of Moses, the penalty for carelessly breaking this commitment through fornication, adultery, incest, or rape was death by stoning (Deut. 22:23–30). Under some circumstances, the engagement could be broken by a bill of divorcement.

The time period for an engagement was usually about a year. Mary and Joseph were betrothed or engaged but did not live together during that engagement period. Joseph is called Mary's "husband" (Matt. 1:19), although the relationship was still physically celibate.

In modern culture, engagement is considered a couple's promise of intent for uniting in marriage, although it is not binding. In fact, engagement is seen as the time of deepening intimacy in which a couple has the freedom to make sure that marriage is the step they ought to take. Becoming engaged is the first step toward the joining of two lives, the blending of two personalities and families, replete with the potential of many generations to come.

See also Gen. 24:1–67; 29:15—30:43; notes on Commitment (Matt. 16); Dating (1 Tim. 4); Dowry (1 Kin. 9); Marriage (Gen. 2; 2 Sam. 6; Prov. 5; Hos. 2; Amos 3; 2 Cor. 13; Heb. 12); Romance (Song 2); Weddings (John 2); portrait of Rebekah (Gen. 24)

9 When they heard the king, they departed; and behold, the star which they had seen in the East went before them, till it came and stood over where the young Child was. 10 When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceedingly great joy.
11 And when they had come into the house, they saw the young Child with Mary His mother, and fell down and worshiped Him. And when they had opened their treasures, they presented gifts to Him: gold, frankincense, and myrrh.
12 Then, being divinely warned in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed for their own country another way.

The Flight into Egypt

13 Now when they had departed, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream, saying, "Arise, take the young Child and His mother, flee to Egypt, and stay there until I bring you word; for Herod will seek the young Child to destroy Him."
14 When he arose, he took the young Child and
His mother by night and departed for Egypt, 15 and was there until the death of Herod, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Lord through the prophet, saying, "Out of Egypt I called My Son."[a]

Massacre of the Innocents

16 Then Herod, when he saw that he was deceived by the wise men, was exceedingly angry; and he sent forth and put to death all the male children who were in Bethlehem and in all its districts, from two years old and under, according to the time which he had determined from the wise men. 17 Then was fulfilled what was spoken by Jeremiah the prophet, saying:

18 "A voice was heard in Ramah,
Lamentation, weeping, and great mourning,
Rachel weeping for her children,
Refusing to be comforted,
Because they are no more."[a]

The Home in Nazareth

19 Now when Herod was dead, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared in a dream to Joseph in Egypt, 20 saying, "Arise, take the young Child and His mother, and go to the land of Israel, for those who sought the young Child's life are dead."
21 Then he arose, took the young Child and His mother, and came into the land of Israel.
22 But when he heard that Archelaus was reigning over Judea instead of his father Herod, he was afraid to go there. And being warned by God in a dream, he turned aside into the region of Galilee. 23 And he came and dwelt in a city called Nazareth, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophets, "He shall be called a Nazarene."

2:16 Herod the Great built the temple in Jerusalem and also completed various palaces and numerous public works projects. His love for power and heavy taxation pleased Rome but alienated the Jews. A man of terrible paranoia, he did not hesitate to eliminate anyone who might threaten his position (see chart, The Family Tree of Herod the Great). Slaughtering a group of Jewish toddlers in a small town would have been typical of Herod.

2:23 Mary received the announcement of Jesus' birth in Nazareth, where she and Joseph had been reared (Luke 1:26, 27; 2:39; see also Matt. 13:53–58).

John the Baptist Prepares the Way

3 In those days John the Baptist came preaching in the wilderness of Judea, 2 and saying,
"Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand!"
3 For this is he who was spoken of by the prophet
Isaiah, saying:

3:1 John was born to the priest Zacharias and his wife Elizabeth, a relative of Jesus' mother Mary, in their old age. John is similar to Elijah in that he was sent by God, he did not hesitate to point out evil, he offended many, his message called the people back to God's righteous ways, and he pointed beyond himself to the Messiah (see Mal. 4:3–6; Matt. 17:1–3).

"The voice of one crying in the wilderness:
'Prepare the way of the Lord;
Make His paths straight.' "[a]

[4]Now John himself was clothed in camel's hair, with a leather belt around his waist; and his food was locusts and wild honey. [5]Then Jerusalem, all Judea, and all the region around the Jordan went out to him [6]and were baptized by him in the Jordan, confessing their sins.

[7]But when he saw many of the Pharisees and Sadducees coming to his baptism, he said to them, "Brood of vipers! Who warned you to flee from the wrath to come? [8]Therefore bear fruits worthy of repentance, [9]and do not think to say to yourselves, 'We have Abraham as our father.' For I say to you that God is able to raise up children to Abraham from these stones. [10]And even now the ax is laid to the root of the trees. Therefore every tree which does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire. [11]I indeed baptize you with water unto repentance, but He who is coming after me is mightier than I, whose sandals I am not worthy to carry. He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and fire.[a] [12]His winnowing fan is in His hand, and He will thoroughly clean out His threshing floor, and gather His wheat into the barn; but He will burn up the chaff with unquenchable fire."

John Baptizes Jesus

[13]Then Jesus came from Galilee to John at the Jordan to be baptized by him. [14]And John tried to prevent Him, saying, "I need to be baptized by You, and are You coming to me?"

[15]But Jesus answered and said to him, "Permit it to be so now, for thus it is fitting for us to fulfill all righteousness." Then he allowed Him.

[16]When He had been baptized, Jesus came up immediately from the water; and behold, the heavens were opened to Him, and He[a] saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove and alighting upon Him. [17]And suddenly a voice came from heaven, saying, "This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased."

Satan Tempts Jesus

4 Then Jesus was led up by the Spirit into the wilderness to be tempted by the devil. [2]And when He had fasted forty days and forty nights, afterward He was hungry. [3]Now when the tempter came to Him, he said, "If You are the Son of God, command that these stones become bread."

[4]But He answered and said, "It is written, 'Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceeds from the mouth of God.' "[a]

[5]Then the devil took Him up into the holy city, set Him on the pinnacle of the temple, [6]and said to Him, "If You are the Son of God, throw Yourself down. For it is written:

'He shall give His angels charge over you,'

and,

'In their hands they shall bear you up,
Lest you dash your foot against a stone.' "[a]

[7]Jesus said to him, "It is written again, 'You shall not tempt the Lord your God.' "[a]

3:3 [a]Isaiah 40:3 3:11 [a]M-Text omits and fire. 3:16 [a]Or he 4:4 [a]Deuteronomy 8:3 4:6 [a]Psalm 91:11, 12 4:7 [a]Deuteronomy 6:16

3:6 Baptism (Gk. baptisma, lit. "immersion," "dipping," "submerging") was a well-known ceremony used both for proselytes coming into Judaism and for a sign of repentance (Lev. 15:13; Num. 19; Is. 1:16; 44:3; Jer. 4:14; Ezek. 36:25; Zech. 13:1). In Judaism, self-immersion was the practice. For John, baptism called for an administrator. For Christians, baptism is a testimony that pictures the death, burial, and Resurrection of Christ.

3:7 The Pharisees were an influential religious group (see chart, Jewish Sects).

3:9 The Jews felt that being descendants of Abraham insured their standing with God. John informed them that no one had special privileges with God, and no one was indispensable (Matt. 21:43).

3:10–12 The severity and immediacy of judgment is indicated by two metaphors: the ax at the root of the tree and the winnowing or separating the grain from the chaff. When tossed in the air, the grain would fall to the ground while the empty shells or chaff blew away. This separation process is also pictured as the division of the sons of the kingdom from the sons of the wicked one (Matt. 13:38), the wise from the foolish (Matt. 7:24–27), and the sheep from the goats (Matt. 25:31–46).

3:16 Through Jesus' baptism He proclaimed publicly His sonship, identified Himself with the people He came to save, and set forth His redemptive mission. The triune God is presented: Jesus is the Son in the flesh; the Holy Spirit appears in the form of a dove; the Father makes His voice heard from heaven (see Mark 1:10, 11, note).

4:1, 2 The Spirit was responsible for both the encounter and the 40-day fast. The biblical concept of "tempting" is a testing to demonstrate genuineness, faithfulness, and character (see Heb. 2, Temptation). Jesus did not pretend to be tempted; His temptation was real. These temptations affirmed His qualification to be God's Messiah and our Redeemer.

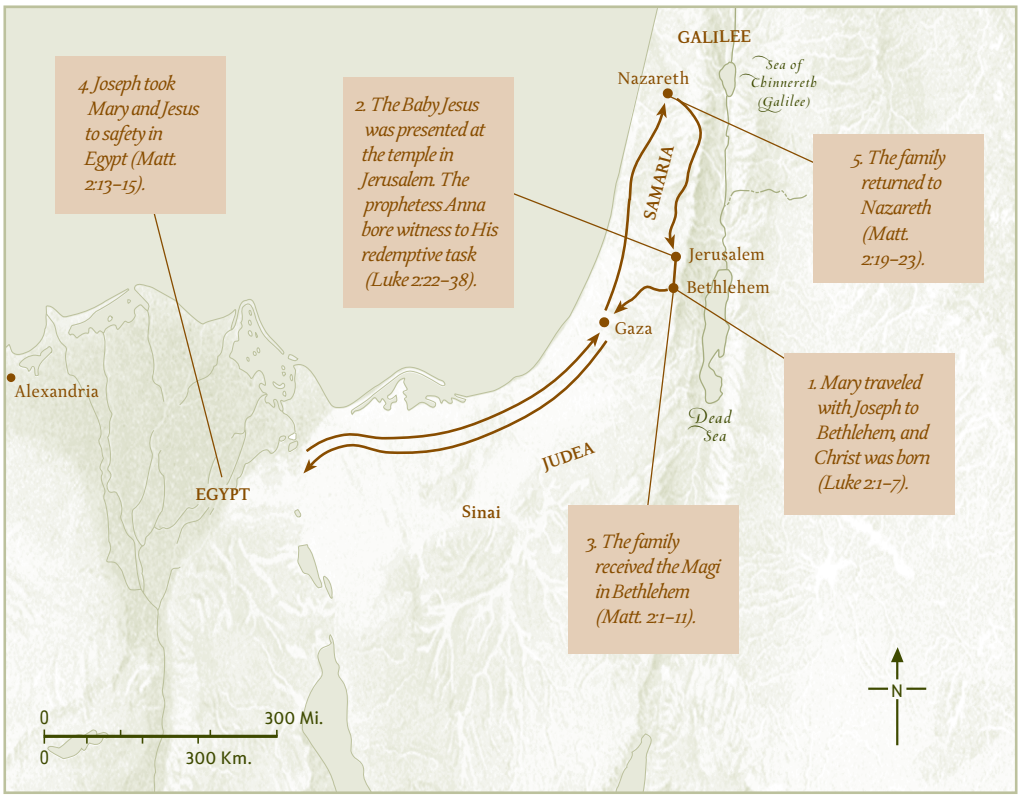
4:3 All references to the tempter are personal, establishing beyond doubt that Satan is not just an evil influence but a person (see chart, A Portrait of the Adversary).

4:3–10 Jesus' defense consisted of two things:

- Scripture—The first words of Jesus as He entered His public ministry were, "It is written" (v. 4).
- Immediate obedience.

These same weapons are available to believers. Satan did not attempt to argue with Scripture. Jesus eventually received from the Father all Satan had offered to Him: the provision of bread (Matt. 14:13–21), angels to minister to Him (Matt. 4:11), and rule over both earth and heaven (Matt. 28:18).

MARY'S TRAVEL



8 Again, the devil took Him up on an exceedingly high mountain, and showed Him all the kingdoms of the world and their glory. 9 And he said to Him, "All these things I will give You if You will fall down and worship me."
10 Then Jesus said to him, "Away with you,[a] Satan! For it is written, 'You shall worship the LORD your God, and Him only you shall serve.'"[b]
11 Then the devil left Him, and behold, angels came and ministered to Him.

Jesus Begins His Galilean Ministry

12 Now when Jesus heard that John had been put in prison, He departed to Galilee. 13 And leaving Nazareth, He came and dwelt in Capernaum, which is by the sea, in the regions of Zebulun and Naphtali, 14 that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Isaiah the prophet, saying:

15 "The land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali,
By the way of the sea, beyond the Jordan,
Galilee of the Gentiles:
16 The people who sat in darkness have seen a great light,
And upon those who sat in the region and shadow of death
Light has dawned."[a]

17 From that time Jesus began to preach and to say, "Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand."

Four Fishermen Called as Disciples

18 And Jesus, walking by the Sea of Galilee, saw two brothers, Simon called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea; for they were fishermen. 19 Then He said to them, "Follow Me,

4:10 [a]M-Text reads Get behind Me. [b]Deuteronomy 6:13 4:16 [a]Isaiah 9:1, 2

4:11 Though Satan finally departed, this occasion was not the sum of Jesus' earthly temptations. Jesus was tempted many other times (Matt. 26:38; Mark 8:33; Luke 22:28; John. 6:15; 7:1–9; Heb. 2:18; 4:15, 16).

REMARRIAGE AN AWESOME CHALLENGE

The question of remarriage is closely related to the matter of divorce. The Scripture lifts up permanent, monogamous union as the plan of the Creator (Matt. 19:4–6). To understand the strong language of Scripture concerning this matter, look at the whole of Scripture to see how God regards marriage. The marriage bond between husband and wife is the same kinship bond that exists between parents and children and between God and His creation (Gen. 2:24; Matt. 19:6).

Some argue that remarriage is never permissible (Mark 10:11, 12). Others note that the divorce teaching of Jesus includes an "exception" (Matt. 5:32; 19:9) and conclude that this implies permission to remarry. Still others suggest that the understood meaning of "divorce" in ancient law included freedom to remarry, suggesting that remarriage is forbidden only after an invalid divorce. Finally, there are those who deny that Jesus gives a justification for divorce in the modern sense, although they allow that remarriage is permissible if reconciliation with a divorced spouse is rendered impossible because of death or remarriage of the divorced spouse to another partner (1 Cor. 7:10, 11), or if the divorced spouse is a non-believer opposed to reconciliation (1 Cor. 7:15).

Despite these differences of biblical interpretation, some important conclusions can be drawn:

1) Once remarriage follows divorce, there is no turning back (Deut. 24:1–4), and the tearing apart of a marriage is painful, leaving its scars on all who are touched by the tragedy.
2) God sees the one-flesh relationship as permanent and binding because it is the picture He has chosen to portray His relationship to His children, and thus He guards the home with great zeal (Mal. 2:16).
3) Jesus gives no divine directive nor even acceptable excuses for breaking this holy covenant but rather observes that the hardness of the human heart makes such tragedy a reality in this sinful world (Matt. 19:8).
4) The role of the church and of believers must always be redemptive. With God, forgiveness is as if it never happened. No sin or tragedy is beyond God's forgiveness.

After seeking and receiving God's forgiveness, a woman who remarries has a new understanding of God's incredible grace. She must then seek anew an understanding of God's plan for marriage (Gen. 2:24), commit herself wholeheartedly to pursuing His plan, and consider her vows of marriage binding before the Lord (Matt. 19:5, 6).

See also Luke 16:18; Rom. 7:2, 3; 1 Cor. 7:10–16, 27, 28; notes on Commitment (Matt. 16); Divorce (Matt. 19); Marriage (Gen. 2; 2 Sam. 6; Prov. 5; Hos. 2; Amos 3; 2 Cor. 13; Heb. 12); Step-parenthood (Gen. 35) and I will make you fishers of men." [20]They immediately left their nets and followed Him.

[21]Going on from there, He saw two other brothers, James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother, in the boat with Zebedee their father, mending their nets. He called them, [22]and immediately they left the boat and their father, and followed Him.

Jesus Heals a Great Multitude

[23]And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all kinds of sickness and all kinds of disease among the people. [24]Then His fame went throughout all Syria; and they brought to Him all sick people who were afflicted with various diseases and torments, and those who were demon-possessed, epileptics, and paralytics; and He healed them. [25]Great multitudes followed Him— from Galilee, and from Decapolis, Jerusalem, Judea, and beyond the Jordan.

The Beatitudes

5 And seeing the multitudes, He went up on a mountain, and when He was seated His disciples came to Him. [2]Then He opened His mouth and taught them, saying:

[3]"Blessed are the poor in spirit,
For theirs is the kingdom of heaven.
[4]Blessed are those who mourn,
For they shall be comforted.

5:1—7:29 The Sermon on the Mount is the first in a series of five discourses about the Christian life, both present and future. Its basic premise is that the Christian life has no neutral zones free from God. The Lord is sovereign, all-powerful, and omnipresent (see Job 23; 42; Jer. 23, Attributes of God). Believers do not make Him the Sovereign or Lord of their lives; He already is. Whether or not they are living as His subjects does not affect His sovereignty; their obedience or lack of it simply determines what kind of kingdom subjects they are.

5:3–12 Beatitudes are found elsewhere in Scripture, most often in the Psalms, though there are usually no more than two or three together (see chart, Beatitudes in the Book of Revelation). The distinctiveness of these Beatitudes is that they great is your reward in heaven, for so they persecuted the prophets who were before you.

Believers Are Salt and Light

13"You are the salt of the earth; but if the salt loses its flavor, how shall it be seasoned? It is then good for nothing but to be thrown out and trampled underfoot by men.

14"You are the light of the world. A city that is set on a hill cannot be hidden. 15Nor do they light a lamp and put it under a basket, but on a lampstand, and it gives light to all who are in the house. 16Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works and glorify your Father in heaven.

Christ Fulfills the Law

17"Do not think that I came to destroy the Law or the Prophets. I did not come to destroy but to fulfill. 18For assuredly, I say to you, till heaven and earth pass away, one jot or one tittle will by no means pass from the law till all is fulfilled. 19Whoever therefore breaks one of the least of these commandments, and teaches men so, shall be called least in the kingdom of heaven; but whoever does and teaches them, he shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven. 20For I say to you, that unless your righteousness exceeds the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, you will by no means enter the kingdom of heaven.

Murder Begins in the Heart

21"You have heard that it was said to those of old, 'You shall not murder,[a] and whoever murders will be in danger of the judgment.' 22But I say to you that whoever is angry with his brother without a cause[a] shall be in danger of the judgment. And whoever says to his brother, 'Raca!' shall be in danger of the council. But whoever says, 'You fool!' shall be in danger of hell fire. 23Therefore if you bring your gift to the altar, and there remember that your brother has something against you, 24leave your gift there before the altar, and go your way. First be reconciled to your brother, and then come and offer your gift. 25Agree with your adversary quickly, while you are on the way with him, lest your adversary deliver you to the judge, the judge hand you over to the officer, and you be thrown into prison. 26Assuredly, I say to you, you will by no means get out of there till you have paid the last penny.

Adultery in the Heart

27"You have heard that it was said to those of old,[a] 'You shall not commit adultery.'[b] 28But I say to you that whoever looks at a woman to lust for her has already committed adultery with her in his heart. 29If your right eye causes you to sin, pluck it out and cast it from you; for it is more profitable for you that one of your members perish, than for your whole body to be cast into hell. 30And if your right hand causes you to sin, cut it off and cast it from you; for it is more profitable for you that one of your members perish, than for your whole body to be cast into hell.

Marriage Is Sacred and Binding

31"Furthermore it has been said, 'Whoever divorces his wife, let him give her a certificate of divorce.' 32But I say to you that whoever divorces his wife for any reason except sexual immorality[a] causes her to commit adultery; and whoever marries a woman who is divorced commits adultery.

Jesus Forbids Oaths

33"Again you have heard that it was said to those of old, 'You shall not swear falsely, but shall perform your oaths to the Lord.' 34But I say to you, do not swear at all: neither by heaven, for it is God's throne; 35nor by the earth, for it is His footstool; nor by Jerusalem, for it is the city of the great King. 36Nor shall you swear by your head, because you cannot make one hair white or black. 37But let your 'Yes' be 'Yes,' and your 'No,' 'No.' For whatever is more than these is from the evil one.

Go the Second Mile

38"You have heard that it was said, 'An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth.'[a] 39But I tell you not to resist an evil person. But whoever slaps you on your right cheek, turn the other to him also. 40If any-

5:21 [a]Exodus 20:13; Deuteronomy 5:17 5:22 [a]NU-Text omits without a cause. 5:27 [a]NU-Text and M-Text omit to those of old. [b]Exodus 20:14; Deuteronomy 5:18 5:32 [a]Or fornication 5:38 [a]Exodus 21:24; Leviticus 24:20; Deuteronomy 19:21

5:13–16 Both salt and light are forces that change an alien environment permanently. Salt enhances flavor and preserves or slows decay only if the salt itself stays pure. Sodium chloride, a stable compound, cannot lose its saltiness, but it can lose its effectiveness by being diluted. This point is the application for Christians. Light symbolizes purity and divine revelation. If Christians were only slowing the decay, their mission would seem rather bleak, but they are also to be beacons of light to those who will respond.

5:17 The Law and the Prophets refers to the OT. Jesus is the subject and the goal of the OT and the fulfillment of its prophecies (Matt. 1:22; 2:6, 15, 17, 18, 23; 3:3; 4:14–16).

5:21–43 Jesus repudiated wrong thoughts and attitudes with astounding severity. "Raca" (Aram., lit. "empty headed") was a term of dehumanization (v. 22). "Fool" (Gk. moros) may also be understood as "rebel." Jesus identified wrong attitudes as triggering other sins (vv. 21, 22). A woman's personal relationships directly affect her relationship (though not her position) with God (see Matt. 6:14, 15).

5:31, 32 The OT allowed a man to give his wife a "certificate of divorce" if she found no favor because of uncleanness (Deut. 24:1). This permission was abused, and men divorced their wives for many different reasons. Jesus rejected this practice because of the sanctity of marriage (see Matt. 19, Divorce).

one wants to sue you and take away your tunic, let him have your cloak also. 41And whoever compels you to go one mile, go with him two. 42Give to him who asks you, and from him who wants to borrow from you do not turn away.

Love Your Enemies

43"You have heard that it was said, 'You shall love your neighbor[a] and hate your enemy.' 44But I say to you, love your enemies, bless those who curse you, do good to those who hate you, and pray for those who spitefully use you and persecute you,[a] 45that you may be sons of your Father in heaven; for He makes His sun rise on the evil and on the good, and sends rain on the just and on the unjust. 46For if you love those who love you, what reward have you? Do not even the tax collectors do the same? 47And if you greet your brethren[a] only, what do you do more than others? Do not even the tax collectors[b] do so? 48Therefore you shall be perfect, just as your Father in heaven is perfect.

Do Good to Please God

6 "Take heed that you do not do your charitable deeds before men, to be seen by them. Otherwise you have no reward from your Father in heaven. 2Therefore, when you do a charitable deed, do not sound a trumpet before you as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may have glory from men. Assuredly, I say to you, they have their reward. 3But when you do a charitable deed, do not let your left hand know what your right hand is doing, 4that your charitable deed may be in secret; and your Father who sees in secret will Himself reward you openly.[a]

The Model Prayer

5"And when you pray, you shall not be like the hypocrites. For they love to pray standing in the synagogues and on the corners of the streets, that they may be seen by men. Assuredly, I say to you, they have their reward. 6But you, when you pray, go into your room, and when you have shut your door, pray to your Father who is in the secret place; and your Father who sees in secret will reward you openly.[a] 7And when you pray, do not use vain repetitions as the heathen do. For they think that they will be heard for their many words.

8"Therefore do not be like them. For your Father knows the things you have need of before you ask Him. 9In this manner, therefore, pray:

Our Father in heaven,
Hallowed be Your name.
10Your kingdom come.
Your will be done
On earth as it is in heaven.
11Give us this day our daily bread.
12And forgive us our debts,
As we forgive our debtors.
13And do not lead us into temptation,
But deliver us from the evil one.
For Yours is the kingdom and the power and the glory forever. Amen.[a] 14"For if you forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you. 15But if you do not forgive men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.

Fasting to Be Seen Only by God

16"Moreover, when you fast, do not be like the hypocrites, with a sad countenance. For they

5:43 [a]Compare Leviticus 19:18 5:44 [a]NU-Text omits three clauses from this verse, leaving, "But I say to you, love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you." 5:47 [a]M-Text reads friends. [b]NU-Text reads Gentiles. 6:4, 6 [a]NU-Text omits openly. 6:13 [a]NU-Text omits For Yours through Amen.

6:9–13 The model prayer illustrates how to pray rather than prescribing necessary words to use (see chart, Lessons from the Model Prayer). The Jews did not address God directly as Father but used this personal title to describe God's relationship to Israel or to refer to Him as Creator. "Our Father" was a new title used by Jesus, who chose the term "Abba" (carrying the more intimate sense of "daddy") and invited all who belong to Him to do the same (see Gal. 4:6).

6:16–18 Fasting (v. 18), together with prayer (v. 6) and good deeds (v. 2), are outworkings of the Christian life that are exclusively between the believer and God. Fasting (Heb. tsum, lit. "to cover over"—as the mouth; Gk. nesteia, lit. "to abstain from food") could be observed completely for a short time or from certain foods for a longer period (Dan. 10:3). The ancient Israelites practiced fasting on the Day of Atonement (Lev. 16:29–31; 23:27–32, in which "afflict your souls" is a reference to fasting). At various other times fasting was practiced as a sign of mourning (1 Sam. 31:13; Esth. 4:1–3), as an act of personal or corporate repentance (1 Sam. 7:6; Dan. 9:3–19), as a means of gaining God's attention on behalf of suffering or sickness (2 Sam. 12:16–23), in a critical time of decision making (2 Chr. 20:1–18; Esth. 4:16; 1 Cor. 7:5), or as the natural result of urgent prayer (2 Cor. 6:5; 11:27).

Jesus assumed that His disciples would fast. He Himself fasted for forty days to prepare for His ministry and to fortify His soul for His confrontation with Satan (Matt. 4:1, 2). He affirmed fasting as an accompaniment to times of intense prayer (Matt. 17:21). Early Christians fasted in preparation for major events (Acts 13:2, 3; 14:23).

The purpose of a spiritual fast is always the same: to draw the believer closer to God (Joel 2:12–15). From the most humble circumstances, one reaches out to God. The Lord is not moved by fasting itself but rather by the turning of the hearts of His people toward righteousness (Acts 10:30–33). The Bible repeatedly cautions that true fasting is not merely abstinence from food (Matt. 9:14, 15). Fasting must be accompanied by sincere repentance and good works (Is. 58:3–7) and must never be done to impress others, as mere ritualism or as a source of spiritual pride (Luke 18:10–14; see also Dan. 2:23, note; Luke 24:47, note; Jer. 33; Heb. 4; 1 John 5; 3 John, Prayer; Eph. 6, Spiritual Warfare; Esth. 2, Esther).

PRIORITIES PLANNING YOUR DAYS

Often women are overwhelmed by too many things to do (see Luke 10:40) because there are many good choices concerning how to apportion their time (Eccl. 3:1–8). To set priorities is to determine what is important to you and how your time is to be apportioned—that is, who and what will take precedence over other parts of life.

Scripture contains guidelines for God's order (Ps. 119:105, 130):

- Your personal relationship to Jesus Christ (Matt. 6:33; Phil 3:8);
- Your commitment to home and family—especially spouse and children (Gen. 2:24; Ps. 127:3; Eph. 5:22, 25; 6:4; 1 Tim. 3:2–5; 5:8; 1 Pet. 3:7) and even to the extended family, as so beautifully portrayed in the relationship between Ruth and Naomi (Ruth 1:16, 17);
- Your responsibility to employer and tasks assigned (see 1 Thess. 4:11, 12); and
- Your service to God through ministries in the church and involvement in the community (see Col. 3:17).

Once you have these divinely appointed criteria in mind, you are ready to sort out the opportunities that come (Ps. 32:8) and move forward in the most effective and productive management of time and resources. A very practical way of accomplishing this is to list all the tasks before you, consider each prayerfully as to merit and timeliness (see Col 2:5), arrange them in order of importance, then proceed to do the most important things first (see 1 Cor. 14:40).

To be consistent in your priorities, consider these admonitions: assign God first place (Matt. 6:33); consult with the Father regularly in your quiet time (Ps. 55:17; Luke 5:15, 16); examine your own heart (Eccl. 3:1); and keep yourself spiritually fit (Is. 30:15). Jesus met with the Father in intensive prayer and meditation to determine His priorities and to prepare Himself for each day (see Luke 5:15, 16).

Note also these cautions: Put people before things (see 2 Cor. 8:5). Do not limit your investment in those you love, and others who cross your path, to money and gifts. Look for ways to invest yourself, your time, your energies. Family must be more important than occupation since Scripture clearly states that there is no success if the family is lost (1 Tim. 3:5; 5:8; Titus 2:4, 5). Sometimes you must say "no," as did even Jesus when some seemingly good requests for His time did not fit the overall plan for His ministry (Luke 4:42, 43). The underlying principle in determining priorities is always that spiritual values must overshadow worldly pursuits (2 Cor. 4:18).

disfigure their faces that they may appear to men to be fasting. Assuredly, I say to you, they have their reward. [17]But you, when you fast, anoint your head and wash your face, [18]so that you do not appear to men to be fasting, but to your Father who is in the secret place; and your Father who sees in secret will reward you openly.[a] [19]"Do not lay up for yourselves treasures on earth, where moth and rust destroy and where thieves break in and steal; [20]but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust destroys and where thieves do not break in and steal. [21]For where your treasure is, there your heart will be also.

Lay Up Treasures in Heaven

The Lamp of the Body

[22]"The lamp of the body is the eye. If therefore your eye is good, your whole body will be full of light. [23]But if your eye is bad, your whole body will be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in you is darkness, how great is that darkness!

You Cannot Serve God and Riches

[24]"No one can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will be loyal to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon.

Do Not Worry

[25]"Therefore I say to you, do not worry about your life, what you will eat or what you will drink; nor about your body, what you will put on. Is not life more than food and the body more than clothing? [26]Look at the birds of the air, for they neither sow nor reap nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feeds them. Are you not of more value

6:18 [a]NU-Text and M-Text omit openly.

6:24 Mammon (Aram.), a reference to wealth and riches, is offered as one of two options: a relationship with God or with possessions (see vv. 19–21).

6:25 Worry has the connotation of dividing, separating, and distracting. A woman cannot worry and trust God at the same time because worry destroys the single-hearted devotion Jesus described (v. 33).

LESSONS FROM THE MODEL PRAYER

Prepare

- Pure heart and motive (Matt. 6:5–8).
- Private conversation intent on invoking His presence (Matt. 6:6).
- Meaningful communication (Matt. 6:7, 8; Luke 18:1–8).
- Presentation of specific requests (Matt. 6:9–13; see 1 Sam. 12:23, 24).

Pray

than they? [27]Which of you by worrying can add one cubit to his stature?

[28]"So why do you worry about clothing? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow: they neither toil nor spin; [29]and yet I say to you that even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. [30]Now if God so clothes the grass of the field, which today is, and tomorrow is thrown into the oven, will He not much more clothe you, O you of little faith?

[31]"Therefore do not worry, saying, 'What shall we eat?' or 'What shall we drink?' or 'What shall we wear?' [32]For after all these things the Gentiles seek. For your heavenly Father knows that you need all these things. [33]But seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added to you. [34]Therefore do not worry about tomorrow, for tomorrow will worry about its own things. Sufficient for the day is its own trouble.

Do Not Judge

7 "Judge not, that you be not judged. [2]For with what judgment you judge, you will be judged;

7:1–6 Judge (Gk. krinō) here has the sense of "condemn" or "avenge." The reference is not to a legal judgment but to a critical spirit. The foolishness of a judgmental attitude is illustrated in the hyperbole of the speck and the plank (vv. 3–5).

PETER'S MOTHER-IN-LAW

Each of the synoptic gospels includes the account of Jesus' healing the mother of Peter's wife. The significance of the story is twofold: first, the immediate restoration to health, and second, its symbolic nature. Matthew uses the incident to stress Christ's sovereignty; Mark, to illustrate His servanthood; Luke, to demonstrate His compassionate humanity.

In a home in Capernaum, described by Mark as that of Peter and Andrew, the woman lay ill. Luke, the physician, informs us that her fever was high, and the accounts together tell us that the family requested Jesus to heal her. She was important to them as well as to Jesus. He took her by the hand, her strength returned immediately, and she got up and began serving the guests.

The value of a mother to a family has always been substantial, and Jesus certainly understood this family's potential loss. But His miracle also reinforced His valuation of women in a society where many considered them to be inferior.

The healing also calls attention to Jesus' pity for His own race. He displayed His power to a Jewish mother, a symbol of His deep desire that His own nation return to their covenant-keeping God. It is one more touch of God's indescribable love. The woman responded by serving Him, a stellar example to every woman who feels His touch.

and with the measure you use, it will be measured back to you. 3And why do you look at the speck in your brother's eye, but do not consider the plank in your own eye? 4Or how can you say to your brother, 'Let me remove the speck from your eye'; and look, a plank is in your own eye? 5Hypocrite! First remove the plank from your own eye, and then you will see clearly to remove the speck from your brother's eye.

6"Do not give what is holy to the dogs; nor cast your pearls before swine, lest they trample them under their feet, and turn and tear you in pieces.

Keep Asking, Seeking, Knocking

7"Ask, and it will be given to you; seek, and you will find; knock, and it will be opened to you. 8For everyone who asks receives, and he who seeks finds, and to him who knocks it will be opened. 9Or what man is there among you who, if his son asks for bread, will give him a stone? 10Or if he asks for a fish, will he give him a serpent? 11If you then, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your Father who is in heaven give good things to those who ask Him! 12Therefore, whatever you want men to do to you, do also to them, for this is the Law and the Prophets.

The Narrow Way

13"Enter by the narrow gate; for wide is the gate and broad is the way that leads to destruction, and there are many who go in by it. 14Because[a] narrow is the gate and difficult is the way which leads to life, and there are few who find it.

You Will Know Them by Their Fruits

15"Beware of false prophets, who come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravenous wolves. 16You will know them by their fruits. Do men gather grapes from thornbushes or figs from thistles? 17Even so, every good tree bears

7:14 [a]NU-Text and M-Text read How . . . !

Jesus also used the term "hypocrite" (Gk., lit. "to judge under") to describe the insincerity of the Pharisees and scribes (see chart, Jewish Sects). Though a critical spirit is condemned, discernment enables the believer to confront and restore fellow believers who have erred. Dogs were wild animals, and swine were the ultimate example of sacrilege for the Jews. They picture all that is vicious, unclean, and abominable; they describe committed God-haters, of whom we are to be aware and from whom we are to separate ourselves (vv. 15–20).

7:7 Continual prayer is the secret to accomplishment: asking, seeking, and knocking. The goal is not a fixed time of prayer but rather a lifestyle in which prayer becomes like the air we breathe. The promise is absolute. Even if the instructions previously given seem impossible to follow, God will give believers the ability to follow them when they abide in Him (John 15:4–7). Answered prayer is guaranteed because these prayers are based upon the relationship of the disciples of Jesus with God, who responds to them as Father. Their prayers may not be answered as specifically requested because they do not have the Father's perspective on what is ultimately best.

7:12 Jesus framed this principle, known as "The Golden Rule," positively, rather than negatively. By doing so, He included omissions (what should not be done) as well as commissions (what should be done). This epigram expresses the heart of the Christian life.

7:15–20 The criteria for judging or the means for discerning what is truth and what is not is set forth here. These verses might seem in conflict with the admonition to avoid a judg-good fruit, but a bad tree bears bad fruit. 18A good tree cannot bear bad fruit, nor can a bad tree bear good fruit. 19Every tree that does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire. 20Therefore by their fruits you will know them.

I Never Knew You

21"Not everyone who says to Me, 'Lord, Lord,' shall enter the kingdom of heaven, but he who does the will of My Father in heaven. 22Many will say to Me in that day, 'Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in Your name, cast out demons in Your name, and done many wonders in Your name?' 23And then I will declare to them, 'I never knew you; depart from Me, you who practice lawlessness!'

Build on the Rock

24"Therefore whoever hears these sayings of Mine, and does them, I will liken him to a wise man who built his house on the rock: 25and the rain descended, the floods came, and the winds blew and beat on that house; and it did not fall, for it was founded on the rock.

26"But everyone who hears these sayings of Mine, and does not do them, will be like a foolish man who built his house on the sand: 27and the rain descended, the floods came, and the winds blew and beat on that house; and it fell. And great was its fall."

28And so it was, when Jesus had ended these sayings, that the people were astonished at His teaching, 29for He taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes.

Jesus Cleanses a Leper

8 When He had come down from the mountain, great multitudes followed Him. 2And behold, a leper came and worshiped Him, saying, "Lord, if You are willing, You can make me clean."

3Then Jesus put out His hand and touched him, saying, "I am willing; be cleansed." Immediately his leprosy was cleansed.

4And Jesus said to him, "See that you tell no one; but go your way, show yourself to the priest, and offer the gift that Moses commanded, as a testimony to them."

Jesus Heals a Centurion's Servant

5Now when Jesus had entered Capernaum, a centurion came to Him, pleading with Him, 6saying, "Lord, my servant is lying at home paralyzed, dreadfully tormented."

7And Jesus said to him, "I will come and heal him."

8The centurion answered and said, "Lord, I am not worthy that You should come under my roof. But only speak a word, and my servant will be healed. 9For I also am a man under authority, having soldiers under me. And I say to this one, 'Go,' and he goes; and to another, 'Come,' and he comes; and to my servant, 'Do this,' and he does it."

10When Jesus heard it, He marveled, and said to those who followed, "Assuredly, I say to you, I have not found such great faith, not even in Israel! 11And I say to you that many will come from east and west, and sit down with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob in the kingdom of heaven. 12But the sons of the kingdom will be cast out into outer darkness. There will be weeping and gnashing of teeth." 13Then Jesus said to the centurion, "Go your way; and as you have believed, so let it be done for you." And his servant was healed that same hour.

Peter's Mother-in-Law Healed

14Now when Jesus had come into Peter's house, He saw his wife's mother lying sick with a fever. 15So He touched her hand, and the fever left her. And she arose and served them.[a] mental spirit (vv. 1–5), but the intervening passage concerning prayer serves as a bridge. Through prayer, believers determine their own faults. Once they deal with themselves, they have access to a clear view of problems in others. Only God is the ultimate Judge (vv. 21, 22).

8:15 [a]NU-Text and M-Text read Him.

8:2, 3 Whether the leprosy of that time is the same as the modern disease is uncertain. The disease was destructive, debilitating, and highly infectious. To the Jews, leprosy also was a sign of being cursed (Num. 12:10–12) and resulted in ceremonial defilement (Lev. 13:3; 22:4; see Lev. 10, Clean vs. Unclean). Jesus again demonstrated His uniqueness by making the unclean clean.

8:5 Centurions were Roman military officers, typically in charge of 100 soldiers, representing the emperor's authority (see Mark 15:39; Acts 10; 27:3). Usually they pursued military service as a career.

8:11, 12 Instead of limiting the kingdom to the physical descendants of Abraham (as the Jews did), Jesus taught that it was open to all. Faith alone would determine a position in God's family (see Matt. 3:9, note).

Many Healed in the Evening

16When evening had come, they brought to Him many who were demon-possessed. And He cast out the spirits with a word, and healed all who were sick, 17that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Isaiah the prophet, saying:

"He Himself took our infirmities
And bore our sicknesses."[a]

The Cost of Discipleship

18And when Jesus saw great multitudes about Him, He gave a command to depart to the other side. 19Then a certain scribe came and said to Him,
"Teacher, I will follow You wherever You go."
20And Jesus said to him, "Foxes have holes and birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay His head."
21Then another of His disciples said to Him,
"Lord, let me first go and bury my father."
22But Jesus said to him, "Follow Me, and let the dead bury their own dead."

Wind and Wave Obey Jesus

23Now when He got into a boat, His disciples followed Him. 24And suddenly a great tempest arose on the sea, so that the boat was covered with the waves. But He was asleep. 25Then His disciples came to Him and awoke Him, saying, "Lord, save us! We are perishing!"
26But He said to them, "Why are you fearful, O you of little faith?" Then He arose and rebuked the winds and the sea, and there was a great calm. 27So the men marveled, saying, "Who can this be, that even the winds and the sea obey Him?"

Two Demon-Possessed Men Healed

28When He had come to the other side, to the country of the Gergesenes,[a] there met Him two demon-possessed men, coming out of the tombs, exceedingly fierce, so that no one could pass that way. 29And suddenly they cried out, saying, "What have we to do with You, Jesus, You Son of God?
Have You come here to torment us before the time?"
30Now a good way off from them there was a herd of many swine feeding. 31So the demons begged Him, saying, "If You cast us out, permit us to go away[a] into the herd of swine." 32And He said to them, "Go." So when they had come out, they went into the herd of swine. And suddenly the whole herd of swine ran violently down the steep place into the sea, and perished in the water.
33Then those who kept them fled; and they went away into the city and told everything, including what had happened to the demon-possessed men. 34And behold, the whole city came out to meet Jesus. And when they saw Him, they begged
Him to depart from their region.

Jesus Forgives and Heals a Paralytic

9So He got into a boat, crossed over, and came to His own city. 2Then behold, they brought to Him a paralytic lying on a bed. When Jesus saw their faith, He said to the paralytic, "Son, be of good cheer; your sins are forgiven you."
3And at once some of the scribes said within themselves, "This Man blasphemes!"
4But Jesus, knowing their thoughts, said, "Why do you think evil in your hearts? 5For which is easier, to say, 'Your sins are forgiven you,' or to say,
'Arise and walk'? 6But that you may know that the Son of Man has power on earth to forgive sins"— then He said to the paralytic, "Arise, take up your bed, and go to your house." 7And he arose and departed to his house.
8Now when the multitudes saw it, they marveled[a] and glorified God, who had given such power to men.

Matthew the Tax Collector

9As Jesus passed on from there, He saw a man named Matthew sitting at the tax office. And He said to him, "Follow Me." So he arose and followed Him.
10Now it happened, as Jesus sat at the table in the house, that behold, many tax collectors and sinners came and sat down with Him and His disciples. 11And when the Pharisees saw it, they said to His disciples, "Why does your Teacher eat with tax collectors and sinners?"
12When Jesus heard that, He said to them,
"Those who are well have no need of a physician, but those who are sick. 13But go and learn what this means: 'I desire mercy and not sacrifice.'[a] For I did not come to call the righteous, but sinners, to repentance."[b]

8:17 [a]Isaiah 53:4 8:28 [a]NU-Text reads Gadarenes. 8:31 [a]NU-Text reads send us. 9:8 [a]NU-Text reads were afraid. 9:13 [a]Hosea 6:6 [b]NU-Text omits to repentance.

8:28–34 The region of the Gergesenes lay in the Gentile territory of the Decapolis. This fact explains the presence of pigs, which would have been repulsive to the Jews. Jesus was seeking rest, not ministry. Two men are mentioned here, while only one is cited in the record of the same incident in Mark and Luke. Perhaps Matthew had personal knowledge of a second man, or one man may have been more prominent and thus the only one of two mentioned. Demon possession is to be distinguished from mental or emotional illness. It involves evil spirits who, though unseen, indwell and control individuals and their actions. The demons in these verses spoke and were spoken to, but they were no match for Jesus.

WOMEN HEALED BY JESUS

WOMAN	HER FAITH	JESUS' RESPONSE	HER RESPONSE
Peter's mother-in-law (Matt. 8:14, 15; Mark 1:30, 31; Luke 4:38, 39).	None stated, although her family's faith was demonstrated.	He saw, touched, and healed her fever.	She arose and served those present.
All who were sick (Matt. 8:16, 17; Mark 1:32–34).	The people came in faith.	He cast out the spirits and healed all who were sick.	None stated.
The hemorrhaging woman (Matt. 9:20–22; Mark 5:25–34; Luke 8:43–48).	Her faith caught the attention of Jesus.	He felt her touch, saw her, and healed her.	She must have rejoiced in the healing she sought.
The Canaanite woman's daughter (Matt. 15:21–28; Mark 7:24–30).	The mother expressed her faith by her persistence. She worshiped Jesus.	He heard and answered her request and healed her daughter.	None stated.
The infirm woman (Luke 13:11–13).	Her faith was not stated.	He saw, called, and healed her.	She responded to His healing, being made straight and glorifying God.

Jesus Is Questioned About Fasting

14 Then the disciples of John came to Him, saying, "Why do we and the Pharisees fast often,[a] but Your disciples do not fast?"

15 And Jesus said to them, "Can the friends of the bridegroom mourn as long as the bridegroom is with them? But the days will come when the bridegroom will be taken away from them, and then they will fast. 16 No one puts a piece of unshrunk cloth on an old garment; for the patch pulls away from the garment, and the tear is made worse. 17 Nor do they put new wine into old wineskins, or else the wineskins break, the wine is spilled, and the wineskins are ruined. But they put new wine into new wineskins, and both are preserved."

A Girl Restored to Life and a Woman Healed

18 While He spoke these things to them, behold, a ruler came and worshiped Him, saying, "My daughter has just died, but come and lay Your hand on her and she will live." 19 So Jesus arose and followed him, and so did His disciples.

20 And suddenly, a woman who had a flow of blood for twelve years came from behind and touched the hem of His garment. 21 For she said to 9:14 [a]NU-Text brackets often as disputed.

9:14 Eating in biblical times had ramifications beyond physical nourishment or social enjoyment. It could have religious significance when accompanying worship, festivals, and covenant-making. Fasting (or "afflicting" the soul) could also have religious significance such as repentance (Lev. 16:29–31), obedience, responding to a loss (2 Sam. 1:12), preparation for a great event (1 Sam. 7:6), and preparation for communication with God (Deut. 9:9; see Matt. 6:16–18, note).

9:20–22 The woman had several things against her:

1) She was a woman (see The Hemorrhaging Woman);
2) She approached Jesus at one of the busiest times of His ministry; and
3) Her bleeding was considered unclean, and rabbis were not to touch or to be touched by someone bleeding (Lev. 15:25–33).

The other gospels give more details (Mark 5:25–34; Luke 8:43–48). Though the woman was healed when she touched Jesus, she needed an encounter with Him. She is the only person Jesus addressed as daughter.

THE HEMORRHAGING WOMAN WHO WAS HEALED

For twelve years this woman had suffered with chronic hemorrhaging. Visiting physicians had only given her more pain, depleted her funds, and left her worse than when she began. She had tried everything. She could have become a legitimate cynic. Then she heard about Jesus.

Her approach to Jesus was different from most. She came from behind and touched the edge of His outer garment, hoping no one, including Jesus, would notice. We are not told whether she felt unworthy to talk to Him, fearful because of her uncleanness (see Lev. 15:25–33), or concerned that there would be no chance of an audience with Him in such a crowd. We are told that she had enough faith in the person of Christ to believe that just touching His clothes would prove life-changing, and she was right. Though the passage makes clear that her body was healed at the time she reached out to him, that was not enough for Jesus. He wanted to give her more.

Jesus came to an abrupt halt and demanded, "Who touched Me?" The disciples were incredulous. "What was He talking about?" They saw the many, but He saw the one. Power had gone out of Him, but His power had not been depleted. The healing had not been completed. She was more than a hemorrhaging body; she was a needy woman. When this woman contacted God—He knew and she knew, though no other was aware. Jesus would not move until she approached Him.

Her approach was three-faceted: She came forward trembling with fear, fell down at His feet, and told the whole truth. He gave her a fourfold response: He called her "daughter" (an intimate and endearing term), assured her that her body was healed (by her faith, not His clothes), sent her away free from all anxiety (go in peace), and healed (Gk. sōzō, "saved," Mark 5:34) her soul.

Between the healing of a demon-possessed man and the raising of a dead girl, this woman's situation could be considered a lesser concern by human measurements, but not by Christ. He stops for everyone.

See also Mark 5:25–34; Luke 8:43–48; notes on Healing (James 5)

herself, "If only I may touch His garment, I shall be made well." 22But Jesus turned around, and when He saw her He said, "Be of good cheer, daughter; your faith has made you well." And the woman was made well from that hour.

23When Jesus came into the ruler's house, and saw the flute players and the noisy crowd wailing, 24He said to them, "Make room, for the girl is not dead, but sleeping." And they ridiculed Him. 25But when the crowd was put outside, He went in and took her by the hand, and the girl arose. 26And the report of this went out into all that land.

Two Blind Men Healed

27When Jesus departed from there, two blind men followed Him, crying out and saying, "Son of David, have mercy on us!"

28And when He had come into the house, the blind men came to Him. And Jesus said to them, "Do you believe that I am able to do this?"

They said to Him, "Yes, Lord."

29Then He touched their eyes, saying, "According to your faith let it be to you." 30And their eyes were opened. And Jesus sternly warned them, saying, "See that no one knows it." 31But when they had departed, they spread the news about Him in all that country.

A Mute Man Speaks

32As they went out, behold, they brought to Him a man, mute and demon-possessed. 33And when the demon was cast out, the mute spoke. And the multitudes marveled, saying, "It was never seen like this in Israel!"

34But the Pharisees said, "He casts out demons by the ruler of the demons."

The Compassion of Jesus

35Then Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people.[a] 36But when He saw the multitudes, He was moved with compassion for them, because they were weary[a] and scattered, like sheep having no shepherd. 37Then He said to His disciples, "The harvest truly is plentiful, but the laborers are few. 38Therefore pray

9:35 [a]NU-Text omits among the people. 9:36 [a]NU-Text and M-Text read harassed.

9:25 Peter, James, and John were the only ones invited to be at the Transfiguration and at the intimate prayer time in Gethsemane. Perhaps this occasion was considered as important because it was the first time Jesus raised someone from the dead. Jesus had shown His power over diseases, physical infirmities, supernatural beings, and nature. Here He showed His power over death (see Mark 5, Jairus' Resurrected Daughter).

9:35 Jesus healed every kind of sickness, not necessarily every case of sickness.

People before things, people before projects; family before friends; husband before children; husband before parents; tithe before wants; Bible before opinions; Jesus before all.

the Lord of the harvest to send out laborers into His harvest."

The Twelve Apostles

10 And when He had called His twelve disciples to Him, He gave them power over unclean spirits, to cast them out, and to heal all kinds of sickness and all kinds of disease. 2Now the names of the twelve apostles are these: first, Simon, who is called Peter, and Andrew his brother; James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother; 3Philip and Bartholomew; Thomas and Matthew the tax collector; James the son of Alphaeus, and Lebbaeus, whose surname was[a] Thaddaeus; 4Simon the Cananite,[a] and Judas Iscariot, who also betrayed Him.

Sending Out the Twelve

5These twelve Jesus sent out and commanded them, saying: "Do not go into the way of the Gentiles, and do not enter a city of the Samaritans. 6But go rather to the lost sheep of the house of Israel. 7And as you go, preach, saying, 'The kingdom of heaven is at hand.' 8Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead,[a] cast out demons. Freely you have received, freely give. 9Provide neither gold nor silver nor copper in your money belts, 10nor bag for your journey, nor two tunics, nor sandals, nor staffs; for a worker is worthy of his food.

11"Now whatever city or town you enter, inquire who in it is worthy, and stay there till you go out. 12And when you go into a household, greet it. 13If the household is worthy, let your peace come upon it. But if it is not worthy, let your peace return to you. 14And whoever will not receive you nor hear your words, when you depart from that house or city, shake off the dust from your feet. 15Assuredly, I say to you, it will be more tolerable for the land of Sodom and Gomorrah in the day of judgment than for that city!

Persecutions Are Coming

16"Behold, I send you out as sheep in the midst of wolves. Therefore be wise as serpents and harmless as doves. 17But beware of men, for they will deliver you up to councils and scourge you in their synagogues. 18You will be brought before governors and kings for My sake, as a testimony to them and to the Gentiles. 19But when they deliver you up, do not worry about how or what you should speak. For it will be given to you in that hour what you should speak; 20for it is not you who speak, but the Spirit of your Father who speaks in you.

21"Now brother will deliver up brother to death, and a father his child; and children will rise up against parents and cause them to be put to death. 22And you will be hated by all for My name's sake. But he who endures to the end will be saved. 23When they persecute you in this city, flee to another. For assuredly, I say to you, you will not have gone through the cities of Israel before the Son of Man comes.

24"A disciple is not above his teacher, nor a servant above his master. 25It is enough for a disciple that he be like his teacher, and a servant like his master. If they have called the master of the house Beelzebub,[a] how much more will they call those of his household! 26Therefore do not fear them. For there is nothing covered that will not be revealed, and hidden that will not be known.

Jesus Teaches the Fear of God

27"Whatever I tell you in the dark, speak in the light; and what you hear in the ear, preach on the housetops. 28And do not fear those who kill the body but cannot kill the soul. But rather fear Him who is able to destroy both soul and body in hell.

10:3 [a]NU-Text omits Lebbaeus, whose surname was. 10:4 [a]NU-Text reads Cananaean. 10:8 [a]NU-Text reads raise the dead, cleanse the lepers; M-Text omits raise the dead. 10:25 [a]NU-Text and M-Text read Beelzebul.

10:1 Jesus' disciples first learned about Him; then He sent them out. In each list of the Twelve, Peter is first and Judas Iscariot is last (see Mark 3:16–19; Luke 6:14–16). These men with such diverse personalities, backgrounds, education, and vocations were not the usual choices for a religious movement.

10:9–19 Their mission was to be shared by others who would offer them hospitality and support. The worthiness of a person was determined by his response to Jesus (see vv. 37, 38). To turn the disciples away meant they were turning away the Messiah, which meant the Messiah would turn away from them (see v. 33). Sodom and Gomorrah pictured the certainty and completeness of God's judgment.

29Are not two sparrows sold for a copper coin?
And not one of them falls to the ground apart from your Father's will. 30But the very hairs of your head are all numbered. 31Do not fear therefore; you are of more value than many sparrows.

Confess Christ Before Men

32"Therefore whoever confesses Me before men, him I will also confess before My Father who is in heaven. 33But whoever denies Me before men, him I will also deny before My Father who is in heaven.

Christ Brings Division

34"Do not think that I came to bring peace on earth. I did not come to bring peace but a sword.
35For I have come to 'set a man against his father, a daughter against her mother, and a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law'; 36and 'a man's enemies will be those of his own household.'[a] 37He who loves father or mother more than Me is not worthy of Me. And he who loves son or daughter more than Me is not worthy of Me. 38And he who does not take his cross and follow after Me is not worthy of Me.
39He who finds his life will lose it, and he who loses his life for My sake will find it.

A Cup of Cold Water

40"He who receives you receives Me, and he who receives Me receives Him who sent Me. 41He who receives a prophet in the name of a prophet shall receive a prophet's reward. And he who receives a righteous man in the name of a righteous man shall receive a righteous man's reward. 42And whoever gives one of these little ones only a cup of cold water in the name of a disciple, assuredly, I say to you, he shall by no means lose his reward."

John the Baptist Sends Messengers to Jesus

11 Now it came to pass, when Jesus finished commanding His twelve disciples, that He departed from there to teach and to preach in their cities.

2And when John had heard in prison about the works of Christ, he sent two of[a] his disciples 3and said to Him, "Are You the Coming One, or do we look for another?"

4Jesus answered and said to them, "Go and tell John the things which you hear and see: 5*The* blind see and the lame walk; the lepers are cleansed and the deaf hear; the dead are raised up and the poor have the gospel preached to them. 6And blessed is he who is not offended because of Me."

7As they departed, Jesus began to say to the multitudes concerning John: "What did you go out into the wilderness to see? A reed shaken by the wind?
8But what did you go out to see? A man clothed in soft garments? Indeed, those who wear soft clothing are in kings' houses. 9But what did you go out to see? A prophet? Yes, I say to you, and more than a prophet. 10For this is he of whom it is written:

> 'Behold, I send My messenger before Your face,
> Who will prepare Your way before You.'[a]

11"Assuredly, I say to you, among those born of women there has not risen one greater than John the Baptist; but he who is least in the kingdom of heaven is greater than he. 12And from the days of John the Baptist until now the kingdom of heaven suffers violence, and the violent take it by force.
13For all the prophets and the law prophesied until John. 14And if you are willing to receive it, he is Elijah who is to come. 15He who has ears to hear,
let him hear!

16"But to what shall I liken this generation? It is like children sitting in the marketplaces and calling to their companions, 17and saying:

> 'We played the flute for you,
> And you did not dance;
> We mourned to you,
> And you did not lament.'

18For John came neither eating nor drinking, and they say, 'He has a demon.' 19The Son of Man came eating and drinking, and they say, 'Look, a glutton and a winebibber, a friend of tax collectors and sinners!' But wisdom is justified by her children."[a]

Woe to the Impenitent Cities

20Then He began to rebuke the cities in which most of His mighty works had been done, because

10:36 [a]Micah 7:6 11:2 [a]NU-Text reads by for two of. 11:10 [a]Malachi 3:1 11:19 [a]NU-Text reads works.

10:37 God is in a category separate from all else. He does not ask any woman to love her family less. However, even the closest human relationship must not stand between or supersede an individual's primary loyalty to the Lord (Matt. 16:24).

10:39 Sacrifice indicates a deliberate act of bringing a possession to the altar—abdicating all rights, stepping away, and leaving it there. Jesus asked His followers to sacrifice financial security (vv. 9, 10), personal defense (vv. 19–21), physical safety (vv. 22–31), earthly status (vv. 32, 33), family relationships (v. 37), personal agendas (v. 38), and even life itself (v. 39). The rewards promised are great: the meeting of personal needs (Matt. 6:30, 31); the ability to deliver God's words (Matt. 10:19, 20); The Lord's eternal protection (v. 28); value in the eyes of the Father (v. 31); membership in God's family (Matt. 12:49, 50); a role in His agenda (Matt. 10:24–26); and genuine life (v. 39).

11:10, 11 Although John's mission was to announce the coming of the Messiah, his understanding was veiled. The disciples who witnessed the Crucifixion, the Resurrection, the Ascension, and the glorification of Jesus had an even greater message to share.

WOMEN AND THE PARABLES OF JESUS

PARABLE	AUDIENCE	APPLICATION
The lamp under a basket (Matt. 5:14–16; Mark 4:21, 22; Luke 8:16, 17).	To the disciples.	Life and words should give personal testimony to God's redemptive and transforming grace.
The marriage (Matt. 9:15; Mark 2:19, 20; Luke 5:34, 35).	To the Pharisees and the disciples of John.	Joy will be found in Christ's companionship.
The patched garment (Matt. 9:16; Mark 2:21; Luke 5:36).	To the Pharisees and the disciples of John.	Jesus did not come to adapt to the old order of legalism but to make all things new.
The children in the marketplace (Matt. 11:16, 17; Luke 7:31, 32).	To the multitudes concerning John the Baptist.	Those who rejected Jesus and John could not be pleased. Beware of focusing on personal whims.
The leaven (Matt. 13:33; Luke 13:20, 21).	To the multitude on the seashore.	Beware of sin that makes its way into life to corrupt and draw away from the good and true.
The pearl of great price (Matt. 13:45, 46).	To the disciples.	The relative value of the gospel exceeded all else.
The wedding garment (Matt. 22:10–14).	To the chief priests and the Pharisees.	Keep your life pure and holy.
The wise and foolish virgins (Matt. 25:1–13).	To the disciples on the Mount of Olives.	Always be prepared and watchful.
The wedding feast (Matt. 22:2–9; Luke 14:16–23).	To the chief priests and the Pharisees.	Do not reject God's invitation to salvation.
The lost coin (Luke 15:8–10).	To the Pharisees and scribes.	Remember Christ's love for sinners and His determination to draw them to Himself.
The persistent widow (Luke 18:1–8).	To the disciples.	Persevere in prayer.

Biblical women often wore a frontlet (Heb. semedi) on their foreheads. This adornment was made of coins (perhaps part of the woman's dowry) and signified betrothal or marriage. The monetary value of the coins was not as important as the sentimental value and symbolism of commitment.*

A parable is a lesson from daily life that teaches a spiritual truth. Jesus often told parables to provide an understanding of life, especially life in God's kingdom. Thirty-five percent of all gospel teaching is written in parables.

they did not repent: 21"Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! For if the mighty works which were done in you had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes. 22But I say to you, it will be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon in the day of judgment than for you. 23And you, Capernaum, who are exalted to heaven, will be[a] brought down to Hades; for if the mighty works which were done in you had been done in Sodom, it would have remained until this day. 24But I say to you that it shall be more tolerable for the land of Sodom in the day of judgment than for you."

Jesus Gives True Rest

25At that time Jesus answered and said, "I thank You, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that You have hidden these things from the wise and prudent and have revealed them to babes. 26Even so, Father, for so it seemed good in Your sight. 27All things have been delivered to Me by My Father, and no one knows the Son except the Father. Nor does anyone know the Father except the Son, and the one to whom the Son wills to reveal Him. 28Come to Me, all you who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. 29Take My yoke upon you and learn from Me, for I am gentle and lowly in heart, and you will find rest for your souls. 30For My yoke is easy and My burden is light."

Jesus Is Lord of the Sabbath

12 At that time Jesus went through the grainfields on the Sabbath. And His disciples were hungry, and began to pluck heads of grain and to eat. 2And when the Pharisees saw it, they said to Him, "Look, Your disciples are doing what is not lawful to do on the Sabbath!"

3But He said to them, "Have you not read what David did when he was hungry, he and those who were with him: 4how he entered the house of God and ate the showbread which was not lawful for him to eat, nor for those who were with him, but only for the priests? 5Or have you not read in the law that on the Sabbath the priests in the temple profane the Sabbath, and are blameless? 6Yet I say to you that in this place there is One greater than the temple. 7But if you had known what this means, 'I desire mercy and not sacrifice,'[a] you would not have condemned the guiltless. 8For the Son of Man is Lord even[a] of the Sabbath."

Healing on the Sabbath

9Now when He had departed from there, He went into their synagogue. 10And behold, there was a man who had a withered hand. And they asked Him, saying, "Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath?"—that they might accuse Him.

11Then He said to them, "What man is there among you who has one sheep, and if it falls into a pit on the Sabbath, will not lay hold of it and lift it out? 12Of how much more value then is a man than a sheep? Therefore it is lawful to do good on the Sabbath." 13Then He said to the man, "Stretch out your hand." And he stretched it out, and it was restored as whole as the other. 14Then the Pharisees went out and plotted against Him, how they might destroy Him.

Behold, My Servant

15But when Jesus knew it, He withdrew from there. And great multitudes[a] followed Him, and He healed them all. 16Yet He warned them not to make Him known, 17that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Isaiah the prophet, saying:

18*"Behold! My Servant whom I have chosen,*
My Beloved in whom My soul is well pleased!
I will put My Spirit upon Him,
And He will declare justice to the Gentiles.
19*He will not quarrel nor cry out,*
Nor will anyone hear His voice in the streets.
20*A bruised reed He will not break,*
And smoking flax He will not quench,
Till He sends forth justice to victory;
21*And in His name Gentiles will trust."*[a]

11:23 [a]NU-Text reads will you be exalted to heaven? No, you will be. 12:7 [a]Hosea 6:6 12:8 [a]NU-Text and M-Text omit even. 12:15 [a]NU-Text brackets multitudes as disputed. 12:21 [a]Isaiah 42:1–4

11:25 The kingdom Jesus offered is available and understandable to anyone who is interested. The "wise and prudent" were those who were self-sufficient and prided themselves on their great understanding of spiritual things (see Matt. 9:12).

11:27 Jesus claimed to have an exclusive relationship with the Father and to be the exclusive Way to the Father (see John 10:15; 14:6).

11:28, 29 Jesus is the touchstone for everything. Individuals are to "come" and "take" His yoke, and He does the rest. A person who labors is struggling, and one with a heavy burden is overloaded. The yoke was a double harness in which two animals pulled together. Often, one harness was larger and meant for the stronger, more experienced animal, while the smaller was used for the animal being trained. The yoke of Jesus clearly implies that even though individuals are free from the Law, they are not to make their own rules. Rather, they are to be harnessed to Him, living life His way.

12:1–8 The yoke the religious leaders had put on the people is illustrated. The rules God gave concerning the Sabbath were few and to the point. By contrast, the Jewish additions were numerous and detailed. At the heart of this system was an effort to manipulate God. The idea was that if one could keep and enforce all the added rules, God would have no choice but to bless Israel. This religious system was given precedence over everything, including God's glory and the welfare of His people.

A House Divided Cannot Stand

22Then one was brought to Him who was demon-possessed, blind and mute; and He healed him, so that the blind and[a] mute man both spoke and saw. 23And all the multitudes were amazed and said, "Could this be the Son of David?"

24Now when the Pharisees heard it they said, "This fellow does not cast out demons except by Beelzebub,[a] the ruler of the demons."

25But Jesus knew their thoughts, and said to them: "Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation, and every city or house divided against itself will not stand. 26If Satan casts out Satan, he is divided against himself. How then will his kingdom stand? 27And if I cast out demons by Beelzebub, by whom do your sons cast them out? Therefore they shall be your judges. 28But if I cast out demons by the Spirit of God, surely the kingdom of God has come upon you. 29Or how can one enter a strong man's house and plunder his goods, unless he first binds the strong man? And then he will plunder his house. 30He who is not with Me is against Me, and he who does not gather with Me scatters abroad.

The Unpardonable Sin

31"Therefore I say to you, every sin and blasphemy will be forgiven men, but the blasphemy against the Spirit will not be forgiven men. 32Anyone who speaks a word against the Son of Man, it will be forgiven him; but whoever speaks against the Holy Spirit, it will not be forgiven him, either in this age or in the age to come.

A Tree Known by Its Fruit

33"Either make the tree good and its fruit good, or else make the tree bad and its fruit bad; for a tree is known by its fruit. 34Brood of vipers! How can you, being evil, speak good things? For out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaks. 35A good man out of the good treasure of his heart[a] brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure brings forth evil things. 36But I say to you that for every idle word men may speak, they will give account of it in the day of judgment. 37For by your words you will be justified, and by your words you will be condemned."

The Scribes and Pharisees Ask for a Sign

38Then some of the scribes and Pharisees answered, saying, "Teacher, we want to see a sign from You."

39But He answered and said to them, "An evil and adulterous generation seeks after a sign, and no sign will be given to it except the sign of the prophet Jonah. 40For as Jonah was three days and three nights in the belly of the great fish, so will the Son of Man be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth. 41The men of Nineveh will rise up in the judgment with this generation and condemn it, because they repented at the preaching of Jonah; and indeed a greater than Jonah is here. 42The queen of the South will rise up in the judgment with this generation and condemn it, for she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon; and indeed a greater than Solomon is here.

An Unclean Spirit Returns

43"When an unclean spirit goes out of a man, he goes through dry places, seeking rest, and finds none. 44Then he says, 'I will return to my house from which I came.' And when he comes, he finds it empty, swept, and put in order. 45Then he goes and takes with him seven other spirits more wicked than himself, and they enter and dwell there; and the last state of that man is worse than 12:22 [a]NU-Text omits blind and. 12:24 [a]NU-Text and M-Text read Beelzebul. 12:35 [a]NU-Text and M-Text omit of his heart.

12:31 The unpardonable sin is defined as continually attributing the work of the Holy Spirit to Satan in full knowledge that the work is God's. All sin can and will be forgiven when there is genuine repentance. Even blasphemy, or profaning God's name in some way, can be forgiven when God's forgiveness is sought. However, blasphemy of the Holy Spirit ascribes to Satan what is done by God, and that cannot be forgiven. To be against Jesus in this way requires that the perpetrator know precisely what he is doing and knowingly and willingly credit Satan rather than the Holy Spirit with the work of God. Why would someone do this? Because to admit these miracles were from God would require acknowledging and following Jesus as Messiah, resulting in abandoning his own way (see Is. 53:6).

12:38–40 In the face of miracles, healings, and deliverances from demon possession, the Pharisees and scribes wanted yet another "sign." They were not seeking the truth but were seeking to entrap. As He often did, Jesus gave new meaning to a simple historical event with which His hearers were familiar (Jon. 1:17—2:10). The remarkable deliverance of Jonah from the fish after three days was presented as a precursor of Jesus' death, burial, and His Resurrection on the third day (Matt. 12:40).

the first. So shall it also be with this wicked generation."

Jesus' Mother and Brothers Send for Him

46While He was still talking to the multitudes, behold, His mother and brothers stood outside, seeking to speak with Him. 47Then one said to Him, "Look, Your mother and Your brothers are standing outside, seeking to speak with You."

48But He answered and said to the one who told Him, "Who is My mother and who are My brothers?" 49And He stretched out His hand toward His disciples and said, "Here are My mother and My brothers! 50For whoever does the will of My Father in heaven is My brother and sister and mother."

The Parable of the Sower

13 On the same day Jesus went out of the house and sat by the sea. 2And great multitudes were gathered together to Him, so that He got into a boat and sat; and the whole multitude stood on the shore.

3Then He spoke many things to them in parables, saying: "Behold, a sower went out to sow. 4And as he sowed, some seed fell by the wayside; and the birds came and devoured them. 5Some fell on stony places, where they did not have much earth; and they immediately sprang up because they had no depth of earth. 6But when the sun was up they were scorched, and because they had no root they withered away. 7And some fell among thorns, and the thorns sprang up and choked them. 8But others fell on good ground and yielded a crop: some a hundredfold, some sixty, some thirty. 9He who has ears to hear, let him hear!"

The Purpose of Parables

10And the disciples came and said to Him, "Why do You speak to them in parables?"

11He answered and said to them, "Because it has been given to you to know the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, but to them it has not been given. 12For whoever has, to him more will be given, and he will have abundance; but whoever does not have, even what he has will be taken away from him. 13Therefore I speak to them in parables, because seeing they do not see, and hearing they do not hear, nor do they understand. 14And in them the prophecy of Isaiah is fulfilled, which says:

'Hearing you will hear and shall not understand,
And seeing you will see and not perceive;
15*For the hearts of this people have grown dull.*
Their ears are hard of hearing,
And their eyes they have closed,
Lest they should see with their eyes and hear with their ears,
Lest they should understand with their hearts and turn,
So that I should[a] heal them.'[b]

16But blessed are your eyes for they see, and your ears for they hear; 17for assuredly, I say to you that many prophets and righteous men desired to see what you see, and did not see it, and to hear what you hear, and did not hear it.

The Parable of the Sower Explained

18"Therefore hear the parable of the sower: 19When anyone hears the word of the kingdom, and does not understand it, then the wicked one comes and snatches away what was sown in his heart. This is he who received seed by the wayside. 20But he who received the seed on stony places, this is he who hears the word and immediately receives it with joy; 21yet he has no root in himself, but endures only for a while. For when tribulation or persecution arises because of the word, immediately he stumbles. 22Now he who received seed among the thorns is he who hears the word, and the cares of this world and the deceitfulness of riches choke the word, and he becomes

13:15 [a]NU-Text and M-Text read would. [b]Isaiah 6:9, 10

12:46–50 Jesus was not diminishing the importance of family ties, nor was He anything other than caring and courteous in relating to His mother and other family members (see Matt. 10:37, note). Rather, He introduced an entirely new category of spiritual commitment. Jesus knew that He must give priority to doing the Father's will.

13:3 Parables (Gk. parabolē, lit. "a placing beside") are simple, short stories in the form of a "type," "figure," or "illustration" with two levels of meaning. They present a comparison or contrast in order to stimulate thought, decision, and action. Parables are the most difficult yet powerful form of literature to create (see chart, Women and the Parables of Jesus). Their power comes both in the simplicity and brevity of their teaching as well as in the memory tool they provide. Approximately one-third of Jesus' teaching was done in parables that revealed the nature of the kingdom of God. Here, the first four were given to the general public, and the last four were given to the disciples.

13:3–9 The foundational parable is set apart from the others since it is the key to the rest. The kingdom of God that Jesus offered to the Jews involved their receiving this message. The parable of the soils is a parable of hearing. This parable warned that unless the mind and the heart would hear and accept the Word of God, the teaching of parables would be meaningless.

13:10–15 Jesus' parables were a teaching method designed to reveal spiritual truths in such a way that those who wanted to respond would understand and receive more (vv. 9, 12, 43). Those who chose not to respond would not completely understand, and what little understanding they did have would disappear.

unfruitful. 23But he who received seed on the good ground is he who hears the word and understands it, who indeed bears fruit and produces: some a hundredfold, some sixty, some thirty."

The Parable of the Wheat and the Tares

24Another parable He put forth to them, saying: "The kingdom of heaven is like a man who sowed good seed in his field; 25but while men slept, his enemy came and sowed tares among the wheat and went his way. 26But when the grain had sprouted and produced a crop, then the tares also appeared. 27So the servants of the owner came and said to him, 'Sir, did you not sow good seed in your field? How then does it have tares?' 28He said to them, 'An enemy has done this.' The servants said to him, 'Do you want us then to go and gather them up?' 29But he said, 'No, lest while you gather up the tares you also uproot the wheat with them. 30Let both grow together until the harvest, and at the time of harvest I will say to the reapers, "First gather together the tares and bind them in bundles to burn them, but gather the wheat into my barn." ' "

The Parable of the Mustard Seed

31Another parable He put forth to them, saying: "The kingdom of heaven is like a mustard seed, which a man took and sowed in his field, 32which indeed is the least of all the seeds; but when it is grown it is greater than the herbs and becomes a tree, so that the birds of the air come and nest in its branches."

The Parable of the Leaven

33Another parable He spoke to them: "The kingdom of heaven is like leaven, which a woman took and hid in three measures[a] of meal till it was all leavened."

Prophecy and the Parables

34All these things Jesus spoke to the multitude in parables; and without a parable He did not speak to them, 35that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, saying:

> "I will open My mouth in parables;
> I will utter things kept secret from the foundation of the world."[a]

The Parable of the Tares Explained

36Then Jesus sent the multitude away and went into the house. And His disciples came to Him, saying, "Explain to us the parable of the tares of the field."

37He answered and said to them: "He who sows the good seed is the Son of Man. 38The field is the world, the good seeds are the sons of the kingdom, but the tares are the sons of the wicked one. 39The enemy who sowed them is the devil, the harvest is the end of the age, and the reapers are the angels. 40Therefore as the tares are gathered and burned in the fire, so it will be at the end of this age. 41The Son of Man will send out His angels, and they will gather out of His kingdom all things that offend, and those who practice lawlessness, 42and will cast them into the furnace of fire. There will be wailing and gnashing of teeth. 43Then the righteous will shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. He who has ears to hear, let him hear!

The Parable of the Hidden Treasure

44"Again, the kingdom of heaven is like treasure hidden in a field, which a man found and hid; and for joy over it he goes and sells all that he has and buys that field.

The Parable of the Pearl of Great Price

45"Again, the kingdom of heaven is like a merchant seeking beautiful pearls, 46who, when he had found one pearl of great price, went and sold all that he had and bought it.

The Parable of the Dragnet

47"Again, the kingdom of heaven is like a dragnet that was cast into the sea and gathered some of every kind, 48which, when it was full, they drew to shore; and they sat down and gathered the good into vessels, but threw the bad away. 49So it will be at the end of the age. The angels will come forth, separate the wicked from among the just, 50and cast them into the furnace of fire. There will be wailing and gnashing of teeth."

51Jesus said to them,[a] "Have you understood all these things?"

They said to Him, "Yes, Lord."[b]

52Then He said to them, "Therefore every scribe instructed concerning[a] the kingdom of heaven is like a householder who brings out of his treasure things new and old."

HERODIAS AND SALOME

A Manipulative Mother and Seductive Daughter

Herodias, who lived in Tiberias, the capital city built by her husband on the southwest shore of the Sea of Galilee, was a woman out of control. Crafty, ambitious, greedy, and politically astute, Herodias would stop at nothing to attain what she wanted.

Herodias and her first husband, her uncle Philip, had a daughter named Salome. When Herod Antipas, the brother of Philip and the stepbrother of Herodias' father Aristobulus, visited Philip, he and Herodias were immediately attracted to one another. Herod Antipas was a far more powerful man than Philip. Herodias saw her chance for more power, a better position, and an increase in wealth. She insisted Herod divorce his wife; she divorced her husband, and they married. This incestuous marriage was very offensive to the Jews.

Herodias definitely brought out the worst in Herod as is apparent in the account of the beheading of the fearless preacher John the Baptist, the only one who dared to stand up and reprove this unscrupulous couple. Herodias hated John the Baptist because he did not hesitate publicly to call her alliance with Herod "sin." She wanted to sentence John to death (Mark 6:19), but Herod was awed and fascinated by John. He liked to hear him speak, even though John confronted him with the truth, and he feared the reaction of the people if this popular preacher were harmed.

Herodias' resentment and anger festered like a sore. Her opportunity for revenge finally came on Herod's birthday. The military and political leaders came to help him celebrate at a great feast in his palace at Machaerus. Herodias' sensuous teenaged daughter, Salome, danced so alluringly that Herod loudly offered the girl anything she wanted up to half his kingdom. Her mother was ready with what she wanted, and it was not half a kingdom. Herodias knew that her husband was an unprincipled, cruel man. He was also boisterous and proud, and the embarrassment of backing down on his offer to Salome in front of all these people would be a humiliation he could not tolerate, even at the expense of an innocent man's life. Sometimes a woman's manipulation can outdo all the political maneuvers and power available to men.

Obviously, Herodias had entangled her daughter Salome in her obsession since the daughter added to her mother's request. Not only did Salome ask for John's head, but she also demanded it "immediately" and "on a platter." Obsessions of hate not only take over a person's life but usually infect others as well. By example, influence, and manipulation, Herodias led her young daughter into sin—as an accomplice in the murder of a godly preacher. Her husband and daughter were merely tools in the hand of Herodias, who had planned and orchestrated the tragic crime.

Jesus Rejected at Nazareth

53 Now it came to pass, when Jesus had finished these parables, that He departed from there.
54 When He had come to His own country, He taught them in their synagogue, so that they were astonished and said, "Where did this Man get this wisdom and these mighty works? 55 Is this not the carpenter's son? Is not His mother called Mary?
And His brothers James, Joses,[a] Simon, and Judas?
56 And His sisters, are they not all with us? Where then did this Man get all these things?" 57 So they were offended at Him.

But Jesus said to them, "A prophet is not without honor except in his own country and in his own house." 58 Now He did not do many mighty works there because of their unbelief.

John the Baptist Beheaded

14 At that time Herod the tetrarch heard the report about Jesus 2 and said to his servants,
"This is John the Baptist; he is risen from the dead, and therefore these powers are at work in him." 3 For Herod had laid hold of John and bound him, and put him in prison for the sake of Herodias, his brother Philip's wife. 4 Because John had said to him, "It is not lawful for you to have her."
5 And although he wanted to put him to death, he feared the multitude, because they counted him as a prophet.

6 But when Herod's birthday was celebrated, the daughter of Herodias danced before them and 13:55 [a]NU-Text reads Joseph.

14:1 Herod the tetrarch or Antipas was the ruler responsible for the death of John the Baptist (see chart, The Family Tree of Herod the Great). "Herod" was a dynastic title used to describe many different rulers. This family was ruthless with each other as well as with outsiders. No one was safe. Herod the Great, the father of Antipas, had numerous members of his own family put to death, including his favorite wife Mariamne. To have ascended to power in such a family revealed the ruthlessness and ingenuity of Herod Antipas. He helped depose his brother Archelaus, stole his brother Philip's wife Herodias, and was devoted to whomever had the most power in Rome at the time (see Herodias and Salome).

pleased Herod. 7Therefore he promised with an oath to give her whatever she might ask.

8So she, having been prompted by her mother, said, "Give me John the Baptist's head here on a platter."

9And the king was sorry; nevertheless, because of the oaths and because of those who sat with him, he commanded it to be given to her. 10So he sent and had John beheaded in prison. 11And his head was brought on a platter and given to the girl, and she brought it to her mother. 12Then his disciples came and took away the body and buried it, and went and told Jesus.

Feeding the Five Thousand

13When Jesus heard it, He departed from there by boat to a deserted place by Himself. But when the multitudes heard it, they followed Him on foot from the cities. 14And when Jesus went out He saw a great multitude; and He was moved with compassion for them, and healed their sick. 15When it was evening, His disciples came to Him, saying, "This is a deserted place, and the hour is already late. Send the multitudes away, that they may go into the villages and buy themselves food."

16But Jesus said to them, "They do not need to go away. You give them something to eat."

17And they said to Him, "We have here only five loaves and two fish."

18He said, "Bring them here to Me." 19Then He commanded the multitudes to sit down on the grass. And He took the five loaves and the two fish, and looking up to heaven, He blessed and broke and gave the loaves to the disciples; and the disciples gave to the multitudes. 20So they all ate and were filled, and they took up twelve baskets full of the fragments that remained. 21Now those who had eaten were about five thousand men, besides women and children.

Jesus Walks on the Sea

22Immediately Jesus made His disciples get into the boat and go before Him to the other side, while He sent the multitudes away. 23And when He had sent the multitudes away, He went up on the mountain by Himself to pray. Now when evening came, He was alone there. 24But the boat was now in the middle of the sea,[a] tossed by the waves, for the wind was contrary.

25Now in the fourth watch of the night Jesus went to them, walking on the sea. 26And when the disciples saw Him walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying, "It is a ghost!" And they cried out for fear.

27But immediately Jesus spoke to them, saying, "Be of good cheer! It is I; do not be afraid."

28And Peter answered Him and said, "Lord, if it is You, command me to come to You on the water."

29So He said, "Come." And when Peter had come down out of the boat, he walked on the water to go to Jesus. 30But when he saw that the wind was boisterous,[a] he was afraid; and beginning to sink he cried out, saying, "Lord, save me!"

31And immediately Jesus stretched out His hand and caught him, and said to him, "O you of little faith, why did you doubt?" 32And when they got into the boat, the wind ceased.

33Then those who were in the boat came and[a] worshiped Him, saying, "Truly You are the Son of God."

Many Touch Him and Are Made Well

34When they had crossed over, they came to the land of[a] Gennesaret. 35And when the men of that place recognized Him, they sent out into all that surrounding region, brought to Him all who were sick, 36and begged Him that they might only touch the hem of His garment. And as many as touched it were made perfectly well.

Defilement Comes from Within

15 Then the scribes and Pharisees who were from Jerusalem came to Jesus, saying, 2"Why do Your disciples transgress the tradition of the elders? For they do not wash their hands when they eat bread."

14:24 [a]NU-Text reads many furlongs away from the land. 14:30 [a]NU-Text brackets that and boisterous as disputed. 14:33 [a]NU-Text omits came and. 14:34 [a]NU-Text reads came to land at.

14:13 Solitude was an important part of Jesus' life (see Matt. 4:1–11; 14:23; Mark 1:35; Luke 4:42; 5:16; John 17).

14:21 The size of a crowd was often numbered only by counting the men (in this case, 5,000). The number could possibly have been three times as great when women and children were included. The feeding of the 5,000, one of three miracles through which food or drink was provided (Matt. 15:32–38; John 2:1–10), is the only miracle recorded in all four gospels (Mark 6:35–44; Luke 9:12–17; John 6:5–13).

15:1–7 The Pharisees' chief concern was to keep their own traditions, while Jesus' concern was to do God's will. The food regulations were a prominent part of the Pharisees' traditions

SYRO-PHOENICIAN WOMAN

A mother's heart is one of the most potent motivators known. A Syro-Phoenician (or Canaanite) woman exhibited this during one of Jesus' teaching tours. We do not know her name, but we do know this mother had insight, courage, persistence, and initiative.

Obviously, Jesus' reputation had reached beyond Palestine. Most likely His healing ministry had made the news in Tyre and Sidon, but few would cross cultural and religious lines to approach Him. This woman was one of the few. What motivated her to take such initiative on her own? Her mother's heart.

There were at least three barriers that could have discouraged her from accomplishing her task: She was a Gentile (Matt. 15:24); she was a Canaanite (see v. 22, note); and she was a woman (John 4:27). But the magnitude of a mother's love pulled her as irresistibly as the moon pulls the tides.

This mother used a threefold approach: She acknowledged Jesus as the rightful King by calling Him "Son of David" (see Matt. 15:22, note); she acknowledged Him as her King and Master by calling Him Lord; and she prayed the simple prayer, "Have mercy on me" (v. 22), "help me" (v. 25). These expressions are irresistible to God.

Her persistence during this brief encounter with Jesus revealed not only a mother's determination but also her growing faith. Notice: It was not her love for her daughter that impressed Him the most (though that surely pleased Him) but her great faith (v. 28).

There is an uncanny parallel between this woman and Rahab in the Old Testament (Josh. 2). Both women came from the hopelessly perverted Canaanites; both showed a strong love for family; both showed courage, persistence, and boldness by stepping away from their religious backgrounds on their own; both evaluated Israel's God and found Him superior to their gods (in fact, they gave Yahweh more credit than the Israelites did); both made a commitment to Israel's God; and both received what they were seeking.

God has a special understanding for the mother's heart (Is. 49:15; 66:12, 13; Luke 13:34). More than anything else we remember this woman's persistent, even obstinate, faith. She would not give up.

3 He answered and said to them, "Why do you also transgress the commandment of God because of your tradition? 4 For God commanded, saying,
'Honor your father and your mother';[a] and, 'He who curses father or mother, let him be put to death.'[b] 5 But you say, 'Whoever says to his father or mother,
"Whatever profit you might have received from me is a gift to God"— 6 then he need not honor his father or mother.'[a] Thus you have made the commandment[b] of God of no effect by your tradition.
7 Hypocrites! Well did Isaiah prophesy about you,
saying:

8 'These people draw near to Me with their mouth,
And[a] honor Me with their lips,
But their heart is far from Me.
9 And in vain they worship Me,

of men.'"[a]

10 When He had called the multitude to Himself,
He said to them, "Hear and understand: 11 Not what goes into the mouth defiles a man; but what comes out of the mouth, this defiles a man."

12 Then His disciples came and said to Him, "Do You know that the Pharisees were offended when they heard this saying?"

13 But He answered and said, "Every plant which My heavenly Father has not planted will be uprooted. 14 Let them alone. They are blind leaders of the blind. And if the blind leads the blind, both will fall into a ditch."

15 Then Peter answered and said to Him, "Explain this parable to us."

16 So Jesus said, "Are you also still without understanding? 17 Do you not yet understand that whatever enters the mouth goes into the stomach and is eliminated? 18 But those things which proceed out of the mouth come from the heart, and they defile a man. 19 For out of the heart proceed

(see Lev. 10, Clean vs. Unclean). Jesus condemned the Pharisees for putting their traditions before God's commandments and the people's good. He referred to a practice called "Corban" in which a person dedicated selected possessions to God, while still having the use of them (see Mark 7:8–13). If someone (even parents) had a need, the individual would claim the injunction instructing him not to break vows (Num. 30:2). Such action elevated the law of "Corban" above God's Law to "Honor your father and your mother" (Ex. 20:12).

15:7 The Pharisees were described as "hypocrites" by Jesus. This theatrical term described an actor who played a part "underneath the mask." Jesus accused the Pharisees of putting on a mask of holiness.

evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies. 20These are the things which defile a man, but to eat with unwashed hands does not defile a man."

A Gentile Shows Her Faith

21Then Jesus went out from there and departed to the region of Tyre and Sidon. 22And behold, a woman of Canaan came from that region and cried out to Him, saying, "Have mercy on me, O Lord, Son of David! My daughter is severely demon-possessed."

23But He answered her not a word.

And His disciples came and urged Him, saying, "Send her away, for she cries out after us."

24But He answered and said, "I was not sent except to the lost sheep of the house of Israel."

25Then she came and worshiped Him, saying, "Lord, help me!"

26But He answered and said, "It is not good to take the children's bread and throw it to the little dogs."

27And she said, "Yes, Lord, yet even the little dogs eat the crumbs which fall from their masters' table."

28Then Jesus answered and said to her, "O woman, great is your faith! Let it be to you as you desire." And her daughter was healed from that very hour.

Jesus Heals Great Multitudes

29Jesus departed from there, skirted the Sea of Galilee, and went up on the mountain and sat down there. 30Then great multitudes came to Him, having with them the lame, blind, mute, maimed, and many others; and they laid them down at Jesus' feet, and He healed them. 31So the multitude marveled when they saw the mute speaking, the maimed made whole, the lame walking, and the blind seeing; and they glorified the God of Israel.

Feeding the Four Thousand

32Now Jesus called His disciples to Himself and said, "I have compassion on the multitude, because they have now continued with Me three days and have nothing to eat. And I do not want to send them away hungry, lest they faint on the way."

33Then His disciples said to Him, "Where could we get enough bread in the wilderness to fill such a great multitude?"

34Jesus said to them, "How many loaves do you have?"

And they said, "Seven, and a few little fish."

35So He commanded the multitude to sit down on the ground. 36And He took the seven loaves and the fish and gave thanks, broke them and gave them to His disciples; and the disciples gave to the multitude. 37So they all ate and were filled, and they took up seven large baskets full of the fragments that were left. 38Now those who ate were four thousand men, besides women and children. 39And He sent away the multitude, got into the boat, and came to the region of Magdala.[a]

The Pharisees and Sadducees Seek a Sign

16 Then the Pharisees and Sadducees came, and testing Him asked that He would show them a sign from heaven. 2He answered and said to them, "When it is evening you say, 'It will be fair weather, for the sky is red'; 3and in the morning, 'It will be foul weather today, for the sky is red and threatening.' Hypocrites![a] You know how to discern the face of the sky, but you cannot discern the signs of the times. 4A wicked and adulterous generation seeks after a sign, and no sign shall be given to it except the sign of the prophet[a] Jonah." And He left them and departed.

15:21–28 See Syro-Phoenician Woman.

15:22 The Canaanites were Israel's ancient enemies. They were a perverse people who were in the land when Abraham arrived. Because of the atrocities they practiced in their religion, such as temple prostitution and child sacrifice, and because of their refusal to repent and turn to Him, God had ordered their destruction (see Num. 33:50–55; Deut. 7:1–11). The Jews reserved "Son of David" for the legitimate king of Israel. A Canaanite would not want to recognize such a title.

15:32–39 The feeding of the 4,000 had many similarities to the feeding described in Matthew 14:13–21. The people had been listening to His teaching; they were in a rural area; the food was the same; Jesus blessed and broke it; the disciples served it. But there are also marked differences: The number of people; the time they spent with Him; the different seashore; the initial amount of food; the amount left over.

COMMITMENT FOLLOWING JESUS

"Following Jesus" is the definition of "commitment." Commitment demands a choice. Jesus wasted no time getting to the heart of commitment: Either the disciples would be committed to Him and deny their own desires, or they would be determined to go their own ways and deny Him (Matt. 10:32–37). The choice to commit is the same for all believers—either we deny ourselves or deny Him; either we go His way, or we pursue our way.

Talk about Christ would be meaningless without the walk with Him. The disciples were to take up their crosses. Carrying the cross beam was a public declaration of Rome's authority. Jesus challenged them to put themselves voluntarily under God's authority, doing His will His way. Commitment demands action; it cannot be divorced from responsibility. It extends beyond our relationship to the heavenly Father to other areas of life. Ruth's words of commitment to Naomi did not speak as loudly as did her actions. She left her family and homeland to return with Naomi to Bethlehem (Ruth 1:16, 17).

Commitment definitely limits choices because it is exclusive. For example, in a commitment to marriage, God's plan is for one woman and one man to commit to each other exclusively and permanently (Matt. 19:5, 6).

Jesus demonstrated in the Garden of Gethsemane that the Father's will always takes precedence over His. The next day, He picked up His Cross, demonstrating that He would do the Father's will the Father's way.

Commitment builds up faith and develops character. It is a spiritual discipline (Prov. 16:3). It is a lifetime venture, requiring time, work, and determination (Matt. 16:24).

The Leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees

5 Now when His disciples had come to the other side, they had forgotten to take bread. 6 Then Jesus said to them, "Take heed and beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and the Sadducees."
7 And they reasoned among themselves, saying,
"It is because we have taken no bread."
8 But Jesus, being aware of it, said to them, "O you of little faith, why do you reason among yourselves because you have brought no bread?[a] 9 Do you not yet understand, or remember the five loaves of the five thousand and how many baskets you took up? 10 Nor the seven loaves of the four thousand and how many large baskets you took up? 11 How is it you do not understand that I did not speak to you concerning bread?—but to beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees." 12 Then they understood that He did not tell them to beware of the leaven of bread, but of the doctrine of the Pharisees and Sadducees.

Peter Confesses Jesus as the Christ

13 When Jesus came into the region of Caesarea Philippi, He asked His disciples, saying, "Who do men say that I, the Son of Man, am?"
14 So they said, "Some say John the Baptist, some Elijah, and others Jeremiah or one of the prophets."
15 He said to them, "But who do you say that I am?"
16 Simon Peter answered and said, "You are the Christ, the Son of the living God." 17 Jesus answered and said to him, "Blessed are you, Simon Bar-Jonah, for flesh and blood has not revealed this to you, but My Father who is in heaven. 18 And I also say to you that you are Peter, and on this rock I will build My church, and the gates of Hades shall not prevail against it. 19 And I will give you the keys of the kingdom of heaven,

16:8 [a]NU-Text reads you have no bread.

16:5–12 Leaven or yeast was a small substance that permeated the entire product (see Luke 12:1, note).

16:16 Peter declared that Jesus was not one among many—He was someone set apart from all others. "The Christ" is the Greek title for the promised Messiah for whom the Jews had been waiting. "Son of the living God" was a new title. In the OT, divine sonship referred to angels (as special messengers of God), to Israel (as a nation elected to perform the service of God), or to a king (one who had been given authority by God over Israel and other nations). Peter not only affirmed Jesus to be the Messiah; he identified the Messiah as the Son of God. Though the disciples had heard the Father call Jesus His beloved Son (Matt. 3:17) and had heard Jesus address God as Father numerous times (Matt. 11:27), this confession went beyond that to express the understanding of their hearts.

16:18 Simon was Peter's given name; he was the son (Aram. bar) of Jonah (v. 17). The two words for "rock" differ: "You are Peter" (Gk. petros, lit. "a small stone"); and "on this rock" (Gk. petra, lit. "a massive rock"). There are three possible interpretations:

1) If Jesus were speaking in Aramaic and both references were Cephas, Peter is identified as the "rock";
2) Peter is the "small rock" (Gk. petros), and Jesus is the "massive boulder" (Gk. petra) upon whom the church is built (see 1 Cor. 3:11); or and whatever you bind on earth will be bound in heaven, and whatever you loose on earth will be loosed[a] in heaven."

[20]Then He commanded His disciples that they should tell no one that He was Jesus the Christ.

Jesus Predicts His Death and Resurrection

[21]From that time Jesus began to show to His disciples that He must go to Jerusalem, and suffer many things from the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and be raised the third day.

[22]Then Peter took Him aside and began to rebuke Him, saying, "Far be it from You, Lord; this shall not happen to You!"

[23]But He turned and said to Peter, "Get behind Me, Satan! You are an offense to Me, for you are not mindful of the things of God, but the things of men."

Take Up the Cross and Follow Him

[24]Then Jesus said to His disciples, "If anyone desires to come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me. [25]For whoever desires to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for My sake will find it. [26]For what profit is it to a man if he gains the whole world, and loses his own soul? Or what will a man give in exchange for his soul? [27]For the Son of Man will come in the glory of His Father with His angels, and then He will reward each according to his works.

Jesus Transfigured on the Mount

[28]Assuredly, I say to you, there are some standing here who shall not taste death till they see the Son of Man coming in His kingdom."

17 Now after six days Jesus took Peter, James, and John his brother, led them up on a high mountain by themselves; [2]and He was transfigured before them. His face shone like the sun, and His clothes became as white as the light. [3]And behold, Moses and Elijah appeared to them, talking with Him. [4]Then Peter answered and said to Jesus, "Lord, it is good for us to be here; if You wish, let us[a] make here three tabernacles: one for You, one for Moses, and one for Elijah."

[5]While he was still speaking, behold, a bright cloud overshadowed them; and suddenly a voice came out of the cloud, saying, "This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased. Hear Him!" [6]And when the disciples heard it, they fell on their faces and were greatly afraid. [7]But Jesus came and touched them and said, "Arise, and do not be afraid." [8]When they had lifted up their eyes, they saw no one but Jesus only.

[9]Now as they came down from the mountain, Jesus commanded them, saying, "Tell the vision to no one until the Son of Man is risen from the dead."

[10]And His disciples asked Him, saying, "Why

3) Peter is addressed, and his confession is the petra or "rock" on which the church would be built.

Hades (Gk., lit. "the place of the dead") was often used as an idiom for the powers of death. Jesus' point is that death itself cannot destroy the church or keep it from going forward.

16:19 The binding and loosing is a reference to the distribution of the gospel. Peter and all believers were given the gospel ("the keys of the kingdom") to introduce women and men to Christ and His salvation and thereby build the church (see Matt. 28:19, 20).

16:22, 23 Peter was unwittingly doing the same thing Satan tried to do in the wilderness temptation—urging Jesus to act on His own apart from the Father. Jesus' words did not fit Peter's agenda, just as His words and deeds did not fit the agenda of the Pharisees, scribes, and Sadducees. Jesus had only one purpose—to do the Father's will (Phil. 2:8; Heb. 10:7).

16:28 Three major interpretations are suggested:

1) The coming of Christ in judgment to destroy the temple in A.D. 70;

2) a reference to Jesus' Resurrection, Ascension, and the sending of the Holy Spirit to indwell believers;

3) a pointing to the Transfiguration in which three of these men would see Jesus in His glorified state.

The latter seems most likely because of the proximity of the Transfiguration account (Matt. 17:1–5).

17:1 The Transfiguration took place within a week of Christ's prediction that He would die. The three disciples included were the ones He allowed to witness the raising of Jairus' daughter (Mark 5:37); they later would accompany Him to the Garden of Gethsemane (Mark 14:33). Though tradition long held this "high mountain" to be Mt. Tabor, there is no record that Jesus was near Mt. Tabor at this time. In addition, archaeological excavations discovered here a fortified city dating to this time, which would have made it difficult for them to have been in seclusion. Mt. Hermon seems a more likely place. Three events took place: Jesus' body was transfigured (v. 2); Moses, the giver of the Law and deliverer from bondage in Egypt, and Elijah, the forerunner of John the Baptist and representative of the prophets in the OT, appeared (v. 3); and God spoke from a cloud (v. 5).

17:5 At Jesus' baptism the disciples heard God saying the same thing (Matt. 3:17). The message is repeated near the end of His ministry: God is still pleased with His Son. This time the admonition "Hear Him" was added, but they still were not listening.

17:9 The message must have been confusing. The Transfiguration was not for the masses but for His followers. The timing of this event was important. The disciples were at the crucial point of commitment to Jesus. Everything hinged on who He was to them. In fact, He had recently challenged them with this question (Matt. 16:15). They needed to be prepared for what would seem to be defeat—the Cross.

CONFLICT RESOLVING DISAGREEMENTS

Conflict is inevitable in personal relationships. It is humanly impossible to live in total harmony with others at all times. Jesus told His disciples how to settle disputes between believers (Matt. 18:15–20). Paul resolved his conflict with John Mark, which had developed between the first and second missionary journeys (Acts 15:36–41). John warned Christians not to hate each other (1 John 4:20, 21).

The Bible offers several steps to resolving conflict and settling disagreements among people:

1) Scripture admonishes the believer to face the conflict—acknowledge its existence and accept its impact. Christ advised His disciples to go immediately and directly to the person and discuss the grievance (Matt. 18:15). Others should be enlisted to mediate the conflict only if the conflict cannot be resolved one-to-one (Matt. 18:16, 17).
2) Scripture instructs the believer to forgive the conflict—to put the disagreement behind and move ahead in harmony once it has been resolved. Euodia and Syntyche were encouraged to replace their bitterness with gentleness and to live in peaceful harmony, rejoicing in the Lord (Phil. 4:2–7).
3) Scripture encourages the believer to move beyond the conflict. Paul resolved his grudge against Mark and sought opportunities to minister with him (compare Acts 15:36–41 with 2 Tim. 4:9–11; see Eccl. 1, Healing).

Jesus reminded the Pharisees of the greatest commandments—to love the Lord and love your neighbor (Matt. 22:37–40). The desire of God is for His children to live in harmony. Christians are to resolve conflict with others by replacing discord with love. The emphasis is not punitive but redemptive (see 2 Cor. 2:5–11; 2 Thess. 3:14, 15).

then do the scribes say that Elijah must come first?"

11 Jesus answered and said to them, "Indeed, Elijah is coming first[a] and will restore all things. 12 But I say to you that Elijah has come already, and they did not know him but did to him whatever they wished. Likewise the Son of Man is also about to suffer at their hands." 13 Then the disciples understood that He spoke to them of John the Baptist.

A Boy Is Healed

14 And when they had come to the multitude, a man came to Him, kneeling down to Him and saying, 15 "Lord, have mercy on my son, for he is an epileptic[a] and suffers severely; for he often falls into the fire and often into the water. 16 So I brought him to Your disciples, but they could not cure him."

17 Then Jesus answered and said, "O faithless and perverse generation, how long shall I be with you? How long shall I bear with you? Bring him here to Me." 18 And Jesus rebuked the demon, and it came out of him; and the child was cured from that very hour.

19 Then the disciples came to Jesus privately and said, "Why could we not cast it out?"

20 So Jesus said to them, "Because of your unbelief;[a] for assuredly, I say to you, if you have faith as a mustard seed, you will say to this mountain, 'Move from here to there,' and it will move; and nothing will be impossible for you. 21 However, this kind does not go out except by prayer and fasting."[a]

Jesus Again Predicts His Death and Resurrection

22 Now while they were staying[a] in Galilee, Jesus said to them, "The Son of Man is about to be betrayed into the hands of men, 23 and they will kill Him, and the third day He will be raised up." And they were exceedingly sorrowful.

Peter and His Master Pay Their Taxes

24 When they had come to Capernaum,[a] those who received the temple tax came to Peter and said, "Does your Teacher not pay the temple tax?"

25 He said, "Yes."

And when he had come into the house, Jesus anticipated him, saying, "What do you think, Simon? From whom do the kings of the earth take customs or taxes, from their sons or from strangers?"

17:11 [a]NU-Text omits first. 17:15 [a]Literally moonstruck 17:20 [a]NU-Text reads little faith. 17:21 [a]NU-Text omits this verse. 17:22 [a]NU-Text reads gathering together. 17:24 [a]NU-Text reads Capharnaum (here and elsewhere).

17:24–27 The tax in question was not a Roman tax but a Jewish temple tax that paid for the care of the temple (see Ex. 30:12–14; 38:26; 2 Chr. 24:6).

The pleasure of sex, the communication of love, and the desire for children are uniquely linked.

[26]Peter said to Him, "From strangers."

Jesus said to him, "Then the sons are free. [27]Nevertheless, lest we offend them, go to the sea, cast in a hook, and take the fish that comes up first. And when you have opened its mouth, you will find a piece of money;[a] take that and give it to them for Me and you."

Who Is the Greatest?

18 At that time the disciples came to Jesus, saying, "Who then is greatest in the kingdom of heaven?"

[2]Then Jesus called a little child to Him, set him in the midst of them, [3]and said, "Assuredly, I say to you, unless you are converted and become as little children, you will by no means enter the kingdom of heaven. [4]Therefore whoever humbles himself as this little child is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven. [5]Whoever receives one little child like this in My name receives Me.

Jesus Warns of Offenses

[6]"But whoever causes one of these little ones who believe in Me to sin, it would be better for him if a millstone were hung around his neck, and he were drowned in the depth of the sea. [7]Woe to the world because of offenses! For offenses must come, but woe to that man by whom the offense comes!

[8]"If your hand or foot causes you to sin, cut it off and cast it from you. It is better for you to enter into life lame or maimed, rather than having two hands or two feet, to be cast into the everlasting fire. [9]And if your eye causes you to sin, pluck it out and cast it from you. It is better for you to enter into life with one eye, rather than having two eyes, to be cast into hell fire.

The Parable of the Lost Sheep

[10]"Take heed that you do not despise one of these little ones, for I say to you that in heaven their angels always see the face of My Father who is in heaven. [11]For the Son of Man has come to save that which was lost.[a]

[12]"What do you think? If a man has a hundred sheep, and one of them goes astray, does he not leave the ninety-nine and go to the mountains to seek the one that is straying? [13]And if he should find it, assuredly, I say to you, he rejoices more over that sheep than over the ninety-nine that did not go astray. [14]Even so it is not the will of your Father who is in heaven that one of these little ones should perish.

Dealing with a Sinning Brother

[15]"Moreover if your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he hears you, you have gained your brother. [16]But if he will not hear, take with you one or two more, that 'by the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established.'[a] [17]And if he refuses to hear them, tell it to the church. But if he refuses even to hear the church, let him be to you like a heathen and a tax collector.

[18]"Assuredly, I say to you, whatever you bind on earth will be bound in heaven, and whatever you loose on earth will be loosed in heaven.

[19]"Again I say[a] to you that if two of you agree on earth concerning anything that they ask, it will be done for them by My Father in heaven. [20]For where two or three are gathered together in My name, I am there in the midst of them."

The Parable of the Unforgiving Servant

[21]Then Peter came to Him and said, "Lord, how often shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive him? Up to seven times?"

17:27 [a]Greek stater, the exact amount to pay the temple tax (didrachma) for two 18:11 [a]NU-Text omits this verse. 18:16 [a]Deuteronomy 19:15 18:19 [a]NU-Text and M-Text read Again, assuredly, I say.

18:3 The evangelism of children must be a priority for home and church. Jesus used children as illustrations of the faith (trust in and loyalty to) and humility (putting oneself under God's authority) required to become part of His kingdom. Though God has gifted some with special abilities to teach children, all believers have the assignment to live a godly life before them, tell them about the Lord, and love them (Deut. 6; Matt. 19:14; Eph. 6:4; Titus 2:4).

The gospel is to be given to all, and a response is required by all who are old enough to know the difference between right and wrong (Matt. 28:19, 20). Nowhere in Scripture is there the suggestion that children are incapable of responding to God or of engaging in praise, worship, prayer, and thanksgiving. In fact, Jesus emphasized that, in coming to the Father, children are not required to become like adults, but rather, adults are to become as children.

18:8, 9 Jesus was not advocating physical mutilation; the body is not responsible for sin. Lust begins in the heart as does pride (see Matt. 5:29, 30). Believers are to cut out of their lives anything that causes them or others to sin.

18:10 Guardian angels are not promised for each child, although Scripture does teach that angels are concerned about believers and minister to them (see Ps. 91:11; Heb. 1:14).

18:21 Rabbinical tradition taught a repeated sin should be forgiven three times, but on the fourth, there was to be no

DIVORCE BREAKING ASUNDER

In interpreting the decree of Moses on divorce (Deut. 24:1), the followers of the Rabbi Shammai believed that divorce should be granted only because of infidelity; while the followers of Rabbi Hillel argued that Mosaic Law permitted divorce for virtually any reason. Jesus shocked His disciples by rejecting both sides of the rabbinic debate (Matt. 19:10). Rather than going immediately to the contested text (Deut. 24:1), Jesus referred back to the beginning of marriage (Matt. 19:4–6). Ultimately the answer to this problematic issue does not lie in legal codes, traditional practices, or human solutions but in God's creative design (Gen. 2:24). God never accommodates or compromises His principles, but He does redeem and restore any who seek His forgiveness.

Jesus' view of divorce (Gk. apostasion, from apoluÿ, "to send away," meaning "to remove from the center of a relationship" or "to break fellowship") can be understood only against the background of His view of permanent monogamy, one man and one woman together for a lifetime. The plan for permanence is clear in the "one-flesh" metaphor used by the Lord. Moses allowed divorce as a human device to protect ill-treated Hebrew women from unscrupulous men who sought to manipulate the betrothal process. The Pharisees took the "permission" of the Law and turned it into a "command" that made human frailty a justification for circumventing God's divine plan and purpose.

Jesus did not teach that the innocent party must divorce the unfaithful one. The purpose of the "exception" clause in the Mosaic Law, which is repeated again in Jesus' explanation, is not to encourage divorce. The binding commitment of marriage does not depend upon human wills or upon what any individual does or does not do but rather upon God's original design and purpose for marriage (Hos. 3:1–3).

God rejects divorce for these reasons:

1) Marriage is a divine institution the Lord used to teach His children about their relationship to Him (Gen. 1:27; Matt. 19:4).
2) Marriage is by express command of the Creator and carries His imprimatur (Matt. 19:4, 5).
3) Marriage brings two people together as one flesh, testifying to the permanence God planned for this most intimate union (Matt. 19:6).
4) Jesus points to the example of the first couple (Matt. 19:8).
5) Evil consequences are inevitable when separation comes (Matt. 19:9).

Divorce is never God's choice. Indeed, God hates divorce (Mal. 2:16). However, whenever divorce occurs for whatever reason, God desires to work redemptively when the person who has experienced this tragedy is repentant and desires reconciliation to God.

22 Jesus said to him, "I do not say to you, up to seven times, but up to seventy times seven.
23 Therefore the kingdom of heaven is like a certain king who wanted to settle accounts with his servants. 24 And when he had begun to settle accounts, one was brought to him who owed him ten thousand talents. 25 But as he was not able to pay, his master commanded that he be sold, with his wife and children and all that he had, and that payment be made. 26 The servant therefore fell down before him, saying, 'Master, have patience with me, and I will pay you all.' 27 Then the master of that servant was moved with compassion, released him, and forgave him the debt.
28 "But that servant went out and found one of his fellow servants who owed him a hundred denarii; and he laid hands on him and took him by the throat, saying, 'Pay me what you owe!' 29 So his fellow servant fell down at his feet[a] and begged him, saying, 'Have patience with me, and I will pay you all.'[b] 30 And he would not, but went and threw him into prison till he should pay the debt. 31 So forgiveness. Peter probably thought he was being generous to forgive "seven times." Jesus' answer suggested forgiving an unlimited number of times. He amplified that answer in a parable. The comparison of the debt owed the king and the debt owed the servant is almost ridiculous (see chart, Money and Measurements in the Bible). The picture is clear: God has forgiven believers an immense debt; they dare not refuse to forgive others for small offenses. The lack of forgiveness is another subtle form of playing god and puts believers in direct opposition to God. Those who are forgiven must forgive if they are to receive forgiveness (see Ps. 51; Luke 17, Forgiveness; chart, Your Path to Freedom).

when his fellow servants saw what had been done, they were very grieved, and came and told their master all that had been done. 32Then his master, after he had called him, said to him, 'You wicked servant! I forgave you all that debt because you begged me. 33Should you not also have had compassion on your fellow servant, just as I had pity on you?' 34And his master was angry, and delivered him to the torturers until he should pay all that was due to him.

35"So My heavenly Father also will do to you if each of you, from his heart, does not forgive his brother his trespasses."[a]

Marriage and Divorce

19 Now it came to pass, when Jesus had finished these sayings, that He departed from Galilee and came to the region of Judea beyond the Jordan. 2And great multitudes followed Him, and He healed them there.

3The Pharisees also came to Him, testing Him, and saying to Him, "Is it lawful for a man to divorce his wife for just any reason?"

4And He answered and said to them, "Have you not read that He who made[a] them at the beginning 'made them male and female,'[b] 5and said, 'For this reason a man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife, and the two shall become one flesh'?[a] 6So then, they are no longer two but one flesh. Therefore what God has joined together, let not man separate."

7They said to Him, "Why then did Moses command to give a certificate of divorce, and to put her away?"

8He said to them, "Moses, because of the hardness of your hearts, permitted you to divorce your wives, but from the beginning it was not so. 9And I say to you, whoever divorces his wife, except for sexual immorality,[a] and marries another, commits adultery; and whoever marries her who is divorced commits adultery."

10His disciples said to Him, "If such is the case of the man with his wife, it is better not to marry."

Jesus Teaches on Celibacy

11But He said to them, "All cannot accept this saying, but only those to whom it has been given: 12For there are eunuchs who were born thus from their mother's womb, and there are eunuchs who were made eunuchs by men, and there are eunuchs who have made themselves eunuchs for the kingdom of heaven's sake. He who is able to accept it, let him accept it."

Jesus Blesses Little Children

13Then little children were brought to Him that He might put His hands on them and pray, but the disciples rebuked them. 14But Jesus said, "Let the little children come to Me, and do not forbid them; for of such is the kingdom of heaven." 15And He laid His hands on them and departed from there.

Jesus Counsels the Rich Young Ruler

16Now behold, one came and said to Him, "Good[a] Teacher, what good thing shall I do that I may have eternal life?"

17So He said to him, "Why do you call Me good?[a] No one is good but One, that is, God.[b] But if you want to enter into life, keep the commandments."

18He said to Him, "Which ones?"

Jesus said, " 'You shall not murder,' 'You shall not commit adultery,' 'You shall not steal,' 'You shall not bear false witness,' 19'Honor your father and your mother,'[a] and, 'You shall love your neighbor as yourself.' "[b]

20The young man said to Him, "All these things I have kept from my youth.[a] What do I still lack?"

21Jesus said to him, "If you want to be perfect, go, sell what you have and give to the poor, and

18:35 [a]NU-Text omits his trespasses. 19:4 [a]NU-Text reads created. [b]Genesis 1:27; 5:2 19:5 [a]Genesis 2:24 19:9 [a]Or fornication 19:16 [a]NU-Text omits Good. 19:17 [a]NU-Text reads Why do you ask Me about what is good? [b]NU-Text reads There is One who is good. 19:19 [a]Exodus 20:12–16; Deuteronomy 5:16–20 [b]Leviticus 19:18 19:20 [a]NU-Text omits from my youth.

19:9 Sexual immorality (Gk. porneia) is a broad term, referring to a wide range of illicit sexual practices. The presupposition here is that immorality breaks the one-flesh union, which God declared to be part of the marriage relationship. For some, such a violation is a legitimate reason for divorce. However, Jesus was not requiring divorce, even in this case; He was simply noting that Moses gave this permission clause (Deut. 24:1–4) because of "the hardness of...hearts" (Matt. 19:8).

19:10, 11 Jesus was not condemning either marriage or single life but rather pointing out that both had advantages. Singleness may mean more time for kingdom work, but not everyone can handle single life (see Ps 62; John 2; 1 Cor. 7; 12, Singleness)

19:12 The reference is not to physical castration, but to God-directed, self-imposed celibacy (see 1 Cor. 7, Celibacy).

19:13 Customarily children were brought to rabbis and elders for blessing. The disciples appeared to be rude and thoughtless, especially in the light of Jesus' recent teaching (Matt. 18:2–6). They may have been annoyed that their private discussion with the Lord was interrupted by the seeming triviality of blessing children.

19:16–22 Luke identified this young man as a ruler (Luke 8:18). The ruler's question revealed his problem. He wanted to know what to do to earn eternal life. Jesus' emphasis was always on the attitude of the heart, not on deeds. Jesus showed the young man that he had failed, even in the areas in which he thought he had done well. His wealth was not his problem; his divided heart was (see Matt. 6:24). The vital message Jesus gave the man was not "Go, sell what you have," but "Come, follow Me" (see Matt. 5:29, 30; 16:15; 17:9; 18:8, 9).

ZEBEDEE'S AMBITIOUS WIFE

When Jesus taught His disciples, the mother of James and John listened with pride in her two sons. Naturally talented and dedicated to the Lord, they were included in Jesus' inner circle. James was a born leader (see Acts 12:17; 15:13). John was commonly called the disciple "whom Jesus loved" (see John 13:23).

This mother's pride also included human ambition, and she knelt before Jesus, requesting special favors (Matt. 20:21). Three times Jesus had foretold that He would be condemned to death, then rise the third day; yet at the Crucifixion, most of His disciples deserted Him, proving that they had heard Him selectively. They heard only the promise that His followers would sit on thrones (Matt. 19:28).

James and John may have urged their mother to speak, but neither they nor their mother understood the basic requirements for spiritual responsibility. Jesus listened to her request, but He posed His question to her sons (see also Mark 10:36). "You do not know what you ask. Are you able to drink the cup that I am about to drink, and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with?" (Matt. 20:22). They assured Him that they were, and Jesus proceeded to teach them and their mother elementary truths about servant leadership. Jesus did not reject this mother's request for her sons, but rather He corrected it in an unexpected way (vv. 23, 26).

This woman, who undoubtedly loved the Lord passionately, having joined the women who attended Him, is thought to be Salome (see Mark 15:40). She followed Jesus to the Cross and to the grave. Her highest fulfillment was to give her two sons to Christ, and the influence of a godly mother is certainly evident in these sons. But like many believers, she failed to grasp the essence of greatness—true humility. To follow Him is to take up one's own cross (see Luke 9:23, 24). Salome teaches us the importance of imitating Christ Who "did not come to be served, but to serve" (Mark 10:45).

you will have treasure in heaven; and come, follow Me."

22But when the young man heard that saying, he went away sorrowful, for he had great possessions.

With God All Things Are Possible

23Then Jesus said to His disciples, "Assuredly, I say to you that it is hard for a rich man to enter the kingdom of heaven. 24And again I say to you, it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God."

25When His disciples heard it, they were greatly astonished, saying, "Who then can be saved?"

26But Jesus looked at them and said to them, "With men this is impossible, but with God all things are possible."

27Then Peter answered and said to Him, "See, we have left all and followed You. Therefore what shall we have?"

28So Jesus said to them, "Assuredly I say to you, that in the regeneration, when the Son of Man sits on the throne of His glory, you who have followed Me will also sit on twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel. 29And everyone who has left houses or brothers or sisters or father or mother or wife[a] or children or lands, for My name's sake, shall receive a hundredfold, and inherit eternal life. 30But many who are first will be last, and the last first.

The Parable of the Workers in the Vineyard

20 "For the kingdom of heaven is like a landowner who went out early in the morning to hire laborers for his vineyard. 2Now when he had agreed with the laborers for a denarius a

19:29 [a]NU-Text omits or wife.

19:23–26 Jesus was not condemning wealthy people. For example, Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, David, Solomon, and Joseph of Arimathea were wealthy. But the Jews often interpreted wealth as a sign of God's blessing in the sense of a sure ticket to heaven. Instead, Jesus saw the dangers inherent in wealth and taught that only a few, with God's help (v. 26), could handle wealth properly. The camel was the largest animal commonly seen, and the eye of a needle was the smallest opening. Jesus used a figure of speech that demonstrated the dangers of wealth.

19:28, 29 Whether or not the twelve disciples would have a special assignment of judging Israel because of Israel's rejection of the Messiah is not clear. Jesus elsewhere said all His followers would have a part in judging (Luke 22:30; 1 Cor. 6:2). Clearly, all who have responded to His call to follow Him will receive not only eternal life but also hundredfold rewards.

20:1 The parable of the laborers is found only in Matthew. Jesus illustrated why and how the last can become the first. Everything God has done for humanity is grace; individuals do not earn His favor, and He is never in their debt. God is sovereign—He is in charge. Rank, position, and reward are His to give to whomever He chooses. This parable illustrates two other points: God's concern with far more than the amount of work done; the people's anger with God because He is viewed as generous with others while only being fair with them.

day, he sent them into his vineyard. 3And he went out about the third hour and saw others standing idle in the marketplace, 4and said to them, 'You also go into the vineyard, and whatever is right I will give you.' So they went. 5Again he went out about the sixth and the ninth hour, and did likewise. 6And about the eleventh hour he went out and found others standing idle,[a] and said to them, 'Why have you been standing here idle all day?' 7They said to him, 'Because no one hired us.' He said to them, 'You also go into the vineyard, and whatever is right you will receive.'[a]

8"So when evening had come, the owner of the vineyard said to his steward, 'Call the laborers and give them their wages, beginning with the last to the first.' 9And when those came who were hired about the eleventh hour, they each received a denarius. 10But when the first came, they supposed that they would receive more; and they likewise received each a denarius. 11And when they had received it, they complained against the landowner, 12saying, 'These last men have worked only one hour, and you made them equal to us who have borne the burden and the heat of the day.' 13But he answered one of them and said, 'Friend, I am doing you no wrong. Did you not agree with me for a denarius? 14Take what is yours and go your way. I wish to give to this last man the same as to you. 15Is it not lawful for me to do what I wish with my own things? Or is your eye evil because I am good?' 16So the last will be first, and the first last. For many are called, but few chosen."[a]

Jesus a Third Time Predicts His Death and Resurrection

17Now Jesus, going up to Jerusalem, took the twelve disciples aside on the road and said to them, 18"Behold, we are going up to Jerusalem, and the Son of Man will be betrayed to the chief priests and to the scribes; and they will condemn Him to death, 19and deliver Him to the Gentiles to mock and to scourge and to crucify. And the third day He will rise again."

Greatness Is Serving

20Then the mother of Zebedee's sons came to Him with her sons, kneeling down and asking something from Him.

21And He said to her, "What do you wish?"

She said to Him, "Grant that these two sons of mine may sit, one on Your right hand and the other on the left, in Your kingdom."

22But Jesus answered and said, "You do not know what you ask. Are you able to drink the cup that I am about to drink, and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with?"[a]

They said to Him, "We are able."

23So He said to them, "You will indeed drink My cup, and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with;[a] but to sit on My right hand and on My left is not Mine to give, but it is for those for whom it is prepared by My Father."

24And when the ten heard it, they were greatly displeased with the two brothers. 25But Jesus called them to Himself and said, "You know that the rulers of the Gentiles lord it over them, and those who are great exercise authority over them. 26Yet it shall not be so among you; but whoever desires to become great among you, let him be your servant. 27And whoever desires to be first among you, let him be your slave— 28just as the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give His life a ransom for many."

Two Blind Men Receive Their Sight

29Now as they went out of Jericho, a great multitude followed Him. 30And behold, two blind men sitting by the road, when they heard that Jesus was passing by, cried out, saying, "Have mercy on us, O Lord, Son of David!"

31Then the multitude warned them that they

20:20–24 A few days before Jesus' entry into Jerusalem, Zebedee's wife made a request for her sons James and John. Though her request suggested dangerous ambition on her part, the angry response of the other ten disciples was also unwise and reflected similar self-interest. "The cup" was a common expression for great suffering (vv. 22; Matt. 26:39; John 18:11; Ps. 75:8; Is. 51:17). Just as His suffering and death must come before His rule, so also their suffering would come before their ruling with Him. Even though they would suffer for Christ, the positions, ranks, and rewards of the kingdom were a matter of God's sovereign choice (see Matt. 20:1–16). Jesus wanted His disciples to approach Him freely with their requests, but He was disappointed in their inflated view of their own importance and with their lack of spiritual sensitivity in understanding His mission. They were reaching for glory without a willingness to endure the prerequisite sufferings. The brothers were confident that they were willing to share Jesus' mission, and indeed Jesus prophesied that they would endure great suffering for the gospel (Acts 12:2; Rev. 1:9).

20:25 The Jews used the term "Gentiles" to refer to anyone who was not ethnically a Jew. In common usage this term also included the idea that they were pagans, since they usually did not worship the God of Israel.

20:26, 27 Greatness in His kingdom is servanthood—the opposite of the world's view of greatness. Servanthood begins in the heart. Again, Jesus is concerned more about the attitudes in the hearts of His followers than with their works (see John 13:1–17).

should be quiet; but they cried out all the more, saying, "Have mercy on us, O Lord, Son of David!"

32So Jesus stood still and called them, and said, "What do you want Me to do for you?"

33They said to Him, "Lord, that our eyes may be opened." 34So Jesus had compassion and touched their eyes. And immediately their eyes received sight, and they followed Him.

The Triumphal Entry

21 Now when they drew near Jerusalem, and came to Bethphage,[a] at the Mount of Olives, then Jesus sent two disciples, 2saying to them, "Go into the village opposite you, and immediately you will find a donkey tied, and a colt with her. Loose them and bring them to Me. 3And if anyone says anything to you, you shall say, 'The Lord has need of them,' and immediately he will send them."

4All[a] this was done that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, saying:

5*"Tell the daughter of Zion,*
'Behold, your King is coming to you,
Lowly, and sitting on a donkey,
A colt, the foal of a donkey.' "[a]

6So the disciples went and did as Jesus commanded them. 7They brought the donkey and the colt, laid their clothes on them, and set Him[a] on them. 8And a very great multitude spread their clothes on the road; others cut down branches from the trees and spread them on the road. 9Then the multitudes who went before and those who followed cried out, saying:

"Hosanna to the Son of David!
'Blessed is He who comes in the name of the LORD!'[a] Hosanna in the highest!"

10And when He had come into Jerusalem, all the city was moved, saying, "Who is this?"

11So the multitudes said, "This is Jesus, the prophet from Nazareth of Galilee."

Jesus Cleanses the Temple

12Then Jesus went into the temple of God[a] and drove out all those who bought and sold in the temple, and overturned the tables of the money changers and the seats of those who sold doves. 13And He said to them, "It is written, 'My house shall be called a house of prayer,'[a] but you have made it a 'den of thieves.' "[b]

14Then the blind and the lame came to Him in the temple, and He healed them. 15But when the chief priests and scribes saw the wonderful things that He did, and the children crying out in the temple and saying, "Hosanna to the Son of David!" they were indignant 16and said to Him, "Do You hear what these are saying?"

And Jesus said to them, "Yes. Have you never read,

'Out of the mouth of babes and nursing infants
You have perfected praise'? "[a]

17Then He left them and went out of the city to Bethany, and He lodged there.

The Fig Tree Withered

18Now in the morning, as He returned to the city, He was hungry. 19And seeing a fig tree by the road, He came to it and found nothing on it but leaves, and said to it, "Let no fruit grow on you ever again." Immediately the fig tree withered away.

The Lesson of the Withered Fig Tree

20And when the disciples saw it, they marveled, saying, "How did the fig tree wither away so soon?"

21So Jesus answered and said to them, "Assuredly, I say to you, if you have faith and do not doubt, you will not only do what was done to the fig tree, but also if you say to this mountain, 'Be removed and be cast into the sea,' it will be done. 22And whatever things you ask in prayer, believing, you will receive."

Jesus' Authority Questioned

23Now when He came into the temple, the chief priests and the elders of the people confronted 21:5 The Triumphal Entry is the culmination of the offering of the kingdom by Jesus (see Mark 11:2–8, note).

21:9 See Mark 11:9, note.

21:12, 13 When people came to worship at the temple, they needed animal sacrifices, wood, oil, and other items. Stalls were set up at the temple to sell these necessities, but since these objects sold for temple currency, the people needed to exchange their money. The temple, designed as a house of prayer, had become a marketplace where money changing and bargaining took place.

21:18, 19 The tree looked like it was bearing figs, but no fruit was there. Just as in Jesus' cleansing of the temple, His striking of the tree indicated the imminence of judgment. This miracle of destruction could be understood as an illustrated parable or teaching device. In this case, the fig tree represented Israel (see Hos. 9:10; Nah. 3:12; Zech. 10:2). The tree with its leaves had the marks of fruitfulness, but it bore no fruit. Israel was likewise practicing hypocrisy (Mark 7:6), and for this reason the nation was in line for judgment. Jesus might also have been illustrating religious hypocrites like the ones He had just thrown out of the temple (Matt. 6:2, 5, 16; 7:5; 15:7, 8; 22:18).

To love your child unconditionally is to determine that no matter what, you will always seek his highest good, not your own.

Him as He was teaching, and said, "By what authority are You doing these things? And who gave You this authority?"

24But Jesus answered and said to them, "I also will ask you one thing, which if you tell Me, I likewise will tell you by what authority I do these things: 25The baptism of John—where was it from? From heaven or from men?"

And they reasoned among themselves, saying, "If we say, 'From heaven,' He will say to us, 'Why then did you not believe him?' 26But if we say, 'From men,' we fear the multitude, for all count John as a prophet." 27So they answered Jesus and said, "We do not know."

And He said to them, "Neither will I tell you by what authority I do these things.

The Parable of the Two Sons

28"But what do you think? A man had two sons, and he came to the first and said, 'Son, go, work today in my vineyard.' 29He answered and said, 'I will not,' but afterward he regretted it and went. 30Then he came to the second and said likewise. And he answered and said, 'I go, sir,' but he did not go. 31Which of the two did the will of his father?"

They said to Him, "The first."

Jesus said to them, "Assuredly, I say to you that tax collectors and harlots enter the kingdom of God before you. 32For John came to you in the way of righteousness, and you did not believe him; but tax collectors and harlots believed him; and when you saw it, you did not afterward relent and believe him.

The Parable of the Wicked Vinedressers

33"Hear another parable: There was a certain landowner who planted a vineyard and set a hedge around it, dug a winepress in it and built a tower. And he leased it to vinedressers and went into a far country. 34Now when vintage-time drew near, he sent his servants to the vinedressers, that they might receive its fruit. 35And the vinedressers took his servants, beat one, killed one, and stoned another. 36Again he sent other servants, more than the first, and they did likewise to them. 37Then last of all he sent his son to them, saying, 'They will respect my son.' 38But when the vinedressers saw the son, they said among themselves, 'This is the heir. Come, let us kill him and seize his inheritance.' 39So they took him and cast him out of the vineyard and killed him.

40"Therefore, when the owner of the vineyard comes, what will he do to those vinedressers?"

41They said to Him, "He will destroy those wicked men miserably, and lease his vineyard to other vinedressers who will render to him the fruits in their seasons."

42Jesus said to them, "Have you never read in the Scriptures:

'The stone which the builders rejected
Has become the chief cornerstone.
This was the LORD's doing,
And it is marvelous in our eyes'?[a]

43"Therefore I say to you, the kingdom of God will be taken from you and given to a nation bearing the fruits of it. 44And whoever falls on this stone will be broken; but on whomever it falls, it will grind him to powder."

45Now when the chief priests and Pharisees heard His parables, they perceived that He was speaking of them. 46But when they sought to lay hands on Him, they feared the multitudes, because they took Him for a prophet.

The Parable of the Wedding Feast

22 And Jesus answered and spoke to them again by parables and said: 2"The kingdom of heaven is like a certain king who arranged a marriage

21:42 [a]Psalm 118:22, 23

21:28–32 Jesus clearly applied this parable to the religious leaders confronting Him. The tax collector's status was similar to that of a prostitute in society. Jesus taught that the outcasts of society could enter His kingdom if they would repent; while those who had lived a "religious" life but would not repent were the real outcasts.

21:33–41 The components of the parable are obvious: The landowner is God; the vineyard is Israel; the vinedressers are the religious leaders; the servants are the prophets (including John the Baptist); and the son is Jesus. The vinedressers have attempted to usurp the authority of the owner and make the property their own—the essence of rebellion against God. To do so they must kill the son. Jesus had been telling His followers the leaders would kill Him; here He confronted the leaders with the same message.

21:42–46 The line was clearly drawn and supported by the OT (Ps. 118:22, 23; Is. 28:16). To reject Jesus was and is to reject God (Acts 4:11, 12).

for his son, [3]and sent out his servants to call those who were invited to the wedding; and they were not willing to come. [4]Again, he sent out other servants, saying, 'Tell those who are invited, "See, I have prepared my dinner; my oxen and fatted cattle are killed, and all things are ready. Come to the wedding." ' [5]But they made light of it and went their ways, one to his own farm, another to his business. [6]And the rest seized his servants, treated them spitefully, and killed them. [7]But when the king heard about it, he was furious. And he sent out his armies, destroyed those murderers, and burned up their city. [8]Then he said to his servants, 'The wedding is ready, but those who were invited were not worthy. [9]Therefore go into the highways, and as many as you find, invite to the wedding.' [10]So those servants went out into the highways and gathered together all whom they found, both bad and good. And the wedding hall was filled with guests.

[11]"But when the king came in to see the guests, he saw a man there who did not have on a wedding garment. [12]So he said to him, 'Friend, how did you come in here without a wedding garment?' And he was speechless. [13]Then the king said to the servants, 'Bind him hand and foot, take him away, and[a] cast him into outer darkness; there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.'

[14]"For many are called, but few are chosen."

The Pharisees: Is It Lawful to Pay Taxes to Caesar?

[15]Then the Pharisees went and plotted how they might entangle Him in His talk. [16]And they sent to Him their disciples with the Herodians, saying, "Teacher, we know that You are true, and teach the way of God in truth; nor do You care about anyone, for You do not regard the person of men. [17]Tell us, therefore, what do You think? Is it lawful to pay taxes to Caesar, or not?"

[18]But Jesus perceived their wickedness, and said, "Why do you test Me, you hypocrites? [19]Show Me the tax money."

So they brought Him a denarius.

[20]And He said to them, "Whose image and inscription is this?"

[21]They said to Him, "Caesar's."

And He said to them, "Render therefore to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's." [22]When they had heard these words, they marveled, and left Him and went their way.

The Sadducees: What About the Resurrection?

[23]The same day the Sadducees, who say there is no resurrection, came to Him and asked Him, [24]saying: "Teacher, Moses said that if a man dies, having no children, his brother shall marry his wife and raise up offspring for his brother. [25]Now there were with us seven brothers. The first died after he had married, and having no offspring, left his wife to his brother. [26]Likewise the second also, and the third, even to the seventh. [27]Last of all the woman died also. [28]Therefore, in the resurrection, whose wife of the seven will she be? For they all had her."

[29]Jesus answered and said to them, "You are mistaken, not knowing the Scriptures nor the power of God. [30]For in the resurrection they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are like angels of God[a] in heaven. [31]But concerning the resurrection of the dead, have you not read what was spoken to you by God, saying, [32]'I am the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob'?[a] God is not the God of the dead, but of the living." [33]And when the multitudes heard this, they were astonished at His teaching.

The Scribes: Which Is the First Commandment of All?

[34]But when the Pharisees heard that He had silenced the Sadducees, they gathered together. [35]Then one of them, a lawyer, asked Him a question, testing Him, and saying, [36]"Teacher, which is the great commandment in the law?"

[37]Jesus said to him, " 'You shall love the LORD your God with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your mind.'[a] [38]This is the first and great commandment. [39]And the second is like it: 'You shall love your neighbor as yourself.'[a] [40]On these two commandments hang all the Law and the Prophets."

22:13 [a]NU-Text omits take him away, and. 22:30 [a]NU-Text omits of God. 22:32 [a]Exodus 3:6, 15 22:37 [a]Deuteronomy 6:5 22:39 [a]Leviticus 19:18

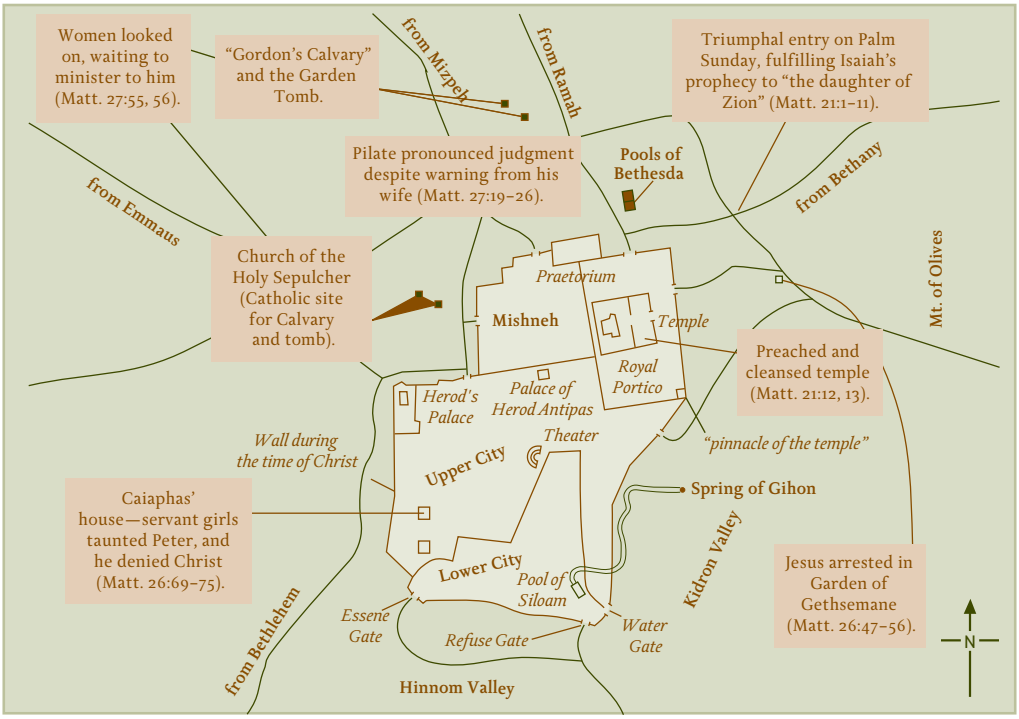
22:17–19 The trap seemed masterful—His answer would have to support either a rebellion against Rome or a rebellion against God. He effectively diffused their trap, while addressing an issue with which the conquered Jews wrestled—paying taxes to Rome (see Mark 12:14, note).

22:23–33 The Sadducees accepted only the Torah and thus rejected the Resurrection, which is not mentioned in the Pentateuch (Acts 23:8; see chart, Jewish Sects). By appealing to levirate marriage (Matt. 22:25–27; see Deut. 25:5, 6, note) in which a brother marries the childless widow of his deceased brother in order to perpetuate the brother's lineage, the Sadducees created a hypothetical worst-case scenario to entrap Jesus. Jesus pointed to their misunderstanding of God's power and ignorance of Scripture and its teaching on the Resurrection (Matt. 22:29; see Is. 26:19). Though marriage as we know it will not exist in heaven, the lack of sexual relationships will in no way hinder the heavenly happiness and fulfillment God has planned for that blessed place. In fact, all relationships will surely surpass even the most joyous pleasure of intimacy on earth.

22:37–40 The scribes were experts in both theology and legal matters and thus the crafters of a hotly debated test question for Jesus. Jesus answered by linking the two commandments because the first is not possible without the second (see 1 John 4:20), any more than the second could stand without the first. This wholehearted devotion to God is at the heart of

CHRIST'S LAST DAYS IN JERUSALEM



Jesus: How Can David Call His Descendant Lord?

41While the Pharisees were gathered together, Jesus asked them, 42saying, "What do you think about the Christ? Whose Son is He?"
They said to Him, "The Son of David."
43He said to them, "How then does David in the Spirit call Him 'Lord,' saying:

44*'The* LORD said to my Lord,
"Sit at My right hand,
Till I make Your enemies Your footstool" '?[a]

45If David then calls Him 'Lord,' how is He his Son?"
46And no one was able to answer Him a word, nor from that day on did anyone dare question Him anymore.

Woe to the Scribes and Pharisees

23 Then Jesus spoke to the multitudes and to His disciples, 2saying: "The scribes and the Pharisees sit in Moses' seat. 3Therefore whatever they tell you to observe,[a] that observe and do, but do not do according to their works; for they say, and do not do. 4For they bind heavy burdens, hard to bear, and lay them on men's shoulders; but they themselves will not move them with one of their fingers. 5But all their works they do to be seen by men. They make their phylacteries broad and enlarge the borders of their garments. 6They love the best places at feasts, the best seats in the synagogues, 7greetings in the marketplaces, and to be the OT Law and the teachings of Jesus. A right relationship to God is the beginning of everything and produces a right relationship to others.

22:44 [a]Psalm 110:1 23:3 [a]NU-Text omits to observe.

22:41–46 Prior to this time Jesus had primarily talked about the religious leaders to His disciples and others. In these last confrontations and parables He had dealt with them directly. They have seen Him and heard the truth and now must answer the most important question: "What do you think about the Christ? Whose son is He?" "The Son of David" was not a sufficient answer (v. 42). This title was used for the Messiah in reference to descent from the line of David, but many had not understood (or believed) that the Messiah would also be God's Son.

23:5 Phylacteries were leather boxes containing Scripture. They were worn by Jewish men during prayer time on the arm or the forehead. Biblical commands were written on small scrolls and placed in the OT frontlets or NT phylacteries (Ex. 13:9, 16; Deut. 6:8; 11:18). The Pharisees and scribes made their phylacteries showpieces, drawing attention to their supposed adherence to Scripture.

called by men, 'Rabbi, Rabbi.' 8But you, do not be called 'Rabbi'; for One is your Teacher, the Christ,[a] and you are all brethren. 9Do not call anyone on earth your father; for One is your Father, He who is in heaven. 10And do not be called teachers; for One is your Teacher, the Christ. 11But he who is greatest among you shall be your servant. 12And whoever exalts himself will be humbled, and he who humbles himself will be exalted.

13"But woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you shut up the kingdom of heaven against men; for you neither go in yourselves, nor do you allow those who are entering to go in. 14Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you devour widows' houses, and for a pretense make long prayers. Therefore you will receive greater condemnation.[a]

15"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you travel land and sea to win one proselyte, and when he is won, you make him twice as much a son of hell as yourselves.

16"Woe to you, blind guides, who say, 'Whoever swears by the temple, it is nothing; but whoever swears by the gold of the temple, he is obliged to perform it.' 17Fools and blind! For which is greater, the gold or the temple that sanctifies[a] the gold? 18And, 'Whoever swears by the altar, it is nothing; but whoever swears by the gift that is on it, he is obliged to perform it.' 19Fools and blind! For which is greater, the gift or the altar that sanctifies the gift? 20Therefore he who swears by the altar, swears by it and by all things on it. 21He who swears by the temple, swears by it and by Him who dwells[a] in it. 22And he who swears by heaven, swears by the throne of God and by Him who sits on it.

23"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you pay tithe of mint and anise and cummin, and have neglected the weightier matters of the law: justice and mercy and faith. These you ought to have done, without leaving the others undone. 24Blind guides, who strain out a gnat and swallow a camel!

25"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you cleanse the outside of the cup and dish, but inside they are full of extortion and self-indulgence.[a] 26Blind Pharisee, first cleanse the inside of the cup and dish, that the outside of them may be clean also.

27"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you are like whitewashed tombs which indeed appear beautiful outwardly, but inside are full of dead men's bones and all uncleanness. 28Even so you also outwardly appear righteous to men, but inside you are full of hypocrisy and lawlessness.

29"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! Because you build the tombs of the prophets and adorn the monuments of the righteous, 30and say, 'If we had lived in the days of our fathers, we would not have been partakers with them in the blood of the prophets.'

31"Therefore you are witnesses against yourselves that you are sons of those who murdered the prophets. 32Fill up, then, the measure of your fathers' guilt. 33Serpents, brood of vipers! How can you escape the condemnation of hell? 34Therefore, indeed, I send you prophets, wise men, and scribes: some of them you will kill and crucify, and some of them you will scourge in your synagogues and persecute from city to city, 35that on you may come all the righteous blood shed on the earth, from the blood of righteous Abel to the blood of Zechariah, son of Berechiah, whom you murdered between the temple and the altar. 36Assuredly, I say to you, all these things will come upon this generation.

Jesus Laments over Jerusalem

37"O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, the one who kills the prophets and stones those who are sent to her! How often I wanted to gather your children together, as a hen gathers her chicks under her wings, but you were not willing! 38See! Your house is left to you desolate; 39for I say to you, you shall see Me no more till you say, 'Blessed is He who comes in the name of the LORD*!'* "[a]

Jesus Predicts the Destruction of the Temple

24 Then Jesus went out and departed from the temple, and His disciples came up to show Him the buildings of the temple. 2And Jesus said to them, "Do you not see all these things? Assuredly, I say to you, not one stone shall be left here upon another, that shall not be thrown down."

The Signs of the Times and the End of the Age

3Now as He sat on the Mount of Olives, the disciples came to Him privately, saying, "Tell us, when 23:8–10 Only Jesus was qualified to sit in Moses' seat.

23:13–36 Jesus pronounced seven woes, condemning the rejection of the kingdom, false teaching of Scripture, attempts at purification, and attitudes toward the prophets God had sent. Jesus' language had been strong and pointed. Nevertheless, His heart ached over the situation, and He yearned to forgive and heal (v. 37).

24:1, 2 The destruction of the temple was literally fulfilled in A.D. 70 when the Romans destroyed Jerusalem.

24:3 The disciples knew that Jesus was the Messiah (Matt. 16:16–20), the temple would be destroyed, and the kingdom was coming (Matt. 20:20–28). Since they did not understand other events must also occur—Jesus' Crucifixion and death—they might have thought the events Jesus mentioned would all will these things be? And what will be the sign of Your coming, and of the end of the age?"

4And Jesus answered and said to them: "Take heed that no one deceives you. 5For many will come in My name, saying, 'I am the Christ,' and will deceive many. 6And you will hear of wars and rumors of wars. See that you are not troubled; for all[a] these things must come to pass, but the end is not yet. 7For nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. And there will be famines, pestilences,[a] and earthquakes in various places. 8All these are the beginning of sorrows.

9"Then they will deliver you up to tribulation and kill you, and you will be hated by all nations for My name's sake. 10And then many will be offended, will betray one another, and will hate one another. 11Then many false prophets will rise up and deceive many. 12And because lawlessness will abound, the love of many will grow cold. 13But he who endures to the end shall be saved. 14And this gospel of the kingdom will be preached in all the world as a witness to all the nations, and then the end will come.

The Great Tribulation

15"Therefore when you see the 'abomination of desolation,'[a] spoken of by Daniel the prophet, standing in the holy place" (whoever reads, let him understand), 16"then let those who are in Judea flee to the mountains. 17Let him who is on the housetop not go down to take anything out of his house. 18And let him who is in the field not go back to get his clothes. 19But woe to those who are pregnant and to those who are nursing babies in those days! 20And pray that your flight may not be in winter or on the Sabbath. 21For then there will be great tribulation, such as has not been since the beginning of the world until this time, no, nor happen soon. Jesus told them they would see some of these things happen in a comparatively short time (persecution, abomination at the temple, destruction of Jerusalem and the temple), but He also made it clear that there would be a time lapse before it all came to pass. The events described obviously demanded a longer period to transpire: the coming of false prophets, wars and rumors of wars, kingdom rising against kingdom, famine, earthquakes, and the extension of the gospel to the entire world before the kingdom would come literally. The emphasis then would be upon the necessity of faith and obedience even in times of suffering and sorrow rather than on a timetable of events.

24:4–14 Jesus described the overall future of the world that would include natural disasters, persecution, false prophets, hatred of Christians, betrayal, defection, lawlessness, and lack of love. The gospel would be spread despite all this.

24:15 The abomination of desolation prophesied by the prophet Daniel (Dan. 9:27; 11:31; 12:11; see chart, Abomination of Desolation) is a good example of a prophecy with more than one fulfillment. The term refers to the defilement of the temple, especially the altar of sacrifice. The altar was a picture of the sacrifice of Christ as the only atonement for sin. The "abomination" would cast aside what represented Christ and offer sacrifices to other gods. In 168 B.C. Antiochus Epiphanes sacked the temple, erected a statue to Zeus above the altar, and sacrificed swine (unclean animals). Jesus predicted that similar events would happen again.

24:16–28 Jesus described events that would occur in Jerusalem in the future. There would be a Great Tribulation before He would come to set up His physical kingdom (see Rev. 6; chart, Millennial Views).

THE WISE AND FOOLISH VIRGINS

As part of the Olivet Discourse, Jesus told several parables about the importance of being prepared for His Return. For example, He pointed out that His Coming would be unexpected (Matt. 24:42–44) and that His followers would need to maintain a lifestyle of faithful obedience as they wait for Him (vv. 45–51).

The backdrop for Jesus' next parable was a wedding custom of His day (Matt. 25:1–13). Three events took place: the legal agreement made by the couple's parents; the procession to the bride's house by the bridegroom and his friends and the wedding party's return to the bridegroom's house; and the subsequent marriage feast. Jesus described the second phase in which the bridegroom and his party come to the bride's home, where the bride is awaiting him with the ten virgins who are her bridesmaids. Since the time of his arrival was uncertain, perhaps even after dark, each young woman needed to have both her lamp and an extra flask of oil for it. The five wise virgins were prepared with additional oil, but the foolish ones were not. When the bridegroom suddenly arrived at midnight, the foolish virgins' lack of preparation was exposed, and they were ultimately denied entrance to the wedding feast.

Jesus' message is clear: His Coming, like that of the bridegroom in the parable, may be delayed; and the women and men who follow Him need continually to be prepared (v. 13).

ever shall be. 22And unless those days were shortened, no flesh would be saved; but for the elect's sake those days will be shortened.

23"Then if anyone says to you, 'Look, here is the Christ!' or 'There!' do not believe it. 24For false christs and false prophets will rise and show great signs and wonders to deceive, if possible, even the elect. 25See, I have told you beforehand.

26"Therefore if they say to you, 'Look, He is in the desert!' do not go out; or 'Look, He is in the inner rooms!' do not believe it. 27For as the lightning comes from the east and flashes to the west, so also will the coming of the Son of Man be. 28For wherever the carcass is, there the eagles will be gathered together.

The Coming of the Son of Man

29"Immediately after the tribulation of those days the sun will be darkened, and the moon will not give its light; the stars will fall from heaven, and the powers of the heavens will be shaken. 30Then the sign of the Son of Man will appear in heaven, and then all the tribes of the earth will mourn, and they will see the Son of Man coming on the clouds of heaven with power and great glory. 31And He will send His angels with a great sound of a trumpet, and they will gather together His elect from the four winds, from one end of heaven to the other.

The Parable of the Fig Tree

32"Now learn this parable from the fig tree: When its branch has already become tender and puts forth leaves, you know that summer is near. 33So you also, when you see all these things, know that it[a] is near—at the doors! 34Assuredly, I say to you, this generation will by no means pass away till all these things take place. 35Heaven and earth will pass away, but My words will by no means pass away.

No One Knows the Day or Hour

36"But of that day and hour no one knows, not even the angels of heaven,[a] but My Father only. 37But as the days of Noah were, so also will the coming of the Son of Man be. 38For as in the days before the flood, they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, until the day that Noah entered the ark, 39and did not know until the flood came and took them all away, so also will the coming of the Son of Man be. 40Then two men will be in the field: one will be taken and the 24:33 [a]Or He 24:36 [a]NU-Text adds nor the Son.

24:30 Jesus' Incarnation was relatively quiet and uneventful. Only a few witnessed the unusual events: Mary and Joseph had angelic visits; a group of shepherds heard an angelic choir; wise men from another nation saw a phenomenal star. Jesus came as the Lamb of God to make peace between God and man. When He would come again to set up His kingdom, heaven and earth would dramatically announce Him, and all would see the display. He would come as King in power and glory and declare war against His enemies (see Rev. 6).

24:34 Generation (Gk. genea) may refer to the nation Israel, suggesting her continued existence until the last days; it may mean "age" or "time period," referring to the dispensation of grace; or it may mean the time period of 30 years. If the latter is the case, then the text would indicate that these signs would begin to be fulfilled before that generation would end.

24:36–44 Jesus made it clear that while a general time may be determined for His return (when all these events occur), only the Father knows the day and hour. Christ's coming will surprise everyone. The believers' responsibility is not to attempt to guess the day but always to be ready.

I like to define forgiveness as "giving up the right to punish the one who has hurt you." That's what Jesus did on the cross.

other left. 41Two women will be grinding at the mill: one will be taken and the other left. 42Watch therefore, for you do not know what hour[a] your Lord is coming. 43But know this, that if the master of the house had known what hour the thief would come, he would have watched and not allowed his house to be broken into. 44Therefore you also be ready, for the Son of Man is coming at an hour you do not expect.

The Faithful Servant and the Evil Servant

45"Who then is a faithful and wise servant, whom his master made ruler over his household, to give them food in due season? 46Blessed is that servant whom his master, when he comes, will find so doing. 47Assuredly, I say to you that he will make him ruler over all his goods. 48But if that evil servant says in his heart, 'My master is delaying his coming,'[a] 49and begins to beat his fellow servants, and to eat and drink with the drunkards, 50the master of that servant will come on a day when he is not looking for him and at an hour that he is not aware of, 51and will cut him in two and appoint him his portion with the hypocrites. There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

The Parable of the Wise and Foolish Virgins

25 "Then the kingdom of heaven shall be likened to ten virgins who took their lamps and went out to meet the bridegroom. 2Now five of them were wise, and five were foolish. 3Those who were foolish took their lamps and took no oil with them, 4but the wise took oil in their vessels with their lamps. 5But while the bridegroom was delayed, they all slumbered and slept.

6"And at midnight a cry was heard: 'Behold, the bridegroom is coming;[a] go out to meet him!' 7Then all those virgins arose and trimmed their lamps. 8And the foolish said to the wise, 'Give us some of your oil, for our lamps are going out.' 9But the wise answered, saying, 'No, lest there should not be enough for us and you; but go rather to those who sell, and buy for yourselves.' 10And while they went to buy, the bridegroom came, and those who were ready went in with him to the wedding; and the door was shut.

11"Afterward the other virgins came also, saying, 'Lord, Lord, open to us!' 12But he answered and said, 'Assuredly, I say to you, I do not know you.'

13"Watch therefore, for you know neither the day nor the hour[a] in which the Son of Man is coming.

The Parable of the Talents

14"For the kingdom of heaven is like a man traveling to a far country, who called his own servants and delivered his goods to them. 15And to one he gave five talents, to another two, and to another one, to each according to his own ability; and immediately he went on a journey. 16Then he who had received the five talents went and traded with them, and made another five talents. 17And likewise he who had received two gained two more also. 18But he who had received one went and dug in the ground, and hid his lord's money. 19After a long time the lord of those servants came and settled accounts with them.

20"So he who had received five talents came and brought five other talents, saying, 'Lord, you delivered to me five talents; look, I have gained five more talents besides them.' 21His lord said to him, 'Well done, good and faithful servant; you

24:45–51 The servant's assignment was to be faithful in caring for the household and distributing food. Similarly, the priests and teachers had been given the assignment of caring for the people of Israel. When they failed in their assignment and abused the members of God's household, their punishment was severe.

25:1–13 The parable of the ten virgins is found only in Matthew (see The Wise and Foolish Virgins). Jesus taught this parable a few days before the Crucifixion. He had recently taught about the timing of the kingdom's appearance (see Matt. 24). Here He used three parables to teach the importance of personal preparation for it.

25:14–30 The parable of the talents is connected to the previous parable of the ten virgins, as it illustrates how to prepare for His coming. A talent could be of gold, silver, or copper. It was measured and valued according to the type of metal and its weight. A Roman-Attic talent is thought to have been worth 6,000 denarii—the amount a day laborer would need 20 years to earn (see chart, Money and Measurements in the Bible). Each person according to his own ability was expected to use what he had been given. The one given five talents and another given two talents both used their talents and received the same reward. The person given one talent did not even try to fulfill the responsibility the master gave him. His talent was taken away; he received no reward; the relationship between him and his master was destroyed.

were faithful over a few things, I will make you ruler over many things. Enter into the joy of your lord.' 22He also who had received two talents came and said, 'Lord, you delivered to me two talents; look, I have gained two more talents besides them.' 23His lord said to him, 'Well done, good and faithful servant; you have been faithful over a few things, I will make you ruler over many things. Enter into the joy of your lord.'

24"Then he who had received the one talent came and said, 'Lord, I knew you to be a hard man, reaping where you have not sown, and gathering where you have not scattered seed. 25And I was afraid, and went and hid your talent in the ground. Look, there you have what is yours.'

26"But his lord answered and said to him, 'You wicked and lazy servant, you knew that I reap where I have not sown, and gather where I have not scattered seed. 27So you ought to have deposited my money with the bankers, and at my coming I would have received back my own with interest. 28Therefore take the talent from him, and give it to him who has ten talents.

29'For to everyone who has, more will be given, and he will have abundance; but from him who does not have, even what he has will be taken away. 30And cast the unprofitable servant into the outer darkness. There will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.'

The Son of Man Will Judge the Nations

31"When the Son of Man comes in His glory, and all the holy[a] angels with Him, then He will sit on the throne of His glory. 32All the nations will be gathered before Him, and He will separate them one from another, as a shepherd divides his sheep from the goats. 33And He will set the sheep on His right hand, but the goats on the left. 34Then the King will say to those on His right hand, 'Come, you blessed of My Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world: 35for I was hungry and you gave Me food; I was thirsty and you gave Me drink; I was a stranger and you took Me in; 36I was naked and you clothed Me; I was sick and you visited Me; I was in prison and you came to Me.'

37"Then the righteous will answer Him, saying, 'Lord, when did we see You hungry and feed You, or thirsty and give You drink? 38When did we see You a stranger and take You in, or naked and clothe You? 39Or when did we see You sick, or in prison, and come to You?' 40And the King will answer and say to them, 'Assuredly, I say to you, inasmuch as you did it to one of the least of these My brethren, you did it to Me.'

41"Then He will also say to those on the left hand, 'Depart from Me, you cursed, into the everlasting fire prepared for the devil and his angels: 42for I was hungry and you gave Me no food; I was thirsty and you gave Me no drink; 43I was a stranger and you did not take Me in, naked and you did not clothe Me, sick and in prison and you did not visit Me.'

44"Then they also will answer Him,[a] saying, 'Lord, when did we see You hungry or thirsty or a stranger or naked or sick or in prison, and did not minister to You?' 45Then He will answer them, saying, 'Assuredly, I say to you, inasmuch as you did not do it to one of the least of these, you did not do it to Me.' 46And these will go away into everlasting punishment, but the righteous into eternal life."

The Plot to Kill Jesus

26 Now it came to pass, when Jesus had finished all these sayings, that He said to His disciples, 2"You know that after two days is the Passover, and the Son of Man will be delivered up to be crucified."

3Then the chief priests, the scribes,[a] and the elders of the people assembled at the palace of the high priest, who was called Caiaphas, 4and plotted to take Jesus by trickery and kill Him. 5But they said, "Not during the feast, lest there be an uproar among the people."

The Anointing at Bethany

6And when Jesus was in Bethany at the house of Simon the leper, 7a woman came to Him having 25:31 [a]NU-Text omits holy. 25:44 [a]NU-Text and M-Text omit Him.

25:31–46 The separation of the sheep and goats illustrates a truth. God knows who belongs to Him (see Matt. 13:24). God's children can be detected in how they treat "the least of these My brethren" (Matt. 25:40). Reaching out to Jesus' brethren does not enable a person to attain salvation; that comes only through confession of Jesus (Matt. 10:32). Reaching out is a result of salvation because it is a matter of responding to His love by obeying His commands.

26:1, 2 The Passover was an annual celebration of the ceremony Moses instituted the night before the people left Egypt (Ex. 12).

26:1–46 The Lord's Passion is described in this section. Jesus prepared His disciples for the trial, sentencing, and Crucifixion; His enemies prepared their plans for taking Him; a woman prepared His body for burial; Judas prepared to betray Him; and Jesus prepared Himself in prayer. These events probably took place late Tuesday evening (actually Wednesday, as days ended at sunset) before His death (see chart, The Last Week in the Life of Jesus).

26:3 The chief priests, the scribes, and the elders of the people were the ones who tried to challenge Jesus. He had met their challenges and repeatedly defeated and unmasked them.

26:6–13 Two anointings took place—this one in Bethany and

SERVANT GIRL

Just as a master craftsman knows how to put a small amount of pressure in the right place at the right time in order to reveal weaknesses, God often uses small things to reveal the weaknesses of an individual.

Peter was sure that he, of all the disciples, would never desert Jesus (Matt. 26:35). He may not have had the sensitivity of John, the literary gifts of Matthew, or the servant's heart of Andrew, but the one thing he did have was courage. He proved his courage when he swung his sword at the priest's servant in the Garden of Gethsemane. However, only a few hours later he met the servant girl and denied he ever knew Jesus. What the powerful temple rulers could not make Peter do one moment, a seemingly insignificant servant girl accomplished the next.

The girl's name or from where she came is unknown. She belonged to the household of the high priest (Mark 14:66), and one of her duties was to meet people at the door (John 18:17). God used her in one brief encounter to put the right amount of pressure at the right time on one of His children in order to bring his weakness to the forefront. Just as with David's small stone (see 1 Sam. 17:49), God often combines little things with His strength to overpower the weaknesses in the lives of His children.

an alabaster flask of very costly fragrant oil, and she poured it on His head as He sat at the table. [8]But when His disciples saw it, they were indignant, saying, "Why this waste? [9]For this fragrant oil might have been sold for much and given to the poor."

[10]But when Jesus was aware of it, He said to them, "Why do you trouble the woman? For she has done a good work for Me. [11]For you have the poor with you always, but Me you do not have always. [12]For in pouring this fragrant oil on My body, she did it for My burial. [13]Assuredly, I say to you, wherever this gospel is preached in the whole world, what this woman has done will also be told as a memorial to her."

Judas Agrees to Betray Jesus

[14]Then one of the twelve, called Judas Iscariot, went to the chief priests [15]and said, "What are you willing to give me if I deliver Him to you?" And they counted out to him thirty pieces of silver. [16]So from that time he sought opportunity to betray Him.

Jesus Celebrates Passover with His Disciples

[17]Now on the first day of the Feast of the Unleavened Bread the disciples came to Jesus, saying to Him, "Where do You want us to prepare for You to eat the Passover?"

[18]And He said, "Go into the city to a certain man, and say to him, 'The Teacher says, "My time is at hand; I will keep the Passover at your house with My disciples." ' "

[19]So the disciples did as Jesus had directed them; and they prepared the Passover.

[20]When evening had come, He sat down with the twelve. [21]Now as they were eating, He said, "Assuredly, I say to you, one of you will betray Me."

[22]And they were exceedingly sorrowful, and each of them began to say to Him, "Lord, is it I?"

[23]He answered and said, "He who dipped his hand with Me in the dish will betray Me. [24]The Son of Man indeed goes just as it is written of Him, but woe to that man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed! It would have been good for that man if he had not been born."

[25]Then Judas, who was betraying Him, answered and said, "Rabbi, is it I?"

He said to him, "You have said it."

an earlier one in Galilee (Luke 7:36). To honor a revered rabbi in this manner was not an uncommon event. The oil was costly (about 300 denarii), worth about a year's wages (see chart, Money and Measurements in the Bible). Mary of Bethany is identified as the woman (John 12:1–8). Though the text does not actually say Mary fully understood that Jesus was going to die, her actions may indicate she had a better grasp of what was taking place than did the disciples. Jesus understood her act as one of devout preparation and distinguished it as something set apart from mere good works.

26:14 Judas' motivation for betrayal is not indicated. Perhaps he was offended by Jesus' earlier rebuke or by the finality of Jesus' words, which indicated that He would not seek an earthly kingdom; even the money itself could have entered into consideration. In any case, Judas' decision to betray Jesus stands in sharp contrast to Mary's devotion.

26:15 Thirty pieces of silver was the value of a male or female slave gored to death accidentally by an ox (Ex. 21:32).

26:17 The first day of the Feast of Unleavened Bread was the beginning of the Passover celebration. Jews were to rid the house of all leaven and use only unleavened bread during the celebration (Lev. 23:6).

Jesus Institutes the Lord's Supper

26And as they were eating, Jesus took bread, blessed[a] and broke it, and gave it to the disciples and said, "Take, eat; this is My body."

27Then He took the cup, and gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, "Drink from it, all of you. 28For this is My blood of the new[a] covenant, which is shed for many for the remission of sins. 29But I say to you, I will not drink of this fruit of the vine from now on until that day when I drink it new with you in My Father's kingdom."

30And when they had sung a hymn, they went out to the Mount of Olives.

Jesus Predicts Peter's Denial

31Then Jesus said to them, "All of you will be made to stumble because of Me this night, for it is written:

'I will strike the Shepherd,
And the sheep of the flock will be scattered.'[a]

32But after I have been raised, I will go before you to Galilee."

33Peter answered and said to Him, "Even if all are made to stumble because of You, I will never be made to stumble."

34Jesus said to him, "Assuredly, I say to you that this night, before the rooster crows, you will deny Me three times."

35Peter said to Him, "Even if I have to die with You, I will not deny You!"

And so said all the disciples.

The Prayer in the Garden

36Then Jesus came with them to a place called Gethsemane, and said to the disciples, "Sit here while I go and pray over there." 37And He took with Him Peter and the two sons of Zebedee, and He began to be sorrowful and deeply distressed. 38Then He said to them, "My soul is exceedingly sorrowful, even to death. Stay here and watch with Me."

39He went a little farther and fell on His face, and prayed, saying, "O My Father, if it is possible, let this cup pass from Me; nevertheless, not as I will, but as You will."

40Then He came to the disciples and found them sleeping, and said to Peter, "What! Could you not watch with Me one hour? 41Watch and pray, lest you enter into temptation. The spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak."

42Again, a second time, He went away and prayed, saying, "O My Father, if this cup cannot pass away from Me unless[a] I drink it, Your will be done." 43And He came and found them asleep again, for their eyes were heavy.

44So He left them, went away again, and prayed the third time, saying the same words. 45Then He came to His disciples and said to them, "Are you still sleeping and resting? Behold, the hour is at hand, and the Son of Man is being betrayed into the hands of sinners. 46Rise, let us be going. See, My betrayer is at hand."

Betrayal and Arrest in Gethsemane

47And while He was still speaking, behold, Judas, one of the twelve, with a great multitude with swords and clubs, came from the chief priests and elders of the people.

48Now His betrayer had given them a sign, saying, "Whomever I kiss, He is the One; seize Him." 49Immediately he went up to Jesus and said, "Greetings, Rabbi!" and kissed Him.

26:26 [a]M-Text reads gave thanks for. 26:28 [a]NU-Text omits new. 26:31 [a]Zechariah 13:7 26:42 [a]NU-Text reads if this may not pass away unless.

26:24 Though the betrayal by one of the disciples was foretold, Judas was still personally responsible for his actions.

26:26–29 Jesus instituted the Lord's Supper by using two symbols—bread and the fruit of the vine. The unleavened bread was a reminder of the hasty departure of God's people from Egypt (Ex. 12). Jesus gave the bread new meaning by associating it with His body, which would be broken (Matt. 26:26). This object lesson pointed to His death on the Cross. The original Passover ceremony used several "cups" (Ex. 6:6, 7). Jesus gave new meaning to the cup as well (Matt. 26:28, 29). It would stand for His blood, which would be shed on the Cross. After His Resurrection, this celebration would look back to Jesus' death on the Cross and forward to His return. The hymn would probably be from one of the Hallel psalms (see Ps. 114–118; see chart, The Types of Psalms). Jesus reminded them there would be a kingdom, and He would be with them again.

26:31 Jesus also referred to Himself as the Shepherd who would give His life for His sheep (John 10:1–15; see also Zech. 13:7).

26:36–44 Gethsemane (lit. "oil press"), the garden located across the Kidron on the Mount of Olives, was likely so named because of the abundance of olive trees. There, in prayer, Jesus fought His greatest battle. The intense sorrow was not primarily over the physical torture or dying, for He had been telling them for months He was willing to die (vv. 21–23). Rather, it was over needing to experience God's "cup of wrath." In the OT God's cup of wrath was poured out on sinners resulting in desolation, waste, and becoming a curse (Jer. 25:13–18; 49:12, 13). He, the pure, sinless Son of God, would become sin, which would result in separation between Himself and the Father. It was this separation that He dreaded (Matt. 27:46). Because He was obedient, He experienced something no Christian would ever experience—separation from God (Rom. 8:38, 39).

26:47–56 A series of predictions were fulfilled: Judas betrayed Him, the priests and elders seized Him, and the disciples fled. The central character, of course, was Jesus. His amazing calmness and willingness to endure what faced Him reflected the results of His prayer battle in the garden.

[50]But Jesus said to him, "Friend, why have you come?"

Then they came and laid hands on Jesus and took Him. [51]And suddenly, one of those who were with Jesus stretched out his hand and drew his sword, struck the servant of the high priest, and cut off his ear.

[52]But Jesus said to him, "Put your sword in its place, for all who take the sword will perish[a] by the sword. [53]Or do you think that I cannot now pray to My Father, and He will provide Me with more than twelve legions of angels? [54]How then could the Scriptures be fulfilled, that it must happen thus?"

[55]In that hour Jesus said to the multitudes, "Have you come out, as against a robber, with swords and clubs to take Me? I sat daily with you, teaching in the temple, and you did not seize Me. [56]But all this was done that the Scriptures of the prophets might be fulfilled."

Then all the disciples forsook Him and fled.

Jesus Faces the Sanhedrin

[57]And those who had laid hold of Jesus led Him away to Caiaphas the high priest, where the scribes and the elders were assembled. [58]But Peter followed Him at a distance to the high priest's courtyard. And he went in and sat with the servants to see the end.

26:52 [a]M-Text reads die.

26:59, 60 The chief priests, the elders, and all the council would constitute the Jews' highest court, known as the Sanhedrin. Scholars have discussed at length what parts of Jesus' trials were illegal. For example, the proceedings took place at the high priest's home rather than the courts; no one spoke for His defense; and the trial was at night. Whether or not these were illegal, the calling of false witnesses certainly was a travesty in legal proceedings.

PILATE'S INTUITIVE WIFE

Only one verse in the Bible refers to Pilate's wife (Matt. 27:19); yet it tells much. She appeared at Jesus' trials when all Jerusalem was divided over His fate, "What then shall I do with Jesus who is called Christ?" (v. 22). Some were hiding, most were condemning, and a few—almost all women—were following at a distance (vv. 55, 56).

Her husband was on precarious ground. He was not popular with the Jewish people he governed and had few, if any, diplomatic skills (brute force was his style). The danger of rebellion continually bubbled beneath the surface, and Pilate had learned to avoid offending the Jewish leaders unless personally threatened. Releasing Jesus would mean no political gain; in fact, the opposite was true. Yet he tried. Obviously, he was impressed by this man (v. 14) and considered Him innocent (v. 18). Then his wife had a dream.

Whether her dream was divinely inspired or a result of her own feelings is unknown. She was disturbed enough to send a note in the middle of the trial procedures. She described Jesus as a "just Man," giving a clue to her dream. Convinced of His innocence, she encouraged her husband to an action that was politically unsound.

Did she actually respond to Christ? No evidence is presented. But she had, at least one time in her life, faced the universal decision, "What then shall I do with Jesus?" and responded with conviction and courage.

59 Now the chief priests, the elders,[a] and all the council sought false testimony against Jesus to put Him to death, 60 but found none. Even though many false witnesses came forward, they found none.[a]
But at last two false witnesses[b] came forward 61 and said, "This fellow said, 'I am able to destroy the temple of God and to build it in three days.' "
62 And the high priest arose and said to Him,
"Do You answer nothing? What is it these men testify against You?" 63 But Jesus kept silent. And the high priest answered and said to Him, "I put You under oath by the living God: Tell us if You are the Christ, the Son of God!" 64 Jesus said to him, "It is as you said. Nevertheless, I say to you, hereafter you will see the Son of Man sitting at the right hand of the Power, and coming on the clouds of heaven."
65 Then the high priest tore his clothes, saying,
"He has spoken blasphemy! What further need do we have of witnesses? Look, now you have heard
His blasphemy! 66 What do you think?"
They answered and said, "He is deserving of death."
67 Then they spat in His face and beat Him; and others struck Him with the palms of their hands, 68 saying, "Prophesy to us, Christ! Who is the one who struck You?"

Peter Denies Jesus, and Weeps Bitterly

69 Now Peter sat outside in the courtyard. And a servant girl came to him, saying, "You also were with Jesus of Galilee."
70 But he denied it before them all, saying, "I do not know what you are saying."
71 And when he had gone out to the gateway, another girl saw him and said to those who were there, "This fellow also was with Jesus of Nazareth."
72 But again he denied with an oath, "I do not know the Man!"
73 And a little later those who stood by came up and said to Peter, "Surely you also are one of them, for your speech betrays you."
74 Then he began to curse and swear, saying, "I do not know the Man!"
Immediately a rooster crowed. 75 And Peter remembered the word of Jesus who had said to him,
"Before the rooster crows, you will deny Me three times." So he went out and wept bitterly.

Jesus Handed Over to Pontius Pilate

27 When morning came, all the chief priests and elders of the people plotted against Jesus to put Him to death. 2 And when they had bound Him, they led Him away and delivered Him to Pontius[a] Pilate the governor.

Judas Hangs Himself

3 Then Judas, His betrayer, seeing that He had been condemned, was remorseful and brought back the thirty pieces of silver to the chief priests and elders, 4 saying, "I have sinned by betraying innocent blood."
And they said, "What is that to us? You see to it!"

26:59 [a]NU-Text omits the elders. 26:60 [a]NU-Text puts a comma after but found none, does not capitalize Even, and omits they found none. [b]NU-Text omits false witnesses. 27:2 [a]NU-Text omits Pontius.

27:1, 2 The Sanhedrin had found Jesus guilty of blasphemy, a capital offense for the Jews, though not for the Romans. The Jews, however, were restricted in carrying out a death penalty. The Romans would have to do executions. The Roman trial eventually centered on Jesus' kingship—something Rome did take seriously.

5Then he threw down the pieces of silver in the temple and departed, and went and hanged himself.
6But the chief priests took the silver pieces and said, "It is not lawful to put them into the treasury, because they are the price of blood." 7And they consulted together and bought with them
the potter's field, to bury strangers in. 8Therefore that field has been called the Field of Blood to this day.
9Then was fulfilled what was spoken by Jeremiah the prophet, saying, "And they took the thirty pieces of silver, the value of Him who was priced, whom they of the children of Israel priced, 10*and gave them for the potter's field, as the* LORD directed me."[a]

Jesus Faces Pilate

11Now Jesus stood before the governor. And the governor asked Him, saying, "Are You the King of the Jews?"
Jesus said to him, "It is as you say." 12And while He was being accused by the chief priests and elders, He answered nothing.
13Then Pilate said to Him, "Do You not hear how many things they testify against You?" 14But
He answered him not one word, so that the governor marveled greatly.

Taking the Place of Barabbas

15Now at the feast the governor was accustomed to releasing to the multitude one prisoner whom they wished. 16And at that time they had a notorious prisoner called Barabbas.[a] 17Therefore, when they had gathered together, Pilate said to them, "Whom do you want me to release to you?
Barabbas, or Jesus who is called Christ?" 18For he knew that they had handed Him over because of envy.
19While he was sitting on the judgment seat,
his wife sent to him, saying, "Have nothing to do with that just Man, for I have suffered many things today in a dream because of Him."
20But the chief priests and elders persuaded the multitudes that they should ask for Barabbas and destroy Jesus. 21The governor answered and said to them, "Which of the two do you want me to release to you?"
They said, "Barabbas!"
22Pilate said to them, "What then shall I do with Jesus who is called Christ?"
They all said to him, "Let Him be crucified!"
23Then the governor said, "Why, what evil has
He done?"
But they cried out all the more, saying, "Let Him be crucified!"
24When Pilate saw that he could not prevail at all, but rather that a tumult was rising, he took water and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, "I am innocent of the blood of this just Person.[a] You see to it." 25And all the people answered and said, "His blood be on us and on our children."
26Then he released Barabbas to them; and when he had scourged Jesus, he delivered Him to be crucified.

The Soldiers Mock Jesus

27Then the soldiers of the governor took Jesus into the Praetorium and gathered the whole garrison around Him. 28And they stripped Him and put a scarlet robe on Him. 29When they had twisted a crown of thorns, they put it on His head, and a reed in His right hand. And they bowed the knee before Him and mocked Him, saying, "Hail, King of the Jews!" 30Then they spat on Him, and took the reed and struck Him on the head. 31And when they had mocked Him, they took the robe off Him, put His own clothes on Him, and led Him away to
be crucified.

The King on a Cross

32Now as they came out, they found a man of Cyrene, Simon by name. Him they compelled to bear His cross. 33And when they had come to a place called Golgotha, that is to say, Place of a Skull, 34they gave Him sour[a] wine mingled with 27:6, 7 Blood money could not be used in the treasury (Deut. 23:18); so they bought a field to be used for the burial of foreigners.

27:11 In the first step of a Roman trial, the magistrate listened to the charges and gave the accused opportunity for rebuttal. Pilate asked the first question, "Are You the King of the Jews?" Jesus' answer was the reason for the inscription later put on the Cross.

27:15–20 Pilate obviously thought Jesus was innocent, and he offered His accusers a way out, while not backing down himself. His offer for "Passover amnesty" was rejected. He underestimated their hatred.

27:32–38 The Crucifixion of Jesus by Pilate is well documented not only in the gospels, but also by non-Christian writers (Tacitus, Josephus, Mara bar Serapion, and Thallus). Crucifixion was a cruel form of death since it did not damage any vital organs or cause excessive bleeding but caused a long, slow death, mostly from asphyxiation or shock. This cruel and humiliating execution was reserved for foreigners, not Roman citizens. It was always a public affair, becoming an especially useful deterrent to those who might be entertaining thoughts of insurrection. The Jews detested this inhumane act of execution, not only for its cruelty, but because the OT clearly stated that anyone who hangs on a tree is "accursed of God" (Deut. 21:22, 23). And Jesus, of course, was accursed of God for our sins (chart, Prophecies Fulfilled at the Cross).

MARY The Mother of James

Jesus had many "behind the scene" followers. All four gospels describe a group of women who were devoted to special ministries to the Savior. These women served, supported, and even traveled in order to prepare the way for Jesus and the Twelve. Mary, the mother of James the Less and Joses, was one of these women. In fact, she was one of the few followers (mostly women) who did not desert Jesus at the Cross. She remained for the entire tragic ordeal. Imagine the wrenching of her heart as she helplessly watched the hideous torture, humiliation, and Crucifixion of the One she had found so understanding and gentle.

Staying behind when the crowds left the death scene, she and a few of this loyal group followed Joseph of Arimathea as he took Jesus' body to the tomb. Though they saw Him die, they could not let Him go—not yet. They needed to know where His body would rest.

After the Sabbath, these women spent hours gathering the spices used for burial—they still served Him. With heavy hearts they got up early in the morning, packed the spices, and trudged toward the tomb. When they arrived, there was an eerie silence, not the silence of death but rather of wonder—the tomb was open and empty.

God had honored these faithful women in a special way. At the lowest point of Christianity, Mary and her companions were the first to receive the news that revolutionized the world. Composers, writers, and artists through the centuries have celebrated the message they, alone, heard that morning—"He is risen."

Mary is a prime example of the reward of faithfulness. Every act of service done for the Master counts.

gall to drink. But when He had tasted it, He would not drink.

35Then they crucified Him, and divided His garments, casting lots,[a] that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet:

"They divided My garments among them,
And for My clothing they cast lots."[b]

36Sitting down, they kept watch over Him there. 37And they put up over His head the accusation written against Him:

THIS IS JESUS
THE KING OF THE JEWS.

38Then two robbers were crucified with Him, one on the right and another on the left.

39And those who passed by blasphemed Him, wagging their heads 40and saying, "You who destroy the temple and build it in three days, save Yourself! If You are the Son of God, come down from the cross."

41Likewise the chief priests also, mocking with the scribes and elders,[a] said, 42"He saved others; Himself He cannot save. If He is the King of Israel,[a] let Him now come down from the cross, and we will believe Him.[b] 43He trusted in God; let Him deliver Him now if He will have Him; for He said, 'I am the Son of God.' "

44Even the robbers who were crucified with Him reviled Him with the same thing.

Jesus Dies on the Cross

45Now from the sixth hour until the ninth hour there was darkness over all the land. 46And about the ninth hour Jesus cried out with a loud voice, saying, "Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani?" that is, "My God, My God, why have You forsaken Me?"[a]

47Some of those who stood there, when they heard that, said, "This Man is calling for Elijah!" 48Immediately one of them ran and took a sponge, filled it with sour wine and put it on a reed, and offered it to Him to drink.

49The rest said, "Let Him alone; let us see if Elijah will come to save Him."

50And Jesus cried out again with a loud voice, and yielded up His spirit.

51Then, behold, the veil of the temple was torn in two from top to bottom; and the earth quaked,

27:40–43 Jesus stayed on the Cross because He was the Son of God obeying His Father. Had Jesus saved Himself, He would not have been able to save others. The Resurrection demonstrated God's powerful work in His Son.

27:45 From the sixth hour to the ninth would be from noon until 3:00 in the afternoon. The darkness was a sign of judgment and a reminder that mankind does not know fully what transpired on the Cross. Matthew only stated the reason for His suffering and death.

27:51 The veil of the temple was the heavily woven curtain that hung between the holy place and the Most Holy Place (see Luke 23:45, note; Heb. 9:3). Its presence was a continual reminder of the separation between mankind and God. The author of Hebrews stated that the veil represented Jesus' and the rocks were split, 52and the graves were opened; and many bodies of the saints who had fallen asleep were raised; 53and coming out of the graves after His resurrection, they went into the holy city and appeared to many.

54So when the centurion and those with him, who were guarding Jesus, saw the earthquake and the things that had happened, they feared greatly, saying, "Truly this was the Son of God!"

55And many women who followed Jesus from Galilee, ministering to Him, were there looking on from afar, 56among whom were Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James and Joses,[a] and the mother of Zebedee's sons.

Jesus Buried in Joseph's Tomb

57Now when evening had come, there came a rich man from Arimathea, named Joseph, who himself had also become a disciple of Jesus. 58This man went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus. Then Pilate commanded the body to be given to him. 59When Joseph had taken the body, he wrapped it in a clean linen cloth, 60and laid it in his new tomb which he had hewn out of the rock; and he rolled a large stone against the door of the tomb, and departed. 61And Mary Magdalene was there, and the other Mary, sitting opposite the tomb.

Pilate Sets a Guard

62On the next day, which followed the Day of Preparation, the chief priests and Pharisees gathered together to Pilate, 63saying, "Sir, we remember, while He was still alive, how that deceiver said, 'After three days I will rise.' 64Therefore command that the tomb be made secure until the third day, lest His disciples come by night[a] and steal Him away, and say to the people, 'He has risen from the dead.' So the last deception will be worse than the first."

65Pilate said to them, "You have a guard; go your way, make it as secure as you know how." 66So they went and made the tomb secure, sealing the stone and setting the guard.

He Is Risen

28 Now after the Sabbath, as the first day of the week began to dawn, Mary Magdalene and the other Mary came to see the tomb. 2And behold, there was a great earthquake; for an angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door,[a] and sat on it. 3His countenance was like lightning, and his clothing as white as snow. 4And the guards shook for fear of him, and became like dead men.

5But the angel answered and said to the women, "Do not be afraid, for I know that you seek Jesus who was crucified. 6He is not here; for He is risen, as He said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay. 7And go quickly and tell His disciples that He is risen from the dead, and indeed He is going before you into Galilee; there you will see Him. Behold, I have told you."

8So they went out quickly from the tomb with fear and great joy, and ran to bring His disciples word.

The Women Worship the Risen Lord

9And as they went to tell His disciples,[a] behold, Jesus met them, saying, "Rejoice!" So they came and held Him by the feet and worshiped Him. 10Then Jesus said to them, "Do not be afraid. Go and tell My brethren to go to Galilee, and there they will see Me."

The Soldiers Are Bribed

11Now while they were going, behold, some of the guard came into the city and reported to the chief priests all the things that had happened. 12When they had assembled with the elders and consulted together, they gave a large sum of money to the soldiers, 13saying, "Tell them, 'His disciples came at night and stole Him away while we slept.' 14And if this comes to the governor's ears, we will appease him and make you secure."

body (Heb. 10:19, 20). The tearing signified the removal of the barrier between God and anyone who would accept Jesus' sacrifice (Heb. 4:16; 6:19).

27:55, 56 The women faithfully stayed through the Crucifixion and followed His body to the tomb (see chart, Women and Jesus in His Last Days).

27:57 Only a rich man could have owned ground so close to the city. Many think Joseph was a member of the Sanhedrin who had believed in Christ. He had to be a man of influence in order to approach Pilate.

27:61 Mourning for a victim of a Roman execution was not allowed. The women would have had to grieve silently.

28:5–10 The women, not the guards, were addressed by the angel. His first words were to quiet their fears. When Jesus walked on the water and the disciples expressed fear, He told them not to fear (Matt. 14:27). Here the angel again used the Person of Jesus as the reason for dismissing fear. The second thing the angel wanted to make clear was that Resurrection had taken place. No other explanation was possible. The grave was opened not to let Jesus out but to let His followers see that the tomb was empty. The angel declared Jesus would actually be seen in Galilee, just as He promised (Matt. 26:32). The women who remained at the Cross and followed to see where He was buried were the ones privileged to first share this earth-shattering news and the first to see and worship Him. The Lord Himself gave the message of the Resurrection to the women to take to the disciples.

28:11–15 The guards who reported to the chief priests must have been temple police (v. 11).

EVANGELISM — WOMEN AND THE GREAT COMMISSION

When Christ gave the Great Commission, He did not consider gender, just as gender is not a consideration when the Holy Spirit imparts spiritual gifts. God has chosen every believing woman to carry His message to her sphere of influence as she is filled and controlled by the Holy Spirit and anointed and equipped with His power (Acts 1:8). The mission of every believer in Jesus Christ is to communicate to the world who Jesus is and to extend to all His offer of salvation and spiritual refuge. Jesus has commissioned all believers to go to the most distant and remote points of the earth—as well as to their neighbors next door—to reach the lost with the gospel message of redemption and reconciliation. We are to make the Savior known

- through the spoken word (Rom. 10:14, 15),
- through good works (James 2:14–17),
- through the example of a new character (Matt. 5:16, 20).

The single woman, the wife, the mother, the grandmother, the widow are called to "go into all the world." "Going" does not necessarily mean leaving home and family, but it does mean making yourself totally available to serve wherever, whenever, and however He directs. The foremost manifestation of the Holy Spirit in a believer's life is that she will be a witness of the Lord's life and commandments (Acts 1:8). She is to be ready at all times to speak His name, tell of His marvelous works, give a defense of the reason for our hope, and tell others about His sacrifice and the abundant life He provides now and for all eternity (1 Pet. 3:15).

The New Testament gives certain requirements for soul-winning. The first, of course, is a genuine experience of grace through a personal relationship with Jesus Christ (1 John 1:1–3). A love for Christ and for people is also essential (Ps. 126:6), as is a willingness to be used by the Holy Spirit in sharing the gospel (Acts 8:29). An effective soul-winner will determine to live a separated life (2 Cor. 6:17) since lifestyle testimony is also a key ingredient. Creativity in using every opportunity for saying a word about Christ is also helpful (1 Pet. 3:15), as is a diligence in the study of God's Word, which enables the believer to explain more effectively the way of salvation (Ps. 51:13; 1 Pet. 2:2). All must be undergirded with specific and unceasing prayer (1 Thess. 5:17). Any woman willing to commit herself to this high and holy responsibility will indeed be rewarded (Dan. 12:3).

When unbelievers see those in the church generously giving their time, resources, and love to carry out the Great Commission, they are compelled to glorify the Father (Matt 5:16).

See also 1 Pet. 3:15; notes on Evangelism (John 6; Col. 4; 1 Pet. 3); Salvation (Eph. 2); Spiritual Gifts (Rom. 12); Women's Ministries (John 4; Acts 2; 1 Cor. 11; Eph. 2; 1 Tim. 3; Titus 2); portrait of The Samaritan Woman (John 4)

15 So they took the money and did as they were instructed; and this saying is commonly reported among the Jews until this day.

The Great Commission

16 Then the eleven disciples went away into Galilee, to the mountain which Jesus had appointed for them. 17 When they saw Him, they worshiped Him; but some doubted.

18 And Jesus came and spoke to them, saying, "All authority has been given to Me in heaven and on earth. 19 Go therefore[a] and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, 20 teaching them to observe all things that I have commanded you; and lo, I am with you always, even to the end of the age." Amen.[a]

28:19 [a]M-Text omits therefore. 28:20 [a]NU-Text omits Amen.

28:18 The first man, Adam, was given rule over the earth in the Garden of Eden but abdicated that responsibility through his sin. In the wilderness, Satan offered Jesus that rulership, but Jesus refused (Matt. 4:1–11). Jesus not only regained that rule by obedience to the Father but also was given the rule over all the heavens (see Phil. 2:8–11).

28:19 Jesus called His disciples to Himself first, where they would learn about Him, and He then would send them out. "Baptizing" and "teaching" are specified as part of the process of discipleship.

28:20 The Master closed His time on earth with the disciples with the one promise required to make all His teaching effective—His presence. He had made this promise before when He invited His followers to join in His yoke (Matt. 11:28–30). "Always" has the sense here of "the whole of every day." Jesus' commission did not end here at the end of the gospel; it was just beginning.

Mark

AUTHOR

Early Christian testimony leaves little doubt that John (Hebrew name) Mark (Roman name), the son of Mary and kinsman of Barnabas, was the author of the gospel that bears his name (Acts 12:12; Col. 4:10). Though Mark was not one of the original twelve disciples, he witnessed much of what happened in the early church, especially in Jerusalem. Many scholars believe that Mark described himself in the book (Mark 14:51, 52). He traveled with Paul and Barnabas and spent much time with Peter, who called him "my son" (1 Pet. 5:13). This affectionate designation could refer to a spiritual relationship, if Peter had introduced Mark to Christ, or merely to a close working relationship. Some have identified Mark as an "interpreter" for Peter, and certainly Peter's preaching and testimony are sources for the information Mark recorded (Acts 15:36–40; Col. 4:10; 2 Tim. 4:11; Philem. 24; 1 Pet. 5:13).

DATE

The Gospel of Mark was probably written before the destruction of the temple and Jerusalem (A.D. 70), since a catastrophe of such magnitude would surely have been mentioned. Although the actual date is uncertain, a date between A.D. 65 and 68 seems reasonable.

BACKGROUND

SETTING: The Gospel of Mark is usually uniquely associated with Rome (see Introduction: Audience), where a sizable Christian community was located.

PURPOSE: Mark wanted to tell the Good News of Jesus (Mark 1:1). Unlike the gospels of Matthew and Luke, which begin with Jesus' birth, or John, which opens with the presentation of the pre-incarnate Christ, the Gospel of Mark begins with Jesus' ministry. Essentially evangelistic, the events and teachings of Mark present the Cross and the Resurrection as central.

AUDIENCE: Mark was written primarily for Gentiles, especially Roman believers. Note his careful explanation of Jewish customs (Mark 7:2–4) and his effort to translate Aramaic words or phrases (Mark 3:17; 5:41). Unlike the Gospel of Matthew, written especially for Jewish readers, few references to the Old Testament appear in Mark. The prominence given to persecution and martyrdom would also have appealed to the Roman Christians who had suffered greatly under Nero and other emperors (Mark 13:9–13).

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: Mark is a book of action. "Immediately" ("straightway" in some translations) introduces most of its section divisions and is used more in Mark than in any other New Testament book. Mark frequently uses verbs in the present tense to suggest a vivid, moving drama of the Lord's ministry on earth. The shortest of the four gospels, the Gospel of Mark often presents in a few verses what other gospels would describe in a chapter (compare Jesus' wilderness temptation, Mark 1:12, 13 with Matthew 4:1–11). Although the events in Mark are in an overall chronological order, he arranged much of the book topically.

THEMES

The emphasis in the Gospel of Mark is more on the activities of Jesus than on His teachings. Mark presented the gospel as relevant even in the midst of uncertainties and crises. He presented Jesus as present and active among His people (Mark 10:45).

John the Baptist Prepares the Way

1 The beginning of the gospel of Jesus Christ, the Son of God. 2As it is written in the Prophets:[a]

"Behold, I send My messenger before Your face,
Who will prepare Your way before You."[b]
3*"The voice of one crying in the wilderness:*
'Prepare the way of the LORD*;*
Make His paths straight.'"[a]

4John came baptizing in the wilderness and preaching a baptism of repentance for the remission of sins. 5Then all the land of Judea, and those

1:2 [a]NU-Text reads Isaiah the prophet. [b]Malachi 3:1 1:3 [a]Isaiah 40:3

1:1 Mark begins his gospel account with Jesus' public ministry. "Jesus" is the transliteration of the Greek form of the Hebrew name "Joshua" (lit. "salvation of Yahweh" or "Yahweh saves"). "Christ" (Gk. Christos, lit. "anointed one") is equivalent to the Hebrew title "Messiah" (mashiach). "Son of God" is an important theme in the book, highlighting Christ's character as well as His essence. In all four gospels, Jesus addressed God as "Father," and the Father addressed Him as "My Son."

1:2, 3 Mark was laying the groundwork for understanding Jesus as the One about whom the OT spoke. The phrase "It is written" is in the perfect tense, which refers to something that happened in the past but with present results, emphasizing the authoritative nature of what is about to be said.

1:4 John the Baptist fulfilled these prophecies. All four gospels recognized his appearance as heralding the beginning of Jesus' ministry. John's father Zacharias was a priest, and his mother Elizabeth was a relative of Mary, the mother of Jesus. Even before his conception, John had been appointed to announce the coming of the Messiah (Luke 1:5–25). "To baptize" (Gk. baptizō) can mean "to place into" and is used to describe something or someone placed into a new environment or union, thereby changing its relationship with the old environment. John clearly stated that his baptism was not the same as Jesus' baptism. The heart of John's message was to call people to repentance for sins. Repentance (Gk. metanoia, lit. "change of mind") called for a deliberate turning from the old ways of life. Genuine repentance resulted in the forgiveness of sin (see Luke 24:47, note). Though John may well have had contacts with the ascetic Qumran community, his differences with them were too distinct to make that passing contact important. There is certainly no evidence that John's baptismal method or emphasis on repentance and judgment came from this Essene community (see chart, Jewish Sects).

THE EMOTIONS OF JESUS

INCIDENT	EMOTION	CAUSE	JESUS' ACTION
He met a leper (Mark 1:41).	Compassion	The leper begged for healing.	He touched and healed him.
5,000 followed Him (Matt. 14:14; Mark 6:34).	Compassion	They had no shepherd.	He fed and taught them.
4,000 followed Him (Mark 8:2).	Compassion	They were hungry.	He supplied food.
He preached among the villages (Matt. 9:35, 36).	Compassion	They were weary and scattered without a shepherd.	He instructed the disciples to pray and go out to minister.
The multitudes followed Him (Matt. 20:34).	Compassion	Two blind men begged for healing.	He healed them.
A funeral passed (Luke 7:13–15).	Compassion	The widow lost her only son.	He raised her son to life.
The rich young ruler came to Him (Mark 10:21).	Love	He conversed with the young man.	He pointed out the one thing lacking.
The 70 returned from a preaching tour (Luke 10:21).	Joy	The Father revealed truth to the untutored.	He thanked the Father.
The people brought children to Jesus (Matt. 19:13; Mark 10:14; Luke 18:15).	Anger	The disciples rebuked the people and tried to keep the children away.	He rebuked the disciples, embraced the children, and blessed them.
The centurion approached Jesus for the healing of his servant (Matt. 8:10; Luke 7:9).	Wonder, awe	He understood who Jesus was.	He drew attention to faith and healed the servant.
He healed on the Sabbath (Mark 3:5).	Anger, grief	The Pharisees had hard hearts.	He challenged the Pharisees and healed the man.
The Pharisees demanded a sign (Mark 8:11).	Distress	They were trying to entrap Him.	He left them.
He met Mary and Martha after Lazarus' death (John 11:35).	Grief	He saw their tears and felt the loss of a friend.	He wept with them.
He approached Lazarus' tomb (John 11:38).	Grief	Jesus fielded questions concerning why He had not healed Lazarus and eliminated death itself.	He raised Lazarus.
He entered Jerusalem (Matt. 23:27; Luke 19:41).	Sorrow	Jerusalem rejected Him and faced coming destruction.	He wept over the city.
He hosted the Last Supper (John 13:1).	Love	He knew He was leaving.	He washed their feet.
He hosted the Last Supper (John 13:21).	Distress	Judas betrayed Him.	He singled out the betrayer and told him to act quickly.
He went to the Garden of Gethsemane (Mark 14:32).	Distress	He knew of His coming separation from the ones He loved.	He asked the disciples to wait and watch. He prayed.

DISABILITIES FRIENDS WITH SPECIAL NEEDS

More than anything else disabled people need friends—acquaintances, casual, close, or especially intimate. No matter what form of impairment the disabled person has, she needs friends who give unconditional love.

The faith, creativity, and commitment of friends helped a paralyzed man experience the healing power of Jesus. Four concerned friends took their paralyzed friend to see Jesus (Mark 2:1–12). After overcoming a seemingly insurmountable hurdle, the friends laid the paralytic at the feet of Jesus. When Jesus healed the man, He took special note of the faith exhibited by the four friends.

The disabled person needs friends who give more comfort than advice. Friends should continue giving of self despite barriers—architectural or attitudinal—involving persons with disabilities in activities and in ministry. Integrate people with impairments with the able-bodied in worship. Evangelize disabled friends. Look past the gizmos, gadgets, and electrical wizardry to get to know the individual as a person. Have the attitude, "If I don't reach out to this individual with the gospel and God's love, who will?"

Tender mercies, kindness, humility, meekness, and longsuffering are essential to friendship with a disabled person. However, able-bodied Christians are also challenged to rise above all these obstacles and "put on love" (Col. 3:12–14). Unconditional love overlooks physical or mental handicaps and focuses on the true person, a special object of God's care and concern. An intimate relationship with a disabled friend or family member can be a special way to discover what real love is all about.

from Jerusalem, went out to him and were all baptized by him in the Jordan River, confessing their sins.

6Now John was clothed with camel's hair and with a leather belt around his waist, and he ate locusts and wild honey. 7And he preached, saying, "There comes One after me who is mightier than I, whose sandal strap I am not worthy to stoop down and loose. 8I indeed baptized you with water, but He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit."

John Baptizes Jesus

9It came to pass in those days that Jesus came from Nazareth of Galilee, and was baptized by John in the Jordan. 10And immediately, coming up from[a] the water, He saw the heavens parting and the Spirit descending upon Him like a dove.
11Then a voice came from heaven, "You are My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased."

Satan Tempts Jesus

12Immediately the Spirit drove Him into the wilderness. 13And He was there in the wilderness forty days, tempted by Satan, and was with the wild beasts; and the angels ministered to Him.

Jesus Begins His Galilean Ministry

14Now after John was put in prison, Jesus came to Galilee, preaching the gospel of the kingdom[a] of God, 15and saying, "The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand. Repent, and believe in the gospel."

Four Fishermen Called as Disciples

16And as He walked by the Sea of Galilee, He saw Simon and Andrew his brother casting a net into the sea; for they were fishermen. 17Then Jesus said to them, "Follow Me, and I will make you become fishers of men." 18They immediately left their nets and followed Him.

19When He had gone a little farther from there, He saw James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother, who also were in the boat mending their nets. 20And immediately He called them, and

1:10 [a]NU-Text reads out of. 1:14 [a]NU-Text omits of the kingdom.

1:10, 11 The presence of the Trinity is emphasized: Jesus the Son in the flesh, the Holy Spirit in the form of a dove, and the Father whose voice was heard from heaven. The Father declared His pleasure with His Son before the wilderness temptation and before He taught, performed any miracles or healings, or died on the Cross. The Father publicly declared Jesus' authority to be as His own.

1:12, 13 Mark agreed with the other writers that the Spirit was responsible for both the encounter with Satan and the 40-day fast (see Matt. 4:1–11). Both Moses (Ex. 24:18) and Elijah (1 Kin. 19:8) spent 40 days in the wilderness during their respective ministries.

1:16–20 Andrew had been one of John's followers (see John 1:35–42). Jesus called all four by encouraging each to "follow" (Gk. akoloutheō, lit. "to walk the same road" or "to accompany"; see Mark 8:34). This call had the connotation of attaching oneself to another and accepting that person's leadership. All four men responded "immediately." Obviously God had been working in them; when Jesus called, they were ready.

they left their father Zebedee in the boat with the hired servants, and went after Him.

Jesus Casts Out an Unclean Spirit

21Then they went into Capernaum, and immediately on the Sabbath He entered the synagogue and taught. 22And they were astonished at His teaching, for He taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes.

23Now there was a man in their synagogue with an unclean spirit. And he cried out, 24saying, "Let us alone! What have we to do with You, Jesus of Nazareth? Did You come to destroy us? I know who You are— the Holy One of God!"

25But Jesus rebuked him, saying, "Be quiet, and come out of him!" 26And when the unclean spirit had convulsed him and cried out with a loud voice, he came out of him. 27Then they were all amazed, so that they questioned among themselves, saying, "What is this? What new doctrine is this? For with authority[a] He commands even the unclean spirits, and they obey Him." 28And immediately His fame spread throughout all the region around Galilee.

Peter's Mother-in-Law Healed

29Now as soon as they had come out of the synagogue, they entered the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and John. 30But Simon's wife's mother lay sick with a fever, and they told Him about her at once. 31So He came and took her by the hand and lifted her up, and immediately the fever left her. And she served them.

Many Healed After Sabbath Sunset

32At evening, when the sun had set, they brought to Him all who were sick and those who were demon-possessed. 33And the whole city was gathered together at the door. 34Then He healed many who were sick with various diseases, and cast out many demons; and He did not allow the demons to speak, because they knew Him.

Preaching in Galilee

35Now in the morning, having risen a long while before daylight, He went out and departed to a solitary place; and there He prayed. 36And Simon and those who were with Him searched for Him. 37When they found Him, they said to Him, "Everyone is looking for You."

38But He said to them, "Let us go into the next towns, that I may preach there also, because for this purpose I have come forth."

39And He was preaching in their synagogues throughout all Galilee, and casting out demons.

Jesus Cleanses a Leper

40Now a leper came to Him, imploring Him, kneeling down to Him and saying to Him, "If You are willing, You can make me clean."

41Then Jesus, moved with compassion, stretched out His hand and touched him, and said to him, "I am willing; be cleansed." 42As soon as He had spoken, immediately the leprosy left him, and he was cleansed. 43And He strictly warned him and sent him away at once, 44and said to him, "See that you say nothing to anyone; but go your way, show yourself to the priest, and offer for your cleansing those things which Moses commanded, as a testimony to them."

45However, he went out and began to proclaim it freely, and to spread the matter, so that Jesus could no longer openly enter the city, but was outside in deserted places; and they came to Him from every direction.

Jesus Forgives and Heals a Paralytic

2 And again He entered Capernaum after some days, and it was heard that He was in the house. 2Immediately[a] many gathered together, so that there was no longer room to receive them, not even near the door. And He preached the word to them. 3Then they came to Him, bringing a paralytic who was carried by four men. 4And when they could not come near Him because of the crowd, they uncovered the roof where He was. So when they had broken through, they let down the bed on which the paralytic was lying.

5When Jesus saw their faith, He said to the paralytic, "Son, your sins are forgiven you."

6And some of the scribes were sitting there and reasoning in their hearts, 7"Why does this Man speak blasphemies like this? Who can forgive sins but God alone?"

1:27 [a]NU-Text reads What is this? A new doctrine with authority.
2:2 [a]NU-Text omits Immediately.

1:21 The synagogues came into Jewish life during the Exile when the Jews did not have access to the temple. They were meeting places for prayer and study of the Torah. Capernaum was the home of Peter.

1:32–34 Jesus' miracles primarily called attention to the offering of the kingdom. With each account of His healings, His main mission became more difficult because the people were more interested in immediate solutions to physical problems than long-lasting solutions to spiritual needs.

1:35 Jesus' prayer life so fascinated the disciples that they asked Him to teach them to pray (Luke 11:1). It was not that they needed additional prayer formulas. Judaism provided prayers for almost every action of the day. As they observed Jesus, they realized that something in His prayer life went beyond mere ritual. Through prayer He was refreshed and invigorated; He consistently sought time to pray (Matt. 6:6; 14:13, 23; 26:39; Luke 4:42, 43).

1:40, 41 Leprosy included a variety of skin diseases (see Matt. 8:2, 3, note).

[8]But immediately, when Jesus perceived in His spirit that they reasoned thus within themselves, He said to them, "Why do you reason about these things in your hearts? [9]Which is easier, to say to the paralytic, 'Your sins are forgiven you,' or to say, 'Arise, take up your bed and walk'? [10]But that you may know that the Son of Man has power on earth to forgive sins"—He said to the paralytic, [11]"I say to you, arise, take up your bed, and go to your house." [12]Immediately he arose, took up the bed, and went out in the presence of them all, so that all were amazed and glorified God, saying, "We never saw anything like this!"

Matthew the Tax Collector

[13]Then He went out again by the sea; and all the multitude came to Him, and He taught them. [14]As He passed by, He saw Levi the son of Alphaeus sitting at the tax office. And He said to him, "Follow Me." So he arose and followed Him.

[15]Now it happened, as He was dining in Levi's house, that many tax collectors and sinners also sat together with Jesus and His disciples; for there were many, and they followed Him. [16]And when the scribes and[a] Pharisees saw Him eating with the tax collectors and sinners, they said to His disciples, "How is it that He eats and drinks with tax collectors and sinners?"

[17]When Jesus heard it, He said to them, "Those who are well have no need of a physician, but those who are sick. I did not come to call the righteous, but sinners, to repentance."[a]

Jesus Is Questioned About Fasting

[18]The disciples of John and of the Pharisees were fasting. Then they came and said to Him, "Why do the disciples of John and of the Pharisees fast, but Your disciples do not fast?"

[19]And Jesus said to them, "Can the friends of the bridegroom fast while the bridegroom is with them? As long as they have the bridegroom with them they cannot fast. [20]But the days will come when the bridegroom will be taken away from them, and then they will fast in those days. [21]No one sews a piece of unshrunk cloth on an old garment; or else the new piece pulls away from the old, and the tear is made worse. [22]And no one puts new wine into old wineskins; or else the new wine bursts the wineskins, the wine is spilled, and the wineskins are ruined. But new wine must be put into new wineskins."

Jesus Is Lord of the Sabbath

[23]Now it happened that He went through the grainfields on the Sabbath; and as they went His disciples began to pluck the heads of grain. [24]And the Pharisees said to Him, "Look, why do they do what is not lawful on the Sabbath?"

[25]But He said to them, "Have you never read what David did when he was in need and hungry, he and those with him: [26]how he went into the house of God in the days of Abiathar the high priest, and ate the showbread, which is not lawful to eat except for the priests, and also gave some to those who were with him?"

[27]And He said to them, "The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath. [28]Therefore the Son of Man is also Lord of the Sabbath."

Healing on the Sabbath

3 And He entered the synagogue again, and a man was there who had a withered hand. [2]So they watched Him closely, whether He would heal him on the Sabbath, so that they might accuse Him. [3]And He said to the man who had the withered hand, "Step forward." [4]Then He said to them, "Is it lawful on the Sabbath to do good or to do evil, to save life or to kill?" But they kept silent. [5]And when He had looked around at them with anger, being grieved by the hardness of their hearts, He said to the man, "Stretch out your hand." And he stretched it out, and his hand was restored as whole as the other.[a] [6]Then the Pharisees went out and immediately plotted with the Herodians against Him, how they might destroy Him.

A Great Multitude Follows Jesus

[7]But Jesus withdrew with His disciples to the sea. And a great multitude from Galilee followed Him, and from Judea [8]and Jerusalem and Idumea and beyond the Jordan; and those from Tyre and

2:16 [a]NU-Text reads of the. 2:17 [a]NU-Text omits to repentance.
3:5 [a]NU-Text omits as whole as the other.

2:8 Three miracles actually took place: Jesus knew their thoughts; He forgave their sins; and He physically healed the paralytic.

2:10 Jesus' claim is clear: He does the work only God can do; therefore, He is God.

2:14 Levi (or Matthew) was a tax collector for Herod Antipas (see Matt. 9:9). He received the same invitation Peter, Andrew, James, and John received (see Mark 1:16–20). Like the others, he followed Jesus immediately.

2:16 The Pharisees called everyone who did not follow their interpretation of the Torah "sinners." Unlike Jesus, they separated themselves from such people (see Mark 7:1–5, note; see chart, Jewish Sects). Jesus did not fit their concept of how the Messiah should act.

2:23–28 One of Jesus' greatest objections to the Pharisees was their determination to put their traditions before the needs of people (see Luke 11:46).

3:5 Few things caused anger in Jesus, but even justifiable anger at the evil He saw in the hearts of these men could not quench His compassion for them (see chart, The Emotions of Jesus).

Sidon, a great multitude, when they heard how many things He was doing, came to Him. 9So He told His disciples that a small boat should be kept ready for Him because of the multitude, lest they should crush Him. 10For He healed many, so that as many as had afflictions pressed about Him to touch Him. 11And the unclean spirits, whenever they saw Him, fell down before Him and cried out, saying, "You are the Son of God." 12But He sternly warned them that they should not make Him known.

The Twelve Apostles

13And He went up on the mountain and called to Him those He Himself wanted. And they came to Him. 14Then He appointed twelve,[a] that they might be with Him and that He might send them out to preach, 15and to have power to heal sicknesses and[a] to cast out demons: 16Simon,[a] to whom He gave the name Peter; 17James the son of Zebedee and John the brother of James, to whom He gave the name Boanerges, that is, "Sons of Thunder"; 18Andrew, Philip, Bartholomew, Matthew, Thomas, James the son of Alphaeus, Thaddaeus, Simon the Cananite; 19and Judas Iscariot, who also betrayed Him. And they went into a house.

A House Divided Cannot Stand

20Then the multitude came together again, so that they could not so much as eat bread. 21But when His own people heard about this, they went out to lay hold of Him, for they said, "He is out of His mind."

22And the scribes who came down from Jerusalem said, "He has Beelzebub," and, "By the ruler of the demons He casts out demons."

23So He called them to Himself and said to them in parables: "How can Satan cast out Satan? 24If a kingdom is divided against itself, that kingdom cannot stand. 25And if a house is divided against itself, that house cannot stand. 26And if Satan has risen up against himself, and is divided, he cannot stand, but has an end. 27No one can enter a strong man's house and plunder his goods, unless he first binds the strong man. And then he will plunder his house.

The Unpardonable Sin

28"Assuredly, I say to you, all sins will be forgiven the sons of men, and whatever blasphemies they may utter; 29but he who blasphemes against the Holy Spirit never has forgiveness, but is subject to eternal condemnation"— 30because they said, "He has an unclean spirit."

Jesus' Mother and Brothers Send for Him

31Then His brothers and His mother came, and standing outside they sent to Him, calling Him. 32And a multitude was sitting around Him; and they said to Him, "Look, Your mother and Your brothers[a] are outside seeking You."

33But He answered them, saying, "Who is My mother, or My brothers?" 34And He looked around in a circle at those who sat about Him, and said, "Here are My mother and My brothers! 35For whoever does the will of God is My brother and My sister and mother."

The Parable of the Sower

4 And again He began to teach by the sea. And a great multitude was gathered to Him, so that He got into a boat and sat in it on the sea; and the whole multitude was on the land facing the sea. 2Then He taught them many things by parables, and said to them in His teaching:

3"Listen! Behold, a sower went out to sow. 4And it happened, as he sowed, that some seed fell by the wayside; and the birds of the air[a] came and devoured it. 5Some fell on stony ground, where it did not have much earth; and immediately it sprang up because it had no depth of earth. 6But when the sun was up it was scorched, and because it had no root it withered away. 7And some seed fell among thorns; and the thorns grew up and choked it, and it yielded no crop. 8But other seed fell on good ground and yielded a crop that sprang up, increased and produced: some thirtyfold, some sixty, and some a hundred."

9And He said to them,[a] "He who has ears to hear, let him hear!"

The Purpose of Parables

10But when He was alone, those around Him with the twelve asked Him about the parable. 11And He said to them, "To you it has been given to know the mystery of the kingdom of God; but to those who are outside, all things come in parables, 12so that

3:13–19 Jesus called out men from diverse educational preparation and vocational backgrounds to be His disciples (see Matt. 10:1, 2).

3:28, 29 To commit the unpardonable sin, the perpetrator must know what he is doing (see Matt. 12:31, note).

3:31–35 Jesus never undermined the family unit. The first family unit was commissioned by the Creator in the Garden of Eden (see Matt. 12:46–50, note).

4:3–9 The sower and the seed are the same in each instance; only the soils differ (see Matt. 13:3–9, note).

A DEEPER WALK OF FAITH (Drawn from More Faith in My Day)

One of the conditions for safe, enjoyable boating is to make sure that the water is deep enough. If the water is too shallow, a person runs the risk of running aground and breaking out the bottom of their boat. Similarly, spiritual shallowness is not a good condition for any woman's personal life!

How can you develop a deep walk with the Lord—one that protects you from the shallowness of life? In Proverbs 2:1–9, we find these four provisions that help a person "walk with depth":

Saturate Your Life with the Word. Respond to the Word of God and know it inside and out. Have faith in God's inspiration of Scripture (2 Tim. 3:16). If you doubt inspiration, you will doubt verse after verse, and the Bible will hold no constants for you.

Desire God's Word. Be open to what God is saying to you, and begin to desire what He has for you: "turning your ear to wisdom and applying your heart to understanding" (vs. 2 NIV). Make reading God's Word a daily habit. Make it a priority.

People do what they want to do. All of us make choices and when we don't make time for God in our day, when we don't make time for the most important relationship in our life, when we don't make time to read His words to us, we are probably not making the best choices. Choose to do what is important, not only what is urgent.

The more you know of God's Word, the more you will fall in love with God's words and seek to live by them.

Develop a Prayer Life. Prayer is the way you really get to know who God is. It is a time when God can speak to your heart. Proverbs 2:3 challenges us to "call out for insight and cry aloud for understanding." As a part of your prayer time each day:

- PRAISE God for who He is, the Creator and Sustainer of the whole universe who is interested in each of us who are in His family (Ps. 150, Matt. 10:30).
- THANK God for all He has done for you . . . for all He is doing for you . . . and for all that He will do for you in the future (Phil. 4:6).
- CONFESS your sins. Tell God about the things you have done and said and thought for which you are sorry. He tells us in 1 John 1:9 that He is "faithful and righteous to forgive us our sins."
- PRAY for your family . . . and for friends or neighbors who have needs, physical or spiritual. Ask God to work in the heart of someone you hope will come to know Jesus as Savior. Pray for your government officials, for your minister and church officers, for missionaries and other Christian servants (Phil. 2:4).
- PRAY, too, for yourself. Ask for guidance for the day ahead. Ask God to help you do His will . . . and ask Him to arrange opportunities to serve Him throughout the day (Phil. 4:6).

Be Consistent in Your Walk. Prospectors often spend years searching for gold or silver. They are persistent and consistent. Make that your approach to God's Word. There are no overnight miracles when it comes to overcoming the shallowness of life. The race of life is not a sprint, but a marathon.

If a woman will abide by these four principles, she will learn "the fear and the knowledge of God" (vs. 5 NIV). That is a high-tide mark! Your boat will not run aground in shallow spiritual waters if you truly know and have a deep reverential awe of God.

'Seeing they may see and not perceive,
And hearing they may hear and not understand;
Lest they should turn,
And their sins be forgiven them.'"[a]

The Parable of the Sower Explained

13 And He said to them, "Do you not understand this parable? How then will you understand all the parables? 14 The sower sows the word. 15 And these are the ones by the wayside where the word is sown. When they hear, Satan comes immediately and takes away the word that was sown in their hearts. 16 These likewise are the ones sown on stony ground who, when they hear the word, immediately receive it with gladness; 17 and they have no root in themselves, and so endure only for a time. Afterward, when tribulation or persecution arises for the word's sake, immediately they stumble. 18 Now these are the ones sown among thorns; they are the ones who hear the word, 19 and the cares of this world, the deceitfulness of riches, and the desires for other things entering in choke the word, and it becomes unfruitful. 20 But these are the ones sown on good ground, those who hear the word, accept it, and bear fruit: some thirtyfold, some sixty, and some a hundred."

Light Under a Basket

21 Also He said to them, "Is a lamp brought to be put under a basket or under a bed? Is it not to be set on a lampstand? 22For there is nothing hidden which will not be revealed, nor has anything been kept secret but that it should come to light. 23If anyone has ears to hear, let him hear."

4:12 [a] Isaiah 6:9, 10

24Then He said to them, "Take heed what you hear. With the same measure you use, it will be measured to you; and to you who hear, more will be given. 25For whoever has, to him more will be given; but whoever does not have, even what he has will be taken away from him."

The Parable of the Growing Seed

26And He said, "The kingdom of God is as if a man should scatter seed on the ground, 27and should sleep by night and rise by day, and the seed should sprout and grow, he himself does not know how. 28For the earth yields crops by itself: first the blade, then the head, after that the full grain in the head. 29But when the grain ripens, immediately he puts in the sickle, because the harvest has come."

The Parable of the Mustard Seed

30Then He said, "To what shall we liken the kingdom of God? Or with what parable shall we picture it? 31*It is* like a mustard seed which, when it is sown on the ground, is smaller than all the seeds on earth; 32but when it is sown, it grows up and becomes greater than all herbs, and shoots out large branches, so that the birds of the air may nest under its shade."

Jesus' Use of Parables

33And with many such parables He spoke the word to them as they were able to hear it. 34But without a parable He did not speak to them. And when they were alone, He explained all things to His disciples.

Wind and Wave Obey Jesus

35On the same day, when evening had come, He said to them, "Let us cross over to the other side." 36Now when they had left the multitude, they took Him along in the boat as He was. And other little boats were also with Him. 37And a great windstorm arose, and the waves beat into the boat, so that it was already filling. 38But He was in the stern, asleep on a pillow. And they awoke Him and said to Him, "Teacher, do You not care that we are perishing?"

39Then He arose and rebuked the wind, and said to the sea, "Peace, be still!" And the wind ceased and there was a great calm. 40But He said to them, "Why are you so fearful? How is it that you have no faith?"[a] 41And they feared exceedingly, and said to one another, "Who can this be, that even the wind and the sea obey Him!"

A Demon-Possessed Man Healed

5 Then they came to the other side of the sea, to the country of the Gadarenes.[a] 2And when He had come out of the boat, immediately there met Him out of the tombs a man with an unclean spirit, 3who had his dwelling among the tombs; and no one could bind him,[a] not even with chains, 4because he had often been bound with shackles and chains. And the chains had been pulled apart by him, and the shackles broken in pieces; neither could anyone tame him. 5And always, night and day, he was in the mountains and in the tombs, crying out and cutting himself with stones.

6When he saw Jesus from afar, he ran and worshiped Him. 7And he cried out with a loud voice

4:40 [a]NU-Text reads Have you still no faith? 5:1 [a]NU-Text reads Gerasenes. 5:3 [a]NU-Text adds anymore.

5:1–20 Jesus reached out to the Gentiles, even in seemingly hopeless situations (see Matt. 8:28–34, note).

5:2 Healing in cases of demon possession illustrates the victory of the supernatural over unusually powerful evil forces. Demons are wicked spirit beings that are personal and intelligent (Acts 16:16–18) and who may seek to express themselves through another living creature (Matt. 12:43–45). They can marshal supernatural strength (Luke 8:29; Acts 19:13–16) and are aware of God's destiny for them (Matt. 8:29; 2 Pet. 2:4). These are apparently fallen angels who took part in Satan's rebellion (Is. 14:12–15; Ezek. 28:14, 15; Jude 6). "Demon-possessed" (Gk. daimonizomai; see Matt. 8:28–33; 9:32, 33) is referenced in other NT descriptions, including "having" demons (Mark. 7:25; 9:17; Luke 4:33; 8:27; 13:11) and being "tormented" by them (Luke 6:18; Acts 5:16).

Scripture has no evidence that believers can be demon-possessed. The Christian's responsibility is not to look for demons but to be aware of their existence and possible influence and to stand against them in the authority of Jesus Christ (Eph. 6:10–12; 1 Pet. 5:8, 9).

Satan and his demons work through temptation, direct opposition to God's work, and varying levels of influence, oppression, and possession (Matt. 4:1–11; Acts 16:16–18; Mark 5:1–5; Luke 13:10–17). Demons can cause physical affliction (Matt. 12:22; 17:14–18) as well as emotional turmoil (1 Sam. 16:14; Mark 5:1–5). In addition, they work in the arena of the mind, causing people to believe lies (Acts 5:3), to embrace worldly wisdom (James 3:13–16), and to accept doctrinal error as truth (1 Tim. 4:1–5). When Jesus encountered the demonic, He did not engage in prolonged conversations with demons, frequently forbidding them to speak altogether. Based on His authority as God, He commanded them to depart from the individual they had possessed (Mark 1:23–25). The void that is left in a person's life after healing of demon possession needs to be filled (see Matt. 12:43–45). The only permanent defense against demon possession is the experience of the New Birth, which includes the permanent indwelling of the Holy Spirit. This presupposes renouncing sinful practices and cleansing one's life of anything that suggests demonic influence. The believer is then able to walk in the Spirit's fullness, to practice consistent prayer and Bible study, to experience healing in other areas of emotional and spiritual brokenness, and to be involved in healthy, godly relationships (see Ps. 13; 133; Eccl. 1; 2 Cor. 5; Gal. 6; James 5, Healing; Deut. 18, the Occult; 1 Sam. 15, Witchcraft).

JAIRUS'S RESURRECTED DAUGHTER

Jesus' claim to be the Messiah sent the hopes of the Jewish people soaring. They witnessed His healings of the physical body, His mastery over nature, and His power over demons. Jairus, an official in charge of the services and care of the synagogue, may have shared the skepticism of the Jewish leaders, but a personal dilemma sent him to the Teacher.

The twelve-year-old daughter of this distraught father was at the point of death. Hope for the future of her Jewish family lay in this young woman. In earnest supplication, Jairus pled with Jesus to come and lay His hands of healing upon her. He led the Master and His disciples through the curious and crushing throngs with an urgent pace. Suddenly Jesus stopped and asked, "Who touched me?" A desperately ill woman had simply touched the hem of His garment.

Jairus must have winced at the interruption; for him time was important. His anxious spirit must have gladdened when he saw the miracle of restoration for a woman who had suffered for as long as his little girl had been alive.

But at that moment of rejoicing, his own servants arrived with tragic news: His daughter had already died. It was too late.

At that instant of hopelessness Jesus spoke to him, "Do not be afraid; only believe, and she will be made well" (Luke 8:50). The Lord helped Jairus refocus on faith and hope. Slicing through the confusion, Jesus selected Peter, James, and John to accompany Him into the home of these grief-stricken parents. The wailing mourners were there, and He spoke to them, "Do not weep; she is not dead, but sleeping" (v. 52). At this they scoffed in disbelief. He ordered the mourners to leave, and in quiet privacy He took the lifeless girl's hand and said, "Little girl, arise." She stood and walked, and the Great Physician ordered that she be given food.

The Savior alone gives life to every young woman, and He cares deeply. Each of the three synoptic gospels records this miracle, not only verifying the deity of Jesus Christ but also reminding us that He is still our High Priest, sympathizing with us in our weaknesses. He invites us to "come boldly to the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy and find grace to help in time of need" (Heb. 4:16).

and said, "What have I to do with You, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? I implore You by God that You do not torment me."

[8]For He said to him, "Come out of the man, unclean spirit!" [9]Then He asked him, "What is your name?"

And he answered, saying, "My name is Legion; for we are many." [10]Also he begged Him earnestly that He would not send them out of the country.

[11]Now a large herd of swine was feeding there near the mountains. [12]So all the demons begged Him, saying, "Send us to the swine, that we may enter them." [13]And at once Jesus[a] gave them permission. Then the unclean spirits went out and entered the swine (there were about two thousand); and the herd ran violently down the steep place into the sea, and drowned in the sea.

[14]So those who fed the swine fled, and they told it in the city and in the country. And they went out to see what it was that had happened. [15]Then they came to Jesus, and saw the one who had been demon-possessed and had the legion, sitting and clothed and in his right mind. And they were afraid. [16]And those who saw it told them how it happened to him who had been demon-possessed, and about the swine. [17]Then they began to plead with Him to depart from their region.

[18]And when He got into the boat, he who had been demon-possessed begged Him that he might be with Him. [19]However, Jesus did not permit him, but said to him, "Go home to your friends, and tell them what great things the Lord has done for you, and how He has had compassion on you." [20]And he departed and began to proclaim in Decapolis all that Jesus had done for him; and all marveled.

A Girl Restored to Life and a Woman Healed

[21]Now when Jesus had crossed over again by boat to the other side, a great multitude gathered to Him; and He was by the sea. [22]And behold, one of the rulers of the synagogue came, Jairus by name. And when he saw Him, he fell at His feet [23]and begged Him earnestly, saying, "My little daughter lies at the point of death. Come and lay Your hands on her, that she may be healed, and she will live." [24]So Jesus went with him, and a great multitude followed Him and thronged Him.

[25]Now a certain woman had a flow of blood for twelve years, [26]and had suffered many things from many physicians. She had spent all that she had

5:13 [a]NU-Text reads And He gave.

and was no better, but rather grew worse. [27]When she heard about Jesus, she came behind Him in the crowd and touched His garment. [28]For she said, "If only I may touch His clothes, I shall be made well."

[29]Immediately the fountain of her blood was dried up, and she felt in her body that she was healed of the affliction. [30]And Jesus, immediately knowing in Himself that power had gone out of Him, turned around in the crowd and said, "Who touched My clothes?"

[31]But His disciples said to Him, "You see the multitude thronging You, and You say, 'Who touched Me?' "

[32]And He looked around to see her who had done this thing. [33]But the woman, fearing and trembling, knowing what had happened to her, came and fell down before Him and told Him the whole truth. [34]And He said to her, "Daughter, your faith has made you well. Go in peace, and be healed of your affliction."

[35]While He was still speaking, some came from the ruler of the synagogue's house who said, "Your daughter is dead. Why trouble the Teacher any further?"

[36]As soon as Jesus heard the word that was spoken, He said to the ruler of the synagogue, "Do not be afraid; only believe." [37]And He permitted no one to follow Him except Peter, James, and John the brother of James. [38]Then He came to the house of the ruler of the synagogue, and saw a tumult and those who wept and wailed loudly. [39]When He came in, He said to them, "Why make this commotion and weep? The child is not dead, but sleeping."

[40]And they ridiculed Him. But when He had put them all outside, He took the father and the mother of the child, and those who were with Him, and entered where the child was lying. [41]Then He took the child by the hand, and said to her, "Talitha, cumi," which is translated, "Little girl, I say to you, arise." [42]Immediately the girl arose and walked, for she was twelve years of age. And they were overcome with great amazement. [43]But He commanded them strictly that no one should know it, and said that something should be given her to eat.

Jesus Rejected at Nazareth

6 Then He went out from there and came to His own country, and His disciples followed Him. [2]And when the Sabbath had come, He began to teach in the synagogue. And many hearing Him were astonished, saying, "Where did this Man get these things? And what wisdom is this which is given to Him, that such mighty works are performed by His hands! [3]Is this not the carpenter, the Son of Mary, and brother of James, Joses, Judas, and Simon? And are not His sisters here with us?" So they were offended at Him.

[4]But Jesus said to them, "A prophet is not without honor except in his own country, among his own relatives, and in his own house." [5]Now He could do no mighty work there, except that He laid His hands on a few sick people and healed them. [6]And He marveled because of their unbelief. Then He went about the villages in a circuit, teaching.

Sending Out the Twelve

[7]And He called the twelve to Himself, and began to send them out two by two, and gave them power over unclean spirits. [8]He commanded them to take nothing for the journey except a staff—no bag, no bread, no copper in their money belts— [9]but to wear sandals, and not to put on two tunics.

[10]Also He said to them, "In whatever place you enter a house, stay there till you depart from that place. [11]And whoever[a] will not receive you nor hear you, when you depart from there, shake off the dust under your feet as a testimony against them.[b] Assuredly, I say to you, it will be more tolerable for Sodom and Gomorrah in the day of judgment than for that city!"

[12]So they went out and preached that people should repent. [13]And they cast out many demons, and anointed with oil many who were sick, and healed them.

John the Baptist Beheaded

[14]Now King Herod heard of Him, for His name had become well known. And he said, "John the 5:27 Anyone touched by this woman who was bleeding would be made unclean. However, when she touched Jesus, He made her clean (see Matt. 9:20–22, note).

6:1 His own country would be Nazareth. Even though Bethlehem was the place of Jesus' birth, He was known as a Nazarene because He grew to manhood in this small village (Mark 1:9; see map, Events in Christ's Ministry).

6:3 Offended has the connotation of mistrust, scandal, and disapproval. Because they could not explain Him, they rejected Him.

6:4 Various proverbs were similar to this one in both Jewish and Gentile usage, but Jesus made a particular point by using the word "prophet," a reference to someone with God's message. Perhaps the familiarity of Jesus to His fellow villagers kept them from seeing Him as God's Son. They certainly had seen His miracles and heard His life-changing teaching. Many probably heard of the extraordinary circumstances surrounding His birth. If Jesus was rejected by those in His own hometown, believers should not be surprised when the world rejects them as well (John 17:14).

LEISURE A TIME TO REST AND PLAY

The Bible speaks in a negative way about "idleness" (Prov. 6:6–11; 1 Tim. 5:13), referring to those who are lazy by such loathsome words as "slothful," "sluggard," and "slack hand"—and very positively about labor and work (Luke 10:7; 1 Cor. 3:8, 9; Eph. 4:28, 1 Thess. 4:11). Given the admonition that we are to work six days and rest one (Ex. 34:21), we might conclude that the Bible is about all work and no fun. That is far from the truth!

Jesus expected His disciples to "come aside" periodically for rest, and Scripture has repeated references to the benefits of "making merry" (Prov. 15:13, 15; 17:22; Luke 15:32).

The Bible speaks of more than seventy days a year in which "no customary work" is to be done (Lev. 23:7, 8): the seven-day feasts that mark Passover, Tabernacles, and Weeks, as well as the Feast of Trumpets, and every Sabbath day! In addition to rest and prayer, leisure days in the Bible are associated with food, gift-giving, singing, and great joy (Rev. 11:10).

A time of rest from work is advocated for those who are experiencing grief (Matt. 14:10–13), those who are seeking spiritual empowerment to do God's will (Matt. 4:1, 11), those who are entering into an intense period of prayer (Matt. 14:23), and those who are newly married (Deut. 24:5).

Baptist is risen from the dead, and therefore these powers are at work in him."

15 Others said, "It is Elijah."

And others said, "It is the Prophet, or[a] like one of the prophets."

16 But when Herod heard, he said, "This is John, whom I beheaded; he has been raised from the dead!" 17 For Herod himself had sent and laid hold of John, and bound him in prison for the sake of Herodias, his brother Philip's wife; for he had married her. 18 Because John had said to Herod, "It is not lawful for you to have your brother's wife."

19 Therefore Herodias held it against him and wanted to kill him, but she could not; 20 for Herod feared John, knowing that he was a just and holy man, and he protected him. And when he heard him, he did many things, and heard him gladly.

21 Then an opportune day came when Herod on his birthday gave a feast for his nobles, the high officers, and the chief men of Galilee. 22 And when Herodias' daughter herself came in and danced, and pleased Herod and those who sat with him, the king said to the girl, "Ask me whatever you want, and I will give it to you." 23 He also swore to her, "Whatever you ask me, I will give you, up to half my kingdom."

24 So she went out and said to her mother, "What shall I ask?"

And she said, "The head of John the Baptist!"

25 Immediately she came in with haste to the king and asked, saying, "I want you to give me at once the head of John the Baptist on a platter."

26 And the king was exceedingly sorry; yet, because of the oaths and because of those who sat with him, he did not want to refuse her. 27 Immediately the king sent an executioner and commanded his head to be brought. And he went and beheaded him in prison, 28 brought his head on a platter, and gave it to the girl; and the girl gave it to her mother. 29 When his disciples heard of it, they came and took away his corpse and laid it in a tomb.

Feeding the Five Thousand

30 Then the apostles gathered to Jesus and told Him all things, both what they had done and what they had taught. 31 And He said to them, "Come aside by yourselves to a deserted place and rest a while." For there were many coming and going, and they did not even have time to eat. 32 So they departed to a deserted place in the boat by themselves.

33 But the multitudes[a] saw them departing, and many knew Him and ran there on foot from all the cities. They arrived before them and came together to Him. 34 And Jesus, when He came out, saw a great multitude and was moved with compassion for them, because they were like sheep not having a shepherd. So He began to teach them many things. 35 When the day was now far spent, His disciples came to Him and said, "This is a deserted place, and already the hour is late. 36 Send them away, that they may go into the surrounding country and villages and buy themselves bread;[a] for they have nothing to eat."

37 But He answered and said to them, "You give them something to eat."

6:37–42 The feeding of the 5,000 is the only miracle recorded in all four gospels (Matt. 14:13–21; Luke 9:12–17; John 6:5–13). This miracle, as well as other miracles Jesus performed, was to verify that the kingdom was being offered. Provision for

THE QUEENS OF THE NEW TESTAMENT

NAME	GENERAL INFORMATION
Bernice	Elder daughter of Herod Agrippa I; Married her uncle, the king of Chalcis; Consort to her brother Herod Agrippa II; Visited Festus with Agrippa and listened to Paul's defense (Acts 25:13, 23; 26:30); Mistress to Roman emperors Vespasian and Titus.
Candace	Title of the queens of Ethiopia; A member of her imperial staff accepted Christ as his Savior and was baptized by the evangelist Philip (Acts 8:27, 28); Tradition holds that this queen also became a Christian.
Drusilla	Younger daughter of Herod Agrippa I; Wife of Aziz of Emesa; Wife of Procurator Felix of Judea; Present for Paul's second appearance before Felix (Acts 24:24).
Herodias	Daughter of Aristobulus and Berenice (sister to Herod Agrippa I); Granddaughter of Herod the Great; Married her uncle, Herod Philip; Mother of Salome, according to the Jewish historian Josephus; Consort to Herod Antipas (her brother-in-law); Responsible for the death of John the Baptist (Matt. 14:1–12; Mark 6:17).
Queen of the South	Identified as Nikauli by the Jewish historian Josephus; Visitor to Solomon's court (1 Kin. 10:1–13); Historic visit to Solomon noted by Jesus (Matt. 12:42; Luke 11:31).
Unnamed queen in the Book of Revelation	Reference to the city of Babylon—its wickedness and destruction (Rev. 18:7–10).

And they said to Him, "Shall we go and buy two hundred denarii worth of bread and give them something to eat?"

38 But He said to them, "How many loaves do you have? Go and see."

And when they found out they said, "Five, and two fish."

39 Then He commanded them to make them all sit down in groups on the green grass. 40 So they sat down in ranks, in hundreds and in fifties. 41 And when He had taken the five loaves and the two fish, He looked up to heaven, blessed and broke the loaves, and gave them to His disciples to set before them; and the two fish He divided among them all. 42 So they all ate and were filled. 43 And they took up twelve baskets full of fragments and of the fish.

feasts of the Messiah had been foretold (Is. 25:6–9); but Jesus was not only providing for the multitudes, He was also training the disciples. Their mission was not to send people away, but to "give them something to eat" (Mark 6:37). Jesus blessed, broke, multiplied, and gave the food to the disciples; then they served it. The disciples participated by bringing the little they had, sharing the abundance He gave, and gathering the leftovers. Jesus was the chief Shepherd who would supply all their needs (Jer. 23:4).

TOUCHING AN EXPRESSION OF LOVE

The woman appeared out of nowhere. "If only I may touch His garment," she whispered under her breath. She pushed her way through the crowd and touched the hem of Jesus' robe. And the woman, who had suffered a continuous blood flow for twelve years, was healed.

While touching and kissing were common in biblical days, Levitical Law forbade many forms of touching. A Hebrew could not touch an unclean animal (Lev. 11:8), a woman following childbirth (Lev. 12:2), a victim of leprosy (Lev. 13:11), or a woman in her menstrual cycle (Lev. 15:19).

Jesus, motivated by a love that transcended the Law, frequently touched others. He touched a leprous man (Mark 1:41), a blind man's eyes (John 9:6), the dead body of Jairus' daughter (Mark 5:41), and a deaf-mute's tongue (Mark 7:33). He gave no thought to Himself as He reached out to others. Jesus also allowed others to touch Him. A woman "who was a sinner" washed and kissed His feet (Luke 7:38). A bleeding woman touched His robe's hem (Matt. 9:20, 21). Jesus often healed and imparted His compassion through touch because touching communicates empathy, affection, healing, and affirmation. Those who have felt His touch must reach out in turn to touch others. There is no better way to feel a person's heartbeat than to embrace that one in a holy hug!

44 Now those who had eaten the loaves were about[a] five thousand men.

Jesus Walks on the Sea

45 Immediately He made His disciples get into the boat and go before Him to the other side, to Bethsaida, while He sent the multitude away.
46 And when He had sent them away, He departed to the mountain to pray. 47 Now when evening came, the boat was in the middle of the sea; and He was alone on the land. 48 Then He saw them straining at rowing, for the wind was against them. Now about the fourth watch of the night
He came to them, walking on the sea, and would have passed them by. 49 And when they saw Him walking on the sea, they supposed it was a ghost, and cried out; 50 for they all saw Him and were troubled. But immediately He talked with them and said to them, "Be of good cheer! It is I; do not be afraid." 51 Then He went up into the boat to them, and the wind ceased. And they were greatly amazed in themselves beyond measure, and marveled. 52 For they had not understood about the loaves, because their heart was hardened.

Many Touch Him and Are Made Well

53 When they had crossed over, they came to the land of Gennesaret and anchored there. 54 And when they came out of the boat, immediately the people recognized Him, 55 ran through that whole surrounding region, and began to carry about on beds those who were sick to wherever they heard
He was. 56 Wherever He entered, into villages, cities, or the country, they laid the sick in the marketplaces, and begged Him that they might just touch the hem of His garment. And as many as touched Him were made well.

Defilement Comes from Within

7 Then the Pharisees and some of the scribes came together to Him, having come from Jerusalem. 2 Now when[a] they saw some of His disciples eat bread with defiled, that is, with unwashed hands, they found fault. 3 For the Pharisees and all the Jews do not eat unless they wash their hands in a special way, holding the tradition of the elders. 4 When they come from the marketplace, they do not eat unless they wash. And there are many other things which they have received and hold, like the washing of cups, pitchers, copper vessels, and couches.

5 Then the Pharisees and scribes asked Him,
"Why do Your disciples not walk according to the tradition of the elders, but eat bread with unwashed hands?"

6 He answered and said to them, "Well did Isaiah prophesy of you hypocrites, as it is written:

'This people honors Me with their lips,
But their heart is far from Me.

6:44 [a]NU-Text and M-Text omit about. 7:2 [a]NU-Text omits when and they found fault.

6:44 The crowds of people were counted by numbering the men. Had the women and children been counted, the number would have been much higher.

7:1–5 The Pharisees existed to preserve and demonstrate God's laws. In their zeal to do this, they built up a system of their own interpretation, which became a body of traditions that often superseded Scripture when the two sources did not agree. Ceremonial washing was one of these elevated traditions (see Mark 1:22; chart, Jewish Sects).

7:6–8 Jesus showed no mercy to the ones who were the supposed shepherds of the people. "Hypocrite" was a Greek theatrical term describing someone who acted the part of another (see Matt. 7:1–6, note).

7 And in vain they worship Me,
Teaching as doctrines the commandments of men.'[a]

8 For laying aside the commandment of God, you hold the tradition of men[a]—the washing of pitchers and cups, and many other such things you do."

9 He said to them, "All too well you reject the commandment of God, that you may keep your tradition. 10 For Moses said, 'Honor your father and your mother';[a] and, 'He who curses father or mother, let him be put to death.'[b] 11 But you say, 'If a man says to his father or mother, "Whatever profit you might have received from me is Corban"—' (that is, a gift to God), 12 then you no longer let him do anything for his father or his mother, 13 making the word of God of no effect through your tradition which you have handed down. And many such things you do."

14 When He had called all the multitude to Himself, He said to them, "Hear Me, everyone, and understand: 15 There is nothing that enters a man from outside which can defile him; but the things which come out of him, those are the things that defile a man. 16 If anyone has ears to hear, let him hear!"[a]

17 When He had entered a house away from the crowd, His disciples asked Him concerning the parable. 18 So He said to them, "Are you thus without understanding also? Do you not perceive that whatever enters a man from outside cannot defile him, 19 because it does not enter his heart but his stomach, and is eliminated, thus purifying all foods?"[a] 20 And He said, "What comes out of a man, that defiles a man. 21 For from within, out of the heart of men, proceed evil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders, 22 thefts, covetousness, wickedness, deceit, lewdness, an evil eye, blasphemy, pride, foolishness. 23 All these evil things come from within and defile a man."

A Gentile Shows Her Faith

24 From there He arose and went to the region of Tyre and Sidon.[a] And He entered a house and wanted no one to know it, but He could not be hidden. 25 For a woman whose young daughter had an unclean spirit heard about Him, and she came and fell at His feet. 26 The woman was a Greek, a Syro-Phoenician by birth, and she kept asking Him to cast the demon out of her daughter. 27 But Jesus said to her, "Let the children be filled first, for it is not good to take the children's bread and throw it to the little dogs."

28 And she answered and said to Him, "Yes, Lord, yet even the little dogs under the table eat from the children's crumbs."

29 Then He said to her, "For this saying go your way; the demon has gone out of your daughter."

30 And when she had come to her house, she found the demon gone out, and her daughter lying on the bed.

Jesus Heals a Deaf-Mute

31 Again, departing from the region of Tyre and Sidon, He came through the midst of the region of Decapolis to the Sea of Galilee. 32 Then they brought to Him one who was deaf and had an impediment in his speech, and they begged Him to put His hand on him. 33 And He took him aside from the multitude, and put His fingers in his ears, and He spat and touched his tongue. 34 Then, looking up to heaven, He sighed, and said to him, "Ephphatha," that is, "Be opened."

35 Immediately his ears were opened, and the impediment of his tongue was loosed, and he spoke plainly. 36 Then He commanded them that they should tell no one; but the more He commanded them, the more widely they proclaimed it. 37 And they were astonished beyond measure, saying, "He has done all things well. He makes both the deaf to hear and the mute to speak."

Feeding the Four Thousand

8 In those days, the multitude being very great and having nothing to eat, Jesus called His disciples to Him and said to them, 2 "I have compassion

7:7 [a]Isaiah 29:13 7:8 [a]NU-Text omits the rest of this verse. 7:10 [a]Exodus 20:12; Deuteronomy 5:16 [b]Exodus 21:17 7:16 [a]NU-Text omits this verse. 7:19 [a]NU-Text ends quotation with eliminated, setting off the final clause as Mark's comment that Jesus has declared all foods clean. 7:24 [a]NU-Text omits and Sidon.

7:9–12 Corban was a practice in which an individual dedicated possessions to God but retained the use of those possessions (see Matt. 15:1–7, note).

7:13 Traditions can be dangerous because they are human inventions. When they clash with Scripture, the initial reaction sometimes is to preserve what people have created rather than to preserve God's Word (see 1 Sam. 7, Traditions).

7:14–23 Specific food regulations were given in the OT, but the religious leaders had developed many other regulations as part of their oral tradition. This process had progressed to the point that some religious leaders believed righteousness and unrighteousness could be determined by food eaten. Jesus condemned this belief because it obscured the real issue—that the heart, not food, is the source of uncleanness.

7:24–30 The Syro-Phoenician woman was a Gentile who reached out to the Savior (see Matt. 15:21–28; Matt. 15, Syro-Phoenician Woman).

7:32–37 This account of a unique healing is found only in the Gospel of Mark. The Lord's procedure is unlike any other recorded healings. In all likelihood Jesus had particular teaching objectives in mind. Without doubt His touch and His oneness with the Father accomplished the miracle.

8:1–9 This miraculous feeding of the 4,000 is similar to the account of the feeding of the 5,000 found elsewhere (see Matt. 15:32–39, note).

on the multitude, because they have now continued with Me three days and have nothing to eat. 3And if I send them away hungry to their own houses, they will faint on the way; for some of them have come from afar."

4Then His disciples answered Him, "How can one satisfy these people with bread here in the wilderness?"

5He asked them, "How many loaves do you have?"

And they said, "Seven."

6So He commanded the multitude to sit down on the ground. And He took the seven loaves and gave thanks, broke them and gave them to His disciples to set before them; and they set them before the multitude. 7They also had a few small fish; and having blessed them, He said to set them also before them. 8So they ate and were filled, and they took up seven large baskets of leftover fragments. 9Now those who had eaten were about four thousand. And He sent them away, 10immediately got into the boat with His disciples, and came to the region of Dalmanutha.

The Pharisees Seek a Sign

11Then the Pharisees came out and began to dispute with Him, seeking from Him a sign from heaven, testing Him. 12But He sighed deeply in His spirit, and said, "Why does this generation seek a sign? Assuredly, I say to you, no sign shall be given to this generation."

Beware of the Leaven of the Pharisees and Herod

13And He left them, and getting into the boat again, departed to the other side. 14Now the disciples[a] had forgotten to take bread, and they did not have more than one loaf with them in the boat. 15Then He charged them, saying, "Take heed, beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and the leaven of Herod."

16And they reasoned among themselves, saying, "It is because we have no bread."

17But Jesus, being aware of it, said to them, "Why do you reason because you have no bread? Do you not yet perceive nor understand? Is your heart still[a] hardened? 18Having eyes, do you not see? And having ears, do you not hear? And do you not remember? 19When I broke the five loaves for the five thousand, how many baskets full of fragments did you take up?"

They said to Him, "Twelve."

20"Also, when I broke the seven for the four thousand, how many large baskets full of fragments did you take up?"

And they said, "Seven."

21So He said to them, "How is it you do not understand?"

A Blind Man Healed at Bethsaida

22Then He came to Bethsaida; and they brought a blind man to Him, and begged Him to touch him. 23So He took the blind man by the hand and led him out of the town. And when He had spit on his eyes and put His hands on him, He asked him if he saw anything.

24And he looked up and said, "I see men like trees, walking."

25Then He put His hands on his eyes again and made him look up. And he was restored and saw everyone clearly. 26Then He sent him away to his house, saying, "Neither go into the town, nor tell anyone in the town."[a]

Peter Confesses Jesus as the Christ

27Now Jesus and His disciples went out to the towns of Caesarea Philippi; and on the road He asked His disciples, saying to them, "Who do men say that I am?"

28So they answered, "John the Baptist; but some say, Elijah; and others, one of the prophets."

29He said to them, "But who do you say that I am?"

Peter answered and said to Him, "You are the Christ."

30Then He strictly warned them that they should tell no one about Him.

8:14 [a]NU-Text and M-Text read they. 8:17 [a]NU-Text omits still. 8:26 [a]NU-Text reads "Do not even go into the town."

8:11 The Pharisees had personally observed Jesus' miracles. They did not look at miracles as signs drawing them to belief but as a means of seeking to entrap Jesus (see Matt. 12:38–40, note).

8:12 Jesus sighed (Gk. anastenazō), denoting deep disappointment and grief. The word is found only here in the NT. Jesus could not help but be overwhelmed with grief that these religious leaders who had long immersed themselves in Scripture would be so indifferent to Him and His mission (see chart, The Emotions of Jesus).

8:13–15 Leaven here represents the evil of the Pharisees who refused to accept God's Son by faith, while they professed to uphold God and His Word (see Mark 7:1–5, note; see chart, Jewish Sects). The disciples' greater danger would not come from God-haters or atheists but from professing God-lovers who were determined to design their own religion (see Matt. 16:5–12).

8:30 Jesus forbade the disciples to share what they knew because they still did not understand His mission—the Cross. The ultimate work of salvation could be easily obscured by momentary desires for healings, provisions, and political power. The people (including the disciples) sought a mighty ruler who would make their present lives easier. Instead, they were faced with the mighty God whose mission was first of all to make their eternity secure.

WOMEN MINISTERING TO JESUS

WOMAN	HER MINISTRY	PRACTICAL APPLICATION
Mary (Luke 2:51, 52)	She nurtured Jesus as He grew into manhood.	Mothers are to rear their children by nurturing them in the Lord (Eph. 6:4).
Susanna (Luke 8:1–3)	She supported the ministry of Jesus with her energies and resources.	Women have opportunity to invest time, energy, and resources (1 Tim. 6:17–19).
Mary of Bethany (Luke 10:39)	She listened to Jesus as He shared spiritual truth.	Women must take time to study God's Word and to listen for His voice (2 Tim. 2:15; Heb. 4:12).
The Samaritan woman (John 4:28–30)	She heard Jesus share the gospel, accepted His grace, then began sharing her testimony with others.	Women, too, have the responsibility to share the Good News of the gospel (1 Pet. 3:15).
The mother-in-law of Peter (Mark 1:29–31)	She was hospitable to Jesus and His disciples.	In a sense, your hospitality is always offered ultimately to Jesus (Col. 3:17, 23, 24).
The widow with two mites (Mark 12:41–44)	She was generous in her support of the kingdom.	The Lord never expects you to give more than you have-only to be generous with that entrusted to you (Heb. 6:10).
Mary of Bethany (Matt. 26:6–13)	She prepared the body of Jesus for burial.	Even mundane tasks are important (Mark 14:8).
Mary Magdalene (Matt. 27:55; John 19:25; 20:16)	She did not desert Jesus when He was rejected. She was the first to proclaim the Resurrection.	Women must stand firm in the faith even in times of discouragement and persecution (Rom. 8:35–39). They must be ready to share the Good News of the Resurrection (1 Pet. 3:15).

Jesus praised women for their faith (Mark 7:24–30) and used women and their homes as well as their household tasks as examples in His parables (Matt. 13:33; 24:41; see chart, Women and the Parables of Jesus). Women played a vital role not only in the church and in kingdom ministries but also in personal ministries to Jesus.

Jesus Predicts His Death and Resurrection

31 And He began to teach them that the Son of Man must suffer many things, and be rejected by the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and after three days rise again. 32 He spoke this word openly. Then Peter took Him aside and began to rebuke Him. 33 But when He had turned around and looked at His disciples, He rebuked

8:31 Jesus' favorite title for Himself appears to be "Son of Man." The disciples had referred to Him as the Christ and the Son of the living God (see Matt. 16:16). These titles were accurate. Yet Jesus used "Son of Man" to describe Himself more

Peter, saying, "Get behind Me, Satan! For you are not mindful of the things of God, but the things of men."

Take Up the Cross and Follow Him

34When He had called the people to Himself, with His disciples also, He said to them, "Whoever desires to come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me. 35For whoever desires to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for My sake and the gospel's will save it. 36For what will it profit a man if he gains the whole world, and loses his own soul? 37Or what will a man give in exchange for his soul? 38For whoever is ashamed of Me and My words in this adulterous and sinful generation, of him the Son of Man also will be ashamed when He comes in the glory of His Father with the holy angels."

Jesus Transfigured on the Mount

9 And He said to them, "Assuredly, I say to you that there are some standing here who will not taste death till they see the kingdom of God present with power."

2Now after six days Jesus took Peter, James, and John, and led them up on a high mountain apart by themselves; and He was transfigured before them. 3His clothes became shining, exceedingly white, like snow, such as no launderer on earth can whiten them. 4And Elijah appeared to them with Moses, and they were talking with Jesus. 5Then Peter answered and said to Jesus, "Rabbi, it is good for us to be here; and let us make three tabernacles: one for You, one for Moses, and one for Elijah"— 6because he did not know what to say, for they were greatly afraid.

7And a cloud came and overshadowed them; and a voice came out of the cloud, saying, "This is My beloved Son. Hear Him!" 8Suddenly, when they had looked around, they saw no one anymore, but only Jesus with themselves.

9Now as they came down from the mountain, He commanded them that they should tell no one the things they had seen, till the Son of Man had risen from the dead. 10So they kept this word to themselves, questioning what the rising from the dead meant.

11And they asked Him, saying, "Why do the scribes say that Elijah must come first?"

12Then He answered and told them, "Indeed, Elijah is coming first and restores all things. And how is it written concerning the Son of Man, that He must suffer many things and be treated with contempt? 13But I say to you that Elijah has also come, and they did to him whatever they wished, as it is written of him."

A Boy Is Healed

14And when He came to the disciples, He saw a great multitude around them, and scribes disputing with them. 15Immediately, when they saw Him, all the people were greatly amazed, and running to Him, greeted Him. 16And He asked the scribes, "What are you discussing with them?"

17Then one of the crowd answered and said, "Teacher, I brought You my son, who has a mute spirit. 18And wherever it seizes him, it throws him down; he foams at the mouth, gnashes his teeth, and becomes rigid. So I spoke to Your disciples, that they should cast it out, but they could not."

19He answered him and said, "O faithless generation, how long shall I be with you? How long shall I bear with you? Bring him to Me." 20Then they brought him to Him. And when he saw Him, immediately the spirit convulsed him, and he fell on the ground and wallowed, foaming at the mouth.

21So He asked his father, "How long has this been happening to him?"

And he said, "From childhood. 22And often he has thrown him both into the fire and into the water to destroy him. But if You can do anything, have compassion on us and help us."

23Jesus said to him, "If you can believe,[a] all things are possible to him who believes."

24Immediately the father of the child cried out and said with tears, "Lord, I believe; help my unbelief!"

9:23 [a]NU-Text reads "'If You can!' All things. . . ."

than 80 times. This designation is found in the OT as a reference to man (Ps. 8:4; 80:17) and as a means of addressing the prophet Ezekiel (Ezek. 2:1; 3:1). In the Gospel of Mark, the term seems to link eschatological glory with earthly suffering and death. Jesus described the mission of the "Son of Man" as serving others and giving His life as a ransom (Mark 10:45). The future of the "Son of Man" involved coming with great power and glory (Mark 8:38; 13:26) and sitting at the right hand of God the Father (Mark 14:62).

8:32, 33 Jesus' mission did not fit Peter's agenda for the Messiah. Peter, in effect, was doing the same thing Satan had tried to do with Jesus in the wilderness temptation. Yet Jesus again refused to act on His own apart from the Father. Peter received a stinging rebuke because He was in opposition to the Father's will. Nothing would dissuade Jesus from His mission (Phil. 2:8; Heb. 10:7).

9:14–23 The remaining disciples had been trying to cast a demon out of a boy. The Lord's rebuke (v. 19) indicated their faith in Him had wavered, and thus they were unable to cast out the demon. Whether Jesus' words, "If you can believe, all things are possible to him who believes," were directed to the boy's father or to the disciples is not clear (v. 23). They both needed the message.

9:24 The father's honest response of recognizing that he believed yet knowing his belief was imperfect, represented the first step in pleasing God. The second step was to cry out to God.

Whatever God asks you to be, He enables you to be!
Anne Ortlund

[25]When Jesus saw that the people came running together, He rebuked the unclean spirit, saying to it, "Deaf and dumb spirit, I command you, come out of him and enter him no more!" [26]Then the spirit cried out, convulsed him greatly, and came out of him. And he became as one dead, so that many said, "He is dead." [27]But Jesus took him by the hand and lifted him up, and he arose.

[28]And when He had come into the house, His disciples asked Him privately, "Why could we not cast it out?"

[29]So He said to them, "This kind can come out by nothing but prayer and fasting."[a]

Jesus Again Predicts His Death and Resurrection

[30]Then they departed from there and passed through Galilee, and He did not want anyone to know it. [31]For He taught His disciples and said to them, "The Son of Man is being betrayed into the hands of men, and they will kill Him. And after He is killed, He will rise the third day." [32]But they did not understand this saying, and were afraid to ask Him.

Who Is the Greatest?

[33]Then He came to Capernaum. And when He was in the house He asked them, "What was it you disputed among yourselves on the road?" [34]But they kept silent, for on the road they had disputed among themselves who would be the greatest. [35]And He sat down, called the twelve, and said to them, "If anyone desires to be first, he shall be last of all and servant of all." [36]Then He took a little child and set him in the midst of them. And when He had taken him in His arms, He said to them, [37]"Whoever receives one of these little children in My name receives Me; and whoever receives Me, receives not Me but Him who sent Me."

Jesus Forbids Sectarianism

[38]Now John answered Him, saying, "Teacher, we saw someone who does not follow us casting out demons in Your name, and we forbade him because he does not follow us."

[39]But Jesus said, "Do not forbid him, for no one who works a miracle in My name can soon afterward speak evil of Me. [40]For he who is not against us is on our[a] side. [41]For whoever gives you a cup of water to drink in My name, because you belong to Christ, assuredly, I say to you, he will by no means lose his reward.

Jesus Warns of Offenses

[42]"But whoever causes one of these little ones who believe in Me to stumble, it would be better for him if a millstone were hung around his neck, and he were thrown into the sea. [43]If your hand causes you to sin, cut it off. It is better for you to enter into life maimed, rather than having two hands, to go to hell, into the fire that shall never be quenched— [44]where

'Their worm does not die
And the fire is not quenched.'[a]

9:29 [a]NU-Text omits and fasting. 9:40 [a]M-Text reads against you is on your side. 9:44 [a]NU-Text omits this verse.

9:29 Fasting is a means of focusing one's entire attention on God (see Matt. 6:16–18, note).

9:33–35 The argument over positions in the kingdom presented an opportunity for Jesus to continue teaching the disciples about what would be involved in genuine discipleship. Possibly this episode came about because three disciples—Peter, James, and John—had been given special opportunities to be with Jesus (Mark 5:35–42; 9:2–13). Whatever the reason, they still did not understand Jesus. He had clearly taught self-denial as a prerequisite for following Him (Mark 8:34; see also Mark 10, Servanthood).

9:36, 37 Jesus used a small child to illustrate servanthood and the demeanor necessary for discipleship. Genuine greatness would mean caring for and treating with respect the most humble and seemingly insignificant among us. No one ever cared more about children than Jesus.

9:42 Little ones probably refers more to unprepared disciples or babes in the faith than to children. Causing others to stumble was a major offense with serious consequences.

9:43–48 Hell derives from the Valley of Hinnom (Heb. ge' hinnom), a ravine south of the city of Jerusalem. Here, during the monarchy period, apostasizing Jews adopted the cultic practices of Palestine and cremated their children in honor of the gods Baal and Molech (2 Kin. 23:10; Jer. 7:31, 32; 32:35). As a result, the Valley of Hinnom became known in Jewish tradition as the dump heap, the place of destruction by fire (Jer. 31:40). Jesus used graphic language to warn His hearers that the torments of hell are real and eternal and that this eternal separation from God and all that is good should be avoided at all costs.

On the day of God's final judgment, there is no prerogative for changing one's mind. Salvation is God's gift to those who have put their faith and trust in Him (Eph. 2:8). Scripture teaches clearly that your earthly response to Jesus irrevocably determines your eternal destiny—heaven or hell (see 1 Cor. 15, Death; Eph. 2, Salvation; 2 Tim 4, Heaven).

ENABLING CODEPENDENCY IN ACTION

Enabling is codependency in action. An enabler is someone who responds to another's problem by attempting to "take care of" the situation by making things all right. Feeling that the other person's problem is most likely her fault, an enabler allows the behavior to determine her worth. Only when she is doing for others does she feel "I'm somebody, I'm appreciated, I have value." This over-developed sense of responsibility makes it hard to "let go" and allow others to take responsibility for their own behavior and problems.

The solution to the quicksand of enabling is found in a new understanding of what God says about your relationships with others and about who God is and who you are. Scripture makes it clear that no one is responsible for the actions of others (Rom. 14:12). When the rich young ruler came to Jesus (Mark 10:17–22), Jesus spoke truth to him, then let him make his own decision. He did not attempt to follow the young man or manipulate his actions—though He loved him dearly.

Letting go is hard. However, understanding that God alone is the Great Shepherd (John 10:11) and that He does His job well (Is. 40:11) makes it possible for you to release even one greatly loved to the Lord.

The enabler, most of all, needs to understand who she is in Christ (Eph. 1:17, 18). She is of great value because God loves her—not because of what she does but for who she is as His beloved daughter. The Lord loved her before she had a chance to accomplish or fail at anything; and as a new creation in Christ Jesus, she is holy and blameless in His eyes (Eph. 1:4). God's love and mercy toward her are rich and great (Eph. 2:4, 5), and she is His child because God wills for her to be so, not because she has earned favor on her own merit (Eph. 1:5).

45 And if your foot causes you to sin, cut it off. It is better for you to enter life lame, rather than having two feet, to be cast into hell, into the fire that shall never be quenched— 46 where

'Their worm does not die
And the fire is not quenched.'[a]

47 And if your eye causes you to sin, pluck it out. It is better for you to enter the kingdom of God with one eye, rather than having two eyes, to be cast into hell fire— 48 where

'Their worm does not die
And the fire is not quenched.'[a]

Tasteless Salt Is Worthless

49 "For everyone will be seasoned with fire,[a] and every sacrifice will be seasoned with salt. 50 Salt is good, but if the salt loses its flavor, how will you season it? Have salt in yourselves, and have peace with one another."

Marriage and Divorce

10 Then He arose from there and came to the region of Judea by the other side of the Jordan. And multitudes gathered to Him again, and as He was accustomed, He taught them again.

2 The Pharisees came and asked Him, "Is it lawful for a man to divorce his wife?" testing Him.

3 And He answered and said to them, "What did Moses command you?"

4 They said, "Moses permitted a man to write a certificate of divorce, and to dismiss her."

5 And Jesus answered and said to them, "Because of the hardness of your heart he wrote you this precept. 6 But from the beginning of the creation, God 'made them male and female.'[a] 7 'For this rea- son a man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife, 8 and the two shall become one flesh';[a] so then they are no longer two, but one flesh. 9 Therefore what God has joined together, let not man separate."

10 In the house His disciples also asked Him again about the same matter. 11 So He said to them,
"Whoever divorces his wife and marries another commits adultery against her. 12 And if a woman divorces her husband and marries another, she commits adultery."

Jesus Blesses Little Children

13 Then they brought little children to Him, that He might touch them; but the disciples rebuked

10:2 The Pharisees were not interested in answers but in entrapment. Divorce was one of the challenging issues of the day (see Matt. 19, Divorce).

those who brought them. [14]But when Jesus saw it, He was greatly displeased and said to them, "Let the little children come to Me, and do not forbid them; for of such is the kingdom of God. [15]Assuredly, I say to you, whoever does not receive the kingdom of God as a little child will by no means enter it." [16]And He took them up in His arms, laid His hands on them, and blessed them.

Jesus Counsels the Rich Young Ruler

[17]Now as He was going out on the road, one came running, knelt before Him, and asked Him, "Good Teacher, what shall I do that I may inherit eternal life?"

[18]So Jesus said to him, "Why do you call Me good? No one is good but One, that is, God. [19]You know the commandments: 'Do not commit adultery,' 'Do not murder,' 'Do not steal,' 'Do not bear false witness,' 'Do not defraud,' 'Honor your father and your mother.' "[a]

[20]And he answered and said to Him, "Teacher, all these things I have kept from my youth."

[21]Then Jesus, looking at him, loved him, and said to him, "One thing you lack: Go your way, sell whatever you have and give to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; and come, take up the cross, and follow Me."

[22]But he was sad at this word, and went away sorrowful, for he had great possessions.

With God All Things Are Possible

[23]Then Jesus looked around and said to His disciples, "How hard it is for those who have riches to enter the kingdom of God!" [24]And the disciples were astonished at His words. But Jesus answered again and said to them, "Children, how hard it is for those who trust in riches[a] to enter the kingdom of God! [25]It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God."

[26]And they were greatly astonished, saying among themselves, "Who then can be saved?"

[27]But Jesus looked at them and said, "With men it is impossible, but not with God; for with God all things are possible."

[28]Then Peter began to say to Him, "See, we have left all and followed You."

[29]So Jesus answered and said, "Assuredly, I say to you, there is no one who has left house or brothers or sisters or father or mother or wife[a] or children or lands, for My sake and the gospel's, [30]who shall not receive a hundredfold now in this time— houses and brothers and sisters and mothers and children and lands, with persecutions— and in the age to come, eternal life. [31]But many who are first will be last, and the last first."

Jesus a Third Time Predicts His Death and Resurrection

[32]Now they were on the road, going up to Jerusalem, and Jesus was going before them; and they were amazed. And as they followed they were afraid. Then He took the twelve aside again and began to tell them the things that would happen to Him: [33]"Behold, we are going up to Jerusalem, and the Son of Man will be betrayed to the chief priests and to the scribes; and they will condemn Him to death and deliver Him to the Gentiles; [34]and they will mock Him, and scourge Him, and spit on Him, and kill Him. And the third day He will rise again."

Greatness Is Serving

[35]Then James and John, the sons of Zebedee, came to Him, saying, "Teacher, we want You to do for us whatever we ask."

[36]And He said to them, "What do you want Me to do for you?"

[37]They said to Him, "Grant us that we may sit, one on Your right hand and the other on Your left, in Your glory."

[38]But Jesus said to them, "You do not know what you ask. Are you able to drink the cup that I drink, and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with?"

[39]They said to Him, "We are able."

So Jesus said to them, "You will indeed drink

10:19 [a]Exodus 20:12–16; Deuteronomy 5:16–20 10:24 [a]NU-Text omits for those who trust in riches. 10:29 [a]NU-Text omits or wife.

10:17–22 Jesus loved the young man who approached Him and sought to reach the man by revealing the blind spots in his spiritual life (see Matt. 19:16–22, note).

10:24 The disciples were astonished because they believed that riches indicated the blessing of God and subsequently an assurance of heavenly reward. Riches themselves are neither good nor bad. But when they take the place of God by being the object of trust, that trust indicates money has become an idol.

10:28–31 See Matthew 19:28, 29, note.

10:32–34 All Jewish worship centered in Jerusalem. Earlier Jesus had begun telling the disciples what would happen there, but this time He added details. Though the events would seem tragic, Jesus concluded with the triumph of the Resurrection.

10:35–45 Jesus reversed human ideas of who and what is important (see Matt. 20:20–24, note). He illustrated genuine greatness and spiritual ranking in His own life as He served others rather than expecting others to wait upon Him. He covered His glory for a time and assumed the humble role of a lowly servant (Phil. 2:6–8). His self-sacrifice inspires believers to experience the same victory through denying self and obeying the Father. This theme verse of the Gospel of Mark presents the King of Glory, the One whom angels worship, honor, and serve, the One who came to the world with one goal—to serve, even to the point of laying down His life (Mark 10:45). "Ransom" suggests the idea of release, and "His life" is the ransom to be paid.

SERVANTHOOD BECOMING GREAT IN JESUS' WAY

To study biblical servanthood is to study Jesus. Jesus' only Master was the Father (Is. 53:4–6, 10–12; John 4:34). He served others because that was the Father's assignment (John 17:4–12). Jesus assumed the title of "servant," and this title is incorporated within the messianic prophecies in which He is described as the "servant of the Lord" (Is. 42:1–7; 49:1–7; 50:4–11; 52:13—53:12). In fact, Jesus understood Himself as the fulfillment of Isaiah's "suffering servant."

Even before He went to the Cross, Jesus made sure the disciples understood servanthood. They watched in amazement as He redefined leadership by taking a towel and washing their dirty feet. In His life, biblical leadership and servanthood were synonymous. Many divinely appointed leaders described themselves as "servants."

Normally servanthood is placed at the bottom rung of the ladder of success, with authority at the top. Jesus, in a revolutionary way, flipped the ladder right side up. In imitating Him, servants neither lose their identities nor become doormats; they become great (Mark 10:43).

Many women rendered service: Ruth served her mother-in-law Naomi (Ruth 1:16, 17); Esther served her people in one of their darkest hours (Esth. 4:16); the prophetess Anna served the Lord in the temple (Luke 2:37); Mary of Bethany anointed the Savior with costly oil (Matt. 26:6–10). Women followed Him faithfully even to the Cross in order to minister to His needs (Matt. 27:55).

There is no shame in biblical servanthood (Is. 49:23), which carries the imprimatur of the Lord's confidence (Is. 42:1). Such a servant works with a gentle, sensitive spirit (v. 2) and refuses to quit under suffering (v. 3). The God-honoring servant ultimately does not fail (v. 4), presents worthy goals (v. 4), is undergirded by the Lord (v. 6; Is. 49:5), and is rewarded with a fulfilling ministry (Is. 42:7; 49:4, 6) that glorifies the Lord (Is. 49:3).

The followers of Jesus should be easily recognized (Mark 10:43; John 13:13–16). They will be humbly ready for service in every way (Eph. 6:5–9; Phil. 2:6–8; Col. 3:17).

See also John 13:1–17; Heb. 5:8; 10:7; 1 Pet. 2:21–24; 1 John 2:6; notes on Commitment (Matt. 16); Obedience (Philem.); Sacrificial Living (Mic. 7); Spiritual Discipline (2 Pet. 3); Submission (1 Pet. 3); Surrender (James 4)

the cup that I drink, and with the baptism I am baptized with you will be baptized; [40]but to sit on My right hand and on My left is not Mine to give, but it is for those for whom it is prepared."

[41]And when the ten heard it, they began to be greatly displeased with James and John. [42]But Jesus called them to Himself and said to them, "You know that those who are considered rulers over the Gentiles lord it over them, and their great ones exercise authority over them. [43]Yet it shall not be so among you; but whoever desires to become great among you shall be your servant. [44]And whoever of you desires to be first shall be slave of all. [45]For even the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give His life a ransom for many."

Jesus Heals Blind Bartimaeus

[46]Now they came to Jericho. As He went out of Jericho with His disciples and a great multitude, blind Bartimaeus, the son of Timaeus, sat by the road begging. [47]And when he heard that it was Jesus of Nazareth, he began to cry out and say, "Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me!"

[48]Then many warned him to be quiet; but he cried out all the more, "Son of David, have mercy on me!"

[49]So Jesus stood still and commanded him to be called.

Then they called the blind man, saying to him, "Be of good cheer. Rise, He is calling you."

[50]And throwing aside his garment, he rose and came to Jesus.

[51]So Jesus answered and said to him, "What do you want Me to do for you?"

The blind man said to Him, "Rabboni, that I may receive my sight."

[52]Then Jesus said to him, "Go your way; your faith has made you well." And immediately he received his sight and followed Jesus on the road.

The Triumphal Entry

11 Now when they drew near Jerusalem, to Bethphage[a] and Bethany, at the Mount of Olives, He sent two of His disciples; [2]and He said to them, "Go into the village opposite you; and as soon as you have entered it you will find a colt tied, on which no one has sat. Loose it and bring it. 3And if anyone says to you, 'Why are you doing this?' say, 'The Lord has need of it,' and immediately he will send it here."

11:1 [a]M-Text reads Bethsphage.

11:1 The location of Bethphage (lit. "house of figs") is unknown, but it must have been close to Jerusalem. Bethany was about two miles east of Jerusalem. Jesus made this trip many times. He stayed in the home of Mary, Martha, and Lazarus and was able to walk into Jerusalem to minister (Matt. 21:17; John 12:1).

11:2–8 The Triumphal Entry occurred the week before the Crucifixion, as the culmination of the offer of the kingdom.

4So they went their way, and found the[a] colt tied by the door outside on the street, and they loosed it. 5But some of those who stood there said to them, "What are you doing, loosing the colt?"

6And they spoke to them just as Jesus had commanded. So they let them go. 7Then they brought the colt to Jesus and threw their clothes on it, and He sat on it. 8And many spread their clothes on the road, and others cut down leafy branches from the trees and spread them on the road. 9Then those who went before and those who followed cried out, saying:

"Hosanna!
'Blessed is He who comes in the name of the LORD*!'*[a] 10Blessed is the kingdom of our father David
That comes in the name of the Lord![a] Hosanna in the highest!"

11And Jesus went into Jerusalem and into the temple. So when He had looked around at all things, as the hour was already late, He went out to Bethany with the twelve.

The Fig Tree Withered

12Now the next day, when they had come out from Bethany, He was hungry. 13And seeing from afar a fig tree having leaves, He went to see if perhaps He would find something on it. When He came to it, He found nothing but leaves, for it was not the season for figs. 14In response Jesus said to it, "Let no one eat fruit from you ever again."

And His disciples heard it.

Jesus Cleanses the Temple

15So they came to Jerusalem. Then Jesus went into the temple and began to drive out those who bought and sold in the temple, and overturned the tables of the money changers and the seats of those who sold doves. 16And He would not allow anyone to carry wares through the temple. 17Then He taught, saying to them, "Is it not written, 'My house shall be called a house of prayer for all nations'?[a] But you have made it a 'den of thieves.'"[b]

18And the scribes and chief priests heard it and sought how they might destroy Him; for they feared Him, because all the people were astonished at His teaching. 19When evening had come, He went out of the city.

The Lesson of the Withered Fig Tree

20Now in the morning, as they passed by, they saw the fig tree dried up from the roots. 21And Peter, remembering, said to Him, "Rabbi, look! The fig tree which You cursed has withered away."

22So Jesus answered and said to them, "Have faith in God. 23For assuredly, I say to you, whoever says to this mountain, 'Be removed and be cast into the sea,' and does not doubt in his heart, but believes that those things he says will be done, he will have whatever he says. 24Therefore I say to you, whatever things you ask when you pray, believe that you receive them, and you will have them.

Forgiveness and Prayer

25"And whenever you stand praying, if you have anything against anyone, forgive him, that your Father in heaven may also forgive you your trespasses.

11:4 [a]NU-Text and M-Text read a. 11:9 [a]Psalm 118:26 11:10 [a]NU-Text omits in the name of the Lord. 11:17 [a]Isaiah 56:7 [b]Jeremiah 7:11

Zechariah prophesied Israel's king would come "lowly and riding on a donkey" (Zech. 9:9). Because of this reference, the donkey became the animal associated with the Messiah. When Christ returns in glory to establish His kingdom, He will make a royal military entrance, riding a white horse (Rev. 19:11).

11:9 Hosanna (Heb. lit. "save now") was originally a prayer by which God's power to save was invoked, but it evolved into a mere shout or greeting.

11:12–14 The significance of cursing the fig tree is difficult to discern. Its occurrence within the context of the cleansing of the temple may illustrate the barrenness of the religious system, which should have been a place where the people could be fed spiritually but in fact offered no such nourishment.

11:15–17 Many money changers in the temple had become merely money makers. Some profited from dishonest practices (see Matt. 21:12, 13, note).

11:18 The priesthood had deteriorated into a political system in which political power was needed both to gain an office and to serve in it. No longer were priests descendants of Zadok (1 Chr. 24), the line from which the chief priests had come from the time of Solomon until Antiochus IV (see Matt. 24:15, note). The conquering ruler selected the high priests. Eventually, the office deteriorated into one that could be gained through bribing the ruling powers. Consequently, chief priests, along with the captains and treasurers of the temple, were members of wealthy and influential families who formed a small, powerful group within society (see chart, Jewish Sects).

11:25, 26 Though prayer is the most powerful resource known to man, it becomes impotent when the one praying harbors unforgiveness (Matt. 6:13, 14; 7:7; 17:20; 18:19; Luke 11:9; 17:6). Jesus was not suggesting the loss of salvation. Two aspects of forgiveness are presented: forgiveness that brings salvation (a once-and-for-all event accomplished solely by Jesus on the Cross), and the forgiveness among believers that preserves fellowship. The key words "your Father" established this latter aspect. A believer's position as a family member cannot be lost, but fellowship can be broken. The security of belonging to the family is wonderful, but the severity found in the absence of forgiveness cannot be taken lightly. A real understanding of God's forgiveness will produce the forgiveness of others (see Matt. 18:21, note).

[26]But if you do not forgive, neither will your Father in heaven forgive your trespasses."[a]

Jesus' Authority Questioned

[27]Then they came again to Jerusalem. And as He was walking in the temple, the chief priests, the scribes, and the elders came to Him. [28]And they said to Him, "By what authority are You doing these things? And who gave You this authority to do these things?"

[29]But Jesus answered and said to them, "I also will ask you one question; then answer Me, and I will tell you by what authority I do these things: [30]The baptism of John—was it from heaven or from men? Answer Me."

[31]And they reasoned among themselves, saying, "If we say, 'From heaven,' He will say, 'Why then did you not believe him?' [32]But if we say, 'From men' "—they feared the people, for all counted John to have been a prophet indeed. [33]So they answered and said to Jesus, "We do not know."

And Jesus answered and said to them, "Neither will I tell you by what authority I do these things."

The Parable of the Wicked Vinedressers

12 Then He began to speak to them in parables: "A man planted a vineyard and set a hedge around it, dug a place for the wine vat and built a tower. And he leased it to vinedressers and went into a far country. [2]Now at vintage-time he sent a servant to the vinedressers, that he might receive some of the fruit of the vineyard from the vinedressers. [3]And they took him and beat him and sent him away empty-handed. [4]Again he sent them another servant, and at him they threw stones,[a] wounded him in the head, and sent him away shamefully treated. [5]And again he sent another, and him they killed; and many others, beating some and killing some. [6]Therefore still having one son, his beloved, he also sent him to them last, saying, 'They will respect my son.' [7]But those vinedressers said among themselves, 'This is the heir. Come, let us kill him, and the inheritance will be ours.' [8]So they took him and killed him and cast him out of the vineyard.

[9]"Therefore what will the owner of the vineyard do? He will come and destroy the vinedressers, and give the vineyard to others. [10]Have you not even read this Scripture:

'The stone which the builders rejected
Has become the chief cornerstone.
[11]This was the Lord's doing,
And it is marvelous in our eyes'? "[a]

[12]And they sought to lay hands on Him, but feared the multitude, for they knew He had spoken the parable against them. So they left Him and went away.

The Pharisees: Is It Lawful to Pay Taxes to Caesar?

[13]Then they sent to Him some of the Pharisees and the Herodians, to catch Him in His words. [14]When they had come, they said to Him, "Teacher, we know that You are true, and care about no one; for You do not regard the person of men, but teach the way of God in truth. Is it lawful to pay taxes to Caesar, or not? [15]Shall we pay, or shall we not pay?"

But He, knowing their hypocrisy, said to them, "Why do you test Me? Bring Me a denarius that I may see it." [16]So they brought it.

And He said to them, "Whose image and inscription is this?" They said to Him, "Caesar's."

[17]And Jesus answered and said to them, "Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's."

And they marveled at Him.

The Sadducees: What About the Resurrection?

[18]Then some Sadducees, who say there is no resurrection, came to Him; and they asked Him, saying: [19]"Teacher, Moses wrote to us that if a man's brother dies, and leaves his wife behind, and leaves no children, his brother should take his wife and raise up offspring for his brother. [20]Now there were seven brothers. The first took a wife; and dying, he left no offspring. [21]And the second took her, and he died; nor did he leave any offspring. And the third likewise. [22]So the seven had 12:1–8 Jesus knew of His impending death. In this parable, He presented His coming rejection and death (see Matt. 21:33–41, note).

12:14 The issue of paying taxes to Rome was a sensitive one. Many Zealots held that paying tribute to a Gentile monarch was equivalent to treason against the Lord (Israel's true King). The common people struggled with this issue. Refusing to pay taxes put their lives and properties at risk; yet they did not want to offend God. The Pharisees were sure that they had caught Jesus, since they thought His only options would be to advocate rebellion against Rome (which would lead to His arrest) or to rebel against God (which would undermine the support of the people). Jesus not only diffused their trap, but He also gave the people the answer they were seeking concerning paying taxes.

12:18–27 The opposition of religious leaders to Jesus had been steadily growing because of His teachings and actions. Each group attempted to discredit Him with argumentative issues of the day. The Pharisees came with the issue of divorce (Mark 10:2); the chief priests, scribes, and elders raised the question of His authority (Mark 11:27, 28); the Pharisees and Herodians introduced the issue of taxes (Mark 12:13, 14); now the Sadducees addressed their favorite issue—the resurrection. The Sadducees did not believe in a resurrection nor the direct involvement of God in lives (see Matt. 22:23–33, note).

JEWISH SECTS

SECTS	ORIGIN	DESCRIPTION	BELIEFS
Essenes	Could have evolved from *Hasidim or Zealots because of their reaction to a corrupt priesthood.	A group of ascetics who withdrew to settle in monastic, communal communities like Qumran on the Dead Sea.	• Held property and possessions in common. • Most were celibate (adopting male children to perpetuate the communities). • Pacifists. • Exclusive and introverted, caring for their own needs within the sect. • Simple in dress and lifestyle. • Rigidly kept the Law and observed ritual self-baptism. • Believed in immortality of soul but with no bodily resurrection.
Herodians	Named because of their support for Herod the Great and his dynasty.	Political group, probably having representation from varied religious perspectives and including many wealthy and politically influential Jews.	• Supported the Hellenization of culture and incorporation of Graeco-Roman policies in Palestine. • Favored autonomy on local level and resisted challenge to the status quo but accepted foreign rule. • Opposed Jesus (Matt. 22:15–22; Mark 3:6; 12:13–17).
Pharisees ("the separated ones")	Probably descendants of the *Hasidim.	Largest of the Jewish sects; composed mostly of middle class, especially merchants and tradesmen (John 3:1–16); developers of the oral tradition and interpreters of the Law (Talmud and Mishnah); legalistic, self-righteous, and haughty (Matt. 5:20; 9:14; Luke 7:36–39; 18:9–14).	• Monotheistic. • Very concerned with Sabbath observance, tithing, and purification rituals (Matt. 23:2–36; Luke 11:37–44). • Believed in resurrection of the body, life after death, and the reality of demons and angels (Acts 23:6–10). • Opposed Jesus (Matt. 16:1–12; 22:15–22, 34–46; Mark 3:6).
Sadducees ("the righteous ones" or "judges" from Gk. syndikoi)	Claimed to be descendants of Zadok, the high priest under David and Solomon (see 2 Sam. 8:17; 1 Kin. 1:34, 35) and boasted of possible link to Aaron.	Possibly from Hasmonean priesthood but definitely from aristocracy; sect from which most high priests came during the days of Jesus (Acts 5:17, 18); in charge of temple and its services (Ezek. 40:44–46).	• Accepted only Torah as authoritative. • Held to literal interpretation of the written Law and rejected oral law as binding. • Believed in absolute freedom of human will. • Denied life after death, resurrection of body, divine providence, and existence of demons and angels (Mark 12:18–27; Luke 20:27–40). • Opposed Pharisees (Acts 23:6–10) and Jesus (Matt. 3:7–10; 16:1–12).
Zealots	Possibly came from those involved in Jewish revolt against Rome (A.D. 6).	Extremists among Pharisees, noted for religious zeal and nationalism.	• Patriotism and religion inseparable. • Fanatical in their Jewish faith and devotion to the Law. • Opposed Roman rule in Palestine; refused to pay taxes; engaged in terrorism against Rome. • Opposed Herodians and Sadducees. • From Zealots, Jesus recruited Judas Iscariot and Simon the Canaanite (Luke 6:15, 16; Acts 1:13).

*Hasidim–Freedom fighters during the Maccabean period; later the most strict and orthodox Jews.

THE WIDOW WITH TWO MITES

Jesus was teaching the people about the hypocrisy of the scribes. He described them as lusting for recognition, seeking the best positions, stealing from the helpless, yet making a pretense of being religious (Mark 12:38–40). Sitting in the women's court where the offering receptacles were located (see 2 Kin. 12:9), Jesus used one woman as an example. The comparison is spectacular.

Widowhood was one of the most vulnerable positions of the time (see Mark 12:40). A widow had less capacity for earning than slaves; and unless she had family or friends to protect and help her, she was most likely destitute and perhaps even homeless.

This particular widow was down to her last two mites (worth a fraction of a penny). Jesus drew the attention of the disciples to this woman, who brought delight to His heart. The sound of her tiny offering as it dropped into the metal receptacle must have been pitiful compared with the rattling of the many coins from the rich. They had apportioned a small percentage of their wealth; she had little, but all she had was given to God.

This was the last event of Jesus' public teaching. The act of this humble, needy widow seems to summarize all His teaching. She was not meeting a great need (ultimately God's resources are unlimited), but rather she was recognizing that everything belongs to God. Because she was in His hands, she could willingly and joyously offer all she had to Him.

her and left no offspring. Last of all the woman died also. 23Therefore, in the resurrection, when they rise, whose wife will she be? For all seven had her as wife."

24Jesus answered and said to them, "Are you not therefore mistaken, because you do not know the Scriptures nor the power of God? 25For when they rise from the dead, they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are like angels in heaven. 26But concerning the dead, that they rise, have you not read in the book of Moses, in the burning bush passage, how God spoke to him, saying, 'I am the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob'?[a] 27He is not the God of the dead, but the God of the living. You are therefore greatly mistaken."

The Scribes: Which Is the First Commandment of All?

28Then one of the scribes came, and having heard them reasoning together, perceiving[a] that He had answered them well, asked Him, "Which is the first commandment of all?"

29Jesus answered him, "The first of all the commandments is: 'Hear, O Israel, the LORD our God, the LORD is one. 30*And you shall love the* LORD your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your mind, and with all your strength.'[a] This is the first commandment.[b] 31And the second, like it, is this: 'You shall love your neighbor as yourself.'[a] There is no other commandment greater than these."

32So the scribe said to Him, "Well said, Teacher. You have spoken the truth, for there is one God, and there is no other but He. 33And to love Him with all the heart, with all the understanding, with all the soul,[a] and with all the strength, and to love one's neighbor as oneself, is more than all the whole burnt offerings and sacrifices."

34Now when Jesus saw that he answered wisely, He said to him, "You are not far from the kingdom of God."

But after that no one dared question Him.

Jesus: How Can David Call His Descendant Lord?

35Then Jesus answered and said, while He taught in the temple, "How is it that the scribes say that the Christ is the Son of David? 36For David himself said by the Holy Spirit:

'The LORD said to my Lord,
"Sit at My right hand,
Till I make Your enemies Your footstool."'[a]

37Therefore David himself calls Him 'Lord'; how is He then his Son?"

And the common people heard Him gladly.

Beware of the Scribes

38Then He said to them in His teaching, "Beware of the scribes, who desire to go around in 12:28 This scribe may have been sincere in seeking answers. Jesus made clear that a right relationship to God must precede all others (see Matt. 22:37–40).

12:35–37 The challenge was not to question Scripture but to determine its proper interpretation. David affirmed that the Messiah would be his Lord and thus greater than he (Ps. 110). Jesus fulfilled all Scripture, including this promise to David. As the Son of David, He was also the exalted Lord and promised Messiah (see Matt. 22:41–46, note).

12:38–40 The danger of creating a clerical class apart from the laity would have been a threat to any generation. These teachers of the Law wore unique robes, expected special fa-long robes, love greetings in the marketplaces, [39]the best seats in the synagogues, and the best places at feasts, [40]who devour widows' houses, and for a pretense make long prayers. These will receive greater condemnation."

The Widow's Two Mites

[41]Now Jesus sat opposite the treasury and saw how the people put money into the treasury. And many who were rich put in much. [42]Then one poor widow came and threw in two mites,[a] which make a quadrans. [43]So He called His disciples to Himself and said to them, "Assuredly, I say to you that this poor widow has put in more than all those who have given to the treasury; [44]for they all put in out of their abundance, but she out of her poverty put in all that she had, her whole livelihood."

Jesus Predicts the Destruction of the Temple

13 Then as He went out of the temple, one of His disciples said to Him, "Teacher, see what manner of stones and what buildings are here!"

[2]And Jesus answered and said to him, "Do you see these great buildings? Not one stone shall be left upon another, that shall not be thrown down."

The Signs of the Times and the End of the Age

[3]Now as He sat on the Mount of Olives opposite the temple, Peter, James, John, and Andrew asked Him privately, [4]"Tell us, when will these things be? And what will be the sign when all these things will be fulfilled?"

[5]And Jesus, answering them, began to say: "Take heed that no one deceives you. [6]For many will come in My name, saying, 'I am He,' and will deceive many. [7]But when you hear of wars and rumors of wars, do not be troubled; for such things must happen, but the end is not yet. [8]For nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. And there will be earthquakes in various places, and there will be famines and troubles.[a] These are the beginnings of sorrows.

[9]"But watch out for yourselves, for they will deliver you up to councils, and you will be beaten in the synagogues. You will be brought[a] before rulers and kings for My sake, for a testimony to them. [10]And the gospel must first be preached to all the nations. [11]But when they arrest you and deliver you up, do not worry beforehand, or premeditate[a] what you will speak. But whatever is given you in that hour, speak that; for it is not you who speak, but the Holy Spirit. [12]Now brother will betray brother to death, and a father his child; and children will rise up against parents and cause them to be put to death. [13]And you will be hated by all for My name's sake. But he who endures to the end shall be saved.

The Great Tribulation

[14]"So when you see the 'abomination of desolation,'[a] spoken of by Daniel the prophet,[b] standing where it ought not" (let the reader understand), "then let those who are in Judea flee to the mountains. [15]Let him who is on the housetop not go down into the house, nor enter to take anything out of his house. [16]And let him who is in the field not go back to get his clothes. [17]But woe to those who are pregnant and to those who are nursing babies in those days! [18]And pray that your flight may not be in winter. [19]For in those days there will be tribulation, such as has not been since the beginning of the creation which God created until this time, nor ever shall be. [20]And unless the Lord had shortened those days, no flesh would be saved; but for the elect's sake, whom He chose, He shortened the days.

[21]"Then if anyone says to you, 'Look, here is the Christ!' or, 'Look, He is there!' do not believe it. [22]For false christs and false prophets will rise and show signs and wonders to deceive, if possible, even the elect. [23]But take heed; see, I have told you all things beforehand.

The Coming of the Son of Man

[24]"But in those days, after that tribulation, the sun will be darkened, and the moon will not give its light; [25]the stars of heaven will fall, and the powers in the heavens will be shaken. [26]Then they will see the Son of Man coming in the clouds with great power and glory. [27]And then He will send His angels, and gather together His elect from the

vors, received coveted honors, and were treated as prestigious guests at the social events of the day. They sought the honor belonging only to God.

12:41–44 This widow in her poverty stands in stark contrast to the scribes in their proud arrogance. The setting for this event is the Court of the Women (see chart, The Plan of Herod's Temple). The widow's wholehearted, sacrificial devotion won the Lord's praise and commendation. She put into the temple treasury the insignificant copper coins (Gk. lepta; see chart, Money and Measurements in the Bible).

13:1, 2 The Romans, led by Titus, destroyed Jerusalem in A.D. 70.

13:3–13 Some scholars interpret this passage to be Jesus' declaration that the end of the age would be forthcoming in His generation (see Matt. 24:3, note). Others suggest that Mark 13 contains traditional, apocalyptic (having to do with the future), and redactional sayings (collected from various sources). However, the more consistent view seems to be that the material be accepted as coming from Jesus since it represents His teaching and provides instruction for His disciples before His death.

four winds, from the farthest part of earth to the farthest part of heaven.

The Parable of the Fig Tree

28"Now learn this parable from the fig tree: When its branch has already become tender, and puts forth leaves, you know that summer is near. 29So you also, when you see these things happening, know that it[a] is near—at the doors! 30Assuredly, I say to you, this generation will by no means pass away till all these things take place. 31Heaven and earth will pass away, but My words will by no means pass away.

No One Knows the Day or Hour

32"But of that day and hour no one knows, not even the angels in heaven, nor the Son, but only the Father. 33Take heed, watch and pray; for you do not know when the time is. 34*It is* like a man going to a far country, who left his house and gave authority to his servants, and to each his work, and commanded the doorkeeper to watch. 35Watch therefore, for you do not know when the master of the house is coming—in the evening, at midnight, at the crowing of the rooster, or in the morning— 36lest, coming suddenly, he find you sleeping. 37And what I say to you, I say to all: Watch!"

The Plot to Kill Jesus

14 After two days it was the Passover and the Feast of Unleavened Bread. And the chief priests and the scribes sought how they might take Him by trickery and put Him to death. 2But they said, "Not during the feast, lest there be an uproar of the people."

The Anointing at Bethany

3And being in Bethany at the house of Simon the leper, as He sat at the table, a woman came having an alabaster flask of very costly oil of spikenard. Then she broke the flask and poured it on His head. 4But there were some who were indignant among themselves, and said, "Why was this fragrant oil wasted? 5For it might have been sold for more than three hundred denarii and given to the poor." And they criticized her sharply.

6But Jesus said, "Let her alone. Why do you trouble her? She has done a good work for Me. 7For you have the poor with you always, and whenever you wish you may do them good; but Me you do not have always. 8She has done what she could. She has come beforehand to anoint My body for burial. 9Assuredly, I say to you, wherever this gospel is preached in the whole world, what this woman has done will also be told as a memorial to her."

Judas Agrees to Betray Jesus

10Then Judas Iscariot, one of the twelve, went to the chief priests to betray Him to them. 11And when they heard it, they were glad, and promised to give him money. So he sought how he might conveniently betray Him.

Jesus Celebrates the Passover with His Disciples

12Now on the first day of Unleavened Bread, when they killed the Passover lamb, His disciples said to Him, "Where do You want us to go and prepare, that You may eat the Passover?"

13And He sent out two of His disciples and said to them, "Go into the city, and a man will meet you carrying a pitcher of water; follow him. 14Wherever he goes in, say to the master of the house, 'The Teacher says, "Where is the guest room in which I may eat the Passover with My disciples?" ' 15Then he will show you a large upper room, furnished and prepared; there make ready for us."

16So His disciples went out, and came into the city, and found it just as He had said to them; and they prepared the Passover.

17In the evening He came with the twelve. 18Now as they sat and ate, Jesus said, "Assuredly, I say to you, one of you who eats with Me will betray Me."

19And they began to be sorrowful, and to say to Him one by one, "Is it I?" And another said, "Is it I?"[a]

20He answered and said to them, "It is one of the twelve, who dips with Me in the dish. 21The Son of Man indeed goes just as it is written of Him, but woe to that man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed! It would have been good for that man if he had never been born."

13:29 [a]Or He 14:19 [a]NU-Text omits this sentence.

13:30 This generation could have alluded to the generation who witnessed the things He described. For other options, see Matthew 24:34, note.

14:1, 2 The Passover and the subsequent Feast of Unleavened Bread were important celebrations to the Jews. The Passover commemorated the last night in Egypt when the angel passed over all who had the sacrificial blood displayed on their doorposts. The firstborn sons of those who did not have the blood on their doorposts (mostly Egyptians) were killed. The Feast of Unleavened Bread took place following the Passover and lasted seven days. It commemorated the Exodus from Egypt (see Ex. 11; 12; chart, The Feasts of Israel).

14:3–5 Mary of Bethany was identified as the woman who anointed Jesus. Judas was noted as the one who voiced an objection (see Matt. 26:6–13, note; John 11, Mary of Bethany).

14:20 Betrayal was an abominable act in the ancient Near East, and the betrayal of a friend after eating with him was the height of treachery.

Jesus Institutes the Lord's Supper

22And as they were eating, Jesus took bread, blessed and broke it, and gave it to them and said, "Take, eat;[a] this is My body."

23Then He took the cup, and when He had given thanks He gave it to them, and they all drank from it. 24And He said to them, "This is My blood of the new[a] covenant, which is shed for many. 25Assuredly, I say to you, I will no longer drink of the fruit of the vine until that day when I drink it new in the kingdom of God."

26And when they had sung a hymn, they went out to the Mount of Olives.

Jesus Predicts Peter's Denial

27Then Jesus said to them, "All of you will be made to stumble because of Me this night,[a] for it is written:

'I will strike the Shepherd,
And the sheep will be scattered.'[b]

28"But after I have been raised, I will go before you to Galilee."

29Peter said to Him, "Even if all are made to stumble, yet I will not be."

30Jesus said to him, "Assuredly, I say to you that today, even this night, before the rooster crows twice, you will deny Me three times."

31But he spoke more vehemently, "If I have to die with You, I will not deny You!"

And they all said likewise.

The Prayer in the Garden

32Then they came to a place which was named Gethsemane; and He said to His disciples, "Sit here while I pray." 33And He took Peter, James, and John with Him, and He began to be troubled and deeply distressed. 34Then He said to them, "My soul is exceedingly sorrowful, even to death. Stay here and watch."

35He went a little farther, and fell on the ground, and prayed that if it were possible, the hour might pass from Him. 36And He said, "Abba, Father, all things are possible for You. Take this cup away from Me; nevertheless, not what I will, but what You will."

37Then He came and found them sleeping, and said to Peter, "Simon, are you sleeping? Could you not watch one hour? 38Watch and pray, lest you enter into temptation. The spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak."

39Again He went away and prayed, and spoke the same words. 40And when He returned, He found them asleep again, for their eyes were heavy; and they did not know what to answer Him.

41Then He came the third time and said to them, "Are you still sleeping and resting? It is enough! The hour has come; behold, the Son of Man is being betrayed into the hands of sinners. 42Rise, let us be going. See, My betrayer is at hand."

Betrayal and Arrest in Gethsemane

43And immediately, while He was still speaking, Judas, one of the twelve, with a great multitude with swords and clubs, came from the chief priests and the scribes and the elders. 44Now His betrayer had given them a signal, saying, "Whomever I kiss, He is the One; seize Him and lead Him away safely."

45As soon as he had come, immediately he went up to Him and said to Him, "Rabbi, Rabbi!" and kissed Him.

46Then they laid their hands on Him and took Him. 47And one of those who stood by drew his sword and struck the servant of the high priest, and cut off his ear.

48Then Jesus answered and said to them, "Have you come out, as against a robber, with swords and clubs to take Me? 49I was daily with you in the temple teaching, and you did not seize Me. But the Scriptures must be fulfilled."

50Then they all forsook Him and fled.

A Young Man Flees Naked

51Now a certain young man followed Him, having a linen cloth thrown around his naked body. And the young men laid hold of him, 52and he left the linen cloth and fled from them naked.

Jesus Faces the Sanhedrin

53And they led Jesus away to the high priest; and with him were assembled all the chief priests,

14:32 Gethsemane (lit. "oil press") was a garden on the Mount of Olives where Jesus went often to pray (see Matt. 26:36–44, note).

14:51 This incident seems to be autobiographical since it would be unusual to include such trivia unless the naked young man was John Mark himself.

the elders, and the scribes. 54But Peter followed Him at a distance, right into the courtyard of the high priest. And he sat with the servants and warmed himself at the fire.

55Now the chief priests and all the council sought testimony against Jesus to put Him to death, but found none. 56For many bore false witness against Him, but their testimonies did not agree.

57Then some rose up and bore false witness against Him, saying, 58"We heard Him say, 'I will destroy this temple made with hands, and within three days I will build another made without hands.' " 59But not even then did their testimony agree.

60And the high priest stood up in the midst and asked Jesus, saying, "Do You answer nothing? What is it these men testify against You?" 61But He kept silent and answered nothing.

Again the high priest asked Him, saying to Him, "Are You the Christ, the Son of the Blessed?"

62Jesus said, "I am. And you will see the Son of Man sitting at the right hand of the Power, and coming with the clouds of heaven."

63Then the high priest tore his clothes and said, "What further need do we have of witnesses? 64You have heard the blasphemy! What do you think?"

And they all condemned Him to be deserving of death.

65Then some began to spit on Him, and to blindfold Him, and to beat Him, and to say to Him, "Prophesy!" And the officers struck Him with the palms of their hands.[a]

Peter Denies Jesus, and Weeps

66Now as Peter was below in the courtyard, one of the servant girls of the high priest came. 67And when she saw Peter warming himself, she looked at him and said, "You also were with Jesus of Nazareth."

68But he denied it, saying, "I neither know nor understand what you are saying." And he went out on the porch, and a rooster crowed.

69And the servant girl saw him again, and began to say to those who stood by, "This is one of them." 70But he denied it again.

And a little later those who stood by said to Peter again, "Surely you are one of them; for you are a Galilean, and your speech shows it."[a]

71Then he began to curse and swear, "I do not know this Man of whom you speak!"

72A second time the rooster crowed. Then Peter called to mind the word that Jesus had said to him, "Before the rooster crows twice, you will deny Me three times." And when he thought about it, he wept.

Jesus Faces Pilate

15 Immediately, in the morning, the chief priests held a consultation with the elders and scribes and the whole council; and they bound Jesus, led Him away, and delivered Him to Pilate. 2Then Pilate asked Him, "Are You the King of the Jews?"

He answered and said to him, "It is as you say."

3And the chief priests accused Him of many things, but He answered nothing. 4Then Pilate asked Him again, saying, "Do You answer nothing? See how many things they testify against You!"[a] 5But Jesus still answered nothing, so that Pilate marveled.

Taking the Place of Barabbas

6Now at the feast he was accustomed to releasing one prisoner to them, whomever they requested. 7And there was one named Barabbas, who was chained with his fellow rebels; they had committed murder in the rebellion. 8Then the multitude, crying aloud,[a] began to ask him to do just as he had always done for them. 9But Pilate answered them, saying, "Do you want me to release to you the King of the Jews?" 10For he knew that the chief priests had handed Him over because of envy.

11But the chief priests stirred up the crowd, so that he should rather release Barabbas to them.

14:65 [a]NU-Text reads received Him with slaps. 14:70 [a]NU-Text omits and your speech shows it. 15:4 [a]NU-Text reads of which they accuse You. 15:8 [a]NU-Text reads going up.

14:53–64 Jesus had both religious and civil trials (see Matt. 26:59, 60, note; Mark 15:2–15; Luke 23:6–12). The religious trial occurred in three stages: before Annas, then twice before Caiaphas and the Sanhedrin (see chart, The Last Week in the Life of Jesus). Unable to find testimony that agreed on any charges, the Sanhedrin finally used Jesus' own confession to find Him guilty of blasphemy (Mark 14:62–64).

15:1–5 The Jewish trial resulted in a charge of blasphemy, which, for the Jews, but not for the Romans, was a capital offense. The Jews were restricted in carrying out a death penalty. Therefore, Jesus was brought before Pilate, then Herod (Luke 23:6–12), then Pilate again. Finally, He was accused of rebellion, which was a charge Rome took seriously.

15:10 The chief priests "had handed Him over because of envy." Pilate, who was politically astute, knew what was going on. The chief priests felt threatened because Jesus spoke the words and did the works that brought Him the affections of the people. The position and prestige of the religious leaders were at stake. From their perspective, Jesus had to be eliminated.

15:11–14 Pilate obviously thought Jesus was innocent. He suggested giving Jesus the benefit of the Passover amnesty (a custom of releasing a prisoner at Passover time), offering Jesus' accusers a way out without losing face. However, Pilate underestimated their hatred. Barabbas was evidently a notorious insurrectionist. He may have been already scheduled to die.

12 Pilate answered and said to them again, "What then do you want me to do with Him whom you call the King of the Jews?"

13 So they cried out again, "Crucify Him!"

14 Then Pilate said to them, "Why, what evil has He done?"

But they cried out all the more, "Crucify Him!"

15 So Pilate, wanting to gratify the crowd, released Barabbas to them; and he delivered Jesus, after he had scourged Him, to be crucified.

The Soldiers Mock Jesus

16 Then the soldiers led Him away into the hall called Praetorium, and they called together the whole garrison. 17 And they clothed Him with purple; and they twisted a crown of thorns, put it on His head, 18 and began to salute Him, "Hail, King of the Jews!" 19 Then they struck Him on the head with a reed and spat on Him; and bowing the knee, they worshiped Him. 20 And when they had mocked Him, they took the purple off Him, put His own clothes on Him, and led Him out to crucify Him.

The King on a Cross

21 Then they compelled a certain man, Simon a Cyrenian, the father of Alexander and Rufus, as he was coming out of the country and passing by, to bear His cross. 22 And they brought Him to the place Golgotha, which is translated, Place of a Skull. 23 Then they gave Him wine mingled with myrrh to drink, but He did not take it. 24 And when they crucified Him, they divided His garments, casting lots for them to determine what every man should take.

25 Now it was the third hour, and they crucified Him. 26 And the inscription of His accusation was written above:

THE KING OF THE JEWS.

27 With Him they also crucified two robbers, one on His right and the other on His left. 28 So the Scripture was fulfilled[a] which says, "And He was numbered with the transgressors."[b]

29 And those who passed by blasphemed Him, wagging their heads and saying, "Aha! You who destroy the temple and build it in three days, 30 save Yourself, and come down from the cross!"

31 Likewise the chief priests also, mocking among themselves with the scribes, said, "He saved others; Himself He cannot save. 32 Let the Christ, the King of Israel, descend now from the cross, that we may see and believe."[a]

Even those who were crucified with Him reviled Him.

Jesus Dies on the Cross

33 Now when the sixth hour had come, there was darkness over the whole land until the ninth hour. 34 And at the ninth hour Jesus cried out with a loud voice, saying, "Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani?" which is translated, "My God, My God, why have You forsaken Me?"[a]

35 Some of those who stood by, when they heard that, said, "Look, He is calling for Elijah!" 36 Then someone ran and filled a sponge full of sour wine, put it on a reed, and offered it to Him to drink, saying, "Let Him alone; let us see if Elijah will come to take Him down."

PROPHECIES FULFILLED AT THE CROSS

He was forsaken (Zech. 13:7; Matt. 26:56).
He was crucified (Ps. 22:16; Matt. 27:35; John 20:25).
His garments were divided (Ps. 22:18; Matt. 27:35).
He was crucified with two criminals (Is. 53:12; Matt. 27:38).
He was ridiculed and taunted (Ps. 22:7; 70:3; Matt. 27:39–43).
He was looked upon with sneering (Ps. 22:17; Luke 23:35).
He was given wine with gall (Ps. 69:21; Matt. 27:34, 48).
He cried from the Cross (Ps. 22:1; Mark 15:34).
He prayed for His enemies (Is. 53:12; Luke 23:34).
He had no bones broken (Ps. 34:20; John 19:33).
He had His side pierced (Zech. 12:10; John 19:34).
He was in darkness (Amos 8:9; Matt. 27:45).
He was buried in a rich man's tomb (Is. 53:9; Matt. 27:57–60).
These Old Testament prophecies concerning the Messiah were perfectly fulfilled in Jesus Christ.

15:28 [a]Isaiah 53:12 [b]NU-Text omits this verse. 15:32 [a]M-Text reads believe Him. 15:34 [a]Psalm 22:1

15:15 The scourging (or flogging) itself often led to death. The prisoner was stripped and his hands tied to a post above his head. Two men on either side rhythmically laid the blows with full force using a whip made of strips of leather imbedded with sharp pieces of glass and lead. The whip was designed to flay the flesh and tissues down to the bone.

15:21 A condemned man customarily was required to carry his own cross through the city to the place of crucifixion. That they had to get another to carry Jesus' Cross indicated the seriousness of the beatings He had endured.

15:22 The place of Crucifixion was called Golgotha (lit. "Place of a Skull"), possibly because its rock formation resembled a skull.

15:24, 25 Crucifixion created the environment for a long, slow death, usually from asphyxiation and/or shock (see Matt. 27:32–38, note).

When the Lord takes one partner to be with Him in the heavenly home, He restores the one left on earth and gives to the one remaining a new assignment to ministry and a fresh opportunity for spiritual growth.

Jesus Buried in Joseph's Tomb

the Preparation Day, that is, the day before the Sabbath, 43 Joseph of Arimathea, a prominent council member, who was himself waiting for the kingdom of God, coming and taking courage, went in to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus.
44 Pilate marveled that He was already dead; and summoning the centurion, he asked him if He had been dead for some time. 45 So when he found out from the centurion, he granted the body to Joseph. 46 Then he bought fine linen, took Him down, and wrapped Him in the linen. And he laid Him in a tomb which had been hewn out of the rock, and rolled a stone against the door of the tomb. 47 And Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of Joses observed where He was laid.

He Is Risen

16 Now when the Sabbath was past, Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James, and Salome bought spices, that they might come and anoint Him. 2 Very early in the morning, on the first day of the week, they came to the tomb when the sun had risen. 3 And they said among themselves, "Who will roll away the stone from the door of the tomb for us?" 4 But when they looked up, they saw that the stone had been rolled away—for it was very large. 5 And entering the tomb, they saw a young man clothed in a long white robe sitting on the right side; and they were alarmed.
6 But he said to them, "Do not be alarmed. You seek Jesus of Nazareth, who was crucified. He is risen! He is not here. See the place where they laid Him. 7 But go, tell His disciples—and Peter—that He is going before you into Galilee; there you will see Him, as He said to you."
8 So they went out quickly[a] and fled from the tomb, for they trembled and were amazed. And they said nothing to anyone, for they were afraid.

Mary Magdalene Sees the Risen Lord

9 Now when He rose early on the first day of the week, He appeared first to Mary Magdalene, out of whom He had cast seven demons. 10 She went

15:39 [a]NU-Text reads that He thus breathed His last. 16:8 [a]NU-Text and M-Text omit quickly.

15:38 The veil of the temple was a carefully woven curtain hanging between the holy place and Most Holy Place (Heb. 9:3). It reminded the people of their separation from God (see Matt. 27:51; Luke 23:45, notes).

15:40 The women who were faithful were there during the Crucifixion as well as at the tomb (see chart, Women and Jesus in His Last Days).

15:43 A wealthy, secret follower of Jesus provided the tomb for His burial (see Matt. 27:57–60).

16:1–3 The women went to the tomb to anoint Jesus' body with the traditional spices. Though Mary may have understood that His death was imminent, no one understood that Jesus would be resurrected, even though He had said He would be.

16:4 Mark gave no explanation as to how the stone was moved. Matthew attributed its removal to the angel (Matt. 28:2).

16:6 The angel's mission was to make clear that the Resurrection had taken place—there was no room for any other explanation. The stone had been rolled away not to let Jesus out, but to let His followers in to see the empty tomb.

16:7 To affirm Peter in this unique way was a gracious act of lovingkindness on the part of the Lord. Peter likely felt he was disqualified as a disciple because of his previous denials of Jesus.

16:8 The Gospel of Mark, according to many, originally ended at verse 8. The following verses are considered a summary of post-Resurrection appearances that were added later. This conclusion is based on a change in style and vocabulary as well as manuscript evidence, since many manuscripts lack these verses. Nonetheless, the other gospels record basically the same happenings as verses 9–15. For the Great Commission, see Matthew 28:18, 19, 20, notes.

and told those who had been with Him, as they mourned and wept. 11And when they heard that He was alive and had been seen by her, they did not believe.

Jesus Appears to Two Disciples

12After that, He appeared in another form to two of them as they walked and went into the country. 13And they went and told it to the rest, but they did not believe them either.

The Great Commission

14Later He appeared to the eleven as they sat at the table; and He rebuked their unbelief and hardness of heart, because they did not believe those who had seen Him after He had risen. 15And He said to them, "Go into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature. 16He who believes and is baptized will be saved; but he who does not believe will be condemned. 17And these signs will follow those who believe: In My name they will cast out demons; they will speak with new tongues; 18they[a] will take up serpents; and if they drink anything deadly, it will by no means hurt them; they will lay hands on the sick, and they will recover."

Christ Ascends to God's Right Hand

19So then, after the Lord had spoken to them, He was received up into heaven, and sat down at the right hand of God. 20And they went out and preached everywhere, the Lord working with them and confirming the word through the accompanying signs. Amen.[a]

16:18 [a]NU-Text reads and in their hands they will. 16:20 [a]Verses 9–20 are bracketed in NU-Text as not original. They are lacking in Codex Sinaiticus and Codex Vaticanus, although nearly all other manuscripts of Mark contain them.

Luke

AUTHOR

According to church tradition, the author of the third gospel is Luke, a medical doctor and traveling companion of Paul (Col. 4:14; 2 Tim. 4:11). Luke referred often to his journeys with Paul (Acts 16:10–17; 20:5–15; 21:1–18; 27:1—28:16). The apostle described Luke as "beloved" (Col. 4:14), indicating the closeness of their relationship. Early church fathers Jerome and Eusebius identified Luke as possibly from Antioch of Syria. Whether he was Jew or Gentile is uncertain, although he has been generally identified as a Gentile. Luke later adopted Philippi as his home, investing his life in the young ministry of the Philippian church.

DATE

Luke's gospel and the Book of Acts were probably written between A.D. 59 and 63. The fact that Luke recorded Jesus' prophecy of Jerusalem's destruction in A.D. 70 by the Romans (Luke 21:20–24) but failed to record the actual happening of this significant event, helps establish the date of the gospel. The years between A.D. 59 and 61 are most probable for dating the Gospel of Luke.

BACKGROUND

SETTING: Luke probably began writing the books of Luke and Acts in Rome during Paul's imprisonment there. Another possibility is that Luke may have begun these books during Paul's earlier imprisonment in Caesarea, then continued them later (Acts 24:23).

AUDIENCE: Luke addressed the gospel to Theophilus (Luke 1:1–4). Although Theophilus may not have been a believer, he had at least received some instruction in the faith and may have been struggling with his faith, especially its Jewish origins. Luke wrote to reassure Theophilus and to confirm God's working in history through Jesus the Messiah. It is also possible that "Theophilus" was a figurative way of addressing any Christian or group of Christians, since the name means "lover of God." Luke's wider audience probably included Gentile inquirers and Christians who needed encouragement in the faith.

PURPOSE: Luke wanted to write a historical work in chronological sequence. Another purpose for writing Luke/Acts might have been to confirm to Roman authorities that Christianity posed no political threat.

LITERARY CHARACTERISTICS: The Gospel of Luke is a selective history that conveys a theological message. Showing the stages of Jesus' ministry, Luke wrote with distinctive detail, being careful to note historical events. He presented Christ as the One through whom people of all socioeconomic classes could find redemption. Luke highlighted Christ's high esteem and appreciation for women. Mary and Elizabeth are key figures in Luke 1 and 2. Luke is the only gospel writer to mention Anna and Joanna (Luke 2:36–38; 8:3; 24:10).

THEMES

The central theme in Luke is that Jesus is the Savior of all. Individuals from all ethnic and socioeconomic groups, both men and women, can find salvation in Him.

Dedication to Theophilus

1 Inasmuch as many have taken in hand to set in order a narrative of those things which have been fulfilled[a] among us, [2]just as those who from the beginning were eyewitnesses and ministers of the word delivered them to us, [3]it seemed good to me also, having had perfect understanding of all things from the very first, to write to you an orderly account, most excellent Theophilus, [4]that you may know the certainty of those things in which you were instructed.

John's Birth Announced to Zacharias

[5]There was in the days of Herod, the king of Judea, a certain priest named Zacharias, of the division of Abijah. His wife was of the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elizabeth. [6]And they were both righteous before God, walking in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blameless. [7]But they had no child, because Elizabeth was barren, and they were both well advanced in years.

[8]So it was, that while he was serving as priest before God in the order of his division, [9]according to the custom of the priesthood, his lot fell to burn incense when he went into the temple of the Lord.
[10]And the whole multitude of the people was praying outside at the hour of incense. [11]Then an angel of the Lord appeared to him, standing on the right side of the altar of incense. [12]And when Zacharias saw him, he was troubled, and fear fell upon him.

[13]But the angel said to him, "Do not be afraid,
Zacharias, for your prayer is heard; and your wife Elizabeth will bear you a son, and you shall call his name John. [14]And you will have joy and gladness, and many will rejoice at his birth. [15]For he will be great in the sight of the Lord, and shall drink neither wine nor strong drink. He will also be filled with the Holy Spirit, even from his mother's womb. [16]And he will turn many of the children of Israel to the Lord their God. [17]He will also go before Him in the spirit and power of Elijah, 'to turn the hearts of the fathers to the children,'[a] and the disobedient to the wisdom of the just, to make ready a people prepared for the Lord."

[18]And Zacharias said to the angel, "How shall I know this? For I am an old man, and my wife is well advanced in years."

[19]And the angel answered and said to him, "I am Gabriel, who stands in the presence of God, and was sent to speak to you and bring you these glad tidings. [20]But behold, you will be mute and not able to speak until the day these things take place, because you did not believe my words which will be fulfilled in their own time."

[21]And the people waited for Zacharias, and marveled that he lingered so long in the temple.
[22]But when he came out, he could not speak to them; and they perceived that he had seen a vision in the temple, for he beckoned to them and remained speechless.

[23]So it was, as soon as the days of his service were completed, that he departed to his own house. [24]Now after those days his wife Elizabeth conceived; and she hid herself five months, saying, [25]"Thus the Lord has dealt with me, in the days when He looked on me, to take away my reproach among people."

Christ's Birth Announced to Mary

[26]Now in the sixth month the angel Gabriel was sent by God to a city of Galilee named Nazareth, [27]to a virgin betrothed to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David. The virgin's name was Mary. [28]And having come in, the angel said to her, "Rejoice, highly favored one, the Lord is with you; blessed are you among women!"[a]

[29]But when she saw him,[a] she was troubled at his saying, and considered what manner of greeting this was. [30]Then the angel said to her, "Do not be afraid, Mary, for you have found favor with God. [31]And behold, you will conceive in your womb and bring forth a Son, and shall call His name JESUS. [32]He will be great, and will be called the Son of the Highest; and the Lord God will give Him the throne of His father David. [33]And He

1:1 [a]Or are most surely believed 1:17 [a]Malachi 4:5, 6 1:28 [a]NU-Text omits blessed are you among women. 1:29 [a]NU-Text omits when she saw him.

1:1–4 Luke addressed his treatise to Theophilus (Gk., lit. "lover of God"). The exact identity of Theophilus is unknown. Some have suggested that he might have been a Roman official. "Theophilus" may also have been a literary device, a way of addressing all Christians—"lovers of God" or believers in a particular community.

1:5–25 The events describing the announcements and births of John the Baptist and Jesus are carefully paralleled. The same angel, Gabriel, appeared to Zacharias and to Mary. Both were told of a future birth; both births were to be unusual; both sons would be a fulfillment of God's plan and of OT prophecies.

1:27 Mary and Joseph were betrothed but did not live together as husband and wife. According to Jewish custom, betrothal was a time of engagement that was as binding as marriage. The Law of Moses concerning breaking a betrothal by adultery, rape, fornication, or incest called for death by stoning (Deut. 22:23–30). When Mary became pregnant during her betrothal, Joseph decided to divorce her quietly. However, God explained to Joseph in a dream that Mary's conception was the miracle of the Holy Spirit (see Mary of Nazareth).

1:31–35 The angel Gabriel told Mary that her Son's name would be "Jesus" (lit. "Yahweh is salvation"). In Mary's womb, God became incarnate through the working of the Holy Spirit (see John 1:14, note).

will reign over the house of Jacob forever, and of His kingdom there will be no end."
34Then Mary said to the angel, "How can this be, since I do not know a man?"
35And the angel answered and said to her, "The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Highest will overshadow you; therefore, also, that Holy One who is to be born will be called the Son of God. 36Now indeed, Elizabeth your relative has also conceived a son in her old age; and this is now the sixth month for her who was called barren. 37For with God nothing will be impossible."
38Then Mary said, "Behold the maidservant of the Lord! Let it be to me according to your word."
And the angel departed from her.

Mary Visits Elizabeth

39Now Mary arose in those days and went into the hill country with haste, to a city of Judah, 40and entered the house of Zacharias and greeted Elizabeth. 41And it happened, when Elizabeth heard the greeting of Mary, that the babe leaped in her womb; and Elizabeth was filled with the Holy Spirit. 42Then she spoke out with a loud voice and said, "Blessed are you among women, and blessed is the fruit of your womb! 43But why is this granted to me, that the mother of my Lord should come to me? 44For indeed, as soon as the voice of your greeting sounded in my ears, the babe leaped in my womb for joy. 45Blessed is she who believed, for there will be a fulfillment of those things which were told her from the Lord."

The Song of Mary

46And Mary said:

"My soul magnifies the Lord,
47And my spirit has rejoiced in God my Savior.
48For He has regarded the lowly state of His maidservant;
For behold, henceforth all generations will call me blessed.
49For He who is mighty has done great things for
me,
And holy is His name.
50And His mercy is on those who fear Him
From generation to generation.
51He has shown strength with His arm;
He has scattered the proud in the imagination of their hearts.
52He has put down the mighty from their thrones,
And exalted the lowly.
53He has filled the hungry with good things,
And the rich He has sent away empty.
54He has helped His servant Israel,
In remembrance of His mercy,
55As He spoke to our fathers,
To Abraham and to his seed forever."

56And Mary remained with her about three months, and returned to her house.

Birth of John the Baptist

57Now Elizabeth's full time came for her to be delivered, and she brought forth a son. 58When her neighbors and relatives heard how the Lord had shown great mercy to her, they rejoiced with her.

Circumcision of John the Baptist

59So it was, on the eighth day, that they came to circumcise the child; and they would have called him by the name of his father, Zacharias.
60His mother answered and said, "No; he shall be called John."
61But they said to her, "There is no one among your relatives who is called by this name." 62So they made signs to his father—what he would have him called.
63And he asked for a writing tablet, and wrote, saying, "His name is John." So they all marveled.
64Immediately his mouth was opened and his tongue loosed, and he spoke, praising God. 65Then fear came on all who dwelt around them; and all these sayings were discussed throughout all the hill country of Judea. 66And all those who heard them kept them in their hearts, saying, "What kind of child will this be?" And the hand of the Lord was with him.

Zacharias' Prophecy

67Now his father Zacharias was filled with the Holy Spirit, and prophesied, saying:

68"Blessed is the Lord God of Israel,
For He has visited and redeemed His people,
69And has raised up a horn of salvation for us
In the house of His servant David, 70As He spoke by the mouth of His holy
prophets,
Who have been since the world began,

1:46–55 Mary's song, commonly called the "Magnificat," (lit. "song of praise"), is similar to the psalm of Hannah upon the birth of her son Samuel (1 Sam. 2:1–10). Personal in tone, Mary's song praises the faithfulness of God to His promises. The song also praises Him for His blessings upon those who humble themselves before Him (see chart, Hymns and Songs Associated with Women).

1:59–63 Circumcision was an act performed on the eighth day after a male child's birth. The procedure was usually done by the father and involved cutting away the foreskin of the male genital (see Gen. 17, Circumcision). At John's circumcision, Elizabeth announced and Zacharias confirmed the child's name.

ELIZABETH A Spiritual Mentor

Elizabeth is described by Luke as a woman of integrity and obedience (Luke 1:6). As both the daughter and wife of a priest (v. 5), she lived a righteous life, even though she carried a quiet sorrow because of her childlessness. Then a miracle occurred. Her husband Zacharias, who served in the temple at Jerusalem, was the first person in four hundred years to receive a direct word from God that is recorded in Scripture. While he was burning incense, an angel appeared to announce that his wife Elizabeth would have a child who would be named John (v. 13).

Elizabeth was the first to recognize Mary of Nazareth as the mother of the Messiah. When Mary came to visit during Elizabeth's sixth month of pregnancy, John leaped inside Elizabeth's womb when Mary spoke (v. 41). Elizabeth understood immediately the imminence of the Messiah's birth. What a joyful time the two expectant mothers must have had as the godly Elizabeth shared hospitality and wise advice with her young cousin. Her interaction with the young Mary clearly distinguishes Elizabeth as an outstanding mentor (see Titus 2:3–5).

Mary left after three months, but Elizabeth's joy continued with the birth of her own child (see Luke 1:14, 24, 25). Not only did Elizabeth miraculously conceive a child in her old age, but also God once again came to His people in fulfillment of centuries of eager anticipation. John the Baptist became a powerful preacher of the message of repentance and the forerunner who introduced the Messiah. Jesus said that no one was greater than this son of Elizabeth (Matt. 11:11).

Elizabeth could have faced her old age with a sense of failure and waning faith, but her vibrancy of spirit serves as a reminder that God watches over every woman with loving care. Elizabeth trusted and God rewarded her. She shared herself liberally with Mary, and undoubtedly she trained her son in the Lord while she lived out her faith before him.

71 That we should be saved from our enemies
And from the hand of all who hate us,
72 To perform the mercy promised to our fathers
And to remember His holy covenant,
73 The oath which He swore to our father
Abraham:
74 To grant us that we,
Being delivered from the hand of our enemies,
Might serve Him without fear,
75 In holiness and righteousness before Him all the days of our life.

76 "And you, child, will be called the prophet of the Highest;
For you will go before the face of the Lord to prepare His ways,
77 To give knowledge of salvation to His people
By the remission of their sins,
78 Through the tender mercy of our God,
With which the Dayspring from on high has visited[a] us;
79 To give light to those who sit in darkness and the shadow of death,
To guide our feet into the way of peace."

80 So the child grew and became strong in spirit, and was in the deserts till the day of his manifestation to Israel.

Christ Born of Mary

2 And it came to pass in those days that a decree went out from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be registered. 2 This census first took place while Quirinius was governing Syria. 3 So all went to be registered, everyone to his own city.

4 Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, to the city of David, which is called Bethlehem, because he was of the house and lineage of David, 5 to be registered with Mary, his betrothed wife,[a] who was with child. 6 So it was, that while they were there, the days were completed for her to be delivered. 7 And she brought forth her firstborn Son, and wrapped Him in swaddling cloths, and laid Him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn.

1:78 [a]NU-Text reads shall visit. 2:5 [a]NU-Text omits wife.

1:76–80 John the Baptist was a prophet sent by God to announce the coming of the Messiah and to preach the message of repentance. John (lit. "Yahweh has been gracious") began his ministry near the Jordan River in A.D. 26 or 27 (see Matt. 3:1, note).

2:1–7 The reason for Mary's travel with Joseph to Bethlehem is uncertain, for women were not usually required to register (see map, Mary's Travel). Jesus was Mary's firstborn. His birth in "David's city" fulfilled prophecy (Mic. 5:2) and drew attention to His messianic role. Mary wrapped the infant Jesus in long strips of cloth called "swaddling cloths" in order to keep His limbs straight. She placed Him in a manger or feeding trough for animals. His humble stable birth emphasizes the poverty and obscurity that surrounded His early years.

Glory in the Highest

8 Now there were in the same country shepherds living out in the fields, keeping watch over their flock by night. 9 And behold,[a] an angel of the Lord stood before them, and the glory of the Lord shone around them, and they were greatly afraid.
10 Then the angel said to them, "Do not be afraid, for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy which will be to all people. 11 For there is born to you this day in the city of David a Savior, who is Christ the Lord. 12 And this will be the sign to you:
You will find a Babe wrapped in swaddling cloths, lying in a manger."

13 And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying:

14 "Glory to God in the highest,
And on earth peace, goodwill toward men!"[a]

15 So it was, when the angels had gone away from them into heaven, that the shepherds said to one another, "Let us now go to Bethlehem and see this thing that has come to pass, which the Lord has made known to us." 16 And they came with haste and found Mary and Joseph, and the Babe lying in a manger. 17 Now when they had seen Him, they made widely[a] known the saying which was told them concerning this Child. 18 And all those who heard it marveled at those things which were told them by the shepherds. 19 But Mary kept all these things and pondered them in her heart. 20 Then the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told them.

Circumcision of Jesus

2:8–17 Shepherds of that day were often viewed as outcasts and as dishonest and unclean according to the Law. They were usually in the fields with their sheep from March to November.

MARY OF NAZARETH An Honored Mother

No other human being was closer to Jesus Christ on earth than Mary, His mother. Each of the gospels and the Book of Acts includes her as a woman uniquely gifted to share her Son's earthly life. As a mother, she is one of us, but as the mother of our Lord, she is blessed above all women.

Matthew introduced Mary of Nazareth as the betrothed wife of Joseph, "a just man" (Matt. 1:19). When the angel Gabriel appeared to her with the birth announcement (Luke 1:26–28), Mary's response clearly revealed her keen understanding of Scripture and her ready willingness to obey God.

The awesome concept of yielding her virgin body to the Holy Spirit as His instrument was sure to be misunderstood, but Mary's spirit of total trust earned God's pleasure (Luke 1:38). Overwhelming as the news was, she submitted herself to the assignment with joy. Her song of praise (Luke 1:46–55) describes a perceptive heart of overflowing exaltation to her Lord.

Intertwined with spiritual insight, however, were Mary's anxieties. When at age twelve Jesus failed to join the family as they returned from Jerusalem (Luke 2:41–50), when the wine at the wedding feast was insufficient (John 2:1–12), when she was concerned during His ministry (Mark 6:2, 3; Luke 8:19) or horrified at His Crucifixion, her Son graciously responded to His mother's disquiet on each occasion. He tenderly placed her in the care of John before He died (John 19:25–27).

Mary and Joseph became the parents of other children. Mary probably experienced early widowhood, but she shines as a faithful wife and mother. When Mary appeared publicly, standing at the Cross (John 19:25) and praying after the Lord's ascension (Acts 1:12–14), she demonstrated her courage to the world. She was marked as "one of His," liable for persecution along with the disciples.

The unknown maiden from the despised Galilean town of Nazareth (see John 1:46) illuminates for all time the basic nature of womanhood: entrusting to the next generation the message of God's faithfulness, whether through the rearing of one's own child or through the task of spiritual nurturing that might extend beyond the family circle. Not only was Mary God's sovereign choice to bear the Christ Child, but she was also a devoted and humble follower of her Messiah.

Jesus Presented in the Temple

22 Now when the days of her purification according to the law of Moses were completed, they brought Him to Jerusalem to present Him to the Lord 23 (as it is written in the law of the Lord, "Every male who opens the womb shall be called holy to the LORD*"*),[a] 24 and to offer a sacrifice according to what is said in the law of the Lord, "A pair of turtledoves or two young pigeons."[a]

Simeon Sees God's Salvation

25 And behold, there was a man in Jerusalem whose name was Simeon, and this man was just and devout, waiting for the Consolation of Israel, and the Holy Spirit was upon him. 26 And it had been revealed to him by the Holy Spirit that he would not see death before he had seen the Lord's Christ. 27 So he came by the Spirit into the temple. And when the parents brought in the Child Jesus, to do for Him according to the custom of the law, 28 he took Him up in his arms and blessed God and said:

29 "Lord, now You are letting Your servant depart in peace,
According to Your word;
30 For my eyes have seen Your salvation
31 Which You have prepared before the face of all peoples,
32 A light to bring revelation to the Gentiles,
And the glory of Your people Israel."

33 And Joseph and His mother[a] marveled at those things which were spoken of Him. 34 Then Simeon blessed them, and said to Mary His mother, "Behold, this Child is destined for the fall and rising of many in Israel, and for a sign which will be spoken against 35 (yes, a sword will pierce

2:23 [a]Exodus 13:2, 12, 15 2:24 [a]Leviticus 12:8 2:33 [a]NU-Text reads And His father and mother.

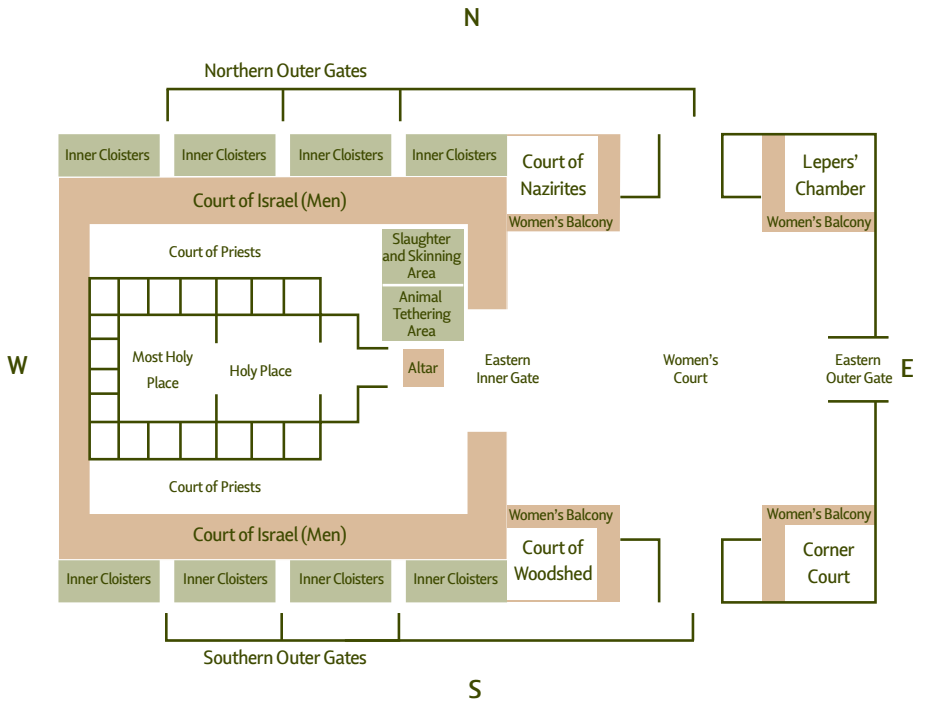
2:22–24 Childbirth was associated with ceremonial uncleanness (Lev. 12:1–8; see John 16, Childbirth), since the bodily discharges occurring at birth were considered impure. Mary had to undergo a ritual to restore her cleanness in order to attain her ceremonial purity before God. The purification period after the birth of a male child lasted 40 days. The ritual after childbirth for an impoverished family included the offering of turtledoves or pigeons.

THE PLAN OF HEROD'S TEMPLE



through your own soul also), that the thoughts of many hearts may be revealed."

Anna Bears Witness to the Redeemer

36 Now there was one, Anna, a prophetess, the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Asher. She was of a great age, and had lived with a husband seven years from her virginity; 37 and this woman was a widow of about eighty-four years,[a] who did not depart from the temple, but served God with fastings and prayers night and day. 38 And coming in that instant she gave thanks to the Lord,[a] and spoke of Him to all those who looked for redemption in Jerusalem.

The Family Returns to Nazareth

39 So when they had performed all things according to the law of the Lord, they returned to Galilee, to their own city, Nazareth. 40 And the Child grew and became strong in spirit,[a] filled with wisdom; and the grace of God was upon Him.

The Boy Jesus Amazes the Scholars

41 His parents went to Jerusalem every year at the Feast of the Passover. 42 And when He was twelve years old, they went up to Jerusalem according to the custom of the feast. 43 When they had finished the days, as they returned, the Boy Jesus lingered behind in Jerusalem. And Joseph and His mother[a] did not know it; 44 but supposing Him to have been in the company, they went a day's journey, and sought Him among their relatives and acquaintances. 45 So when they did not find Him, they returned to Jerusalem, seeking Him. 46 Now so it was that after three days they found Him in the temple, sitting in the midst of the teachers, both listening to them and asking them questions. 47 And all who heard Him were astonished at His understanding and answers. 48 So

2:37 [a]NU-Text reads a widow until she was eighty-four. 2:38 [a]NU-Text reads to God. 2:40 [a]NU-Text omits in spirit. 2:43 [a]NU-Text reads And His parents.

2:36–38 Anna (lit. "grace") was an 84-year-old prophetess who recognized Jesus as the promised Messiah when Joseph and Mary brought Him to the temple for His dedication. As an attendant of the temple, Anna was a widow whose life was devoted entirely to God (see Anna).

ANNA A Faithful Prophetess

Anna, the daughter of Phanuel, was eighty-four years of age and long widowed. Apparently she was a member of the resident staff at the temple in Jerusalem, devoting herself to continual service in the temple. The text does not indicate why she was called a "prophetess." Her unnamed husband might have been a prophet, or perhaps she herself had spent time praising and bearing testimony or even foretelling future events under divine inspiration. In simplest terms, she obviously was a woman through whom God spoke. As a descendant of the tribe of Asher, Anna looked for the Messiah as the prophets Isaiah (Is. 9:6) and Micah (Mic. 5:2) had foretold.

When Mary and Joseph brought the baby Jesus to the temple to present Him to the Lord approximately a month after His birth, they offered their sacrifices according to ancient law. He had been circumcised on the eighth day, probably in Bethlehem. Now the days of Mary's purification were completed (see Lev. 12:4). As they were in the temple, a devout man, Simeon, was moved by the Holy Spirit to be present and to hold the Infant in his arms.

Anna watched as Simeon prayed, knowing in her heart that the Messiah had come. Luke's description of this woman helps the reader to understand the respect and veneration that she commanded. A lifetime of prayer and fasting made her comments worth reporting. She, a recognized prophetess, confirmed God's gift of redemption, and her words resonated with all who looked for salvation (Luke 2:38).

Anna personified in her day those who "serve the living and true God, and . . . wait for His Son from heaven" (1 Thess. 1:9, 10). She is a model for us; like her, women are to "live soberly, righteously, and godly in the present age, looking for the blessed hope and glorious appearing of our great God and Savior Jesus Christ" (Titus 2:12, 13).

when they saw Him, they were amazed; and His mother said to Him, "Son, why have You done this to us? Look, Your father and I have sought You anxiously."

Jesus Advances in Wisdom and Favor

51 Then He went down with them and came to Nazareth, and was subject to them, but His mother kept all these things in her heart. 52 And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and men.

John the Baptist Prepares the Way

3 Now in the fifteenth year of the reign of Tiberius Caesar, Pontius Pilate being governor of Judea, Herod being tetrarch of Galilee, his brother Philip tetrarch of Iturea and the region of Trachonitis, and Lysanias tetrarch of Abilene, 2 while Annas and Caiaphas were high priests,[a] the word of God came to John the son of Zacharias in the wilderness. 3 And he went into all the region around the Jordan, preaching a baptism of repentance for the remission of sins, 4 as it is written in the book of the words of Isaiah the prophet, saying:

"The voice of one crying in the wilderness:
'Prepare the way of the Lord;
Make His paths straight.
5 Every valley shall be filled
And every mountain and hill brought low;
The crooked places shall be made straight
And the rough ways smooth;
6 And all flesh shall see the salvation of God.'"[a]

John Preaches to the People

7 Then he said to the multitudes that came out to be baptized by him, "Brood of vipers! Who warned you to flee from the wrath to come? 8 Therefore bear fruits worthy of repentance, and do not begin to say to yourselves, 'We have Abraham as our father.' For I say to you that God is able to raise up children to Abraham from these stones. 9 And even now the ax is laid to the root of the trees. Therefore every tree which does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire."

10 So the people asked him, saying, "What shall we do then?"

3:2 [a]NU-Text and M-Text read in the high priesthood of Annas and Caiaphas. 3:6 [a]Isaiah 40:3–5

3:3–9 John traveled throughout the Jordan valley, and his ministry was characterized by a call to repentance for the forgiveness of sins. All four gospel writers described him as "the voice of one crying in the wilderness" (Is. 40:3). Only Luke added a further quotation from Isaiah 40:4, 5. Matthew stated that the Sadducees and Pharisees listened to John, but Luke noted that "the multitudes" were also present. In this way, Luke emphasized that John's message was for the whole nation of Israel and foreshadowed God's offer of grace for everyone.

THE FAMILY TREE OF JESUS*

 This is not a complete genealogy; some generations are skipped. Tamar, Rahab, and Ruth are other women in the lineage mentioned (Matt. 1:2, 5).*

 Joseph has the legal, royal record in Matthew.*

* Mary has the natural, royal record in Luke (see Luke 3:23).*

[11]He answered and said to them, "He who has two tunics, let him give to him who has none; and he who has food, let him do likewise."

[12]Then tax collectors also came to be baptized, and said to him, "Teacher, what shall we do?"

[13]And he said to them, "Collect no more than what is appointed for you."

[14]Likewise the soldiers asked him, saying, "And what shall we do?"

So he said to them, "Do not intimidate anyone or accuse falsely, and be content with your wages."

[15]Now as the people were in expectation, and all reasoned in their hearts about John, whether he was the Christ or not, [16]John answered, saying to all, "I indeed baptize you with water; but One mightier than I is coming, whose sandal strap I am not worthy to loose. He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and fire. [17]His winnowing fan is in His hand, and He will thoroughly clean out His threshing floor, and gather the wheat into His barn; but the chaff He will burn with unquenchable fire."

[18]And with many other exhortations he preached to the people. [19]But Herod the tetrarch, being rebuked by him concerning Herodias, his brother Philip's wife,[a] and for all the evils which Herod had done, [20]also added this, above all, that he shut John up in prison.

3:19 [a]NU-Text reads his brother's wife.

3:17 Winnowing grain with wooden forks was the ancient way of separating the grain from the inedible parts. When the stalks were tossed into the air, the wind blew away the straw and chaff. The heavier grain fell to the ground (Is. 30:24). The chaff was then gathered to burn in the cooking oven. Luke used the example of winnowing to predict unbelieving Israel's exclusion from God's kingdom and the gathering of Gentile outcasts into the kingdom. "Unquenchable fire" fitted the description of the ever-burning fires of Jerusalem's garbage dump, "Gehenna."

3:19, 20 John the Baptist denounced Herod Antipas, who divorced his wife in order to win Herodias' hand in marriage (see Matt. 14, Herodias and Salome). The daughter of Aristobulus and Bernice, Herodias was first married to Philip and bore a daughter, Salome (see chart, The Family Tree of Herod the Great). John's rebuke of Herod for his marital infidelities would later cost John his life (Matt. 14:1, note; Mark 6:16–28).

ADOLESCENCE — THE IN-BETWEEN STAGE

This in-between stage of rapid physical, mental, and spiritual growth is potentially a time during which young people begin making more of their own choices. Scripture offers examples of teens making choices, ranging from the wise choices of Jesus at age twelve to the poor choices of the prodigal son.

During this transition time, parents move toward letting go, recognizing that the child has been given in stewardship from the Lord (1 Sam. 1:11; Ps. 127:3–5). This "letting go" gives adolescents room for growth in an atmosphere of parental guidance and influence as well as accountability (Rom. 14:12; 1 Cor. 10:13). Parents watch their teens move from parent-control to self-control and then hopefully to God-control.

In the midst of this "letting go," parents of adolescents must also remember that God created each child uniquely; each must be reared with loving attention and encouragement to her particular talents, gifts, and personality (Prov. 3:27), with consistent discipline to lead the child God's way (Prov. 22:6; 27:5), with the faithful example of a consistent Christlike lifestyle (Deut. 6:7–9; 2 Cor. 3:2, 3), with godly counsel and advice (Prov. 12:15; 19:20), and with undergirding in prayer (1 Sam. 12:23).

Teens need to realize that they are experiencing a great time of change. They should cling to the spiritual values they know to be true, exercise patience with self and others, and recognize that increased authority over their own lives means responsibility for honoring commitments and making wise choices. God commands children to honor their parents and to obey God's laws, regardless of age (Eph. 6:1–3).

John Baptizes Jesus

21 When all the people were baptized, it came to pass that Jesus also was baptized; and while He prayed, the heaven was opened. 22 And the Holy Spirit descended in bodily form like a dove upon Him, and a voice came from heaven which said,
"You are My beloved Son; in You I am well pleased."

Satan Tempts Jesus

4 Then Jesus, being filled with the Holy Spirit, returned from the Jordan and was led by the Spirit into[a] the wilderness, 2 being tempted for forty days by the devil. And in those days He ate nothing, and afterward, when they had ended, He was hungry.

3:24 [a]This and several other names in the genealogy are spelled somewhat differently in the NU-Text. Since the New King James Version uses the Old Testament spelling for persons mentioned in the New Testament, these variations, which come from the Greek, have not been footnoted. 4:1 [a]NU-Text reads in.

3:21–38 Jesus' baptism was viewed by Luke as the climax of John's ministry. A voice from heaven affirmed Jesus' divine sonship. The Spirit's descent upon Him at baptism established Jesus' role as the Anointed One. Luke traced Jesus' lineage back to Adam to emphasize the fact that Jesus was the Son of Adam as well as the divine Son of God (see chart, The Family Tree of Jesus).

4:1–15 After His baptism and before the beginning of His public ministry, Jesus was led by the Spirit to battle the devil in the Judean desert. Luke alone stated that Jesus was "filled with the Holy Spirit" (v. 1). The temptation was preceded by a fast that lasted 40 days and nights. By appealing to His hunger and by questioning His divine sonship, Satan attempted to divert Jesus from His mission. Jesus did not yield

3And the devil said to Him, "If You are the Son of God, command this stone to become bread."

4But Jesus answered him, saying,[a] "It is written, 'Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word of God.' "[b]

5Then the devil, taking Him up on a high mountain, showed Him[a] all the kingdoms of the world in a moment of time. 6And the devil said to Him, "All this authority I will give You, and their glory; for this has been delivered to me, and I give it to whomever I wish. 7Therefore, if You will worship before me, all will be Yours."

8And Jesus answered and said to him, "Get behind Me, Satan![a] For[b] it is written, 'You shall worship the Lord your God, and Him only you shall serve.' "[c]

9Then he brought Him to Jerusalem, set Him on the pinnacle of the temple, and said to Him, "If You are the Son of God, throw Yourself down from here. 10For it is written:

'He shall give His angels charge over you,
To keep you,'

11and,

'In their hands they shall bear you up,
Lest you dash your foot against a stone.' "[a]

12And Jesus answered and said to him, "It has been said, 'You shall not tempt the LORD your God.' "[a]

13Now when the devil had ended every temptation, he departed from Him until an opportune time.

Jesus Begins His Galilean Ministry

14Then Jesus returned in the power of the Spirit to Galilee, and news of Him went out through all the surrounding region. 15And He taught in their synagogues, being glorified by all.

Jesus Rejected at Nazareth

16So He came to Nazareth, where He had been brought up. And as His custom was, He went into the synagogue on the Sabbath day, and stood up to read. 17And He was handed the book of the prophet Isaiah. And when He had opened the book, He found the place where it was written:

18*"The Spirit of the LORD is upon Me,*
Because He has anointed Me
To preach the gospel to the poor;
He has sent Me to heal the brokenhearted,[a]
To proclaim liberty to the captives
And recovery of sight to the blind,
To set at liberty those who are oppressed;
19*To proclaim the acceptable year of the LORD."*[a]

20Then He closed the book, and gave it back to the attendant and sat down. And the eyes of all who were in the synagogue were fixed on Him. 21And He began to say to them, "Today this Scripture is fulfilled in your hearing." 22So all bore witness to Him, and marveled at the gracious words which proceeded out of His mouth. And they said, "Is this not Joseph's son?"

23He said to them, "You will surely say this proverb to Me, 'Physician, heal yourself! Whatever we have heard done in Capernaum,[a] do also here in Your country.' " 24Then He said, "Assuredly, I say to you, no prophet is accepted in his own country. 25But I tell you truly, many widows were in Israel in the days of Elijah, when the heaven was shut up three years and six months, and there was a great famine throughout all the land; 26but to none of them was Elijah sent except to Zarephath,[a] in the region of Sidon, to a woman who was a widow. 27And many lepers were in Israel in the time of Elisha the prophet, and none of them was cleansed except Naaman the Syrian."

28So all those in the synagogue, when they heard these things, were filled with wrath, 29and rose up and thrust Him out of the city; and they led Him to the brow of the hill on which their city was built, that they might throw Him down over the cliff. 30Then passing through the midst of them, He went His way.

Jesus Casts Out an Unclean Spirit

31Then He went down to Capernaum, a city of Galilee, and was teaching them on the Sabbaths. 32And they were astonished at His teaching, for His word was with authority. 33Now in the synagogue there was a man who had a spirit of an unclean demon. And he cried out with a loud voice, 34saying, "Let us alone! What have we to do with to Satan, but three times He countered Satan's temptations by quoting Scripture (Deut. 6:13; 6:16; 8:3). Realizing his failure, Satan departed to wait for an "opportune time." Angels then came and ministered to Jesus. Afterward, Jesus returned to Galilee to begin His ministry.

4:16–30 Jesus' first sermon in the synagogue of His hometown Nazareth involved the fulfillment of Scripture. When the Isaiah scroll was given to Jesus, He stood and read (Is. 61:1, 2; 58:6), omitting "the day of vengeance of our God." Then He began to preach. After this rejection, there is no record that Jesus ever returned to Nazareth to minister.

4:33–37, 41 Signs of affliction by demons in the NT included unusual strength, foaming at the mouth, speechlessness or an unnatural voice, blindness, unbridled fierceness, and

You, Jesus of Nazareth? Did You come to destroy us? I know who You are— the Holy One of God!"

35But Jesus rebuked him, saying, "Be quiet, and come out of him!" And when the demon had thrown him in their midst, it came out of him and did not hurt him. 36Then they were all amazed and spoke among themselves, saying, "What a word this is! For with authority and power He commands the unclean spirits, and they come out." 37And the report about Him went out into every place in the surrounding region.

Peter's Mother-in-Law Healed

38Now He arose from the synagogue and entered Simon's house. But Simon's wife's mother was sick with a high fever, and they made request of Him concerning her. 39So He stood over her and rebuked the fever, and it left her. And immediately she arose and served them.

Many Healed After Sabbath Sunset

40When the sun was setting, all those who had any that were sick with various diseases brought them to Him; and He laid His hands on every one of them and healed them. 41And demons also came out of many, crying out and saying, "You are the Christ,[a] the Son of God!"

And He, rebuking them, did not allow them to speak, for they knew that He was the Christ.

Jesus Preaches in Galilee

42Now when it was day, He departed and went into a deserted place. And the crowd sought Him and came to Him, and tried to keep Him from leaving them; 43but He said to them, "I must preach the kingdom of God to the other cities also, because for this purpose I have been sent." 44And He was preaching in the synagogues of Galilee.[a]

Four Fishermen Called as Disciples

5 So it was, as the multitude pressed about Him to hear the word of God, that He stood by the Lake of Gennesaret, 2and saw two boats standing by the lake; but the fishermen had gone from them and were washing their nets. 3Then He got into one of the boats, which was Simon's, and asked him to put out a little from the land. And He sat down and taught the multitudes from the boat.

4When He had stopped speaking, He said to Simon, "Launch out into the deep and let down your nets for a catch."

5But Simon answered and said to Him, "Master, we have toiled all night and caught nothing; nevertheless at Your word I will let down the net." 6And when they had done this, they caught a great number of fish, and their net was breaking. 7So they signaled to their partners in the other boat to come and help them. And they came and filled both the boats, so that they began to sink. 8When Simon Peter saw it, he fell down at Jesus' knees, saying, "Depart from me, for I am a sinful man, O Lord!"

9For he and all who were with him were astonished at the catch of fish which they had taken; 10and so also were James and John, the sons of Zebedee, who were partners with Simon. And Jesus said to Simon, "Do not be afraid. From now on you will catch men." 11So when they had brought their boats to land, they forsook all and followed Him.

Jesus Cleanses a Leper

12And it happened when He was in a certain city, that behold, a man who was full of leprosy saw Jesus; and he fell on his face and implored Him, saying, "Lord, if You are willing, You can make me clean."

13Then He put out His hand and touched him, saying, "I am willing; be cleansed." Immediately the leprosy left him. 14And He charged him to tell no one, "But go and show yourself to the priest, and make an offering for your cleansing, as a testimony to them, just as Moses commanded."

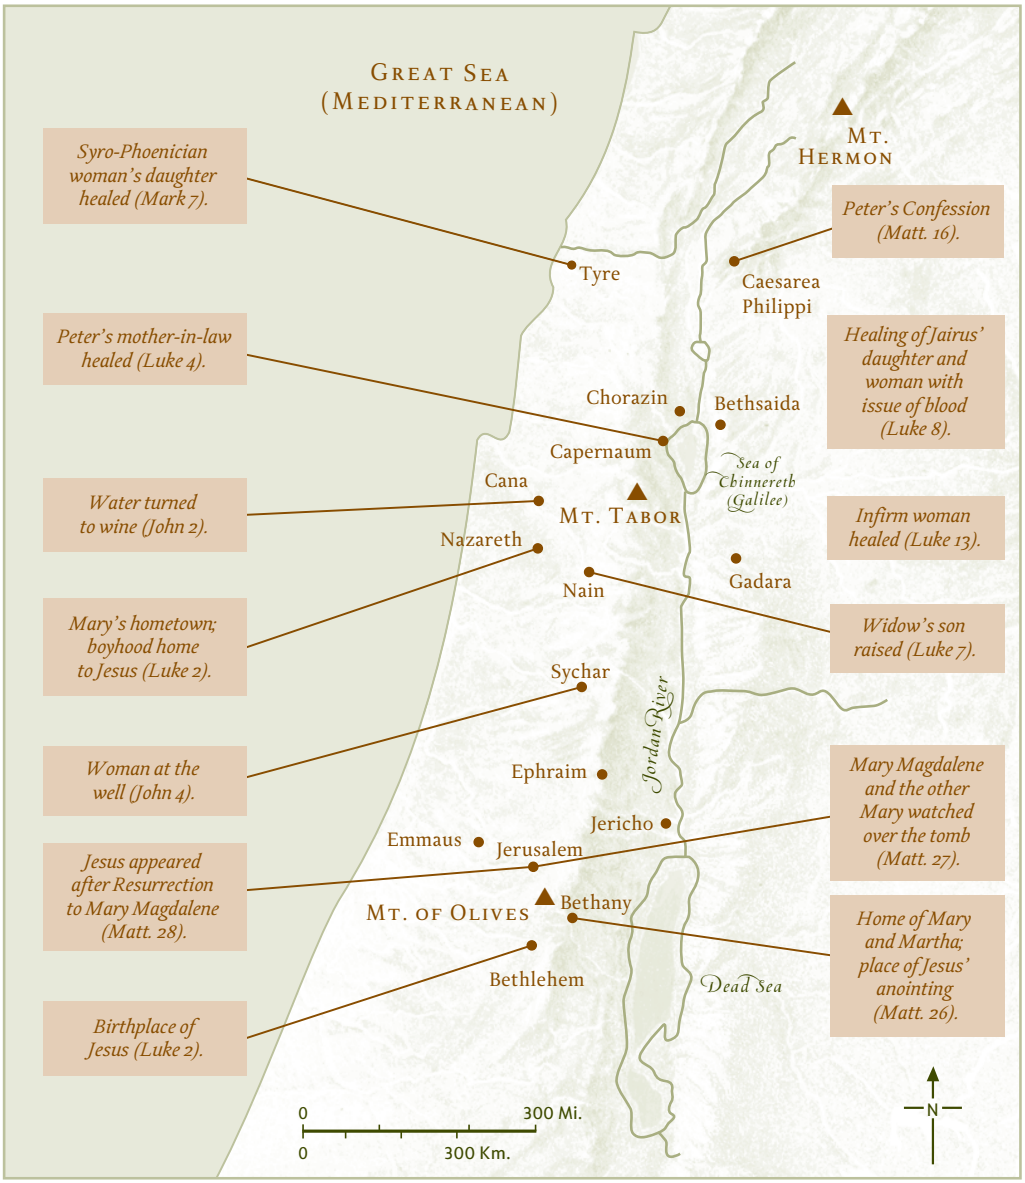
control of personality and actions by an evil spirit. NT writers were careful to distinguish demon possession from disease, although demons could cause disease (see Matt. 17:14–18). Here the demons recognized Jesus as "the Holy One of God," "the Christ, the Son of God," thus bearing witness to Jesus' authority and identity. In order not to arouse political misconceptions about His messianic mission, Jesus rebuked the demons and silenced them. Whenever Christ spoke to the demons, they had to obey Him (see Mark 5:2, note).

5:12–15 Leprosy described a variety of skin disorders from psoriasis to true leprosy. The symptoms could be mild, with white patches on the skin, or severe, with oozing sores and the loss of fingers and/or toes. For the Hebrews, the disease left its victims ceremonially unclean, unfit for worship. Anyone who came into contact with a leper was also considered unclean. Therefore, lepers were kept isolated from the rest of the community. Since a leper was not allowed in the city, the healing probably took place on the city's outskirts. Lepers were forbidden to approach other people and were required to call out "unclean" to prevent accidental contact. Jesus, however, touched the leper and healed him.

5:16 Withdrawing to a place of solitude to pray was a regular practice for Jesus. He was pre-eminently a Person of prayer, maintaining close fellowship with His Father. Only Luke recorded the prayers of Jesus at His baptism (Luke 3:21), at the Transfiguration (Luke 9:29), before choosing the apostles (Luke 6:12, 13), at Caesarea-Philippi (Luke 9:18), and on the

EVENTS IN CHRIST'S MINISTRY



Jesus Forgives and Heals a Paralytic

17 Now it happened on a certain day, as He was teaching, that there were Pharisees and teachers of the law sitting by, who had come out of every town of Galilee, Judea, and Jerusalem. And the power of the Lord was present to heal them.[a] 18 Then behold, men brought on a bed a man who was paralyzed, whom they sought to bring in and

5:17 [a]NU-Text reads present with Him to heal.

Cross (Luke 23:34). Jesus often prayed early in the mornings in a solitary place (Mark 1:35), and on other occasions He prayed all night (Luke 6:12). John 17 records the longest prayer of Jesus in the NT (see chart, Lessons from the Model Prayer).

5:17–19 The house probably had an external staircase leading to a flat roof. In the NT period, to escape the cramped interior of the house, women often did their daily chores on the roof. The paralytic was lowered through the roof into Jesus' pres-lay before Him. 19And when they could not find how they might bring him in, because of the crowd, they went up on the housetop and let him down with his bed through the tiling into the midst before Jesus.

20When He saw their faith, He said to him, "Man, your sins are forgiven you."

21And the scribes and the Pharisees began to reason, saying, "Who is this who speaks blasphemies? Who can forgive sins but God alone?"

22But when Jesus perceived their thoughts, He answered and said to them, "Why are you reasoning in your hearts? 23Which is easier, to say, 'Your sins are forgiven you,' or to say, 'Rise up and walk'? 24But that you may know that the Son of Man has power on earth to forgive sins"— He said to the man who was paralyzed, "I say to you, arise, take up your bed, and go to your house."

25Immediately he rose up before them, took up what he had been lying on, and departed to his own house, glorifying God. 26And they were all amazed, and they glorified God and were filled with fear, saying, "We have seen strange things today!"

Matthew the Tax Collector

27After these things He went out and saw a tax collector named Levi, sitting at the tax office. And He said to him, "Follow Me." 28So he left all, rose up, and followed Him.

29Then Levi gave Him a great feast in his own house. And there were a great number of tax collectors and others who sat down with them. 30And their scribes and the Pharisees[a] complained against His disciples, saying, "Why do You eat and drink with tax collectors and sinners?"

31Jesus answered and said to them, "Those who are well have no need of a physician, but those who are sick. 32I have not come to call the righteous, but sinners, to repentance."

Jesus Is Questioned About Fasting

33Then they said to Him, "Why do[a] the disciples of John fast often and make prayers, and likewise those of the Pharisees, but Yours eat and drink?"

34And He said to them, "Can you make the friends of the bridegroom fast while the bridegroom is with them? 35But the days will come when the bridegroom will be taken away from them; then they will fast in those days."

36Then He spoke a parable to them: "No one puts a piece from a new garment on an old one;[a] otherwise the new makes a tear, and also the piece that was taken out of the new does not match the old. 37And no one puts new wine into old wineskins; or else the new wine will burst the wineskins and be spilled, and the wineskins will be ruined. 38But new wine must be put into new wineskins, and both are preserved.[a] 39And no one, having drunk old wine, immediately[a] desires new; for he says, 'The old is better.' "[b]

Jesus Is Lord of the Sabbath

6 Now it happened on the second Sabbath after the first[a] that He went through the grainfields. And His disciples plucked the heads of grain and ate them, rubbing them in their hands. 2And some of the Pharisees said to them, "Why are you doing what is not lawful to do on the Sabbath?"

3But Jesus answering them said, "Have you not even read this, what David did when he was hungry, he and those who were with him: 4how he went into the house of God, took and ate the showbread, and also gave some to those with him, which is not lawful for any but the priests to eat?"

ence. The roof described by Mark seemed to have been made of mud, grass, and branches that formed a supporting lattice for an outer covering of clay tiles (Mark 2:4).

5:21 Blasphemy (lit. "slander" or "defamation") referred to the act of insulting the character of God. This capital crime required the stoning to death of the offender (Lev. 24:14–16). NT Jewish leaders regarded Jesus as a blasphemer (Mark 2:7), for He claimed messianic status (Luke 22:69). Luke, as well as the scribes and Pharisees, believed that only God could forgive sins. Through this account Luke made Jesus' claim to deity clear to his readers.

5:34, 35 The bridal metaphor is used throughout the Bible in reference to God's people. In the OT, the prophets presented Israel as an unfaithful bride, guilty of adultery (see Hos. 3:1). In the NT, the bride often refers to the church and her relationship with Christ (see Rev. 21:2, 9). The bride belongs to the Bridegroom, who is Christ (John 3:29).

5:37–39 Liquid was kept in the cured skins of small animals (usually goats). The skins were carefully sewn together so as to be watertight. While new skins that retained their elasticity served as adequate containers for new wine that was still fermenting, old skins would have lost their elasticity and could easily burst. Jesus used the metaphor of wineskins to indicate that the radically "new" gospel He brought could not be contained within the "old" Judaism of the Pharisees.

6:1, 2 God's people in the OT celebrated every seventh day as holy, a day for worship and rest, since God rested on the seventh day after creation (see chart, The Principle of the Sabbath). They did not work on the Sabbath (Heb. shabbat, lit. "seventh day" from the verb meaning "to cease" or "to rest"), for its observance was part of their covenant with God. Plucking grain would have been considered work. The penalty for desecrating the Sabbath was death (Ex. 35:1–3). Jesus observed the Sabbath as a day of worship, but He would not conform to the trivial restrictions of oral tradition.

God has a way of using those the world calls "nobodies."

5 And He said to them, "The Son of Man is also Lord of the Sabbath."

Healing on the Sabbath

6 Now it happened on another Sabbath, also, that He entered the synagogue and taught. And a man was there whose right hand was withered.
7 So the scribes and Pharisees watched Him closely, whether He would heal on the Sabbath, that they might find an accusation against Him. 8 But He knew their thoughts, and said to the man who had the withered hand, "Arise and stand here." And he arose and stood. 9 Then Jesus said to them, "I will ask you one thing: Is it lawful on the Sabbath to do good or to do evil, to save life or to destroy?"[a] 10 And when He had looked around at them all, He said to the man,[a] "Stretch out your hand." And he did so, and his hand was restored as whole as the other.[b] 11 But they were filled with rage, and discussed with one another what they might do to Jesus.

The Twelve Apostles

12 Now it came to pass in those days that He went out to the mountain to pray, and continued all night in prayer to God. 13 And when it was day,
He called His disciples to Himself; and from them
He chose twelve whom He also named apostles:
14 Simon, whom He also named Peter, and Andrew his brother; James and John; Philip and Bartholomew; 15 Matthew and Thomas; James the son of Alphaeus, and Simon called the Zealot; 16 Judas the son of James, and Judas Iscariot who also became a traitor.

Jesus Heals a Great Multitude

17 And He came down with them and stood on a level place with a crowd of His disciples and a great multitude of people from all Judea and Jerusalem, and from the seacoast of Tyre and Sidon, who came to hear Him and be healed of their diseases, 18 as well as those who were tormented with unclean spirits. And they were healed. 19 And the whole multitude sought to touch Him, for power went out from Him and healed them all.

The Beatitudes

20 Then He lifted up His eyes toward His disciples, and said:

"Blessed are you poor,
For yours is the kingdom of God.
21 Blessed are you who hunger now,
For you shall be filled.
Blessed are you who weep now,
For you shall laugh.
22 Blessed are you when men hate you,
And when they exclude you,
And revile you, and cast out your name as evil,
For the Son of Man's sake.
23 Rejoice in that day and leap for joy!
For indeed your reward is great in heaven,
For in like manner their fathers did to the prophets.

Jesus Pronounces Woes

24 "But woe to you who are rich,
For you have received your consolation.
25 Woe to you who are full,
For you shall hunger.
Woe to you who laugh now,
For you shall mourn and weep.
26 Woe to you[a] when all[b] men speak well of you,
For so did their fathers to the false
prophets.

Love Your Enemies

27 "But I say to you who hear: Love your enemies, do good to those who hate you, 28 bless those who curse you, and pray for those who spitefully use you. 29 To him who strikes you on the one cheek, offer the other also. And from him who takes away your cloak, do not withhold your tunic either. 30 Give to everyone who asks of you. And 6:45 The heart stood for the whole person in both Hebrew and Greek thought. The heart was the center of the body's essential functions: physical, intellectual, emotional, moral, and spiritual. The heart was seen as the dwelling place of the Spirit (2 Cor. 1:22; Eph. 3:17). Jesus' point here was that a person's actions flowed out of inner attitudes and choices, whether these were "good" or "evil."

6:48, 49 The preferred house foundation was bedrock or cut stone. The house "dug deep" may describe a house with a basement. Luke described a house hit by a torrent of water, an analogy of divine judgment. Like the house built "on the earth without a foundation," those who rejected Jesus would face destruction, while the house "founded on the rock" of Jesus' teaching would be saved from devastation.

THE WIDOW OF NAIN

This nameless woman surfaces uniquely in Luke's gospel in one of many biblical references to widows. Levitical law warned against taking advantage of widows (Ex. 22:22). Moses taught that God defends the cause of the fatherless and widows (Deut. 10:18). The early church cared for widows (Acts 6:1), and James defined pure religion as visiting (looking after) orphans and widows in their trouble (James 1:27).

As if to underscore this divine concern, Jesus interrupted a funeral procession just outside the Galilean town of Nain. There is a peculiar sadness in the description, "the only son of his mother" (Luke 7:12). No family accompanied the lone woman, who was in the process of burying her only child. With a crowd watching, Jesus approached the bier, ignoring circumstance and ceremony, and even contaminated himself by contact with a dead body.

The verb translated "had compassion" (v. 13) relates to the inner parts of the body, considered to be the seat of emotions. Jesus had an emotional response to the sight. However, He looked at the mother and spoke to her, "Do not weep." His words sound ludicrous under the circumstances. She had suffered a great loss, which had left her destitute. But the Lord of life demonstrated His power as well as His compassion.

"Young man, I say to you, arise" (v. 14). In full view of many witnesses, Jesus once again asserted His authority over sin and death. Fear and awe swept the crowd as the young man got up and began to talk. Jesus then presented him to his mother. Like Elijah, who had raised the widow's son and returned him to his mother (1 Kin. 17:23), the Lord confirmed His deep pity for a bereaved mother.

Although no response is recorded, the mother must certainly have joined her neighbors in praising God. She learned the validity of the Messiah's claim, "I am the resurrection and the life" (John 11:25). Her encounter with the Lord of life previews that when death comes, believers do not "sorrow as others who have no hope" (1 Thess. 4:13). Paul explained that the last enemy to be destroyed is death (1 Cor. 15:26); yet its terror is only temporary.

them back. 31And just as you want men to do to you, you also do to them likewise.

32"But if you love those who love you, what credit is that to you? For even sinners love those who love them. 33And if you do good to those who do good to you, what credit is that to you? For even sinners do the same. 34And if you lend to those from whom you hope to receive back, what credit is that to you? For even sinners lend to sinners to receive as much back. 35But love your enemies, do good, and lend, hoping for nothing in return; and your reward will be great, and you will be sons of the Most High. For He is kind to the unthankful and evil. 36Therefore be merciful, just as your Father also is merciful.

Do Not Judge

37"Judge not, and you shall not be judged. Condemn not, and you shall not be condemned. Forgive, and you will be forgiven. 38Give, and it will be given to you: good measure, pressed down, shaken together, and running over will be put into your bosom. For with the same measure that you use, it will be measured back to you."

39And He spoke a parable to them: "Can the blind lead the blind? Will they not both fall into the ditch? 40A disciple is not above his teacher, but everyone who is perfectly trained will be like his teacher. 41And why do you look at the speck in your brother's eye, but do not perceive the plank in your own eye? 42Or how can you say to your brother, 'Brother, let me remove the speck that is in your eye,' when you yourself do not see the plank that is in your own eye? Hypocrite! First remove the plank from your own eye, and then you will see clearly to remove the speck that is in your brother's eye.

A Tree Is Known by Its Fruit

43"For a good tree does not bear bad fruit, nor does a bad tree bear good fruit. 44For every tree is known by its own fruit. For men do not gather figs from thorns, nor do they gather grapes from a bramble bush. 45A good man out of the good treasure of his heart brings forth good; and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart[a] brings forth evil. For out of the abundance of the heart his mouth speaks.

Build on the Rock

46"But why do you call Me 'Lord, Lord,' and not do the things which I say? 47Whoever comes to Me, and hears My sayings and does them, I will show you whom he is like: 48He is like a man building a house, who dug deep and laid the foundation on the rock. And when the flood arose, the stream beat vehemently against that house, and could not

6:45 [a]NU-Text omits treasure of his heart.

shake it, for it was founded on the rock.[a] [49]But he who heard and did nothing is like a man who built a house on the earth without a foundation, against which the stream beat vehemently; and immediately it fell.[a] And the ruin of that house was great."

Jesus Heals a Centurion's Servant

7 Now when He concluded all His sayings in the hearing of the people, He entered Capernaum. [2]And a certain centurion's servant, who was dear to him, was sick and ready to die. [3]So when he heard about Jesus, he sent elders of the Jews to Him, pleading with Him to come and heal his servant. [4]And when they came to Jesus, they begged Him earnestly, saying that the one for whom He should do this was deserving, [5]"for he loves our nation, and has built us a synagogue."

[6]Then Jesus went with them. And when He was already not far from the house, the centurion sent friends to Him, saying to Him, "Lord, do not trouble Yourself, for I am not worthy that You should enter under my roof. [7]Therefore I did not even think myself worthy to come to You. But say the word, and my servant will be healed. [8]For I also am a man placed under authority, having soldiers under me. And I say to one, 'Go,' and he goes; and to another, 'Come,' and he comes; and to my servant, 'Do this,' and he does it."

[9]When Jesus heard these things, He marveled at him, and turned around and said to the crowd that followed Him, "I say to you, I have not found such great faith, not even in Israel!" [10]And those who were sent, returning to the house, found the servant well who had been sick.[a]

Jesus Raises the Son of the Widow of Nain

[11]Now it happened, the day after, that He went into a city called Nain; and many of His disciples went with Him, and a large crowd. [12]And when He came near the gate of the city, behold, a dead man was being carried out, the only son of his mother; and she was a widow. And a large crowd from the city was with her. [13]When the Lord saw her, He had compassion on her and said to her, "Do not weep." [14]Then He came and touched the open coffin, and those who carried him stood still. And He said, "Young man, I say to you, arise." [15]So he who was dead sat up and began to speak. And He presented him to his mother.

[16]Then fear came upon all, and they glorified God, saying, "A great prophet has risen up among us"; and, "God has visited His people." [17]And this report about Him went throughout all Judea and all the surrounding region.

John the Baptist Sends Messengers to Jesus

[18]Then the disciples of John reported to him concerning all these things. [19]And John, calling two of his disciples to him, sent them to Jesus,[a] saying, "Are You the Coming One, or do we look for another?"

[20]When the men had come to Him, they said, "John the Baptist has sent us to You, saying, 'Are You the Coming One, or do we look for another?' " [21]And that very hour He cured many of infirmities, afflictions, and evil spirits; and to many blind He gave sight.

[22]Jesus answered and said to them, "Go and tell John the things you have seen and heard: that the blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, the poor have the gospel preached to them. [23]And blessed is he who is not offended because of Me."

[24]When the messengers of John had departed, He began to speak to the multitudes concerning John: "What did you go out into the wilderness to see? A reed shaken by the wind? [25]But what did you go out to see? A man clothed in soft garments? Indeed those who are gorgeously appareled and live in luxury are in kings' courts. [26]But what did you go out to see? A prophet? Yes, I say to you, and more than a prophet. [27]This is he of whom it is written:

> 'Behold, I send My messenger before Your face,
> Who will prepare Your way before You.'[a]

[28]For I say to you, among those born of women there is not a greater prophet than John the Baptist;[a] but he who is least in the kingdom of God is greater than he."

[29]And when all the people heard Him, even the tax collectors justified God, having been baptized with the baptism of John. [30]But the Pharisees and

7:2 Centurions were career soldiers who kept the Roman military strong. They were usually put in charge of 100 soldiers. This centurion probably served with the forces of Herod Antipas. He had wealth, as well as character and integrity, and he had heard of Jesus. He was a compassionate man, expressing concern for his gravely ill servant. Jesus was impressed with his great faith. The NT highlights several centurions positively, including the centurion who witnessed Jesus' death and identified Him as God's Son (Mark 15:39); Cornelius, who was converted and thus opened the way for the church's outreach to Gentiles (Acts 10); and Julius, who treated Paul with kindness (Acts 27:3).

7:14 Jesus was moved with compassion for the widow whose son was awaiting burial (see The Widow of Nain). Coffins were not generally used in biblical times. The body was placed on an open bier, or bed, before burial. Often made of wooden boards, these biers were portable. Even though touching a dead body made one ceremonially unclean, Jesus disregarded this convention (Num. 19:11, 16).

SINNER AT SIMON'S HOUSE

Luke simply refers to this nameless woman as a "sinner," perhaps a prostitute who walked the streets of Nain in southwest Galilee. The self-righteous Pharisees despised this public woman. No proper woman would enter such a gathering in the house of a prominent Pharisee uninvited.

Her actions toward Jesus seemed even more crass. Standing beside Him, she knelt at His feet and began to cry. Her warm tears dropped one by one onto His feet. Then she undid her hair, a public act considered disgraceful for a woman of her day. With her long tresses, she wiped Jesus' dusty feet, washing them, and kissing them. Around her neck dangled an alabaster flask of perfume, no doubt representing the substance of her personal resources. She removed the flask and poured the costly, fragranced oil on His freshly cleansed feet. This was an act of worship.

Simon the host denounced Jesus and questioned the "Prophet's" integrity for allowing a woman of such notorious reputation to touch and disgrace Him. While the Pharisees looked only at the woman's outward actions, Jesus saw her heart, lonely and sad, penitent—a loving heart that honored Him as Lord and sought forgiveness for a sinful, wasted life.

To the men's astonishment, Jesus defended the woman. He reminded them that this woman had performed the common courtesies due any invited guest. Simon had neglected to wash Jesus' feet, to offer a welcoming kiss, or to anoint His head with oil, appropriate gestures of hospitality. The woman, humbly and graciously, offered to Him all these welcoming acts. The master Teacher used this occasion to teach love, forgiveness, and faith.

The nameless woman who came in disgrace departed Simon's house in peace. Jesus publicly forgave her sins, and she went her way with a freshly cleansed heart and a new life in Christ.

lawyers rejected the will of God for themselves, not having been baptized by him.

31And the Lord said,[a] "To what then shall I liken the men of this generation, and what are they like? 32They are like children sitting in the marketplace and calling to one another, saying:

'We played the flute for you,
And you did not dance;
We mourned to you,
And you did not weep.'

33For John the Baptist came neither eating bread nor drinking wine, and you say, 'He has a demon.' 34The Son of Man has come eating and drinking, and you say, 'Look, a glutton and a winebibber, a friend of tax collectors and sinners!' 35But wisdom is justified by all her children."

A Sinful Woman Forgiven

36Then one of the Pharisees asked Him to eat with him. And He went to the Pharisee's house, and sat down to eat. 37And behold, a woman in the city who was a sinner, when she knew that Jesus sat at the table in the Pharisee's house, brought an alabaster flask of fragrant oil, 38and stood at His feet behind Him weeping; and she began to wash His feet with her tears, and wiped them with the hair of her head; and she kissed His feet and anointed them with the fragrant oil. 39Now when the Pharisee who had invited Him saw this, he spoke to himself, saying, "This Man, if He were a prophet, would know who and what manner of woman this is who is touching Him, for she is a sinner."

40And Jesus answered and said to him, "Simon, I have something to say to you."

So he said, "Teacher, say it."

41"There was a certain creditor who had two debtors. One owed five hundred denarii, and the other fifty. 42And when they had nothing with which to repay, he freely forgave them both. Tell Me, therefore, which of them will love him more?"

43Simon answered and said, "I suppose the one whom he forgave more."

And He said to him, "You have rightly judged." 44Then He turned to the woman and said to Si-

7:37 The flask Luke described served as a container for perfume. Such flasks were made of carved stone, though they were not always made of alabaster as their name would indicate. Suspended from a cord, this flask without handles was worn around the neck of a Jewish woman. It was shaped with a long neck that was broken off when the expensive, perfumed oil was needed (see Ex. 30, Cosmetics). Mark and John record the cost of the oil used here as 300 denarii (Mark 14:5; John 12:5; see chart, Money and Measurements in the Bible).

7:38 The sinful woman stood behind Jesus by His feet. Since people did not sit at the table when eating but instead reclined beside it, the woman could reach Jesus' feet easily (see Sinner at Simon's House).

mon, "Do you see this woman? I entered your house; you gave Me no water for My feet, but she has washed My feet with her tears and wiped them with the hair of her head. 45You gave Me no kiss, but this woman has not ceased to kiss My feet since the time I came in. 46You did not anoint My head with oil, but this woman has anointed My feet with fragrant oil. 47Therefore I say to you, her sins, which are many, are forgiven, for she loved much. But to whom little is forgiven, the same loves little."

48Then He said to her, "Your sins are forgiven."

49And those who sat at the table with Him began to say to themselves, "Who is this who even forgives sins?"

50Then He said to the woman, "Your faith has saved you. Go in peace."

Many Women Minister to Jesus

8Now it came to pass, afterward, that He went through every city and village, preaching and bringing the glad tidings of the kingdom of God. And the twelve were with Him, 2and certain women who had been healed of evil spirits and infirmities—Mary called Magdalene, out of whom had come seven demons, 3and Joanna the wife of Chuza, Herod's steward, and Susanna, and many others who provided for Him[a] from their substance.

The Parable of the Sower

4And when a great multitude had gathered, and they had come to Him from every city, He spoke by a parable: 5"A sower went out to sow his seed. And as he sowed, some fell by the wayside; and it was trampled down, and the birds of the air devoured it. 6Some fell on rock; and as soon as it sprang up, it withered away because it lacked moisture. 7And some fell among thorns, and the thorns sprang up with it and choked it. 8But others fell on good ground, sprang up, and yielded a crop a hundredfold." When He had said these things He cried, "He who has ears to hear, let him hear!"

The Purpose of Parables

9Then His disciples asked Him, saying, "What does this parable mean?"

10And He said, "To you it has been given to know the mysteries of the kingdom of God, but to the rest it is given in parables, that

'Seeing they may not see,
And hearing they may not understand.'[a]

The Parable of the Sower Explained

11"Now the parable is this: The seed is the word of God. 12Those by the wayside are the ones who hear; then the devil comes and takes away the word out of their hearts, lest they should believe and be saved. 13But the ones on the rock are those who, when they hear, receive the word with joy; and these have no root, who believe for a while and in time of temptation fall away. 14Now the ones that fell among thorns are those who, when they have heard, go out and are choked with cares, riches, and pleasures of life, and bring no fruit to maturity. 15But the ones that fell on the good ground are those who, having heard the word with a noble and good heart, keep it and bear fruit with patience.

The Parable of the Revealed Light

16"No one, when he has lit a lamp, covers it with a vessel or puts it under a bed, but sets it on a lampstand, that those who enter may see the light. 17For nothing is secret that will not be revealed, nor anything hidden that will not be known and come to light. 18Therefore take heed how you hear. For whoever has, to him more will be given; and whoever does not have, even what he seems to have will be taken from him."

Jesus' Mother and Brothers Come to Him

19Then His mother and brothers came to Him, and could not approach Him because of the crowd. 20And it was told Him by some, who said, "Your mother and Your brothers are standing outside, desiring to see You."

21But He answered and said to them, "My mother and My brothers are these who hear the word of God and do it."

8:3 [a]NU-Text and M-Text read them. 8:10 [a]Isaiah 6:9

8:5 See Matthew 13:3, note.

8:9, 10 To bring new understanding to God's truth, Jesus told stories or parables. Jesus' parables proclaimed the gospel, and He often used parables when put into situations of conflict. The central theme in Jesus' parables was the kingdom of God. Parables involved the use of metaphors, which could be understood only by those who would search for the meaning therein, thus separating the genuine seeker from the indifferent listener (see chart, Women and the Parables of Jesus).

8:14, 15 Fruit is used in various ways throughout the Bible. For instance, one's descendant is the "fruit of the womb" (Gen. 30:2). Fruit can refer to righteousness (Phil. 1:11), light (Eph. 5:9), moral purity, repentance (Matt. 3:8), or Christian converts. Here Jesus used "fruit" to describe the rewards given for living in obedience to God's Word.

8:16 Light overcomes darkness: Thus, a lamp should not be hidden but should be allowed to provide illumination. Archaeologists have unearthed lamps used in homes dating from before Abraham to after Christ. OT period lamps were open bowls of pottery, with wicks of flax, and using olive oil for fuel (see article, What They Left Behind). More ornate lamps were produced later. When used as a metaphor, light represented life. Lack of light, or darkness, portrayed death. Jesus, the Light of the World, overcame darkness, or death (John 1:4, 5).

JOANNA Wealthy but Humble

Joanna, a name that means "Yahweh's Gift," was the wife of Chuza, the steward of Herod Antipas. Holding such an important position, Chuza would have earned a good salary. No doubt, he provided Joanna with a nice home and every available luxury of that day. Yet, when Joanna met Jesus, He healed her of an unrecorded illness or evil spirit that controlled her life (Luke 8:2), and Joanna made a self-sacrificing decision. She chose to risk her comfortable lifestyle in order to become a follower of Jesus Christ.

Life was difficult for the women who served Jesus and His disciples. Yet Joanna joined these women in giving unselfishly not only of her time and energies but also of whatever money she had to support the Lord's work.

Joanna went to Jesus' tomb on the early Sunday morning following the Crucifixion. She is listed as one of the women who reported the Resurrection of Jesus to the eleven disciples.

Joanna could have lived out her years focusing on the luxuries and privileges provided by her wealthy and influential husband. Instead she was willing to give up her mansion on earth for the mansion in Heaven she knew would be hers when she committed herself to Christ. Joanna was privileged to be among the last at the Cross as well as among the first to witness the empty tomb and proclaim the Lord's Resurrection. She stands in history as a woman with position and possessions whose devotion to her Lord is exemplified in humble service.

Wind and Wave Obey Jesus

22 Now it happened, on a certain day, that He got into a boat with His disciples. And He said to them, "Let us cross over to the other side of the lake." And they launched out. 23 But as they sailed He fell asleep. And a windstorm came down on the lake, and they were filling with water, and were in jeopardy. 24 And they came to Him and awoke Him, saying, "Master, Master, we are perishing!"

Then He arose and rebuked the wind and the raging of the water. And they ceased, and there was a calm. 25 But He said to them, "Where is your faith?"

And they were afraid, and marveled, saying to one another, "Who can this be? For He commands even the winds and water, and they obey Him!"

A Demon-Possessed Man Healed

26 Then they sailed to the country of the Gadarenes,[a] which is opposite Galilee. 27 And when He stepped out on the land, there met Him a certain man from the city who had demons for a long time. And he wore no clothes,[a] nor did he live in a house but in the tombs. 28 When he saw Jesus, he cried out, fell down before Him, and with a loud voice said, "What have I to do with You, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? I beg You, do not torment me!" 29 For He had commanded the unclean spirit to come out of the man. For it had often seized him, and he was kept under guard, bound with chains and shackles; and he broke the bonds and was driven by the demon into the wilderness.

30 Jesus asked him, saying, "What is your name?"

And he said, "Legion," because many demons had entered him. 31 And they begged Him that He would not command them to go out into the abyss.

32 Now a herd of many swine was feeding there on the mountain. So they begged Him that He would permit them to enter them. And He permitted them. 33 Then the demons went out of the man and entered the swine, and the herd ran violently down the steep place into the lake and drowned.

34 When those who fed them saw what had happened, they fled and told it in the city and in the country. 35 Then they went out to see what had happened, and came to Jesus, and found the man from whom the demons had departed, sitting at the feet of Jesus, clothed and in his right mind.
And they were afraid. 36 They also who had seen it told them by what means he who had been demon-possessed was healed. 37 Then the whole multitude of the surrounding region of the Gadare-nes[a] asked Him to depart from them, for they were seized with great fear. And He got into the boat and returned.

38 Now the man from whom the demons had departed begged Him that he might be with Him.
But Jesus sent him away, saying, 39 "Return to your own house, and tell what great things God has done for you." And he went his way and proclaimed throughout the whole city what great things Jesus had done for him.

8:30–32 The abyss is a place of confinement for spirits, the place where Satan will be bound during the millennium (Rev. 20:1–3). The demons, who called themselves "Legion," recognized Jesus. They knew that Jesus would command them to come out of the man. They begged Jesus not to send them into the abyss, which referred to the "bottomless pit," the "dark abode of the dead."

SUSANNA A Faithful Servant

Susanna's name means "lily," and she was one of the many women who followed Jesus in His city-to-city ministry. Like Mary Magdalene and Joanna, Susanna had been healed by Jesus of either a debilitating sickness or evil spirits. She then became a leader among the women who served Jesus and His disciples and supported them financially.

Jesus loved and respected the band of devoted women. He valued them and obviously appreciated their generous and selfless giving. His actions toward women repeatedly expressed appreciation for their God-given abilities. He taught the women just as He taught the men. Luke records the words of the two men who addressed the women at the empty tomb with a reminder of the words Jesus had taught them, while in Galilee, about His Crucifixion and Resurrection (Luke 24:8).

Jesus wanted women to be involved in God's work, and in His brief ministry, He laid the concrete foundation on which women have faithfully built for the past two millennia.

A Girl Restored to Life and a Woman Healed

40So it was, when Jesus returned, that the multitude welcomed Him, for they were all waiting for Him. 41And behold, there came a man named Jairus, and he was a ruler of the synagogue. And he fell down at Jesus' feet and begged Him to come to his house, 42for he had an only daughter about twelve years of age, and she was dying.

But as He went, the multitudes thronged Him. 43Now a woman, having a flow of blood for twelve years, who had spent all her livelihood on physicians and could not be healed by any, 44came from behind and touched the border of His garment. And immediately her flow of blood stopped.

45And Jesus said, "Who touched Me?"

When all denied it, Peter and those with him[a] said, "Master, the multitudes throng and press You, and You say, 'Who touched Me?' "[b]

46But Jesus said, "Somebody touched Me, for I perceived power going out from Me." 47Now when the woman saw that she was not hidden, she came trembling; and falling down before Him, she declared to Him in the presence of all the people the reason she had touched Him and how she was healed immediately.

48And He said to her, "Daughter, be of good cheer;[a] your faith has made you well. Go in peace."

49While He was still speaking, someone came from the ruler of the synagogue's house, saying to him, "Your daughter is dead. Do not trouble the Teacher."[a]

50But when Jesus heard it, He answered him, saying, "Do not be afraid; only believe, and she will be made well." 51When He came into the house, He permitted no one to go in[a] except Peter, James, and John,[b] and the father and mother of the girl. 52Now all wept and mourned for her; but He said, "Do not weep; she is not dead, but sleeping." 53And they ridiculed Him, knowing that she was dead.

54But He put them all outside,[a] took her by the hand and called, saying, "Little girl, arise." 55Then her spirit returned, and she arose immediately. And He commanded that she be given something to eat. 56And her parents were astonished, but He charged them to tell no one what had happened.

Sending Out the Twelve

9Then He called His twelve disciples together and gave them power and authority over all demons, and to cure diseases. 2He sent them to preach the kingdom of God and to heal the sick. 3And He said to them, "Take nothing for the journey, neither staffs nor bag nor bread nor money; and do not have two tunics apiece.

4"Whatever house you enter, stay there, and from there depart. 5And whoever will not receive you, when you go out of that city, shake off the very dust from your feet as a testimony against them."

6So they departed and went through the towns, preaching the gospel and healing everywhere.

Herod Seeks to See Jesus

7Now Herod the tetrarch heard of all that was done by Him; and he was perplexed, because it was said by some that John had risen from the 9:5 Jews routinely removed the dust from their shoes whenever they visited Gentile lands since they considered the dust as defiled. Jesus instructed the apostles, who preached the kingdom of God and healed the sick, to "shake off the very dust" from their feet as a testimony against those who rejected them. Those who rejected the gospel also rejected Jesus and would face God's judgment.

THE HOMELESS — A LOWLY ESTATE

The homeless, considered the most destitute of all the poor, are positioned to bring great honor to God. Their lowly state makes it possible for God to raise them up with great visibility before an unbelieving world. God's own son was "homeless" (Luke 2:7; 9:58) during periods of His life. Yet at His death, which appeared to be His lowest point, He was highly exalted above all men (Phil. 2:5–10).

Jesus used extreme cases to reveal to the world the extent of the Father's grace, mercy, power, and lovingkindness. His giving sight to the man born blind (John 9:6–7); His raising Lazarus, dead four days, from the grave (John 11:38–44); His forgiveness of well-known prostitutes and adulteresses (John 8:1–12); and His calling Saul, the murderer and persecutor of the church, to be an apostle all serve as examples of God's promise to lift up the down-trodden and to bring satisfaction to those in need (Ex. 3:7; Prov. 3:34).

In a spiritual sense, all are "homeless" on this earth. The believer's true home remains yet to be seen; it is not one made with human hands (Ps. 39:12; Heb. 11:13–16). You are always to be sensitive and responsive to those who are weaker (Ps. 82:3, 4; Prov. 31:8, 9; Rom. 15:1).

dead, [8]and by some that Elijah had appeared, and by others that one of the old prophets had risen again. [9]Herod said, "John I have beheaded, but who is this of whom I hear such things?" So he sought to see Him.

Feeding the Five Thousand

[10]And the apostles, when they had returned, told Him all that they had done. Then He took them and went aside privately into a deserted place belonging to the city called Bethsaida. [11]But when the multitudes knew it, they followed Him; and He received them and spoke to them about the kingdom of God, and healed those who had need of healing. [12]When the day began to wear away, the twelve came and said to Him, "Send the multitude away, that they may go into the surrounding towns and country, and lodge and get provisions; for we are in a deserted place here."

[13]But He said to them, "You give them something to eat."

And they said, "We have no more than five loaves and two fish, unless we go and buy food for all these people." [14]For there were about five thousand men.

Then He said to His disciples, "Make them sit down in groups of fifty." [15]And they did so, and made them all sit down.

[16]Then He took the five loaves and the two fish, and looking up to heaven, He blessed and broke them, and gave them to the disciples to set before the multitude. [17]So they all ate and were filled, and twelve baskets of the leftover fragments were taken up by them.

Peter Confesses Jesus as the Christ

[18]And it happened, as He was alone praying, that His disciples joined Him, and He asked them, saying, "Who do the crowds say that I am?"

[19]So they answered and said, "John the Baptist, but some say Elijah; and others say that one of the old prophets has risen again."

[20]He said to them, "But who do you say that I am?"

Peter answered and said, "The Christ of God."

Jesus Predicts His Death and Resurrection

[21]And He strictly warned and commanded them to tell this to no one, [22]saying, "The Son of Man must suffer many things, and be rejected by the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and be raised the third day."

Take Up the Cross and Follow Him

[23]Then He said to them all, "If anyone desires to come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily,[a] and follow Me. [24]For whoever desires to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for My sake will save it. [25]For what profit is it to a man if he gains the whole world, and is himself destroyed or lost? [26]For whoever is ashamed of Me and My words, of him the Son of Man will be ashamed when He comes in His own glory, and in His Father's, and of the holy angels.

[27]But I tell you truly, there are some standing here who shall not taste death till they see the kingdom of God."

9:23 [a]M-Text omits daily.

9:16, 17 The feeding of the 5,000 is a miracle recorded in all four gospels (Matt. 14:21, note).

9:27 Some believed that Jesus was referring to His return. However, since these first disciples died before He returned,

Jesus Transfigured on the Mount

28Now it came to pass, about eight days after these sayings, that He took Peter, John, and James and went up on the mountain to pray. 29As He prayed, the appearance of His face was altered, and His robe became white and glistening. 30And behold, two men talked with Him, who were Moses and Elijah, 31who appeared in glory and spoke of His decease which He was about to accomplish at Jerusalem. 32But Peter and those with him were heavy with sleep; and when they were fully awake, they saw His glory and the two men who stood with Him. 33Then it happened, as they were parting from Him, that Peter said to Jesus,
"Master, it is good for us to be here; and let us make three tabernacles: one for You, one for Moses, and one for Elijah"—not knowing what he said.

34While he was saying this, a cloud came and overshadowed them; and they were fearful as they entered the cloud. 35And a voice came out of the cloud, saying, "This is My beloved Son.[a] Hear Him!" 36When the voice had ceased, Jesus was found alone. But they kept quiet, and told no one in those days any of the things they had seen.

A Boy Is Healed

37Now it happened on the next day, when they had come down from the mountain, that a great multitude met Him. 38Suddenly a man from the multitude cried out, saying, "Teacher, I implore
You, look on my son, for he is my only child. 39And behold, a spirit seizes him, and he suddenly cries out; it convulses him so that he foams at the mouth;
and it departs from him with great difficulty, bruising him. 40So I implored Your disciples to cast it out, but they could not."

41Then Jesus answered and said, "O faithless and perverse generation, how long shall I be with you and bear with you? Bring your son here."
42And as he was still coming, the demon threw him down and convulsed him. Then Jesus rebuked the unclean spirit, healed the child, and gave him back to his father.

Jesus Again Predicts His Death

43And they were all amazed at the majesty of God.

But while everyone marveled at all the things which Jesus did, He said to His disciples, 44"Let these words sink down into your ears, for the Son of Man is about to be betrayed into the hands of men." 45But they did not understand this saying, and it was hidden from them so that they did not perceive it; and they were afraid to ask Him about this saying.

Who Is the Greatest?

46Then a dispute arose among them as to which of them would be greatest. 47And Jesus, perceiving the thought of their heart, took a little child and set him by Him, 48and said to them,
"Whoever receives this little child in My name receives Me; and whoever receives Me receives Him who sent Me. For he who is least among you all will be great."

Jesus Forbids Sectarianism

49Now John answered and said, "Master, we saw someone casting out demons in Your name, and we forbade him because he does not follow with us."

50But Jesus said to him, "Do not forbid him, for he who is not against us[a] is on our[b] side."

A Samaritan Village Rejects the Savior

51Now it came to pass, when the time had come for Him to be received up, that He steadfastly set His face to go to Jerusalem, 52and sent messengers before His face. And as they went, they entered a village of the Samaritans, to prepare for Him.
53But they did not receive Him, because His face was set for the journey to Jerusalem. 54And when His disciples James and John saw this, they said,
"Lord, do You want us to command fire to come down from heaven and consume them, just as Elijah did?"[a]

55But He turned and rebuked them,[a] and said,
"You do not know what manner of spirit you are
of. 56For the Son of Man did not come to destroy men's lives but to save them."[a] And they went to another village.

The Cost of Discipleship

57Now it happened as they journeyed on the road, that someone said to Him, "Lord, I will follow You wherever You go."

other interpretations have been offered. Suggestions include the destruction of Jerusalem, the beginning of missionary outreach at Pentecost, or the coming of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost. A probable explanation could be that He was referring to the Transfiguration (vv. 28–36).

9:30 Moses was the leader who delivered the Israelites from Egyptian slavery and delivered the Law. Elijah was a 9th century B.C. prophet from Tishbe of Gilead, remembered for his victory in the encounter with 450 prophets of Baal (see 1 Kin. 18:19–40). Elijah represented the prophets; he was expected to return before the end of the age (Mal. 4:5, 6).

EDUCATION STUDYING AT THE FEET OF JESUS

Mary of Bethany is noted among the first women of the Christian era as one who pursued a "theological education" at the feet of Jesus. Luke thoughtfully records that Mary sat at Jesus' feet and heard His word in a time when it was highly untraditional for a woman to be taught, especially by an esteemed rabbi. When Mary was criticized, Jesus Himself commended her for choosing the better way (Luke 10:38–42).

A woman need not enroll in a Bible college or seminary to sit at Jesus' feet and hear His word; but a ministry could be enhanced and extended by formal theological education, which provides a systematic study of God and the way He relates to us.

When the Lord calls a woman to a Christian vocation, she should devote herself to the same high standards of training as she would to prepare for any other vocation. We dare not offer less to the Lord's work than we would to a "secular" profession. When intellectual integrity and academic excellence are pursued with a heart fully devoted to the Lord, God is glorified, and that is the ultimate goal of theological education.

58 And Jesus said to him, "Foxes have holes and birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay His head."

59 Then He said to another, "Follow Me."

But he said, "Lord, let me first go and bury my father."

60 Jesus said to him, "Let the dead bury their own dead, but you go and preach the kingdom of God."

61 And another also said, "Lord, I will follow
You, but let me first go and bid them farewell who are at my house."

62 But Jesus said to him, "No one, having put his hand to the plow, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God."

The Seventy Sent Out

10 After these things the Lord appointed seventy others also,[a] and sent them two by two before His face into every city and place where He Himself was about to go. 2 Then He said to them,
"The harvest truly is great, but the laborers are few; therefore pray the Lord of the harvest to send out laborers into His harvest. 3 Go your way;
behold, I send you out as lambs among wolves.
4 Carry neither money bag, knapsack, nor sandals;
and greet no one along the road. 5 But whatever house you enter, first say, 'Peace to this house.'
6 And if a son of peace is there, your peace will rest on it; if not, it will return to you. 7 And remain in the same house, eating and drinking such things as they give, for the laborer is worthy of his wages. Do not go from house to house. 8 Whatever city you enter, and they receive you, eat such things as are set before you. 9 And heal the sick there, and say to them, 'The kingdom of God has come near to you.' 10 But whatever city you enter, and they do not receive you, go out into its streets and say, 11 'The very dust of your city which clings to us[a] we wipe off against you. Nevertheless know this, that the kingdom of God has come near you.' 12 But[a] I say to you that it will be more tolerable in that Day for Sodom than for that city.

Woe to the Impenitent Cities

13 "Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida!
For if the mighty works which were done in you had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago, sitting in sackcloth and ashes.

10:1 [a]NU-Text reads seventy-two others. 10:11 [a]NU-Text reads our feet. 10:12 [a]NU-Text and M-Text omit But.

10:1 After Jesus appointed the 70, He sent them out in pairs on this dangerous mission (v. 3). The two together would provide support for one another; two witnesses were needed for the mission described (vv. 11–15; see Num. 35:30).

10:5, 6 Peace referred to salvation and blessing. It held more meaning than just a friendly greeting. The "house" represented the people living there, not the dwelling structure. The "son of peace" referred to a believer. If faith was not present in the household, the blessing would be ineffective.

10:12 God judged Sodom and Gomorrah and destroyed the two cities with "brimstone and fire" (Gen. 19:24). Although their exact location is not known, Sodom and Gomorrah were two cities in Palestine during Abraham's time. Sodom was known for its wickedness (Gen. 18:20). The word "sodomite," referring to a citizen of Sodom, came to denote the sin of homosexuality. Jesus' point was that God's judgment on these cities would be mild compared with what would befall those who rejected the gospel message.

10:13 Sackcloth, an article of clothing made from rough cloth (usually goat or camel hair), was worn by the ancients to show mourning, anguish, or repentance. Ashes were either placed on the head or piled into a heap. The mourner would sit upon the ashes and usually fast as well.

10:13–15 Capernaum was located on the western edge of the Sea of Galilee, and Chorazin and Bethsaida were to the north of the lake where Jesus had ministered and performed mira-

14 But it will be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon at the judgment than for you. 15 And you, Caper-naum, who are exalted to heaven, will be brought down to Hades.[a] 16 He who hears you hears Me, he who rejects you rejects Me, and he who rejects Me rejects Him who sent Me."

The Seventy Return with Joy

17 Then the seventy[a] returned with joy, saying,
"Lord, even the demons are subject to us in Your name."

18 And He said to them, "I saw Satan fall like lightning from heaven. 19 Behold, I give you the authority to trample on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy, and nothing shall by any means hurt you. 20 Nevertheless do not rejoice in this, that the spirits are subject to you, but rather[a] rejoice because your names are written in heaven."

Jesus Rejoices in the Spirit

21 In that hour Jesus rejoiced in the Spirit and said, "I thank You, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that You have hidden these things from the wise and prudent and revealed them to babes.
Even so, Father, for so it seemed good in Your sight. 22 All[a] things have been delivered to Me by My Father, and no one knows who the Son is except the Father, and who the Father is except the Son, and the one to whom the Son wills to reveal Him."

23 Then He turned to His disciples and said privately, "Blessed are the eyes which see the things you see; 24 for I tell you that many prophets and kings have desired to see what you see, and have not seen it, and to hear what you hear, and have not heard it."

The Parable of the Good Samaritan

25 And behold, a certain lawyer stood up and tested Him, saying, "Teacher, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?"

26 He said to him, "What is written in the law?
What is your reading of it?"

27 So he answered and said, " 'You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your strength, and with all your mind,'[a] and 'your neighbor as yourself.' "[b]

28 And He said to him, "You have answered rightly; do this and you will live."

29 But he, wanting to justify himself, said to Jesus, "And who is my neighbor?"

30 Then Jesus answered and said: "A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and fell among thieves, who stripped him of his clothing, wounded him, and departed, leaving him half dead.
31 Now by chance a certain priest came down that road. And when he saw him, he passed by on the other side. 32 Likewise a Levite, when he arrived at the place, came and looked, and passed by on the other side. 33 But a certain Samaritan, as he journeyed, came where he was. And when he saw him, he had compassion. 34 So he went to him and bandaged his wounds, pouring on oil and wine; and he set him on his own animal, brought him to an inn, and took care of him. 35 On the next day, when he departed,[a] he took out two denarii, gave them to the innkeeper, and said to him, 'Take care of him;
and whatever more you spend, when I come again,
I will repay you.' 36 So which of these three do you think was neighbor to him who fell among the thieves?"

37 And he said, "He who showed mercy on him."
Then Jesus said to him, "Go and do likewise."

Mary and Martha Worship and Serve

38 Now it happened as they went that He entered a certain village; and a certain woman named Martha welcomed Him into her house.
39 And she had a sister called Mary, who also sat at Jesus'[a] feet and heard His word. 40 But Martha was distracted with much serving, and she approached

cles. The people of these cities had been given ample opportunity to believe in Jesus as the Messiah. Their rejection of Him would lead to even greater judgment than that which God had poured on the sinful, pagan cities of Tyre and Sidon.

10:30–35 Although Jericho was only about 17 miles from Jerusalem, the road was steep and treacherous and involved a descent of about 3,000 feet. The priest would not relinquish his ceremonial cleanness to touch a man who might be dead. The Levite did not stop and help the injured man, probably for the same reason. Since Samaritans and Jews were bitter enemies, Jesus' listeners would have been astonished that Jesus chose to make a Samaritan the hero of the story, and this would serve to underscore His point: A true neighbor compassionately serves others in need.

Him and said, "Lord, do You not care that my sister has left me to serve alone? Therefore tell her to help me."

41And Jesus[a] answered and said to her, "Martha, Martha, you are worried and troubled about many things. 42But one thing is needed, and Mary has chosen that good part, which will not be taken away from her."

The Model Prayer

11 Now it came to pass, as He was praying in a certain place, when He ceased, that one of His disciples said to Him, "Lord, teach us to pray, as John also taught his disciples."

2So He said to them, "When you pray, say:

Our Father in heaven,[a]
Hallowed be Your name.
Your kingdom come.[b]
Your will be done
On earth as it is in heaven.
3Give us day by day our daily bread.
4And forgive us our sins,
For we also forgive everyone who is indebted to us.
And do not lead us into temptation,
But deliver us from the evil one."[a]

A Friend Comes at Midnight

5And He said to them, "Which of you shall have a friend, and go to him at midnight and say to him, 'Friend, lend me three loaves; 6for a friend of mine has come to me on his journey, and I have nothing to set before him'; 7and he will answer from within and say, 'Do not trouble me; the door is now shut, and my children are with me in bed; I cannot rise and give to you'? 8I say to you, though he will not rise and give to him because he is his friend, yet because of his persistence he will rise and give him as many as he needs.

Keep Asking, Seeking, Knocking

9"So I say to you, ask, and it will be given to you; seek, and you will find; knock, and it will be opened to you. 10For everyone who asks receives, and he who seeks finds, and to him who knocks it will be opened. 11If a son asks for bread[a] from any father among you, will he give him a stone? Or if he asks for a fish, will he give him a serpent instead of a fish? 12Or if he asks for an egg, will he offer him a scorpion? 13If you then, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to those who ask Him!"

A House Divided Cannot Stand

14And He was casting out a demon, and it was mute. So it was, when the demon had gone out, that the mute spoke; and the multitudes marveled. 15But some of them said, "He casts out demons by Beelzebub,[a] the ruler of the demons."

16Others, testing Him, sought from Him a sign from heaven. 17But He, knowing their thoughts, said to them: "Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation, and a house divided against a house falls. 18If Satan also is divided against himself, how will his kingdom stand? Because you say I cast out demons by Beelzebub. 19And if I cast out demons by Beelzebub, by whom do your sons cast them out? Therefore they will be your judges. 20But if I cast out demons with the finger of God, surely the kingdom of God has come upon you. 21When a strong man, fully armed, guards his own palace, his goods are in peace. 22But when a stronger than he comes upon him and overcomes him, he takes from him all his armor in which he trusted, and divides his spoils. 23He who is not with Me is against Me, and he who does not gather with Me scatters.

An Unclean Spirit Returns

24"When an unclean spirit goes out of a man, he goes through dry places, seeking rest; and finding none, he says, 'I will return to my house from which I came.' 25And when he comes, he finds it swept and put in order. 26Then he goes and takes with him seven other spirits more wicked than himself, and they enter and dwell there; and the last state of that man is worse than the first."

Keeping the Word

27And it happened, as He spoke these things, that a certain woman from the crowd raised her voice and said to Him, "Blessed is the womb that bore You, and the breasts which nursed You!"

28But He said, "More than that, blessed are those who hear the word of God and keep it!"

10:41 [a]NU-Text reads the Lord. 11:2 [a]NU-Text omits Our and in heaven. [b]NU-Text omits the rest of this verse. 11:4 [a]NU-Text omits But deliver us from the evil one. 11:11 [a]NU-Text omits the words from bread through for in the next sentence. 11:15 [a]NU-Text and M-Text read Beelzebul.

11:1–4 After watching Jesus pray, one of His disciples asked Him to teach them how to pray. Jesus offered this model prayer, often called the "Lord's Prayer" or the "Disciple's Prayer." Believers from the days of the early church until the present generation have used this prayer in an endless variety of circumstances (see chart, Lessons from the Model Prayer).

11:15 Beelzebub (also "Beelzeboul" or "Beelzebul") is the name given to the prince of demons, Satan (see chart, The Names for Satan). The name probably originated from "Baalzebub" (lit. "lord of the flies" or "lord of dung"). When King Ahaziah fell through the lattice in an upper room in Samaria and injured himself, he inquired of this Philistine god (2 Kin. 1:2).

Seeking a Sign

29And while the crowds were thickly gathered together, He began to say, "This is an evil generation. It seeks a sign, and no sign will be given to it except the sign of Jonah the prophet.[a] 30For as Jonah became a sign to the Ninevites, so also the Son of Man will be to this generation. 31The queen of the South will rise up in the judgment with the men of this generation and condemn them, for she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon; and indeed a greater than Solomon is here. 32The men of Nineveh will rise up in the judgment with this generation and condemn it, for they repented at the preaching of Jonah; and indeed a greater than Jonah is here.

The Lamp of the Body

33"No one, when he has lit a lamp, puts it in a secret place or under a basket, but on a lamp-stand, that those who come in may see the light.
34The lamp of the body is the eye. Therefore, when your eye is good, your whole body also is full of light. But when your eye is bad, your body also is full of darkness. 35Therefore take heed that the light which is in you is not darkness. 36If then your whole body is full of light, having no part dark, the whole body will be full of light, as when the bright shining of a lamp gives you light."

Woe to the Pharisees and Lawyers

37And as He spoke, a certain Pharisee asked Him to dine with him. So He went in and sat down to eat. 38When the Pharisee saw it, he marveled that He had not first washed before dinner.

39Then the Lord said to him, "Now you Pharisees make the outside of the cup and dish clean, but your inward part is full of greed and wickedness. 40Foolish ones! Did not He who made the outside make the inside also? 41But rather give alms of such things as you have; then indeed all things are clean to you.

42"But woe to you Pharisees! For you tithe mint and rue and all manner of herbs, and pass by justice and the love of God. These you ought to have done, without leaving the others undone. 43Woe to you Pharisees! For you love the best seats in the synagogues and greetings in the marketplaces.
44Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites![a]
For you are like graves which are not seen, and the men who walk over them are not aware of them."

45Then one of the lawyers answered and said to Him, "Teacher, by saying these things You reproach us also."

46And He said, "Woe to you also, lawyers! For you load men with burdens hard to bear, and you yourselves do not touch the burdens with one of your fingers. 47Woe to you! For you build the tombs of the prophets, and your fathers killed them. 48In fact, you bear witness that you approve the deeds of your fathers; for they indeed killed them, and you build their tombs. 49Therefore the wisdom of God also said, 'I will send them prophets and apostles, and some of them they will kill and persecute,' 50that the blood of all the prophets which was shed from the foundation of the world may be required of this generation, 51from the blood of Abel to the blood of Zechariah who perished between the altar and the temple.
Yes, I say to you, it shall be required of this generation.

52"Woe to you lawyers! For you have taken away the key of knowledge. You did not enter in yourselves, and those who were entering in you hindered."

53And as He said these things to them,[a] the scribes and the Pharisees began to assail Him

11:29 [a]NU-Text omits the prophet. 11:44 [a]NU-Text omits scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites. 11:53 [a]NU-Text reads And when He left there.

11:29, 30 Jonah was a prophet during the reign of Jeroboam II (see the Book of Jonah, Introduction: Author). Though God commanded Jonah to go to the wicked city of Nineveh, he fled to Tarshish (see Jon. 1—4). When the crowd wanted Jesus to give them a "sign," He gave them "the sign of Jonah." As Jonah had been a sign to Nineveh, Jesus would be a sign to His generation (see Luke 11:32). Jonah's three days and three nights in the belly of the fish and his sudden reappearance pictured the time Jesus would spend in the grave, followed by His Resurrection.

11:31 Solomon, David's son by Bathsheba, became the 3rd king of Israel and ruled for 40 years. Solomon is remembered for his God-given wisdom, administrative ability, great wealth, and prolific writing. Solomon was also responsible for building the temple at Jerusalem (see chart, The Plan of Solomon's Temple).

11:38 Pharisees were required to be diligent in washing their hands before eating. This necessity for ceremonial purity symbolized removing the dirt of the sinful world from their hands. The principles of ceremonial cleanness affected every part of a Hebrew's life (see Lev. 10, Clean vs. Unclean).

11:42 Rue is a shrub with strong-smelling leaves that grows on hills in the Holy Land. Both mint and rue were tithed by the religious leaders (see chart, Herbs of the Bible).

11:46 The lawyers described by Jesus made the everyday lives of the Jews unbearably hard due to their many additions to the Mosaic Law. Although they told the people to obey these difficult rules, they did nothing to help them do so.

11:49–51 Jesus quoted from an unknown source. His point was that although these people claimed to honor the prophets, they were inwardly rejecting them. As a result, they would be held responsible for the deaths of the prophets. Jesus mentioned Abel (Gen. 4:8) and Zechariah the priest (2 Chr. 24:20, 21) as examples of innocent men killed while serving God. These examples were taken from the first and last books of the Hebrew OT.

vehemently, and to cross-examine Him about many things, 54lying in wait for Him, and seeking to catch Him in something He might say, that they might accuse Him.[a]

Beware of Hypocrisy

12 In the meantime, when an innumerable multitude of people had gathered together, so that they trampled one another, He began to say to His disciples first of all, "Beware of the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocrisy. 2For there is nothing covered that will not be revealed, nor hidden that will not be known. 3Therefore whatever you have spoken in the dark will be heard in the light, and what you have spoken in the ear in inner rooms will be proclaimed on the housetops.

Jesus Teaches the Fear of God

4"And I say to you, My friends, do not be afraid of those who kill the body, and after that have no more that they can do. 5But I will show you whom you should fear: Fear Him who, after He has killed, has power to cast into hell; yes, I say to you, fear Him!

6"Are not five sparrows sold for two copper coins?[a] And not one of them is forgotten before God. 7But the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Do not fear therefore; you are of more value than many sparrows.

Confess Christ Before Men

8"Also I say to you, whoever confesses Me before men, him the Son of Man also will confess before the angels of God. 9But he who denies Me before men will be denied before the angels of God.

10"And anyone who speaks a word against the Son of Man, it will be forgiven him; but to him who blasphemes against the Holy Spirit, it will not be forgiven.

11"Now when they bring you to the synagogues and magistrates and authorities, do not worry about how or what you should answer, or what you should say. 12For the Holy Spirit will teach you in that very hour what you ought to say."

The Parable of the Rich Fool

13Then one from the crowd said to Him, "Teacher, tell my brother to divide the inheritance with me."

14But He said to him, "Man, who made Me a judge or an arbitrator over you?" 15And He said to them, "Take heed and beware of covetousness,[a] for one's life does not consist in the abundance of the things he possesses."

16Then He spoke a parable to them, saying: "The ground of a certain rich man yielded plentifully. 17And he thought within himself, saying, 'What shall I do, since I have no room to store my crops?' 18So he said, 'I will do this: I will pull down my barns and build greater, and there I will store all my crops and my goods. 19And I will say to my soul, "Soul, you have many goods laid up for many years; take your ease; eat, drink, and be merry." ' 20But God said to him, 'Fool! This night your soul will be required of you; then whose will those things be which you have provided?'

21"So is he who lays up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God."

Do Not Worry

22Then He said to His disciples, "Therefore I say to you, do not worry about your life, what you will eat; nor about the body, what you will put on. 23Life is more than food, and the body is more than clothing. 24Consider the ravens, for they neither sow nor reap, which have neither storehouse nor barn; and God feeds them. Of how much more value are you than the birds? 25And which of you by worrying can add one cubit to his stature? 26If you then are not able to do the least, why are you anxious for the rest? 27Consider the lilies, how they grow: they neither toil nor spin; and yet I say to you, even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. 28If then God so clothes the grass, which today is in the field and tomorrow is thrown into the oven, how much more will He clothe you, O you of little faith?

11:54 [a]NU-Text omits and seeking and that they might accuse Him. 12:6 [a]Greek assarion, a coin of very small value 12:15 [a]NU-Text reads all covetousness.

12:1 Bread was made with leaven (actually sourdough), a small piece of fermented dough that slowly caused all the bread dough to rise. During the Passover celebration, Jews made bread without leaven. In the NT, leaven is sometimes used as a word picture for evil influence. Jesus compared the Pharisees' hypocrisy and corrupt teachings to leaven.

12:6 The sparrow, often a source of food for the poor, was considered ceremonially clean and could be eaten by Jews. It was an inexpensive bird, with five sparrows selling for two copper coins (see chart, Money and Measurements in the Bible). Jesus emphasized that God remembers even the most insignificant of His creatures. Believers can know with certainty that God cares about and governs every facet of their lives.

12:12 Jesus presented the third Person of the Trinity, the Holy Spirit, in His role as Teacher. Throughout the OT and NT, the Holy Spirit empowered believers. At times He equipped them with extraordinary wisdom and strength. Jesus emphasized the Holy Spirit as the Helper, giving assistance and delivering power at the very hour it is needed.

12:15 Covetousness is the selfish desire to have what another person owns, usually material possessions (see Prov. 30, Covetousness). It indicates ruthless greed, the all-consuming lust to own more, and was a sin. In Ephesians, Paul compared the covetous man with the idolater (see Eph. 5:5).

29"And do not seek what you should eat or what you should drink, nor have an anxious mind. 30For all these things the nations of the world seek after, and your Father knows that you need these things. 31But seek the kingdom of God, and all these things[a] shall be added to you.
32"Do not fear, little flock, for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom.
33Sell what you have and give alms; provide yourselves money bags which do not grow old, a treasure in the heavens that does not fail, where no thief approaches nor moth destroys. 34For where your treasure is, there your heart will be also.

The Faithful Servant and the Evil Servant

35"Let your waist be girded and your lamps burning; 36and you yourselves be like men who wait for their master, when he will return from the wedding, that when he comes and knocks they may open to him immediately. 37Blessed are those servants whom the master, when he comes, will find watching. Assuredly, I say to you that he will gird himself and have them sit down to eat, and will come and serve them. 38And if he should come in the second watch, or come in the third watch, and find them so, blessed are those servants. 39But know this, that if the master of the house had known what hour the thief would come, he would have watched and[a] not allowed his house to be broken into. 40Therefore you also be ready, for the Son of Man is coming at an hour you do not expect."
41Then Peter said to Him, "Lord, do You speak this parable only to us, or to all people?" 42And the Lord said, "Who then is that faithful and wise steward, whom his master will make ruler over his household, to give them their portion of food in due season? 43Blessed is that servant whom his master will find so doing when he comes. 44Truly, I say to you that he will make him ruler over all that he has. 45But if that servant says in his heart, 'My master is delaying his coming,'
and begins to beat the male and female servants, and to eat and drink and be drunk, 46the master of that servant will come on a day when he is not looking for him, and at an hour when he is not aware, and will cut him in two and appoint him his portion with the unbelievers. 47And that servant who knew his master's will, and did not prepare himself or do according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes. 48But he who did not know, yet committed things deserving of stripes, shall be beaten with few. For everyone to whom much is given, from him much will be required; and to whom much has been committed, of him they will ask the more.

Christ Brings Division

49"I came to send fire on the earth, and how I wish it were already kindled! 50But I have a baptism to be baptized with, and how distressed I am till it is accomplished! 51Do you suppose that I came to give peace on earth? I tell you, not at all, but rather division. 52For from now on five in one house will be divided: three against two, and two against three. 53Father will be divided against son and son against father, mother against daughter and daughter against mother, mother-in-law against her daughter-in-law and daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law."

Discern the Time

54Then He also said to the multitudes, "Whenever you see a cloud rising out of the west, immediately you say, 'A shower is coming'; and so it is.
55And when you see the south wind blow, you say,
'There will be hot weather'; and there is. 56Hypocrites! You can discern the face of the sky and of the earth, but how is it you do not discern this time?

Make Peace with Your Adversary

57"Yes, and why, even of yourselves, do you not judge what is right? 58When you go with your 12:31 [a]NU-Text reads His kingdom, and these things. 12:39 [a]NU-Text reads he would not have allowed.

12:37–40 Jesus spoke of His return and the importance of watching, waiting, and being ready for Him. He compared this watchfulness to the attitude servants should have when the master is away. Servants were responsible to protect the master's house with three watches or guard duties. The OT lists these as: the "beginning of the watches" (Lam. 2:19); the "middle watch" (Judg. 7:19); and the "morning watch" (Ex. 14:24). Since the servants would not know the hour in which their master would return, they were to be faithful and consistent in their watching.

12:45–47 This parable addressed the delay of Jesus' return. He described a faithful, watching servant (on guard duty), who grew weary of waiting for the master to return. The servant became lax in his watching and allowed the influence of the world to sway him from his responsibility. This parable would have special meaning for believers in the early church, readers who expected the imminent return of Jesus in their own lifetimes and who were in danger of growing weary in their expectations.

12:49–51 Fire refers to the coming judgment of God. Fire can destroy what can be consumed, but it will purify what cannot be consumed. Jesus referred to His "baptism" as His Crucifixion in Jerusalem, during which He would be wholly immersed in the suffering of the Cross. His death, however, would be a fulfillment of prophecy, the supreme act of reconciliation of women and men to God. "Division" is the opposite of peace. The Jewish nation believed their promised Messiah would overthrow their enemies and reign in victory and peace. Jesus confirmed to His disciples that His coming had not brought peace but would instead cause dissension among families and friends.

AN INFIRM WOMAN

Only Luke mentions this bent-over woman who had spent the previous eighteen years staring at the floor, unable to stand or sit, or even to straighten her crooked back. Jesus and His disciples had traveled through her city in Perea on their way from Galilee to Judea. They entered the synagogue on the Sabbath to teach.

Jesus had deep compassion for this tragic woman. He touched her and healed her. When the ruler of the synagogue rebuked Jesus for the unlawful Sabbath healing, Jesus firmly exposed the inconsistency of those who would lead an ox to water on the Sabbath, yet oppose the healing of an afflicted woman.

How odd that Jesus refers to her as "a daughter of Abraham," since such a description is usually reserved for the "sons" of Abraham. In front of all the upright religious folk, Jesus gave this humble woman a place of honor when He affirmed that she, too, belonged to the family of Abraham.

After Jesus' tender touch, for the first time in eighteen years, this "daughter of Abraham" straightened her back, stretched to her full height, and, among the sons of Abraham, who perhaps now hung their heads in shame, she held her head high to the glory of God. Nothing honors the Savior any more than a heart of gratitude and a spirit of praise.

adversary to the magistrate, make every effort along the way to settle with him, lest he drag you to the judge, the judge deliver you to the officer, and the officer throw you into prison. 59I tell you, you shall not depart from there till you have paid the very last mite."

Repent or Perish

13 There were present at that season some who told Him about the Galileans whose blood Pilate had mingled with their sacrifices. 2And Jesus answered and said to them, "Do you suppose that these Galileans were worse sinners than all other Galileans, because they suffered such things? 3I tell you, no; but unless you repent you will all likewise perish. 4Or those eighteen on whom the tower in Siloam fell and killed them, do you think that they were worse sinners than all other men who dwelt in Jerusalem? 5I tell you, no; but unless you repent you will all likewise perish."

The Parable of the Barren Fig Tree

6He also spoke this parable: "A certain man had a fig tree planted in his vineyard, and he came seeking fruit on it and found none. 7Then he said to the keeper of his vineyard, 'Look, for three years I have come seeking fruit on this fig tree and find none. Cut it down; why does it use up the ground?' 8But he answered and said to him, 'Sir, let it alone this year also, until I dig around it and fertilize it. 9And if it bears fruit, well. But if not, after that[a] you can cut it down.' "

A Spirit of Infirmity

10Now He was teaching in one of the synagogues on the Sabbath. 11And behold, there was a woman who had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bent over and could in no way raise herself up. 12But when Jesus saw her, He called her to Him and said to her, "Woman, you are loosed from your infirmity." 13And He laid His hands on her, and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God.

14But the ruler of the synagogue answered with indignation, because Jesus had healed on the Sabbath; and he said to the crowd, "There are six days on which men ought to work; therefore come and be healed on them, and not on the Sabbath day."

15The Lord then answered him and said, "Hypocrite![a] Does not each one of you on the Sabbath loose his ox or donkey from the stall, and lead it away to water it? 16So ought not this woman, be-

13:9 [a]NU-Text reads And if it bears fruit after that, well. But if not, you can cut it down. 13:15 [a]NU-Text and M-Text read Hypocrites.

13:4 Jesus spoke of a disaster in Jerusalem that killed 18 people. The location of the tower at Siloam is unknown, although it may have been part of Jerusalem's wall near the pool of Siloam. Jesus' point was that extreme sinfulness is not demonstrated by whether or not someone is tragically killed. Ultimate deliverance from destruction is accomplished when a person has truly repented and entered God's kingdom.

13:6 The fig tree yielded sweet fruit in the summer. Figs could be dried and stored for future use. Jesus used this well-known tree to make a point about God's eternal judgment ("cut it down," v. 9). In this passage, the fig tree represented Israel, which was in danger of God's judgment if it continued to reject its Messiah (see Matt. 20:1–15; 21:28–32, 33–46; John 15:1–11).

13:10–14 This woman was "bound" by Satan. She suffered a spinal problem, possibly some sort of spinal fusion, which caused her body to be bent. Her "infirmity" of 18 years was caused by demonic activity initiated by Satan (vv. 11, 16). The woman did not ask for healing. The act of restoration was initiated by Jesus Himself due to His compassion for her. The woman's healing caused controversy because Jesus healed her on the Sabbath (see An Infirm Woman).

ing a daughter of Abraham, whom Satan has bound—think of it—for eighteen years, be loosed from this bond on the Sabbath?" 17And when He said these things, all His adversaries were put to shame; and all the multitude rejoiced for all the glorious things that were done by Him.

The Parable of the Mustard Seed

18Then He said, "What is the kingdom of God like? And to what shall I compare it? 19It is like a mustard seed, which a man took and put in his garden; and it grew and became a large[a] tree, and the birds of the air nested in its branches."

The Parable of the Leaven

20And again He said, "To what shall I liken the kingdom of God? 21It is like leaven, which a woman took and hid in three measures[a] of meal till it was all leavened."

The Narrow Way

22And He went through the cities and villages, teaching, and journeying toward Jerusalem. 23Then one said to Him, "Lord, are there few who are saved?"

And He said to them, 24"Strive to enter through the narrow gate, for many, I say to you, will seek to enter and will not be able. 25When once the Master of the house has risen up and shut the door, and you begin to stand outside and knock at the door, saying, 'Lord, Lord, open for us,' and He will answer and say to you, 'I do not know you, where you are from,' 26then you will begin to say, 'We ate and drank in Your presence, and You taught in our streets.' 27But He will say, 'I tell you I do not know you, where you are from. Depart from Me, all you workers of iniquity.' 28There will be weeping and gnashing of teeth, when you see Abraham and Isaac and Jacob and all the prophets in the kingdom of God, and yourselves thrust out. 29They will come from the east and the west, from the north and the south, and sit down in the kingdom of God. 30And indeed there are last who will be first, and there are first who will be last."

31On that very day[a] some Pharisees came, saying to Him, "Get out and depart from here, for Herod wants to kill You."

32And He said to them, "Go, tell that fox, 'Behold, I cast out demons and perform cures today and tomorrow, and the third day I shall be perfected.' 33Nevertheless I must journey today, tomorrow, and the day following; for it cannot be that a prophet should perish outside of Jerusalem.

Jesus Laments over Jerusalem

34"O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, the one who kills the prophets and stones those who are sent to her! How often I wanted to gather your children together, as a hen gathers her brood under her wings, but you were not willing! 35See! Your house is left to you desolate; and assuredly,[a] I say to you, you shall not see Me until the time comes when you say, 'Blessed is He who comes in the name of the LORD*!'* "[b]

A Man with Dropsy Healed on the Sabbath

14 Now it happened, as He went into the house of one of the rulers of the Pharisees to eat bread on the Sabbath, that they watched Him closely. 2And behold, there was a certain man before Him who had dropsy. 3And Jesus, answering, spoke to the lawyers and Pharisees, saying, "Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath?"[a]

4But they kept silent. And He took him and healed him, and let him go. 5Then He answered them, saying, "Which of you, having a donkey[a] or an ox that has fallen into a pit, will not immediately pull him out on the Sabbath day?" 6And they could not answer Him regarding these things.

Take the Lowly Place

7So He told a parable to those who were invited, when He noted how they chose the best places, saying to them: 8"When you are invited by anyone to a wedding feast, do not sit down in the best place, lest one more honorable than you be invited by him; 9and he who invited you and him

13:16, 17 By calling the woman a daughter of Abraham, Jesus included her as a covenant member of Abraham's family in a public setting. While "son of Abraham" was used frequently throughout Scripture, to associate a woman with Abraham was rare. Although the Sabbath healing humiliated Jesus' adversaries, it made the people rejoice (v. 17).

13:19 The mustard seed was often planted by farmers in Palestine. Matthew and Mark point to the seed's small size and contrast this with the size of the full-grown tree (a mustard seed can produce a tree 30 feet tall). Luke, however, said nothing about the size but emphasized that birds can nest in its branches. Birds roosting in branches can represent the nations of the earth, emphasizing a universal kingdom in which all people, both Jew and Gentile, can share. While the kingdom of God started small like a mustard seed (with a baby's birth, a young preacher, and a handful of disciples), the result (or the consummation of the kingdom's growth) would be extraordinary.

13:32 Jesus addressed Herod Antipas, the Galilean tetrarch, who had already beheaded John the Baptist. Herod wanted also to kill Jesus. When Jesus called Herod a "fox," He insinuated that Herod was deceitful and crafty as well as insignificant. Even the sly Herod could not impede God's divine plan.

13:34 Jesus lamented over Jerusalem. These words reveal Jesus' heart. The image of a hen and chicks depicted the love, protection, shelter, and care of a mother toward her children. Jesus' care for His people Israel is pictured (see chart, Female Metaphors for God).

POVERTY PROVIDING FOR THOSE IN NEED

Those counted among the poor were the needy, the weak, and those who were dependent—the orphans and the widows who were usually in the lower social classes and in need of protection from abuse and neglect. Virtually every prophet of the Old Testament prophesied against those who wrongfully oppressed the poor (Jer. 22:13–16).

God provided for the poor through His principle of gleaning. Landowners were instructed to leave the remaining grain around the outer perimeters of the fields for the poor to gather (Lev. 19:10; Ruth 2:2, 15, 16). The courts, too, were admonished to deal justly with the poor (Ex. 23:6, 7).

Jesus Himself was born into a poor family and called the poor His brethren (Matt. 25:40). The early church recognized the importance of caring for widows (Acts 6:1–6) and took offerings to meet their needs (Rom. 15:26). We are admonished to be mindful of the poor (Gal. 2:10).

Every believer will be held accountable for how she has responded to those in need. One of the ways to judge our relationship to Christ is to observe how we respond to the hungry, the thirsty, the naked, the stranger, and the prisoner (Matt. 25:31–46). Compassion is regarded as evidence of the presence of Christ inside the heart (1 Pet. 3:8; 1 John 3:16, 17).

God often chooses to reveal Himself to the world through the poor (James 2:5); rarely do the rich, great, and noble hear His call or choose His path (Matt. 19:16–24). Paul concluded that if the Lord used only the wealthy to extend His cause, critics would credit those people and their resources instead of God with the good that was done through them (1 Cor. 1:26).

The first step to having your physical needs met is to become "poor in spirit," recognizing that every heart separated from God is in spiritual poverty, which is far more tragic than physical poverty (Matt. 5:3). The Lord has promised to provide freely for His children (Rom. 8:32).

come and say to you, 'Give place to this man,' and then you begin with shame to take the lowest place. 10But when you are invited, go and sit down in the lowest place, so that when he who invited you comes he may say to you, 'Friend, go up higher.' Then you will have glory in the presence of those who sit at the table with you. 11For whoever exalts himself will be humbled, and he who humbles himself will be exalted."

12Then He also said to him who invited Him, "When you give a dinner or a supper, do not ask your friends, your brothers, your relatives, nor rich neighbors, lest they also invite you back, and you be repaid. 13But when you give a feast, invite the poor, the maimed, the lame, the blind. 14And you will be blessed, because they cannot repay you; for you shall be repaid at the resurrection of the just."

The Parable of the Great Supper

15Now when one of those who sat at the table with Him heard these things, he said to Him, "Blessed is he who shall eat bread[a] in the kingdom of God!"

16Then He said to him, "A certain man gave a great supper and invited many, 17and sent his servant at supper time to say to those who were invited, 'Come, for all things are now ready.' 18But they all with one accord began to make excuses. The first said to him, 'I have bought a piece of ground, and I must go and see it. I ask you to have me excused.' 19And another said, 'I have bought five yoke of oxen, and I am going to test them. I ask you to have me excused.' 20Still another said, 'I have married a wife, and therefore I cannot come.' 21So that servant came and reported these things to his master. Then the master of the house, being angry, said to his servant, 'Go out quickly into the streets and lanes of the city, and bring in here the poor and the maimed and the lame and the blind.' 22And the servant said, 'Master, it is done as you commanded, and still there is room.' 23Then the master said to the servant, 'Go out into the highways and hedges, and compel them to come in, that my house may be filled. 24For I say to you that 14:15 [a]M-Text reads dinner.

14:13, 14 To give a feast for the poor, maimed, lame, and blind would be an act of generosity, since these people could not repay the host. Jesus implied that when the host only invited his desirable friends, his giving came from selfish ambition, not love. These four groups of people represented the lower social classes whom the rich and powerful could (and often did) easily abuse. The repayment for this good deed would take place at the "resurrection of the just."

14:26, 27 The cost of discipleship is heavy. Therefore, before entering into discipleship, the cost should be carefully calculated, for Christ must come first in the disciple's life. "To hate" means that the disciple's other loyalties must be subordinate to devotion to the Lord. A true disciple must also be willing to face martyrdom.

none of those men who were invited shall taste my supper.' "

Leaving All to Follow Christ

25Now great multitudes went with Him. And He turned and said to them, 26"If anyone comes to Me and does not hate his father and mother, wife and children, brothers and sisters, yes, and his own life also, he cannot be My disciple. 27And whoever does not bear his cross and come after Me cannot be My disciple. 28For which of you, intending to build a tower, does not sit down first and count the cost, whether he has enough to finish it— 29lest, after he has laid the foundation, and is not able to finish, all who see it begin to mock him, 30saying, 'This man began to build and was not able to finish'? 31Or what king, going to make war against another king, does not sit down first and consider whether he is able with ten thousand to meet him who comes against him with twenty thousand? 32Or else, while the other is still a great way off, he sends a delegation and asks conditions of peace. 33So likewise, whoever of you does not forsake all that he has cannot be My disciple.

Tasteless Salt Is Worthless

34"Salt is good; but if the salt has lost its flavor, how shall it be seasoned? 35It is neither fit for the land nor for the dunghill, but men throw it out. He who has ears to hear, let him hear!"

The Parable of the Lost Sheep

15 Then all the tax collectors and the sinners drew near to Him to hear Him. 2And the Pharisees and scribes complained, saying, "This Man receives sinners and eats with them." 3So He spoke this parable to them, saying:

4"What man of you, having a hundred sheep, if he loses one of them, does not leave the ninety-nine in the wilderness, and go after the one which is lost until he finds it? 5And when he has found it, he lays it on his shoulders, rejoicing. 6And when he comes home, he calls together his friends and neighbors, saying to them, 'Rejoice with me, for I have found my sheep which was lost!' 7I say to you that likewise there will be more joy in heaven over one sinner who repents than over ninety-nine just persons who need no repentance.

The Parable of the Lost Coin

8"Or what woman, having ten silver coins,[a] if she loses one coin, does not light a lamp, sweep the house, and search carefully until she finds it? 9And when she has found it, she calls her friends and neighbors together, saying, 'Rejoice with me, for I have found the piece which I lost!' 10Likewise, I say to you, there is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner who repents."

The Parable of the Lost Son

11Then He said: "A certain man had two sons. 12And the younger of them said to his father, 'Father, give me the portion of goods that falls to me.' So he divided to them his livelihood. 13And not many days after, the younger son gathered all together, journeyed to a far country, and there wasted his possessions with prodigal living. 14But when he had spent all, there arose a severe famine in that land, and he began to be in want. 15Then he went and joined himself to a citizen of that country, and he sent him into his fields to feed swine. 16And he would gladly have filled his stomach with the pods that the swine ate, and no one gave him anything.

17"But when he came to himself, he said, 'How

15:8 [a]Greek drachma, a valuable coin often worn in a ten-piece garland by married women

15:8 Married women often wore valuable coins in garlands (or wreaths) on their heads (see The Woman Who Lost a Coin). Garlands were part of the bride's wedding headdress, perhaps her dowry (see chart, Head Coverings for Women). These silver coins (drachmai) may have been her savings or merely an ornament. Either way, the loss of such a coin would be a serious matter.

15:12 Upon the death of the father, the firstborn son would receive two-thirds of the inheritance. The younger son, however, would receive only one-third. If the family included daughters, the younger son's inheritance would be less so that the family could provide a dowry for the daughters when they married. The father agreed and divided his "goods." It was highly unusual for the younger son to be allowed to spend the inheritance before his father's death.

15:13 The younger son probably converted the goods to money ("gathered all together"). The far country could represent the "world" or any place distant from home. The younger son engaged in a reckless lifestyle, including sexual promiscuity (vv. 13, 30), and squandered his entire inheritance.

15:14–16 To avoid starvation in the time of famine, the son went to work for a Gentile. The fact that a Jewish man would help raise and care for pigs reveals his utter degradation, since swine were "unclean" animals to Jews.

15:17–24 When he came to himself (v. 17), he took the first step in repentance—the realization of wrongdoing (v. 18). He then asked to become a "hired servant" (v. 19). While an ordinary slave was considered part of the family, a hired servant (or day laborer) could be dismissed at any time, for he was not a family member. Though it was highly unusual for a proper Oriental father to run, Jesus portrayed God as the Father who ran, so great was His excitement over the return of His son. The son was forgiven and accepted back into the home (v. 20). The "best robe" was a sign of position; the "ring" indicated authority; the "sandals" (a sign of freedom and luxury) put on his bare feet set him apart from the barefoot slaves. Since meat was not ordinarily eaten at meals, the "fatted calf" noted a special occasion (vv. 22, 23).

THE WOMAN WHO LOST A COIN

This is the second of three parables in which Jesus clearly pictured God's loving concern for each individual sinner. After first telling about a shepherd (Luke 15:3–7), He gave an example with which the women in His audience could readily identify. He described a woman who loses one of her ten silver coins, worth about a day's wage (Matt. 20:2). These coins, which she wore as a headdress, represented her savings and probably formed part of her dowry. At issue was not only the value of the coin but also the fact that losing part of her dowry would be a shameful thing.

Jesus pictured her living in a peasant's house, which would have a low doorway and few or no windows. To find the coin she lit a lamp and diligently swept every nook, listening for the coin's telltale clink and watching for its gleam in the lamplight. When at last she found it, her joy knew no bounds! She rushed to tell her friends the wonderful news and called them to rejoice with her.

Jesus then applied the parable by declaring the joy that the angels share together with God when sinners return in repentance to Him. The self-righteous scribes and Pharisees in His audience clearly lacked this joy (Luke 15:2), but God's gracious acceptance was wonderful news to the ordinary women and men who heard Him (v. 1).
